New York Roars Welcome; Monarchs Rest at Hyde Park

Quiet For The King Royalty To Spend One 'Uneventful' Day At Roosevelt Estate

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The ancestral home of President Roosevelt offered a welcome retreat tonight for King George and his queen—wary but happy over the tremendous, day-long ovation with which New York City's millions greeted them.

After a swift drive up the Hudson river through a light but steady rain, the royal couple turned into the president's quiet estate at 5:41 p.m. (Iowa time) there to be greeted once again by Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt.

With the president and his wife when the royal party swung up the tree-shaded drive were the president's 84-year-old mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, and his son, James.

Flags Flying
Over the great porch hung four flags, in this order: the royal standard, always evident wherever the king is; the British flag; the American stars and stripes and the president's flag.

Members of the royal party said Poughkeepsie gave them the most enthusiastic welcome after New York City was left behind.

It was only yesterday in Washington their majesties and Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt parted after a long round of formal affairs.

The motor cavalcade whipped through the well-guarded countryside without delay, once the party was through with its engagement at Columbia university. Although Riverside drive in New York City was crowded with cheering thousands, the crowds thinned out as the party sped upstate, mainly because of the rain.

President's Mother There
Within the century-old home of the president, the royal couple found quiet and an informal restfulness. The 84-year-old mother of the president was there, too, to extend her cordial greetings to the rulers of the world's most far-flung empire.

It was expected that King George and Queen Elizabeth would find the repose of the president's 1,200-acre estate in striking contrast to the pretentious grounds and palaces of Britain's sovereigns.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt made a thorough, but quick survey of the estate shortly before their majesties left New York for Hyde Park, just to be sure everything was in order.

Three Million Greet Monarch In Metropolis

English King, Queen Motor Through City, Visit World's Fair

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—In six hours thunderous with the welcome of more than 3,000,000 residents of a city lost long ago to his vast empire, King George and Queen Elizabeth paid an historic visit today to this metropolis of the west and bowed at the New York world's fair to a moving demonstration of affection for them.

Then, after a brief call at Columbia university, the royal Britons left at 4:15 (EST) for Hyde Park to rejoin President Roosevelt for a Sunday visit before returning to Canada for their trip back home.

Ride 51 Miles
Through 51 miles of city streets they rode, smiling to a roaring salute from the people and to the almost continuous roll of drums and the blare of brasses.

Before the end, the tanned, slight king appeared weary though profoundly affected.

But the queen—who had brightly answered "Isn't that a lovely thing for you to say" when the mayor's secretary had told her on her arrival "All New Yorkers are in love with you already"—looked in the highest of spirits and vigor through it all.

In the long procession to and from the fair the king rode not on the queen's right, as is customary abroad, but on her left. He was understood to explain, with a remark that was characteristic of the easy behavior of both:

"It's more American. Let us do it that way."

Omit Dessert
During the great pageant there were many such human touches: the king skipping his luncheon cocktail but the queen taking hers . . . Both omitting their dessert to hurry things up . . . The cavalcade having been made late because the queen, happy at the presence of such vast crowds, had asked that the procession go slower than had been planned.

Then, as they stepped upon a terrace of the fair's federal building, standing easily and with no silk-hatted personages with them, there was such a tumult of affectionate shouts from the crowd that the queen blinked her eyes rapidly to hold back the almost visible tears.

There was no smile upon the king's lips; he looked solemnly conscious of an extraordinary tribute.

Despite the demonstration at the fair, the number who saw their

John Wortman Jr. Is Accident Victim West of Iowa City

John E. Wortman Jr., 25, 713 E. Burlington street, met instant death at 3:15 a.m. yesterday when the 1931 light pick-up truck he was driving collided with a semi-trailer tractor on a curve on highway 6, one and a half miles west of Coralville.

A companion, Lester Golly, Ackley, was reported still in a "serious" condition at a late hour last night. Physicians said that Golly had regained consciousness yesterday afternoon and had "rested as comfortably as could be expected."

Hurled to Pavement
Wortman, county officials said, was hurled to the pavement in the accident. Golly was thrown about 15 yards and free of the wreckage, landing on the shoulder of the highway.

Wortman's skull was crushed, County Coroner Dr. George Callahan said. He said Golly, who was taken to University hospital, was suffering with a concussion of the brain and multiple face and scalp lacerations.

Fred DeVoss, Jefferson, was driver of the trailer. He escaped injury.

Sheriff Don McComas, who investigated the accident with the coroner, said that the semi-trailer was going west toward Des Moines and that the two youths were coming to Iowa City.

Truck Demolished
The light truck driven by the youths was almost completely demolished, while the trailer was only slightly damaged.

No inquest will be held, Doctor Callahan said. He pointed out that witnesses to the accident left before officials arrived and that a report of the incident from them is desired.

Wortman was graduated from Iowa City high school in 1934. He was a member of the local cavalry unit of the Iowa national guard.

Surviving are his widow and his father, John E. Wortman Sr. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The body is at the McGovern funeral home.

Foresee Crops After Heavy Rain

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10 (AP)—Farmers in three northwest states were in high spirits today following soaking rains of the last fortnight which changed parched and wilting fields into green stands that generally gave promise of maturing an average to better than average crop.

Topping off the rainy period of more than 10 days' duration in most sections, rains totaling more than three inches in South Dakota, fell also in Minnesota and North Dakota Friday night and today.

Export Market Curtailed For Farm Produce

Prospects for Crops Considerably Higher Than Domestic Needs

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A curtailed foreign market for their products confronts American farmers as they move well into a new crop season with prospects of production considerably in excess of domestic needs.

The agriculture department's foreign service reported today that exports of agricultural commodities during the first 10 months of the current fiscal year were 21 per cent lower in value than in the comparable period a year ago.

The exports were valued at $612,778,000 compared with $772,264,000 a year ago.

The decline was due largely, the service said, to a fall in shipments of cotton, the major item of trade. Exports of cotton dropped 44 per cent in value and 39 per cent in quantity while total exports of all other farm products decreased by eight per cent in value.

Factors contributing to this loss in foreign sales were said to include sharper competition, political and economic uncertainty in Europe and the orient, and higher prices of some American products, particularly cotton, which has been held above world levels by the government price-pegging loan program.

Mexican Government Seeks Financial Aid in United States To Develop New Rail Service for Exports to Japan

MEXICO CITY, June 10 (AP)—The Mexican government was reported today to be seeking cash and credit in the United States for development of efficient rail facilities across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec which would provide a direct outlet for oil sales to Japan.

Informed sources asserted Ulysses Trogoyan, former chief of the tariff and railroad section of the federal communications department, had gone to the United States to enlist the help of shipping and financial interests to back the necessary improvements. Trogoyan was said to be representing the Mexican treasury. Official information on his trip was not forthcoming but he was expected to get in touch with both west coast and eastern interests.

The railroad across the isthmus—which runs 188 miles from the Atlantic to the Pacific side—now handles 400,000 tons of freight yearly but requires approximately $1,000,000 for immediate improvements or, one authority estimated, $10,000,000 to put it in first class condition.

Court Singer Tibbett, To Sing Here, Entertained King

Lawrence Tibbett, noted baritone who will present a recital on the University of Iowa campus in the field house July 19, has recently been named, unofficially, the "court singer" of America.

The title was acquired when Tibbett was asked to sing for the king and queen of England when they visited the White House last Thursday. Tibbett has sung in Washington yearly since the 1920's upon official invitation.

Tibbett sang "Largo" from "The Barber of Seville," "Pilgrim's Song" by Tchaikowsky, closing the program for the royal visitors with "God Save the King" and the United States national anthem.

Stong Picture Premiere To Be In Des Moines

DES MOINES, June 10 (AP)—The movie adaptation of Iowaborn Phil Stong's latest novel, "Career," will have its world premiere in Des Moines July 2, theater officials announced today.

Stong and his wife, the former Virginia Swain, both of them former Des Moines newspaper reporters, are expected to attend, along with members of the cast and studio officials.

The cast includes Ann Shirley, Edward Ellis, Raymond Hatten, Leon Errol, Alice Eden and John Archer.

Stong is visiting his mother, Mrs. B. J. Stong, at Keosauqua.

None Injured In Train Crash

20 Cars Splintered 'To Kindling Wood' In Nebraska Wreck

FREMONT, Neb., June 10 (AP)—Between 18 and 22 cars of a Union Pacific freight train were piled up—many splintered to kindling wood—three miles west of Fremont late today. No one was reported injured in the wreck which blocked both main line tracks.

Union Pacific officials at Omaha said they expected mainline traffic to be resumed about 3 a.m. Sunday. They said cause of the wreck was not determined immediately. The 85 car train, consisting largely of refrigerator carriers loaded with fruit and vegetables, was coming east. The cars were derailed between the middle and the back of the train.

I. W. Woodrow, Council Bluffs, was engineer of the train and E. C. Carey, Council Bluffs, was the conductor.

Track for approximately 400 feet was torn up as the cars left the rails. Several trains were rerouted over Burlington lines between Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha.

Britain, France Headline King; Not Germany!

LONDON, June 11 (Sunday) (AP)—The British and French press told the story of New York's reception to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in large, ecstatic headlines today while newspapers in Rome and Berlin gave it brief mention on back pages.

The consensus of London's Sunday editions was that yesterday's welcome to their Britannic majesties from the greatest city of the new world was "tumultuous." Paris newspapers called it "triumphal."

But in Berlin and Rome newspaper readers learned little more than the fact that the king and queen had reached New York.

The Berlin Morgenpost, most widely read newspaper in the Nazi capital, headed its story: "America disregards courtly etiquette."

The German press noted that in Washington Vice-president Garner slapped King George on the shoulder while Congressman Patton (D-Tex.) greeted him with "How are you, Cousin George?" and addressed the queen as "Cousin Elizabeth."

Rains Discourage Iowa 'Bug' Pests

DES MOINES, June 10 (AP)—Farmers in the southern Iowa chinch bug sector looked hopefully to the skies tonight for more help in the battle against a threatened plague of the insect crop pests.

Cautious state officials said this week's rains undoubtedly were "discouraging to the bugs but that substantially more moisture is needed in many counties before the crop damage danger could be removed.

Military, Economic Sacrifices Prepare Reich for Conflict

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—The German nation is making one of the most gigantic attempts in history to stave off a possible war not only from a military but also from an economic point of view, in the opinion of Louis F. Lochner, chief of the Berlin bureau of The Associated Press, who is spending his vacation in the United States. Should war come despite all international efforts at peace, however, Germany, too, wants to be prepared.

"Rightly or wrongly the German nation is convinced that Great Britain and France are determined not to concede to Germany that place in the sun which she feels entitled to as a nation of over 80,000,000 virile people," he said.

'Eyewash'
"The average German fears—whether rightly or wrongly is beside the point, and I can only register a fact—that British and French denials of any desire to encircle Germany are just so much eyewash. Their vast rearmament programs are accepted in Germany as evidence that a war may be in the offing.

"So the nation is determined to anticipate such an eventuality. I find on returning to the United States that the American people generally are well informed on Germany's military preparedness.

The dramatic story of how the Nazi regime within but a few months managed to construct a western fortifications line which Hitler has again and again declared to be invincible has been well publicized in this country, I find.

Economic Struggle
"Less well known appears to be the story of Germany's struggle and sacrifices to be prepared economically in case a war that apparently nobody in Europe wants and everybody dreads should become a reality.

"Even the construction of the western fortifications has an important economic element in it, for hundreds of thousands of men were taken out of gainful occupations or out of comfortable jobs to go in for ditch digging in what has since become internationally known as the Siegfried line (incidentally a term that did not originate in Germany but is accepted with a tolerant smile). There was (See LOCHNER, page 8)

House Passes Amendments To Budget Bill

Propose Extension Of Present Benefits Of Social Aid Law

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—With only two dissenting votes, the house approved and sent to the senate today a set of amendments extending and increasing the benefits of the social security law while keeping the old age pension tax at its present level for the next three years.

The vote was 361 to 2, with Representatives Smith (R-Ohio) and Thill (R-Wis) casting the negative votes. Representative Carlson (R-Kans) first voted "no," then changed to "present," because he was paired with a member who favored the legislation.

The tax amendment has been hailed as a "recovery step" because it would avoid a 50 per cent increase next year in the old age insurance tax.

If the senate approves the house's action, it will mean that the working man covered by old age insurance will continue to contribute to his retirement pension 1 per cent of his pay, up to $3,000, until January 1, 1943.

In 1943, the rate will go up to 1 1-2 per cent. Under present law, the rate is due to go up to 1 1-2 per cent next January 1. The employer pays the same tax as his employe.

The Next Logical Step

COMMENCEMENT addresses may sometimes have been merely sentimental oratory, but the speeches made this year have been pertinent reflections of the world's problems. That of the Cooper Union, made by its director, Dr. Edwin S. Burdell, is exceptional. Industrial education to give workers an understanding of the problems of industry is needed to eliminate misunderstanding between industry and labor, Dr. Burdell told his graduates.

The sharing of information with employees, he said, is the "next logical step" on the part of ownership and management. "High labor turnover, strikes and other manifestations of industrial maladjustment can be laid in part to a lack of understanding by the worker of the problems of industry," Dr. Burdell said. "Much of this can be cleared away by giving the worker a sympathetic and intelligent understanding of these conditions."

What the Cooper Union director is asking in industry, is not more industrial training, but industrial education. The engineer, and not some "lame-duck personnel office," he believes should handle labor problems. A more representative form of industrial control, with employees sharing the information and even the responsibilities of operation seems to be a progressive step.

Three Men Named George

SOME FEW Americans have said uncomplimentary words upon the visit of British royalty to America. They are inclined to believe, are people who wave flags and wring their hands about the democratic system of government. We believe nothing within these past few years has been so refreshing to democracy as this state visit. No exhibition could be more reassuring of the American spirit being democratic than the enthusiasm and the numbers of the people who stood along parade lines to admire the personable rulers of the British empire.

What is Americanism? Re-read the stories from Washington about the welcome that city gave George and Elizabeth. Even the hopes of the British government have been many times exceeded by the warmth with which the American people have accepted this royal pair. We have taken them to our hearts as we do all heroes and celebrities who show themselves to be real persons.

A century and a half ago George Washington and the George who then sat on the English throne didn't get along very well. Now America forgets the past with a jest and bows in respect to a third George—because he is a likeable chap.

It is certainly American when we can survive the amputation begun by George Washington without even a scar. It is American when the New York World-Telegram can banner "British Take Washington Again." With a broad grin, we've revived the memories of 150 years ago. "One hundred and twenty-five years ago the British burned Washington, and today several hundred thousand people in Washington are all burned up because they haven't been asked to meet the King and Queen . . ."

The Ohio senator to the contrary, we haven't sold out to the British. We've demonstrated that America is what we've always thought it was—a land with an amazingly beautiful spirit. These days of the royal visit are heartening ones.

State Laws Will Help Control Syphilis

WITH NEW LAWS approved by six additional states this year, a total of nine states soon will provide for or require blood tests of expectant mothers in an effort to prevent transmission of syphilis to children.

A Council of State Governments report shows that, in addition to Iowa, the governors of California, Maine, North Carolina and Oklahoma have signed blood test acts passed by their legislatures in recent months, and Pennsylvania's new act awaits the governor's approval. New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island have had such laws for a year or more. In Illinois a blood test proposal has passed the house.

Several of the new acts become effective July 1; others not until 1940.

Most of the blood test laws are compulsory, but Oklahoma and Pennsylvania acts read that the test will be provided "on request." Typical of the laws is the Maine act, which holds physicians responsible for taking the blood sample, to be tested free of charge by a laboratory approved by the state health department. If the expectant mother is found to be infected, the physician is required to report to the state health bureau.

Iowa's law provides a penalty for negligence by physicians in testing or reporting on blood samples and requires a statement on the birth certificate.

According to health statistics, 60,000 babies are born in the United States each year with congenital syphilis. An expectant mother, with the disease who is treated early enough has one chance in six of bearing a live, healthy infant, while a normal woman has three chances in four.

Because some expectant mothers do not seek medical advice and others, learning of infection, may refuse or neglect treatment, the pre-natal test laws are not expected to eradicate congenital syphilis completely. Nevertheless, they are important measures and indicate progress that will end much human suffering.

EARLY AMERICAN BRIDGES

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in an editorial recently reprinted on this page, revived the old question of why covered bridges were covered. Lately a WPA project which made some inquiries in Ohio—where no less than 609 old-time covered bridges still stand—brought to light eight theories, all about as inadequate as those put forward during previous controversies.

It seems high time the argument were settled—especially as the answer, which happens to be in our possession, is entirely simple. It was given by an old codger of a chemist and wood products research man whose granddaddy, back East, was an engineer and builder of covered bridges—what you might call a tip from the feedback.

Here's the explanation: Covered bridges were covered to keep the rain off. Yes, the snow and hot summer sunshine, too; not to keep these punishing agents away from men and animals using the bridge—though this has often been erroneously alleged—but rather, to keep them from exercising their deleterious effects upon the basic substructure of the bridge itself, its huge timber beams, arches, diagonals and trusses.

There is every reason to suppose that this device was an American discovery. Europe had long since turned away from wooden-bridge construction, when the American structures began to enjoy greatest vogue. The argument against wood construction by the European engineers was its alleged inability to resist weather-induced decay. Reference works still compute the average serviceable life of the wooden bridge at 15 years. Yet, by the simple expedient of putting a cheap shelter over the bridge, letting the roof bear the brunt of the elements instead of the valuable timbers, and replacing it as often as necessary, the American-built wooden bridges have lasted, in some cases, for a century. There are many of them within a few hours' drive of Chicago.

It appears, then, that those who belittle the practicability of the covered bridge cast a slur upon Yankee ingenuity and early American inventive genius.

Stewart Says Garner Prospects Are None Too Rosy

Analysis Shows

By CHARLES P. STEWART

The out-and-out boom, launched in the last few days for John N. Garner as the democrats' next presidential candidate, has developed an exceedingly tense situation among the party's politicians in Washington. "Texas Jack" isn't advertised in so many words as having inspired his friends to declare themselves outspokenly in his favor for the 1940 nomination, but nobody questions that the ebullition had his sanction. So the campaign really is started, as good as officially.

The Garnerites profess to believe that President Roosevelt would be well disposed toward the Texan as the Jeffersonians' choice to succeed him.

There's the most convincing testimony to the effect that the present White House tenant regards his understudy as a very capable politician, but as nothing like the "man of wisdom" he would be willing to turn the executive mansion over to. In fact, even the Garnerites recommend John N. as the sort of statesman who would make a "safe president"—pretty obviously implying that they don't class him as a bit new dealer.

Third Term Possibilities

The impression on Capitol Hill is becoming quite prevalent that today's president definitely doesn't want a third nomination. There's the precedent against it, for one thing. Most commentators think he could get it, but not without a mean fight, and there'd be the chance of his defeat on election day. The guessing is that he'd be unwilling to run the risk of a debacle as his career's wind-up.

Yet it's agreed that he does insist on the right to name his party's next presidential selection. To be specific, in his last Jackson day speech he declared flat-footedly that the new deal has got to go on under Garner. The widely accepted interpretation placed upon that Jackson day talk is of his inability to make the demerol of his semi to the demerol of his semi.

A great majority of politicians concur in the judgment that he's right about this. Or supposing, some of them say, that the convention does name a standard bearer of whom he disapproves, then their hope is that, by expressing his objection to the latter or by simply keeping still, he would disatisfy him, so that the candidate's last hope of victory in November.

According to such reasoning, Garner's final prospects are far from rosy, if Roosevelt's surely enough against him. That's why the Garnerites are so insistent that their man's persona grata at the White House—they need to think so. But there are plenty of skeptics.

Alternative Selections It's well known that Harry L. Hopkins was F. D.'s initial bet to follow him. But Harry had made an overly spendthrift record as WPA administrator. It was necessary to build him up with businessmen; hence his appointment to the commerce departmental secretaryship. Unluckily for him, he fell ill at that juncture and failed to register for weeks and weeks. Maybe he can pick up yet, but he's belated.

Politicians refer to James A. Farley as a middling good vice presidential gamble, but as a small White House likelihood. Agriculture and Interior Secretaries Henry A. Wallace and Harold L. Ickes suit the president, but apparently they haven't greatly enthused the masses, as political sharks assess them.

Sen. Bennett Champ Clark hasn't a look-in if the White House can help it. Quite numerously I hear the suggestion, "If State Secretary Hull were 10 years younger, he'd be nominated." The White House would HAVE to like him after keeping him through two presidential terms as cabinet premier. He's sufficiently liberal to satisfy new dealers, moderate enough not to scare conservatives.

Well, Secretary Hull's three years younger than Vice President Garner, who is 70. Yet age is alleged against Hull; not much against Garner. I suppose Garner's younger for his years than Hull is.

MORE SUBMARINE TROUBLE

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Despite the legendary troublesomeness of sailors on shore-leave there is seldom any horseplay observed in the Seaman's Cafe, an all-night rendezvous for men of all ships on the Manhattan waterfront. The rough stuff isn't tolerated there and any man caught trying to make himself unpleasant is promptly collared by an efficient staff of waiters, ex-sailors themselves, and heaved into West street.

Sometimes you see seamen from British, Italian, Dutch, and French ships dawdling with their beers over the same bar. Though they do little fraternizing, neither do they resort to eye-gouging or other similarly ugly practices attributed to sailors.

It is, by and large, a quiet, orderly place where even a pedestrian may go without fear of a beating, a sort of hangout where members of the crews rest between cargoes and content themselves with scribbling postcards to their sweethearts and loafing until their shore leave expires.

There used to be another seaman's restaurant over on the east side, but sawed-off chairlegs layed such a lively part in the nocturnal festivities that finally it was closed. The East river waterfront has always been the other side of the tracks in New York.

It was this now vanished cafe, known, I believe, as the Crippled Hen, which used to employ an imaginative fellow who was a sort of combination boss and bouncer. He would lean against the door and shout recitals of the sensational side of life to be observed within, and his spooks brought many patrons, usually tourists, to the till.

He was at this business of shouting one evening when a group of us came off a cutter after meeting the Bremen down in the Narrows. He gave us a wink and said, "Come on in, boys, and meet the royal princess."

In we went and after several rounds of "grog" one of the scribes demanded to be shown this bit of feminine royalty. "It's like this, boys," he said, with another wink, "a few more slugs of this stuff and you'll think you're seeing the whole royal family."

Such was the Crippled Hen, a vivid vignette of the hard side of waterfront life. It is gone now and in its place is an instrument of the church where Bibles and rosaries are sold.

Errol Flynn, that traveling Irish Don Juan, is rapidly becoming something of a problem to those who make a business of checking the whereabouts of celebrities. Like Cleek, the man of the 40 faces, he seems to be everywhere at once.

The other day I was thumbing through a newspaper and found his picture, showing him having lunch in a New Orleans restaurant. Two hours later his voice came booming in from the Pacific coast on a coast to coast broadcast. And late the following night I wandered into a Village cabaret and found him sitting at a table against the wall with two other fellows, grinning contentedly at the floorshow. Two Mexican girls were singing, and after while they placed a huge sombrero on his head the other draped a blanket around his shoulders. They took his picture that way and laughed delightedly when they learned he knew how to converse with them in Spanish.

cleanliness. Soap and water, morning and night, with a change of stockings or socks every day and two pairs of shoes worn on alternate days, will usually clear it up. If not, soaking the feet in a bath made of a teaspoonful of formaldehyde in a quart of water before going to bed will greatly aid.

FRANCIA WHITE will be the soprano soloist on the CBS Ford Sunday evening hour starting tonight with James Melton as the tenor star and Don Vorhees conducting. This is at 7 tonight.

"Musical Playhouse" will make its premier performance today at 5:30 p.m. Erno Rapee, Jane Froman, vocalist, and Jan Peerce, tenor, will head the new gala musical revue as the summer replacement for Screen Guild show.

Except for a few guest appearances together, this show will be the first time Erno Rapee, Jane Froman and Jan Peerce have been started in the same show. Because of their versatility, the programs to be aired in the following weeks will cover a large field of musical presentations.

INCIDENTALLY, tonight's Ford Summer Sunday evening hour is a brand new show on the air for the first time today. In addition to the regular cast and the 36-piece orchestra, the program will feature a guest vocalist each time.

Don Vorhees will also have a large mixed chorus under his direction on the program.

The sponsor of Walter Winchell and Charles Boyer has signed with NBC to reserve the time for both programs for another year.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ will present his first popular composition, "Moon Love," over CBS at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. It is a Kostelanetz adaptation of the second movement of Tchaikovsky's fifth symphony.

"The Circle" takes a summer vacation after the broadcast of July 9, and will return to the air in October, but at a different hour from its present 8 o'clock period.

And the last minute changing of a sponsor's mind led to the announcement that Orson Welles' Mercury theater will return in the fall to CBS in the 8 p.m. spot opposite Charlie McCarthy with a repeat show to the west coast.

BEN BERNIE and all the lads will be on the air for their same sponsor next year, and Lew Lehr will again be featured on the program.

Marc Connelly, famous Broadway playwright, will make an appearance on the "Circle" broadcast at 8 over NBC-Red. Owen Davis Jr. leaves the cast to appear in summer stock in New England.

Another Your Family and Mine actor will go on a big time broadcast today when Parker Fennelly, who plays "Lem Stacey" in the CBS strip, appears on NBC's Magic Key program at noon today.

ALEC TEMPLETON, celebrated blind British pianist who recently arrived in Hollywood to be in readiness for the Fibber McGee and Molly replacement program, has been signed for two guest spots on the Charlie McCarthy program—June 11 and June 18. Loreta Young will be in the dramatic spot with Don Ameche on the show at 6 this evening.

Having given the San Francisco world's fair a thorough going over last week, the Grouch club will put the New York world's fair on the pan today when the group meets at 4:30 over NBC-Red network stations.

Both Wilson will sing "If I Didn't Care" and Leon Leonardi will play "Got a Pebble in my Shoe."

RAY NOBLE will pay homage to King George and Queen Elizabeth with a special medley of old English songs when a group of British stage and screen stars salute their sovereigns with a full hour radio broadcast over the NBC-Red network today at 1 o'clock.

Ray has chosen "God Save the King," "Drink to me Only With Thine Eyes," "Old Kent Road" and "Here's Health Unto Your Majesties."

On the same program will be many British stars from Hollywood to salute the king and queen. Music will be supplied by the full NBC symphony orchestra under the direction of Sir Adrian Boult.

THREE-WAY TIE FOR NAT. OPEN PRIZE

BITS about Sports

By J. DENNIS SULLIVAN

One thing can be said of Lou Nova, California's latest contribution to heavyweight ranks, and that is that he can take a punch.

The pictures of his recent brawl with Max Baer, currently showing at the Varsity theater, bring this point forcibly to the fore as Max, punching not quite as hard as yore but punching rather crisply nevertheless, showered his Sunday-punch all over the awkward appearing Nova in the early rounds.

It was perfectly obvious that the boys weren't out for any good as early as the second round when they stood toe to toe and threw punches all over the stadium.

In the fifth round Baer hit Lou with a stiff club to the side of the head and seemed surprised when the latter refused to fall.

That was all for Baer. From that point he lost interest in the proceedings, contenting himself with only occasional flurries as the west coast laid continued his slow but relentless attack.

A right uppercut, which he had retained from using in the early rounds, was Lou's best weapon after the sixth round. Time after time during the seventh he smashed the blow into Max's bleeding, battered face.

From then on it was all Lou. Moving forward with a slow but stiff left jab, he literally butchered the former butcher boy. Max was a badly beaten fighter when the referee halted the proceedings after one minute and 21 seconds of the 14th round.

The pictures, which were far better than anything that's been done in this line before, came as a pleasant surprise. Mike Jacobs, with characteristic thoroughness, is giving the public the best possible reproduction which can be obtained. The fight was taken from several different angles, giving the customer a better view of the fight than would be possible at ring side.

It's still terrible, however, to think what will happen to the youthful Nova should he become the party of the second part in a heavyweight scramble with Joe Louis in September. He'll have to improve a great deal in order to last three rounds with the champion.

Volitant In Initial Win Nabs Shevlin Stakes At Aqueduct As Favorites Run Out

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—After a blistering drive through the long home stretch, Volitant, flying the Saratoga stable silks of George Bull and John Morris, today won his first victory of the 1939 racing season in the one-mile Shevlin stakes at Aqueduct.

Before 12,000 fans, the display colt took the $5,425 winner's share of the purse by a head from Samuel Bachrach's Golden Voyage. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Third Degree was a belated third, three lengths behind, while Tall Story was fourth. The favored entry of Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Gilded Knight and William Woodward's Challenge, trained by Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, proved a disappointment, Golden Knight coming in seventh after being well placed early in the race.

Volitant, ridden by Don Meade, was a 3-1 second choice and he ran the mile in the excellent time of 1:36 4-5.

The result was not official until a foul claim, lodged by Golden Voyage's rider, Basil James, had been disallowed by the stewards. The two horses fought it out desperately through the stretch and James claimed he was in tight quarters, but a patrol judge reported Meade had given him racing room.

Greenberg Hits Two-Tigers Win Two Advance To Fifth Place In Flag Race

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers took a firm grip on fifth place in the American league by sweeping a double header with the Washington Senators today.

Detroit won the opener, 6 to 5, when Hank Greenberg delivered a double in the ninth with two men out that scored Ervin (Pete) Fox from second. In the nightcap the Bengals raked Alexandra Carasquel and Jimmy De Shong for 19 hits as they slammed out a 17-to-5 triumph.

The wins extended Detroit's winning streak to four games, the longest enjoyed by the club this season.

Big Hank Greenberg, of the Tigers, had a homer in each game to bring his season total to 15. A year ago when he drove out 58 home runs, two short of Babe Ruth's major league record, Greenberg did not get No. 15 until June 17.

In the nightcap Rookie Frankie Croucher, of the Tigers, had a pair of circuit blows, the first of his big league career. Frank Higgins also had a Detroit homer in this game and Buddy Lewis hit one for Washington.

Badger Crew In Long Drill

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Wisconsin's varsity crew, which reached here today for a week's training for the intercollegiate championship regatta June 17, began work late this afternoon with a six mile pull on the Hudson river.

Washington's crews also arrived today and lost little time getting into action while all the other crews here, including three California eights, held late afternoon workouts in oppressively hot and humid weather.

So far only Columbia has had a time trial over the four-mile route and results were not announced. Cornell, Syracuse and Navy, with three crews each, are expected to arrive tomorrow.

feating Merle Lint, 42. Playing in a steady rain, Lint went two up at the finish of the 18-hole morning round. The slender professional, however, rallied to overtake his rival during the afternoon session.

Reds Boom Out Four Home Runs But Lose, 7 to 6

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The Dodgers, who never give their fans a dull day, defeated the league leading Cincinnati Reds 7 to 6 today in spite of being outthit 12 to 6 and bombed by four Cincinnati homers.

Seven bases on balls given by Johnny Vander Meer and Gene Thompson, first two of four pitchers used by the Reds, made up for the disparity in hits.

Ernie Koy, having one of the hottest hitting streaks in the big leagues at the moment, belted doubles in the first and third innings for five runs to put Brooklyn in front and after the Dodgers blew this lead, they came from behind in a weird eighth inning to win.

Ernie Lombardi homered in the second and Lonnie Frey in the sixth but Luke Hamlin survived until the eighth with four runs on homers by Bill Werber and Frank McCormick, the latter coming after Frey had singled and Ival Goodman tripled.

Forrest Pressnell, who relieved Hamlin, got the victory when the Dodgers pushed across two runs in the last half of the inning on a walk and two singles. Lee Grissom, who pitched to only one batter—pinchhitter Pete Coscarart, who got the first single—was charged with the

Paul 'I Hate Jails' Derringer Plays Hide and Seek With Cops

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Maybe it's just as well for the New York Giants that big Paul Derringer can't come to town to pitch a ball game without paying up or being put in jail.

Derringer's team, the Cincinnati Reds, are leading the National league, the dejected Giants are sixth, and Derringer has beaten them twice this season, shutting them out once with 5 hits. The Reds lost to the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers 7-6 today, but jail-shy Derringer wouldn't have pitched anyway because he already had earned his week's pay by winning one in Philadelphia Thursday.

Needed or not, Derringer remained in Philadelphia, avoiding a "body execution" obtained against him in state supreme court by Robert E. Condon, industrial engineer of Larchmont, N. Y., whom Derringer owes $8,170 on account of a fracas in a Philadelphia hotel in 1936.

Condon obtained a judgment for $8,170, claiming that the pitcher assaulted him. The latest order against Derringer requires that he be arrested and held until he pays the judgment or posts bond for twice the amount. The bond would prevent Derringer from leaving the county, which would restrict his activities somewhat since the Reds open a long series at home after leaving Brooklyn tomorrow.

That's how things stand.

Schumacher Spots Pirates Two Runs in First but Wins, 6-2

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians went into a virtual third-place tie with the idle Chicago White Sox today as Fireball Johnny Allen shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 0, with two-hit pitching.

The Tribe blasted three Philadelphia hurlers for 11 hits, driving Nelson Potter from the hill with a four-run attack in the seventh. Bob Joyce finished the frame and Roy Parmelee succeeded him to start the eighth.

Zeke Bonura Aids 'Prince Hal' With Two-Bagger in First

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—After giving the Pittsburgh Pirates two runs on three hits in the first inning, "Prince Hal" Schumacher settled down today to scatter four safeties through the remaining innings and enable the New York Giants to win their series opener 6 to 2.

Zeke Bonura doubled a pair of runs home in the last of the first and one of two errors committed by Bill Brubaker paved the way for two unearned runs in the third to give the Giants a lead they never surrendered.

Allen Stiffles Connie's Lads

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians went into a virtual third-place tie with the idle Chicago White Sox today as Fireball Johnny Allen shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 0, with two-hit pitching.

The Tribe blasted three Philadelphia hurlers for 11 hits, driving Nelson Potter from the hill with a four-run attack in the seventh. Bob Joyce finished the frame and Roy Parmelee succeeded him to start the eighth.

The victory was Allen's third in six starts. Earle Brucker and Babe Siebert were the only A's to hit safely, getting singles in the second and fourth innings.

The Indians' seventh inning drive cinched the contest. Frankie Pytak started the fireworks by beating out a bunt. Ben Chapman walked and Jeff Heath doubled, scoring Pytak. Hal Trosky rified another two-bagger, scoring Chapman and Heath. Trosky counted on Oscar Grimes' single.

Trosky, who walked, scored the initial marker in the second on Ken Keltner's double and Jimmy Webb's sacrifice fly. With two out in the third inning, Ben Chapman was walked and scored on Heath's double.

Siebert connected for a high single to right field off one of Allen's fast balls, but went down attempting to steal second.

Wood, Shute, Nelson Battle In Play Off

Steady-Shooting Trio Eliminate Rest Of Field in Hectic Day

By BILL BONI PHILADELPHIA, June 10 (AP)—While Sam Snead's game was exploding in his face on his favorite holes and Ralph Guldahl was toppled from the throne he had occupied for two years, Byron Nelson, Denny Shute and Craig Wood, three veteran, seasoned campaigners, today fired their way into a three-way tie at the end of the regulation 72 holes of the 43rd National Open golf championship. Each had a 284 score for the four rounds.

Tomorrow afternoon, starting at 1 p.m. (EST), these three will tee off over the 6,786-yard Spring Mill course of the Philadelphia country club in the first triple playoff since Francis Ouimet, a cocky young sprout out of Boston, beat England's famed Harry Vardon and Ted Ray back in 1913.

Rare Event It will be the first play off the Open has produced since 1931 at Inverness when Billy Burke beat George von Elm in 144 holes. But tonight there were predictions that this one will be settled by the end of the 18 holes, with Nelson the winner.

The slim ex-Texas who plays out of Reading, Pa., was a ball of fire in his final two rounds, when the pressure was toughest. Of the three finalists, he made up the most ground, with scores of 71 in the morning and a one-under-par 68 for his last round after being tied for 16th place at the half way mark. Shute had rounds of 70 and 72 today and Wood 72-72.

Nelson, one of the several men quoted as 10-1 second choices to Guldahl before the tournament started on Thursday, was the first to post this figure. He came in just behind Marvin (Bud) Ward, the brilliant amateur from Spokane, Wash., who shot a gallant 72 for 285.

Snead Blows With Nelson in and Snead blown up with a disastrous 8 on the par five 18th, Wood was the next man to come down that long, 558 yard finishing hole. The big blond from Mamaroneck, N. Y., who lost to Shute in a playoff for the 1933 British Open title, whipped out two screaming shots to be on the green in two.

Only 12 feet from the cup, he needed that putt for an eagle 3 and 283. But the ball couldn't drop; Nelson and Wood were tied; and it appeared that Shute, coming up four twosomes behind, would be able to edge out both of them. He only needed to shoot three pars for his 283.

Had he taken his par on the 15th, he would have been able to waste a shot under this pressure. But a straying tee shot that went into the rough and a trapped approach had cost him a 5 there, and that one stroke loomed like a dozen after Shute, two time P. G. A. champion, had finished the 17th.

Here his drive caught a trap and caught it in such a bad lie that he barely was able to play out into the fairway and had no chance at all of getting his second home. On in three, he was too far away to can the putt, and again there was a black 5 on his card.

That meant a birdie for victory or a par for a tie. With most of the tremendous gallery of 10,000 strung down both sides of the fairway, Shute poked out two handsome shots that left him 75 yards short of the green. Still there was a chance that Denny might pitch one up stiff and sink (See TOURNEY, page 6)

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 (AP)—The Phillies beat St. Louis twice today, 6-5 and 5-3 with the home team's newly arrived first baseman providing the punch for the first win.

Jack Bolling, obtained from the Atlanta club of the Southern association, went to work a few hours after he arrived by airplane. He led the batting order and vindicated Manager Doc Prothro's judgment with the victory hit, a two-bagger that scored Kirby Higbe.

Comfortable Bedsprings Important For Healthful, Luxurious Sleeping

Sleeping comfort begins with the foundation of the bed—the bedsprings. Not even the most luxurious mattress and the downiest pillows will assure complete relaxation and restful sleep if the bedsprings are either worn-out or ineptly selected.

Good bedsprings are sturdy and strong, but even the best cannot be expected to last forever. The springs of a bed should be inspected at least once a month when the mattress is turned and, as soon as they begin to sag or show signs of wear, they should be replaced. Delay in replacement only means increasing discomfort for the sleeper, and the possibility that the mattress will develop the same sags and bulges.

When the new springs are purchased, the type selected must always be determined by the kind of a mattress that is to be used successfully with an innerspring mattress, while very flexible springs are correct for a solid filled mattress.

The safest procedure is to buy the bedsprings and mattress as a unit, but, if that is inadvisable in a particular case, consult the salesman and be certain that he understands the type of mattress that the news springs are to go under.

King--

dent and king had their first chance to speak of more than pleasantries.

Mr. Roosevelt already had indicated that he and the king probably would touch on international affairs. While he said the conversations would not be of special significance, foreign offices the world over watched, but with almost certain futility, for any clue to what might pass between the heads of the two powerful nations.

One bedroom each was set aside for the British monarchs. And they could retire as early as they wished, because no entertainment was planned after dinner — to which 30 guests were invited.

Do What They Please

For three hours tomorrow afternoon, Mrs. Roosevelt said, George and Elizabeth "can do just what they please." They will be invited to drive about the state or countryside or to swim in a sparkling, blue-lined pool two miles through the woods near the president's Dutchess Hill cottage.

Those three hours of respite will be sandwiched between a picnic at the cottage and dinner at the "big house."

The morning, however, was reserved for the president and king, first lady and queen, to add the spiritual ties of worship at St. James Episcopal church to the bonds of friendship between England and America.

'Ma' Roosevelt

Fresh green stuffs and strawberries from the Roosevelt gardens were on the menus during the stay of their majesties.

"I never knew ma to buy anything like that," Mrs. Roosevelt explained.

"Ma" is her affectionate name for the president's mother, the actual owner of Hyde Park house.

From a side porch or newly groomed lawns, the king and queen may look down upon the Hudson, its waters nearly hidden by the verdant branches of tall old trees. Across the river diagonally is the "heaven" of Father Divine, New York Negro evangelist.

Hurricane Causes Brand New Color In Flowering Vine

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bougainvillea, the attractive flowering vine that decorates many Florida homes, can be had in four shades now, and one color is traced to a hurricane.

Originally there were only two shades, red and purple. Then, 13 years ago, a violent hurricane struck Miami. Mrs. Clyde Miller, who with her husband operates a nursery, said the storm blew down thousands of trees and plants, among them a red bougainvillea vine.

When the vine came out again it bloomed an odd, pale shade which has come to be known as afterglow. Cuttings from the vine produced others flowering in the same shade, and afterglow bougainvillea now is becoming widespread, said Mrs. Miller.

Recently the federal government's experimental plant here produced the fourth shade, panama pink.

Beauty Throne Now Ruled by Brunettes

Study of Big Ten Universities Reveals Beauties Have Activity Honors

The throne of the blonde type of beauty, particularly among coeds of Big Ten universities, is showing signs of wobbling, according to studies made known today of personalities among winners of recent contests at the colleges.

Of ten young women, each a winner of campus competition at a Big Ten university, only three were of the blonde type, while seven qualified as pronounced brunettes with raven tresses and brown eyes.

The composite and ideal girl developed by the competition is no posing beauty either. She has won numerous scholastic and activity honors, is aiming for achievement in the field of dramatics, teaching, radio, painting, modeling, merchandising, advertising and fashioning. Physically, this composite girl would be five feet five inches tall; her weight, 119 pounds, and her age figures at 20 and seven-tenth years.

The study was made by questionnaire at the University of Iowa last week and was part of a general study made throughout the Big Ten group. Edith Leahy, A4 of Port Washington, N. Y., the University of Iowa selection, is a blonde.

The 10 girls will be engaged as hostesses at the New York world's fair during the summer, where they will greet fellow students and visiting home folks from their states, and participate in many important ceremonials scheduled by the world's fair management.

"The most popular girls in our universities today are not those with only pretty faces and the largest wardrobes," said Anne Dudley Blitt, dean of women at the University of Minnesota. "The most sought-after girls are those who are pleasing in appearance and manner, who are interested in others, and who enrich their personalities by knowing a large number of people. They are the ones who put a lot into their school life—scholastic and extra-curricular—and get a lot out of it."

The composite and ideal girl of the Big Ten queen selection is not a parasitic type of young woman as witness her preparation for serious vocations. Among these are personnel work, speech re-education, public school music, dramatics, radio work, modeling, merchandising, advertising, fashion.

And one girl declared her sole vocational interest to be "marriage" for which she had prepared by taking interior decoration and other home economics courses.

A senior and scholastically in the "upper crust" of her university is this composite college girl. She has won scholarships, been elected to honor posts and organizations and is a distinguished student. Admired for her college activities, she is a member of women's governing bodies, of col-

Plan To Show Steel Picture Here Monday

"Steel—Man's Servant," a sound motion picture produced in technicolor showing the processes in steelmaking from the ore mines to the finished product, will be shown in chemistry auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tomorrow evening at 7:30.

The film is being shown by the extension division especially for those students who are attending the summer management course of the college of engineering, but all interested persons are invited to attend.

Edwin C. Hill is the narrator throughout the film, explaining the processes and work. The equipment and technique used in making the picture was the same as is used for Hollywood feature productions.

The purpose of the film is to acquaint persons with the little-known wonders of the steel industry and to show the world of activity which precedes the making of safer and cheaper automobiles, great buildings and bridges and countless other products from tacks to streamlined trains.

Bob Pastor and Fred Fiducia Feature Week's Fight Program

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The metropolitan area furnishes the two leading attractions on this week's national boxing program.

One is a heavyweight affair bringing together Bob Pastor, former New York university football star now bidding for a shot at Joe Louis' crown, and Freddie Fiducia of Newark in a 10 rounder tomorrow night at Newark.

The other is a middleweight elimination fight between Walter (Poppey) Woods of New York and Ceferino Garcia, Los Angeles Filipino. They tangle for 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden Thursday.

Monday—at New Orleans: Nick Camarata, New Orleans, vs. Jimmy Tygh, Philadelphia, lightweights (10). At Philadelphia: Billy Maher, Philadelphia, vs. George Zengaras, New York, lightweights (10); Tommy Forte, Philadelphia, vs. Ted Christie, New York, bantamweights (10). At Pittsburgh, Petey Scalzo, New York, vs. Emil Joseph, Pittsburgh, featherweights (10).

At Newark: Bob Pastor, New York, vs. Freddie Fiducia, Newark, heavyweights (10). At New Haven: George Pepe, Meriden, vs. Oscar Suggs, Fall River, Mass., welterweights (6). At Chicago: Henry Wacker, Taylorville, Ill., vs. Tom Kennaally, Chicago, heavyweights (10). At New York: Maxie Berger, Montreal, vs. Carl (Red) Guggino, Elizabeth, N. J., (8); Mickey Farber, New York, vs. Irish Johnny Mack, New Britain, Conn., lightweights (8). At Miami: Ralph Chong, Shanghai, China, vs. Texas Joe Dundee, Texas, lightweights (10); Al Man-

Heart Breaker
Shute arched a high pitch and the ball stopped 30 feet from the cup. Denny took a hitch at his cap, studied the line closely, stroked his putt and, by the margin of less than a foot, fell short of being crowned the 43rd U. S. Open champion.

If his finish was a tragic blow to Shute, it was no more so than the almost unbelievable way in which Snead played out his closing round. Right up to the final hole Slugging Sam was the leader, despite the 5 he took at the 17th, for at that point his score was one shot better than Shute's and two better than Nelson's and Woods.

But something, and no one quite knew what, struck Sam on the 18th. Nothing much was thought of it when the West Virginia mountaineer, who was second to Guldhall in 1937, put his second shot in a trap short of the green. But then he missed one in the bunker, lifted the ball out of that trap and into another with his fourth, finally got on with his fifth 40 feet away and then added misery to mishap by taking three putts, going a foot over the cup on his first one and then rolling that "baby" by the can coming back.

It was on the closing holes of this up and down hill layout with its gaping white sand traps and tricky greens that Snead took the lead with a 68 in the first round and retained it with 139 strokes yesterday. But today big Sam just didn't have it when he needed it most.

Hazard
His big 8 wound him up with a 74, two shots off the lead and one behind Ward, who might have been the first amateur to take the championship since Johnny Goodman in 1933. What killed the west coast big hitter's chances was the one shot 13th hole, where his tee shot struck a galleryrite and wound up in an almost impossible lie. Where he probably would have had a par 3 and perhaps a birdie, Ward instead took a 5.

Next in line at 287 came Johnny Bulla, 25-year-old Chicago pro who shot a 68 to lead Snead, Wood, Shute and Clayton Heafner by a stroke after 54 holes with 211. Guldhall, who had come from behind to win his championships at Denver and Detroit but had five shots to make up when today's play started, finished with a pair of 72's and in a tie at 288 with Dick Metz, runner up to him a year ago.

Ky Laffoon, Jug McSpaden and P. G. A. Champion Paul Runyan, 289; home club pro Ed Dudley, Henry Picard and Harry Cooper, at 290, and Horton Smith, second to Snead at the half way mark, with 291 trailed in that order. Heafner, who equalled the tournament 18-hole record shared by Walter Hagen, Johnny Goodman, Tom Creavy, Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Thomson, with a three under par 66 in the morning, blew himself to 80 big blows in the afternoon and took 292.

The $1,000 first prize will go to the winner of tomorrow's play-off, while the second man will get $800 and the third $700. If the latter two should tie, they'll split the money. If there's a tie for first, there'll be another play-off on Monday.

At Garfield, N. J.: Mauries Strickland, New Zealand, vs. Sandy MacDonald, Texas, heavyweights (10); Johnny Rohrig, Clifton, vs. Mickey Duca, Paulsboro, lightweights (10). At Los Angeles: Glen Lee, Nebraska, vs. Bobby Pacho, Los Angeles, middleweights (10); Jimmy Garrison, Kansas City, vs. Georgia Crouch, Los Angeles, lightweights (10).

Wednesday—none.

Thursday—at New York: Walter (Poppey) Woods, New York, vs. Ceferino Garcia, Los Angeles, middleweights (10). Lou Gehrig To Hospital For Physical Check

'Iron Man' Lou Pale And Drawn; Expects To Play More Ball

ST. LOUIS, June 10 (AP)—Lou Gehrig, without comment on his previous denials, disclosed today that he would go to the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., next week for an examination.

The big first baseman, who set an "iron man" record for competition in 2,130 consecutive American league games before benching himself May 2 at Detroit, will appear with the Yanks in an exhibition game at Kansas City Monday before entering the clinic.

Gehrig looked thin and drawn as he announced his decision to have a check up of his physical condition, but insisted that he expected to return to his position during the summer.

His stay at the clinic probably will be four days unless his condition necessitates treatment.

Cubs' Pilot Emerges Victorious in Master Mind Set-to When Outlaw's Fly Ends Tilt

BOSTON, June 10 (AP)—Emerging on top in a bit of last-minute maneuvering between the rival managers, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Boston Bees 2 to 1 today in the first game of their series at National league field. It was Earl Whitehill's third victory of the season.

With the Cubs two runs to the good in the last half of the ninth, the Bees pushed Eddie Miller over the plate with a sacrifice fly. Then pinch hitter Al Simmons, appearing for pitcher Milburn Shoffner, singled. Manager Casey Stengel, of Boston, sent Jimmy Cooney to bat for Debs Garmy—and Gabby Hartnett countered by sending Charlie Root to pitch in place of Whitehill.

Stengel quickly yanked Cooney, who was credited by the scorer as batting for Garmy, although he did not get a turn at bat, and sent in Elbie Fletcher to bat for Cooney. Fletcher lined out and Jimmy Outlaw ended the game

JUAREZ

(WAR-EZZ)

A Warner Bros. Picture Starring PAUL MUNI and BETTE DAVIS - Screen Play by John Huston, Assisted by Mackenzie and Wolfgang Reinhardt - Based on a Play by Franz Werfel - and on "The Phantom Crown" by Benito Juarez. Directed by WILLIAM DIETERLE

Serialized by HARRY LEE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Benito Juarez, a poor Indian, fights his way to the heights in his native Mexico and in 1861 is elected president. His decree temporarily stopping payments on foreign debts, embroils him in a war with France. Napoleon III, to strengthen himself with the Mexican masses, urges Maximilian and Carlota to go to Mexico as Emperor and Empress, promising to support their cause. Arriving in Mexico they receive a warning letter from Juarez, who continues his ruthless campaign to keep Mexico a democracy. Maximilian finds out that he has been duped by Napoleon. Loving the common people as deeply as Juarez himself, Maximilian succeeds in getting the foremost aide of Juarez—General Porfirio Diaz—to take a message to the hideaway of Juarez asking him to be his Prime Minister.

CHAPTER VI

GENERAL DIAZ, after weeks of travel in the wilderness, saw a glimmer of light among the trees, and knowing that he had reached the retreat of his beloved commander, dismounted and entered the hut.

"What! You?" cried Juarez, losing his calm momentarily, and rushing forward to embrace his aide. "Did you escape?"

"No, Don Benito! Maximilian himself freed me!"

"You saw him, then?"

"He came to my cell alone! At first I suspected treachery, but as he talked it slowly came over me that he whose very name I had hated, is like yourself—an upright man!"

"What did he talk about?"

"His ideas of government, Don

Juarez would ever fall in with his plans. Again Bazaine urged Maximilian to sign a decree of death to all rebels, Maximilian again refused.

The beautiful Carlota, grieved at her inability to present Maximilian with an heir to the throne, heartbrokenly offered to let him divorce her. "There will be no child of my blood that is not yours, dear one!" he said. His advisers suggested that his position with the Mexican people would be strengthened by his adoption of little Augustin, the grandchild of Iturbide, the ill-fated Mexican who had tried forty years before to establish a monarchy. So the child was adopted.

Maximilian was talking to General Bazaine as the Empress entered with the boy robed and mantled for his investiture as the royal successor. As small Augustin knelt before the throne on which sat his foster parents, silence fell over the glittering throng of courtiers and ladies-in-waiting. The Archbishop gave his blessing, the tiny prince kissed the Emperor's hand, there was a fanfare of trumpets and he was led to the balcony.

"Viva Augustin!" shouted the crowd. The tumult subsided as Maximilian, the child in his arms, began to speak. He had said but a few words when a terrific detonation caused the very palace to tremble. The explosion was followed by rifle fire, and in the distance a column of smoke arose.

"What has happened?" cried the Empress, breathlessly.

"The French powder reserve has been blown up by the enemy!" said Bazaine. "This, Your Majesty," he added sneeringly, turning to the Emperor, "is the answer you've been waiting for from Benito Juarez!"

Maximilian put the frightened child into the arms of Carlota, and turning to Bazaine, said grimly: "I will sign the decree!"

"Viva Augustin!" shouted the crowd.

Benito! I doubted my own ears, for what I heard was like your own self speaking! He, too, is a friend of the poor and the oppressed! Like ourselves he seeks to free the people!"

"And he is sincere?" murmured the Indian.

"Yes, Don Benito, there is truth in his soul! It shines through his eyes!"

"Virtue," said Juarez coldly, "is the most formidable weapon an enemy can possess!"

"But Maximilian is not your enemy, Don Benito! He has read all your works! Your aims are his aims! He wants you to be his Prime Minister! He swore to me that as Emperor he will defend your principles against the assaults of politics and the selfish interests!"

"Is the Habsburg expecting an heir?"

"He must be, Don Benito, for he promised that the throne shall not pass to anyone who did not have the best interests of the Mexican people at heart!"

Then patiently Juarez explained to his disciple that the spirit of liberty does not dwell in articles and amendments—but in the hearts of men. He said that an unbridgeable gulf lay between himself and Maximilian von Habsburg however noble he personally might be. "We represent irreconcilable principles, my Porfirio! One or the other of which must perish—and with it, one or the other of us!" And Diaz knew he spoke the truth.

General Bazaine, in the meantime, had called on the Emperor to inform him that he had committed a grave error in freeing Diaz—and in imagining that heartbrokenly offered to let him divorce her. "There will be no child of my blood that is not yours, dear one!" he said. His advisers suggested that his position with the Mexican people would be strengthened by his adoption of little Augustin, the grandchild of Iturbide, the ill-fated Mexican who had tried forty years before to establish a monarchy. So the child was adopted.

Dogcatcher's 'Bait' Forced To Take Layoff

KELSO, Wash. (AP)—City Dogcatcher E. L. Donaldson is without the services of his super-effective "Mata Hari," his dog with "oomph."

Queen, the mongrel Donaldson used as bait for itinerant male canines, would mince along the streets and alleys with a coquettish look in her eyes. When stray males sought introductions, Donaldson would net them and cart them off to the pound.

But Queen's on the sidelines now—she's the mother of five hungry puppies.

a general call for volunteers last year to help build the fortifications, and the government labor service as well as all sorts of skilled hands were called in for this service.

Defense Economies "But beyond that there is the carefully planned, conscious economic preparedness. The Germans realize that they were, in the last analysis, beaten in the World War by the breakdown of their economic system. So they have developed something that they call "wehrtwirtschaft"—defense economics—of which the famous four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency is the mainstay and backbone.

Field Marshal Hermann Goering as early as last September during the annual party rally at Nuremberg claimed that Germany was prepared economically for any war that might come. Since that time economic preparedness has been intensified.

Make Sacrifices "The whole nation is making sacrifices in the way of getting along with less butter, less meat, fewer eggs, little coffee. This is partly because there is government storing against a possible international entanglement and partly because the people have been educated up to sacrificing personal comforts, such as drinking coffee in great quantities, when it means that these comforts must be paid for in foreign exchange. Of this Germany has little and she must ration it carefully for the purchase of things she won't be able to import in case she should be cut off from the rest of the world in a war.

War After Harvest? Lochner doesn't believe there will be major international moves in Europe until after the harvest is over. Then the air may become tense again but the statesmen will always be careful not to walk over the precipice.

majesties there was much less than had been expected: the official attendance just before they left was put at a little more than 147,000. The great turnout was on the streets of New York—hundreds of thousands of obscure men and women and children who stood patiently to gaze at and to cheer these young titular rulers of an empire of 500,000,000 people.

They landed near the site where the statue of another George—the third—had been melted down by the angry colonists to make bullets to fight a war for independence nearly two centuries ago and near the spot, too, where George Washington was inaugurated as first president of the United States.

Noisiest Welcome But they landed in friendliness, in a scene where the old quarrel was forgotten in the memories of the long peace since, to a welcome as impressive, if not more noisy, than ever was given to any other man and woman reaching these shores.

As the destroyer Warrington—upon which they rode from nearby Ft. Hancock, N. J., to Manhattan's tip at the Battery—pulled by the statue of liberty, the king, slender and serious, went from starboard to port and stood stiffly at salute. The queen stood rigid beside him.

The harbor, lying under a light haze in the intense sun, burst into tremendous noise and life. Coast guard cutters racing on ahead scattered the pleasure craft from the area of the Battery pier. The whistles of harbor craft boomed out a rising bass roar; overhead cruised a fleet of the U.S. army's mighty "flying fortresses."

Shouts of Welcome The city's fireboats spouted their shining streams; blimps went softly back and forth in the sky. The crowd at the historic Battery—as shabbily venerable an area as the king and queen saw in their trip through the city and out to the world's fair but brave in the colors of the Union Jack and the stars and stripes—strained their throats in shouts of welcome.

Across the water, the army's batteries on Governors island boomed out a 21-gun salute. Bands, perspiring in the heat, burst forth with the old hymn of the empire, God Save the King, and with the national anthem, The Star Spangled Banner.

Met by Mayor Their majesties walked across a wide red carpet in disembarking and were met by two top-hatted representatives of this city and state—Mayor Fiorello H. La-

Guardia and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman. There was handshaking all around, and then Mrs. LaGuardia presented to the queen a bouquet of red roses. Her majesty wore a pale blue dress with a cape, a hat of the same shade turned up at one side, and carried orchids.

The king, in an oxford gray cutaway, doffed his handsome gray topper and extended his hand.

With the queen he entered a limousine, whose glass windows were bullet proof, and set out on the side to the fair. The band burst into "Rule Britannia" as the procession moved off slowly, under a rain of ticker tape—lower Manhattan's traditional gesture of welcome but one which the authorities had sought to avoid.

Armed Policemen Upon the roofs of the nearby buildings stood policemen armed with rifles, and on all the 51-mile route through the city picked detectives examined rooftops and overpasses.

The procession, following West street to Duane, the west side elevated highway to 72nd street, the east drive to Central park, then north to 96th street, then to the great Triborough bridge and out Grand Central parkway to the fair, fell quickly behind schedule.

King George personally was responsible for slowing down the royal progress to a speed far less than that called for in the program.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine twice sent word back to the king's car that the "road was clear" only to get word by courier that his majesty and the queen had agreed they should travel slowly through the city to give the people a chance to see them and for themselves to see the city.

First of Its Kind At every available spot stood unnumbered thousands—some calling out greetings, some stand-in pop-eyed and awed at the only welcoming celebration of this kind ever held in this city of parades. Children—hundreds of thousands of them—stood in groups, waving the Union Jack.

The king and queen saw most of the city—its tenements and its mighty skyscrapers, its best and its worst.

At the fair—a "world of tomorrow" visited by a king and queen whose traditions go far back into the world of yesterday—a vast throng saw them. The total number of those who got at least a glance at the royal entourage was figured by Com-

A charge of "robbery with aggravation" will be filed against Lovell, the Johnson county sheriff said.

The sheriff took Lovell into custody Friday when he was found lying along the highway near North Liberty.

In a signed statement, Lovell said that a William McQuinn, Des Moines, who is out on bond from a Des Moines court pending a trial for breaking and entering there, was with him when the holdup was committed here. He told the sheriff that during the holdup McQuinn held the gun on Ressler.

The two stole cars at Des Moines, Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids and Davenport before coming to Iowa City, Lovell said.
