Iowa's House Avoids Voting On Liquor Bill

Drys Attach 'Local Option' Amendment To Pending Measure

DES MOINES, March 15 (AP)—An apprehensive Iowa republican house majority late today avoided a showdown vote on liquor, only to have the militant drys attach a "local option" amendment to the beer bill scheduled for consideration tomorrow.

Representative H. E. Morrow (R - Hopkinton) filed his house file No. 1, which provides for local option on beer and state liquor stores, as an amendment, to house file 400, the pending beer measure.

His action followed refusal by the house, in a 60-42 cleavage, to call up the Morrow measure for immediate consideration. Twelve democrats and 30 republicans voted for considering the local option measure and against placing the beer bill "under the gun" in the morning.

Morrow Warns Republicans
In a fiery speech, the Hopkinton representative warned the overwhelming republican membership that failure to face the liquor issue "fairly and squarely will prove the worst boomerang the republican party must face in the next election."

He criticized Speaker John R. Irwin and house committees for what he termed a "career of persecution for the bill." As soon as the speaker announced appointments to the house liquor control committee, Morrow said, "I knew the bill would be in unkindly hands."

The liquor committee, the rules committee and the steering committee all have "stalled" in efforts to keep the bill from reaching the floor, Morrow charged.

Dry Element
Threatening political reprisals to the bill's opponents, the representative, who is a Methodist minister, declared:

"If you refuse to do this and you go back home without taking action on the bill, you are going to have a livelier time in future elections than you have had yet."

"There is a dry element in this state that will outnumber those favoring licensed liquor. Remember, a dry vote counts just as much as a wet vote. And a lot of men here are going to appreciate those dry votes in the next election."

Democrats Use 'Call of House'
Sensing an opportunity to put their G. O. P. colleagues on the spot, five democrats immediately put a call of the house into the record on the option measure. The call, which would require every house member to be present during the debate and to vote, was signed by Representatives Johannes, Oscar Johnson (Hancock), Moore, Ross and Kohlhaas.

The call was withdrawn when republican house leaders succeeded in substituting the beer bill for the Morrow measure.

The Hopkinton legislator's bill would not allow sale of liquor by the drink and would allow counties to decide by popular vote whether they wanted to permit sale of beer and operation of state liquor stores within their boundaries.

Reich's Gain Aids Argentine
BUENOS AIRES, March 15 (AP)—Argentine trade officials said today Germany's absorption of Bohemia-Moravia would likely lead to increased Argentine sales to the expanding reich. They recalled that Germany's annexation of Austria a year ago brought larger orders from Germany.

FLOOD VICTIMS Relief Authorities Feed Families

DES MOINES, March 15 (AP)—Flour, cornmeal, rice, cereals, butter, oranges and grapefruit were sent to flood-stricken families at Hamburg today by the state emergency relief administration.

About 150 families still were being fed by authorities as efforts were made to clear their homes of debris left by receding waters of the Nishnabotna river.

Head of S. E. C. Hits Exchanges

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Sharply criticizing the recommendation of 16 exchanges for relaxation of federal regulation, SEC Chairman William O. Douglas tonight brought momentarily to a close the era of good feeling between the securities commission and the New York stock exchange.

He told reporters that the recommendation was "a phoney" and made it clear that the commission would fight to the last ditch to defend the status quo of present federal securities legislation.

His attack on the report of the committee of exchanges was similar in tone to his statement of November, 1937, in which he directed the New York exchange to clean house or face stricter SEC supervision.

The report was formulated by a committee headed by John Hancock, partner in the New York stock exchange firm of Lehman brothers. It urged the commission to define more clearly the difference between what an exchange spokesman termed "good" and "bad" manipulation. It also urged simplification of reports to the SEC and more freedom of trading for corporation officials and directors.

Such steps, it said, would result in a freer flow of needed capital into the securities market.

Before giving out a prepared statement Douglas discussed the committee's recommendations informally. His face flushed as he said:

"Just looking at the end result, if you try to measure this in terms of program of business recovery, it's a phoney."

Immediately several reporters asked if they might quote that remark directly. "Yes," Douglas replied, "you spell phoney—P—H—O—N—E—Y."

The prepared statement said in part:

"The chief proposal of this committee," the SEC chairman said in a statement, "is a relaxation of the law against market manipulation. Stripped of its legal phraseology, this proposal would bring the pool operator back into the market. This strikes at the very heart of stock market regulation."

Will Not Intervene
PARIS (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, with Germany's implied warning to keep out of the central European crisis, told French deputies in effect yesterday that France had no intention of intervening.

See Settlement In Fight For Relief Money

Compromise Expected Although Factions Are Still Reluctant

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Compromise talk was heard faintly in the house today in connection with the quarrel between members of congress and President Roosevelt over the latter's desire for an immediate supplemental appropriation of $150,000,000 for work relief.

It came, to the surprise of some, from highly placed republicans, who predicted that such a solution would eventually become necessary, but advanced no specific proposals as to the form it might take.

Meanwhile Col. F. C. Harrington, the relief administrator, appeared before the house subcommittee which is studying the relief problem and presented arguments to back up the president's request for more money. He produced figures to show just how the relief rolls would be cut in each state unless the additional appropriations were granted.

Harrington was asked many questions, principally by democratic members—most of the republicans are leaving the opposition to the present to democrats of the economy bloc.

One of the queries produced a suggestion which obviously had possibilities of affording a compromise basis later. It was that work relief be "staggered," that is, that needy persons be given employment for two or three weeks out of each month instead of for the full period.

A committee member said that Harrington "frowned the suggestion down," and asserted that if any staggering were to be done he would prefer a "rotation system," under which workers who have been on the rolls for long periods would be laid off and their jobs given for a time to people who have been certified as in need of relief, but for whom no place on the rolls has been found.

German Plane In Secret Long Flight To Brazil Disabled

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 15 (AP)—A German airplane making a secret long distance non-stop flight from Berlin to South America was reported forced down at sea today.

The report, picked up by the air France radio station on the island of Fernando de Noronha, said the crew was rescued.

At Natal, one of the points at which it had been expected the craft might land, it was reported the plane was forced down near Fernando de Noronha, 125 miles off Brazil's easternmost tip.

March Only Half Over

Idea of March Aid Hitler in Long List Of Accomplishments

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The idea of March have come again for Adolf Hitler.

By carrying out his coup against Czechoslovakia he added another to the long list of major achievements accomplished in the third month of the year.

The series began in the first year of his regime. It was in March, 1933, that he won the last elections under the Weimar republic and became undisputed dictator of Germany.

Two years later, in March, he repudiated the restrictions of Versailles, restored universal compulsory military service and announced a new German army of 12 corps numbering up to 500,000 men.

Britain, France and Italy met immediately at the Stresa conference, but found no concrete way to stop Hitler.

On March 7, 1936, Nazi Germany reoccupied the Rhineland. She obliterated the last military clauses of the Versailles treaty. She denounced the treaty of Locarno.

On March 11, 1938, Hitler took over Austria. And now, March, 1939, Hitler has assumed a protectorate over Czechoslovakia.

Officials, a little stunned by the speed of der fuhrer's move and by the lack of any definite reaction from Britain and France, had only this observation to make:

"March is still only half over."

Hungary Move To Enter New Land Resisted

BUDAPEST, March 15 (AP)—Hungarian troops marching northward to occupy Carpatho-Ukraine of the fallen Czechoslovak republic were being resisted tonight by artillery and machine gun fire, a foreign office spokesman announced.

The spokesman admitted that there had been Hungarian casualties, but said the number of dead was not known.

Trains and trucks were rushing more Hungarian troops into the region and tens of thousands of soldiers were on the move.

A general of the Hungarian staff said resistance was so vigorous northeast of Munkacs on the Hungarian-Carpatho-Ukraine frontier that "a field campaign may be necessary."

Nazis' Newest Move Changes Racial Policy

Seizure of Czechs Contradicts Autumn Speech of Fuehrer

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, March 15 — Adolf Hitler presented history with a contradiction when he took the Czechs of Bohemia and Moravia into the German Reich today as protectorates.

Just a little less than six months ago the fuhrer stood in Berlin's huge sports palace and shouted into a microphone: "Wir wollen gar keine Tschechen!"—"we don't want any Czechs at all!"

This exclamation, which was greeted with great applause, came during the crisis of last September which ended at Munich with the agreement annexing Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland to Germany.

In that speech, made Sept. 26, Hitler also said that his demand for the Sudetenland was "the last territorial demand I have to make in Europe."

But today's swift-moving events brought 7,000,000 Czechs under German rule despite the Nazi dictum that Germany is not interested in acquiring foreign territory in its population and seeks only to protect or bring back into the Reich Germans living outside German borders.

The new state of affairs was expected to bring about a reshaping of Nazi doctrine to the extent of separating the policies of the state and "Volkstrum," or nationality.

Government spokesmen freely admitted today that acquisition of the Czechs was an historical turning point and that nothing definite could be stated about how the new situation would fit in with accepted German racial theories.

From the statements of these sources it was indicated the Czechs will form an island of Czech culture within the Reich. They will have their own schools, probably with the requirement that German be taught, their own press and their own societies—in short, cultural autonomy.

On the other hand, the Czechs unquestionably will have to accept the same bans and regulations which apply to Germany.

Implied in the new scheme of things is the possibility that Hitler may be giving up his claim for colonies and instead fashioning the economic and political future of nazidom close to home.

Lee Predicts Revised Farm Administration

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15 (AP)—Senator Lee (D-Okla.), predicting today that the government eventually would have to find a substitute for the present farm program, advocated the domestic allotment idea.

In answer to a question from Representative Andressen (R-Minn), Lee told the house agriculture committee that if the law is permitted to operate long, "I'll not be back here and some of you won't."

He said the nation's farmers would grow more articulate in their opposition to the crop control scheme, especially since they have lost a large share of their foreign markets.

30 DAYS LATE Second Twin Arrives At Long Last

JASPER, Ind., March 15 (AP)—At long last William Joseph Scherle's twin brother arrived today at the home of Robert Scherle, a woodworker.

Mrs. Scherle on Feb. 15 gave birth to William Joseph. She remained in bed a few days, then took up her household duties and resumed care of her other three children.

William Joseph's twin, unnamed as yet, arrived shortly before noon today. The new born baby weighed seven pounds as contrasted with his twin's birth weight of five pounds.

Germany Will Benefit Little

Added Territory Is Poor in Products That Nazis Need

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—A high ranking official of the commerce department expressed the opinion today that Germany might benefit very little economically from her coup in Czechoslovakia.

The principal gain, he said, would come from acquisition of additional labor. He explained that transfer of the Sudetenland to the reich had created a serious unemployment problem in Czechoslovakia, but that Germany had a labor shortage due to the large number of persons employed in armament industries.

Czechoslovakia, the official continued, has little iron ore, copper and manganese, which are needed by Germany.

He said Germany would acquire factories, but that some of these would become competitors of German industries. Czechoslovakia's farms, he asserted, might produce more food for Germany.

Meanwhile, a state department official predicted that the United States' trade agreement with Czechoslovakia would have to be scrapped as the result of developments in Europe. He said that if Germany formed a customs union with areas of what formerly was Czechoslovakia, the products of those areas would have to pay increased duties upon entering the United States.

He explained that the areas would be on the same basis as Germany, which is denied tariff reduction benefits accorded countries having trade agreements with the United States.

The commerce department official said the events in Europe probably would have little effect upon United States trade with either Germany or Czechoslovakia, compared with the changes resulting from German annexation of Sudetenland.

The official pointed out that cotton, petroleum, copper and machinery were the principal Czech purchases in this country, virtually the same products that Germany buys here. Thus, if Germany completely absorbs Czechoslovakia, purchases here probably will not be curtailed much, he said.

English Trade Pacts Will Not Apply to Nazis

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain replied to Adolf Hitler's swift liquidation of Czechoslovakia today by excluding Germany, for the present, from Britain's drive for conciliation through trade.

Before a tense, uneasy house of commons the prime minister declared "I bitterly regret" the German fuhrer's action, which he described as a "shock to confidence, all the more regrettable since confidence was beginning to revive."

French Pursue Course Set In Mediterranean

PARIS, March 15 (AP)—France, startled by Nazi Germany's sudden eastward thrust, nevertheless still concentrated her energies today on preparing for a possible "next crisis" in the Mediterranean area with Italy as the challenger, backed by Berlin.

There was every indication that a German hint to Paris that France was expected to keep out of central European developments would be followed to the letter.

Berlin's implied warning came in the form of a note telling France that Bohemia and Moravia are now linked to Germany and was in a brusqueness that seemed to ask, in effect, "so what?"

The note to the foreign ministry informed France of the German action in taking remnants of Czechoslovakia under her "protection" and declaring that the German occupation was being carried out "in full accord with the government of Prague."

French officials made it plain even before the arrival of the German note that France was staying out of the Czech crisis. Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet explained to a secret meeting of the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies what France intends to do to meet German expansion.

Polish Apprehensive; Nazi Troops Coolly Received by Czechs

By LYNN HEINZLINGER
BERLIN, March 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler planted the Nazi flag on the ancient lands of the Bohemians and Moravians today, setting Germany again on the eastward course of empire.

A worried Europe asked what next. The fuhrer himself stepped over the former border of shattered Czechoslovakia into Bohemia during a snowstorm late today. His gray-clad soldiers already had taken over methodically the remnants of the little republic born of the World War and had entered newly independent Slovakia.

Accompanied by army and Nazi leaders, Hitler entered Prague.

Henlein Named Head
Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, commander of group three of the German army, took executive power over Bohemia into his hands on Hitler's orders. He named Konrad Henlein, Sudeten Nazi leader, as chief of Bohemia's civil administration. Henlein was instrumental in bringing about the German annexation of Sudetenland last October.

Farther to the east the destruction of the once-prosperous republic proceeded. Hungarian troops marched in sub-zero weather into Carpatho-Ukraine, easternmost of the three divisions of the old Czechoslovakia which apparently is to be incorporated into Hungary with Hitler's consent.

Hungarians Resisted
Late reports from Ungvar, Hungary, said that they were encountering resistance in their move toward Chust, Carpatho-Ukrainian capital, and that it might take several days to reach that city. Reports received at Warsaw, however, said Chust already had been occupied by the Hungarians.

The lightning-like absorption of the country proceeded without protest from other European powers. But chancelleries throughout the European continent closely followed the remaking of central Europe's map.

In Warsaw, especially, the historical changes brought apprehension despite achievement of a long-coveted common frontier between Poland and Hungary through obliteration of Carpatho-Ukraine. The changes gave Poland the appearance, on the map, of being partly swallowed by the German colossus.

Poland Menaced
Through a "protectorate" over Bohemia and Moravia and sponsorship of Slovakia's independence, Germany's contiguous border with Poland in effect was stretched eastward 200 miles.

The Polish press responded to the situation with a call for inner consolidation in the face of expanding Germany.

What satisfaction Poles received from seeing Hungarian troops advancing across Carpatho-Ukraine was colored with forebodings over what role Germany would play in that area.

Neither Britain nor France, however, evinced more than deep "regret" over developments. Both the western democracies were inactive during the swift-moving events which accomplished the end of the Czechoslovak republic.

No German Reaction
In Berlin, only heavily flagged streets and buildings indicated that stirring events were underway. The populace had been prepared for some new development by "Czech terror" stories printed in profusion in the controlled press, but there had been no inkling of new territory for the Reich.

A government spokesman, while saying that a protectorate over Bohemia and Moravia was a new form of government and would require special measures, gave a sketchy idea of the probable future of the sturdy Slavs who until the World War peace had long been a subject race.

One spokesman pointed out that Hitler himself was born in Austria under the old Hapsburg monarchy and would take particular pains to give Bohemians (See GERMANY, page 6)

The Czechoslovakia That Was!

CZECHOSLOVAKIA is no more! Yet there appears to be little active indignation on the part of the French, English and American people. The sentiment that was so strong in September when Hitler demanded Sudetenland, has not appeared in this crisis, which in reality holds far greater potential danger to the peace of the world than did the events leading up to the Munich crisis. There was undoubtedly greater danger of an immediate conflict in September, but if Hitler would prove to be satisfied with Sudetenland, the potential danger was small. Now it seems quite evident that Hitler is heading for the Ukraine, a move which holds dynamite.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

HAZING: Fraternities have long been vulnerable to attack on the one question of their programs for the initiation of new members. Chief contention of the fault-finders has been (and still is) that "hell week" activities are anti-educational and do not instill into neophytes true ideals of fraternalism. Along with the passing of the green caps for freshmen on many campuses, "hell week" is being banned by many fraternities and is being replaced with educational and work programs that are of real value to the fraternity and the individual alike.

An Achievement In Art

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S "St. Joan" opened at University theater last night, bringing in the excellence of the performance new laurels to the increasingly important arts division of the university. The selection of "St. Joan" for production alone is worthy of commendation, but the added skill of the actors, the director and the staging crews has demonstrated to the many who came great distances to see the production, that the quality of artistic attainment in Iowa is reaching new high levels.

America Plays Ball

POSTAGE STAMP designs have covered almost every possible subject and the choice of designs have, accordingly, often been curious. Tremendous as is America's interest in postage stamps and stamp collecting, there is one pastime that never will surpass it in interest—that is America's national sport—baseball. It is good news that Postmaster General Farley has announced a new stamp to be issued this year commemorating the centennial of American baseball.

Baseball enthusiasts, we hear, are pressing Farley with designs for the stamp. Some think it should carry the portrait of some celebrated player such as Christy Mathewson. Senator Mead of New York, former baseball pro, wrote to Farley as "one first baseman to another" and suggested it include in its design a ball, bat and glove with a view of a modern baseball diamond, maybe Yankee stadium.

The baseball season is just about here. This "new deal" in postage stamps should certainly meet with public approval!

The Amateur Performs!

AN UNUSUAL opportunity for high schools, junior colleges and community theater groups to express themselves in the art of the theater is provided each spring by the annual Iowa Play festival which is sponsored by the university dramatic art department.

Problems of acting, directing, staging, playwriting and educational aspects of dramatic art will be discussed at this year's festival at the end of this month. Here every Iowan who is interested in the theater from the aspiring high school student to the head of the woman's club drama group will receive information and encouragement.

In addition to the instruction provided by the university, the individual groups will present plays and receive criticism on their productions. This is another example of the outside opportunities and advantages which the university offers to those interested.

Tom Dewey in his public utterances thus far hasn't mentioned any of these rather important matters with which America's chief executive deals daily.

But maybe it doesn't matter. One of my professors has just told me that what's happening in Washington isn't, in his mind, "important." "I hardly ever see a paper," he said.

A handful of us were orating to each other over a coffee cup the other day.

I mentioned that professor, and we started talking about him. It got to the point where we asked ourselves, "Is he an educated man?"

We decided he wasn't. And we got out the yellow part of the university directory and marked off half the names there for that very reason. We half-way crossed out three-fourths of those left.

THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

ON A NUMBER OF THINGS: I'll be voting for the first time in 1940. That's why I'm following the brewing presidential campaign with avid interest. When I go to the polls, I want to know what I'm getting.

When we'd finished going over the faculty list, we had about 30 names still left. Those, in our collective opinion, were educated names.

Well, said we, "What is an educated man anyway?" And looking over the list we'd selected we found they had, scarcely a trait in common. Some of them were scientists, some liberal artists, some Ph.D.'s and one mere B.A. Most of them were aging, but there were two youngsters.

What had they that made us pick them out? Well, we couldn't decide. I still haven't.

When we set up our ideal university, we decided, we'll eliminate degrees and majors at one fell swoop. We'll probably not have many requirements.

We'll forbid the words "curricular and extra-curricular." And we'll let students come on the campus and shop around for awhile, inside and outside the classrooms, in the professors' homes and the laboratories, in the dormitories, over beer mugs and in the libraries.

And when those who've come from the Iowa farms and its towns and from New York and Omaha and the rest decide they're educated, we'd gather a bunch of wise men in a room and ask the ones who think they're educated to drop in.

We'd look over what they've done; we'd talk to a few folks who ought to know what they're thinking and if. And then we'd ask the candidates themselves a few questions before we decided.

When we found an educated man, we'd let him go. We might give him a degree or so. But, after all, an educated man doesn't need a B.A. degree.

TUNING IN

By Loren Hickerson

TALLULAH BANKHEAD ... will appear tonight in a dramatic role on Kate Smith's Thursday night program. Time: 7 o'clock. Network: Columbia.

Therefore, two girls from the south who made good in a big way, Miss Bankhead and Kate Smith, will get together on Kate's variety hour.

Miss Bankhead will step from the stage of her greatest dramatic success "The Little Foxes," which recently opened on Broadway. She will be heard in a microphone adaptation of one of the most famous roles of the theater, adapted for the microphone, instead of her current Broadway role.

This will make the second "southern reunion" staged by the Songbird of the South on her program in as many weeks. Recently she played hostess to Helen Hayes, an old acquaintance of childhood days in Washington, D. C. Miss Bankhead will be making a return engagement to the program; she helped Kate open her series for her current sponsor nearly two years ago.

The singing mistress-of-ceremonies will observe the eve of St. Patrick's day by singing the Irish ballad, "Macushla." At a special musical feature, she will introduce a new song, "Little Genius." Jack Miller and his band will offer a special arrangement of "Nola."

Turning from drama and music to comedy, Kate will turn the microphone over to the Aldrich family, the madcap antics of Ezra Stone as Henry, who finds himself in bed with the measles. Abbott and Costello, the Mopeville maniacs, will endeavor to get the best of Ted Collins.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Starting the New Year right, or True Love Will Find a Way: Jackie Coogan and Betty Grable; Stan Laurel and Illiana. History repeats itself: 1932—Frank Mellop of Pineapple, Ala., leaves gas station for movie career; 1939—Dana Andrews of Houston, Tex., embarks on movie career after apprenticeship at a Valley gas station.

"Our mother, the stage" — as Helen Hayes called it a few years ago in her clarion call to movie actors to come back—is still getting along without most of the movie actors who keep talking about going back. As Helen Hayes, will get John Garfield and Franchoise, Fredric March and Katharine Hepburn and J. Edward Bromberg. March and Hepburn tried it before, to their sorrow, but are still game. Most movie stars—who keep talking about the stage—insist on a critic-proof vehicle. Paul Muni, who hasn't found one, is still in our midst. And wasn't it Muni who, couple of years back, was all set to shake off the Hollywood gold dust? Majority of actors, if they'd only admit it, are so thankful to be free of that "stage glamor" and live in a house they'd have to be dragged back to Broadway by wild horses—or lapsed options.

That splurge campaign on "The Great Waltz" may not have been so far wrong. Eleanor Powell says the three-quarter-time is coming back. And Dave Dreyer (RKO music department head) says swing will be a goner before stockholders ought to pay taxes on their dividends. But they don't declare dividends—they keep their tax on unearned income. The taxation scheme is to levy on them anyway. The notion is to jar 'em loose.

The drawback is that the corporations may need reserves for further development purposes. This thought obviously is percolating through Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's brain. And the administration undoubtedly is thought of ahead of Secretary Morgenthau. It doesn't seem probable that it occurred to him in advance of the White House. All of which bears out "appeasement" rumors. Tariff for revenue only? It looks like it.

That monster of Frankenstein's is going to have a tough time escaping this time out. He's to be burned in a sulphur pit—but don't count on it. His first death by fire was only temporary—he was miraculously rescued in time for the sequel.

There is probably no ill to which flesh is heir which has had so many remedies suggested for it as the condition known as athlete's foot. This itchy, blistering eruption, which occurs upon the feet of those both with and without physical prowess, is sometimes very resistant to treatment. When one of your friends has cured himself in a day or two, he naturally feels that the treatment he has used will work for anyone, any time, and goes around touting it to all others afflicted. Sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't.

Thus, the list of remedies used on this pesky thing is long; it includes iodine, mercuriochrome, salicylic acid, gasoline, ammoniated mercury, formaldehyde, X-rays and other rays, and a few dozen other things. The fact seems to be that the fungus which causes it has many varieties, and what kills one variety does not do anything to the other. For that reason a comprehensive program, such as is issued by Dr. J. A. Mealey, of the Veterans Administration at Boston, is worth repeating.

The first point to be stressed is absolute cleanliness. The feet should be entirely free from perspiration and extremely clean at all times. Soap and water should never be used, however; instead, warm olive oil is used to clean the feet. The patient should own ten pairs of cheap white cotton socks and three pairs of shoes so that one pair can be worn for one day only. The patient's feet are soaked for 20 minutes in a solution containing two tablespoonfuls of sodium hypsulphite in two quarts of water.

Exposed to Rays: The feet are then thoroughly dried and exposed to the actinic rays for a period of five to seven minutes at a distance of about eighteen inches. While the feet are thus exposed, the toes are separated so that the rays can penetrate thoroughly into the spaces between and under them. After exposure to the actinic rays, the feet are thoroughly dusted with Epi powder and the patient instructed to put on clean socks. Epi powder is a carefully-compounded semi-anhydrous dusting powder of desiccated sodium thiosulphate, enhanced by the synergistic action of thymol and an acceptable base of starch and borax acid, with oil of abstinium as a deodorant. This is similar to the powder which we recommended a month or two ago, which consists of salicylic acid five grams, menthol two grams, camphor eight grams, boric acid 50 grams and starch 35 grams.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendenning, M. D.

It is a generally recognized principle of treatment that when there are ten or 15 strongly-recommended treatments for a disease, that is almost positive proof that none of them is really any good. There is probably no ill to which flesh is heir which has had so many remedies suggested for it as the condition known as athlete's foot. This itchy, blistering eruption, which occurs upon the feet of those both with and without physical prowess, is sometimes very resistant to treatment. When one of your friends has cured himself in a day or two, he naturally feels that the treatment he has used will work for anyone, any time, and goes around touting it to all others afflicted. Sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't. Thus, the list of remedies used on this pesky thing is long; it includes iodine, mercuriochrome, salicylic acid, gasoline, ammoniated mercury, formaldehyde, X-rays and other rays, and a few dozen other things. The fact seems to be that the fungus which causes it has many varieties, and what kills one variety does not do anything to the other. - Red Reserves
- Joost a Rookie
- May Play Third

TAMPA, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Last year his team carried the reserves but this year Skipper Bill McKechie of the Cincinnati Reds plans to be prepared for any eventualities. The reserves will carry his team, if necessary. The Reds were handicapped by lack of capable second-stringers in the 1938 campaign, and this fact, combined with Patcher Lee Grissom's misfortunes and a defensive weakness in the infield, ruined whatever pennant chances existed.

Red Reserves
McKechie can't do much about Grissom but he has a strong hope that he will get on base so he won't stray, but he is trying to bolster the reserve strength and remedy that defensive weakness. He's succeeding with the reserves, anyway, but whether the infield will be a bright spot in the defense remains to be seen.

"I'd say if there is any improvement this year it will be in our reserves," ventured the baseball boss with the college professor appearance.

On the records, anyway, it looks like the Reds' second wave will be more potent, and down here where the sun shines every day and twice on Sunday the boys are showing up well. What they will do later is what we would with great originality term a question mark.

Among the players counted upon to fill any improprium vacancies are outfielder Stan Bordagaray, just about the best pinch hitter in the league with the Cardinals last year; Leslie Scarsella, regular Red first baseman two years ago and with Newark last year; Eddie Joost, infielder from Kansas City, and C. Nolen Richardson, infielder who was with the team the latter part of last year.

Joost a Rookie
Joost is a triple-threat man; playing second, short or third with equal skill. He is a clever fielder but whether he can hit in fast company remains to be seen. It is his third trip up the ladder. He was with the Reds briefly in 1936 and 1937.

Second and third base still are problems. McKechie might introduce Linus Frey today as his second baseman, and tomorrow it might be Mr. Frey, my third baseman. Frey tosses his glove down at shortstop so it will be handy for whichever position he might be assigned.

Frey played second base last year and there was no complaint about his hitting. He's a great clutch hitter. But he had been playing shortstop, and the shift to second did not work out so well. McKechie indicates he will keep him at third, where Lewis Riggs, regular last year; Don Lang, a part timer last year; and Charley English, from Los Angeles, also are trying. In fact, sometimes they are very trying, and the position continues a headache for Skipper Bill.

May Play Third
If Frey comes through at third it would leave Joost with an excellent chance for the second base.

Summed up, and taking into consideration possible infield weaknesses, the Reds have speed, power and pitching, and if that shoe salesman who is working on Ernie Lombardi can convince him those shoes will make him four steps faster to first base—wow.

CLINTON, DIAGONAL OPEN STATE CAGE MEET TODAY

Sac City Five Highly Rated By Experts

Creston, Roosevelt Attract Attention In Practice Sessions

DES MOINES, March 15 (AP)—Basketball fans from all parts of Iowa tonight moved into Des Moines for the opening round of the state championship tournament at the Drake fieldhouse tomorrow.

Many of the early arrivals were out at the fieldhouse today watching the teams get in their final practice sessions. Sac City's highly regarded Indians, Creston and Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids were among those to attract particular attention.

Creston and Roosevelt will clash tomorrow afternoon in one of the feature games of the opening round. Sac City also gets into action in the afternoon, having drawn Webster City for a 3:10 p.m. battle.

Diagonal, the 1938 winner, and Clinton's crack defensive club will start the annual show at 10 a.m. and the Maroons rated no better than an even choice against the eastern Iowa challengers.

Lenox, a southeastern Iowa team, and Hubbard's fast break experts will meet in the second morning contest.

Mason City, the 1935 champion, and Newkirk, a class B team that hasn't been licked all winter, will open the afternoon show.

Three games are on the night schedule, Marshalltown and McGregor getting together in the feature attraction at 8:10 p.m. Kalona and Ellsworth are matched in the first night contest and Rathbun and Ute will close the firing.

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—New York university's two-mile relay team, the I. C. 4-A titlists, nosed out the Fordham quartet of half-milers by an eye lash last night in the opening event of the second battle against the stop watches on Dartmouth's speedy indoor track.

Iowans Jinx to Minnesota Try for Sixth Straight Win Over Gophers In Saturday Dual Meet

Iowa's winning of consecutive victories over Minnesota in track is something like the Minnesota feat of straight wins over Iowa in football. Hawkeyes will try to make it six straight in the indoor meet at Minneapolis Saturday. Last defeat back in '32.

In individual events, The Teufel twins have scored 24 points for Iowa in Big Ten championship track meets. Fred leads with 15, including 9 points in three events outdoors last year.

Carl, however, has the only gold medal. Hawkeye basketball players in baseball: "Hooker" Hohenhorst is a pitcher who won his letter last year. Angie Anapol is trying for third base. Coach Otto Vogel is proud of his all-star outfield. Co-Captains Art

All of the Iowa golf team's competition is concentrated in the month of May. Seven conference foes, Carleton, and the Big Ten meet. First four opponents to be met on the home links.

Iowa baseball, track, and golf teams have co-captains, first time so many Hawk squads have adopted the plan. It's Manush-Vogt in baseball, F. Teufel-Graves in track, Skow-R. Hoak in golf.

Bob Sandler Is Elected President Of 'I' Men's Club

Bob Sandler, veteran tennis star, was elected president of the Campus "I" Men's club last night at the organization's meeting at the fieldhouse. Fred Hohenhorst was elected to the position of vice president; Bill Hoak, secretary and Jim George, treasurer. Social, publicity and vigilance committees were also selected during the meeting and Dick Evans was appointed sergeant at arms.

In addition to the election of officers, freshman baseball players were given green caps, a mark of distinction as only freshman athletes are permitted to wear them.

Bill Frey, Hawkeye trainer, spoke briefly to the freshmen, encouraging them to show enough "guts" to get out and earn major awards.

Social committee: Ray Walters, Bob Hobbs, Vincent Finazzo, Bill Vogt; publicity: Fred Hohenhorst and Fred Teufel; Vigilance: Russell Busk; sergeant at arms: Dick Evans.

Will Broadcast All Washington's Home Baseball Games

GERMANTOWN, Md., March 15 (AP)—Time did a back flip today as Walter Johnson, one of baseball's immortals, packed a couple of suitcases for spring training.

The big pitcher who won more games than any man in the American league's history wasn't packing for a comeback, he was answering the call of the radio—something that baseball parks didn't have when he was hanging up a lifetime record of 113 shutouts.

The Big Train is going to be a radio announcer. "It's going to be sort of funny," he drawled, "sitting up there on top of the stands in that little box talking about the boys."

There was bright light in the big fellow's eyes as he got his grips ready for a swing through the Grapefruit league to learn about the teams.

"Yes," he said, "it's mighty nice to get back into baseball again. I reckon I'm a lucky fellow."

Beginning April 17 when President Roosevelt throws out the first ball for the opening game of the season between the world champion Yankees and the Senators, Walter will start broadcasting the Washington games.

He isn't cocksure about it. He never was. A more modest athlete never lived. "Play-by-play isn't so easy," he said with a grin.

"I suppose I'll muff a lot of things, but maybe I'll catch on." Walter knows he doesn't have a deep dramatic voice. He realizes he isn't glib.

"You know," he said, "I'm still a country boy. This radio's a city thing."

Gridders Don Full Uniform

Spring practice began to really look like football yesterday as Coach Eddie Anderson's squad appeared for the first time in full grid regalia. The squad had been working out previously in sweat suits, using only the cleated shoes of the regular football uniform.

However, there has been no contact work as yet, the drills being devoted to learning the new system and to timing, several complete teams working separately. With workouts scheduled daily it is expected that the men will be in fair condition by the time weather allows outdoor practice.

Net Candidates Begin Practice For Schedule

Six Varsity Berths Open as Only Two Veterans Return

Iowa tennis players start practice this week in preparation for the coming season's competition. Playing at the fieldhouse indoor court, both veteran performers and varsity aspirants will swing into pre-season practice.

Competition for the six varsity berths will be unusually contested this year as only two major letter winners have returned. Capt. Claude Douthett and Bob Sandler, last year's award recipients, are the only varsity sureties, but the remaining field has excellent potential ability.

Four strong netsters have come up from last season's freshman team. The numeral winners, John Paulus, Bob Wollenweber, Bill Kulp, and Bob Sieh, demonstrated good form during fall practice and should aid Coach Arthur Wendler in forming a potent Hawkeye team.

Other favorable prospects who have reported thus far and who will engage in competition for the remaining varsity positions are: Stephen Fouche, Bud Kraushaar, Clifford Carle and Leo Kerford. The team will remain indoors until weather permits use of the outdoor clay courts.

The season's schedule—Purdue at Iowa, April 28; Illinois at Urbana, May 6; Minnesota at Iowa, May 8; Chicago at Iowa, May 12; Northwestern at Iowa, May 13; Wisconsin at Madison, May 20; Conference championship meet at Chicago, May 29.

Borican Sets New Half-Mile Indoor Record

HANOVER, N. H., March 15 (AP)—John Borican, speedy Elberon, N. J., Negro, set a new indoor record tonight for the half-mile event by leading Bob Unangst of Dartmouth, who had a 95-yard handicap, by 10 yards while being clocked in 1:49.8 on Dartmouth's lightning fast boards.

Borican, who recently set a new indoor mark of 2:39 for the two-thirds mile event, and whose last Saturday indoor record-smashing performance of 2:08.8 for the "1000" has been disputed because he was charged with beating the gun, erased the 11-year indoor half-mile mark of 1:51.4 made by Lloyd Hahn. Borican sped over the same surface on which Glenn Cunningham turned in his amazing 4:04.4 mile last year.

Borican's feat was .014 slower than the fastest half-mile ever run, the 1:48.4 outdoor performance of Sydney Wooderson of England. The latter still awaits official approval from the international amateur athletic federation. The accepted world's outdoor record is Elroy Robinson's 1:49.6, made in New York in 1936.

Four Falls In Mat Meet Muhl Pins Opponent In Record Time Of Semi-Final Round

Six matches, four of them won by falls, brought wrestlers in the all-university tournament through the semi-finals yesterday. Only one semi-final match, set for tomorrow, remains before the finals next week.

Quickest fall on yesterday's card, and probably a record, came when Robert Muhl, Quadrangle 145-pounder, plastered Lee Blum of Sigma Nu to the mat in exactly 44 seconds.

The other three falls, while not quite so sudden, came early. Warren Newell of Sigma Nu pinned Rex Hahn, the town 136-pound entry, in 2:07, while Arthur Johnson of the Quad took his 175-pound match from Charles Hotie of Kellogg, by scoring a fall in 2:12. The remaining fall saw Harley of the Quad advance to the 128-pound finals by tossing Moser of Jefferson in 2:11.

In the other two matches, Dick McMahon of the Quad outpointed Bob Scott, Whetstone 155-pounder, and William Thomas of the town division outpointed Keel of Gables in a 145-pound match.

Bill Berryhill, town 165-pounder, and Murphy, Sigma Nu's 175-pound entry, won by defaults. The match between Kerstein of the Quad and Bush of Chesley was postponed until Friday. Bush and Kerstein are 136-pounders.

This afternoon, boxing again takes the center of the intramural stage, with seven bouts scheduled, three in the fraternity division, two in the co-op league, and two among the town battlers.

Fraternity division
128 - pound class: Bill Stuart (Phi Kappa Psi) vs. William Garland (Sigma Nu).
165 - pound class: R. Shepard (Phi Kappa Psi) vs. Bob Wells (Beta Theta Pi).

Co-op dorm division
165 - pound class: E. Chesley (Grover) vs. C. Woodcock (Chesley).

175 - pound class: Ervin Goodman vs. George Falk.

Hawk Trackmen Leave Tomorrow For Minnesota

Coach George Bresnahan, unlucky throughout most of the indoor season with his Hawkeye tracksters, picked an unlucky number yesterday when he nominated 13 men to make the trip to Minneapolis tomorrow. The Iowans meet the Gophers in the Minnesota fieldhouse Saturday afternoon.

Only a dozen men, however, are expected to make the trip as Don Parrish, understudy to Whitney Roberts in the pole vault, has been ill with influenza and, in all probability, will not be sufficiently recovered to leave with the team.

The squad will leave Iowa City at 12:50 p.m. tomorrow accompanied by Bresnahan, who only recently recovered from a flu attack. The team will have dinner in Rochester, Minn., arriving in Minneapolis sometime tomorrow night. They will stay at the Hotel Andrews in Minneapolis.

While the varsity prepares for its Gopher invasion the freshman tracksters have been competing in dual postal meets with two other frosh aggregations, Michigan and Ohio State. Field events were the order of the day yesterday while track events will be run off today.

A keen interest will be taken in the results of the Michigan meet as the Wolverine varsity are Big Ten champions and their chances to repeat next year depend largely upon the ability of their present crop of new men.

The 13 men nominated for the Gopher meet, which will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday, are the following:

Ed Wiggins, Carl Teufel, Fred Teufel, Milton Billig, Ed McColister, John Collinge, Ed Elliott, Melvin Erickson, Whitey Roberts, Bill Leuz, Jim Wilson, John Graves and Don Parrish.

NEWS BRIEFS FROM MAJOR LEAGUE CAMPS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 15 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers closed their five-game intra-squad practice series today with the regulars beating the recruits, 6-5. Tommy Bridges and Floyd Giebell, Evansville recruit, worked for the regulars. Bridges gave three singles and one run in four innings, while Giebell allowed four runs and seven hits. George Gill and Roxie Lawson pitched for the youngsters. Greenberg and York each got three hits. The exhibition schedule starts with Cincinnati at Tampa Friday.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 15 (AP)—President Clark Griffith of the Senators — up and about after a bad cold — admitted today he might make a trade or two before the baseball season starts.

Griffith is worried about his outfield and pitching. He knows Outfielders Case, Wright and Estelita can hit, but can they field? He also has too many left-handed swatters.

NEW ORLEANS, March 15 (AP)—Oscar Vitt, Cleveland

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas, March 15 (AP)—Pushing over six runs in a big sixth inning, the St. Louis Browns made it three straight over the Phillies here today, 11-0. Four of the six tallies were unearned and came after two were out.

NEW ORLEANS, March 15 (AP)—Oscar Vitt, Cleveland

The Phils rallied in the ninth to score two runs, the game ending with the tying run on base. Harland Clift belted a homer for the Browns with two on in the first. Norman Deweze hit one for the Phils with one on in the same inning.

Eulalia Klingbeil Elected Pres. Of University Women's Assn. At Joint Election Yesterday

Lucille Mullen Heads EWCA, While WAA Elects Armstrong

Eulalia Klingbeil, A3 of Postville, was elected to the presidency of the University Women's association, Lucille Mullen, A3 of Davenport, was elected to head the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year, and Isabelle Armstrong, A3 of Hutchinson, Kan., was elected president of the Women's Athletic association in the university elections yesterday in Iowa Union. The three elections were conducted jointly in Iowa Union with the polls closing at 6:15 p.m.

EULALIA KLINGBEIL

Miss Klingbeil defeated Ruth House, A3 of Iowa City, for the office. Miss House will serve as the vice-president of the group. Beverly Barnes, A2 of Sioux Falls, S. D., defeated Beth Jane Richards, A2 of Moline, for the office of secretary of U. W. A. and Genevieve McCulloch, A3 of Cedar Rapids, was elected treasurer over Eileen Henderlider, A2 of Onawa.

ISABELLE ARMSTRONG

Jean Livingston, A1 of Iowa City, will be the freshman representative for U. W. A. Harriet Hoerner, A1 of Dubuque, was the defeated candidate.

Charline Saggau, A3 of Denison, defeated for the presidency of Y. W. C. A., becomes the new vice-president.

Helen Ries, A3 of Iowa City, was elected treasurer of the group over Geraldine Genung, A2 of Glenwood. Ruth Subotnik, A3 of Cedar Rapids, will become the new secretary as she defeated Mary Frances Arduser, A3 of Cedar Rapids, for the office.

Miss Armstrong won the office in W. A. A. from Helen Poulson, A3 of Iowa Falls; Louise Seeburger, A2 of Des Moines, will become the vice-president of the association, defeating Virginia Padovan, A2 of Numa.

Annabelle Hinkle, A2 of Valparaiso, Ind., was elected treasurer of W. A. A. over Phyllis Whitmore, A2 of Batavia, and Wilma Kerr, A2 of Washington. Arlene Winters, A2 of Downer's Grove, Ill., will be the new secretary since she defeated Mildred Ross, A3 of Oelwein, for office.

Methodist Party To Carry Spirit Of St. Patrick

"Wearing of the Green" will be the theme of the St. Patrick's party of the Wesley Foundation tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Methodist student center.

Everything that is Irish will prevail. Shamrocks and clay pipes will be used in the decorative theme.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee headed by Lorraine Nostes, A1 of Newton, Emelyn Hasty, A1 of What Cheer, and Eunice Burket, A1 of Akron.

Club Cabaret Songstress

Appearing as vocalist with Herbie Holmes and his orchestra when they play for Club Cabaret March 31 will be Nancy Hutson (above), Miss Hutson, a native southern songstress, will present specialties and refrains to Holmes' rhythm arrangements.

Also providing entertainment will be the Three Rhythm Rebels, the Four Levee Loungers, the glee club, Gene Babbitt, Lloyd Handling and Arno Lewis. For this "top hat and tails" dinner dance at which Union Board entertains annually, dinner and dancing will be in true cabaret style. The formal affair will take place in the main lounge of Iowa Union from 7:30 to 12 p.m.

Tickets are now available at the main desk of Iowa Union. Each person may purchase tickets for his table or a party of eight couples, with reservations limited to 300 couples.

Ten Women Scholars Given $13,750 in Fellowship Awards

A 25-year-old astrophysicist in the scholastic field, Dr. Gallagher said, "Many of these young women have an amazing list of publications to their credit. This is a new thing. Even a decade ago, you didn't find them doing it. They used to wait for practical experience to produce. Now it is almost customary to go directly to graduate work from college."

Six of the 10 women winning fellowships were under 30 years of age and in the list of 10 alternates, six were under 30.

Dr. Gallagher also cited the fellowships awarded in the fields of zoology, astronomy, mathematics and psychology as examples of women's work in technically scientific fields.

Dental Party Show Planned

Tap dancing, singing will be featured at lengthy intermission.

A review of singing and dancing has been planned for intermission at the Apollonian Frolie, annual dance for dental and pre-dental students, Saturday night.

Vette Kell and his orchestra will play for the festivities in the river room of Iowa Union from 9 to 12 p.m.

Everett Hugan of Epworth, Loren Huber of Lanesboro, Paul Lundell of Webster City, and Robert Katschkowsky of Elkader, all D2, a quartet that has appeared at former dental parties, will sing several songs. Mr. Katschkowsky will give a specialty of the Swedish version of "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree."

A trio which has appeared before radio audiences of WHO and KRNT in Des Moines will also sing. The group includes Mrs. Virginia Herman, A3 of Des Moines, Betty Sargent, A1 of Des Moines, and Marguerite Sargent of Des Moines.

Twelve-year-old Bruce Knowles, tap dancer of Iowa City, will do a tap dance.

The intermission will be at 10:15 p.m.

The party is being planned by freshman dental students and chaperons will include members of the dental faculty.

Women Voters League Will Discuss County Government Monday

Proteins Should Form Foundation Of Well-Balanced Lenten Season Menus

With the season of Lent upon us again we are finding that it isn't as easy to plan meatless menus as it may seem at first.

The important consideration is that the meals be all well balanced for food values with the same high grade protein food as a foundation for the vegetable salad and dessert.

Egg and cheese dishes really come into the limelight at this time. Either one furnishes adequate protein protection. They may be served together to enhance the flavor of each other end make a doubly interesting dish.

Cheese cookery is easy if you know the tricks. No one wants a rubbery mass of cheese to bite into in a sandwich or scalloped dish. Just remember that cheese is always cooked at a low temperature and when properly cooked it is very digestible and highly nutritious.

Where recipes call for grated cheese they usually mean freshly grated cheese. The very dull fluffy grated cheese is good to sprinkle on top of soups or creamed dishes but for omelets, souffles, casserole dishes and sandwiches use a fresh piece and grate it yourself.

Scalloped Egg and Cheese
1 1-2 cups dry ground bread crumbs.
6 hard cooked eggs cut in slices.
1 cup grated cheese.
2 cups white sauce.

Arrange in alternating layers in a buttered casserole, bread crumbs, eggs, cheese, and white sauce. Make white sauce by melting three tablespoons butter and two cups milk. Stir until thickened and season to taste. In each layer of crumbs place small bits of butter and seasonings of salt and pepper. The last layer should be crumbs mixed with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Serve in casserole with tomato sauce made of seasoned and thickened tomatoes.

Lenten Sandwich
8 slices white buttered toast.
16 stalks canned asparagus.
6 hard cooked eggs.
8 stuffed olives.
2 cups medium white sauce.
1 cup grated Old English or American cheese.

Chop the egg and olives together and moisten with mayonnaise. Use as filling for the toast sandwiches. Make sauce by melting one fourth cup butter, adding one fourth cup flour and two cups milk. When thickened add grated cheese and season with salt, paprika and one fourth teaspoon dry mustard. Lay one sandwich on each plate, pour the sauce over it and lay two stalks of asparagus across the top of each. Serve hot at once. Serves four.

And here are some more Lenten dishes that may be used to fill in those menus for meatless days that seem to come so often for the busy housekeeper. Both are baked so that they may be prepared early in the afternoon and then popped into the oven in time before dinner without fuss and bother at the hour when the family begins coming in and sniffing around the kitchen to see what's to be had for dinner.

Salmon Souffle
4 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
1-3 teaspoon salt.
1-4 teaspoon paprika.
1-4 teaspoon celery salt.
1 1-2 cups milk.
3 egg yolks.
3 egg whites.
1 cup salmon.
1 hard-cooked egg, diced.
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle.

1 teaspoon mince parsley.
Melt butter. Blend in flour thoroughly and pour in seasonings and milk. Cook slowly and stir constantly until thickened. Add yolks and beat two minutes. Blend in the remaining ingredients mixing lightly. Fill a buttered baking dish two-thirds full. Bake one hour in a pan of hot water in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees). Unmold carefully onto a warm platter.

Corn Pudding (Main Meal Dish)
2 cups canned corn.
1-2 cup cracker crumbs.
2 tablespoons butter melted.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1-4 teaspoon paprika.
1 teaspoon minced celery.
1-4 teaspoon minced onion.
2 hard cooked eggs diced.
3 eggs beaten.
2 cups hot cheese.
1-2 cup hot milk.

Mix ingredients and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake one hour in a slow oven (325 degrees).

3rd Iowa Pharmaceutical Symposium Opens This Morning

S. U. I. Plays Host to State Pharmacists

Druggists Will Hear 11 Speakers During Two Days of Meeting

The third annual pharmaceutical symposium for the pharmacists of Iowa opens in Iowa City this morning and will continue through today and tomorrow. The meeting is under the auspices of the University of Iowa college of pharmacy, with the Iowa Academy of Pharmacy and the Iowa Pharmaceutical association as co-sponsors.

The two-day program will feature 11 speakers, 10 of whom are representatives of manufacturing agencies cooperating with the college of pharmacy in presenting a varied program. Each speaker will be followed by an open discussion led by Iowa pharmacists. There are 23 discussion leaders.

In addition to the speaking program, a second annual meeting of the Iowa Academy of Pharmacy will be held at which new officers will be elected. The last evening of the symposium will be the conferring of fellowships in the Iowa Academy of Pharmacy. Fellowships will be awarded to all Iowa pharmacists taking part in the program as discussion leaders.

About 200 Iowa druggists are expected to attend the meeting. All sections of the state will be represented, and nearly all registrants will be practicing pharmacists.

The symposium is a service of the college of pharmacy to men who are practicing the profession throughout the state. Typical problems of a practical nature will be presented and discussed.

The topics of discussion come under the three general heads: business problems, professional problems and merchandising procedure.

TODAY'S PROGRAM
9 a.m. — Registration at the college of pharmacy, Dean R. A. Kuever, presiding.

Greetings by Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters.
10 a.m. — Newer Conceptions of Antiseptics (illustrated) Edgar B. Carter of North Chicago, Ill.

Discussion — Milo Chhabak, F.I.A.P., Cedar Rapids; L. L. Eisenbraun, Des Moines.
11 a.m. — Relationship of Pharmacological Action and Chemical Structure of Barbituric Acid Derivatives, (illustrated) E. E. Swanson, Indianapolis, Ind.

Discussion — B. E. Ellis, Ottumwa; A. L. Levendahl, Harlan.
Luncheon will be served in the River room of Iowa Union, with Edward S. Rose, president, Iowa Academy of Pharmacy, presiding.

1:30 p.m. — Vitamins and the Pharmacist, (illustrated) R. A. Hardt, New York City.
Discussion — Charles Falkenhainer, Dubuque; W. H. McClelland, Corning.

2:30 p.m. — Buying and Selling Problems in Retail Stores, (illustrated) L. L. Shoemaker, Dayton, Ohio.
Discussion — H. T. Birchard, Wilton Junction; Carl B. Burnside, Shenandoah; Edward T. Casey, Red Oak.

3:30 p.m. — Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, W. A. Moerschel, Iowa City.
Discussion — V. H. Tyler, F.I.A.P., Lenox, John Heerema, Des Moines.

4:30 p.m. — Syringes, Needles and Thermometers, (illustrated) W. J. Merian, Rutherford, N. J.
Discussion — E. H. Meyer, Waverly; Luke Vittetoe, Sigourney.

6:30 p.m. — Dinner will be served in the river room of Iowa Union, Prof. Louis C. Zopf, presiding.

Today's speakers from the cooperating manufacturing agencies are Carter from the Abbott Laboratories, Swanson from Eli Lilly and company, Hardt from E. R. Squibb & Sons, Shoemaker from the National Cash Register company and Merian from Becton, Dickinson & company.

Pharmacy Students Construct Display
An appropriate window display for the pharmaceutical symposium here today and tomorrow has been installed by members of the window display class of the college of pharmacy.

In the center of the display is a venetian blind with a brief program of the symposium printed on it — the topic of each lecture on a slate.

At the left side of the window is a display of drugs under the heading, "official preparations." The samples shown are those used in the manufacture of vitamin and antiseptic products.

Special preparations are shown on the right side of the display. The preparations shown are compounded in the college laboratory.

There are new vitamin preparations, antiseptics and sick room supplies.

In the center, in front of the symposium program, is a large brass balance from the Iowa Veterinary Druggist's museum. It was presented to the museum by W. M. Riemke in 1913 and is over 150 years old. On each side of this are a mortar and pestle, used by pharmacists to mix drugs.

Philip Coontz, P2 of Waterloo; Irwin J. Lage, P2 of Gladbrook, and Herbert C. Osincup, P2 of Waverly, are the students who installed the display.

Found After 28 Years

Blarney Stone Found In Basement Of Engineering Building

The Blarney Stone is found! After an absence of 28 years, it has returned to the fold. Back in 1911, as a conclusion to the ritual of the Knights of St. Patrick, it was buried and the directions for its recovery, were lost.

Tuesday night a group of engineers aided by a letter from the class of 1911, found it in the basement of the engineering building.

Tonight it will be presented to seniors at the Mecca smoker so that they may again bury it, that the tradition that for so long laid dormant may be revived.

The heroes who assisted in the recovery were H. W. Lewis, E3 of Iowa City; C. J. Kippenharn, E3 of Middle Amana; R. P. Miller, E3 of Iowa City; M. E. Horst, E3 of Iowa City; W. M. Wallace, E3 of Melbourne; H. L. Yakish, E3 of Iowa City; C. L. Benson, E3 of Iowa City, and Norman Kapp, E4 of Buffalo Center.

Reincarnations of the Knights of St. Patrick, these engineers dug up the blarney stone which had been missing since it was buried in the class of 1911. During its absence, many theories were advanced as to the cause of its disappearance but the real reason was that the instructions were lost. The engineers pictured are left to right, W. M. Wallace, E3 of Melbourne; M. E. Horst, E3 of Iowa City;

Andre Maurois Contrasts Wit, Humor in University Lecture

Rates Mickey Mouse As One of Leading American Humorists

Listing Robert Benchley, Charlie Chaplin and Mickey Mouse as the leaders of America's present period in the historical progression of humor, Andre Maurois, the noted French biographer and essayist, presented a university lecture in Macbride auditorium last night.

Maurois' topic was "French Wit, English and American Humor," and the speaker devoted the greater portion of his time to a distinction between the wit of France and the humor of the two Anglo-Saxon countries.

Wit, he said, rose from the tempo of life of the French court, while the slower type of amusement-creation, humor, was a result of the slower tempo of life in England and America.

Maurois pointed out that wit is dependent upon words, but that humor is not, with funny wordless cartoons and pantomime as typical examples.

The speaker defined the ends of wit and humor in the same way—as means "of mocking certain forms of hypocrisy, prejudice and oppression."

It is relief from the oppression of the laws of nature that provide the source of amusement in Mickey Mouse and other animated cartoons, Maurois asserted. He praised wit and humor because they provide a means of saying or intimating certain things which could not otherwise be said.

Illustrates French Stories
"The witty man bursts the balloon by pricking it," said Maurois, and he illustrated with witty stories from French annals. The humorist, on the other hand, achieves his end by over- or understatement, or by imitation, according to the speaker.

English humor, the biographer stated, has generally followed the process of understatement, while American humor reversed the process and followed a policy of exaggeration to create humor.

He listed the four progression periods in American humor: (1) the period descended from English colonization and based on English humor, (2) the pioneer period, (3) the constructive period in which American humor, as characterized by Mark Twain, began to develop, and (4) the present period.

American humor, Maurois said, is tending toward the speedier styles of wit. The humor of overstatement, he said, is passing.

Humorists Laugh at Selves
"The greatest humorists," Maurois asserted, "are those who can laugh at themselves," and that "nothing in the world is so precious as a sense of humor."

The speaker stressed the point that the humorist must be solemn himself, so that the two extremes of gravity and comedy may be at a maximum. "Wit is first and last a manner of expression," he said.

Maurois liberally sprinkled his address with examples of the types of wit and humor about which he spoke.

Four types of hair—horse tail, cattle tail, horse mane and hog hair—are used in the manufacture of curled hair for filling furniture upholstery and mattresses. Horse tail hair is the most expensive; hog hair is the least.

3 Faculty Men To Give Talks

Three faculty members of the school of journalism will be the leading speakers at the annual convention of the west central region, American Association of Teachers of Journalism at Omaha, April 21 and 22.

Prof. F. L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, will be the opening day speaker and will lead the press influence discussion, it was announced by Dr. Stuart A. Mahuran, director of the Creighton university school of journalism and regional chairman for the convention.

"Organization Functions" will be the topic of the round-table discussion led by Prof. Edward F. Mason, while "Radio News

German Club Will Sponsor Folk Dance

Students are invited to attend a folk dance party arranged by German club tonight at 7:45 in the women's small gymnasium.

Participants are requested to wear national or peasant costumes, if possible. Admission is free.

A survey late in 1938 disclosed that more cattle were being fed for market in the corn belt and fewer in western states, especially California and Colorado, than formerly.

When the Library search failed... the telephone succeeded!

FIVE sophomores at a New England university had been assigned to report on the residential districts of a southern city, its principal products and the location of its plantations.

Hour after hour they thumbed through book after book in the library—all to no avail. Then one of them had a happy idea—why not telephone the city's Mayor? They did—and in a few minutes had all the information they needed.

No matter what the question—in college, in social life, in business—you'll find the telephone is often the quickest, most economical way to get the answer.

How about a telephone call to Dad?
Rates to most points are lowest any time after 7 P. M. and all day Sunday.

Paul Engle To Give Lecture

Hervey Allen To Be Subject of First in Series of 3 Talks

Paul Engle, poet and university lecturer, will speak tomorrow afternoon on "Hervey Allen and the Historical Novel." His talk will be at 4:15 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Engle will discuss Allen's two novels, "Anthony Adverse" and "Action at Aquila," as well as the general problem of history and the American writer. With the introduction of personal material Engle will digress on Allen's theory of writing with the use of material he secured in numerous conversations with Allen.

Special emphasis will be placed on the use of historical events and characters in Allen's novels.

The lecture tomorrow afternoon is the first in a series of three talks by Engle under the auspices of the school of letters.

Prize Money Offer $400 in Prizes For Poetry

Cromwell Publications is offering $400 in prizes, and publication in the "1939 Rhythm and Rhyme," for the best poetry submitted to them before May 1, the final date of the contest.

Published and unpublished work is eligible to compete in this contest, giving a chance to unknown as well as known writers.

Cromwell's "1939 Rhythm and Rhyme" will be a collection of verse in commemoration of the Golden Jubilee in the state of Washington in 1939. There will be no restriction as to quantity, theme, or style, but poetry should be limited to 28 lines. There will be no restriction for inclusion in the anthology for conformance to announcements.

Gregory H. Adams is to be the editor of the anthology. Entries should be addressed to Cromwell Publications, Springfield Arcade building, Jersey City, N. J.

Prefers Classics to Swing

Versatile Graduate Student Hopes To Write Band Orchestrations for Radio

Carmen Waller, G of Osceola, above, likes music, any way you look at it. A competent performer on a number of instruments, she likes swing, sweet music, and the work of the masters. A musically-inclined girl from a very early age, Miss Waller attended Osceola at Osceola high school she learned to play the clarinet, tuba, cornet and alto horn, and played in the school band. She later graduated into the Osceola concert band, and played in it for seven years.

By ALICE FOLSOM

During high school she descended from the ivory tower of concert music to organize a dance orchestra called "The Rhythm Ramblers."

"We had a lot of fun with that band," Carmen reminisced. "The kids came to practice at my house because it was the biggest. The neighbors were all pretty tolerant, but at 1 o'clock sharp, one of them would always call up and say 'good night.' This subtle diplomacy didn't have much effect on us."

But even during high school, Carmen's main interest was classical music. In 1934 she received a rating of "excellent" for playing the euphonium at the state high school music festival here. While attending the all-state music course for high school students at the university in the summer of 1935, she played the tuba in the symphony orchestra, sang in the chorus and in the girls' octet, played in the brass sextet and played baritone solos over WSUI.

Although Carmen majored in French at college, she kept up her musical activities. During her two years at Osceola junior college, she won honors with the euphonium and clarinet in southern Iowa junior college music contests. During two years at Drake university she played clarinet in the band.

Carmen had music on her mind even when she went to the world's fair in Chicago. She played clarinet in the 800-piece southern Iowa band that gave three concerts at the fair.

Last summer, Carmen took a busman's holiday. She played regularly in the Humeston and Leon concert bands, gave piano lessons, was organist in an Osceola church, and got up at 4 o'clock every morning to play tennis.

As for the future—well, a musical career in these days of swing presents serious problems to a person interested in serious music.

"Not that I don't like swing music," Carmen said, "but what I would like to do would be to get into concert music on the radio. I will have my master's degree in piano in August, and then I plan to work for a Ph.D."

Making orchestrations for concert bands on the radio is Carmen's ultimate goal.

junior college, Drake university, and will receive her master's degree in piano at the summer convocation. Her immediate hopes center on a possible term of study at Paris next year, and her ultimate goal is a job at orchestrating.

Whether your tastes turn to swing on a saxophone or Beethoven on the piano, Carmen is prepared to furnish either one. The piano and baritone horn are her musical first-lover, although she exercises control over the clarinet, cornet, saxophone, alto horn, tuba, trombone and pipe organ.

"But I play the radio best of all," she admitted, as she sat sipping a coke, discussing her musical career, past, present and future.

The past includes a great number of music contests attended and honors received. The present centers about work for a master's degree in music at the University of Iowa and playing the tuba in the university symphony orchestra. Plans for the future are not quite so definite in Carmen's mind although she knows what she would like to do.

"I'd like to go to France next year and study music at the University of Paris," she said, "but that trip isn't definite as yet. It all depends on the possibility of war there."

Music entered Carmen's life when she began taking piano lessons at the age of six. The piano has remained her favorite instrument. During her first two years

An Interview in French

Andre Maurois, French biographer - essayist who spoke on the university lecture series in Macbride hall last night, had an experience that he perhaps meets with rather infrequently in America. He was interviewed in his native tongue by Elizabeth Halstein, A3 of Oslo, Norway, Mau-rois is shown here, discussing his views of America with Miss Halstein. Maurois last night pointed out differences between wit and humor in his university appearance, and traced the growth of American humor from its origin from the English styles.

The Future of Native Culture

Andre Maurois Expresses Optimism Of American Creative Trends

Andre Maurois, one of the 40 "immortals" of the French academy, with the alert eyes and vivaciousness characteristically associated with Frenchmen, yesterday gave America credit for playing an important part in the development of a cultural life.

The famous French novelist, essayist and critic expressed the opinion that this country has made extraordinary strides in the various branches of science as well as exhibiting an increased appreciation of art.

"Wagner, originator of the musical drama, is heard at the Metropolitan better than anywhere else," he said, "and great results have been achieved in painting and literature even though in general it is not highly creative."

Rejecting the idea that science would overshadow the fine arts in our country of speed and technique, Maurois asserted that the arts will always fill a definite need of humanity quite different from that of science.

Extended cooperation between the new and the old world has made itself evident in the establishment of a French Information Center in New York, of which he is a vice president. Founded for the purpose of giving impartial and accurate information on France, the institution is expected to have its counterpart organized in France for the benefit of French students.

Maurois discussed American writing, and voiced the opinion that Willa Cather was a more logical Nobel prize choice than Pearl Buck. He also praised the work of Ernest Hemingway.

The French author expressed optimism of the future American literature and art, because of a growing trend toward creative genius in this country.

we shall be unable to certify for graduation next June a student who may have accomplished satisfactory graduate work elsewhere, because we shall not have received the requisite official statement of it early enough.

H. C. DORCAS,
Registrar

June Graduates

Every student who expects to receive a degree or a certificate at the university convocation Monday, June 5, 1939, should make his formal application on a card provided for the purpose at the registrar's office on or before Thursday, March 30.

It is of the utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately, for otherwise it is very likely that although he may be qualified in other respects, he will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester.

Making application for the degree or certificate involves the payment of the graduation fee ($16.00). Call at the registrar's office for the card.

Law Scholarships

The college of law is prepared to award a number of scholarships to qualifying students from the college of liberal arts and the college of commerce for the academic year 1939-1940.

Applicants must have completed all required work for the baccalaureate degree. Beyond this, appointments will be determined on a basis of sound scholarship, effective personality, high character, and a sincere intention to continue the study of law at this university.

Eligibility in the light of these requirements should be disclosed to the committee in a letter of application and supporting recommendations addressed to the undersigned. The applicant's letter should be a thoughtful and well written document. Candidates for the scholarships should also be prepared to meet with the committee (composed of Prof. George F. Robeson, Prof. C. Woody Thompson, and Prof. H. J. Thornton) when requested to do so.

All applications, together with supporting recommendations, should be in the committee's hands by April 8.

Chairman

and Moravians a large degree of freedom.

This source said a directory, perhaps with Emil Hacha at its head, would be formed to represent the Czechs. Hacha, who was president of Czechoslovakia, was on his way back to Prague from Berlin after the midnight conference in which he capitulated to Hitler and placed Bohemia and Moravia under the fuhrer.

The government spokesman said the Czech culture would be guaranteed 100 per cent. Schools would be Czech, with perhaps a requirement that German be taught.

Czechs, the spokesman added, would not be drafted into the German army, although a volunteer corps might be formed for them. Police departments and local officials may be permitted to remain in office. Heinlein asked the whole Bohemian administrative machinery, including police, postal, railway and state affairs employees, to continue work.

While Hitler stepped across the border into his newest acquisition at the Sudeten town of Bohemisch-Leipa, his next in power, Field Marshal Goering, remained in Berlin. Goering had cut short his vacation in Italy to return yesterday.

Those who watched Germany's third historic border crossing within a few days more than a year declared that although it was brilliant in its military execution it was sadly lacking in welcoming atmosphere.

Even in predominantly German regions snowfall dampened the "heils" of those who gathered to see the troops at border towns.

While Germany, for the present at least, regards Slovakia as an independent state, it was obvious that Slovakia must bow to the German will no less than Bohemia and Moravia.

It was made plain by a government spokesman that Slovakia forms a part of Germany's economic area in central Europe.

WSUI Men Give Program

Raymond W. Heinen and James S. Nelson of the WSUI staff demonstrated the kinds of sounds used during broadcasts of radio programs before members of the Lions club at their weekly meeting yesterday noon in Reich's pine room.

With equipment used at WSUI Heinen and Nelson explained and demonstrated three types of sounds, mechanical, vocal, and recorded. Machines for the sound of rain, surf, guns and automobiles were included in the demonstration.

Heinen revealed that 60 per cent of the sounds used on radio programs are recorded although the larger stations use a smaller percentage of recorded sound.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX
JOHN HENRY HERMAN, the electrician, squirmed uncomfortably on the hard wicker chair.

"The afternoon I got a call from the housekeeper at the Manor to come out and fix the three electric driers what was out of order."

Didmore interrupted: "What time did you receive this first call?"

"Around two o'clock."

"Very well. Continue."

"Well, as I was saying, it was Sunday, and I don't usually do no work on Sunday, but the housekeeper said they had to have them driers in shape for Monday turned to the housekeeper. "Where?" he asked, "is the main or key telephone located at the Manor?"

In his outstretched hand he held a thin blue packet.

Mrs. Greely appeared surprised. "In the kitchen."

"How many branch phones does the estate boast?"

"There is a phone in each room."

"And these phones are all connected?"

"Connected?"

Didmore elaborated. "Is it possible for a person phoning in the kitchen to be overheard in the library or in one of the bedrooms?"

"Oh, yes."

"Are these phones, aside from the key phone, outside lines?"

"Yes."

"How do they operate?"

Mrs. Greely explained: "When a call comes through to the Manor, it is taken in the kitchen. Hawkins or myself transfer it to the proper party. Outgoing calls may be made on any of the phones."

"Thank you very much." The housekeeper returned to the witness bench.

This concluded the formalities. The jury, as was expected, pronounced a verdict of willful murder in the case of Mrs. Horace T. Witherspoon Sr.; in the case of Mrs. Horace T. Witherspoon Jr., and in the case of Eliza Williams. The murderer was designated as a person or persons unknown.

"And now," said Mac, "and now the courtroom had cleared, and now to business!" He sounded eager and excited. I wondered what rabbit he would pull from his hat this time. But he made no further comment. He stroked from the room. The last I saw of him he was hurrying down the corridor in Mrs. Greely's wake. I saw no more of him until evening.

It began to rain that night around seven o'clock. The rain beat in torrents against my windowpanes. I dined alone and tried to shut out the sound of the ceaseless, relentless downpour.

Ordinarily I am fond of rain. There is something soothing in it. This night, however, the steady drip, drip, drip of the drops to the ground oppressed and unnerved me.

"One moment! Was this second call also from Mrs. Greely?"

John Henry wagged his head: "It was a woman's voice calling. Naturally, I thought it was her again."

"I see." Didmore nodded. "That's all."

He called Mrs. Greely to the stand.

"Now, Mrs. Greely," he said, "you have heard the evidence supplied by Mr. Herman. Do you agree with it?"

"No," returned the housekeeper flatly. "I do not. I made the first call. I know nothing whatever about the second one."

"You did not call, Mr. Herman had previously made with him?"

"I did not."

"And you do not know who made this second call?"

"I do not."

"Is it possible that someone in the house overheard you making the first call?"

"It is possible," she admitted. "The call was put through from the kitchen. The phone there is quite public."

"Who was present in the kitchen at the time of the call?"

"The butler, Mr. Hawkins, and Henrietta, Mrs. Horace's maid."

"I see," said Didmore again, and was about to dismiss the witness when McIntyre beckoned to him. For some seconds they consulted in low whispers. Didmore then re-

me. Its very steadfastness chilled me.

It was an all-night rain. It would go on and on—like the murders and the mystery and—I forced myself to drink a second cup of coffee. I must get hold of myself. Madness lay in such thoughts. I lit a cigaret and leaped through the pages of a magazine, but the stories failed to hold my attention.

The house was terrifyingly silent for that early hour. Below dinner was being served; but the clatter of silver and china did not reach my quiet retreat. Later the guests would pack for departure. The inquest concluded, the police had no authority to detain them further. Tomorrow Della Craig, Reginald Ainsworth and Jeffrey Todington would go their separate ways. Count Orsini would, of course, remain; but it was unlikely I would see him or the others again. Tomorrow I, too, would leave the Manor. Tomorrow Kitty would return.

A footstep sounded in the corridor; the door slowly opened. Mac McIntyre, crept stealthily into the room.

"I've found them, Elsie," he whispered. He came close to me. In his outstretched hand he held a thin blue packet.

"Found what?" I queried, and he opened the packet. Inside was a thin sheet of tissues.

"Where?" I demanded. But he shook his head and would not tell me.

"Never mind, Elsie. You'll find out in good time. Benson arrived yet?"

"No."

"Damn!" He consulted a battered nickel watch. "If he comes and I'm not here, hang on to him until I give the signal."

"The signal?" He was being mysterious.

He chuckled. "Curiosity killed a cat, girl! I'm expecting a visitor. Mind if I sit down and wait?"

"No."

He sat down. Quiet descended. There was no sound in the room save the tick, tick, tick of the battered nickel watch and the pitter-patter of the rain. We waited. Waited for what? I did not know. We simply waited.

Bets His Mustache On Closing Date

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Secretary of State Harry Swanson bet his mustache against one owned by Lieut. Gov. William E. Johnson that the Nebraska legislature will not adjourn by May 5.

The last time Swanson got gay with his mustache he lost it. He bet Nebraska would beat Minnesota in their annual football tussle.

Wild Dogs Raiding Texas Ranches

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Packs of wild dogs, fierce as timber wolves, have been making night raids on farms near Amarillo.

Farmers have reported the loss of chickens and livestock. County Commissioner Dan Pavillard said the dogs run in packs of four or more and attack and kill grown cows.

Group Votes Unofficially To Have City Centennial Celebration

Representatives of Thirty City Civic Organizations To Make Final Decision at April 5 Meet

Mayor Walker Asks Entire City To Join In Formulating Plans

Thirty persons representing as many local organizations in an unofficial capacity last night voted to hold a city centennial celebration this summer at a meeting with Mayor Myron J. Walker in the city council chambers in the city hall.

Official plans could not be made last night because all of the civic organizations in the city were not represented, and those representatives attending were not authorized to act officially for their respective organizations.

Mayor Walker was unanimously appointed temporary chairman of the executive committee for the celebration and William T. Hageboeck, temporary secretary, George D. Koser was appointed chairman of the temporary committee for arrangements.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 5 in the assembly room of the Press Citizen building. All organizations whether represented last night or not were urged to send a delegate to the meeting.

Mayor Myron J. Walker opened last night's session with brief remarks concerning the history of Iowa City and the essence of holding a centennial celebration.

"Iowa City is more of a student center than an industrial center," Mayor Walker said, "but I think we still have our community spirit. I speak with feeling as well as prejudice when I say we have the finest city in the country. If we have a celebration, we should all unite to make it a good celebration."

Jacob A. Swisher, representing the State Historical society, was the first delegate to take the floor at the mayor's request. "We'll be glad to cooperate," he declared, "We have material and the data and will be glad to furnish both."

Dr. William Petersen of the Triangle club related experiences of other towns holding similar celebrations. "Out of 53 celebrations held last year in Iowa," he said, "only 13 were staged with professional performers. The remainder used local talent." He based his report on a 52-page account he completed last summer.

All representatives unofficially agreed to hold a centennial celebration. Final decision will be announced at the central committee meeting April 15. If then the commemoration is decided to be held, detailed plans as to entertainment and finances will be begun, it was decided.

After the general meeting adjourned, the arrangements committee consisting of Koser, Dr. Petersen, Hageboeck, Swisher and Mrs. T. G. Caywood convened to plan a form letter to be sent to the various local organizations. Problems concerning the dates of the centennial, financial backing, entertainment and other details were included in the letter.

The organizations represented at last night's meeting were the following:

Junior and senior chambers of commerce, American Legion, Rotary club, State Historical society, Building Trades council, Central Labor union, Ministerial association, American Legion auxiliary, Iowa City Business and Professional Women's club, Federated Business and Professional Women's club, Women's Relief corps, Altrusa club, Manville Heights club, Knights of Columbus lodge, Iowa City Music auxiliary, Triangle club and Masonic club.

Eagles To Initiate 49; Banquet Follows

The Fraternal Order of Eagles, area 695, will initiate 49 candidates tonight at 7 o'clock in the lodge rooms.

A banquet will follow the initiation. There will be a general program after the banquet consisting of talks by the various members, it was revealed.

Johnson County Wildlife Conservation Club Re-Elects McPherson, Swaner

Johnson county Wildlife Conservation club re-elected H. J. McPherson as president, J. J. Swaner as secretary and treasurer, and elected Frank M. Smith as vice-president at a meeting held Tuesday night in the X. P. C. S. rooms.

Swaner read the financial report of the club to the 50 persons who participated in the election.

Champion Steer Here

International Grand Champion Will Be Shown in Iowa City

"Mercer," the 1938 international grand champion steer who brought fame and financial guarantee of a college education to Irene Brown, the 14-year-old Alledo, Ill., 4-H club girl who raised him, will be on exhibit here next Tuesday at the Nall Chevrolet company, 210 Burlington street.

The steer was purchased at the 1938 International Livestock exposition in Chicago. A 5,000-mile tour has been arranged to give the thousands of farmers who could not attend the exhibit at Chicago last December a chance to observe first-hand the peak in cattle development.

Traveling in a trailer modeled after a modern stock barn, with ventilators, feed bins and numerous sanitation devices, Mercer has accommodations befitting his station in animal life.

He is accompanied by Raus Brown, Irene's brother, who has been feeder and caretaker of the steer since December.

A nationally known feeder, breeder and cattle judge is accompanying the entourage as lecturer. He will point out the features which made Mercer a champion and will discuss other cattle questions with Mercer's visitors.

A new sound motion picture will also be shown, featuring practically every type of farm operation, as well as many of America's champion farmers, it was announced.

Smith Wins In Law Argument

Freshman Lawyers in Midst of Annual Spring Discussions

Richard Smith of Clarion won first place last night in a freshman law argument at the college of law. George Novak of Cedar Rapids placed second.

In a similar bout yesterday afternoon, Neal Naiden of Marshalltown won first and Harold De Kay of Sioux City won second.

Chief justices for the arguments were Sewell Allen, L3 of Onawa, and George Heidebaugh, L3 of Des Moines.

Winners of Tuesday night's arguments were Raymond Skalowsky of Norfolk, Neb., first, and Richard Beebe of Ottumwa, second, in the first argument of the evening.

Robert Reaney of Columbus Junction was first and Robert Brooks of Iowa City, second, in the last round that evening.

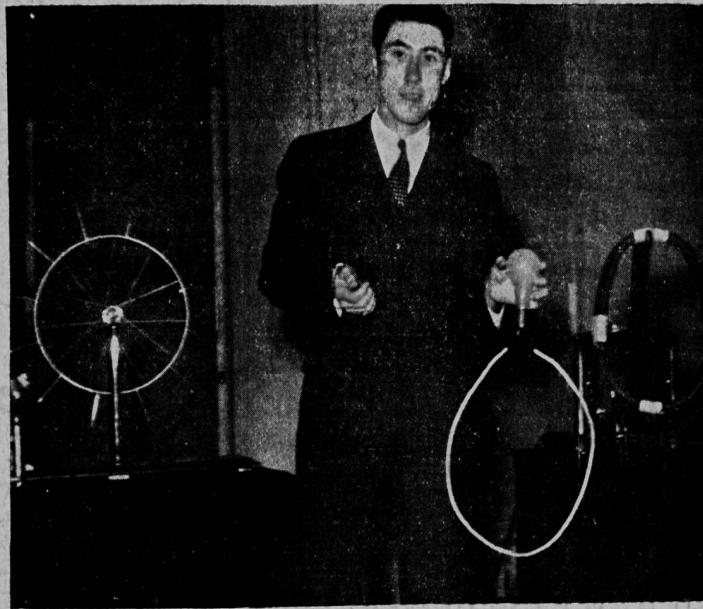

Corwin Johnson of Centerville and Elwood Olsen of Sioux City were winners of first and second places respectively in the freshman arguments Tuesday afternoon. Robert Tubbs, L3 of Maquoketa and John Riley of Burlington will argue against Wilbur Kroeger of Eldridge and Donald Galloway of Cedar Rapids.
