SIX GNP COUNCILMEN RE-ELECTED

Spanish Republicans Yield Madrid to Franco

Weary Troops Quit Defenses As War Ends

Many Leaders Flee City To Escape From Oncoming Nationalists

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier), March 28 (Tuesday) (AP) — Madrid, capital of republican Spain and besieged for nearly 29 months of the 32-month civil war, lay undefended early today — ready for occupation by the armies of Nationalist Generalissimo Franco. As General Franco's columns moved north from Toledo, and prepared to move south from Guadalajara toward the capital, thousands of veterans in the republican trenches who had defended the city in long, wearing months of shot, shell and air bombings marched out to the nationalist lines under white flags and laid down their arms.

Many Flee
A host of republican political and trade union leaders fled the city toward the coast, hopeful of escaping from what they feared would be the wrath of the nationalists who have threatened civil penalties against those responsible for prolonging the war, and rigorous prosecution of those guilty of "criminal activities."

At Valencia, principal seaport remaining to the Madrid regime, there was no means of leaving the city.

At Burgos, the nationalist capital, it was said General Franco's troops might march into Madrid before 24 hours.

A series of rapid marches, nationalists said, had put their forces in possession of Almaden, center of valuable mercury mines 150 miles south of Madrid.

Occupation Imminent
Moves by the national defense council of Gen. Jose Miaja in Madrid made it appear the capital's occupation by Franco was imminent.

At Valencia it was rumored that General Miaja himself had fled to that city.

The council began superintending demobilization of men who chose to remain in the capital rather than cross the lines to surrender.

Demobilize Troops
It began evacuating those who wished to flee, and it sent back to their homes men called up for military service but who had not actually been enrolled in the army.

Repeated appeals were broadcast over the radio for the populace to remain calm, as the regime endeavored to preserve order until the nationalists could arrive.

Five nationalist army corps were reported moving up toward the city from the Toledo sector.

Killer, in Jail, Wants 'To Get It Over With'

Belt of Dynamite Helps Bandit Rob Bank in Kansas

DES MOINES, March 27 (AP) — Determined to "get it over with," Glen Kidwell, 17-year-old Kelley hitchhiker, sat in a Polk county jail cell tonight awaiting grand jury action on a first degree murder charge.
He was charged today with killing W. Y. Lowe, 59, Salvation Army officer, who had given him a ride on highway 65 a few miles north of Ankeny Saturday.
The youth signed a statement admitting he shot Lowe a few seconds after the motorist started up his car enroute to Des Moines. He said he wanted to take the car to Missouri to visit a brother.
"I don't care what happens now, only I want to get it over without any further trouble," Kidwell told Justice of the Peace J. A. Miller in Ankeny today where he was arraigned.
The justice entered an innocent plea for him and held him for action by the grand jury without bail.

Independent Merchants Demand Chain Store Regulation Bill That Includes Graduated License Fee up to $500

DES MOINES, March 27 (AP) — Independent merchants "marched" on the Iowa capitol again today to enforce their demand for regulation chain store legislation.
The senate deferred action until Thursday morning on a new bill, introduced today, which combines the graduated license tax and average assessment features of two chain store bills previously offered.
The license fee would be $25 per store for a "chain" with less than 20 stores in Iowa, while larger companies would pay up to $500 per store if they have 100 or more in the state.
A chain store would be assessed on the merchandise it has in transit or in storage, as well as the goods on its shelves on Jan. 1.
When the senate adjourned for the day, it was working on a state civil service bill.
The bill would apply only to maintenance employees of the state highway commission. Senator L. B. Forsling (R), Sioux City, has filed an amendment, however, which would bring all state workers excepting heads of departments and teachers under civil service.
An amendment adopted today would permit the discharge of two per cent of the employees covered by the bill without cause and without right of appeal.

Court Voids Tax Exemption For Millions

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) — In a historic 6 to 2 decision, the supreme court today wiped out the tax immunity of 3,800,000 persons employed by federal, state municipal, county and other governments.

Sharply reversing a trend of decisions that extended far back into the 19th century, the tribunal declared that the federal government and states would not hamper or burden each other's activities unconstitutionally if they taxed each other's employees.
The decision, in effect, gave judicial sanction to half of the Roosevelt program calling for reciprocal taxation of federal and state salaries and securities. Moreover, the broad language of the decision buoyed hopes of administration men that the way was cleared for wiping out immunities on the income from future issues of securities.

Pies Passe Movies Now Artistic, Hays Says

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP) — Gone are the days, says motion picture czar Will H. Hays, when the custard pie was the symbol of hilarity and amusement on the screen; when the chase was the surefire entertainment technique; when boy meets girl supplied all the drama the audience demanded, or thrilling action for its own sake was considered a satisfying motive.

Dedicated to WPA OMAHA (AP) — Henrietta Kieser, editor, announced yesterday the 1939 Tomahawk, student annual at the University of Omaha, will be dedicated to the works progress administration in appreciation for work done on the new university campus.

Hays, who as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., made his annual report to the industry tonight, saw enlarged opportunities for the screen.
This, he said, was the result of public acceptance of pictures of distinctive artistic, social and cultural value as well as entertainment appeal.
The discussion that proceeds as to the functions of the screen, Hays asserted, is the greatest possible tribute to the progress of the art.

France Gets On War Basis

Decrees Strengthen Navy, Frontiers And Industrial Speed-Up

PARIS, March 27 (AP) — The French government advanced a long step nearer full wartime footing today, apparently strengthening her position for possible negotiations to settle Italy's claims on her.
Five new decrees were issued in a cabinet meeting of more than three hours which considered Italian Premier Mussolini's indication yesterday that the next move was up to France.
They were issued under the government's new dictatorial authority and were concerned primarily with the navy although one affected frontier defenses and another completed financial arrangements for industrial mobilization.
The full scope of the measures will not be known until they are published in the official journal, possibly tomorrow.
Although the strict new military censorship law effectively prevented seepage of details, it was known that the three naval decrees increased the fleet's fighting and technical manpower, changed the method of recruiting and revised the reserve organization from which the navy draws its wartime strength.
There were some reports that Premier Daladier would answer Mussolini in a broadcast Wednesday but it was also considered possible that he might reply through normal diplomatic channels in a note asking just what Italy wants. Mussolini merely named the "problems"—Djibouti, Tunisia and the Suez canal.

SNAIL'S PACE! He Was Going To Pay His Income Tax

INDIANAPOLIS, March 27 (AP)—Ora F. Haibe, charged with speeding on March 15, told Judge Charles J. Karabell in city court today, "I was en route to pay my income tax, your honor. So you know I wasn't hurrying."
"Not guilty," ruled the court.

Largest Peacetime Army Bill OK'd Only One Voice Raised To Protest $513,188,000 Expenditure

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The largest peacetime army appropriation bill in the nation's history slipped through the senate in jig time today—and with only one voice raised to question the need for the expenditure.
The $513,188,000 measure which was left untouched as it came from committee, included $13,330,000 more than the house voted. The bill now goes to a joint committee for adjustment of differences between the house and senate.
Senator King (D-Utah), warning against being "swept off our feet by reason of fires raging in Europe," proposed that the bill be sent back to committee for a ten per cent pruning.
But when his motion was put there were no audible "ayes" and a lusty chorus of "noes." A moment later a voice passed the measure.

In all, the senate spent no more than a half hour in actually considering the bill, including unanimous acceptance of a long series of committee amendments droned off by the reading clerk.
King stirred up a brief discussion of foreign affairs when he asked what danger threatened this country to justify the amount of the appropriation.
Senator Thous (D-Okla.), in charge of the bill, replied that under present world conditions "the nation must be ready every moment of every day to defend itself."
"The only possible danger to justify large armaments is from Japan," King said, "and I do not regard that as a danger, because Japan is beating her head against a stone wall in China."
"I do not believe Hitler with all his power is a menace to our

Poland Arms, Arranges Huge Defense Loan

Swears Protection To Her Minority And Maritime Rights

WARSAW, March 27 (AP)—Poland today announced a huge extraordinary national defense loan to "assure new successes for Polish arms" should difficulties arise with growing Germany or any of her neighbors.

While the belief increased in Warsaw that Nazi Germany was planning a new blow in Danzig, where Poland has sworn to protect her minority and her maritime rights, the issue of an internal loan of $225,600,000 was announced by President Ignace Moscicki for warplanes and air defense.
General Stanislas Skwarczynski, chief of the national unity movement, Poland's only party which has representatives in parliament, pointedly recalled the Polish victory over German knights at Grunwald in 1410 in issuing an appeal for subscriptions to the loan tonight.
Announcement of the loan came as it was persistently reported that the German fuhrer, Adolf Hitler, had brought to the attention of the Polish government a four-point list of demands relating to Danzig and the Polish corridor.
Skwarczynski's statement, in the light of these reports, was interpreted to mean Poland is ready and determined to fight if necessary without waiting for Britain and France to form a "stop Hitler" bloc with iron-clad guarantees of military assistance.
Official circles were silent and sources close to the government said the four points in the reported suggestions given Warsaw by Berlin were based on "speculation and presumption."
(Official spokesmen in Berlin denied insistently that Germany had any designs on Danzig or Poland or that any note had been sent to Poland.)
Nevertheless it was persistently reported Germany had indirectly indicated she would be pleased to get Polish consent to the following proposals:
1. Outright annexation of Danzig by Germany.
2. A German highway across Pomorz (the Polish corridor) from Germany to East Prussia.
3. German control of the important railway junction of Bohumin, now in Polish hands.
4. Increase of Polish-German commercial exchanges, with Poland exporting 60 per cent of her agricultural products to the reich.
Official circles here said Poland had refused to entertain such ideas in the past.

Britain Spurns Boycott Idea

Intends To Attempt Trade in Rumania Despite Reich Pact

LONDON, March 27 (AP) — Great Britain today turned down the idea of joining any movement for economic boycott of Germany, but made it clear she intended to go after Rumanian trade despite the new German-Rumanian treaty.
Richard Austen Butler, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons the government was not considering a boycott against Germany either independently or through the machinery of the league of nations "with American cooperation."
Talk of American Boycott
(A state department official in Washington said there had been no exchanges of views between the United States and British governments concerning an economic boycott of Germany.)
The possibility of American participation in a boycott was raised by Laborite Morgan Price who suggested that economic penalties be applied "in view of the friendly reply received from the American government indicating willingness to cooperate in economic activities of the league."
Promise Collaboration
A United States note to the league secretariat last Feb. 22 promised greater collaboration with the league, but concerned only economic studies and other non-political activities.
Prime Minister Chamberlain told commons that Rumania had not "signed away her economic independence" in her new treaty with Germany and said Britain still intended to send a trade mission to Bucharest.

WPA Probe Demanded By Both Parties

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) — Republicans and democrats joined forces in the house today to order by a huge majority a "thorough investigation" of the Works Progress Administration, which for months has been the target of charges of maladministration and undue political activity.
It took this action while city-dwellers among the membership continued—with many questioning the extent of their success—to agitate for a farmer-labor coalition to assure the approval of proposed appropriations for relief and farm benefit payments. Action on both items was scheduled for tomorrow.

Police Supervision

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A bill designed to carry out Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's recommendation that the Kansas City police department be placed under state control was introduced yesterday in the state assembly.

Burke N. Carson Re-Elected Police Judge for Iowa City

Complete unofficial returns at 5:30 this morning gave Henry F. Willenbrock a 13-vote margin over Myron J. Walker for the election as mayor and showed six citizens' non-partisan party aldermen re-elected to the city council.

The final compilation gave Willenbrock 2,725 votes and Walker 2,712.

The members of the council who were re-elected are Everett R. Means and John J. Ostieck, aldermen-at-large; John Grady, first ward; Prof. John F. Reilly, second ward; R. J. Phelps, fourth ward, and C. E. Beck, fifth ward. Sam Whiting Jr., a democrat, was elected in the third ward.

Other incumbent candidates who were returned to office are City Assessor William J. White, Police Judge Burke N. Carson, and City Treasurer E. B. Raymond.

In the contests for election to the city park commission, Charles A. Beckman, incumbent, defeated Mrs. Minerva Knight for the 1941 term, and Dr. W. M. Rohrbacher piled up a substantial lead over Mike Giblin for the 1945 term.

The election was one of the most highly contested elections in Iowa City during recent years. Although early voting fell behind previous records, the surge of late voters swelled the total number of ballots cast to more than 5,500.

For American Youth

OBSERVATIONS of massive youth movements in European nations and their significant part in the new governments has led to much speculation about American Youth.

Organizations have been examined here by miscellaneous speculators; and many groups such as the Boy Scouts, and even the Civilian Conservation Corps have been looked upon as possible nuclei for an American youth movement.

While the young people of the United States, it seems to us, are not as likely to be duped by a potential Hitler or to be led nearly so sheep-like as some of the European groups, nevertheless there is much agitation for concerted thinking by all youth; the influences on American youth have included ideas borrowed from Europe.

One of the fastest growing movements in America has been the establishment of youth hostels. The idea came from Europe. Just because the youth hostel movement is strong on that turbulent continent doesn't prove that it is bad. We believe, on the contrary, that the coming of the National Youth Hostel association to our nation is very natural and will be an immeasurably good influence on the positive development of American youth.

The Nazi Fuehrer has emphasized to his followers a type of living that is, basically, beneficial to the individual where it concerns healthy activities. The youth hostel movement encourage outdoor life, a needed activity missed by many thousands of modern young people.

Riding, cycling and hiking is combined with opportunities to "see the world" that every young person must feel at some time before he leaves his teens. Most young people forego the pleasures of travel; some others resort to means of travel that can not be given general sanction.

If present plans materialize a series of youth hostels will be spread through eastern Iowa and Illinois. The association hopes to establish hostels at West Branch, Lake MacBride, Iowa City, Dubuque, Mt. Pleasant, Burlington and Amana in the near future. There are already branches of the national association at Anamosa and Monticello and the lodge at Mt. Vernon will be formally opened May 13. The hostels furnish sleeping quarters for their young guests, dining rooms and kitchens, recreation rooms and private quarters for the house residents.

By establishing such stopping places at 15-mile intervals the association makes it possible for young people to travel inexpensively and realize both the physical and mental benefits that come from such activity.

It seems entirely plausible that the University, either through official or unofficial groups, will participate in the youth hostel movement, since it has arrived in Iowa and Iowa City.

We believe this is one European plan that will be a boon to developing American youth.

Rumania—A Question Mark!

THE RETICENCE of Germany's eastern neighbors to accept at once Britain's "stop-Hitler" movement emphasizes the fact that these countries have become question marks on the political calendar.

Being citizens in a democratic country, we naturally thought Poland, Rumania and the rest would be fearful in the face of the advancing tide. Their uncertainty is ominous. Does it mean that these nations are not totally unresponsive to Hitler's advance? It seems so, we believe, from the present turn of events.

Germany and Rumania have signed a new trade treaty that gives der Fuehrer access to Rumania's rich resources. Will Hitler be satisfied with just an economic tie? Rumania is a gateway to the Ukraine, a Hitler goal. Will King Carol give in to Hitler if the Nazis march his way? All that we can do is conjecture, a form of thinking that leads to only slightly satisfactory results at the best.

King Carol, a familiar picture in the news, is wise in the ways of the world. He seems to be leaning toward the democratic viewpoint—yet Carol's way of doing things makes it certain that he will play ball with the totalitarian powers if he figures it is the best way to save his country (and, of course, his crown).

"If it's going to be a scrap, Carol should know his way around," they say. "Love, war, diplomacy, purges and politics—just name the game, Carol knows the rules." Carol himself says, "We all have the God-given right to order our own lives and follow our own sentiments." Concealing those "sentiments" seems to be part of the game. Rumania remains, under a Hohenzollern king, a question mark.

Less Cannon Fodder?

HOW MUCH do figures mean? Very little, sometimes. Nevertheless, it is interesting to note that the two lowest birth rates in Europe for 1936 and 1937 were those of Austria and Czechoslovakia. Hitler's legions, we are happy to observe, will not benefit as much as they might have by drafting the sons of his newly acquired Nazi citizens.

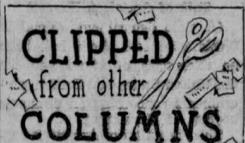

The situation of the Japanese seems to boil down to this: they must either swallow China or their own pride.

The man at the next desk says his chief complaint against Hitler is that he doesn't practice what he preaches.

These belated snowstorms have one salutary result. They remind Dad that he needn't bother about oiling the old lawnmower just yet.

What's become of the fellow who, during an international crisis, would wonder what the League of Nations was going to do about it?

New York World's Fair officials wonder what to do with the Czechoslovak exhibit there. That's easy—The German exhibit annex it.

EVERYTHING COMES TO HIM WHO WAITS

"Patience," says William Allen White, the Kansas guidebook to political wisdom, "is the first virtue of a statesman dealing with imponderables in a democracy."

Evidence of the Emporia's wisdom is seen when the supreme court aspirations of the President are reviewed. Two years ago Roosevelt was raring to reorganize the highest tribunal. At that time he was smarting under the defeat by that body of his N.R.A. and A.A.A. bills.

Everyone is familiar with the president's attempt to reorganize the supreme court. That move was his first major political defeat in the five years of his administration. It caused countless comments on the court, pro and con. It might have been the initial step in the chain of events which culminated in the November elections as it was a step which a majority of the country considered unwise.

However, if the president had stopped and read the birth certificates of his justices, noted their ages, he might have waited. He would have seen that he would have the privilege of appointing several agreeable men to the bench.

And he would have been right. Four times in the last two years, his power of appointment has been exercised. Four new supreme court judges have mounted the bench with his blessings. Today, just two years after the reorganization bill, almost half of the present court have been appointed by him.

Roosevelt's impatience may have taken a heavy toll of his admirers. Were he any other politician except Franklin Delano Roosevelt, he might yet heed Bill White's observation that patience is the first virtue of a statesman dealing with the imponderables of a democracy. WHAT IS AMERICANISM? change of ideas to get at the truth. Then, we assume, the fun will begin.

Some 30 profs, assistants and instructors will be present. At least 150 students, we hope more.

Is activity at Ohio State and Colorado universities really "un-American"?

Is Martin Dies working in the right direction?

Frankly, all these are questions none of which is immediately answerable. At least they didn't seem so to us.

They're what we're going to try to get at on Wednesday night, 7:30. Room 221-A Schaeffer hall. It will be the first meeting of our all-campus student-faculty discussion panel.

To begin Prof. Clara M. Daley will talk about it historically. Where and how did the word originate, etc. Being the essence of everything that is an American, probably, Professor Daley is a logical choice to begin the discussion. She'll speak to us for only ten minutes.

Then, this reporter has been asked to philosophize on "Americanism on The Campus—From A Student's Viewpoint"—also for ten minutes.

Prof. Herbert Feigl will informally comment from the philosopher's stand.

There'll be a brief explanation of why we're there, why some of us thought a cross-section of the faculty and campus of the University of Iowa would be interested in a group meeting whose only purpose is the mutual ex-

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

For most of us, fortunately, the streets as winter came on and stairways became a nightmare. Finally, after delays and self-encouraging explanations that all he needed was a little rest, he went to the specialist who had been recommended to him. After getting his history, then putting him through some simple tests, such as asking him to guess how many fingers the doctor held up, the latter said quietly, "You know what it is, probably," and confirmed the suspicion that it was cataract.

So an operation was necessary and this is how it felt: "I climbed into the immaculate high raised bed. The anesthetic drops were spreading over the eyeball, producing a slightly dizzy feeling which soon wore off. Some further drops were given, and then, wrapped in a bathrobe, I was trundled out to the elevator and taken to the operating room. The assisting surgeon skillfully washed my face and eyelids with a sponge and soap.

And now, after a warning that a "little inconvenience" would be felt, the eyelids, upper and lower,

"TWO-TON TONY" Galento, the barrel-bulldozer, takes time out from his training for his championship battle with Joe Louis to swap laugh lines with George Jessel, master of ceremonies on "For Men Only," over the NBC-Red network at 7:30 tonight.

Galento promises to score a knockout, verbally, when he spars with Jessel. There will be several other celebrities on hand and music will be under the baton of Peter Van Steeden with the swinging and very popular Merry Maes.

CAL TINNEY, master of ceremonies of "If I Had the Chance," secret ambition program on NBC's Blue network Tuesdays, starts a new and additional series over the Mutual network today. It's called "Topics by Tinney." He'll be on the air at 11:15 this morning in this new show.

GEORGE GOWEN, drummer of Guy Lombardo's orchestra, is a frustrated young man. He has never had the chance to "give out on the hide-beater" because of the Lombardo style of soft, sweet music. (Bit of swing there!)

His secret ambition is to make as much noise as possible with the drums. Cal Tinney is giving him a chance to fulfill that desire on the NBC-Blue network at 9 o'clock tonight. Also on the program will be Frank Sullivan, noted humorist.

SPRING COMES officially to the Fibber McGee program a week later than it does on the calendar. Fibber will celebrate its advent at 8:30 tonight over NBC's Red network. Don Novis will sing, you can guess, "Deep Purple," and the Four Notes will harmonize on "Umbrella Man."

JOAN BLONDELL, who, in real life, is Mrs. Dick Powell, will be the guest of her singing husband on his "Tuesday Night Party" program tonight. She's been with Warner Brothers nearly nine years—a near-record.

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—That the Fair is driving the city people to the suburbs and the suburbanites to the country has been made more than clear to the residents of Rockland county, New York, and some of them are pretty sore about it. Rockland county is 30 or 40 miles from Manhattan, and there is no reason to believe that what has taken place there hasn't been put into effect in other surrounding territories.

This is what has happened: Nearly a year ago a group of agents began browsing through the nearby villages taking leases on houses for rent at a very nominal figure. They tied these dwellings up in iron-clad leases and have proceeded to hold onto them for the Fair. Now they are subletting these houses, apartments, and buildings at sky-high rentals, pocketing the profits, and grinning to themselves while the county folk writhe in chagrin. The profits gained are running from 70 to 200 per cent.

A suicide on the east side has left a $2 bank note, a copy of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," and the Ace of diamonds as the legacy to whomever should find and claim them. He had no relatives, and the latest information is that the body as well as the act, the bill and the book had been taken over by the city.

Mention of a high card in connection with death always reminds me of Joe the Boss, czar of the metropolitan underworld who was succeeded upon his death by Lucky Luciano, vice overlord now serving time at Dannemora.

There'll be no name for our group. Our only purpose is to get a firmer picture of "The United States in 1939".

Again, everyone who likes to exchange his ideas with others who also are thinking will enjoy it. We want dormitoryites, fraternity men, sorority women, graduate students, professors.

We want to be a kind of center of organized thought on current problems on the campus today.

And so, we'll be seeing each other tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Room 221-A, Schaeffer hall. We can accommodate a crowd.

What is Americanism, anyway? P. S. Mental refreshments will be served.

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP)—A real Robinson Crusoe existence on the coral island of Kaukura was led during January by passengers and crew of the yacht Nani, following the wrecking of the vessel on a reef. The party recently arrived here after they had been sighted and rescued.

The Nani was the property of a Dr. Audemard of Papeete, who was among those stranded.

General Notices

Graduate Students: Each student in the graduate college who expects to receive the master's degree or the doctorate at the forthcoming convocation June 5, is requested, so far as he or she may not have done so heretofore, to procure for us immediately the official transcript of whatever graduate work he may have accomplished in another graduate school; so that this may be taken into account in determining whether he or she fulfills the requirements for the higher degree sought. This should be done immediately; otherwise, it is possible that we shall be unable to certify for graduation next June a student who may have accomplished satisfactory graduate work elsewhere, because we shall not have received the requisite official statement of it early enough. H. C. DORCAS, Registrar. June Graduates: Every student who expects to receive a degree or a certificate at the university convocation Monday, June 5, 1939, should make his formal application on a card provided for the purpose at the registrar's office on or before Thursday, March 30. It is of the utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately, for otherwise it is very likely that, although he may be qualified in other respects, he will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester. Making application for the degree or certificate involves the payment of the graduation fee ($16.00). Call at the registrar's office for the card. H. C. DORCAS, Registrar. Law Scholarships: The college of law is prepared to award a number of scholarships to qualifying students from the college of liberal arts and the college of commerce for the academic year 1939-1940. Applicants must have completed all required work for the baccalaureate degree. Beyond this, appointments will be determined on a basis of sound scholarship, effective personality, high character, and a sincere intention to continue the study of law at this university. Eligibility in the light of these requirements should be disclosed to the committee in a letter of application and supporting recommendations addressed to the undersigned. The applicant's letter (See BULLETIN page 8)

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Litr'y notes: George Palmer Putnam, opening a publishing house on the West Coast (sometimes known as a part of Hollywood), has a killer-diller for a first title. The anonymous "The Man Who Killed Hitler" is 60 minutes of tense and beautiful writing, with a climax in the final paragraph that'll knock you down—far surpassing in effect the thing called "Address Unknown" which by the way is being pictureized. New tome is fiction which should capitalize on a great deal of wishful thinking. The Leonard L. Leonard son to break out with a short in Collier's is Leonard Levinson and Leonard Neubauer. Former is chap who's been plugging away, with occasional dent in movie's granite wall, for years. Latter is in Warner trailer department.

There is still writing going on in the movies. The skeptical are referred to the merits of the screen plays of "Stagecoach" (by Dudley Nichols) and "Dark Victory" (by Casey Robinson) and of "Love Affair" (by Delar Daves and Donald Ogden Stewart).

Not-so-litr'y note: Paul Muni is an incurable note-taker. Studying for a role, he takes voluminous notes. In an illness, he makes notes of his symptoms, varying temperatures, liquid intake, etc., for submission to his physician. In a recent illness, Muni made his notes on one of those scratch pads whose virtue is that the writing disappears when the top sheet is torn off. So he solemnly tore off his notes and handed them to the doctor, who looked a bit puzzled—and it's still a subject best not mentioned around the Muni domain.

Last year, when James Stewart's illness brought his weight down to 132 pounds, he set about the job of restoration—his goal 175. Today he weighs 167. And he's done it by—eating. Results 15 pounds in the past few weeks. Claudette Colbert, as a doctor's wife and Jimmy's co-star in "It's a Wonderful World," suggested a glass of cream after every meal. Director W. S. Van Dyke suggested bananas. Counteracted Jimmy "I tried concentrated food tonics, pills and diets of every kind. A few months ago I went to a hospital for a week and drank 12 quarts of milk a day—and I lost two pounds. Now I just eat regularly and plenty—and I don't skim over breakfast and lunch. I used to do. No more food for me." And he pulled on a chocolate malt, right there on the set—giving one man's answer to Hollywood's incessant dietary worries.

James Cagney, the tough wearing his convict's uniform in "Each Dawn I Die," was standing outside the stage talking heatedly about current events in Europe. A ladybug lit on his nose, and he slapped. The little creature made a forced landing on the ground at Jimmy's feet, and Cagney glanced down.

"So sorry," he interjected solicitously, then resumed his course. And speaking of ladybugs, Doney is missing a bet if he doesn't look into "Bumblebuzz," a child's book—the saga of a little bumblebee who took as friend a snail, a beetle, a cricket and a ladybug named Lucinda.

Low Cost Leader of a GREAT Line of FORDS...

IN materials, design, and workmanship, the quality of a Ford car is high quality. Ford prices are low because of the institution behind the car, not because of what is in the car!

The 1939 Ford V-8 delivers at the lowest prices in the Ford line—at lower prices than last year's Ford V-8. Yet it is bigger than before—in actual passenger room and in luggage space. It is better-looking—in outside appearance and interior appointments. It is better-riding—with new seat cushion construction combined with Ford transverse springs and double-acting shock absorbers to give triple-cushioned comfort.

It is a dependable car, a safe car—and a car that's fun to drive. 60 horsepower or 85, its performance is V-8 performance—with more than 5 million Ford V-8 cars behind it. Its brakes are now hydraulic—big, easy-acting, and Ford-tested for dependability.

All through this 1939 Ford V-8 you will find new evidence of Ford ability to put more quality into the car so that Ford owners may get more pleasure from it at no extra cost.

Besides the legislative meetings, highlights of the congress will include a reception and banquet on the opening day and a tour of the national capitol on the final day.

The sessions will take place in the department of education buildings. Conference headquarters are at the Mayflower hotel.

Great Need for Dance Today, Martha Hill Says in Lecture

By MAXINE REAMS

"There is a great need for dance in the world today," said Martha Hill, director of the Bennington school of the dance, in her lecture on "The Dance as an Art in Education" at 8 p.m. last night in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. "It is a need that is not consciously felt, perhaps, but that is evidenced in the growing popularity of country dancing and folk dancing in America today."

Dance, as other art forms, is a method of communication from an artist to an audience. It is an art of its period. But while the painter and the sculptor leave behind them the records of their arts, the art of the dance is a fleeting thing which lasts only as long as the artist speaks to her audience as she dances. Because of this, the dancer must be closely in touch with the period in order to be understood.

"This period is a difficult one for an artist to work in," said Miss Hill. "The speed of modern methods of transportation and communication, the conflicts and complexities of life in a technological age, the very verbal period in which we live—all these things have had their effect on the art forms of the day."

"The more one believes in verbalism, in specific symbols, the less willing one will be to listen to the very unspoken language of the dance. For the dance is very general unless one uses pantomime or other devices to make it very specific."

Miss Hill emphasized the fact that you must clearly recognize the limitations of your medium, whatever your art form, and that you must express yourself within these limits. "The dance," she said, "is limited in its approach by the limitations of its medium. It is impossible to lose the humanness of body movement when you are working with the body as your medium of expression."

In its relation to education, Miss Hill listed a few of the contributions the dance has made. "It is a vitalizing field in which to work," she said, "not only in the range of the dance itself, but because of its ramifications into other fields."

"Too, it is a physical activity which uses augmented movement—that is, uses the whole body in a vigorous fashion—which is of distinct physiological benefit in an age when we tend to use our bodies too little."

"Also, it helps reflect the spirit of the times, since it is apt to be a social, community activity rather than an individual expression."

"Lastly, it conserves the regional character of movement and lends itself to the building of a new dance movement which will incorporate these regional movements."

"Education in its turn has a responsibility to this, the youngest of its arts," Miss Hill stated. "It must accept this responsibility by setting standards for it. It must see that the dance does not segregate itself as an independent art form, but sees always its relationship to the other arts, especially music and drama."

Miss Hill conceived of a period of the dance in which there would be choreographers who will do nothing but compose dances which others will perform, in much the same manner that we write plays and perform them in the theaters today.

"The dance has always existed, exists at the present time in a variety of forms, and will always exist," said Miss Hill. "Too much of dance today is still unintelligible, but it is due partly to the conflict that exists in the world today, so that it is difficult for artist and audience to meet on a plane of understanding, and partly to the fact that people will not expose themselves to it long enough to be moved by it."

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Recent developments in Europe have intensified Washington's desire to consolidate Pan-American sentiment--on general principles, for one thing, but especially in opposition to totalitarian infiltration, politically and economically, into our neighboring southern republics.

Under President Roosevelt's Secretary Hull's and Undersecretary Welles' auspices we have done pretty well. Admiral Leahy has helped materially by advocating a Yankee policy of permitting the construction of our fellow countries' naval craft in our shipyards.

So I went down to Matadores and bought 3,000-pesos-worth of pigs--mighty good pigs. They fell sick immediately upon arrival on my place. I called in a "vet."

"They have a peste," pronounced "pesty," he said. I knew they had a "pesty" all right, but that wasn't specific enough.

"Your swine," pronounced the expert pig vet, "have cholera."

"But gosh!" said I, "we have no cholera in this country."

"I know," replied the vet, "that the government says so, because it doesn't want to discourage swine culture, but that's what your herd has got."

Well, that's what they had, and all my pigs died.

believing that the republic's livestock suffers from various complaints that its growers don't admit.

I ran a farm there once. My own animals were afflicted with foot-and-mouth disease, locally known as aftosa. It was so bad that, complicated with other things, it ruined me as a pastoralist.

There's some anthrax, too. I'm positive of it because it's transmissible from its four-legged victims to human beings, and I, personally, caught a case. Among humans the mortality rate is about 99 per cent, but I happened to survive. Nevertheless, I don't recommend it, to be introduced here.

Still, I had a good farm, with plenty of maize and alfalfa on it. "Why," asked one of my neighbors, "don't you get some pigs, to eat your alfalfa and maize excesses? Pigs are saleable at good prices. And the beauty of it is that we have no hog cholera here."

So I went down to Matadores and bought 3,000-pesos-worth of pigs--mighty good pigs. They fell sick immediately upon arrival on my place. I called in a "vet."

"They have a peste," pronounced "pesty," he said. I knew they had a "pesty" all right, but that wasn't specific enough. Accordingly I chased down from my "chacara" in the country to Buenos Aires, to consult the Rural Society, the last word on that kind of thing.

"Your swine," pronounced the expert pig vet, "have cholera."

"But gosh!" said I, "we have no cholera in this country."

"I know," replied the vet, "that the government says so, because it doesn't want to discourage swine culture, but that's what your herd has got."

Well, that's what they had, and all my pigs died.

Couldn't Erase Error

—It Was in Granite
 BOSTON (AP) — Everybody was pretty well pleased with the newly completed Suffolk County courthouse — but a high school teacher who claimed to know his signs of the zodiac put a crimp in the general pride.

He pointed out that signs of the zodiac in a frieze cut in four-by-six foot blocks above the entrance were made to run in a clockwise direction. They should run counter-clockwise and easterly, he maintained.

G. Henry Desmond, architectural firm's representative, said,

"Anyway, right or wrong, the signs are in hard granite now. I'm afraid it's too late to make much difference."

Thieves Have Binge

On Victim's Beer
 PUEBLO, Col. (AP) — The thieves who broke into the Maurice Gillespie home brought their own cigars.

All they touched in the house was 32 bottles of beer in the refrigerator and the "makings" of several dozen sandwiches. They ate them at the dining table, smoked the cigars and departed, leaving the debris behind.

Dry-Sudsing New Method Used To Clean Furniture

The days of closed parlor doors and drawn blinds had only one advantage over modern, friendly living room sociability. The upholstered furniture never got soiled. On occasions when the room was used, the chairs and sofa were sat upon primarily and, moreover, they had protective antimacassars and arm rests to prevent staining the fabric. No wonder that they could be handed down from generation to generation without showing any signs of wear.

In these easy going times when the living room has happy daily use, the upholstered pieces show soil. This is a modern problem but it also has a modern solution. You can't stick an easy chair into the wash tub but you can give it a soap and water cleaning that will make it a credit to the room.

The method for cleaning upholstered furniture is called dry-sudsing. You make a soap jelly by dissolving one cup of mild shaved or packaged soap in five cups of water. When it has set, but isn't too stiff, you beat it to a froth with an egg beater. It will look like egg whites ready for folding into a cake, but don't try to use it that way!

Instead, dip a small brush into the foam, rub it over a few square inches of the fabric of the upholstered piece and then remove all the suds quickly with clean clothes wrung out almost dry in clear water and wipe the washed area with a dry cloth to blot up as much moisture as possible. Then repeat the steps until the entire piece has been washed and dried. It is important to remove all the suds and use as little water as possible.

$3,543.31 Damages Awarded In Suit Against Theater Corp.

Judge Gaffney Opens Verdict Sealed By Jury Last Friday

Damages of $3,543.31 were awarded to Mrs. Mary E. Pittman by a petit jury of four women and eight men who heard her $26,593.31 suit against the Central States Theater corporation, operators of the Englert theater, last week in district court.

Judge James P. Gaffney opened the sealed verdict, which had been decided at 1:30 a.m. Friday by the jury after deliberating for more than six hours over the evidence presented in the case, in court yesterday. The judge was in Des Moines Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Pittman sued for damages which she claimed for injuries she allegedly received Nov. 8, 1937, in the Englert theater.

She testified that when leaving her seat in the theater she lost her footing on a step-off into the center aisle, which is several inches lower than the floor for the row of seats, and that because of inadequate lighting she did not see the step and fell to the floor, receiving permanent injuries.

The verdict of the jury was returned by Elmer M. Dewey, foreman. Other jurors for the case were H. A. Herring, Bertha Michel, Mary Budreau, S. E. Todd, John P. Dolmage, Earl W. Calla, Elmer Kasper, Frances Bradley, Leonard Curtis and Emma Kohl.

The court has allowed the defendants 20 days in which to file notice of appeal.

Attorneys Lee Farnsworth and Will J. Hayek appeared for the plaintiff and Attorneys Russell

Hatter, Marengo, and A. Carroll Cahill for the defendant.
