Prof. H. G. Barnes To Replace Dorcas as Registrar

Speech Man Takes Office Next Monday

Dorcas To Resume Professional Duties In Education College

After 44 years of service on the University of Iowa faculty and administration staffs, Prof. H. C. Dorcas has resigned as university examiner and registrar. The resignation was accepted by the state board of education yesterday and Prof. Harry G. Barnes of the speech department was appointed as his successor.

Professor Barnes will assume his new duties Monday, Aug. 7, and Professor Dorcas will resume his former post as professor of education but will assist in the work in the office of the university examiner and registrar.

During the period of adjustment Professor Barnes will be available in connection with his previous work in the speech department, it was announced.

Long Affiliation

Professor Dorcas came to the University of Iowa in 1895 as instructor in pedagogy and was named assistant professor of education in 1904.

In 1907 he became professor of education. He took over the position of university examiner in addition to his other education work in 1900. Shortly thereafter he took over the registrar's duties and has been in the position continuously since.

After 1915, Professor Dorcas devoted his full time to registrar duties. He has held other positions at the university including that of secretary of the faculty of the college of liberal arts since 1909. He is a member of the board on secondary school relations.

1895 Graduate

Professor Dorcas received his bachelor of philosophy degree from the University of Iowa in 1895. He received his M.A. degree from Teachers college of Columbia university in 1903.

Professor Barnes, successor in the university examiner and registrar position, received his B.A. degree from Grinnell college in 1923 and his M.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1928.

Professor Barnes joined the Iowa faculty in the fall of 1928 as an associate. In 1932 he received his Ph.D. from Iowa and was named assistant professor. In 1935 Professor Barnes became an associate professor in his field of psychology and speech.

House Passes Security Bill

More, Bigger Benefits, Taxpayer Savings Win Out After Deadlock

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Sweeping changes in the social security law, designed to provide more and bigger benefits and still save the taxpayers about $905,000,000 in the next three years, won house approval today after weeks of deadlock.

A senate-house conference committee agreed on a compromise bill after more than three weeks of negotiations, and the house approved the resulting measure a short time later without a word of opposition. Only senate acceptance was needed to send the legislation to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

The deadlock over the amendments broke when the senate conferees agreed to drop the Connally amendment, which would have required the federal government to contribute $2 for every state dollar provided for old-age assistance, up to a total of $15 monthly per beneficiary.

Elimination of the amendment by Senator Connally (D-Tex.), designed to help the poorer states, restored the house provision under which the federal government would match, dollar for dollar, state contributions for the aged up to a total of $40 a month per beneficiary. ### Japan Weighs Extension Of Military Pact

Ministers Consider Nippon Alliance With Italy and Germany

ROME, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Japanese ambassadors to Rome and Berlin today ended a two-day conference at Lake Como in which they were stated to have considered Japanese adherence to the Italian-German military alliance.

A Japanese informant said they had called a detailed report to Tokyo and would return to their posts tomorrow to await instructions from their home government.

(In Tokyo a high government official said Washington's abrogation of the American-Japanese trade pact and British resistance on north China currency questions were "forcing" Japan toward an outright military alliance with Italy and Germany.)

The possibility of increased Japanese collaboration with the Rome-Berlin axis is to be explored with fascist and Nazi leaders by a delegation from Japan due Aug. 26 in Naples.

The conference of the envoys from Rome and Berlin, Toshio Shiratori and Lieut. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, was seen as laying the groundwork for extensive military, political and economic discussions on the delegation's arrival.

Ambassadors Shiratori and Oshima conferred first and then invited their respective military advisers and counsellors to join them. They also communicated during the day with other Japanese embassies in Europe to receive the latest reports on the European political and military situation.

Oshima said during a recess in the conference that discussions were "of maximum importance." Stefani, official Italian news agency, said the ambassadors "declared the subject of their meeting was the question of the Tokyo government's adherence to the Italian-German alliance of steel."

Steel Company Blamed For 1937 Strikes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The National Labor Relations board today attributed the "little steel" strikes of 1937 to "numerous unfair labor practices" by the Republic Steel corporation.

It took this view in a brief opposing the company's suit to set aside the board's order for reinstatement of the strikers with back pay.

The brief was filed in the United States circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia, where argument will be heard Monday, but the board made it public here.

LONDON (AP)—Financial and commodity markets in England began the August bank holiday at the close of business yesterday. Until Tuesday morning trading will be suspended in the stock exchange, metal and rubber markets in London, and futures for wheat and cotton in Liverpool.

Second Daughter Joins Holland's Royal Family

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 5 (Saturday) (AP)—Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands presented the house of Orange with another daughter early today.

The child was born at 1:09 a.m. (7:09 p.m. EST, Friday) at Soestdyk palace.

There had been high hopes among Netherlanders that the baby would be the first male heir to the throne of the little kingdom in almost a century.

Princess Beatrix, the first child of the 30-year old Juliana and 28-year old German Prince Bernhard, was a year old last Jan. 31.

The hour was such that the general public, long anticipating the event, was not aware of the birth of the baby.

The announcement was made briefly by ticker services to newspapers. At 7 a.m. the news will be broken to the public by a salute of 51 guns—signifying the birth of a girl. A 101-gun salute would have been fired for a boy.

Disappointment, because of the absence of a male heir for the throne now, held by Queen Wilhelmina, was expected to be offset by loyal Netherlanders' joy over a royal birth when the event became generally known.

Queen Wilhelmina, who was to have returned to the Hague to deal with the cabinet crisis, postponed her departure last night at the last minute to spend the night at Soestdyk.

It was announced that the baby weighed 3,870 grammes, or about eight and one-half pounds. She was described as a "well-formed, fine baby."

The announcement said "mother and daughter both are doing well." There will be rejoicing throughout the Netherlands and her colonial possessions with flags flying and fireworks at every town and village.

Holiday makers at resorts will hear the proclamation of the birth from heralds on horseback.

Wealthy philanthropists will recognize the birth by handing out clothes and coins to other children born in August.

Executives O.K. Agreement In Detroit Strike

Japan Accuses Britain, U.S. Official Declares Triple Axis Alliance

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (AP)—Executives of the CIO United Automobile Workers tonight ratified the terms of an agreement to settle the month-old strike of skilled workers in 12 General Motors plants.

The vote of approval came at the conclusion of a prolonged meeting of the union's international executive board and delegates from the strikers at the affected plants.

Tomorrow the strikers themselves will vote at their respective plants of accepting or rejecting the agreement.

TOKYO, Aug. 4 (AP)—A high government official accused the United States and Great Britain today of joint pressure on Japan and declared "events are forcing" Japan toward a military alliance with Germany and Italy.

Japanese meanwhile greeted with doubt and perplexity British Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration Britain might find it necessary "in certain circumstances" to send a fleet to the far east.

It was stated that conclusion of a German-Italian-Japanese pact might come at any moment though ignorance was professed concerning the meeting in Italy of the Japanese envoys to Rome and Berlin, Toshio Shiratori and Lieut. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima.

The official said by the "forcing" events he meant Washington's action July 26 in abrogating the 1911 American-Japanese trade treaty and British resistance toward settlement of currency issues in the conference here on the Tientsin dispute.

SUI Professor Explodes Myth Of Education

Addressing Largest Summer Convocation In University History

Exploding the sometimes-regarded myth that adult education is "not worth its salt" because of the inability of older people to learn quickly and adequately, Prof. John A. McGeoch, new member of the psychology department, last night spoke before the largest summer graduating class in history at the convocation ceremony in Iowa Union.

Granting that learning "is one of the most significant concepts of psychology," the speaker pointed out that "psychologists had known for several decades that rate of learning increases with age from very early in life up to the late teens or early twenties. The period from the early twenties on to old age remained, however, the playground of opinion until recently.

"Statements, most of them more sonorous than profound, have long been made about the changes which age brings in ability to learn. It has often been asserted, for example, that from the school years onward ability to learn declines.

"We have probably all heard an adult say, in effect, after seeing a child learn a poem quickly, 'Did you notice how quickly he learned that? When I was his age, I could learn that quickly too, but now that I am 35 (or 40 or 50) I can't do it any more.' Such frequently expressed opinions give a depressing picture of the effect of increasing age on modifiability.

Russian Trade Pact Extended

Bridges Accuses Government In '34 Port Tieup

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The United States and Soviet Russia agreed today to continue in effect an agreement whereby Russia will buy a minimum of $40,000,000 in American goods in the next 12 months and the United States will accord Russia the same tariff reductions as countries with which it has trade agreements.

The state department released the texts of notes between the people's commissar for foreign trade of the Soviet Union, A. I. Mikoyan, and Stuart E. Grummon, American charge d'affaires at Moscow, which put the extension of the agreement into effect Sunday, Aug. 6.

With respect to Soviet coal shipments to the United States, Russia agreed to restrict its exports in the next 12 months to 400,000 tons. This was considered necessary because of the coal-tax provisions of the revenue act of 1932. During the 1937-38 agreement year, imports of Soviet coal into the United States were 198,384 tons and in the first nine months of the 1938-1939 agreement year, 134,154 tons.

Although the pact sets $40,000,000 as the minimum Soviet purchases here, officials forecast Soviet orders in excess of this sum. They base their predictions on performances of the last two years.

A short time later the house recessed until tomorrow, thereby destroying the hopes of those legislators who had believed that congress might adjourn tonight.

At tonight's senate session Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) proposed the prevailing wage amendment, and Senator Murray (D-Mont.) the amendment to change the WPA rotation system. Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis.) offered the farm mortgage refinancing plan.

Rules Suspended

Since senate rules prohibit attaching general legislation to appropriation bills, a suspension of the rules was necessary before the amendment could be offered. This required a two thirds vote. A majority of the senate—but not two thirds—voted for the suspension in each case.

Some time ago, all three proposals were approved by the senate as amendments to the administration lending bill (later killed by the house economy coalition). The earlier vote on the farm proposal was 74 in favor of 7 against. (See CONGRESS, Page 6)

Coalition Bloc Slaughtered By Big Margin

Adjourment Expected Tomorrow Following Months of Battling

By RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The 76th congress reached the verge of adjourment tonight with a long senate session which restored to the third deficiency bill most of the money which the house economy coalition had voted out of it.

After increasing this measure from $54,000,000 to $189,000,000, and then passing it, the chamber plunged into a long, spirited debate about the LaFollette civil liberties committee and ended by giving that committee half of the $100,000 it asked to investigate labor conditions on the Pacific coast. The vote was 36 to 17.

Recessed

Thereupon, the chamber followed the example the house had set some hours earlier and recessed until tomorrow, when the seven months session, which has been marked by revolts against Roosevelt policies, is expected to end.

The maneuvering over the deficiency bill was long and involved.

Chief among the additions made by the senate was an administration-requested appropriation of $119,000,000 to make loans on surplus crops and thereby keep them off the market. This item, turned down by the house earlier in what was called a major victory for the economy coalition, went through the other chamber on a sweeping 61 to 7 vote.

The deficiency bill is to go to a senate-house conference tomorrow for reconciliation of differences. The controversy is the only major one in sight before adjourment, which all sides agree will come some time tomorrow.

After the farm loan vote, the senate continued its session into the night, amid an excited swirl of parliamentary maneuvering. Various senators tried in vain to tack on to the deficiency bill amendments which would: (1) restore the "prevailing wage" for WPA workers; (2) soften the effects of a new rule of law which says that persons on the WPA rolls 18 months must give way to other relief applicants; (3) provide for federal refinancing of farm mortgages.

Voice Vote

On a voice vote the senate approved an amendment by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) to increase an item for expenses of the wage-hour administration to $2,000,000. The house voted $1,000,000 and a senate committee approved $2,000,000, but by a clerical error the sum went into the printed bill as $1,500,000. The wage hour division had requested the full $2,000,000 to permit the hiring of additional investigators to check upon an accumulation of complaints of violations of the law.

Then an attempt by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) to revive the federal theater projects, killed by the 1939 relief act, was defeated.

Meanwhile, amendments to broaden and revamp the social security system and "freeze" old age pension taxes emerged from a long deadlock between senate and house conferees. The house speedily approved them and sent them on to the senate.

A short time later the house recessed until tomorrow, thereby destroying the hopes of those legislators who had believed that congress might adjourn tonight.

The Dictators, The U. S. And Mexican Oil

AMERICA'S "appeasement" attitude in regard to Mexico's expropriation of U. S. oil holdings seems to be working out to the advantage of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo triumvirate.

In the Saturday Evening Post, Ruth Sheldon reveals some interesting figures showing that the warlike nations have embroiled our neighbor to the south in a large-scale barter program.

Through Davis, with whom Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania was recently linked, Mexico sold $8,500,000 worth of oil in nine months last year, of which $5,000,000 was in barter.

American manufacturers of refinery parts have been slow to sell to Petroleos Mexicanos, for fear of losing large accounts with the former owners of the Mexican holdings.

Although Germany started the bartering, Italy and Japan have been quick to follow. This year Distribuidora has two barter arrangements with Italy.

A contract with Japan for the same amount of rayon yarn will be completed soon and the product handled the same way.

men from France have fared even worse than the Americans. There is a possibility that this fear of foreign newspaper men in Italy indicates a weakening of the fascist regime.

News has leaked out that the Italians are not so fearful of the consequences of criticism of the fascist government as formerly. Mussolini has recently been more openly criticized than in years past.

Evidently Mussolini fears the effects such reports will have on his prestige abroad, and has decided to close the avenues along which such information had been relayed to the world at large.

Great Britain In India

THE IDEA of self-government for India has frequently been discussed and almost as frequently rejected because of a pro-British attitude on the part of most Westerners.

There are many objections raised—poor education for government service, low intellectual capacity, lack of national feeling, and friction between the Hindus and the Mohammedans.

The British blame much of India's trouble on the "above-mentioned" difficulties, and also hold the caste system, the low standard of living, and other Indian characteristics responsible for India's inability to govern herself.

Those with Indian sympathies oppose these claims as false and tell about the true India as they call it. They blame all the trouble on British imperialism.

Arguments concerning India fall mainly into three categories: social, religious, and economic. The British blame the greater part of India's backwardness upon social difficulties.

Education in India is not widespread, the British say; and, consequently, the people could not govern themselves. They cannot afford to send their children to school because their incomes are so small.

The anti-British agree that the Indians as a whole are not well-educated. They say that most of the Indian children who are privileged to go to school don't learn anything which would help them in governing themselves.

Little or nothing is taught about India and its history, while detailed accounts of Europe and European history are given. The great things which Britain has done and is doing in India are constantly brought to the attention of the students.

Proponents of anti-British policies oppose the theory of India's low intellectual capacity by telling us that India was the intellectual and spiritual teacher of Asia for 2500 years before the British entered India.

India sympathizers tell us that India is developing a strong national feeling which, Britain has said, did not exist. The caste system, an outstanding point in Britain's argument, is said to be rapidly dying out.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By George Tucker

NEW YORK — At all hours of the day and night people drift through the high, massive doors of St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Fifth avenue. It is the most beautiful church I ever saw. I am no student of architecture, but it does not take one to know that here against the background of Rockefeller Center is the most impressive contrast in schools of architecture that exists in New York.

The contrast is so vivid, so stunning, that I always think of that line from Robert Stevenson — "A spring of parsley against a silver plate" — whenever I come upon it.

I imagine the Cathedral itself is 50 feet from the curb. You rise to it by two flights of marble steps that extend to the vaulted Gothic doors. Inside all sense of space dissolves into an infinity of gorgeously stained windows, chapels, pews, and altars.

Its spires are 330 feet high. From Fifth avenue to Madison avenue, the Cathedral is 420 feet long. It is more than 200 feet wide. Its doors are 15 feet high and 15 feet wide. It has been called "the outstanding monument of Romanticism in the country."

On the left, as you enter the Cathedral, is the Book Rack, where pamphlets and other forms of literature on the creed and customs of Catholicism may be found. Then you come to the Window of St. Vincent De Paul, founder of the Fathers of the Mission, who died in 1660. All of these magnificent windows are dedicated to the memory of great figures in the history of the Catholic Church.

The Queen-Saint has a basket of roses that were loaves which she distributed to the poor. Another impressive window is that of St. Henry, the German Emperor, shown in a counter-attack on those who slew priests and pillaged the church.

who work on their feet, some of the worst cases I have ever seen have been on their feet only at the rarest intervals and under the direst necessity.

The veins bring the blood back to the heart simply by the crowding of more blood from behind. There is no pump action from the heart to force the venous blood on. Therefore, nature has provided valves so as to hold a column of blood until it is crowded upward. When these valves break down, the veins are swollen at that point and become tortuous.

In treatment, formerly the only measures available were to wear elastic stockings, or removal by operation. In addition to those, there has now been developed the method of injection, which is a great boon to many patients.

"The principle of the injection method," writes Dr. Otto Meyer, of New York, in the magazine Health and Wealth, "is to inject a nonpoisonous solution into the varicose veins. This causes them to shrink (be obliterated). The inner wall of the vein swells all around, meets in the middle of the opening and grows completely together."

These treatments can be given in the doctor's office and it has not been found necessary to rest for any length of time after the treatment. The patient can leave the doctor's office and go about the ordinary duties right away. The doctors of my acquaintance who specialize in this injection treatment are busiest during the lunch hour. The patient can go back to work and spend the entire afternoon there.

Stewart Says-

Lewis Must Regret His Bitter Attack On John N. Garner

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

If Vice-president Garner wins the next democratic White House nomination, it's the consensus in political Washington that he'll have John L. Lewis, more than any other single individual, to thank for it.

Plenty of news commentators already have said as much, but they haven't made it strong enough. To be sure the Texan was a democratic mentionee when John L. undertook to jump on him, but he wasn't an overwhelmingly prominent one.

Lots of Lewis' own friends confess themselves at a loss to account for the C. I. O. chief's outburst. They indorse their leader's dislike of Garner, in which he expressed himself. I've talked with a good many of them, without finding an exception. If he'd told them in advance how he was going to "blow up" as a witness before the house of representatives' labor committee, I'm convinced that they'd have advised him strongly against it.

It wasn't so much what Lewis said that was all wrong; it was the way he said it.

Language All Wrong

For instance, he called "Cactus Jack" a "labor-baiter." It would have been o. k. to refer to him as "anti-labor," but "labor-baiter" is too technical. Who cares if he drinks a little whiskey and plays a bit of poker? — if so, Senator Sheppard, author of the Eighteenth amendment, and Governor Dickinson of Michigan reply that it doesn't matter.

And that he's an "evil old man" is a manifest exaggeration. Old?—yes. But not necessarily, it's a cinch that numerous folk will testify, so frightfully "evil."

Moreover, "evil" is a kind of a dictionary, literary, biblical term that it's doubtful if a rough-neck labor leader should have at his tongue's end. It's too intellectual. If he'd said that "Jack" was a "wicked old man"—that might have passed muster. But "evil" hints at John L. as a Shakespearean scholar. It isn't calculated to make a hit with low-brows.

It gives rise to remarks concerning John L.'s $100,000 home and library in Alexandria, Va. It's poor advertising for a labor leader.

A. F. of L. on the Job

It isn't alone that high-brows were antagonized by Lewis' utterances. The American Federation of Labor is after his scalp, too. I don't know that the A. F. of L. is overly enthusiastic for Garner, but it's a safe gamble that it likes him better than it does Lewis.

In short: Lewis has raised heck with the Garnerites with all "licker" drinkers, with all poker players, with all social liberals, with all "evil old men," and he hasn't made any friends at all with anybody except prohibitionists, anti-poker players and a labor faction (a labor fraction only).

The C. I. O. aggregation is correspondingly depressed — and John L. is blamed for it. He not only gave Garner a huge boost.

He seems to have wished himself into the discard. A British golfer saw his wife sink a whole in one, and then promptly sank one himself. He, comments a muchly married friend, had to.

First thing Kay Lorraine, "Hit Parade" vocalist, did when she got her contract renewal last week was to enrich the telephone company by giving her folks in St. Louis the news via long-distance calling.

"THE MERRY MACS," recently signed for the "Hit Parade," will be back on the Fred Allen "Town Hall Tonight" hour in the fall with Peter Van Steeden's orchestra.

The "Hit Parade" is heard to-night and every Saturday night at 7 o'clock over CBS stations presenting the nation's top 10 tunes of the week.

A BRAND NEW Fletcher Henderson arrangement of Ravel's "Bolero" is scheduled to hit the airways on Benny Goodman's broadcast to-night at 8 o'clock over CBS.

Administration Foe, Tydings, Latest Presidential Possibility

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4 (AP) — Democratic presidential speculation turned suddenly to Maryland today when friends of Senator Millard E. Tydings tossed the militant new deal "purge" survivor's hat into the race for the party's 1940 nomination.

The 49-year old ex-army officer's name was added to the rapidly growing list of presidential possibilities by Baltimore's Calvert club, which asserted already-printed campaign stickers and the club's projection of his candidacy both had Tydings' "full approval."

In Washington, the free state's senior senator neither confirmed nor denied the political organization's claims, and added "I have no statement on that" when asked flatly if he would be a candidate. Observers, recalling President Roosevelt's personal tour of Maryland last year in an effort to prevent Tydings' reelection, held the Tydings-for-president drive added special interest to advance campaign talk previously centered chiefly on whether Mr. Roosevelt would seek a third term.

Already in the forefront of the democratic race as favorite son democratic candidates are Vice President Garner, whose cause has been boomed by the Texas congressional delegation and pressed activity from his home state, and Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, whose Indiana friends are vigorously promoting his selection—if and when the president decides against a third term attempt.

It was noted, too, that the Marylander's appearance on the presidential horizon was similar in some respects to that of Ohio's Robert A. Taft, who acceded yesterday to a request of constituents that he become a candidate for the 1940 republican presidential nomination.

In Ohio, however, state law requires a presidential candidate to consent in writing to the use of his name on the ballot. No such statute exists in Maryland, and the Tydings movement already was progressed to the point of publication of campaign literature.

The world is collapsing into chaos and war—says an editorial. Goodness, we certainly wish someone would hurry up and invent a space ship.

Nazis Blamed For Deaths Of Chicago Trio

Hotel Plunge Victims' Jewish Father Tells Of Reich Persecutions

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—The death plunge of a mother and two children who fled from Czechoslovakia after Adolf Hitler's troops had occupied the country was attributed to nazi "persecution" by a coroner's jury today.

The jurors decided Mrs. Adela Langer, 46, leaped from the 13th floor of the Congress hotel late last night with her two youngsters, Jan, 4-1-2, and Karel 6, "while temporarily insane due to worry over being forced to leave her home due to persecution."

The husband and father of the victims, Karel Langer, a slight, nervous Jew whose eyes were ringed and reddened by grief, wept on the witness stand while he told how he abandoned home and fortune when "tyranny forced us to become refugees."

Later the city news bureau stated its reporters while investigating the case, learned that a group of refugees of various faiths and nationalities and all living here on temporary visas had formed what its members termed a "suicide colony."

They called themselves "anschluss victims," it added, and expressed the belief self-destruction was preferable to return to their home lands.

Joseph Martinek, secretary of the Czech-Slovak National Alliance, described the "suicide colony" report as "nonsense."

At the inquest, Langer, who spoke only the Czech language, related his tragic story through an interpreter. He reported he once was the principal owner of large textile mills but circumstances forced him to sell them.

He said his wife talked frequently of committing suicide and "taking the babies with her."

All-Star Coaches' Poll To Close at Midnight

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Maybe So
- Rowe Impresses
- Five Straight

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—A private impression is growing that when, or maybe it still should be if the Yankees meet the Cincinnati Reds in the world series this fall the McCarthymen will be anything but the sure things they have been rated in recent years.

The idea is based on the suspicion that the New York club has an Achilles' heel, and that faced by good pitching it is just another ball club trying to get along. And the Reds' pitching staff isn't exactly tossing quoits this season.

Maybe So
The recent series with Detroit, in which the Tigers took two out of three, added to the impression that while the Yanks might tie off a little better than any other team when the opposing hurlers are tossing in home run balls, a clever pitcher can make them look like Mother Hubbard.

We saw the second game, and the manner in which Schoolboy Rowe made Joe DiMaggio and his teammates beat a path back and forth from the bench to the plate was a caution. Bill Dickey got hold of one for a home run, and DiMaggio got a loud foul which missed being good for the circuit by a few feet, but otherwise the Schoolboy was the teacher, and the Yanks didn't know the answer!

Rowe Impresses
Rowe hasn't been setting the league afire this year, but that day he was a master. His change of pace baffled, leaving the batters often looking very silly indeed as they poked too soon or too late at a ball, like a man reaching for a straw hat just as it sails under a truck.

Five Straight
That game was not an isolated example of how a good pitcher can silence the Yankee bats. The New Yorkers looked at some pretty fair chucking when they met the Red Sox not so long ago, and the Red Sox took five straight.

Naturally, the argument is that the Yankees have managed to win quite a few games, but the answer to that is that a goodly portion of their victories can be traced to a defense second to none, and some fair country pitching on the part of their own men.

All of which doesn't mean that McCarthy's batting order isn't dangerous from Frank Crossetti on down, but it does mean that they have as much trouble against good pitching as the Elm Street Tigers.

They are just a little more potent against poor pitching than their American league rivals, that's all. And when, or again, if, they go against the Walters and the Deringers and the Thompsons Bill McKechnie can toss in against them, they are going to need all their defensive skill and the best performances of their Ruffings and Donalds.

Cincy Ends Losing Streak By Beating Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-3

Bucky Walters Wins 19th Victory of Year In Night Engagement

CINCINNATI, Aug. 4 (AP)—Bucky Walters broke the Reds' two-game losing streak tonight by subduing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 3, for his 19th victory of the season. Dolph Camilli hit his 17th home run for the Dodgers.

Walters, the first pitcher in either major league to attain 19 wins, worked steadily and was in real trouble only in the sixth, when the Brooklynites put together a walk, a pair of singles and Ernie Koy's double for two runs after two were out. Camilli's homer in the ninth made up their total.

The Dodgers touched Bucky for eight hits in all, but three double plays, one by Frank McCormick unassisted and the other two by the familiar Frey, Myers and McCormick machine, prevented damage.

Walters also used his bat effectively, knocking in the Reds' second run in the second with a double following Myers' triple to the flagnole.

Myers committed his first error in 142 chances—23 games since July 8—in the second when he fumbled Koy's grounder. Although Durocher followed with a single, Todd fouled out to end the inning.

The Dodger defense was leaky, contributing three errors to the Red cause.

The Reds chased Hugh Casey in their half of the sixth when Ernie Lombardi, Harry Craft, and Nino Bongiovanni singled before a man was out for two runs. Relief Pitcher Evans then retired the side, Todd snapping Bongy off first, Myers fouling, and Walters fanning.

Philadelphia 1; St. Louis 3. Chicago 5; Washington 6. Only games scheduled.

Washington Wins From White Sox By 6 to 5 Score

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Washington won its 5th straight game today, beating the White Sox 6 to 5 in 10 innings on a fly ball that Chicago's outfielders lost in the sun.

Trailing 4 to 3 in the 9th, the Sox tied it up when Ollie Bejma singled Larry Rosenthal home. Failing to score in the 9th, the Senators started the 10th with a bang—Charlie Gelbert driving out a triple.

Chicago's outfield moved in close. Jimmy Woodworth lifted a weak fly into left center, which Rip Radcliff and Hank Steinbacher lost in the sun. Gelbert raced home as the ball fell between them.

Giant Pitchers Wild, Bucs Win

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4 (AP)—Spasms of wildness by two New York Giant pitchers enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to capture their series opener today 3 to 2 in 11 innings.

Mel Ott gave the Giants a two-run lead in the first inning by hitting his 20th homer of the season behind Harry Danning's double. But in the seventh Harry Gumbert weakened to give a single and two walks, the second coming with the bases loaded, and the tying run crossed on a double play.

Truett Sewell, who pitched four scoreless innings in relief, got credit for his fourth triumph over the Giants and the eighth of the season.

Now What? Did He or Didn't He Get Knocked Out?

SIOUX CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—Nate Bolden, 153-pound Chicago Negro, knocked out a 175-pounder in the fourth round of a scheduled eight round fight here last night, but the identity of his opponent was in question tonight.

Sioux City Promoter Jimmy O'Grady said in a signed statement: "The fighter who lost to Nate Bolden here Thursday night represented himself to be Rex Thomas. I had never seen Rex Thomas fight and as far as I was concerned the man who met Bolden was Thomas."

In Chicago, Rex Thomas declared he had not been in Sioux City and his manager, Sonny Wallace, could not be reached for comment.

O'Grady said in his statement, however, "Wallace and Thomas arrived Thursday afternoon."

Another Chicagoan, Bob Caposy, said there tonight he took two pre-fighters to Sioux City, but not Thomas. Caposy added he did not know Thomas.

Where They're Voting

As the votes continued to pour in yesterday for Iowa's all-star coaching candidate, Dr. Eddie Anderson, Smith's cafe ended up the day in first place, for the first time, with an imposing total of 462 votes.

Iowa Union, continuing as one of the leaders followed closely with 429. Skelly Oil ended a strong third with 264 votes, while Chansky drug store at Solon polled 166. Wilbur Schirring of Sac City mailed in 127 votes.

Among the other Iowa City vicinity polling places East hall contributed 99; Reich's cafe, Joe's place, D and L grill, Strand confectionary, Donnelly's, Racine's No. 3 and Jack Mahr, 66 each; and Whetstone's No. 3, Jefferson hotel, Donut shop, Louis' drug store, Lubin's, Whetstone's No. 1 and Princess No. 2, 33 each.

The support farthest removed from Iowa City was the 40 votes from Aberdeen, S. D., mailed by Otto Kraushaar.

Dr. Anderson Holds Fourth In Conference

Elmer Layden Has Top Heavy Lead In Middle West Section

Seven hundred thousand votes during the past 24 hours seems to have assured Elmer Layden, Notre Dame head coach, of the head coaching assignment when the all-stars clash with the New York Giants, champions of the National professional football league, on the night of Aug. 30.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, Iowa's choice for Big Ten honors, held fourth place in the conference, 238,172 first place votes, 28,965 second place votes and 33,017 third place votes giving the Hawkeye mentor a point total of 805,466 as the contest enters its final day.

At midnight the polls will be closed and the five coaches having the highest total points in their section will make up the coaching staff for the all-stars.

Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin's candidate, stepped into the conference lead yesterday, replacing Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern, when an avalanche of votes from the Badger state poured into the Chicago Tribune offices. Stuhldreher now has a vote total of 1,257,455.

In the east Carl Snavely, leading throughout the poll, added to his lead over Jimmy Crowley of Fordham by running his total vote to 326,462.

Robert Neyland of Tennessee maintained his lead in the south, his total of 767,981 doubling that of his nearest rival, Dana Bible of Texas.

The far west is producing the closest fight of the poll. Tiny Thornhill of Stanford and Buck Shaw of Santa Clara are less than 300 votes apart in the standings, Thornhill having 389,513 to Shaw's 389,255.

Following throughout the state of Iowa gave Anderson 42,197 votes yesterday in his fight to retain his fourth place position in the Big Ten.

Following the example of the Iowa City Loyal Order of Moose the Dubuque chapter contributed a solid vote of 703 for Anderson.

The Expected

The Register junior softballers did the expected yesterday and lost a game, apparently won, to the Yellow Cab entry, 10 to 9.

Leading by one run as the game entered the final inning, the Register saw the Cabbies push across two runs in the last half of the frame to snatch away what appeared to be their victory.

Bleak Davis Cup Outlook Grows Dimmer as Stars Fade Rapidly

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—America's unhappy Davis cup outlook grew no brighter today as Bobby Riggs of Chicago entered the final round of the 49th annual Wimbledon club invitation tournament with a hollow 4-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, victory over Bob Kramath of Austin, Riggs' opponent tomorrow, for the second successive year, will be Sidney Wood, who was equally unimpressive in defeating Ernest Sutter, of New Orleans, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

If Bobby, the present Wimbledon champion, prevails over Wood, 1931 Wimbledon champion, it will give him the third leg on the $1,000 challenge bowl, and permanent possession. When the two meet last year, the No. 2 singles post on the Davis cup team hung in the balance, but the veteran Wood has admitted he is out of the running this time. Riggs beat Wood in straight sets in 1938.

Passeau Blanks Boston Bees for Cubs; Trotter Turns Back Athletics, 3 to 1

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Claude Passeau shaded Lou Fette in a pitchers' battle today, giving the Chicago Cubs a 1 to 0 victory over the Boston Bees in their series opener.

Passeau yielded only four hits and gave no walks in chalking up his ninth mound decision.

Three times during the game Passeau was warned against using the illegal spitball by the umpires after Boston batters had complained about the pitcher's offerings.

The game's only run came in the third inning when Stan Hack walked, went to third on Billy Herman's single and scored on Augie Galan's sacrifice fly.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Bill Trotter outpitched Bob Joyce today as the St. Louis Browns came from behind to beat the Athletics, 3 to 1.

Trotter yielded only seven hits, two of them coming in the first inning when the A's scored their run on Wally Moses' single and Dick Siebert's double. Joyce weakened after hurling shutout ball for five innings.

Joe Glenn's Texas league single tied the score in the sixth. In the eighth Harland Clift drove a home run into the left field stands to put the Browns ahead.

Personal Collection of John D. Rockefeller Sr. Goes on Display Tomorrow

Famous Dime Distribution Facts Included

No Ceremony Planned For Man Who Wanted To Reach 100 Years

By ALBERT W. WILSON
TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP) — With a complete lack of ceremony, a collection of the personal possessions, photographs and other memorabilia of the late John D. Rockefeller Sr., will become available for public scrutiny beginning Sunday.

The collection was presented by his family to the Tarrytown historical society last July 8, it was disclosed today. On that date the founder of the oil empire, who died two years ago, would have reached the 100th birthday for which he had hoped.

Simply by opening the doors of the historical society's victorian house in this Hudson river village, the new museum will be inaugurated. No speeches, no formal opening.

Poet

Besides revealing the elder Rockefeller as a somewhat minor poet as well as a financier and philanthropist, the collection contains a photographic copy of his first ledger with the authoritative explanation of his practice of giving away dimes to acquaintances.

There is a magnificent mahogany, birdseye maple and apple wood desk with numerous cubbyholes, which he used in his old family homestead in Cleveland, Ohio. This desk, bequeathed to his grandson Winthrop, is loaned to the museum.

The museum is in a room named "The Hall of Tradition, From the Lords of the Manor to 'Neighbor John'." It contains many souvenirs and heirlooms of early Dutch settlers here as well as the Rockefeller family possessions.

The "Lords of the Manor" was a title that descended through the occupant of the Phillipse castle until the arrival of the Rockefeller family. When "Neighbor John" came to this community in the last century, he acquired most of the lands of the lords of the manor, but he did not inherit the title.

Dutch Millionaire

The first lord of the manor, Vredryk Flypse, who came to New Amsterdam (New York) in 1647, was known as "the Dutch millionaire." When the British took possession, he changed his name to Frederick Philipse and obtained royal grants for land running 21 miles up the Hudson and covering 156,000 acres. To make the deal more binding, he paid the Indians for the land also.

The last occupant of the castle he built was Elsie Janis, who was "the sweetheart of the A. E. F." in the World war. Four years ago the comedienne, now 50, held an auction of her possessions at the castle. She said she had been "inspired by God" to get rid of her worldly belongings and devote her life to aiding the needy.

There will be an Elsie Janis corner in the museum room containing some of her possessions.

A Sample

On Rockefeller's old desk is this poem:
"I was taught early to work as well as play;
My life has been one long, happy holiday—
Full of work, and full of play—
I dropped the worry on the way—
And God was good to me every day.

(Signed) John D. Rockefeller.
The copy of his "Ledger A" contains this admonition from him:
"It is a mistake for a man who wishes for happiness and to help others to think that he will wait until he has made a fortune before giving any money away to deserving objects."

The ledger is entitled: "Mr. Rockefeller — The First He Kept and What Was In It — Saving Money and Early Giving."
The family's version of the "dime story" is explained. It relates that he presented pennies, then nickels and later bright dimes to persons of all walks of life with a word or two on thrift and saving. He kept up the practice, according to his son, to remind himself of his leaner years.

There are numerous signed photographs and paintings of the elder Rockefeller from the time he was a boy until he was an aged man.

Mrs. W. Tallman Victorious In City Tournament

Mrs. W. A. Tallman won the blind bogey tournament yesterday in the Ladies Day activities at the Iowa City country club. Eighteen women played in the tournament.

Approximately 25 were present for the luncheon served at noon. Mrs. Frederick Kent acted as hostess for the day.

"A Traveling We Will Go"

There was a great deal of packing to do yesterday when Roberta Sheets and Katherine Heaton of the Burlington apartments (above) packed for their trip to New Orleans. They left yesterday for a three weeks cruise in the Caribbean sea visiting places en route.

Masons Hear Fish Stories

A. McLeod Relates Research Experiences To Luncheon Guests

"Contrary to most beliefs concerning the type of ladder that fish can most easily climb, months of research proved that the straight channel fish-way is the most effective," A. M. McLeod, of the hydraulics research department, told members of the Masonic service club at their regular weekly noon luncheon yesterday.

The speaker described research being carried on here, outlining first steps in the undertaking, which involved a review of literature and discoveries made previously and a study of fish-way systems being used in Europe today.

Four guests were at the meeting, Paul Stutsman of Sharon with Frank Fisher; Howard P. Rankin with Dr. I. A. Rankin; C. R. Peterson and C. R. Horne with Clinton H. Smoke, and visiting members of the organization, P. C. Walker and H. B. Marshall of Davenport.

The house agreed to elimination of the amendment by Representative McCormack (D-Mass) which would have permitted reduction of state unemployment compensation taxes below the present 2.7 per cent minimum and still enabled employers to claim the full 90 per cent credit on the federal unemployment tax to which they are entitled by payment of the state levy.

Representative Treadway (R-Mass), expressing regret at the failure of the conferees to reach a compromise on this amendment, told the house it could be revived at a later date.

Treadway said the most important change effected by the amendments was the freezing of the old age insurance tax rate at its present level of one per cent on both the worker and employer for the next three years. This tax was scheduled under existing law to increase to one and one half per cent on both Jan. 1, 1940. Savings to both the workers and employers under this amendment were estimated at $825,000,000 in the next three years.

Township Committee To Hear Speeches On Farmers' Problems

Township committeemen of Johnson county and their wives will hear two speeches at their meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the C. S. A. hall, Joe G. Raim, chairman of the Johnson County Soil Conservation association, announced yesterday.

Laurel Dietrick and Mrs. Elsworth Richardson, both members of the Iowa Agricultural Conservation committee, will speak on "Important Problems Confronting Farmers at the Present Time."

Congress--

Today 38 senators voted to suspend the rules for it and 32 against it.

Senator LaFollette, its author, was on his feet the instant the vote was announced, with a biting ironic reference to the earlier senate vote, and a request for unanimous consent that the roll call of that vote be printed in the record in conjunction with today's roll call.

'I Object'

"Mr. President I object," shouted Senator Burke (D-Neb).

"Very well, Mr. President," LaFollette replied, frowning. He added that since not all farmers were equipped with a complete set of the record, he would read the former roll call into the record so that they might see and compare.

This he proceeded to do, pausing when he reached the name of Senator Burke, who voted for the farm proposal in the first instance and against it today.

A few minutes later Burke fired back at LaFollette with a short speech asserting he did not mind having the two votes "blazed across the plains of Nebraska."

But, he added:
"The implication contained was a very unfair one."

If LaFollette had explained, he continued, that in one instance the vote concerned the proposal on its merits, but today was surrounded by circumstances difficult for the layman to understand, he would not have objected. Referring to a pending resolution providing $50,000 additional for LaFollette's civil liberties investigation, Burke said it was as though LaFollette had asked to have inserted beside it "the solemn promise" the Wisconsin senator made last year "to ask for no additional funds."

Without Help

Senator Byrnes (D-SC) interjected a remark that the members of the senate could explain their positions to their constituents "without any help from the senator from Wisconsin."

"Each senator can make whatever explanation he desires," LaFollette answered. "I think constituents are entitled to know the records of their senators."

With that, he strode from the chamber.

Japanese Turn Anti-Foreign Acts to U. S.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5 (Saturday) (AP) — Americans were reported preparing to flee from Kaifeng today as Japan's anti-foreign campaign in that area apparently turned against Americans and American interests.

Broken telegraphic communications hid the precise situation in the North China city but reliable information said Americans there were planning to leave immediately.

The reported plight of the Americans followed the sacking of a British firm's offices in Tientsin.

A mob of Chinese, said by Britons to have been Japanese-instigated, attacked the Tientsin offices of the British International Export corporation, smashed all moveable equipment and tossed it into the Hai river.

British and Chinese employees of the concern took refuge in adjoining property of the American-owned Texas Oil company.

Harried Britons long have been telling Americans "your turn is coming soon," particularly since the United States abrogated her trade treaty with Japan July 26.

To Boost Axis

Admiral Baron Osumi

General Count Terauchi

The visit of Admiral Baron Mineo Osumi, former Japanese navy minister and now a member of the Japanese war council, together with General Count Juichi Terauchi, to Germany is seen as a strengthening of the tie between Japan and the Rome-Berlin axis. Baron Osumi and Count Terauchi will attend the 11th congress of nazis to be held in Nuremberg.

Learning--

E. L. Thorndike of Columbia, Walter Miles of Stanford and Yale, an alumnus of the University of Iowa, and Harold Jones as typical of that which has illustrated the not-always-credited ability of older people to learn.

"The members of a graduating class will do well to remember this," he said. "They may forget many of the details of what they have learned here, though its enduring influence is sure to be great, but they may continue to learn for the rest of their lives, unhindered by any grounded fear that the relentless hand of increasing age will keep them from it."

Learning, Professor McGeoch said, is not always of the formal type, but people may still learn, "even if it be no more than the records of the players in the major leagues, the wisecracks of one's favorite radio comedian, or the doings of one's political party."

"They learn, also, innumerable things about the people with whom they associate, about the physical environment, about the world's fairs and amusements and the other things happening in the world, things often not counted as learning, but which are."

The reasons why some fail to learn what they might be expected to learn, he said, are not difficult to discover. He pointed out that "according to Thorndike, the difficulty expected at later ages is in part due to a sensitiveness to ridicule, adverse comment, and undesired attention, so that if it were customary for mature and old people to learn to swim and ride bicycles, or to speak French the difficulty might diminish."

"Adults," he said, "learn less than they might for the further reason that they do not care about learning. They are not motivated."

"Man can learn to want to want to learn," he declared. "He can also learn to desire higher ends instead of lower, and he can learn to forge the means whereby to attain these ends."

"It is one of the shortcomings of society that its individuals are not more fully taught to desire those alternatives which by the competent are judged the better. Whatever the shortcomings of the past, whatever the difficulties in the path of teaching, the fact that men can be taught to desire the better alternatives and to attain them is hopeful.

"Geographical frontiers are vanishing. The psychological frontiers have only begun to be explored. This is true both for the problems of research and for practical human use of mental capacities. Man learns from birth to death, whether he intends it or not.

"His ability to learn does not decline sufficiently, under normal circumstances, to keep him from going on learning. He may also learn to want to learn, to seek the proper ends; to make himself better than he is.

"In the normal person, the body sets no discouragingly certain physiological limit which blocks his progress. The possibilities which stretch before him are definite and realizable.

"To you who graduate tonight, and to all of us, the realization of these possibilities is a major challenge. Man, can, if he will, learn to change himself and to change the world."

Men Return To Work On Dam Project

GREEN MOUNTAIN DAM, Col., Aug. 4 (AP)—Grim and still apprehensive, men went back to work today on the Green Mountain dam, scene of a 48-hour labor disturbance marked by rifle fire and physical combat that brought injury to seven persons.

Only weapons in evidence were those of national guardsmen sent by Gov. Ralph L. Carr to quell "a state of insurrection." But stacked in the sagebrush-studded camp were 300 assorted guns, taken from workmen and residents of the area.

"Strikers and non-strikers are working side by side," reported A. K. Anderson, superintendent of the project for the Warner Construction company.

He said strikers were being rehired "without discrimination" despite "considerable ill feeling between groups."

Both exercise and sunshine are essential for strong-bodied calves. Calves can get their vitamin D directly from the sun if they are allowed some exercise in the sun shine.

It is estimated that 200,000 citizens of this country will commit a murder before they die.

Tumor Baby Succumbs In New York

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—Harold Holt Jr., 2, "tumor baby" who was given two weeks to live last March, died at New Rochelle hospital tonight.

Hospital officials said a partial diagnosis showed the Monongahela, Pa., baby died of an intestinal obstruction. "He had been suffering from Wilm's tumor, a form of cancer, and was apparently on the road to recovery when stricken last week with distention, an intestinal ailment."

His father, an unemployed riverboat deck hand, recently gave a blood transfusion, but returned to his home yesterday because he couldn't afford to stay in New Rochelle any longer.

crecy and for the protection of those prepared to give information were taken by the government. The agents brought in their witnesses by means of a garage driveway to the courthouse basement, and only today was it disclosed that this process had been followed for several days.

The anonymity of every person thus far questioned, save one, has been preserved. That one was J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, the little former "mouthpiece" for the old Dutch Schultz policy racket whose testimony helped convict Tammany district leader James J. Hines of participating in the racket—specifically of affording political protection.

Davis was accompanied to the court house by four special agents of the department of justice and one city detective.

Meanwhile, Thomas E. Dewey, the New York county district attorney, pursued his concurrent campaign against Lepke, whom he has described as the country's "most dangerous industrial racketeer."

Dewey, who says Lepke is conducting a "war of extermination" against his former associates, has assigned detectives to every person considered to be in that category. The prosecutor was reported to have put guards about even the wife and daughter of Jacob (Gurrah) Shapiro, Lepke's erstwhile chief partner.

Four Arrested In D.M. Raid

DES MOINES, Aug. 4 (AP)—Officers tonight announced four persons were arrested and a large assortment of liquor was seized in a surprise raid early today by 25 state agents and Polk county deputy sheriffs on the Skyline club here.
