F. D. R. May Take Neutrality Fight to Nation

Aides Hint At Cross-Country Speaking Tour

Follow-Up Strategy Of Administration Remains Uncertain

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—Although congress' refusal to accept administration proposals for neutrality revision represents a serious challenge to President Roosevelt's leadership at a critical time in world affairs, opinions differ in Washington as to the significance of his special message and the full statement it transmitted.

In some quarters, the temperate tone of the president himself and the calmly argumentative form of Secretary Hull's statement were read as indicating that the White House still hopes to induce action by congress without resort to more vigorous presidential tactics. In others, there was a disposition to regard the move as a lull before a storm—if it fails to bring about the action urged. The president himself and his most intimate aides have given as yet no hint at his probable follow-up strategy.

Special Session
The situation has raised again in the minds of congress members, however, a question as to whether a special session might not be called at an early date to resume the struggle to reshape neutrality policy, if there is no final action by congress before adjournment. In the event of an increase of the war tension in Europe, there might be special reasons for summoning congress back and again calling for clarification of that policy before, rather than after, any actual outbreak of war.

Whether, in the event of failure of this new move to sway congress, the president might carry his case to the country in a personal cross-country campaign to stir public resentment remains unknown.

Uncertainty
While some administration aides seem to expect such a development, others doubt it. It is quite possible that no decision has been reached on further steps, or will be until there has been some further definite reaction in congress to the message and the Hull re-statement of the case.

Yet the situation, as it stands, points strongly toward a special neutrality revision session later in the year, particularly if the tension in Europe increases. It is a card Mr. Roosevelt could play at any time if there were ominous developments indicating an early outbreak of hostilities.

Hinges On Europe
It is virtually certain that congress, if adjourned, would be recalled promptly in that event, and, if possible, in time for action before the conflict. Neutrality revision before there is a war crisis is almost more of a point on the Hull program than is the proposed elimination of the arms embargo.

Novelist Leads Round Table Here Tomorrow

Eric Knight, English novelist and author of the much applauded novelette, "The Flying Yorkshireman," will conduct the seventh round table discussion of writers' workshop tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. His subject will be "Writing the Short Story." Knight will also attend the morning seminars of the workshop.

Mr. Knight came to this country several years ago and commutes between New Mexico and New York. He is on his way to Colorado where he will lecture.

Louis Adamic, author of "Native's Return" and "Laughing in the Jungle," will be in Iowa City July 31 to August 2.

Professor Mate Giddings Appointed Acting Head of Home Economics

Prof. Mate Giddings of the University of Iowa home economics department has been approved by President Eugene A. Gilmore as acting head of the department upon the recommendation of Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts.

Professor Giddings has been named to the position pending the selection of a successor to Prof. Frances Zuill. Professor Zuill resigned last Thursday to accept the position of director of home economics at the University of Wisconsin. She had been head of the Iowa department for 15 years.

Professor Giddings has been connected with the department for 10 years. Previous to coming to Iowa she held positions at the Minnesota State Teachers college, Iowa State college at Ames, Purdue university and Illinois Wesleyan university.

Professor Giddings holds B.A. and B.S. degrees from the University of Illinois.

Congress 'Adjournment Bent'; Neutrality Remains in Doubt

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—Congress was adjournment bent today, many members convinced that neutrality legislation is dead for the session and that the administration's new lending program might be shelved until next winter.

"About two weeks more, I would say," was the way one veteran of the senate who knows all its ins and outs, moods and impulses, put the situation.

However, he was ready to agree that his forecast depended largely upon what the administration decides to do. If it should conclude to fight it out on neutrality, for instance, congress, in his opinion, might as well make up its mind that it will be here until "Thanksgiving, or maybe even Christmas."

But he, together with many of his colleagues, was decidedly of the opinion that no such decision would be forthcoming. The general feeling was that the administration, having made its position plain, for the record, by the combined messages of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull on yesterday, would let the situation rest at that.

Hull repeated arguments he has made for repeal of the present neutrality law's mandatory embargo on arms shipments to belligerents, and the president endorsed the secretary of state's views, adding in a message of his own that "in the light of world conditions" it was "highly advisable" to act at this session.

It was apparent, however, that the situation in congress was unchanged and even some advocates of the administration program conceded there was no chance for action at this session.

Killed in Crash
CHARITON (AP)—William Williamson, 54, of Williamfield, Ill., died in a hospital here last night of injuries which resulted when the automobile in which he was riding plunged into a ditch 10 miles east of here on highway 34. His wife and daughter, Gwendolyn, escaped serious injury. The family was en route home from California.

THANK YOU!
"I would like to take this opportunity through the columns of The Daily Iowan to express my appreciation to the coaching staff of the University of Iowa, the local sports writers, the equipment manager and the members of my six-man football coaching class for their cooperation in making possible the exhibition of six-man football Thursday afternoon.

"I also wish to thank Sam Francis for the fine kicking exhibition at the half, and Don Gates of Fargo, N. D., and the other fellows who aided in the officiating.

"I have enjoyed my two weeks here very much, and I hope that the cause of six-man football prospers in Iowa and neighboring states."

Official Fears Mine Fatalities May Total 28

Exhausted Workers Unable To Rescue Nine Trapped Men

PROVIDENCE, Ky., July 15 (AP)—John Daniels, Kentucky's chief mine inspector, expressed fear tonight the death toll in a mine-gas explosion would reach 28 as he hoped that nine of the men would be found alive. It previously was announced 19 miners were dead.

"With all that carbon monoxide gas down there," Daniels said, "it doesn't look like they have any chance."

He made the statement after conferring with 12 exhausted rescue workers who were brought to the surface late today at the Duvin coal company's soft coal mine about a mile north of here. One of the squadmen was overcome before the party emerged, but soon was revived.

Another squad immediately was sent down to carry on the rescue efforts in the pit which was described as being filled with "bad air."

Earlier, F. V. Ruckman, president of the company, said that 19 miners had perished but expressed belief the remaining nine might be saved. He said if they had "sealed in" behind an airtight door, they might have enough "good" air to last "three or four days."

Plane Crash Sends 3 Men To Sea Bottom

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—A coast guard hydroplane which flew 150 miles out to sea today and picked up a sick sailor from a scientific vessel, crashed in taking off again, killing three men and injuring five others.

The plane sank before the three bodies could be recovered; the five other men were rescued by the ship, the ketch Atlantis from the Oceanographic institute at Woods Hole, Mass.

Medical aid for the survivors, the extent of whose injuries was not learned immediately, was rushed tonight on the coast guard cutter Campbell, after the cutter Pontchartrain, with no medical facilities, had stood by the Atlantis several hours.

The sick man, for whom the hydroplane left New York this morning, was George Temple Priest, 36, former Boston real estate man who had gone to sea for his health, and had been stricken with pneumonia.

He was killed when the plane crashed, along with Lieut. William Lee Clemmer, skipper of the plane, and John Radan Jr., aviator pilot of Bessemer, Pa.

2 Die, 6 Hurt In Auto Crash At Sheldon

SHELDON, Ia., July 15 (AP)—A farm woman and her five-year-old son were injured fatally and six other persons were hurt in a collision between two family automobiles near here this evening.

Mrs. Marie Vander Platts, 37, died in Coleman hospital here two hours after the crash and the child, James, succumbed two and a half hours later. Both suffered internal injuries.

Mrs. Vander Platts' husband, a farmer living two and a half miles south of Sheldon, and Marjorie, 9-year-old daughter of the couple, also were injured but were expected to recover.

Vortherm's automobile was reported to have collided with Vander Platts' car as it drove away from the driveway of latter's home about 6

Japanese Anti-British Mass Meetings Continue; Conference Off to Bad Start

SHANGHAI, July 15 (AP)—British actions: Japan notified Britain and other powers of imminent extension of her naval action on the China coast. Dispatches from Tokyo said the meeting between Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita and British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie developed serious differences.

Arita was said to have insisted that the whole field of British China policy—which Japanese hold to be unneutral and favorable to China—be reviewed. The Briton disagreed.

Reich 'Stands Pat' on Question Of Danzig's Return to Germany

Free City Plebiscite Is Most Discussed Settlement Method

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER
MUNICH, July 15 (AP)—Nazi leaders assembled here with Reichsfuehrer Hitler expressed the opinion today that Germany is standing pat on the Polish question and intends that at least Danzig shall become a part of the reich "as soon as it is convenient."

Recent indications were that Hitler would be satisfied with the return of the free city as the first step toward obtaining greater concession from Poland in Poznan—the Polish corridor which separates East Prussia from Germany proper.

The most talked about method for bringing about the proposed union of Danzig and Germany is that of a declaration by the Danzigers that they no longer are bound by the free city constitution as created by the Treaty of Versailles and that they henceforth are a part of the reich.

Nazis then would see what, if anything, happened from the side of Poland and her British and French allies.

Although the larger corridor problem has not been played up in Germany recently as much as has eventual union of the free city with Germany, informed quarters expressed a belief it had by no means been postponed but merely was being held in abeyance for tactical reasons.

The German public has not been permitted to forget that East Prussia is cut off from Germany by the corridor.

Hundreds of young officers are en route from five different military schools to Tannenberg, in East Prussia.

There, next Thursday, Col. Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, chief of staff of the army, will address them on the site of the 1914 battlefield where Germany was victorious over Russian troops.

Hitler also will speak there—on Aug. 17—in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the battle.

Harlan Miner Killed; Another Held In Fray

HARLAN, Ky., July 15 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Ellerbe Carter, national guard commander, said Bill Roberts, 35, idle coal miner, was shot and killed tonight and that Willie Fee, 36, miner, was held for questioning.

The shooting occurred near a roadhouse at nearby Stanfill, Carter said.

Fee, employed by the Mahan-Ellison coal company on whose property Wednesday's fatal "pitched" battle between troopers and pickets occurred, signed warrants against 223 pickets, the general said, adding:

"I wouldn't be surprised if the shooting was not connected with Fee's signing of the warrants."

Carter said he dispatched militia officers to the scene but that Roberts died before a physician arrived.

Orchestra To Play Tonight In Iowa Union

Famous Exhibitions Of American Art Will Be Presented

A fitting climax to the University of Iowa's spectacular summer session, the fine arts festival opens today and will continue for eight eventful, busy days on the university's fine arts campus.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, is general director.

The entire festival, Professor Harper explains, has been designed to display to the public the work which has been done in the school of fine arts during the summer school instruction period.

Following this idea, the main events of the week are five musical concerts, two university plays, five art exhibitions and three fine arts luncheon meetings.

Outstanding Guests
In addition to the student talent, the week's program includes important events by outside artists who have been included to add color and popularity to the festive period.

Headlining these special events, the Lawrence Tibbett recital is scheduled for Wednesday evening at 8:15 in the fieldhouse. This will be the only public recital to be presented during the summer by the famous American baritone.

Accommodations have been arranged for over 7,000 persons, and a large number of the tickets have been sold. Acoustical conditions in the fieldhouse have been pronounced perfect for the singer by both his manager and university sound technicians. Tibbett will use no public address system or amplifiers for his recital.

Another of the important special events is the Friday evening out-of-doors lecture by the famous American architect, Frank Wright. He will appear as one of the university summer lecturers, speaking on the west approach to Old Capitol Friday evening and leading a round table discussion in the house chamber of Old Capitol Saturday at 9 a.m.

More 'First's'
Seven "first's" now mark the opening of the festival. The first of these was the world premiere production of Prof. Ellsworth P. Conkle's new play, "Paul and the Blue Ox," produced before the public for the first time last Thursday evening in University theater.

When the five art exhibits officially open at 9 o'clock this morning, three original paintings by Grant Wood will be hanging in the main lounge of Iowa Union which have never before been displayed to the public in Iowa; two of them have never been seen anywhere before.

Wood's famous "American Gothic" has been borrowed from the Chicago Art Institute by special arrangement, to be shown (See 'REQUIEM,' Page 5)

'Shoot to Kill,' Police Ordered

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—A slaying and a kidnaping put police on the trail of singing Jack Russell today and led them to the honkytonks of West Madison street.

The fleeing convict was sought by state and federal authorities as the man who killed Billy S. Hamilton, 23, of Arkansas City, Kan., and left his body in a ditch near Ringwood, Ill., yesterday.

He was also wanted for the kidnaping of Bud Egholm, 23, of Oklahoma City, Okla., in Kenosha, Wis., last night.

State highway policemen, patrolling all roads surrounding the metropolitan area, carried orders to "shoot to kill" if the fugitive was sighted.

Russell, a former cowboy 39 years old, escaped from the Oklahoma prison guard at McAlester (See RUSSELL, page 6)

1940 Talk - F. R.'s Observations Set Tongues Wagging in Capital

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—Harry Hopkins, secretary of commerce and former relief chairman; Frank Murphy, attorney general and former governor of Michigan; Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to England and former securities commission head; W. O. Douglas, new supreme court justice and former SEC chief; Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture; and Robert H. Jackson, solicitor general.

The Louisiana senator pointed out that all of these, like McNutt, held important places in the new deal and were in general agreement with Roosevelt policies.

Senator Adams (D-Col.), who frequently has differed with the administration, said the senate alone provided more than a dozen potential candidates and listed these democrats: Senators Barkley (Ky.), Clark (Mo.), Byrd (Va.), (See '40 TALK,' page 6)

Police Seek Singing Cowboy Jack Russell for Murder, Kidnaping

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt's observation this week that there were a dozen charming young men who might be classed as potential presidential candidates set political tongues wagging so fast that by today the list had been built up to three times that number.

Just who was on the president's list was a favorite guessing game in capitol cloakrooms, but there was no unanimity of opinion. Mr. Roosevelt did not mention any names, merely telling reporters who wanted to talk about Paul V. McNutt that he thought the new federal security administrator would not be found running as a candidate any more than a dozen others, some of them in the cabinet.

Senator Ellender (D-La.) said president's list "might in-

THE FIRST IOWA FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

THIS EVENING THE Fine Arts festival will open with the University symphony orchestra concert in Iowa Union lounge.

Behind the scene of the Fine Arts festival are men and women who have worked diligently and make possible a festival which really combines three festivals in one.

When the director of the school of fine arts first visualized the Festival, Dean Paul C. Packer, director of the summer session of the University of Iowa, gave it his approval and support.

The first men drawn into the conferences and discussions which began nearly a year ago were the heads of the departments of the school of fine arts, Dr. Philip G. Clapp, Dr. L. D. Longman, and Prof. E. C. Mable.

Another of the world's illusions are those suits in the clothing store windows. They never look that way on you.

the school of fine arts, as well as that of the Iowa Union, have cheerfully accepted increased burdens and responsibilities incidental to the development and promotion of the Festival.

Only through the cooperation of these and many others who have not been named has it been possible for the public to be assured that every program of the Festival will be presented as promised.

It's An Ill Wind

THOUGH Louisiana State university's small school is offensive to all state institutions, it is difficult not to extract from that "affair" a full measure of satisfaction in the situation at Iowa's own state schools.

Pride in the relations between S.U.I. and the state government of Iowa is pardonable, for few states can boast of as clean a slate or as commendable a tie-up.

Unfortunate as the corruption in Louisiana State university is for the academic reputation of state institutions, it affords occasion for students, faculty, alumni and friends of S.U.I. to draw attention to this state-supported institution of higher learning as one that functions as free of "outside" control as any private college or university of the highest standing.

Much of the credit for Iowa's laudable attainment belongs to the state board of education. Those who believe in the value and worth of state universities owe thanks to the Iowa state board of education for an example, past and present, which contradicts any possible conclusions that might be drawn from the LSU incident.

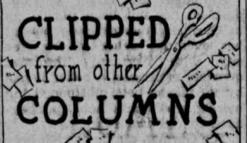

Introducing Assemblyman Schlytter

HERE'S A MAN who has the answer!

Assemblyman Melvin H. Schlytter of Wisconsin introduced in the legislature of that state yesterday a bill which would place a tax of $25 on unmarried men between the ages of 30 and 35; $15 on those between 35 and 40 and $10 on those between 40 and 50.

Sure, it's a great idea. But somehow we can't help wishing that legislators would have their fun "after hours." There must be some intelligent business that needs attention in Mr. Schlytter's state.

A dinner guest, says an article on etiquette, who is more than 20 minutes late, is ill-mannered. And then, again, maybe he just doesn't care for soup.

DECLARING ECONOMIC WAR

In imposing extra duties on Italian silk last week, to offset subsidies made by the Italian government, the treasury department in effect fired another charge in this nation's economic war against dictatorships.

Treasury officials deny that the move has any international significance. They explain it as arising out of the tariff act of 1930, which requires the treasury department to offset subsidies of other countries by adding to the regular tariff a duty equal to the subsidy.

But the economic attitude the new deal has assumed toward the totalitarian powers belies the statements from both treasury officials and the Italian news agency, and merely reflects our government's, not Morgenthau's, growing resentment against the totalitarian's unscrupulous economic policies.

The handling of tickets for all of the many events of the week has been one of the major tasks. The office and staff of the director of the school of fine arts and the desk of the Iowa Union have been busy for many weeks preparing and distributing many thousands of tickets.

War, William James said thirty years ago, can be carried on in the channels of trade as well as in the trenches. That sort of war the United States is engaged in with Italy.

The Book Parade—Of Wind, Sand, Stars and the Himalayas

THE BOOK... "Wind, Sand and the Stars" is the second book of the author chosen as a Book-of-the-Month club selection. Published in France under the title "Terre des Hommes," it was recently awarded the Grand Prix Roman Academie Francaise. Reprinted by Lewis Galantiere, Reynal and Hitchcock, $2.75.

THE AUTHOR... Antoine de Saint Exupery, one of the most noted of French pilots.

THE REVIEWER... Helen McMahon, teacher of high school English and member of the Writers' Workshop.

In this account of his flying experiences over three continents Exupery, the great French aviator, gives a story of superb narrative appeal. At times one can hardly turn pages rapidly enough to satisfy the suspense of the stories.

THE BOOK... "Black Narcissus," a provocative story of the lives of five nuns, set in the Himalayas. Little, Brown, $2.50.

THE AUTHOR... Rumer Godden, who left her native Sussex for India when six months old and has lived abroad 18 of her 31 years. Married to a stock-broker, she is the mother of two little girls, the youngest the courage that the reader feels in the author himself as he and a companion struggle against the desert sand after the crash in the Paris-Saigon flight.

One may read the book only for these remarkable adventures and be well pleased. But he may read it for more, for to Exupery, author also of Night Flight, humanity, not flying, is the "one veritable problem." Thus his sympathy extends not only to his fellow aviators but to two Argentine girls with their pet snakes, to the Moors of the desert who stood motionless before a waterfall in the French Alps, and to the Spanish soldiers who called across the lines, "What are you fighting for?"

It is not surface thrills which are the key to this book. It is the courage and heroism that the author sees in his friend who with his plane wrecked, crawls along the side of sheer mountain walls, climbs slopes that lead to abysses, tramps for five days and four nights without food. It is born just a month after this novel was finished. She lives in Calcutta, has a beautiful garden and breeds Pekingese.

THE REVIEWER... Helen McMahon.

Against a Himalayan background suggestive of Lost Horizon Rumer Godden weaves a story that has several elements of strength. In their attempt to establish a school and hospital in the mountains five Sisters of an Anglo-Catholic order face conflicts of considerable intensity. Adaptation to climate and to native custom, which with less skill of handling might have been merely theatrical, are made the more gripping by the strange effect of the mountain which releases in the sisters unrecognized repressions and potentialities.

THE BOOK... "The Crown" by the great chandler bequeathed to the parish church, lost through the parishoner's neglect, regained by a mother and daughter's sacrifice, again becomes a crown of lights hanging in the little church.

Miss Godden has been so eager to make all her characters individuals that she is not quite subtle in introducing the earlier ones, but she does have a good deal of sensitivity and discernment and her psychological analysis is provocative, to say the least. And at many points her writing is subtle—the love of Clodagh and of "Con" is an exquisite example of her ability to suggest a story through mere reminiscence. Though Black Narcissus falls just short of real distinction, it has much to recommend it.

AT YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY Coyle, Kathleen — IMMORTAL EASE

This novel may seem a bit complex at first but one will be rewarded by persevering. It is the kind of book which, after reading, you cannot wait to share with that discriminating person, whom you have thought about while reading it, and whom you know will enjoy it as you have.

THE GREAT CHANDLER bequeathed to the parish church, lost through the parishoner's neglect, regained by a mother and daughter's sacrifice, again becomes a crown of lights hanging in the little church.

HEALTH HINTS

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

At the meeting of the American Medical Association this spring, Dr. H. Marshall Taylor, of Jacksonville, Fla., read a paper on the sane and sensible way to go swimming.

Even getting out in the sun is not always sufficient. On a windy day it may be just as chilling as the concrete slab. On a windy day the bather must keep moving.

Be Active! The child or adult, particularly when frequently the indoor swimming pool where the body is not exposed to the warm rays of the sun, should be constantly active instead of sitting around on a cold tile floor in a cold wet bathing suit.

Wind May Chill Even getting out in the sun is not always sufficient. On a windy day it may be just as chilling as the concrete slab.

And a vacationist is a fellow who takes snapshots to prove he had the good time he wishes he had had.

Too bad the man who invented and developed the zipper is foreign born. He's one fellow we all would unite to vote for president.

Stewart Says

Senator Barkley May Be on Spot Over Money Bill

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

Sen. Alben W. Barkley, administration leader in the upper congressional chamber, is liable to find himself on a hot spot in connection with our national monetary policies.

It's correct, by the way, to speak of Alben rather as administration than as democratic leader. President Roosevelt definitely picked him as his senatorial generalissimo.

There's been a republican leader—Senator McNary. And a nominal democratic leader—Senator Barkley.

But the money bill? This bill involved powers granted temporarily (mind that) to the president and the treasury. They were due to expire at midnight June 30.

While the issue was pending Senator Barkley contended that they would expire at that juncture. Therefore he demanded a prompt vote. He didn't get it.

It's not or isn't it? The anti-money bill bunch contend that it was too late. Barkley says not. But previously he said the other thing.

In the Courts The question is sure to come up in the courts.

It'll be last for years. It'll be a constitutional question, with Senator Barkley mixed into it.

He'll become historical. He's a small-bore Kentucky politician, but he's liable to rate with our constitutional authorities.

At a guess, it would appear to me that an expired power was expired.

That's what, in advance, Senator Barkley thought.

He said so. Now he says the other thing.

As many a playboy has discovered, headache powders and hangover pills are a poor substitute for self-restraint.

SORTA ON THE SPOT

TUNING IN with D. Mac Showers

MADGE MARLEY, singer heard frequently on the Al Pearce programs, will be James Melton's guest on the CBS "Ford Sunday Summer hour" this evening at 7 over CBS.

Joining the list of topnotchers to do the new Andre Kostelanetz song, "Moon Love," adapted from one of the Tschalkovsky classics, Jane Froman will feature the number in a special arrangement on CBS at 5:30 this evening.

FIVE INSTRUMENTS In the concert orchestra, under the baton of Erno Rapee, are combined to produce the musical effect of a motor horn in the new theme song to be introduced on "Musical Playhouse" tonight.

Henry Aldrich, the incorrigible, will find himself entangled with berries, baglars and bicycles in the third episode of "The Aldrich Family" summer series. The show will be heard over the NBC-Red network this evening at 5 o'clock.

EDGAR BERGEN and Charlie McCarthy will be back in Hollywood for tonight's program and Andrea Leeds will be the guest star.

Unique in the annals of radio broadcasting, a radio program from the Hollywood bowl before an estimated audience of approximately 24,000 persons will take place this afternoon at 4:30 when the NBC-Red network "Grouch Club" originates from there.

THE EVENT OF The special broadcast is the first national convention of grouchers. Aided by various American Legion posts in the 20th district, the convention is expected to be a grand success.

Setting a precedent for sponsored programs, the keynote of the national league session will be a reading of the "Sour Grapes of Wrath" in the form of telegrams unable to attend the conclave.

LEON LEONARDI and his Warner Brothers orchestra will massacre a musical number dedicated to the convention-goers—"You Don't Know How You Can Suffer."

Beth Wilson will feature a new arrangement of "Melancholy Mood" while Walter Tetly, Phil Kramer, Mary Milford and Arthur Q. Bryan will be on hand to give their all in an effort to make the world a grimmer and grouchier place in which to live.

GWEN McCLEARY, topnotch woman radio commentator formerly connected with the Iowa Broadcasting company, has arrived in New York to take over her duties as interrogator on the "Alibi Club," new CBS program to be heard Sundays at 5 o'clock.

The show is a half-hour of dramatizations of embarrassing incidents and is also an audience participation show. Miss McCleary will question the men in the audience and Don Ross will quiz women contestants. Leith Stevens' orchestra provides the music.

GUY LOMBARDO'S program on Monday moves up a half-hour for the summer months beginning tomorrow until Sept. 4 and will be heard at 7:30 Monday evenings instead of 8 o'clock.

A quadruple "Dagwood" sandwich, a restless night and a night-mare combine to make a hilarious "Sunday at Home" mixup of the "Blondie" airshow tomorrow evening at 5:30 over CBS.

HORACE HEIDT begins his new radio show this evening at 7:30 over NBC-Red. It's entitled "Answers from the Danzers" and is a novel arrangement whereby Heidt asks questions of dancers as they dance by the microphone.

J. DENNIS SULLIVAN

It may not be necessary to vote OTTEN, but it's absolutely essential that Hawkeye grid fans vote EARLY this week if Iowa is to have a player listed on the collegiate all-star team which is to play the New York Giants the night of Aug. 30, in Soldiers field, Chicago.

While the 12,392 ballots cast for Balazs, and the 9,641 cast for Allen were gratifying, the big job still remains—that of getting those normally little interested in football to wax enthusiastic enough to cast a ballot.

If you are wondering why you must pay $2.85 for the Iowa-Indiana football game next fall, while seats for the Minnesota and Notre Dame games come at $2.75, it's because the extra 10 cents will go into the Olympic fund.

Joe DiMaggio, purger of Yankee opposition, is hitting a mere .422 as the American league pace setter, getting under way again after faltering for several days, begin to look like the easy winner they appeared to be in the early stages of the season.

The California base-hit fancier is sniping the ball 41 better than Morrie Arnovich, top base knock accumulator in the National league. While in his own circuit, DiMaggio had distanced his rivals, Jimmy Foxx being the only threat—if .63 less is threatening—to his bid for batting honors. And the Cubs could have had him several years ago.

Competition on the links must be getting fierce. In the past several weeks few golf tournaments have been settled at the regulation distance.

Starting with the National open which for a time threatened to go on forever, few major meets have gone into the books without some sort of extra-hole battle before a champion was crowned.

Yesterday, in the P. G. A., it was Byron Nelson and Harry Picard who got themselves involved, Picard finally getting the nod after 37 holes.

While over in Mason City, scene of the Iowa Amateur tournament, Sid Richardson and Jim Hoak hacked away for 40 holes before Richardson won out, and in the finals yesterday, John Vavra, veteran of many golf brawls, pushed his youthful opponent, John Jacobs, two extra holes before grudgingly falling victim of the "youth must be served" adage.

Lou Nova, if reports are true, is going to lift Joe Louis' heavy-weight title when and if he meets Louis, and he's going to do it the hard way.

There's more to this fight business than meets the eye, and Lou's gonna give the customers that turn out to see him battle Louis—again, if and when—an eye-full of "Yoga."

Now Yoga, so it seems, is some sort of Oriental balderdash—incantations, sleep walking or something or other—that makes the recipient practically immune to punishment—maybe.

And Lou's just coming out of his corner and Yoga Joe all over the canvas—according to Lou.

Being something of a natural skeptic, we don't place as much trust in that sort of thing as probably we should. And we're rather inclined to believe that if Lou does any sleep walking, when and if he fights Louis, it will be produced by this same Louis. He's been known to do that sort of thing before. And we can't bring ourselves to believe that unemotional Joe cares much for Yoga in the first place, which figures to render it something less than half as effective as it would otherwise be.

A punch on the chin—the way Louis punches people on the chin—would appeal to us far more than all the Yoga in the Orient.

Leaves To Defend Golf Championship
CHILLICOTHE, Mo., July 15 (AP)—Ted Adams, whose home golf course is a nine-hole, sand green affair, left today on a leisurely trip to Montreal, Canada, and defense of his Canadian amateur crown.

The 22-year-old, black-haired business college representative, plays in an exhibition match at Cedar Rapids, Ia., tomorrow and in a similar contest at Morris, Ill., on Monday.

The trip will be in marked contrast to the one made last year when Adams, who never had a golf lesson, left over the protest of his parents. He spent the night on a bus, arriving in New London, Ont., only a few minutes before going to the tee in the qualifying fest.

Picard's Birdie 3 on 37th Hole Wins P. G. A.

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Handsome Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., showing more fight than an aroused Joe Louis and a better finishing kick than Glenn Cunningham, let loose with all he had on the closing holes today to beat out U. S. open champion Byron Nelson, 1 up in 37 holes, and win the national P. G. A. golf championship.

Before a gallery of 1500 that saw one of the toughest yet one of the friendliest finals in the history of the professional tournament, Picard won with two booming tee shots and two fine putts that gave him birdies on the 36th and 37th holes. The lanky stylist had the shots when he needed them and the courage to make them, and even Babe Ruth never came through better in "the clutch."

Picard, whose victory was worth $1,100 and a place on the U. S. Ryder cup team that will meet the British in Florida in November, turned the tide of battle by coming out of a trap and canning a 25-foot putt to save a half at the 34th hole. That left him 1 down with two holes to play.

The 35th, a short one, was halved in par 3's and Nelson who had played sensational golf all day, was within one hole—one shot, in fact—of becoming the second man in American golf history to win the open and the P. G. A. in the same year.

Nelson had the honor off the 36th tee, and hit a beauty that split the fairway. But Picard, knowing he had to do it here or call it quits for another year, let loose with a terrific tee shot that left him only ten yards short of the green, 300 yards away, the gallery came storming down the fairway and behind came Nelson, the 27-year-old railroad clerk who used to be an amateur in Texas, and Picard, the inscrutable, often dour New Englander who has been a pro for 15 of his 31 years.

They strode through the slim gaps in the crowd and studied their lies. Nelson, playing first, laid one up 20 feet short of the cup. Picard followed with a chip that stopped six feet shy of the hole, and laid his man a partial stymie. Nelson putted and his ball went wide. Still Picard had to sink his putt to square the match. The gallery hushed, Picard sighted along the line, tapped the ball, and it dropped in for a birdie 3.

They went to the 37th, for the first extra-hole final since Denny Shute had to go 37 holes to down Jug McSpaden in 1937, and the fourth in the tournament's history. This time it was Picard's honor off the tee, and again the big six-footer gave it all he had. There was a slight slice on it, though, and the ball dropped into a group of galleries lining the fairway, headed for a sand trap, but instead caromed off a news reel truck.

To give Henry room to play his approach—Nelson's drive had split the middle of the fairway—the truck backed up. As it did so, one wheel rolled over Picard's ball and pushed it down into the dirt. They had to call for a special ruling and Henry was informed he had the right to pick it up and drop it back over his shoulder.

Meanwhile, Nelson had played his approach, six feet from the pin. Picard looked at that, took out his number 8 iron, and put his own ball within 10 feet of the flag.

Henry studied that putt carefully. He walked up the line to the cup and back again. He kneeled down to study the conformation of the green, something he rarely does. Then he hit it and, with never a waver from its proper line, the ball went straight for the cup.

That left Byron squarely on the spot but, in the friendly atmosphere that had surrounded the entire match, he looked the putt over, then turned to the gallery and said:

"Would anyone like to putt this one for me?"

With that, he stroked the ball. It rolled up, then veered wide of the hole. The week-long tournament, which produced an unprecedented number of subpar cards and three days of extracurricular fireworks over Denny Shute's status, was at an end.

Notice

There will be a showing of a sound movie on track and field events, the many stars and how they got to be stars, in room C-1, east hall, tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Edited by Dean Cromwell, track coach at Southern California, whose teams have been romping over the nation's best for the past several years; Lawson Robertson, coach at Pennsylvania and Brutus Hamilton, University of California, the film is reported one of the best produced in its field. George Bresnahan, Iowa track coach, announced that the film, owned by the University of Iowa extension division, will be available for Iowa high schools at a moderate rental.

Clouting Joe Paces League Gets 12 Hits in 24 Times at the Plate To Boost Bat Mark

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—The New York Yankees slumped all right, but their ace hitter, Joe DiMaggio, didn't miss a lick in his runaway race for the American league batting championship.

While the Yanks were losing six in a row last week the great DiMaggio was moving along at a 500 clip, getting 12 hits in 24 times at bat through Friday's games.

This remarkable hitting increased his average 12 points to .432. He got at least one hit in 17 straight games until Friday's game at Detroit when he failed to connect in four tries.

No Contest

His sensational hitting has reduced the batting race to a contest in name only. Jimmy Foxx of Boston is in second place 76 points back at .356. The other eight in the first 10 are Bob Johnson, Philadelphia, .339; George McQuinn, St. Louis, .337; Frank Higgins, Detroit, .335; Roger Cramer, Boston, .332; Charley Gehring, Detroit, .329; Rudy York, Detroit, .327; Buddy Lewis, Washington, .326; and Myril Hoag, St. Louis, and Bill Dickey, New York, .324.

The only newcomers to the week's list are Hoag, an early season leader, and Johnson, who gained 14 points in seven days. Cramer leads in total hits with 104.

Hank Greenberg of Detroit, although slumping to a modest .286, maintained supremacy in doubles and home runs, with 28 and 16, respectively. Taft Wright, Washington, leads in triples with eight.

Ted Williams of Boston held on to his slim runs-batted-in lead, now having 69 and Bob Feller of Cleveland experienced no trouble in staying in front in strikeouts at 123.

George Case of Washington stole one base during the week, running his total to 28, one more than last season's leader, Frank Crosetti, New York, pilfered in the whole season.

Atley Donald, Yankee rookie, was knocked out of the box during the New Yorkers' losing streak but didn't receive credit for loss before the rising young star stopped the veteran's fourth title bid.

A beautifully played shot from the rough, a typical demonstration of the youngster's mastery of the irons, was the stroke that settled the match.

Iron Master

Under the branches of a tree where his ball was imbedded in the grass, young John fired away and his ball soared 100 yards to the green, stopping seven feet from the cup and leaving him a certain par four.

Vavra, who three times previously had reached the championship final, shot his second near the edge of the green, the ball bouncing against the leg of an over-anxious spectator, deflecting the ball's course, however, did not injure Johnny's chances. He failed to come up cleanly with his third stroke, the ball staying eight feet from the pin.

He carefully studied his putt, stroked the ball and missed. That meant loss of the title. Blond John smiled, motioned a conces-

So Head Football Coach Eddie Anderson, right, and Jim Harris cast their vote in the all-star poll to select the collegiate eleven that will face the New York Giants, champions of the National Professional football league, in the annual battle scheduled for the night of Aug. 30. The first Iowa City ballot count yesterday found

Quick Tankers To Appear In State A. A. U.

JEFFERSON, Ia., July 15 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—The University of Iowa will be well represented when the State A. A. U. swimming and diving championships get under way next Sunday at Jefferson.

Iowa Swim Coach Dave Armbruster, along with several Iowa tank stars have signified their intentions of being present to see that the Hawkeyes gain their share of swim honors.

Armbruster will serve as referee and Charles McCaffree, tank coach at Iowa State, will act as starter.

In addition to Iowa and Iowa State stars, ace tankers from all over the state will be on hand to make the meet one of the best in years.

Entries have been received from Des Moines, New Hampton, Fairfield, Ft. Dodge, Denison, Webster City, Waterloo, Cedar Rapids, Iowa Falls, Clarinda, Sioux City, Boone, Davenport, Burlington, and other cities have requested entry blanks from J. R. Gobble, secretary of the Jefferson chamber of commerce, sponsor of the meet.

Bill Osmanski Totals 1,189

Stars Receive Good Support in Initial Iowa City Vote Count

Frank Balazs, popular fullback of last year's Hawkeye football team, polled an impressive total of 12,392 votes toward a position on the all-star collegiate team which is to play the New York Giants, champions of the National Professional football league, Aug. 30 when the first Iowa City count was forwarded to the Chicago Tribune yesterday.

Bob Allen, whose friends in Iowa City and Chicago are working hard for his cause, came through with a strong 9,641 total, which should go far in moving him toward the upper brackets of guard candidates. Allen, in yesterday's count—not including the Iowa City vote—stands 15th in the poll. Balazs, getting good support in Chicago, is in notch seven, trailing Larry Buhler, smashing Minnesota fullback, by 4,217 votes. Yesterday's count gave Balazs 12,197 which added to the Iowa City 12,392, should move the big fellow up a notch or two in the standings.

Varied Vote

Votes weren't confined to the two Hawkeyes, however, as many votes were cast for such stars as Goldberg of Pitt; O'Brien of T. C. U.; McGoldrick of Notre Dame; Aldrich of T.C.U.; Hejman, Boek and Kischer of Iowa State, and "Bull" Bill Osmanski, Iowa freshman coach and star of Coach Eddie Anderson's Holy Cross eleven of last year. Osmanski polled a neat 1,189 in Iowa City balloting.

The vote count, which exceeded the estimate of 10,000 as of Friday, must be still larger when the next total is forwarded tomorrow night to Iowa, for the first time since 1936, is to have a representative on the squad.

Many thousands of votes are necessary to land a player on the team, and the 12,392 Iowa City count must be augmented by some heavy voting through the week if Balazs and Allen are to carry the Old Gold into the all-star tilt.

Voting closes July 22, which leaves six more days in which to PLACE A HAWKEYE ON THE ALL-STAR TEAM. VOTE TODAY!

Stars Advance

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 15 (AP)—Harry Todd, blond bomber from Dallas, Tex., and Larry Moller, poker-faced sharp shooter from Quincy, Ill., shot their way into the finals of the western amateur golf tournament today and will match strokes over 36 holes for the title tomorrow.

Jacobs Defeats Vavra

Youthful Star Nips City Rival In Extra Holes

MASON CITY, July 15 (AP)—Stocky Johnny Jacobs, a cool, deliberate 18-year-old lad apparently destined to a high rank among the country's amateurs, took his first big step in that direction today when he won the Iowa amateur golf championship from his close friend and fellow-townsmen, John Vavra of Cedar Rapids.

The two finalists, however, conceded nothing to friendship today as they battled through 38 holes of bitterly contested golf before the rising young star stopped the veteran's fourth title bid.

A beautifully played shot from the rough, a typical demonstration of the youngster's mastery of the irons, was the stroke that settled the match.

Postponed 'Sippi Valley Meet

The Mississippi Valley tennis finals, postponed yesterday afternoon because of rain, will be played tomorrow afternoon starting at 1:30 on the library annex courts, it was announced by Ted Swenson, tournament director.

The first match on tomorrow's program will bring together, for the second time this year, Jean Totten of Rock Island, and Louise Kuhl of Beatrice, Neb. Miss Kuhl was the victor in the first match between the two stars, but her victory was far from decisive. The match went three sets before Miss Kuhl could come through with the needed points.

Dick Hainline will defend his men's title, won in last year's tournament, when he meets Bill Freistat in the singles final. Hainline is a top-heavy favorite

Browns Topple Nats, 8 to 7, In Series Windup

ST. LOUIS, July 15 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns shook off their ninth inning complex today and won, 8 to 7, from the Washington Senators in the third and rubber game of the series.

Dr. Ellis Flax and Ken Cline of Iowa City will attempt to keep the Rock Island representatives from taking all of the titles, when they meet the Hainline brothers in the doubles final. The local men are both veteran netsters, and have won most of their matches through accurate placements. The Hainlines rely on power rather than pace and accuracy.

Swenson announced that there will be an admission charge of 25 cents for the finals.

Australians Win

LONG BEACH, Cal., July 15 (AP)—Australia brushed aside the last gallant stand of the Philippines today and moved on to victory in an American zone International Davis cup campaign.

Philly Batter Adds to Lead

Arnovich Adds 4 Points to Average During Big Week

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Morrie Arnovich may be overlooked when they're looking for hitters in an All-Star game, but he can't be overlooked when he comes to bat for the Philadelphia Phillies in a National league contest.

During the short week concluded Friday he played in four games, went to bat 16 times and got seven hits to increase his percentage from .376 to .380.

Bonura Fades

In the same stretch Zeke Bonura of the New York Giants, his principal pursuer, dropped 15 points to .344 so that Arnovich, after some two months at the head of the National league hitters, now is couched more comfortably than in a long time.

The 10 leaders are Arnovich .380, Bonura .344; Buddy Hassett, Boston .343; Frank McCormick, Cincinnati .337; Ival Goodman, Cincinnati .326; Mel Ott, New York .324; Debs Garms, Boston .313; Merrill May, Philadelphia .309; Harry Danning, New York .307.

Bat Spree

Hassett staged another of his spectacular hitting sprees during the week to inflate his mark 24 points and soar from ninth to third in the listing. The only other change of moment inside the group was Goodman's jump from 10th to sixth ranking.

Brown, however, retained his lead in total hits with 103. There were few changes among the individual leaders. McCormick, who managed to get back in front in the runs batted in classification last week, boosted his total to 66 and his team mates, Bill Werber and Lonnie Frey, remained deadlocked for the honor of scoring the most runs, 62.

Alumni Weddings, Engagements Revealed in Iowa Communities

Gladys Kilberger, Married Yesterday To Drake Alumnus

Although June, the traditional month of weddings is past, announcements of marriages of former students and alumni of the university are still being made in many Iowa communities.

Kilberger-Holtz

The marriage of Gladys Kilberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kilberger of Swisher, and Earl Holtz of Des Moines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Holtz of Dysart, took place Saturday at the First Methodist church in Des Moines, with the Rev. C. Clifford Bacon, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Holtz was graduated from the university, where she was affiliated with the Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She also took graduate work at Duke university in Durham, N. C.

Mr. Holtz was graduated from Drake university where he was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity. He has taught music in the Monticello and Des Moines public schools. He is now connected with the Prudential Insurance company in Des Moines.

After a wedding trip to New York and the east, Mr. and Mrs. Holtz will make their home in Des Moines.

Ankeney-Ireland

Meta Ankeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ankeney of New Sharon, and George Ireland Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ireland of Cedar, were married Thursday evening in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. R. C. Buchanan, pastor of the Methodist church of New Sharon, officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Ireland was graduated from the New Sharon high school. Mr. Ireland was graduated from the Cedar high school and attended the university two years.

They will make their home near Cedar where Mr. Ireland is engaged in farming.

Clapsaddle-Gildner

In a candlelight ceremony in the First Presbyterian church at Burt, Rachael Clapsaddle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Clapsaddle of Burt, became the bride of William F. Gildner of Waterloo, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gildner of Mason City, at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Mr. Daams officiated at the ceremony.

The bride wore a long gown of mousseline de soie with a long train and finger tip veil which was caught in tiara of orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses, tiger lilies and lilies of the valley. Mary Elise Clapsaddle, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Mary Stuart Bagley of Audubon and Darlene Scott of Burt were bridesmaids. Robert Peterson of Council Bluffs served as best man.

Mrs. Gildner was graduated from the university and has been doing social welfare work in Knoxville during the past year. Mr. Gildner was also graduated from the university and studied for one year at Columbia university, New York City, and for the past year has been connected with the Waterloo Gildner clothing store.

Mr. and Mrs. Gildner left for a wedding trip to the Great Lakes and upon their return will make their home in Waterloo.

Wilson-Linder

Dorothy Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Ellis Wilson of Waterloo, and L. von Linder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Linder of Kennett, were married at the First Methodist church in Waterloo at 8 p.m. June 29. The Rev. Henry Weiss officiated at the ceremony.

The bridesmaids were Marjorie Harker of Waterloo; Grace Margaret Moist of Indianola; Ruby May Dempsey of DeWitt and Virginia Wilson, a sister of the bride. The maid of honor was Lorraine DeBuhr of Albert Lea, Minn. Howard Roberts served as best man.

Mrs. Linder attended Iowa State Teachers college for three years and received her B.A. degree from the university. For the past year she has been art supervisor in the schools at Indianola.

Mr. Linder attended Mason City junior college and Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls. He taught at Aurora before he came to Waterloo where he has been employed in radio station WMT.

Mr. and Mrs. Linder left after the wedding reception for Minneapolis, Minn., where they will make their home.

Camp Cardinal Reopens Today

Girl Scouts Finish Second Registration As First Unit Ends

Two girls registered yesterday for the final session of Girl Scout Camp Cardinal which opens today. Sixteen other members of local troops had registered earlier.

The two are Betty Shaffer and Barbara Kubik, both of whom will be members of unit one. The entire membership of the camp will be divided into two units with separate leaders in charge of each group.

Gladys Merriman of Spear Fish, S. D., is camp director. Other staff members include Mrs. Dewey Stuit, Mrs. Janet Fesler, Catherine Corso, Laura Mae Miller, Mrs. Elizabeth Schilling, Erna Kelberger and Billie Young.

The first session of camp ends today. The staff was the same for the earlier session, and the camp was likewise divided into two units.

Mrs. Kirk Porter is chairman of the camp committee. The other members of the committees are Mrs. Helen McMahon, Mrs. James W. Jones and Mrs. Hugh Carson.

For Summer Work

These hot July days bring added grooming problems to the career girl who must spend her day in an office or retail establishment. Cotton or linen frocks that launder easily are the best solution for keeping cool and neat. Simple accessories, detachable collars and cool colors are important features to watch for when selecting summer office working clothes. The dress shown above is a wise choice. Black imported linen is used in this cool looking model. The detachable bib and cuffs simplify the maintenance of that "well-cared-for" look.

Fancy Fillings, All-Bran Crust Combine To Form Tasty Pies

Gone are the days when the pie shell was just a container for a filling—it's part and parcel of that good pie taste now that bran is in the making!

Pie is one of the oldest food forms in history—even good King Arthur and the knights of the roundtable ate 'em—but they only knew the meat variety.

The American housewife was the genius who pushed the pie on to greater glory—with fancy fillings, nut like bran pastries, and even lattice work toppings for peaches to peak through.

Not one, but two, fingers will be "in the pie" if it's made with one of the delicious fillings given here and put in all-bran pastry shell.

All-Bran Pastry
1-4 cup all-bran
1 1-2 cups flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup shortening
4 tablespoons cold water (more or less)

Roll all-bran until fine; combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water, a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on a lightly floured board to about one-eighth inch in thickness.

Place rolled pastry loosely in pan. Fold extended edge under and flute. Prick pastry shell with fork and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes one 2-crust pie or two 8-inch pastry shells.

Apple Cream Pie
3-4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup sour cream
1 egg
1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1-8 teaspoon salt
2 cups finely chopped tart apples

1 recipe of all-bran pastry
Combine sugar and flour; add cream, well-beaten egg, vanilla and salt. Beat until smooth. Add apples and mix thoroughly. Pour into pie pan lined with all-bran pastry. Bake on lower rack in hot oven (450 degrees) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees; raise pie to upper rack and bake 25 minutes longer.

Combine flour, sugar, butter and cinnamon and mix thoroughly. Sprinkle over top of pie and continue baking in slow oven (325 degrees) about 20 minutes. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Gardening Is His Hobby

"I like to be able to go out and pick a nice bouquet," that's how Wilbur R. Shields (above) feels about his garden. He is shown cutting a bouquet of the lovely phlox which are blooming now in the garden of his home, 1010 E.

Burlington street. Gardening is Mr. Shields' hobby, and each year he plants, cultivates and later cuts many and varied blossoms. From early in the spring until late in the fall, there are always flowers blooming in Mr. Shields' garden.

By MARION THOMPSON

"It isn't my business. It's just an old-fashioned garden, which takes up my time and provides me with an interesting hobby," says Wilbur R. Shields, 1010 E. Burlington street.

Mr. Shields has been raising a garden for 82 years and with the exception of two years has raised them all in the same spot. Each year he has tried to raise an entirely different type of flower. Most of his flowers are perennial, and each year he saves the seeds from the various flowers to plant next year.

"I start at the very earliest day possible in the spring to plant my flowers, and I have a flower growing every day until the very latest possible day in the fall."

Mrs. Shields helps him sometimes, and sometimes she has her own garden plot. Then the two have a contest to see who can raise the best flowers, but Mr. Shields says that Mrs. Shields always chooses his blossoms in preference to her own, so he concludes that his must be the best.

"It's nice to be able to go out and pick a nice bouquet when you wish it for a table or for someone who is ill," Mr. Shields says, and so each year he raises his garden.

Visitors Feted At Memler Home

Honoring Mrs. Ray Memler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pruyn of Sioux City, who are visiting here, Mr. and Mrs. Memler entertained at a dinner party Friday evening in their home, 134 Parsons avenue.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Dewight Dean and E. S. Dean, all of Tipton.

Group To Meet At Hiscock Home

Mrs. Fred Hiscock, 718 Oakland avenue, will serve as hostess when the members of the Letter Carriers auxiliary meet Tuesday at 2 p.m. in her home.

Business transacted during the recent state convention will be discussed at this session.

for the first time in Iowa during the festival. "New Road" and "Haying" are Wood's two newest works, completed within the past three weeks. These two new works will hang with the display today and tomorrow only.

Other Exhibitions

Other exhibitions of art are 18 paintings hanging with Grant Wood's in Iowa Union lounge by Marvin Cone of Cedar Rapids. In the art building are 40 paintings by American artists loaned as a part of the 16th Biennial exhibition of contemporary American oil paintings from the Corcoran art galleries in Washington, D. C. These will hang in the exhibition lounge and auditorium of the art building.

On the walls of the art building corridors hang 71 works, including painting, design and graphic art, by graduate students of the Iowa art department.

The fifth exhibit hangs in the women's lounge in Iowa Union and consists of seven works by Christian Abrahamsen, noted Chicago artist.

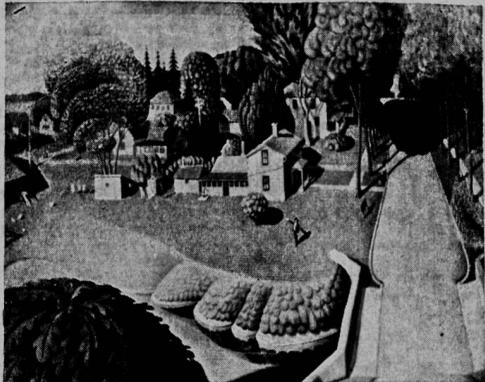

Clapp Symphony

The fifth "first" will be Prof. Philip G. Clapp's symphony, "The Pioneers," composed for the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago in 1933 and never used. It will be performed for the first time in public tonight when the University summer session symphony orchestra conducted by Professor Clapp presents the first of the five festival concerts in the air-conditioned main lounge of Iowa Union.

Subsequent concerts on the campus musical talent program will be (1) a concert tomorrow night of American chamber music presented by the university music faculty string quartet, (2) a Tuesday night concert by the summer session symphonic band, the brass choir and the all-state madrigal singers conducted by Paul C. Dawson, Modeste Alloo and Ardit J. Larson; (3) Thursday night, a program by the all-state high school orchestra and chorus conducted by Prof. Charles B. Richter, Modeste Alloo and Thompson Stone, and (4) the Sunday, July 23, concert, concluding the festival by the summer session chorus and the summer session symphony orchestra, both conducted by Thompson Stone and presenting "Mazzoni Requiem" by Verdi. All concerts are in the main lounge of Iowa Union and all start at 8 p.m.

In addition to the first performance of "The Pioneers" on tonight's concert program, the Brahms double concerto for violin and cello will be presented by Prof. Hans Muenzer and Prof.

'Birthplace of Herbert Hoover'

"Birthplace of Herbert Hoover" is one of 14 Grant Wood originals on display in the main lounge of Iowa Union during the fine arts festival beginning today and continuing through next Sunday. This painting is an actual reproduction of the boyhood home of former President Hoover in West Branch. It was loaned to the university for this display by Gardner Cowles Jr., who owns the famous work. Two of the paintings in the display were completed within the past three weeks and will not be on display after tomorrow. These are "New Road" and "Haying."

Hans Koelbel as co-soloists with the orchestra.

Rarely Performed

According to Professor Clapp, conductor of the orchestra, this double concerto is rarely performed because of the difficult intertwining of parts. It can be played only by players who have worked together many years in order that they obtain perfect balance and precision. Tonight's soloists have played together professionally since 1919. Both played in Leipzig, Germany, concert organizations for several years before coming to the United States in 1922.

Tonight's performance with the orchestra and tomorrow night's performance with the string quartet will be the final appearances on the Iowa campus for Professor Muenzer, who has resigned from the university music faculty to make a professional concert tour of Europe.

Included in the program of American chamber music selections tomorrow night will be the other two "first" performances, one of which was composed by an Iowa music faculty member who is also a member of the quartet.

Quartet members are Professor Muenzer, Professor Koelbel, Prof. Arnold Small, composer of one of the numbers, and Otto Jenek. These men play violin, cello, violin and viola respectively. Professor Clapp accompanies the quartet on the piano.

Two Plays

Two plays are the contribution of the dramatic arts department to the festival. The first of these, "Paul and the Blue Ox," opened last Thursday night in air-conditioned University theater and runs through Tuesday.

The second, "The House of Connelly" by Paul Green, opens Thursday night for a four-day run. Paul Green is on the Iowa campus during festival week to work with Director Vance M. Morton on the play.

Joint rehearsals for these two plays have been carried on in the theater during the summer session. In addition, costuming and stage set building has been carried on simultaneously for both productions.

Luncheon Meetings

One of the most brilliant series of the entire festival will be the noon luncheon meetings, these to be tomorrow, Tuesday and Thursday noons in the river room of Iowa Union.

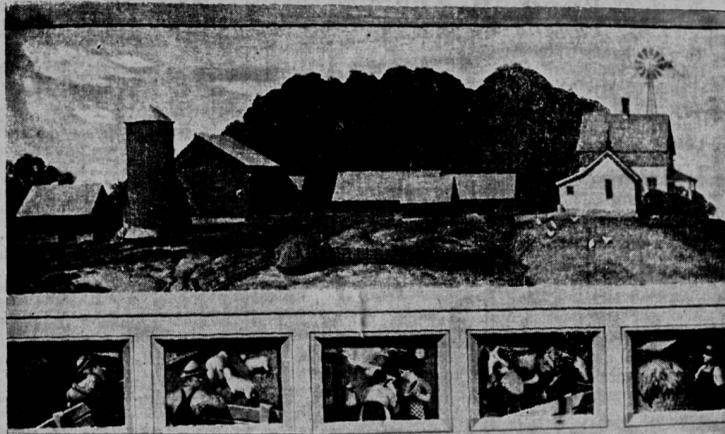

The luncheons will feature Grant Wood, Paul Green and Lawrence Tibbett respectively. They are designed to bring representatives of the art, dramatic arts and music departments — the three in the school of fine arts — before the public.

A fourth meeting on this program, though not a dinner meeting, brings a fourth department of the fine arts, this one not represented by a department on the Iowa campus. It will be the Friday evening lecture by Frank Lloyd Wright on American architecture, followed by the Saturday morning round table.

Thursday Jean Charlot, noted French painter, who is a visiting lecturer in the Iowa art department during the summer session, will present a lecture on "Mexican Murals" at 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the art building.

WSUI Broadcast

A daily feature of the week will be Professor Clapp's classroom broadcast of his class in "The History and Appreciation of Music." This will occur daily except Saturday at 2 p.m. The "Farm Life," pictured here, is one of 18 paintings by Marvin Cone, well-known Cedar Rapids artist and close friend of Grant Wood. Eighteen of Cone's works are hanging in the main lounge of Iowa Union with 14 of Wood's. Cone's type of painting is similar to Wood's in some pictures. Many of his works, as the one pictured here, are painted on separate panels dealing with the principal

Prof. J. H. Arnold Will Give Chemistry Lecture Tomorrow

Talk on Diffusion Will End Summer Chemistry Series

"Diffusion: A Dark Corner of Science" will be the topic of Prof. J. Howard Arnold of the University of Iowa chemical engineering department when he delivers the last of four chemistry department summer lectures at 7:30 tomorrow evening in room 321 of the chemistry building.

Professor Arnold will present a general survey of the field of diffusion pointing out the nature of diffusion, the importance of diffusion in the natural processes of plant and animal life and its importance in industry, particularly to the chemical engineer.

The talk will be illustrated with slides. Professor Arnold has announced. The lecture will be of a technical nature of interest to chemists and general science students.

Other lectures on the series have been given by Dr. E. C. Mabie, Dr. Joseph I. Routh and Prof. L. Charles Raiford, all of the chemistry department.

Playwright Aspirants—Interested Students Invited To Attend Green Round Tables

Paul Green, whose "The House of Connelly" will be presented as the second play of the fine arts festival, will be a visitor to the campus this week, and will work with Director Vance Morton in the presentation of his play.

In addition, Green will conduct this week the round table discussions of Prof. E. C. Mabie's experimental theater seminar for five days beginning tomorrow.

Professor Mabie last night invited those who are interested in plays and play writing to join the seminars led by Green, meeting each day from 9 to 11 a.m. in the University theater lounge.

Looking Ahead to A New Experimental Theater Season--

By MADELYN MILES

The world premiere of E. P. Conkle's "Paul and the Blue Ox" this week focuses attention on the experimental theater which will produce new plays during the next school year.

Wide recognition has been given to University theater's policy of the production of new plays in advance of New York. It has the enthusiastic approval of producers, playwrights and critics, among them Sidney Howard, Owen Davis, Arthur Hopkins, Percy Mackaye, Barrett H. Clark and Eugene O'Neill.

The work of the experimental theater, organized as a graduate seminar in the speech and dramatic arts department, a part of the school of fine arts, will continue next year. Advanced students in stage direction and stage design are brought together with playwrights, to revise, to rework imperfect new scripts in the studio, to devise and carry out experimental projects and to test new work before an audience.

The work of the experimental theater is under the direction of Prof. E. C. Mabie and other members of the permanent staff of the department. Those who will have special assignments in the work of the experimental theater next year are Prof. Hunton D. Sellman, Marion Galloway and Robert Whitehand. They will assist Professor Mabie with play reading, stage direction and technical mounting of these plays.

Professor Mabie has issued an invitation to those who are interested to submit manuscripts for next year's program. To receive consideration for the productions during October and November, those manuscripts must be delivered to the office, room 10, Schaeffer hall, before Aug. 1.

Among the manuscripts already available from which the selection of the program is to be made are the following:

"Gilded Prairie," by Warren M. Lee, about winter wheat in Kansas and the conquering of the prairies.

"Good Neighbor," by Marcus Bach, the conflict between the simple life and ideas of the Mexican peon and Americans.

"Return to Exile," by Robert Whitehand, the love story of Sam Houston.

Johnny Appleseed

"Johnny Appleseed," by Ellsworth P. Conkle, a chronicle of the wanderings of a fascinating legendary character.

"Ex-President," by Emmett Lavery, a satirical comedy of American politics.

"Will to the Rock," by Marian Galloway, a stark tragedy of a group of modern Amazons.

"Sales Manager," by Joseph Hauser, a satirical comedy of business.

"Nor All Your Tears," by Albert Johnson.

"Hernando Cortez," by Marcus Bach, a biographical play about the conqueror of Mexico.

"Heavenly Express," by Albert Bein, a fantasy set in railroad yards in a western junction town.

"Lady Wildcat," by Frederick Cleibacker, a swiftly moving comedy about Calamity Jane.

"The Ford of the Sepulchre," by Wilbur W. Wiswall, a poetic tragedy of the Spanish and Indians in the southwest.

"Right-o-way," by Carl Weber, which concerns pioneering and oxbreaking in early Iowa.

A Green Play

"The Enchanted Maze," by Paul Green, a satire on modern university life and administration.

"God's Great Acres," by Arthur Clifton Lamb, the Negro sharecroppers' plight in Alabama.

"God Made the Country," by Maud Sumner Smith, a conflict between two sisters, the appeal of the city in conflict with the appeal of the country.

New plays which utilize material from the history of Iowa, Nebraska, the Dakotas and the western country are given preference.

Dates for the experimental series are:

- I. Oct. 24-28, 1939.
- II. Nov. 21-25, 1939.
- III. Jan. 9-13, 1940.
- IV. Feb. 6-10, 1940.
- V. April 16-20, 1940.
- VI. May 14-18, 1940.

First Nighters

The audiences for the experimental productions will be members of "First Nighters" club, composed of those who, by making application, declare their interest in the experimental theater project. They will become active participants in the experimental theater project by writing statements of what they like and what they do not like about the play.

The number of seats is limited, so applications should be filed early. Those who neglect to send the written statement about the play will forfeit their seats to others on the waiting list of "First Nighters" club.

Applications will be received from season ticket holders for the community series only. Tickets are not transferable. Those who wish to be included in the list of "First Nighters" for the experimental series will send applications directly to Professor Mabie.

Many Plays

Professor Conkle's "Paul and the Blue Ox" follows a long series of experimental productions of new plays, including such outstanding successes as his own "Prologue to Glory," Paul Green's

Cincinnati Rally In 8th Inning Overtakes Giants; Adds to Lead

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—The red hot rivalry between the Cincinnati Reds and the New York Giants broke into a furious argument between the Giants and umpire over a home run by Harry Craft today and resulted in the banishment of three New York players before the Reds won 8 to 4.

In the eighth inning Craft lined a drive into the lower right field stands, scoring one ahead of him to put the Reds in front 5 to 4. The entire New York team immediately swarmed around the umpire arguing the ball had fallen foul.

Paychek, Strickland
Rematched for Fight

DES MOINES, July 15 (AP)—Promoter Pinkie George announced tonight he has re-matched his Des Moines heavyweight, Johnny Paychek, with Maurice Strickland of New Zealand who won a newspaper decision from the local boy last month.

George said the fight will be held at the Des Moines baseball park Aug. 7.

Whether the bout will be a 10 or 15-rounder has not yet been decided, George said, although he prefers the longer stretch.

The amount of guarantee offered Bill Day, Strickland's manager, was not disclosed, although George offered only $5,000 for a rematch immediately after the last meeting of the two fighters. Day refused it.

Dodger Gardeners Get no Assists As Fat Fitz Wins

BROOKLYN, July 15 (AP)—A four-run eighth inning enabled the Brooklyn Dodgers to capitalize on Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons' effective pitching today with a 6 to 2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the deciding game of their series.

Fitzsimmons held the Bucca-niers to seven hits and his out-field was not called upon to handle a single fielding chance during the afternoon.

The Dodgers pushed across a run in the fourth on a walk and Babe Phelps, double and Arky Vaughan, hit in another in the fifth on an error. Vaughan homered in the sixth and in the eighth singled, stole second and scored on Chuck Klein's double to tie the score.

No Fight

SEATTLE, July 15 (AP)—If Al Hostak and Freddie Apostoli meet in New York City one of these days it will be on a strictly social basis.

Because, Eddie Marino, Hostak's manager, said today, Apostoli had blown his last chance to pit his two-state middleweight crown against the Hostak top-piece, recognized in 46 states and by the National Boxing association.

They Make News Here and There

John M. Carmody

President Roosevelt's spend-lend program would be the final step to America's industrial recovery. That's what John M. Carmody, new federal works administrator, declared when he appeared to speak in behalf of the chief executive's plan before the senate banking and currency committee in Washington.

George Meany

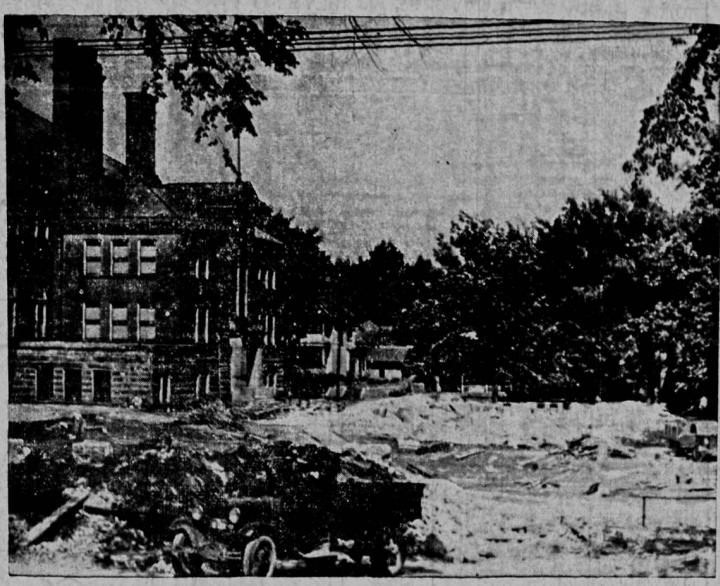

"Hourly wages of skilled craftsmen on WPA projects cannot be slashed without setting precedent for private employment," said George Meany, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, regarding WPA - AFL clash. The WPA strike threatened to spread over the country as thousands left projects in the New York area.

Reportedly leased by Premier Mussolini of Italy to Chancellor Hitler of Germany for 10 years is Trieste, industrial seaport on the Adriatic, shown on the map. Its strategic position would make the Nazi nation a power in the Mediterranean.

Playground Will Soon Replace Familiar Landmark

Razing of the 47-year-old junior high and 54-year-old administration buildings of the public schools, above, is nearly completed and a playground will be provided where the two buildings were located. In the foreground is the remains of the junior high building, remembered by many here as the grammar school. At the right of the picture is the old Iowa City high school building which will be used as the junior high school. The gym is the only other structure left in the block.

Increase Reported In Truck Licenses For Johnson County

More truck licenses have been issued so far this year in Johnson county than for any previous full year. B. V. Bridenstine, head of the motor vehicle department, reports.

The 1,317 truck licenses granted to date surpasses by 42 the all time high for any one year set in 1938.

Bridenstine revealed that 269 more plates for passenger cars have been sold to date this year than for the same period of time last year.

Applications for other licenses have been normal, he said.

The goat is a sensitive creature and most fastidious about its food, in spite of its reputation for eating tin cans and other rubbish.

Davis Named Head of Group

S. H. Davis, manager of a local service station, will head an Iowa City organization which was formed yesterday as a part of a state and national movement for the promotion of travel on U. S. highway 6.

Henry Herring was elected secretary of the group and Ernest Kuenzel, state director and adviser for the local area. The meeting was attended by a number of men interested in the undertaking.

Delegates from the local chapter will attend a meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Grinnell with representatives from cities on the highway between Des Moines and Iowa City. The purpose and work of the organization will be explained and plans made for future activity. Cars for the trip will be provided and members are asked to meet at the Jefferson hotel at 5 p.m.

Charles A. Bowman, secretary of the chamber of commerce, was elected secretary of the Iowa chapter of U. S. 6 Roosevelt highway association which was recently organized in Des Moines.

The highway, named after former president Theodore Roosevelt, is the only transcontinental highway which bears the same number its entire length. It extends from Boston to Los Angeles.
