Czech Leader Moves To Effect Compromise With Separatist Group

Ousts Slovak Premier Sidor In Attempt To Suppress Move

Slovakian Journal Says Area Is Quiet; Soldiers Recalled To Ease Tense Crisis

PRAGUE, March 11 (Saturday) (AP) — A compromise between the Czech-Slovak central government and autonomous Slovakia appeared in the making early today after the central government had imposed martial law and removed the premier of the autonomous region to suppress a secessionist movement.

Karl Sidor, vice-premier of Czechoslovakia and Slovak representative in the central government, rejected alignment with separatist agitation and said a Slovak cabinet based on the existing federal constitution would be formed by Saturday night.

Czechoslovak President Emil Hacha yesterday removed three Slovak ministers, including Premier Joseph Tiso, to put down separatist clamor.

In a midnight radio address from Bratislava, Sidor appealed to the Slovak people not to let themselves be led "into cheap heroism" and to the Hlinka (Slovak storm troop) guard to be "true to their oath of obedience."

He said some extraordinary measures taken by the Prague government already had been withdrawn and that "the rest will be withdrawn after the new government is named."

Before the vice-premier spoke, an announcement quoted the Hlinka guard newspaper "Slovak" as saying that complete quiet prevailed throughout Slovakia and that Czech troops sent into Slovakia and Moravia had been recalled during the afternoon.

Sidor was regarded in Prague early today as the possible new premier of Slovakia.

In his speech, Sidor said the decision that a new cabinet would be installed in Slovakia was made at a conference he had with Tiso, Martin Sokol, chairman of the Slovak parliament, and others.

"It was unanimously decided," he said, "to present to the president of the republic the names of those leading members of the Hlinka party and fighters for Slovakia who will be able to guide Slovakia in its further development."

"The new government will foster peaceful relations with all peoples in Slovakia."

Hacha removed Tiso early yesterday after repeated conferences with the autonomous Slovak government had failed to bring its assurances of cooperation with Prague.

OLSEN-SHUTTA

Divorce Granted Two Radio Stars

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP) — Ethel Shutta, blonde singing star, obtained a divorce in superior court today from George Olsen, the orchestra leader to whom she was married 13 years ago.

She charged desertion, telling Judge Robert C. O'Connell that Olsen left her June 10, 1937, when they were both working in Chicago.

The judge was informed that the couple had signed a settlement outside of court, under the terms of which Olsen will pay Miss Shutta $150 a month for the support of their two children, Charles, 11, and George, 9, until they are of age. Miss Shutta said she was "perfectly satisfied" with the agreement.

Soviet Leader Sees Enemies Fostering War

MOSCOW, March 10 (AP) — Joseph Stalin, addressing the opening session of the 18th all-union congress of the communist party, tonight accused enemies of Soviet Russia in Europe and the United States of trying to foment war between Germany and Russia.

The peace of Munich, which resulted in dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, was really a part of this scheme, declared Stalin who is secretary of the central committee of the communist party.

Two Russians Convicted On Spying Charge

LOS ANGELES, March 10 (AP) — Hafis Salich, former United States navy intelligence operative, and Mikhail Gorin, Russian tourist agent, were convicted of violating the espionage act by a superior court jury here today.

Natasha Gorin, blonde wife of Gorin, was acquitted.

Salich was convicted of having transmitted to Gorin, and Gorin to his superiors in Russia data obtained by Salich concerning Japanese espionage activities and sabotage plans.

The federal court jury found the men guilty on all three counts of the indictment — conspiring to obtain, obtaining and transmitting information vital to the national defense — after deliberating two and one-half hours.

Salich's estranged wife, Mrs. Velma Salich, collapsed when the verdict was read.

Gorin and his wife showed little emotion, but Salich clenched his fists and seemed greatly upset.

Gorin and Salich face possible maximum prison terms of 42 years each. The tourist agent had been at liberty on a $25,000 bail supplied through the Russian embassy, but Federal Judge Ralph E. Jenney ordered him remanded to the custody of the United States marshal.

Salich, a former Berkeley, Cal., police officer, had been in custody throughout the trial.

Prisoner's Note Gives Clue To Missing Judge

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 10 (AP) — On the strength of a note left in the pressroom for a newspaperman, Police Chief Owen Kilday today ordered a search for a prisoner released a short time before in the hope he could shed light on the disappearance of Judge Joseph Force Crater of New York superior court.

The prisoner, old and ragged, asked a newspaperman for a cigarette. Noticing his well-kept hands, the reporter questioned him about his past but the man divulged little.

It was shortly thereafter that the note, written in fine hand on a portion of a paper towel, was found. It read:

"Thanks for the cigarette. You almost gotta scoop. Remember that judge in New York?"

The prisoner had been booked as plain "John Smith."

Judge Crater mysteriously vanished Aug. 6, 1930, and has not been seen since.

Hines Resigns
NEW YORK (AP) — James J. Hines, who was convicted two weeks ago of selling political protection to the Dutch Schultz poli-cy racket gang, submitted his resignation as Tammany district leader last night, but the district committee refused to accept it.

Victory Sends Winners Into Class A Finals In Tournament

Lund, Macheal Tally 25 Points for Kings; Wilton Junction Next In Climax Tonight

By EVERETT FRAY
Daily Iowan Sports Reporter
With Ira Lund and Bob Macheal scoring all but one of their points, the Clinton River Kings swept over the Iowa City high school's Little Hawks, 26-20, in the semifinal round of the district tournament in the field-house last night. Schneider scored Clinton's other point.

The victory sent Clinton into the final round where they will meet Wilton Junction, the surprising victor over Ft. Madison in an overtime game last night. The class B finals between Kalona and Yarmouth will start at 7:30 p.m.

Putting up a strong defense and relying on a slow, deliberate offense, the River Kings were in command most of the way. After a brief spurt at the first, the Hawks seemed to crumble and they never again hit their stride.

Capt. Russell Hirt led the local scorers with 10 points — four goals and two free throws. George Devine was second high with five.

Iowa City started fast and at the end of six minutes of play had a 5-0 lead. Lund then made good on a free throw and by the end of the half Clinton had evened the count at five-all.

After those first few minutes, City high's fast break never functioned. Either the guards were slow in getting the ball out or when they did sweep down the floor, poor passing ruined the play.

Iowa City also was erratic on rebounding as huge Lund, playing under both baskets, retrieved many of the rebounds and gave Clinton control of the ball most of the time.

After trying the count in the first period, Clinton came back in the second to go ahead when Macheal began hitting the hoop from the sidelines. He scored five of the River Kings' eight points in that quarter. The Hawks made five.

Clinton outscored the Red and white boys in a slow-moving third quarter, 5-4, and with the start of the final canto had an 18-14 lead. They stretched the lead to 26-20 in the last quarter of play.

It was the last game for eight Hawks — Ted McLaughlin, Junior Heacock, Capt. Russell Hirt, George Devine, John Lemons, Bob Buckley, John Maher and Clarence Crumley. Joe McGinnis had finished at the mid-year. Thus Coach Francis Merten loses all his experienced men and must start from scratch next year.

The defeat gave Iowa City a season's record of 17 wins and five losses. Three of the victories and one defeat were in tournament play and the rest in the regular season of 18 games.

NATURE'S REMEDY Tornado Saves Farmer $15 Expense

ALPENA PASS, Ark., March 10 (AP) — Another entry for the proving-old-proverbs department:

Farmer Joe Davis planned to spend $15 to dispose of brush accumulated in clearing a field. A tornado swept through, left not a loose stick on the field.

Roosevelt Says Slash of WPA Was Mistake

May Ask Increase Of $150,000,000 In Relief Message

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — President Roosevelt clearly indicated today a belief that congress made a mistake in whittling $150,000,000 from his January request for $875,000,000 of relief money.

The chief executive told his press conference that his original WPA estimates still held good. But he would not say whether he would insist upon an additional $150,000,000 appropriation in a special message on relief needs which he will send to congress early next week.

Representative Woodrum (D-Va) and Senator Adams (D-Col), members of subcommittees which handle relief appropriations, predicted that the full $150,000,000 would be requested.

In another development bearing on business, the securities commission modified its rules governing short selling on securities exchanges to "provide great freedom of market action." Up to now, a security could be sold short only at a price higher than the last sale price. The new rules allow sales at the same figure as the last transaction, provided that figure "was higher than the last different price which preceded it."

Meantime, a suggestion came from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) that the administration's efforts to encourage business be broadened to include abandonment of scheduled increases in Social Security taxes.

"The greatest single tax aid which can feature a real business appeasement" program is my proposal to freeze payroll taxes for old age pensions under the Social Security act," he said in a statement.

The tax now is two per cent, borne equally by employers and employees. It is scheduled to increase to three per cent next year and to reach six per cent by 1942.

Vandenberg said that the two per cent tax "has proved to be a very serious burden in countless cases, particularly upon small business." An increase next year could easily force many small businesses out of existence.

Storm Troopers
BUDAPEST (AP) — Reports from Bratislava, Slovakia, said last night that an armed detachment of Hlinka guards (Slovak storm troops) attempted to storm the building of the Bratislav military tribunal.

Dizzy Climb Nets Chill Youth Perched Above Bridge Hopes For Job—Still Hoping

CLEVELAND, March 10 (AP) — On a girder 70 feet above the floor of Cleveland's downtown "high level" bridge, Ray Stana, 19, played hide and seek with police for six hours today.

He hoped — "That by showing such initiative, I could get my name before employers and get an offer of employment."

He got — "No job, but a chill and a visit to police."

"I'm still shivering," he said an hour after firemen brought him down. Police booked him for investigation.

Stana, graduated from high school in January, climbed bridge posts and inched along girders while traffic sped across the bridge below him. Down 170 feet was the Cuyahoga river.

He carried a book, "New Frontiers of the Mind," but no food. He wore an overcoat and earmuffs against 27-30 degree temperatures, but no gloves or hat.

Police, notified of the "sit-upper," patrolled the bridge several times but reported no one there. After six hours, Stana poked his head above a plate that screened him from view, and shouted:

"I'll stay here until I get a job." Traffic police sent for firemen, who hoisted a ladder.

Tonight Stana wasn't sure his "initiative" would be productive. He was ready to sit back and wait for results — and thaw out.

Fraternity Fire Victim Dead

MINNEAPOLIS, March 10 (AP) — Ward Greslin, 24, Ackley, Ia., one of three youths seriously injured in a fire early Monday in the Delta Upsilon fraternity house on the University of Minnesota campus, died tonight.

Greslin, a graduate student seeking a master's degree in history, leaped from the third floor of the house, and suffered a fractured left leg, a possible spine injury and broken ribs.

Expect Baby
CAIRO (AP) — King Farouk and Queen Farida were understood in court circles yesterday to be expecting a second baby in November. They were married Jan. 20, 1938, and their first child, Princess Ferial, was born last Nov. 17.

Women's Conference Opens

University women and delegates from 13 Iowa universities, colleges and junior colleges will attend the University Women's association's second annual conference on women's vocations today in Iowa Union.

'Writers' Workshop' Listed on Program Of Summer Session

They'll Instruct Young Writers

Louis Adamic, above, famous author of "My America" and other works, will be one of the American leaders in the art of writing to assist in instruction at the University of Iowa this summer. He will take part in the university's summer writers' workshop.

Herbert Krause, whose "Wind Without Rain" is at present receiving praise from novel critics and who visited Iowa City recently, will assist young writers on the campus this summer as one of the participants in the university's writers' workshop.

Eleven Famous Native Authors To Take Part In 1939 Project

Josephine Johnson, R. Suckow, Adamic Among Participants Here This Summer

With nationally famous leaders in their respective fields of poetry and prose as an integral part of the project, a workshop for writers will assume its place on the 1939 summer session of the University of Iowa.

Eleven writers of national repute will visit the campus during the term. Some will stay only briefly, others will return for more than one appearance, some will appear only to lecture or conduct round tables, while many will be members of the summer staff.

But all of them will confer with students and young writers, dealing with their problems through periods of work with them in the most significant project of many years in Iowa summer session history.

Among the prominent names listed for summer appearances are these:

Louis Adamic, novelist, social critic, and author of such works as "Laughing in the Jungle," "Native's Return," "Dynamite" and "My America."

Donald Davidson, leading southern regionalist and poet. Professor of English at Vanderbilt university, he is author of "Attack on Leviathan," "Lee in the Mountains" and "The Tall Men."

Josephine Johnson, one of America's leading women novelists, winner of the Pulitzer prize for her "Now in November."

Paul Engle, regular member of the Iowa staff, the poet of such works as "Worn Earth," "American Song" and "Break the Heart's Anger."

Eric Knight, the English novelist and author of the recent, much-acclaimed novella, "The Flying Yorkshireman."

Herbert Krause, the graduate-novelist of the University of Iowa, whose "Wind Without Rain" has excited such favorable comment this year.

John T. Frederick, novelist, critic and editor of the old Midland, instructor in writing at Northwestern and Notre Dame. Professor Frederick, the book reviewer editor of the Columbia Broadcasting system, was an instructor here for many years.

John G. Neihardt, poet, author of such epic poems as "The Song" (See AUTHORS, Page 8)

SEEK SLUGGER Robber Hits Woman With Hammer

DETROIT, March 10 (AP) — A man who slugged Edith Carnegie, 31, on the head with a hammer as she knelt in prayer in St. Gregory's Catholic church was sought by police tonight.

Miss Carnegie told police the robber crept up behind her and that she caught a glimpse of him before he struck her with the hammer. Her purse, containing $10 was taken. She was taken to her home after receiving treatment from a doctor.

Bowers Brings Spanish Report

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — A report on the complicated Spanish situation was laid before Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, today by Ambassador Claude G. Bowers.

Bowers, who was recalled for consultation, is to see President Roosevelt tomorrow.

Meantime it became uncertain whether the United States had any diplomatic relations with the new government set up by General Miaja in Madrid. Welles refused to tell newspapermen whether relations existed or not, saying the situation was too intricate for comment.

Officials regard the fall or surrender of Madrid and the loyalist sector of Spain as inevitable. The collapse of this sector and its unification with nationalist Spain will hasten United States' recognition of General Franco, which is likewise deemed certain.

Labor's Action Halts Congress Air Corps Bill

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — Labor's demand for specific collective bargaining guarantees for workmen turning out armaments, delayed congressional agreement today on the $358,000,000 army air corps expansion bill.

After a two-hour meeting of a senate-house committee appointed to adjust differences in the measures passed by the two branches of congress, Senator Logan (D-Ky) disclosed there was a deadlock on a fair labor practices amendment.

As it was inserted in the bill by the senate, the amendment specifies that no person found to be interfering with collective bargaining or other rights of his employees shall obtain a contract.

It covers not only the air corps expansion bill but "an act heretofore or hereafter enacted, appropriating or authorizing the appropriation of funds for national defense."

Secretary of War Woodring wrote the conferees today urging that the amendment be eliminated, asserting that it might block needed airplane purchases and jeopardize the defense program.

Logan said the National Manufacturers association also had protested, contending that the amendment would tie the hands of some prospective bidders and give the war department too much arbitrary power to decide labor disputes.

BUDDIES PARTED Priest Conducts Rites For War Pal

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP) — Twenty-two years ago two privates in the United States army fought side by side in the mud at Chateau-Thierry. One was wounded. The other escaped unscathed. After the war they came here and worked side by side as railroad switchmen.

Today one of the buddies, the Rev. Father Thomas Conroy, now a captain in the regular army and a chaplain of a CCC camp at Cedar Rapids, Ia., arose from a sick bed and came here to conduct funeral services for Lawrence J. Finlon, 43, his buddy. Finlon died at the Edward Hines Jr. veteran's hospital of complications from his war time wounds.

Father Conroy was ordained into the priesthood nine years ago.

Reporter O K's Scooter-Pooping In Girl's Query

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 10 (AP) — An Evening Press reporter was set back on his heels by this telephone query from a girl:

"A boy asked me to go 'scooter-pooping' with him and I want to know what kind of game it is before I accept."

Webster was a washout in this crisis, so the baffled newsmen went into a hurried huddle with the office boy and the office ingenue and learned "scooter-pooping" is a currently popular term for going out and having a good time.

The reporter advised the caller and returned to his typewriter — feeling very old.

Foils Move To Put Liquor Bill On House List

DES MOINES, March 10 (AP) — The Iowa house liquor committee tonight tried to ease a local option "liquor by the drink" bill out to the lower house calendar but found the way barred by Chief Clerk A. C. Gustafson.

The clerk ruled the committee erred in reporting one of its own bills "without recommendation for passage." Such a measure must have specific committee approval, he said.

Liquor committee Chairman Philip F. Roan (R), Ft. Madison, said the committee would meet again Monday to determine the fate of the bill. Representative H. E. Morrow (R), Hopkinton, house dry leader who had agreed to the "without recommendation" report, announced he would not countenance any plan to attach committee approval to the bill.

SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1939

for you to convince us of your country's noble intentions. "Do you seriously believe that the mountain of bleeding corpses and the wildness of bombed and burnt cities that is every day widening between your two countries, is making it easier for your two peoples to stretch your hands in a clasp of ever-lasting good will?" the poet asks. "Believe me, it is sorrow and shame, not anger, that prompt me to write to you."

In Which A Quotation Becomes an Editorial

MEN HAVE been viewing with some alarm for ages. The world's end has been predicted for centuries. Yet mankind struggles onward.

As a favorite history professor of ours once put it, "If you don't want to be an optimist, don't study history."

That is why these few lines from a leading publication are especially significant. "It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time."

"In our own country there is universal commercial prostration—almost panic—and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out without employment, and without prospect of employment."

"In France the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly disturbed relations in China."

"It is a solemn moment, and so man can feel indifference— which, happily, no man pretends to feel—in the issue of events."

"These are indeed trying times." Need we add more than that these paragraphs are from the Oct. 10, 1857, issue of Harper's weekly?

A Banner Summer!

SUMMER AT the University of Iowa is always an opportunity for seekers after education. The summer session of 1939 will be one of the best in Iowa history, if we can judge from advance plans.

Previously, the announcement of the Fine Arts festival assured us of the unexcelled opportunity for entertainment and education that would be offered on the campus. Now, from the school of letters comes an announcement that again raises our enthusiasm for the summer.

The world of fine arts will find many of its leaders there for the arts festival, headlined by Lawrence Tibbett. The creative writing sect will find as counsellors or its efforts this summer big-name writers such as Thomas Mann, Pearl Buck, Paul Engle, Herb Krause, Ruth Suckow and others.

If you are interested in the arts, you won't want to miss the University of Iowa summer season.

The Pope And Peace

ONE OF THE greatest peace conferences of our generation will open Sunday in Vatican City. Pope Pius XII will receive the triple tiara on a balcony of St. Peter's; witnessing the coronation will be 40 missions representing foreign governments.

There will be no talk of ending war nor of disarmament nor of treaties, but men who have been cautiously plotting against each other will be gathered in that Holy City and will have found a common ground.

The importance of the new Pope in preserving the peace of all nations, Catholic and non-Catholic alike, cannot be over-estimated.

Elms On Fifth Avenue

SO THE Fifth avenues are to have elm trees to see! The Rockefeller are planting eight of the Connecticut elms in the center of a great metropolis where millions have seen nothing but human life for years.

If the trees live in their strange atmosphere, the New Yorkers will certainly get much pleasure from them. Hearing of it makes us feel very content and extremely fortunate to be living where trees are not an imported luxury!

One thing which may be said in behalf of this changeable weather is that it certainly is not monotonous.

Mussolini wants to add more territory to Italy's possessions but he doesn't want to go to war about it. This, it appears, makes him a sort of pacifist.

THE STRIKE HE REALLY FEARED

AROUND THE TOWN With MERLE MILLER

STOP ME, IF YOU'VE HEARD THIS ONE

A year ago this morning I was in Rome. I mention that simply as a chronological fact. It doesn't make me an expert on the European situation.

Since then a lot of crises have passed under the bridge. Herr Hitler has marched into Vienna. Neville Chamberlain lost a bloodless war at Munich. Franco has triumphed in Spain.

Just now we're in for a breathing spell. We might take a rambling glimpse at what's happened.

Naturally, I've no private telephone hook-up with A. Hitler, and Neville Chamberlain doesn't consult me before he makes a speech (with Miss Dorothy Thompson and Mr. Walter Lippmann).

All I know is what any newspaper reader knows who stops to organize his thinking.

I Know That—Mr. Mussolini is recovering from a too-close attempt on his life and is mightily disturbed because his very good friend Adolf Hitler didn't promise soldiers during the Franco-Tunisian crisis.

Evidently Mr. Hitler won't send troops. There's not much doubt that the world's worst soldiers are the Italians. Benito Mussolini is smart; he won't take on England and France and the United States by himself for any Tunisia.

I Know That—Between walking in his sleep at Berchtesgaden and worrying over the fact that he's losing his voice, Adolf Hitler seems to be resting comfortably. He said nothing in his two-hour outburst before the Reichstag that need worry any pacifist.

He said that Germany needs the economic cooperation of the democracies, that she can't yet be economically self-sufficient and that he hasn't been the one to mention taking on a general European war. He never was.

I Know That—In London, Neville Chamberlain is fingering his umbrella more calmly (he being the statesman history will make either the greatest villain or hero of his day). He is even idly mentioning a disarmament conference and spending less money on battleships next year.

The Shadow, in Paris Daladier is trying not to think of "Mein Kampf" (which three repeats that "France is the natural enemy of Germany") and hoping the reports we hear are true.

The Reports—And the reports he's hearing are these. (See Nora Waln's "Reaching for the Stars" and the new Reader's Digest.) The Germans these days are dissatisfied.

The Hitler slogan was "Bread and Work." The early supporters have not exactly had either. Unemployment has been almost eradicated. But wages have fallen to an alarmingly low. Hours of work have increased, and a giant war machine has been created. YOU CAN'T EAT BULLETS.

People no longer cover up cracks in the windows and under the doors when they speak. There's open dissatisfaction in the streets.

A youngster pitched in to fight when he saw a storm trooper heckling a young Jewish girl in a forbidden area. A policeman came along to break up the fight. He let the Jewish girl and her protector escape and dared hold the storm trooper for questions.

That couldn't have happened in Berlin three years ago. Or even when I was there in April. It is happening now.

I Repeat That—"There's a dull, dim roar in Germany today; it's deep and low. It might break into a thunderbolt at any minute."

Germans are no more lovers of sadism and empty stomachs than Americans. And the sight of a distinguished Jewish doctor in top hat sweeping up filthy narrow streets after cavalry horses have passed wouldn't please us.

Adolf Hitler's regime might fall. It would mean a German civil war equal to that of Spain.

TUNING IN

TOMMY RIGGS and Betty Lou will need the logic of two instead of one person tonight when Tommy plays host to Bert Gordon, the mad Russian in the Eddie Cantor program. The program, heard at 7 o'clock tonight over the Columbia network, features Freddie Rich and his orchestra.

A REAL BATTLE of husbands against wives will be staged on Phil Baker's "Honolulu Bound" program when the better halves of the cast principles invade the CBS studio during the broadcast over the Columbia network at 8 o'clock tonight.

The wives in person will broadcast to the nation their protests to Baker for keeping the husbands out so late Saturday nights. They contend that good home-loving husbands should be safely ensconced at their respective firesides by 8 o'clock that night.

Peggy, Baker's wife, will lead the invading parade, stoutly supported by Marian, wife of Harry "Bottle" McNaughton and a holder of many golf championships; Mickey, who is Mrs. von Zell and a former athletic director, and Betty, who gave up acting to marry Ward Wilson, who plays the part of Baker's weekly studio heckler.

This "Saturday Night Wives Who Are Tired of Staying Home Alone Club" promises to make things lively as they air their grievances before a nationwide radio audience. The ladies all will be present in person.

Turning from family quarrels to music, the Andrews sisters, whose Decca recordings are breaking nationwide sales records, will give their own version of "Deep Purple" and Johnny Pineapple, accompanied by Phil Baker and his accordion, has scheduled "Ebb Tide," "Moon of Manakura" and an old song of his native Hawaii.

THE EASTMAN SCHOOL symphony under the direction of Frederick Fennell will appear in an all-Mozart program in the "Milestones of Music" series at 10:30 this morning over NBC's Red network. They'll play the overture to "Don Giovanni" and symphonies No. 1 and 29.

"RIGOLETTO" is scheduled for Metropolitan presentation at 12:55 this afternoon. Lawrence Tibbett

That couldn't have happened in Berlin three years ago. Or even when I was there in April. It is happening now.

I Repeat That—"There's a dull, dim roar in Germany today; it's deep and low. It might break into a thunderbolt at any minute."

Germans are no more lovers of sadism and empty stomachs than Americans. And the sight of a distinguished Jewish doctor in top hat sweeping up filthy narrow streets after cavalry horses have passed wouldn't please us.

Adolf Hitler's regime might fall. It would mean a German civil war equal to that of Spain.

Incident—A youngster pitched in to fight when he saw a storm trooper heckling a young Jewish girl in a forbidden area. A policeman came along to break up the fight. He let the Jewish girl and her protector escape and dared hold the storm trooper for questions.

That couldn't have happened in Berlin three years ago. Or even when I was there in April. It is happening now.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.
There has been a great improvement in the treatment of sciatica and neuritis in the last few years. Very important is diagnosis. I have recently seen two cases which were treated for over a year with the diagnosis of neuritis when the actual disease was obviously writer's cramp. As soon as the excessive writing which the patients did was forbidden, the condition cleared up.

- A Good Spot
- No Experiments
- A "Throwback"

By WHITNEY MARTIN
BATON ROUGE, La., March 10 (AP) — There may be a question in some minds of whether the New York Giants will be folding the National league pennant come next September, or just folding, but to those most interested there is no doubt. The Giants are out to win that flag.

From the hotel headquarters, where old man river meanders within a block of the back door, to the green expanse of the Louisiana State field, and from Skipper Bill Terry down to the bat boy an air of quiet confidence prevails.

A Good Spot
Theoretically, Terry would seem in a position to do a little experimenting with his lineup. Since his Giants won the pennant in 1933 he always had a contender until last year, so he couldn't break up a potentially winning combination.

On the surface, the same team which finished third last year could not be expected to finish first this year, but there are factors giving another angle to the case. For one thing, the Giants at the close of the 1938 season were held together by baling wire and adhesive tape. From Carl Hubbell on down the team was afflicted by injury and illness.

Apparently these misfortunes are past, although Hubbell and Hal Schumacher have yet to throw anything faster than a good, active snail in testing out their arms.

No Experiments
"No, I'm not doing any experimenting," Terry says. "We're to make a battle of it. And doesn't that Tom Hafey look sweet out there?"

That Hafey always is bobbing up in Terry's conversations. Hafey is a husky third baseman who has been knocking the ball black and blue, and his case provides an example of Terry's refusal to experiment. Hafey can play any position, and although second base is a major problem right now, Terry is going to keep Hafey at third, where George Myatt is doing quite well, thanks.

In fact, despite Hafey's slugging there is a general idea among the railbirds that Myatt will be at the hot corner when the Giants start the season.

A "Throwback"
A rough, tough, slashing lad is this Myatt, who is just as nice a guy off the field as you could hope to meet. He stole 10 bases in 43 games with the Giants last year and is reputedly the fastest man in the majors. He has the courage of a cornered bear, more crust than a chicken pie, and on the field asks no quarter and gives none. When he slides into a base it's every man for himself. In fact, he's something of a throwback to Ty Cobb.

Fencing Team Tackles Coe College Today

Iowa's fencers, inactive during the past month, resume action this afternoon when they face Coe college at the fieldhouse at 4 o'clock in their second meet of the season.

The match, scheduled to further improve the under-graduate foil and saber technique, should provide spectators with some first class entertainment as the fencers, in their only previous start, against Moline, flashed unexpected power in downing their opponents.

The Hawkeyes' combination graduate and under-grad squad will endeavor to put more stress upon the advancement of aspiring fencers, so the under-graduate should duel a considerable portion of the bouts, against Coe, today.

BIG TEN SWIMMERS BEGIN TITLE MEET IN PURDUE UNIVERSITY POOL

Michigan Team Grabs Big Lead

Three Hawkeyes and Medley Relay Team Qualify for Finals

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 10 (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines took a wide lead in the preliminaries of the 29th annual Big Ten swimming championships here tonight as five new Western conference records were established.

The Wolverines, who lost the team title to Ohio State qualified 17 men for the finals tomorrow. Ohio State qualified nine; Illinois, four; Northwestern, Minnesota and Iowa three each, and Purdue, Wisconsin, Indiana and Chicago, one each.

Four of the new records were set by Michigan tankmen. Waldemar Tomski established two, speeding the 50-yard free style in 23.1 seconds and the 100-yard free style in 52.6 seconds. Charles Barker nosed out Curly Stanhope of Ohio State in the 150-yard backstroke in the record-breaking time of 1:38.1. Capt. Tom Haynie broke a mark he set as a sophomore by swimming the 220-yard free style in 2:13.6.

Ohio State's 300-yard medley relay team of Stanhope, Higgins, and Quayle clipped an even three seconds from the record set by a Michigan team in 1936 by turning in a time of 2:56.8.

Qualifiers:
Fancy diving — Patnik, Ohio State; Clark, Ohio State; Benham, Michigan; Feigel, Indiana; Perstefeld, Michigan; Willhac, Purdue; Cleveland, Ohio State. Highest score, Patnik, 119.70.

300-yard medley relay — Ohio State (Stanhope, Higgins, Quayle); Michigan (Beebe, Haigh, Thaxter); Iowa (Armbruster, Poulos Kershaw); Minnesota (Brandt, Sahlman, Jablonski); Illinois (Kurjak, Alcorn, Hopwood); Northwestern (Dash, Hutker, Wolfson). Best time, Ohio State, 2:56.8. (New Big Ten record—old record, 2:59.8, set by Michigan in 1936.)

220-yard free style — Haynie, Welsh and Hutchens, Michigan; Lowe, Illinois; Johnson, Ohio State; McCaffery, Northwestern. Best time, Haynie, Michigan, 2:13.6. (New Big Ten record—old record, 2:13.8 established by Haynie in 1937.)

50-yard free style — Tomski, Barker, Holmes and Beebe, Michigan; Surles, Northwestern, and O'Mahoney, Iowa. Best time, 23.1, made by Tomski, Michigan, in quarter finals to establish New Big Ten record. Old record 23.3 set by Kirar, Michigan in 1938.

100-yard free style — Tomski, Michigan; Johnson, Ohio State; Serles, Northwestern; Holmes, Michigan; Quayle, Ohio State; Emmerich, Wisconsin. Best time, Tomski, Michigan, 52.6. (New Big Ten record, old record 52.8, established by Kirar, Michigan, in 1938.)

150-yard back stroke — Barker, Michigan; Beebe, Michigan; Stanhope, Ohio State; Armbruster, Iowa; Kurjak, Illinois; Brandt, Minnesota. Best time, Barker, Michigan, 1:38.1. (New Big Ten record, old record 1:38.9, set by Zehr, Northwestern, and Neunzig, Ohio State, in 1937.)

200-yard breast stroke — Higgins, Ohio State; Haigh, Michigan; Anderson, Chicago; Sahlman, Minnesota; Kirland, Illinois; Poulos, Iowa. Best time, Higgins, Ohio State, 2:26.0.

440-yard free style — Haynie, Michigan; Wooding, Ohio State; Jablonski, Minnesota; Welsh, Michigan; Lowe, Illinois; Thaxter, Michigan. Best time, Welsh, Michigan, 4:59.4.

Off For Tourney
DES MOINES, (AP) — Ten Drake university basketball players and Coaches Bill Williams and Vee Green left for Oklahoma City yesterday to compete in the elimination tournament of the National basketball meet. Drake will meet Oklahoma A. and M. Monday night and if it wins will tangle with Oklahoma the following night. Drake and the Aggies tied for top place in the Missouri Valley loop while Oklahoma and Missouri took first in the Big Six. Missouri withdrew from the elimination meet.

Score at halftime: Lost Nation 20; Yarmouth 12.

Returning suddenly to the form they had shown in their victory over Montrose Wednesday night, Yarmouth's smart passing cagers turned loose in a furious spurge in the second half to wipe out a big Lost Nation lead and win their way to the class B finals by a 42 to 33 score last night.

Lost Nation had taken advantage of a Yarmouth slump in the first half and had piled up a forbidding 20 to 12 lead, but when Yarmouth began to click, the lead was short lived. In the opening minutes of the second half, when Yarmouth really began to move, Lost Nation was helpless as Yarmouth, led by the Todd brothers, poured in goals from every angle. The gold clad cagers from Yarmouth scored 15 points in those few minutes while Lost Nation scored exactly none. After that Yarmouth coasted in for the victory.

Ralph Todd, crack forward of the winners, walked off with the scoring honors for the evening with eight field goals and one free throw for 17 points, while his brother, Don, came in with seven. Story and Rechterman, forwards for the losers, caged 12 points apiece.

Score at halftime: Ft. Madison 19; Wilton Junction 12.

Wilton Junction, the team that had been overlooked, did wrong by the sports forecasters last night and highly-rated Ft. Madison fell victim to Wilton accuracy from the foul line in an overtime period, 33 to 32.

The powerful team from down the river had pulled away early and the experts figured the game was practically over when the halftime rolled around with Ft. Madison on the winning end 19 to 12. However, Wilton, with Lange and Beinke leading the way, battled its way back to nearly even terms before the third quarter ended.

After Ft. Madison had, apparently, taken charge of the situation again, Wilton began a scoring spurge that ended when Lange's free throw tied the score just before the game ended. Youel put Ft. Madison ahead in the overtime period by dropping one from the foul line, but Norton of Wilton, fouled in a wild mixup, made both of his shots for the win.

Score at half — Martinsburg 14, Kalona 12.

Using five iron men, Kalona outlasted Martinsburg last night to win 25-24. The victory advanced the Kalona squad to the class B finals, which are to start at 7:30 tonight.

C. Yoder, elongated center for Kalona, led the scoring in the tilt by counting 10 points. Dickey, who plays the same position for Martinsburg, led his team with nine markers.

Martinsburg got off to a slight lead which it maneuvered up to four points at the end of the first period, leading 10-6. Kalona picked up a little in the second quarter, but Martinsburg still led at the half by a score of 14-12.

With D. Guengerich and C. Yoder hitting from all angles, Kalona took over the lead midway in the third period and was ahead 21-18 at the end of the stanza.

Martinsburg knotted the count at 23-all with two minutes to play and it looked as if an overtime period might be necessary. However, C. Yoder came through with his final basket to give Kalona two precious points. Jones had one last chance to tie the score with two free tosses, but he only sank one, ending the scoring at 25-24.

GYMNASTS IN TITLE MEET

Budge Defeats Fred Perry In Pro Tennis Go

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — Don Budge, recent conqueror of Ellsworth Vines, and Fred Perry, the transplanted Englishman, met for the first time tonight as tennis professionals.

No more than 7,000 customers were on hand when Budge, introduced as the "world's professional champion," and his rival walked into the arena. Perry went into action with a record of four victories over Budge in six matches as an amateur, while the California red head could look back on 22 triumphs over Vines in the 39 matches of their just-completed tour, Don's first as a pro.

Budge won the first set, 6-1. Perry couldn't keep control of the ball, piling up 27 errors to the big red head's 13.

Before the match Budge was introduced as the "world's professional champion." When it was over, there wasn't anyone in the arena who would have cared to argue the point, with or without a tennis racket.

Big Six Mat Meet Begins Iowa State In Tie With Kansas State After First Matches

AMES, March 10 (AP)—Iowa State and Kansas State each scored two points in the preliminaries of the Big Six conference wrestling meet here tonight.

Nebraska counted one point, but Oklahoma, 1938 champion, failed to score.

Iowa State qualified 7 men for the finals, Kansas State 5 and Nebraska and Oklahoma two each.

The Cyclones made their points by two falls, Royce Cox tossing Mason Smarr of Oklahoma in the 155-pound class and Joe Loucks throwing J. D. Barrow, Oklahoma sophomore, in the 165-pound division.

Vogel, Parry Carry Hawk Title Hopes

Iowa gymnasts make their bid for the conference crown this afternoon, at Illinois. The team left Iowa City early yesterday morning so as to insure one practice drill at Urbana.

And a productive drill it must be, if the Iowans are to keep pace with the Big Ten leaders. Outstanding gymnasts to compete are Joe Giallombardo of Illinois, the nation's outstanding college gymnast; Erwin Beyer of Chicago, who swept every event in a record dual meet against the Hawkeyes, retiring with five firsts; Capt. Curtis Lynum and Jim Hafey of Minnesota, who between them captured every event in downing Iowa in the first meet of the season.

Competing against this brilliant array of performers, Iowa has but two men who may turn in equal exhibitions, Capt. Adam Vogel and Bob Parry. Bob Parry has been a consistent performer all year, receiving over half of Iowa's total place positions during the dual meets.

Tight Pitching
TAMPA, Fla., (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds' pitchers continue to lord it over the men with the artillery. The regulars beat the Yannisians yesterday for their third straight victory, 2 to 0. Defarge and Livingood did the throwing for the first five innings. Defarge gave the regulars all their runs in the third.

Pitt Students Go On Strike

Resent Bowman's New Athletic Policy At Panther Institution

PITTSBURGH, March 10 (AP) — Shouting, cheering students, demonstrating against what a self-styled "spokesman" said was the "administrative policy" of the University of Pittsburgh, stormed through the university today and created a bedlam that lasted several hours.

Classes were interrupted by leaders urging fellow students to join them in a one-day strike, but studies continued in a majority of rooms in the university's 42-story cathedral of learning.

The demonstration had been brewing all week since the resignation of Football Coach John Bain (Jack) Sutherland was announced.

Stiens carried by the strikers criticized the college administration and others praised the coach. The Pitt News, in an editorial earlier this week, challenged what it termed the "bungling" of the school's administration.

Many students looked on good-naturedly while the strikers trooped from class to class.

Dr. James C. Charlesworth, associate professor of political science, removed his glasses, put down his book when the strikers surged in. He ordered them out, but the door was yanked open and strikers streamed in. Conflicting versions of what happened were given, but a desk and several chairs were overturned.

While the demonstration was at its height, Prof. David B. Rogers, professor of sociology, dismissed his class. On the blackboard was written:

"Today I want all students to closely observe mass psychology."

Iowa Heavyweight Meets Downes Of Ohio State Tonight

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP) — The well-balanced Indiana university wrestling team led Big Ten teams tonight into the championship finals by qualifying six men for the title events tomorrow.

The Hoosiers failed to qualify only in the heavyweight and 145-pound classes.

Minnesota qualified four men, Illinois and Michigan, defending champion, sent two each into the finals, and Iowa and Ohio State, one each.

The semifinal summaries:
121-pound class: Helman, Illinois, defeated Weidig, Michigan, 16-8; Livovich, Indiana, defeated Sherman, Iowa, 6-3.

128-pound class: Antonucci, Indiana, defeated Petry, Illinois, 11-10; Hanson, Minnesota, pinned Kingsbury, Iowa. Time: 3:26.

136-pound class: Roman, Indiana, defeated Mericka, Michigan, 3-2; Deutchman, Illinois, pinned George, Iowa. Time: 8:06.

145-pound class: Nichols, Michigan, defeated Emmons, Illinois, 9-0; Morton, Minnesota, pinned Thomas, Chicago. Time: 6:47.

155-pound class: Lazarus, Indiana, defeated Combs, Michigan, 5-2; Jamesko, Minnesota, defeated Peltier, Ohio, 10-8.

165-pound class: Traicoff, Indiana, defeated Voderick, Minnesota, 11-2; Nichols, Michigan, defeated Brennan, Illinois, 9-0.

Five Noted Historians to Appear at 19th Annual Conference

April Meeting Here Features Timely Topics

Teachers of History and Social Studies Scheduled To Attend

Five outstanding historians from Iowa and nearby states will appear with members of the faculty of the University of Iowa at the 19th annual historical conference here April 14 and 15. Prof. W. T. Root, head of the Iowa department, announced yesterday.

With teachers of history and the social studies from schools and colleges of Iowa and nearby states scheduled to attend, the Iowa department will offer a program featuring subjects of timeliness and significance, dealt with by these historical scholars of distinction:

Prof. Wallace Notestein of Yale University; Dr. Chauncey S. Boucher, chancellor of the University of Nebraska; Prof. Herbert Heaton of the University of Minnesota; Dr. J. Fred Rippey of the University of Chicago; and Prof. Howard R. Anderson of Cornell University.

Prof. Herbert Feigl of the Iowa philosophy department and Prof. J. B. Stroud of the college of education also will appear on the two-day program.

Dr. Notestein will address the conference twice, his topics "History and Character" and "History and the Imagination."

Affiliated with the state department in 1918, Dr. Notestein went to Paris in 1919 as a member of the commission to negotiate peace. He is a member of All Souls' college at Oxford, and was Raleigh lecturer before the British academy. He is the author of well-known books on English history.

Dr. Boucher will speak on "History and the Social Sciences—Whither?" Formerly a professor of history and dean of the college of arts and sciences at the University of Chicago, he went from there to assume the presidency of the University of West Virginia.

Last year he became chancellor of the University of Nebraska. He is the author of several important works in American history.

Prof. Heaton will speak on "Clio in Overalls." Eminent for his scholarly work in the field of economic history, the speaker will cover a survey of recent trends in economic history, and of revisions and research methods.

Professor Anderson, a former member of the history faculty at the University of Iowa, will speak on "Training in History as Education for Citizenship." He is a member of the executive board of the National Council for the Social Studies and author of a number of articles on the teaching of history.

Professor Rippey will speak on "The Pan-Americanism and the Fascist Threat," one of the most timely subjects of the conference. A former fellow of both the Guggenheim and Carnegie foundations, he has served on the editorial board of the American Historical Review and the Hispanic American Historical Review.

Outstanding as a student of Latin America, he served as visiting lecturer at John Hopkins university and the National university of Mexico. Among his important works are "United States and Mexico," "Latin America in World Politics" and "Dictatorships in South America."

Professor Feigl will speak on "Explaining, Understanding and Predicting," a subject dealing with philosophical observations concerning history and its relation to other sciences.

Professor Stroud will discuss "History and Human Nature."

Wilber Teeters Discusses Drug Law in Senate

Dean Emeritus Wilber Teeters was in Des Moines Thursday upon invitation of the Iowa senate to discuss the proposed state drug law before the senate.

According to Dean Teeters, the law would provide for a new registration arrangement for drug stores and a poison law limiting the sale of poisons to drug stores and requiring proper labeling of bottles and registering of all sales.

Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy accompanied Dean Teeters to Des Moines.

Carriers Auxiliary Will Have Meeting

Members of the Letter Carriers auxiliary will meet in the home of Mrs. Ted Watkins, 419 Pleasant street, Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. There will be a business meeting, a program and a social hour.

Schedule June Reunions For Iowa Alumni

The second step in rallying university classes for June reunions will be taken next week when letters from class organizers are mailed to some 4,000 alumni.

Beginning with the class of 1879—the men and women who graduated 60 years ago—54 classes are due for reunions on alumni day, June 3, Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, alumni secretary, announced yesterday.

All classes with numerals ending in four and nine will meet, with a trophy going to the group with the largest percentage of living members present. The golden anniversary class, 1889, will receive commemorative medals from the university.

Vern Bales Gives Talk

Traces Wall Paper History in Address To Decoration Class

Our earliest newspapers were sometimes printed on wallpaper!

Vern Bales of Stillwell's paint store in Iowa City pointed out that fact when he lectured and demonstrated aspects of wall-paper decoration before the class in home decoration of Prof. Lula Smith in the home economics department yesterday.

Bales displayed "The Daily Citizen" published in Vicksburg, Miss., in 1863, printed on wallpaper. He explained that that type of paper was used during the war between the states when a general scarcity of paper gripped the nation.

Wallpaper dates back to 1481, the speaker said, and England is said to have been its home. In its earliest history, he said, it wasn't used as covering for walls but as chamber hangings because of its decorative qualities.

Bales credited the reign of Louis XIV of France with much advancement in the wallpaper industry. Sold principally before that time by peddlers, Bales pointed out that the famous Frenchman's regime saw the beginning of retail standards in the business.

It was not until 1745, he said, that any quantity of wallpaper came to America. He gave as the reason the fact that living standards hampered the purchase of expensive imported paper.

The earliest wallpapers were hand-blocked by a tedious and time-consuming process involving cutting and printing blocks by hand, he pointed out. Modern machinery has permitted the industry to come to the fore, he stated, enabling wall coverings to be purchased by those in the lowest income levels.

Hand-blocked wallpaper is still in existence, according to Bales, and may be purchased. He showed samples of "$80 a roll" blocked paper.

The speaker considered characteristics of wall paper which should be taken into consideration in its purchase. It should lend hospitality, graciousness and cheer, he said, and add an inviting air to the room.

GORDON H. SHEFFIELD

Gordon H. Sheffield, P4 of Storm Lake; Howard Lee Johnson, P3 of Chariton, and Frederick A. Quire, P3 of Kanawha, have been selected as the 1939 initiates of the Iowa Delta chapter of Rho Chi, national honorary pharmaceutical society, it was announced yesterday by Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy. Requirements for membership in the society are high scholastic standing and a capacity for achievement, evidenced by strength of character, personality and leadership. In addition, the selections must have the approval of the dean of the college. All of the above initiates have received recognition of some form in the college of pharmacy previous to their appointment to Rho Chi. Sheffield received the Teeters prize for the highest scholastic standing in pharmacognosy. Quire was awarded the Cooper prize for excellence in second year pharmaceutical laboratory work. These two awards each consist of membership in the American Pharmaceutical society. Johnson was given the Kuever prize for excellence in first year laboratory work, for which he received a one-year subscription to the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical society. The date of initiation has not yet been set.

Faculty, Alumni To Gather At Annual Central District Phys. Education Meet in Sioux City

Prof. Halsey Heads 4 Day Session From March 29 to April 1

Ten University of Iowa faculty members and four former students of the university will be in Sioux City March 29 to April 1 to attend the annual meeting of the central district physical education association. Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the University of Iowa women's physical education department, is president of the group.

A broad program has been planned, with section meetings to satisfy varying needs and interests. Speakers and discussion leaders from all the states in the association— Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Wyoming and Colorado— will participate.

The most interesting part of the program is expected to be the fourth general session at which Professor Halsey will preside and Dr. Maud Slye of the University of Chicago will speak on "Health and Heredity." Dean George D. Stoddard of the University of Iowa graduate college will speak on "Euthenics and Human Behavior" at the session.

Professor Halsey, besides presiding at the fourth general session and the convention banquet Thursday evening, will address the opening general session on Wednesday evening.

Prof. C. H. McCloy of the men's physical education department will be one of four speakers at a forum discussion at the second general session. He will speak on "What Direction for Physical Education?"

Professor McCloy will also speak at a meeting of the research section, Laurence N. Morehouse, G of New London, At this meeting, Professor

Conn., will report on his study of the "Response of the Heart to Various Types of Exercise."

At the meeting of the women's athletic section, Prof. Gladys Scott and Prof. Ellen Mosbek of the women's physical education department will conduct round table discussions on basketball and softball respectively.

Prof. Lorraine Frost of the department will preside as chairman at the meetings of the therapeutics section. Janet Cumming, an instructor in the department and chairman of the dance section, has announced that speakers on "Problems of Teaching Dance Activities Met by the Young Teacher" will include Margaret Curry of the class of 1936, Ruth Ann Riegel and Marian Smalley, both of the class of 1938.

Prof. Joy Kistler of the men's physical education department will be a speaker at the general session for students Saturday morning.

Meetings Friday afternoon are planned for the unspecialized teacher. Prof. Miriam Taylor will speak on "Games Which can be Made and Played in the Rural School" and Agnes Best, supervisor of physical education for girls at University high school, will talk on "Play Groups for Mixed Ages."

At a pre-convention section of dance teachers Wednesday, Martha Hill of New York university, who will lecture on the Iowa campus March 27, will teach the group in the technique and rhythms of the modern dance.

The central district association of teachers of college women will meet at Vermillion, S. D., March 27 to 29, Professor Scott, as chairman of research, will report on projects completed during the year.

At this meeting, Professor

Mosbek will preside at a series of round table discussions on "The Practical Application of the Principles of the Progressive Philosophy to Physical Education." Esther French of the University women's physical education department will be a member of the round table.

Paul Engle, S.U.I. Poet, Will Begin Lecture Series Friday

To Present 3 Talks On Contemporary Writers' Theories

In three lectures under the auspices of the school of letters, Paul Engle, famous poet and member of the university faculty will discuss three aspects of the writer in contemporary life. The first lecture is scheduled for next Friday.

The opening talk, on "Hervey Allen and the Historical Novel," will discuss the general problem of history and the American writer, as well as Hervey Allen's two novels, "Anthony Adverse" and "Action at Aquila."

Special emphasis will be placed on the use of historical events and characters in the novels. The lecturer will introduce personal material, relating to Hervey Allen himself and to his theory of writing, which he secured in numerous conversations with Allen.

The second lecture, on "Robert Frost," will show the relationship between poetry and the man. Frost's theory of poetry will be considered, and his answer to the question, "What should a poet write about today?" The lecture will be amplified by matter gathered personally from Frost.

In the third lecture, Engle will present his own theory of poetry, in an attempt to find some statement that will fit the poetry of past and present. He will apply this theory to such sources of modern poetry as na-liquid. Then comes witch hazel, representative of skin lotions, bright green in color. A large bottle of cod liver oil, yellow in color, represents vitamins. Here also are boxes of concentrated vitamin tablets.

Last are nasal remedies, illustrated with a "bright green solution of ephedrine. In the foreground are atomizers used with the solution.

In front of all the large bottles are smaller bottles of the same preparations. In keeping with the March theme, a kite is suspended from the top of the display window.

Pharmacy students in charge of the display are A. Dick Renner, P2 of Des Moines; Howard Clarke, P2 of Burlington, and Wendle P. Kerr, P2 of Humboldt.

Program Sponsored By Iowa Federation Of Women's Clubs

The Iowa Federation of Women's clubs will sponsor a "Musical Iowana" program, featuring music by Iowa composers, at 9 p.m. Monday in the north music hall of the music building, WSUI will broadcast the concert.

Compositions by Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department; Prof. Arnold Small, instructor in violin, and Klara Robbins will be presented.

Onabelle Ellett, soprano; Prof. Herald Stark, tenor; Alice Eversole, cellist, and a string quartet (Professor Small, Lorene Liston, Otto Jelinek and Prof. Hans Koebel) will appear in the concert.

The program name is derived from a book published under the direction of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs last year, call-

Lowans' Music Will Be Heard In Music Hall

Similar programs have been presented in Cedar Rapids and Sioux City, and are scheduled for Ames. The composers represented on the program are all Iowans. Professor Clapp, whose "Norge" tone-poem was presented last Sunday by the university symphony orchestra, has been head of the Iowa music department since 1919 and is well-known as a composer. Professor Small, a former graduate student in psychology here, served as professor of violin at Drury college in Springfield, Mo. He has studied under Czerwonky and Butler. Mrs. Robbins studied at the American conservatory in Chicago and taught at Christian college in Columbia, Mo. She has also studied at Columbia university in New York and at the University of Iowa. A resident of Iowa City for the past 20 years, she was a student of Jacques Jolas, piano instructor at Cornell college.

Imaginary Interview WITH WEALTHY J. WELLINGTON WHOOSH

"To what do you attribute your success?" we asked the great industrialist, J. Wellington Whoosh, as he paused in the process of endowing another college and a couple of art museums. He smiled reminiscently.

"I worked hard, banked my money, and always read the advertisements!"

Far-fetched? Of course. But it's a good-humored way of calling your attention to a serious fact: Intelligent reading of the advertising pages will save you time and money.

Here the best stores offer you their best values. Here they announce special sales and clearances. Shop here first.

Then you'll know exactly what you want, what it costs, and where it can be found. You can go and get it without wandering wearily through miles of aisles — and with the comforting assurance that every dollar is doing extra duty.

'30 Injuns' Make Teepee

Indian Project Of Elementary Students Shown to Parents

By ELIZABETH HALSTEIN
 To the hollow sound of a drum 30 little Indians danced around their self-made teepee yesterday afternoon.

Directed by their teacher, Alice Hyslop, the second graders of the university elementary school gave a performance for a group of parents, demonstrating what they are learning in social studies.

The Indian project, as well as the farming project in the first grade and the pioneering project in the third, represents a new trend in modern education, giving to the children from the very beginning opportunity for independent and creative work.

Still in the experimental stage, this unit system is not yet generally in use; but judging from the results in the elementary school, it appears to be a success.

Offering wide opportunity for social contacts, this system is of great importance in the individual development of the child's character.

It is based on personal activities, stressing the importance of clarifying through experience what the children are studying.

Bobby Ojemann, Susan Winter, Kathryn Freyder, Robert Newburn and the others on the program did not learn about Indian culture merely by reading books. Consequently they could give their audience, through songs and dances, recitations and demonstrations a lively picture of the life and customs of the Indians.

The children acted as hosts and hostesses, serving tea for their guests, after the performance.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO
 "WHERE DOES Miss Lemoine fit into the picture?" Mac demanded of Mr. Richard.
 "I didn't have a thing to do with it!" Toots insisted loudly.
 "She saw me take the jewels," Mr. Richard admitted reluctantly. "She was coming into the salon for something or other."
 "It's a lie!" screamed Toots, writhing in Mac's grasp. "He was crazy about me, and he couldn't get me any other way!"
 Richard stared at her: "Yes, I was crazy," he said, and his upper lip curled back from his teeth.
 The detective persisted. "Blackmailed you, didn't she?"
 Mr. Richard lit a fresh cigaret. "Poor kid! I guess he hated to admit he had played the fool for such a woman. Mac, however, to whom gold-digging blondes were an old story, helped him over the rough spots."
 "She made you hand over the emeralds or else, eh?"
 "Yes."
 "He's a liar!" shrieked Toots. "Can it, sister!" Mac shoved her into a chair. "You're up to your neck in this, and you know it! Now about this money." He went on. "How'd you get in such a mess, son?"
 "I—I gambled. I had to pay. I got the money from Beeman. He was going to come here and tell father."
 "Hum-m-m—did your sister know of this debt of yours?"
 "I had to tell her," the boy said, ashamed. "I had to tell someone."
 "And the telegram you sent Beeman?"
 "After the will was read and I found I was rich, I wired him I could pay."
 "I see. Now one more question. Why did you agree to the engagement between yourself and Miss Lemoine?"
 Mr. Richard looked more and more ashamed. "I—I was scared," he mumbled. "I wanted to buy back the emeralds, but she wouldn't sell them. When mother died," he choked suddenly, "well—I didn't see anything else to do."
 Chief Ellis entered the conversation. "How did you get mixed up with this blonde dame?" he wanted to know.
 "She—she was at the gambling place."
 "Where?"
 "In New York."
 "Go ahead!" scoffed Toots. "Go ahead and tell him how you begged me to marry you! How nuts

"you were about me!"
 "I thought she was on the level," the boy said with bitterness. "I didn't know she was a come-on girl."
 "Sap!" Toots' voice was scornful. "I knew you for a sucker the minute I laid eyes on you! A softie, that's what I called you! A softie!"
 Mac queried: "Did you invite Miss Lemoine to the Manor?"
 "I—I had to invite her. The—the man who runs the gambling joint sent her here to collect. Then I got the money from Beeman. He said I could have thirty days to pay. I didn't know he was crooked."
 "I see."
 Mr. Richard burst out: "I know I've been a fool! I know I committed a crime stealing! But, before God, that's the only crime of which I'm guilty! I'm willing to pay! I'm willing to take my medicine."
 "Sap!" Toots snarled. "Sap!"
 "Sure he was a sap!" Mac whirled upon her. "Better pickings next time, Miss Lemoine—if there is a next time. Hand over the emeralds."
 For a full second she glared venomously at the detective. Then she smiled, and without words, she dived into her dress and brought forth a small chamois bag. Mac pulled the drawstring and the emeralds, green and glittering, spilled to the table.
 "Listen, you!" Toots was not beaten yet. "I'm not taking the rap alone, and don't you forget that!" She pointed a crimson fingernail at Richard Witherspoon.
 "You won't have any fun where you're going either, big boy!"
 "Miss Lemoine!" McIntyre's tone was not nice. "I'm giving you an hour to pack and get out of here! If you're still around at the end of sixty minutes—well—you'll damn well wish you weren't!"
 "You said it!" added the chief, and smacked his fist for emphasis.
 "Get out?" For once Toots was flabbergasted. "You mean—out?"
 "I said 'out' and I mean 'out'!"
 "Sure." She scrambled to her feet. "I'm not anxious to stay!"
 And with a swish of her skirts she was gone.
 "You aren't going to arrest us?" Mr. Richard was incredulous.
 "Boy," said Mac gruffly, "we're investigating murder! If your father wishes to prosecute for theft, it's up to him."
 "Oh!" I thought he would burst into tears.
 "Take it easy," Mac said kindly. "And, remember, the next time you get to New York keep away from the night spots—and blonde come-on girls!"
 Mr. Richard laughed and blinked his eyes fiercely. "You don't have to tell me! I never want to see New York again!"
 "All right, son. Run along!"
 "And now, Miss Ritter," he said

sternly, when Mr. Richard had jubilantly departed, "there's a few things I'd like to ask you."
 "Oh! I blushed hotly. "What?"
 "About this time business. You say you left the salon at nine-thirty and returned at ten?"
 "Yes. It struck ten when Phil and I were in the pantry. I ran up the stairs as fast as I could and into the salon."
 "And Mrs. Witherspoon was dead when you got there?"
 "Yes."
 "And she was alive when you left?"
 "Why—I started. I had not thought of that possibility. "Why, I guess so!"
 "So she might have been dead before you left?"
 I knit my brows. "I don't see how. I was doing her nails and—oh—I broke off."
 "Oh, what?" Mac urged impatiently. "Now what have you suddenly remembered?"
 I said slowly: "I just remembered that while I was doing her nails Mr. Horace came into the lobby, and he startled me so that I cut a gash in Mrs. Witherspoon's finger."
 "Well?"
 "She didn't move when I cut her! She didn't move at all!"
 "Ah!" he said softly. "Ah!"

sternly, when Mr. Richard had jubilantly departed, "there's a few things I'd like to ask you."
 "Oh! I blushed hotly. "What?"
 "About this time business. You say you left the salon at nine-thirty and returned at ten?"
 "Yes. It struck ten when Phil and I were in the pantry. I ran up the stairs as fast as I could and into the salon."
 "And Mrs. Witherspoon was dead when you got there?"
 "Yes."
 "And she was alive when you left?"
 "Why—I started. I had not thought of that possibility. "Why, I guess so!"
 "So she might have been dead before you left?"
 I knit my brows. "I don't see how. I was doing her nails and—oh—I broke off."
 "Oh, what?" Mac urged impatiently. "Now what have you suddenly remembered?"
 I said slowly: "I just remembered that while I was doing her nails Mr. Horace came into the lobby, and he startled me so that I cut a gash in Mrs. Witherspoon's finger."
 "Well?"
 "She didn't move when I cut her! She didn't move at all!"
 "Ah!" he said softly. "Ah!"

Recorder Lists 277 Increase in Fishing Licenses Over 1937

Fishing and hunting licenses purchased in Johnson county last year increased 21 per cent and 27 per cent respectively over the preceding year, R. J. Jones, county recorder, reported yesterday.

Jones attributed the opening of Lake Macbride to fishing last summer responsible in the main for the purchase of 1,115 fishing licenses, 277 more than had been sold in 1937.

Combination fishing - hunting licenses also showed an increase with the purchase of 1,087, or 163 more than were purchased the preceding year.

Recorder Jones last year issued three yearly non - resident licenses and eight non - resident fishing licenses, good for only six days.

Hunters in Johnson county bought 292 more hunting licenses in 1938 than for 1937 when 790 were issued.

Among other licenses sold were 98 for resident trapping and two for non - resident hunting.

Members of the faculty advisory committee for the conference are Pearl Bennett Broxam, Dean Adelaide L. Burge, Frances Camp, Prof. Grace Ferguson, Helen Focht, Ethyl Martin, Mrs. Fred Pownall and Earl P. Strong.

In charge of arrangements for the conference was a student committee composed of Miss Ludens, general chairman; Hermina Brandt, C4 of West Liberty, secretary; Dorothy Gleysteen, A2 of Sioux City, hospitality; Miss Klingbeil, program; Betty Osnowitz, A3 of Sioux City, display tables; Susan Runner, A3 of Iowa City, luncheon; Louise Seeburger, A2 of Des Moines, invitations and registration, and Corrie Shrauger, publicity.

Workshop Instructor

John G. Neihardt, poet, above, author of "The Song of Three Friends" and other long poems, will take part in the writers' workshop on the campus during the 1939 summer session. Neihardt was formerly literary editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Authors--

of Hugh Glass, "Song of Three Friends" and "Song of the Indian Wars."

Wallace Stegner, Iowa novelist, winner of Little Brown's $2,500 prize for his "Remembering Laughter."

Ruth Suckow, Iowa novelist and winner of the Pulitzer prize for her Iowa novel, "The Folks."

Winifred Van Etten, the novelist who won Atlantic's $10,000 prize with her novel, "I Am the Fox."

Following close upon the heels of the announcement of the university's first festival of fine arts, scheduled as an integer of the summer session, this new writers' workshop places added emphasis upon education in the arts.

Prof. Wilbur L. Schramm of the English department, editor of American Prefaces, is chairman of the writer's project, a function of the school of letters.

The project will include three general sections, with Engle in charge of poetry, Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, handling prose, and Professor Schramm in charge of fiction.

Round tables, tentatively scheduled for 4 p.m. each Monday, will play an important part in the program, with at least one of the noted authors in the director's chair at each session.

In the field of writing a number of courses will be offered throughout the summer term.

Prof. Edwin Ford Piper, a member of the faculty of the university for more than 30 years, will offer an introductory course in poetry, in addition to his regular thesis seminar.

A course in magazine writing will be taught by Prof. Edward F. Mason in the school of journalism; Professor Schramm will instruct an introductory course in fiction.

Students will conduct their individual work and these under the direction of Professor Piper in poetry and fiction, Professor Schramm in fiction and Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, in literary criticism.

A series of forums on living American authors, to be broadcast by WSUI, are listed on the extensive program.

Jack Y. Bryan, instructor in creative writing at the University of Maryland, will direct the June 14 meeting on Sherwood Anderson.

Ernest F. Sandeen, Iowa instructor in English, will lead a forum on Carl Sandburg June 21. Wisner Kinne of the English department at DePauw university will handle a forum on Ernest Hemingway June 28.

Prof. Charles Charvat of Creighton university will lead the discussion of Willa Cather July 5. Charles Foster of the Iowa English faculty will lead the forum on Robert Frost July 12.

John Paul Abbott of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college is scheduled to handle the forum on William Faulkner.

Carlon Culmsee, director of the extension division at Brigham Young university, will lead the discussion of Erskine Caldwell, and Milford Wence of the University of Maine is in charge of the forum on Eugene O'Neill.

Plans are still pending for a series of lectures on contemporary writers of Europe, including such men as Joyce, Proust, Mann, Yeats, Shaw, Eliot and Hamsun.

The writers' workshop, with its affiliated activities in the school of letters and the English department, is the fourth innovation announced for the 1939 "greater" summer session.

Others are the festival of fine arts, July 16 to 22; the management course for industrialists, June 12 to 30, and the course in six-man football, July 3 to 14.

What Cheer, Ia., Mail Purloined At Local Depot

Two sacks of parcel post mail and a package were reported stolen from the platform of the Rock Island depot yesterday between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m., police officials declared today.

The mail was stolen from the truck while it was stationed at the depot platform. All the mail was addressed to residents of What Cheer.

Parties Meet Here To Elect New Officers

Republicans, Demos To Choose Leaders For Next 2 Years

Republican and democratic parties will meet in Iowa City today for the city conventions to elect officers for the next two-year period.

Democrats will convene in the council chambers in the city hall. Republicans will meet in the courtroom of the Johnson county courthouse. Both conventions are scheduled for 11 a.m.

There are no nominations to be made by the conventions; all the democratic candidates were nominated in the city primary, and the republicans did not enter a ticket.

Prof. Roy C. Flickinger is chairman of the present city republican central committee, and Charles Chansky is the acting chairman of the democratic central committee.

The state law provides that the city clerk will call the conventions after each city primary election to fill any offices where the candidates in the primary failed to obtain 35 per cent of the votes necessary for nomination.

Plumbing Law Proposed Here

City Council Gives Approval to Officials; Reviews Other Bills

A proposed plumbing ordinance was brought before the mayor and members of the city council at their meeting last night in the council chambers of the city hall. Represented by Attorney Will J. Hayek, the plumbers asked that it be added to the plumbing code.

The proposal was referred to a special committee to consider its provisions and to submit recommendations at a later meeting of the council.

A request by Frank Carson to rent the Airport restaurant, now vacant, was referred to the building committee which will meet Monday afternoon to consider the proposal.

Other action by the city council included the approval of general election officials, the passing of resolutions and the review of monthly bills.

Conditions Of 2 I.C. Youths Are Unchanged

Rowley, Hignett In University Hospital Following Accident

The conditions of Thomas O. Rowley, 19, Iowa City, and Forest E. Hignett, 22, C4 of Iowa City, who were both seriously injured in an automobile accident near West Liberty early yesterday morning, were reported as "not changed" late last night by university hospital attendants.

Rowley, who is suffering from fractures of the hip and jaw, a fractured shoulder bone, face lacerations and probable brain concussion, was reported in more serious condition than Hignett. Hignett is suffering from a fractured leg and severe face lacerations.

The pair was returning from Muscatine where Hignett had been visiting his wife. The car crashed into the rear of a stalled Rock Island Motor Transport company truck, officers said. The truck was driven by Frank J. Schriener, Davenport, it was revealed.

Iowa highway patrolmen and mechanics spent nearly two hours pulling the youths from the front seat of the car. The engine of the coupe had been pushed back into the passenger compartment.

Rowley is the son of Mrs. Marjorie J. Rowley, 928 Iowa avenue. After graduating from Iowa City high school two years ago, he attended the university for a year. This year he has been employed by a local service station.

Hignett lives with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Eunice Radloff, 405 S. Dodge street.

Van Gorp Suit Heard Here In District Court

Evidence in the divorce suit of Frances Van Gorp, Iowa City, against Wilfred Van Gorp, Pella, was heard in district court yesterday before Judge James P. Gaffney, and the case was taken under advisement.

Mrs. Van Gorp is seeking alimony of $50 a month and custody of a child, Beverly, 5. The couple was married at Pella April 15, 1933.

Attorney Arthur O. Leff is appearing for the plaintiff and Attorney Tunis Klein, Pella, for the defendant.

O. Boeck Will Show Puppets At Iowa Union

Orville Boeck of Davenport, who was a student in the university last semester, will present a puppet show Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the library of Iowa Union.

He will discuss the history of puppetry, and explain the process of making and manipulating a marionette. Students interested are asked to leave their names at the main desk of Iowa Union or with the Union librarian.

Prof. Earl Harper, M. Miller to Talk Over WHO Today

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts and Iowa Union, will be interviewed over station WHO, Des Moines, from 10:15 until 10:30 this morning on the coming Fine Arts Festival, July 13 to 17.

Professor Harper will be interviewed by Merle Miller of the WSUI staff.

Songsters! Deadline Today For Sing Entries

Today is the deadline for all campus organizations to file their entrance blanks for this year's University Sing. Dorothy Hoops, Currier hall, will receive those for the women's groups and Chandler Griffin, Beta Theta Pi, for the men.

Groups that have already registered for the contest are those representing East Lawn, Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Chi Omega, Russell house and Beta Theta Pi.

According to Margaret Kuttler, A2 of Davenport, general chairman, semi-finals will take place in Macbride auditorium March 27 and 29.

This year the percentage for each group has been reduced from 75 to 65 to encourage the smaller campus organizations to enter the contest. The selection of songs is also left to the individual group.

City Cool High Reading for Day Below Normal

Overcast skies yesterday held Iowa City thermometers at a high of 38 degrees, 8 degrees below normal. The low was 28 as compared to the normal reading of 25 degrees.

No precipitation was measured yesterday.

Mrs. William Hale To Fete University Newcomers Group

Emmett C. Gardner Speaks to Bureau

Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, talked on "New Small Grain Varieties" before members of the Scott township farm bureau at the Scott Community house last night.

Sam A. Hunter, township farm bureau director, presided at the meeting.

The acreage of all 1938 crops harvested in the United States was three and one-half per cent less than the 1923-32 average but the yield per acre was 11 per cent greater.

Equity Case Of Insurance Co. Dismissed Here

Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday dismissed the equity case of the Equitable Life Insurance company of Iowa against Wesley Ulich, et al, yesterday on request by the attorneys for the applicant.

The suit involved an accounting in connection with a real estate mortgage foreclosure.

Attorney Carl Adams of Des Moines and the law firm of Byington and Rate, Iowa City, appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney E. P. Korab represented the defendant.

Funeral Rites For L. Kenyon To Be Sunday

Collections Manager Of Iowa City Banks Died Yesterday

Funeral services for Louis L. Kenyon, 69, former bank employee who died at his home in Black Springs circle yesterday noon, will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Mr. Kenyon was manager of the collections department of the Iowa City State bank for many years and held the same position in the old Citizens Savings and Trust company for four years until 1931.

He was manager of a laundry which was located on Iowa avenue prior to his work in the two Iowa City banks.

Mr. Kenyon was a member of the Christian Science church and a charter member of the Iowa City Elks lodge.

Born in Iowa City on Aug. 30, 1870, Mr. Kenyon had lived his entire life here with the exception of two years.

For several years Mr. Kenyon taught music lessons on string instruments. He was noted for his ability to play string musical instruments.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kenyon; two nieces, Sarah Morsman and Mrs. Hal Hepburn, both of Oakland, Cal., and a nephew, Westall K. Morsman of Falls City, Neb.

Judge Gaffney Appoints Executor

Increase of Airplane Building Gives Mechanics More Work

Local Office Issues Call For Trained Workers To Register

Tremendous increased activity in the airplane manufacturing field was reported yesterday by Nyle W. Jones, manager of the local Iowa State Employment office. An inquiry has been created concerning the availability of skilled mechanics and machinists not presently employed, Jones revealed.

"The local employment office is interested in obtaining the names and addresses and a record of the experience of all skilled machinists and mechanics not now working at their trade," Jones said.

Jones explained that the office is particularly interested in machinists and mechanics who have had aircraft experience and is also interested in trained workers who are anxious to obtain supplementary training in aircraft mechanics.

All machinists and mechanics previously registered with the employment service whose applications are now inactive should renew their applications. Jones urged. Unregistered machinists and mechanics were requested by Jones to register at once at the local employment office.
