Secretary Of WPA Union Is Communist

Denies Membership Of 18 Years Affects Conduct as Official

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The house committee investigating the WPA heard today, amid frequent heated exchanges, that the second-ranking official of the workers' alliance belongs to the communist party.

Herbert Benjamin, general secretary-treasurer of the alliance, an organization of relief workers, told the committee he had been a member of the party for 18 years but denied vigorously that it had affected his conduct as an officer of the alliance. He also contended that neither he nor the communist party advocated overthrow of this government by force or violence.

Under questioning by Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass), Benjamin said he believed that Arnold Johnson, of Cleveland, O., and Sam Wiseman, of New York, both members of the alliance's executive board, were members of the communist party. He volunteered that Alex. Noral, of California, another board member, had belonged to the party at one time.

Expressed Organization's Views
Benjamin testified that in his "official capacity as an officer of the organization," he confined himself to "expression of the views of the organization."

"In your private individual capacity you are a devotee of the philosophy of communism," intoned Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), "and as secretary of the workers' alliance, you subscribe to the eloquent statement of the principles of Americanism which were read in the statement of Mr. Lasser yesterday." (David Lasser, president of the alliance, testified yesterday that he was not a communist and believed in "trying to make capitalism work.")

Benjamin contended he saw no inconsistency in a stand such as Woodrum outlined and that he saw no difference between the philosophy of communism and the American institutions of government.

Evoked Sharp Reprimands
Facing a dozen members of the house appropriations committee, Benjamin and Lasser evoked sharp reprimands from Woodrum and other committee members at the outset of today's session when they criticized the course of the committee's inquiry.

The witnesses sought first to read into the record a statement bluntly accusing the committee of "a feverish attempt to make a few newspaper headlines, to manufacture a scandal."

Woodrum blocked the reading of the statement, declaring the committee had no intention of submitting to a "lecture" from its witnesses but later permitted the statement to be submitted for the record.

Alliance Members Pay Dues
Members questioned Benjamin about the source of the alliance's revenue and learned, among other things, that a $7,000 donation was made to the alliance by the United Auto Workers of America.

Benjamin said alliance members in states where the alliance had issued charters paid dues (See SECRETARY, page 8)

The Colonel Comes Back

Colonel Charles E. Lindbergh is flanked by policemen as he arrives in New York from London. This is his second visit to this country since he and family began self-imposed exile abroad. He'll report to government officials on strength of foreign air fleets.

Lindbergh Called To Aid U. S. In Development of Warplanes

Will Make Survey Of Aviation Facilities In Army Air Corps

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, world's most famous flier, was called to the colors today in a dramatic move to insure that the United States army shall have world leadership in the development of warplanes.

A few days after expert witnesses had told congressional committees that Germany was building better planes than the United States, the surprise announcement was issued by Secretary of War Woodring that Lindbergh, an air corps reserve officer, had gone on active duty and would make a survey of American aviation research facilities for the army air corps.

The "lone eagle" reported today at the office of the chief of the air corps, Maj. Gen. Henry Arnold. He then departed on an inspection trip of research centers. Later he will make a confidential report to General Arnold.

Besides his world-known experiences as a practical flier, Lindbergh has been in close touch, during his prolonged stay abroad, with the aeronautical accomplishments in Europe. In his capacity as reserve colonel, and as a member of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, he has kept officials here in touch with developments which came under his observation. Lindbergh recently returned to the United States for an indefinite stay.

Apart from Lindbergh's knowledge of planes, it was believed that Woodring was counting on his world renown to dramatize the research problem and thereby facilitate action on it.

AMES PROTEST

Students Petition For No Ceremonies

AMES, April 18 (AP)—A petition protesting military ceremonies scheduled to be held in conjunction with the visit here Friday of Crown Prince Frederik and Crown Princess Ingrid of Denmark was presented to Dr. Charles E. Friley, president of Iowa State college, today.

The petition was signed by 150 students, most of them affiliated with peace and religious activities on the campus.

Disaster Crew Goes on Trial Before Board

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Heroes of the flying boat Cavalier disaster three months ago, 28 members of the crew of the Standard Oil tanker Esso Baytown went on trial today before a special federal board of inquiry on charges of misconduct in another matter.

Four of the defendants were members of the life boat crew that saved 10 of the 13 persons of the Cavalier after it was forced down to sea Jan. 21 en route from New York to Bermuda. Chief Mate Olaf Anderson, who commanded the life boat, was expected to be a witness against the men.

The charges are based on the behavior of the crew April 10 at Baytown, Tex., after a two-day squabble over overtime.

Earl G. Miller Again Target Of GOP Drive

Bill Passes Which Would Deprive Him Of Securities Dept.

DES MOINES, April 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Earl G. Miller, favorite target of the republican reorganization drive, lost the Iowa securities department today, despite some omen-creating help from the lights.

By a vote of 60 to 41, the Iowa house passed and sent to Gov. George A. Wilson the bill consolidating the securities unit and another minor department under the state insurance commissioner.

Vehicle Dep't. Next
The reorganization drive previously had taken the highway patrol from Miller's jurisdiction. Approved by the senate and pending in the house is a measure that would deprive him of the rest of the motor vehicle department.

If the pending measures pass the two houses and are signed by the governor, Miller will be left with election statistics, corporation registrations, the real estate unit and guardianship of the original draft of the constitution of the state of Iowa.

Demos Support Miller
The securities unit went the way of all such departments — into the governor's sphere of influence — even though the small band of democrats held a caucus and decided to support Miller. Sixteen of the 19 house democrats voted against the measure. One voted for the reorganizers, and the other two were absent.

George W. Bird of Davenport is the present securities commissioner. His salary is $4,000 a year. His deputy, Warren MacHenry of Des Moines, draws $3,000 a year. There is one $2,700 job, two of $2,200 and three stenographers in the department.

Insurance Commissioner Charles R. Fischer served as Iowa securities commissioner several years ago.

Royal Guests

F. R., Wife To Greet King and Queen

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt will meet King George and Queen Elizabeth of England at the railroad station when they arrive in Washington on June 8. They will then ride with them in a motor procession to the White House where the British royal couple will be guests during their two-day visit in the capital.

The state department, announcing today the official program of the visit, disclosed that elaborate preparations had been made for an historic reception.

An official reception committee will meet the king and queen at Niagara Falls, N. Y., when they cross the Canadian border into the United States. An official said the committee would be headed by Secretary Hull.

Roman Catholic Prelates Issue Prayer Request

LONDON, April 18 (AP)—Roman Catholic prelates of England and Wales at their annual meeting today ordered a statement "deploring and condemning the spirit of violence in the world" to be read in all churches.

Bishops directed that prayers for peace should be offered at every mass possible. They issued a "solemn call" to statesmen to remember that the fate of millions depended upon their will.

'Stop Japan in China'
WASHINGTON (AP)—Upton Close, writer and lecturer on far eastern affairs, told the house foreign affairs committee yesterday that the "best way to get at Germany and Italy" was by stopping Japan in China.

SNITE TRAVELS

Paralysis Victim Will Visit Europe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 18 (AP)—Fred Snite Jr., will journey to Europe next month and visit the shrine of miracles at Lourdes, France.

His father, Chicago financier, said tonight the infantile paralysis sufferer, now in his fifth year in an "iron lung," will sail on the Normandie May 17.

"It is planned that he will visit the shrine," he said.

Fire Menaces French Cargo

Ship Carrying Art To New York Fair Entirely Destroyed

LE HAVRE, France, April 19 (Wednesday) (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin aboard the French liner Paris caused damage estimated in the thousands of dollars early today, menaced an art cargo valued at $650,000 and resulted in one death.

The fire broke out late Tuesday night as the 34,560-ton liner in the north Atlantic service was being made ready to sail today for New York.

Firemen reported at 3:00 a.m. (8:00 p.m. Tuesday, CST) that they were making some headway in checking the blaze, but it was believed the ship — third of the French line on which fire has occurred in less than a year — would be almost a complete loss.

Officials investigating the possibility of sabotage questioned an Italian dock worker.

The chief of the ship's safety division, a man named Sourdille, was killed when he fell into a hold. A fireman was injured dangerously by a similar fall.

The entire upper structure of the ship's center was destroyed. Firemen fought the blaze from the dock and from fireboats alongside.

Art objects were loaded into the holds Tuesday for shipment to New York world's fair. They consisted of marble statues, and other material ordered by French officials at the fair for display in the French exhibit.

Two valuable paintings from Louvre were safe. They were valued at $300,000 and were first supposed to have been put aboard with the other art objects, but their loading had been postponed.

Reports State King Zog May Visit America

BUDAPEST, April 18 (AP)—King Zog who fled Albania with the Italian conquest is considering a visit to the United States, the newspaper Az Est said today.

This was revealed, the newspaper said, in telephone conversations between a lady-in-waiting to Queen Geraldine and the queen's brother-in-law Andreas Baghy, who lives here.

The queen and Zog with their son, are at Larissa, Greece, but expect to go to Turkey later in the week. Az Est said he was offered an American lecture tour contract.

Congress May Regulate Price

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Secretary Wallace told Senator Capper (R-Kan) in a letter today that attorneys for the agriculture department believed congress had authority to fix prices of agricultural products.

Wallace said this view was supported by a recent decision of the supreme court which held the coal commission might fix minimum prices for sale of coal in interstate commerce.

Hitler Shows Resolution To Fight Alliance

New Ambassador Had Formerly Prepared Austria's Downfall

BERLIN, April 18 (AP)—Adolf Hitler returned suddenly tonight to a capital preoccupied with plans for his mammoth birthday celebration Thursday and immediately named a veteran "trouble shooter," Franz von Papan, as German ambassador to Turkey.

At the same time more than 25 warcraft of the German navy were steaming toward Spanish waters for naval maneuvers.

Interested In Near East
Hitler showed clearly by the unexpected appointment of von Papan his deep interest in southeastern Europe and the near east as well as his determination not to stand by passively watching British-French efforts to build an alliance athwart the Rome-Berlin axis.

Von Papan's aptitude for nazi spadework has been well tested. He was Hitler's special ambassador to Vienna until Germany absorbed Austria in March 1938.

Britain has been attempting to bring Turkey, one of Germany's very good customers, into the French-British alliance. Such negotiations are still under way in London and Ankara, where von Papan shortly will begin his work.

Prepared Austria's Fall
Von Papan, former chancellor of Germany and holder of nazidom's highest decoration for preparing the absorption of Austria, had a talk with Hitler prior to his appointment which brought him from semi-retirement at the suggestion of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

He was described in the appointment as "ambassador for special service," succeeding Dr. Friedrich von Keller.

Ships Leave Kiel
The German war ships left Kiel and Wilhelmshaven—how and when remained a secret—for the area near the Strait of Gibraltar.

French warships now are patrolling the strait while the British Mediterranean fleet is concentrated near the strategic British base of Malta.

Preparations for Chancellor Hitler's 50th birthday anniversary overshadowed German political developments.

BAN BOOKS

Nazi Police Prohibit 5 Publications

BERLIN, April 18 (AP)—Three American and two English publications were banned indefinitely by police today.

No reason was announced. The publications: The Saturday Evening Post; the book, "Nazi Germany — Its Women and Family Life," by C. Kirkpatrick, published by Bobbs-Merrill of Indianapolis; the magazine "Fame" published at Flushing, N. Y.; the books, "The Shadow of the Swastika," by Geoffrey T. Garrat and H. Hamilton, London; "They Betrayed Czecho-Slovakia," by G. J. George, published in England.

Tyrone Power Gets License

Annabella Nervous When Couple Apply For Permit To Wed

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—Sweat stood out on Tyrone Power's forehead today as he and Annabella, French cinema actress, applied for a license to wed.

Power's hand shook as he signed the application and he gave the clerk $4. Getting $2 back, he nervously explained this was his first matrimonial venture and thought the price was $2 apiece, "like buying theater tickets."

Annabella, born Ann Carpenter, was somewhat nervous, too, as she signed her name and gave her age as 25. Power is 24 and a native of Cincinnati. Annabella was born in Paris, France.

She was married to Jean Murat, French cinema actor, in 1935, and they were divorced.

Under California law Power and Annabella can be married next Friday. He had the afternoon off today at Twentieth Century Fox studio, where he started a new picture last Monday.

It seemed likely any honeymoon plans would have to await its completion. Annabella recently finished a picture at M-G-M.

Power, son and namesake of a famous actor, came to the movies in 1936 after playing on the stage and radio. He has appeared in a dozen pictures.

Annabella came to Hollywood after a screen career in France, Germany and England. She and Power appeared together in "Suez." Both are fond of sports and music.

Great Britain Seeks Turkey, Bulgaria Help

Turkish Ambassador Visits Foreign Office As Efforts Continue

LONDON, April 18 (AP)—Efforts were intensified tonight to get both Turkey and Bulgaria, German allies in the World War, into the French-British front of nations.

The efforts hinged upon conversations in Moscow, Sofia and London, and until the results are known it is unlikely that agreement with Turkey alone will be announced by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

He told parliament today that conversations were continuing with Soviet Russia, that Britain welcomed with "satisfaction" the Roosevelt appeal to Italy and Germany for a 10-year peace, that "necessary contacts," military and otherwise, would be maintained with nations in the French-British bloc.

Montchiloff Returns Home
Chamberlain also told a questioner that Britain was interested in the independence of the Netherlands, Switzerland and Denmark, but had made no specific commitments to assist any of those countries.

The Turkish ambassador, Teyfik Rusta Aras, visited the foreign-office this morning; the Bulgarian minister, Nicolas Montchiloff, left for Sofia to consult his government; and the Soviet ambassador, Ivan Maisky, flew to Moscow to report to Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff.

Political informants understood that:

1. Turkey and Bulgaria agreed they could expect no immediate aid from Britain or France unless Soviet Russia definitely supported the alliance sponsored by those two powers.

2. Turkey was being urged to use her influence to bring Bulgaria into the French-British front. Britain and France already have guaranteed to aid Poland, Greece and Rumania if they are menaced.

3. London suggested that Russia make unilateral declarations that military aid would be sent to nations of the French-British front if, as and when they requested it. A factor in this has been Rumanian objections to transporting Russian troops across Rumanian territory. It was understood tonight that Rumania now was considering waiving these objections.

British-French Fleet
While there was about London tonight an air of waiting for Chancellor Hitler of Germany to declare himself, in his answer to the Roosevelt peace appeal to be made before the reichstag April 28, there were two significant military developments.

A high authority said that Britain and France had agreed on division of responsibility in the Mediterranean during war time—the British navy to patrol the eastern end and French warships to guard the western or Gibraltar section. This would account for the present concentration of French warships off Gibraltar, which started after Berlin announced the nazi fleet would hold spring maneuvers off the Spanish coast.

The German fleet left Kiel and Wilhelmshaven today.

First Lady's Nephew Killed In Air Crash

MEXICO CITY, April 18 (AP)—Daniel S. Roosevelt nephew of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Peter Runsey of Sands Point, L. I., were killed today when their plane crashed and burned near the village of Guadalupe Victoria, Puebla state.

A third occupant of the plane, Miss Carlotta Constantine of Mexico City, suffered a broken arm and a broken leg.

PLANE JITTERS TAPER OFF

Advices from Europe which seem reliable indicate that at least one phase of the standing war scare over there is losing some of its intensity. We mean fear of bombing planes and what they may do to large, open cities.

Britishers pride themselves on never becoming panicky. But the excitement which swept over London last September when it looked like war any minute was as close to panic as Britishers can come.

The Spanish war is over now, and the threatened general European war is still threatened. Meanwhile, British and western European city dwellers appear to have thought things over as calmly as they could, and to have put away some of their fears of the bombing plane.

The feeling seems to be now that, while air raids would be horrible and all possible precautions ought to be taken against them, they wouldn't be quite as frightful as some of the more dramatic writers and radio commentators make out. Or as decisive.

That question of how decisive plane war would be is the important question from the point of view of a nation that hopes to win its next war.

Certainly the airplane, for all the damage it did, didn't decide the Spanish civil war. Planes didn't capture Barcelona, or reduce Madrid, or mop up afterward in south-central Spain.

It took the infantry and the artillery to do all those things—though the plane was a valuable scouting weapon, and though the air raids unquestionably pounded a lot of city buildings and streets to bits and killed a lot of people.

But on the job which plane fans had expected the plane to do to perfection—destruction of civilian morale, which would cut the props under the armies on the fighting fronts—the plane did worse than merely fail. It so enraged both the civilian populations and the men at the front as to nerve them to a last-ditch fight.

What finally won for Franco was overwhelming superiority in trained fighters, munitions and food supplies. Superiority in the air alone would not have turned the trick.

This argument over whether the airplane has made the battleship obsolete will not be settled until there is a major war with both weapons fairly engaged.

Our feeling is that if the present map revisions lead to a general European war, the story of the World war will be repeated. We expect Great Britain, with its enormous navy, to bottle up Germany once more by a North Sea blockade; and to cork the Mediterranean with Mussolini's navy inside if Mussolini decides to reverse Italy's World war history and stick by Germany instead of crossing Germany up again.

That was the tactic that choked Germany in the World war; it was the plan that eventually brought down Napoleon. Wellington won the Battle of Waterloo in 1815, but Napoleon's downfall began when Nelson smashed the French fleet at Trafalgar, Oct. 21, 1805.

Of course, this guess may be wrong. The airplane may have blown the eternal whistle on the battleship, and the next general war may so demonstrate. But until the next general war, nobody can be sure.

Which is one big reason, we surmise, why the next general war is so long in starting off daily. If planes can sink battleships, the British Empire is about finished. If they can't Hitler and Mussolini are about finished. That's why both sides would like to put off the showdown as long as they possibly can.

For ourselves, we need the best fleets, in the air, on the sea, and under the sea.

A movie portraying the spirit of times would be one co-starring the circus gorilla, Gargantua the Great, and Mickey Mouse. Civilization may be crumbling, all right, but so far the pieces have fallen only on the smaller nations.

We bear but the friendliest feeling for our Canadian neighbors, but—ha! ha! ha! ho, ho, hee! hee! hee!—April 30 will be their income tax day.

Britain may try appeasement again, says news story. We can hear the chorus of small nations: "Oh, Mr. Chamberlain, not that!"

I Can't See This Futuristic Stuff

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

A CYCLE OF AMERICA... Thyra Samter Winslow once wrote a favorite story of mine. "A Cycle of Manhattan," she called it and told the story of the Rosenfelds who came to America as immigrants from Europe's oppression.

The Rosenfelds bettered themselves financially, moved from the Bronx to Park avenue, changed their names to Rose and their ideas to those Miss Winslow called "American."

As the story ended, Papa and Mama Rose were back in the Bronx to view the picturesquely dirty artist's studio their wastrel son had rented. They turned to each other and smiled as they reached the top of the stairs and saw the two-room studio.

"Remember, mama?" asked Papa Rose. "And Mama Rose said, 'This was the one "grand" apartment they had begun life in America by living in.'"

This morning's story might well have been modeled after Miss Winslow's story—except that it's stranger, more unbelievable and true. It might, I think, be called A Cycle of America.

A friend of mine who is a student was home during spring vacation. His parents were immigrants, even as the Rosenfelds. They came during one of the pogroms there, came bringing my friend who was too young to remember.

"They're nothing but aliens any way," said his father. "As I say, my story might well be called A Cycle of America."

And by the by, there is a Mass Meeting of Students Against War tomorrow at 11. That is all those who don't have 11 o'clock classes.

All I know is what I see on the sign-boards. Wonder if 11 o'clock classes'll interfere when M-day gets around to arriving.

See you tonight at 7:30.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

An acute headache is a fairly reliable indication of a toxic state of the body. It may be the result of mechanical strain, as from the eyes, but in that case it is not exactly an acute headache, but an acute recurrent headache. Eye strain headaches, come back over and over again, and usually it is easy to remember the strain—long reading or study, or sewing, or the movies—which caused the strain.

Acute headaches are those that occur to a person who is not used to headaches, who doesn't understand them. Usually they are, as I said, toxic; and are to be regarded as warnings—warnings to rest and take it easy for a few days. Nearly all infections—colds, tonsillitis, etc.—are ushered in with such a headache. That headache is a friend because it warns you something is going to happen and makes you want to lie down, which is the best treatment that could be applied.

Different Breed Chronic headaches are a different breed and are far more complicated. Many different classifications are made for them, and the difficulty is increased because we do not know exactly what the cause of headache is. The most likely explanation is that there is a stretching of the tough connective tissue covering of the brain, the meninges. The brain itself can feel no pain. We know that increased pressure within the skull, thus stretching the meninges, will cause headache.

A working classification for chronic headaches is: (1) Due to organic causes, (2) Reflex, (3) Neurosis, (4) Migraine.

TUNING IN

By Loren Hickerson

FRED ALLEN, who goes night clubbing only about once in a while, will pick up a few tips on what goes on in the New York area when he interviews Barbara Sullivan, hat check girl at Manhattan's svelte Stork club, at 8 o'clock tonight over the NBC-Red network.

Giving a few tips on song and comedy will be the rest of the Town Hall cast, including Portland Hoffa, Harry von Zell, the Mighty Allen Art players, the Merry Macs, the Town Hall singers and Peter Van Steeden and his Troubadours.

Fred and Mrs. Portland Hoffa Allen are virtually unique in radio in that they live a quiet life of modest domesticity. Fred writes script all but one or two times a week, and on these periods off, goes to the theater or spends an evening at home. About the only time he has ever gone to a night club has been to help out a close professional friend who wanted the Allen presence to add luster to his night club opening.

RAYMOND PAIGE will highlight his "Raymond Paige, 99 Men and a Girl" program with songs from George Gershwin's "Foggy and Bess" over the Columbia network at 9 o'clock tonight.

The special arrangement includes "I've Got Plenty of Nothin'," "It Ain't Necessarily So" and "Summertime." The melody of the week, as selected by listeners, will be "Silver Threads Among the Gold" sung by Hildegard.

ALICE EDEN and John Archer, scheduled for Hollywood stardom as a result of their work on "Gateway to Hollywood," will co-star on the Columbia Star Theater at 8 o'clock tonight.

"A Bench in Washington Square" is the skit in which the pair will be portrayed as two youngsters completely licked by the city.

BILLY GILBERT appears again on the CBS Star Theater tonight also, as a result of his smash performance on the same show last week. "Our Love" and "When My Baby Smiles at Me" by Frances Langford, "A New Moon and an Old Serenade" and Drigo's "Serenade" by Kenny Baker and "Could Be" by the Star Theater orchestra are on the musical bill of fare.

DEEMS TAYLOR, the noted music critic and commentator, will head the list of guests on Dave Elman's "Hobby Lobby" at 7:30 tonight over NBC's Blue network.

Also on the program will be Freida Feldman of Boston university, who spends her spare time running a dating bureau; Carl Staudenmaier, who rivals the Easter bunny by raising chickens that lay eggs with different colored shells, and a radio station operator from a Massachusetts high school.

BEST GAG of the week: Ameche: Haven't you ever heard of the ballet? McCarthy: Is that what's known as the abdomen in more polite circles?

AND THE FINEST song of the season is "Our Love." Watch it!

TONIGHT'S SHOWS NBC-RED 7:—One Man's Family. 7:30—Tommy Dorsey. 8—Fred Allen. 9—Kay Kyser. 11:30—Lights Out.

NBC-BLUE 7:30—Dave Elman Hobby Lobby. 9:30—Interest in Democracy.

COLUMBIA 6:30—Ask-it-basket. 7—Gang Buster. 7:30—Paul Whiteman. 8—Star Theater. 9—Raymond Paige. 9:30—Edgar A. Guest.

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—An interesting experiment is taking place down at 799 Seventh avenue. Jack Robbins, whose name heads the largest music publishing house in the country, thinks "Swanee River" is the greatest of all American folk songs. He thinks it is so superior that it isn't worth while to compare "Swanee River" with other American songs.

Guided by this enthusiasm, he has invited 25 well-known composers and arrangers to interpret "Swanee River" after their own fashion, to make their own arrangements of it. If 25 people witness a fire or a flood their accounts will vary widely, even though each tells exactly what he sees. That's what Robbins wants here—25 different "Swanee River" stories.

They're going to be published in one folio, or album, and they'll probably cost a dollar, or maybe two dollars. But there is no commercial angle to the stunt. The composers haven't received anything for their work, and Robbins won't realize a dollar on sale. Every quarter above actual printing expenses will be turned over to deserving musical charities. He has been three years selecting composers and collecting their finished manuscripts. Most of them are in now. Here are some of the men whose versions will be included in the folio, and a word or so identifying them:

Johnny Green—he wrote "Body and Soul"; Peter De Rose has composed more than 200 songs, his newest being the Number One hit of today, "Deep Purple"; Louis Altus, "Manhattan Serenade"; Claude Thornhill is an arranger. Dan Suesse, "The Night Is Young and You're So Beautiful." Rube Bloom, "Song of the Bayou"; D. Savino is a musical editor.

Van Alexander is co-composer of "A Tisket A-Tasket"; Spud Murphy is an arranger; Ferde Grofe, "Grand Canyon" and "Mississippi"; suites; Victor Young, "Sweet Sue"; Vernon Duke, hailed as the logical successor to George Gershwin; Frank Signorelli, "Park Avenue Fantasy"; E. M. Sampson, "Stamping at the Savoy"; Hugo Frey is the father of rhythm music; Bob Zurke, pianist with Bob Crosby; William Grant Still is a composer of symphonic ballads; Thomas Grisel, "Two American Sketches"; Eastwood Lane, "Adirondack Sketches"; Jack Mason, arranger.

Art Tatum may best be described as a stylist; Bob Bagar is a critic; Teddy Wilson, formerly pianist for Benny Goodman, has his own orchestra; Frank Skinner is under contract to Universal Pictures; Lemmie Hayton is a conductor; William H. Chellis is noted for his arrangement of "In a Mist"; These are the 25 men and one girl who are passing Stephen Foster along to you as they see him. Comparisons should be an interesting pastime, once the folio reaches the music counters.

Purdue's Boilermakers yesterday put a crimp in Iowa's hopes for repeating as Big Ten baseball champion as the Indians defeated the Hawkeyes 4-1. The game was played under adverse weather conditions as an icy wind had the few spectators shivering in their seats.

The contest was a pitcher's battle which saw Bailey, Purdue's ace, allowed only three hits throughout the tilt and issued but three bases on balls. Reid and Haub, who hurled for Iowa, also gave up three hits, but Reid added five walks.

Purdue relied mainly on its excellent defense and on Bailey's superb twirling in chalking up the victory. The Hawks' only run, however, came as a result of an error. The Boilermakers took advantage of Iowa's four misplays and coupled with them the three safe blows, all singles, given up by the two Hawk pitchers to account for their four markers. The defensive highlight of the contest was Dean's shoeing catch of Vogt's low line drive in the eighth frame.

After being retired in order in the first inning, the Purdue team swung into action. Mackiewicz walked to open the second frame. Smithson fanned, but Thompson hit a hard one to Kantor at short. The latter juggled it momentarily, and both runners were safe. Kurtz then walked to fill the sacks. Bredewater forced Mackiewicz at the plate, but Bailey hit another hard one to Prasse, who fumbled it, Thompson scoring.

The Boilermakers added two more runs in the third. Dean led off with a bouncer to Kocur. Bratten missed the throw, and Dean went to second. Lybault walked, and Mackiewicz followed that up with an infield single. Prasse made a marvelous stop of the hard hit ball to keep Dean from scoring.

After Smithson had forced Dean at first, Thompson came through with the first solid hit of the contest, a single to center, to score Lybault and Mackiewicz.

Purdue tallied its other run in the eighth. Mackiewicz opened with a clean single to center. Smithson sacrificed him to second. (See BASEBALL, page 6)

Bridges Hurls As Tigers Get Away To Flying Start

DETROIT, April 18 (AP)—Brilliant pitching by Tommy Bridges, 32-year-old right hander, enabled the Detroit Tigers to open their American league schedule today with a 6 to 1 win over the Chicago White Sox. A crowd of 47,000 braved the elements to witness the affair, shivering in a wind-whipped rain.

Bridges, who was troubled by an arm ailment early last season, allowed but seven hits and only one in the seventh when the Sox scored did he permit a runner to get beyond first base. He did not walk a batter and struck out five.

New Giant Players Lead Blistering Hit Attack; Gumbert Wins

PITTSBURGH, April 18 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals made Ray Blades' major league managerial debut a happy occasion this afternoon by surging from behind in the old GasHouse fashion to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3 to 2, before an opening day crowd of 15,783.

Big Bob Weiland received credit for the triumph, although he left the game in the seventh for a pinch-hitter with the Bucaneers ahead 2-0.

The Cards counted their runs in the seventh. Jimmy Brown coaxed a pass out of Bob Klingner, Guttridge lucked a hit to the infield and Slaughter's single filled the bases.

Hitless until then, Joe Medwick uncoiled a two-run single. Slaughter skipped to third and scored on Mize's short fly which Rizzo returned poorly.

New Yorkers Get 13 Blows

New Giant Players Lead Blistering Hit Attack; Gumbert Wins

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—The debris was cleared out of Wrigley Field today as Promoter Mike Jacobs counted up $87,697.75 gate receipts and Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis' one-round knockout of Jack Roper took a modest place as another line in the record books.

Post-battle opinions varied, but the consensus was that Los Angeles' first heavyweight title fight was great while it lasted and the outcome was a surprise to practically no one, including the 25,000 spectators.

Louis planned a visit in Chicago before proceeding to New York for his next title defense against Tony Galento.

Roper, praised for making one gallant stand, foolhardy though it was, remained at his Hollywood home.

Jacobs said he would like to put on another title fight in Los Angeles this summer, provided police protection could be assured to handle the crowds. Last night hundreds scaled the walls of Wrigley Field and others abandoned their $1 seats and took over the $10 ringside pews.

"I think we would have done $100,000 but for this lack of help from the police," he said.

Open Competition in Rotary Javelin Meet This Afternoon

Bob Heiser And Dick Hein Favored To Capture Event

The semi-annual Rotary club javelin competition will take place this afternoon on the west side track from 4 to 6 o'clock. It was announced last night by Ted Swenson, assistant track coach.

This competition is open to any university student who believes he can toss the spear with any degree of distance. The winner will receive a traveling trophy put up by the Iowa City Rotary club.

The event was first held in 1924 and has been a regular part of the fall and spring program since that time. Winner of the first cup in the fall of 1924 was J. E. Nolan who threw the javelin 163 feet, 2 inches.

Last fall the event was won by Art Manush, co-captain of the baseball team, from Burlington. His winning heave was 158 feet, 5 inches. Dick Hein of Erie, Ill., was second with 147 feet, 2 inches.

Previous winners of the competition and varsity letter winners in the javelin are not eligible to compete.

Early favorites to take the trophy away from Manush are Hein; Bob Heiser, Perry; Charles Murphy, Grant Neck, N. Y.; Henry Haines, Allentown, Pa.; George Poulos, Marshalltown; Al Coupee, Council Bluffs, and Keith Bieschke of Arthur.

Joe Louis Makes Money Fast

Figures Reveal Brown Bomber Makes $970 A Second in Fights

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Five rounds, Nathan Mann three, Tommy Farr the full 15, and Braddock, in losing his title, stayed eight.

The Roper bout possibly will tone down Tony Galento's blasts to a whisper. Galento has a summer date with the bomber and has indicated that he would carry the fight to his opponent, as that would be the best bet unless they had to carry his opponent to the fight.

However, that also was Roper's idea, and he lasted nearly a round. Galento uses an open fighting stance, and nobody has yet accused Louis of being unable to hit a barn door.

It is granted that Roper on his record had no more chance than an ear of corn dropped into a shelter, but John Henry Lewis, although shy in weight, is a pretty fair country fighter, and Max Schmeling had a knockout over Louis to his credit.

Hawkeye Golfers Down Muscatine

Iowa golfers defeated Muscatine Junior college yesterday afternoon on Finkbine field in a tune-up match in preparation for their Big Ten opening match with the strong Northwestern team on May 1.

Considering the adverse weather conditions good scores were turned in by the Iowa players who were led by Jim Hoak with a 76. Wet conditions on the lower nine made it necessary to play the entire 18 holes on the upper nine, raising the par to 74.

With these few encouraging sunny days the gay feminine world is saluting forth in spring's latest maritime head covering. One lively little sailor is of burnt wheat straw with high crown and saucy brim just big enough to hold a cluster of snowy blossoms. It's tied on with a wisp of a matching veil.

A camera clicker in the Easter parade was a chic coat of silk-wool and rayon moire. The rippling skirt billows out from a wasp waist and slim sleeves build out into a leg 'o mutton at the shoulder line. White touches score again with a pert pique covering a wide rever collar.

Picturesque and sophisticated, too, is a bold, striped linen housecoat for those lazy summer hours not far off. And our modern design will have a ruffle of broderie anglaise around the low neck and perky, short puff sleeves with velvet ribbon and bows accenting the Empire waistline and swirling skirt. Black and white make a smart number, but there are all the soft spring shades from which to choose.

Another Dutch treat! This time it's those cute little alligator sabots with turned up toes, walled sides and lifted soles. Another springy touch is the quaint buttoned on apron for the leg heel slipper. Beige and light green are top notchers, but also popular is a new mellow tone called alligator yellow.

Introducing "Flapjack" — a light weight wool jacket tailored like a schoolboy's with big flapping pockets and roomy sleeves. Comfortable and easy to wear you'll love to slip it over shirt-makers or your sweaters and skirts. The favorite and obliging shade this spring is none other than a warm tone called natural beige.

Daisies won't tell, but you'll know you're smartly gowned if you step out in a frock of imported voile embroidered all over with clusters of white daisies. Shining at the shoulders with tiny puff sleeves, buttons down the front and a very full skirt, all combine to make a chic afternoon frock.

Another gay vagabond in fashion's spring portfolio is a crisp little cotton of multi-colored stripes with a whirling skirt. The top is a sheer organdy with stick-out sleeves, and a "little girl" collar. And, to tie over your curls is a gaudy neckerchief matching the skirt.

Being prepared for a rainy day isn't such a hardship if you can don a smart raincoat of polka dot rubberized silk, treated so skillfully that it can easily serve for another light spring top coat. Modeled on slim lines with belted waist, buttons down the front looking much like a swamp bull frog, and a close fitting Peter Pan collar makes this little number a real "blues chaser." And since we're matching 'em this season, there's a smart little umbrella and snap brim of the same design and color.

Eilene Bennett Wed at Home To Dr. Melrose

A ceremony in the home of the bride's mother last Friday afternoon united in marriage Eilene M. Bennett, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Bennett of Jansville, and Dr. M. C. Melrose of Independence, Dr. E. Guy Cutshall of Lincoln, Neb., cousin of the bridegroom, officiated.

Mrs. Earl H. Briner, twin sister of the bride, and Attorney Robert R. Melrose of Independence were the couple's attendants.

The bride is a registered nurse who studied at the University of Iowa hospital and at Mercy hospital in Waverly, taking post graduate work in surgery and laboratory technique.

The bridegroom received his B.S. and M.D. degrees from the university. The couple are at home in Independence, where Dr. Melrose practices.

Drees, Glackemeyer Nuptials Performed Saturday in Carroll

Of interest here is the wedding of Louise Drees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Drees of Carroll, to Everett H. Glackemeyer of Villisca which took place last Saturday at 10 a.m. in St. Joseph's rectory in Carroll. The Rev. P. T. Lynch read the single ring marriage service.

The bride wore a robin's egg blue silk crepe dress in redingote style with a dubonnet cartwheel hat. Her other accessories were also of dubonnet and her corsage was of orchids.

Jean Drees, who attended her sister as bridesmaid, wore a dusty rose print dress with white trim and a natural straw leghorn hat. Her flowers were gardenias.

John Seabrook of Omaha attended the bridegroom as best man.

After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained 16 guests at a wedding breakfast in the Burke hotel. Later a reception for 80 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Glackemeyer are now touring through the New England states on their wedding trip. After June 15 they will be at home in Washington, D. C. The bride's traveling costume is a black and white summer suit with matching accessories.

The bride was graduated from the Carroll high school and attended the university. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. For the past two years she has been employed in the real estate department of the Federal Land bank in Omaha, Neb.

Mr. Glackemeyer was also graduated from the university and was affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He holds the position of reviewing accountant with the Federal Land bank from which office in Omaha he has recently been transferred to Washington, D. C.

Club Members To Be Guests Of Sixth Grade

As the guests of the sixth grade of the University Elementary school, members of the drama department of the Iowa City Woman's club will meet in the school at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Anything! Musicians Will Collect Rummage

"Any old hats or coats or shoes today?" That will be the cry of the members of the Iowa City high school music department when they set out Saturday morning to collect rummage for the sale which the high school Music auxiliary is sponsoring April 29.

Iowa City residents who have any old clothing, drapes, curtains, small pieces of furniture or anything which can be transported in an automobile are asked to leave the rummage on their front steps for the collectors.

Collecting will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday. The sale will be held April 29 in the community building.

Frances Lee To Confer With Local G. S. A.

Staff Member From Natl. Headquarters Will Come Monday

Frances Lee of New York, a member of the Girl Scout National staff, will be in Iowa City next Monday and Tuesday for conferences with the local council and troop leaders. Miss Lee will meet the council at a luncheon in Iowa Union Monday noon and in the afternoon she will confer with the program committee.

FRANCES LEE

Tuesday from 9 to 11 a.m. she will meet leaders, troop committees and Brownie troops at the public library.

Miss Lee, who recently became education consultant in the Girl Scout national program division, has been associated with the movement for several years. She has served as an instructor in two of the national training schools for Girl Scout leaders, Camp Pine Tree near Plymouth, Mass., and Camp Edith Macy at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.

She also served as president for two terms on the board of directors of the Headmistress Association of the East and is now an honorary member of this organization. She was a trustee of Radcliffe college for six years and is one of the authors of "The Education of Girls," published by Houghton Mifflin, and of various articles on this theme.

Debaters To Argue At Texas, Chicago

Five Speakers To Participate In '39 Finals

Hickerson, Gillotti Will Meet Texans Twice This Week

Seven University of Iowa debaters will participate this week end in an intensive series of debates, one group in Chicago and the second at the University of Texas in Austin.

Loren Hickerson, A3 of Iowa City, and John Gillotti, A3 of Des Moines, will leave early this morning for Austin, to debate with University of Texas debaters Friday and Saturday.

Five debaters will go to Chicago tomorrow for the annual final sessions of the Western Conference league. They are Merle Miller, A4 of Marshalltown; George Hill, A4 of Burlington; Roland Christensen, A2 of Iowa City; William Rivkin, A2 of Davenport, and Marvin Chapman, A1 of Iowa City.

Hickerson and Gillotti will uphold the negative of the proposition, "Resolved, that the United States should join with other democratic nations in a program of collective security."

The Chicago aggregation will debate the question of continued federal spending, with Chapman and Rivkin arguing the affirmative and Miller, Christensen and Hill the negative.

Iowa will meet every school in the Western Conference league at Chicago in decision debates in the two-day tournament ending Saturday. Prof. A. Craig Baird will accompany the group and will be Iowa's representative as critic judge.

Salon of Art Entries Must Be In Today

Exhibit Projects In Union Until May 1

Today is the deadline for entry of original art works by university students in the sixth annual student salon of art in Iowa Union.

The works will be placed on exhibit from Sunday to May 1. The salon is sponsored by Union Board and a tea will be presented Sunday with public voting, presentation of awards and music.

The purpose in sponsoring an exhibit of student art is to stimulate the production of original works of art by university students to promote a greater interest in art among all students.

Prof. L. D. Longman, head of the art department, Charles Okerblom of the art department and Millard Sheets, head of the art department at Scripps college, Claremont, Cal., will judge all entries and recognition on the basis of quality awards.

Education Group To Meet Today

New members and new officers will be elected by members of Pi Lambda Theta, education sorority, at their meeting today in Iowa Union. The business meeting will begin at 5:45 p.m. with dinner following at 6:30.

Prof. Meno Spann will talk on "The Mediterranean Countries: Old and New" during the program.

Group To Present Oratorio

Rock Island Society Will Give Masterpiece After Three-Year Rehearsal

The first Rock Island rendition of Bach's "Passion of Our Lord According to Saint Matthew" will be given Sunday evening, May 14, in the Augustana auditorium by the Handel Oratorio society.

The chorus under the direction of Henry Veld has been rehearsing for three years on what is universally considered to be the most involved as well as the greatest work for chorus, soloists and orchestra of all time.

What the Handel Oratorio society has accomplished with the Messiah is well-known by the people of the Rock Island community. That the chorus is determined not to let its followers down is evidenced by the fact that the members have been willing to devote three years of their time in mastering this great musical work.

Bach's "Passion According to Saint Matthew" was first presented in 1728 in St. Thomas' church in Leipzig. The first American performance was in Boston in 1874 when it was presented by the Hayden Oratorio society of that city. Now with more than two hundred years elapsing since it was first given to the world, it will be presented for the first time in that community.

Modern Telephone Magic

The college of engineering has invited all those interested in a lecture and demonstration of "Modern Telephone Magic" to attend meetings on that subject at 4:10 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Friday.

day in the chemistry auditorium. G. L. Howorth and Harold Graves, his assistant, of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, shown above in the midst of their demonstration, will present the Friday lectures.

Howorth Will Discuss 'Story' Of Telephone

Artificial Voice Built By Bell Laboratory Will Be Displayed

"Modern Telephone Magic" is the topic which will be discussed and demonstrated by G. L. Howorth of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, with the assistance of H. F. Graves, technician, at the chemistry auditorium Friday at 4:10 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Howorth will demonstrate and explain the scrambling of speech, which plays such a vital part in the privacy of overseas telephone conversations. He will speak with an artificial voice through using an artificial larynx, a product of the Bell telephone laboratories, which makes it possible for persons to talk without the use of their vocal chords. This device is used by persons who have lost the use of their voices.

The speaker will tell about the early stages in the invention of the telephone and will speak over a replica of the first telephone produced by Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, and his assistant, Thomas Watson.

He also will explain and show the part the invention and development of cobalt steel, permalloy, vacuum tubes, cable, inductance coils and other items play in providing telephone service which keeps pace with the ever increasing demands placed upon it.

Physics Staff Will Go to Conferences At Washington, D. C.

Prof. G. W. Stewart, head of the University of Iowa physics department, and five other members of the physics department staff will attend a meeting of the American Physical Society in Washington, D. C., April 27 to 29.

In addition to Professor Stewart, those making the trip are Prof. A. Ellett, Dr. D. S. Bayley, James A.

Annual Meet Of Waterworks Men Convenes

Conference Will Be Under Auspices Of Engineering College

Waterworks men from all over the state will gather today for the eighth annual waterworks conference, ending tomorrow, under the auspices of the college of engineering with the extension division and the state department of health cooperating.

The meeting this morning will open with registration at the engineering building and continue at 9:30 with a session devoted to sources of water supply including the topics of ground waters, conservation of ground waters, and surface waters.

The afternoon program will open at 1:30 with a program of discussion on water treatment, explicitly coagulation, filter maintenance and water softening.

Later in the afternoon the group will make an inspection trip to the university water plant and to the hydraulics laboratory.

Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts and former director of the Iowa Geological Survey, will address the guests on "Ancient Seas, Glaciers and Dust Storms in Iowa," at the 6:30 conference dinner to be held in the river room at Iowa Union. Tomorrow's program will be devoted to sessions on distribution systems and operation.

The general plan for the conference provides for a series of guided discussions. There will be no formal papers. A leader will be chosen for each topic and time allowed for questions and discussion.

Conference leaders who will be present at the two-day meeting are H. E. Blomquist, superintendent of water works at Cedar Rapids; H. A. Brown, superintendent of water works at Ottumwa; H. B. Crane, engineer of the International Filter company at Chicago.

F. M. Dawson, dean of the college of engineering; H. G. Hershey, Iowa Geological survey, Iowa City; Jack Hinman, associate professor of sanitation and chief of the water laboratory; Max Levene, head of the department of bacteriology of Iowa State college at Ames.

London J. Murphy, municipal engineer of the engineering extension division of the state college at Ames; Arthur K. Olsen, superintendent of water works; Creston; H. V. Pedersen, general manager of water works, Marshalltown; H. W. Poston, assistant engineer in the state department of health, Des Moines.

C. E. Richey, district sanitary engineer of the state department of health, Centerville; T. W. Robinson, engineer in charge of ground water investigations in Iowa, Iowa City; C. H. Spaulding, supervising chemist, city water, light and power department, Springfield, Ill.

Leon A. Smith, superintendent of water works, Madison, Wis.; Oscar Sutherland, superintendent of water works, Sioux City; A. H. Wieters, director of the division of public health engineering, state department of health, Des Moines.

Van Allen, Victor J. Young and James Jacobs. A paper prepared by Professor Ellett, Dr. Bayley and Van Allen will be presented at the meeting.

Professor Stewart will also attend a meeting of the Council of the American Physical Society of which he is a member. This will be Thursday, April 27, in Washington.

Before the American Physical Society meeting, Professor Stewart will attend and present a paper at a meeting of the National Academy of Sciences April 24 to 26, also in Washington.

The Quad Awaits Spring

Harold Leffler, A2 of Grundy Center, behind, and Jim Engelkes, A1 of Parkersburg, residents of the Quadrangle, have been willing away the hours waiting for spring this year in a new-fangled game which involves the combined principles of basketball, handball, golf and a few other amusements. The idea is to get the ball into the basket, and there are those who say it's excellent training for a basketball guard. But Quad neighbors of these two boys will be glad when spring opens up and play shifts to the out of doors, because this game isn't exactly quiet.

Eastern Research Physicist To Give Speech Here Today

Dr. J. A. Becker Believes Electron Microscope Valuable

Dr. J. A. Becker, research physicist at the Bell telephone laboratories in New York, N. Y., will speak at 4 o'clock this afternoon on "Electron Microscopes and Some of Their Uses" in room 301 of the physics building.

Dr. Becker believes that the electron microscope is rapidly proving itself a powerful tool, not only in electronic research, but in other fields. He will describe in his lecture this afternoon various forms of simple and complex electron microscopes and will discuss their use in the study of electron emission, surface absorption, migration and evaporation.

A simple microscope with a magnification of about 300,000 will be demonstrated. Uses for it in the fields of metallurgy, engineering, chemistry and biophysics will be pointed out.

Dr. Becker received his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Cornell university. He was a physics instructor at Cornell from 1919-22, and National Research Fellow and instructor at the California Institute of Technology from 1922-24.

Since 1924 he has been a research physicist at the Bell laboratories.

Library Installs Microfilm Reader

An Argus Microfilm reader which facilitates the use of films of rare materials, valuable records and out-of-print books needed for research has been installed in the university library.

It is kept in Macbride hall and is under the supervision of Irene Steidl, superintendent of the main circulation department of the library. The reader is for the use of graduate students and faculty.

40 Lecturers To Be on Staff This Summer

New Appointees Will Represent 21 States, 2 Foreign Countries

The varied viewpoints of visiting lecturers from 21 states and two foreign countries will be presented in summer session courses at the university.

With the geographical representation greatest in the 40-year history of summer session, some 40 men and women have been appointed to the staff to serve between June 12 and Aug. 4.

Only the Pacific northwest is not included in the geographical representation. Maine to California, Texas, and Florida is the range of the distribution.

Foreign countries represented are Germany, by Wilhelm Credner, geographer from the University of Munich; and Australia by Robert Potter, phonetics expert from the University of Melbourne.

West coast persons include William Coder of Stockton college of California; Hardin Craig of Stanford, while southerners are Clifford King of Louisiana State, and James Glass of Rollins college, Florida.

From the east will come Elaine Dickinson of Columbia, Chester Kirby of Brown, Wilbur Murra of Harvard, and Milford Wence, Maine.

Included among the other sectional representatives are Granville Johnson of University of Denver, Paul Kirchen of Carroll college of Montana, and John Yarbrough of Baylor university, Texas.

Funke, Cowan Attend Meeting

Prof. Erich Funke and Prof. Milton Cowan of the German department will attend the annual conference of the Association of Modern Language Teachers of the Central West and South in Chicago Friday and Saturday. Professor Cowan will lecture on "Experimental Studies in Foreign Language Intonation" at the meeting of the German group, of which Professor Funke is chairman.

Campus Open Forum Meeting Will Discuss Peace Tonight

Meeting Marks First in Peace Week Series

Students Will Gather For National Peace Session Tomorrow

With "Peace at Any Price?" as the subject, Prof. Kirk Porter of the political science department, Merle Miller, A4 of Marshalltown, and Alberta Ewoldt, A2 of Oakland, will assume the speakers' roles at another in the series of campus open forum meetings on world affairs at 7:30 tonight in the chemistry auditorium.

The problem of collective security as opposed to isolation will form the foundation of the meeting. The significance of Roosevelt's peace proposal of last week and of the present struggle in the senate over neutrality will be discussed.

Tonight's meeting is the first of a series of peace-week meetings which will reach a climax at 11 a. m. at Old Capitol's east approach tomorrow, when a national student mass meeting against war is scheduled.

On this day and hour students throughout the nation will gather in mass demonstrations to express the solidarity of their sentiment in favor of peace.

In 1934, the year these meetings were initiated, 25,000 students participated. Last year a million students took part in the movement, which has steadily gained strength.

Prof. Howard R. Bowen of the economics department and Charles Joiner, L3 of Maquoketa, will be the speakers.

Classes will not be dismissed; the meeting is designed for students having no 11 o'clock classes tomorrow.

On Friday a plebiscite will be held where the walks cross in front of Old Capitol. All students will be invited to vote "yes" or "no" to seven questions:

1. Do you favor immediate aid "stronger than words but short of war" to Great Britain and France against Germany and Italy by this country?
2. Should such action prove insufficient, would you favor our supporting England and France with armed force?
3. Or do you favor a policy of strict non-intervention in European power politics buttressed by rigid neutrality legislation?
4. Do you favor the Ludlow war referendum amendment giving the people the right to vote on foreign wars?
5. Do you favor the maintenance of the present policy of compulsory ROTC at the State University of Iowa?
6. Or do you favor the substitution of voluntary for compulsory ROTC?
7. Or do you favor the total abolition of ROTC?

and the fleet third baseman stole third a moment later. Thompson struck out, but Winders dropped the ball, and on the throw to first, Mackiewicz scored.

The Purdue third sacker was the individual star of the game. He hit safely twice and walked twice in four trips to the plate. The stiff wind caused him to misjudge Kantor's high pop fly in the sixth, and the Iowa shortstop was rewarded

Just Another Problem

Some Deodorants Stop Perspiration, Others Deodorize

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

Sheer spring and summer frocks bring with them the problem of deodorants. There's quite a difference among deodorants. Some of them—usually referred to as perspiration checks—are designed to stop the flow of perspiration. Simple deodorants, on the other hand, ordinarily in the dry form, are designed to deodorize but not to stop perspiration. Cream perspiration check is said to be effective about 24 hours, liquids as long as three or four days. Dry deodorants stay by you as long as the effects of a bath.

Both have their uses, however. Perspiration checks, for example, usually contain an ingredient designed to function as an astringent, that make it inadvisable for use on a sanitary napkin. Although many stick and powder deodorants contain astringents, recognized authorities say it is quite probable that those astringents are not very active. As one expert puts it, "They cannot readily penetrate into the sweat glands and ducts leading to them." (Modern Cosmetics by Frances Chilson.)

There also are times when the effects of a perspiration check wear off and it is necessary to try something to tide over until there is time for an additional application. These are the moments when the woman who has a deodorant powder handy or carries a deodorant compact in her purse thanks her lucky stars for the daintiness insurance it affords.

Crafts Project Man Will Speak On Work Today

Director Aaron Shanksy of the Iowa crafts project in Des Moines will give a demonstration and lecture on recreational crafts today at 4 p. m. in Macbride auditorium.

Formerly known as the museum extension project, the Iowa crafts project operates under the women's and professional division of the works progress administration. Taking the worker from the relief rolls, the organization, in teaching him crafts, attempts to turn his energies into production of usable goods, high in quality, design, workmanship and practicability.

Simple hand processes and methods efficient and applicable to, but not in conflict with industry, have been maintained. The instruction is directed at giving the worker a knowledge of crafts which can be applied in private industry, such as block printing of drapes and wall hangings, bookbinding and fabrication of toys especially designed to be educationally stimulating to children.

For the cost of the material used these goods become the property of tax supported institutions.

with a freak double, but Mackiewicz made up for that by snagging Vogt's long foul pop a moment later to retire the side.

Iowa's lone tally came in the seventh. George was safe on Bailey's error, and after Winders had fled to center, Bratten sent him to third with a single to right. The Hawk right fielder scored on Bredewater's passed ball.

University Concert Band Will Give Spring Concert April 30

N. DeRubertis Has Been Asked To Lead His Own Composition

The University of Iowa concert band will present its annual spring concert Sunday afternoon, April 30, in the Iowa Union lounge.

The program will feature works by Johann Strauss, Wagner, Saint-Saens, Weber, Prokofieff, Tschalkowsky, DeRubertis, Texeidor, Curzon, DeRosse and Sousa. An invitation has been extended to N. DeRubertis, eminent Italian-American composer and conductor of Kansas City, to conduct his own composition, "Niobe" tone poem, and his manuscript arrangement of the finale from Saint-Saens' first symphony.

The concert band includes 90 selected players of the 165 registered for band work in the university.

The officers of the concert band are David W. Fisher, A3 of Iowa City, president; Dorothy J. O'Hearn, A1 of Mason City, secretary; Jack H. Borg, A2 of Des Moines, publicity manager; George W. Hood, A2 of Woodbine, librarian; Parley Wellshead, A2 of Ottumwa, property manager.

Professor C. E. Righter is director of university bands; Hugh Gunderson, associate director, and Stanley Willson, assistant director.

Thanks to Miss Anna Calhoun!

Young South Carolinian Played Important Role in Iowa's History

Did you know that but for the aid of Anna Calhoun, Iowa might not have become a territory on July 4, 1838?

It all began on a warm afternoon early in June. The session of congress was nearing a close and the bill to create the territory of Iowa was still hanging fire.

Sen. John C. Calhoun of South Carolina led the opposition. Delegate Jones tried to persuade him to vote for the bill, but the stern South Carolinian refused to consent to the "formation of a new territory which in a few years would state a powerful abolitionist."

Unsuccessful in his own efforts to win the support of the southern statesman, Jones tried another plan. He asked Anna Calhoun, the senator's daughter, to plead for Iowa. Confident of success, she promised to do her best; but her father would not yield.

Jones then invited her to be present in the gallery of the senate during the debate on the Iowa bill. "When I send you my card," he told her, "come down, send your card for your father, and take him into the library and keep him there till I call for you."

The warm afternoon was drawing to a close when the fateful moment arrived. Miss Calhoun sent in her card. Senator Calhoun arose and left the chamber. He was scarcely gone before the bill to create the territory was up for adoption.

When Senator Calhoun found out what had happened, he said, "Oh, Anna, you bad girl, you have prevented my making a speech to oppose that bill, as I would have done and done successfully, as the time for the consideration of territorial bills has expired."

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

No sooner had General Franco's forces occupied Madrid than British Gibraltar took alarm. The Franco-ites, it seems immediately began a throwing up of defenses along Gibraltar's edge in a very peculiar way. That is, are they intended for defensive purposes alone? Or do they contemplate an attempted grab of this historic stronghold of John Bull? Here's a fresh headache for the London government in particular, but in general for whatever else remains of the peace-loving world. If it forecasts a move by the new Spanish government to gain possession of the famous rock at the western end of the Mediterranean it means trouble compared with which the just-ending war on the Iberian peninsula will seem like small potatoes. Not that Franco signifies. But if he really plans the capture of that little corner of Spain, it necessarily follows that he has Italy back of him, and Germany back of Italy. It starts the threatened all-around European war, in short.

That Mussolini planned the early acquisition of Gibraltar wasn't anticipated. He wants it, of course, to give him complete control of the inland sea. Nevertheless, it wasn't imagined that he'd act so soon. Supposing that that's his scheme, it's much as if some potentially hostile power were to begin operations toward possession of the Panama Canal. Britain couldn't stand it for a minute—not even the threat.

Bowers in Spotlight
Claude Bowers, Yankee ambassador to pre-war Spain, is back in Washington now. Naturally the state department has questioned him. But Claude doesn't know. He was sent to Madrid when things were peaceful. He thought he had a nice assignment. Instead he's spent most of his time during the last two years on the French side of the Franco-Spanish frontier. Too many bombs were dropping around the U.S. embassy in Madrid to make it a desirable place to stay. And anyway, nobody surmises that Gibraltar would be involved in the mess.

Nor has it been involved thus far. Now, though, it's scared. We don't know yet how justifiably. All the same, the situation looks bilious. Civil war in Spain is one thing. A fight for Gibraltar between the British on one side, and Franco-istic Spain, supported by Italy, and pre-supported by Germany on the other side, is something else again.

Maybe Claude Bowers couldn't have been expected to visualize all that. He can't be blamed. Nobody foresaw the Gibraltar angle.

Benito Mussolini's strategy is easy enough to understand. The Mediterranean has two ends. The eastern end is at the Suez canal. He already has said that he wants a voice in control of that end. What he means is that he wants sole control. Gibraltar controls the western end. With these two controls, Italy controls the Mediterranean as effectively as the United States controls the Great Lakes, from Duluth to the Thousand Islands.

Italy Hasn't Got 'Em
But Italy hasn't got 'em. Possibly it has something of a mortgage on Suez, but not on Gibraltar. It's inconceivable that it won't have to fight for that. Djoubiti and vicinity are discussable with France, but not Gibraltar. Still, if corked up at Suez, it can get in through the Gibraltar back door and raise the roof. But bottle it up at both ends? Oh my!

University Chorus' Presentation Of Sacred Music Has Hope As Theme

The vigorous presentation by the University chorus of a program of sacred music, under the direction of Prof. Herakle Stark Sunday night, was probably not consciously chosen as a motive to betray these troubled times.

But this reporter, at least, was impressed with the singular stress placed upon the choice of themes, burbling, as they were, with intense feeling.

It seemed as though each individual member of the chorus was inspired by the Mendelssohn cantata, "A Hymn of Praise." Prof. Stark, the chorus and soloists presented a picture of a hectic world from which hope has not yet departed.

Framed by the music, the religious content of the verses were invested with a symbolic meaning. "All that has life and breath is part of the Lord." "The night is departing, the day is approaching." Sung with fervor unsurpassed by the chorus at any time, Mendelssohn's sacred cantata became charged with the glory and

King Cotton Rules Over New Summer Fashions, Materials To Be Sudsable

Ever since the official arrival of spring and in spite of occasional set-backs of the weather, women everywhere have been scouting shops for late spring and early summer fashions. As it has been for the past few years, King Cotton is on the throne in all his glory and, sweet or sophisticated, styles will be of materials that can be whisked in and out of the soapsuds without danger.

Linon Used in Frock
Uncrushable linen, that boon for busy women, is used in a frock with a twirly eight-gored skirt. The sleeves are angel wings and the blouse is wide-shouldered. The rich raspberry shade of the dress is contrasted with a sash of bright aqua.

For spectator sportswear there is a dress of waffle pique in white and trimmed with navy rickrack. Horizontal bands of white rickrack emphasize the much-indented waist. A white toy hat with a wide navy band completes a perfect summer outfit.

A slack suit of white shantung centers interest in a new treatment of the blouse which is worn outside and pulled tight around the waist-line with a drawstring of the same material that ties in a bow in front. The blouse has patch pockets, roll collar and a row of big mother-of-pearl buttons down the front.

Interesting Accessories
And the accessories that have appeared for these prophets of summer wear are just as interesting. Ordinary marbles are caught in strands of raffia for belts, collar ties and cuff links bangles with plain little washable sports frocks.

Mrs. Margaret Waery, Thomas Muir, Gretchen Newman and Dorothy Hoops raised the spirit of the music to its peak with their individual interpretations of the solo.

Both selections from the "Mount of Olives" was almost reminiscent of a Beethoven orchestral selection, so repetitive was it with the resounding harmonies and characteristic thematic twists admired by Beethoven enthusiasts.

Mrs. Stark dealt skillfully with the intricate runs and arpeggios in the chorus, "Triumph, All Ye Reasoned."

The piano performance by Dorothy Wilson, while not substituting for the fuller rendition of an orchestra, was a sturdy, reliable musical accompaniment.

Visiting Speaker To Give Address After Initiation Ceremonies

Dr. Lewis B. Stadler of the University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri, will give the main address at the annual Sigma Xi banquet at 6:30 tonight in the Triangle club ballroom of Iowa Union, following formal initiation ceremonies for new members at 5 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

A member of the National Academy of Sciences, and principal geneticist of the United States department of agriculture, Dr. Stadler will speak on "The Experimental Alteration of Heredity." As a member of the Bureau of Plant Industry, he will include a discussion of some of his own work in plant breeding in his address.

The banquet is in honor of the 43 initiates and 80 newly-elected associate members who have been selected this year by the national scientific honorary society in recognition of their research ability and scientific achievements.

Prof. Beth Wellman of the child welfare station, president, will welcome the new members and associates. Jack Bennett Graham of the geology department, representing the new associates, and Robert Jerome Prentiss of the medical school, representing the initiates, will respond to Professor Wellman's welcome.

At the initiation ceremony, preceding the banquet Dean Emeritus Carl E. Seashore will give a brief address. The symbols and purposes of Sigma Xi will be explained to the initiates by Prof. Walter E. Loehwing of the botany department.

City Centennial Celebration To Begin July 2

Church Services In Iowa City Will Open Local Event

All the descendants of the first settlers of Iowa City will be asked to attend Iowa City's centennial celebration July 2, 3 and 4, it was announced yesterday by George Koser, chairman of the committee in charge of the celebration.

Koser revealed definite plans for the event which will open Sunday July 2, with church services throughout the city. Sunday night the local churches will unite to present a historical review on the west slope of the university campus.

A downtown parade with floats depicting various historical highlights of Iowa City will be presented Monday, while that evening a pageant with a cast of hundreds will be staged, using as its theme the founding of Iowa City and the pioneer days that followed.

Descendants of Iowa's first local pioneers will be featured at an outdoor dinner near Old Capitol the following day where a reproduction of Iowa City's first Fourth of July celebration will be given. The Declaration of Independence and other historical documents will be read. Fireworks in City Park and a Centennial ball will close the historical three-day fete.

Koser declared that the various parts of the program are to be self supporting and there will be no plans for making profits.

$23,900 Bond Issue Sold

Purchased at Low Interest Rate; To Redeem Warrants

At an interest rate of less than three-fourths of one per cent, County Treasurer W. E. Smith yesterday sold a $23,900 funding bond issue to the W. D. Hanna company of Burlington.

The bond issue which was authorized last month by the county board of supervisors will be used to redeem county poor fund warrants.

The Hanna company's bid for the issue was an interest rate of three-fourths of one per cent with a $7 premium which has the effect of reducing the interest rate. The county treasurer reported that this rate is one of the lowest ever obtained by the county on a bond issue.

Mary Barnes Funeral Rites Will Be Today

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Barnes, 93, Pleasant Valley township, will be held at 2 o'clock today at the Hohenschuh mortuary with the Rev. Robert Arthur in charge.

Born in Warsaw, Ind., March 24, 1846, Mrs. Barnes came to Iowa in 1847 and had been a resident of Pleasant Valley township for the last 70 years. For the last 25 years she had lived at the home of her son, John Barnes, eight miles south of Iowa City.

She is survived by one son, John; three nieces, Mrs. J. J. Wildman, Mrs. Joe Lewis and Mrs. Fred Abbey, all of Iowa City, and five grandchildren, Edward, Elmer and Earl at home, and Mae and Leona, both of Iowa City. Her parents, husband, two children and five brothers preceded her in death.

Representative O'Neal (D-Ky) wanted to know whether it is not the policy of the communist party to change the American form of government "as soon as they can?"

Benjamin replied that it undertook, "through the means of our present democratic government and constitution, with which we are in agreement, to provide the maximum possible benefits to the largest possible number of American people."

The committee concluded its questioning of the alliance officers today and recessed subject to call of the chairman.

Illinois Man Discusses Hobby Tri-Cities Operator Stresses Importance Of Amateur Radio Situation

In an illustrated talk before the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Jefferson hotel last night, Frank D. Wingard of Rock Island impressed his listeners with the importance of his hobby — amateur radio.

Wingard, who is coordinator for the Tri-Cities, stressed the part played by amateurs in emergency communications. He presented a vivid description of the amateur's task in disastrous situations and displayed some of the equipment necessary for that type of work.

In a brief analysis of the radio situation before and after the World War, Wingard asserted it was the amateur broadcaster who came to the fore in 1920 that was responsible for the advanced stage in radio as we know it today. Such men as Marconi, he said, who began their careers as amateurs, were noted for their work in radio development. A collector of antique radios, Wingard told the

Senate Group Gives Approval To Lindbergh

Some Voiced Full Confidence in Own Military Air Experts

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Announcement that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would survey aviation research in this country for the army drew expressions of approval today from members of the senate military affairs committee.

Senator Clark (D-Mo) and some others, however, were quick to say they had full confidence in army and other aviation experts.

"I am very happy to have such a distinguished flier as Col. Lindbergh help," Clark said. "I am not convinced that his conclusions would be as persuasive with house and senate committees as recommendations of some of our own military experts."

Praise Army Aviation Leaders
"Col. Lindbergh apparently has been acting as a military adviser to the Germans and British. Everybody knows he is great flier, but I have confidence in our responsible military experts who have not been decorated by other countries."

Clark mentioned Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, as a military expert who would rate ahead of Col. Lindbergh with congressional committees.

Senators Lee (D-Okla) and Gurney (R-SD) also were quick to praise army aviation leaders while welcoming Lindbergh's assistance.

"He should be able to contribute something because he always has been an aviation leader," Lee said. "This does not mean we do not have facilities and able men now."

Gurney said he was certain "we have pretty capable men in the war department" although as a "great admirer of Lindbergh I will have an open ear for him."

Close Contacts With Europe
"I think Lindbergh's a fine fellow and should move back to the United States," Gurney said.

Senator Minton (D-Ind) said Lindbergh should be of "immeasurable value" to army aviation "not only because of his wide experience but also because he has been in close contact with recent European developments."

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) regarded Lindbergh's long association with civil aviation as an advantage in his new place.

Senator Schwartz (D-Wyo), a member of the military affairs committee, said Lindbergh "ought to have some information about aircraft developments abroad."

Building of Pass Causes Traffic Detour on 261

Traffic on highway No. 261 to Solon is being detoured over the Lake Macbride road due to the building of a cattle pass 300 yards north of the Rapid creek bridge, Roy S. Mushrush, division engineer of the state highway department, announced yesterday.

The detour will continue for several weeks because the road will be graded after the completion of the cattle pass, he said.

Smith Reports Total Property Tax for March

Also Gives Amounts Of Delinquent Taxes, Special Assessments

In his monthly report to County Auditor Ed Sulek, County Treasurer W. E. Smith reported that $301,468.41 in general property taxes were collected by his office during March.

In addition to the property taxes which were collected, $4,363.64 in delinquent taxes and $6,332.14 special assessments were received at the treasurer's office, the report showed.

Included in the miscellaneous receipts which totaled $168,118.53 were $50,000 from the sale of tax anticipation warrants, $12,937.90 from car licenses and a check from the state for $99,488.65 for homestead credits allowed in the county.

Warrants paid by the county treasurer during the month totaled $73,413.77 and other disbursements amounted to $157,182.90, according to the report.

The county treasurer said that during the month homestead exemption credits allowed on tax bills amounted to $98,727.68 which was offset by the check from the state government.

Veteran Groups Plan Carnival May 15-20 on Lucas Grounds

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars junior drum and bugle corps and the Sons of Union Veterans will hold a carnival May 15 to 20, it was announced. The Reynolds and Wells United Show will appear on the Lucas grounds under the bugle corps sponsorship. Proceeds from the affair will be used to send the local corps to the state encampment at Council Bluffs, to purchase new equipment, and to help with expenses of the G. A. R. convention in Iowa City June 18 to 21.

Sixty members of the corps will attend the state encampment June 11 to 14, and 48 boys will form a drill team to represent Iowa City in the state junior drum and bugle corps drill contest, James T. Gwynne, manager of the junior bugle corps, said yesterday. Uniforms for new members will be purchased this summer, he said.

Cities entered in the drill team championship contest include Iowa City, Newton, Cedar Rapids, Ft. Madison, Clinton, Mason City, Des Moines and Boone.

Flood Waters Stall Traffic Near Pittsburgh

Although Pittsburgh does not look for a flood stage comparable with the disaster of two years ago, a street in East Pittsburgh gets a taste of it when Turtle creek overflows near its junction with the Monongahela river. Trucks and autos were frequently stalled.
