POPE PRESSES ANTI-WAR CAMPAIGN

Campus Elections To Be Tomorrow

Voting Polls Will Be Open From 8 to 5

Name Candidates For Union Board, Publications Group

Polls in Iowa Union will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. tomorrow, including the noon hour, as students in the college of liberal arts cast ballots for new members of two campus organizations, Union Board and Student Board of Publications, Inc.

Handbills announcing the names of candidates, although now distributed about the campus, will not be available in Iowa Union tomorrow, it was announced yesterday, and students were urged to have their candidates in mind before they go to vote.

The election will name two students for two-year terms on the publications board and six new members to Union Board.

Candidates for one-year terms on the student board—Banford J. Cochrane, C3 of Chicago, Ill., and Edward Hoag, A1 of Freeport, Ill. (One to be elected).

Two Year Terms

Candidates for two-year terms on the student board—John Evans, A3 of North English; Perry Oswowitz, L1 of Sioux City; Ira James Holton, A3 of Cedar Rapids, and Donald Dodge, L1 of Oelwein. (Two to be elected.)

Candidates for Union Board—Richard Pederson, A2 of Iowa City; Eileen Henderlider, A2 of Onawa; June Hyland, A2 of Traer.

Eulalia Klingbeil, A3 of Postville; John Nichols, A2 of Vin-ton; Nona Seberg, A3 of Mt. Pleasant; Charline Saggau, A3 of Denison.

Cornie Shrauger

Cornie Shrauger, A3 of Atlantic; Virginia Snyder, A2 of Centerville; Dorothy Ward, A2 of Iowa City; Richard Witt, A2 of Shell Rock, and Josephine Sidwell, A3 of Iowa City. (Six to be elected.)

Arrested by Nazis
Richard Rosson

The Gestapo, Germany's secret police, have arrested Richard Rosson, Hollywood movie director, on charges of photographing military secrets at Graz, near Vienna. He left Hollywood two months ago presumably to film in Germany a sequence for a picture in preparation.

President Asks Settlement Of Coal Strike

Says Public Good Requires Immediate Mining Resumption

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—In language which sounded much like an ultimatum, President Roosevelt announced today that he had asked coal operators and union officials for a quick settlement of the bituminous coal strike.

The request was made at a conference in his office, attended by five leaders of the United Mine Workers, five mine operators and Secretary of Labor Perkins. Mr. Roosevelt advised newsmen later that he had told disputants that the public good demands an immediate resumption of mining, and that by tomorrow night they should work out a method for reopening the mines.

Emphasizes Agreement

The president spoke with unusual vigor and emphasis as he informed the reporters of the conversation, his voice rising to an indignant pitch when he asserted the two factions had agreed on every point at issue except one, and were agreed on principle on that. They had, he said, only to settle the details of that one point to reopen the mines.

On that point, he added, they agreed that there should be a vertical, or industrial, union in the mines and that for purposes of collective bargaining the United Mine Workers should be recognized as that union. They had not, he said, been able to work out the details for carrying that into effect, which he thought a very interesting fact.

To Continue Negotiations

The president's obvious insistence was such that many were left wondering whether, if any agreement were not forthcoming by tomorrow night or very soon thereafter, he would intervene more definitely. In response to a question on that point, Mr. Roosevelt said only that he was not looking that far ahead.

The union officials and coal men agreed to try, he said, adding that they would resume conversations with Dr. John R. Steepleman, chief of the conciliation bureau of the department of labor, and that he, himself, was not taking any part of the job. The group left later for New York, planning to go into conference with Dr. Steepleman tomorrow. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, headed the union group and Charles O'Neill spoke for the operators.

The deadlock, or failure to agree on terms for renewing the union contract which expired April 1, has resulted in closing coal mines in 26 states. It has made some 460,000 coal miners idle and raised the threat in many sections of an early coal shortage.

STILL MARRIED

8th Wedding Lasts, Says Mrs. Graves

LOS ANGELES, May 9 (AP)—Nina de Milo Graves and her eighth husband, musician Billy L. Graves, said today their marriage in Yuma, Ariz., Saturday hasn't broken up, after all. Yesterday Mrs. Graves, who is 28 and started her marital career at the age of 16, announced she and Graves were through.

"It was all a mistake, our breaking up. We have settled our difficulties and we are sure we can make a go of it."

Leaders Fail To Keep Word

Roosevelt Says New Appropriations Need Larger Tax Yield

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Asserting that congressional leaders had failed to redeem a promise to compensate for increased farm benefit payments by increased taxes last session, President Roosevelt advised reporters today to ask them whether increased farm funds just voted by the senate would be so offset.

It was up to congress, he said, adding that congress knew his own position, that appropriations in excess of his budget estimates called for a bigger tax yield. The additional farm funds, he said, should certainly be a factor in any tax revision which congress undertakes.

His remarks were evoked by a question on the $380,000,000 voted into the farm appropriation bill for the next fiscal year by the senate. Meanwhile, a heated dispute between southern senators on the administration plan for subsidizing cotton exports is an effort to reduce the big surplus in that commodity delayed final passage of the measure. In total it provides a record-breaking $1,218,000,000 for the agriculture department for next year.

Bill Not Approved

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out first of all that the bill had not yet been finally approved, and declined to say what his attitude toward signing or vetoing the measure would be if it comes through with the increases still included.

He said he was promised $225,000,000 last year in additional revenue to offset the inflationary appropriation and it was not forthcoming. Now, he said, it was hundreds of millions more. If all raised the question, where do we go now, he continued, adding that he didn't get the $225,000,000 he was promised last year, and that now the situation was worse.

Rome-Berlin Axis Continues Peace Details

Hitler Awaits Report Of Foreign Minister About Italian Meet

BERLIN, May 9 (AP)—Diverse diplomatic activity spanning two continents and embracing the Vatican's efforts to keep the world from war absorbed the German foreign office tonight as the newly-reinforced Rome-Berlin axis ground out details of its formula for an axis-made peace.

Chancellor Hitler was at his mountain home near Berchtesgaden, ready to hear from Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop a report on week end negotiations with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano by which the axis is being converted into a military alliance.

Much To Discuss

In official quarters here it was said "there is much to discuss, and von Ribbentrop may not get back to Berlin for several days."

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Hitler's chief lieutenant, was on a ship in the Mediterranean, heading from a "vacation" in San Remo, Italy, for Valencia, Spain, to strengthen German ties with Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish nationalist leader. Those ties have become more intimate than ever since Spain announced yesterday its withdrawal from the League of Nations.

Sympathetic to Vatican

In Berlin, the busy foreign office was taking a distinctly sympathetic attitude toward the interest displayed by the Vatican, which directed papal nuncios to intercede for peaceful negotiations in various capitals.

In Berlin, also, officials studied German-Japanese relations, possibly in respect to the manner in which they would be modified by Germany's apparent willingness to come to friendly terms with Soviet Russia.

Countries Reaffirm Neutrality Policy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 9 (AP)—The foreign ministers of Norway, Denmark, Finland and Sweden tonight reaffirmed their policy of neutrality among European rival blocs but agreed to let each country decide for itself whether to accept Germany's offer of mutual non-aggression treaties.

Without rejecting outright Adolf Hitler's proposals of last Wednesday, the four ministers by their resolution indicated their intention of remaining neutral, while avoiding any implication of mistrust of Germany's intentions in offering the pacts.

Plan To Ease Polish-German Tension Seen

B. Britain, France Show Willingness To Settle Danzig Problem

VATICAN CITY, May 9 (AP)—Pope Pius XII is pursuing intense diplomatic negotiations in an effort to show Europe a way to avoid war.

The Vatican was silent tonight on the exact nature of the pontiff's moves, but it was believed widely in diplomatic quarters that some definite plan had been outlined by papal nuncios to various government leaders, including Chancellor Hitler.

"Desire for Peace"

A Vatican news service, in confirming initiation of negotiations "through normal diplomatic contacts," said the nuncios had conveyed the pope's "ardent desire for peace."

(Paris diplomatic circles reported that France and Britain had left to Poland the final decision on whether to act on feelers put forward by Pope Pius for negotiations to relieve Polish-German tension over Danzig.)

(Britain and France were said to have let Poland know they were anxious to settle the Danzig problem by negotiation if possible. Diplomats said the pope's suggestions were made to German, Polish, British, French and Italian governments by envoys of the Vatican acting on personal instructions from the pontiff.)

Conciliatory Spirit

Reliable sources expressed the opinion that Vatican activity was designed to pave the way for some international understanding by endeavoring to create a more conciliatory spirit in Europe rather than attempting to set up the pope as an umpire.

Officials were silent on the Italian government's attitude toward the moves, but part of the fascist press commented favorably on them.

Monsignor Cortesi Confers in Poland

WARSAW, May 9 (AP)—Monsignor Filippo Cortesi, papal nuncio to Poland, conferred with Foreign Minister Col. Joseph Beck today, presumably to learn the Polish reaction to Pope Pius' peace negotiations.

At the same time the arrival of Vladimir P. Potemkin, first assistant commissar of Soviet Russia's foreign affairs, was believed to herald an improvement of Soviet-Polish relations, perhaps smoothing the way to a British-French-Soviet alliance by facilitating Russian aid to Poland.

It was reported, though not confirmed, that Potemkin, fresh from official talks in Rumania, Bulgaria and Turkey, would confer with Colonel Beck on Polish-Soviet relations tomorrow morning and on European problems in the afternoon. He is to resume his journey to Moscow tomorrow afternoon.

The Russian diplomat was met at the railway station by members of the Russian embassy and officials of the eastern section of the Polish foreign office.

Following his reception Potemkin was driven to the Soviet embassy for the night.

Book Reveals Wilson's Third Term Desires

Russia Rejects British Plans

Soviet Govt. Sees Proposals in Alliance Formation Inadequate

MOSCOW, May 9 (AP)—Soviet Russian officials indicated dissatisfaction tonight with British counter-proposals on formation of a British-French-Russian alliance.

Through a communique issued by TASS, official news agency of Soviet Russia, which presented Britain's suggestions as one-sided, the Soviet government clearly suggested it considered the counter-proposals inadequate if not altogether unacceptable.

Not Flat Rejection

The communique, however, could not be called a flat rejection of the proposals submitted yesterday to Premier - Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov by Sir William Leeds, British ambassador.

In any event a formal note outlining Moscow's displeasure would be communicated to London through diplomatic channels.

Hint to London

The TASS communique, denying the accuracy of reports recently published in London, said "authoritative Soviet circles" pointed out that Britain and France have asked for Soviet assistance in case of hostilities arising from the Anglo-French pledges to Poland and Rumania, but have not proposed assistance to the U. S. S. R. in case she should become involved in conflict over obligations assumed in eastern Europe.

Dewey Seizes Bund Records

Leader Complains Headquarters Raided Without Warrants

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—A new inquiry into the affairs of the pro-Nazi German-American Bund was disclosed today when District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office announced it had seized records of the bund and five affiliated organizations "in the course of an investigation of certain alleged grand larcenies."

The announcement followed a complaint by Fritz Kuhn, national bund leader, that he returned from Los Angeles Tuesday to find that "about a dozen men, describing themselves as representatives of the district attorney's office," had raided his headquarters without search warrants and confiscated "important papers and files and $1,380 in currency."

Informed of Kuhn's charge, Paul E. Lockwood, Dewey's executive assistant, said:

"On May 2, certain books were subpoenaed by this office from the A. V. Publishing Corp.; German-American Settlement League, Inc.; German-American Business League, Inc.; German-American Bund, and the German-American Front, Inc."

"The books were subpoenaed in the course of an investigation of certain alleged grand larcenies in substantial amounts."

Lockwood said that James Wheeler-Hill, secretary of the bund, accepted a receipt for the books and that "no office was broken into." He added that Kuhn's "statement would appear to be a sudden afterthought in an attempt to explain the loss of part of the funds, the absence of which is under investigation."

"Our Town" Introduces New Ideas, Personalities

Wilder's Pulitzer Prize Winner Brings Exceptional Community Series to a Close

By LOREN HICKERSON

almost any small town of the nation, the people are the kind of people you always read about, the kind your fathers and mothers used to be. In "Our Town" there is nothing important to disturb the continuity of lives. Children are born, grow up, fall in love, get married and die. It seems a fruitless cycle, but the play somehow changes that.

"Our Town" has a picture to portray, without highlights or shadows but tremendously clear. The play likewise has a moral—it teaches mankind to open its eyes to life.

University theater has made frequent use of its top-notch performers this season. Several of them were present last night. But "Our Town's" performance shows that the theater is on the lookout for new talent.

Last night it was Arthur Koch, appearing in his first university play in the theater across the river. He played the part of young George Gibbs, son of the doctor of Grover's Corners, N. H., whistling at the girl next door for help on his high school algebra problems, eventually marrying her. His performance was mighty fine, and may there be more of them.

Here let me warn those who aren't familiar with Wilder's play that you'll wonder what's going on after about five minutes of the first act. The play begins, paradoxically enough, before it starts.

And throughout the whole of it, knitting the parts closely together into a compact and forceful picture, is James E. Waery, the philosophical stage manager. It's another typical Waery performance, perfection almost. (And we're completely overlooking that third act opening.)

"The girl next door" was Kitty Cobb, and here again was excellence, juvenile and mature, and the best of the season for this actress.

Henderson Forsythe as Dr. Gibbs, Joe Becker as Mr. Webb, Ellen Eaves and Marjorie Jackson as their two respective wives—they were part of the foundation of the play and all of them did bang up jobs of it.

Stanley Hamilton, who won himself praises in "Johnny Johnson," had a very funny spot last night. Then there were Jeta-line Preminger, as young George's sister, Tom Howell as the limping milk man, and Bernice Moore as Mrs. Soames, who thought the wedding was "such a wonderful sight." All of them were capable, consistent, and pleasing in their roles.

And in a little niche by himself was Layton Hurst as the Congregational organist, soured on life—a very fine performance.

Last night's actors had a double job, they had to pantomime consistently, picking up imaginary sodas and sipping them through straws that weren't there. But by the second act no one observed the lack of anything.

An unusually large and especially receptive first night audience attended "Our Town." They broke into the middle of the acts with applause, and the ovation at here. He lived in New York.

George Kittredge To Speak at 8 o'Clock In Macbride Hall

George Lyman Kittredge, 80-year-old scholar, philologist and world famous literary critic, authority on Shakespeare and Chaucer, will speak tonight at 8 o'clock in Macbride auditorium on "Shakespeare's Villains."

Kittredge, who received his professorship on the strength of a report of teaching English in secondary schools at the age of 35, was a classmate of Theodore Roosevelt. Another of his classmates, Owen Wister, American novelist, apologized in his Harvard Phi Beta Kappa address in 1907 for having called Kittredge a student grind.

Selects Union Paintings

A group of Shakespearean scenes, reproduced from paintings by P. A. Wilson and selected by Kittredge, were presented to Iowa Union by the Morrell Packing company of Ottumwa and appeared in the lounge during the winter.

Kittredge was a contributor to the "Nation" while E. L. Godkin was editor during the "golden age of journalism." An unsigned article on Robert Louis Stevenson appeared in the Nation in 1896. In his article, which has been unequalled to this day, Kittredge said:

"Fond as we may be of the travels and essays that Stevenson wrote before he reached this turning point in his career, we are forced to admit that they are 'prettice-work after all.'"

He also stated: "If these early works live, it must be by virtue of the amiable personality which they reveal." Kittredge pointed out that "his verse entitles him to rank among the minor poets . . ." and that "in two characters has Stevenson endeared himself to his contemporaries—as a romancer and as an egotist."

Writes Learned Articles

Kittredge, who wrote numerous learned articles on Wordsworth and Bryant as well as on Shakespeare and Chaucer, has collected essays by many of his colleagues and pupils to form a book, "Kittredge Anniversary Papers."

Among the contributors were William Allan Neilson, president of Smith college; Charles Grandgent, foremost Italian scholar of this generation; John N. Manley, 40 years head of the English department at the University of Chicago; H. N. MacCracken, pres-

We're For Curbing Accidents By Car Inspection

IT IS difficult to say which of all the causes of automobile accidents are the most important, largely because it is oftentimes difficult after an accident occurs to place the blame.

Accidents, we do know, are caused by mechanical defects some of the time. Whatever that percentage of the whole may be, we believe it is worth eliminating by requiring inspection of cars.

Indeed, the trend among the states has been toward state compulsion for such inspection. New York and West Virginia, by 1939 legislative action, have brought to 17 the number of states requiring compulsory motor vehicle inspection, according to reports of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

In addition, the report says, the legislatures of three states—Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont—have amended their compulsory inspection laws to make them more strict. One state, Arkansas, repealed its compulsory law this year. State officials said it was "too stiff" and that motorists of the state "are not yet ready for it."

Iowa, along with five other states, has adopted laws permitting all or certain cities within the state to require periodic inspection of motor vehicles.

Under such permissive legislation, by local ordinance, at least 18 cities in 12 states and the District of Columbia have set up compulsory inspection laws. Des Moines and Sioux City, two of Iowa's largest cities, have compulsory inspection.

Training For Living Together

THE PROBLEMS which shake the world today are not new problems; they are not, if we look at them objectively, complex problems.

Where can education enter in the solution to these matters which have been occupying the attention of civilized peoples in these later years? John H. Finley, who is editor emeritus of the New York Times, believes education should train for living with all mankind.

There is a great deal of significance in Finley's declaration for those who are engaged in the business of education, whether student or teacher. It seems to us that so much of what is behind the world's critical situations today is involved with the inability of peoples with differences—racial and intellectual—to live and let live.

"It is the task of education," Finley says, "to equip man not only to think for himself but also to make the highest use of these new forces which, misused, may wreck the civilization that has built this mechanism of possible progress. Education is the process by which the individual relates himself to the universe, gives himself citizenship in the changing world, shares the races' mind and enfranchises his own soul."

Education for peace, we believe, is broader than dissemination of propaganda in its favor. Education for peace or education which will solve any problem of world relationships must take into account the moral use of knowledge.

Educators can do much to teach the people of this nation to tolerate differences, to adapt themselves to living so that living may be harmonious.

It is a stirring challenge! Education can play the principle role in world progress, if she is willing.

Will dirigibles ever be popular again? asks an editorial. Sure, if you can invent one which will descend as slowly as it goes up.

The man at the next desk says that no matter how autos are improved mechanically some still will be driven by cranks.

The most amazing sight in New York these days is not the World's Fair. It's the Brooklyn Dodgers being ahead of the Giants.

It's spring when the next door neighbor give up his six months' lease on your snow shovel.

WHEN the first world's fair opened at the Crystal Palace in London in 1851 some optimists believed that it would usher in a permanent international peace.

The nations would understand one another better, it was thought, after looking at each other's steam engines, eight-day clocks, jackknives, patent fumigators, musical instruments, stuffed chairs, glassware, chinaware, statues, paintings, tastefully carved fruit stones, and so on, and if they understood each other would not feel like fighting. This, as history relates, was an error. Or if the nations did not feel like fighting, they nevertheless did fight.

We moderns have no such illusions about our own world's fairs, including the one now in progress on the Flushing Meadows. All that is predictable now is that a certain amount of goodwill will be created by the foreign buildings and pavilions at the New York World's Fair. The Japanese, Turkish, Swiss and Brazilian pavilions, all opened during the week end, aroused their quotas of benevolent feeling, and one is sure that the visitors who drifted through them, looking at silks or rugs or watches or leather goods, or what not, were not thinking of the wars, or dangers of wars, to which the represented countries are exposed. Foreign people and foreign things at the Fair are objects of friendly interest, not of suspicion.

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

PATTER OF THE WORD MACHINE... They're saying it's Katie Cobb you really remember after our "Our Town" performance. So'm looking to the Whittier vehicle for a reacquaintance with Home Town Girl. First time I saw her was as Junior class play heroine, "Skidding" was the play. Good then too.

This Prof. George Lyman Kittredge who's among us tonight for a lecture has lots of back talk for his 80 years. I like best the time he slipped off the lecture platform during his class and exclaimed, "At last I find myself on a level with my class!"

Or that memorable day when they asked him why he'd never taken a Ph.D. "But," he protested, "who would examine me?"

By the by, Father Liguori's lecture was changed to the chemistry auditorium. Lots of students want to see a Christian. 4's the hour.

There are a number of tales regarding the Mott Pulitzer awarding. First place, everyone about here's sure the history prize is a $2,000 affair. They're swearing the $1,000 figure was a newspaper error.

And then, as if all things didn't work out that way, same day Mott was notified he'd been given the prize. He received a letter from a Massachusetts minister pointing out seven errors in the two volumes.

Two week came the sassiest of all the reviews, appearing in New Republic.

And local theater managers, incidentally, are a little surprised at Father Coughlin's attack on "Conessions of a Nazi Spy." They say he couldn't possibly have seen it before the Sunday broadcast. It hadn't reached Detroit even for preview.

But I'm not surprised at the Rev. Father's attack. It's anti-fascist, isn't it?

The movie "Mikado" was my fifth. Not counting our high school one. And also the best.

Seems to me those Gilbert and Sullivan boys ought to be around to go to work on Herr Hitler. He's really the funniest man about—if he'd crawl out from behind that false mustache.

Over in Czechoslovakia they're saying, "We won't be free until the war starts." They say the coup's already planned.

There's a New York paper that'll have about the most appropriate title yet. "P.M." they're calling it. "Time" put it out.

TUNING IN

By Loren Hickerson

SONGS OF THE RANGE... in an original arrangement by Raymond Paige will highlight the "Raymond Paige, 99 Men and a Girl" program over the Columbia network at 8 o'clock tonight.

Entitled "Way Out West," the arrangement embraces "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie," "The Old Chisholm Trail," "The Last Round-Up," "Red River Valley" and "Home on the Range."

Another distinctive number will be "The Phonograph Record," built around the old favorite, "Japanese Sandman." Vocals by Hildegarde include "It's Never Too Late" and "Penny Serenade."

Other programs took it up, until the play, which pioneered in the use of many radio dramatic effects, became so well known in this country that the British company decided to produce it for English listeners. Its inclusion in the anthology followed immediately.

REALISTIC has been the feud between "sourpuss" Ned Sparks and his verbal opponent on the Star Theater program, and the audiences attending the broadcasts have actually begun to believe the two comics are enemies.

Recently, a youngster approached Mr. Murray as he was leaving the theater and said, "Gee, Mr. Murray, you two guys sure hate each other, don't you?"

The sign I liked best is on North Dodge street, way out. It says, "National Razberry Week... Give Your Friends The Razberries. That's What We're Selling You."

You folks may not have known it, but this is "Honey And-Week." It's nation-wide, and every grocer fills in an item he thinks goes well with honey. One downtown has "Honey and-Special Strawberry Sundae Week."

A New Yorker at Large... By George Tucker... NEW YORK—One of the goofier stories now making the rounds concerns the fellow who approached a manufacturer and asked that a special pool table be made for him.

"You make them, don't you?" he asked. "Oh, yes," replied the manufacturer, whose name was Black. "I want one very special," stated the fellow. "Can you build it to order?" "I think so," answered Mr. Black, "provided your credentials are in order. Pool tables run into money, you know."

"Oh, that's all right. My name is Brown and here is my check. Just call my bank and have them okay this."

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

Speculation concerning the respective chances of the various possibilities for the republican presidential nomination in 1940 has been greatly stimulated by straw polls indicating that the G.O.P. candidate should have slightly better than a 50-50 prospect of election in that year. Probably these straw polls ought not to be taken too seriously. In the past a few of them have proved to be very misleading. However, presidential hopes spring eternal in politicians' breasts. Of course republicans dopesters take the democratic situation into consideration. They figure like this: If President Roosevelt wishes to be renominated, most likely he will be. If he prefers not, he'll pick his own candidate to succeed him. This, understand me, is the G.O.P. dopesters' line. Regardless of straw polls, the dopesters incline to admit that, assuming a third campaign by F.D., he's apt to be elected—barring the hazard of some convulsion of nature in the meantime. Still, the dopesters say he might conceivably be beaten. And at most they think he could win only skimpily. They believe he recognizes as much and surmise that he'd deem the anti-climax of a hair-line victory after his two previous land-slides as little preferable to an outright licking.

Demmy Candidate? Consequently the dopesters' notion is that he'll put up what they refer to as a "demmy"—Harry Hopkins or Henry A. Wallace, for instance. The republicans are confident of their ability to wallow Hopkins, Wallace or another of their ilk. They may be wrong, to be sure, but that's how they celebrate.

They envisage an alternative, though. Suppose conservative democracy triumphs, with the nomination, illustratively, of John N. Garner or Bennett Champ Clark. Then, the G.O.P. dopesters argue, the democrats will be split wide open and republicans will top in the presidency by an avalanche.

Thus the republican managers are extremely optimistic. Perhaps they overflatter themselves, but that's how they feel about it. But as to their own candidate? From their chat, I'd guess that Thomas E. Dewey is No. 1 on the list of a majority of them—not exactly as their greatest man but as their most spectacular. Spectacularity counts in such contests.

Next, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Taft would be a good party leader, with Dewey as the ticket's tail-end; but it's obvious that the Dewey-ites want their choice to wag Taft; not Taft to wag Dewey. The two groups seem to be jealous of one another.

By the way, the Virginia Young Republicans' organization the other day warned Dewey not to associate much with ex-President Herbert Hoover, whom the Young Republicans described as a "reactionary." John Locke Green, one of their retiring district chairmen (retiring because he's over-age for a Young Republican), in plain terms gave it as his judgment that Hoover is trying to play Dewey off against Taft, in order to get himself nominated as a compromise.

Herbert is "persona non grata to the whole country," Green asserted. But I wouldn't call him a probability—not from what I hear. Vandenberg and Others Alf M. Landon is only barely mentioned, which surprises me slightly. His cause naturally was hopeless in 1936 for many reasons, one of which was that he practically was unknown outside of Kansas and didn't have time to publicize himself nationally. Since then he's done so, and favorably—but it's true, he's no spellbinder. Nor was it a favorable advertisement for him to be whaled as mercilessly as he was the last time he ran. After Dewey and Taft, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan undoubtedly rates. Personally I like him. He's a newspaperman and nice to newspapermen. He also is an exceptionally able statesman. But he has a drawback or two. For one thing he's been a presidential possibility for so long that innumerable shots have been taken at him by rivals. Furthermore Tom Dewey likewise once lived in Michigan; hence Vandenberg isn't the Wolverine commonwealth's favorite son quite exclusively. Just hinted at are: Sen. Clyde M. Reed of Kansas, Governors Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania and Federal Supreme Justice Owen D. Roberts, also originally from the Keystone state. But there are only chirps thus far in any of that quartet's favor. Dewey is the outstanding personality.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It follows-as-the-night-the-day stuff: When two women stars are cast in the same picture, there must be a feud (at least on paper) like the current M. Hopkins-B. Davis "Old Maid" thing. Or like the N. Shearer-J. Crawford plus 38 others in "The Women."

When there's a marriage, there must be talk of the divorce. And bets on the date, and where it'll be had, etc.

When there's a divorce, the next wife (husband) must be waiting at the church—I mean the courthouse of J.P.'s office.

When a baby is needed in a movie, half the mothers from here on East will write in with photos of Junior or Sister—and the man who let it be known a baby was needed will kick (oh, very pleasantly) at the bother of it all.

When boy meets girl on the movie set, boy will meet girl in the bright spots after working hours—at least until the picture is released and they've been cast opposite new partners. (And sometimes this gets serious, and T. Power marries Annabella.)

The studios don't make "B" pictures any more (a "B" being a picture that is quick and cheap). But they do make (you pick these up from the studio jargon) Quick-A's, Flying-A's, Semi-A's, and occasionally an A-in-a-hurry.

Now that the railroads are getting their innings in the movies, it's a good time to point out the facts concerning the Iron Horse's most distinguished contribution to acting art. Clarence Gordon works for the Pullman company but he turns actor whenever the movies want him—and the movies often want him badly enough, when they've got an African picture to cast, to telegraph cross-country and bid for his services at the next stop. It's Clarence's physique and dignity that make him worth the trouble. Henry King brought him back once from Salt Lake City for a bit in "Stanley and Livingstone." He also brought Clarence back from San Francisco, El Paso, and St. Louis on other occasions. When the troupe went on location to Sun Valley, Idaho, Clarence got the Pullman company to let him porter the special movie train up there. Arrived, he acted. Departing, he turned porter again.

Better Grapes Sought

BUNOS AIRES (AP)—Competition of South African fruit growers may give grapes of super-quality to consumers of grapes in the United States. The Ministry of Agriculture, noting the increased shipment of grapes from Africa directly to North America has ordered special attention, particularly as to size and quality, given to Argentine grapes designated for shipment northward.

Ash Preserves Trees

BEND, Ore. (AP)—Investigators for the Oregon Agate and Mineral society believe they have traced the history of the Sweet Home petrified forest, which extends over 20 square miles in the Cascade foothills. They say that possibly 50,000,000 years ago a living forest was covered by volcanic ash. In the course of centuries it was washed away, leaving the beautifully agatized trees, some of them still erect.

Candy For Charity

SAN JOSE, Cal. (AP)—Many eastern manufacturers don't know it, but candy packed in boxes with artificial bottoms is subject to seizure in California. E. D. Cox, county sealer of weights and measures, plays Santa Claus at charity institutions every Christmas with the contraband.

One way we might scare those dictators into behaving is to draft Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi into the army.

Before Diagnosis

RONDBOSCH, South Africa (AP)—Dr. James McCall Fehrsen, dean of South African medics, recalls being registered in 1874, when he said medical men laughed at the "germ bogey," and treated diseases without knowing their cause.

Those Nazis will know we're really mad at them when we change the name of sauerkraut to "liberty cabbage."

STEVE SAW LITTLE ACTION LAST SEASON BUT IS SEEN AS A BIG AID TO THE YANKEES THIS YEAR

Yanks Rally Behind Sundra For 8-6 Win

Chase Across Three Tallies in Ninth Off Thornton Lee

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP) — The New York Yankees put on a typical ninth-inning rally at the expense of their old jinx, Lefty Thornton Lee, today to nip the White Sox 9 to 6 in the "rubber" tilt of the three-game series.

The world champions collected a total of 16 hits, but not until the ninth, when they connected for three runs, did they put the game away. Rookie Joe Gallagher hit a homer for the champions in the second.

The Sox, after going down scoreless before Steve Sundra for three frames, scored four in the fourth to tie it up, and had two across in the ninth, with the tying runs on base and two out, when Luke Appling's base hit struck Marty Owen in the foot, automatically ending the threat.

Reds Hammer Hugh Mulcahy For Three Homers; Win 8-6

Berger Blasts Two Round-Trippers In Rout of Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP) — A damaging home run attack today by the Cincinnati Reds spoiled Hugh Mulcahy's attempt to avenge himself of the defeat they handed him Sunday, and the Phillies went down 8 to 4.

Just as they had done in the first game, the Reds jumped on Mulcahy in the first inning for a run. Then came Wally Berger with a homer in the second, Frank McCormick with his four bagger in the fifth and Berger's second hoist on top of the left field roof and Mulcahy was trailing 8 to 4.

Cardinals Blast Brooklyn, 13-1

BROOKLYN, May 9 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals hammered Freddy Fitzsimmons to the shower in less than an inning today and went on from there with an 18-hit attack to slaughter the Dodgers 13 to 1, and take undisputed possession of second place in the National league.

They didn't need all that run-making for Curt Davis tossed his second straight six-hitter in a week, and was in trouble only once, in the second inning when Dolph Camilli hit a homer for Brooklyn's only run.

Every one of the Cards' regulars hit safely at least once with the exception of Mickey Owen. Ducky Medwick, who hit a homer, Pepper Martin and Terry Moore each drove in three runs. Stu Martin, Terry Moore, Don Guttridge and Davis himself each collected three hits.

Cubs Use Four Pitchers To Nip Giants, 11 to 7

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, after booting a four-run lead in the early frames, scored four times in the eighth inning today to whip the Giants 11 to 7 in a wurd ball game and climb into the .500 class for the season.

The Cubs used four pitchers and the Giants five before the loose contest ended. Dizzy Dean was "shoed" from the Cub bench by the umpires in the third for razzing their decisions.

The Cubs collected 15 hits, with Stan Hack and Augie Galan each contributing four to the attack. They scored four runs off Manuel Salvo in the first four frames and added three in the sixth, but the Giants came back to tie it up and beat Gene Lillard off the mound with a four-run blast in the sixth, before the Cubs clinched the decision in the eighth.

Campus 'I' Club To Hold Dance

Dancers Urged To Wear 'Little Abner' Costumes; Will Award Prizes

Competition reared its head on the Iowa campus yesterday when it became known that the Campus "I" club and the Iowa City junior chamber of commerce will sponsor a "Little Abner Dance" at the community building Saturday night and award prizes to those who most correctly represent the characters in the nationally famous Little Abner comic strip.

The dance, open to the public, is to be an informal affair. Costumes may be worn but aren't essential. As a matter of fact the most essential thing about the party is that each customer hold or purchase a ticket.

Jitterbugs are scheduled for a field day — or evening — as an 11 piece band will be on hand to provide music for the festivities.

Iowa Cinder Artists Prep For Saturday's Tilt With Badgers

All-University Canoe Races To Be Held Monday

The all-university canoe race, an annual event on the University of Iowa campus, will be held again this year, according to a statement made by Dr. Fred Beebe, intramural sports director, yesterday afternoon.

This race, open to anyone in the university, will be held Monday, May 15, at 4:45 o'clock on the Iowa river between the Iowa City Country club and the City Park bridge.

All contestants desiring to enter the race must report to Beebe near the starting line at the time designated.

As many boats as possible may enter this race, with one man in each boat.

Thaenson Fans Eight Batters

Darrel Kiddie Stars For Losers With Long Round-Tripper

The Phi Kappa Sigma softball team annexed the championship of section I in the Interfraternity league yesterday afternoon by defeating Phi Epsilon Pi in the play-off for the title, 6-4.

The entire game was quite slow, with neither team showing much potency at the plate. Darrel Kiddie, catcher for the winners, caught hold of one in the third inning and parked it over the left fielder's head for the only home run of the game.

Harry Elsbeg led the Phi Epsilon Pi batsmen with three safe blows in five trips to the plate.

Tom Thaenson, the winning pitcher, held the losers in check the entire game and was accredited with a total of eight strikeouts.

Coach Bresnahan Expects To Carry 17 Men on Invasions

Resuming workouts after Monday night's layoff, the Iowa track team began preparations last night for its invasion of Madison, Wis., Saturday to engage the Badgers in a dual meet.

Losers to the Badgers in an indoor meet earlier this year and defeated by "Chuck" Fenske and his mates last spring, the Hawks are determined to clear debt with the Cardinal and come home winners this week end.

Encouraged by the fine showing of some of his men last Friday against Minnesota, Coach George Bresnahan is confident his charges will conduct themselves in fine style at Madison.

The Badgers present an outstanding array of dual meet performers led by Walter Mehl, Fenske's successor at the mile and two mile, and Ed Smith, flashy Negro hurdler who is one of the better timber toppers in the Midwest. Added to this list, in the field events, is Milt Padway, 14-foot pole vaulter who tied Bedaux-Bryan of Texas for the pole vault crown at the Drake relays two weeks ago.

Slattery Gets New License

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP) — Jimmy Slattery, who came out of Buffalo, N. Y., as a boxing stylist to win the world's light-heavyweight championship, today was granted a new license as a fighter by the New York Boxing Athletic commission. At 34, Slattery is planning a comeback.

He outpointed Young Stribling and Jack Delaney in 1924 and won N.B.A. recognition as a 175-pound champion by defeating Maxie Rosenbloom in 1927. He was recognized as titleholder in New York state in 1930, when he outpointed Lou Sozza in 15 rounds, but held the title for only four months, when he lost it to Rosenbloom.

Slattery says he's in good shape and weighs about 180.

Tourney to Des Moines

DES MOINES (AP) — The Missouri Valley tennis association tournament will be held here the week of July 17, Ben Beckerman, manager of the Birdland courts, announced last night. Bobby Riggs, the Californian picked as Don Budge's successor as top amateur in this country, won the championship last year at Kansas City, Mo., defeating Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, Okla., in the final round.

Badgers, Under Madisons

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The University of Wisconsin baseball team scored a 10-2 victory here yesterday over Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill. The Badgers, aided by two Bradley errors, bunched four hits in the fourth inning for six runs. Andy Smith and Russ Dismeier hit homers for the winners.

Des Moines Offer

Promoter Pinkie George said yesterday he had no offer of terms to match heavyweight Johnny Paycheck of Des Moines against Paul Hartnek in Omaha. Max Clayton, Omaha promoter, called George last night. "He only asked me if Paycheck would be available May 19 or 26," George said, "but he didn't mention any terms or name the opponent."

Huskies Win

AMES (AP) — Iowa State's baseball team made 15 hits yesterday, one more than the Cornhuskers, but lost to Nebraska, 16-5, in the second of a two-game series. Nebraska won Monday, 10-5.

Denies Offer

Promoter Pinkie George said yesterday he had no offer of terms to match heavyweight Johnny Paycheck of Des Moines against Paul Hartnek in Omaha. Max Clayton, Omaha promoter, called George last night. "He only asked me if Paycheck would be available May 19 or 26," George said, "but he didn't mention any terms or name the opponent."

Champions To Get Medals At Sports Dinner

Representatives Of Every Sport Will Be Present on May 17

Honors befitting champions will be given to intramural titleholders in every sport May 17 at the second annual intramural sports dinner when over 1,000 titleholders and members of championship teams will receive awards.

Starting with the touch football games last fall and ending with the softball play now entering its later stages, the intramural athletes, numbering approximately 2,000, have competed in five leagues and in a dozen sports.

Toughest of the competition seems to have been in basketball and touchball, with nearly 100 teams entered in each, although the touchball teams worked under the handicap of most bad weather. However, most of the games were played, with champs crowned in four leagues: Fraternity, Quad, Co-op and town.

Especially strong was the fraternity league, in which there were nearly twice as many teams as the year before, the Phi Psi's emerging champs.

The basketball tides switched to the co-op league this season, with Chesley, winner of the championship there, taking the all-university title after a bitter three-game series with Upper B of the Quad. The fraternities, battling in three divisions, crowned Delta Tau Delta as class A champ, Delta Chi in class B, and Phi Gamma Delta in the pledge division.

Volleyball, swimming, cross country and track also had their entrants, with Phi Kappa Sigma taking the all-university volleyball championship, Beta Theta Pi winning the fraternity swimming team title, and Phi Kappa Psi and Gables taking the fraternity and co-op dormitory cross-country runs. The track events settled indoors were the fraternity, Quad and co-op relay races in which Phi Epsilon Kappa, Lower B and Jefferson turned in victorious runs.

One of the most interesting events, of course, was the all-university boxing and wrestling tourney, which came after the boxers and matmen had settled league titles in every division. The meet produced, besides intramural champs, a number of wrestlers who may help Mike Howard's mat team next year, and also some promising pugilists.

After taking all-university mat titles, He'k Kerstein, Quad; Robert Muhl, Quad; and Art Johnson, Quad, all went on to win numerals in Mike Howard's annual freshman meet. Other winners in the all-university meet were Robert McDowell, Sigma Chi; Robert Dewell, Sigma Chi; Fred Muhl, Delta Tau Delta; Bill Berryhill, Towa; and Bob Allen, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The boxing tournament, with Vance Basler and Bill Humphrey in starring roles, had his share of the interest. Basler, winner of the 165 pound town and all-university titles, had previously won the Cedar Rapids Golden Gloves championship, and left a trail of knockouts in the university meet. Humphrey, of Phi Kappa Sigma, took the fraternity title and then won his way through other division champs, taking his final bout by a knockout. Remaining champs were William Garland, Sigma Nu; Joe Early, Sigma Nu; and Boyd Berryhill, Jefferson.

There was no heavyweight final battle, Al Couppee being unable to find an opponent.

Mother-Son-Daughter Dinner Tickets Will Go on Sale Today

Event Sponsored By Mortar Board For Mother's Week End

Tickets for the Mother-Son-Daughter dinner Saturday evening in the main lounge of Iowa Union are now available and will be available until 1:30 p.m. Saturday, it is announced. The dinner is one of the events planned for the Mother's week and sponsored by Mortar Board.

Other events planned for Saturday include a tea honoring the mothers at which the home economics department will entertain at 3 p.m., the governor's day review at 10 a.m. on the parade grounds west of the armory, and the technicolor movies of the university at 2:15 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

The informal dinner Saturday evening will be followed by a short program, including the introduction of the Mortar Board members who have planned the Mother's Day activities. Phyllis Wassam, A4 of Iowa City, president of Mortar Board, will serve as toastmaster for the after-dinner program. The mother chosen to represent Iowa mothers on the program is Mrs. H. F. Shrauger of Atlantic. Mrs. Shrauger has two daughters in the university, Cornelia, A3, and Virginia, A1, and is herself a member of Staff and Circle, the senior honorary society which preceded Mortar Board.

Other speakers will be President Gilmore, Robert Waples, A4 of Cedar Rapids, who will represent Iowa sons, and Betty Holt, A4 of Worcester, Mass., who will represent Iowa daughters.

All Iowa City churches will hold special Mother's Day services on Sunday morning and a number of the sorority and fraternity houses and dormitories will entertain parents at dinner Sunday noon. President and Mrs. Gilmore will open their home at 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon to all students and their parents for the annual Mother's Day tea. Members of Mortar Board will assist Mrs. Gilmore as hostesses.

Immediately following the tea, at 5 p.m., the junior girls who have been elected to Mortar Board will be announced at the tapping service on President's point, or in case of rain, in Iowa Union.

This year marks the twelfth annual celebration of Mother's Day at the University of Iowa, a tradition which was begun by Mortar Board in 1928.

P.E.O. To Meet With Mrs. Voigt

Members of chapter HI of the P. E. O. sisterhood will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Edwin E. Voigt, 214 E. Jefferson street, Friday at 2:30 p.m. Assisting Mrs. Voigt as hostess will be Mrs. Iliot T. Jones.

Mrs. Dwight Curtis To Entertain Guests Of Education Club

Guests of members of the Education club will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Dwight K. Curtis, 53 Ferson avenue, tomorrow afternoon at the club's annual guest tea. The hours for the affair are from 3 to 5 p.m.

PERSONALS

Dr. John C. Brauer of the university preventive dental department is attending a dental convention in Peoria, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Alcock, 829 Otto street, are the parents of a son born Sunday at Mercy hospital. The baby, who weighed five pounds and six ounces at birth, has been named Gerald William.

EXHIBITION

To Have Display For Mother's Day

A series of displays on ready-made clothes and household textiles from the consumer's angle of interest will be shown by the home economics department Saturday afternoon at the tea honoring the visiting mothers who attend the Mother's day week end.

An exhibit of modern glass sponsored by the State Federation of Women's clubs and collected by Mrs. Anna Lee Dixon of Burlington will also be displayed. Printed and hand-woven textiles and a collection of materials and prints suitable for children's clothes will also be part of the exhibitions.

Flowers Add Fresh Touch

New Decorations In Home Cost Little, Add Attractiveness

By JANE FLOYD BUCK
When spring is in the air one's thoughts don't always turn to dreams of romance. If one is a homemaker they more likely than not turn to thoughts of the home and the urge to go on a decoration spree and dress up the house.

Then the household budget rears an ugly head, and plans for a new wardrobe for the house more often than not become merely wishful thinking.

But the ingenious homemaker who is smart enough to realize that it's the little things that count can accomplish all sorts of attractive results with an amazingly small amount of money.

If you have a very few dollars to spend and still want to translate that spring urge into decorative action make an economy game of it. Take stock of each of your rooms in turn and decide what new touches they need to greet spring. Then see just how far you can stretch your money.

In your living room, for instance, maybe you have a window overlooking a garden that will be a riot of bloom before many more weeks have passed. Why not take your heavy draperies down, let back your glass curtains and hang a mirror opposite the window where it will catch reflections of the garden and thus make a real life picture for the room. Be sure the mirror is of polished plate glass in order to obtain glamorous results.

Lacking such a garden view, place a mirror behind your living room or console table and keep an arrangement of spring flowers just in front. You will be surprised to find how much of additional beauty the flower arrangement will gain from reflection in the plate glass surface of the mirror.

Treat your bed and dressing table to a new cover and drape. You can make all sorts of charming and inexpensive covers and drapes out of the new calicoes, organdies and flowered muslins. If you have painted furniture invest in a few cans of paint and work out a new and exciting color scheme for the room.

Invest in some of the gay new shower curtains for your bathroom and make a set of flowered dimity or muslin curtains for the window.

For your dining room get some inexpensive and bright colored pots from your local department or dime store, fill them with plants and set them around the windows on small plaques of mirror glass. Invest in a set of bright colored mats for the table and a new flower bowl to hold arrangements of spring flowers.

You will be surprised to find

Local Business Women's Club To Have Dinner

The Federated Business and Professional Women's club will entertain its members at an informal, get-acquainted dinner tonight in Iowa Union at 6:15. Pastel colors and spring flowers will be used as the motif for table decorations.

A quiz based on the "Independent Woman," national magazine of the organization, will be a part of the program.

Doris Smith, 115 N. Dubuque street, is in charge of all arrangements for the dinner meeting.

List Chaperons For Informal Party Friday

Mortar Board Will Entertain Parents, Students at Dance

Chaperons for the May Frolic which will take place Friday in the main lounge of Iowa Union from 9 to 12 p.m. will be Dean of Women Adelaide L. Burge, Prof. and Mrs. Fred M. Pownall, Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Dean, Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Routh and Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Wirtz.

Playing for the last all-university dance at which Mortar Board annually entertains university students and their parents, will be Frank Dailey and his "stop and go" orchestra.

"Stop and go" rhythm has been featured at the Hotel McAlpine and Hotel Pennsylvania in New York and the Steel Pier at Atlantic City as well as numerous college proms, theaters and Dailey's own Meadowbrook Inn near Newark, N. J. He has broadcast over the CBS network and has made several movie shorts for Paramount pictures.

Appearing with the orchestra in the role of entertainers will be Barbara Bush, feminine songstress; Howard Dulaney, baritone soloist; the Dailey Dandies, vocal trio; John Kelsey, swing pianist; "Curley," comic drummer, and the Glee club, modern choral ensemble.

Traditionally university women do the "dating" and "escorting" for this spring dance. The party is informal and women will wear dinner gowns.

General chairman for the event is Marjorie Moberg, P4 of Geneseo, Ill., and assisting her are the members of Mortar Board.

Tickets may be obtained at the main desk in Iowa Union.

3 Win Honors At Elks' Ladies Club

High bridge honors were won by Mrs. Joseph Munkhoff, Mrs. Erling Thoen and Mrs. H. A. McMaster at the business and social meeting of the Elks' Ladies club yesterday afternoon in the club rooms.

Charter Members Still Active in Altrusa

Horace Mann Students Honor Mothers at Tea

Members of Brownie pack two of Horace Mann school entertained their mothers at a Mother's Day tea yesterday afternoon in the Horace Mann school building. Corsages were presented as favors to the mothers.

Presiding at the tea table was Mrs. Ralph Tarrant.

Mrs. Charles Collins and Mrs. O. A. White, leaders of the group, were in charge of the arrangements for the party.

Mrs. Welt Gives Trinity Guild Tea

As the last meeting of the year, Mrs. A. A. Welt, president of the Guild auxiliary of the Trinity Episcopal church, will open her home for a tea for the organization this afternoon.

The business meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. and tea will be served afterwards.

Mrs. Falligant Will Entertain 8 Guests At 1 p.m. Luncheon

Mrs. Louis A. Falligant, 821 N. Linn street, will entertain eight guests at a luncheon in her home tomorrow. Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. The group will attend the tea which Mrs. M. H. Anderson is giving later in the afternoon.

Devotionals and the lesson will be in charge of Mrs. M. A. H. Jones. Mrs. G. H. Fonda will assist the hostess.

Mrs. Anderson Will Entertain

Theta Chaperon Will Have Spring Tea At House Tomorrow

Mrs. Mahlon H. Anderson, chaperon of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, will entertain at a spring tea tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. The affair will be in the chapter house, 823 E. Burlington street, and the decorations will be orchid lilacs and pink tulips with pink tapers lighting the tea table.

Receiving with Mrs. Anderson will be Mrs. Fred M. Pownall and Mrs. J. H. Jamison. Active members of the chapter will assist in the entertainment. Assisting hostesses will include Mrs. Vance Morton, Mrs. Oscar Nybakken, Mrs. Stella Crawford, Mrs. J. O. Singmaster and Mrs. Carrie Brown.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. J. Hubert Scott, Mrs. Earle Waterman, Mrs. Richard Webster, Mrs. Arthur Guernsey, Mrs. K. B. Judy and Mrs. J. M. Sprout.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. Anderson to the alumnae clubs of Kappa Alpha Theta of Cedar Rapids and Davenport. All mothers of chapter members have also been invited.

Group Hears Scout Leader

Thiel Speaks At Meeting of Child Conservation Club

"Scout camps provide not only a recreational time but physical, mental and social training," O. B. Thiel, Boy Scout executive of Iowa City yesterday told members of the Child Conservation club. Mr. Thiel discussed the topic "The Influence of Leisure Time on Personality Development."

He went on to explain that leisure time is valued by how it is used and that one who wastes it warps his personality. He pointed out that idleness becomes a menace in any group, not only in the development of children.

In explaining the value of the Boy Scout movement, Mr. Thiel classed the activities of the movement in physical, social, moral and intellectual groups. Physical habits of cleanliness and body-building are established. Alertness, nature study and courage of a brave mental attitude trains their intellect.

The Child Conservation club met in the home of Mrs. E. W. Paulus, 1039 E. College street. Assisting hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. H. H. Jacobson, Mrs. M. E. Wicks and Mrs. V. E. Fordyce.

Mrs. Bush To Read Paper at Art Circle

Mrs. Stephen Bush will read a paper on the "Life and Paintings of Kanyon Cox" at a meeting of the Art circle this morning at 10 o'clock in the board room of the public library. A business meeting is also scheduled.

Local Hospitals Receive Lilacs From Auxiliary

Members of the American Legion auxiliary will distribute lilacs to the local hospitals today commemorating the annual Whittaker Lilac day begun a number of years ago by Mrs. Agnes Whittaker, 424 S. Clark street.

Large bouquets of lilac will be placed in each ward of all the local hospitals. Arrangements for collection and distribution of the flowers are in charge of Mrs. Julia Edwards and Mrs. Robert Schell.

Mrs. Krell Hostess To U-Go-I-Go Club

Mrs. Earl Krell, 427 Clark street, entertained members of U-Go-I-Go club last night at her home. Euchre was played at four tables.

Rev. Ligutti To Talk Here Tonight at 7:30

Granger Priest To Lecture At Chem. Building

To Speak Tomorrow On Capitalism Before Commerce Classes

The Rt. Rev. L. G. Ligutti of Granger, prominent Catholic worker in the field of social betterment in Iowa, will speak at 7:30 tonight in the chemistry auditorium.

The change in the place of the lecture from Old Capitol's senate chamber was announced yesterday by Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce. The Rev. Mr. Ligutti will speak under the auspices of the college.

Speaking tonight on "Cooperative Miracles in Nova Scotia," the Rev. Mr. Ligutti will appear before a college of commerce class in room 211, University hall, at 9 a. m. tomorrow to discuss "Capitalism as It Is or Might Be."

The speaker has acquired a wide background in social fields. He spent considerable time among the cooperatives in Nova Scotia about which he will speak this evening. Born in northern Italy, he came to America at an early age.

The speaker has been the moving force in the establishment at Granger of a community of summer farm homes, where workers in Iowa coal mines may spend their summers in profitable occupations.

In the schools of the community he has introduced studies of crafts and handwork, looking ahead to the time Iowa mines will no longer be productive and miners and their children must seek other occupations.

Forty-five of the original group of mining families still form the bulwark of the Granger community of more than 50 families. The Rev. Mr. Ligutti went to the Granger parish several years ago.

The speaker is a graduate of St. Ambrose college, where he was a classmate of the Rev. E. W. Neuzil, pastor of Iowa City's St. Wenceslaus Catholic church.

The Rev. Mr. Ligutti has summed up his beliefs of current American problems in "A Thesis on Rural Life." Therein he states:

"The present-day industrialized, commercialized and urbanized practices must not be followed blindly but tested for economic, social and spiritual values.

"If the thesis is true, the real task is to convince and persuade the leaders and the masses that such a philosophy is basically sound and advantageous."

Others are expected soon to file acceptances to invitations from Prof. Bruce A. Mahan, alumni secretary. Last June, 19 returned for their 50th reunion.

Although most of them now live in Iowa, others living in Washington, D. C., Colorado, Illinois, and Nebraska are planning for their big day. All are in their 70's and several are over 80 years old.

This is the roster of acceptances to date: John M. Wormley of Kingsley, Oliver W. Childs of Denison, Frank E. Gill of Sioux City, John T. Conn of Hartley, William R. Boyd of Cedar Rapids, George S. Wright and Frank P. Wright of Council Bluffs, Cornelius H. Murphy of Davenport, Cora B. Morrison of Iowa City, Dr. I. W. Haughey of Ft. Collins, Col. Walter L. Anderson of Lincoln, Neb., Dr. John C. Dennison of Bellevue, John M. Grimm of Cedar Rapids, Samule T. Gray of Albia, Dr. Albert H. Anderson of Chicago, Ill., Dr. George M. Mayne of Council Bluffs, Anna L. Burdick of Washington, D. C. and John M. Lindly of Glenwood.

Excellence in German language and literature has won for Lynn Jefferson, A4 of Woodbine, the Charles Bundy Wilson memorial prize for 1939.

Prof. Erich Funke, head of the German department, yesterday announced the awarding of the annual prize to Jefferson. Presentation will be made at the commencement ceremonies June 5.

The prize was established by Mrs. Frances Wilson as a memorial to Professor Wilson, who died in 1938 after 50 years of service as head of the German department. This is the first year that the award has been made.

Ezel made the journey from Ft. Des Moines to Ft. Clark, at the Lizard Fork of the Des Moines river, on horseback. It took him almost three days to make this journey to present-day Ft. Dodge. The journalist could see no reason for maintaining a fort at this point. Transportation was well-nigh prohibitive; it cost three cents a pound to haul goods from Keokuk to Ft. Clark. Corn brought 75 cents a bushel there.

Ezel set out on his return through sleet and snow. Eight days later, after undergoing many hardships, he reached Keokuk. Despite the inconveniences endured, he felt amply rewarded for his fortnight of exploration in the Des Moines river valley.

By stagecoach and buckboard, on horseback and in wagon box, a dauntless correspondent of the "Missouri Republican" made the trip from Keokuk up the valley of the Des Moines to what is now Ft. Dodge in 1850.

The journey of this venturesome St. Louis journalist, who signed his article "Ezel," was begun in late November. The story is told by Thomas E. Tweito in the April issue of "The Palimpsest," the monthly publication of the State Historical Society of Iowa.

After sleeping on a bed in Keokuk a little softer than an oak plank, Ezel set out in a Frink and Walker stagecoach for Ft. Des Moines. Passing through Charleston, Farmington and Bonaparte, the Missouri journalist stopped at Fairfield just long enough to devour some raw potatoes, slish-slush coffee, and half-cooked biscuits.

Heading due west, through Agency and Ottumwa, the stage soon was crossing hill and dale through the flourishing farming region around Oskaloosa. Ezel found the best eating house between Keokuk and Ft. Des Moines at Pellatow, where the Dutch had settled in 1847. Ft. Des Moines had two printing presses, a large two-story brick courthouse, and plenty of lawyers, doctors, and preachers. The people seemed healthy and happy.

Staff Members To Be Guests

S. U. I. Professors To Conduct Classes At Northwestern U.

Prof. Beth Wellman of the child psychology department and Prof. Charles B. Righter, director of the University of Iowa band, will be members of the 1939 summer faculty at Northwestern university, it was announced yesterday.

Professor Wellman will teach "Problems in Child Development" and Professor Righter will instruct a course in "Band Technique."

The two Iowa professors will be among 103 prominent educators serving as guest instructors in the summer session from June 17 to Aug. 12 at Northwestern.

Instruction will be offered in eight schools: liberal arts, education, graduate, law, music, speech, commerce and journalism.

The graduate school of Northwestern will inaugurate an Institute of Democracy this summer, which will bring eminent educators to the campus for the study of contemporary problems. The basic course, "Contemporary Democracy and Its Problems" will be directed by Dr. Arthur N. Holcombe, chairman of the government department at Harvard.

The '89-ers' who left the university when it had 600 students, are coming back to talk over the old days and what has happened during the half century since they graduated.

And they are returning, too, to receive a commemorative gold medal and the acclaim which a university annually bestows upon members of the 50-year class.

Eighteen members of the class already have notified the alumni office that they will be present on alumni day, June 3, a feature of the commencement program.

Others are expected soon to file acceptances to invitations from Prof. Bruce A. Mahan, alumni secretary. Last June, 19 returned for their 50th reunion.

Shakespearean Authority To Speak

This sketch of G. L. Kittredge, who will speak at 8 o'clock tonight in Macbride auditorium, first appeared in the Harvard Lampoon in 1936. The original is hung in his home. His beard, which he had as an undergraduate, has been known to be white to men who have known him for 50 years. It is a subject of discussion when students get together to guess at its original color. Foremost authority on Shakespeare, the above sketch shows Kittredge lecturing to that eminent playwright, about whom he knows almost all that a modern scholar might discover.

Wayne University Physiologist Will Give Lecture Tomorrow

Dr. H. O. Haterius Received Ph.D. From University in 1928

Dr. H. O. Haterius of the physiology department at Wayne university in Detroit, Mich., will present a graduate college lecture at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the medical amphitheater, room 331, of University general hospital.

Dr. Haterius' lecture is sponsored by the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine. His topic will be "Hormones of the Pituitary Glands."

The speaker is an alumnus of the University of Iowa, fulfilling his Ph.D. requirements here in 1928 in the zoology department. He was a member of the biology department staff at New York university and served as an assistant professor of physiology at Ohio State university before going to the Detroit school.

Dr. Haterius has conducted extensive research on various phases of endocrinology, and has published numerous papers related to various aspects of the physiology of reproduction, especially involving the pituitary gland.

His most recent contributions have been concerned with nervous factors in the regulation of the pituitary gland.

At the present time, the speaker is also in charge of a summer course in endocrinology at the biological laboratory at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island.

Two Grades At University High To Give Plays

Two one-act plays will be presented at University high school today and tomorrow by members of the 7th and 8th grades. The productions will be given before the parents and members of the respective grades only.

Seventh grade students to appear in today's play are Yvonne Livingston, Billie Jean Jacobsen, Susan Sayre, Mary Wareham, Eleanor Browning, George White, Don Jackson, Bernard Hawley, Ruth Siegling, Katherine Lane, Susan Weidner, Ellen Jung and Priscilla Mable. The play was directed by Valerie Epply, graduate student from Amherst, Ohio.

Cast in tomorrow's eighth grade presentation will be Mary Hawley, Janet Peterson, Jim Pollock, Frances Hinman and Patricia Grothaus. Don Streeter, instructor in dramatics at University high school, is directing the play.

More than 2,000 announcements of the congratulatory dinner for Prof. F. L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, have been placed in the mails by members of the committee in charge.

Professor Mott was awarded the recent Pulitzer prize in the field of history for his second and third volumes of "A History of American Magazines."

Reservations for the dinner may be filed before noon Friday with Ted Rehder of Iowa Union's dining service or Lois Randall, executive secretary of the school of journalism.

Announcements of the dinner have been distributed to prominent Iowa newspaper men, Iowa City service clubs, friends of Professor Mott, and university students and faculty members.

The dinner will be sponsored by the local chapters of two national professional journalism organizations, Sigma Delta Chi for men and Theta Sigma Phi for women, and is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Sunday in Iowa Union's main lounge.

A. Bloom Marriage To Urban Marron Announced Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Bloom of DeWitt announce the marriage of their daughter, Alberta, of Washington, D. C., to Urban Marron of Des Moines, son of Thomas Marron of Davenport. The ceremony took place April 29 in the cathedral in Toronto, Canada.

Geraldine Maurer of Rochester, Minn., and Robert Morrissey of Albany, N. Y., were the attendants.

The bride was graduated from the DeWitt high school and the university and for the past two years has been employed by the social security board in Washington.

Mr. Marron was graduated from St. Ambrose college and attended the university. He is now a chemist in the Lutheran hospital in Des Moines, where the couple will make their home.

of Davenport announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to Hugh Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong of Viola, Ill., formerly of Davenport. The wedding will be solemnized June 3 in the First Presbyterian church of Davenport at 3 p.m. with the Rev. A. S. Nickless officiating. Evelyn Hentzelman will attend her sister as maid of honor and Charles Strobe of Moline will be best man.

After the ceremony there will be a reception for the bridal couple in the Hentzelman home. They will leave for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., New York and Canada.

The bride-elect was graduated from the Davenport high school and attended St. Ambrose college. She received her B.A. degree from the university in 1937 and has been teaching home economics and general science since that time.

Mr. Armstrong was graduated from the Aledo, Ill., high school and attended Monmouth college. He is now employed at the John Deere company in Rock Island.

Perigo-Miller
Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Perigo of Des Moines have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to George W. Miller, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Miller of Des Moines.

The wedding will take place June 17 in the Cottage Grove avenue Presbyterian church.

Miss Perigo was graduated from Roosevelt high school. Mr. Miller attended the University of Iowa and was graduated from the law college of Drake university. He is now associated with the American Mutual Liability Insurance company.

Barger-Slack
Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Aileen Barger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Barger of Des Moines, to John Slack of Des Moines, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Slack of Hartford, was made last Saturday at a luncheon in Des Moines. The marriage will take place May 27.

Miss Barger was graduated from Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., and is employed by the Banker's Life company.

Mr. Slack attended the university and is now employed by the Grocers Wholesale company. The couple will make their home in Des Moines.

King, Queen Enjoy Simplicity

Bert and Betty Windsor Visit Villagers On Annual Vacation in Scotland

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN AP Feature Service Writer

LONDON — There's a small town quality about Bert and Betty Windsor that is likely to warm the heart of America when they go calling this June.

Strip them of royalty's trappings, and you have an unpretentious couple who like nothing better than to drop in on the neighbors for a quiet chat.

This, of course, is impossible while they're "on duty" as king and queen of England. But when they get away for their annual vacation in Scotland they visit the villagers, whom they call by their first names, and lead an informal life that would have made some of their noble predecessors gasp.

Not "Smart Set" Type
Most Englishmen like the picture of simplicity such details build although critics brand their majesties as dull and colorless.

King George VI, who's 43, and Queen Elizabeth, 38, certainly aren't the type to fit in, say, with the international smart set. They spend a deal of time on their two daughters — Princess Elizabeth, 13, who may succeed her father on the throne, and Princess Margaret Rose, 8.

Their majesties reflect their homespun tastes in innumerable ways.

When they ascended the throne, old friends began to address them as "sir" and "ma'am"—but not for long. "What's wrong with 'Bert' and 'Betty'?" their majesties wanted to know.

He Breakfasts American
On week ends at Windsor they prefer to stay at the royal lodge rather than the castle.

On state occasions their majesties offer a fancy French menu, but for their everyday meals they relish under-done beef, over-boiled Brussels sprouts and other typically English fare.

But their diet isn't all English. The king has an American breakfast — orange juice, toast and coffee — while the queen's weakness is a huge Scottish tea of weight-producing scones and jam.

The queen is a good cook and she keeps the menus balanced and easily digestible. The king has had to watch his diet ever since the World war, when he underwent an operation for duodenal ulcer. He never drinks anything stronger than a weak whisky and soda and his favorite nightcap is hot milk or cocoa — a habit he acquired in his navy days. The queen sips a glass of wine and smokes occasionally.

Tragic Case

Doctor's Knife Causes Child's Death

MOLINE, Ill., May 9 (AP) — A physician testified today he unwittingly caused his baby's death by an accidental wound with a streptococci-infected surgical knife.

Dr. Clifford O. McCreedy disclosed this at an inquest into the death last night of his 22-month-old daughter, Nancy Irene.

He said that after visiting a patient with an abscess, he put the knife, in a cloth, point upward in the lapel pocket of his coat, intending to clean it later. Upon returning home he picked the baby out of her crib.

"I had forgotten about the knife in my pocket," he said. The baby cried out and he found "the knife point had wounded her skin" in the abdomen.

The baby developed a fever Sunday and died despite immediate cauterization of the wound and anti-streptococci serum and other treatments in a hospital.

Indian Fighter, War Veteran Dies at Home

DENVER, May 9 (AP)—Brig. Gen. William Carey Brown, 84, veteran Indian fighter, died last night at his home here.

The former cavalryman saw service in the Indian wars, Spanish-American war, Philippine insurrection, Mexican punitive expedition, and the World war.

He was a member of the Explorers club of New York, and the Army and Navy club of Washington, D. C.

Inspection

FDR Sees Contrasting Locomotives

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt inspected a giant new streamline locomotive at the union station today.

Without leaving his automobile, Mr. Roosevelt gazed with interest at the latest high speed locomotive and a contrasting 70-year-old wood-burning engine on the same rails. Both were part of a special train which is touring the continent.

The president asked questions of H. L. Andrews, vice-president, and other officials of the General Electric company, which built the locomotive for the Union Pacific railroad. He was told it could go 125 miles an hour and could travel three times as far as the ordinary engine without stops for water.

Wood Resigns

As Adviser To Harry Hopkins

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago resigned today from his temporary job as business adviser to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins giving press of private business as his reason.

Wood, who is chairman of Sears, Roebuck and company, said that since he came to Washington April 11, he found that the business studies he was supposed to make would take more time than he could spare. He also expressed regret that Hopkins' illness made it impossible for him to confer more with the secretary while he held the job.

Helps Her Pick Hats

She is fond of halo hats (which the king helps her choose) because they give her height. She wears high-heeled shoes for the same reason.

Gray fox is her favorite fur, blue her favorite color and pearls her favorite jewels.

The queen uses rouge, lipstick and eyeshade lightly, and has a permanent wave in her long, dark hair. She uses a natural shade of nail polish and has never plucked her heavy eyebrows.

Two Million, "And Worth It"
The king plays tennis and golf and shoots, often as the guest or host of J. P. Morgan. His Majesty also fishes, but probably his favorite sport is horseback riding.

The queen is said to be as good at fishing as he and she goes hunting occasionally, but only as a spectator. Here are the more lady-like recreations — playing the piano and harp and doing needle work.

Both have the British passion for long walks, both enjoy reading. His taste runs to newspapers and thrillers; hers to newspapers, novels and biographies.

Ordinarily they arise at 7:30, work from 9 to 5:30 or 6 (the queen using a portable typewriter for her correspondence) and retire at 10:30.

They get more than $2,000,000 a year—and in the opinion of the average Englishman earn every penny of it.

Food Shower--A New Idea For Honoring Bride-To-Be

Showers for the bride-to-be are as common as the out of the sky variety this month. Hostesses and many-times-invited guests are wishing aloud for some new kind of shower — which will not overtax the purses of the guests, will be novel and different and still give the prospective bride some attractive gifts.

Here's your bright idea for a new kind of shower: a ready-made "emergency shelf" or food shower! Obviously, if the bride is to be wed next month the food must be of the kind which keeps indefinitely; naturally, if it's for a party, it must be lovely to look at as well as toothsome to taste. The answer lies right on your grocers' shelves — in the glistening rows of jars and bottles of those little "luxury products" we buy for special occasions.

Have you noticed the new products lately? There are cantaloupe rings, watermelon circles, boysenberry preserves; there are pickles in a dozen varieties; there are fine jellies, piquant sauces, and rare old herbs. There is caviar, or even chocolate sauce! Here's your chance to "splurge" and buy the prospective bride something unusual. She will have an emergency shelf, ready made, for her new home. Besides, because the containers are so pretty in themselves, you will find it easy to wrap them up in decorative ways.

Every bride wants new recipes, too, remember — so attach a recipe to your gift. As a suggestion, here are a few to guide you. Shower or no shower, you'll like them for your own self and shelf too!

Jellied Shrimp and Cucumber Salad

1 jar (5 1-2 ounce) shrimps
1 package lime flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup diced cucumber
1-4 teaspoons salt
1-8 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
5 teaspoons vinegar
1-2 teaspoons grated onion
1-2 cup diced celery
1 large pimiento, diced
1-3 cup thinly sliced sweet pickles

Wash shrimps and remove black line along back. Dissolve gelatin in water. Cool and add cucumber, salt, Tabasco sauce, vinegar and onion. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in shrimps, celery, pimiento and pickles, and turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on nest of crisp lettuce. Serve

Maple Bars

1 cup sifted cake flour
1-2 teaspoon soda
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup maple syrup
1-4 cup butter, melted
1-2 tablespoons boiling water
1-2 cup coarsely chopped black walnuts or Brazil nuts
3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift again. Combine one-half cup maple syrup and butter in bowl. Add flour gradually, beating until smooth, then boiling water, and nuts. Spread evenly one-fourth inch thick in well greased pan, eight by eight with mayonnaise, salad dressing of French dressing. Yield: six portions.

Convention Delegates Re-Elect Frank J. Snider as Johnson County School Superintendent

Three-Year Term Will Begin Sept. 1; Board Group Chosen

Frank J. Snider will continue as Johnson county's superintendent of schools having been unanimously re-elected yesterday morning by a convention of delegates from each school district in the county to serve a three-year term which starts Sept. 1. The convention met in the grand jury room of the courthouse.

FRANK J. SNIDER

Four members of the county board of education were elected at the meeting, two new members to serve six-year terms, and two were re-elected, one for a six-year term and one to fill a three-year vacancy.

M. F. Palmer, Washington township, was re-elected to the board; Frank S. Carson, West Lucas, was elected to succeed Frank J. Krall, Newport, whose term expired, and Frank Zeller, Madison township, was elected to succeed W. F. Ulich, Big Grove. All were elected for six-year terms.

James W. Bowersox was re-elected for a three-year term to fill a vacancy on the board caused by the moving from the county of Edward F. Beranek, Oxford.

Board members whose terms expire in 1942 are James H. Bell, Fremont, and Ray E. Smalley, Union township.

Superintendent Snider was the only candidate to file a petition for the office of county superintendent. He was elected superintendent of the Johnson county schools two years ago upon the death of W. N. Leeper, who had served in the position since 1920. Snider came here from West Branch where he acted as superintendent of the West Branch consolidated school.

After his election, Snider, in a short talk before the 26 delegates from the 29 school districts of the county which comprised the convention, expressed his appreciation for the support of the school officials, stating that he is "looking forward to another fine three years."

Features of the county school organization and particularly the new rural library system were explained by the re-elected superintendent.

He stressed an open-door policy in the county school administration and welcomed suggestions regarding the county school organization.

F. Wilson Will Attend Social Welfare Meet

Convention Includes Election of Officers, Study of Legislation

Frances Wilson, executive secretary of the local social service league and director of relief in Johnson county, will leave May 19 for Burlington to attend the 39th annual convention of the Iowa Association of Social Welfare.

The convention, which is to be held May 18 to 20, will include the annual election of officers and a discussion of social welfare legislation enacted by the last state legislature.

Miss Wilson will serve on the nominating committee at the convention. Mrs. Agnes McCreery, head of the social service psychopathic hospital, has been chosen as vice chairman of the program committee.

Under the direction of Mrs. Alice Kirwin, Cedar Rapids, a committee representing all fields of social welfare work in all sections of the state have arranged the conference program.

Speakers to appear at the conference include Oscar M. Powell, executive director, social security board, Washington, D. C., Miles Frisbie of the United States housing authority, Washington, D. C., and Martha Eliot, M. D., member of President Roosevelt's committee on correlation of medical and social welfare services.

Conference sessions will be under the general topic of "Social Planning for the Problems of Children and Youth." "Social Planning for the problems of Adults" and "Social Planning for Medical Problems." Mrs. Dorothy Jewett, president of the association, announced.

Committee appointments for the convention include nominating committee, Dorothy Crabb, Waterloo, James Gotfring, Sioux City, Elizabeth Mills and Miss Wilson both of Iowa City, and William L. Hochstad, Burlington; time and place committee H. Chase Ballou, Des Moines, the Rev. Professor Kittredge, since reaching his 70's, has retired from teaching and takes long trips punctuated by lectures. While at home in Cambridge he continues his research work. For several years there were periods when he never went to bed at all but napped in his chair in his study.

It was customary for him to smoke as many as six black Porto Rican cigars in an evening. One of the most famous psychiatrists of the east said that Kittredge was one of two men that he knew with such limitless energy.

Professor Kittredge, who is acclaimed in Europe as well as in America, was welcomed by a crowd several blocks long when he spoke at the University of London a few years ago.

Prof. Ernest Kuhl of the English department will introduce Kittredge tonight.

Legion Equips Public Room

Will Spend $160 To Remodel Room In Community Building

Authorization to spend $160 for remodeling the southwest room on the second floor of the Iowa City Community building was made Monday at a meeting of the Roy L. Chopek post No. 17 of the American Legion. The room will be turned over for public use.

An expenditure of $10 was granted for cemetery markers on Memorial day, and $25 was voted to the Chamber of Commerce for purchase of flag decorations.

The American Legion post invited the local Elks lodge to use legion headquarters during the summer rebuilding project at the Elks' house.

the finish was the highest of the year.

Prof. Vance Morton directed "Our Town." The fact that the play was a hit speaks for itself as far as direction is concerned.

Other seasons may have been better than this. I wouldn't know about that, but my only hope is that next year's will be as fine as this.

H. Grant New Law President

Henry F. Grant, L2 of Beacon, N. Y., was elected president of the Iowa Law School association yesterday and Frank D. Elwood, L2 of Elma, was chosen vice-president in the balloting among the law students of the University of Iowa.

Robert T. Hunt, L2 of Lamoni, was elected secretary-treasurer, and William G. Creasey, L2 of Kingsley, was chosen to represent the college of law on Union board.

Leather shoes are such a luxury to China's masses that they are worn only once a year—on birthday anniversaries.
