Union Laborers On New High School Prepare to Strike

Await Action Of Contractor For Plastering

I. C. Group Charges Employing Non-Iowa Laborers on Project

Pending action by Niels N. Hede, sub-contractor for plastering at the new $725,000 high school building in Morningside, nearly a hundred union laborers employed on the school building are prepared to strike at 8 o'clock this morning against alleged unfair labor practices.

The executive council of the Iowa City Building Trades Council, representing 13 crafts, at a meeting Monday night, charged that Hede is violating the Iowa Preference law which requires that Iowa labor must be used on public works when available.

Harry Morse, business manager of the trades council, said that the executive council ordered nearly 35 plasterers and lathers employed on the school job not to work yesterday, and that if the disagreement had not been settled by this morning, the remainder of the union laborers would be called off the project.

According to the official, the contractor is allegedly bringing men from Minnesota to do the plastering work to replace local men who have been employed at the building.

Local union officials yesterday contacted County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark and state Attorney General Fred Everett to report the conditions they claimed exist.

If the strike is called this morning, work on the school building will be completely stopped, union officials said. The work on the building is nearly three-fourths finished. The PWA grant calls for completion before April.

AWAITS TWIN

Second Baby May Be Week Later

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7 (AP)—Milo McDonnell, the perspiring papa who has been pacing a corridor for more than 60 hours since his son was born got a real blow from the doctor tonight—the news that it may be 10 days before a prospective twin arrives.

"It's too tough going," McDonnell said wearily. "I can't do it 10 days more. I'll have to sit down a while, at least."

Fish Condemns State Dept. For 'Conspiracy of Silence'

Censures House For Killing Information On Mexico Relations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Rep. Fish (R-NY) accused the state department tonight of a "conspiracy of silence to cover up inaction." He made the accusation after the house killed a resolution asking Secretary Hull for information concerning United States relations with Mexico and Mexican expropriation of American properties.

Hull sent some information to the house foreign affairs committee, which promptly locked it up, refused to let congressmen see it, and then persuaded the house to table the resolution which demanded the date.

Rep. Martin J. Kennedy (D-NY), author of the resolution, immediately announced he would use every method "to tear the shroud of mystery" from Hull's communication to the committee.

He said he had been advised that Hull himself had asked that the document be kept secret.

Fish, ranking republican member of the foreign affairs committee, issued a statement criticizing the "administration's program of secret diplomacy." He said: "The public is entitled to know what the administration has been doing to protect the interests of American landowners and other property rights in Mexico."

Missouri Pledges Spend Night in Jail

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 7 (AP)—Fifteen Alpha Tau Omega pledges at the University of Missouri spent last night in the city jail "for protection."

They explained they were protesting their assignment to initiation duties outside their own fraternity house which they contend would revive the outlawed "hell week."

They were quartered in the rarely used women's department of the jail. They returned to their fraternity house this morning.

Chapter members at the fraternity would not comment.

Loyalist Army To Defend Soil

Juan Negrin Cabinet Will Continue Fight As Peace Plans Fail

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 7 (AP)—Spanish government officials announced tonight that the hard-pressed Juan Negrin cabinet had decided to continue the fight in defense of the one-fourth of Spanish soil still in its hands.

The announcement indicated position "to continue the struggle had repeated his demand for unconditional surrender to end the 30-month civil war—an insistence which brought a breakdown in peace negotiations.

The government's decision to fight on was made known shortly after Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, foreign minister of the Spanish government, conferred at Perpignan with members of the Spanish cortes (parliament) and then hastily crossed the border for a conference with Premier Negrin.

The insurgents were said to have remarked adamant in refusing the government's last condition for peace — mere safe conduct from Spain for leaders of leftist parties, labor unions and military forces who are now in the central government zone.

The insurgents already had turned down Negrin's three-point overture calling for assurances that a plebiscite would be held for choice of a new Spanish government, that Spain would be freed of foreign influence and that all Spaniards would be permitted to join in the work of reconstruction.

Reports came from central Spain that General Jose Miaja, commander in the Madrid-Valencia zone, was determined to fight to the finish and was convinced the government was in "splendid position" to continue the struggle despite the loss of Catalonia.

This was done chiefly to conserve his strength for the consistency of all Italian bishops Saturday at which the pontiff is expected to discuss present relations with the fascist regime on the tenth anniversary of the Lateran accord.

On Sunday he is scheduled to attend a pontifical mass in St. Peter's celebrating the 17th anniversary of his coronation.

His medical attendants indicated they did not regard his condition as dangerous.

French Senate Votes Support To Govt. Policy

PARIS, Feb. 7 (AP)—The French senate voted confidence, 290 to 16, in the government's foreign policy tonight after Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet in a speech indicated his policy is based in large part on cooperation with the United States.

"Never have relations between France, England and the United States been better than at present," Bonnet said.

"Our three democracies," he added, "are aware of the immensity of their material and moral force. They know their place in the world, their place in history, their economic power and they know that no nation could dream of imposing their hegemony on them."

He said there was no question of this cooperation being directed against any nation.

Famous Pianists Appear Tonight

Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, above, famous Russian double piano team, appear at 8 o'clock tonight as performers on the university concert course. Two of their program highlights will be Milhaud's "Scaramouche" and three etudes by Babin himself. Both features were rated highly by Chicago critics following a recent appearance of the duo there. Compositions by Brahms, Mozart, Rachmaninoff and Borodin will also be played on tonight's program.

Pope III Plans Busy Week End Program

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 7 (AP)—Pope Pius XI, confined to his bed by a mild case of influenza, expressed determination today to go through with a strenuous week end program celebrating the anniversaries of the Lateran accord of 1929 with Italy and his coronation in 1922.

The pope cancelled audiences today and "took all precautions" because of his indisposition, said persons having access to his apartments.

A Vatican news service reported at 9:15 p.m., after the pope's physician had visited him tonight, that the patient's condition was unchanged. Several diplomats called at the Vatican to inquire about the pontiff's health.

This was done chiefly to conserve his strength for the consistency of all Italian bishops Saturday at which the pontiff is expected to discuss present relations with the fascist regime on the tenth anniversary of the Lateran accord.

On Sunday he is scheduled to attend a pontifical mass in St. Peter's celebrating the 17th anniversary of his coronation.

President Returns Relief Issue to Congress; Asks for Increase of 150 Million in Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt flung the relief issue back in the face of congress today with an assertion that unless money is appropriated for WPA, millions now dependent upon federal assistance may "be stranded" by early summer.

Specifically, he asked for the $150,000,000 which congress, in an economy effort, lopped from his estimates of relief needs for the present fiscal year.

He urged "immediate consideration" of this request, but the two key men in the situation in the house—Chairman Taylor (D-Colo) of the appropriations committee and Chairman Woodrum (D-Va) of the subcommittee in charge, made it plain that no action would be taken for several weeks.

"I don't know," Woodrum said, "what action the committee will take or whether it will take any. I don't see that the situation has changed, and I have not changed my view that the $25,000,000 we have already appropriated will be enough."

Chairman Adams (D-Colo) of the corresponding sub-committee in the senate said that whatever bill is approved by the house will receive "careful study" along with any "new facts" that may be presented. He, too, said that neither the relief situation nor his own views as to what should be done had changed.

Behind the president's request and these statements by the legislators lay the deep seated controversy over the Roosevelt spending policies, and the results of the session's first battle on that issue.

Roberts Nomination Rejection Contrary to Constitution -- F.R.

Letter Links ICC Nominee To Communism

Charges That Amle Was Introduced As 'Comrade' at Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—An unsigned letter charging that Thomas R. Amle was introduced as "comrade" Amle when he addressed a "communist" meeting in Chicago was submitted to a senate interstate commerce subcommittee today.

The letter was offered by Willis E. Donley, Menomonee, Wis., attorney, one of a quartet of witnesses who attacked Amle's qualifications to serve on the interstate commerce commission. Amle, a former progressive representative from Wisconsin, recently was nominated to the ICC by President Roosevelt.

The letter said Amle was one of the principal speakers at the second congress against war and fascism which Donley described as a communistic gathering at which the principal delegates and speakers were communists.

Under cross-examination by Senator Hill (D-Ala), Donley said the letter was not signed but added he was prepared to tell the committee in executive session the name of the author. He said the letter was received by State Sen. Harry Bolens of Wisconsin.

The letter said Amle was loudly applauded when introduced as "comrade," and that he proceeded in a speech to say "our common interest is to go out and fight fascism."

The letter further stated that Max Salzman, identified as a Detroit, communist, stated upon Amle's introduction that "he will be one of our high government officials after the revolution."

Senator Austin (R-Vt), a subcommittee member, said he would call upon Amle tomorrow to answer the charge. Donley turned to Amle today and challenged him to answer, but the latter remained silent.

Representative Kellier (D-Ill) later told the committee it was ridiculous to accuse Amle of being a communist.

"Tom Amle couldn't be a communist if he tried to be," Kellier said. "There is not a place in the United States government that I feel Amle wouldn't fill honorably and with credit." His remark drew loud applause from about 50 spectators.

Stricken on Set; Betty Grable Has Appendectomy

GLENDALE, Cal., Feb. 7 (AP)—Betty Grable, blonde motion picture actress and wife of Jackie Coogan, underwent an emergency appendicitis operation tonight at a hospital here.

Her surgeon, Dr. H. G. Westphal, described her as "doing very nicely" at the conclusion of the appendectomy. Barring complications, he said, she would be able to leave the hospital in about two weeks.

The actress was stricken in Hollywood on the set of Jack Benny's "Man About Town," in which she is appearing, and removed immediately to the hospital.

Two Bankers Endorse Trust Indenture Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two representatives of the American Bankers association expressed willingness today to see the trust indenture bill, which has been before congress for more than two years, enacted into law.

Robert M. Hanes, first vice president of the American Bankers association, of Winston-Salem, N. C., told a senate banking subcommittee that "if this bill passes, we'll do our best to make it work."

R. G. Page, of New York, chairman of an A. B. A. group which considered the bill lengthily, said that while the association believed the act was unnecessary, it was not opposing it.

The bill, introduced by Senator Barkley (D-Ky), is an amendment to the securities act to provide for federal regulation of certain securities and the regulation of trust indentures under which these are issued.

"Its primary purpose," Edward C. Elcher of the securities commission said, "is to bring all indenture trustees up to the high level of diligence and loyalty now maintained by the more conscientious trust institutions."

Gayda Reaffirms Italy's Plan to Aid General Franco in Winning Political As Well as Military Victory in Spain

ROME, Feb. 7 (AP)—Italy's determination to aid insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco until he has won a "political" as well as military victory in Spain was reaffirmed today by Virginio Gayda, often considered Premier Mussolini's spokesman.

Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano at the same time, however, was authoritatively reported to have told British Ambassador Lord Perth that Gayda did not represent the government attitude when he wrote previously that Italian troops would stay in Spain until Franco won a full political victory.

Gayda today did not repeat his mention of Italian troops but nevertheless insisted on a continuance of help and specified four points which he said were prerequisites for a complete Franco victory.

Count Ciano similarly disclaimed governmental responsibility for an Italian press campaign and public demonstrations against France in a talk with Lord Perth on Dec. 5, five days after agitation for French territory began.

The fascist press generally minimized the importance of the promise of British help for France in the event of war—made yesterday by Prime Minister Chamberlain—and said it could in no way be held equal to Chancellor Hitler's promise of war aid to Italy.

House Passes Farm-to-Market Road Bill by 95 to 8 Vote; Measure Now Goes to Senate

DES MOINES, Feb. 7 (AP)—Well-organized republican forces brushed aside bitter opposition in the Iowa house today to pass the "reallocation" farm-to-market road bill while democratic members shouted charges of "Hitlerism" and "dictatorship."

The vote on the bill, which "reallocates" $658,000 primary road funds immediately for federal farm-market matching, was 95 to 8. Five members either were absent or did not vote. The measure now goes to the senate.

Those voting "no" on the bill were Representatives Johannes, Keeney, Knippling and Kohlhaas, all democrats, and Hocum, Scott of Sac, Lampman and Thompson of Polk, all republicans.

In the exchange of charges and counter charges, bill sponsors disclosed that the measure would:

- 1. Produce about $12,000 for the average county this year.
- 2. Increase to possibly $20,000 per county by 1940.
- 3. Take 15 per cent each year from state motor vehicle license fees for farm-market matching, or something more than $1,500,000 annually. Any excess over and above amounts needed to match federal cash would be divided among the counties for use as they see fit on local roads.

While Gov. George A. Wilson was not injected into the scrap by name, the measure has been regarded as an administration bill. The governor discussed improvement of "that strip of mud between farm and pavement or gravel" in his inaugural address.

Representative Philip J. Kohlhaas (D), Algona, touched off the conflagration when he, foreseeing the overwhelming support developing for the bill, asserted that "some Hitler or dictator is taking charge."

"If democracy is gone from the state of Iowa, let's adjourn this session and go home," he said. Observers interpreted his charge to infer that the republican house membership had been "whipped into line, yesterday in a party caucus."

Byrd merely said: "He (the president) has had his say. We may have ours later."

The president's letter said that after investigation and consultation with the attorney general, it was decided that of the five or six men under consideration for the judgeship Roberts was best qualified for the post.

If the constitution had intended that one or two senators from the state of Iowa should have the power of vetting a nomination, it would have said so, the president asserted, or would have the power of vetting a non-power in the senators from the state in which a vacancy existed.

Alaskan Cold Wave Sweeps Midwest; Snow Falls in East

A cold wave bore down on the Midwest last night. Sweeping south from Alaska, it dropped temperatures below the zero level in Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas as it moved toward the central states.

In its path lay the flooded regions of the Ohio river valley. It was expected to check the rise of swollen streams in the wide area where approximately 10,000 families in five states were distressed by high water.

Colder weather was forecast also for New England after a fresh snowstorm grounded planes and hampered travel on land and sea. The fall measured five inches on Cape Cod. A light snow turned to rain in New York City.

Roosevelt Says Senate Trying To Direct Him

Nominations Can Be Refused Solely On Grounds of Fitness

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—In vigorous language, President Roosevelt accused the senate today of disregarding constitutional procedure in rejecting the nomination of Floyd H. Roberts as federal judge for the western district of Virginia.

Declaring that no question as to Roberts' fitness was raised, he said the constitution was intended to give the senate the right to reject or confirm appointments "solely on the grounds of the fitness of the nominee."

Virginia's two democratic senators, Glass and Byrd, who persuaded the senate to reject the nomination on the ground that it was personally objectionable to them, were accused by the president of trying to dictate to him.

"The senators from Virginia," he said in a letter to Roberts, "have in effect said to the president—we have nominated to you two candidates acceptable to you; you are hereby directed to nominate one of our candidates; and if you do not we will reject the nomination of anybody else selected by you, however fit he may be."

Glass and Byrd had suggested men for the judgeship, but their recommendations were passed over. Glass angrily told the senate judiciary committee that he had information the president's action was intended as a rebuke to him and Byrd for voting against administration legislation.

The president today bluntly accused Glass of making untrue statements. One of these, Mr. Roosevelt said, was that Homer Cummings, former attorney general and adviser on judiciary appointments, "never had the slightest idea of giving consideration to the recommendations of the two Virginia senators because the governor of Virginia (James H. Price) had been promised the right to veto on nominations that they made."

Senator Glass, after reading the president's letter tonight, said: "It's hardly worth discussing. There's nothing to it, but I may have something to say about it in the senate later."

The Virginian said that "you can search the letter in vain for any denial" that the president gave Governor Price the veto power.

Byrd merely said: "He (the president) has had his say. We may have ours later."

The president's letter said that after investigation and consultation with the attorney general, it was decided that of the five or six men under consideration for the judgeship Roberts was best qualified for the post.

Democratic Members Shout Charges Of 'Hitlerism' at Action

American Foreign Trade

ACCORDING TO recent figures on American foreign trade for 1938, the United States can look forward to continued economic distress. It has been estimated that our total exports for the past year are approximately $249,000,000 less than in 1937. Likewise our total imports for 1938 are approximately $1,100,000,000 less than those of the previous year.

Many people are of the opinion that we cannot have genuine economic recovery in this country unless our export trade is greatly increased. It is generally agreed that an increase in foreign trade would be an important stabilizing factor in our economic machine. But the question is can we hope even to approach the great export trade we realized in the twenties? There are definite reasons to believe we cannot.

Since the World War, nations throughout the world have been striving for economic self-sufficiency. They have been educating themselves along lines of scientific development in agriculture, manufacturing and numerous other vocations. In the wild scramble for economic independence, they have foolishly ignored the old economic rule of greatest comparative advantage. This means that they have devoted their energies to all possible lines of production, rather than to those lines in which they have superiority. Such a condition will naturally decrease the volume of trade between nations and give rise to world-wide economic unrest.

The United States, however, has not been static while this race has been going on in foreign lands. Besides our own advancements, we have helped these erstwhile backward nations—Russia for example—develop by planning engineers, scientific instructors, modern machines, new inventions and capital at their disposal. The result of this is that since these nations have increased production, their demands for goods from other nations have decreased, and in some instances, the formerly backward nations are now placing their surpluses on the foreign market in competition with the United States.

Another factor that makes restoration of foreign trade seem impossible is the present international ill-feeling existing between the nations which are discordant in their views of government. Harsh verbal combats between governmental heads has caused, in some cases, discontinuance of trade between the two nations involved. It is not likely that normal relationships can be restored in the face of such ill-feelings.

The solution to our economic problems does not rest solely in restoring the former high level of foreign trade. It is true that we should strive to make it as high as possible, but in the meantime, we should devise ways and means of meeting this new condition, and we should strive to adjust ourselves, as quickly as possible, to the policies we adopt. Our decrease in foreign trade may be merely another economic milestone that we have passed in the march of progress.

Toward Better Journalists

ARE THE better-known journalistic minds of today showing any changes or improvement? Has the tone of the press been raised to a higher level?

The answer should of course be in the affirmative, if judged by the recent success of the Neiman Fellowship plan at Harvard university. It will be recalled that Lucius Neiman, founder of the Milwaukee Journal, died with the belief that today's journalists had a need for a new and inspirational background from which to write. The will of the late Mrs. Neiman, in agreement with this belief, left $5,000,000 for the purpose of "promoting and elevating the standards of journalism."

Though Harvard has never shown any particular desire for a school of journalism, it inaugurated in 1937 a unique plan for the specified use of the money left by the Neimans. The plan gives 15 annual fellowships to working newspapermen for a year's study at Harvard in any chosen field. One man is selected from each of six regional districts by a fellowship board. The fellowship pays an amount the same as a regular salary and allows free tuition, requiring no academic credits or examinations. Each holder takes five or more courses of his own choosing with which comes the valuable privilege of personal association with the best minds of the faculty.

Eight scholarships have been awarded since last September, and 50 applications have been received for next year. The social end of the plan as revealed in a recent Editor and Publisher may perhaps be responsible for this. It says that during the football season, each man holds seats in the press box and has guest privileges to certain clubs. There are weekly dinners under the sponsorship of Archibald McLeish, Harvard poet and manager of the "fellowship" at which discussions are lively and very much of the record. Guest speakers have been Alexander Woolcott, Eric Hodgins of Fortune and Ralph Mc. A. Ingersoll of Time magazine. The combination of selective courses of study and personal associations with professors and fellow writers, looks toward an increased cultural background and a greater competency in present-day journalism. It remains for the reading public to determine the degree of success which this experiment will reach.

A Word From

Dr. Eddie Anderson

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON'S first public speech since his arrival in Iowa City to begin his job as football coach was at Monday evening's American Legion dinner. It seemed to us a good speech. It seemed a healthy attitude for one in Dr. Eddie's position. Football at the university, he said, may not always have been the record-breaking kind, but as for the university itself, he stated, "it's one of the best."

That, according to Dr. Eddie, is why he's here. As a matter of fact, that's probably why all of us are here.

Humane Act?

VOLUNTARILY to prolong a man's misery while he waits to be executed is unnecessary cruelty. To do so merely to point out the evils of capital punishment makes it seem more unnecessary.

Yet the governor in Texas did just that to arouse public opinion in the state against that form of punishment. He put the date of a Negro's execution up a month so that he would have that much longer to suffer, he said, that every condemned man goes through the most intensive suffering while waiting for the day to come and that by such an act he hoped to make the people of Texas realize this and abolish the death sentence altogether. He wishes to be more humane to criminals.

The idea may work, if enough people can be moved to action by merely having such an example put before them.

Again it may not. If it doesn't, the governor will have inflicted upon a defenseless man, the very thing he is fighting against.

Remember that light fall of snow that Chicago and the middle-west enjoyed recently? Well, you ought to see the Florida papers!

Branch Rickey Bans Martin's 'Mudcats'

By WHITNEY MARTIN NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—The method might have been a little quicker, but the management couldn't have done a more thorough job of removing the color from the St. Louis Cardinals if it had let them hang by the ears in the rain. For the Cardinals aren't just faded; they're positively bleached.

Dizzy Dean, the reddest of the red spots, was shipped to the Cubs, leaving his silent partner, Brother Paul, as just another ball player. Frankie Frisch, rough and ready and reared in the John McGraw school, and the iron fist of the Gas House Gang, was eased out.

The details leading up to the disbanding of that famed musical organization which toured the midlands during the off season assailing the ears of the natives with vocal laments and strange noises emanating from guitars. Branch Rickey, Stockton regales, cornered the Wild Hoss and in a one-sided oratorical contest convinced Pepper that maybe the world could get along without the Mudcats. He did not make the order mandatory, but listening between the words Pepper got the idea.

But the Gas House Gang will be missed. The boys could play baseball as well as stage a three-ring circus, with a new act at every performance. And it is barely possible that the fans won't miss the old Cardinals any more than the new Cardinals will miss the fans.

Not so long ago a promotion to the St. Louis squad was equivalent to a call to the colors. When the Red Birds weren't leaving black and blue marks on the opposition they were leaving faces red by verbal outbursts. The only colorless thing about them was their drinking water.

Lippy Durocher, Ripper Collins and others who helped make the Cardinal slogan "Never a dull moment" really mean something, are gone, and now, to make the fading process complete, the hobbies have been put on the Wild Horse of the Osage—Pepper Martin. His Mudcats are mired. Roy Stockton, St. Louis Post-Dispatch writer, is authority for to turn back Northwestern. The late rally the Wildcats staged for their victory came as somewhat of a surprise.

While the Hawkeyes have one of the Big Ten's better defensive records thus far, there are signs that point in the other direction for Saturday. Led by Capt. Ernest Andres, who holds the individual conference scoring record of 30 points in one game, the Hoosiers have piled up an average of 41 markers per contest.

Against the fast moving invaders, Williams will depend on the same Iowa team that has played brilliant, at times, but very inconsistent ball this season. Capt. Benny Stephens, to be sure, has always been able to score and he still rates third in the conference, but Stephens has been the only dependable marksman on the squad.

Sueppelmen Pull Away in Last Period to Win Local Classic

George Chadek Gets 12 Points to Top Scoring, Red Miller Sparks Irish Attack With Total of Nine

Complete Box Score St. Mary's (33) vs St. Pat's (24) with player statistics for fg, ft, pf, tp.

Referee—Geiger (Iowa). Score at half: St. Mary's 12; St. Pat's 9.

By BILL EAGEN Daily Iowan Sports Reporter

In the annual St. Mary's-St. Pat's basketball classic last night, St. Mary's Ramblers swarmed over the Irish to win 33 to 24.

The game was played in the Irish gym before the typical roaring, stamping crowd which always turns out for this highlight game for the two schools.

George Chadek, husky Rambler forward, led the scoring with 12 points and was followed by Schmidt, Rambler center, and Miller, Irish guard, with nine apiece.

Miller piled up his total by making a field goal and sinking seven out of 10 free throws.

The game was rough, and it opened with a foul, Schmidt fouling Miller who made his charity toss. The scoring for St. Mary's was started with a goal by Jim Chadek, guard. Bradley stole the lead back for the Irish with a long shot.

Love dropped in a gift shot on Jim Chadek's foul to make it 4 to 2 for St. Pat's. George Chadek swung out of a mass of players and sank one of his special one-handed shots.

Schmidt flipped in a gift shot and George Chadek added another, second with 108 field goals and both being fouled by "Red" Miller. The quarter ended with St. Mary's holding a narrow 6 to 4 lead.

Schmidt whipped in a basket from the side and Miller matched it with two free throws. Love dropped in a bucket to tie the score at eight all. George Chadek and Schmidt scored one apiece before Glenn Fitzpatrick swished in a free throw for the Irish. The

U-High Cagers Face West Liberty Friday

The U-High basketweavers will endeavor to square relations with their old rivals, West Liberty, Friday night when they meet in what will be the Blues' last home appearance of the current season.

West Liberty previously defeated the Breckmen 20 to 16 on the former's court.

Inspired by successive wins over Anamosa and St. Pat's, the Rivermen are determined to continue their winning ways at the expense of West Liberty.

half saw the Marians still ahead 12-9. Scoring was pretty even for the third quarter as the Marians garnered 12 points and the Irish got seven. Bradley banged in a basket for the St. Pat's quintet, and Schmidt scored twice on a pair of tricky passes, Jack Bock to Schmidt in the corner.

Love snapped in another long one for St. Pat's and Jack Bock followed him with a "back of the neck" shot. St. Pat's was close at this point, 18 to 13, but the Ramblers pulled away by virtue of baskets by George and Jim Chadek and Bill Bock. Miller got a gift shot on Schmidt's foul and then jumped in to slap in a bucket as the third quarter ended.

The Irish came into the final quarter with a display of strength, but the Ramblers stayed in there by flipping in basket for basket. Jim Chadek sank one and then fouled Fitzpatrick who missed his charity toss. Jim Chadek went out with four personals on him.

Bill Bock got a free throw, and George Chadek made one out of two. George Chadek continued his scoring with a long shot from far out on the floor. It was then 30 to 16 for the Ramblers.

Glenn Fitzpatrick and Bill Bock traded free throws before George Chadek made another bucket. Miller, Beasley and Jack Fitzpatrick combined to make seven points for the Irish, ending the scoring.

Fight Called Off NEW YORK (AP) — The ban-

Madeline Low, James Horan Wed Saturday

Florence Van Nice Weds G. N. Leiting In Chicago Church

Of local interest are the announcements of the weddings of several former university students and graduates.

Low-Horan
Easter lilies and palms banked the altar of the St. Paul's English Lutheran church in Ft. Madison Saturday for the marriage of Madeline Hortense Low and James Gordon Horan. The Rev. A. L. Augersbach officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Low of Ft. Madison, was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of ivory Chantilly lace and she carried a shower bouquet of ivory roses and lilies of the valley. Her finger tip veil was also of ivory lace.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Dolores Hubly of Mason City, Ill., who was gowned in pale green lace and net, fashioned with a bouffant skirt of net and bodice of lace. Her flowers were yellow jonquils.

Maxine Graham of Ft. Madison and Adelaide Murdy of Aberdeen, S. D., served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of pale yellow lace and net, styled similarly to that of the maid of honor. Their bouquets were of mixed spring flowers.

Gilman Lozier of Cedar Rapids served as best man and ushers were Fred Bulham of Burlington, James Bean and George Doyle of Ft. Madison, and Norman Berg of Cedar Rapids.

The reception following the ceremony was in the home of the bride's parents. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a tiny basket of flowers centered the serving table. Decorating the house were baskets of roses, jonquils and spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Horan left for a trip to Chicago. For travel, Mrs. Horan wore a frock of lime green crepe with matching hat and black accessories.

The bride attended Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., and the university, where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority. Mr. Horan attended Coe college and the university, where he was affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and Drake university.

After Feb. 15 the couple will be at home at 623 avenue F in Ft. Madison.

Van Nice-Leiting
The marriage of Florence Ellen Van Nice and Gerard N. Leiting took place Saturday noon in the rectory of St. Peter's church in Chicago. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Webster Van Nice of Muscatine and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leiting of Chicago.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Van Nice of Davenport, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore an Alpine violet costume suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids. The bride was graduated from Ames high school and the university, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Beta Tau Delta. Mr. Leiting attended Notre Dame and Northwestern universities. He is now employed by Remington Rand, Inc. in Indianapolis, Ind., where the couple will make their home.

McCray-Mudge
Another marriage of last Saturday noon was that of Millie McCray, daughter of W. S. McCray of Compton, Cal., and Robert Mudge, son of Mrs. George Mudge of Ottumwa. The marriage took place in the Mudge home with the Rev. Russell E. Kaufmann of Zanesville, Ohio, officiating.

Attendants of the couple were Viola Waugh of Iola, Kan., and James Mudge of Ottumwa.

The bride wore an afternoon frock of French blue silk alpaca and her corsage was of pink roses. The bride attended Christian college at Columbia, Mo., and for the past three years has been mail order supervisor of the Montgomery Ward company in Atchison.

Mr. Mudge was graduated from the Ottumwa high school and the university, where he was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi fraternity and Phi Chi Pi, honorary commerce fraternity. He is now employed by the John Morrell company in Danville, Ill., where the couple will make their home after a trip to Chicago.

The meeting will be held in the large dining room of Macbride hall.

J. A. Swisher Will Speak At Electa Circle

Dr. J. A. Swisher of the Iowa State Historical society will be guest speaker at the Lincoln birthday celebration luncheon of Electa circle of King's Daughters. The luncheon will be at 12:30 in the foyer of Iowa Union.

The committee in charge of the decorations which will be in the patriotic theme includes Mrs. W. F. Boiler and Mrs. Sarah Paine Hoffman. There will be a business meeting after luncheon.

Spring Suits Have Color

Easter Parade This Year Will Be Bright With Colorful Outfits

And now that old King Sol is beginning to monopolize the weather, it isn't too soon for a shopping trip with that all-important "Easter Parade" in mind. A preview of the new spring creations guarantees that Easter morning will bring forth more splashes of color than ever before. Black and white will, of course, occupy the same classic position, but this year Dame Fashion has dipped her paint brush in the loveliest of colors and brightened milady up for spring. Hats, shoes, suits, coats, frocks and gloves, all come up from her paintpots with a chic new glamor.

One lovely costume is in corn yellow and grey. A long-sleeved jacket is fashioned of yellow flannel with a scalloped motif around the neckline and down the front, and is worn with a grey flannel skirt, which is styled with box pleats stitched to just below the hipline. To top it off is a soft, brown silk scarf with big polka dots. Then with a hat of yellow felt, featuring a wide brim and high, stovetop crown wound diagonally with a band of the scarf material and shoes and gloves of brown suede, the ensemble is complete.

Another chic yellow spring outfit is a one-piece dress with high puffed neckline, wide puffed waistline, a highlight repeated in the cuffs of the short sleeves and the tiny breast pockets. A yellow felt sailor with a front squared brim, narrowing to the back, trimmed with wide yellow grosgrain ribbon which breaks into a six-inch fringe over the shoulder is ultra smart.

Featuring suede is a two-piece frock in turquoise blue. The tuck-in blouse is short-sleeved with a turnback collar, and the skirt is circular. Over it is worn a full length gaitelle coat, collarless, with detail stitching around the neckline and down the front, repeated on inset pockets and cuffs. The coat does not close and is belted with a stitched gazelle belt at the normal waistline.

Here's a casual two-piece suit in spicy rose flannel. The butcher-boy jacket has large mother-of-pearl buttons down the front and is worn over a white broadcloth blouse. The pencil-lined skirt is relieved from severity by two deep kick-pleats in the front and back.

And for a smart utility suit Hollywood had designed one in bright Kelly green wool. The closely fitted coat dips from front to longer back length, has a zipper fastening, intriguing stand-up collar and a decided treatment of revers, the latter being rectangle in shape and about four inches in width. The blouse is of white silk crepe, fashioned with a high-fitting halter neck. A matching green felt with a colorful feather is worn with black accessories.

As for the new array of bonnets, one very popular number is a straw sailor covered completely with gold leaf and set off by a black veil which ties under the chin. Another decidedly different sailor has a band of colored raffia with tiny dangles of colored wool.

Lending regality to any black and white ensemble is a postage-stamp, black velvet tricorne. An insolent blue ostrich feather curls back over the crown and down one side. The hat is worn well over the right eye.

There's really a rainbow of light-weight wool sweaters to be worn under the new spring suits. Matching or contrasting there are all styles, shapes and sizes to add a new dash to any suit.

Whether you're window shopping or magazine browsing, remember that "color" will be foremost this year. So choose your Easter outfit with an eye on Dame Fashion's color chart.

February's Red Letter Days Offer Party Ideas for Month

February, with the birthdays of two great American patriots and the day honoring St. Valentine, offers more ideas for party giving than any other month in the year, so now's the time to have that party you've been thinking about for so long.

Whether you take patriotism or love as your inspiration, your refreshments should be more or less in the "red."

Although cherries are closely associated with George Washington and his tree-chopping, Cherry roll is a dessert that would brighten any menu. And it's so simple to prepare—merely a rich short-cake dough spread with luscious canned cherries, rolled up and baked until the crust is crisp and golden.

Cherry Roll
2 cups pastry flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons fat
1-3 cup irradiated evaporated milk
1-3 cup cold water mixed
1 cup sugar
1 No. 2 can cherries, drained
Sift flour, then measure. Resift with baking powder, salt and

Scientific Methods of Industrial Management Will Be Taught

Three-Week Course For Engineers Will Be June 12 to 30

New scientific methods of industrial management, calculated to improve efficiency and reduce costs, will be taught in a three-week course for executives and engineers at the University of Iowa next summer.

The management course in the college of engineering will occur between June 12 and 30 and will be open to plant managers, foremen, industrial engineers, methods and time study analysts, cost accountants and office executives.

Not only will the college hold its first short course, but also it will give an eight-week course for college and university instructors and students. This opens June 12 and closes Aug. 4.

The courses will cover motion and time study, waste elimination, cost reduction, plant layout and related subjects. They will be under the supervision of Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the industrial engineering department.

Nine visiting experts, all outstanding in the field of industrial engineering and management, will appear as lecturers. In addition, seven members of the university faculty are listed on the courses' staff.

Included among the visitors will be John A. Aldridge of Sears, Roebuck in Chicago; T. C. Eckstein, Bauer and Black, Chicago; Harold Engstrom, General Electric company, Bridgeport, Conn.; Lillian Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J.; C. R. Sheaffer, president of the pen company in Ft. Madison, and Virgil Palmer, Eastman Kodak company of Rochester, N. Y.

Four Speakers Added to List Now Available

Four new names have been added to the list of members of the faculty of the university who are available for college and high school commencement addresses, it was announced yesterday.

Prof. Norman C. Meier and Prof. Dewey B. Stuit of the psychology department, Prof. J. B. Stroud of the college of education and the psychology department, and Wendell Smith of the college of commerce bring the total number of available speakers to 22.

Other speakers include Prof. J. W. Ashton of the English department; Prof. Harry G. Barnes of the speech department; Sudhindra Bose, lecturer in political science; Prof. Erich Funke, head of the German department; Prof. H. C. Harshbarger of the speech department.

Prof. George D. Haskell of the college of commerce; Prof. Lonzo Jones, assistant dean of men; Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts; Prof. Mason Ladd of the college of law; Prof. M. Willard Lampe, head of the school of religion; Prof. Claude J. Lapp of the physics department.

Prof. W. Ross Livingston of the history department; Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of extension division; Donald R. Mallett, assistant to the dean of men; Prof. Harry K. Newburn of the college of education; Jacob A. Swisher, research associate, state historical society; Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce, and Prof. H. J. Thornton of the history department.

Higley to Speak At Mid-Winter Dental Meeting

Dr. L. B. Higley of the college of dentistry will speak at the mid-winter meeting of the American Dental society at the Stevens hotel in Chicago Feb. 15.

Dr. Higley, who is head of the department of orthodontics, will participate in a round table forum, and will discuss "Dysfunction of the Temporomandibular Articulation and its Treatment."

His talk before the group will include facts relative to the temporomandibular articulation as revealed by X-ray studies. He will explain the relationship between the upper head of the lower jaw and the skull which articulate in front of the ear.

According to Dr. Higley, through the discussion it is hoped to determine whether or not certain investigators are correct in their assertions that dental deformity, which allows the lower jaw to overclose, causes such ailments as headaches, earaches, loss of hearing and dizziness, and whether or not the present methods of treatment can be improved upon.

(Three of Babin's "Six Etudes" and the "Scaramouche" by Milhaud are included in tonight's concert in Iowa Union.)

Claudia Cassidy, critic of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, was likewise liberal in her praise of the Russian team.

"Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin returned to the auditorium Sunday afternoon to reassure their admirers that the excitement over their previous appearance was justified," the critic wrote.

"These gifted young Russians wasted no time on extraneous detail—merely sat at the two black pianos silhouetted against the white drop and played with the vital brilliance already their trademark."

"For the two piano idiom they have a supple interplay that amounts to affinity and they have begun to create their own music in a literature which has too often had to fall back on arrangements."

"Sunday's recital featured Mr. Babin's 'Six Etudes' created for two piano performance and highly effective, especially in the vivacious movements, one of which defines its bow to Rimsky Korsakoff in bumble bee mood."

"Their program closed with Milhaud's 'Scaramouche,' an insistently brilliant and instantly popular work destined to save the De Falla 'Ritual Fire Dance' from an early demise due to overwork."

"The finale of this, called 'Brazileria,' was magnificently played in a kind of percussive rhythm almost hypnotic. The audience demanded and got a repetition, and several encores."

Josef Hofmann, world famous pianist and director of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, predicted the immediate success of the team before they came to this country. He called them "the most extraordinary two-piano team I have heard in Europe."

University of Iowa Dam... Yields Important Information

The effect of dam roughness and depth of overflow is illustrated in the above photograph, which shows water flowing over the dam at the University of Iowa laboratory. There are flashboards on the crest which produce considerable turbulence such as would occur with a very rough crest. The turbulence bodies can be seen distinctly as they break through the surface.

A Study of Air and Water Engineers Obtain Valuable Hydraulic Data From University of Iowa

Observations made on the flow over the University dam on the Iowa river at Iowa City by university engineers have furnished important information on the study of the laws of the effect of air on swiftly flowing water.

Prof. E. W. Lane of the mechanics and hydraulics department of the college of engineering has carried on such observations in the hydraulics laboratory at the university and an article written by him on one phase of this subject appears in the February issue of Civil Engineering, a publication of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Engineering science has reached a point where the actions of the water itself under a given set of conditions can usually be accurately predicted, but the laws

Social Dancing Lessons Begin

The air and water is due to turbulence produced in the water by roughness on the face of the dam.

In roughness, small whirlpools or eddies are set up, which move through the water and, when they reach the surface, cause small masses of water to project above the surface, as seen in the accompanying photographs.

Because of their rapid motion, these small projections become mixed with air, carrying it into the main stream in some cases to such an extent that the stream contains a very large proportion of air. The observations carried on at the University dam indicate that the air taken in decreases as the depth of flow over the dam increases.

The conclusions reached by Professor Lane in his article are reassuring to engineers; they indicate that in most cases the effect of air entrainment will be small and that expensive precautions to take care of air effects will not be necessary.

Social Dancing to Begin

Social dancing classes for beginning and intermediate students will begin next Monday at the women's gymnasium, sponsored by the Women's Athletic association. The series of 10 lessons is offered for one dollar, with meetings of both groups each Monday evening. Instruction will follow the general principles used last summer, when the above picture was taken. Here students are receiving instruction in various steps. W. A. A. reports that not only will the basic steps be taught, but that such modern versions as the Lambeth Walk will also enter into the dance curriculum.

Art Conference Selects Chicago For Next Meet

The Art Institute of Chicago has been selected as the meeting-place of the mid-western art conference next year, following the meeting of the group in Iowa City last week end.

Newly elected officers are Prof. Philip Whitehead of Beloit college, president; Prof. William Varnum of Wisconsin, vice-president, and Prof. Harold Pyke of Knox college, secretary-treasurer. Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the graphic and plastic arts department here, served as president last year.

The objectives of the conference are:

- (1) Establishing a philosophy of art education suitable to the mid-western region.
- (2) Promoting cooperation between the several institutions through an annual conference and the circulation of information by mail.
- (3) Establishing a more uniform and substantial curriculum content.
- (4) Cooperating to improve and expand high school art teaching.
- (5) Publishing the resolution adopted and convictions expressed at the annual meetings, so far as this may be feasible.

C. William Hazlett Presents Tax Plan

C. William Hazlett, who received his M.S. degree in physics at Iowa in 1913, has recently contributed to discussion in economics by the publication of a work entitled "Incentive Taxation."

By this term Mr. Hazlett suggests, "the use of the national power to tax incomes in an equitable manner which will provide an incentive for the maximum use of facilities for production by fixing progressively lower unit rates of taxation upon production in excess of a reasonable standard of efficient use and increasingly higher rates of taxation upon a production falling below that standard."

Mr. Hazlett, a manufacturer in Greenwich, Conn., recently appeared before a congressional committee and described this taxation plan.

Social Dancing Lessons Begin

The Women's Athletic association will sponsor social dancing lessons beginning Monday at 7:15 p.m. in the women's gymnasium.

A series of ten lessons for both beginners and intermediates will be offered. The beginning class will meet at 7:15 p.m. each Monday and the intermediates will meet at 8:15 p.m.

In charge of the beginning group will be Kathryn Stanley, A4 of Oskaloosa. Margaret Darnell, A3 of Billings, Mont., will conduct the intermediate class. They will be assisted by members of the recreational leadership class and members of W.A.A. who will act as hostesses and ticket takers.

Climaxing the lessons, the last class will be a party which will be planned by the students.

Not only the standard dance steps will be taken up in the lessons, but the newer steps, such as the Lambeth Walk, will be taught as well.

If there is enough interest, an advanced class will be started.

Tickets will be on sale at the women's gymnasium starting today until Monday.

Thornton to Talk To Y. W. C. A.

Annabel Anderson, A4 of Cedar Rapids, president of Y.W.C.A., will make announcements of the future plans of Y.W.C.A. at the all-Y meeting tomorrow at 7:15 p.m. in the river room of Iowa Union.

Prof. H. J. Thornton of the history department will speak about the cultural growth of individuals.

Era Hauptert, A4 of Marshalltown, is general chairman for the meeting. The social committee, co-chaired by Helen Ries, A3, and Jayne McGovern, A2, both of Iowa City, will serve as hostesses.

Alumni Groups Plan Dinners

University Founders' Day to Be Observed In States Feb. 25

First alumni groups to schedule dinners for the University of Iowa's Founders' day observance Feb. 25 represent five states, Bruce E. Mahan, alumni secretary, said yesterday.

The Chicago club, one of the largest and most active of the units, will hold its meeting to celebrate the university's 92nd birthday, as will clubs in Kansas City, Mo., Milwaukee, Wis., and Rochester, N. Y.

The first organization in Iowa to book a rally is that in Washington. Within the next two weeks, it is expected that a large percentage of the groups will have set up their dinner meetings.

In addition to attending rallies, alumni in all sections of the country will listen to the half-hour program over the National Broadcasting company's blue network at 1 p.m.

Prof. Foerster Will Speak In St. Louis, Mo.

Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, will address the Harvard clubs at a regional meeting in St. Louis, on Feb. 14. Attending the meeting will be graduates from Harvard university residing in the Mississippi valley region.

Professor Foerster, who received his A.B. degree from Harvard in 1910, will speak at a symposium on "What is a Liberal Education in the Twentieth Century?"

President James B. Conant of Harvard university will give the principal address at the meeting.

Civil Aeronautics Authority To Await Congressional Act Before Final Aviation Course Selection

Thirteen Colleges Are Already Selected For Flight Training

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The civil aeronautics authority said today it would wait for legislation by congress before selecting approximately 300 colleges and universities for aviation training courses next year.

Thirteen colleges and universities recently were selected for aviation training during the present semester, but officials said this list would not be enlarged until congress gave its approval to an expanded program worked out by the CAA and President Roosevelt. The 13 school program this semester is being financed with emergency funds.

The 300 school program will commence in the next school year provided congress appropriates necessary funds.

"No schools will be selected until congress passes the required legislation," a CAA spokesman said. "Whatever consideration has been given to schools has been most informal, with no conclusions reached."

He declined to name any schools receiving informal consideration.

Iowa City Man Talks to Group

Ted Hunter Discusses History, Development of Short Wave Radio

Ted Hunter discussed the history and development of short wave radio before the bi-monthly meeting of the junior chamber of commerce last night in the Jefferson hotel.

The United States government during the World War called in most short wave radio permits, Hunter said, and after the war it was difficult to obtain a license. The ban was lifted in 1919, he added.

It was in 1921 that man first succeeded in sending sounds across the ocean, Hunter continued. Communication was then established between Scotland and the United States.

Today, Hunter said, there are 65,000 amateur radio sets in the world. Of this number 47,500 are located in the United States.

A business meeting followed the program.

Political Dead In Japan Now Number 47

SHANGHAI, Feb. 7 (AP)—The killing of two officials of the Japanese-sponsored government today brought to 47 the number of known political assassinations in this area while more than 2,000,000 Chinese and Japanese fought along a far-flung line spread over most of the map of China.

Chow Chi-Tang, counselor of the government's finance ministry, was shot while riding through the streets of the international settlement. His assailant pinned a note on his body saying "You are a traitor."

Soo Che-Dong, a tax collector, also was shot by a lone gunman.

It was learned authoritatively that 24 other Chinese officials of the regime had received letters threatening death unless they severed connections with the government.

Thirty-four of the 47 assassinations have occurred in the international concessions. Thirteen were in the French concession. Others have occurred in Japanese-occupied territory, but no figures are available.

Most of those killed were Chinese who had accepted office in the Japanese-controlled regime, but police recorded 12 killings of persons who Chinese said were anti-Japanese agitators.

The major war fronts were relatively quiet but there were scores of hit-and-run engagements between Chinese guerrillas and Japanese mopping-up columns as the war entered the twentieth month.

Schultz Attorney Admits Giving Hines Money

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, the sleek former attorney for the Dutch Schultz policy racket, testified today he had paid Tammany district leader James J. Hines thousands of dollars for political protection for the syndicate.

Appearing as a guilty-pleading prosecution witness in Hines second trial on policy racket conspiracy charges, Davis repeatedly referred familiarly to the white-haired politician as "Jimmy."

Not only did he swear that he had given Hines "15 or 20" protection payments during 1933—one for $2,000 and the rest ranging from $500 to $1,000—but after a policy raid on one of the policy "banks" George Weinberg, a Schultz lieutenant and recent suicide, had wanted the case dismissed and had succeeded in that desire after speaking to Hines.

Hines, said the witness, suggested the case be adjourned until city magistrate Hulon Capshaw was sitting. This was done, Davis added, and Capshaw dismissed the complaint.

Peace Group Makes Plans For Meeting

Eastern Leaders To Be Chief Speakers At Iowa Conference

A tentative program for Iowa's intercollegiate peace conference to be held in Iowa City Feb. 24, 25 and 26, was arranged by the university's peace committee at a meeting in the Union board room at 4 p.m. yesterday.

Three outstanding leaders of peace movements in the east will be the principal speakers, according to Edward Freutel, A4 of Los Angeles, Cal., chairman of the meeting. The eastern lecturers who are to appear are Raymond Wilson, secretary of the American Friends service committee, who will head the Grinnell peace institute; Harold Chance, chairman of the American Friends service committee, and Jeff Campbell, secretary of the fellowship of reconciliation committee.

According to Freutel, delegates from practically every college in Iowa are expected to attend the peace conference, arrangements for which were made by approximately 40 representatives from various campus organizations who attended the meeting. Students to serve on the publicity and reception committees were chosen by the group. Those selected for the committees are:

Publicity: Howard Grothe, A4 of Des Moines, chairman; Alma Louise Atherton, A3 of Union Grove, Wis., and Carl Ettinger, A3 of Cedar Rapids.

Reception: Lillian Locker, A3 of Monticello, chairman; Robert Hunt, L2 of Lamoni; Robert McGregory, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Mary Jane Rivkin, A1 of Davenport, and Eugene Mather, A3 of West Liberty.

"It was decided to ask each campus organization to submit one dollar to help defray the expenses of the conferences," added Freutel.

A second meeting of the university peace committee will be held Tuesday to further develop the conference plans.

Fletcher Asks 'Fair Opportunity'

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7 (AP)—A fair opportunity for all and not an "autocrat" is needed to solve the nation's transportation problems, R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the American Association of Railroads, declared tonight.

Speaking at the Franklin institute's transportation symposium, Fletcher said "We must reach the solution . . . by giving each form of transportation a fair chance to show what it can do. The inexorable laws of economics will do the rest."

The opportunity must be under equal conditions, he said.

"We cannot expect an intelligent answer to the question if certain forms are the beneficiaries of government subsidy while others are not."

"We cannot decently require railroads to pay out of every dollar they take in more than 31 cents for taxes and to provide and maintain the highways over which they operate while their competitors, on roads built and maintained at public expense, pay about seven and a half cents, and, operating on waterways improved and maintained by the government, pay only two cents for the same purposes."

"Hello," she said, and from the tone of her voice I gathered she was not feeling especially cheery. "I'm out of face powder. Thought maybe you'd have an extra box around somewhere."

"I'll see." Her nose did not look shiny to me, but from past experience I knew that girls like Toots

DEATH AT THE MANOR

READ THIS FIRST:
Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of a friend for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Sr., finds herself involved in a mystery when the eccentric old lady is found dead under one of the hair driers after Elsie had left the room for a few moments. She is further humiliated when she learns that one of the servants in the Manor's household suspects her of taking Mrs. Witherspoon's emeralds, which are missing. Certain members of the Witherspoon family and some of the house guests strike Elsie as queer, and she is surprised when the old lady's son, Horace Witherspoon, advises her to say nothing of the missing jewels for fear of publicity and the police. The coroner arrives for his investigation. Phil Benson, Elsie's friend and a reporter, comes for an obituary for his paper and Elsie shows him around the mansion.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
"I WAS LOOKING for you, sir," I explained in some confusion. "I knocked and no one answered, so I looked inside. I didn't mean to spy on anyone; I didn't know anyone was there."

"Someone is there?" He appeared surprised. I moved aside and he peered into the room.

"Ah!" he cried sharply, and I glanced quickly at his face. One side was strangely twisted as if he had experienced sudden pain, and as I watched him, I noticed his hand clutching the doorknob turned white at the knuckles.

"Are you ill, Mr. Witherspoon?" I asked, beginning to feel alarmed.

"Ill?" His hands fell to his sides and his face settled into its normal lines. "A touch of arthritis," he said shortly. "The pain often attacks me without warning."

Phil pushed his way forward. "I'm Benson of the Times, Mr. Witherspoon—"

"Yes?" said Mr. Horace, and his eyes held that faraway expression that was so disconcerting and so seemingly habitual with the little man.

"I should like to get a few facts relating to your mother's life and death."

"Ah, yes. Perhaps you will come with me into the drawing room."

"Thank you," Phil said, and followed Mr. Horace across the hall. "See you later, Elsie." He blew me a kiss.

I returned to my own quarters.

The rest of the day passed without event. In the afternoon I told Mrs. Greely about the broken driers and she promised to send immediately for an electrician. He had not arrived by dinner time, but, perhaps, I thought, he was one man who preferred to rest on Sundays. Anyway, I was not much worried. I did not look for many customers in the salon the day of the funeral.

Phil and I took in the early show at the Palace and a double chocolate sundae at the drug store and by 10 o'clock I was in bed and fast asleep. In the morning I opened the salon promptly at nine and sat around waiting for business. It was fully an hour before anyone appeared, and then it was only Miss Henrietta, who stuck her head in the doorway.

"Good morning," she said, and I had one of my sudden shivering spells. Miss Henrietta had she possessed a broomstick, could have passed for the twin sister of the old witch in the Mother Goose tales! Her hair stood on end and her eyes were bloodshot and filled with a wildness that struck at my heart.

"I came to see the death chamber," she cackled. Her long, yellowed hands parted the silver curtains of the anteroom and she disappeared inside. It was a good 10 minutes until she reappeared—10 minutes of utter silence! And if she had resembled a witch when she went in, she looked like a maniac when she came out. Her complexion was a hotted gray and her lower lip hung slackly, exposing her pale, pink gums.

"The wages of sin is death," she whispered. "The Lord is revenged!"

Something warned me not to speak. I sat motionless, hypnotized by her mad, gleaming eyes, eyes which rolled around in her head like the hands of a crazy clock. I could not have lifted my little finger had my life depended upon it.

"Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord." Her voice died to a whisper. "Death! And it isn't finished! It isn't finished!"

Her laughter rang in my ears for hours.

WASHINGTON WORLD

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congress is greatly exercised over the supposed secrecy of President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

My own impression is that his policy is not as secret as is being represented. Still, when he summoned the senate's military affairs committee to the White House to hear the details of his program, it is a fact that he did pledge its members not to leak what he said to them. I think they HAVE leaked it all. Nevertheless nobody is quite sure about it.

Anyways, the president unquestionably discriminated somewhat in favor of the senatorial military affairs committee membership, implying that he could trust THAT group, but not the rank and file of senators and representatives.

And my!—how sure it made those not on the military affairs committee.

It made the members of the senatorial foreign affairs committee especially sore—the representative foreign affairs committee likewise—the senate and house naval affairs committees.

Sensors, if anything, are angrier than the representatives. This is because the senate, in particular, is supposed to endorse or veto any international dicker that the president, through the state department, may enter into.

Not alone are republicans and anti-administration democrats miffed. Plenty of good new dealers are fretted, too.

To say the least, the thing was presidentially tactless.

Openly Arrived At
It is constitutional that the president cannot declare war; it takes congress to do that.

Yet it furthermore is notorious that the president can take the country so close to war that congress cannot avoid declaring it. That is why statesmen like Representative

Local Boy Scouts Join Nation in 29th Birthday Celebration

Boys Plan Variety of Events To Honor American Scouting

To Display Exhibits Of Handicraft In Downtown Stores

Five hundred Boy Scouts in the Iowa City Area council will join with eight million scouts throughout the nation today in celebrating the 29th birthday of scouting in America and the beginning of the annual Boy Scout week which will end Tuesday.

Iowa City Boy Scouts will wear their complete uniforms to school and to other activities today. Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel said that all troops will listen to a broadcast by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and James E. West, chief scout executive, tonight over a nation-wide hookup.

Three window displays of scoutcraft will be opened this morning in downtown store windows. Examples of Indian craft will be shown in a window of Strub's department store, a display outlining the Sea Scout program will be placed at Sears Roebuck and Company and a handicraft exhibit is at Scharf's studio.

Representatives of each of the three phases of scouting in Johnson county, cubs, regular scouts and sea scouts, will present a program before the noon luncheon of the Rotary club Thursday at the Jefferson hotel.

Thursday has been designated by the national scout council as "Scout Citizenship Day" when the scouts will demonstrate the contributions they make to the civic life of their communities.

Through the cooperation of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and the Iowa City police department, local scouts will conduct a safety program in the city Saturday, which will be observed nationally as "Scout Service Day."

Throughout the day, Iowa City Boy Scouts will distribute summons for traffic violations committed by pedestrians and motorists.

Next Sunday has been designated as "Scout Sunday" in the churches. Boy Scouts of each church will attend in uniform and will be seated together in the church.

The national scout committee has announced that more than a hundred network programs carried by the three nation-wide broadcasting companies will carry announcements directing attention to the observance of Boy Scout week.

Kiwanis' Mark Lincoln's Birth

A. Paciotti Gives Andrew's Reading, 'The Perfect Tribute'

Mary Shipman Andrews' "The Perfect Tribute" was read by Anthony F. Paciotti, A4 of Virginia, Minn., in observance of Abraham Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at the Jefferson hotel.

The story deals with the preparation of the emancipator's Gettysburg speech, the actual address, and how he finally realized the importance of his speech.

Guests attending the meeting were William M. Huffman, Mason City, with Elmer E. Menefee, Bernard R. Wilkinson with Dr. E. W. Paulus, Dr. Arthur Steindler with Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff and Prof. Carl E. Leib and Coach Eddie Anderson and Line Coach Jim Harris with Prof. E. G. Schroeder.

Elks Hold Seventh Monthly Supper At Clubhouse Tonight

Iowa's new football coaches, Dr. Eddie Anderson and Jim Harris, will be the guest speakers at the Elks lodge's February Frolic, the seventh of the monthly picnic suppers, to be held at 5:30 this evening at the Elks clubhouse.

The football coaches will discuss the prospects of future university football teams before the members of the organization.

The house and entertainment committees of the lodge are in charge of the evening's entertainment. Dr. Jesse Ward, chairman, and Claude Reed, Wes McGinnis, William Olson and Guy Ogle are the members of the entertainment committee, and the house committee includes Delmar Sample, Ray Slavata and Vern Bales.

An attendance prize will be awarded at 10 o'clock by the committee.

To Discuss Fruit At Demonstration

L. C. Grove, Iowa State college extension horticulturist, will present an orchard and small fruit demonstration at the M. G. Vier's fruit farm, West Benton street, at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by Emmett C. Gardner, county agent.

Both men and women are invited to attend the demonstration, Gardner said.

Iowa State College Speaker To Discuss Entomology Subject

H. D. Tate, extension entomologist of Iowa State college, will discuss "Control of Cankervorm" at two meetings here Monday, Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, announced yesterday.

First session will be held at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Lee Colony, 308 Melrose avenue. The second is scheduled to take place at 7:30 p.m. in the farm bureau office.

5 Iowa City Boys Get Tenderfoot Rank At Court of Honor

Five Iowa City boys received the rank of tenderfoot scout last night at a court of honor held by troop 14 in the Methodist church under the direction of M. R. Petersen.

The five youths receiving the award were Lamar Aaron, Dean Hosel, Harold Swartz, Merle Ferguson and John Ferguson.

President Gilmore To Hear Proposal

President Eugene A. Gilmore will appear at a hearing tonight at which the proposed consolidation of the state's two colleges of engineering will be discussed, according to Rep. Dean W. Peisen, chairman of the house re-organization committee.

No comment on the meeting was made by President Gilmore, at his office today. He stated only the fact that he was planning to attend.

Sam Shulman, Ralph Dougherty, J. R. McLaughlin, Leo Rossie, Frank Tallman and Tom Connell Jr., all of Iowa City, and Richard Green of West Branch.

Chinese Give Their Ideas

Students Urge State Legislature to Think Three Times First

The Chinese students in the college of engineering of the University of Iowa yesterday issued a statement concerning the proposed consolidation of the engineering schools of Iowa and Iowa State college.

Chen H. Yen, president of the Chinese student association issued the statement.

"We, the Chinese students studying at the State University of Iowa," the statement said, "upon hearing the proposal of consolidating our engineering college and that of Iowa State college at Ames, cannot remain silent.

"Although we have no voice in legislative matters, this proposal is nevertheless of grave concern to us, since most of us are studying hydraulic engineering. We wish to point out how much the engineering college has contributed to China alone.

"China is an agricultural country. The flood problem is always a menace to us, and the irrigation system needs constant care and improvement.

"Since the return of the first few graduates from this university their work has told those specializing in hydraulic engineering to choose no other university than the State University of Iowa in the United States of America when they are planning to further their studies abroad. At present, it is rarely that such a student will ever enter any other institution.

"The hydraulics department is known all over the world, but it is only one of the outstanding merits of the university. According to the reports of various investigations conducted by independent experts it well deserves its fame.

"It is through the cooperation of the university at large that such a reputation is achieved. Moreover, to establish such a reputation as that now ascribed to the university is not a task of days and months.

"The excellent facilities for hydraulic study now available at the university would not be readily reproduced at another location because of the presence of the Iowa river. A transfer and reorganization would also result in slowing down the present rate of progress of the university's hydraulic program.

"A famous proverb of our country says, 'When undertaking a work of importance, consider three times before beginning.' We respectfully request the legislature of Iowa to follow this age-old advice before destroying a world renowned institution."

Grand Jurors Excused For Rest of Term

Grand jurors for the February term of Johnson county district court were excused yesterday noon by Judge James P. Gaffney for the remainder of the term subject to call.

The group reported that it had inspected the poor farm Monday and found it to be in excellent condition. An inspection of the county jail yesterday revealed it to be in good condition.

Judge Gaffney announced that 12 defaults were made out of 70 cases called. He expects to make the first assignments for the new term today.

Equipment and Prizes for Local Boxing Tournament

Tiffin Group First to Enter Boxing Meet

Preliminaries for Local Tourney to Be Feb. 20, 21; Finals, March 3

The first team to enter the eastern Iowa boxing tournament, which will be held at the Iowa City Community building Feb. 20, 21 and 24 and March 3 sponsored by the local community building board, yesterday filed its entry blank with contest officials, Len Veler, contest promoter, revealed.

The group, representing Tiffin, includes Ralph Brown, Dean Bowman, Robert and Le Roy Madden and Ted Spivey. Twenty-six boxers in the vicinity have already announced their intentions to enter, Veler said.

Preliminaries will be held Feb. 20 and 21, semi-finals Feb. 24 and finals, March 3. General admission to the first three nights will be 25 cents. Forty cents will be charged for reserved seats. Tickets for the final bouts will be 40 cents general admission, and 75 cents for reserved seats, officials announced. A season ticket covering all four sessions will be sold at $1.50, including reserved seats only.

Majority of the proceeds will be given over to the community building fund to be used for improvement in the recreational center now under construction in the community building, officials said.

Boxers may enter either alone or on teams, Veler explained. Eight classes will allow fighters of every weight over 112 pounds to enter. Official rules governing the tourney as announced

Gilmore, Jessup to Speak At All-Iowa Dinner in Cleveland

L. Cochran to Show Colored Pictures At Meeting February 26

President Eugene A. Gilmore and President Emeritus Walter A. Jessup, the latter now president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, will speak at the All-Iowa dinner in Hotel Cleveland at Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 26, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division.

Moving pictures in color, "A Summer Session at Iowa," will be shown at the meeting by Lee W. Cochran, supervisor of visual instruction in the extension division here.

The dinner, it was stated by Professor Mahan, affords an opportunity for Iowans attending the meeting of the American Association of School Administrators of the National Education association, meeting in Cleveland, to hold a reunion.

Faculty members from the university, school men from the state, Iowa educators from Maine to California, and alumni from Cleveland and vicinity will be there. An informal reception preceding the dinner will be held from 5 to 6 o'clock at Hotel Cleveland.

The program following the dinner will consist of music, introduction of guests, and short talks by President Gilmore and President Emeritus Jessup. The moving pictures will close the program.

Of interest to Iowans will be the University of Iowa exhibit booth in the Cleveland auditorium.

Dairy Feed School Will Meet Monday At Farm Bureau

Dairy feeding school is scheduled to be held Monday in the farm bureau office, Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, revealed yesterday. Two sessions will be held during the day beginning at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Dallas Jaepels, extension dairyman, will conduct the school. Topics of discussion will include high protein concentrates, feeding light oats, feeding minerals and dairy outlook, Gardner said.

Masons Will Have 1st Degree Work
