Overnight Switch in Senate On Govt. Reorganization Bill Gives Administration Victory

Amendment To Halt President Vetoed, 46-44

Measure Will Make Presidential Orders Law Unless Rejected

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Administration forces plucked victory from defeat today when the senate passed, 63 to 23, a government reorganization bill minus an amendment which would have given legislators more control over the president's reorganization orders.

The amendment had been attached to the bill only yesterday, but today the senate reversed itself and struck it out by a two-vote margin.

The bill, authorizing the president to consolidate or abolish many agencies of the government, had previously been approved by the house. It now goes to the conference for discussion of amendments added by the senate.

Power to President

Opposition centered upon a section providing that reorganization orders to be issued by President Roosevelt under the act should become effective in 60 days, unless specifically rejected by both branches of congress.

Republicans and some democrats argued that this gave the chief executive too much power and retained too little control for congress. Finally, this faction supported an amendment by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) providing that to become effective, reorganization orders must have the specific approval of both branches.

Adopted by One Vote

The amendment was adopted yesterday by what was actually a one vote margin, although the official tally showed a vote of 46 to 43. The difference was caused by the fact that at the last moment, Senator Byrnes (D-SC), leading proponent of the bill and opponent of the amendment, switched his vote so that he might move reconsideration. (A senator must be on the winning side in order to ask for reconsideration.)

Overnight Change

Overnight, administration forces persuaded Senator Chavez (D-NM) to change his position on the Wheeler amendment. In addition, Senator Truman (D-Mo), an opponent of the Wheeler proposal who was absent yesterday, returned to Washington today. Consequently reconsideration won by 46 to 44, and then, by the same vote, the Wheeler amendment was taken out of the bill.

The measure, as approved, was but a shadowy reminder of the reorganization bill which became one of the foremost issues of last session, an issue on which President Roosevelt was defeated in the house. Last year's bill gave the president virtually unrestricted power to reshuffle government agencies, and proposed the abolition of the office of comptroller general.

Plan To Move Old Landmark To New Site

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Patten gymnasium, a landmark on Northwestern university's campus since 1910, will be cut into three parts this summer and moved to a new site about three blocks away. Arthur F. Klein, the university's construction engineer, said it had been decided to use the present site of the gymnasium for the new institute of technology, which will be built with $6,500,000 donated by the Walter P. Murphy foundation.

Must Resist Axis Powers

Banker Would Give Limited Support To Europe Democracies

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—James P. Warburg, banker, proposed tonight that this country promise support to Britain and France "if they decide to resist further threats or acts of aggression on the part of the axis powers (Germany, Italy and Japan)."

In addresses prepared for a symposium before the economic club, Warburg, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) and John Foster Dulles, who was counsel to the American peace delegation at Versailles, discussed the question "what should our foreign policy be?"

Warburg, who was an early Roosevelt administration adviser before falling out over some presidential policies, said that American "long range" policy should be toward world disarmament and rehabilitation of trade, but that in the meantime rearmament should be a first concern.

The nature of American support to the old allies, he averred, "would have to be defined in accordance with circumstances and need not necessarily involve sending troops to Europe."

Dulles argued that public opinion in the United States lacked "any comprehension of the true nature of the problem" that it seemed to be "impulsive and emotional, wholly lacking either that intellectual content or that intelligent idealism which alone would justify the risks which would be involved (in war)."

"I reluctantly conclude that so long as our present mentality prevails, the best hope for ourselves and the best hope for the world resides in our keeping alive, if we can, within our own borders the flame of liberty."

Policy Lawyer Gets Sentence Of One Year

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, lawyer for the late Dutch Schultz in the heyday of the Dutchman's $20,000,000-a-year policy racket, was sentenced today to one year in prison.

Davis' sentence of one year, imposed by Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who presided at the first trial of James J. Hines, Tammany district leader, will be served in the county penitentiary. He will be given credit, however, for the 170 days he served in the Tombs last summer, but no credit for the time he passed while in the custody of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

The year was the sentence on the misdemeanor count in the indictment which also contained 12 felony counts. The misdemeanor count was a charge of conspiracy to operate a lottery. On the felony counts he received a suspended sentence.

Britain Strives To Hold United Anti-Reich Bloc

Poland Insists On Military Alliance As Price Of Enlistment

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Great Britain strove today to avert collapse of plans for a European "stop Hitler" front and declared that Germany had threatened armed force for the second time within a week to get Memel back from Lithuania.

Polish insistence on a military alliance with Britain as her price for joining was understood to have endangered formation of a bloc against further German expansion.

However, British negotiators hoped to convince Poland that London was ready for military commitments far-reaching enough to make it worth Poland's while to jump on the anti-Hitler side of the European fence she has straddled.

In the house of commons, Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, said the British government's information was that if Lithuania had rejected the Nazi ultimatum Germany intended to occupy all of Lithuania, not Memel alone.

Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, after conferring with French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet and British opposition political leaders, were represented as powers to help the Lithuanian government.

But Sir Samuel—substituting for the prime minister—told the house of commons that the league of nations council might be convened to consider means of blocking Hitler's drive to European domination.

Poland was said to have asked for time to consider Britain's request for her signature on a "halt Hitler" declaration in which Soviet Russia and France would also join, explaining that her position was difficult. Poland is placed between two of the most powerful nations in continental Europe—Hitler's rearmored reich and Soviet Russia—neither of whom has been too friendly with Warsaw.

The Polish view, as described in informed diplomatic circles, was that nothing but German anger would result from the declaration, which merely would bind its signatories to consult immediately if and when German aggression appeared imminent.

Japs Neutral If Europe Wars

TOKYO, March 23 (Thursday) (AP)—The Japanese "inner government," composed of five key cabinet ministers, was reported today to have agreed informally upon a policy of neutrality in event of a European war.

The five ministers, headed by Premier Baron Kijuro Hirayama, conferred for five hours Wednesday night. A formal decision was not made, but it was understood authoritatively that the majority was strongly opposed to voluntary Japanese participation in the event a European war should break out.

WPA Inquiry Probable Soon

Investigation Voted By House Comm. In Response To Demand

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The likelihood that there would be a congressional investigation of the WPA increased today when the house rules committee approved, by a vote of 7 to 4, a resolution ordering such an inquiry.

If the resolution is approved later by the house, the inquiry will be made by the house appropriations committee. That group already is wrestling with the issue of whether to give the relief agency an additional $150,000,000 for its expenses through June 30, or to pare the amount down to $100,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt has asked the larger amount.

Rep. Cox (D-Ga), author of the resolution for the investigation, said it probably would be brought before the house next week and predicted "there won't be 40 votes against it."

The action of the rules committee followed criticism of the WPA by many congressmen and repeated demands for an investigation which could form the basis for overhauling the relief set-up.

Speaker Bankhead commented that he had "no objection to the investigation if a majority of the house wants it."

He added, however, that the appropriations committee already was intending to scrutinize WPA activities thoroughly before granting the agency more money for expenses in the year beginning July 1. He pointed out that extensive hearings had been conducted during the past week on the president's request for an additional $150,000,000 to carry on relief through June 30.

'Not for Me' Mrs. F.D.R. Wouldn't Be President

LOS ANGELES, March 22 (AP)—"Nothing on God's green earth" would induce her to run for the presidency, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said at a press conference here today.

"There is no reason why a woman should not be president, but any woman with political sense would not accept the office until women have held many other responsible administrative positions and until the public is convinced that the woman in question is the best person for the job," she replied to a question.

Replying to a request for her opinion about the "stop Hitler" movement in Europe, she said: "As a private citizen, I think that anything which will keep peace in the world is vitally important."

The president's wife is here to deliver a public lecture.

'Tarzan' Killer Wounds Two Of Posse Men

POWELL, Wyo., March 22 (AP)—Entrenched in a veritable fort of mountain rocks, Earl Durand, Wyoming's "Tarzan" slayer, shot down two posse men in a gun battle late today with a surrounding force of 65 Wyoming and Montana officers.

The two posse men fell on a mountain slope directly in Durand's line of fire from his citadel of rocks, 400 feet up the side of a steep ridge.

Game Warden Boyd Bennion said he believed the two men shot were Arthur Garto of Meeteetse, Wyo., and Orville Lindbury of Cody, Wyo. Whether they were killed or wounded was not known.

Unable to go to the aid of the two men, the posse officers aimed a heavy rifle barrage at the stronghold of the besieged raw meat-eating fugitive, sought since last Thursday for the slaying of two Wyoming peace officers.

Durand remained safely entrenched as darkness fell, commanding from his fortress a clear line of fire to his front, his right and his left.

Posse members said any attempt to attack Durand from the rear would entail a night-long hike across steep mountains.

Withdraw Proposals COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Single blessedness got a break from the Ohio legislature late yesterday when the authors of resolutions seeking to tax spinsters and bachelors withdrew proposals.

Reich Makes Trade Treaty

Rumanian Officials Say It Preserves Their Independence

BUCHAREST, March 22 (AP)—Rumania and Germany concluded tonight a "normal" trade agreement which Rumanian officials joyfully said preserved their country's "political and economic independence."

Simultaneously Premier Armand Calinescu asserted that concentrations of troops along Rumanian frontiers might be dispersed within "10 or 15 days" and that he expected the international situation to be clarified.

As a result, much of the Balkan peninsula breathed more easily tonight, for the negotiations of the trade treaty were a major factor in the "Rumanian crisis" that upset Europe last week end, when reports circulated that Germany had demanded special advantages under political pressure.

Details of the treaty were withheld. Dr. Helmuth Wohlthat, head of a German trade mission, and Jan Dujoiu, Rumanian minister of national economy, signed the pact in which, Rumanians said, Germany was given no monopolistic economic concessions.

One official commented that the "open door to purchasers of the whole world remains open." Negotiators said the subject of special German pledges to respect Rumanian frontiers was not discussed.

A few reservists still were leaving their homes for the Rumanian borders, but they went light-heartedly and confident they would be marching back soon to take care of their spring plantings.

Clipper To Fly Across Atlantic

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Government sources reported today Pan-American Airways had made arrangements for a trans-Atlantic flight by the 42-ton Yankee Clipper, starting Friday, to survey a projected regular service.

Departure was said to have been set tentatively for 2 p.m. (E.S.T.), Friday from New York. The southern route via Horta, Azores, is to be followed to Lisbon, Portugal, Marseilles, France, and Southampton, England.

From Southampton the Clipper, a first of an aerial fleet of the type, is to proceed to Foyens, Ireland.

House Grants Annual College Appropriation

DES MOINES, March 22 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today tentatively approved a total annual appropriation of $5,860,000 for the state's three principal educational institutions for the next two years, Representative David A. Dancer (R), Lamoni, said.

Dancer, chairman of the subcommittee of the appropriations group, said the committee recommended $2,600,000 annually to the University of Iowa, $2,590,000 for the state college at Ames and $670,000 for the teachers college at Cedar Falls.

The university was granted $2,165,000 a year by the 1937 legislature and sought $2,788,500 this time.

Representative Dancer said the $5,860,000 a year total was $920,500 more than the three schools received during the last two years.

Rutledge Invited To Testify On His Nomination

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Chairman Hughes (D-DeI) said today a senate judiciary subcommittee had invited Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the University of Iowa law school to testify Monday regarding his nomination to be an associate justice of the United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia.

Hughes said he had received no protests against Rutledge's nomination, and that he merely wanted to give the nominee an opportunity to meet the committee members.

Germany Gains 1,099 Square Miles; Port Lost in World War

(By The Associated Press)
KAUNAS, March 22 — Lithuania surrendered Memel territory to Adolf Hitler's rapidly expanding realm today, bowing to threats which semi-official sources said were directed against independence of the entire Baltic republic.

Lithuania lost her only seaport, 1,099 square miles of territory and 150,000 inhabitants, most of them Germanic.

Germany won back a World war-lost Baltic port, adjoining east Prussia.

Reliable sources said Lithuania was told bluntly by Germany she must give up Memel or all Lithuania would be taken over by German military might.

Proclaim "Anschluss" Tonight, at the first session of the Memel diet since a predominant Nazi majority was elected last December, the Nazi leader, Ernst Neumann, proclaimed Memel's "Anschluss" with Germany.

The diet session ended with singing of "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

Neumann's proclamation said: "Memel Germans, the day of fulfillment has come, the Lithuanian government has given our Memel back to the greater German reich."

"We return home to the reich of our German fatherland to which we gave our love in times of distress, just as we give it now in its greatness and will give it for all time to come."

Return Home "Time and again we declared when we were still under Lithuanian martial law, and with even greater emphasis after having begun our march to liberty: 'We want to return home to reich.'"

"What we hoped for in our longing and what we fought for unwaveringly has been fulfilled in this hour. We return home to the reich."

"Immeasurable and beyond expression is our gratitude to the fuhrer of all Germans, to our fuhrer, Adolf Hitler."

Hundreds of Jews fled from Memel last night. Thousands more attempting to flee before Anschluss were halted by jubilant Nazi storm-troopers who virtually took over the Memel territory while Lithuanian troops and officials withdrew.

Hitler to Memel Aboard Battleship

BERLIN, March 22 (AP)—Adolf Hitler journeyed tonight aboard the heavily-armed battleship Deutschland to Memel to receive the little Baltic district, ceded by Lithuania under Nazi pressure into the expanding German reich.

Just a week ago the chancellor rode into Prague to take that ancient, kingly capital and Bohemia-Moravia under his protection.

Hitler, Admiral Erich Raeder, chief of the admiralty, and Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of the armed forces, boarded the Deutschland at Swinemunde before 7:20 p.m. (12:20 p.m. CST).

They expected to reach Memel about noon tomorrow (5 a.m. CST) after a pause at Koenigsberg, East Prussia. German troops stood ready to cross the international bridge at Tilsit, East Prussia, several hours before their commander-in-chief.

Squads of bombers, pursuit planes and other units of what Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering called his "terror-striking air force" also were prepared to soar overhead as the fuhrer makes his triumphant entry into Memel city from a motor launch.

Two and a half hours after Hitler left Berlin for Swinemunde, Baltic sea base 120 miles north of Berlin, three Lithuanian cabinet ministers arrived in the capital by airplane to confer with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop on details of Memel's transfer and to give it legal form.

They Have It Coming

IT IS extremely pleasant and enjoyable to drive on our fine paved highways in this spring weather. No longer do city people, in their driving from town to town, find it necessary to make sure a shovel and chains are in the back end of the car before starting on a jaunt. However, most people can remember the time when spring days meant muddy, sticky, and at times impassable roads. Spring driving then was not always a pleasure.

A willingness on the part of Iowans to pay taxes to build new roads has brought about great changes, and today Iowa ranks near the top in any comparison of fine roads. But our job is not finished.

The muddy roads that have been the cause of so much profanity in the past are still a very real problem to a substantial part of our population. The present legislature is finally taking some action, after much controversy, and there is now good reason to believe that a real farm-to-market road program will be launched.

A Distinct Honor THE nomination of Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the University of Iowa college of law for a major seat in the federal judiciary system is a distinct honor both to the university and to Dean Rutledge personally.

Attorney General Murphy, who recommended the Iowa dean for the position of associate justice of the U. S. court of appeals of the District of Columbia, was conservative in his characterization of a man whose stature in the judicial world has often been recognized by his profession.

Dean Rutledge, the attorney general declared, is "a man of outstanding character and integrity, a legal scholar of repute, broad and liberal in his viewpoint, and a man eminently qualified for the post."

Those who have been associated with the Iowa law dean on this campus know full well the excellent caliber of the man whom President Roosevelt has chosen.

Welcome, Sweet Spring! YOU'LL want to dress up yourself and clean-up and paint-up your property now—spring has arrived. After the dreary winter days, you must feel exultant in these days when the sun is warmer.

After all that's been said by the poets of every age, there's little new we can say. Be sure to get in the spirit, though. The Easter parade is near and you'll want to refresh your wardrobe. It'll refresh your spirit, too, especially if you brighten your home to meet the mood of the season.

Do it as you will, but be sure to get into the swing of spring! There are so many Japanese military spies in China today, we understand, that there is hardly room for the regular army.

The Invitation Still Holds!

BASKETBALL is rapidly replacing baseball as the favorite pastime of both young and old. The season just completed saw over 1,500 teams in action in Iowa. The main activity, naturally, with many of them having both boys and girls teams entered in competition. The attendance records for individual games and tournament play fell on every side.

The tournaments drew the largest following and the interest in the state tournament for boys reached new heights as it became impossible for Drake fieldhouse in Des Moines to accommodate all the fans who wanted to see the boys in action. Session after session saw the use of the signs "Standing Room Only," and "Sold Out."

The invitation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to hold the state tournament in the university's spacious fieldhouse, which has a capacity of 20,000, still holds.

The Heavens Beyond

A CERTAIN stratum of world society, which cuts indifferently through all political and class boundaries, is keeping an attentive eye on the work in progress at Mt. Palomar, Cal., where the new 200-inch reflecting telescope is being erected.

Scientists—astronomers and astrophysicists—are nervously awaiting the day about a year from now when Man, by means of this gigantic mirror, will have extended his acquaintance with the heavens some millionfold. The surface of the nearly 18-foot reflector, twice as large in diameter as the largest now in use, is to be ground to within a very few millionths of an inch of absolute perfection.

Something about the ideas of such perfection, and pioneering in the cold blue infinity of the sky, of learning facts where until now only the barest surmises could be made, fans to flame the ember of the scientist that glows in every one of us.

Sir Isaac Newton, to whom we owe this telescope, must have felt such a spark burn brightly indeed, for he was a magnificent scientist. No doubt if he were with us now he would console us for those few odd millionths of an inch between us and perfection. Surely he would say nothing about the physiognomy of God, which will have moved on out, still tantalizingly beyond mortal sight.

Farmers are now told not to let their hogs get overweight, excess fat spoiling the bacon. Maybe that's right but somehow we don't think we'll ever become accustomed to streamlined pigs.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

COFFEE may determine the outcome of the struggle between the United States and Germany over Central America. Victory may go to the country with the most insistent coffee drinkers.

For the main product of many Central American countries is coffee. We in the United States eagerly take almost all we can get. But the poor Germans must heed vice-dictator Goering's decision that "Coffee is not a necessity."

German housewives can buy only so much coffee. Stout Hans and capable Hilda stand outside store windows where heaps of coffee are piled up, and think wistfully that they have only 1-4 of a pound left to last them all week. They imagine they can smell the delicious, pungent aroma, and sniff longingly. For Germans love their coffee.

But we walk haughtily into grocery stores, order one, two or even five pounds of coffee, and think nothing of it. Our purchases as well as those of Hans and Hilda are reflected in foreign trade demands.

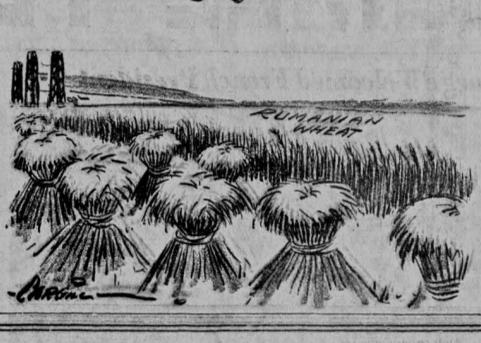

Even now Central America sends 2-3 of its coffee to the United States. Individual countries, such as Guatemala, send in even more. If Germany steps out of the coffee-drinking market, what chance has she for Central American friends?

On the other hand, we will bind Central America to us on the strongest coffee grounds.

Hitler said, "I propose to lead German workers from the beer houses into the temples of German art." Also from cocktails and cigarettes. Reasons:

- 1. Germany can no longer afford beer, cigarettes and cocktails. 2. Beer, etc. decreases worker's productivity. 3. Beer, etc. is "harmful to the people's welfare." 4. Hitler does not drink beer. —The Columbia Missourian

AROUND THE TOWN with MERLE MILLER

A STRANGER AMONG US... Just as I begin concluding, as I frequently do, that Iowa City, Iowa, must surely be the nation's high spot of reaction, someone comes along... Clem Harkert came along yesterday...

Clem's from the University of Colorado, and he was on the campus yesterday to talk informally about collective security, pro and con... We both happened to be pro...

Then we started talking, as people do, and Clem happened to mention that he's just recently back from a year in Spain... He happened to believe, as I now do, that there was the beginning of what might happen here...

Clem got back in time to re-enter Colorado university this semester... Until the American Legion heard about it...

You see, the boy Clem voyaged to Spain with hadn't come back... His beregrieved mother has temporarily lost her reason and is being backed in a series of public appearances alleging Clem and the communists "kidnaped" her son...

That was enough for Colorado's Legion... They gathered forces and started besieging the university for Clem's dismissal... Colorado U said a polite, "No."

Then the state Legion decided it would take matters in its own hands (as it has at Ohio State) and "investigate un-American activities on the campus..." I'm happy to say that the Colorado student daily took up the call at that point (Student dailies sometimes do) and wrote among other things, that the student body feels rather strongly about the matter...

"Come prepared," the editor warned editorially, "the stench of rotten eggs and tomatoes is not pleasant, even to Legionnaires..." At that, the boys of the Legion backed out... They had been

A New Yorker at Large By George Tucker

NEW YORK—The drive behind the composition of something in art isn't always inspiration, or a friendly muse. It may very well be the relentless insistence of a friend, as in the case of Peter De Rose, who probably wouldn't have got around to writing what now is the most popular song hit in America if Paul Whiteman hadn't hounded him and annoyed him with calls until finally, he sat down and wrote "Deep Purple..."

There were four or five little bars that De Rose had been ripping off as a piano signature on his early morning NBC broadcasts with May Singhi, just a va-grant keyboard ripple that De Rose had happened onto and had been using for years... But Whiteman didn't know this. "What's that from?" he asked De Rose. "I hear it every morning. A thing as pretty as that should be played in full..."

Health Hints By Logan Clendening, M. D.

I spoke yesterday of the cases of whooping cough which are overlooked in adults. In discussing this matter with a health officer of a large city, I was made aware of the fact that there was also a fairly widespread epidemic of scarlet fever and here, too, it is quite possible that especially in adults the disease may be overlooked and a contagious carrier allowed to go abroad spreading the disease...

I remember a fellow medical officer of mine, during the World War, was commanded by the surgeon-general's office to go up to a small encampment where it was reported they had an epidemic of sore throat. When he arrived there, the doctor in charge of the camp said that he had a very peculiar condition which he thought was due to milk. He had a great many cases of sore throat with a reddish eruption on the body. As soon as my friend had seen a few of the cases he took the doctor aside and said, "Doctor, you have an epidemic of scarlet fever..."

Scarlet fever has been so rare within the last 10 years that a great many people have grown to maturity without being exposed to it. This does not mean, however, that they are immune. Quite the contrary, they are as liable to get it as a small child who has never been exposed. They may catch the disease in a mild form and feel well enough to walk around, and by this means they indubitably will infect a certain number of the people they meet...

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Reader: "What causes partial blindness where there is a zig-zag bright line before the eyes on one side and you can see only part of an object? These spells last about 30 minutes and are followed by a severe headache and a feeling of exhaustion..." Answer—You are describing accurately an attack of migraine, or sick headache...

Reader: "When testing urine, can you tell if there is tuberculosis in the lungs?" Answer—Not so far as I know. There are so many good ways to test for tuberculosis of the lungs that I do not see why this should be employed...

Penguins, we read, are the only birds to walk, absolutely erect. And the only ones nutty enough to make their home at the South Pole... Pennsylvania turkeys are laying more eggs than usual—news item. Stop that! Thanksgiving is too far away for us to start working up an appetite now...

General Notices

Graduate Students Each student in the graduate college who expects to receive the master's degree or the doctorate at the forthcoming convocation June 5, is requested, so far as he or she may not have done so heretofore, to procure for us immediately the official transcript of whatever graduate work he may have accomplished in another graduate school; so that this may be taken into account in determining whether he or she fulfills the requirements for the degree sought. This should be done immediately; otherwise, it is possible that we shall be unable to certify for graduation next June a student who may have accomplished satisfactory graduate work elsewhere, because we shall not have received the requisite official statement of it early enough. H. C. DORCAS, Registrar

Hollywood Sights and Sounds By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Lupe, the original whoopee, is clattering up the sound stages again—and the word is clatter.

First you hear her, then you see her—the Velez. She's practicing a tap routine in floppy sandals, and she breaks out in gassy breaths and taps—in a gassy vocalization of "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." The song has nothing to do with the movie she's making but seems to be her theme today.

She's singing about her heart and then, when you tie her to a chair to keep her still a few minutes between scenes, she says it doesn't belong to anybody.

This is typically Lupe, because a few days before she has said nice things about a mysterious, attractive New York swain. But now all she knows about that is what she's read in the papers. "I weesh they'd tell me where he is, these fine lover they write about," she pouts, working hard to keep her feet still.

"All I know is I read I'm going to Reno to divorce John-nee (Weissmuller) geekek. When I go I don't know—I just read it." You, like Lupe, may have read it too. You read it because Lupe said it—but Lupe doesn't remember that. Because Lupe says so much from one day to another you can't expect Lupe to remember what she's said.

Her scene today (in "The Girl from Mexico") has her cracking a vase over Leon Errol's head. But Lupe never, never does such things unless the script calls for it. "They say I have terrible temper, I have not temper. The only temper I have is when I get paid for it. I break 'em today. I get salary for it. I break my beautiful long finger right today too. See me today—'til I nail all sort again!"

The Velez energy never runs down. She taps when less limited players rest. She sings when they are too weary to talk. She eats: "Today for lunch I have tomato soup with rice, and a salad, and four hot dogs, and sauerkraut, and ice cream. You see I eat what I please, when I please. This morning I woke up at 3 and I have beer and a cheese sandwich. When I sleep I sleep like nobody else—hard. I wake up rested." "You can't kill a bad one. The good die young, but the bad keep sheep—thats Lupe—you can't kill her. In New York the doctor say I must rest, but I get seek of that. I get up and go in the Stork club. Lupe won't be here long. Never anywhere longer." "I like to make picture here then I go. Two months I can stay Hollywood, no more. I get seek of it. Same in New York, same in Buenos Aires, same every place. I have grand time everywhere, meet fine friends, have fun, then more on. I cannot stay same place all the time." From staying in same chair too long Lupe, the whoopee, is rescued by her director. She advances to the front, to her waiting glass of "coke." Her eyes are bright and her attitude is gleaming as she swigs a swift bottle stepping into the camera range. She looks in health and vim as she did before—before that incredible lunch

BITS about Sports

By J. DENNIS SULLIVAN

Davey O'Brien, wisely concluding that 10,000 rocks in the box are worth a mountain of the geological variety, yesterday signed a contract to display his wares for the edification of Philadelphia Eagle fans next fall. His salary is reported to be close enough to the $10,000 mark that there wouldn't be much loss change either way. Davey, if his press agent can be believed, had every intention of putting around with rocks in his native Texas. However, the $10,000 bid convinced him that his career as a geologist could wait. It'll probably wait quite some time if he continues getting that kind of dough.

Chancellor C. S. Boucher of Nebraska university vouchsafes the information that he would vote against any proposal to take Nebraska out of the Big Six conference and place it in the Big Ten. We're not at all sure that we couldn't be induced to give Mr. Boucher a vote of confidence on a deal like that. This Big Ten, as constituted at the present time, isn't what could properly be termed a muffle knuckle league. It's quite difficult enough to win a contest in the loop now without the Cornhuskers horning in to make things more troublesome.

Patty Berg, Minneapolis miss whose antics on the golf links have been the despair of feminine opponents for several years, annexed another tournament to her lengthy list of conquests yesterday, capturing her second consecutive Women's Mid-South Golf tournament with a 54-hole score of 223, seven strokes ahead of her nearest rival and 26 under par for the three rounds. Looks like the only way they'll be able to beat Berg is not to invite her to any tournaments.

The all-university Boxing and Wrestling tournament comes to a close tonight at the fieldhouse. Admission will be 25 cents, not a staggering sum of money for an evening's entertainment.

The Bill Humphrey-Grant Johnson battle in the 175-pound class and the Vance Basler - Ervin Chesley shindig at 165-pounds figures to be worth more than the admission price. Johnson, by outscrambling George Falk and laying the crusher on Charles Hotle, stamped himself as a competent leather wielder. He'll have to be plenty classy tonight, however, as his opponent, Bill Humphrey packs plenty of wallop along with enough ring knowledge to embarrass most amateurs.

Those interested in wrestling, particularly the sort of mat mayhem dished out by the big boys, will come in for a share of the show when Bob Allen and Bob Otto tangle for the heavyweight championship of the university. There will be 14 bouts in all. Be on hand early and get a good seat.

University Fight, Mat Finals Tonight

CARDS PUZZLE IN NATIONAL FLAG CHASE Six Boxing, Eight Wrestling Bouts on Tonight's Schedule

Basler-Chesley Slugfest Tops Fight Card, Bob Allen To Face Otto on Mat; Program Set for 7:30

Interest in intramural sports reaches its peak tonight when 28 grapplers and boxers tangle at the fieldhouse in the finals of the all-university boxing and wrestling tournament. An admission of 25 cents will be charged for the program, beginning at 7:30, of eight wrestling and six boxing bouts.

Although, due to an injury to Dick Grest's ankle that caused cancellation of his battle with Al Coupee, there will be no heavyweight bout, there will be plenty of fists being tossed in the six scheduled fights.

The two heavier bouts, especially, promise some heavy hitting as Bill Humphrey and Grant Johnson square off in the 175-pound final and Vance Basler tangles with Ervin Chesley in the 165-pound bout.

Humphrey, fraternity titleholder, is one of the better boxers in the meet, having outpointed Walter Wright and John Brown in his march through the other fraternity aspirants.

However, Humphrey may be forced to resort to a free-swinging battle if he expects to down the rangy Johnson. Johnson, who knocked out Charles Hotle and outpointed George Falk in his two bouts, has been using a left jab to bother opponents and this may prove annoying to the shorter Humphrey.

The Basler-Chesley bout seems very likely to furnish some fireworks! Basler stopped Richard Knapp in the opening round of his one fight so far, while Chesley beat his one opponent, also by the K.O. route. Basler is the town 165-pound representative and Chesley, Grover house batter, is the co-op champ.

Heading the list of matmen to perform will be the heavyweight pair of gridiron huskies, Bob Allen and Bob Otto. Allen threw Bill Humphrey in his one start on the mat, while Otto, freshman from Fort Dodge who is working out at center with the football squad, is untried here as yet, except as a griddler.

Tankmen Off For Michigan

Medley Relay Race Of National Meet Set for Tomorrow

Heading for Ann Arbor, Mich., and a meet that will probably be more or less dominated by the host team, Michigan's fast-splashing Wolverines, Dave Armbruster and his three-man team of Hawkeyes have departed for the NCAA swimming championships that will come tomorrow and Saturday.

Armbruster, counting strongly on his medley relay team of Al Armbruster, Capt. Ray Walters and George Poulos, has been watching developments with interest, for almost anything might happen in the medley race.

With five teams, Ohio State, Texas, Iowa, Princeton and Michigan, ranking as strong contenders for the medley title, there may be some shifting around. Matt Mann, Michigan mentor, who develops some new strategy in nearly every meet, is host of the NCAA affair this year and already has a complete list of the entries, which information he can use to the best advantage.

Considering the fact that Mann's medley team may be up against some very tough competition, it is possible that he may enter only a weak team and save Barker, Haigh and Beebe for their specialties. This would be no new type of maneuvering on Mann's part, for he footed other Big Ten teams in the conference meet by doing just that.

Such a move on the part of the Wolverine coach would leave the Hawkeyes in a much better position in the medley, but would cut down chances elsewhere. Besides Tomski, Michigan would have Barker and Holmes, both fresh for the dash events, spelling trouble for Iowa's Captain Walters, as well as other sprinters.

Cooper, Nelson Lead Southern Golf Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22 (AP)—Par took a pummeling today by golf's army of professionals, including a record-shattering score by light-horse Harry Cooper, and when day was done the halfway leader in the north and south open tournament was Byron Nelson, ruddy-faced Ryder cup player from Reading, Pa.

Lighthorse Harry broke all records for the No. 2 Pinehurst course with a sensational 68, six under par.

The old record of 67 was held jointly by Horton Smith, Denny Shute and Ed Dudley.

The spectacular performance by Cooper, which might easily have been two to three strokes lower had putts dropped, was not overshadowed in the stroke count, but the youthful Nelson a former Texan who came up from the caddy ranks, shot the second round in 68 blows and took the lead through 36 holes with 139.

Pitching Arms Stand Tests King Carl Hubbell, Schumacher Throw Them Past Philadelphia Athletics

BATON ROUGE, La., March 22 (AP)—Repair work on two of baseball's greatest pitching arms was tested rigidly today—and passed.

For the first time since surgeons lifted chipped bones out of their elbows last winter, King Carl Hubbell and Harold Schumacher uncovered their respective left and right arms for rapid fire in an exhibition game with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The New York Giants' chances for the National league pennant soared as the veterans bore down for three innings each and allowed only three hits and one run between them.

Both pitchers were elated and followers of the club at spring training camp here maintained the two had regained the old form that won league championships for the Giants in 1933, 1936 and 1937.

Manager Bill Terry echoed the enthusiasm of his mound stars, although his spirits dampened somewhat when a late rally by Connie Mack's youngsters netted three runs to tie the score in the ninth and three more to let the

Bees Sting Tigers

BRADENTON, Fla., March 22 (AP)—The Boston Bees set off a four-run blast against right-hander George Gill in the fourth inning today while defeating the Detroit Tigers 5-3.

Eddie Miller, in addition to starring afield, supplied the punch for the Bees' rally by tripling with the bases loaded. The Tigers out-hit the victors 11-7, but the latter used all but one of their safeties in run-making.

Rookie Beats Cards

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Pete Reiser, a 19-year-old shortstop who was born in St. Louis and once was in the Cardinal chain, helped beat the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday with a three-run homer and two singles that led the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-4 victory. Reiser, a switch-hitter from the Dodgers' Elmira farm, poked his four-bagger with two on in the first inning to cap a five-man assault on Ken Raffensberger.

"I haven't a kick in the world," he beamed as he came from under his shower later. Patting his right arm, he said "it worked fine. Not a bit of soreness. I think I'm ready to pitch some real ball this season."

Diamond Nine Opens Apr. 3 Third Base, Pitching Staff Offer Vogel His Only Problems

With the recent spring weather helping tremendously, Coach Otto Vogel's baseball squad continues its outdoor drills in preparation for its opening tilt April 3 with Millsaps college at Jackson, Miss.

Coach Vogel is still experimenting with third basemen. Yesterday Norman Hankins, a sophomore, worked out at the hot corner Frank Kocur, who has been playing third in recent practices, is out temporarily with a split thumb.

Jim George, most valuable player in the Big Ten last year, also has been tried at the third sack, being shifted there from an outfield post. However, he was back at his outfield position yesterday.

The team kept up its slugging activities last night with the veteran outfield, composed of George and Co-captains Art Manush and Bill Voigt, leading the pack. Frank Balazs, in his first year out for the diamond sport, also showed up well.

With the hitting problem taken care of, Coach Vogel still is confronted with pitching wor-

Gehrig Finally Removed From Yankee Lineup

HAINES CITY, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Lou (iron man) Gehrig missed his first New York Yankees baseball game since 1925 today as manager Joe McCarthy benched him in favor of Tommy Henrich, who took a firm hand in the champions' 14 to 4 conquest of Kansas City.

Gehrig has looked pitifully rusty in the Yankees' early activities and McCarthy decided that resting the veteran's legs would do him more good than playing another ball game against New York's American association farmhands.

Kansas City used 19 players in an effort to keep the score respectable, and succeeded up until the fifth frame when the Yanks laid down an eight-run barrage. The big blow in this attack was a 400-foot double by Joe DiMaggio with the bases loaded.

The loss of Matt Faber and Howard Miller from last year's Big Ten co-champions will no doubt seriously affect Iowa's championship ambitions. However, Ken Reid, Harold Haub, and Fred Hohenhorst have been doing a capable job of hurling in recent practices.

Entered in Chicago Relays

Beta Theta Pi Swimmers Take Title for 2nd Straight Year

Beta Theta Pi's swimming team successfully defended the Interfraternity swimming championship they won last year by coping the meet last night for the second consecutive time. The Beta's placed in every event and took top honors in half the events on the program. They won both the 100 yard relay and the medley relay, the 60 yard backstroke and the 100 yard freestyle. The individual scoring was quite even with no man winning more than one event. Hirsch of Sigma Alpha Epsilon captured the 60-yard breaststroke; Kriebbaum, Beta Theta Pi, won the 60-yard backstroke; Murphy of Sigma Nu took first in the 60-yard free style; Ramsey of Beta Theta Pi won the 100-yard free style and Keller of Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the diving event. Tommy Lind, guard on Iowa's basketball team, stepped off the hardwoods and into the pool to take a second in the diving event. Tommy also won second in the third heat of the 60-yard free style but he did not place in the finals.

The complete summary: The 160-yard relay won by Beta Theta Pi; Phi Delta Theta, second. 60-yard breast stroke won by Hirsch 'S. A. E.'; Reiss, Sigma Chi, second; Hughes, Beta Theta Pi, third. 60-yard back stroke won by Kriebbaum, Beta Theta Pi; Karstens, Phi Delta Theta, second; Reich, Phi Delta Theta, third. 60-yard free style won by Murphy, Sigma Nu; O'Connor, Beta Theta Pi, second; Brown, Phi Psi, third. Diving event won by Keller, S. A. E.; Lind, Beta Theta Pi, second; Blaul, Beta Theta Pi, third. 100-yard free style won by Ramsey, Beta Theta Pi; Brown, Phi Kappa Psi, second; Cleve, Sigma Chi, third. Medley relay won by Beta Theta Pi (Kriebbaum, Jones, O'Connor); Sigma Nu, second. The team scoring is as follows: Beta Theta Pi 32; Sigma Alpha Epsilon 10; Sigma Nu and Phi Delta Theta 8; Phi Kappa Psi and Sigma Chi 4.

Relay Squad Plans Assault on Chicago Maroons' Relay Record; McCollister In Alternate Role

Coach George Bresnahan announced last night that John Collinge, junior hurdler, and Ed McCollister, senior quarter miler, have been invited to compete in the Chicago Relays this week end and will leave with the mile relay team tomorrow. Collinge, recognized as one of the best high hurdlers in the Midwest, will compete in his favorite event where he will be matched with several of the greatest hurdlers in the nation. McCollister will act as an alternate for the mile relay team and may enter one of the individual events. The relay team, Carl and Fred Teufel, John Graves, and Milt Billig, are consistently making good time in practice sessions and will endeavor to break the existing relay record Saturday night. All four men are seniors and this will be their final collegiate indoor competition. The relays will be run off in the International Livestock Amphitheater in Chicago.

NEW GOLF ENTRY City High To Have Golf Squad

Making final plans for the first such team in the school's history, Coach Francis Merten announced last night that the Iowa City high school will enter a golf team in state wars this spring. The Hawkleys probably will use the Finkbine field for practice and their contests. Merten also is making plans for a tournament between the Hawkleys and the Hawkleys.

Cage Coaches Open Session Saturday

May Suggest Rule Changes

Cage 'World Series' Gets Under Way In Chicago Sunday

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP) — Championship caliber basketball — of the college, professional and prep school varieties — will set up a practical "court laboratory" for the country's collegiate coaches this week end.

The national college basketball coaches association will open its annual three-day session Saturday, giving the mentors front row seats at three title tournaments.

The national college basketball coaches association will open its annual three-day session Saturday, giving the mentors front row seats at three title tournaments.

On Sunday, 12 teams will start in professional basketball's first "world series." Coaches are expected to make a first hand study of the game as played by stars who went through the college "mill" before putting a price on their field goals and free throws. Sunday night will see the windup of the national Catholic high school tournament, which opened tonight at Loyola university. On Monday evening Oregon and Ohio State battle at Northwestern university for the national collegiate athletic association's first championship.

The assembling coaches can recommend changes to the N. C. A. A. rules committee and there are reports one or two major adjustments will be agreed on.

William Chandler of Marquette university, president of the coaches' association, is in favor of a "hands off" policy for the present, but some mentors will work for some regulation to curb deliberate fouling. This usually occurs late in a game, when the leading team starts to stall. The opposition will sometimes deliberately foul a player on the gamble that it will gain possession of the ball after the free throw attempt.

Cinder Meet at Fieldhouse

High School Thinclads To Run Saturday In Mississippi Valley Meet

The University of Iowa fieldhouse will be the scene of high school competition for the second time in three weeks this Saturday afternoon when the Mississippi Valley conference indoor track and field meet is held on the fieldhouse track.

Two weeks ago it was basketball in the form of the district tournament but track has replaced the court game on the prep calendar.

It is a new sport but there is an old favorite. Clinton, favorite and winner of the basketball tourney, shares the favored role in track with Davenport's Blue Devils. Clinton and Davenport have dominated the conference indoor meet ever since its inception nine years ago, the Blue Devils winning five championships and the River Kings taking three crowns, no meet being held in 1931.

In the matter of records held the two river schools again take most of the honors with five records apiece, allowing only one, the 880-yard dash, to exist without their sanction. All of the Valley schools are expected to send entrants with the exception of Iowa City which has dropped the sport from the athletic curriculum. The remainder of the Valley schools are Clinton, Davenport, Dubuque, East and West Waterloo, and the four Cedar Rapids schools, Wilson, Roosevelt, McKinley, and Franklin.

Carl Nelson, one of Iowa's prep school greats of several years back, and mainspring of Clinton's state champion teams of 1932 and 1933, is the only double record holder. He holds the 50-yard dash record with a time of 5.4 seconds and the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet, 9 1-2 inches. Nelson later became the star member of the Iowa championship mile relay team of 1935. His broad jump record, made in 1932, is the oldest in the books.

Cagers Battle In City High Meet

Showing furious and sometimes fast but always rough basketball, three City high intramural basketball teams swept through the first round of the double elimination tournament last night. The Speeders dropped the Small Fry five, 16-12; Hot Rocks walloped the Hawkleys, 36-7 and the Hot Shots smashed the Stormers, 27-3.

Sullivan of the Hot Rocks was the high scorer for the evening with nine field goals for a total of 18 points. Tonight will see the final game of the first round when "Dusty" Maher's Tea Dancers go into their waltz with John Culbertson's Globe Trotters. "Tony"

The Valley meet will begin at 1:45 p.m. with 11 events to be run off during the course of the afternoon.

The high school competition doesn't end with the Valley meet, for the Little Six conference will hold their indoor championships the same night.

The record book reveals the following Mississippi conference facts and figures:

Year	Winner
1930	Davenport
1931	no meet
1932	Davenport
1933	Clinton
1934	Clinton
1935	Davenport

Net Team To Move Outside

Will Make Use Of New Tennis Courts South of Fieldhouse

Informal practice will be discontinued today when the tennis squad begins drill on the outdoor courts. With the return of suitable weather, Coach Arthur Wendler intends to move the netsters out of the fieldhouse to the new asphalt courts.

To date the practice has been anything but regular. The use of a single indoor court has prevented any type of full team practice and subsequently only a few men have handled rackets thus far this season.

With the opener against Purdue less than a month away, intensive outdoor practices will be the rule. Until the regular competitive surface, clay, may be used, the team will use the new asphalt courts, south of the fieldhouse. The courts, offering a fast playing surface, will be available for team practice at all times, as they need neither care, nor the weather's mercy.

Iowa City Woman's Club To Participate In Evening's Session

The community and junior college sections of the Iowa Play production festival will begin competition at 2:30 this afternoon in University theater.

Originally scheduled to begin this morning, the morning program was eliminated from the program when the Summer Culture club withdrew from the competition. Scott County Junior Farm Bureau and Waterloo Civic theater groups, previously scheduled to present their plays this morning, will appear tonight.

The festival gets underway with four junior college plays

TODAY'S PROGRAM
 2:15 p.m., Junior College Division — Osceola, "The Mayor and the Manicure"; Burlington, "A Matter of Choice"; Muscatine, "If the Shoe Pinches"; Bloomfield, "Babbitt's Boy."
 7:30 p.m., Class B Community Division — Walcott Junior Farm Bureau, "Shooting Star"; Burlington St. John's Dramatic club, "Babbitt's Boy"; Iowa City Woman's club, "Theories and Thumbs"; Clinton Woman's club, "So Wonderful! (In White)"; Waterloo Civic theater, "What Never Dies."

this afternoon and five class B community plays this evening. The class B community division includes community drama groups which produce plays only occasionally under various members or directors.

The Iowa City Woman's club presentation of "Theories and Thumbs" by Rachel Lyman Field, is scheduled as the third play on tonight's program. Directed by Nadine H. Thornton, the play cast includes Margaret Koenig, Wanda Lee Newburn, Myrtle Hubbard, Dorothy Thompson, Olive S. Ricketts and Norma N. Thornton.

Awards for junior colleges will be presented tomorrow afternoon. Class B community winners will receive awards Saturday morning, class C community casts, Saturday afternoon, and class A casts, Saturday evening.

Awards to be Given
 Awards will be made only to those groups rated superior or excellent by the judges — Prof. Hubert C. Heffner of Northwestern university, Prof. Edward C. Mabie, director of Iowa's University theater, and Prof. Albert T. Cordray of Westminster college in New Wilmington, Pa.

At the conclusion of each series of performances, the judge will critically evaluate each production.

All plays will be presented in University theater. Festival headquarters will be in the lobby of Iowa Union.

The 1939 Iowa play production festival marks the 14th time such a festival has been held at the University of Iowa. Twenty-two community plays and 10 junior college plays will be presented. High schools from all over the state will compete in the second part of the festival beginning Monday.

First Festival
 The first play festival was held in 1926. Until 1935, first place awards were made; since that time the group rating plan has been used, whereby the achievements of each group of players is described as superior, excellent, good or average or below average. Two or more plays may receive identical ratings.

The purposes of the festival are (1) to develop a widespread interest in the theater, (2) to encourage organizations or amateur players in communities and schools, (3) to encourage the production of good plays, (4) to bring forward new playwrights in the state of Iowa and (5) to bring together amateur players and their directors for mutual interchange of ideas and inspiration.

The extension division of the university, the community drama committee of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs and the Iowa speech department are co-sponsors of the festival.

Committee in Charge
 Professor Mabie is chairman of the general committee. Other members are Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division; Prof. Harry G. Barnes of the speech department; Prof. Vance M. Morton, associate director of University theater; Prof. Hunton D. Sellman, technical director of University theater.

Prof. Arnold S. Gillette, art director of University theater; Mrs. Wilbur Sackett, Spencer, chairman of drama division of Iowa Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. E. P. Conkle, Iowa City, vice-chairman of drama division of Iowa Federation of Women's clubs.

Donald Winbigler, associate in the speech department, is festival secretary.

Officially Open New Youth's Playing Center
 Eugene Trowbridge Announces Schedule Of Arranged Hours

The new Iowa City Recreational Center was officially opened yesterday afternoon when Iowa City youths jammed the newly remodeled game room on the mezzanine floor of the Iowa City Community building.

Eugene Trowbridge, director, announced that a temporary hour schedule will be maintained until other rooms are complete. On week days the center will be open from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and from 7 to 9:30 p.m., he revealed. Open hours on Saturdays will be from 9 a.m. till noon and from 1 till 5 p.m.

Both boys and girls will use the rooms in the afternoons and all day Saturday, Trowbridge said, but only boys will be admitted in the evenings.

Definite plans are being made to expand playing space into craft rooms, handball courts and other recreation rooms. Probably the next room to be opened, Trowbridge said, will be the girls' club room. Work is expected to begin on that room this week.

The recreation room now in use is divided into two sections. The larger part, measuring 35x28 feet, is used for informal games as ping pong and card and board games. The other part, standing a foot and a half above the common floor level, is used for reading. It can also be used as a stage.

The proposed girls' room will be 16x28 feet.

New Yorker Hurt in Crash

Unable To Stop As Car Ahead Stops For Hitch-Hiker

Benjamin Gordon, 21, Brooklyn, N. Y., was slightly injured yesterday morning when the car which he was driving crashed into the rear of a car driven by Frank Horan, 24, Muscatine. The accident occurred on highway No. 6 at 11:30 a.m. near Iowa City, local police reported.

Gordon suffered a minor scalp wound and injury to his left arm and right leg, police said. Horan escaped injury.

Gordon told police he was traveling west at about 35 miles an hour and was unable to stop when Horan's car stopped to pick up a hitch-hiker.

Estimated damage to Gordon's car was $300 and Horan's car, $100.

SUI Student Hurt in Freak Accident Gains

The condition of Eugene Schroder, 19, Davenport, who is suffering from a lacerated and fractured foot as a result of an accident Tuesday afternoon, was declared "good" by University hospital officials last night.

Schroder, riding in a car on highway No. 218, had his left foot extended over the side when the car in which he was riding passed an Iowa City Light and Power company truck parked at the side of the road. Schroder was unable to pull his foot back in time to avoid brushing it against the truck.

Jack Roche, Davenport, was driver of the car in which Schroder was riding. Other passengers were Jean Horrigan and Marilyn Cook, both of Davenport.

Frills, Frivols Will Enact Large Part in Gay Easter Parade

Fashion Says Flared Skirts Hit New High

Starched Laces For Outlining Dark Hats And Bolero Dresses

By SHIRLEY LAMB
A penny for your thoughts! But since it's spring and the feminine fancy turns to frills and frivols, it won't take three guesses or a psychic mind to tell you that you're thinking of the part you and your wardrobe will play in the gay Easter parade.

Tips a la Paree say that short, full skirts swung from tiny waistlines over starched petticoats created for the first breeze, harbinger for other light spring wardrobe touches.

Foamy Irish crochet and starched white lace which outline the bolero of a black day suit or brims a black sailor hat makes a chic spring suit. Then there's the navy jacket suit with white pique at the neckline and bright red accessories, set off by a white sailor wrapped in white veiling.

Classic Black Suit

A neat, demure black suit with cloud-fresh white mouseline de soie blouse is both classic and smart. Another outfit for the business woman is a Balenciaga's gray and white striped flannel suit with white pique Italian cut-work blouse. But for the all-around suit of the year, fashion experts nominate a tweed suit of beige and cream herringbone with a cardigan jacket and full skirt.

As for Easter frocks, a sulphur and grey striped dress with full-skirted, gray redingote is a star possibility. Another Easter favorite is a short-sleeved, full-skirted coat in red worn over a navy and white print dress plus a classic touch furnished by long navy gloves.

Hats—stiff sailors, bonnets, schoolgirl Bretons—done up in clouds of veiling and sweetened with old-fashioned flowers will be highlights in their own right for the Easter parade.

Novelty for Lapels

Flower colors in bags with gloves to match are "musts" on every shopping list. Lapel clusters of fruit or their blossoms are other novel ways of brightening up a suit or coat collar. Even fans for evening wear are made of pink lilacs or red taffeta carnations with blue taffeta leaves.

Jewelry garnishings in porcelain flowers, bird-clips, multi-colored beads, sea shells and Mexican gourds are costume "pepper-uppers" this season.

For moonlight dancing and country club evenings a gypsy dress of coarse white net with green taffeta ruffles and colored bead trim about the neck and sleeves is a Fifth avenue favorite. A pink faille basque evening gown and strapless, of course, makes a lovely dancing portrait. For spring dramatics, a gunmetal taffeta photomural gown which is printed with enormous white plumes. One plume on the bodice and skirt is embroidered in metallic red.

Shoes to Match or Contrast

Soft, bright colored shoes will either match or contrast your costume. And, open toes and heels are definite spring shoe specialties. Novelty influence from Holland and Mexico brings cut an alligator "dutch boy" pair with low-heeled comfort and smartness combined. Beige shoes woven in intricate Mexican patterns are also low-heeled and ideal for sport wear.

It's a spring with costumes and accessories as bright and colorful as the flower buds themselves. So fashion previews should predict a world looking bright, fresh, gay, crisp and clean for Easter morning.

Spring Gloves To Be Extreme, Colorful, Ornate

Ornate, extreme and colorful are this season's gloves. Ornate because on sports gloves handsewn trimmings, quiltings and leather incrustations are seen as well as cut-out, semi-detached scallops or leaf edgings. Appearing on afternoon gloves are designs copied from ancient Assyrian and Babylonian documents.

Extreme because sports gloves are held down to one button and afternoon gloves are fastened with 22 or more buttons.

Colorful because elegant lavender kid gloves are being featured. Some gloves are in graduated color schemes of fuschia, cyclamen or rose. Tawny beige, terra cotta, henna and mahogany are stressed for street-length gloves. Honey yellow and fresh butter are two new colors used in gloves.

'Tis 'Green Sprouting Things' That Arouse Gardening Spirit

This is the time of year when the garden enthusiast begins to send for seed catalogs, wash off the bulbs he has stored in the basement all winter, sharpen up the rake and prong among the "green sprouting things" under the bur-lap sacks in the garden. But the rules say, "Bide your time." There is a positive danger in setting out seedlings and bulbs too early.

Mrs. C. E. Seashore, 815 N. Linn street, above (above) is one of Iowa City's most enthusiastic gardeners. She is a member of the garden department of the Iowa City Woman's club, and although her garden isn't extensive, its simplicity and charm draws many visitors.

Her garden boasts a fine view of the Iowa river and at the north corner of it, Dean and Mrs. Seashore have built an informal fire-place of summer picnics. It is proof that out-door fireplaces

Fairs And Hot Dogs

Summer Expositions To Suggest Methods Of Food Preparation

Hostess Hints

Both San Francisco and New York have flung out the flags and are sponsoring great exciting fairs this summer. Of course, along with all the exhibits and the progressive ideas of modern life that will be revealed, we still have with us the old favorite of the American public, be it ever so sophisticated, the hot dog. And, naturally, the fairs will bring out new ways of preparing the old favorites.

Here are some possibilities that are already featured.

Frankfurter Quails

Split frankfurters lengthwise. Fill with one-fourth inch thick of sharp cheese. (Savory dressing, pineapple or pickle may be used for variety.) Wrap each frankfurter spiral fashion with a whole piece of bacon, fastening each end with a toothpick.

Place in a baking dish or on a broiling rack split side up. Bake or broil in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) Turn if necessary to cook the bacon thoroughly.

Barbecue Sauce for Frankfurters

1-2 pound of butter or margarine.

1 pint apple vinegar

1-2 cup water

1 teaspoon mustard

2 tablespoons minced onion

1 1-2 teaspoons sugar

1-2 cup Worcestershire sauce.

1-2 cup tomato catsup

1-2 cup chili sauce

Juice from 1-2 lemon

1 clove garlic, diced and tied in cloth.

Simmer together until smooth.

Dip a good frankfurter in this sauce and then broil and you have a dish fit for any king. And don't be surprised at numerous requests for seconds and thirds.

Here are new clothes for the old fashioned hamburger.

Wrap seasoned hamburger around a pickled onion. Dip into beaten egg then into crushed corn flakes. Fry in hot fat until well-browned, about five minutes. Serve hot.

Bacon Hamburgers

Wrap two-inch wide patties of hamburger with a slice of bacon. Broil. Top with a slice of broiled mild white onion. For buffet parties, serve with crisp hamburger buns.

Mend Shoe Strings

When metal tips come off shoe strings, dip the tips in hot paraffin and twist the ends.

Riotous Color; Novel Patterned Shoes Set Pace

"Heel, toe . . . heel, toe" — that's the leader's directions for one of the old-fashioned folk dances which were popular in the days when grandmother was a girl. But it well might be applied to today's popular foot styles, for this spring heelless and toeless shoes are the most important.

Colors run riot, covering both rainbow and spectrum hues and shades. Lighter colors are being worn this spring with japonica, blueberry, toast, seafoam green and the darker shades of fuschia being shown extensively.

Materials range from doeskin, antelope and fabrics to such novel innovations as cellophane. Suede is being shown, but not as extensively as last year.

For sports, the square-toed, barge shoes are in step with the times. Saddle shoes are still to footwear what the Odyssey is to literature. Woven pigskin with thick crepe soles or built up heels with stripes are also good for spring wear.

And for every shoe there's a matching purse to complete your Easter parade ensemble!

Gadget Protects Evening Dresses

A Fifth avenue shop that specializes in equipment and gadgets for the clothes closet is featuring slabs of vitrolite, a new colored glass, to be laid beneath hangers to protect evening dresses that otherwise would touch the floor. The vitrolite may be had in a variety of colors to harmonize with the scheme of your bedroom and can be cleaned merely by wiping off with a damp cloth. An extra shelf may also be achieved by having the material cut in the proper length and laid on top of the base-board to stretch across the closet.

Paste Removes Mark

Use a thin paste of salad oil and salt to remove marks made by hot dishes on your polished table top. Spread over the marked spot, leave an hour or so and then rub off gently with a soft cloth.

Drapery, Slip-Cover Materials Designed With Light Colors

Technical Advances In Dye Processes Lower Color Costs

The drapery and slip-over fabric departments are one step ahead of Mother Nature and already look like Spring herself. Materials with cheerful light colors and festoons of flowers are draped in such enticing displays that every woman is tempted to do her spring redecorating immediately.

If March wind and rain roars outside and the spirits begin to lag, there is nothing like a trip to the decorating departments to cheat the weather and steal a march on spring. Certainly now is the time to choose cloth for curtains, chair and sofa coverings, so that they can be made up in plenty of time to put into the rooms the minute spring decides to stay.

There's good news for every eye and every pocketbook. Because of technical advances in weave and dye processes subtle colors that used to run into lots of money can now be had at less than a dollar a yard. Background fabrics are more subtle in coloring and lamps are beginning to take on brighter colors as accents, reversing the mode for bright background fabrics and pale lamps.

If you have an early American or Georgian room, document fabrics, with designs taken directly from old American wallpapers and quilts, would go beautifully with your antique furniture. Modern, contemporary fabrics with flat leaves and flowers remind one of the flora in a Rousseau forest painting.

One of the document prints with large flower bouquets in widely spaced stripes comes in pleasant combinations of the new subtle pastel shades. The fabric is a thin, soft cotton like an unglazed turquoise and brick red. Another is shocking pink with gray and deep purple with yellow.

A prep school in Massachusetts supplied the pattern for an unusual floral design now reproduced in unglazed chintz. Olive green with brick red and off-white or mustard brown with dark blue and cream color are the color combinations.

An old Britany petticoat gave the design for a bright glazed chintz. Among its colors are mid-

New Faces Make-Up Tips To Fit Spring Fashions

After weeks of thumbing through fashion books, peeping in shop windows and endless trying on of suits, frocks and coats, your list for a dashing new spring wardrobe is pretty well underway. But while you're redecorating your clothes hangers and shoe trees, don't let your mirror reflect last January's face. Let's redecorate it, too, and make it more alive and exciting.

Bizarre experimenting with make-up just for a fashion whim won't give you a fresher and younger face. And after all, spring cleaning is just the time to add a big dose of new sparkle and smartness to your personality.

There's a whole palette of spring colors to dabble into. Shades in lipstick are definitely more lovely and permanent than ever before.

In looking over all the shades and colors we find that the major tones of the season are rust, deep, rich red, clear, bright red and a pinky, bluish red.

If you've skin with lots of vitality as your natural heritage, a deep, rich red will flatter you with harmonizing cheek rouge used very, very lightly. Your powder should have just enough beige and rose warmth to blend in with Mother Nature. And, please have care with those finger nails! Match 'em with a light rosy shade or a deep red polish.

Clear, red lipstick perks up the lass who has a clear skin and fairly light coloring. Step around those rosy shades of powder and concentrate on the creamy tones.

A clear, red polish makes the contact between the lips and fingers. The newest tone is, of course, to be worn with blue, purple, wine, fuschia and green. Everybody can't wear it and unless you have a clear complexion and a knack of

Men To Wear Bright Colors

White Shirts To Be Scarce; Even Shoes Will Follow Trend

The Easter parade is going to be a riot of color this year but it will not be just the ladies who will be decked out in the colors of the rainbow. When the morning cut-away has been laid aside after the church services, you'll find that the men have decked themselves out in red, green, yellow and blue — and these colors are not as subdued as they used to be.

Sport jackets that hang loosely from the shoulders and fall into belted and unbelted backs will have individual hues. The soft shirts worn with these jackets will be in contrasting colors and white shirts will be few and far between, men's fashion reporters say.

The bright color combinations will be mostly found in put-together suits that rely on individual taste for their ensemble. Personalities will come to the fore in this new era of gaiety.

As for slacks, checks and stripes will run riot in color and weave. They are high-waisted, sporty and infinitely more comfortable than styles of previous years.

Shoes have followed the color trend too. Checkered fabrics and soft leather weaves have been molded into soft, comfortable play shoes.

color harmony in dressing, take warning! It's equally smart for blonde or brunette and especially chic on the well-groomed, grey-haired madame. And again those finger nails can be made to fit into the scheme with various shades of the pinky, bluish tone.

Spann, Fehling Use Pedagogical Angle In New German Text

Prof. Meno Spann and Fred L. Fehling of the German department are collaborating on a functional German grammar, to be submitted within six weeks to Harper and Brothers, New York publishers, for examination.

Approaching the language not merely from a grammatical, but also a pedagogical viewpoint, the instructors are making essential simplifications in this grammar intended for university use.

Following the pedagogical rule of proceeding from the known to the unknown, the authors are making systematic use of English, even old Shakespearean terms, to take away from the strangeness of German grammatical phenomena.

"Grammar is a necessary evil in teaching foreign languages," Professor Spann has explained, "but it is not to be taught for its own sake."

In an article for the German Quarterly, Professor Spann defends this new method, explaining what he considers shortcomings in the existing grammars.

Plan 36 Miles Of Local Road Reconstruction

Will Become Part Of Iowa 'Farm To Market' Road Plan

Recommendation that 36 miles of secondary roads in Johnson county be considered for reconstruction, improvement and surfacing be considered by the Iowa state highway commission and the United States bureau of roads came from the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon. Federal grants have been made available for such projects.

The board and county engineer suggested that three roads be included in the undertaking. They are the road known as the "Poor Farm" road from Iowa City west to the county line; county trunk road "A" from its intersection with primary road No. 1 west to the county line, and the road which runs for five miles on the county line between Iowa and Johnson county, a mile east and 1.85 miles north to the intersection with county trunk road "A".

These proposed local roads will become part of the new Iowa system of farm-to-market roads embracing about 10,270 miles in all, if the project is approved. The state program will advance under the Iowa house bill which the senate passed with major amendments Tuesday.

Approximately $42,000 is available to Johnson county for improvement of the only main secondary roads in the county. Two years have been allowed for the undertaking, the funds for which have been created through federal aid and the state primary road fund, board members pointed out.

The money must be spent only on the most heavily traveled roads in the county, according to stipulations from the state highway commission and the federal bureau of roads.

Work will be started this year on the poor farm road and the county trunk road "A" west to the county line, R. H. Justen, county engineer, said yesterday, if approval for the project is made.

Contracts for the project will be let at Ames under the approval of the county board of supervisors if the proposed local plan meets approval, Justen said.

Included in Johnson county's proposal is the construction of a bridge over Old Man's creek. The bridge may be constructed this year if the final approval is given, the county engineer said, instead of in 1940.

Daykin Speaks To Lions Club

Discusses Effects Of National Labor Act on Business

Daykin, college of commerce, as he discussed the adjustments in relationships between employer and employes due to the national labor relations act before members of the Lions club at their weekly meeting yesterday noon in Reich's pine room.

"The field of interstate commerce has been enlarged; and laborers on strike due to unfair labor practice by the employer can not be discharged if the employer has been at fault," Professor Daykin continued.

Concluding with the statement that "the act makes unions mandatory if the employes desire a union, but it does not name the type of union," Professor Daykin said that the company union, if not controlled by the company, is legal and may be local.

Discover Beauty of Herbs As Decorative Material in Gardens

Plants Also Used For Food Flavors; Are Easily Grown

The increasing use of herbs, both as decorative material in gardens and as flavors in food, has been made apparent by seed growers and nurserymen during the last few years. Today we are rediscovering their beauty in the garden and their culinary uses.

Many herbs are easily raised and may be grown in any good garden soil. Some like thyme grow well in the sunny dry rock garden where the rocks provide drainage and they are exposed to open sunlight.

Others, like the mints, prefer moist soil near a natural pool and semi-shady locations. Either grown by themselves or in a separated patch, they thrive equally well. It is especially handy for housewives to have a small patch of herbs close to the kitchen door where they may be quickly snipped for garnishing.

Good Drainage Necessary
The first requisite for growing herbs is soil with good drainage. Cottonseed meal and bone meal are necessary additions to the soil because of their moisture-retaining qualities. If seeds are to be sown, care should be taken to break up the soil and make it fine. If the ground is spaded, this may be done as each spade-full is turned over. If it is plowed, it should be harrowed and all remaining lumps broken by thorough raking.

If the seeds are sown, thinning them to the proper distances afterwards can be done with the rake. Seedlings started in a winter frame can be successfully transplanted. This is an especially good method if the herbs are perennials.

Some herb seeds germinate so slowly that it is wise to purchase a few plants of each kind, and in the case of perennials, propagate them by division or cuttings later.

It is a good idea to grow all annuals from seed and also perennials that germinate readily, including catnip, chives, horehound sage and thyme. All perennial herbs may be propagated quickly by root division, layering and cuttings.

Start Herbs in May
May, or whenever the danger of frost is over, is the best time to start herbs. The soil should be very carefully moistened before the seeds are planted. The very small seeds may be mixed with sand to make it easier to sow them thinly. Firm the soil over the seeds by pressing it down with a flat board, but the seeds are not covered with soil. Cover the bed with burlap until the seeds germinate. The soil should not be allowed to dry out. When watering, sprinkle the soil with a very fine spray. Thinning should then be done when the plants have developed four leaves.

When cuttings are made during the summer, it is wise to add fertilizer to keep the plants growing healthily. Thyme should be kept clipped to prevent it from spreading and crowding other plants. The roots of mint may need restraining for the same reason. For best results with mint, the bed should not be permitted to go to seed but should be kept cut.

Divide the roots of perennial herbs every few years and reset in a new and well-fertilized location to renew them and keep them growing vigorously. The beginner with herbs who does not have much space might start with a few perennials, such as chives, mint, sage, tarragon and thyme.

Starch Helps Ticks
Before putting feathers back into ticks after spring laundering, line the ticks with a thick layer of heavy starch. That helps to keep the feathers from working out.

Riding Is Spring Recreation

Latest Sport Creations Require Slim, Attractive, Well-Proportioned Figures

Tennis, golfing, riding, boating, archery and hiking are but a few of the sports that the official arrival of spring puts before us. Costume designers for the various sports definitely have style in their new creations, and added to that should be a well-kept figure. Until the time comes when we revert to the old-fashioned sports wear, attractive forms must be revealed by the fitted slacks, brief shorts and scanty swim suits.

Now that we have had a taste of nice weather it brings to mind the fact that many of us must acquire attractive figures while others must maintain them. The most efficient manner in which muscle can be built up and fatty tissue torn down is by lots of exercise. Man, woman or child will benefit from a few of the simpler actions which may easily comprise your daily dozen. First of all, is what is known as "pick-up" and the purpose of this exercise is to make you more flexible, to flatten your stomach muscles and to lengthen the muscles in the back of your legs. Drop something and bend quickly to retrieve it without bending your knees.

"Time-on-your-hands" is devoted to whitening the hands by lifting the arms above the head for two minutes. Assuming this "hallelujah" pose, your hands will achieve that pale-hands-I-love quality.

Enjoying the scenery as you ride has been classified as "commuter's eyes," healthfully exercising your eyes by watching the passing objects.

Sit with your feet in an exaggerated pigeon-toed position, and keeping your heels far apart, tap on the floor 10 times with your toes and 10 times with your heels to lengthen and strengthen the muscles of the feet and ankles. As this exercise may be practiced while riding, or at any other convenient time, it has been given the name of "taxi dancer."

"Hold it" The camera clicks—are you as attractive at all times as you are when posing? Try to always be ready for the camera. You will find that it helps you to adopt a better facial expression and a better posture while sitting or standing.

To overcome character lines and hollows in the cheeks, as well as those haggard lines brought about by too much studying and loss of sleep, the "puffing" of the cheeks and upper lip does wonders.

"Footwork" can be accomplished while tubing—despite the fact that prize-fighters won't agree. Banish that tired feeling by wriggling the toes of one foot at a time. Rotate your ankles to strengthen and reduce them, and pick up marbles with your toes to strengthen the metatarsal arch.

Up to this time, it was not conceded to be in the very best of taste to watch the passing of a person to the extent that you turned your head almost half-way around. Now, authorities claim that if you keep your chin level, it is an excellent idea to look far back over your shoulder and thereby strengthen the muscles of your neck.

With a straight back, flat abdomen, chin held high and well-poised, how can you fail to be the winner in any of the sports in which you choose to participate?

Hanky Styles Match Kerchiefs With Your Outfit

Even hankies are blossoming out these days. When you select your new suit, blouse and accessories don't neglect to purchase a matching kerchief.

You'll find the dainty linen ones with hand embroidered edges will be just the thing to tuck in your purse when you put on that lacy white blouse.

Plain colored linen styles in the new shades may match or contrast with your blouse when you slip into your man-tailored suit for work or school. These may be in solid colors with appliqued flowers, animals and geometric designs or they may be completely plain.

But the most interesting of all the new hankies are the oversized cotton ones printed in gay floral patterns in single or bouquet designs in all colors with the brightest bright of whitest white background.

Older Woman Suits Figure

Simplicity Keynote To Attractive Dress For Mature Lines

For the older woman who's looked at life and learned a bit of wisdom, the world is hers if she knows how to face the fact that a woman's first job is being a woman—and an attractive woman.

She is the most fortunate of women, for she has grown wise and she can better estimate her own good and bad points and play them up or down. And, in this matter Dame Fashion is a willing accomplice.

From the housewife who does at least part of her own work and the business woman to the matron who devotes her time to civic and social projects, is no reason why each and all should not cash in on experience and wisdom.

Small things like facials and care of the hair help keep a woman feeling at her best. That is the first step in being attractive.

The older woman cannot, perhaps, wear the more extreme fashions which blossom out early in each season. She is wise enough to leave them for the younger girls and to choose rather the simpler styles which flatter her more mature face and figure. Wide hips may be slenderized by broad shoulder lines in her dresses. Few, simple and attractive ornaments are more effective. Little or no jewelry is more appropriate.

Simple Jacket Ensemble

Plain jacket ensembles in sheer navy or blue wool with a bit of lace at the neckline (always a V shape) or a pink or white pique edging on pockets and neck are the sort of suit dress the matron should choose.

Prints can be worn attractively by the large woman if they are in proportion and give an even all over effect. She should, however, avoid delicate traceries and patterns that stand out from their backgrounds.

If there are figure faults to be overcome—a bulge under the arm or a pronounced posterior—draped fullness at the shoulders and a skirt fullness which begins at the back only will do the trick.

For coats, long straight-lined ones are best. Fitted coats emphasize plumpness, while looser coats give a more dramatic touch to the taller woman.

Afternoon frocks likewise follow simpler lines. Lace on the front of the dress or a small lace collar will add distinction to the frock and to the wearer.

When it's a formal that's being considered the year-around, black in evening wear as well as in other clothes is the best choice. Lace net and dull finish materials are best choices for the matron. Here, as in her other clothing choices, simplicity is the keynote.

For sports wear, tailored suit or linen dresses, as the weather grows warmer, in plain colors or even all-over prints are practical and attractive.

But wherever the matron goes and whatever she does, simplicity is the mark of distinction and likewise the sign that she's wise to herself and to the world.

Spring Notes Attractive Stationery Makes A Hit

Comes spring, comes also the time of letter-writing — thank you notes to your roommate's mother for the week end you spent in her home, letters home to the family, applications for that job you'll be wanting come fall and just plain letters to your friends inviting them down or accepting their own invitations!

There are always a great many letters to be written, and it's a much pleasanter task if you're using attractive, spring-like stationery.

For that thank you note, you'll want the small note-sized paper in one of the three popular finishes, vellum, ripple or laid. For colors you can choose a shade as popular as your new spring chapeau.

When you begin to search carefully for that teaching position or that job which sounds like "a good thing," then you'll want to use the correct "application stationery." Plain white sheets and matching envelopes in the correct size are necessary.

For writing home and for general correspondence, the latest rage is "pound paper" which can be bought separately without envelopes. It comes in all the plain shades or in a checkered paper. Your initials, name and address, or nickname in a contrasting color will make it even more personal.

If it's an airmail letter you're sending, get the regular airmail paper made much lighter than ordinary stationery and accompanied by the limited envelopes through which your message cannot be seen. Accompanying this box is a small package of gummed stickers which read "air mail."

For those little notes that you dash off now and again to this or that friend, a clever, smaller note paper helps you out. Or light colored paper, it bears a picture of a small brown bear in one corner and the legend "I can't bear keeping this to myself" across the top.

If you're planning to give someone a stationery as a birthday, going-away or special gift you'll find a spring-like paper in a pale pastel pink and blue check that will make a lovely present for a fastidious woman. Or if it's a man you're thinking of, rippled deckle-edge stationery in gray or tan will be appropriate.

Apply Make-Up By Light Beam

New lights for beauty are to be found in a gadget for make-up perfectionists. Shine a lever, and behold, an honest little beam of light plays across the face, which is reflected in the mirror. It is a simple enough way of reaching perfection, and as it carries its own battery, it can be toted from pillar to post without the worry of searching for a light socket.

Wear Evening Hair Ribbon Hem Length

When you plan to wear a ribbon in your hair with your evening gown, try wearing it with long streaming ends which reach the hem of your formal. It will add that certain "something," and you will be at the head of the ribbon fashion parade.

Pajamas Keep In Tune With Spring Accent

Garments Appear In Distinctly Feminine Soft Printed Crepe

Pajamas, robes and housecoats are among the familiar styles that are keeping step with spring's influence. In keeping with the spring's dictate of feminine and appealing style, tailored pajamas appear in soft crepe with brilliant colored prints in small, refined and decorous lines.

One outfit well might be a twin for brother's or husband's set with its trim tailored lines of navy blue with small crown design that has long been popular as a necktie print. Matching the comfortable belted jacket and slim trousers is a plain full length robe with notched lapels trimmed with white military braid, a wide casual sash belt and a full swinging effect in the skirt. Business-like and yet completely comfortable, this outfit is an ideal one in which to cope with the day's menus and other household problems.

The Victorian influence is being shown in the nightgowns which various houses are showing for spring. Gleaming silken material woven in stripes is fashioned into long flowing feminine garments that have ruffles and bows at the neckline and on the bodice and sweep to the floor in slim fitted lines that flatter the waistline and hip-line. Delicate pastel colors on dainty lawn, dimity, and other washables are among other favorites for the spring and summer nights.

A new housecoat quite grand enough for an informal afternoon at home when guests drop in for tea and a chat is of gleaming gold metallic stripes on black satin. The neckline closes in a slanting line to the waist and the skirt flares out in yards of sophistication from the narrow waist. The sleeves are grandly shirred, high and handsomely at the shoulder.

Made of softer, frillier materials with their accent definitely on the helpless and feminine side, other housecoats have shirred bodices and then sweep out in ruffled skirts that froth becomingly down to the ankles. Frivolous ruchings on the sleeves and at the neckline set off by plain flared skirts are other possibilities.

One coat of palest pink satin has an all over stitched design of ostrich feathers that shimmer as the light catches their gleam. The whole effect of this number is in the richness of the material as its lines are severely plain. Its sleeves are long with shirring at the wrist to gather in the fullness.

Jewelled Pins Decorate Coats

Ferdinands, Carved Flowers, Tiny Hats Make Bright Lapels

A flower in your buttonhole adds a springlike touch to your costume, but even a flower will wilt before evening, so here's a floral lapel ornament that may be worn time and again — and it will not wilt nor wither. It's a bouquet carved from real lapis lazuli, fashioned in a miniature white enamel vase. Other similar sprays are of turquoise, carnelian or amethyst with tiny green leaves of real jade.

Simple Simon might have inspired the idea for these glitter fish for jewelled and enamelled, they add a chic gleam wherever they are caught on a lapel.

You'll always be looking at the new moon — which means good luck — if you pin a crescent moon with a sparkling lantern swinging from the tip. Finished in a silver gilt, it makes a sharp, clear silhouette on dark suits.

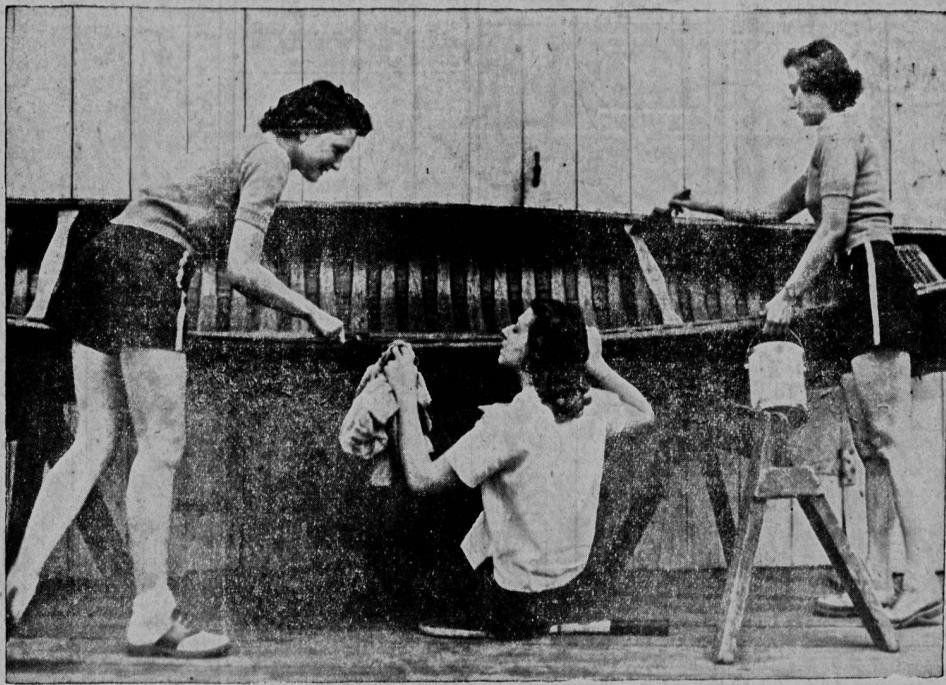

Of course you'll want Ferdinand with shy, downcast eyes to sniff the spring flowers from your coat collar. His ears are rhinestone studded and his tongue is a bright red enamel.

Tiny Mexican hats in bright woven straw dangle as smart decorations for sport jackets. And, colorful red peppers made of wooden disks are novel dashes for a plaid reefer.

Fruit of all kinds and description are clustered together with green leaves for pinning here and there on your costume. Not to be out done, there's a tricky bunch of celery and radishes outlining a fat red tomato.

Matching the season's necklaces and bracelets of multi-colored sea shells, a group of shells in all sizes and shapes hangs from a gold bar that can be slipped through the lapel and anchored. But if you want to be more specific about your sea creatures, there are little starfish, sea horses and even devil fish which can be had in all colors and sizes.

Preparing for Canoeing

If it's canoeing that you plan to do during these spring days, then first you must give the canoe a thorough overgoing so that it will be seaworthy. So spring finds these three university women carefully priming and painting "The Red Chief" preparatory to a whole season of canoeing. They are (left to right) Edith Leahy, A4 of Pt. Washington, N. American Co-ed Likes Her Clothes; Looks as Smart as Paris Models

A dillar—a dollar—an attractive scholar—and we have a picture of today's college girl, interested and alert in her studies as she prepares for her career and just as vivacious and interested in the things so dear to any girl's heart—play, clothes and fun.

Traditionally the American co-ed is distinguished by her superbly casual clothes that, nevertheless, manage to look as completely smart as the latest detailed outfit from Paris. The nonchalance of her bright soft sweaters and slim straight skirts can be equalled nowhere else. The cardigan has come back into a lasting favor with those hip-bone styles that button severely down the front and with carelessly pushed up sleeves are old friends and favorites.

Lime green, sky blue, zippy lemon yellow, magenta and all the shades of rose are a few of the color possibilities. Skirts either exactly match in shade or are outstanding for their contrast and, as the first warm days arrive, there seems to be no end to the very new and very pleasing contrast that can be inspired by endless color combinations.

But after class hours, the college girl discards her flat saddle shoes and snap brims and sallies forth in handsome black suede sandals of smooth sophistication and brightly printed frocks of style that are becoming with pert, flared skirts, shirring and gathers at the shoulder and necklines which may be either wickedly low and set off with a sparkling clip or demurely high and the foil for a gleaming necklace of bright glass flowers or fruits. Sleeves are squared and determinedly puffed or are the dressy push-up kind that come just above the elbow. Tilting little rough straws in every shade with a smart little string snooned on the back or a trailing wimple of soft silk in bright colors compliment this dressy ensemble.

After dark when the night for the big formal of the year arrives with exciting preparations and a thrilling corsage, the coed swirls up her hair in shining curls and pins them back with a shining silver star or knot of gold sequin blossoms and rustles down the stairs in a flowing gown of surrah just like grandmother wore in the early days of the century. Only details of stitching are different or skirts more straightly flared.

Or with precious gift of youth that can dare anything, she dances gaily in a gypsy style of bright plaid skirt and demure little organdy or lingerie blouse with frills and ruffles under her chin and shining glass or carved buttons to add interest.

Indeed, the college miss lacks nothing in her wardrobe. She has suitable costumes for sports, classroom, afternoon and evening wear.
