

Germans Plan Hitler Control Of Reichsbank

Insist World Must Accept Barter Plan To Get Nazi Trade

BERLIN, March 30 (AP)—Spirited criticism of financial conditions which permit a vast flow of gold to the United States...

"Is a new dance around the golden calf to begin?" Funk asked. "Will the world immolate itself on the altar of the American golden moloch?"

Funk, who also is minister of economics, said the new law would give Reichsfuehrer Hitler supreme authority over the reichsbank.

In outlining the plan in a speech before the reichsbank central committee, Funk also expressed hope for improved trade relations with Britain and France.

Funk made it clear, however, that he believed Germany's method of foreign trade—the barter system—was the most satisfactory method and that if the world wanted German trade, it would have to accept the Nazi ways.

(Following Germany's absorption of Bohemia-Moravia, Britain and France both disrupted trade talks with Germany.)

His reference to the importance of trade recalled Adolf Hitler's words in a speech Jan. 30 when he said Germany must "export or die."

Market Strained Regarding a new bank law to be promulgated in May, replacing the old 1924 law, he said: "A country's currency is not stabilized by a bank of issue, but by responsible state leadership."

He admitted that the capital market had been strained severely in the past year by the issuance of large state loans and needed a respite now to ready for coming private industrial needs which he estimated at $400,000,000.

"The world around us is laboring under grave economic and financial troubles. Gold is flowing irresistibly, it seems, into the glittered coffers of the United States."

France Buys Rumanian Oil

PARIS, March 31 (Friday) (AP)—France, working with Britain to stop Adolf Hitler in eastern Europe, early today initiated a commercial accord with Rumania and was reported to have invited Foreign Minister Joseph Beck of Poland to Paris after his London talks next week.

The commercial accord, initiated at the foreign office by leaders of the French and Rumanian trade delegations, doubled French purchases of Rumanian oil and slashed 60 per cent off French import duties on Rumanian agricultural products.

French oil purchases from Rumania for the coming year will total nearly $76,000,000 compared to $39,000,000 last year.

The accord is to be formally signed later today and will go into operation tomorrow.

Young Girl Plans To Fly To School Daily

OMAHA, March 30 (AP)—Eveyn Sharp, 19-year-old Ord, Neb., aviatrix, is planning some long distance commuting if plans to attend an Omaha modeling school work out.

Miss Sharp, youngest transport aviatrix in the United States, conferred with school directors here today.

General Franco Sets Up Martial Law in Spain

By The Associated Press

MADRID, March 30—Nationalist authorities imposed stern measures today to crush any lingering republican opposition to the civil war victors.

A technical state of war (in effect, martial law) was decreed in Madrid for a transitory period and military courts were given jurisdiction over all crimes committed during the 32-month period.

Police began rounding up persons listed in a huge card index compiled by "the fifth column"— nationalist agents and sympathizers—throughout the war.

More than 100,000 prisoners have been taken during the last two days, swelling the nationalists' total number of captives to 600,000. They included all members of the republican national defense council except General Jose Miaja.

General Miaja escaped by flying to Algeria. His defense minister, General Segismundo Casado, who was arrested in Valencia, and his foreign minister, Julian Besteiro, were taken to Burgos.

Madrileños were warned by posters that failure to surrender firearms, explosives and incendiary and poisonous materials within 24 hours would mean summary court martial and possibly death.

The advocate general ordered every civilian having knowledge of crimes committed "during or after the red (republican) regime" to report immediately to military authorities on pain of punishment provided by the state of war edict.

General Espinosa de Los Monteros, who proclaimed the state of war, told Madrid that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces brought "peace, order, pardon and affection" and persons rigorously observing the terms of the proclamation had no reason to be frightened.

He gave a list of offenses which he said would be punished by death: Possession of unauthorized radio transmitters or receivers and receipt of news adverse to the nationalist cause.

Firing from a house; the porter or occupants of the floor from which shots are fired will be held responsible unless proved innocent.

Robbing, sacking and pillaging. Sabotage of mails, telegraphs, telephones, railways, streetcars, subways, factories, and electricity, water service and industrial installations.

Those charged with the following crimes are to be tried by military courts: Insulting the armed forces, spreading reports or subversive propaganda against the nationalists, publishing, possessing or distributing tendentious propaganda, interrupting the normal functioning of labor through strikes or otherwise, false accusations and meeting without authorization in groups of more than three persons.

Keeping pace with these measures were steps toward reconstruction which Generalissimo Franco ordered pushed with all possible speed.

Crucial Fight On WPA Relief Hits Congress

Charges of 'Waste,' 'Gag Rule' Flung As House Cuts Funds

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—A crucial fight on the question of additional relief funds for this year began today on the house floor, where critics raked WPA with charges of "waste and extravagance" and defenders of the agency declared it must have $150,000,000 to put "more food on the tables of the undernourished."

At first leaders believed they might obtain a vote on the question tonight, but later decided to recess the house and put the showdown over until tomorrow.

The president had asked $150,000,000 to carry WPA through June but the house appropriations committee cut the figure to $100,000,000. While most democratic members of the "economy bloc" appeared ready to vote for the $100,000,000 Representative Taber (R-NY) declared that if WPA would eliminate waste no further appropriation for this year would be needed.

Stormy Battle Debate on the bill was preceded by a stormy battle over the procedure to be followed. The rules committee proposed that there be four hours general debate and that amendments be restricted to changes in the amount of the appropriation.

Representative Martin (R-Mass), the republican leader, spoke angrily of "arrogant gag-rule." New dealers also objected vigorously to certain phases of the suggested procedure on the ground it would not permit a record vote on the question of increasing the appropriation.

Gag Rule From Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), a leader of the economy bloc, came a frank admission that the procedure was "stringent" and might even be termed "gag rule," but he said that such procedure frequently was good for the country. In the end the rules committee suggestions were approved.

Taber charges that WPA increased its rolls "so that they could turn people down just as we were approaching consideration of this bill."

"They went back six years and picked up people who had been denied relief six years before because they couldn't qualify and had never applied for it since," he said.

Chain Store Bill Approved

DES MOINES, March 30 (AP)—After a day of bitter debate in which personalities were brought into the argument, the Iowa senate voted to stand by the compromise chain store bill.

The bill proposes to tax a "chain" according to the number of stores it has in Iowa, and in addition it would revise the method of assessing chain store stores.

Today's fight developed over an amendment to restore the original graduated license tax plan, by which a company would have been charged according to the total number of stores it owns in the United States.

Independent merchants who crowded the senate chamber to watch the proceedings did not see the compromise bill carried to final passage, however.

9 Cars Plunge Into Road Gap Made by Flood

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 30 (AP)—Twelve bodies were recovered today from receding waters of Clear Creek bayou, where a spring flood raced in darkness last night to carry away a 100-foot bridge and leave a bad abyss in a heavily-traveled highway.

Divers said they believed nine automobiles plunged into the bayou one after another before survivors waded down other oncoming cars. Seven automobiles were recovered.

Five more bodies were recovered late today when a sedan was pulled from the water.

Play Festival Results Given

Winners in Classes A and B Announced; Class A Continues

Results of the plays given to date in classes B and C of the Iowa high school play production festival were announced yesterday.

Results in class A, which began competition last night with the presentation of four plays by Oskaloosa, Ft. Madison, Franklin high of Cedar Rapids and Chariton, will not be announced until all plays in that class have been presented.

Class A plays will continue tonight with presentations by five high schools and the concluding four Saturday night. The judge for the class A performances is Prof. Gertrude Johnson of the speech department of the University of Wisconsin.

Four blind high school students from Vinton's school of the blind won the highest rating, superior, with their play, "Sod," which was entered in competition with 30 class C schools in the festival.

Only one other school, Glidden, in the 24 class C schools that have competed so far, was given superior rating. The Vinton students, three totally blind and one with less than five per cent vision, gave such a beautiful and moving performance that the critic judge, Prof. Earl C. Seigfried of Washburn college, awarded them the highest possible ranking.

Class B schools to receive superior rating were University high school of Iowa City and Waverly.

Four class C and five class B schools were given a rating of excellent, Class C schools to win (See FESTIVAL, page 8)

Polish Factions Get Together To Protect Rights

WARSAW, March 30 (AP)—Opposition political leaders today gave the Polish government assurances which reliable sources said were a pledge of cooperation against any German attempt to "trample on Polish rights."

The Polish press was instructed to inform its readers tomorrow that, contrary to "widespread rumors," Poland had received "no German demands having the character of an ultimatum, nor has any German pressure been exercised."

Predict Hitler and Mussolini Will Try for South America

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—Officials, carefully studying the effects in Latin America of Franco's victory in Spain, are firmly convinced that Germany and Italy will seek to better their position in the southern part of the western hemisphere with Franco as their driving wedge.

They are agreed that Franco's victory may have far-reaching consequences among Spain's former colonies in the western world. It will serve, they think, to augment appreciably the influence of the European fascist nations.

HURT BUT HAPPY Student Will Graduate Despite Injuries

OMAHA, March 30 (AP)—Ruth Kistler, 17, was happy today despite her fractured back and shoulder and the special hammock that practically holds her body rigid.

Miss Mary McNamara, principal of Benson high school, arranged for Ruth to carry on her high school studies and graduate in June with her class.

Ruth was one of four Benson students hurt recently when an automobile struck them on a sidewalk en route to school. One student died.

State May Give $25,000 Prize For Oil Well

DES MOINES, March 30 (AP)—Iowa house sitters tonight decided to give the lower chamber a chance to consider a bill to reward the first digger of a 100-barrel well in southern Iowa's "oil fields."

The sitting committee placed on the calendar a bill specifying a $25,000 prize for the first well that yields at least 100 barrels a day for 30 consecutive days.

The current oil boom is expected to produce several test holes in the state within the next few months. Thousands of acres of southern Iowa land are under lease for drilling purposes.

Chairman Floyd J. Pine (R), Columbus Junction, of the sitting committee declared liquor "wasn't even mentioned" in today's committee session. The committee is sitting on a liquor-by-the-drink bill and numerous outside forces have been trying to blow the measure out on to the calendar.

Other bills placed on the calendar included a measure requiring the governor to appoint a business manager for each of the 15 state institutions under the state board of control. Another measure would transfer from the secretary of state to the tax commission the collection of all motor vehicle fees and the licensing of automobile dealers.

The house passed six bills, defeated two others and adjourned until 9:30 tomorrow morning. Returned to the sitting committee was a measure that would have ended the vacancy "short terms" for the period between general elections and the Jan. 1 beginning of a regular term of office.

IT WORKED Magazine Crew Moved On, But No Law

COUNCIL BLUFFS, March 30 (AP)—A 14-girl magazine sales crew stopped here yesterday and started soliciting.

Police arrested the manager, booked him for "soliciting without a license," released him on $10 bond. The manager and girls drove out of town in their bus.

V. Lontok Studies American Schools

Sees First Snowfall in I. C. Director of The University of The Philippines Will Spend A Month at S. U. I.

By D. MAC SHOWERS Assistant Campus Editor

"You cannot realize what a wonderful United States you have," was the view expressed by V. Lontok, business director and secretary of the University of the Philippines at Manila in the Philippines Islands.

Mr. Lontok is spending six months in the United States, including a month at the University of Iowa, to study the educational systems of the country. Later he will tour Europe and other parts of the world, being gone from the Philippines for 10 months.

Mr. Lontok arrived in San Francisco March 2 and spent some time at various universities and colleges in California and the southwest part of the United States.

American Methods He will make a very extensive study of the organization and methods of American universities, spending an extra long period at Iowa because of his interest here. Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education, with whom Mr. Lontok is associated while in Iowa City, spent several months recently at the University of the Philippines helping reorganize the university.

Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue university, accompanied Dean Packer to the islands.

Also, President Eugene A. Gilmore was formerly vice-governor and acting governor of the Philippines as well as secretary of public instruction. He was

DEPOSED CHIEF Miaja Awaits Passport To Marseille

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 30 (AP)—The chief of the deposed Spanish republican defense council, General Jose Miaja, arrived at Cherchel today awaiting a French passport permitting him to go to Marseille.

Miaja indicated he might go to Mexico to live. His nephew and five officers of the former republican general staff accompanied him from Oran, where he had spent the night after flying from Valencia shortly before its surrender yesterday.

Italy Will Not Stay 'Prisoner' Says Mussolini

ROME, March 30 (AP)—Premier Mussolini served notice today that Italy "does not intend to remain a prisoner in the Mediterranean" but failed to indicate how far she intended to expand.

Fascism's newspaper spokesman, Virginio Gayda, meanwhile sounded the keynote of Italian reaction to French Premier Daladier's address of last night by declaring Daladier tended to "shut tight the half-closed door" to negotiations over Italo-French differences.

Duce spoke briefly in Cosenza, where he laid the cornerstone of a new normal school, during an inspection trip in the southern end of the Italian mainland.

Earlier, on the Calabrian coast, he had placed a wreath at the tomb of Michele Bianchi, one of the fascist quadrumvirs who led the march on Rome.

In his speech he recalled Biondini's words: "When one has given all to the fatherland, he has not yet given enough."

He concluded his address with the injunction: "Comrades, be ready in every instant of your lives, as fascists and as Italians, worthy of and faithful to his memory."

Gayda, whose editorial reaction to Daladier's speech appeared in Il Giornale d'Italia, declared that despite the fading hopes for Italo-French negotiations "Italy is not impatient."

"She can wait and she waits," he wrote.

Set To Fight If Germany Attacks Poles

By The Associated Press

A burst of diplomatic and governmental activity in London last night gave seasoned observers the impression Britain had swung around to a far-reaching decision affecting the future course of European affairs—that she must fight if Germany attacks Poland.

There was official silence but one usually reliable informant said Prime Minister Chamberlain's cabinet "now is convinced that a bold course is the best course."

This development came in the midst of redoubled British efforts to win over hesitant Poland to an anti-Hitler front and a feverish drive to raise the strength of Britain's territorial army to 340,000 men.

Report Troop Movements

The British activity was noticeable as reports—denied officially in London, Berlin and Warsaw—were received of German troop movements near the Polish border.

Chamberlain cancelled a scheduled speech and held a long and unexpected cabinet session, later conferring with his inner cabinet.

Dominions Secretary Sir Thomas Inskip kept high commissioners of the British dominions informed of developments.

At Ottawa Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada pledged there would be no conscription of Canadians for an overseas war during the life of his government. He declared, however, that "we have faith Canadian men and women would rise in the defense of their country or to any emergency."

Back to London

In Warsaw opposition political leaders gave the Polish government assurances which reliable sources said were a pledge of cooperation against any Nazi attempt to "trample on Polish rights."

Foreign Minister Joseph Beck of Poland was preparing to leave for London for important conferences.

Meanwhile Premier Mussolini again raised the issue of Italian colonial claims with a declaration that Italy "does not intend to remain a prisoner in the Mediterranean."

Credit

Due!

GIVING CREDIT where credit is due is sometimes a difficult procedure. That is particularly true on the University of Iowa campus when several departments cooperate in an event to contribute to its success.

Almost always, however, you'll find the extension department present when a difficult task is to be done. Because of their intensive labors in connection with numerous events we wish to point the extension staff members out as deserving of commendation.

This week, for example, the extension department will be unusually busy. The community play festival over last week, the department immediately had upon its hands the high school festival.

This week end there will be a debate tournament, an art conference and the management conference on the campus. Most of the credit for these events will go to the departments from which they originate, yet much of the organization work is done by the extension division.

We repeat, it is hard to tell who deserves the credit; but we're sure these extension staff members deserve a great share of it.

We Want

To Sing

NEXT MONTH the University Sing fest finals will attract campus attention. Those of us who heard the semi-finals this week wondered why sing fests of this type, but not necessarily competitive, are not held oftener throughout the school year.

As evidenced by the participants and audience at the semi-finals, there is among students a very real liking for group singing.

Of course, there is some opportunity for group singing on this campus, primarily in the university chorus. There are surely scores of students who greatly enjoy singing with others as a sort of recreational fun. They do not care for or cannot arrange for participation in the chorus, or they may even lack the talent for such singing.

Why shouldn't there, then, be set aside a time and a place once a month for an open unrestricted sing for the benefit of any and all students on the campus who sing for the pure joy of singing? We'd like to see it done—and we'd be there!

No Custard Pies

THE RAPID technical development of the motion picture is paralleled by development in quality. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, told members of the industry in his annual report that "public acceptance of pictures of distinctive artistic, social and cultural value as well as entertainment appeal, is greatly enlarging the opportunities of the screen."

Hays, in his report signals the demise of the "custard pie" days of the movie—the elevation of the film world to an art.

In the light of Hays' report it is interesting to review the production code, voluntarily adopted on March 31, 1930, by members of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors. The general principles of the code are that no picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrong-doing, evil or sin. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation. Under the code, it becomes unethical for a motion picture producer to present murder, robbery or smuggling in detailed manner. On the opposite approach is the regulation that no film or episode may throw ridicule on any religious faith. These examples from the code show its general nature. Of course there are unscrupulous motion picture producers just as there are unscrupulous persons in every endeavor. We believe the production code has played an important role in raising the artistic standards of pictures, mostly by regulating materials used as bases for scripts. The motion picture industry receives our commendation for its progression.

Congratulations, Franco!

CONGRATULATIONS, General Franco! You have conquered Spain! And, "to the victor belongs the spoils!" It is now your privilege to repair the destruction you have wrought. The opportunity is yours to feed, clothe, and house over 10 million unemployed, as well as hundreds of thousands of refugees, all of whom are at present starving.

You can now begin the rehabilitation of the retail commerce which was completely ruined during the war. With your eagle eye, you can now attempt to locate raw materials for the few industries still capable of operation. As for the thousands of factories which were destroyed by your cannon and bombs, you can now replace them with modern buildings and machinery.

Joyfully, you can tell your soldiers to return to the land to increase agricultural production, or you can put them to work repairing the roads and bridges which were destroyed by enemy bombs, to check your advance. If your soldiers object to such prosaic activities, it will be your privilege to quell the uprisings within your own ranks.

Now you will have the opportunity to re-establish Spain's maritime commerce, which has been non-existent, except for war cargoes. You will be able to take great pride in accomplishing this feat, for you will do it without the use of gold, your supplies of that commodity being completely gone.

General Franco, Spain looks to you for her future. May you be as successful in rehabilitation as you have been in destruction.

THE Progressive Education association is setting the stage for a searching discussion of the ideas about education which the group has been championing for 20 years. This is the body which is behind the "special curriculum" being tried on some of the students at Roosevelt High school here in Des Moines.

One of the best summaries of their attitude, which has had so profound an effect upon American teaching, is John Dewey's: "The primary business of the school is to train children in cooperative and mutually helpful living... The primary root of all educative activity is in the instinctive, impulsive attitudes and activities of the child."

Progressive education seeks to teach by arousing children's interest and curiosity, to lead them on to projects, to slip learning into them unawares as a by-product, instead of stuffing it directly and painfully down.

The movement has had its lunatic fringe. It has been attacked also by those who question whether drudgery and discipline can be altogether removed from education—and whether it is desirable that they should be, since they are still a part of life.

Still, the basic idea is sound. A child—or a man—learns best what he wants to learn. The meetings Friday and Saturday at Roosevelt High school are not intended for professional educators alone. Parents are invited to come, and to speak up. After each general session with prepared addresses, there will be small group meetings for discussion and consultation.

The association invited some of its outspoken opponents to take part in the program, and regrets that more of them couldn't come. If anyone thinks "progressive" ideas are "frills and fads" and "newfangled nonsense," the association tells us, he will be doing it—and himself—a favor by attending.

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERRIE MILLER

THE MEETING'S MINUTES

If Wednesday night's meeting showed nothing else (and it did show a good deal) it proved the bland assumptionists who sit easily back declaring campus are here for a four-year holiday are wrong.

It proved that men and women who live in fraternities and sororities can and do have quite as vital ideas as those who have to fight their way through... (Half our audience were Greek letter members.)

It proved that ideas which can't stand up in the light of discussion aren't ideas at all... And it proved that students at S.U.I. can and do talk about subjects other than sex, dating and religion in the order named.

Also that there can be two views on the same subject in the same room at the same time without anything disastrous happening.

Our next student-faculty discussion, then, the second in the series on "The United States in 1939," will be Wednesday, April 12, in a meeting place as yet undetermined.

The general topic will be the industrial mobilization bill now pending in congress.

Our speakers will be a faculty member of the military department, Prof. Ethan Allen of political science and a student as yet unnamed.

The nearly 400 cards we perused the day yesterday showed it was more than curiosity that brought seven-eighths of those who came out.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

Spencer Tracy. "Quick Millions." A gangster de luxe before "Scarface." A priest in "Boys Town," and a hero in "Stanley and Livingstone," and soon to be a great American hero—Thomas A. Edison on the screen.

James Cagney. Our old friend the "Public Enemy," detoured long from the paths of crime, but happily back again—at least convicted and a prisoner—in "Each Dawn I Die." And what's next? The one-time gangster will be playing the life of John Paul Jones, great American naval hero!

You can cherish hopes for Humphrey Bogart's regeneration. Tough guy, Bogart, from "Way Back." Killer in "The Petrified Forest," temporary reformation in "Crime School," interesting bit in "Dark Victory" and now—at last—a romantic role in "The Old Maid." But don't expect it to last. W. R. Burnett, the author of "Little Caesar," is in town writing "John Dillinger, Outlaw." And who's to play it? Mr. Bogart, of course.

Wallace Beery. Hardened one-time inmate of "The Big House," Off-and-on character. In cahoots with the slave-runners in "Stand Up and Fight"—but now on the side of the law till it hurts in "Sergeant Madden." Tyrone Power. From ragtime to train robbery. "Jesse James" (undoubtedly inspiration for the more modern saga of Dillinger) gives way to "Rose of Washington Square," not a flag-waver essentially but still having its exalted moments as a cavalcade of American show business.

Freddie March. Yesterday's "Buccaneer"—the pirate LaFitte—goes patriotic on stage and screen in "The American Way." One never knows—to quote the immortal Garbo lines—what time will bring, does one?

A sure failure is the fellow who is just waiting around until the ladder of success is replaced by an elevator.

ROBERT L. RIPLEY

For his premiere performance, Ripley will show how Napoleon Bonaparte saved an English regiment during the World war, how two men's lives were saved by one chance in 10,000,000,000.

It was on an old Collier hour that he first shyly approached his first microphone and hesitantly mumbled a few ad lib phrases.

Since then Ripley has presented a mighty parade of amazing happenings representing thousands of hours of entertainment. More than a quarter of a million dollars has been spent to bring outstanding persons to the microphone and more than 3,000,000 miles have been traveled by these people.

Ripley, recently returned from his latest tour of South and Central America, will face the CBS microphones to astound the radio listeners of America with his unusual dramas, unbelievable puzzles and bizarre personalities.

Last year a new high was reached in radio entertainment when Ripley set New York agog with Kuda Bux, the Hindu fire-walker; the mayor of Hell; Dr. W. H. J. Oxenham, the blind golfer, and the meeting of 27-year-old twin sisters who had never seen one another before.

This year among the personalities he plans to present are such astounding people as the oldest working girl in the world—she's 116 years old and still earns her own living; the legless baseball pitcher who has won more than 100 semi-pro baseball games, who will team up with another legless diamond star who hit over .300 for two seasons in a minor league; the men who shot at one another and found the bullet from one gun lodged in the barrel of the other's weapon—and hundreds of equally amazing people and their experiences.

The musical side of the program will be supplied by B. A. Rolfe and his 25-piece orchestra, Linda Lee, southern songstress, and the popular Men About Town quartet.

The new Ripley series will be heard via CBS for the first time and will be over a network of 77 stations.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

I am frequently asked to recommend a book for young people which instructs them about the changed world that they find after they come from the protected period of childhood. I can recommend one published by Whittlesey house, called "A Girl Grows Up," by Ruth Fedder, M.A.

Besides frank and sensible advice about the physical changes that occur in girls at the age of adolescence, it contains a great deal of psychology. What is meant by growing up? It means emotional maturity. The mature person generally has a sense of security, of knowing what is expected of her, and what she can do. She has learned how to get along happily with people. She may employ many techniques to do so. She is willing to take responsibilities. She may be praised or criticized for what she has done, but she takes the responsibility just the same. Can't Meet All

No high school girl could be expected to meet successfully all of these standards. That is true largely because the statements listed above are for the adult who has truly grown up in the most desirable sense of the term. Very few complete adults can meet these requirements, but if the high school girl in gaining self confidence, will consider sensibly how she may obtain security, how she may attain the technique of getting along happily with people, and how she may deserve to take responsibility, she will go a long ways in growing up.

Failed Entrance Alice Freeman Palmer failed her entrance examination to college. She renewed her efforts and at 26 was president of Wellesley. Excellent chapters called "Getting on with People," which incidentally quotes an epigram of my friend, Karl Menninger—"The unhappy are always wrong"; a chapter on "Living Happily with Your Family"; "Associating Happily with Boys"; and "Deciding About a Job" make up a bulk of this valuable book.

Early Bird Gets No Light 'Til Dawn

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—If G. H. Jerry Sadler, of the Texas railroad commission, can't have the lights in his office turned on at 5 a. m. he wants an old-fashioned kerosene lamp.

Sadler, who says he is "just a plain country boy," told the capital board he long has been used to arising early, but when he tried to turn on the lights in his office at 5 a. m. the janitor told him it was against the rules to use electricity before 6 a. m. The board is debating whether to alter the rules or give Sadler the lamp.

Graduate Students Each student in the graduate college who expects to receive the master's degree or the doctorate at the forthcoming convocation June 5, is requested, so far as he or she may not have done so heretofore, to procure for us immediately the official transcript of whatever graduate work he may have accomplished in another graduate school; so that this may be taken into account in determining whether he or she fulfills the requirements for the higher degree sought. This should be done immediately; otherwise, it is possible that we shall be unable to certify for graduation next June a student who may have accomplished satisfactory graduate work elsewhere, because we shall not have received the requisite official statement of it early enough. A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Pardon me for conjuring up drowsy vistas in the midst of what should be a column of the bustling, teeming city, but someone has sent me a communication that has so altered my perspective, quickened my piscatorial inclinations, and left me so generally unsatisfied that I can only quote it and then augment it with a little comment of my own.

It is a page from the American magazine showing a contented fellow wading in a stream, fishing. You can look at this picture and hear the rippling of the water, and if you bend close enough you can smell the fragrance of the fisherman's pipe. This is what the caption says:

"Our picture shows the mayor of Fishville, Louisiana, which boasts of being the laziest town on earth, pursuing his municipal duties. Thirty years ago Ed Hawthorn worked so hard as a sawmill foreman that he resolved to spend the rest of his days recuperating.

"Villagers heartily approved his resolution and elected him mayor of this town of 100 houses. He has held the office ever since. His lackadaisical leadership fired the residents with so much lack of ambition that a prejudice against anyone's working soon arose in town, and now its chief occupation is fishing.

"Those who feel compelled to work go to Alexandria, 18 miles away. Mayor Ed owns the general store, but he never works in it. Customers have to serve themselves, drop payments in a box, make their own change, and if the store gets too dirty, sweep it out themselves.

"The mayor has had only one unpleasant experience since he started loafing—he had a nightmare in which he was chopping down a tree." Personal note to Mayor Hawthorn of Fishville: Dear Ed, why don't you come up to New York for awhile and get away from the strain of your municipal duties? You won't have any nightmares in New York because we haven't got any trees for you to dream about, except a handful of synthetic elms Mr. Rockefeller is planting on Fifth avenue, and a few more in the Park. If you have to have water to look at and wade in, why there is the Hudson and the Atlantic, and between wadings you could take in Mr. Whalen's World Fair, if you like fairs. And then if you got tired you could loaf in the nightclubs, and I will even turn my place over to you so you will have a bed to sleep in and a chair by a window with a view. Of course, I realize you wouldn't want to leave Fishville entirely unguarded, so what I am gradually getting around to is the suggestion that you invite me down to Louisiana and let me take care of that bayou for you while you are taking care of Manhattan. I've got my own boots and a trunk filled with tackle, and in my varied experiences I have had some big ones get away, too. After all, I'm a Louisiana boy (Lake Charles) and I know what it means to use a dipnet for crayfish in the swamp. They make good bait, crayfish. I know what it means to brush cypress knees, turn over logs for grubs, and sleep on Spanish moss. Now, don't let me talk you into anything, but think it over, and if you decide you'd like a little Broadway with Billy Rose and the Stork club or the Aquarium thrown in, why come on up. We bayou boys ought to stick together.

BITS about Sports
By J. DENNIS SULLIVAN

Eighteen Hawkeye baseball players, hampered by injuries and a conditioning period that has been anything but satisfactory due to poor baseball weather, show off for the southland tomorrow for their annual series of games with "cotton land" opponents.

Prospects of a successful invasion seem none too bright despite the fact that the Iowans will be sporting practically the same lineup that spent a pleasant spring last year whacking Big Ten foes about with the greatest of abandon.

What is likely to prove a hitch in the proceedings is the same old problem that all northern college teams encounter when they carry the play into the southland, namely, superior condition on the part of the Mason-Dixon players.

Minnesota, not exactly a setup in conference competition, has been receiving its lumps with alarming frequency in the Gophers' current training swing through the south.

In three encounters with Louisiana State—an outfit Iowa must also meet three times on the tour—Minnesota failed to come very close to capturing any, suffering the added indignity of a 6-0 lambasting in finale of the series yesterday.

Should Art Manush, slugging outfielder, and Frank Kocur, little third baseman who seems likely to take over the position vacated by Ed Kadell upon his graduation, recover sufficiently from their respective injuries to help the Iowans, the Hawkeyes may make their tour an interesting one indeed for southern fans.

This current Vogel edition has a lot of possibilities. Given a few of the breaks it will come very, very close to capturing the Big Ten title—and has a better than average chance of pacing the field to the wire.

Cards Defeat Rochester, 9-5

WINTER GARDEN, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Making seven of their 11 hits good for extra bases, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Rochester Redwings, 9 to 5, here today in their first exhibition game this spring against minor league opposition.

Paul Dean, one of the big "question marks" of the year, held the Redwings to two hits and a single run during the final three stanzas. Morton Cooper was nipped for eight hits and four runs during the first six innings.

Is That Right?

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., (AP)—The Phillies are not as weak as their record in spring exhibition games indicates, President Gerry Nugent said yesterday. "We have been handicapped by injuries and sickness every since training started," Nugent said. "Max Butcher, ill of influenza, has pitched only five innings."

Big Day

LAKE CHARLES, La., (AP)—Ken Keltner, Cleveland's star third-sacker, led the Indians to a 5 to 3 victory over the Athletics here yesterday. He batted in four runs with three hits in three times up and scored the fifth himself. Keltner drove home the first run with a single in the fourth after Bob Feller and Chubby Dean had each pitched three scoreless innings.

Lower B Rips Northwestern In Cage Contest

Lower B advanced to the semifinals of the all-university basketball championship last night by defeating a scrappy Northwestern quintet, 23-16.

Defeated by Chesley in last Saturday's game, the boys from the Quad returned to their old form of play and scored a very impressive victory. Russell Busk and Joel Hinricks, absent from last week's game, turned in the best performances of the evening as they scored sixteen points to help Lower B in its win.

Northwestern made a battle of it all the way and were out in front at the close of the first period, 8-5. In the second period both teams resorted to a fast break and the score mounted to 15-14 at the end of the period with Lower B holding the one-point margin.

At the start of the final quarter Jessup, Northwestern forward, took the tip from center and dribbled through Lower B's guards, dropped in a bucket, and put Northwestern in the lead. Busk and Sprague boosted the tip in shot and Chuck Sprague hit from far out to put Lower B back in the lead. Baskets by Busk and Sprague boosted the winners' total to 23 points as the final whistle blew.

Lower B will meet Delta Chi Saturday afternoon in the semifinal round to determine which team will face Chesley in the final game to determine the all-university champion.

Senators Cut Squad

ORLANDO, Fla., March 30 (AP)—The Washington Senators began cutting down their squad today, optioning four players to the minors. They are:

Hassett Clouts Five

BRADENTON, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Buddy Hassett hit five for five, including a double and a triple, today when the Boston Bees pulverized three Newark hurlers for a total of 21 hits and a 21-11 victory.

Browns on Rampage

AUSTIN, Tex., March 30 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, who were barely able to beat the University of Texas last year, today walloped the Longhorns, 21 to 2, in an exhibition game.

Backed by 19 hits, including four homers, Pitcher Bob Muncie went the route for the Browns. Sam Harshbarger, Myril Hoag, Joe Grace and Billy Sullivan hit for the circuit.

Jack Conway, Texas hitstop, slammed out a home run for the collegians in the second inning.

The American leaguers scored at least two runs in each of the first seven frames.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 30 (AP)—The Washington Senators set upon a pair of Cincinnati pitchers today and took an exhibition ball game, 9 to 2.

State Track and Field Meet Held Tomorrow

The Iowa fieldhouse will be a busy place Saturday when 536 athletes from 67 high schools in the state compete in the 18th annual running of the state indoor interscholastic track and field meet.

The seven schools who sent both the record for teams entered and number of athletes participating to fall. The teams average eight men each slightly less than last year's mark when there were 53 schools and 514 boys entered.

Defending team champion is East Des Moines, winner in 1937 and 1938. The Des Moines team won by seven points last year from Ft. Madison but indications are for a much closer battle this year with several outstanding teams from all sections of the state competing.

Des Moines Favored

Early favorites are the defending champions, Des Moines indoor champions again this year; Ft. Madison, the Little Six conference champ; Clinton, winners in the powerful Mississippi Valley conference; Davenport, always a strong contender; McKinley of Cedar Rapids, runner-up to Clinton in the Valley meet; Roosevelt of Des Moines and North of Des Moines.

Only two individual champions will return to this year's meet. Kaiser of East Des Moines, winner in one section of the quarter mile, and Welchman of Davenport, shot put winner, are the

Committee Named To Plan Men's Sports Dinner

CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, with their National league championship on the line, are going to gamble on young Phil Cavarretta coming through at first base when the major league season opens next month.

That was the essence of a statement today by P. K. Wrigley, president of the club which yesterday sold Jim (Rip) Collins, smooth-fielding and experienced first sacker for two years, to Los Angeles. The sale left the Cubs with two first basemen—the light-hitting and erratic Cavarretta and Rookie Glen Russell. Reports the Cubs were after an established star to fill the gap were spiked quickly by the Cub owner.

"We aren't in the market for Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals, nor are we in the market for any other first baseman to take Collins' place," Wrigley said. Hartnett (Manager Gabby Hartnett) is satisfied with the set-up and is confident Cavarretta and Russell will handle the job. They are young players, while Collins is going downhill. If he has a good year on the coast we could get him back."

Cavarretta, 21 years old, has been with the Cubs through four full seasons, two of them as a full-time first baseman and two as an outfielder and first sacker. His best year was 1937, when he batted .286 in 106 games, while his four year average is .272. He has shown many flashes of promise, which usually were followed by hitting slumps, but Hartnett apparently is convinced he has the makings of a star.

Tommy Farr Loses Bout to Ring Board

LONDON, March 30 (AP)—Consistent Tommy Farr maintained his losing streak today by dropping a liberal decision to the British boxing board of control in the court of the king's bench.

Farr apologized for the printed remarks he had made about the board and agreed to pay a "substantial sum" and costs. The board recently forced Farr to a contract for failing to keep a copy to meet Max Schmeling in 1937.

Eldred Morgan of Newton is another lad who might break a record. His .71 for the 60-yard low hurdles is only .1 of a second off the present record held by Phillips of Webster City.

Preliminaries will begin at 2:30 p.m. with semi-finals scheduled for 3 p.m. With the exception of the 440-yard dash and the two mile relay, to be run off late in the afternoon, the finals will be at night, beginning at 7 p.m.

A Busy Day

Between 70 and 80 races will be run during the day, some 33 of them coming in the dash and hurdle events. Points will be awarded in two sections of the quarter and half mile runs. The relays will be run in sections, with points going to the five fastest teams.

Radio station WSUI will broadcast portions of the affair, beginning at 7 p.m.

Among the schools who entered yesterday was University High which nominated four men. Other schools entered yesterday were Cherokee, 4; Muscatine 1; Thomas Jefferson of Council Bluffs, 1; Franklin of Cedar Rapids, 14; Iowa State Teachers of Cedar Falls, 3; and Montezuma, 5.

The records: Pole vault—12 feet, 4 inches. Schiebel (Davenport) 1934. 50-yard dash—.054. Nelson (Clinton) 1933 and Green (Newton) 1938. Mile relay—3:35.4. Clinton, 1934. Shot put—52 feet, 8 1-2 inches.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

● Is He Through?
● He's Slow
● He's Trying

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 30 (AP)—They are saying, loudly now, that the iron horse, has rusted; that the marvelous physical machine that carried Lou Gehrig through 2122 consecutive games has fallen apart; that the streak surely will end this year.

A few weeks ago it was a "furtive whisper, as if to keep the news from the man himself. You began to hear it everywhere, until the soft breezes sighing through the palms seemed to be saying: "Gehrig is through. Gehrig is through."

Is It True?

Gradually as the days passed the whisper increased in crescendo until today it is a shout, with each voice carrying the hope that it isn't true, but the vague fear that it is.

As if the man didn't know. There he is on the field, the hardest-working of a crew of hard-working Yankees. A plodding, sweating, puzzled worrywart Gehrig. A clumsy Gehrig whose legs and feet fail to obey commands, whose arms and shoulders swing a fraction of a second too late or too soon as he hits lobbing practice pitches.

He's Slow

I saw him play against the Cincinnati Reds, and his efforts to match the vibrant youth of his teammates were pathetic. He trotted briskly to and from the bench after every inning. But in the field he was anchored. His foot groped for a bag he used to touch intuitively.

Gehrig always looks bad in the spring, they say. He never looked this bad, nobody could. Had he been an untried rookie, he long since would be back at the home table.

He's Trying

He knows he isn't right, but he tells himself he will be. He would be in there trying if he were 99 years old. He's that kind, never a quitter. But he must know the coordination isn't there, that the stout, heavy legs that once carried him he now has to carry.

I watched him take his turn at batting practice yesterday. Muscles bulging under a saturated sweat shirt, he looked like the Gehrig of the Ruth era as he took his stance. But suddenly the mirage vanished in the shimmering haze as he swung at the ball. It wasn't the Gehrig of old, but an old Gehrig. The snap was gone.

All-University Fencing Meet Is Postponed

Matches in the all-university fencing tournament have been postponed until Saturday afternoon when two groups of fencers will complete the qualifying round competition.

Two fencers from each group will then be chosen to enter the finals of the round-robin tournament and compete against Bob Smith and William Patterson, both finalists, as a result of their victories in the first group eliminations.

Men who will compete in the qualifying round Saturday are: first group—Don Isaacson, George Fieselman, Bob Enabrit, Jack Somny, Paul Goddard and Jack Ryan. Second group—Bill Seiler, Louis Borland, George Buckles, Robert McFadden, Robert Van-Horne and James Kaster.

18 Players To Make Journey

Millsaps College To Be Encountered In First Contest

Slated to leave on their southern jaunt at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, 18 baseballers yesterday were named by Coach Otto Vogel of the Hawkeye diamond squad.

With Jackson, Miss., their eventual destination, the Hawkeyes will travel as far as possible Saturday. The squad will travel by bus.

Coach Vogel has decided on a late afternoon practice for today with possibly an evening session also. The diamondmen are scheduled to open the season Monday with Millsaps college, and will probably not get to see a baseball field before then, with an 800 mile, two-day trip ahead of them.

The regular infield played like major leaguers yesterday, considering the indoor drill, as the men scooped up grounders with professional precision. There was little chance for the outfield to show its fielding strength within the confinements of the field-house.

Vogel ran the squad through a stiff bunting drill, the latter having been a weak point in the Iowa offense. The pitchers especially were drilled on sacrificing.

The diamond coach hopes to have his team improve on its last year's record on the southern trip when it won only one tilt while losing six. A year ago the Hawks opened their tour auspiciously by whaling Concordia (St. Louis) by a score of 17-3.

After their excellent start, the Iowa men faltered and dropped the remainder of the trip contests, two to Millsaps, three to Louisiana Tech, and one to Missouri.

The southern teams, however, have had a month more outdoor practice than the Hawks. At any rate, the local squad will have a tough time of it throughout their southern sojourn.

Included on the favored list to make the southern trip are:

INFIELDERS—Elmer Bratten, Ervin Prasse, Andy Kantor, Frank Kocur, Harry Bulow, and Norman Hankins.

OUTFIELDERS—Arthur Manush, William Vogt, James George, and Frank Balazs.

CATCHERS—Wendell Winders and John Vogt.

PITCHERS—Harold Haub, Kenneth Reid, Fred Hohenhorst, Robert Stastny, Ted Frese, and Keith Wymore.

Club Cabaret Tonight at Union Promises To Be Colorful Affair

Herbie Holmes Plays For Formal Party In Cabaret Style

There'll be a touch of spring in the galaxy of colored formal at the Club Cabaret in Iowa Union tonight. Light billowy nets, chiffons, silk crepes and perky cottons will swirl around to the gay music furnished by Herbie Holmes and his orchestra. In the true cabaret style, couples will be seated at tables accommodating from one to eight scattered about the dance floor and balcony of the main lounge.

In a full-skirted white net frock flaring out from a tucked-in bodice, Wilma Buntrock, N3 of Waukon, will swing on the arm of George Prichard, A3 of Onawa, general chairman of Club Cabaret. A dazzling bit of color will be a brief bolero of gold sequins and accessories of the same shade.

Strapless Gown
Jo Ann Oppenheimer, A4 of Marshalltown, has chosen a tissue taffeta frock striped in the spring colors of green, gold and fuschia. Strapless, it has a tight fitting bodice and a full skirt. Accessories are in fuschia. Miss Oppenheimer will be the guest of Mat Wolfe, L2 of Clinton.

Stepping out in a figured spring frock of cotton, Constance Fenton, C4 of Jewell, will be dancing with Bob Speedy, A4 of Allison. The waffle material is printed with bright multi-floral designs. The full skirt has a ruffled edging of pleats which also trims the square neck and short puff sleeves.

A gown of white chiffon embroidered with twinkling gold stars will be worn by Helen Ries, A3 of Iowa City, who will be escorted by Robert Osmundson, A3 of Forest City. The soft, folded neckline is accented by two gold clips and the fitted bodice flares into a bouffant skirt. Accessories will match the gold stars.

Gowned in white chiffon with

Grecian lines will be Beth Browning, A3 of Iowa City, escorted by Bob James, A4 of Hardy. Soft pleats from shoulder to toe are accented by glossy gold leaves. Miss Browning will use gold accessories with white sandals.

Black Silk Frock
Attending the dance with her husband, Mrs. Harry Foster will wear a black silk frock interwoven with cellophane stripes. Two shades of rose add a contrasting trim to the halter-necked gown which has a fitted, slim lined skirt.

Accessories will be in rhinestones. Jane O'Meara, A4 of Cedar Rapids, has selected a white chiffon with a shirred top and three narrow straps at the shoulder. The full skirt is dotted with glittering rhinestones and white accessories will be worn with white sandals with rhinestone splatforms. Miss O'Meara will be the guest of Ben Stephens, C4 of Cambridge, Ill.

Peach silk net over matching taffeta will be worn by Helen Cramblet, A1 of Iowa City. Tiny aquamarine bows tie here and there down the front of her gown. Miss Cramblet will be escorted by Carl Burnside, P4 of Shenandoah.

Window Box Can Be Useful As Well As Decorative Addition to Your Home

For extra trimming for your home, for color or for a lot of enjoyment, plant a window box this spring. Placed directly outside of a window, the color is reflected in the room as well as adding a color tone to the outside of the home. Busy housewives who don't have as much time as they would like will find that their own private garden right within reach is no trouble at all.

Constant exposure to moisture and air makes it necessary to build window boxes of durable materials. Cypress is most satisfactory and red cedar and white pine are suitable. Six inches deep, eight inches wide and three feet in length is a convenient size.

The color of the box should be the same as the house, or a harmonizing shade. Green usually looks well. Several holes can be bored in the bottom for drainage and be covered with broken pieces of pottery to keep soil intact. Good florist's potting soil, or a loam with sand and a leaf mold added, is best for most window box subjects.

A list of plants most suitable for window boxes in sunny situations are ageratum, begonia semperflorens, dwarf cannas, geraniums, heliotrope, lobelia, mignonette, nasturtiums, nierembergia, Petunias, achyranthus, acahypha, aspidistra, dracaena indivisa, crotons, aspidistra, grevillea, golden feather, phoenix and sweet alyssum.

Royal Bread Pudding

Royal bread pudding is the modern version of the long established dessert favorite. Beneath the high fluffy meringue which tops these individual bread puddings is a layer of raspberry or strawberry jam. Royal Bread pudding is a dainty dessert, especially suitable for a spring luncheon menu.

Royal Bread Pudding
2 eggs
2 cups hot milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups bread cubes
1/2 cup jam
4 tablespoons sugar.

Beat egg yolks. Cool milk, add sugar, salt and flavoring. Add egg yolks, mixing thoroughly. Place bread cubes in individual buttered baking dishes and add liquid mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Remove from oven. Spread tops with jam. Cover with meringue made by whipping egg whites and folding in four tablespoons of sugar. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

The pudding is inexpensive, too, just like its predecessors, as the basis of the pudding is a bread cube and custard mixture. It is simple to make yet has a very dressy appearance.

First Regiment of Iowa Volunteers For Union Service Had No Uniforms

Did you know that the first regiment of volunteers from Iowa for service in the Union army had no uniforms for campaign service? None could be obtained from the United States government. Finally, Governor Kirkwood sent a man to Chicago to buy cloth. All he could get was "some very poor, thin, sleazy, gray satinet, half cotton and half wool, only fit for summer wear."

Loyal women in the home towns of the first Iowa companies gladly undertook to make this cloth into uniforms. Under the direction of local tailors, they went to work. At Dubuque nearly 250 cut and basted, trimmed and stitched for nine days.

Amid smiles and frowns and the din of female voices the garments were fashioned with little regard for sizes. It was said that some of the soldiers had to climb on a chair to reach the pockets in their trousers. The coat collars were either just a little above the small of the wearer's back or several inches over his head.

Nor could the women resist a few adornments. One company wore blouses with green collars and another was distinguished by trimming of red flannel. Nevertheless, the soldiers were glad to get their uniforms, and they appreciated the prayers and hopes that had been sewed into them.

Social Science Is Important

Rockefeller Foundation Experiments With Human Relation Problems

NEW YORK, March 30 — New trends in science, from plans to combat "mass hysteria" to trying new kinds of movies on the public, were announced today by the Rockefeller Foundation, the world's best known private sponsor of science.

The foundation told of the trends in its annual report, which stated it gave last year more than $15,000,000 to science, in 42 countries. Seventy-five per cent of this went to the United States. The foundation was set up by the late John D. Rockefeller to return to all peoples some of the world wide profits from oil. Recently it has been shifting its emphasis toward the social sciences.

Live in Danger "Everywhere," the report states, "reason is on the defensive and we live in danger that mass hysteria will completely overwhelm it at a time when it is most needed as a safeguard. "If problems arising out of human relations are to be solved at all, it will be through the same scientific approach to facts, made in the same dispassionate spirit of inquiry, which has given man command over his physical environment."

"Physical sciences," the report continues, "have centuries of experimentation behind them; the social sciences are just emerging from a priori and deductive methods. Even today a good deal that masquerades under the name of social science is metaphysics."

Big Donation For these social sciences the foundation gave last year $3,762,500. For the allied humanities the foundation gave nearly $1,000,000.

In movies the foundation proposes to learn whether the public would like different films.

"There is yet," it declares, "no assurance that what are thought to be better films would find a public demand that would bring returns."

As a laboratory for testing this the foundation is supporting the new American film center. This body sponsors pictures said to portray "aspects of life which the film has as yet barely touched—such as present day activities in public health, agriculture, education and public administration.

Want for Films "A want for such films," the report says, "is supposed to exist on the part of an audience that does not seem as yet large enough to justify production. The work of the film center will serve to test the validity of this supposition."

On socialized medicine the foundation points out what it calls the "astonishing" situation that tax money is already providing as much support for medical research as all other sources in this country put together, excepting industry.

The report writes what appears to be the last great chapter in the history of yellow fever. This is the vaccination of 1,059,252 persons, mostly in Brazil, with the new yellow fever vaccine. Where masses of people were vaccinated, a sudden reduction followed in fever cases. Immunity after vaccination appears to last more than a year for most persons.

A new science called "molecular biology" is described. It uses new instruments to detect the

Speaker Contrasts Secondary Schools in England, America

Baconian Lecture Given by Director Of University High School

In the thirteenth Baconian lecture presented last night by Prof. Harry K. Newburn, director of University high school, the speaker pointed out how the schools of any nation develop from the racial mores of the people.

"England's system of secondary education arose as the result of class distinctions while those in the United States grew as the result of the desire to give equal opportunities to all," Newburn said.

Deserves Education
In England the basic assumption underlying the state secondary schools is that the boy or girl is only entitled to the education from which he can profit, while in the United States it is felt that everyone deserves a secondary education if he wants it.

English schools have no desire to give all boys or girls a secondary education; the United States feels that any one who wishes is entitled to a secondary education, the speaker explained.

In the United States, the educational progress is determined by time attended and credits earned, while in England, emphasis is placed on demonstrations of accomplishments on external examinations.

Professor Newburn showed that if the same policy as is followed in England were followed in the United States we would have 1,700,000 high school students as compared to the present 7,000,000. If the same proportion entered college as does in England we would have 10,000 students entering college each year instead of 250,000.

Three Types of Schools
As the schools are now being constituted in England, there are or will be three types of secondary or post primary schools; namely, grammar school for pupils of 11 to 16 years with courses leading to college entrance, technical high schools for pupils of 11 to 16 years and modern or senior high schools providing a general terminal for post primary education," Newburn said.

In England the pupils do not select the schools they will attend, but they are selected by examinations. The results of the examinations determine whether a pupil will attend the grammar school and prepare for college entrance or attend a technical school and prepare for a trade.

In other words, it was shown that the pathway a student will follow is determined by his examinations. Moreover, once the stream of his training is settled he has little choice in subject matter. Another difference that was pointed out was the separation of sexes in England while in the United States, coeducation is a universal policy.

The English have achieved a compromise between a highly centralized system and a locally controlled system. Both a national and local board of education control the schooling policies. The schools are supported on the basis of national grants and local taxes levied on a county bases, Newburn explained.

In conclusion, Professor Newburn pointed out that in addition to the public school system in England, there is a system of private schools which is attended by the upper class.

Snow Spoils Spring Hope

Winter Makes Final Effort, Disregarding What Calendar Says

The only proof that spring is here is the calendar, and even that has seemed doubtful the last two days.

After Wednesday's five and a half inches of snow, Thursday did little to cooperate in sweeping it off the streets and sidewalks. Mercury refused to rise above 37 degrees yesterday but did stay around 26. Normal high is 51 degrees and low, 31.

Wednesday's snowfall, most unexpected by incoming robins, ranked almost equal in abundance to the heaviest snowfall of the winter.

What snow did melt yesterday transformed nearby dirt roads into mud and cut up gravel roads considerably, it was reported.

Minor traffic accidents which usually occur during and after such a storm were not an exception Wednesday. Two accidents were reported to police Wednesday afternoon.

No arguments were in order a year ago yesterday. Both the weatherman and calendar agreed that spring had come. It was 70 degrees.

1 Stage For Many Scenes

Used in 100 Plays Stage Gillette 'Basic' Stage Has Variable Scenes

By MADELYN MILES
One basic stage has been used for almost a hundred one-act plays given at university theater for the Iowa play production festival. This stage, designed by Prof. Arnold Gillette, technical director of university theater, is equipped with an especially designed set of scenery which may be readily adapted to any type of play.

Professor Gillette disclaims all credit to himself by saying, "This is not a new idea. On the contrary, the formal or basic stage dates back to the ancient Greeks. We have only taken the old idea and made it more flexible so as to enable us to meet the variety of needs of each individual play."

50 Units
Over 50 units of scenery are available for use in the festival plays. Doors, windows, arches, fireplaces may be provided in almost any location. All stairs are portable and may be removed entirely or used in various arrangements.

Three acting levels can be used if the play demands it. They are the forestage, the inner forestage, which is one foot higher than the floor of the forestage, and the upper inner stage or balcony.

The walls of the inner stages, which are mounted on heavy rollers, can be moved so that they are within a few feet of the front, 16 feet from the front, or moved so that they lie at an angle.

'Stage Is A Tool'
"The stage is a tool," said Professor Gillette, "just as lighting is a tool. With the formal stage, possibilities are almost unlimited."

Professor Gillette, who spent a year studying theater technique in Europe, said that every country in the world uses the formal stage. He witnessed the Russian dramatization of "Tom Sawyer" in Leningrad. The stage used for this is only one of the varieties of settings University of Iowa stage crews can install in about four minutes.

A sketch of a Greek stage of a thousand years ago is almost a duplicate of the stage used for the one-act plays of the Iowa play production festival.

One Basic Stage
Separate staging for each festival play would result in almost endless confusion. But with this one basic stage almost any form can be secured: hotel lobby, prison wall, park, porches, kitchen, living room, bedroom, hut and palace.

Professor Gillette said that the use of the formal stage throws the accent on the player rather than the setting.

Until two years ago, festival plays were produced in several theaters. Drapes were used for background. But as these proved unsatisfactory, the basic stage was designed by Professor Gillette and constructed in the university theater not only for convenience in producing festival plays but for producing experimental university plays as well.

Festival play-goers are seeing a modern version of a stage designed by the Greeks thousands of years ago.

Educator--

mediate grades are the same as our fifth, sixth and seventh. After graduation from the intermediate section, there are four years of high school, just as ours. Graduation from high school is necessary for entrance into the university.

"The Philippine university has an enrollment of between 7,000 and 8,000 students," Mr. Lontok explained. "It is the only university on the islands, but there are two junior colleges, one in the north and one in the south."

"All standard colleges are represented at the University of the Philippines. There are colleges of dentistry, pharmacy, law, medicine, liberal arts and nearly all that there are at Iowa. Also, the school of forestry and agriculture is not separated in the Philippines as it is in Iowa."

Educated in U. S.
Most of the professors and instructors at the Philippine university are educated in the United States. Many of the junior members of the faculty are sent to the United States each year to work for higher degrees so that they may return to the islands better prepared to face the educational task before them.

The university was founded in 1908 and has made very rapid progress as evidenced by the present enrollment.

The school of journalism of the University of the Philippines publishes a weekly newspaper every Monday. "The news sources are limited to the university campus and the costs of publication are all paid by advertising and student circulation," Mr. Lontok said.

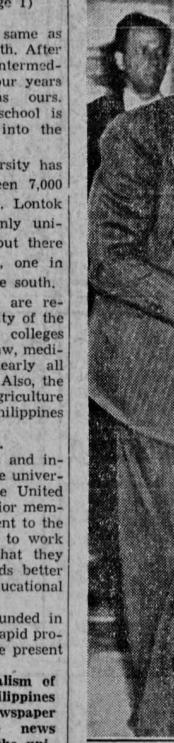

The paper is an eight page tabloid size and has a complete editorial staff of students, including a photographer. Before he left the Philippines, Mr. Lontok was the faculty adviser of the paper.

English Language
The official language of the Philippine islands is English. Mr. Lontok said he finds that this is contrary to common belief, most people thinking the language used is Spanish. While driving in California, he was stopped by a highway patrolman for disregarding a stop sign. When he explained to the officer that he did not see the sign and that it was his first visit to the United States, the patrolman did not believe him because he could not see how a native Filipino could speak English so well.

According to Mr. Lontok, English is taught as the official language in all schools, is used in all official government correspondence and is rapidly replacing Spanish as the spoken tongue of all natives. He explained that the extent of the relations which the islanders have with the United States concerns operating in the Philippines.

Mr. Lontok looks forward to a very enjoyable visit in the United States because of the natural beauty which so attracts him. Mrs. Lontok and their daughter are accompanying him on his world tour.

Witnesses for the defendant in the trial, which is the last criminal case that will be tried in the current term of court, will take the stand for the first time.

The court was adjourned at 4:40 yesterday afternoon when the prosecuting attorney rested his case after having called seven individuals to testify.

Mrs. Moore is charged in a county attorney's information with illegal possession of intoxicating liquors.

The jury of three women and nine men impaneled yesterday morning to hear the suit are Fred Kleim, fifth ward; Bertha Michel, Oxford; S. E. ### Jury Awards Wilson $1,000 Damages in Accident Case

Keith H. Wilson was awarded $1,000 damages yesterday by a petit jury of four women and eight men that heard his suit against E. J. Brannen which began in district court Monday. Jurors reached their decision at 3 a.m. after deliberating nine hours over evidence presented in the case.

Wilson had asked for $5,000 as the result of an automobile accident which occurred May 29, 1937 in Sharon township, causing him property damage and leaving him with permanent injuries, according to his testimony. He charged the defendant with negligence.

Defendant Brannen had filed a counter-claim, seeking $5,000, also for property damages and personal injuries. Jurors in their sealed verdict which was opened at 9 a.m. yesterday found against the defendant.

Both parties to the case were granted 30 days by the court

Most Businessmen Have Hobbies

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf, hunting, photography and reading lead the lists of sports and hobbies selected by the average American businessman between 21 and 35 years of age.

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce questioned its members in 500 cities and 42 states to find out what they like to do when they are not working. The answers indicated that 94.6 per cent of the businessmen had hobbies and that 82 per cent went in for some form of sport.

Diesel Buses To Cross Country

Burlington Lines First To Start National Service With New Motors

For the first time in transcontinental bus service, Diesel engines will be used as motive power when a new fleet of 25 buses make their debut this spring for the Burlington Transportation company. The service will operate between New York, Chicago and San Francisco, with fast schedules provided for intervening cities.

Local officials announced June 1 for the inauguration in Iowa City of this innovation for travel to and from both world's fairs. One east and west trip will be made daily.

This fleet of buses is being built at a cost of approximately $500,000 by the Yellow Coach division of General Motors corporation at Detroit. Iowa City representatives report that comfort features heretofore unknown in cross-country travel are being provided by the manufacturers.

"These new buses with their advanced air-conditioning will afford constant temperature despite the naturally varying altitudes and climates encountered in transcontinental travel," officials said last night.

All windows are extra wide and of double-pane safety glass, sealed permanently against dust, outside temperatures and noise. A new type of sash is used which, it is said, prevents fogging or frosting under most extreme weather conditions. Seats at the proper window level further aid visibility. There are also Venetian-type blinds individually controlled from each seat.

A special bulletin from the Burlington headquarters describes the color combination to be used in the buses as "especially restful and harmonious." Exteriors will be painted in the usual cream and crimson of the line.

Although the bodies of the new cruisers are designed in size to accommodate 37 passengers, there are seats for 28 only in order to supply more leg room and reclining comfort.

"Seats are of the new sponge rubber and are adjustable to five positions, one more than in ordinary buses, the fifth providing a comfortable sleeping position without interference to the passenger in the seat behind," comes the report from the branch office here.

Another new convenience includes accessibility to the baggage compartment from inside the bus, which is particularly desirable to travelers on long trips.
