Group Will Petition for Lower Water Service Rates Here

By B. FRANKLIN CARTER JR.
DAILY IOWAN CITY EDITOR
Asking for an immediate reduction of nearly 34 per cent in water service rates in Iowa City, a petition is being circulated here by a group of Iowa City women who said the petition will be presented to the city council at its next meeting, Feb. 3.

A spokesman for the group of women, who declared that they were not acting as the representatives of any Iowa City organization, said that the group would have at least 2,000 signers to the petition before it is presented to the council.

The petition reads: "We, the undersigned citizens of Iowa City, do respectfully petition the honorable mayor and city council of Iowa City to take immediate steps towards the reduction of water rates in Iowa City to the average rate for cities of the first class in the state of Iowa which is 85 and a fourth cents for 300 cubic feet of water."

The present water service rate in Iowa City for 300 cubic feet of water is $1.28, according to a sheet which the group is distributing with the petition. The reduction in rate would amount to 43 cents for the 300 cubic feet scale.

The sheet distributed by the group lists the water rates in 20 other Iowa cities of a population of more than 10,000 persons. It indicates whether the water plant is privately or municipally owned, if the municipal government is charged for the service to public buildings and hydrants, the rate for water service, and what discount the company allows on water service bills.

The city council has the power to pass an ordinance regulating the rates charged for service by any public utility operating within the city. City Attorney Robert L. Larson said that if the utility company felt the rates established by the city council were too low to give the company a reasonable return on its investment, the company could appeal to the district court for a hearing on the validity of the rates.

Prof. George J. Keller, manager of the Iowa Water Service company which has the franchise to provide water service in Iowa City, is in Washington, D. C., and could not be reached for a statement.

Two attempts were made early this fall to get plans started in Iowa City for the purchase of the water service company's property by the city.

JAPAN CRITICIZES 'SELFISH' NATIONS

Founder's Day Will Be Broadcast Over NBC February 25

Poetic Drama On 'Vitamin K' To Be Featured

Departments Will Take Part in Fourth Show Put on Air Since '35

Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, chairman of the radio board, yesterday afternoon received a telegram from Carl Menzer, director of WSUI, announcing that the university will be given a half-hour on a coast-to-coast National Broadcasting company hook - up for a Founder's day broadcast Feb. 25.

Menzer, who is in New York, studying at NBC, received permission for the program from Franklin N. Dunham, educational director.

The radio show will be a dramatic production of the discovery of Vitamin K at the University hospital, written as a poetic narrative by Donald Sturgis, script editor of WSUI. Sturgis is at the university on a Rockefeller fellowship.

Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, station production manager, will direct the poetic drama. Various departments in the university will take part.

This year's program is the second Founder's day radio show to be given over NBC; the first was last year on the same date. The first two Founder's day shows were given on WHO in 1935 and 1936.

"Vitamin K" is the dramatic story of the discovery of the vitamin from alfalfa grown in Iowa fields.

Raft Objections To Villain Roles Bring Contract Cancellation

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 20 (AP) — Paramount movie studio officials said today George Raft's contract had been cancelled because the actor had objected so much to picture roles assigned to him.

For some time, Raft had protested to being typed as a villain or even a quasi-villain.

Spanish Insurgents Capture Two Key Towns on Seaboard

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Jan. 20 (AP) — Spanish insurgents announced in quick succession tonight the capture of Igualada and Vendrell, two towns of high military importance to the Barcelona defense lines in eastern Spain.

Igalada was one of four main keys to the government defense and Vendrell a government outpost and control point for coastal highway traffic leading to Villaneuva and Villa Franca.

The fall of Vendrell, 32 miles southwest of Barcelona near the Mediterranean coast, was reported shortly after the insurgents announced another force had taken Igualada, little industrial center of 10,000.

She's Mine! Two Claim Same Wife But She Disappears

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Jan. 20 (AP) — Herman Everding, 26, farmer, was quite surprised to see his bride talking to a man he did not know on the street here.

He hurried up and challenged "What are you doing talking to my wife?"

"Your wife? Don't make me laugh," the stranger replied.

"Sure she's my wife. We were married a couple of weeks ago," the startled Everding shot back.

Equally startled, the stranger shouted "She can't be your wife. She's mine. I married her a year and a half ago."

They turned to let the woman settle the dispute. She had disappeared.

Then the stranger introduced himself as U. S. army Sgt. Frank Donahay, 25, of Ft. Warren, Wyo.

Together they went to County Attorney Franke Glebe who heard their stories and filed bigamy charges against the woman.

Officers sought her tonight.

Society Scion Held On $15,000 Bail In 1934 Jewel Robbery

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Jan. 20 (AP) — Socially prominent Foster J. Blakeley - Baseley, 27, charged with grand larceny in the theft of a $600 diamond bracelet from Mrs. Muriel (Honey) Johnson Berlin, international society beauty, was locked up in Suffolk county jail tonight in default of $15,000 bail.

The bail was set by County Judge L. Barron Hill at an arraignment late today, when Blakeley-Baseley waived examination.

No members of his family — his mother is Mrs. John W. Kiser of Park avenue — nor lawyers were present, although he mentioned a prominent Manhattan law firm as his counsel.

He was arrested last night in the theft, which occurred at the lavish Southampton estate of the late Col. Henry Huddleston Rogers, oil millionaire, in 1934.

OMAHA (AP) — The city welfare board yesterday voted unanimously to take no action to halt the scheduled showing here tomorrow of the motion picture "Inside Nazi Germany."

Scissors Grinder Is Smallpox Carrier

Infected Man Isolated in S. U. I. Hospital as Doctors Quell Outbreak

State health department officials in Des Moines were notified yesterday of the danger of possible outbreaks of smallpox in Mt. Pleasant, Fairfield, Washington and Columbus Junction, after an itinerant scissors grinder who had been in those Iowa towns was placed in the isolation ward of University hospital here with smallpox in its most contagious stage.

Dr. M. E. Barnes, head of the university's health department and of the hygiene and preventive medicine department, said that he had notified the state health department after the scissors sharpener, Jim Richards, was taken to the hospital Wednesday night.

Richards had not practiced his trade in Iowa City. When he arrived here Wednesday evening, his face broken out, he was sent to Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick by a man on the street. Dr. Fitzpatrick immediately notified Dr. E. W. Paulus, the local health officer, and Richards was taken to the hospital. Dr. Barnes included in his report to state officers the names of barber and beauty shops, hotels and restaurants in the Iowa towns where Richards had been at work. His report carried the suggestion that persons in those towns who had been exposed should be vaccinated.

Since Christmas, it was revealed, Richards had also visited Harlan, Council Bluffs and Glenwood, but Dr. Barnes expressed the belief that the disease was in all probability not in the contagious state at that time.

Dr. Barnes pointed out that "the opportunity certainly exists for a considerable number of smallpox cases out of each of these towns" in which Richards had been at work, but that he did not want to give the impression that there would be anything like a state epidemic.

The doctor said that he expected several cases of the disease to be reported in each of the towns within the next two weeks.

Hitler Replaces Financial Pilot

Walther Funk Made New President Of Nazified Reichsbank

BERLIN, Jan. 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler dropped his orthodox financial pilot, Hjalmar Horace Greeley Schacht, from the presidency of the Reichsbank today and gave his post to Economics Minister Walther Funk to bring the powerful financial institution under full Nazi control.

The startling breakfast-time dismissal was seen in informed quarters as a forerunner of five broad developments in German economy:

1. Acceleration of credit inflation to finance Nazi rearmament and gigantic building program under 48-year old Funk, a longtime Nazi. Cigar-smoking Schacht, who is 61, opposed this course.

2. Crossing off the United States as a possible source of raw materials for Germany.

(In Washington, department of commerce experts said the change from Schacht to Funk had no real bearing on German-American trade and they predicted that Germany would continue to buy certain necessities because the Germans could not supply them. One high official nevertheless saw Funk's appointment as a slap at the United States. Officials who recently made a survey of the German situation said Funk was noted for his animosity toward the United States, in contrast to Schacht's friendliness.)

3. Intensification of Germany's economic drive through the Balkans toward the near east and in South America.

4. Increased difficulties for American and other holders of German bonds in salvaging some of the money lent Germany before the Nazis came to power Jan. 30, 1933.

5. An end for the time being, at least, to hopes of several hundred thousand Jews that they would be able to emigrate with aid of the intergovernmental refugee committee.

Negotiations which George Rublee, American executive director of the committee, had been conducting with Schacht broke down quickly after the Reichsbank president's dismissal when official notification was made that the conversations would not be continued.

Funk, in assuming control of the Reichsbank as well as keeping the economics ministry, thus united — under Field Marshall Hermann Wilhelm Goering, director (See FUNK, page 8)

STORM BABY O. K.

Barometer Doesn't Halt Birth at Sea

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP) — A boy born aboard the Hamburg-American liner New York during a severe storm arrived here today in good health.

The child was born prematurely to Mrs. Maya Kiendle, wife of a New York butcher, who had been on a visit to Germany with her husband, Johann.

The ship missed the worst of the storm, but its skipper said the barometer reading of 27.7 on Jan. 15 was the lowest he had seen it in 38 years at sea.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (AP) — A criminal court jury tonight acquitted George (Bugs) Moran, prohibition era gang leader, and two co-defendants on charges of conspiring to counterfeit and cash travelers checks with a face value of $500,000.

Deliberating two and a half hours, the jury accepted the defense claims that Moran and the others — Frank Parker, former "airplane bootlegger," and Frank Hocketts, alias Ross — had no part in the alleged plot which three others, including an engraver and a printer, had confessed.

City-Wide Fire Hazard Inspection Will Be Held Feb. 23, 24 With Aim to Cut Future Loss

City-wide inspection of fire hazards on Feb. 23 and 24 will be Iowa City's attempt to stamp future loss of life and property.

Plans were begun yesterday at a luncheon meeting in the Jefferson hotel attended by city officials and prominent local persons.

The fire prevention inspection will be sponsored by the junior and senior chambers of commerce, local fire department and local establishments assisted by the Iowa City board of fire underwriters.

W. T. Shirley and John R. Hoff, both of Des Moines, here in behalf of the Iowa State Fire Prevention association, suggested various plans which might be put to use in Iowa City, basing their ideas largely on similar plans in other sections of Iowa.

Gillette to Vote For H. Hopkins

Sen. Tydings of Md., Also Purged, Will Back New Nominee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP) — Two democratic senators, whom new deal forces attempted to unseat in last year's elections, told the senate today they would vote for the confirmation of Harry Hopkins as secretary of commerce — and added a scathing indictment of politics in WPA while Hopkins headed that agency.

Senator Gillette of Iowa, whose renomination Hopkins personally opposed, asserted, in a voice thick with emotion, that he would not let "personal resentment" determine how he would vote.

Senator Tydings of Maryland, whom President Roosevelt tried personally to defeat, likewise said he would not be "vindictive." It was not Hopkins who opposed him, he said, "but a higher authority."

Senators Holt (D-WVa) and Bridges (R-NH) made speeches bitterly critical of Hopkins. Senator Walsh (D-Mass), announcing he would vote for confirmation because the president was entitled to choose his own assistants, said also that there was a "wide divergence of opinion" as to whether Hopkins had exonerated himself of the political charges.

Bill Would Deny Auto Plates If Tax Delinquent

DES MOINES, Jan. 20 (AP) — There's a legislative storm brewing for Iowa motorists who owe the county treasurer present and past personal property taxes.

Representative Henry W. Burma, (R) Allison, today was drafting a bill to deny automobile license plates to all persons on the county books for unpaid personal property levies.

Burma estimates that the amount of tax delinquency in that field runs "into the millions."

The legislature figuratively packed up and went home for the week end today after receiving 142 bills in the first "business week" of the 1939 session.

The varied proposals all were sent to newly organized committees, many of which held first meetings today.

Says Powers Trying to Stop New Countries

Door to China Will Be Kept Open, Says Her Foreign Minister

TOKYO, Jan. 21 (Saturday) (AP) — Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita today criticized international opposition to Japan's plan for a new order in eastern Asia and declared such opposition was prompted by "selfish motives."

Without naming the United States, Britain and France, Arita said in the customary annual foreign policy address to parliament that there were many causes for international anxiety and added: "But there is no doubt the principal causes lie essentially in efforts to maintain a status quo which actually are not in accordance with justice and in attempts made from selfish motives to stifle development and progress of newly risen powers."

To Take Steps
Arita affirmed Japan's readiness to take "proper" steps to cut off overland shipments of arms to the Chinese and announced Japan's determination to protect her "legitimate vested rights" in the fishing treaty dispute with the Soviet union.

He reaffirmed the Japanese policy of building a new order in east Asia which, despite "certain restrictions and regulations" to enable east Asia "to function as a link in the chain of world economy," would not be closed to the rest of the world.

He said in the prepared address that there was still the misunderstanding abroad that Japan intended "to close all doors of China."

He said there would be "vast fields in which not only will the rights and interests of other countries and the commercial and other peaceful enterprises of their nationals remain absolutely unaffected, but in which foreign participation will readily be welcome."

Of "the reported conveyance of arms through French Indo-China and other territories" Arita said "the Japanese government have from time to time called the attention of the governments concerned to the matter; and when necessary, proper steps will be taken."

Arita's address accented the Japanese-Russian dispute over renewal of an agreement under which the Japanese have fished in Siberian territorial waters—a privilege conferred in general terms by the 1905 treaty of Portsmouth which ended the Russo-Japanese war. Negotiations for a new agreement are still pending. Extensions of the old one expired last Dec. 31.

"While it is expected that the Soviet government will negotiate with sincerity and that an ultimately satisfactory agreement will be arrived at, Japan is of course prepared to take appropriate steps when it comes to the question of protecting her legitimate vested rights in this," he said.

Reaffirms Statement
Dealing with the Japanese design for a new east Asia, goal of the present war on China, Arita reiterated the government's statement of policy given out Dec. 22 by Prince Fumimaro Konoye, then premier.

Arita pointed out that the statement declared Japan's "intention of joining hands with far-sighted Chinese . . . for the common purpose of constructing a new east Asian order and for realization and mutual practice of neighborly amity, economic cooperation and joint defense against communism."

One indictment by the board against Martin said he had conspired with representatives of the Ford motor company "to create a secession movement within the union with the view of destroying the union and building a dual organization among the auto workers."

The principal charges the board lodged against the former clergyman who heads the big auto union were that he had "conspired" with high figures in the automobile industry to "disrupt" the union.

Today's and tonight's fast-breaking developments widened the gap between two factions in the union as they waged a fierce fight to control its nearly 400,000 members.

Martin, in announcing suspension of his opponents, set up his own executive board. The anti-Martin board which has curtailed his powers during the past 10 days fought back. Each group claimed to be the constituted authority in the union and planned rival conventions to elect officers.

Varied Opinions Are Circulating About 'Our Johnny'

BERT McGRANE, writing in yesterday's Des Moines Register, "The newspaper Iowa (and Johnny Paycheck) depends upon," took exception to the remarks written by Sports Editor J. Dennis Sullivan regarding the Ettore-Paycheck fiasco in Des Moines early in the week.

As McGrane graciously conceded, Mooney and Sullivan were the guys who were on the opposite side of the fence during a good many occasions last fall in regard to the athletic situation. It might be possible, hints this sports writer, that these guys are almost always wrong. Mooney and Sullivan apparently missed Paycheck's pugilistic qualities Monday night but, says McGrane, they have been alone in their opinions before. For instance, a couple of years ago a cub sports editor from The Daily Iowan couldn't see Ralph O'Dell, the "white hope" sensation of Des Moines, but the Register sports department could—and they told everyone that they could see great things for O'Dell, too. A recent perusal of the list of 50 ranking heavyweights failed to disclose the name of O'Dell—but then maybe you're building him up or else he's another fighter using an assumed name, eh, Bert?

The Des Moines Register admittedly carries more weight than any other paper in the state doesn't it seem rather odd that this great newspaper should deign to devote half a column of type to "exposing" a couple of college kids whom the Register thinks are wrong? Could it be that Iowa's paper has an "interest" in Johnny J. Paycheck—an interest which does not feel friendly to criticism from opposing circles?

Mooney and Sullivan, being just caustic college kids, still hold the opinion that it is only in totalitarian states that it is forbidden to report things as one sees them in the paper. They rode to Des Moines, filled with glowing Register accounts of Paycheck's prowess, and returned, confident that Paycheck was a good fighter for the competition offered him in and around Des Moines, but that he was a long, long way from that ranking in the first 10 heavyweights. In what these lads thought was a true report, they wired the story to their paper—only to find that the Des Moines Register sports writer didn't approve of the story.

If Al Ettore, who couldn't punch his way out of a paper bag, had carried half the punch of several current heavyweights, Paycheck might have been reclining in the laps of the Des Moines Register sports writers before three rounds had lapsed. Ettore, old and fat as he was, tapped several rights to Paycheck's jaw in the early stages of the fiasco—rights which would have meant curtains if a top notcher had tossed them.

Al Ettore, the badly beaten fighter that he was, revealed in his dressing room after the fight "that Paycheck had a lot to learn" before he was ready for the big time. That was bad, Al, but we noticed that next day "after you had cooled off" you changed your opinion of your opponent. That was smart talk, Al—smarter than the tactics employed by the college kids.

Now that W. Lee O'Daniel, hill-billy singer, is governor of Texas, some of those who voted for him are wondering how he'll pay that pension of $30 per month promised to the residents over 65—and hoping he won't do it with a song.

Gypsy Rose Lee is seeking a new theme song for her strip act? How about "Tease for Two"?

We Have Our Duty—Why Not Do It?

SEVERAL thousand miles away, several thousand Jews are wondering what the future holds for them. For the last few weeks, the American press has been attempting editorially to solve this problem for the German Jew. American societies have been working night and day to make the way easier for these victims of a dictator's whim.

Less than three hundred miles away, American citizens are encamped along the roadsides, waiting for the future to unfold its plans before them. No societies labor night and day for these unemployed Americans. No contributions are forwarded to southern Missouri.

Why are we Americans overlooking our own misery to play Good Samaritan abroad? No one knows, unless it is because it is too common to help in the support of our own needy and more sensational to send our dollars abroad.

Along the same line, why did the House of Representatives pass a relief bill 150 million dollars less than the minimum advocated by the very persons charged with the responsibility of seeing that no American starves, at the same time appropriating 25 million dollars for starving Chinese, and similar projects in Germany and Spain.

While it is a fine tribute to international brotherhood for our organizations to send aid abroad to beleaguered races, it would be a much better gesture to care for our own countrymen in need rather than making it easy for refugees to enter this country to further complicate our economic system.

America is arising from the throes of a severe economic period. We are arising from the depths because whole hearted cooperation by all of us has whipped the situation. Many have lost practically everything in the struggle with the depression; it is like a slap in their faces to import new laborers for the jobs which are just appearing.

We Americans have a duty to humanity—it lies within the United States FIRST.

It cannot be said that America's neutrality laws are not liberal. We sell Japan old junk from which bullets are made, and lend China money with which bullets are bought.

U. S. Steel issues new statistics revealing that 16,000,000,000 tin cans were manufactured in 1937. With that many around, it does seem a bit odd no one managed to tie one on the European war-makers.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

TWO NOTES IN TOKYO

The striking similarity of the notes sent by Washington and London to Tokyo stressing the determination of the United States and Great Britain to stand by their treaty rights in China implies a closer community of American and British interest in Far Eastern developments.

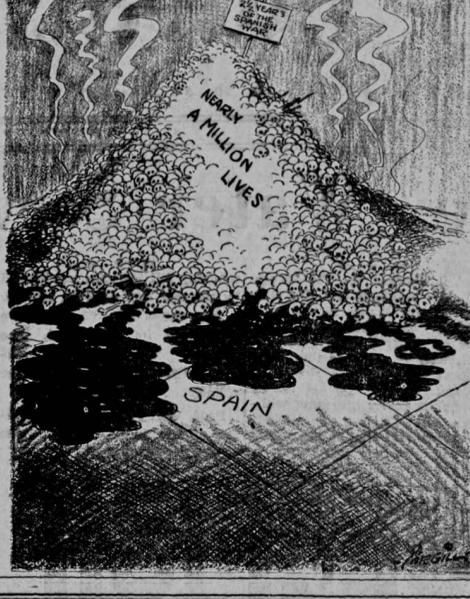

Some may regret that earlier attempts at "parallel action" came to nothing and may regard the new indications of its possibility as coming too late. Yet it may be that the very delay in collaboration will make these two notes all the more important in Japanese eyes. The Japanese have now been in China much too long for Japan's own good. The war has become one of attrition. Just when Japan needs some sign that Chinese resistance is about to melt away, and that other countries are resigned to seeing this happen, the two most powerful economic factors in the world renew their interest in an independent China and exhibit it as a joint front against Japanese treaty violation.

Japan, more than ever sensitive to economic pressure, already has seen an American loan go to China for the very purpose of increasing China's economic ability to resist invasion. And back of the notes now received from the American and British governments lies the probability of new measures which very likely would be joint measures to bolster Chinese morale and actual fighting power through steady economic aid.

Japan, moreover, understands that these notes are based not so much on abstractions about justice or on idealistic support of collective security as on the national interests of two powers able to defend those interests. Whatever people in other countries may think of this fact, it is one which doubtless will impress Japanese authority.

Several of the ones who read it've suggested, "patriotism is the last resort of scoundrels" as the title of yesterday morning's affray.

Many've suggested a decent newspaper oughtn't print such stuff. Some've said it was nice—but what was the reporter getting at.

All of which brings to point that all columnists write for their own personal taste. If anyone else happens to like it too, that's nice—but unimportant.

And so Dorothy Thompson, who looks under her bed nightly for dictators, sees that, "death begins in 1940."

Seems to me the inevitable war ones're more dangerous than any others. The fact say it's inevitable makes it more so.

If we say it's coming for sure, it'll be easier to make it come once the occasion arises.

Just for the present, then, this writer returns to an M-from-Missouri attitude when it comes to war talk.

Columnists and women may change their minds. If any.

And, incidentally, I'm missing the Iowa City Peace council programs this winter. Thought the programs were all arranged. Or isn't there a place for peace in the world of today.

By the by, some university officials aren't too alarmed when the books walk out of libraries. As they quite frequently do. It's the healthier sign when books are walking out, permanently or not, than not.

Leastwise, when a student appropriates for his personal library, chances are he's reading it.

FEDERAL THEATER today has two more worthwhile shows on the air. The tale of "Emelyan, the Fool" from the rich storehouse of Russian folklore, and fable will be enacted in the eighth broadcast of fairy tales from all over the world in the "Once Upon a Time" series over the Mutual network from 9:30 to 10 o'clock this morning.

The adventures of Emelyan are not dissimilar from those of allegedly poor-witted heroes in the legends of other lands, lads who rise magically from rags to riches, winning a lovely princess along the thorny path.

Roscoe Spencer of the United States public health service was sent out to Montana in 1922 to discover a cure for Rocky Mountain spotted fever, which each spring brought countless hunters and ranchers to a ghastly end.

How he fought on doggedly against all obstacles including the death of practically his whole scientific staff and finally won through to a cure for the fever will be enacted in the "Men Against Death" series over the Columbia network from 1:30 to 2 o'clock this afternoon.

ONE OF THE LONGEST laughs in the annals of radio comedy was recorded during the Jack Benny version of "Snow White." The laugh actually stopped the show for a full 30 seconds, necessitating drastic last-minute cuts in the script.

Andre Kostelanetz is busy these days anticipating the sound problems which evolve from the use of the biggest loudspeaker in the world. Musical interpretations of his are to be played in the Perisphere, the 200-foot globular theme building of the New York fair.

The lone reproducers are to be installed in a large concrete chamber below ground level, at the base of the building, thus using the actual Perisphere as the horn of the loudspeaker. No tonal horn of this immensity has ever before been available and thus accrue unprecedented acoustical angles for the conductor to unravel.

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Let's talk about cops. New York has 18,000 of them. They get their name from copper badges which became regulation equipment back in the eighties. For awhile they were known only as "coppers," but eventually it was shortened to "cop."

The first policemen in New York were called "leatherheads," because they wore leather helmets. But even before that, when the Dutch had Manhattan, the cops carried noisemakers which they rattled before stopping anyone. To discourage rioters the early keepers of the peace employed a very quaint custom. Their first move was to knock off the rioter's stove-pipe hat. Everybody wore stove-pipe hats in those days. When he leaned over to pick up his hat he was kicked in the pants.

Washington Irving, a practical joker as well as an author, frequently became nettled at police inefficiency and took matters into his own hands. His idea of fun was to lasso an annoyance and drag him through the street.

New York's worst crime years weren't during prohibition, as you might suppose. They were between 1800 and 1810. A demoralized police force served as an inducement apparently for every criminal in the country to visit Manhattan, known among thieves as "the pie counter," because the pickings were so good and the chances of arrest so negligible. The life of a cop, even though he is Irish, is never the life of Riley in New York. It is a stern, exacting career, and one which too frequently proves too severe for those who attempt it. Perhaps you will begin to realize this when you know that 75 policemen in the last four years have committed suicide.

New York's present police commissioner is Lewis J. Valentine, an ex-delivery wagon boy who became a flatfoot and rose from the ranks to his present high position. He is known as an "old school" graduate who doesn't hesitate to encourage officers when "the good of the department" is at stake.

One of the best publicized features of the department's operations is the morning "line-up." This takes place about 9 a.m. and all suspects rounded up during the night are forced to parade under glaring lights. Scrutinizing them are detectives and other officers, but they are in shadow and the suspects can't see them. Expert dicks remember faces 20 years after seeing them in the "line-up."

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

I hope stamp collectors bought a whole sheet of the Christmas seals this year, because unless they did they will miss the four important stamps, one at each corner of the sheet. Unlike the other stamps on the sheet, these show pictures of the four great heroes of tuberculosis.

In the upper left-hand corner is Laennec, who invented the stethoscope. He was a French physician and the story is that he had a puzzling case. He thought his patient had a disease of the chest but he was not able to confirm it. While in this state of mind he went walking in the parks of Paris and saw some children playing at a see-saw. One child had his ear down on the board and the other was scraping a telegraphic message to him at the other end with a pin. Laennec instantly thought of the possibilities of using a tube to listen to the sounds made by the heart and lungs. He went back to the hospital and found that his idea was practical. His description of the stethoscope was published in 1819.

Discovered Cause At the upper right-hand corner of the tuberculosis seals is a stamp with a picture of Robert Koch. His claim to fame in tuberculosis is that he discovered the cause of the disease, the tubercle bacillus. In the lower left-hand corner is a stamp with the picture of E. L. Trudeau, who founded the first sanatorium for tuberculosis in the United States at Saranac Lake, conquered.

Christmas Tree Keeps Right on Growing ALAMOSA, Col. (AP)—The Hester family's Christmas tree has started to grow. Maurice G. Hester, horticulturist at Adams State Teachers' college, set the tree in a bucket of gravel and kept the gravel wet to prevent the needles from falling. After two weeks bright green "bubbins" of bay needles, like the ones on spruces in the springtime, began to appear. Hester, a tree expert, called it "one case out of a million," and removed the Christmas decorations. Then he took the tree to the college greenhouse to give it a chance to sprout new roots.

Bert McGrane, sports reporter and columnist for the Des Moines Register, took John Mooney, Daily Iowan editor, and myself to task yesterday in his column because he didn't agree with what we had written about Johnny Paychek's recent fight with Al Ettore.

Now McGrane is a man whose opinions about athletes and athletics I have come to respect. However, in this particular case I am convinced he's chasing up a blind alley in his root-de-root for Paychek.

The Des Moines bellhop didn't look like a fighter who is destined to mow 'em down in his appearance against the washed-up Philadelphia veteran. He didn't even look like a fair heavyweight to me. Nevertheless, McGrane has nothing but praise for Paychek, who he would have folks believe is a combination Dempsey, Tunney and Louis.

As I said before, Bert has every right in the world to think this I do object, however, when McGrane intimates that neither Mooney nor I would recognize a good fighter if we saw one—which, incidentally, we didn't see in that particular fight.

However, in view of McGrane's prestige as a sports expert, we decided to take a look at the records, thinking that perhaps we were wrong and that Paychek was after all a great fighter.

By a fortunate coincidence the latest edition of "Ring" magazine was on the newstands. Furthermore, by another happy stroke of luck the magazine contained the ratings of every boxer in the world.

One look at the records and I was convinced more than ever that we were right in our estimation of Paychek as a fighter. This terror of the ring; this man killer; this peerless fighting machine was resting comfortably in the number 30 slot. That, needless to say, isn't my idea of a great fighting machine.

Just a word about the terrific swash "our Johnny", is cutting through the foremost contenders for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Al Ettore, billed as the man who would put Paychek to the acid test, weighs in as the 37th ranking heavyweight fighter in the world. Charlie Beranger, Russ Wasser and "Kingfish" Levinski, all victims of this Des Moines killer, are obscured in the fine print at the bottom of the page, obviously forgotten men of the ring.

That being the case—it can be verified by securing the February edition of Ring magazine—it would seem that "our Johnny" is going in the wrong direction.

Incidentally, Bert, Lou Nova is at the top of the heap, ranking second only to the heavyweight champion of the world.

Bucks, Michigan Swim to 42-42 Tie

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Finishing strong in the last two events, Michigan's swimming team ended Ohio State's dual meet supremacy with a 42-42 tie tonight in a see-saw battle.

Eleven points in arrears at the end of seven events, the Wolverines grabbed the first two places in the 440-yard free style and then beat the Buckeyes in the final event, the 400-yard free style relay, by inches.

So close was the finish in the last race that the judges took more than a minute to decide the winner. Mike Pepp, Buckeye swimmer, called, said after the event that "we should have been given a tie."

With three of their stars out with ineligibility, the Wolverines relied on two sophomores, James Welsh and Charles Barker, for victory. Welsh pulled a surprise by winning both the 220-yard and 400-yard free style events.

Ohio State hung up pool records in the 300-yard medley relay, the 150-yard backstroke, and the 200-yard breaststroke.

I.S.C. Smashes Grinnell

AMES (AP)—Iowa State college swimmers smashed four Big Ten conference records as they won a lopsided 62 to 22 victory over Grinnell, a non-conference member, here yesterday. Seidler, who won Grinnell's only first place by taking the 220 free style and 440 free style events, negotiated the latter in 5:41 to clip 3.8 seconds off the Missouri Valley conference mark that had stood since 1928.

Badger Day Here Feb. 18

WISCONSIN will have a big meeting with Iowa at the Hawkeye fieldhouse Feb. 18, with the Badger track and swimming teams taking on the Iowa thinclads and tankmen.

The track meet, which was originally scheduled for Feb. 22, has been changed to Feb. 18, and will come the same afternoon as the Badger swimmers are entertained here.

In order to keep the meets from conflicting, Iowa officials have decided to have the track meet begin at 1:30 and to hold the swimming battle until after the track events are completed, at 3 o'clock.

These will be the only home events of that week end for the Hawkeyes, since the basketball and gymnastic teams will be on road trips and the wrestlers have no meet scheduled.

Freshman Tracksters Get Ready for Meet

Ted Swenson, who has a postal meet with the Purdue freshmen scheduled for his own first year trackmen on Feb. 18, has issued a call for all freshmen who wish to get in shape for the meet.

The Purdue meet is one of several that have been scheduled for the freshman squad.

Drake Wins Grinnell

GRINNELL (AP)—Drake university cagers held the Grinnell quintet scoreless 13 out of the last 14 minutes of play last night as they defeated the Pioneers 35 to 27 in a Missouri Valley conference basketball game here. It was Drake's first conference victory in three games and Grinnell's second defeat in four.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Bash boulevard had its good ear to the ground today, and the anxious citizens of Orange, N. J., will no doubt be pleased to learn that their one-and-only Tom Galento is back in the good graces of Uncle Mike Jacobs and his brain trust.

Uncle Mike, himself, just won't talk about heavyweight futures until after tea and cakes are served at the Joe Louis-John Henry Lewis title party next Wednesday. But you have it on good authority that the belting beer barrel from across the Hudson river figures largely in the recipe your good uncle is concocting for the heavyweight stew.

"Dose Bums"

For a time there, Tony's general classification for all heavyweights—"dose bums"—was ringing on deaf ears as far as the center of the industry was concerned. But you can't laugh off nine straight knockouts, wet, damp or otherwise. So right now, Tony's future, once he fulfills fights for which he is already booked in Miami, Detroit and Chicago, will be as gratifying as the beer and spaghetti he sets before the guests in his Orange drinking emporium.

First off, there's the offer Mike already has made him for a get-together with California Lou Nova in Madison Square garden March 10. Two Tom Tony and his manager, jabbering Joe Jacobs, are all for that. But in the event such negotiations fall through, something new popped up today to take its place.

This was the arrival of Gus Greenlee, who reported to Mike that his heavy, John Henry Lewis, is ready, willing and able to become the party of the second part with Galento. Gus' offer may have been just a little bit rash, when you come to think of it, considering that John Henry

In a free scoring battle last night, Wilton Junction defeated St. Patrick's by a score of 48-35. Although the Junction lads led throughout the contest, the Irish threatened several times, especially in the third quarter.

Beinke, highly touted forward of the Beavers, ran true to form, scoring 20 points, 16 of which came in the last half. Norton and Oveson counted 12 and 10 markers respectively, giving these three practically a monopoly on the Beavers' scoring. Miller rang up 14 points to lead the Pat's.

Coach Lee Mathes' boys gave a good account of themselves in the first quarter by counting 16 points, largely inspired by Norton's fancy long shots. In the meantime they were holding the Irish to 10 markers.

St. Pat's picked up a point on the Beavers in the second period, which ended with the latter in the lead, 24-19. Midway in this stanza, Smith took a neat sucker shot, but the ball balanced itself on the rim resting against the bankboard.

The diminutive forward had traveled on the play, however, thereby disposing of a possible argument.

The Green and White crept up to within three points of the Muscatine county boys at the end of the third quarter, which ended 31-28, but they fell apart in the final stanza, demoralized by Beinke's uncanny shooting.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—is in for no pink tea Wednesday night.

Tony and Joe Jacobs accepted Uncle Mike's proposition for a Nova meeting on the spot, but just what Lou thinks of this remains to be seen. Lou already is signed to tangle with Max Baer in May, and may not want to risk his title chances with the pudgy pounder, whose left hooks to the body operate in the same general fashion as a set of meat cleavers. At least, Jorge Brescia, who was stowed away by Tony in a minute and 41 seconds last night, will testify they do.

Nova and his manager, Ray Carlin, are relaxing just now in Hot Springs, far from the cauliflower club, but Mike was in touch with them today to learn their reaction. Just how they feel about it was not disclosed.

For Uncle Mike is taking no chances of any other heavyweight headlines stealing the attention of the cash customers from his championship waltz Wednesday.

Tony, back on his diet again after a day of training—the diet is made up exclusively of one-lots of beer and two-more spaghetti—was still shouting at a late hour this evening that he would, A-flatten Nova, B-annihilate Baer and C-knock Louis apart with one punch, in that order.

This statement may seem far-fetched in most quarters, but Galento, who is either the most naive man in the ring, or the best actor, is fully confident such a program is a pushover.

U-high's conference hopes received a severe jolt last night when they dropped a hotly contested battle to Monticello by the score of 19-16. The defeat shoved the locals into the lower bracket in the league standings, and practically eliminated them from any share in the title.

Ray Behrends, lanky Monticello pivot man, garnered five field goals and two free throws to lead both teams in scoring with a total of 12 points.

The Blue and White lads had no one who could match the scoring ability of Behrends, and as a result their scoring was divided evenly among four men. Ernie Krogh led the locals' attack with five points while Dawson and Burns each garnered four. Duane Carson, veteran guard, counted the other three markers.

Inability to make good on numerous close-in shots was largely responsible for the locals' defeat. Every lad who saw action missed several good shots that could have very easily turned defeat into victory. In addition to this glaring weakness, the Blue and White boys failed again to count on their charity shots, missing eight of 12 attempts.

The U-high sophomores lost a 27-22 decision to the Monticello reserves in the curtain-raiser.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Since Ned Irish turned a basketball into a garden gate with his doubleheaders at the Madison Square hall, there is a tendency on the part of the home towners to consider New York as the national capital of the game.

It's really just another county seat.

In fact, considering the number of possible customers, it would appear New Yorkers practically ignore the sport when their ratio of attendance is compared with smaller communities.

Real Fans

For real, unadulterated, basketball fanatics the prize goes to such states as Indiana and Kansas, where on game nights in every hamlet there usually is nobody home but the family cat. Attendance flirts with 100 per cent.

Indiana, for instance, goes positively berserk when the high school tournaments roll around. The Hutchinson, Kan., Herald printed 44 high school and junior college box scores in one edition, which is, well, a lot of box scores.

Big Ten schools, many in comparatively small cities, draw crowds which, figuring the possible customers, make the garden's 17,000 crowds seem positively an emaciated turnout, again considering population.

And when the national tournaments are held, it is Denver, Kansas City or Wichita which bids for and gets them.

No Boundaries

Basketball skill is not confined to any particular section. Last year Temple of Philadelphia had one of the best, if not the best college team in the country, Stanford, when Hank Luisetti was making headlines, was a stand-out. Adolph Rupp has consistently good quintets at Kentucky. About three years ago a team called the Rinaldis went to the National A. A. U. tournament at Denver to show the cleverest ball handling ever seen there. The boys were just too short on one end. Long Island university has been knocking them off from all sections of the country this season.

But the idea persists that the Midwest puts out more really good teams than the other sections. The Big Ten, Big Six and Missouri Valley conferences can take care of themselves very nicely, and there are scads of smaller schools like Butler, Bradley, Toledo, the Warrensburg and Maryville, Mo., Teachers, and Southwestern of Kansas which often as not cut a big school down to their size.

Fast Company

And add to the collegiate angle the fact that the central states boast an A. A. U. league which is the fastest amateur circuit in the country, almost annually producing the national champion, and the Midwest's claim to at least a few steps of the capital appears justified.

All of which by no means indicates New York is backward, or that Ned Irish hasn't done a grand job of gaining national publicity for his games. But it does mean that, in proportion to population, the big city's interest can't be compared with that of some hamlet which turns off the lights at home and turns them on at the community hall to yell itself into a rasping whisper for the home boys.

Praise for Dr. Eddie Anderson, the University of Iowa's new football coach, and the prediction that his work will bring results has been given by Lawrence Perry, noted sports writer for the New York Sun.

Perry lauded the Notre Dame system with its balanced line and shifting backfield and cited Notre Dame, Holy Cross and Alabama as examples of its enduring efficiency.

Then he writes, "I know of no coach who can do a better job in developing mediocrity into high efficiency. For a season or so results of his work may not be spectacular but they will eventually appear."

"All the Notre Dame system needs is what any system needs: excellent material, and a small doubt Anderson will find it coming to hand."

BULLETIN

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Pinkle George, Des Moines fight promoter, tonight announced Johnny Paychek of Des Moines will meet Red Burman in an outdoor match sometime next summer.

George said he and Max Waxman, Burman's manager, had signed for the match, and that George had posted a $10,000 guarantee. The date and place for the match will be settled later he said.

DUBUQUE, Jan. 20 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—With a high-scoring forward by the name of Jim Cooper playing the hero's role, Dubuque edged out the Little Hawks of Iowa City, 27-26, in one of those storybook finishes. Cooper sank a free throw for the winning point after the final whistle had been blown.

Pulling out into a 24-18 lead in the first part of the second half, City high looked like a certain winner, but that was when the river team began to click. They scored eight points while the Hawklets were held to a lone field goal in the final quarter, and with the score all tied up, Cooper was fouled just as the game ended. He made good on this deciding shot at the basket.

Cooper led the Dubuque attack throughout the game with four field goals and two free throws for 10 points, while Korsch, from a guard post, gathered eight. Russ Hirt of the Hawklets topped the scoring for the game with 11 and Joe McGinnis, playing his last game, came through with seven.

Marians Lose To C. Rapids Five, 26 to 24

The 13th game proved to be unlucky for St. Mary's last night, the Marianas dropping a hard fought game to St. Pat's of Cedar Rapids, 26-24, on the Parlor City court.

It was the second meeting of the two schools, St. Mary's having won the first clash, 27-16, earlier in the season.

Jack Bock, flashy Rambler forward, was high scorer of the evening, netting nine points. Jim Chadek, Rambler guard, was close behind his teammate, making a total of eight points.

St. Mary's led at the end of the first quarter, 7-4, and were still ahead at the intermission, 17-13. The Iowa City five maintained their lead up until the last quarter, when St. Pat's started to roll up the points.

At first merely able to keep somewhere close to the Ramblers, the Irish began to slowly overhaul the invading quintet. It was a case of basket for basket. Then St. Pat's went on their last quarter scoring spree which smashed the Marian victory hopes.

St. Mary's presented a smooth-working contingent, even in defeat. Don Schmidt, tall Marian pivot, played an admirable defensive game, putting on a good show against Kenney, highly touted Irish center.

Guards Jim Chadek and Bill Bock again indicated that they are as able in the scoring department as they are in defensive work. Jack Bock and George Chadek, Marian forwards, put up a good fight against their towering opponents, and hit the basket steadily.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Spectacular golf cracked par and the championship hopes of many favorites yesterday as the field marched through first and second rounds of the $5,000 San Francisco match play open tournament. Heading the list of eight survivors of two of the most thrilling eighteens in the nine year history of the event was Harold McSpaden, seasoned linksman from Winchester, Mass.

June De Vall, A3 of Sidney, (above), and Maude Moore, A4 of St. Joseph, Mo., are dusting off the books and getting comfortable for the long examination week coming. Comfort has been found to be the basis of successful cramming.

The professors have told you what to study, now it's your turn to find out how to study. This week, the minds of the students at the university will be turning over in mazes of formulae, dates and names, and lists of "must knows" will be among the more pressing problems.

Psychologists will tell you the best position for assimilating knowledge is lying flat on your back on a bed. This may be well and good, but the consensus of opinion has found that this is too conducive to sleep. At 3 o'clock in the morning if you're too comfortable, the arms of Morpheus soon close around you, so better sense warns you from assuming "Suggested Position No. 1."

"Suggested Position No. 2 has been found by many a university student to be ace-high. With the legs resting comfortably on some close object, blood immediately rushes to the tissues of the brain, catches the thoughts that are pouring in and distributes these thoughts evenly over the body. The drawback to this position is that vicious disease known as Foot Asleep. A brief walk around the room, however, will alleviate the difficulty. Miss Moore is shown demonstrating the position above.

"A la tailor" position has been found by generations of intent students to be among the more classic positions for studying. Miss DeVall was caught studying in this position by the photographer.

"Any letters for me?" is the question being asked by each one in this long line of letter seekers. Since 1,400 letters pour into the mail office every week there is a pretty good chance that each anxious young lady may find a missive waiting for her. And some of the luckier ones will find themselves in possession of one of those ever welcome boxes from home.

Every Woman for Herself at Currier When 'The Mail's In' Sign Is Posted

There's a run for the elevators and a dash for the stairs as word flashes up and down the corridors—"the mail's in!" Pushed up against the mail window, the evergrowing line of anxious young ladies forms and winds here and there about the Currier hall lobby.

It's the good old principle of "first come, first served." Bringing those ever-welcome checks from home, words of encouragement for the week end, and those "I'm thinking of you" missives keep Uncle Sam's carriers more than busy. It's a big job in any one's language when more than 1,400 letters pour into Currier each week.

Burning the mid-night oil is much easier if you have a little food to pep up the mental capacity. And if the size and shape of the 180 boxes in the Currier mail office means anything, "food for thought" is hitting a new high. If you're a stamp collector, fields are green around the mail window. Letters not only come from every state in the union, but gay Patee, London, Berlin, Denmark and South American countries.

Blue Monday isn't so blue as far as mail is concerned. The three busiest days are usually Monday, Wednesday and Friday. And if you're lucky enough to have as wide a correspondence as some, these fair residents find all the way from 10 to 25 missives waiting for them.

Quietness and inactivity prevail in the Currier hall lobby until the word flashes. And then, it's every woman for herself—and it's always the "early bird" who gets her mail first.

Variety in Recipes Results In Delicious, Pleasing Meals

Attractive delicious meals three times a day are easy to make if you have a store of slightly different recipes to draw on. Here are three more recipes using cereals which will add variety to your meals.

- Apricot Bread
  - 1 1-2 cups dried apricots
  - 1 1-2 cups water (approximately)
  - 2 tablespoons butter
  - 1-2 cup sugar
  - 1 egg (beaten)
  - 2 cups general purpose flour
  - 4 teaspoons baking powder
  - 1-4 teaspoon soda
  - 3-4 teaspoon salt
  - 1 cup Pettijohn's cereal (uncooked)
  - 1 cup milk
- Cover apricots with water and cook 5 minutes. Drain, cool and cut in strips. Cream butter and sugar, add the egg and beat well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with Pettijohn's and milk. Pour into greased bread loaf tin. Let stand 15 minutes, then bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. (Makes one loaf.)
- Steamed Date Pudding
  - 1 cup uncooked oatmeal
  - 1-2 teaspoon soda
  - 1-4 teaspoon salt
  - 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1-2 pound dates chopped
  - 2 eggs (beaten)
  - 1-3 cup molasses (mild)
  - 2-3 cup water
  - 1 1-2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - Mix oatmeal with soda, salt, cinnamon and dates. Combine the eggs, molasses, water and lemon juice, and add to the dry ingredients. Pour into buttered mold, cover and steam for 3 hours. (Serves 8.)
- Bacon Barley Puffs
  - 6 slices bacon
  - 2 cups pearl barley (cooked)
  - 1 egg (beaten)
  - 1-4 teaspoon salt
  - 1-4 teaspoon pepper
  - 1 tablespoon parsley (minced)
- Line muffin cups with strips of bacon. Combine the remaining ingredients, fill muffin tins 2-3 full and bake in a moderate oven (400 degrees F.) for about 35 minutes.

Van der Zee Will Review Lima Parley

Prof. J. Van der Zee will discuss the Lima conference and sum up the results of that session at a meeting of the government and foreign policy study group of the League of Women Voters Monday in the board room of the public library. The group will meet at 1:30 p.m.

This will be the last meeting of this division on this subject. Any women who are especially interested in the Pan-American problem are invited to attend.

Rest Cure Pre-Spring Prints Being Shown

If you're looking for a bit of relaxation between cramming and "examming" and if you're in need of a new frock to enliven your wardrobe, now's the time for you to go shopping. You'll find the newest spring dresses are being shown in the gay pre-spring prints.

New this season are the smoke prints in which the colors are blended in a new process to give them a sort of subdued finish. Against the darker backgrounds, these brighter patterns give a gay but not flashy effect.

Colors are more popular than ever, according to a local shop. And no wonder with all the lovely ones to choose from.

Most popular of the newer materials are the sheer crepe wools—which aren't wools at all, but rayon woven to simulate woolen.

Hand blocked prints are also being shown in attractive colorful designs. And swing skirts, frills and furberlows are still holding their own.

So if you're in need of a lift, try buying a new frock. There's something quite exhilarating about it. Try it and see.

Degree, Certificate Record May Be Broken January 31

Prof. Higbee Announces 193 Applications In

Sixty-Six Seek B.A.; Swisher Will Give Convocation Talk

A new record for number of degrees and certificates at a University of Iowa mid-year convocation may be set Jan. 31 unless more persons than usual fail to fulfill requirements.

Prof. F. G. Higbee, director of convocations, announced yesterday that applications have been made for 188 degrees and five certificates.

The record, set last year, stands at 171 degrees and 11 certificates actually awarded at the ceremony, breaking the previous mark by more than 30.

As usual, the greatest number of applicants seek the bachelor of arts degree. There are 66 persons in this classification.

The bachelor of science degrees, in ten divisions, total 34 headed by 17 in commerce. Juris doctor, the law award, is the goal of eight persons, the report shows.

Of the 78 persons seeking advanced degrees, 49 are candidates for master of arts, 20 master of science, and 9 doctor of philosophy.

There will be some shrinkage between the number of applications and the total actually presented by President Eugene A. Gilmore on the evening of Jan. 31. This is due to failure of some applicants to complete requirements.

The university's ceremony will be addressed by Benjamin F. Swisher, Waterloo attorney who holds two Iowa degrees and who twice has served as alumni association president.

Movie Revue Wants Impersonators For H. S. Show

Here's your chance to be an actor! If you can impersonate Bob Burns, Tizzie Lish, Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire, Charlie McCarthy, Grace and George Allen, Amos and Andy, the Lane sisters, Stroud twins, Bing Crosby or any other famous stage, screen or radio characters, you are asked to telephone Mrs. Ansel Martin, 5563, for an audition for the "Hollywood Revue." The auditions will be held Jan. 28 at 2:30 p.m. in the bandroom of the high school.

"The Hollywood Revue" will be produced Feb. 22 and 23 under the auspices of the Iowa City high school music auxiliary to raise funds to defray regional contest expenses for the high school vocal and instrumental groups.

St. Mary's To Present Braum's Three-Act Play

St. Mary's Theater guild at a special meeting Wednesday evening, chose Wilbur Braum's three-act comedy, "You're Telling Me," as their next play to be presented in the near future. The date has not been announced.

The cast will include Clyde Burnett, Mervin Belger, Robert Sweeney, Robert Kuncel, Louise S. Pauley, Iren K. Knoedel, Elaine Murray, Helen Shaffer, Margaret Knoedel and Eleanor Kennedy. Mrs. Ruth Mueller will direct the play.

Prof. W. Loehwing Gives Science Talk

Prof. Walter F. Loehwing of the botany department spoke before a community meeting at West Branch last night.

Professor Loehwing talked about recent developments in plant science as applied to everyday life and modified agricultural programs. The talk was illustrated with lantern slides showing different phases of Professor Loehwing's experimental work.

Less Speed Brings Fewer Broken Hydrants

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—This city slashed its speed limit from 35 to 25 miles per hour and saved $440 in broken fire hydrants the first month.

Only one fire hydrant costing $40 to repair was shattered by a speeding motorist the first month after the new speed law went into effect. The same month the year before 12 were smashed and it cost the city $480 to repair them.

Culver-Stockton college is constructing a hotel on its campus.

'Quiet! 30-Seconds!'

From WSUI's speech studio, Prof. H. Clay Harnsberger, who will be director of the university Founder's day broadcast over the National Broadcasting company from coast-to-coast Feb. 25, watches the progress of one of his radio dramatics. This year's is the second NBC radio program.

On Other Campuses

Cram Notes on Wall

MADISON, Wis. (ACP)—Some use black coffee, some use crib notes, and some just forget it! But the University of Wisconsin's Louis Sinitzky has found the best way yet to review.

Lew's wall is decorated by large sheets of paper covered with what at first sight look like Chinese symbols. Seen from a closer view these mysterious figures resolve into organic chemistry formulas.

The semester's work in organic chemistry is outlined on these walls. Lew feels they are safer here than in a notebook, because a notebook can easily be lost.

But why so high? Well, you see, when standing up to study you're less apt to fall asleep, and even if you should fall asleep, you'd wake up when you hit the floor.

Now here's a secret! Lew is moving from his apartment in a few weeks, so if you're beginning organic chemistry next semester, it might be worth your while to rent it. You'd better do it soon, though, before the landlady sees this article and raises the rent.

Dorm Goes on Air

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (ACP)—"This is station DORM, with studios in the top floor of south hall."

Yes, there is a radio station broadcasting from the men's dormitory at Indiana university; but don't waste time trying to get it on your radio unless you live within one block of the hall.

The transmitter may be heard in any room in the hall through a standard broadcast receiver but has a radius of only one block. Similar equipment is being placed in many schools as a means of making announcements, presenting intra-school radio programs and broadcasting advertising.

Wilson Still Trying

UNIVERSITY, Ala. (ACP)—Twenty-one years after the Armistice Woodrow Wilson is still trying to solve the problems of European democracies.

This Woodrow Wilson, however, is a student at the University of Alabama. He is enrolled in a course in European democracies in the political science department.

Athletic Frat Test

Olympic stars and sports champions of all kinds have nothing on members of Sigma Delta Psi for athletic prowess, if all of its members can pass the tests prescribed for those seeking admission to the national honorary athletic fraternity.

The following is the list of 15 tests each applicant must pass: 1. 100-yard dash—11 seconds. 2. 120-yard low hurdles—16 seconds.

3. Running high jump—5 feet. 4. Running broad jump—17 feet. 5. 16-lb. shot-put—30 feet. 6. 20-foot rope climb—12 seconds.

7. Baseball throw—250 feet (or javelin throw—120 feet). 8. Football punt—130 feet. 9. 100-yard swim—1:45 seconds.

10. One mile run—6 minutes. 11. Front hand spring landing on feet. 12. Hand stand—10 seconds. 13. Fence vault to chin high.

Iowa Students Get Materials

Enrollment Must Be Completed by Monday, Jan. 30, Says Dorcas

Hundreds of University of Iowa students now are securing second semester registration material and beginning Monday they will be enrolled at the maximum rate of some 600 daily.

Registrar H. C. Dorcas has announced that the process must be completed by the evening of Monday, Jan. 30, unless the student holds a "deferred registration" card or has been granted an extension by the scholarship and loan committee.

Exceptions are the medical students who will sign up for their courses between Jan. 30 and Feb. 4. Law, dentistry, pharmacy and engineering students will enroll Jan. 27 and 28 while liberal arts, education and commerce students register from Monday to Jan. 30.

Classes in professional colleges begin Jan. 30 while the rest of the units hold their first class meetings the following day.

5,000 Bibles Form Cross

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A great cross formed of 5,000 Bibles was displayed at the Church of the Open Door here. The Bibles were presented by the Gideons, Christian traveling men's organization, for presentation to the public schools of the state.

Child-Rearing Iowa Child Study Plan Goes to India

Child-rearing principles developed in Iowa now are aiding parents of India in the solution of universal problems of family life. From the island of Ceylon off the southeast tip of India, a radio station at Colombo, its chief city, is broadcasting three of the same courses which benefit 2,650 mid-west parents in 190 groups.

Prof. Ralph Ojemann of the University of Iowa Friday announced the Asiatic extension of the Ceylon broadcasts are in charge of Mrs. Kewal Motvani, the Iowa radio child study club, Iowa graduate of 1932.

Chicago Labor Leader Reveals Fact of Own Kidnaping in 1931

Discloses Abduction For First Time In Federal Tax Suit

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (AP)— A veteran labor chieftain disclosed today that he had been kidnaped in 1931. Shortly afterward, his aide named Murray Humphreys, former Chicago public enemy No. 1, as one of the recipients of the $50,000 ransom.

Man Fined Here On Speed Charge

Leonard Cox, Cedar Rapids, was fined $5 and costs by J. M. Kadlec, justice of the peace, yesterday on the charge of speeding. Cox was arrested north of Iowa City by Harry Cloud, state highway patrolman, who brought him here.

Auto Workers Split in Fight For Authority

DETROIT, Jan. 20 (AP)— A wide open battle for control tonight threatened a permanent cleavage in the CIO united automobile workers.

Two factions claimed authority in the union; each proceeded with plans for international conventions. President Homer Martin, his influence sharply curtailed in the past week by a hostile executive board, took drastic action to regain mastery of the union he has headed since its inception in 1936.

He closed the union's international headquarters, removed correspondence to his hotel apartment, and there announced suspension of 15 of his foes on the 24-man executive board.

Martin's opponents also acted quickly. Charging that the youthful president violated the UAW constitution by suspending them, they met in a downtown hotel where, joined by two board members overlooked in the "purge," they issued this statement:

"The international executive board will not let a madman surrounded by gangsters run the UAW."

Nicholas Dragon, a guard assigned to union headquarters by the anti-Martin faction, charged he was assaulted when he encountered the group of men that aided Martin in removing UAW correspondence.

Dragon, on crutches after the incident, said Martin told his assailants, "don't kill him boys," and that he escaped by running down eleven flights of stairs.

Martin denied there had been any violence. The anti-Martin board members announced that the convention they have called to meet at Cleveland March 20 would "proceed in a regular democratic manner."

The Martin-controlled remainder of the board, Martin said, would make "final and fair" arrangements for a Detroit convention, probably to be held about March 1.

Sumner reported he recognized Humphreys as "the one I saw coming around the car to get the money."

Kiley pointed to Humphreys and asked if he was the same man. The witness responded: "That's the boy."

The government's only indicated objective was to collect taxes on Humphreys' income. He already has served 13 months in prison for evasion of taxes in the 1930-32 period. Under Illinois statutes an indictment for kidnaping must be returned within three years of the date of the crime.

Dodd Indicted as Hit-Runner

Dr. William E. Dodd (right), former U. S. ambassador to Germany, leaves Hanover county courthouse, in Richmond, Va., with his attorney, Leon Bazile, after grand jury indicted him on charge of running down Gloria Grimes, a five-year-old colored girl, then fleeing scene, a felony in Virginia. Dodd pleaded not guilty.

WPA Funds Keep Congress In Controversy

Reduction Approved; But Relief Rolls To Be Uncut in Winter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)— A reduction in relief funds was approved today by a senate appropriations subcommittee, but with an added proviso that work relief rolls shall be maintained almost intact through the winter months.

This action, intended as a compromise, was nevertheless followed by definite indications that it had served, if anything, to sharpen the controversy over how much shall be made available for WPA for the remainder of the fiscal year.

President Roosevelt asked for $875,000,000. The house, with a coalition of republicans and conservative democrats in command, cut the figure to $725,000,000. The latter sum was approved today by the senate subcommittee.

At the instance of Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.), however, the subcommittee added an amendment requiring that:

"The number of relief workers shall not be reduced by more than five per cent before April 1. That, regardless of prior restrictions, WPA may appropriate the $725,000,000 over the period between Feb. 7 and June 30 as it sees fit."

That if an emergency arises, President Roosevelt may submit a request for an additional appropriation, with a statement of the facts.

The administrator of WPA shall make an immediate investigation looking to the elimination from the work relief rolls of "those not in actual need."

Administration senators were obviously dissatisfied. They planned an effort to restore the $875,000,000 figure when the issue goes to the full committee and, that failing, a second effort to raise the appropriation on the senate floor. They thought they had a fair chance of success.

Senate Favorable Since the house approved the lower figure, there has been an evident trend of senate sentiment toward backing the appropriation asked by the chief executive. This trend has been based upon an argument that the relief rolls should not be reduced during the cold weather months. The proviso against such a reduction was apparently intended to check this movement.

"We don't want anyone put off the relief rolls and into the snow," Byrnes said. "But on April 1, when building will be picking up, and farmers will be needing help, then enough should be put off to enable employers to find workers for private jobs."

Asks $1,500 In Damage Suit

Mrs. Betty Turkal Charges Alienation Of Affections

Mrs. Betty Turkal asked $1,500 damages from her mother-in-law, Mrs. Barbara Turkal, and Frank Turkal, her brother-in-law, in a petition filed yesterday in Johnson county district court charging alienation of affections. She is at present defendant in a divorce petition filed by her husband, Charles Turkal, Dec. 29.

She asked in a cross-petition filed by her attorney, Will J. Hayek, that the original petition filed by her husband be dismissed. She asked further for separate maintenance and a restraint to be put upon her husband from dispersing any of his property in Big Grove township.

A temporary injunction prohibiting Mrs. Turkal from occupying the premises of her husband in Big Grove township was granted by Judge Evans on Dec. 29.

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt scared congress badly when he reminded the lawmakers, in his recent message to them, that they will have to accept the responsibility for any cuts they make in the national spending-allowance which he recommends.

The legislators are somewhere between the devil and the deep blue sea.

A majority of them undoubtedly are of the opinion that our voters predominantly believe Uncle Sam already is plenty far enough into the red, and their judgment is to pare down all they can. If they do not do it they are afraid their constituents will turn them down on a future election day. Yet if they do pare down and times tighten up, they know they'll be blamed for that, too.

Our solons are rather more apprehensive, in theory, of danger No. 1 than of danger No. 2. In practice, however, No. 2 is more immediately threatening than No. 1.

If they indorse increased expenditures and deficits now, they foresee inflation and disaster in the long run—but maybe not for several election days to come.

Meantime safety, for those several election days to come. On the other hand, suppose congress begins to retrench forthwith. The pinch will be felt almost instantaneously—and on NEXT election day the chaps who advocated it will lose out, whatever later generations may say as to the soundness of today's legislators' policy. Indeed, today's crowd will not be remembered at all; they are especially interested in hanging onto their present jobs.

Our members of the 76th congress are aware of all this, but President Roosevelt emphatically rubbed the idea in when he called for copious billions without delay.

Balancing the Budget An occasional lawmaker advocates a semi-balancing of huge expenditures by increased taxation.

Sen. Robert M. LaFollette conspicuously is of this very small group.

He does not dispute the necessity for vast emergency revenues to meet emergency needs, but he does not like running into debt. "Let's have higher taxes," he urges, "to pay as we go along."

But nothing is more unpopular than higher taxes.

It is a wonder to me that a politician like "Young Bob" LaFollette has the nerve to plug for such a

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1938-1939

Saturday, January 21, 8 a.m., to Saturday, January 28, 4 p.m., 1939

The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (1), (2) and (3) as shown at the second N.B. below).

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation from this schedule, in the case of any examination—except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification on the student's written petition, filed in ample time and supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of completing examinations earlier will not be permitted.

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card. In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the Schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below, meet for examinations during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double vertical line. N.B. Unless students are reasonably sure that their semester's work, including final examinations, is successful they are requested to call (within the 24-hour period following the conclusion of each of their final examinations) at the offices of the deans of men and women, appropriately, in order to learn whether any of their instructors have reported Fd. for them; and if any student has reason to suspect that Fd. will be his record for one or more courses, he is requested not to register until he learns that he has passed.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) This instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him or her, not later than the regular class hour, January 16 or 17, if possible, January 9 or 10.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8—and the class will meet for examination Monday, January 23, 2-4, according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (125) meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Friday, January 27, 2-4.

N.B. All sections of freshman Speech (1), (2) and (3) will meet during the examination week on the days and at the periods designated below. Rooms are assigned by the instructors.

Saturday, January 21—Section D, 8-10; Speech (2), 8-10.
Monday, January 23—Section A, 1-3; Section E, 3-5.
Thursday, January 26—Section I, 8-10; Section C, 1-3; Speech 2A, 1-3; Section G, 3-5.

Friday, January 27—Section J, 8-10; Section H, 10-12; Section B, 1-3; Section 3B, 1-3; Section F, 3-5.

"ODD" classes—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from January 21 to January 27, inclusive.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs." unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to his examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to a student after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

Koser Elected Head of Mason Service Club

Wm. Frey Speaks On College Athlete's Training Equipment

George D. Koser was elected president of the Masonic service club at the weekly meeting yesterday in the Masonic temple. He succeeds Prof. E. G. (Dad) Schroeder, who has served for the past year.

Other officers elected yesterday include Telford Larew, vice-president; Roy F. Warner, secretary and treasurer, and Donald D. Brown, sergeant at arms.

Those whose terms expired are Dr. W. M. Rohrbacher, vice-president, and Jacob P. Wegmuller, sergeant at arms. Installation of officers are scheduled on next week's meeting.

Colleges and universities are becoming more and more fully equipped as the years go by as the view put forth by William Frey, university athletic trainer and secretary of the National Athletic Trainers association, who spoke before yesterday's meeting.

Frey told his audience that there were no deaths in college athletics in 1933. He contended that serious injuries are rare today because of the careful check being kept on athletes' physical conditions.

Keeping tab on the blood count, Frey said, is one of the methods employed by coaches and trainers to tell whether or not their boys are in condition.

Funk--

rector of the four-year plan to make Germany self-sufficient in the important jobs of financing nazi government and selling its products abroad.

Schacht, who had the confidence of foreign bankers because they felt he spoke their financial language, once held this same double barreled position until he quit as economics minister Oct. 26, 1937. Funk succeeded him in the economics post a month later.

Schacht's predecessor as economics minister, Hans Luther, resigned March 16, 1933, shortly after Hitler's rise and in his letter of resignation said political developments made it necessary for the Reichsbank to work closely with the government in all financial matters. Conversations with Hitler had convinced him there were obstacles to his execution of those duties, he said.

Schacht had guided the Reichsbank since 1923 with the exception of three years.

Although Schacht remained in the cabinet as minister without portfolio, Hitler's dropping of his financial pilot was likened to Emperor Wilhelm II's parting in 1890 with Bismarck, the iron chancellor who had served under two previous regimes.

Hitler's swift move for "a unified leadership of economics, financial and money market policies," as set forth in a communique, put the power in the hands of one man thoroughly versed in nazi practices and principles. This was interpreted as a follow-through of a policy started last August when heavy demands were made on Germany's financial resources because of threatened war over the Sudeten - Czechoslovak issue.

Funk has been chief nazi economic advisor to Hitler since 1931 and also had a hand in setting up the nazi propaganda machine.

Last August a return was made against Schacht's will to short-term financing. This had been abandoned in April in favor of obtaining funds through long-term financing and taxation.

Rearmament, road building and Hitler's determination to endow Germany with gigantic buildings had been financed through so-called work bills rediscounted by the Reichsbank. These made up what is frequently referred to as Germany's secret debt because the exact figures are never disclosed. Their amount has been estimated at between 12,000,000,000 and 16,000,000,000 marks ($4,800,000,000 and $6,400,000,000.)

Schacht in April tried to halt this ever-growing secret debt and force private investors to hand over their money to keep the government running.

Financial quarters agreed this failed partly because nazi leaders would not permit increased taxation and partly because frequent government long-term loans kept the private capital market dry. Pressure for cash during the autumn European crisis caused a return to short-term borrowing and differences of opinion between the Reichsbank president and nazi leaders.

Actress Gets Ruppert Millions

Former Chorus Girl Inherits $300,000 And One-Third of Colonel's Estate

By SCOTT HERSHEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—One of the hundreds of small town girls who came to New York in 1920 dreaming of theatrical fame and fortune today was given the real-life role of an heiress to one third of the vast fortune left by the multi-millionaire bachelor, Col. Jacob Ruppert.

She is Helen Winthrop Weyant, native of Springfield, Mass., a striking brunette in her late thirties who appeared as a chorus girl in several Broadway productions under the name of Winthrop Wayne. In addition to an outright bequest of $300,000 she will receive one third of the Ruppert baseball, brewing and building fortune, estimated variously at from $30,000,000 to $70,000,000.

Unofficial estimates indicated federal and state taxes might reduce the estate to about $12,000,000.

Colonel Ruppert's will, admitted to probate today, named two nieces, Helen Ruppert Silleck (Mrs. Joseph Halloran) and Ruth Rita Silleck (Mrs. J. Basil McGuire) both of Greenwich, Conn., as the other major beneficiaries. The Lenox Hill hospital was bequeathed $150,000 and the colonel's collection of art objects goes to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The bequests to the colonel's nieces were not unexpected, but the naming of Miss Weyant left even her upset and she declined to see reporters. A spokesman for Miss Weyant said she had no knowledge of the bequest until she received a telegram this morning. The spokesman quoted her as saying: "I didn't know that Mr. Ruppert even considered me in his will."

Burial of Telephone, Telegraph Man To Be in Oakland Plot

Funeral service for Hollis Erwin Rogers, 42, 1015 Muscatine avenue, who died yesterday morning at Mercy hospital, will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Oathout funeral chapel. The Rev. Ilijon T. Jones will officiate. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Rogers, chief testboard operator of the American Telephone and Telegraph company here, was taken to the hospital Sunday after suffering a ruptured appendix. An operation proved beyond help due to serious complications.

He was born on June 15, 1897 at Hartsville Ala. He married Wilhelmina Anderson, then of Newport, R. I., in 1919. He and Mrs. Rogers came here from Davenport three years ago. Mr. Rogers spent most of his years in North Platte, Neb., and moved from there to Davenport, where he resided for eight years.

A World war veteran, he also instructed in the navy department for two years at Newport, R. I. He was a member of the Presbyterian church here and was an active Mason.

He is survived by his wife; two children, Betty and James Rogers; his father, Edward H. Rogers, Hartsville, Ala., and a sister, Mrs. Eugene Jones, Moulton, Ala. The body will remain at the funeral home till time of burial.
