

Secretary Wallace Asks For Democratic Corporations To Bridge Capitalism, Democracy

Heaps Praise Upon Finland, Sweden Plans

'Company Coops' May Menace New Movement, U.S. Official Says

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP)—Secretary Wallace tonight asserted the nation should "build a stronger bridge between democracy and capitalism"—possibly by making "our corporations more democratic in form."

In an address prepared for delivery before the American Institute of Cooperation he told leaders of the agricultural cooperative movement they could draw inspiration and guidance from the experiences of Finland and Sweden.

Improve Ways

"They have gradually improved their ways of doing business, keeping both large and small corporations where they appeared to be most efficient and suitable, but turning in certain cases to cooperative organization and even to government ownership where neither the corporate nor cooperative form of organization proved adequate," he added.

"As they have done in Sweden and Finland, what we need to do is somehow to build a stronger bridge between democracy and capitalism. One way to accomplish that, perhaps, would be to make our corporations more democratic in form."

"Our social-minded corporation officers and directors could study with profit the set-ups of the stronger cooperatives, with their interplay of control and function among the members, directors and management. This in itself, when it operates smoothly with balance, is a splendid demonstration of the possibilities of old-fashioned democracy applied to new-fashioned problems."

'I Wonder'

"I sometimes wonder what our corporations would be like, if in the beginning they had been organized like the cooperatives, with each stockholder having only one vote regardless of how many shares of stock he held and with voting by proxy barred."

Wallace stated he was not suggesting that all corporations switch immediately to that type of organization because such a change would be impossible but opined: "I believe practical ways of adapting the corporate form more closely to our present day needs, in keeping with our democratic traditions, can be found if we really want to find them."

The secretary of agriculture, recalling that cooperatives fared better in districts where farm tenure was stable, contended the cooperative movement suffered "real damage" when "the doing-bloc in the house killed the president's lending bill which included provisions for speeding up the tenancy program."

Prominent Assets

Secretary Wallace reported a consolidated balance sheet of 10,547 farmers' cooperative marketing and purchasing associations showed a grand total of assets of more than $500,000,000 against liabilities of $222,000,000.

He termed "menacing to the cooperative movement" the "company coops" organized among milk producers by private milk distributors.

Wallace said the experiment in member education sponsored by the Grange federation would be watched with great interest. The federation, operating in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey with headquarters in Ithaca, N. Y., has established a class room for instructions on the organization's practices.

He predicted the new food order stamp program, designed to turn some farm products into retail channels, would prove of "increasing benefit in removing glutts." He said the plan was operating in four cities and would be extended to other soon.

Other New Ideas

The secretary also reported the farm security administration was developing a new type of small group cooperative providing cooperative use of farm machinery and other services. He said Box Elder county, Utah, offered an "excellent example" of how the program was "contributing to rehabilitation of low income families." He added that "they are making money out of their farming operations for the first time in many years."

PRAYED & PRAYED 5-Foot Hole In Wires His Salvation

SANTA ANNA, Calif., Aug. 7 (AP)—William J. Desert, making a parachute jump today in a stiff breeze, saw he was being carried toward high tension wires.

"I just fixed my eye on that little space between the wires and prayed and prayed," he said later. "The 'little space' was a hole five feet square in the mesh of wires carrying 66,000 volts. The parachute became tangled in the wires after Desert descended through the opening. He slipped from his harness and dropped a few feet to the ground unhurt."

Work, Play Await F.R. On Journey

Special Congressional Session 'Unlikely' Unless Crisis Arises

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt sandwiched bill signing between conferences and many handshakes today before starting a 1,000-mile trek that will bring him both work and pleasure.

The work comes first and his journey, starting tonight, takes him immediately to his Hyde Park, N. Y., study where—in shirtsleeves—he will consider some 200 bills which still are unsigned.

After a few days of that, he will board the navy cruiser Tuscaloosa at New York City this week-end for a lazy trip through the cool waters off the eastern Canadian coast. He told a recent press conference that he was looking for rest and relief from hot weather. During the 10-day jaunt, he plans no work, no fishing and no stops ashore, except a brief one at Campobello Island, N. B.

No Special Session? Before Mr. Roosevelt left Washington, some of his congressional aides expressed the opinion that he should not call any special session of congress unless it becomes necessary on account of trouble abroad.

There had been discussion in some quarters of a possible extra session to consider lending, housing and neutrality legislation, all of which were blocked in the session which adjourned Saturday night.

Some highly placed administration lieutenants argued, however, that because of the temper of congress near the last session's end it would be inadvisable to call them back before the regular term next January.

Completes Program

During the busy day, the chief executive signed into law a bill which Attorney General Murphy said "completes the 1937 court program." The measure provides for a judicial administrative officer to handle the financial affairs of the courts.

25 'Communists' Arrested In Spanish Drive

MADRID, Aug. 7 (AP)—Continuing an intensive drive that has resulted in 62 executions in the last three days, police tonight arrested 25 persons whom they identified as communists.

The 62 persons disposed of by firing squads had been charged with a triple killing, and similarly, the latest arrests were accused of "numerous assassinations." Seven of their number were described as members of the "red committee" of the republican war ministry that directed the defense of Madrid's long civil war siege.

Madrid newspapers called attention to the swift executions as a warning that all conspiracies against the nationalist government would be "inexorably crushed."

Ex-Governor Of Louisiana Out on Bond

Awaits Federal Action On Tax Evasion, Mail Fraud Charges

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Reaching high among the political heirs of the late Huey P. Long, the federal government today indicted former Gov. Richard Leche on a charge he profited by $67,000 through illegal "hot oil" operations.

Named with Leche and accused of making an identical sum through evasion of oil production regulations was Seymour Weiss, New Orleans hotel owner and one-time financial right hand man to the slain "Kingfish." Freeman Burford, wealthy Dallas, Tex., oil man and the East Texas Refining company also were indicted in this transaction.

A second indictment announced today by the grand jury charged Weiss with income tax evasion and still another made a similar charge against the dapper hotel man and Louis C. Lesage, former Standard Oil company official here. This same jury indicted these men on mail fraud charges a few weeks ago.

Fingerprinted The strapping Leche, just six weeks out of the governor's chair, appeared at the federal building soon after the indictments and was fingerprinted before being released on $5,000 bond. He declined comment on the case, as did Weiss, who made bond of $15,000. They face possible imprisonment for two years on each of the two oil counts.

The name of New Orleans Mayor Robert S. Maestri—who emerged with Leche and Weiss as the rulers of the long domain after the senator was shot to death in 1935—appeared repeatedly in the oil indictment but he was accused of nothing.

In 1936 when the alleged production occurred, Maestri was commissioner of conservation and as such authorized the order whereby output of certain wells was stepped up, but the indictment said he was fraudulently misled by the conspirators and no charge or implication was made against him.

The Story

The story related by the indictment follows: In March, 1936, Governor-Elect Leche met with Weiss, Burford and others here to plan a deal whereby production of 13 oil wells in the Rodessa field near Shreveport would be stepped up from (See LECHE, Page 6)

Danzig Senate O.K.'s Polish Customs Action

WARSAW, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Danzig senate, governing body of the free city, has withdrawn an order restricting the activities of Polish customs officials, it was announced here tonight.

A communique declared that regulations by non-Polish customs officers in Danzig lacked authority of the senate.

It was declared the senate also had assured Polish authorities that there is no intention of presenting Poland with a sudden coup abolishing Polish customs control, Poland's principal interest in the free city.

Army Shows Battlewagons Armored Cars Do 55 M.P.H., Drivers Learn 'To Take It'

By RICE YAHNER MANASSAS, Va., Aug. 7 (AP)—To feel like you can lick the world, ride in a tank.

But when you get out you'll feel that all the world licked you. If they could devise some widespread commercial use for these battlewagons—the army's newest 55-mile-an-hour land attack weapons—their jockeys would vie with the aviators for the "ohs" and "ahs" of the public.

The sensation to the tyro inside these 18,000-pound, armored-plated "cans" may be compared with confinement in a submarine, plus the noise of a boiler factory.

Kept Secret About two years ago, these tanks were among the army's most closely-guarded secrets. Now for the first time they are on parade at first army maneuvers here and at Plattsburg, N. Y., the next two weeks.

On this civil war battleground, 70 tanks will be the principal attacking force of a streamlined regular army division testing whether it is superior or vulnerable to the 28th (Pennsylvania) and the 29th (Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia) divisions' larger force of infantry, artillery and special troops, reinforced by only four tanks.

Noise Maker A 250-horsepower, seven-cylinder radial, air-cooled airplane engine motor furnished the motive power and the noise. The driver, with five forward speeds at his command, and the radio operator-gunner sit in the forward cockpit. Two gunners occupy top-side turrets that can swing in a circle. The armament includes 50-caliber and 30-caliber machine guns.

Splashing through creeks, leaping ravines, and crashing through woods, the tanks give the inept passenger a merciless beating. But he's clamped in behind half-inch armorplate that only a direct hit can puncture.

A Kick for 'Go' Added to the driver's discomfort are the maneuvering signals—transmitted by kicks in the back, steps on the head and pats on the shoulder, as follows: Go—One kick in back: faster rapid kicking.

Stop—Step firmly on the head. Back up—Tap (with the foot) on the head.

Of course the driver and all the crew wear crash helmets—a cross between the poloists' and the football players' headgear.

Chandler Ward Boosts Lead In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7 (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson, supported by Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler's political organization, took a lead of more than 20,000 over former U. S. Representative John Young Brown today in tabulation of votes cast Saturday in the democratic gubernatorial primary.

The vote in 2,338 of 4,307 precincts: Johnson, 160,996; Brown, 136,534. The lieutenant governor's lead was piled up "out in the state." Only 11 of 608 precincts had been tabulated in Jefferson county (Louisville), where Johnson was supported by the city administration.

'Exact Method Ignored, But Ends Achieved'

President Declares New Deal's Liberal Ideas Adopted in Full

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt pronounced the objectives of his defeated 1937 court reorganization bill fully attained tonight.

He said attacks made recently on the supreme court by "ultra-conservative members of the bar" indicated how fully the administration's "liberal ideas" had prevailed, even though his proposal to reorganize the tribunal had not been the method by which this was accomplished.

Mr. Roosevelt named no names, but newsmen recalled that Frank J. Hogan, president of the American Bar association, had declared not long ago that recent judicial construction had brought most if not all activities of the nation "within the orbit of federal control."

Hogan's Indictment

"Recent far-reaching decisions (of the high court) compel the conclusion," Hogan told a bar association meeting in San Francisco recently, "that the American people must look to the legislature rather than the judiciary for the preservation . . . of liberties."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke tonight in a formal statement issued in connection with the signing of a bill creating an administrative officer to handle the fiscal affairs of all federal courts and to keep tab on the condition of their dockets.

In his 1937 message to congress on the judiciary, he urged creation of a court "proctor" to perform the latter function and also advanced the supreme court reorganization plan which set off one of the greatest political struggles since the civil war.

President Roosevelt's 1937 proposal to reorganize the supreme court was that an additional judge should be added to the tribunal for each incumbent past 70 who declined to retire.

Special Recognition

"It is worth reading," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that today, Aug. 7, 1939, deserves special recognition because it marks the final objective of the comprehensive proposals for judicial reorganization which I made to congress on Feb. 5, 1937.

"The country is naturally concerned with the attainment of proper objectives rather than any one of many possible methods proposed for the accomplishment of the end."

Then the president listed his seven objectives of 1937, all of which he said had been reached. As to the supreme court itself, he asserted:

"I called attention to the unwarranted attitude of the supreme court with reference to its exercise of constitutional powers. Measures of social and economic reform were being impeded or defeated by narrow interpretations of the constitution, and by the assumption on the part of the supreme court of legislative powers which properly belong to the congress.

"It is true that the precise method, which I recommended, was not adopted, but the objective, as every person in the United States knows today, was achieved."

"Attacks recently made on the supreme court itself by ultra-conservative members of the bar indicate how fully our liberal ideas have already prevailed."

Clinton Boy Swept Away In Automobile

CLINTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Leonard Webber, 7, of Bryant, was drowned in a creek eight miles west of here tonight when the automobile in which he and his mother were riding was swept into the flooded stream.

BULLETIN

The mother, Mrs. Leo Webber, 27, drove onto an approach to a bridge that had been washed out and the flood waters sent the car racing down stream for a distance of 15 yards.

The woman climbed on top of the car when it lodged in the channel but the body of the boy apparently was swept on in the current.

Father Watches

Leo Webber, father of the boy, was in another car just behind the one his wife was driving and heard her scream as the auto was swept from the bridge. He was unable to reach them because of darkness and the roaring flood waters.

The body of the boy had not been recovered tonight.

Darkness and the fact that the bridge approaches were not damaged made it difficult to see that the span was washed out, sheriff's deputies who investigated said.

The death was the only one reported tonight from the rainstorm that swept through this area.

Danzig Senate To Negotiate

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Aug. 7 (AP)—The nazl-controlled Danzig senate agreed today to open negotiations on the critical dispute over Polish customs administration of the free city.

Poland likewise was represented as ready to enter the negotiations, provided her treaty rights to control customs were not violated.

Political informants said they saw Berlin's guiding hand in the senate action while Poles interpreted it as a victory for the firm attitude attributed to Warsaw in the Polish-Danzig "margarine and herring war."

The dispute revolves around the allegation of Danzig Germans that Poland increased the number of customs supervisors unnecessarily in Danzig. The Polish action was interpreted as a victory for the firm attitude attributed to Warsaw in the Polish-Danzig "margarine and herring war."

Scouts Freed From Shoals Off Michigan

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Aug. 7 (AP)—The proud three-master Oliver H. Perry sailed northward toward the Straits of Mackinac tonight with her 100 Sea Scouts after coast guard cutters freed her from her 18-hour stay on Lake Michigan shoals.

A calm sea facilitated the re-floating. Cutters from Charlevoix and Mackinac island late today pulled the ship off the Ile Aux Galets shoals between Charlevoix and the straits, where she went aground at 11:35 p.m. Sunday. The coast guard here said it believed the ship was undamaged. The schooner, used for training Sea Scouts from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, put out from Grand Haven Saturday morning.

We Need A Special Session

PRESIDENT Roosevelt may call a special session of congress to deal with the unfinished business left at its adjournment Saturday night. The president feels that congress should have and could have accomplished much more than it did.

Some natives of the Philippines, on greeting others, swing one foot in the air. In the United States the same method is often used to say goodbye.

Reflections On The Summer Session NOW THAT THE summer session is over, and the majority of the 3,000 students have left, this question arises: Was it worth the effort?

To those students who used up almost their entire vacation period in school (that is, to the great majority who were teachers) and to the rest this session meant serious work. But the realistic fact of a better job and more pay overshadowed the darkness of textbooks and exams.

There was the Fine Arts festival with Lawrence Tibbett—the Iowa City centennial—the Monday afternoon sessions of the Writers' Workshop with such delightful personalities as Josephine Johnson, Winifred Van Etten, Paul Engle, John Frederick, Louis Adams, Herbert Krause and others—the Friday night open air campus forums with the dripping challenges of Frank Lloyd Wright, the eloquent pleas of Henry Wallace, and the fresh Americanism of Carl Van Doren—the Saturday night play activities at the field house—the free swim pluges at the gyms—the cool restfulness of the Union—all these made living in Iowa City a happy eight weeks' experience.

The graduation ceremonies on Friday night seemed the most brilliant and satisfying climax when almost 500 students were awarded their degrees. The coldest heart should have been stirred with the significance of convocation—to know that here was America where all ages, creeds and races could take away with them the academic degrees for which they worked; here was America which was seeing beyond the barrage of firing squads to the erection of the greatest fortress against extinction—EDUCATION.

John Bull In A China Shop GREAT BRITAIN does not have to be convinced that the Irish Republican army is not a myth. It was born in the short Easter rebellion of 1916 and has had alternate periods of existence from that time on.

Police searched the "storm centers" of the undercover army which in its heyday had an enrollment ranging from 10,000 to 30,000. In Dublin Prime Minister Eamon de Valera held a special cabinet meeting to determine what to do about these "insurgents."

There were, for instance, 23,000 pilots and 10,000 airplanes licensed the first of this year. On July 1, 26,144 pilots and 11,160 planes were so licensed. Traffic on the air lines for April was 30 per cent ahead of April 1938; it was up 40 per cent for May.

States and 46,000 miles abroad—a total of 81,000 route miles. The airplanes on these routes flew 70,000,000 airplane miles at home last year and 11,000,000 airplane miles abroad. They carried 1,536,111 passengers, a total of 635,556,104 passenger miles. They carried 23,641,967 ton miles of mail and over 9 million pounds of express. For the twelve months preceding June 1, 1939, the air lines of the United States flew 42,000,000 passenger miles per passenger fatality.

The devotion of the air lines of the United States to safety in flying has paid big dividends in increased patronage. The close connection between the figures on safety and the figures on increased business on the air lines is inescapable. In all business, in all industry, in all economics, in all engineering, there are no two statistical Siamese twins more closely connected than these: safety in the air and increased volume of air traffic.

Probably 3,000,000 people will fly this year of 1939. Thirty years ago there was only one brave enough to fly. No matter how fantastic may be the dreams of airplane loyalists today they cannot be scorned, for the first 30 years of aviation's history have produced too many miraculous feats for anyone to predict its future wonders.

Some natives of the Philippines, on greeting others, swing one foot in the air. In the United States the same method is often used to say goodbye.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

New York—Some mornings on Broadway just don't make sense, so confusing that you think perhaps the only thing to do is get off the berserk Rialto and get some sleep. For instance, the other morning in the office of Fred Waring, the leader of the lyrical dance band, it is not only his office, but also his home, the practice room for his musicians and the radio room from which he broadcasts.

HEALTH HINTS

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

When I first started writing about vitamins in this column, I thought it was at least a perfectly harmless topic. I thought it was something the public ought to know about and that it could not possibly induce hysteria. In discussing them, I have always emphasized three points: 1. Vitamins, while very necessary to health, are not to be made a cause of worry, because every balanced adult diet contains a full quota.

It Now Looks Like If F.D.R. Declines, Garner vs. McNutt

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Paul V. McNutt versus John N. Garner: Hasn't the democratic situation shaped itself substantially to that effect? Political dopsters are increasingly guessing in the affirmative.

Garner doesn't care whether F. D. chooses to run again or not. It's to be taken for granted that he wants to be nominated, regardless of the "boss" wishes as to his own future.

Garner's a practically avowed anti-new dealer. Though perchance F. D. doesn't desire another four years in the executive mansion, he certainly doesn't want an "anti" to succeed him.

McNutt hasn't a rampant new deal record. In fact, some of his critics call him a fascist. Still, he's more or less amenable. Were F. D., in a position to nominate a 100 per center, I've no doubt he'd prefer one to the Hoosier.

Well, Paul turned up from the Philippines to ask the White House what about himself. It's a safe bet that he put the third term inquiry. It's an equally safe bet that the president, not having made up his own mind on the subject, didn't give him a yes-or-no answer.

Naturally, the president asked Paul, though, what the latter had up his sleeve. Paul, it's a cinch, replied that he had Indiana in his hip pocket, that his lieutenants had done considerable fixing in adjoining states, and that, especially, he had a pretty good lineup in Dixie.

White House reasoning, politicians assure me, must have been thus: "Indiana and some more northern democratic convention votes are worth having."

"If Garner wins with our help, he'll be grateful. And maybe he won't win. Maybe F. D.'ll get a third nomination and McNutt'll be grateful to us with 1944 in view."

All this is pure guesswork. But it's guessing by competent politicians. It's hard to tell which, by wishful wishing, is doing its side's most intelligent winging.

A bachelor is a man who doesn't know school has started again until he reads, on the sports page, about the beginning of football practice.

Though there may be no new World war, it has already caused some casualties. A number of European statesmen are reported suffering from writers' cramps.

The Mongolian-Manchoukuoan war appears even so far. Both number of titanic air battles ending in complete victory.

Just think, in two more months we can start yearning again for the good old summertime. The best kind of relatives, according to the man at the next desk, are distant ones.

IMPRESSIONS OF "The Lullaby Lady" singing "Well All Right" and "And the Angels Sing," as sung at the Metropolitan Opera house will be highlights of Alec Templeton's regular appearance on the NBC-Red network tonight at 7:30.

New York Museum Purchases Nazis 'Degenerate' Art Work

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP) — Five exiled works of art denounced as "degenerate" by Nazi officials have been given refuge in the new $2,000,000 museum of modern art.

Expelled by official order from the national gallery in Berlin and museums in Cologne, Essen and Dresden, the four paintings and one sculpture have been bought by the museum here.

Some of them were shown in the official exhibition of "degenerate" art in Munich in 1937, said Alfred H. Barr Jr., director of the modern museum.

"It was, however, somewhat embarrassing to the official authorities," Barr added, "that the attendance at the exhibition of condemned art was incomparably greater than at the exhibition of officially approved art referred to by Hitler as 'pure German art uncontaminated by modernism.'"

Commenting on Germany's official branding of impressionism and other modern art styles as "degenerate," Barr said: "The Nazi opposition to modern art seems in fact to be due to Hitler's personal taste rather than to any racial or political factors. Hitler was at one time a painter of feeble and mediocre academic watercolors—a fact which seems permanently to have affected his taste."

None of the modern museum's acquisitions were banned by Germany on racial grounds, Barr said. Of the artists, Ernst Ludwig Kiefer and Wilhelm Lehmbruck are native Germans, while Henri Matisse and Andre Derain are French, and Paul Klee is Swiss though long a German resident.

Amendments In Security Of 'Vital Import'

A. Altmeyer Cites Extreme Significance Of Present Legislation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the social security board today described the social security amendments now before President Roosevelt for approval as the "most important piece of legislation in this congress or any other that I know of."

"We will now have an old-age and survivor's system with over 45,000,000 people," he said. He added that there would be benefits for "survivors not only of the old people but of young workers who haven't reached the retirement age (of 65)." He referred to payments to widows and dependent children of eligible workers who die or are incapacitated before becoming 65.

Congress completed action Saturday on a long list of revisions which, experts say, will bring about 1,000,000 additional persons under the act and effect taxpayer savings of about $1,000,000,000.

As soon as the president signs the legislation into law, Altmeyer said the board would have to augment its field staff. The 332 field offices may be increased and what he described as "itinerant adjudicators" may have to be added.

"Until now we've had mostly a record-keeping job," Altmeyer said, "but now we'll have the question of adjudicating hundreds of thousands of claims filed in 1940."

Under the amendments, pensions to persons over 65 are to start next Jan. 1, instead of Jan. 1, 1942 as originally provided.

Altmeyer said the cost of the social security program would jump from $46,000,000 to $114,000,000 next year but increases in later years would be smaller than expected under the original act.

The rotation of the earth slowed down in 1785, speeded up again in 1899.

Peaceful Strike Continues At Des Moines

DES MOINES, Aug. 7 (AP)—Striking building service workers at the Younker Brothers Department store here continued peaceful picketing this afternoon with no immediate break in contract negotiations reported by conferring store and union officials.

Three other downtown stores—the New Utica, J. C. Penney and company, and the S. S. Kresge stores—are also being picketed, although none of their employees are striking.

A picket line was withdrawn at the Sears Roebuck and company store today to permit union workmen employed on an air-conditioning project by an independent contractor the union judged "fair," to get to their jobs.

Carl Keul, union spokesman, said union truckers have made no deliveries to or from the Younker store since last Wednesday when the picket lines were set up.

He said the truck drivers have also refused to cross picket lines set up Thursday and Friday at the other stores.

All stores were open for business and reported that outside of their deliveries, operation was normal.

The other stores were included in the picket movement because the union charged their managers, through the retail associates, an organization to which they belong, "interfered" in the Younker strike.

The Younker employees, whom union claims include 35 or 45 building service workers, struck when the company refused to accede to a demand for a closed shop contract. Their previous contract expired July 31.

SPORTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—There is a tendency to take him more or less for granted, like the seeds in a watermelon or the knob on a door, and in the acclaim for the Joe DiMaggios and Atley Donalds and Ted Williams one of our favorite ball players seems a little slighted.

Frankly, we hadn't been paying much attention to Jimmy Foxx until he bobbed up yesterday as a pitcher. The record books show he already had been a catcher, third baseman, outfielder and first baseman, so he's something of an individual round robin.

But in spite of the apparent slighting, Jimmy has more than a fair chance of being chosen the American league's "most valuable" player for a fourth time, equalling the feat of Lou Gehrig.

We saw him down south early this spring, just after he'd quit the banquet circuit. He had been honor guest at something over 50 feasts, but if we expected to find a small blimp after all that nourishment, we could have been disappointed.

"You can't get fat on banquets," said Jimmy, who even then looked like he could go nine innings without a deep breath. He was chunky, but not bulgy, a face as round as an apple giving the deceptive idea of too much weight.

As always, he was non-committal at that time about what he expected to do this season. He'd just grin through his beard, gnaw on a plug of eating tobacco, and say nothing very loudly.

His bat has been talking for him ever since, and at or near the top of every list of American league leaders you find that old double XX: Foxx, Boston.

Today he topped the league in home runs with 27. He was second to DiMaggio in batting with a mark of .364. He was second to his teammate, Williams, in runs batted in, with 86. And he's probably first as a pitcher in earned-run averages. He pitched to three men yesterday and they went out 1-2-3.

Foxx is only 31 years old, despite the fact he made his major league debut in 1925. He has a lifetime major league batting average of .335, and figuring that, barring accident, he has several more years in the big time ahead of him, he has an excellent chance to better several records, including several held by Gehrig.

His debut as a pitcher yesterday undoubtedly was just one of those things, the home team hopelessly behind and it making no difference if they put the groundskeeper on the mound.

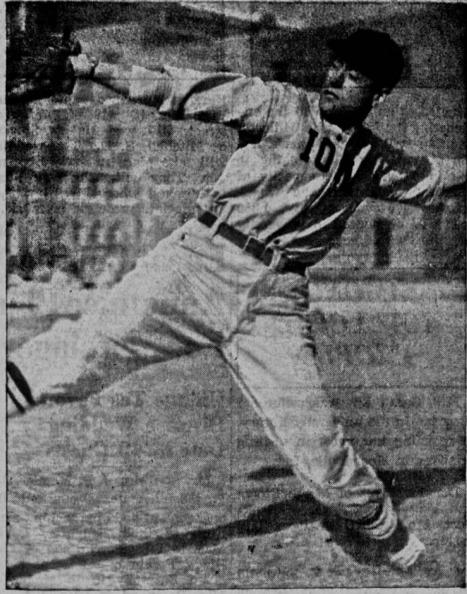

However, Bucky Walters is a reformed infelder, and he's doing all right pitching for Cincinnati. But Walters was a so-so third baseman, while Foxx would equal his value as a first baseman.

Foxx is one of Tom Yawkey's expensive, but wise, purchases. The Red Sox owner gave a reported $150,000 to Connie Mack for the stocky first baseman.

Foxx is seven ahead of Hank Greenberg today in the home run derby, and with seven or eight weeks to go has an excellent chance of ending the season with around 50 to his credit.

All-American To Aid Crayne

LEMARS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Pete Westra, formerly a star athlete at the University of Iowa, has been signed as football line coach at Western Union college, President D. O. Kime announced today.

Westra was named a guard on the all-American football team in 1928 and won like honors on mythical Big Ten and all-west evelens in that year and in 1929. He has been coaching high school football teams nine years, five at Eagle Grove, two at Shenandoah, and two at Rochester, Minn.

Dick Crayne, Western Union coach, said he was "very happy" that Westra had been signed as an assistant and asserted conditions were "favorable for good teams at Western Union" in the future.

Westra will come here late this month.

Chicago Bears' George Halas
Fears New York Giants Will Underrate Collegiate All-Stars

By GEORGE HALAS
Head Coach, Chicago Bears

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—They say influence is something you think you have until you try to use it. That certainly is the case with those of us who have tried to influence Steve Owen, the coach of the New York Giants.

We have warned Steve about the human dynamite and football lightning that will strike at his squad in Soldiers' Field, Aug. 30, when the Giants meet the greatest All-Star football squad ever assembled. Steve nods agreement, but a professional coach and his team can't possibly realize beforehand how tough an assignment they face in this All-Star game.

The Giants have defeated the Eastern All-Stars for the last few years, without drawing a very deep breath. Those victories are bound to have a bearing on the attitude of the New Yorkers, even though they may not realize it.

I'm warning Steve right now that these eager college boys charge as though every charge is the last they will ever make. They tackle as though it is their last opportunity to drive into churning legs. The ball carriers run as if it were their last chance to carry a football.

No team, however strong, can afford to take lightly a squad of 70 husky, virile young men, each one in excellent condition and full of determination to do a job. That is because the All-Star game has already become surrounded with tradition, honor and prestige. The all-Americans who start are in there to show that the people's choice is correct. But there are others who are out to prove they are the rightful all-Americans, that the public made a serious error in its voting. There are other boys who, unaided by publicity or by spectacular feats, are inwardly burning to demonstrate that they can hold their own in this fastest game.

From this latter group always comes some unheralded player who may take charge of the game at a critical moment. Who it will be this year only time can tell.

The All-Stars, however, are not unbeatable. That was proved by them, the Chicago Bears when we defeated the collegians in our last crack at them. Incidentally, I have more than a hunch that in 1940 the Chicago Bears will represent the league in the All-Star game. That is an aside to our Bear followers.

Continuing, I don't like the reports coming out from the east that the Giants will win by a minimum of 10 points.

Fortunately, two of the Giants participated in the All-Star game as collegians. It is my hope that they will impress their teammates with the fact that they are going into a pitched battle.

Drop 7 to 1 Tilt To Press Citizen

The Daily Iowan softballers, hopelessly mired in last place, lost another game yesterday, dropping a 7-1 decision to the Press-Citizen.

Frank Stinocher, on the mound for the winners, held the Iowans to three hits, while collecting two himself off the slants of Eddie Oldis, Iowan hurler.

Yesterday's was the second straight win for the Citizens and the fourth consecutive loss for the Iowans, the lone victory being chalked up at the expense of the Kelly Oilers.

Walker's Single Wins for Brooklyn;
Tribe Clips Browns by 6-5 Score

BROOKLYN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Dixie Walker, making his Brooklyn debut in a Dodger uniform, singled to right with two out in the tenth inning to give the Dodgers a 7 to 6 victory over the Boston Bees before 29,950 in a night game here. The victory gave Brooklyn a clear claim to fifth place.

It was a see-saw battle from the start. Max West hit his 14th homer of the season with two on in the second to give the Bees a jump and start Tot Pressnell toward the showers. Doubles by Lavagetto and Walker in the third drove in the runs that tied the score. In the seventh, the Bees established a one-run lead off Ira Hutchinson, but Lavagetto hit a home run in the Brooklyn half to tie the score.

Lefty Joe Sullivan was the pitching victim.

Goldberg Signs With Cards

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7 (AP)—The signing today of Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg, twice an all-American backfield star at the University of Pittsburgh, to play with the Chicago Cardinals of the National league, raised a delicate question of whether or not he will play in the Eastern All-Stars charity game against the New York Giants.

Along with nine other Pitt seniors of 1938, Goldberg was supposed to play with the easterners, who will be coached by Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland, Pitt mentor who resigned several months ago.

In Morgantown, W. Va., where Dr. Sutherland is aiding at a coaching school, he said:

"I am not familiar with recent developments, but Marshall signed an agreement to play for the Eastern All-Stars. I don't believe he will try to cancel it. Our squad will start practice at New York military academy in Cornwall, N. Y., on Aug. 20. I am sure Marshall will be with us."

Owner Charles Bidwell of the Cardinals said he was paying the greatest sum he ever tendered a first year player to Goldberg. Friends said they understood Goldberg first had asked $13,000 and had been offered $4,000 then $5,000 and finally $6,000 before today's conference. They understood he received between $10,000 and $13,000 with an understanding he would be paid only $7,500 in event he played in the eastern game.

The Goldberg case may bring to a head a growing antagonism of National league owners toward the multitude of charity games which have sprung up in the last few years. At the recent summer meeting here they discussed the matter at length but tabled any moves for this year.

Yank Track and Field Stars Wallop Europe's Best in 'Olympic Preview'

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP)—America's hand-picked athletes followed the herculean figure of Bill Watson and the flying feet of Clyde Jeffrey today to a notable triumph over the track and field forces of 15 other nations in an "Olympic preview" at the White City stadium.

The lone jarring note was the loud and raucous razz handed America's Blaine Rideout when he swung wide to pass two other runners at the start of the last lap of the mile. It was evident from the stand that Blaine had been forced wide but, probably because he was considered the cause of Sydney Wooderson's downfall at Princeton in June, he got the old bird just the same.

Whatever it was, the incident had little bearing on the result of the race. Denis Pell, who has been shadowing Wooderson all season,

Miss Miley's 74 Paces Field In W. W. G. A. Meet

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP)—Her putter a magic wand, Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., blazed to a new course and qualifying record as she paced a field of 141 contestants in the 39th annual closed championship of the women's western golf association at the Oakland Hills country club today.

Miss Miley, winner of the western in 1935 and 1937, shot 37-37—74 as she required but 25 putts for the rounds. She had eight one-putt greens. Her score eclipsed by one stroke the previous qualifying record of 75 set by Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City in the 1937 tournament at St. Paul.

Compared to women's par of 78, Miss Miley rapped in four birdies and an eagle. The course record until today was 77, held by Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, Ia., who played with Miss Miley and shot an 82 to qualify handsly.

Five shots behind Miss Miley was Eleanor Dudley, long hitting Chicagoan who is a junior at the University of Alabama. Third place was held by Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, who faded to a 43 on the inward nine after equalling the medalist's card on the out-going route.

Two ex-champions—Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee, the former Lucille Robinson, and Dorothy Traung of San Francisco—were included in the group bracketed at 81.

Cleveland Buys Southern Star

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have purchased shortstop Russ Peters from the Southern association's Atlanta Crackers, Vice President C. C. Slapnick announced tonight.

He said an undisclosed amount of cash was being paid, and that Atlanta also would receive a pitcher next year. Peters will report at the end of the Southern association season.

"He's a wonderful shortstop," Slapnick said, "and will give us strength no matter how well our present combination goes."

The pitcher to be sent to the southern club has not been selected, he said.

Purchase of Peters will not upset present plans to install Lou Boudreau and Ray Maek, withdrawn last week from Buffalo, as the Indian's keystone combination, Slapnick said.

Kelly's, Racine's Tilt Postponed

The Kelly Oiler - Racine softball clash scheduled for last night was postponed indefinitely because of rain.

Team managers, Red Miller of Kelly's and Bob King and Clayton Colbert of Racine's, conferred but could reach no agreement as to a playoff date.

Yesterday's postponed engagement was to have been a playoff of a previously protested tilt. Racine's won the original game by a score of 4 to 1, but the Oiler's protested on the grounds that Racine's used a player that was ineligible for competition under the age limit ruling.

The only other previous game between the rivals resulted in a victory for the Oilers by a 9 to 2 count during the finals of the Iowa City Centennial Junior tournament.

Back in Game
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Joe Gallagher, the Browns hard-hitting outfielder who has been out of action three weeks with a chest injury, probably will return to the lineup when the club returns home Aug. 16, Vice President William O. DeWitt said today.

Successful Debut

BROOKLYN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Dixie Walker, making his Brooklyn debut in a Dodger uniform, singled to right with two out in the tenth inning to give the Dodgers a 7 to 6 victory over the Boston Bees before 29,950 in a night game here. The victory gave Brooklyn a clear claim to fifth place.

Very Poor!
Had $24,215.48 In
Pocket, Not for Illness

EXCESIOR SPRINGS, Mo.,
 Aug. 7 (AP)—Elderly John A.
 Kasper who protested he was too poor to go to a hospital had $24-215.48 hidden in his clothing and in his room, police said today.

Kasper suffered a heart prostrotion. When he revived he told officers he could not afford hospital treatment. They found he had $3-275 cash and $15,940 in securities. The cash was in his pockets as were some of the securities.
 The others were in his $125 a week room. He was sent to a hospital.

Aron Wins
 CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP)—Milt
 Aron, 150-3-4, Chicago, chalked up another ring victory tonight when his scheduled 10-round bout with Eddie Meleski, 151-3-4, Chicago, was stopped at the end of the second round because of the latter's badly cut left eye.
 A similar decision by the referee gave Tony Sopko, 152, Chicago, a victory over Augie Kluborg, 153

 1-2, Racine, Wis., in a scheduled four-rounder. Kluborg suffered a deep cut at the start of the fight and the bout was stopped with two seconds to go in the first round.

Indifferent Start
 RYE, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Bobby Riggs started the defense of his eastern grass court championship in his usual indifferent fashion today, dropping his preliminary set before overcoming Leonard
 Hartman, of New York, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, at the Westchester country club.

Yielding the set wasn't entirely voluntary on Bobby's part, however, for he battled Hartman stubbornly for it before he finally lost it, on a combination of his own errors and Hartman's accurate stroking. Riggs played flawlessly, however, as the match neared its end.

98 Farmers Make Cryptic Remarks About New York's Windowbox Gardeners

Leading U. S. Farm Experts Get Together

They Liked Big City 'For A Change,' But Prefer Open Spaces

By ANDY ANDERSON
NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP) — The ears of a lot of metropolitan window-box gardeners must have burned today, for 98 champion farmers came into town and wondered how the New Yorkers could be so satisfied.

It was the first time the masters from every part of the country had been together. They all liked the big city "for a change" but longed for the great open spaces again where "the air is fresher and everybody isn't in such a hurry."

It was the first time, too, that most of them had been to New York — a trip given them by the Firestone Rubber company in recognition of their achievements — and several rapid sightseeing trips (plus noise, bustle and gasoline-fueled air) fairly took their breath away.

The Oldest.
George M. McKerrow, 87, of Pewaukee, Wis., the oldest, said he was "born on all fool's day and that accounts for my coming on such a long trip."

McKerrow, dean of American sheep raisers and who said he had more pure-bred sheep from Canada and England than any man living, came after his family took a vote as to whether he should make the tour.

"I voted not to come," he said, "but the family won out. I like it fine."

The descent of the farmers — 193 with their families — proved considerably embarrassing to the Hotel New Yorker where they were quartered. There wasn't room for them for luncheon and the hotel had to send the crowd to the Hotel Pennsylvania for the meal.

Eggs He Raised.
Hobart Creighton of Warsaw, Ind., who with his brother Russell sold 4,320,000 eggs last year and who is a member of the Indiana house of representatives, figured his meals here would include some eggs he had raised.

"We ship twice a week to New York," he said.

Charles Schneider of Springfield, Ohio, charter member of the first junior agricultural club in America, said he'd rather be back on his farm because there was too much bustle here and this was echoed by Clyde Rose of Seville, Ohio, who has designed some "unusually effective ways of irrigation in farming."

The Youngest.
The two youngest were Irene Brown, 15, of Aledo, Ill., who raised the grand champion steer "Mercer"; and Adolph Pirani, 14, of Marion, Ark., who grew 5,618 pounds of seed cotton on a 1.451-acre plot.

Harry D. Smith, who has raised 90 bushels of wheat to an acre on his farm on Widby island off the coast of Washington, was another of the champions but the champion of them all was Carl Cockerell of Duval, Wash., who drove here with three daughters, one son, a cousin and his wife.

Cockerell, whose feed ration enabled Ormsby Butter King to become the champion cow of the world in milk and butter production, felt like a hero after battling eastern traffic.

We figured on getting here in the morning — and we did, about a day late," he said. "It was 2 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. the day before."

Iowa City To Help in Parade At Washington

Iowa City's contribution to the Washington, Ia., centennial parade this morning at 10 o'clock will be the chamber of commerce's Iowa City Centennial float and the Iowa City Grenadiers drum and bugle corps.

The local caravan, which will include several Iowa City business men, will leave Iowa City about 8 or 8:30 this morning. Charles A. Bowman, secretary of the chamber of commerce, is in charge of the trip to Washington.

Following the parade performance of the Grenadiers in Washington, they will leave for Charleston where they will participate in an Iowa round robin tournament for junior drum and bugle corps.

Frees Service Will Be at 9 This Morning

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's church here for Mrs. Barbara Frees, 87, one of the oldest residents of Johnson county who died Saturday night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Phoebe Bireline, 821 Seventh avenue.

Mrs. Frees was born Dec. 7, 1841, in Albigh, Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, and was married to John Frees in Germany, coming to the United States in 1865. The couple settled in Johnson county near Oxford where they lived until 1937 when Mrs. Frees moved to Iowa City.

Mrs. Frees is survived by three children, one daughter, Mrs. Bireline, and two sons, John and Edward, both of Oxford.

Burial will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery at Oxford. The remains are at the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Flood--

instances barred by police on miles of Clinton streets as the storm reached its crest. Scores of automobiles, motor coaches and busses were stalled on main thoroughfares. Water ran from curb to curb on many streets and backed up into basements. In one home a basement cavein was caused by the backwash, and the entire foundation was threatened.

Clinton's fire alarm circuits all were disabled and emergency crews were set to work making repairs.

Police headquarters was deluged with distress calls. Firemen were summoned to rescue in one instance as residents observed an automobile being washed along the street. Arriving on the scene firemen found the unoccupied automobile resting against the outer wall of a house where it had been carried by the rushing water.

Manholes Blow Up.
A number of manholes blew up spouting geysers high into the air as sewers were crowded beyond their capacity.

Tons of dirt, rocks and cinders were washed onto lower streets from the hills.

Huge holes were washed in some streets and in one instance an automobile dropped into a hole.

Many telephone lines were out of order and, in isolated instances, electric power service was temporarily disrupted.

The downpour began about 5:30 o'clock, catching many persons en route home from offices and business establishments.

Nazi Soldiers Turn Farmers

"No war until after the harvest," repeat experts on European affairs, and this picture would seem to support their statement. Soldiers of the regular German army, drafted into farm service, are pictured harvesting a crop of peas in a north German field. The harvest will soon be over in the reich — and then what?

Two British Steamers Bombed By Japanese Planes In Latest Series of 'Regrettable Mistakes'

Britons Claim Attack Premeditated Incident On Part of Nipponese

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7 (AP) — British official circles tonight took an increasingly grave view of two Japanese air raids on British property near Ichang as more detailed reports came from the British gunboat Gannet which passed unscathed through the Sunday attack.

Commander A. F. St. G. Orpen of the Gannet sent word that the gunboat herself narrowly escaped destruction from one bomb which he asserted seemed to be aimed at the British vessel and landed only 100 yards away.

Two British Yangtze river steamers were destroyed in the raids which killed four Chinese and injured a Canadian, H. J. Denyer, and four Chinese near Ichang, more than 1,000 miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai.

No Information.
"We have no information," said a Japanese army spokesman. "If it happened, it is a regrettable mistake."

All of the damaged property was said by the British to have been marked plainly with British ensigns.

Britons charged the attack on British property, which also damaged the Asiatic Petroleum company's works, was premeditated.

Orpen reported to Rear Admiral Reginald Vesey Holt, commander of Britain's Yangtze river patrol, that the Gannet was a half mile below the petroleum company property while it was being bombed. One Japanese plane then detached itself from the attackers and flew over the gunboat, releasing a single bomb which passed over the Gannet.

The missile and fire which followed destroyed the two river steamers.

Britain yesterday lodged a protest with Japanese against the attack on British property, but no action has been taken in the light of further official reports from Commander Orpen.

500 Casualties.
(Foreign missionaries reported to Chung-King that casualties probably would total more than 500 in Ichang as a result of Japanese air raids carried out at the same time British property a short distance downstream was damaged.)

Meanwhile, the Japanese army spokesman said announcement would be made "shortly" of the creation of a "unified government of China" to consolidate the provisional governments set up in Peiping and Nanking by the Japanese to govern conquered Chinese territory.

He declared the announcement would be made by former Premier Wang Ching-wei of China, who broke with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek this spring, and General Wu Pei-fu, retired North China war lord who long has resisted Japanese overtures to gain his participation in a Japanese-sponsored government.

Farm Bureau Junior Members To Dance Tonight

Johnson county junior farm bureau members will be entertained at a dance tonight in the City park pavilion at 8:30. Refreshments will be served at the stand in the pavilion.

In addition to the dance members will discuss plans for the dude ranch presentation which they will put on Aug. 16 as one of the night features of the annual Johnson county 4-H club show at Iowa stadium.

Junior farm bureau members in charge of arrangements for the dance are Florence Zenisek of Solon, chairman; Alice Campion of Iowa City, Fern Riecker of Iowa City, Francis Kopecky of Iowa City, Gladys Isaacs of Iowa City, George Rossman of Lone Tree and Harry Slemmons of Iowa City.

Judge Gets New Slant On Human Nature

LEMARS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Justice C. E. Clarke had a new slant on human nature today.

Last Tuesday he fined Harry Connor of Wakefield, Neb., $10 for overloading a truck.

Saturday Connor returned here with Olga Kay, also of Wakefield, and the couple was married by the justice.

Then Connor paid the fine and the cost of the marriage at the same time.

Connor was the owner of the truck, but was not driving it at the time of the arrest.

Italian War Games.
TURIN Italy, (AP)—Italy's largest war maneuvers of recent years ended yesterday with the rout of an imaginary invader from the French frontier region by the new motorized army of the Po.

The maneuvers, which started last Wednesday, were witnessed today by King Vittorio Emanuele and foreign military attaches.

Judges on Pay.
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday signed a bill permitting physically unfit federal judges, who have served 10 years or more, to retire on full pay.

The measure provides that a disabled judge who has not served 10 years may retire on half pay.

creation of a "unified government of China" to consolidate the provisional governments set up in Peiping and Nanking by the Japanese to govern conquered Chinese territory.

He declared the announcement would be made by former Premier Wang Ching-wei of China, who broke with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek this spring, and General Wu Pei-fu, retired North China war lord who long has resisted Japanese overtures to gain his participation in a Japanese-sponsored government.

Japanese naval authorities, continuing their drive to blockade the China coast, notified foreign consuls that the port of Haimen in Chekiang province, 250 miles south of Shanghai, would be closed tomorrow morning.

18 Johnson County Tavern Operators Ask Trial by Jury

Rare Instance For Such A Request, Declares Grothe

Hearings to dispose of liquor and gambling devices seized in raids on 18 Johnson county taverns were continued by Justice of the Peace T. M. Fairchild yesterday until the court can get a ruling from the district court on the legality of having a trial by jury in the justice court.

The tavern owners appeared at the hearing in a group with Attorney E. A. Baldwin representing them and demanded a jury trial. According to Assistant Attorney General Jens Grothe of Des Moines, this is one of the few instances on record in the state when a jury trial was demanded at a condemnation proceeding.

County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark and Grothe appeared for the state and resisted the demand of the defense for a jury trial.

Also present at the hearing as witnesses to the raids were Iowa highway patrolmen who participated in the raids, which were staged as a laboratory class during the annual peace officers' short course at the University of Iowa last month. The county-wide raids were conducted at the request of the county attorney and Sheriff Don McComas.

The ruling by Vestermark and Grothe against trial by jury was overruled by Justice of the Peace Fairchild and it is expected that the cases of the 18 defendants will come up for action in the September term of the district court. In this case, condemnation proceedings will be dropped, Justice of the Peace Fairchild stated.

As yet no charges against the tavern owners have been filed by the county or the state. The hearing yesterday morning was conducted to determine disposal of the liquor and gambling devices taken in the raids.

Racing The Stork--

Davenport Woman, On Way to Hospital, Stopped by Baby

Mrs. Harold Thornton, wife of a Davenport painter, raced with the stork from Davenport to Iowa City yesterday, but the stork won at West Liberty, 17 miles from Iowa City.

Traveling in a University hospital ambulance, Mrs. Thornton was forced to stop at West Liberty, where she gave birth to a six-pound daughter, Sally Ann, in a West Liberty physician's office.

Following the birth of the child, Mrs. Thornton and her new daughter continued to Iowa City and the University hospital in an ambulance.

Upon arrival at the hospital, she was placed in the isolation ward, since there had been whooping cough among members of the Thornton family at Davenport.

approximately 5,000 barrels daily to 20,000 barrels daily for several months, and this contraband oil run over into Texas, in violation of the Connally act which prohibits interstate movement of illegally produced "hot" oil.

Burford built a 59-mile pipeline to Longview, Tex., and approximately 480,000 barrels of oil was moved before a federal court in east Texas issued a restraining order.

Burford paid Weiss $48,592.66, representing 10 cents per barrel on this oil, and subsequently paid over $100,000 to Weiss as a commission after the pipeline had been sold for $950,000.

Weiss paid Leche 67 $1,000 bills here in November, 1936, "as his share of the illicit gains and profits of the said conspiracy" and kept a like sum.

Non-Committal.
Leche was smiling but non-committal as he appeared at the federal building. He leaned heavily on a cane which he has used since stricken with arthritis in January. He gave ill health as the reason for resigning.

Gov. Earl K. Long, who succeeded Leche just as the present political scandals began breaking in late June, declined to comment in Baton Rouge.

Hoover a Guest.
U. S. Attorney General Frank Murphy together with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, were Leche's guests at a reception at the governor's mansion only two months ago when Murphy stopped in Baton Rouge to deliver the commencement address at Louisiana State university and accept an honorary degree bestowed by Dr. James Monroe Smith, who now has been indicted on 40 state and federal counts.

Murphy at that time in a press conference warned the federal government was determined and had the legal instruments necessary to step into corrupt city and state political situations, and clean them up if the communities themselves refused to act.

Leche then was being considered for the federal judgeship of the eastern Louisiana district. Following his resignation Murphy announced the name had been withdrawn.

Except for three appearances before a parish (county) grand jury at Baton Rouge, and two grand jury appearances here, Leche has since remained at his home in Covington, La.

Leche headed Louisiana's delegation to the 1936 democratic national convention, and still is democratic national committeeman for the state.

Allison, died upon seeing Mrs. Ross' body at the accident scene.

Henry Dutton, a workman on the gas main project, was thrown 100 feet into the air by the rolling pipe. His back was broken.

The pipe, a single welded section, broke loose from cables as it was being lowered, tore down the mountain at a speed of nearly a mile a minute and shot through the automobile in which Mrs. Ross and her housekeeper were sitting.

Getting Wet Iowa City Now Ahead On Rainfall

For the first time during 1939 Iowa City is ahead on rainfall. This fact was revealed when a check-up last night at 7 p.m. showed 2.43 inches of rain had fallen in Iowa City yesterday.

The year's normal up to last night was set at 21.63 inches; 84 of an inch above normal.

Yesterday's high temperature as reported by the University of Iowa hydraulics laboratory was 84 degrees—three degrees under the normal for the day.

The low mark for the 24-hour period was 64—two degrees above the normal low of 62.

the treaty to inspect Danzig customs, with no limit on the personnel for this work.)

The free city senate sent a note today to Polish Commissioner Marian Chodacki, whose offices are across the street from the building occupied by the governing body of the free city.

The strictly controlled Danzig press did not carry the contents of the note but the official Danziger Voprosen said the senate would enter into negotiations with Chodacki.

Polish customs officials halted the export of margarine to Poland last week, declaring her customs control rights had been violated because Danzig manufacturers had refused to permit inspection of their plants.

The export of some herring was stopped when Poland charged the fishery involved was not a real Danzig firm but one with Netherlands backing and therefore outside the duty-free classification of Danzig products moving into Poland.

The free city senate's recent decision to simply refrain from recognizing the Polish customs officials it regards as superfluous has the unofficial threat to open the East Prussian frontier and trade directly with Germany advanced beyond that stage.

Rolling Death Gas Pipe Kills One, Injures Two

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Aug. 7 (AP)—Eleven hundred feet of four-inch gas pipe rolled down a mountainside today, killed a woman outright, indirectly caused the death of a man and critically injured two others.

Mrs. Bess Arnold Ross, 46, of Long Beach, Calif., was crushed to death.

Her housekeeper, Ann McDonald, 25, was taken to a hospital where one leg was amputated.

A 71-year-old motorist, Grant Allison, died upon seeing Mrs. Ross' body at the accident scene.

Dreher Murderers Identified; Police, F.B.I. Start Man Hunt

First 'Major Break' Fingerprints From Dreher's Automobile

DES MOINES, Aug. 7 (AP)—Police tonight claimed they are certain of the identity of the slayers of Harold J. Dreher, 45, Mason City salesman.

Crediting the first "major break" in the case in nearly a week to fingerprints found on Dreher's abandoned car, Assistant Chief of Detectives Paul Castelline said the prints had been identified by the federal bureau of investigation in Washington as those of a Nebraska convict and of a man believed to have lived here.

Although he refused to announce the identity of the men tonight, Castelline said the manhunt would take definite shape soon when FBI circulars posting the men as "wanted" are circulated.

Dreher was pushed, dying, out of an automobile shortly after 1 a.m. July 27 on a downtown Des Moines street. The car, believed to contain at least two other men, drove off, leaving him fatally wounded by a .38 caliber bullet.

Dreher's car, in which he had driven here from his home the day before, was found abandoned in Council Bluffs some five hours later.

The announcements that the prints had been identified was followed closely by a disclosure that

THIS YEAR THOUSANDS HAVE COMPARED AND SWITCHED TO FORD V-8!

	THEY COMPARED BRAKES and found the Ford hydraulic brakes the biggest ever used on a low-priced car. Greatest in total braking area. The only ones with 12-inch drums.		THEY COMPARED ENGINES and found the Ford V-8 fastest, most powerful, and the best all-around performer at the price. It's the only low-priced V-8 in the world.
	THEY COMPARED RIDES and found Ford levellest in starts and stops and on the turns and over rough going. Its passenger ride-base, on transverse springs, is much the longest at the price.		THEY COMPARED COSTS and found the 85 horsepower Ford V-8 gave more miles per gallon in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite run than any other leading low-priced car.
	THEY COMPARED CHASSIS and found Ford the steadiest riding because it's the only car at the price with Torque-tube Drive and 4 radius rods for fully stabilized ride.		THEY COMPARED QUALITY and found Ford alone at this price using valve seats on all valves, semi-centrifugal clutch, and a lot of other things that spell fine car engineering!

For low-cost transportation at its best—now as always FORD V-8
