REPORT RUSSIAN SUBMARINE DOWN

Lost 8 Days in Wilderness, Exhausted Boy Scout Finds Way Out

SHERMAN, Me., July 25 (AP)—Donn Fendler, exhausted and practically naked but far from the death to which searchers had virtually consigned him, staggered out of the northern Maine wilderness late today—35 miles from mile-high Mt. Katahdin where he wandered away from climbing companions eight days ago.

The 12-year-old Rye, N. Y., Boy Scout's moaning cries carried across the east branch of the Penobscot river in nearby Stacyville plantation to the ears of Nelson McMoarn.

To the sporting camp proprietor, who was amazed at finding a wild-eyed, emaciated boy at the edge of the river-bank undergrowth, Fendler explained he had "lived on what berries I could find," adding "I drank stagnant water from pools in the rocks until I came to fresh water."

"I never heard any shouts," Fendler told the McMoarns as they described to him the frantic efforts of his companions to find him in a fog that enveloped Katahdin's boulder-strewn summit.

"I followed down stream," the boy told the McMoarns, "until I came to a telephone line. Then I followed that until I saw the river and the camps."

The mountain slopes had torn all his own clothes away, even his underclothing, and his shoes had fallen off his feet.

"I love you," was all the father was able to say, and the mother set out at once for the camp, eight miles from the Linnocet-Roulton highway. The father, suffering an eye injury received during the hunt, was unable to leave.

German Paper Declares 34 Sink in Arctic

Unconfirmed Bulletin Reveals Ship Crash Off Northwest Coast

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—The fifth submarine disaster of the year was reported today by the newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter which said a Soviet Russian ship had sunk off Murmansk in the Arctic ocean with 34 men aboard.

The report, which was not corroborated from any other source, said the submarine had collided with another ship during naval maneuvers and gone down in deep water where the depth and a rough sea made rescue extremely difficult.

Contact Man The Berlin newspaper, however, said a diver had been able to make contact with those inside by pounding on the submarine's hull. The fleet maneuvers were immediately halted. Murmansk is in northwestern Russia.

Voelkischer Beobachter's account was under a Moscow date-line and was based on "Reports from Murmansk."

(No other German source had heard of the accident, however, and in Moscow no information was available from official Soviet circles.)

Fifth, If True If true, the disaster was the fifth of the year beginning with the loss of the Japanese submarine I-63 on Feb. 2 when 81 men went to their deaths.

The United States submarine Squalus sank with a loss of 26 lives on May 23, the British submarine Thetis went down on June 1, with 99 dead men still in her hull, and the French submarine Phoenix sank off Cam-Ranh bay, French Indo-China, on June 15 with 63 men aboard.

Russia Boasts Power (The accident was reported while Soviet naval officials were boasting of their newly-built naval strength. Admiral Nikolai Kuznetsov, in a speech that was reported by Soviet authorities Tuesday, declared Russia had more submarines than any other country in the world. Warning Japan, he asserted the Soviet had more submarines than Germany and Japan combined.)

(Jane's authoritative publication on world naval strength, credits Soviet Russia with 134 submarines built and 30 building. Japan is reported to have 64 built and 12 building, and Germany 39 built.)

Asks Military Rule for Spain Commander De Liano Would Dismiss Party, Franco Talk Discloses

HENDAYE, France (near the Spanish frontier), July 25 (AP)—General Gonzalo Queipo De Llano, fiery nationalist commander, was reported today to have asked Generalissimo Franco to form a military directorate to rule Spain and to oust the blue-shirted falangist party.

Queipo De Llano, backed by a number of other nationalist leaders including General Juan Yague, former commander of the Moroccan army corps, General Jose Solchaga, another civil war commander, minister of finance Andres Amado, and leaders of both the Carlist and Alfonso monarchist groups, was said to have made the proposal today in a second interview with General Franco at Burgos.

According to reports reaching the border, one of the group's requests was that Ramon Serrano Suner, General Franco's brother-in-law and minister of the interior, be ousted from the government.

Files Petition In Iowa Death CHEROKEE, July 25 (AP)—A suit for $5,000 damages in connection with the death of Ruth Maxine Knudson, 17, while an inmate of Cherokee state hospital for insane, was filed here today against Dr. Charles F. Oberman, superintendent, and Marie Ballman, a former attendant, at the institution.

Japanese Will Close Canton River for Two Weeks

Move To Stop Shipping Trade With Hongkong

Shameen Concessions Of Britain, France Will Be Blocked

HONGKONG, July 25 (AP)—The Japanese navy announced today that it would close the Canton river for two weeks beginning at midnight tomorrow in a move reported reliably as designed to blockade shipping between Canton and this British crown colony.

Simultaneously with the closing of the river, explained officially as for "military reasons," it was said the Japanese also planned to blockade the British and French concessions on Shameen island at Canton.

Notice Served Notice of the river closing was served today by the Japanese consul at Canton on consular authorities of the United States and other foreign powers.

Foreign quarters at Canton were without official information, however, on the reported plans to blockade the British and French concessions at Canton, where the United States consulate and American business houses are located.

Reports here said Japanese sentries would be posted at both bridge entrances to Shameen and that all persons entering or leaving the island would be searched, as they have been in Tientsin concessions of the two powers, where a Japanese blockade has been in force since June 14.

Purpose of Action Foreigners expressed the belief that closing of the Canton river to third power shipping was decided upon for large scale mop-up operations or for landing troops for action elsewhere in coastal Kwangtung province.

Working against time, a United States gunboat prepared to sail from Hongkong to Canton, 60 miles up the Canton estuary, to reach there before the Japanese blockade becomes effective.

A radio message received here tonight from the captain of the British steamer Haitian said the $3,554-ton ship had struck a mine off the China coast which tore a hole in her side and flooded her holds. The skipper advised that the ship was in no immediate danger.

Mine Fields Laid Japanese naval authorities announced recently that mine fields would be laid northeast of Swatow and at other points along the south China coast.

It was believed possible, however, that the mine might have drifted from fields laid by the Chinese some time ago off Poochow and Ningpo, further north. The Haitian was enroute from Hongkong to Hinghwa, south of Shanghai. She carried no passengers.

At Chungking, China's provisional capital, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told a Koumintang (government party) assembly that China's friends were too sensible to tolerate a "Munich" settlement of the Japanese-Chinese war and that such a move was "unthinkable."

DOG DILEMMA

How Does A Canine Sign Name?

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—John H. Bouse, registrar of wills, must write a dog a formal letter, and it's going to put the United States mails in an awful pickle.

Mrs. Mary R. Herman left a $2,000 trust fund for her dog, Flossie. Maryland law requires Bouse to notify any beneficiary by registered letter immediately if a will is filed for probate.

But addressees must sign for registered letters in person. Bouse hopes the mailman has a nice time teaching Flossie to write.

British Airmen Are Vigilant

Watch Coastline For German Planes Reported on Border

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—The royal air force was reported today to be keeping a "keen watch" on England's east coast following the appearance in recent weeks of German military aircraft which may have actually crossed the English coast line.

The report was made by Capt. Norman MacMillan, the Daily Mail's air correspondent. The German machines apparently have been engaged either on "specific exercises or normal routine training flights," Captain MacMillan wrote.

He added that they had been noted particularly in the vicinity of the Thames and Humber river estuaries "on a number of occasions in the past few weeks."

It was pointed out that there was nothing in international law to prevent foreign military aircraft from carrying out exercises up to the three mile limit off the coast.

But MacMillan asserted, "There is evidence, however, that certain German planes, flying at great heights, either singly or in groups of three, have actually crossed the English coastline."

Devroy Shoots Himself After Slaying Two

GREEN BAY, Wis., July 25 (AP)—Joseph Devroy, 45, sought following the slaying of his wife and mother-in-law, shot and seriously wounded himself late today when police cornered him on a farm about seven miles north of Green Bay.

Senate Debates $2,490,000,000 Lending Bill

Congressman Denies Measure Is Step Toward Bankruptcy

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The climactic struggle of this congressional session opened on the senate floor today when Senator Barkley (D-Ky) arose to begin debate on the $2,490,000,000 lending bill and to scout opponent's charges that the big measure was another step toward bankruptcy.

There was "nothing to give alarm" in the fiscal picture, said the majority leader, adding that there was a large amount of unused capital in the country and that because it was not being put to work, the government had to step in and take steps to promote recovery.

Earlier, a special committee on national debt policy, composed of house republicans and headed by Rep. Reed (R-NY) issued a report condemning the lending bill as a "device for increasing the public debt by subterfuge." It called the measure "spending by deception" and "state socialism by stealth."

Under the bill, the money would be raised by the RFC through the sale of securities to the public. It would then be loaned on projects which, sponsors of the measure contend, would pay for themselves and permit repayment to the government. Thus the program would be apart from the federal budget, and would not be reflect in the deficit of public debt as stated by the treasury.

Widen Search For Lost Boy

Bloodhounds Attempt To Locate Missing Minnesota Youngster

LAPORTE, Minn., July 25 (AP)—Bloodhounds were brought into the search for six-year-old Russell Jensen of Albert Lea, Minn., tonight as a posse of volunteer searchers sped their hunt through insect-infested timberlands south of here where the boy disappeared Monday.

One of the dogs today was put on a trail leading from a place searchers believed the lad had rested. The hound, however, ran into a hornet's nest and was so badly stung he had to be taken off the scent and replaced by another dog brought from some distance away.

Despite the delay, searchers led by Sheriff E. C. Churchill of Park Rapids said they were optimistic the boy might be found soon.

Governor Asks Coordinating Safety Group

DES MOINES, July 25 (AP)—Gov. George A. Wilson tonight advocated the appointment of a three-man coordinating committee to determine the working policy of the state department of public safety in connection with safety education campaigns.

Plant Life on Mars?

Inverted, as seen through an astronomical telescope, is this drawing of Mars showing the "Lake of the Sun" which, according to color photographs, has changed its shape and shows dark blue and green, suggesting the presence of plant life on Earth's sister planet. The red planet is coming closer to the earth than it has been in the last 15 years.

Lewis Invades Building Field

CIO Leader Plans Organization of New Industrial Union

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—CIO leader John L. Lewis today invaded the building construction field, long dominated by the powerful and closely knit building trades unions of the American Federation of Labor.

In a formal statement, Lewis announced that he would organize a new industrial union among the 3,000,000 wage earners he estimated were in the industry.

His move, which may bring the CIO and AFL into bitter conflict on a new front, will be carried out by an organizing committee headed by his brother, A. D. Lewis, and a staff of some of the top ranking CIO leaders.

The new unit will be known as the United Construction workers organizing committee.

Japanese Call Navy Reserves To Active Duty

TOKYO, July 26 (Wednesday) (AP)—The Japanese admiralty today called naval reservists to active duty and simultaneously it was disclosed that a new squadron has been organized and attached to the combined fleet.

The new squadron, it was said, would begin "special maneuvers" with the fleet.

While the maneuvers ostensibly were annual summer exercises to be held on a somewhat wider scale than usual, observers believed the new squadron and the calling of reservists at this time were connected with the friction with Russia over the Sakhalin island oil and coal concessions.

Admiral Mitumasa Yonai, who told of the new squadron in a press interview, did not state the number or type of ships it would include.

Negotiates For Russo-German Trade Treaty

Nations To Increase Commerce; Plans Believed Significant

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—Nazi Germany and communist Russia, ideological opposites, have embarked at a time of grave international tension upon trade negotiations, announcing to the world that they are desirous of increasing the commerce between them.

Neither side believes it is yielding in its abhorrence for the political system of the other by perfecting machinery for battering Russian raw materials against German industrial products.

That trade talks are resumed at this particular time is significant. It is evident from utterances and attitudes on both sides that these trade talks fit into the political maneuvers of both powers.

Foreign diplomatic quarters in Berlin are convinced that Joseph Stalin in Moscow welcomes the negotiations as a means of inducing the British and French to improve their offers for a mutual aid pact with Russia.

They point to the fact that among the prominent persons who attended the Munich art festival July 16 was the counsellor of the Russian embassy, George Astachoff, while representatives of the western powers were absent.

As for the Germans, their official spokesmen never fail to mention the possibility that Poland may find herself ground between the German and Russian millstones.

CIO Members Demonstrate

Chicago Employees Ask Consideration Of All Grievances

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—CIO members employed in Armour and company's thirty-first street plant staged a noon hour demonstration today against what they termed the firm's failure to consider individual grievances satisfactorily.

Herbert March, official of the packing house workers organizing committee, asked the plant officials to discuss the grievances immediately.

A. J. Potter, assistant superintendent, told March the matters would be taken up at 4 p.m. tomorrow, the regular date for the grievance committee meeting.

Workers filed from the plant at the noon hour and listened in orderly manner to addresses by March and Burdette King, chairman of the PWOC at the plant.

Women Fugitives Captured in Dallas

Officers Get Velma West, Mary Richards

YORK VILLAGE, Me., July 25 (AP)—Without waiting to change the dress she wore in the final act of the play "Brief Moment" at the Ongunquit playhouse, blonde film star Madge Evans, 30, eloped tonight with Sidney Kingsley, 32, Pulitzer prize winning playwright, and was married here by a justice of the peace.

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—Two women identified as convicts who escaped from the reformatory for women at Marysville, Ohio, on June 20, were captured in the market section of Dallas tonight.

They were Velma West, 32, under a life sentence for the slaying of her husband, and Mary Ellen Richards, 23, serving 10 to 25 years for highway robbery, Detectives C. O. Buchanan, J. F. Daniel and Ben Sanford said.

Two other women fugitives were being sought. Velma West told a reporter the four women obtained a set of keys to the gates and escaped during the night. They decided to hitchhike to Dallas, but Florence Shelton, one of the four, left en route. The remaining three arrived here three weeks ago, with Virginia Brawdy the fourth fugitive leaving the other two several days ago. Her whereabouts, they told officers, were unknown to them.

The detectives were provided with reliable information that the women were in Dallas and later were given additional information as to their exact whereabouts.

Velma West entered the reformatory in 1927 and Mary Ellen Richards entered five years ago. "I've been in jail the last 12 years," Velma West said, "and after seven years the board of pardons told me it was useless for me to seek my release any more. Ever since then I've been looking for a chance to escape."

Public Rights Involved In Hatch Bill?

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt hazarded an opinion at his press conference today that there might be some principles of government, constitutionality and free speech involved in the Hatch bill to prohibit "pernicious" political practices.

He added, however, that he did not know about those points, as he had not read the measure. Asked whether he would sign the bill, Mr. Roosevelt turned the question aside by saying it would be referred to the justice department and other government agencies for study.

He did not amplify what he said yesterday at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home concerning a conference there with James A. Farley, national democratic chairman. And, obviously enjoying his own pun, he suggested it would be a good idea to describe as tommyrot reports that "Tommy" Corcoran a White House confidant, was trying to have Farley ousted as democratic chairman.

He told a reporter who asked about the reports that tommyrot referred to the story and not to Corcoran.

Arabs Return Young Pastor To Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, July 25 (AP)—Exhausted and ill as a result of eating tribal food, the Rev. Gerould Goldner, 29, kidnapped Ohio minister, was returned to the holy city and the arms of his father today, just a week after he had been taken captive by a wandering Arab band in the Moab hills.

Describing the experience, which ended in a friendship feast with his captors, the young pastor declared it was an adventure "I'll never forget nor want to do over again."

Father Overjoyed The overjoyed father, Dr. Jacob Goldner, also an Ohio minister, and the son made no mention of a ransom payment, but it was learned that the Bedouin emissary who conducted the final negotiations, carried $2,500 on his trip into the hills—half the amount that was originally demanded.

Minister Kidnaped Week Ago, Feted At Friendship Feast

JERUSALEM, July 25 (AP)—Exhausted and ill as a result of eating tribal food, the Rev. Gerould Goldner, 29, kidnapped Ohio minister, was returned to the holy city and the arms of his father today, just a week after he had been taken captive by a wandering Arab band in the Moab hills.

Describing the experience, which ended in a friendship feast with his captors, the young pastor declared it was an adventure "I'll never forget nor want to do over again."

Father Overjoyed The overjoyed father, Dr. Jacob Goldner, also an Ohio minister, and the son made no mention of a ransom payment, but it was learned that the Bedouin emissary who conducted the final negotiations, carried $2,500 on his trip into the hills—half the amount that was originally demanded.

District Commissioner Keith Roach, driving his automobile between Bethlehem and Bebron, saw Goldner riding a donkey toward Jerusalem, ascertained his identity and rushed him to his waiting father at the Jerusalem Y. M. C. A.

Father and son embraced with tears of joy. "Gee, pops, I'm glad to see you, pops," cried the young minister. The son was immediately taken to a private room and given warm food in an effort to ease his stomach pains.

He ripped off grimy clothing, supplied by his Arab captors, took a shower and shaved, all the while talking animatedly to his father and his friend, Rev. Clifford Moore of Akron, O., of being hidden in a dry well in the desert.

In Good Condition While Goldner talked, Dr. Kalliban, a Jerusalem physician, completed his medical examination and announced his condition was good except for exhaustion, diarrhea and bites from sheepsicks while in captivity.

Goldner related that he left the gang's latest hiding place near Hebron shortly after noon, after he and his captors had kissed each other on both cheeks and had sown "eternal friendship."

Goldner's story, as told The Associated Press, was that the captors "treated me fine, but there was once or twice when things came to a close shave, and I thought the end was near."

Hitting The Germans Where It Hurts

OVERINDULGENCE IN eating is not only injurious to one's own health, but also constitutes a form of treason.

That statement comes from a speech by Dr. G. M. Wirz, an official in the nazi bureau for public health, according to a story in the New York Times. In Stuttgart last week, Dr. Wirz told his countrymen that they consume too much meat, use too much fat and drink too much beer (about 18 gallons annually per capita).

Germans have always been associated with rich food and lots of it, with such staples as wurst, potatoes, cabbage, sauerbraten, koenigsberger klops, pork and veal appearing on even the humble tables. Rich pastries and whipped cream were almost staples, and no German would dream of taking a trip without carrying ample lunch.

Under Hitler's rule there has been a tightening of belts. The German nation has been on war rations for some time, it reports from that country are correct. The food shortage—denied by Germany but affirmed by nearly every correspondent and visitor who has traveled among the nazis—undoubtedly lies behind the speech of Dr. Wirz.

The word "treason" has been used to cover many decrees by the third reich, but probably no other restriction has hit the average German citizen such a terrific physical blow as this one to the stomach.

The Automobile As An Aid To Government

AMERICANS ARE really serious when they express the feeling that their automobiles are indispensable. Proof of this fact is given in the current issue of Automobile Facts and Figures, statistical annual of the Automobile Manufacturers association.

So necessary did Americans regard their cars during 1938 that they spent, for gas taxes alone, about one dollar out of every 40 they earned. The country's gasoline taxes last year averaged 4.96 cents a gallon and aggregated an astounding $1,530,000,000.

Broken down so the individual car owner may see himself definitely in the picture, the statistics show that the aggregate yield from federal, state, county and municipal gas taxes last year was $28.77 for each passenger car and $59.52 for each commercial vehicle registered at year's end. This is about .32 of a cent for each mile travelled by passenger cars and .59 of a cent for each mile covered by commercial vehicles.

No longer can anyone doubt the importance of the automobile to Americans. The amount the individual owner contributes to the gas tax pot shows how valuable he regards his car. And the aggregate gas income tax reveals how important the automobile has become to government.

Youth Has Its Ups And Downs

DURING THE last few days the newspaper pages have been filled with notes of comment and criticism of contemporary youth. Governor Luren Dickinson's radio address stirred considerable comment in both younger and older circles. The good governor became alarmed at what he termed "social brutality." It appears that his recent visit to New York afforded Dickinson an opportunity to gaze upon the evening hours of the elite world. What he saw apparently convinced him that the temptations of youth were something to write home about.

On the other hand, Aubrey Williams, national youth administration head, strikes an optimistic note when he declares that the last ten years have shown that American youth has "what it takes." He impressed the world with the pleasant note that there is a chance for the youth of today in spite of the fact that they have grown up during one of the hardest periods in the last fifty years. Instead of giving up after high school or college seemed out of the question, young people continued bucking the line and sought out jobs on their own initiative.

These facts were evidenced in an NYA study recently completed. It may be true that youth has reached the bounds where the line between tempting and being tempted is very narrow. But we believe that what Governor Dickinson saw in New York testified very inadequately to the moral state of today's youth. Instead, it is apparent that the gentleman's views were those of a very nice, but inexperienced old man whose picture of the world has been taken from the limits of the front porch. We admire him for his consideration, but we cannot take such worries too seriously. Youth has had its fling in every generation and progress in the finer things in life has never been deterred.

We rather like Williams' terse approval of the youth of today. Young people do strive to succeed in spite of the urges of pleasure and fancy. Besides the apparent good time which life seems to have become, there is always the serious hazard of joblessness or failure which keeps staring youth in the face. If observers care to acknowledge the fact, the youth of today is even more cautious than were their forefathers. But they are also endowed with the sense of humor allowing them to "take it."

A DESPERATE DEMONSTRATION

When Mr. Gandhi gets angry at his British bosses, he cuts out his lunch. Chinese gentlemen of the old regime insulted or aggrieved by wicked mandarins, are said to have committed suicide. Japanese samurai go the hunger strike one better by cutting open their tummies when beset by the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune.

Up to now we have practically none of that in America, not even in our own effete East. It is true that some of our militant suffragettes arrested for picketing President Wilson once tried a variant of the Pankhurst hunger strike by stripping off all their clothes in Occoquan jail—and 'way back there, clothes were clothes.

But, by and large, American annals are almost 99 44-100 per cent pure of contamination by nonresistance, nonviolence or any of that strange stuff.

But a disturbing portent of tomorrow comes from New York's "World Tomorrow," world's fair. Describing the goings on when the management recently fired some of the hired hands, we read in the New York Times: "Most of the dismissed employees, took the blow calmly except for some individual grumbling, but some of the information cadets, the smartly uniformed young college men trained to 'front' for the fair as hosts to visitors, staged a series of demonstrations to protest against the disbandment of the entire corps."

Aha! The Red Menace on college campuses!

Here's the shocking story: "During the evening a group of youths jumped into a pool in Constitution Mall to dramatize their resentment. They waded about 350 feet through the pool from the Four Freedoms statues to the George Washington statue, yelling and shouting, pulling out their shirts and otherwise mocking the smart appearance they were supposed to present."

We trust that the young gentlemen took off their gloves before administering this collective slap on the naughty wrist of Beau Whalen.

As a "demonstration" of "discontent," this may be indeed a portent of the "World Tomorrow." No one can discount its novelty on the American scene—this pulling out one's shirt. The American formula has been to pull off the other guy's shirt.

Mars is edging closer to the earth these days, according to astronomers. That planet cannot be inhabited by intelligent beings, else they would realize their danger of being annihilated.

We wish the Russians would hurry up and finish that world's tallest skyscraper in Moscow. We're anxious to see if they'll put a penthouse on top of it.

GERMAN FALL MANEUVERS

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By George Tucker

New York — They tell me the old shell game and three-card Fannie have staged a tremendous return to popularity in the Harlem dives. Three card Fannie is a shell game variation in which two aces and a queen are used. The man shows you the cards, shuffles them, then places them face down on the board and bets you you can't "pick up the lady."

The sucker gets a better break for his money on this one, as it is difficult to palm cards when only three are showing. But you can stand at the shell game counter and watch play for hours without seeing anyone but the stooges win. Props for the shell game consist of three walnut shells and a little green pea.

The shark places the pellet on the table and by deft maneuvering scrambles the shells so that the victim doesn't know just where the pellet is. He bets you two to one you can't guess which shell covers the pea. A good guess is that it is under none of the shells, but between the operator's fingers. However, if you make this charge, you should be ready to defend yourself.

The shell game is as old as gambling itself, originating probably with the Chinese, who invented card playing and most other forms of gambling. Records of it go back to the middle ages. It was a favorite pastime of slicksters during the Restoration period in England, and in this country steamboat gamblers employed it successfully on Mississippi river boats before the Civil war.

Sometimes you see Negroes, who are adept at sleight of hand, in the subway stations practicing the shell game. No silver is ever used. Only folding money fits into their scheme. The logic behind this is clear. If a cop comes, it is easy to flee with folding money grasped firmly in your hand. But if you use silver, it is awkward to handle. You are likely to sprinkle the sidewalk with nickles, dimes, and quarters.

In Herbert Asbury's "The French Quarter" is the astonishing tale of Canada Bill, a sure thing gambler who won and lost for months and was so lucky that other gamblers were loath to bet with him. Eventually he died, without a cent to his name, and was buried by the mayor of Reading, Pennsylvania. As the coffin was lowered into the grave, one of his pals, who was standing by, turned to another of Canada Bill's old companions.

"Bet you a thousand dollars to five hundred that Canada Bill was not in the box."

"Not with me," the other replied, "I've known Bill to squeeze through tighter holes than that."

Canada Bill was different from most gamblers who plied the Mississippi. Instead of the costly Paris made boots, the $45 hats, and the flowing black ties affected by the gentlemen gamblers, Bill posed as a yokel. He formed the habit of sitting in bars, twisting his hair into little ringlets, like an idiot, and occasionally flashing bank-rolls, which made him appear an easy mark to those who saw him. Monte, or three card Fannie, was his specialty, and he was one of the very few who could successfully palm the Queen and substitute another card.

HEALTH HINTS

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

I suppose there is not a week goes by but that someone asks me, "Is exercise good for you?"

It is a question that cannot be answered categorically. Sometimes it is, and sometimes it isn't. At least it should be taken with due regard to age, the weather and general condition of health.

So I am glad to find some support for my ideas in Dr. Dudley Reed's interesting book, "Keep Fit and Like It" (published by Whittlesey House, of New York City).

Doctor Reed lists the exercises that should be taken at different ages and seasons in the following manner:

30 to 40 Years: Winter: badminton — singles, doubles; bowling, curling; handball — singles, doubles; ping-pong or table tennis; racquets; riding; skating; skiing; snowshoeing; squash racquets; swimming; tobogganing; volleyball; walking. Summer: archery; badminton — singles, doubles; canoeing; fishing and casting; golf; horseshoe pitching; lawn bowling; mountain climbing; riding; roque; rowing; sailing; shooting — rifle, skeet, trap; softball; swimming; tennis — singles, doubles; volleyball; walking.

News Associations Little Perturbed By F. D. R. Criticism

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

President Roosevelt isn't succeeding very well in scaring the news associations. The other day one of these big outfits broadcast a story to the effect that F. D. and State Secretary Hull had disagreed relative to the wording of the recent executive message to congress on the subject of neutrality. The White House tenant thereupon issued a statement denouncing this yarn as "wholly false." It's quite a bit of a jolt to be put on this nation's chief magistrate's Annals list. But did the head of this particular association show any signs of perturbation? He did not. He issued a statement on his own part saying he had every confidence that his organization's reportorial staff's version was strictly accurate. He didn't specifically charge that the presidential denial was "wholly false," but he strongly implied it.

Well, THAT association wasn't intimidated. But were OTHER similar associations frightened into a greater degree of discretion? Far from it. A few days later a second one disseminated an account of a purported conspiracy by the White House "inner circle," to purge Postmaster General Farley out of his cabinet post and his national democratic committee chairmanship. It was a good deal better calculated than the initial publication to provoke 1600 Pennsylvania avenue. At this moment of writing the president hasn't yet reacted to it, but considering how vigorously he responded to the first one, the second installment ought to get something really vitriolic.

There are three major "spot news" associations in the United States. F. D. apparently is on the outs with two of them. Seemingly the third will have to be mighty careful to escape getting into the same classification. It's embarrassing for a news association to be in bad odor at the White House, but it likewise is a handicap for the White House to be regarded with hostility by a big news association.

Not So Bad: At that, the Roosevelt-Hull story wasn't so bad.

Everybody knows that the president and his state secretary concur that the executive mansion should have more authority on the neutrality issue than present law allows to it. The only alleged question between them was this: F. D. supposedly was inclined to send quite a "sassy" neutrality message to congress. Hull was said to prefer milder language. It wasn't an essential clash, and it wasn't so represented.

The second (alleged) row is different. It's now contended that there's a vital party split—that the new deal bunch is at odds with the democratic national organization. It's true, of course. We all know it.

But the point is: It's been emphasized on a small verbiage issue between President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull. If the president hadn't called anybody a "liar" it wouldn't have been noticed so much.

Presidential Popularity: President Roosevelt isn't so darned popular with the press gang. He's told too many of 'em to "go stand in a corner." It may sound funny in print, but the scribes don't like it.

He has his few friends, but they're not general.

Well, his FEW friends—they're among newspaper friends I'm mentioning.

Roughly speaking, F. D. seems to be getting in bad with the newspapermen in Washington. We have a kind of a brotherhood among us—regardless of the president. If we know what he says is "Phooey!" we know it's "Phooey!" no matter what he says.

Warmer, Cloudy Forecast For This Vicinity

Warmer and cloudy forecast for this vicinity for today by the weather bureau at Des Moines leaves little hope for cooler temperatures in the immediate future.

Excessive humidity, according to university hydraulic laboratory recordings, has made the slightly below normal temperatures of the last few days uncomfortable.

The mercury hit a high of 84 degrees yesterday, 4 degrees below normal, after climbing from a low reading of 66 degrees.

The period from July 21 to 30 is, on average, the hottest period of every year, with average readings of 88 degrees, 43-year-old records of the hydraulics laboratory show.

Should the weather man conform to normal standards, the days of extreme heat should diminish beginning Sunday.

TUNING IN

with D. Mac Showers

JERRY COLONNA, the mad professor of double-talk heard over NBC with the Bob Hope show, will pay a visit to George Jessel's Celebrity program tonight at 7:30 over the NBC-Red network.

While on vacation, Dave "Hobby Lobby" Elman will take the typical businessman's holiday and hunt for interesting hobbyists to have on his "Hobby Lobby" program in the future.

ARLENE FRANCIS, co-star of "What's My Name?" is leading a busy life this week. Besides being on "What's My Name?" she has a five-time-a-week daytime show, was a guest conductor of Horace Heidt's "Answers to the Dancers" program last Monday and was a guest on "If I had the Chance" yesterday.

Horace Heidt, regular conductor of the "Answers to the Dancers" show on Monday nights, as announced before, is in the Doctor's hospital in New York City recovering from an appendectomy.

KAY KYSER and his "College of Musical Knowledge" troupe will be seen in the forthcoming picture, "That's Right, You're Wrong," which goes before the cameras early in Aug. This engagement will delay his return for several weeks.

Many dialers are curious to know whether more than one vocalist sings the titles on Kay Kyser's programs. The answer is "no"—versatile Harry Babbitt handles the chore alone.

A SUGGESTION—Kay's musical class program at 8 o'clock tonight over NBC-Red is one of the best for music and fun on tonight's schedule.

More guests for the Celebrity program tonight—another comedian, a swing group and an advice-to-the-lovelorn expert will appear in addition to Professor Colonna, announced earlier.

BERT LAHR, just returned from Hollywood where he appeared in "Wizard of Oz," is the comedian; the swing group is the Kidoodles, vocal and instrumental harmonists, and Beatrice Fairfax, emcee.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

Courageous Lou
He'll Play Again
Second Injury

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—The sign on the door said "No visitors" but the nurse said all right, go in, but don't stay too long, so we tiptoed into the bright room high in Polyclinic hospital, peeked tentatively around a screen, and said "Hello."

Lou Chiozza flashed white teeth in a quick smile and said "Hello, sit down" so we took a chair by a window here where a soft breeze from the Hudson ruffled the curtains and looked inquiringly at the No. 1 accident victim of the current baseball season.

He didn't look much like an invalid, with prematurely grey hair topping a face tanned to a rich brown. The only giveaway was a leg propped up on four pillows and encased in enough plaster to cover a ceiling.

Courageous Lou

We had a quick flashback to that ill-omened afternoon at the Polo Grounds 10 days ago, and the picture of Lou sprawled on the grass in agony after a collision with Jo-Jo Moore, but with the ball still clutched in an upraised hand.

They found his left leg broken in three places, and to a ball player that might be the same as a pianist losing his fingers or a bookkeeper his last pen. It might mean the end of a career. But Lou was bright as a new dime, despite the fact last night was the first time he had slept since he was hurt.

"The pain has been terrific," he said with a Memphis drawl. "I'm so full of hypodermics and pills I'm dopey. It's much better today, though."

"I don't know just how it happened. Joe and I just came together chasing the ball, the collision knocked me five feet. The rest is all hazy. When I found I couldn't get up I said to myself: 'My leg is broken.'"

He'll Play Again

"The doctors have been telling me it set nicely, and that I'll play again. At first I thought they were just kidding me to keep up my spirits, but I've heard it so much I'm beginning to believe them."

"We have a little restaurant down in Memphis which keeps me busy during the winter. I suppose," there was a pensiveness note in his voice, "I suppose if I can't play again I'll just spend all my time in the restaurant business."

"Everybody has been swell to me. All the fellows dropped in before they left for St. Louis, see..." He pointed to the cast, which had more signatures on it than a bank blotter. "And I listen to the games on this radio. There's a nice view from here, and there's usually a breeze from over the river."

Second Injury

"This is my second serious accident. I was out the last six weeks last year with a dislocated shoulder. I guess I'm jinxed."

He made no mention of the grand opportunity to come through for the team that the accident cost him. A utility infielder, he was subbing at shortstop for the suspended Bill Jurges. It was his chance to show his stuff.

But he wouldn't mention a thing like that. He just isn't that kind. And you left with the impression that he appreciated the kindness shown by his friends, but that he didn't want them to feel too badly for him.

He went out playing the game to the last second, with the ball clutched tightly for the putout even as unbearable pain knifed through his leg. He hopes, and the fans hope, that he'll go back in next year to take up where he left off.

Indians Maul Mackmen, 12-8

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (AP)—Cleveland and Philadelphia saved most of their thunder for the ninth inning but the Indians' bats spoke loud, netting them nine runs to five for the Athletics and 12 to 8 victory for the first game of their three-game series.

Chisox Still Comiskey Owned

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—The name of Comiskey—which for two generations helped build the sport—will continue in baseball.

Filing of the will of J. Louis Comiskey, who died a week ago, disclosed that the Chicago White Sox baseball club was left to the widow and three children, with its affairs to be controlled and directed by the First National bank of Chicago.

All the shares in the ball club, except 50, were owned by Comiskey, whose father, Charles A. Comiskey, founded the team almost 40 years ago after a brilliant playing - managing career. These shares numbered 7,450, at a par value of $100 each. The remaining 50 shares are held by Harry Grabner, vice president and secretary of the team.

Comiskey bequeathed half of his shares to his widow, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, to be held in trust, with the other half to be held in three separate trust estates for the equal benefit of the three children, Charles A. Comiskey, II, now 13 years old, Grace Lou, 18, and Dorothy, 22.

The will directed that the First National bank, as trustee, direct the running of the club and Paul Godehn, member of the law firm representing the Comiskey family, said the bank likely would elect a board of directors to handle the American league team but that no change in policy or management was contemplated.

In his will Comiskey directed that Grabner and Joseph Barry, traveling secretary, be retained in their present positions.

Comiskey, who took control of the White Sox when his father, "the old Roman," died in 1931, stipulated it was his wish that no shares of the stock in the team be sold until his son, Charles,

Walters Hurls, Craft Homers, Reds Win, 2-1

ST. LOUIS, July 25 (AP)—Bucky Walters hurred the Yankees to a 2-1 victory in the first game of a doubleheader at Yankee stadium.

Red Leg Ace Registers 17th Win of Year

CINCINNATI, July 25 (AP)—Harry Craft hit his eighth homer of the season with a man on in the seventh tonight to give Cincinnati a 2 to 1 victory over the Boston Bees before 28,682 fans.

It was Bucky Walters' 17th win of the year and his sixth straight and put the Reds ten games in front of the field.

The game, running off in an hour and 20 minutes, was the shortest of the year so far in the National league and the pitchers were responsible.

Both Walters and Bill Posedel, who blanked the Reds in his last try, set the batters down man after man. Both started a little shakily, Walters giving a single and a walk in the first and Posedel two singles, sparking double plays stopped both these threats.

Not until the seventh did either team get a score across. Deb Garmes sent a short fly out to center and Craft just managed to touch it. It went for a double and Garmes came in on Hasset's sacrifice bunt and West's fly.

Gamble opened the Reds' half with his second single and on the hit went to second while Hasset threw out McCormick. Ernie Lombardi skied one to Garmes. Then Craft swung and the last third largest crowd of the year saw the ball was dropping behind the centerfield fence. Nino Bongiovanni added a single but was stranded.

Reaches 17 Victory Mark

Warneke Falls As 'Old Master' Toils Brilliantly

ST. LOUIS, July 25 (AP)—Carl Hubbell, the old master, came back from baseball's junk yard today to pitch 13 innings of brilliant ball and give the New York Giants a 6 to 3 victory over the Cardinals in the opening game of their series at Sportsman's park.

In pitching his third victory of the year and his first complete game since May 14, the "meal ticket" handed out 10 hits, well scattered in all but two innings, and finally was rewarded when Frank Demaree and Mel Ott hit home runs on top of a double by Bob Seeds in the 13th frame.

Hubbell, whose great left arm has been slow to recover from an operation last winter, looked like his old self as he outpitched four Red Bird moundmen, Cooper, McGee, Warneke, and Shoun, who gave up 16 hits between them. Poor support hurt him in the early innings, when Burgess Whitehead made three errors, but Hubb remained steady and appeared to get better as he went along. He gave only two hits in the last seven innings.

Dodgers Rout Bruins Twice

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, with manager Leo Durocher playing a leading role, jumped on the unsuspecting Cubs today and licked them in both games of a doubleheader, 8 to 6 and 3 to 1.

The Dodgers blew a five-run lead in the opener, then came back to win with a three-run rally in the ninth. Four hits, two of them by pinch runner, and a costly error by Stan Hack, produced the deciding runs. Durocher clouted his first home run of the season with one on base in the fourth inning of the afterpiece to give Brooklyn its winning margin as Hugh Casey limited the Cubs to six hits for his sixth victory.

Playground Staff Will Be Officials At Events Today

Highlight of the city's summer playground season will be the inter-playground track and field meet starting at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the Longfellow school grounds, Gene Trowbridge, recreation director, announced last night.

Thirty competitive contests for both boys and girls are scheduled with 96 playground awards going to the outstanding performers of the meet.

Girls and boys will compete in separate events and the contestants from each playground will compete as a team. Five, three or one playground team points will be awarded for the winning of first, second or third places, respectively, in each event including all team events and the relays.

Boys and girls planning to participate in the meet are asked to be at the Longfellow school by 1:30.

All events will be divided into three age classes: class C, under 12; class B, 12 and 13, and class A, 14 and 15.

Events planned for the afternoon are as follows: 2 o'clock—Girls' 25 yard dash (class C); girls' 40 yard dash (class B); girls' 50 yard dash (class A), and boys' high jump, all three classes to be run simultaneously.

2:30—Boys' 40 yard dash (class C); boys' 50 yard dash (class B); boys' 75 yard dash (class A), and girls' stick-the-peg, with all three classes to be run simultaneously.

3 o'clock—Girls' high jump, with all classes to be run off simultaneously, and boys' ten trips, classes A, B and C (ball throwing and catching relay).

3:30—Girls' ten trips, classes A, B and C, and boys' running broad jump, with all three classes to be run off simultaneously.

4 o'clock—Girls' 100 yard relay, class C, each of four girls running 25 yards; girls' 160 yard relay, class B, each of four girls runs 40 yards; girls' 200 yard relay, class A, each of four girls runs 50 yards; boys' 160 yard relay, class C, each of four boys runs 40 yards; boys' 200 yard relay, class B, each of four boys runs 50 yards, and boys' 300 yard relay, class A, each of four boys runs 75 yards.

Any girl or boy in Iowa City under 16 years of age is eligible to participate in the meet and should get in touch with the play leaders on the playground nearest their home if interested. Playgrounds are located at Longfellow, Henry Sabin and Horace Mann schools.

All members of the playground staff will be the officials of the meet. In the event of rain at the time of the meet the contest will be held at the same time Thursday afternoon.

New Studio Nears Completion

The new three-story radio studio building, shown above, is rapidly approaching completion with most of the exterior work finished. Scaffolding and a hoist to lift materials to upper stories have been removed from the front of the building and work is now underway finishing rooms within the structure. When completed, the new building will house all University of Iowa radio facilities including general broadcasting and television equipment. According to present plans, an out-of-the-city transmitter will be constructed near Coralville and the present antenna used for television transmission. These plans are pending a decision from the Federal communications commission on an appeal from the University of Iowa for an increase of power for WSUI. The new studios are expected to be finished about the time school opens this fall.

them and the departments in which they may wish to register, respectively, practicable to undertake a definite study-project, not exceeding 3 s.h., independently of regular, daily meetings with professors for instruction and discussion, though with the advantage of the daily use of the other facilities of the university, chiefly the libraries. Graduate students who register in this way are required to remain on this campus, as resident students, throughout the three-weeks' period.

A graduate student who contemplates registering in this way should, at the outset, and as soon as possible within the present week, have a preliminary conference with the head of the department concerned (or another professor in the department more immediately concerned) for the purpose of a mutual determination of the feasibility of the plan for him; and if, together, they find the plan practicable they should agree upon a descriptive title (within the department title) of the course, or study-project, to be undertaken (with a suitable course number if at all practicable).

Only after this preliminary conference and the agreement indicated the student should proceed as follows: (1) Call at the registrar's office for his registration materials Monday, July 31, 1939. (2) Fill the registration forms as usual. (3) Obtain the approval signature of the head of the department in which he registers. (4) Obtain the signature of the dean of the graduate college (East hall, room W513). (5) Return to the registrar's office to have fees assessed. (6) Pay fees at treasurer's office. (7) Registration in the independent study-unit for 1939 must be completed by Monday, Aug. 7.

In the conference with the department concerned, each student should make as definite arrangements as possible for submitting the results of his study to the appropriate professor, as basis for the latter's report, to the registrar's office, of the outcome in terms of semester-hours and a grade mark; and this should be accomplished, so far as possible, at the end of the period, Aug. 25-28.

This three-weeks' independent

Iowa Wesleyan Alumni Schedule Dinner At Union

Former students of Iowa Wesleyan college at Mt. Pleasant will meet for dinner tonight at 6:15 in the private dining room of Iowa Union.

President Niles of Iowa Wesleyan college will be the guest of honor. Arrangements for the affair are in charge of William N. Atkinson.

Those planning to attend are asked to make reservations with Genevieve Schlicher, ext. 8414.

study-unit may serve to accommodate the special group of graduate students who plan to complete this summer the 9 s.h. in graduate courses in educational supervision and administration necessary for the standard superintendent's certificate. These students will have completed, during the present session, 8 s.h. of this requirement. They should proceed, as indicated above, by arranging with the dean of the college of education for the descriptive title of the course (within the department title) and the amount of work to be undertaken; with a suitable course number wherever practicable. According to the Iowa State Board of Education's tuition regulations for the student who thus registers for only 1 s.h. in this independent study-unit (less than half work) the tuition fee will be three-fifths of the normal tuition fee—$9.00.

The three-weeks' independent study-unit is not available for undergraduate students; but the attention of such undergraduate students as may wish to employ the latter weeks of the summer in further systematic study is directed to the availability of correspondence courses. Doubtless any such student can enroll for such a correspondence course immediately after the close of the present session, Aug. 6; and at least make a substantial start upon the completion of such a course prior to the opening of the new university year, Sept. 27, —if he contemplates registering at that time as a resident student.

Announce Two-Week Series Of Informal English Conferences For Columbia U. Next Month

Dr. Rudolf Kirk Of Rutgers Says Carl Van Doren To Speak

The establishment of the English Institute, a two-week series of informal conferences designed to afford an opportunity for mature scholars in the field of English to meet together and discuss problems of literary and philological research, has been announced by Dr. Rudolf Kirk, professor of English at Rutgers university who is secretary-treasurer of the institute. The first session of the institute will be at Columbia university from Aug. 28 to Sept. 9 at the invitation of Columbia.

Members of the supervising committee of the institute are Prof. Tucker Brooke of Yale, Prof. Carleton Brown of New York university, Prof. Hardin Craig of Stanford, Prof. James H. Hanford of Western Reserve, Prof. George Sherburn of Harvard, Prof. Robert E. Spiller of Swarthmore, Prof. Newman I. White of Duke and Dr. Kirk.

"For years the historians and other groups have held informal conferences at the end of the summer and have found these informal gatherings of value," Dr. Kirk said. "There is reason to believe that scholars in the English field will derive no less benefit from an English institute.

"Special timeliness is given to the idea of an institute this year by the present troubled state of affairs in Europe, which makes a rendezvous on this side of the Atlantic more than usually desirable. "Having an objective wholly distinct from that of the 'Summer School,' the institute offers no set program of courses in the sense of units of instruction leading to academic credit. The organization has been kept as simple as possible by the committee in the belief that persons desirous of associating themselves with the activities of the institute would be disinclined to bind themselves by a rigid routine of lectures on papers, but would prefer for the most part to participate in round-table discussions, in which they would have an opportunity to exchange ideas with others engaged on similar problems and to receive the benefit of experienced criticism.

"Accordingly, the topics selected for these conferences do not follow any schematic arrangement of facts of literary history or linguistics, but concern themselves rather with problems and methods of investigation. The conferences will be held in four sections, each of which is devoted to the survey of these problems from a separate angle.

"Each section will be under the direction of an authority in the field and at each of the six meetings of each section the discussion will be led by a specialist."

The four sections and the men who will direct each are (1) "Principles Involved in the Demarcation of Dialects in England and in the United States" directed by Prof. Sanford B. Meech of Armour Institute, (2) "Problems in Editing Middle English Texts" directed by Prof. Carleton Brown of New York university, (3) "The Editing of Correspondences" directed by Prof. George Sherburn of Harvard and (4) "The Drama as Related to its Social Background" directed by Prof. Mat-

War, Reich's Only Solution

Scattergood Hostel Resident Addresses Local Kiwanians

"War is the only possible solution to Germany's strained financial condition, as I see it," Kurt Schaeffer, resident of the Scattergood hostel at West Branch and a graduate of the University of Berlin, declared yesterday in describing conditions of present day Germany to Kiwanians at their regular meeting yesterday noon in the Jefferson hotel.

Issuance of private capital for other than government purposes has been prohibited for three years, the speaker said, and as a result Germany's industry has become so out of date that it can not compete on the foreign market.

"Germany's whole financial difficulty arose from the fact that after the World War her industry was built to such an enormous extent, enough to supply all Europe, that when she lost her markets, unemployment and resulting problems made Germans desperate," Schaeffer explained.

"Thus nazism when it came in 1933 to 1934 was honestly believed by most Germans to be the solution to their problems. Today, however, those who supported it are disappointed. The majority of threw W. Black of the University of Pennsylvania.

A series of evening lectures on "Recent Trends in Literary Scholarship" are being arranged by Prof. Robert Spiller of Swarthmore, Dr. Kirk said, and announcement of the complete list of speakers will be made at a later date. Carl Van Doren, author and critic, will be among these lecturers, speaking on the topic "Choosing a Subject for Research."

District Court Gives Approval To Resignation

Ben S. Summerwill Relieved of Duties As Bank Examiner

Resignation of Ben S. Summerwill, examiner in charge of the Johnson County Savings bank, was approved yesterday in district court.

Judge James P. Gaffney also signed a court order accepting "as of July 1" the appointment of D. W. Bates, state superintendent of banking, of J. R. Drake of Cedar Rapids as the new examiner in charge. Bond was set at $10,000.

The court relieved Summerwill of all his duties in connection with the receivership with the exception of filing his final report as examiner in charge.

Floyd Philbrick, assistant attorney general, submitted the petitions asking the court to accept the resignation of Summerwill and the appointment of Drake. Summerwill's petition for resignation was filed June 15.

Germans are not behind the Nazi regime.

"Nazism doesn't stand for peace. It must continually shove forward and the only way to do so is by conquest, which means that Hitler will eventually have to go to war."

The average man in Germany today is under constant nervous strain. The list of restrictive decrees grows daily and he lives in dread of punishment and resulting confinement in concentration camps. Those leaving the dread camps never speak against the Nazi rule again. They can't. Those who get out are physically or mentally crippled for life, Schaeffer said.
