Women Finish Study of State Service Costs

Lists Contend That Rates Third Higher Than Iowa Average

Petitions requesting an immediate reduction in Iowa City water service rates will be presented to the city council, meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the council chambers, by Mrs. F. A. Stromsten. Mrs. Stromsten represents a group of Iowa City women who have been circulating the petitions for several weeks.

The petitions, addressed to Mayor Myron G. Walker and members of the city council, contend that Iowa City residents have been paying water rates a third larger than the average rate for first class cities within the state.

Mrs. Stromsten said last night that the total number of signers to the petitions will not be known until late this afternoon because all of the blanks have not been turned in.

"All of the women who have been circulating the petitions have reported they are being met with great favor and only a very few persons have refused to sign," Mrs. Stromsten said.

The group of women indicated that they will attend the council meeting tonight, and that a large number of persons in sympathy with the movement will be present. Several of the women canvassers will tell the council of the success the petitions met with.

The action for the reduction of the water rates developed from a study by the women's group of the cost of the operation of water plants within the state last fall when the offer was made by the Iowa Water Service company to sell the local water plant to the city.

In compiling the data obtained by this study, the group found that the average rate paid by residents of first class cities in the state for 300 cubic feet of water service, the average monthly consumption, was 85 and a fourth cents. For the same service, the group reported that Iowa City residents paid $1.28.

Accompanying the petitions, the canvassers for the group distributed charts showing comparative rates for water service in all Iowa cities over 10,000 population to all persons interviewed at the question.

The group set as its goal 2,000 signatures before presentation of the petitions to the council for action.

Muntz, Iowa Commission Head, Wife, To Be Buried Saturday at Dubuque

DUBUQUE, Feb. 2 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Saturday afternoon for Otto Muntz, 42, advisory chairman of the Greater Iowa commission, and his wife, 44, who were fatally injured in an automobile collision east of Brooklyn yesterday.

Muntz died early today in a Grinnell hospital where his wife died late yesterday. The Muntz home is in Des Moines.

Deputy Sheriff William Welsh of Poweshiek county reported the Muntz car, headed east, collided with an auto driven by Mrs. Luide Schlesselman of Victor. The Muntz car apparently went out of control on an icy hill, the deputy said.

Her right leg almost severed, Mrs. Schlesselman was reported in fair condition at the Grinnell hospital.

Originator of the Greater Iowa commission, Muntz engaged in heated controversy with former Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel over some of the projects. Kraschel dismissed him as commission chairman, but compromised later and named him advisory chairman.

Burial will be at Dubuque, where both Muntz and his wife formerly lived.

San Quentin Strikers in Cells on Bread Diet; Warden Smith Seeks Real Source of Trouble

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Feb. 2 (AP)—Three thousand prisoners who went on a hunger strike yesterday, ostensibly against San Quentin prison's menu, remained in their cells today and ate bread while Warden Court Smith worried about what he termed a potential "powder keg" situation.

More than half the prison's population of 5,250, supposedly the largest convict group in the United States, was on strike.

On Smith's order, one-pound portions of bread were handed to each striker during the morning. The bread disappeared quickly.

The warden expressed the belief that food was not the real

GRAND ARMY Route No. 6 Designated For Honors

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—A bill to designate highway No. 6 across Iowa as the "Grand Army of the Republic highway" was filed in the Iowa senate today.

Senator John P. Berg (R) of Cedar Falls offered the measure, with a preamble stating it is "fitting and proper that the veterans of the Civil war shall receive recognition for their valiant services in the war to preserve the union from 1861 to 1865."

Highway No. 6 crosses Iowa between Council Bluffs and Davenport by way of Des Moines, Newton and Iowa City.

Capen Will Make Survey Board of Education Will Study Setup Of Institutions

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—State board of education officials today announced Dr. Samuel P. Capen, nationally known educator of Buffalo, N. Y., had been engaged to make a "consolidation and coordination" survey of Iowa's state university and college system.

Officials said Capen would study the Iowa setup with the view of coordinating the various courses of instruction in the Iowa institutions.

Dean W. Peisen (R) Eldora, house consolidation committee chairman, said he had not discussed the survey with board members.

Passage of a bill to discontinue the college of engineering at the University of Iowa has been recommended by the joint house and senate committee.

Board officials said the proposed survey was approved in action taken Jan. 12.

Sec. Perkins Given Chance For Explanation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—The house judiciary committee considering impeachment charges against Secretary Perkins decided at a closed session today to offer her an opportunity Tuesday to tell her administration of the labor department.

San Quentin Strikers in Cells on Bread Diet; Warden Smith Seeks Real Source of Trouble

Complaints against the menu, he said, were vague. He was hopeful of learning the exact situation.

"This may be a powder keg," said Warden Smith. "We can only guess at the real trouble, but I believe fewer than one third of the affected prisoners are in sympathy with the strike. It is possible they are being led by a few agitators seeking to direct publicity to the prison as a means of gaining additional privileges."

The dissatisfied prisoners talked in undertones among themselves. Guards refused to disclose what they were discussing. There was no violence.

The strike began at mid-day yesterday when about 1,500 convicts refused to enter the mess hall. Forewarned that the prisoners were about to rebel against the corned beef hash served regularly at noon every Wednesday, Smith had ordered the luncheon menu changed to meat loaf and spaghetti.

But the strike spread in spite of the change. By lockup time last night some 4,000 convicts had refused to eat. An official checkup today showed 2,500 prisoners ate breakfast and went to work, and the prison mess prepared short rations for the evening meal.

Argentine President Anxious To Reestablish U. S. Trade On a More Equitable Basis

Declares Argentina Free-From Fascist Influence or Invasion

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 2 (AP)—President Roberto M. Ortiz in an interview today said Argentina was in no danger, either immediate or remote, of invasion or even subtle penetration by the armies or doctrines of Europe's totalitarian states.

At the same time the chief executive declared a way must be found to reestablish United States-Argentine trade on a more equitable basis.

The president's comments were made at a time when the belief has made headway here that a triangular trade agreement among Argentina, the United States and Brazil may be in the making.

Such speculation has arisen largely in connection with the visit of Brazil's foreign minister, Oswaldo Aranha, to Washington at the invitation of President Roosevelt. Aranha is on his way to the United States.

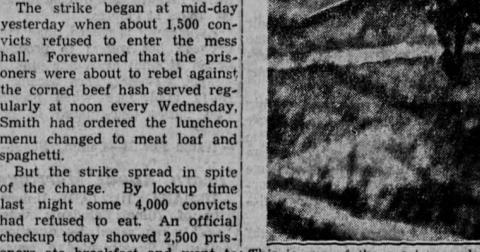

Without mentioning the possibility of a triangular pact, however, President Ortiz today said he was "confident the way will be found" to better trade relations with the United States.

"An agreement depends on so little. We must be ready to compromise on both sides and on the side of the United States so little is required."

Discussing fascist ambitions, he questioned the preoccupation of statesmen and newspapers in the United States with fears the rich farming and mining lands of southern South America may fall to the expansionist regimes of Germany or Italy.

"In Argentina penetration of any kind is next to impossible," he said. "Our population in a great degree is distinctly Argentine. We do not have the problem of potential minorities."

Relief Measure Goes to F. R. For Signature

Bill Cuts President's Recommendation By 150 Million Dollars

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt got his first bill from the new congress today—the emergency measure appropriating $725,000,000 to keep WPA going until June 30.

He found: That the total was $150,000,000 less than he had recommended. That congress also had loaded the bill with restrictions on political use of the money and had voted to countermand a presidential order that would have blanketed WPA administrative employees into the civil service.

Congressional leaders said, however, there was no indication of a veto. They pointed out that the measure virtually invites the president to request more money should an emergency arise.

The bill went to the president when the house approved, after considerable debate, the compromise measure worked out by a senate-house committee from the separate versions passed by the two branches of congress.

The only real dispute ended when the chamber, by a 252 to 140 vote, backed down on its amendment that would have forbidden WPA wage differentials of more than 25 per cent for the same type of work in different areas.

The senate had said it didn't want the differentials proposal and had refused to compromise. It was a mere matter of routine when the house approved compromise provisions, previously accepted by the senate, which were designed to strip politics from WPA.

In its final form, the relief bill makes it a felony for any person to deprive or threaten to deprive any other individual of any benefits from the relief fund on account of support of or opposition to any political party or candidate, or to solicit campaign contributions from anyone paid from the relief funds now available.

Prof. Kurt Lewin of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station left Wednesday for Harvard university where he will become a member of the Harvard faculty and will lecture in the psychological institute of that school.

Professor Lewin was chosen as one of the 250 outstanding men in science in the world in 1937. Before coming to Iowa in 1935 he was associated with the University of Berlin, Stanford university, and Cornell university.

Professor Lewin is also author of "Dynamic Theory of Personality" and "Topological Psychology."

Professor Lewin, who was given a five month's leave of absence, plans to return to Iowa next fall.

Program Features Extensive Exhibits; Grant Wood to Talk

The graphic and plastic arts department of the university will be host today and tomorrow to some 20 delegates at the second annual meeting of the Midwestern College Art conference.

The conference is a new organization devoted to the problems of administration and development of the curricula of art departments in the universities and colleges of the middle western states.

Longman Is Head Prof. Lester D. Longman of the university art department is president of the conference.

Each school will be represented by the head of its art department or an appointed proxy. Among the delegates attending will be Norman Rice from the Chicago Art institute; Renssler Lee, Northwestern university; Rexford Newcomb, University of Illinois; Robert E. Burke, University of Indiana; Laurentia Schantz-Hansen, Purdue university; W. H. Varnum, Wisconsin university; William McCloy, Drake university; Marvin Cone, Coe college, and Edith Sternfeld, Grinnell college.

The outstanding work achieved in both undergraduate and graduate instruction in art brought the conference to Iowa this year. In appreciation of this honor the art department has organized the most extensive group of exhibitions of paintings and sculpture in the history of the school.

Among Exhibits Headlining the collections are the retrospective exhibitions of Alexander Archipenko's work, including sculpture, paintings, drawings, and photographs, which will be displayed in the exhibition lounge of the fine arts building, and a group of 18 paintings in oil by Max Beckmann, a prominent member of the German post-war expressionist painters. The Beckmann show comes directly from the Crocker galleries in Sacramento, Calif., and the Archipenko exhibition from the museum of the John Herron Art institute in Indianapolis.

In addition, a selected group of 12 water colors from the recent seventh annual water color gallery will be on view in the east and west foyers. The picture of the month for January, "Erminia and the Shepherds" by Solimena, has been held over for the conference and will also be shown in the west foyer.

Student Work Shown A large and comprehensive exhibition of work by students of the department during the last few years has been placed on the walls of the corridors on the first floor of the fine arts building, and in the mural and sculpture studios.

Sec. Ickes Declares No Danger U. S. Will Enter Foreign War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Critics of President Roosevelt's foreign policy carried to the country tonight their fight against what they called "secret and unnatural acts" likely to lead the United States into war against totalitarian countries.

Nine republicans on the house foreign affairs committee issued a manifesto declaring that the people, "irrespective of party, are opposed to being committed to any war program through secret diplomacy."

The statement was the latest development in the furious argument which began when it became known that the president had approved the sale of privately manufactured American war planes to France as part of a definite policy of helping the democratic states of Europe to arm.

Other republicans and some democrats criticized the president, while administration supporters approved of his acts. Secretary of Interior Ickes declared today that there was no danger of the United States going into a foreign war.

Ridiculing former President Hoover's statement last night that the Roosevelt foreign policy raised the dangers of war, Ickes said: "I know of no one in any responsible administrative post who is not ardently for peace for this country. We have to make allowances for Mr. Hoover. He is a disappointed, broken hearted man and naturally can't find anything except to criticize."

Meanwhile Germany's announcement that she intended to double her submarine fleet created a stir of interest here, especially since it came at a time when the reich was aroused over President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

While expert observers were studying the meaning of this, the house appropriations subcommittee made progress with a bill providing money for the military needs of the government in the coming fiscal year.

Italians Threaten Panama Canal

ROME, Feb. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt's assertion, reported in the Italian press, that the United States frontier is in France today drew a fascist threat that if the United States extended her first line to Europe, Germany and Italy would move their defenses "up to the Panama canal."

Virginio Gayda, regarded as Premier Mussolini's mouthpiece, writing in Il Giornale D'Italia under the heading, "Peace sabotaged by Washington," asserted: "In pushing the offensive confines of the United States up to the Rhine, Roosevelt clearly creates for Germany and Italy the duty of extending their defensive confines up to the Panama canal."

"His policy which lavishes itself in creating new gratuitous complications in Europe become therefore responsible for the profoundest world alterations."

Il Lavoro Fascista said President Roosevelt's reported remarks represented "the Jewish international at work."

It's Our Battle

THE STORY of the men who fight disease is more than a story of adventure. It can be, and often is, dressed in glamour; yet the significance of the battle is so tremendous that a decisive victory must always be kept in sight as the goal.

In times when a nation is plunged into a great military campaign, civilian forces are marshaled to do work that is as vital as that of soldiers at the front. Now we are engaged in a great battle against a sinister enemy—infantile paralysis.

What are we doing "back home"? That is an important question for Iowa Citizens. The burden this city must carry is greater than that of other Iowa communities. Nowhere else in the middle-west is such an opportunity offered for a community to back a crusade.

What are we doing "back home"? That is an important question for Iowa Citizens. The burden this city must carry is greater than that of other Iowa communities. Nowhere else in the middle-west is such an opportunity offered for a community to back a crusade.

Already research is being planned at Children's hospital with funds provided in the first grant of $8,500 received recently. This work will be extended and broadened if additional funds are provided. It seems only fitting that the contributions of Iowa Citizens, in turn, be as generous as possible.

Iowa Juvenile Delinquents

JUVENILE delinquency is a question that has had special consideration in Iowa City since the organization of the co-ordinating council in 1936.

It has been interesting to watch the growing success of that organization, a body whose purpose is to prevent juvenile delinquency.

middlewestern institutions, including two in Iowa, has been called unsatisfactory, yet there is much in it that offers praise.

The Osborne report on the Iowa Training School for Boys at Eldora pointed out, "A clearly defined program and a stable, efficient organization—products of 15 years' direction by an able, progressive superintendent unhampered by partisan political interference—are the outstanding characteristics of the Iowa Training School for Boys. These qualities, combined with high standards of management in all fields, a fine staff, intelligently administered discipline, better than average medical work, and a wide range of extracurricular activities make this one of the two foremost training schools in the West North Central area."

But, the report continues, "It is deplorable that the Eldora institution occupies one of the worst physical plants in the entire region. The urgent need for new buildings, both as a measure of economy and to protect the lives and health of boys and employes, has been called to the attention of the state authorities more than once by the superintendent and members of his staff."

The report on the girls training school was similar in vein. The administration and absence of political control was praised, and the physical plant deplored. We thoroughly believe that the Osborne report is a challenge to Iowans. Proud as we are of intellectual achievements in our state and of advancements in social welfare, we must not ignore such deficiencies that have been called to our attention.

Let it always be Iowa, first in the nation!

Yeats, the poet and playwright of Irish nationalism, is dead. He was born into a country of year-to-year tenants, mercilessly exploited by absentee landlords, politically a hopeless minority in an alien kingdom, its young people resigned to emigration and late marriages.

Yeats lived to see it become a country of small farmers owning their own land—a country politically independent save for the slenderest allegiance to the British crown and the presence of a semi-autonomous patch of British on its northern tip.

What wrought this change? In large part it was the doing of two groups of people, Irishmen who worked on the land and Irishmen who worked in the clouds—poets and peasants.

The poets, when Ireland wept, sang of reasons why Ireland should swell with pride. They taught the Irish the myths and legends of the heroic age, the splendors of early Irish Christendom, the long catalog of oppressions and rebellions, the grandeur of daring and suffering and devotion.

The peasants banded together and insisted upon better treatment. They used the boycott, they used the parliamentary bloc. While Ireland was still under British rule, they won a whole series of land laws and loans from a reluctant parliament.

In the last phases of the long struggle, Irish workmen in the cities played an important part—Dubliners who worked in English-owned sweatshops, Dubliners who thrilled over Yeats' Countess Kathleen and his Kathleen in Houlthan at the Abbey theater.

The transformation meant two things. It meant spotlights on impassioned actors. It meant sunlight on the potato patches. It meant the end of pig-in-the-parlor farming. Memories of ancient heroes—Finn McCool, Brian Boru, Cuchullin—grew along with whole flocks of new heroes. Visions of the O'Dohahue, rising from the mists of Lake Killarney to save his people, shade into invisible power coursing along wires from the new electrical developments on the River Shannon.

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

HELEN HAYES was accorded an honor seldom bestowed on an actress when she was permitted to select the vehicle in which she will appear tonight over the Columbia network, when she is presented to the radio audience by Orson Welles and the Campbell playhouse at 8 o'clock.

Miss Hayes selected Sinclair Lewis' "Arrowsmith" for her first co-starring effort with Welles. "Arrowsmith" is a story which created a furore in medical circles when it first appeared.

Miss Hayes will take the role of Arrowsmith's wife on the playhouse broadcast. This is the same role she played in the motion picture version of the novel, which depicts the rise of the young Dr. Arrowsmith, played by Welles, his fight against the mercenary in the medical profession and his rejection of a rich medical practice for research and experimentation.

GRACIE ALLEN, perturbed because she can't take her cast to Honolulu, will show them lantern slides of the lovely island as a preview of a picture in which she and George are starring, during their program at 7:30 tonight over Columbia.

The preview, like the picture itself, is based on the life and ukeleles of Burns and Allen in Honolulu. It begins with Gracie as a unicultural wit and traces her career until she is absolutely witless and a big radio star—to music from the picture, and Frank Parker's singing.

JACK HALEY will tackle the servant problem on his broadcast at 8:30 tonight over the Columbia network, with one of the servants being "Mad" Arty Auerbach, who has a faculty for making the worst of any situation offered.

THE FILES SHOW that Mark Weber's "International Hights" broadcast of music from around the world is duly appreciated. Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

The uses found for the gas called helium represent beautifully the idea that the discoveries of science may be either beneficial or destructive according as man decides to use them.

Helium can be used to inflate Zeppelin bags and military balloons. So long as the Zeppelin is used for transportation this is all right, but when it floats over a city and drops bombs on school buildings full of young children, it is time for some more humanitarian purpose to control its use.

And even more beneficent uses for it than air travel have been found. We described a year or so ago, in this column, its use in asthma and pneumonia when it first began to be applied to these diseases. Now it can be said definitely that it has sufficient value to justify the United States in refusing to export it for military purposes in order to reserve it for the medical applications.

Its Principle The principle on which helium acts consists of its lightness. It is only one-seventh the weight of nitrogen. Nitrogen constitutes 79 per cent of the air. It is entirely unnecessary in sustaining life; it simply dilutes the oxygen which practically constitutes the rest of the 21 per cent of air, other gasses existing only as minor fractions or traces.

It occurred to a physician watching a patient struggling in a paroxysm of asthma that a lighter gas than air, containing as much oxygen, would constitute a great relief. The asthmatic's condition is due to a constriction of the bronchial tubes so that they are narrowed down to the diameter of the shaft of a pin. In order to get enough air into the lungs to sustain life, he has to pump his muscles until he is almost exhausted. It did seem logical under these circumstances that a thinner air

NEW YORK—Short short story in quotes: News item: "Ethel Waters, blues singer, has been signed for the role of Hagar in Guthrie McClintic's forthcoming production of 'Mama's Daughters,' a dramatization of Dubose Heyward's novel of Negro life along the Charleston, S. C., waterfront. Miss Waters' previous experience has been confined to revues, nightclubs, and concert halls. She has never appeared in a straight drama on the legitimate stage."

"I'm no actress. I don't know how to act. I get choked and dizzy and I don't know what's going on when I get up there. I wanted to start from the beginning. I wanted to work my way up. I wanted to try a straight play. Does it sound crazy to come right out and say I prayed? Does it sound crazy? Listen, Mister, I won't feel no offense if you put down 'I'm a little screwy.' Ethel Waters, in an interview.

"Ethel Waters put aside her famous nightclub and revue capers last evening to tread the old boards of the Empire theater in her debut as a dramatic actress, an eventful occasion which turned at the final curtain into an ovation for the star. To that general uproar I would like to add these ink-stained salutes to a performance of such warmth and power, and simplicity that it ultimately swept along with it a very reluctant and sprawling tragedy."—John Anderson, critic.

"Last night was Ethel Waters' triumph. The Ethel Waters who has enriched many a musical comedy and revue with her eloquent singing of Negro songs, who gave a concert not long ago at Carnegie hall, came to the old Empire theater as a dramatic actress in 'Mama's Daughters,' and established herself as one of the finest of actresses, white or black."—Arthur Pollock, critic.

"Those of you who know Miss Waters as a superb singer of songs in musical revues will be amazed to see at the Empire theater a new Ethel Waters, singing spirituals with artistry and genuine emotion and acting a demanding role magnificently."—Robert Colman, critic.

"There is, to be sure, small opportunity . . . for display of Miss Waters' ability to stir the heart with her voice, but in the main the drama demands a great deal more than that. It requires sustained acting through two and a half hours, during which she is almost constantly engaged in playing upon the emotions of the audience. She met all these demands so capably, so sincerely, and so simply that there were apparently no dissenters in the audience that cheered her at the final curtain."—Sidney B. Whipple, critic.

"Again and again she seems in her own person to be playing Hagar for the Heyward's play. Even when the text is no more than a scenario for a silent movie she manages to turn it into a talkie. Her very pantomime can be so eloquent that it seems wired for sound."—John Mason Brown, critic.

Erwin Prasse, Iowa's probable nine-letter winner and captain of the football team, has an athletic career that dates way back. He was, so Mr. S. Johnson of Chicago informs me, a star end on the 1933 Cardinal A. C. football team which performed on the north side of Chicago.

As definite proof that what he said was the real McCoy, Johnson inclosed two photographs — one of which is reproduced on this page — of the rampaging Cardinals when Prasse captained the squad.

Saturday and Monday will find the Hawkeye cagers on the road for games that can make or break the current hardwood season. Playing the ever tough Northwestern quiet on its home floor is bad enough. Add to that a game with the fast-stepping Illini five two nights later—also on a foreign floor—and you really have something.

The return of Stephens to the lineup, however, has aroused hopes that Iowa will emerge from the trip with at least one more win on the record book.

Physically, the team seems at a peak. None of the players, according to Coach Williams, are nursing injuries of any nature.

Hawkeye swimming and track squads also swing into action Saturday, the cindermen clashing with Chicago in the fieldhouse, while the swim team engages the Maroons in the Chicago tank. Iowa fans are confidently expecting wins in both meets.

Eddie Anderson and Jim Harris took a jaunt through the fieldhouse yesterday afternoon. It was tough going at times as every body present wanted to meet the "head guy" and his right hand man.

Many of the football players, meeting Anderson for the first time, had words of praise for the new Iowa coaches. One player summed the situation up like this: "Boy! he sure looks like a football coach."

That seems to be the impression of all that have had the pleasure of meeting Anderson.

When asked when he expected to get spring football practice under way, Anderson said that he was uncertain as to just when he would be able to get the ball rolling as he has several speaking engagements which must be fulfilled.

much when he was asked any question even faintly concerning politics. Under this head, he classed such queries as whether he had ever threatened to "break Propaganda Minister Goebbels' neck" if the latter should pay attention to Mrs. Schmeling, or whether Goebbels had been beaten up by friends of Actress Lydia Baarova.

"All bunk, absolutely silly," he declared. "You reporters are funny. Why do you ask me these things? I'm no politician. Ask a politician. Why didn't you ask the German ambassador?"

His beetled black brows lifted slightly when he was informed the German ambassador had departed these shores some time ago.

He Captained This Team, Too

This business of being football captain is getting to be an old story to Erwin Prasse, extreme left, second row from top, in the above picture. This team, which roamed the prairie playing fields of Chicago in 1933, represented the Cardinal A. C. which finished the season in the undefeated class. Prasse was captain and star right end on the squad.

Thirteen Iowa Mermen Picked To Meet Chicago for First Big Ten Contest of Season

Coach Armbruster Announces Team In Good Condition

Thirteen athletes were picked Thursday for the University of Iowa's swimming meet with Chicago at Chicago Saturday, Coach David Armbruster announced.

The Iowans will go to Chicago Saturday morning, swim in the afternoon, and return that night, making one of the fastest jaunts to that city ever scheduled for a Hawkeye team.

These are the men: Capt. Ray Walters, Al Armbruster, George Poulos, Gene Kershaw, Ernest Draves, Ed Gerber, Al Johann, Ben Brandon, Charles Bremer, Bob Lowry, Carl Ahlgren, Sanford Cochrane and Lawrence Hayes.

With most swimming fans balancing the return of Bill Tesla against the loss of Francis Heydt, the work of other squad members has been going unnoticed of late — unnoticed by all except Coach Dave Armbruster.

But, happily enough, what Armbruster has been noticing seems to be on the bright side. In fact, recent happenings might indicate possibilities of a few Big Ten champs wearing Iowa colors.

The Iowa coach knew, when he lost Heydt, that his chances in the backstroke events were not entirely gone. Heydt ranked as the nation's second best backstroke, but the Iowa squad also contained Al Armbruster, tenth ranked man of last season, and Tony Bremer, who placed fifth in the Big Ten.

Bremer had demonstrated early this year that he would be a strong contender. Swimming on the west team in the east-west relays at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., shortly after Christmas, Bremer made himself a reputation among the other Big Ten mermen present at the Ft. Lauderdale forum.

This week Armbruster, who had been slightly ill a few weeks ago, has been swimming in the tryouts for the dual meet Saturday afternoon at Chicago. The matter of his swimming is unimportant except for the fact that he backstroked over the 150 yards one day in only four-tenths of a second over the national mark.

If he continues at this pace, Iowans can expect great things of Armbruster before the season ends.

Although Capt. Ray Walters, holder of some national, as well as Iowa pool, marks in the sprints, has not yet cracked any of his old records, he has been coming close to them. In the inter-squad meet last month, Walters missed his old mark in the 60-yard free style by a second, but, since then, he has been coming a bit closer. It looks as though he might be setting a few new records before long.

For support in the individual sprints, and to make up the sprint relay team, there are several Hawkeyes worth mentioning, among them, Ernie Draves, Gene Kershaw and Al Johann.

Another of the cripples, so prevalent early in the season, was Bob Lowry, but Lowry has come back to life. He and George Poulos, the sophomore sensation, appear able to take care of the

Merrill Johnson New Addition to Hawk Wrestling Squad

Coach Mike Howard holds only one thing against the wrestling Merrill Johnson, who has been taking care of Iowa's 165-pound assignments — he didn't begin soon enough.

When Johnson dropped in over at the fieldhouse one day last winter, Howard didn't expect him to worry much about wrestling, considering that he was already a junior. But, Johnson, after watching some of the boys in action, decided he might be able to throw a few of them and, strangely enough, he discovered he could.

However, Johnson had only one year of competition left to him and Howard never expected too much of his newest convert, but he took him into his squad this fall, intending to make use of him occasionally.

That was before the season was started. Johnson lost his first match, but he had been expected to do so. Ed Keller, Big Six champion from Kansas State, won a decision from Johnson, wrestling in his first dual meet.

Since then, things are considerably different, with Johnson becoming the principal author of the changes. In his second start, he wore down Francis Quincannon of Wisconsin and threw him after 7:33 of grappling.

P. Waner Leads Pro Baseball Golf Tourney

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 2 (AP)—Smooth-stroking Paul Waner, Pittsburgh's hard-hitting outfielder, paced the field by five strokes today to take medal honors in the professional baseball players golf tournament.

The southpaw player carded an even par 72 on the morning round and a 77 this afternoon. He is the defending champion.

In second place, with a 78-154 score, was Watson Clark, former Brooklyn pitcher who now is a free agent.

Gerald Walker, Chicago White Sox outfielder, turned in 78-81-159 to lead Wes Ferrell, New York Yankee pitcher, and Roy Cullenbine, young Detroit outfielder, by one stroke.

Two rounds tomorrow will trim the championship flight from 16 to four players and the 18-hole semi-finals will be run off Saturday. Finals Sunday will be over the 36-hole route.

Championship pairings for first round matches:

Waner, vs. Garland Braxton, Little Rock; Cullenbine, vs. Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals; Walker, vs. Tommy Bridges, Detroit; Paul Derringer, Cincinnati, vs. Heinie Manush, Pittsburgh; Clark vs. Rick Ferrell, Washington; Lloyd Brown, St. Paul vs. Truett Seawell, Pittsburgh; Wes Ferrell vs. Nick Altrock, Washington; and Jack Russell, Chicago Cubs, vs. Luke Appling, Chicago White Sox.

O'Mahoney Added To Hawkeye Squad For Two Game Journey

Two games, against Northwestern's Wildcats and the sensational Illinois outfit, will be the fare of Rollie Williams' cagers before they return again to the Iowa fieldhouse for their next home stand Feb. 11 against Indiana.

Tomorrow night the Hawkeyes tangle with Northwestern in their first Big Ten game since before exams. The Wildcats, although they are without the services of McMichaels and several of the other stars of last season, have one thing to their credit this year. They are the only conference team who can boast a victory over Minnesota's Golden Gophers, who have lost but two games this season, the one with Northwestern and one to Notre Dame.

The game Monday night brings the Hawkeyes up against the toughest team they have faced to date. The Illini, beaten but twice, rate as one of the league's stronger contenders. They boast the second and third high scorers of the conference, Dehner and Hapac, both ahead of Iowa's Capt. Benny Stephens by a few points.

However, both Dehner and Hapac have played in more games with the Iowa captain, whose average per game rates second only to that of Hull of Ohio State, now leading the Big Ten with 81 points. Hull has played in more games, though, than Stephens, who has scored 56 points in four contests.

For the trip, Williams will carry the same squad as on the Minnesota and Wisconsin journey, with one change. Jock O'Mahoney will take the place of Dick Evans as one of the three centers, along with Charles Plett and Ken Bastian.

Three guards, Howard Irvine, Erwin Prasse and Tommy Lind, will make the trip, while the squad will have four forwards, Capt. Benny Stephens, Angelo Anapol, Fred Hohenhorst and Bob Hobbs. The team will leave at 12:55 today.

● '43rd Year'
● The Modern Way
● Involved Statistics

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—We always had the idea the expression "as simple as ABC" meant that something was easily interpreted, but after perusing data relative to the 1939 American Bowling congress we are enlightened. It's as simple as the Einstein theory.

Mr. C. E. Vance, field representative of the congress, to be held at Cleveland starting March 9, offers the following bewildering statistics relative to the organization and its tournament:

"43rd Year"
Now in its 43rd year, it has a membership of more than 725 city associations, comprising more than 2,000 cities and towns.

It includes 11,000 sanctioned leagues, which include 100,000 teams with a total membership of 600,000 bowlers.

Mr. Vance, with the true modesty of any field representative, declares the 39th tournament this year will be, without a doubt, the world's largest sports event from the angle of the number of contestants, total prize money awards and the time required for its completion. (It will run for 57 consecutive days and nights, ending May 4.)

The number of team entries is expected to total approximately 4,200, which means the 23,000 individuals will share a total prize fund of about $170,000.

The Modern Way
Mr. Vance slips a little in admitting that there will be only 32 new alleys installed at Lakeside Hall, compared with a record installation of 40, at Chicago last year, but he takes up the slack quickly by pointing out the bowlers for the first time will have an air-conditioned playground.

The entry list will include keglers from 41 states and Canada, and among those present will be the Birk brothers of Chicago who in Chicago amassed 3,324 pins for an ABC record team mark; Donald Johnson and Fannie Snyder of Indianapolis, 1938 doubles champions with their 1,337 total; Knute Anderson of Moline, Ill., whose 746 winning total in the singles last year was the fourth highest in tournament history, and Don Beatty of Jackson, Mich., all events champion last year with a 1,978 total.

Involved Statistics
Mr. Vance goes on endlessly with his statistics, which include such items as the number of prize checks (7,995) sent out last year; the number of line scores (178,298) checked by the auditors, and other miscellaneous data from the number of pins set to the number of pin setters.

He even makes a short dip into history to show that bowling dates back to the Stone Age, which probably bears out the theory of some of the contestants who are convinced that some of the pins not only are stone, but are anchored as well.

Fresh from their upset victory over the powerful Davenport Blue Devils, the speedy Little Hawks from City high will take on the close guarding Clinton River Kings in a Mississippi Valley game here tonight.

The River Kings are in a two-way tie with Davenport by virtue of the Hawkleys' 20-17 win from the Blue Devils last Friday. City high is in fourth, behind the third place Dubuque team.

Coach Francis Merten's five was at full strength in practice again last night as George Devine, fully recovered from his attack of the flu, returned to fill his forward post.

Tomorrow night the Hawkleys will tangle with the Williamsburg high school team at Williamsburg. In one of their warm-up games early in the season the Red and White boys overwhelmed the Iowa county lads in an easy victory.

It will be the first time for many years that a Hawkleys five has played games on two consecutive nights. But these two should not force the Iowa City boys much as Merten probably will be able to use his reserves freely in tomorrow's game.

Tuesday night the Clinton cagers took a beating in the hands of the Columbia Academy five from Dubuque. Ed Holle, high scoring forward, and Schneider, Clinton's defensive star, played only a small portion of the game.

The River Kings' win from Iowa City early in the season was the first a Clinton team has posted on a Merten coached Red and White team. Under Merten the Hawkleys had won all previous encounters with ease.

Tonight's game, in all probability, will be a close-guarding affair. The Clinton aggregation has the best defensive unit in the league while the Hawkleys have presented a defensive set-up which their opponents have found hard to crack in the last few games. The high scoring Davenport five was held to 17 points in City high gym last Friday.

But the River Kings will run up against one of the best offensive fives in the league. Iowa City has scored the most points of any team in the league. Davenport has a better game average and has less total points only because of not having participated in as many conference games as the Hawkleys.

Coach Herb Cormack's sophomore five will seek to strengthen its hold on second place when it meets the River Kings' soph in the opener at 7 o'clock. The Red and White boys won in the first encounter with Paukert's field goal in "sudden death" overtime period.

Tiger Jack Fox Is Betting Favorite

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—The threatened clash of a hypnotist and a "hexer" won't come off, but the cash customers will be treated to just about everything else when Tiger Jack Fox and Melio Bettina battle for the New York state version of the world light-heavyweight championship tomorrow night.

First off, there'll be a parade from Grand Central station right into Madison Square garden by some 1,200 Bettina rooters from Beacon, N. Y. They've adopted a slogan—"bring the bacon back to Beacon"—and are red hot for the home town boy, despite the 5 to 12 odds favoring the Tiger in the 15-round bout.

Then, there'll be the turnout, which now promises a gate of over $35,000, although when the match was first made, Promoter Mike Jacobs wasn't sure there would be enough profit to pay for his latest set of store teeth.

Penn College Wins Thriller

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 2 (AP)—A shot from the side of the hoop in the last 30 seconds of a basketball battle tonight gave Penn college of Oskaloosa, a 37 to 35 victory over Parsons after the latter had led through the first 39 minutes of play in an Iowa conference game.

Open Season Tomorrow In Field House

Opponents Rated Even by Hawkeye Cinder Mentor

"It's a toss-up, anyway you look at it." That is George Bresnahan, mentor of the Iowa track team, discussing tomorrow night's duel meet with Chicago. "The way I figure," continued Bresnahan, "we'll take four firsts, they'll win four, and two will be even."

Among Chicago's four expected first place winners is John Davenport, co-captain of the team, and the Big Ten 60-yard indoor and 100-yard outdoor champion. Davenport is the same Cedar Rapids boy who was the main factor in Chicago's two touchdowns against Iowa on the gridiron last fall.

Another Iowan expected to win a first for the Maroons is Hugh Rendleman, the giant shot-putter from Davenport. Against North Central college last week he heaved the iron ball 45 feet, 10 inches which is better than any of the Hawks have been able to accomplish.

The other two expected winners are Bob Cassels, the Maroon basketball captain who doubles at track, in the pole vault, and Ray, a high jumper who has bettered six feet. Cassels took third place in the Big Ten meet last year with a vault of 13 feet, three inches.

Anticipated winners for Iowa are Milton Billig in the 440-yard dash, Collinge in the 70-yard high hurdles, Johnny Graves, the Iowa co-captain, in the 880-yard dash, and the mile relay team.

The two distance runs, the mile and two mile, are looked upon as toss-ups by Coach Bresnahan although he intimated that Abrahamson of Chicago was a "darkhorse" who would bear watching in the two mile. Sparks, one of the Hawkeye two milers, will be running in his first college competition tomorrow night.

The Maroons, with four Iowans in the line-up, defeated North Central college last week 62-33, and rate as a potentially strong outfit. Other Iowans, besides Davenport and Rendleman, who perform for Chicago are Bob Wasem, the other co-captain and a hurdler and high jumper from Ft. Dodge, and Bill Parsons, a hurdler from Davenport.

Lew Hamity, the Chicago backfield ace who threw those touchdown passes to Davenport last fall, will make his appearance tomorrow night as a shot putter.

Coach Bresnahan said last night that hopes for victory rested in the number of second and third places which the Hawks could snare. He hopes for a slam in the 440-yard dash.

The official entry list follows: Mile run—Chicago, Herschel and Powell; Iowa, Graves, Elliott, Sabatini and Erickson. 60 yard dash—Chicago, Davenport, Hirsch and Caulton; Iowa, C. Tufel, F. Tufel, Wiggins and Wilson. 440 yard dash—Chicago, Caulton, Merriam and Morton; Iowa, Billig, F. Tufel, McCollister and Baird. 70 yard high hurdles—Chicago, Parsons, Ray and Wasem; Iowa, Collinge, Bone, Moore and Patterson. Two mile—Chicago, Abrahamson and Zedler; Iowa, Campbell, Elliot, Sparks and Erickson. 880 yard dash—Chicago, Herschel, Merriam, Netherton, Powell and Warner; Iowa, Graves, Kosbau, Billig and Schmidt. Pole vault—Chicago, Cassels, Davidson, Erickson, Morton and Tingley; Iowa, Roberts and Parrish. High jump—Chicago, Mafit, Ray, Tingley and Wasem; Iowa, Wilson, Parrish, Finazzo and Roberts. Shot put—Chicago, Bex, Goodstein, Hamity and Rendleman; Iowa, Nead, Leuz and Harkness. Mile relay—Chicago, chosen from above group; Iowa, chosen from McCollister, F. Tufel, Billig, Graves, Baird and C. Tufel.

Another Holdout
OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 2 (AP)—Jim Tobin, Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, returned his fourth unsigned contract to the National league club today and formally admitted he was a holdout.

He said he had been offered a salary increase over last season but thought he "was entitled to more." He won 14 and lost 12 games in 1938 and was the thirteenth ranked hurler in the league both in earned runs and percentage averages.

Weeks, who has long been a favorite on university campuses, comes to the party from an engagement in San Francisco, and more recently, the Edgewater Beach hotel, the Aragon and Trilium ballrooms in Chicago. His original melodies coupled with other swing rhythms have been heard at other university parties on this campus.

Chaperons for the party will be Prof. and Mrs. Harry K. Newburn, Mr. and Mrs. William Petersen, Prof. and Mrs. Otto Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Okerbloom and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Horner. Members of the party committee and the chaperons will have refreshments during the first intermission in the dining room of Iowa Union.

Miss McHugh will wear a simple black crepe frock with a small Peter Pan collar peaking over the high neckline of the matching jacket which buttons on. She will wear black suede sandals to complete the outfit.

Gold buttons and a wide gold-waisted belt accent the shirred waistline of the black silk frock which Barbara Kent, A1 of Iowa City, will wear. Miss Kent will be John Greenleaf, A3 of Centerville.

Freddie Douglas Coder of Coon Rapids will whirl Virginia Shrauger, A1 of Atlantic, to a merry tune. Miss Shrauger has chosen a dirdl type dress in shades of brown and mustard yellow. The full skirt is brown and the gathered mustard yellow blouse has wide, boxy shoulders and a low V-neck that is fastened with a jeweled clip.

Maroon velvet will be worn by Freddie Josephine McElhinney of Iowa City. Miss McElhinney will be seen at the party with Ray Tiffany, A1 of Iowa City.

In her frock, Winifred Scully, A2 of Waterloo, will contrast shades of duobunnet with light blue. The full skirt is gathered at the waist with a light blue belt and the blue pumps harmonize with the belt. Bob Johann, A1 of Des Moines, will escort Miss Scully.

Betty Jane DeGroot, A1 of Humboldt, has chosen for her ensemble this evening a light blue dress styled on princess lines. The collar and cuffs are trimmed in matching light blue braid. Her black pumps will follow the rhythm of Freshman Winston Anderson of Miami, Fla.

Ted Welch, A1 of Cedar Rapids, has asked Jeanne Andrews, A2 of Tulsa, Okla., to attend the party with him. Miss Andrews will wear a dress of maroon silk with a stitched pleat skirt. A cameo pin offsets the high collar line, and perky puffed sleeves are elbow length.

Freddie Marian Marsh of Lehigh and Pharmacy Frosh John Henry Hauth will Suzie-Q it this evening. Multi-colored suede flowers cross the shoulder line and meet at the neck of her green crepe dress. She will wear black alligator pumps to complete the costume.

Other members of the Freshman Party committee and their dates are Engineer Frosh James Guthrie of Iowa City and Helen Davis, A1 of Iowa City, Frosh Roger Coulson of Ft. Madison and Margaret Barton, A1 of Rose, Froshman Bob Wells of Evanston, Ill., and Freddie Betty Pentland of Webster Groves, Mo.

Collection of Puerto Rican Jewelry Contains Articles of Polished Seeds

Possessing a unique Puerto Rican collection, Suzanne Carson, A2 of Maywood, Ill., (right) is showing Margaret Leeper, A2 of Waterloo, (left) a few of her interesting charms and ornaments. A calla lily wrought of gold centers her necklace, and the bracelet with a gold calla lily completes the set. Miss Carson is seen holding a small polished seed bracelet which is formed by chaining the links of seeds. Among the many intricate lapel ornaments in her collection is a dainty straw hat with sandals attached. Little straw figures and delicate belts and bracelets of polished seeds are fashioned by the natives. A series of glass lockets, each locket containing butterfly wings, joined together by gold links form her "butterfly" bracelet. Another unusual bracelet is made of black ivory bands bordered with gold. Polished seeds are not only used in making attractive necklaces, bracelets and buttons, but one of the most attractive items in Miss Carson's collection is a black and white seed bolero. Hand wrought silver bracelets add mystery to the collection because they resemble ancient Egyptian jewelry. Miss Carson's hobby of obtaining Puerto Rican finery puts her definitely in style, since fashion experts tell us that costume jewelry is THE thing this season.

part of a trend that points toward sentimental fashions intended to emphasize all the femininity which a woman has. And it seems to presage a season when men will stop muttering about women's hats.

As far as shapes are concerned, poke bonnets and baby bonnets are news. They swing back from young faces in a way which is decidedly refreshing after a season when virtually every hat pitched over one eye.

There are also scores of sailors—those perennial spring hat favorites—a number of flower-splashed pillboxes, numerous hats in unusual worked shapes and berets tied on with ribbon knotted at the back. One of the most striking groups of chapeaux are draped turbans of striped ribbon or silk. Brimmed hats of dotted cravat silk also appear.

Rough straws are much in evidence and ribbons, feathers and flowers widely used as trims.

Famous Russian Piano Team Will Appear Here Next Week

Vronsky, Babin Will Play Wed. In Iowa Union

Noted Artists to Be Third on University 1939 Concert Series

Vronsky and Babin, famous Russian two-piano team, will appear at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the main lounge of Iowa Union, the third artists in the 1938-39 concert course series.

An established success in America following two previous seasons here, the team was unknown in this country at the time of their first appearance in New York in February, 1937.

Josef Hofmann, world famous pianist and director of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia called them "the most extraordinary two-piano team I have heard in Europe," and predicted its immediate success in the United States.

Their present tour, the third in America, will take them from coast to coast and from Canada to the southern border, with 25 of the United States in their itinerary.

Victor Babin is himself a distinguished composer. He has contributed a number of compositions to the limited repertoire of two-piano playing, and he has composed other forms as well. He studied composition under Franz Schreker.

Born in Moscow, Babin went to Berlin after the revolution to study piano under Artur Schnabel. Vitya Vronsky was born at Kiev, making her first concert tour as solo pianist at the age of 15. In Berlin, she also continued her studies under Schnabel, playing concerts meanwhile in the capitals of Europe.

It was in Berlin that the two young people met, were married, and combined their talents to form one of the world's foremost piano teams.

Vronsky and Babin are well known to American radio audiences. Their first American broadcast was on a sustaining program of the Columbia system. This was followed by three other sponsored programs over national hook-ups, with an immediate and overwhelming response from listeners throughout the nation.

With the Polovtsian dances from Moussorgsky's "Prince Igor" consistently prominent in the highest praise of reviewers everywhere, the team demonstrates its versatility in the list of artists whose works they play—Mozart, Debussy, Brahms, Schumann.

The New York Times, reviewing the debut of Vronsky and Babin in 1937, exclaimed that "there is a duo of singular gifts. They played together with complete rapport. Moreover, their interpretations bespoke a high order of musicianship. They played with poetry and warmth."

The Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger commented on their concert there as "one of the finest exhibitions of the playing of music for two pianos that has been heard in this city for many years. They showed technique in abundance, an exquisite quality of tone, perfect unanimity and balance, a marvellously beautiful touch, and an incredible perfection of finish.

"But more important than even these physical essentials was the absolute musical sincerity with which they approached every number."

These noted pianists come to Iowa City as the next attraction in a course which has included Nino Martini, famous tenor, and Robert Viroval, extraordinary young master of the violin.

Tickets for the concert are on sale in room 15, music studio building—the office of Prof. Charles B. Richter, chairman of the concert course committee. General admission or reserved seats may be obtained, for the concert of Vronsky and Babin, and for those of the St. Louis symphony orchestra and Josephine Antoine, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, who remain on this year's schedule of concerts.

Practice Court Opens Sessions

Second Half of Case To Be Tried Today; Arthur Leff Presides

With Charles Joiner, L3 of Maquoketa, and Robert Ross, L3 of Shenandoah, acting as attorneys for the defendant, the second semester practice court of the college of law had its first session yesterday.

Louis Genung, L3 of Glenwood, and A. Whit Kimball, L2 of West Liberty, argued for the plaintiff in the case, which concerns an automobile accident.

The second half of the case will be presented this afternoon and submitted to the jury for a decision. The trial, based on actual fact, concerns a collision which occurred when one of two cars approaching each other on a paved highway turned across the highway to reach a side road.

Recovery for personal injuries and for damage to the car is demanded by one party and a counter-claim for wrongful death is held by the other party.

Plats and pictures are being used extensively in the case, since proof by circumstances is one of the outstanding issues. The plaintiff is the sole surviving witness of the accident.

University students from outside the college of law are serving as jurors. The following students compose the jury: Anne Marie Sheely, A3 of Marshalltown; Robert J. Knoepfler, A3 of Sioux City; F. A. Christian, A3 of Lake Mills; Marvin Rusley, A4 of Iowa City; Harold Grigg, A2 of Cherokee; Robert Leo, A3 of Dyars; Geraldine Grose, A3 of Des Moines; Charlotte Whitmore, C4 of Iowa City; Helen Anderson, A4 of Wellman; Helen Ries, A3 of Iowa City, and John C. Meyer, C3 of Burlington.

Arthur Leff, local attorney, is presiding as judge. A divorce case will be tried in the practice court next week. Any student interested in jury service may send his name, address and telephone number to the practice court of the college of law.

Dean Stoddard Classifies Psychology Into Four Fields in Vocational Talk

Dean George D. Stoddard of the graduate college classified the possible fields of psychology into four groups in his vocational guidance lecture yesterday afternoon in Schaeffer hall.

In the technical field, with physiology, zoology or botany as a background, Dean Stoddard listed physiological psychology as the first group of possible fields. Branches under this classification may include the field of comparative animal psychology and neural psychology.

Dean Stoddard named physical psychology as a possible second group. For this field he recommended a specific knowledge of mathematics and physics.

The third field, personal psychology, is now one of the most important divisions, said Dean Stoddard. To do this kind of work, he advised that psychologists be interested in people and want to study their behavior. Such fields as social, educational, child, applied, and clinical psychology fall under this category.

At the conclusion of his lecture, Dean Stoddard led a general discussion regarding the relationship between psychologists and psychiatrists. The latest trend indicates that these two professions may be combined successfully or practiced separately to an advantage.

Nazi Government Intends To Achieve Parity With England

Anglo-German Naval Treaties Cited as Reason

To Arm 10,000-Ton Cruisers, Double Submarine Tonnage

BERLIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—Germany formally announced to the world tonight that she was taking advantage of the 1935 and 1937 Anglo-German naval agreements to build up to parity with the British fleet in submarines and to arm her new 10,000-ton cruisers with heavier guns.

The guns will be of 20.3 centimeters caliber (7.992 inches) instead of 15 centimeters (5.906 inches).

Great Britain was informed of the decision last Dec. 30.

The following announcement was released tonight through DNE, German official news agency:

"In December, 1938, the German government notified the British government of its intention to put into effect certain rights under the Anglo-German naval agreements of June 18, 1935, and July 17, 1937.

"Friendly conversations took place in Berlin Dec. 30, 1938, on certain questions arising from the German claims to these rights.

"Germany at that time undertook to make a communication in writing which was done Jan. 18.

"Accordingly, Germany will build up its submarine tonnage to parity with the member states of the British empire, beginning with 1939 until the agreed limit is reached.

"Germany will also arm the two 10,000 ton cruisers K and L now under construction, transferring them from class B to class A, to which Germany is entitled under the agreement."

Iowa City Musicians Leave On Concert Tour Through East

Mr., Mrs. Muenzer, Violinist and Pianist, Nationally Recognized

Prof. and Mrs. Hans Muenzer, well-known Iowa City musicians, will leave tomorrow for a concert tour of eastern cities, to be concluded with an appearance at Town Hall, New York, on Feb. 13.

Professor Muenzer, violinist, is concertmaster of station WGN of the Mutual network and head of violin instruction of the music department.

Mrs. Muenzer, a concert pianist, recitalist, accompanist and teacher, has played with many of the country's leading symphonies.

The Town Hall recital, which will mark Professor Muenzer's first appearance in New York, will include "Sonata for Violin and Piano in E Flat Major, Opus 18" by Richard Strauss, and "Symphonie Espagnole, D Minor, Opus 21" by Edouard Lalo.

The Muenzers' first appearance on their concert tour will be in Greenville, Pa., Monday evening. While in Greenville they will be the guests of the Rev. Wendell S. Dyingner, who was formerly pastor of the English Lutheran church in Iowa City, and Mrs. Dyingner.

A recital Feb. 8 at Pittsburgh will follow an appearance at Meadville, Pa. Prof. and Mrs. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, formerly of Iowa City, will entertain the musicians during their stay in Pittsburgh.

Before their journey to New York, the couple will present a concert at Slippery Rock, Pa.

The artists will also give recitals at Philadelphia and Norristown, Pa., and will be the guests of Mrs. Walter Knerr, national radio chairman for the Federation of Music Clubs.

After the tour Mrs. Muenzer will coach with Sigismund Stojowski, distinguished exponent of Paderewski, for a few weeks. Professor Muenzer will return to Iowa City.

will arrive during the day and will be given opportunity to visit the fine arts building and the university campus. At 6:15 this evening, a dinner will be held in the dining room of the Triangle club at Iowa Union with short talks by Prof. E. E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, and Dean George D. Stoddard of the graduate college.

Round table meetings will take place from 10 to 12 a.m. tomorrow. After luncheon in Iowa Union, a second business meeting will be held in the fine arts building. A short talk by Prof. Grant Wood of the graphic and plastic art department will feature the final dinner of the conference in Iowa Union. Informal discussion will follow the dinner.

Germany at that time undertook to make a communication in writing which was done Jan. 18.

"Accordingly, Germany will build up its submarine tonnage to parity with the member states of the British empire, beginning with 1939 until the agreed limit is reached.

Pupils Learn of Life By Seeing Real Thing

LONDON (AP)—Educational authorities have adopted a plan of calling in garbage men, postmen, park-keepers, sewer-men, butchers and bakers to give firsthand information to children during lectures and lessons.

The scholars ply the tradesmen with questions and thoroughly enjoy the experience.

The aim of the experiment is to teach children self-expression by bringing them into closer contact with the every-day life they know.

Welsh Have New Year's 13 Days After First

FISHGUARD, Wales (AP)—People living in the valley called "The Gwaun" waited until January 13 to celebrate New Year's day.

When the Georgian calendar was introduced into this country in 1752, the inhabitants of the valley considered they had been robbed of 13 days. So they begin their new year on the 13th when all workers take a holiday, and go round the farms with bags and sacks to collect food.

Girl Adopts Family

DURHAM, England (AP)—A 17-year-old London girl has "adopted" a needy family of five in Durham. The girl, an unnamed art student, will contribute toward the family's support.

Students May Take Exams For Navy Aviation Training

by 1942 will bring the strength of the fleet up to that permitted by existing treaties.

The training will start at the various naval reserve aviation bases located throughout the United States. For those living in this vicinity the base is located at Lambert field, Robertson, Mo.

Here elimination flight training is carried out for a period of one month for the purpose of determining the aptitude of the candidates to serve as a pilot and as a commissioned officer in the United States naval reserve.

Candidates who successfully pass tests for this period of training become aviation cadets and are sent to Pensacola, Fla., where they take a course of training in aeronautical engineering and receive instruction in piloting and maneuvering all types of service planes.

After 11 months at Pensacola, during which time the cadet earns the right to wear the coveted gold wings which indicate a naval aviator, he is ordered to active duty with the fleet for a period of three years. Here he is assigned to an aircraft squadron operating from an aircraft carrier.

At the conclusion of the four years of duty, the cadet is commissioned as an officer in the naval reserve, paid a cash bonus and returned home where he can become affiliated with one of the training bases.

Qualifications for eligibility provide that the applicant must be a male citizen, be not less than 20 years old or more than 28, be unmarried and be mentally, physically and psychologically qualified.

He must agree to remain on such active duty as the department may authorize, to maintain flying efficiency insofar as is practicable by associating himself with a naval reserve aviation unit after completing his training.

He must submit three letters of recommendation signed by persons of recognized standing in the community and he must be a college or university graduate or be able to present a certificate showing completion of one-half of the necessary credits.

Applicants must also pass a flight physical examination.

Wilbur J. Wehmeyer, a graduate of the college of engineering at the university in 1937, qualified in the course and last month completed his 41 months at Pensacola. He is now assigned to patrol squadron eight at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu.

girl. In the morning we will discuss the matter further. I—I must go and notify the others and call the doctor."

"The doctor?"

"There is a law of some sort which requires certification of the body."

"Oh! The body—that was the flowered bundle in the anteroom. She is still—there?"

"Yes."

"But you aren't going to leave her there overnight?"

I thought then he would put me in my place, but he only sighed and said: "Arrangements will be made for removal, Miss Ritter."

I breathed in relief. "May I go to bed now, please?"

"Of course. You must be tired. You won't be needed until morning."

"Thank you—and good night." I crossed the lobby and stepped out into the corridor. A man rushed past me and came to a halt a few feet away. It was the count and he was in a great state of agitation. His breath was labored and his brow damp and perspiring.

"Have you seen Madame Witherspoon?" he demanded. "Everywhere I look and nowhere she is!"

"Who is there?" Mr. Horace peered over my shoulder.

"Eet ees I, Count Orsini!" I exclaimed in the count, pushing his way into the salon. "I come for the Madame Witherspoon?"

"Madame Witherspoon?" Mr. Horace groaned aloud. "My God! he said. "My dear God! It is the

me. I glanced quickly at him. But he looked so uncertain and uncomfortable in his role of interrogator that I decided I must have been mistaken in what I had heard.

"Thirty minutes," I confessed, miserably. "I'd give anything if I hadn't gone; but I didn't know! I broke off unable to continue.

"Naturally not, Miss Ritter, naturally not. You mustn't condemn yourself." Awkwardly he patted my shoulder. "It was her time to go and she—she went. You couldn't have saved her."

"You are very kind. Very. I shouldn't have left her; I realize that now. Perhaps she called to me when she felt herself—going! Perhaps—"

"Please, Miss Ritter! You'll make yourself ill! Heart trouble such as mother had is incurable. We knew, all of us, that she would die suddenly and without warning. I'm convinced she never knew what happened to her. She—she just closed her eyes and slept! That knowledge, Miss Ritter, comforts me greatly."

"Oh, I do hope you are right!" I said fervently. "I do hope so!"

"I am right!" he said positively, and his dull, colorless eyes lighted strangely. "Years ago I studied medicine; I was going to be a great doctor, a great scientist!"

"But you gave it up?" Curiosity on my part got the better of discretion.

"I gave it up, yes." The light died and something incredibly sad and bitter took its place. "I putter about upstairs in my laboratory."

For some unknown reason I felt embarrassed, as though I had stumbled onto a secret, long hidden, and now, under stress, impulsively revealed. I lowered my gaze, loath to look upon a soul so naked.

"Mr. Witherspoon!" I burst forth presently.

"Yes?"

"If Mrs. Witherspoon died while I was in the pantry, I couldn't have stolen the emeralds!"

"You couldn't?" Plainly he did not follow me.

"No! Don't you see? They were on the table when I left the room; they were gone when I returned! Someone must have entered the salon and—I clapped my hand to my mouth, my eyes widening in dawning horror.

"—and stolen them after my mother was dead," he concluded for me.

"Oh, I don't mean to accuse anyone!"

"Quite all right, Miss Ritter." He smiled faintly.

"Of course," I added hastily, "it is possible that they have been mislaid."

"Yes, it is possible," he agreed, raising his shoulders sagged limply. "I shouldn't worry, my dear

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Deplorably, but Yankee assistance did something toward taking the curse off, and all Latin America knows it.

To be sure, Latin folk east of the Andes are little subject to earthquakes, but they can have other varieties of large-scale misfortunes, and Uncle Samuel has had a chance to figure as a valuable friend in need whenever required.

Oh, it was a awful earthquake, but, if there had to be one, it wasn't untimely, Pan-Americanly speaking.

Coming after that Lima conference, in its way it could not have been improved on.

Nazi-Fascists Squelched

Although eastern South America does not have earthquakes, it does have totalitarian activities.

One of these has just been squelched by President Vargas of Brazil, with the arrest of Plinio Salgado, who was trying to stir up an Integral Action revolution in Sao Paulo. Sao Paulo, thought not Brazil's capital (which is Rio de Janeiro) is the republic's principal city (about the size of Chicago), and Sao Paulo state is a big enough tail to wag the bulk of the Brazilian dog. Therefore a Sao Paulo rebellion would be bad business for the whole country. The Integral Action party is partly fascist, partly Nazi. But it is mainly Nazi, because southern Brazil (Sao Paulo) is predominantly German. This thing, had it eventuated, would have given Germany a dangerous Brazilian foothold—dangerous from the standpoint of the United States.

President Vargas is pretty much a dictator himself. However, he is not pro-German or pro-Italian; he is pro-U.S.A.

Not So Bad

All this is tolerably satisfactory. Uncle Sam has had a "favorable" earthquake on the South American west coast, in Chile. He has had an undesirable would-be revolution suppressed on the South American east coast, in Brazil.

Brazil and Chile are two of South America's three most important countries. The third is Argentina. The Argentine Republic is rather cold toward us. Primarily it is native; then German, British and Italian, mixed.

The rest of Latin America is fairly friendly to us now—possibly excepting Mexico, which clashes with us a bit over the question of oil. That issue remains to be adjusted.

Incidentally, Latin America is in default to us on certain commercial loans. Sen. Hiram Johnson does not want us to be allowed to make any further Latin-American advances until those obligations are met. But they are different from our claims against Europe. Europe deliberately has repudiated its war debts to the U.S.A. In Latin America, we simply made some bad investments, and lost out, just as occasionally we do at home. We patriotically advanced several billions to our European associates in war time, and they dumped us. We are supposed to use some business judgment in making Latin-American loans.

laugh or cry. "She needn't be worried!"

"Now don't be sore, baby. She didn't mean nothin'. I'll fix things."

"But why did the others snub me?" I wanted to know. Had the affair of the missing emeralds reached the kitchen despite Mr. Horace's precautions?

"Well," he scratched his head. "They sorta got an idea that it was your fault the old girl kicked off. Goin' away like you did an' leavin' her."

"I see." I felt oddly relieved. Then—then the emeralds had nothing to do with it.

"Tim!" A girl's voice summoned him.

"So long, kid." He glanced behind him. "Got to scam now, but remember I'm for you!"

"So long," I said and went on up the stairs.

Be Ad-vised Before You Buy

If a competent expert could pass on each purchase you make, you would be sure of getting full value for every dollar you spend. But experts are rare, and even then are seldom trained to know more than one type of merchandise. What an imposing retinue of these specialists you would need to pass judgment on your routine purchases of gasoline and gloves, hammocks and hosiery, linen and linoleum!

But you can get competent and honest counsel on almost everything you buy without ever meeting an expert. How? By being ad-vised in advance by the advertising pages of this newspaper.

Here you will find reputable merchants and manufacturers telling you about their best bargains, and inviting comparisons. In a matter of minutes, you will find more bonafide bargains in print than you would discover on the counters of all the stores you could visit in a six-day shopping trek.

Read these advertisements regularly for just one week, and then you'll know first-hand that it pays to be ad-vised before you buy. Your money will stretch further, and your purchases be more satisfactory.
