Senate Military Committee Gives Approval to Enormous Expenditure for Rearmament

Guam Base Debated By House; $5,000,000 Asked for Harbor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—A bill embodying most of President Roosevelt's big rearmament program received the unanimous approval of the senate military committee today, while the house engaged in a vociferous debate on the advisability of expanding naval facilities on the far away island of Guam.

Specifically, the committee endorsed a $358,000,000 expenditure to increase the army's war planes to a total of 6,000, to augment the air corps' personnel, to strengthen the defenses of the Panama canal, and to school American industry in the production of war supplies by the placement of educational orders.

It disregarded, however, a request of Secretary of War Woodring for removal of all stated limits on the number of planes to be acquired by the army, so that advantage might be taken of economies of mass purchasing.

The house had under consideration a measure to authorize an outlay of $53,800,000 for the development of naval air bases at seven points in the mid-Pacific, two in the Alaskan area, one in the Caribbean and four within the United States proper.

Late in the day, after agreeing to defer until tomorrow a vote on removing the $5,000,000 item for Guam from the measure, the house tentatively gave its approval to all other items in the bill.

A crackling debate produced: 1. An assertion by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, that nothing was heard of the Guam proposal until the visit to this country of Anthony Eden, former member of the British cabinet.

2. A prediction by Rep. Shannon (D-Mo.) that eventually the United States would become involved in a war with Japan over the Philippines.

3. A statement by Rep. Izac (D-Calif.) that in the event of a war in the Pacific, the United States would need such an outpost as Guam would provide.

4. Statements from numerous members that the Guam project would or would not lead to war with Japan. The point was hotly debated.

5. A warning by Rep. Mott (D-Ore.) that in his opinion a war in the Pacific would find the United States fighting not only Japan but Italy and Germany as well.

6. A vigorous denunciation by Rep. Martin (D-Colo.) of the German-American bond and its meeting in New York this week. Martin said participants in the gathering were "traitors."

The senate committee made few changes in the rearmament bill as already passed by the house. One of these was to authorize an increase to 6,000 in the number of planes the army might acquire. The house bill called for a top of 5,500. The authorized strength of the army air corps under the existing law is 2,320.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said there was some discussion of the Woodring request that no top limit be specified, but no one offered an amendment to bring that about. He added that Woodring was well pleased with the 6,000 limit and thought that it offered the elasticity which he desired.

Earlier, the committee made public a letter from the secretary saying:

"In the procurement of a large number of airplanes, there may be reductions in unit costs which will permit the purchase of a larger number of airplanes than the bill authorizes, within the amount of money set up in the war department program for the purchase of airplanes in accordance with the recommendations of the president to the congress. Subsequent changes in types may also result in the procurement of a greater number of planes than now contemplated.

"It is therefore suggested that the committee give consideration to the removal of the limit on airplane strength so that a greater number of planes may be produced than now contemplated by the war department program, should the factors mentioned above so permit. Such action will be to the advantage of national defense and ultimately will result in economy."

In five months, Lieutenant Thomas Riley said today, Mickey has been (1) shocked in an electric switch box, (2) choked by bars in the women's cells, (3) nearly smothered in a desk drawer, (4) severely shaken by a dog and (5) slammed ungently by a swinging door.

Britain Seeks German Amity

Chamberlain Warns World of Country's Militaristic Strength

BLACKBURN, England, Feb. 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, using Shakespearean verse to express his confidence, tonight offered to win Germany's friendship with trade, but warned that Britain was strong enough "to maintain her rights and liberties against any who might be rash enough to attack them."

Speaking to conservative party members in this Lancashire cotton mill town, the prime minister said war materials now were "pouring" out of British factories and added "we may well feel that, to quote from our own Shakespeare:

"Come the three corners of the world in arms, and we shall shock them."

Chamberlain toned down his quotation from Shakespeare's King John, however, with the remark "I do not speak these words in any boastful, still less in any aggressive spirit."

"Our armaments threaten no one, nor have we any thought of anything but friendliness to any people in the world."

Pointing out that Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, is going to Berlin as head of a British trade mission, Chamberlain suggested "the way of trade . . . may turn out to be the best and quickest way of bringing about a better understanding between our two countries."

Armed with his gold-knobbed umbrella and a little red copy of Shakespeare, the prime minister hurried north for his speech after a cabinet meeting in which reliable sources said he decided to recognize Nationalist Generalissimo Franco as the legitimate ruler of Spain "by the end of the week."

His speech foreshadowed "speedy termination" of the Spanish war and he told conservatives that that prospect, coupled with Adolf Hitler's reichstag speech of Jan. 30, "encourages me to hope that forces making for an upward turn in the trend of trade may be allowed this year to have opportunity of developing their effect unhampered by political anxieties."

Japan Seeks Foreign Area Rule in China

SHANGHAI, Feb. 22 (AP)—Japanese armed forces tightened their pressure against Shanghai's foreign-controlled areas today by using the terrorism that has swept those areas as a basis for demanding a greater voice in the administration of the International Settlement.

United States marines were subject to emergency call, a common practice, but marine officers denied that leaves had been cancelled.

Japanese marines, said to number 100, took over a part of the Italian defense sector in the northwest corner of the city. Because the area lies outside the permanent settlement boundaries, however, the action was not regarded as constituting an invasion of the International Settlement itself.

As the Japanese entered the area, the Italians withdrew into the remaining part of their defense sector within the settlement. Japanese said that the action was the result of an agreement with Italian officials and was designed to suppress shootings and robberies that occur regularly in the district.

N. Y. Exchange Seeks Recovery

Secy. H. L. Hopkins Plans to Restrict Fed. Securities Act

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (AP)—The New York Stock exchange has begun preparing proposed amendments to the federal securities and exchange act as one phase of Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins recovery program, some leading financiers said today.

The stock exchange shortly will announce, they said, appointment of an important committee to consider changes in consultation with the nation's other securities exchanges and with Chairman William O'Douglas of the S. E. C.

The purpose of the proposed changes will most definitely not be to "unreform" the stock exchange, it was said.

But members of Hopkins' business advisory council, through whom a program designed to bring lasting recovery is being worked out in cooperation with administration and big business executives, have urged that some restrictions of federal securities laws were helping to dam up huge capital resources that should be providing business and employment.

The committee's efforts will be directed to making changes in the law which would stimulate the flow of dollars into industry through securities markets without removing the basic protection to investors which underlies the whole S. E. C. theory of operation.

The stock exchange's move was taken, important Wall streeters said, somewhat reluctantly and only after some prodding from Washington, because of doubts that it might be misunderstood.

Both President William Mc C. Martin, Jr., of the exchange—who was elected when S. E. C. sponsored "reform" swept the membership—and Carle C. Conway, industrialist, who headed the "Conway committee" which drew up the exchange "reform" program, were represented as still feeling strongly that the fundamental purposes of the securities and exchange act are sound.

Move to Abolish State Employees Tax Exemption

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—A bill to abolish tax exemptions on all salaries drawn from public treasuries was approved by the senate finance committee today, 14 to 3, although members said its constitutionality might be open to question.

Already approved by the house, the measure would apply federal income tax laws to state and local employees, and consent to state taxation of federal salaries. President Roosevelt has recommended such action.

Senator Brown (D-Mich.), who has been commissioned to write the committee's formal report on the legislation, said members wanted a "clear cut determination" of the issue by the supreme court.

Flu Subsides Prevention Rules Are Given Publicity

What Dr. Chester I. Miller, director of the student health termed "without doubt an epidemic of flu and colds" was apparently subsiding last night as far as number of cases were concerned on the Iowa campus.

Regulations for the prevention of the epidemic have been sent to various housing groups on the campus.

1. Beds in double rooms should be placed as far apart as possible—no less than five feet—with heads in opposite directions.

2. See a doctor as soon as a cold develops, and take only those medications advised by a doctor.

3. Cover well all coughs and sneezes.

4. Avoid contact with individuals having colds.

5. Use your own drinking glass only.

6. Drink at least eight glasses of fluid daily, and get eight hours of sleep each night.

Former Banker Leaps to Death Before Crowd

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 22 (AP)—Before a crowd that pleaded with him to desist, Henry M. Mueller, 37, of Wethersfield leaped 65 feet to his death today from a top story window in the Society for Savings Bank building.

Mueller had been employed by the bank for the past 15 years, but was discharged on Monday.

He went to the bank this morning with a bank officer to remove personal belongings from his desk. Glazier said Mueller then ran into a toilet room on the top floor, locked the door and crawled through a window onto the ledge.

Persons on busy Pratt street noticed him and some one screamed: "Call the fire department!"

"If you do, I'll jump," Mueller shouted.

A hook and ladder fire truck approached, and Mueller, hearing it, leaped off the ledge.

He leaves his widow and a young son.

Il Duce Offers Franco Troops

Rumors of Trouble With France Soothed By Government Aids

ROME, Feb. 22 (AP)—Premier Mussolini told Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain today that "Italian legionnaires are at your orders until final victory," while officials denied reports of a bloody clash between Italian and French troops in Tunisia.

Il duce telegraphed his assurance to Gen. Franco in acknowledgment of greetings from the nationalist leader on the occasion of a big military review in Barcelona, former government capital.

Gen. Franco messaged Premier Mussolini that "the Spanish people acclaimed Italy and her duce," and il duce replied "I return your greetings with great cordiality, confirming that the Italian legionnaires are at your orders until final victory."

With the approach of spring, rumors have been breeding rapidly, even in Italy, regarding the next move in Italy's program of demands on France, but most of them are discounted at the outset by watchful diplomats.

While some diplomats expect Premier Mussolini to take a step toward crystallization of the demands after the coronation of a new pope, and the end of the Spanish war, they said they did not expect it to take the form of armed conflict.

Rumors that German troops had been sent to Libya, Italian colony next to French Tunisia, through Trieste, Italian Adriatic port, were believed by diplomats to have started from reports that young Nazis had been sent to Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland for training in colonial administration.

Germany was reported to have taken that step in expectation that she would eventually regain some of the African colonies she lost in the World war.

Such reports, circulated privately for more than a month, stressed that German troops were not involved.

A government news broadcaster, referring to French speculation on the visit to Libya of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian chief of staff, said he went there to open a fair at Tripoli.

French African Military Heads Hold Meeting

Border Fights Denied In Algiers, Tunis; Italy Adds Forces

ALGIERS, Algeria, Feb. 22 (AP)—Chiefs of France's armed forces in Africa met in extraordinary conference here today following upon reinforcement of Italian troops in Libya.

General August Nogues, co-ordinator of French African forces which number some 100,000 men, planned to fly to Tunis immediately after the meeting to report directly to Premier Daladier.

The urgent meeting followed hard on the heels of persistent reports of a bloody clash between French and Italian troops in southeastern Tunisia. Although both the French resident general, Erik Labonne, and the Italian consul general in Tunis denied that any clash had occurred, the military conference was considered highly significant.

(Reports received in Paris by diplomatic circles and through private channels from Tunis said 80 Italians and four Frenchmen were killed last Friday on the Tunisia-Libyan border when Italian troops penetrated French territory from Libya and were driven back.)

Other border incidents had been reported in recent weeks, but none was confirmed officially. One was that an Italian airplane had been shot down by French anti-aircraft gunners when it flew over Tunisian territory.

Among the army and air corps leaders conferring with Nogues was General Amedee Blanc, commander of French troops in Tunisia. Reinforcement of the 35,000 French troops in Tunisia with troops from Algeria and Morocco was said to be under consideration.

While the meeting was in session, the chamber of deputies army committee met in Paris.

Reinforcement of Italian troops in Libya to a total of some 60,000, coupled with the presence there of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of the Italian general staff, brought strict precautionary measures by the French army in Tunisia.

Troops throughout the protectorate, which has been an object of fascist colonial agitation, were reported to have been confined to their barracks, ready to march at a moment's notice. Several contingents were said to have been sent to the fortified zone near the Libyan frontier.

Arrests of Italians charged with espionage continued in Tunis. An official of the Italian consulate general, named Spada, was arrested and reports circulated that a map of Tunisia's defenses was found on him.

VERY ALARMING Myrna Loy Works With Run in Hose

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22 (AP)—An alarming, de-glamourizing discovery was made in an M-G-M projection room today.

When the results of yesterday's work were screened, it was noted by seven awe-stricken assistants that Myrna Loy worked all day with a run in one of her stockings.

Whether the scenes will be re-made was to be the subject of a conference.

Pension Supt. Talks to House

Opposes Cancelling Relatives' Support; Would Raise Cost

DES MOINES, Feb. 22 (AP)—House pension committee members today were told that relieving son and daughter of all responsibility of contributing towards the support of parents would add an estimated $3,250,000 a year to Iowa's aged pension costs.

Appearing by committee request, State Pension Superintendent Byron G. Allen also said a bill cancelling all back liens on pensioner property would wipe $5,736,000 in equities off the state books.

The committee has under consideration bills to do away with the "responsibility of relatives" clause in the Iowa pension law, the cancellation of property liens and a $100 flat burial allowance for recipients' funerals.

The old age assistance division, soon to be a part of the new state social welfare setup, pays out approximately $1,000,000 a month to about 51,000 pensioners. It expends a $5,500,000 state appropriation and nearly as much federal matching each year.

The state comptroller's budget recommends $7,500,000 annual appropriation for the department for the next two years. Allen said that much is needed "to carry on at our present pace."

The superintendent explained that the division was able to build up the load to its present figure because $700,000 in back head taxes which were collected the last two years and some appropriations that accumulated while the division was building up its pension load.

Allen told the committee that lifting the relative-support requirement would immediately boost the pensions of many persons receiving some assistance from their children and would bring a lot of new applications. The planning board estimated 63,000 Iowans of pension age are being supported wholly or in part by relatives, he added.

On Jan. 1, he said, property on the state books as a result of pension liens totaled $13,328,738, encumbered by $7,532,507 in mortgages and the like.

Allen estimated that the old age pension fund would realize about $225,000 on liens this fiscal year. The yield last year was $146,000, he said.

In response to another query, Allen said the flat $100 burial fee would cost $300,000 a year. The state now pays expenses up to $100 but will not permit a pensioner to have a more expensive interment than the maximum figure.

Youth Wants To Study Criminals To Be Minister

SNOW HILL, Md., Feb. 22 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old David J. Foskey was sentenced to five years in prison today for an assault he said he committed purposely so he could go to jail and study to become a minister.

"I wanted to study criminals and the habits of men I wanted to save," he told the judge.

William H. J. White, automobile salesman testified Foskey asked him for a demonstration ride, pulled a gun and forced him to drive 25 miles. The youth was arrested when White wrecked the car in front of a policeman.

Portugal And U. S. Pick Up Call for Help

British Ship, Pecten, Reported Missing In Vicinity of Azores

CHATHAM, Mass., Feb. 22 (AP)—Government officials and shipping men of two continents tonight struggled feverishly to solve the mystery of an electrifying SOS from an unnamed vessel, which reported she had been torpedoed and was sinking 360 miles south of the Azores.

Radiomen pondered the possibility it might have been a British oil tanker.

"Have been torpedoed by unknown submarine. Hole below water line. Sinking. Urgent," was the radio message picked up by the radiomarine station here and by the Portuguese navy department at Lisbon, Portugal.

It was signed with the unlisted call letters "PECC."

While efforts to identify the sinking vessel were unavailing, radiomen pointed out that the letter "C" in international code was the same as "ten" and pondered the possibility that the "PECC" might stand for "Pecten."

London advices reported a British oil tanker Pecten left Trinidad Feb. 8 and was due in Southampton, England, next Monday. The Pecten was last reported in the vicinity of the position given in the SOS.

Efforts to reach the Pecten by wireless were unavailing, but radiomen pointed out that probably only one radio operator was aboard and he might have been asleep.

Shipping authorities at Horta, the Azores, said officers of a vessel that arrived there last Friday reported sighting two submarines of unidentified nationality south of Fayal island, in the general area from which the SOS emanated.

The British vessel, Empress of Australia, arriving at the position given in the message, radioed she had sighted neither the vessel nor any wreckage. Later, she advised she was proceeding and turned over the search to the Greek steamer Mount Pelicam, which reported she was near the "PECC" position and was making rapid headway under forced draft.

Meanwhile, Portuguese naval authorities said they had not dispatched rescue ships from the Azores because they believed other shipping was much nearer.

Because the SOS was not repeated, radio officials expressed the view that if the call was genuine the torpedoed vessel had plunged to the bottom.

$240 Paid In Ransom For Boy's Return

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (AP)—While detectives searched for clues in the kidnaping of four-year-old Michael Katz, returned after several hours upon payment of $240 ransom by his father—$7,000 had been demanded—it was learned tonight the boy's family had received a second threat.

"We want the rest of the money," a man told the father over the telephone, "for some harm will come to your kid. We want it in $20 and $50 bills."

The son of a Brooklyn public school teacher and a well-known race track figure, George Katz, was snatched from his maid, Lillian Beckitt, Monday morning after kidnappers gave her telephone instructions to take the boy to a school.

Two men, detectives said, took the boy on a ruse and gave her a note demanding $7,000 and directing Katz and a friend, Charles Mitchell, a lithographer, to walk along Ridge and Broome streets in Manhattan with the money.

Surgery May Aid Paralysis

BALTIMORE, Feb. 22 (AP)—Delicate surgery on a monkey's brain nerves may reveal the path infantile paralysis virus follows into man's body.

Dr. Howard A. Howe, a neuro-anatomist who has been working on the problem three years at Johns Hopkins university, said today his study "is to test the theory that man acquires his immunity to infantile paralysis by slight attacks which progress no further than his olfactory bulb."

The bulb is a clump of tissue where the nerves from the nose join before they enter the brain. Dr. Howe explained the major result of his work so far has been the discovery of a way to give monkeys a mild form of the disease.

This is done by cutting the nerves between the olfactory bulb and the brain. After this operation, when the monkey contracts the disease through the nose, the infection is confined to the bulb and does not spread to the brain.

The important question of whether this attack gives the animal immunity from infantile paralysis, is still to be answered.

The virus, which has never been nor isolated, apparently follows the path of the olfactory nerves to the brain. Apparently the disease is contracted only when the virus reaches an exposed nerve. The nerve endings which detect smell are some of the few exposed nerves in the body.

Cutting the nerves between the olfactory bulb and the brain deprives the animal of its sense of smell.

Dr. Howe's study began when the president's birthday ball commissioned for infantile paralysis decided to attack the ailment on a new front and granted funds for research by a nerve specialist.

Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of the Johns Hopkins university, announced today the commonwealth fund had made a grant to continue the study through a fourth year.

The Nazis In America

VOLTAIRE ONCE said, "I may not agree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it"; and this being the spirit of democracy in the United States, 20,000 nazis safely assembled and conducted a rally at Madison Square Garden in New York City the other day.

But, like Voltaire, we need not necessarily agree with what is being said. On the whole the influence of the pro-Nazi German-American bund's rally in New York is most disturbing for its significance lies in the fact that they are attempting to destroy just those precious American ideals and institutions which have sanctioned their assemblage in the first place.

At Madison Square Garden, during the rally, banners with 18-inch letters hung outside, reading, "Smash Jewish Communism," "Stop Jewish Domination of Christian Americans." Inside copies of the "Deutscher Weeruf und Beobachter" were being sold carrying a banner asking, "Shall America be Jew-Ruled?"

The Nazi rally was by no means a haphazard affair. It was a carefully, deliberately planned scheme designed to influence uncritical public opinion favorably towards Nazi ideals. Many propaganda devices were systematically used in a way which would be considered sacrilegious in many countries.

Scientific analysis of the various devices used were designed to arouse related attitudes, related attitudes which would aid in proselytizing the principal attitudes (Nazi ideals) within the individual's minds comprising the public.

Thus analyzed it appears simple and one would be inclined to think it silly that anyone would seriously believe such obvious propaganda. But the insidious nature of the whole incident lies in the fact that the propaganda is not obvious, except to one who is trained in the detection of propaganda.

Now that Charlie Chaplin is making a film on the dictators, it's time someone did something for the stenographers. Those who see a resemblance between Vice President Garner and the late President Coolidge would find another large likeness in the Egyptian desert.

With MERLE MILLER

YES, MY DARLING READER After catching "Yes, My Darling Daughter" it occurred to this reporter that here's a movie deserving support.

Here's a situation which might, except for the ending, have happened to us, men and women of college age who have lived outside a movie set.

Of course, in New York they say it can't be shown, the censors do. It's likely to corrupt youth, they say.

I'll admit there's some talk about sex on the screen. But, next to the weather, there's not much people talk more about in real life these days.

Maybe we might except the European situation. "Yes, My Darling Daughter's" about a couple of kids just out of college.

Well, they can't. He's working for $20 a week. (Ever heard of anything like that?)

Anyway, the upshot is they decide to spend the week end at a lake and in a cottage.

There are numerous complications. And at the fade-out they're being married.

Now maybe I'm wrong. Maybe there'll be a series of questionable talk and action about the nation now that the movies've

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Have you ever held a coin in your hand and wondered where it had been, and how many hands it had been in beside your own, and what strange stories it could tell if only it could talk? Of course you have. That's why I was so interested in a $1 bill received in change from a local accountant the other day. On the back, stamped in blue ink, were the words: "M. MINZLY Money Changer PORT SAID"

Port Said is 5,125 miles from New York. To get there you have to go to Gibraltar, on through the Mediterranean and to the northern tip of the Suez canal. Its position on the map is Lat. 31° 15' 35"; Long. 32° 19' 20", and it has a population of 105,000 people.

How that $1 note left the States and by what devious ways it reached Port Said and then came back to New York would make interesting reading if one only knew it, or the de-lightful Mr. No-el Cow-abot, or maybe the chef on a cattle boat. Anyway, I expect to hang on to it a week longer at least before being compelled to trade it in for bacon and eggs.

Another incident with a monetary flavor has to do with a most pleasant flight from Washington to Miami the other day. On the plane was a man you all know, and as the ship settled down to the long haul he struck up a conversation with a fellow passenger.

They had a delightful visit, discussing politics and pugilism, and as the ship neared Miami the man who had begun the conversation, a lawyer, said, "Here is my card."

He looked like a case of small-failure. They made the picture before they smelled it!

Finds 'Crazy Drivers' Often Are Crazy DETROIT (AP)—"He's a crazy driver!" Sometimes that's literally true. The psychopathic clinic of Detroit recorder's court examined 467 drivers during 1938. All had been defendants in court. Here's what the clinic found:

Seven were so definitely insane that institutional care was necessary. Forty were found to be on the verge of insanity and in need of expert care. Forty-six were classed as feeble-minded. Thirty-two had such serious physical handicaps that they were listed as unsafe automobile drivers.

Nine-seventeen had such a degree of mental instability that they were noted as "dangerous" behind the wheel.

scribbling Grover will observe and write her into I. A. R. Wylie's yarn, "The Under-Pup." Pasternak has Scribes Bruce Manning and Felix Jackson close to Deanna Durbin, too, to catch her typical expressions and mannerisms—so that the screen Deanna can be an adaptation of the real Deanna.

Metro, with more stars than it has pictures to put them in, is always fishing in the Hollywood seas—with actors like George Murphy for bait. Murphy (in "Risky Business") hasn't made a Metro movie in 18 months, but has been loaned to 20th Century-Fox and Universal twice each.

If one of the loan-out pictures lures a box-office "bite," Metro will haul in its line, use Murphy as bait for one of its own productions. Cashed in on Hedy Lamarr that way, but if they don't get out a picture soon they'll have to lend her out again.

Her "New York Cinderella" is shelved—for all sorts of reasons they'll tell you. But from this corner, with synopsis of story at hand, the real Smartest things the Ritzes ever part in "Each Dawn I Die," the James Cagney starrer, went to George Ratt. Which had Warner's own Humphrey Bogart, schooled in toughness and deserving the chance, talking about beating it for New York.

They're going to put hair on baby-face Bobby Breen's chest in his next directed by Bernard Vorhaus. By some script treatment accorded Rough-It-Up Bob Taylor.

Bobby will wrestle with a snake, have three fistfights, play hob with a cutthroat gang, be hero in a forest fire—and (I guess) find time to sing a dozen ditties.

Binnie Barnes is first of the movie cuties to wear that ribbon-tied coiffure (peruke) that's coming back to style. In Jack Benny's "Man About Town." Same picture has Edward Arnold 22 pounds lighter and looking like a threat to juveniles.

MATMEN START ANOTHER ALL UNIVERSITY TOURNEY

Opening Bouts Won on Falls

Lettow Pins Enemy In Shortest Match; Linder Tosses Scott

Quick falls featured the work of intramural grapplers yesterday as the all-university mat tourney brought inter-house wrestling into the public eye again. Out of four matches, three in the co-op division, and one fraternity, there were three falls.

Credit for the record speed in pinning an opponent goes to Don Lettow of Jefferson. Lettow plastered Newell Jacobson, Whetstone grappler, to the mat in exactly 1:05 to open yesterday's activities.

The other two co-op winners did their jobs almost as rapidly as Lettow, neither one taking much time for his victory. Jay Linder of Kellogg wasted no time at all as he flopped the Gables representative, Charles Scott, in 1:53. The third fall came when Hotle, also of Kellogg, tossed Robert Craven, another Gables man, in 2:21.

Although several of the scheduled fraternity matches were postponed until next Monday, there were two of the Greeks in action, Charles Murphy of Sigma Nu beating Leslie Young of Phi Kappa Psi in the only bout to go the distance.

It was announced yesterday that the boxing tourney, scheduled to begin today, would not start until March 7. According to Dr. Fred Beebe, some of the boxers who wished to enter were not able to do so yet.

The wrestlers will resume their competition Monday afternoon, with over 20 matmen slated for action that day.

Blues Prepare For Cage Game Here Saturday

In an attempt to smooth over the rough spots that were evident in last week's game, Coach Paul Brechler sent his varsity basketballers through a lengthy scrimmage against the reserves yesterday afternoon. Yesterday's workout was the last heavy drill before the Blues tangle with West Branch Saturday night, in the U-High gym.

Although the varsity rolled over the reserves in an impressive manner, there are still spots that need ironing out before the final home encounter Saturday. Ball handling and passing was erratic and inconsistent, but in spite of this weakness, the varsity collected buckets almost at will. The offensive work of Ernie Krogh, Ed Burns and Duane Carson, the three veterans, was especially impressive. Also the Rivermen's zone defense functioned especially well, and, as a result, the reserves were forced to take numerous hurried shots from far out on the court.

The Brechlermen have a record of four victories and three defeats in conference competition, and must win their final engagement to finish in the upper bracket. On the other hand West Branch will be out to get revenge for an early season 26 to 14 beating suffered in the U-High gym.

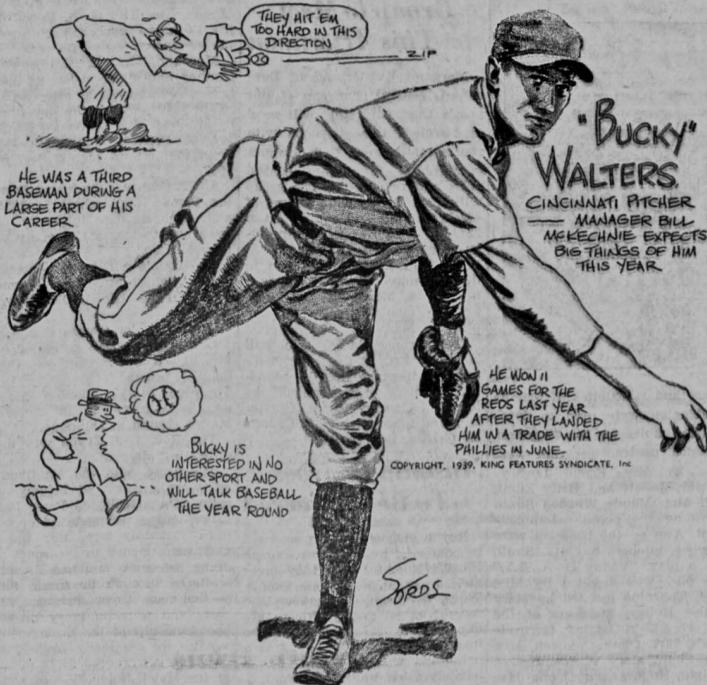

An excellent gymnastic exhibition with Capt. Adam Vogel and Robert Parry adding to the prospective spectacular performances.

Reprieve Abe Fight with Galento Is Postponed

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 22 (AP)—Fulfillment of rotund Tony Galento's promise to knock Abe Feldman kicking was delayed at least temporarily today when their heavyweight scrap was postponed until tomorrow night because of threatening weather.

Two hours after the fighters had weighed in, Promoter George R. K. Carter looked at the overcast sky and decided to put off the bout. The weatherman had predicted fair and cooler weather after a few showers this morning.

Galento and Feldman promptly went back to the gymnasium for additional workouts. Solly Krieger, the National Boxing association middleweight champion, and Ben Brown of Atlanta, scheduled for an overweight 10-rounder on the same program, also went through added light training sessions to keep their edge.

The ticket sale had been brisk and it appeared the gate might range between $25,000 and $30,000, with close to 15,000 in the stadium.

Galento will have a 36 1-2 pound weight advantage over Feldman, who was unanimously conceded no chance of winning and very little of getting past the sixth round. Tony weighed in at 223 to Feldman's 186 1-2.

The postponement apparently made no difference to the amiable Galento.

"I'll give me time for a couple of extra bottles of beer," he grinned. "I'll knock Feldman kicking and then they can bring on Joe Louis, if he will fight me."

Cunningham Again

BOSTON (AP)—Glenn Cunningham proved he was still the greatest miler of them all by defeating Chuck Fenske, former Wisconsin star, by two yards in a five-man race that found his recent "1000" conqueror, John Borcan, in last place last night in the Veterans of Foreign Wars invitation mile at the East Army. Cunningham was clocked in 4:15.5.

Bantams Sign

NEW YORK (AP)—Bantamweight Champion Sixto Escobar of Puerto Rico and K. O. Morgan of Detroit signed yesterday for a 15-round title bout in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on April 2. It will be Escobar's first ring appearance in his home town since he won the title from Harry Jeffre of Baltimore a year ago this week.

Ramblers Whip Irish in Local Parochial School Battle 30-22

City High To Play Last Game Tomorrow Night

Probable Starting Lineups:
IOWA CITY IOWA FALLS
McLaughlin F. Trickey
Heacock F. Allen
Hirt C. Green
Devine G. Schalk
Lemons G. Simcox

In the last game of its schedule, the Iowa City Little Hawks will meet the towering Iowa Falls five in City high gym tomorrow night. The Hawks will be out to preserve their undefeated record in non-conference games. They have dropped four in the Mississippi Valley league, however.

Coach Francis Merten plans to start the same five that had such little difficulty in brushing aside Dike last week end. In that game Merten sent George Devine back to a guard position and alternated Junior Heacock and Bob Buckley in his vacated forward post. Devine poured in 18 points while Heacock and Buckley scored six apiece.

Russ Hirt will be in his usual center post from which he has led the Red and White scorers from the start of the season. Against Dike he concentrated on passing and setting up his mates for short shots and scored only four points himself.

Harold Trickey has been the Cadets' main threat most of the season but Allen and Green have been doing some fine scoring in recent games.

But his trio will have a tough defense to crack when they run up against Merten's boys. The Little Hawks have a smooth functioning defense and have held several teams to less than 20 points.

Simcox, lanky guard, is the main cog in the Iowa Falls defense. His work under the basket has helped Iowa Falls control the ball in many contests.

Iowa City will be aiming to get away from that unlucky number 6—all, but Schmidt's free throw put St. Mary's back in the lead, and the Chadek brothers each dropped in buckets to increase the margin. The halftime score was 13-9 in favor of the Ramblers.

The third period, which was mainly a display of defense, saw the Irish pick up a point on the St. Mary's (Winona) 47; Gustavus Adolphus 35.

By HUBERT BOWEN

Daily Iowan Sports Reporter
Until the final three minutes last night in their intra-city battle, it looked as though St. Patrick's and St. Mary's would be forced into an overtime period, but the Ramblers forged ahead to win, 30-22, as they counted 10 points to the Irish two in the closing stages of the game.

George Chadek crashed through the Irish defense to rack up 15 markers, 11 of which came in the last quarter alone. Love and Bradley each had six points to lead the Pat's. Glenn Fitzpatrick played an excellent floor game, until he went out on fouls, to lead in the defensive department.

Jack Bock opened the scoring with a free throw, and Jim Chadek quickly added a neat basket from the side to send the Ramblers off to a lead they never relinquished. At the first quarter the Marrians were ahead, 5-2.

The Irish knotted the count at 6—all, but Schmidt's free throw put St. Mary's back in the lead, and the Chadek brothers each dropped in buckets to increase the margin. The halftime score was 13-9 in favor of the Ramblers.

The third period, which was mainly a display of defense, saw the Irish pick up a point on the St. Mary's (Winona) 47; Gustavus Adolphus 35.

Unbeaten Swim Teams Clash In Iowa Pool This Saturday Night

Unbeaten this season, Iowa's swimming team takes on its toughest assignment of the year Saturday night when Dave Armbruster's mermen attempt to turn back the unbeaten but twice tied Wolverines.

While the Hawkeyes have been whipping Chicago and Wisconsin in their two meets to date, the invaders have been also mowing down the opposition—all but the powerful Ohio State outfit which has twice held the Wolves even. But, while the Wolverines have been conquering the nation's best, they have always had Iowa among their greatest rivals, and this year is no exception. Dave Armbruster, as mentor of the Hawkeyes, can remember only one dual meet loss at home in the last five seasons, and Michigan was the author of that defeat.

Two years ago, in a meet that saw eight national intercollegiate records smashed, the Wolverines carried out a successful invasion of the Iowa pool, by a slim margin. They hope to repeat again this year, but there is always some doubt of their ability to do that.

Besides the feud between Dave Armbruster and Matt Mann, as rival coaches, there is the presence of the two captains, Ray Walters of Iowa and Tom Haynie of Michigan, to add luster to the naval engagement. Although Haynie and Walters do not compete in the same events, they have a few things in common, for both are former NCAA champions, and both hold national intercollegiate marks.

Walters, still holder of the national intercollegiate 60 yard mark of 28.7, has been cutting down his time again of late. Against Wisconsin, the Iowa captain made 29.3, just six-tenths of a second over the record. Considering this fast time and the presence Saturday night of Waldemar Tomski of Michigan and Gene Kershaw, Walters' own teammate, there is a chance that Walters may have to lower some marks over the long course in order to keep his 1939 record clean.

Haynie, who swims both the 220 and 440-yard free style events, marked up a new record in the Iowa pool for the 220 swim, and figures to come close to bettering some more marks Saturday. With the Iowa sophomore, Carl Ahlgren and Bill Tesla, to push him, Haynie, like Walters, may better some of the marks that swimmers are always shooting at.

Blond Eddie McClain, fullback on the Hawkeye grid team, stole the spotlight in last night's intramural sports program by helping the Delta Tau Delta basketball team eke out an 18-16 victory over a game Phi Epsilon Pi quintet.

McClain put the game on ice by dumping in a field goal with less than twenty seconds remaining in the final period. McClain was also high point man of the game by virtue of three field goals and one free throw for a total of seven points.

Phi Kappa Psi also won a game in the fraternity league by walking over Alpha Sigma Phi 53-24.

In the final game in the fraternity league, Phi Gamma Delta won over Sigma Chi in a pledge game 29-18. The winners were never in danger and led by a comfortable margin throughout.

In the town basketball league, Harris hall won a hard fought game from East-Central 17-11. The game was very fast, and the score was tied several times. Harris hall led at the end of the first period 6-5, however both teams started finding the hoop in the second period and boosted the total to 16-15 at the start of the final quarter with Harris hall out in front. Lowell Baker led the scorers by dumping in four field goals and two free throws for a total of ten points to aid Harris hall in their win.

In the co-op dorm volleyball league, Jefferson won over Chesley 15-7, 7-15, 15-8. All the other games scheduled in this league for last night resulted in double forfeits.

Nine games are on schedule for fraternity volleyball tonight. In the games beginning at 7:30 Alpha Chi Sigma meets Sigma Chi, Phi Epsilon Pi faces Phi Kappa Sigma, and Beta Theta Pi plays Delta Chi. At 8:15 Alpha Sigma Phi faces Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta plays Phi Kappa Alpha, and Delta Tau Delta meets Phi Delta Theta. In the final games, which begin at 9 o'clock, Sigma Phi Epsilon plays the Triangle, Phi Kappa Psi plays Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Delta Upsilon tangles with Phi Epsilon Kappa.

Feller's Contract
CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians announced yesterday Bob Feller, 20-year-old major league strikeout champion, had signed a 1939 contract. Sports writers expressed belief Feller signed for about the same as in 1938, or approximately $17,500 plus a percentage in gate receipts. This arrangement was understood to have netted Feller about $20,000 last year, making him the highest paid Indian. Feller last year won 17 games and lost 11.

Jack Bock counted the only baskets in this stanza, which ended with St. Mary's ahead, 17-14. With the Ramblers leading 20-16 and only four minutes left, Bradley brought the crowd to its feet by counting two successive baskets, tying up the game. This galvanized the Marrians into action, however, and they steadily pulled away, scoring 10 points to the Pat's two in the final minutes.

Prasse, Manush And Stephens In Heavy Vote

Total Vote is 616 For All Contestants For Athletic Honors

With a vote that was steady at all polling places Ray Walters, tank star, stepped into an early lead last night in the first tabulation of ballots to select "Iowa's athlete of the year."

Walters' total of 180 votes was 56 more than his nearest rival, Erwin Prasse, football captain-elect, who compiled a total of 124.

Art Manush displaying a great deal of strength, polled a count of 56 to lead Basketball Captain Ben Stephens by six votes.

Russell Busk, Wilbur Nead, Frank Balazs, Nile Kinnick, Jim George, Bob Sandler and Bill Vogt all came through with demonstrations of voting strength, the remainder of the field trailing.

Walters, in taking the lead, gave every evidence that he would be well up in the race at all times as his backers seemed well distributed through the nine polling places.

Prasse, too, gave every indication that he would continue to score heavily before the final ballot is cast Saturday night, as his total indicated constant count at the polls.

The total of 616 votes for the field is added proof that Hawkeye fans will take an active interest in their athletes if given the opportunity. With few exceptions, voting was fairly heavy at all locations, the Quadrangle presenting an almost solid vote for Quad favorites.

Votes may now be cast at the D and L grill, Racine's cigar store number two, Whetstone's drug store, Eastlawn, Westlawn, Quadrangle, Hillcrest, Currier hall and The Daily Iowan.

The standings:
Ray Walters 180
Erwin Prasse 124
Art Manush 56
Ben Stephens 50
Jack Eicherly 42
Russell Busk 40
Wilbur Nead 30
Frank Balazs 28
Nile Kinnick 20
Jim George 20
Bob Sandler 10
Bill Vogt 10

While Iowa injuries seem to be aiding Northwestern, the Hawkeyes still have precedent on their side. Mike Howard's Iowa teams have never lost a meet to the Wildcats and, although they are having their troubles, the Hawks appear able to at least hold their own in this meet.

Otto-Paterson Marriage Takes Place in Presbyterian Church

Couple to Take Trip In South; to Live in Greeley, Colorado

In a candlelight ceremony yesterday at 4 p.m. in the Presbyterian church, Harriet Otto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Otto of Carroll, became the bride of the Rev. Stuart M. Paterson of Greeley, Col., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Paterson of Cedar Rapids. The Rev. Ilion T. Jones and the Rev. Gaylord Couchman officiated at the single ring ceremony. As the couple knelt on a white satin kneeling bench for the final prayer, a double quartet sang the "amen response" from the balcony.

Miss Otto wore a white cut velvet gown, fashioned on princess lines with a court train. Her lace-edged tulle veil fell in long lines from her seed pearl coronet. She carried a bridal bouquet of white calla lilies and the handkerchief carried by her mother at her own wedding.

A white taffeta gown cut on similar princess lines with a junior train was worn by Mrs. Robert L. Barel of Carroll who attended her sister as matron-of-honor. Mrs. Barel wore a chartreuse feather headdress and carried a white colonial bouquet. The three bridesmaids wore white taffeta colonial gowns made with full skirts, tight bodices, puffed sleeves and square necklines. Pastel shades colonial bouquets completed their ensembles.

The chaplains for the evening will include Mrs. J. O. Singmaster, Prof. and Mrs. Claude J. Lapp and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Louis A. Falligan.

Elzena Gross, A3 of Warrens, Wis., is chairman for the party. Assisting on the committee are Portia Showers, A4 of Iowa City, Violet Haisman, C3 of Ft. Atkinson, and Dorothy Benson, A3 of Ft. Madison.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was the Rev. Mr. Yingling. Ushers included Dr. Barel, Stanley Moore of Cedar Rapids, Dr. E. Bruce McConkie of Cedar Rapids, and Ronald Muench of Delhi. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. H. W. Otto, the bride's mother, wore a teal blue afternoon frock. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. W. Paterson chose an afternoon dress of Eleanor blue. Both wore matching corsages.

Members of the double quartet which sang the choral response were Mrs. Dwight Curtis, Mrs. Joseph Saeveit, Dorothy Hoops, Gladys Johnson, Mr. Saeveit, Robert Livesay, Hugh Cockshoot and Deming Smith, all members of the bride's Sunday school class.

After the ceremony Mrs. Jones, Mrs. L. B. Higley and Mrs. George Marech were hostesses at a reception in the church parlors for the bridal party and guests. A white and crystal color scheme was carried out in the bridal table appointments with a large floral centerpiece and candelabra and tapers forming the decorations. Mrs. Howard McConkie of Carlisle, Pa., Helen Culbertson of St. Charles, Mo., Mrs. Byron Mueller of LaHarpe, Ill., and Mrs. Walter C. Otto of Sac City poured.

During the reception Mrs. Frank Whinery played several organ numbers and the Rev. Robert J. McDanel sang.

After a wedding trip in the south, the couple will be at home at 1553 12th avenue, Greeley, Col., after March 1.

Geraldine Bassler Becomes Bride of Clear Lake Editor

The marriage of Kathleen Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kent of Hollywood, Cal., and Marc Hintz of Los Angeles, Cal., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Hintz of Oelwein, took place Friday evening in Hollywood.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from the Oelwein high school. Mr. Hintz was graduated from the university. The couple will make their home in Huntington Park, Cal., where the bridegroom is employed as an accountant for the General Exchange Insurance corporation of Los Angeles.

Laidley-Brown
The marriage of Hilda Laidley and Robert Brown, both of Panorama, took place Saturday in Des Moines. The Rev. G. A. Vogel of the Lutheran church performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brown, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as attendants. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Laidley of Panorama, was graduated from the Panorama high school in 1937.

Mr. Brown was graduated from the Panorama high school in 1935 and attended the University of Iowa and the State University of New Mexico.

The couple will be at home in Bayard, where Mr. Brown is employed in the office of The News.

Bassler-Farnan
Geraldine Bassler, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Bassler of Dubuque, became the bride of Thornton Farnan Monday at 9 a.m. in a ceremony in the St. Mary's church in Dubuque.

The Rev. J. J. Zeyen was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of bridalglow satin with a scalloped Peter Pan collar and a redingote of appliqued Chantilly lace. Her blush veil was attached to a coronet of orange blossoms and had flowers scattered through the train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and a white ivory prayer book, the gift of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to 22 guests at the Hotel Julien. Tables were decorated with baskets of spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnan are traveling in the Ozark mountains. For travel the bride chose a suit of Capri blue with wine colored accessories.

Mrs. Farnan was graduated from the Immaculate Conception academy and Clarke college. Mr. Farnan attended Columbia college and the University of Iowa.

The couple will be at home after March 1 in Clear Lake, where the bridegroom is editor and publisher of the Clear Lake mirror.

Mrs. Mooney, Now of Chicago, Feted at Party

Mrs. John Mooney who is leaving today to make her home in Chicago was honored last night at an informal party by Alice Jean Bates, 411 Brown street.

Decorations and refreshments carried out the patriotic theme of George Washington's birthday.

Earl E. Harper Will Lead Final Roundtable Talk

Concluding a series of five discussion groups, Prof. Earl E. Harper of the university will lead a roundtable on "What Youth Wants" at the Wesley Foundation Sunday evening service.

In the absence of Mrs. J. J. Runner, Dale Weeks, LI of Indianapolis, will serve as student leader for the "Boy Meets Girl" group.

The dine-a-mite supper will be served at 6 p.m. Vespers will begin at 7 p.m. and the discussions at 7:15 p.m.

Decorated with baskets of spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnan are traveling in the Ozark mountains. For travel the bride chose a suit of Capri blue with wine colored accessories.

Mrs. Farnan was graduated from the Immaculate Conception academy and Clarke college. Mr. Farnan attended Columbia college and the University of Iowa.

The couple will be at home after March 1 in Clear Lake, where the bridegroom is editor and publisher of the Clear Lake mirror.

Bishop Oxnham To Talk Here

Students to Furnish Musical Program For Methodist Gathering

"American Youth Looks to the Future" will be discussed by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnham of the Omaha area tomorrow at the annual Methodist student-faculty church dinner at 5:15 p.m. in the church.

Included on the program will be flute selections played by Roger Galer, LI of Mt. Pleasant, and violin solos by Evelyn Alexander A1 of Charlevoix, Mich.

Tickets for the affairs may be obtained at the Wesley Foundation student center, according to Dorothy Rohwedder, A2 of Wyoming, general chairman.

Since 1920 the average price per pound of automobiles has declined from 74 cents to 26 cents.

Intercollegiate Peace Conference Begins Here Tomorrow

Three Leaders Of Movement Are Speakers

Local Organizations, Other Iowa Colleges Will Send Delegates

With three leaders in the peace movement scheduled to headline the three-day session, the University of Iowa will be host tomorrow to the Iowa intercollegiate peace conference, with representatives from all over the state expected to attend.

Harold Chance, director of the student peace service, and E. Raymond Wilson, associate secretary of the peace section, both of the American Friends Service committee with headquarters in Philadelphia, will be on the campus for the sessions.

The third speaker is Jeffrey W. Campbell of Boston, socialist candidate for governor of Massachusetts in the last election, who polled the largest vote ever cast in that state for a socialist candidate for governor.

Campbell is now secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, a peace organization, and of the New England Student Christian federation.

Four discussion groups, aimed at a critical investigation of the position of the United States in current world affairs, have prominent places on the program.

The first will be concerned with the causes of war, a critical examination in relation to the country's social system, led by Prof. W. E. Payne of the economics department of Simpson college.

The second deals with United States foreign policy, and will include the American stand, in relation to Europe and the Far East, in the problem of neutrality or collective security. The discussion will be led by Raymond Wilson.

The third discussion topic deals with problems of America as an individual nation. Here will be considered the problem of compulsory training in the R.O.T.C., the militarization of the NYA and CCC. Jeffrey Campbell will be in charge.

General peace philosophy forms the theme of the final discussion, with consideration of the problem of the peace movement and whether it is worthwhile, and the possibility of permanent peace. Prof. Russell M. Cooper of the history and political science departments at Cornell college will conduct the session.

All discussion meetings will be held in Iowa Union.

A platform stating the position of the conference, arrived at as a result of discussion, will be adopted at the final business session of the group Sunday afternoon.

Delegates are expected to come to Iowa City from almost all of Iowa colleges, and the Iowa Student Peace council yesterday urged that the local delegation be as large as possible. No more than five voting delegates will be accepted from any one campus organization, however.

The conference is under the direction of Marjorie Littell of Cornell college, state chairman of the Iowa Intercollegiate Peace committee. She is being assisted by Bob Burgess, field representative of the Friends Service committee in this section of the country.

The conference is sponsored locally by the Iowa Student Peace council, of which Edward F. Freutel, At of Los Angeles.

Peace Conference Speakers

Three prominent leaders in the interests of American peace will appear here beginning tomorrow as speakers at Iowa's intercollegiate peace conference. At the upper left is Harold Chance, director of the student peace service of the American Friends Service committee, largely responsible for the peace work being conducted on some 300 American college campuses. At the upper right is E. Raymond Wilson, associate secretary of the peace section of the committee, who has just returned from nine weeks of extensive European travel. The lower picture is one of Jeffrey W. Campbell, secretary of the New England Student Christian federation, as he presided over a meeting of the International Religious Fellowship conference in Holland last summer.

Cal. is president. Registration for the conference will begin at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the religious activities office in Iowa Union. A registration fee of 50 cents will be charged local delegates, residents of Iowa City. The conference banquet, with E. Raymond Wilson as speaker, is scheduled for 6 p.m. Saturday in the Spanish room of the D and L grill. Prof. Howard R. Bowen of the college of commerce, president of the Iowa City Peace council, will welcome delegates from their respective organizations.

An admission charge of 25 cents will be made to non-delegates at the open meetings of the conference, which include addresses by both Campbell and Wilson. A 50 cent charge permits non-delegates to attend the banquet Saturday.

Committees appointed by the ISPC include: Publicity: Howard Grothe, A4

Symphony To Play for SUI NBC Program

Second Founders' Day Broadcast Will Be Aired Saturday at 1

The musical portion of the university's Founders' day radio program over the NBC blue network Saturday will be provided by the university symphony orchestra.

Under the direction of Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department, the organization will play the prelude to Act III of "Lohengrin," it was announced yesterday.

With stations from coast to coast in the hook-up, the half-hour program in observance of the university's 92nd birthday will go on the air at 1 p.m. It is the second year that NBC has granted time for Iowa's anniversary program.

Special permission has been given by NBC officials for station WSUI of the university to carry the broadcast. Several other midwestern stations, probably including WMT of Cedar Rapids, also will be in the hook-up.

Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, WSUI production manager, said that the National Broadcasting company is sending three men from the Chicago office, including Donald Dowd, announcer; T. G. Harris, production director; and an engineer, to assist in the program.

Scientific research will be the theme of the broadcast. A cast of students will dramatize the use of vitamin K, extracted from alfalfa, in blood-clotting, this work having originated in the university's pathology laboratory under the direction of Dr. H. P. Smith.

There was an increase of 16,779 Boy Scouts in the United Kingdom and Ireland last year, compared with the number in 1937, the total being 460,234.

of Des Moines, chairman; Alma Louise Atherton, A3 of Union Grove, Wis., and Carl Ettinger, A2 of Cedar Rapids.

Reception: Lillian Locher, A3 of Monticello, chairman; Eugene Mather, A3 of West Liberty; Robert Hunt, L2 of Lamoni; Bruce McGregor, A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Mary Jane Rivkin, A1 of Davenport.

Included in the program of the conference will be a Saturday afternoon recreation period and a Sunday morning conference worship service. The session will adjourn at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Iowa Frats Drop in Grades

SUI Organized Men's Standing Decreases Slightly From Year '36-'37

Maintaining the superior scholarship rating they have held for eight successive years, fraternity men in the United States in 1937-1938 increased by 60 per cent the margin by which they excelled non-fraternity men the previous year, it was announced this week at the completion of a survey made by the National Interfraternity conference.

In the western states, where the fraternity scholarship index was above the all-men's index, three of the 17 University of Iowa fraternity chapters were above the all-men's average. The study also disclosed that Iowa fraternity men dropped slightly in scholarship from 1936-37. Average chapter membership was 36. In the west, 324 fraternity chapters at 35 schools had an average membership of 36.13.

The National Interfraternity conference scholarship study covered 1,930 chapters, composed of a total of 63,481 men, located on 170 campuses. The average chapter size the country over was 32.89. Not all educational institutions grade students, but the survey included all schools in which grades are available.

Asserting that poor scholarship among fraternity men is a myth that has been dispelled, Dr. Alvan E. Duerr, scholarship chairman of the conference, stated that the showing is more significant since during the half dozen years of the depression the scholastic record of student bodies as a whole has improved steadily. An improvement was recorded the past year in 52 per cent of the 170 institutions surveyed.

Greatest advancements were made at the University of Illinois, where the 56 fraternity chapters almost doubled their relative standing of a year ago; at Ohio State, where the adoption of higher scholastic qualifications for initiation helped in the 81 per cent improvement shown; at the University of Minnesota where fraternities improved their margin 58 per cent; at Indiana university, where the increase was 50 per cent; and at Washington State, where fraternities jumped from 15 per cent below the non-fraternity men to 3.50 above.

The outstanding record was made at the University of Texas, where every one of the 36 fraternities and sororities are above the university average, fraternity men having a 25 per cent advantage over non-fraternity men. That scholarship conditions seem healthier among fraternity men in the larger institutions than in the smaller, unquestionably because the larger institutions have organized social life more effectively and are furnishing better guidance, was pointed out by Dr. Duerr. Fraternities at every university in the Big Ten conference, with the exception of Iowa, either made a pronounced advancement in scholarship or maintained a healthy scholastic condition, he reported.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT RICHARD WITHERSPOON thrummed his fingers nervously upon his knee. His face was wan and haggard and his eyes, darting here and there, held a hint of fear.

"There's nothing to worry about," Ellis assured him. "I'm just trying to straighten out a few things."

"I'm not worried!" Richard fiercely denied the implication.

"What have I to be worried about?"

"I'm sure I don't know," the chief smiled. "The one and only person who should be worried is the murderer, and I don't suppose you're that one?"

"Of course not!" The thrumming fingers beat a rapid tattoo. "You're wasting your time with me. I don't know a thing!"

"Oh, I'm not saying that you do. A nice boy like you wouldn't kill his mother—and maybe his grandmother, too—much as he hated them, would he?"

"Hated them? I didn't hate them!"

"No?" The policeman paused deliberately. "I've heard that you and your grandmother didn't get along very well. Maybe I was mistaken. Was I?"

Richard's gaze faltered. He looked down at the floor. "Grandmother was difficult," he muttered at last, "but I didn't hate her."

"But you quarreled with her, didn't you? You quarreled with her the night before the ball, didn't you?"

Richard swallowed with difficulty. "How—how did you know?"

He said: "I hear things. You can't keep many secrets in a big house like this. What was this quarrel about, son?"

"Why?" the boy dug his fingernails deep into the palms of his hands. "Why, it wasn't anything serious. Grandmother and I sometimes we rubbed one another the wrong way."

"It wouldn't have been about money, would it?" the chief suggested helpfully.

"Of course not!"

"You weren't in debt, were you, and trying to borrow a large sum of money from your grandmother?"

"That—that's ridiculous!" Richard seemed to force the words from his throat. "Grandmother didn't believe in lending money to anyone."

"So the only way you could get the money you needed was to kill her?" Chief Ellis spoke so softly that at first the boy failed to grasp his meaning.

"I—" he began, and stopped dead. His face was the color of dried putty. Beads of moisture formed on his forehead. "Grandmother died of a heart attack!"

"Maybe," said Ellis. "Maybe."

"What do you mean?" Richard's voice was a whisper.

"Listen, son," the police officer lowered above him, "we have rea-one of your tricks. I suppose you are hand in glove with the police!"

"That will do!" commanded McIntyre curtly, and from sheer surprise the girl was silent. "Sit down!"

"Oh!" Daphne, her wits suddenly scattered, obeyed.

"Now, Miss Witherspoon," he continued more gently, "you have me all wrong. I am trying to help and protect you. I did not, however, bargain to shield the guilty. I intend to find the murderer. It will be wise for you and your brother—and your guests—to tell the truth. If you are innocent, you shan't suffer. I'll see to that."

"Another thing," he went on, "I do not want to meddle in your private affairs. I'm not interested in skeletons, if any, which you may have hidden in your clothes. But," he added meaningfully, "I am interested in any and all information pertaining to the crime. If you can tell me anything that will aid in clearing up some of the minor mysteries in this case, it is your duty to speak. You follow me, Miss Witherspoon?"

"I—" she stammered and Mac nodded. Daphne followed him, but I, for one, did not.

"Very well," he continued, "I'm going to ask you a question or two. You'll do well to answer truthfully."

"I'll ask the questions," Ellis put in. "You have no authority—"

Mac brushed him aside: "Your turn will come later. Now, Miss Witherspoon?"

"Well?"

"You stated earlier that at the time of your mother's death your brother, Richard, at your special request, went into town on some errands. Correct?"

"Yes."

"What were these errands?"

"He—he bought me some toothpaste at the drug store and some picture post cards at the Kirby house me of murder!"

"Easy, lad," McIntyre stepped forward. "No one is going to railroad you, Mr. Ellis is a bit premature in his accusations. Sit down and get a grip on yourself. You needn't talk unless you feel up to it."

"Keep out of this, please!" ordered Chief Ellis tersely. "I'm conducting this inquiry."

Mac faced him quietly. "If you don't want a suit for false arrest on your hands," he said sharply, "you had better go easy. Third degrees won't work here; you're not handling thugs. As agent for the Witherspoon family I shall challenge you whenever I see fit."

"You can't interfere with justice!" the other said angrily. "I'll handle things MY way."

"I wouldn't do that," Mac said, and I understood why the gangsters and hoodlums of Chicago kept out of his way. There was an undercurrent beneath the calm quiet of his voice that chilled me through and through. I think Ellis sensed something of this, too, for his anger died and he motioned young Richard away. The lad fled from the room.

"What have you done to my brother?" Daphne burst in upon us, and marched militantly toward the chief of police. "How long is this torture of innocent persons to be permitted?" She whirled upon Mac. "I thought it was your job to protect us! You got father to hire you! But I suppose that was

Inspection and Speeches Will Open Fire Prevention Survey

2 Day Project Opens; Includes Assemblies, Ill. Expert's Visit

Inspection of Iowa City business houses and fire prevention speeches in several of the city's schools this morning by 50 expert fire inspectors and state fire department officials will open the two-day fire prevention survey and education project in Iowa City.

Richard E. Vernor of Chicago, manager of the fire prevention department of the Western Actuarial bureau, will be the principal speaker this noon at a public luncheon at the Jefferson hotel.

Vernor is one of the outstanding experts in the country in the field of community fire inspection. He is in charge of the activities of the state fire prevention associations for 19 middle-western states and has made a life study of fire waste and fire prevention.

Vern W. Nall, president of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, will preside at the luncheon which will replace the regular Thursday meeting of the Rotary club.

Fifteen-minute fire prevention speeches will be presented in all of the schools in the city today and tomorrow by the inspectors who will come from Des Moines, Chicago and Omaha. The officials will speak before student assemblies at the schools.

The inspection for fire hazards was extended into nearly all of the Iowa City residences by means of blanks listing possible fire hazards which were given to pupils in all local schools to be filled out and returned by the student.

The State Fire Prevention association recommended this method of inspecting residences because it educated the students in fire hazard and safety methods. Members of the city fire department yesterday collected the information blanks from the school children.

Fire Chief J. J. Clark yesterday appointed nine firemen to assist the inspectors in their inspections of the business houses. Assistant Chiefs Ray Morgan and Albert Dolezal and Harley McNabb, Ivan Rose and Ted Fay will aid the inspectors today. Tomorrow the two assistant chiefs and Louis Vilhauer, William Vovich, Vern Simon and Adrian Rittenmeyer will work with the inspectors.

A large sign with "Fire Prevention Days, Feb. 23, 24" painted upon it will be placed on the city's newest fire truck. The truck will be paraded through the city streets today and tomorrow to advertise the fire prevention campaign.

The Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and Allrusa clubs, the Iowa City chamber of commerce, the junior chamber of commerce and the city board of underwriters are cooperating in the activities.

Hibiscus shrubs in Rio de Janeiro sometimes exceed 20 feet in height with flowers varying in color from yellow through to red and magenta.

WSUI Plans Roundtable

Prof. Thompson To Head Discussion Of Isolationism Today

Probably the most vital problem facing America today—Isolationism—will be the basis of a half-hour round table over WSUI this afternoon from 3:30 until 4.

Prof. C. Woody Thompson will lead this third program in his Economics Problems series. Guests this afternoon will be J. Garth Johnson, Vic Pomeranz, Bob Waples and Wendell S. Smith.

This unrehearsed half-hour discussion, conducted in the manner of Lyman Bryson's Peoples Platform on CBS, will consider the economic, political and psychological possibilities of an American isolation in case of a general European war.

45 at Meeting Of Democrats

Mrs. Mary S. Kelleher and Mrs. Crowlie, vice-chairmen of the Iowa and the South Dakota democratic central committees respectively, were the principal speakers at a meeting of 45 democratic women representing 20 counties in the first and fifth Iowa districts held at Hotel Jefferson yesterday noon.

Mrs. Ray Baxter, Burlington, a member of the state central committee, called the dinner-meeting. Mrs. A. J. Hogan, Tiffin, chairman of the local committee, Mrs. A. G. Derksen and Mrs. Bion Hunter, both of Iowa City, and members of the committee were in charge of the event.

Local Musical Talent Presents 'Hollywood Revue' at School

Iowa City's musical talent, from high school age to university instructors, paraded before a near "full house" last night at the first showing of "Hollywood Revue," a three-act musical comedy written and directed by Mrs. Ansel Martin.

The play, which is sponsored by the parent's auxiliary of the high school musicians to raise funds to send the local musicians to the annual national contest, will be repeated at 8 o'clock tonight at the Iowa City high school auditorium.

The theme of the original play is built around a benefit performance by a company of famous musicians and actors who are stranded in Iowa City by a snowstorm. Coach Herbert P. Cormack served as master of ceremonies to introduce the Iowa Citizens who

To Talk Here

Fire prevention speaker at the public luncheon this noon in the Jefferson hotel will be Richard E. Vernor, above. Vernor is in Iowa City as an adviser in the fire prevention campaign being held here today and tomorrow.

Predict Changes In Fruit Industry In Near Future

Horace W. Stuck, manager of Lagomarcino-Grupe company, told members of the Lions club at a meeting yesterday noon that "Changes are likely in the fresh fruit and vegetable industry within 10 years."

Fruit growers have formed cooperative marketing associations, Stuck declared, because of the tremendous increase of production over consumption during the past few years. Extensive fruit-growers' advertising campaigns in the future and a new system of freezing fruits to compete with fresh fruits on the market, if successful, will revolutionize the fruit business, Stuck said.

'U' Shown In Exhibit Booth

A complete new backdrop will add to the effectiveness of the University of Iowa's exhibit booth at the National Education association meeting in Cleveland beginning Saturday.

The backdrop itself is of silver cloth and across it in black wooden letters five inches high and an inch thick will be inscribed the words, "State University of Iowa."

A panoramic scene in black and white of the university campus will be placed in the center. In the booth will be several tables upon which are placed various types of display materials. They include University of Iowa studies—monographs including studies by faculty members and selected Ph.D. theses; extension bulletins, designed to appeal to the teacher being more general and containing less research material; tests, including the tests themselves and descriptive catalogs and folders distributed by the university. Approximately a thousand catalogues and 800 folders, in addition to sample tests, will be given away.

Music Contest Tryouts to Be Made Saturday

32 Will Compete To Represent Iowa City High March 30, 31

Elimination for vocal soloists who will represent Iowa City high school in the sub-district music contest at West Branch March 30 and 31 will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the school auditorium, it was announced yesterday.

Thirty-two singers are preparing for the contest. They include seven sopranos, five mezzo sopranos, seven contraltos, six tenors, five baritones and two basses.

The contest will not be held in connection with the vocal concert as has been the custom in the past. Besides entering the sub-district competition, first place singers will appear at the concert of vocal groups on Tuesday.

Mrs. Earl Harper, Iowa City, Margaret Porter, Cedar Rapids, and Miss Suppell, West Branch, have been chosen as judges in the elimination contest.

The public is invited to attend the contest. A small admission will be charged, it was announced.

Will Show Short On Pneumonia

The educational slant on treating pneumonia will be shown through "A New Day," a short movie, to be shown today at the Iowa theater, it was announced yesterday by Dr. P. W. Paulus, city physician. The movie, about 15 minutes in length, will be shown in connection with the regular feature attraction, Dr. Paulus said.

One hundred twenty hospitals and laboratories in Iowa are typified by the picture, according to a bulletin published by the Iowa state health department. Several scenes of the picture, the bulletin stated, which tells the story of a physician's fight to save a mother ill with pneumonia, are in a laboratory which is essentially the same as those in Iowa approved by the state health department typing stations. In the film a technician is shown as he "types" or determines the kind of pneumonia by examining a drop of the patient's sputum to determine the kind of pneumonia.

"A New Day," Dr. Paulus said, explains what is possible with typing and shows how serum is used to fight the disease. Not until the past several years was serum used on a wide scale in any section of this country in control of pneumonia, he added.

Tag Day Drive Starts Saturday

I. C. School Children To Sell Tags For Benefit of Orphans

Several Iowa City school children have already signified their intentions to sell tags Saturday for the benefit of orphan children under the care of the Iowa Children's Home society, Doris Hittle, who will be in charge of tag sales, announced yesterday.

The annual Tag day is sponsored locally by a different group each year.

The Iowa Children's Home society, a non-sectarian organization, does not employ solicitors and is supported by gifts from individuals, women's clubs, tag sales and bequests, officials said.

Tags will be sold at a price optional to the purchaser, Miss Hittle said. Last year, she added, 40 children worked together to raise a total of $180 for the society.

University of Iowa bulletins and summer session material will also be on display.

A motion picture projector equipped for sound, which will show films used as educational class material, will be used for demonstration purposes.

Irving Weber Accepts Offer Of Borden Company in Dallas

Will Leave Monday; Served Two Years As Lions Club Head

Irving B. Weber, sales manager of the Sidwell Dairy company, will assume the position of ice cream sales manager for the Borden company at Dallas, Tex., next week, it was announced yesterday. He will leave Iowa City Monday accompanied by his wife and son.

Weber, who has been employed by Sidwell's since 1918, will be in charge of the sales work of the new ice cream plant recently built onto the milk plant there.

He belongs to the Iowa City Lions club, having served as president two years ago. He has worked on the Community Chest campaign since 1933.

Weber is a member of the board of directors of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and president of the Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of Iowa. He is secretary and treasurer of the Iowa Dairy Products Cooperative Buying association.

His other affiliations include the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers and the International Association of Milk Dealers.

Weber received a degree from the college of commerce in 1922, having been graduated from Iowa City high school in 1918.

Sparks Cause $500 Loss in Roof Blaze

Firemen spent an hour and a half yesterday morning to extinguish a roof fire at the home of T. W. Hanson, 311 N. Linn street, which broke out about 8:30 a.m. Chimney sparks started the fire, Fire Chief J. J. Clark said. The damage was estimated at four to five hundred dollars.

Coordinating Council To Convene Tonight

The Johnson County Coordinating Council of Social Agencies will meet at 6:15 this evening in the pine room at Reich's cafe, the Rev. Edwin E. Voight, said last night.

Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, program chairman, will report on activities and organization of the group for the coming year.

FREE FIRE INSPECTION

OF ALL PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Thursday and Friday, February 23, 24

This is a good time for you to give your own home a thorough inspection ... to guard against a disastrous fire ... possible loss of life and property.

DO make sure that your plumbing system has no gas leaks. Do this periodically. Stop fire.

DO the right thing when a fire starts—call the fire department immediately. The phone is 9617.

DO your part to teach your family or employees the dangers of fire. Start immediately.

DO away with all old fashioned articles that are potential fire hazards.

DON'T let rags which have been used for oil or paint, accumulate in cellar. Throw them away.

DON'T use cheap electrical wiring. Make sure it is approved and safe ... you'll benefit.

DON'T use coils to replace "blown" fuses and remember to fix all defective electrical appliances.

DO insure your property fully in TOP-NOTCH STOCK COMPANIES.
