Dies Discloses Plot To Overthrow Govt.

Makes Public More Details About Scheme

Reveals Conference Was Suggested To Discuss Revolution

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—The house committee on un-American activities, making public additional details of the evidence it has gathered concerning an alleged plot to overthrow the government, disclosed today: Testimony that George Deatherage of St. Albans, W. Va., chief of the Knights of the White Camellia and linked in the testimony with anti-Semitic propaganda, had suggested a conference of Father Coughlin, John Frey of the AFL, Homer Chaillaux of the American Legion and "leaders of large groups on our side of the fence" to discuss the "threat" of a communist revolution. (The conference, the committee was told, never had been called.)

That Dudley Pierpont Gilbert, socially prominent New Yorker, had testified he feared "a revolution before snow flies and that's why I'm working like hell on a house in Kentucky." That it was at the Harmonie club in New York that a waiter was alleged, in testimony given to the committee, to have overheard from time to time details of a plot to overthrow the government.

The committee developed the story in following up what it considered evidence of widespread anti-Semitic propaganda. This was spread, committee members said, by sending to a carefully-selected list of persons the information alleged to have been overheard by the waiter. James Erwin Campbell of Owensboro, Ky., who testified to disseminating this information, said the waiter turned it over to Campbell.

Tied into this story was an account of a "counter-revolutionary movement." From the record of testimony taken in secret sessions, the committee released a purported letter from Deatherage to Campbell which referred to an un-named army general as the chosen leader of the anti-revolutionary group which planned to "do this job peacefully, and by force if necessary."

Deatherage's letter, dated Dec. 14, 1938, stated the general planned "to start a little GHQ in Atlanta where we will map the enemy—our friends, consolidate with us those that we know are right and prepare the plans for the campaign."

Farm-Market Bids Received

AMES, May 20 (AP)—The first projects on which the state highway commission will receive bids under the new farm-market road law enacted by the recent legislature are graveling jobs in Montgomery and Page counties, Chief Engineer Fred R. White said today.

The commission has called for bids on these projects to be submitted June 3. The southwest Iowa projects were chosen to inaugurate the state's secondary road system because there was no delay in setting them up and because there were no engineering problems involved, White said.

Other counties are expected to be ready with their projects in quick order. The commission hopes to complete at least $1,000,000 worth of farm-to-market roads this season.

The act allocated $2,500,000 from the state's primary road fund for secondary road construction this season and next. The state money will be matched by $2,066,000 in federal funds already allotted to Iowa for this purpose.

Man Captured Following Dash For Freedom

DES MOINES, May 20 (AP)—Breathless police officers said they had to run and climb for it today before they could catch William D. Quinn, 22, one of 13 defendants nabbed in a liquor raid here.

Quinn, the officers added, broke away as he was being led to the patrol wagon. He was caught after several sprints, interspersed with scrambles over building roofs, through alleys and apartment houses and one 20-foot leap to the sidewalk from a building, the latter negotiated without injury.

Iowa Council To Investigate Liquor Leases

DES MOINES, May 20 (AP)—The legislative interim committee reached an agreement with Gov. George E. Wilson today for a joint review with the executive council of some of the state liquor store leases.

The liquor store rent bill is paid out of receipts from the sale of liquor. The council's interest in reducing the rent is due to the fact the liquor commission has been turning approximately $1,000,000 a year in liquor profits into the state treasury.

Any saving which could be effected in operation of the liquor stores, it is expected, would be reflected in larger transfers to the state treasury for general expense purposes.

The interim committee today gave its approval to any liquor store leases negotiated between last Jan. 12, when the republicans came into office, and June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

A sub-committee, composed of Representative Earl C. Fishbaugh Jr., of Shenandoah, and Senators C. Colfax Smith of Clarksville and A. J. Shaw of Pocahontas was named to work with the executive council in an effort to negotiate a new lease on the liquor commission headquarters building here at a greatly reduced figure.

The commission has been paying $30,000 a year for the Mulberry building, formerly known as the Herring building, here.

Since the old lease expired May 1, the executive council has proposed renewing the lease at a figure understood to be as low as $18,000.

Dr. C. H. Mayo Ill in Chicago With Pneumonia

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Dr. Michael McGuire reported late today that Dr. Charles H. Mayo, the famous physician of Rochester, Minn., ill in Mercy hospital of lobar pneumonia, was "holding his own."

Dr. Mayo, stricken with the disease yesterday in Chicago, where he was on a business visit, was placed under an oxygen tent at intervals today in an effort to clear up the congestion.

Elect Don Hoopes President of Iowa Associated Press

MASON CITY, May 20 (AP)—Don K. Hoopes, managing editor of the Marshalltown Times-Republican, today was elected president of the Iowa Associated Press in the organization's annual meeting here.

He succeeded Granger Mitchell of the Fort Dodge Messenger.

Warren C. Eastland of the Clinton Herald was elected vice president.

With each of its 31 entries receiving a high rating in the 25 events entered, the Iowa City high school musicians were awarded a total of 24 first division ratings at the three-day national regional music festival held this week in Minneapolis. Included in the 24 first division ratings were three "one-plus" awards, the highest honor given by the judges.

In the final day's events which were concluded yesterday afternoon, the Iowa City musicians received first division ratings for their 81-piece class B orchestra and string quartet, a second division ranking for another string quartet and a third division award for the string sextet entry.

With the awarding of a first division rating to the Iowa City high school orchestra yesterday afternoon, all three of the large groups from the local school had received first rank honors. The 80-member concert band and the mixed chorus competed earlier in the contest and were also given first division ratings.

At ceremonies held Friday afternoon, Jean Taylor, who won a first division rating as a harp soloist, was presented with a silver trophy as the "best soloist" at the national contest. Another Iowan, Eudora Lindman, Ottumwa, received the "best vocalist" award.

The three Iowa City high school musicians who won the "one-plus" ratings were Richard Smith, E flat clarinet solo; Russell Sapp, baritone horn solo, and Marjorie Sidwell, B flat clarinet solo.

Winners of first division ratings for Iowa City high school are: Vir Jean Peterson, oboe solo; Donald Key, French horn solo; William Gower, English horn solo; Gene Hubbard, alto clarinet (See MUSICIANS, page 8)

C. I. O. Cancels Mass Meeting

HARLAN, Ky., May 20 (AP)—United Mine Workers (CIO) tonight called off a scheduled Sunday mass meeting in this troubled soft coal mine area following issuance of a military order of restrictions.

William Turnblazer, president of the Harlan district UMW, issued a lengthy statement in which he said:

"In order to prevent wholesale arrests we shall not attempt to have a mass meeting in Harlan county on tomorrow."

At the same time Turnblazer announced the signing of the "first commercial mine" contract containing the controversial "union shop" clause with the Black Star coal company at Alva in Harlan county.

This mine employed about 800 workers normally. It is not a member of the Harlan County Coal Operators' association, the largest soft coal operating group holding out against the "union shop."

46 Men Held
Turnblazer also said he had been notified by Sam Caddy, Hazard district UMW president, that the 17,000 to 18,000 men employed in that field had voted to assess each man $1 per month during June and July to be used for relief work in Harlan district. The operators of this area this week signed the "union shop" contract.

Forty-six men were held under $1,000 bond each tonight after an ambushed group and national guardsmen engaged in gunfire but tension in the Harlan coal field strife appeared to have eased with few mines operating as Saturday generally is an "off day" for men in the pits.

Stella Dickson Back in Jail

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 20 (AP)—Stella Mae Dickson, 16, widow of the slain bank robber, Benny Dickson, was back in jail at Mitchell today after her attorneys conferred most of Friday with the federal district attorney here relative to disposition of the two bank robbery indictments pending against her in federal court.

George Phillip, district attorney, said the case will await the October term of court unless the defense indicates a desire to enter a plea of guilty. Mrs. Dickson is charged with complicity in the robbery of the Corn Exchange bank at Elkton on August 25, 1938 and the Northwest Security National bank branch at Brookings on Oct. 31, 1938.

Borah Still Seeks Practical Referendum

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said today that testimony of proponents had failed to disclose to him any practical way in which a war referendum amendment to the constitution could be made entirely workable.

Borah is on record as favoring the principle of submitting to the people the question of fighting all wars that are not purely defensive. But he suggested that if it is to be practical, some method must be found to define foreign wars.

Tradition To Stop King's Senate Visit

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—A centuries-old conflict between the British crown and a parliament jealous of its independence will prevent King George VI of England from visiting the senate and house on his forthcoming trip to Washington.

The king and queen on Friday, June 9, will go to the rotunda or entrance hall of the Capitol and there receive the senators and representatives, but precedent enshrined in British history will keep them from entering the legislative halls.

Other royal visitors here have not been so restricted. Just 20 years ago the late King Albert of the Belgians addressed the senate and the house of representatives.

But the British monarch will not visit congress's halls—explained Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador—because rigid rules limit his presence in his own parliament.

The rules arose to prevent the king by his presence from over-awing the legislature and influencing legislation.

The British king has more distant relations with parliament than the American president with congress. A British parliamentarian Redlich says: "From the very earliest days it was accepted as a legal principle that the crown should have no current knowledge of the proceedings in the house of commons...

They drove through Ottawa again, crossing this time the Ottawa river to Hull, Quebec, wound up their temporary residence at Government House where 5,000 attended a garden party, went back to town for a big government dinner at the Chateau Laurier, with appearances on a balcony before cheering crowds, witnessed a gigantic display of fireworks and with this finally were through for the day.

Flying Young Babe Makes Trip For Face Operation

ST. LOUIS, May 20 (AP)—An infant girl, just 12 hours old, arrived here by airplane today and was taken to a hospital for what was described as a plastic surgery operation.

The child, Elizabeth Herrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Herrick of York, Pa., was born at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Accompanied by a nurse, the baby was taken from York to Harrisburg, Pa., where she was placed aboard a TWA plane.

A surgeon who will perform the operation either late today or tomorrow said she was suffering from a "congenital cleft of the face extending from the upper lip back through the palate."

The Examiner said the publisher would marry Jean-Marie Consigny James, society divorcee, at Las Vegas, Nev., at 8:30 p.m.

Fendergast Showdown KANSAS CITY, (AP)—

The federal government's income tax cases against Tom Fendergast, political boss, and R. Emmet O'Malley, former Missouri superintendent of insurance, moved rapidly toward a showdown yesterday.

The president talked with the farmers, asked their troubles and instructed his officers to give amounts of money to each needy person. He distributed 50 pesos (about $30) at Francisco Villa, a tiny village across the Rio Grande near Farenas.

'Por Dios' Giving Away 'Gold' In Mexico

JUAREZ, Chih., Mexico, May 20 (AP)—"Por Dios!" He is giving away gold!

An old woman in a faded shawl at Francisco Villa, Chihuahua, gazed with open mouth at a Mexican army officer when he took her name and handed her 30 pesos (about $6).

The soldier said: "This is a present from President Cardenas."

Women wept and tears filled the eyes of armed agrarian farmers when President Cardenas distributed money to needy on his 100-mile tour of the Juarez valley yesterday.

Paris, May 20 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter announced today a decision by Germany to build a "Siegfried line" for defense against Poland and the east.

Hitler To Build 'Siegfried Line' Against Poland

Lieutenant Colonel von Wedel of the German general staff in an article written for the newspaper said: "In 1938 we saw the miracle of creation of the western wall. This year we will witness a similar miracle along the eastern frontier."

Disclose Plot Against Benes

PARIS, May 20 (AP)—Diplomatic sources reported today a plot had been discovered to send a man from Europe to the United States to assassinate Dr. Eduard Benes, former president of now-dissolved Czechoslovakia.

These sources said the scheme was hatched in German-occupied Prague both to weaken Czech standing in the United States and to remove an important opponent of the Nazi regime.

Dr. Benes, who resigned as president of the Czechoslovak republic after it was reduced in size by the Munich settlement of last Sept. 29, has been in the United States since Feb. 11.

Those who reported the plot said that with their information in the hands of the American police they believed much danger to the former president had been averted.

(In Chicago, E. B. Hitchcock, personal aide to Dr. Benes, declined to say whether the former president had been warned of a plot to assassinate him but said every precaution was being taken for his protection.)

(Bohus Benes, a nephew of Dr. Benes, said two young policemen of Czech descent had been assigned by the Chicago police department as a bodyguard for his uncle.)

Stefan Osusky, former Czechoslovak minister to France, was said to have turned over to French and American police information reported to have come to him from secret agents in Prague.

This information, it was said, included charges that Nazi secret police in Prague fomented the plot and that for several weeks Nazi agents had been seeking a disgruntled Czech or Slovak who would carry out the assassination.

Music For Youth

ONE of those men who make speeches addressed a group of people in the east a few days ago. His remarks were printed in Iowa papers, mostly because he said America's rural young people are musically starved. Their city cousins, he thought, were gorged on fine music. Radio, he mentioned, but he thought that wasn't enough for the farm boys and girls. Then, in a masterly stroke, he pointed out that the young people today get most of their musical education from music boxes in roadhouses.

lantic ocean, and while we may save a minute by cutting the grass, just how do we plan to save the grass? At the present rate of growth, the paths across the campus which now measure from four to six feet across will completely wipe out the grass in another year and a half. "Perhaps" that's an exaggeration. Right now it doesn't look like it.

If there's a moral to this story, it must lay in the well known adage that you can't have everything. In this particular instance, it would seem better to waste a few minutes and save a lot of grass.

Napoleon, according to historians, was afraid of cats. Especially a big cat—generally known as the British lion.

The baseball season opened just in time. Goldfish swallowing, we shudderingly believe, was on the verge of becoming the new national pastime.

Iowans can be proud of the achievements in providing cultural opportunities for young people. The accomplishments of these young musicians in the state and national festivals attests to the success of the home and school programs.

Not starved are Iowa boys and girls. They're being offered a scientific diet of the best music.

Lindbergh, Iowa, And The Grass

THERE'S a very old mathematical law which states that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line.

It has been proved time and again. When Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flew the Atlantic, he went by the most direct route across the sea to Paris. As far as the speed of travel is concerned, it would be foolish to go to South America by way of the Philippines. It just isn't down that way.

Now the University of Iowa has existed for almost 100 years. We have seen grow up around us a great institution, which measures about one mile across.

Likewise, we moderns have seen fit through passing years to go places at great speed, and mankind has proved that it's apparently all-important to get somewhere else in an awful hurry.

PONTIUS PILATE

THE author of many a "Silver Theater" drama, will make his debut as an actor on the show when he journeys to New York to play a leading role opposite Helen Hayes in the two-part drama, "Crossroads for Two," during broadcasts this afternoon and next Sunday over the Columbia network at 4 p.m.

Although Director Conrad Nagel has never before cast Boardman in a silver theater drama, the actor is still frequently heard in leading roles on other Hollywood radio shows.

Another script show juvenile lands himself a nice assignment, too, when Carlton Young, juvenile lead on "Your Family and Mine," appears with Helen Hayes on the program today.

ROLAND YOUNG heads a list of outstanding stars as master of ceremonies of the Screen Guild show over the Columbia network at 5 o'clock.

The broadcast will feature Fibber McGee and Molly, Ann Sheridan, Nelson Eddy and Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

LAURETTE TAYLOR, famed stage star, will be a guest on Frank Black's "Magic Key" program at 12 noon over NBC's Blue network, doing a bit from "Peg O' My Heart."

TED LLOYD, columnist on Radio Daily, will appear with Al Jolson on a three-minute guest spot when Jolson's life is dramatized on "My Lucky Break" at 4 o'clock this afternoon over the Mutual network.

The program originates at WLW in Cincinnati but Lloyd and Jolson will be cut in from Hollywood. After the program, Lloyd will hurry over to Hollywood's CBS studios to do a guest spot on "Gateway to Hollywood," thus debuting on two network shows half an hour apart on the same day.

Joseph Cherniavsky and his orchestra are featured, with a dramatic cast acting out the highlights of the honored guest's life.

JACK LESCOULIE, sneer leader of the Grouch club, driven to the verge of a breakdown from listening to the grouches of his fellow club members, has decided to find a fresh set of malcontents to add to the membership roster.

TRUE BOARDMAN, the author of many a "Silver Theater" drama, will make his debut as an actor on the show when he journeys to New York to play a leading role opposite Helen Hayes in the two-part drama, "Crossroads for Two," during broadcasts this afternoon and next Sunday over the Columbia network at 4 p.m.

Although Director Conrad Nagel has never before cast Boardman in a silver theater drama, the actor is still frequently heard in leading roles on other Hollywood radio shows.

Another script show juvenile lands himself a nice assignment, too, when Carlton Young, juvenile lead on "Your Family and Mine," appears with Helen Hayes on the program today.

ROLAND YOUNG heads a list of outstanding stars as master of ceremonies of the Screen Guild show over the Columbia network at 5 o'clock.

The broadcast will feature Fibber McGee and Molly, Ann Sheridan, Nelson Eddy and Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

LAURETTE TAYLOR, famed stage star, will be a guest on Frank Black's "Magic Key" program at 12 noon over NBC's Blue network, doing a bit from "Peg O' My Heart."

TED LLOYD, columnist on Radio Daily, will appear with Al Jolson on a three-minute guest spot when Jolson's life is dramatized on "My Lucky Break" at 4 o'clock this afternoon over the Mutual network.

The program originates at WLW in Cincinnati but Lloyd and Jolson will be cut in from Hollywood. After the program, Lloyd will hurry over to Hollywood's CBS studios to do a guest spot on "Gateway to Hollywood," thus debuting on two network shows half an hour apart on the same day.

Joseph Cherniavsky and his orchestra are featured, with a dramatic cast acting out the highlights of the honored guest's life.

JACK LESCOULIE, sneer leader of the Grouch club, driven to the verge of a breakdown from listening to the grouches of his fellow club members, has decided to find a fresh set of malcontents to add to the membership roster.

EDDIE CANTOR will present Gobba Wright Jr., beautiful New York debutante now singing at the Boston Ritz-Carlton, who will be a guest with Robert Ripley on Eddie Cantor's fire drill program at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow over CBS.

Eddie's idea for conducting a fire drill came to the comedian when he discovered that insurance statistics show accidents are appreciably decreased for at least 24 hours after any kind of a safety broadcast.

PHIL SPITALNY and his all-girl singing orchestra will broadcast the Hour of Charm at 7 p.m. tomorrow from Chicago over NBC. Dorothy Thompson, news commentator on the program, will speak from New York in a national hook-up. "I Can't Give You Anything but Love, Baby" was the winning "favorite song of the week."

THE SEARCH for an additional comedy spot to complement Charlie (mow-em-down) McCarthy on the Chase and Sanborn hour goes merrily on with Billy Gilbert set for a return as guest star at 6 o'clock this evening.

HOLLYWOOD—Practically under our collective nose is Bob Burns being transformed into a character who is not the Uncle Fud's nephew we've been knowing.

There have been subversive rumors that Paramount, maternally solicitous of its "new Bob Burns" has tried to persuade him to modify the hill-billy Burns of the air lines. Bob says "Nothing to it."

"I wouldn't change my radio character," he adds, "because after all, if it wasn't for that, I wouldn't be here in pictures. But I wouldn't mind my radio work apart. That's fun once a week—but radio and pictures, they're two different things. If I was that fellow all the time, I'd be a radio star."

Bob puffs solemnly on his pipe, pursues his theme: "No-o-o. . . I'll tell yuh. I want comedy. I hope when I'm about to pass on I can rise up in my bed and think of a good last word. And that's something like this picture I'm doin'. It's serious business, just like dyin' is serious business—but neither 'em to be hurt by a little good clean fun. No slapstick, remember—just fun."

The bazooka which paved Burns' way into pictures via the air seems to have been laid away in mothballs as far as the screen is concerned. Bob has used it in only two of his films.

And you can lay away in mothballs, too, any picture you might have of Arkansas's homely philosopher-a-settin' by a stream bank, a-dreamin' and a-fishin'. Bob still fishes when he gets the time—but gettin' of a creek now and then—he's just bought at 38-foot boat but I'm stayin' away from silly to do it from.

Sanfell, from the first, has been riding herd on the Burns dialogue. He has pounded down on the rising inflections of the hill-billy twang, and he has scotched the tendency toward, "Well, I'll tell yuh." Painful though it was, it has given Burns a "dignity" the bazooka never did.

However Bob felt about it at first, by now he is reconciled. "I don't like slapstick," he says, "but I do like comedy. I'm still gettin' of a creek now and then—but I'm stayin' away from silly to do it from."

AROUND THE TOWN

DISHONOR ROLL? When the roll is called up yonder, this reporter won't be among those whose college grade point makes Phi Beta Kappa eye-brows lift higher.

As for me, I have too many reddish threads among the blue, too numerous "D's" among the "A's". I've taken one semester from too many profs.

The best way to work your way to a Phi Beta key is to find yourself a prof who likes your style and keep enrolling for his courses. . . It helps if you like his style too—if he has one.

And I've dropped too many subjects, mid-semester like, without bothering to let Mr. Deras know. . . Registrars are sensitive about that.

I always had a feeling all college courses ought to be designed for the students enrolled. . . Not for the prof, not because it makes President Gilmore happy, not because the state legislature thinks it ought to be thus—but for the students to learn from and in.

I've dropped courses that aren't. . . It's not too much to expect either that a prof have something to say. . . When they tell me of a course that it gives me an opportunity to read with credit, I always reply that we have a public library in Marshalltown and that my credit rating is poor.

Columnists are expected to have a spark of interest every day. . . But if a faculty member comes through with one gem of wisdom or wit a semester, he relaxes. . . Besides it's likely the same gem every year.

Several I can think of are using the same jokes that made Oscar Wilde such a favorite of 19th century society.

Frequently, that's what I remember when I hear the complaints about faculty salaries. . . Every once in a while I can be heard to murmur under my beard, "That's all you're worth."

In fact, I'm often willing to agree with the grad who wants to even things up by having full-time profs trade salaries with graduate assistants.

Yes, I expect a course to be interesting and vital. . . I expect

Two night club fights same night between Hollywood film stars. Sort of an after-hours double feature?

it to have something to do with the life I'm living. . . I expect it to be worth remembering a week or so after it's exam is written.

I don't mind if the professor has a point of view. . . In fact I count it desirable. . . But I like to have it right out in front where I can agree with it or shoot at it.

None of this "liberal" point of view. . . Men have opinions and defend them. . . Men of both sexes. . . Women of both sexes are likely to stand in the middle and get cross-eyed trying to look at all sides of the issue. . . Liberal profs are those who firmly stand on the ceiling.

Some of my best friends are, of course, professors. . . They agree to all of these. But then, gently, turning studentwards. . . "But, why bother? Who'd be interested?"

Well, I for one have never known an interesting professor who didn't have interested students.

Sammy Sloan the other day looking back over 40 years of teaching, and he picked a dozen former students of his who are just now among the nation's headline makers. . . Important men—and a woman.

"Did they have anything in common, Professor Sloan?" "Is it true that all successful men are poor students?"

No, Sammy replied. . . Nothing in common as students. Some were studious, some indifferent, some got good grades, several mediocre ones.

But, he added, all of them had intelligence. . . All were human beings. . . The same might be added of successful professors.

One of the pleasant college memories I'll have is of the political scientist who, at the end of my first semester with him, called me aside.

"Don't register for this course next semester," he whispered. "You've heard everything I've got to say. After this I just say it over, differently."

I wish other profs were as frank. . . Trouble is I suppose too many students wouldn't have to go back to class after opening day.

Youth inherits soap fortune. . . Himm, one fellow who was born at the top of the ladder of success.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

"Goldfish derby!" "Clark university leads." "Undergraduate of that liberal institution of learning eats 89 live goldfish."

"Harvard university lags — its representative eats only 24." "Angle worm diet!" "Sophomore at Oregon State college swallowed 139 live angle worms! He downed two handfuls of fat, well-washed, writhing, garden variety worms in two gulps, and collected a $5.00 wager."

"New Yorker eats magazine covers!" I suppose by the time this article reaches the eyes of my readers the goldfish-eating craze will have become a thing of the past. But at the moment everyone is asking your bewildered correspondent just what it means. Well, I acknowledge I am bewildered, but out of the welter of questions I venture the following answers.

Will Do No Harm In the first place, I think we can dismiss the chance that these experiences will do the protagonists any harm. Goldfish are nutritious enough and will probably be digested in toto. That they have a good many worms, and eaten raw, these worms will infect the eaters' intestines is undoubtedly true, but that also can be taken care of. The same goes for earth worms. (Magazine covers seem to me a particularly non-nutritious diet.)

Man ate his food raw long before he ate it cooked. He probably discovered the advantages of cooked food accidentally (vide, Charles Lamb's "Dissertation on Roast Pig.")

What about the state of mind that brings such a situation about? Of course, individual instances of strange desires in food, on special occasions, are familiar. Expectant mothers are supposed to like to eat dirt or other out-articles, though I must say I never saw one that didn't want to stick to roast beef and ice cream. But these, as I say, are individual idiosyncrasies, practiced under unusual stress. What about everybody going at it? Well, smallpox is not the only thing that is contagious. Hysteria is contagious, too. There was the dancing mania of the Middle Ages. In the spring in some little Italian village there might be heard, far off in the hills, a faint, wild pagan music. Men and women would come to the doors and begin to sway to the rhythm. And soon a tattered little band of musicians, one playing on the flute, one on the pipes and one on the viol, would appear, sounding the notes of the tarantella, the pipes of Pan. And the people of the village would come out into the streets and begin to sway and then to tread a reckless measure, whirling on and on, they knew not where. It would go on for days and nights, until finally they would fall exhausted in the fields, to awake days later and return soberly to their tasks. And the musicians would pass to another town, and the sound of their pipes would waft from afar.

Well, the dancing mania has passed and the goldfish mania has passed, but the mania for the persecution of minorities has not passed. It may seem a long jump from goldfish eating to going to war, but it is not a long jump in the human mind. And war hysteria is more contagious than any other kind — and slightly more dangerous.

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—One of the strangest plays I ever saw and one of the most beautiful is a drama called "Family Portrait." It is almost impossible to describe this play because most people shy away when you say it is about Jesus.

Do not be misled by such a statement. The character of Jesus does not appear at all. It is His family you see, Mary, His mother, and His brothers at work at their trade of carpentering. But they talk about Him always, and argue about Him, and frequently, they rail against Him.

All of the dialog is modern, just as we talk today. There are no Thees and Thous to distract your attention. It is simply a family portrait of the household which Jesus left after He began His wanderings and teachings.

I think the dialog is wonderful, and I will say that nine out of 10 people who see it will learn more about the Bible in two hours and a half than in a month of reading.

Jesus' brothers are angry with Him because, He has forsaken the carpenter shop. His presence there is almost an economic necessity. Sometimes they are bitter, calling Him a fanatic. But Mary, His mother, always understands Him, when she thinks it necessary, always finds an excuse for Him.

One of the most stirring scenes in the whole play is when Mary goes to an Inn where Jesus is staying. He has become famous and His presence is a boon to the Inn's trade. Mary hopes to see Him, and she sends Him a message saying she will be there. But He never comes.

While she is waiting at the Inn she gets into conversation with a strange young man. He is swarthy and very nervous, almost jittery. They begin to talk about Jesus and the young man leaps up and declares that He, Jesus, is the most wonderful teacher in the world. Mary is made very happy by this intense enthusiasm.

Just then in come Jesus' brothers and she introduces them to him. Then she turns to the young man and says, "I'm sorry—I don't know your name." It is then that one of the spine-tingling moments of the play takes place. The young man bows and says, "I am Judas Iscariot."

This is but one of a dozen episodes that make you forget to breathe. It is, as the title says, simply a picture of a family. It might very well be a modern family. The authors do not discuss the divinity of Jesus. They do not point a moral. They make no effort in any way to alter anyone's conception of Jesus or His teachings.

Michigan Crushes Field To Capture Big Ten Track Title

Iowa Finishes 3rd in Record Mile Relay

Hawkeyes Score 6 1/2 Points as Wolverines Take Third Straight

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 20 (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines, the "Yankees" of the Western conference track, powered their way to a third straight outdoor championship today as big Bill Watson closed his collegiate career with his third straight three-event slam.

In winning its 17th outdoor title, Michigan scored 64 3-4 points, a performance second only to the 74 points scored by Illinois in 1924. Wisconsin was second with 45 5-12 points and Indiana third with 28 2-3 points in a program which saw new meet records established in the discus, mile relay and pole vault.

To the crowd of 9,000 spectators, routed briefly by a short but heavy rain storm which swept the field after the first event, Watson was the big gun to watch in Michigan's powerhouse array of talent. In both his sophomore and junior years the Negro ace won the broad jump, shot put and discus. He won these titles in this meet, with his discus test of 160 feet, ten 5-8 inches, made in yesterday's trials, cracking the 23-year-old record of 155 feet 2 inches made by Arlie Mucks of Wisconsin.

Another new meet record was contributed by Michigan, which captured seven first places. The Wolverine mile relay team of Jack Leutner, Douglas Hayes, Phil Balyev and Warren Breidenbach raced to the relay championship in 3 minutes 14.7 seconds, a half second under the former mark set by Michigan in 1935.

The third new mark was contributed by Robert Cassels of Chicago, who pole vaulted 14 feet 2 3-4 inches to win that crown. The old meet mark was 13 feet 10 3-8 inches, made by Vern McDermott of Illinois in 1930. Milt Padway of Wisconsin, co-winner of the 1933 vault title, was second.

Coach Charles Hoyt, who goes to Yale next year as track coach, saw his greatest Michigan team score in every event except the javelin to win its sixth outdoor title for him in a nine-year period. In addition to Watson's winning performances in the discus, broad jump and shot put and the Michigan relay team victory, these Wolverines came home first: Elmer Geedon, who repeated as 120-yard high hurdles champion; Warren Breidenbach, who won the 440-yard run, and Ralph Schwarzkopf, two-mile winner.

The 100-yard dash crown went to Northwestern's Myron Piker, with Chicago's defending champion, John Davenport, finishing fifth.

Harley Howells of Ohio State lost his 440-yard dash title to Breidenbach while Walter Mehler of Wisconsin, the 1938 two-mile tilist, took a hundred yard beating from Schwarzkopf, Mehler barely lasting for second place.

The 220-yard low hurdle title was won by Roy Cochran of Indiana, while Roger Poorman, also of Indiana, took honors in the javelin toss. Mehler carried off for Wisconsin by winning the mile, an event won last year by the former Badger star, Chuck Fenske.

A surprise winner was Edward Buxton of Wisconsin, who took the half-mile title as Purdue's Art Bodeau, the favorite, finished fourth. Robert Lewis of Ohio State successfully defended his 220-yard dash title, while the high jump championship went to Illinois' Bob Diefenthaler with a leap of 6 feet 6 inches.

The one-two finish of today's meet duplicated the finish of the 1938 event, when Michigan and Wisconsin second with 37. Behind Indiana today were Ohio State, 28; Purdue 13; Minnesota 12; Illinois 10; Chicago 9; Northwestern 8 1-12, and Iowa 6 1-12.

Cardinals Retain National League Lead With Easy 9 to 1 Victory Over Dodgers

Lon Warneke Allows 6 Hits

ST. LOUIS, May 20 (AP)—While Lon Warneke subdued the Brooklyn Dodgers on six hits to two, his St. Louis Cardinal teammates clubbed out 13 hits for a 9-1 victory which kept them a few percentage points in front of the National league.

All the Cardinal hitting was divided among five players with Don Guttridge and Joe Medwick getting homers to set the pace.

The scoring started in the first inning when Jim Brown doubled and Enos Slaughter and Medwick walked to fill the bases. One run came in on a passed ball and Guttridge singled in two more.

The two homers, each with a man on base, accounted for four runs in the fifth and two more crossed the plate in the sixth inning on four hits and a wild pitch.

Pittsburgh, May 20 (AP)—Every player in the Pittsburgh lineup except relief hurler Mace Brown hit safely today as the Pirates hammered four Boston hurriers to win over the Bees 12 to 6 before a scant Saturday crowd of 4,843.

Second baseman Bill Brubaker led the 18-hit Pirate attack, getting four safeties out of five times at bat.

Joe Sullivan, the starter, Tom Earley and Fred Frankhouse were the first three Boston pitchers sent to the showers and Milt Shofner, who went in in the fourth, did not fare much better.

Ruffing Aids With Single Drives In Winning Runs in 5-2 Victory Over Chicago Sox

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Red Ruffing, the burly veteran who has won six games for the New York Yankees on his pitching this spring, decided one with his bat today.

Pinch hitting in the seventh inning with two out, the bases loaded and the champions trailing the Chicago White Sox by one run, he singled two scores across and spurred the Yankees to their tenth consecutive victory, 5 to 2.

The game was a hurling contest between Oral Hildebrand for New York and Thornton Lee for Chicago until that inning, but neither finished. After Ruffing batted for Hildebrand, Johnny Murphy went to the mound for the Yankees, who tallied two more in the eighth to rout Lee for the second time this season.

Chicago, May 20 (AP)—A game which started out as a hot hurling match between southpaws Larry French and Cliff Melton today degenerated into a hitting brawl in which the Chicago Cubs beat the New York Giants 8 to 4 to split their two-game series.

French fanned eight and kept a dozen hits spaced sufficiently to last the route for his second victory against an equal number of defeats, but Melton wilted after striking out six and blanking the Cubs for four innings. He was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh and the Cubs then fattened their averages with seven hits in two innings off Dick Coffman. Every one of Chicago's starters got at least one hit with Stan Hack leading the parade with a double and two singles.

In another hard-fought game yesterday, Iowa defeated Northwestern for the second time in as many days, 7-3, to successfully defend its newly acquired Big Ten leadership. After the first inning the Hawkeyes were in the lead for the rest of the contest.

"Biscuits" Prasse was the hitting star of the tilt with four hits in five trips to the plate, including a triple and a home run. The Hawk keystone man also batted in three tallies.

Ken Reid pitched a three hit game for the Hawkeyes as they won their 17th game of the season and their seventh in the Big Ten. Except in the first and again in the sixth, when the Wildcats scored all their runs, Reid had the game under his thumb. The angular southpaw ace of the Iowa team also fanned seven Wildcats.

The Iowans had men on the sacks in every inning, and 12 men were stranded on the base paths before the game was over.

The Purple nine opened the scoring in the first frame when Madsen walked, Sampson doubled off Kocur's glove, and Reid uncorked a wild pitch. Sampson uncorked on third when Reid bore down to force the next two men to hit weakly to the infield.

The Old Gold came back in its half of the same inning to chalk up two runs. After Manush had been issued a pass and Kantor had struck out, Prasse poled his long home run ball to score Manush ahead of him.

The Iowans added two more tallies in the fifth on four hits. Prasse opened the frame with a single to center, and promptly pilfered second. George beat out an infield hit, sending Prasse to third, and the former also stole second. Winders came through with a single to send both runners across the plate.

Gingham for Summer

Warmer days and sunny afternoons bring forth the favorite of several seasons, gingham for morning, afternoon and evening frocks. In bright gay checks of white combined with yellow, blue, red or green, gingham finds favor with the sophisticated type as well as the younger miss and, according to its cut and trimming, appears either informally or in strict formality with the blandest assurance.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester 1938-1939
Tuesday, May 23, 8 a.m. to Wednesday, May 31, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (1), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below).

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation from this Schedule, in the case of any examination,—except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time and supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of completing examinations earlier will not be permitted. Students should prepare and deposit such petitions in the offices of the Deans of Men (men) and Women (women).

In case a student has as many as three examinations in a single day, one of them being a "SPECIAL GROUP" examination, the Committee will authorize only the "SPECIAL GROUP" examination for another time, within examination week, than that specified in the Schedule below. Each petition must specify the exact title and course number of each of the three courses involved, and the day, and the period, for each of these examinations as indicated in the Schedule.

If such a student's three examinations on a single day include two examinations (either at 8-10 or at 2-4) in one or both of which are found more than one section, at different times, he should, in his petition, clearly set out the facts; and ask the instructor to indicate on the petition whether he is willing to allow him to take his examination in the different section at the different time, as indicated.

Each such petition, before it is filed, should have the approval-statement of the instructor who is able and willing to give the examination at another time (within "examination week") than that provided for in the Schedule.

(Because the "SPECIAL GROUP" examinations are arranged for the special accommodation of the departments and instructors involved, it is expected that in such a case the instructors in charge of the "SPECIAL GROUP" examination should give the examination at another time.)

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade-sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade-sheet can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and the instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

Upon the student's taking the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card, and not on any other card.

In the cases of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F and G) the Schedule itself, as presented below, provides general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below, meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double vertical line.

Wed. May 31	MONDAY AT 3 (Except those in Special Groups A, B, C, D, E, F and G)	TUESDAY AT 3 (Except those in Special Groups A, B, C, D, E, F and G)	SPECIAL GROUP G All sections of Psych. (2) (For rooms see Department Bulletin Boards)

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangles above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) This instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 18 or 19; if possible, May 11 or 12.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, or the first class hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting, consequently, is Tuesday, May 23, at 8 a.m. The first meeting for examination Wednesday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (156) meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory, 3-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Monday, May 29, 2 p.m.

N.B. All students enrolled in Principles of Speech (1), and sections A and C of Principles of Speech (2), and all freshmen enrolled in sections A, C, D, E, F, H, and I of Principles of Speech (2), meet during the final examination week in rooms announced by the instructors as follows:

Tuesday, May 23—Speech (1), 8-10 a.m.; Section D, 8-10 a.m.; Section H, 8-10 a.m.

Wednesday, May 24—Section 4C, 10-12 a.m.; Section A, 1-3 p.m.; Section H, 3-5 p.m.

Saturday, May 27—Section I, 8-10 a.m.; Section C, 1-3 p.m.; Section 4A, 3-7 p.m.; Section G, 3-5 p.m.

All sophomores, juniors and seniors in Speech (2) meet Wednesday, May 31, from 10-12 in rooms announced by their respective instructors.

All freshmen in sections B, F and J of Speech (2) and all students in section B of Speech (4) meet on the days and at the hours, and in the rooms, announced by their respective instructors.

"ODD" classes—namely, those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, or which meet "on alternate" days, will be examined for examination as announced on each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 23 to May 31 inclusive, Sunday and Memorial Day excepted.

2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations for more than one class at any of these times, if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to the clause in the final faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time.

According to another regulation which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs." unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F"—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No student who has been absent frequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card signed by the Secretary of the Committee, indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

Rattle Snake Hunting Profitable For Students

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) - Goldfish swallowing is "panty-waist," say University of New Mexico students. Did you ever try rattle snake hunting?

It has become the week end sport at the university but it is sport with a profit. Zoos and carnival showmen pay money for fancy specimens.

The technique is for a half dozen undergraduates to beat the brush on a mesa west of the Rio Grande. When a whirring is heard the hunters step gingerly until they locate the quarry, hold down his head with a torqued stick and grasp him just behind the head.

It is estimated that in recent years dust storms in western Kansas carried away from 40 to 80 tons of top soil per acre.

Bottle Cap Checkers Played On Sidewalks

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP) - Sidewalk checker boards are helping to make life more pleasant in Portageville, population 1,262.

Checkers are the great municipal pastime and citizens combine them with business. On a jaunt through the main street shoppers frequently take time out to sit a spell at the curb and play a game.

The "boards" are painted on the sidewalks. The checkers are bottle caps. One player uses them open side up; the other uses them open side down.

In old age a person's pulse runs between 60 and 97. A newly-born baby has a pulse of from 130 to 140.

We refuse to believe the future looks so black—not with strawberry shortcake time just around the corner.

Boys Violate Curfew Law

Police Pick Up Five Youths on Streets Late Friday Night

Five boys less than 16 years old and their parents were the first to be charged with violating the city's curfew law for youngsters this year. The boys were picked up by Iowa City police at 10:45 p.m. Friday and taken to their homes in the squad car.

The law requiring that all youths under 16 must be off the streets at 9 p.m. unless they are accompanied by parents or guardians or bear an excuse from these sources will be strictly enforced in an effort to check the recent wave of juvenile crime, according to Sgt. B. A. Hauber, in charge of juvenile work at the police department.

Four of the boys taken into custody were found in the vicinity of the Henry Babson school where residents claimed a disturbance had been created. One was found in City park. The case was brought up in police court yesterday but Judge Burke N. Carson continued the case.

Goldwin Smith Summarizes Book, 'Napoleon in Review'

Professor Andrews Presents 10 Studies Concerning Napoleon

NAPOLION IN REVIEW. By George Gordon Andrews. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1939. $3.00.

For professors of history, that tamer race of toilers whose chief excitement is a recalcitrant freshman, the epic of Napoleon has possessed an irresistible attraction. But Napoleon is an incredibly hard man to write about, for he is so very difficult to understand. Even Frenchmen still quarrel over his tomb.

Prof. G. G. Andrews has here presented 10 lively and very careful studies of the mind, character, achievements and place in history of this remarkable man. Here is the first French emperor, child of chance and of revolution, manager of men, maker and writer of history, this meteoric genius who rolled the west in on the east in the greatest movement known since the Crusades, this ruler who deduced his people into catastrophe. The pages of "Napoleon in Review" are immensely readable; all of the drama of the great Bonaparte, however, there is something more. Professor Andrews has marshalled and analyzed all of the evidence available.

It is a tribute to his skill that even his familiar citations have lost none of their crispness. He has no secret to reveal or scandal to defend. He has tested the data presented to him. He has attempted to separate the factual from the illusory and the verifiable from the hoped and desired. He has illustrated how forces outside of man may conspire with forces within him to determine his fate. But general ideas of thought and theory are left to others. Professor Andrews distrusts absolutes. For him the magic word of finality does not exist.

Of particular importance is the final essay, "Napoleon Damned and Deified." In the serried ranks of a hundred years of historians we find tempests of opinion as tumultuous as the continued tempest of Napoleon's life.

To some Napoleon was a new Cyrus, "chosen by God for the accomplishment of His impenetrable designs upon nations." To others he was "a figure of incredible self-conceit and vanity, greedy and cunning, of callous contempt and a grandiose aping of Caesar, Alexander and Charlemagne."

Even most intellectual non-combatants are today aware that the great Madelin made mistakes, though he did not live to repent them. By the simple device of quotation, Professor Andrews demonstrates that each generation does write its own history. Emperors and historians are but men, a little lower than the angels, a little less reliable than the minor prophets.

U. S. Patriotism Increases

Movies, Schools, Authors, Songs and Dies Committee Show New Trend

By JACK STINNETT
AP Feature Service Writer
NEW YORK — Those noises you hear from ocean to ocean and border to gulf are the screams of the American eagle and the flap-flap of American flag-waving.

Leaders in communications, entertainment, literature, education and politics — constantly noting the pulse of public opinion—say that not since the eagle-screaming days of the World war has there been such a wave of patriotism as that now sweeping the United States.

Three of Broadway's most successful plays are flag-wavers; radio has discovered "The Star Spangled Banner" and has increased patriotic and world events programs by 50 per cent in the last year; schools and colleges have introduced courses in "democracy" and "tolerance" and found them popular.

Movies Wave the Flag
The Dies committee in congress has received an additional $100,000 for its investigation of "un-American activities." Listed among the "most popular" in recent sheet music sales is a ditty called "God Bless America."

Hollywood, notoriously cautious in following unproved trends, has gone overboard. Pictures "in the can" or definitely budgeted give assurance that 1939's biggest movie cycle will be pro-democratic and pro-American.

The United States army is advertising and a private citizen (Bernarr Macfadden) is offering $1,000 for a song that will do for the air service what "Anchors Aweigh" does for the navy and "Caissons" for the artillery.

The department of literature has almost too many examples to cite; but consider such fiction titles as "The Tree of Liberty" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever"; and such best sellers as "Address Unknown." In non-fiction, there's no end to the books that hymn the praises of the good old U.S.A. and point up the horrors of communism, fascism, nazism, and all the other isms.

Best-Sellers There
In the best-seller lists will be found books like "The Ramparts We Watch," "Benjamin Franklin," "Democracy Works," "American Earth," Mrs. Wodrow Wilson's "My Memoirs," "Men Around the President," "Our Maginot Line"—one could go on interminably. The movies started timidly

3. An ominous speech at Cologne last night by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, who said with great vigor that "Danzig and the Polish Corridor have been placed on the debating agenda." The speech was featured by the German press today.

The solution toward which Germany seemed to be heading remained an official secret, but it appeared that Poland next week would be confronted with the new military pact; with notice that Germany's eastern defenses were strong and would be strengthened; and with Goebbels' declaration of an offensive against Warsaw.

Construction of a new eastern defense line was disclosed in Chancellor Hitler's newspaper by Lieutenant Colonel von Wedel of the German staff.

On the shores of Lake Michigan in Chicago, the collegians of Loyola University and the collegiennes of neighboring Mundelein College have been throwing verbal brick-bats at each other in surveys conducted on their campuses of what the Mundelein women thought of the Loyola men, and vice versa. Committee List 'Is Public Property'
WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the republican national committee, told the Dies committee today that he had "no knowledge whatever of any activities" of James E. Campbell or any others named in the committee's investigation of an alleged anti-Semitic campaign.

Hamilton Takes Stand
John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the republican national committee, took the witness stand to deny emphatically that he had any knowledge of Campbell or his activities when, in response to a request, he furnished him with a list of the members of the national committee.

"You know, of course, that this list is public property," he said. "There was nothing in Mr. Campbell's letters to me which indicated in any way that he was engaged in any unAmerican activities. If there had been, I certainly would not have engaged in any correspondence whatsoever with him."

Campbell, who also testified today, conceded that his attacks were "directed at the people of a certain race." He maintained a mailing list of some 200 names, to 40 of whom he sent reports on the alleged progress of a "left revolutionist" group in New York. The reports were supplied to him by Gilbert.

Appears For Investigation Before House
WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Dudley P. Gilbert, financial "angel" of a group alleged to have disseminated anti-semitic propaganda, was accused by Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committee on unAmerican activities today of attempting to start a "whispering campaign" in the south against President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

On the committee's witness stand Gilbert identified a letter he wrote to his associate, James E. Campbell, at Owensboro, Ky., listing six questions "to ask our Dixie friends." Dies, pointedly prohibiting their being made a part of the record, asserted they were "too vile for publication." Doggedly, Gilbert insisted that they "should be looked into."

Can't Balance Budget
Addressing the retailers national forum, the chief executive asserted that if "so-called" business "deterrent taxes," such as the undistributed profits tax, are repealed, other taxes on business must be increased to replace the revenues thus lost.

Said that while "the conservative attitude of this administration" hardly contemplates a permanent excess of government expenditures over receipts, "balancing the budget today, or even next year, is a pretty difficult if not impossible job."

Defends Spending
Vigorously defended the administration policy of government spending and lending for the purpose of maintaining consumer purchasing power at a high level, with a statement that it "is the milk in the coconut of all business."

And said:
"Today, with no danger of surplus of goods overhauling the market — just because we have tried to keep consumer purchasing power up to production — the nation is in an excellent position to move forward into a period of greater production and greater employment."

Repeatedly, the president referred to himself and his associates as the nation's conservatives, and to certain of his foes as the "radicals."
