They Lead In Kentucky Voting

Circuit Judge Swope

Lieut. Gov. Johnson

Victory for Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson for the Kentucky democratic gubernatorial nomination over his opponent, former Congressman John Young Brown, was seen as tabulation of votes neared the end. Johnson had support of Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler and campaigned as a foe of the C. I. O. Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley supported Brown. Circuit Judge King Swope of Lexington appeared winner of the republican nomination over John Sherman Cooper, Somerset attorney.

Axis Alliance Dissention May Split Japanese

Fall of Cabinet Possible Result Of Disagreement

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9 (AP)—Japan's bitter domestic conflict over a proposed alliance with Europe's totalitarian powers may cause the cabinet's fall or "even more startling" results, declared an informed traveler arriving today from Tokyo.

"Young officers" of the army in their insistence on an outright alliance with Germany and Italy are creating a situation of extreme tension, this source said, in which rumors of extremist threats against the lives of cabinet members are current.

Most of the cabinet, including Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma—hitherto considered inclined to the totalitarian side—high officials close to the emperor and even the army high command were described as opposed to the sweeping commitments to the Rome-Berlin axis urged by the "young officers." The army command was said to want nothing beyond a mutual aid pact aimed solely at Soviet Russia.

(The "young officers"—majors, lieutenant-colonels, and colonels—are advocates of vigorous direct action. They played a leading role in pulling the Tokyo government into the conquest of Manchoukuo and the invasion of China.)

The traveler from Tokyo, who was in close touch with government and diplomatic circles there, described the upheaval in Japanese political life thus: U. S. Action Aided. The proponents of the German-Italian alliance have been furnished ammunition for their agitation by several recent developments, chiefly the United States' July 26 abrogation of her treaty of commerce and amity with Japan. Other developments were the apparent success of British-French efforts to draw Soviet Russia into a mutual aid pact and Britain's firmer stand against Japan's demands for economic cooperation in Japanese-held areas of China.

Goodness—Not That!

Judge Requests Dorothy Lamour To Give Her Age

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Dorothy Lamour, the actress, was ordered today by state supreme court Justice Kenneth O'Brien to do what a lot of women won't ever do—disclose her exact age.

The ruling was made in a suit by Alfred C. Evans, a musical director and coach, who claims Miss Lamour owes him $3,000 for his services, beginning on Nov. 1, 1934, in teaching her radio and stage voice technique—at a time when she was "little known in the entertainment field."

Her defense is that Evans had been fully paid upon her cancellation, "a reasonable time after she reached her majority," of the agreement with him.

Thus the date of her birth became a legal issue. The judge also told her she must give her full name and those of her parents. (In the international motion picture almanac she is listed just as Dorothy Lamour, with no middle or other names, and the date of her birth—in New Orleans—is given as Dec. 10, 1914.)

Dreher Killers May Have Left One Another

Brophy Files Charges Of 1st Degree Murder Against 2 Suspects

DES MOINES, Aug. 9 (AP)—Police speculated tonight on whether the two suspects in the Harold J. Dreher murder case might have parted company.

Police Captain Paul Castelline, now in Omaha, joining police there in a search for the suspects, said he believed the two had parted after pawing Dreher's effects and that at least one of them was still "under cover" in the Nebraska city.

Inspector of Detectives Jack Brophy today filed first degree murder charges here against the suspects, Francis P. Welsh of Providence R. I., and Fred Osterrieder, whose home is unknown.

Castelline said he believed Welsh had friends in Omaha and had been in hiding there since the murder. Osterrieder, the officer asserted, had no "connections" in that city and was believed to have left for a place where he had acquaintances.

Police today searched a freight train that arrived here from Moulton, Ia., but failed to find any trace of either of the men. The search followed a report by a Moulton woman that a man she believed was Welsh had been in that town this morning and boarded a freight headed for Des Moines.

Mrs. Fae Wolf, Moulton hotel proprietor, notified Appanoose County Sheriff Jack Bailey a man she believed was Welsh had breakfast at her hotel this morning.

Appeared Nervous. The man appeared "nervous," she said, when she spoke to him about the Dreher case, and ran out of the hotel when he saw pictures of the wanted men in a newspaper.

He caught a freight train pulling out of town at 9:05 a.m. today, and it was this train detectives intended to search here.

Mrs. Cummings, Famous Hostess, Dies at Ruthven

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Homer S. Cummings, wife of the former attorney general, died tonight at Ruthven, the charming home overlooking Rock Creek park where she built her reputation as a gay and original cabinet hostess.

She had been ill of high blood pressure since she and Cummings returned from a Florida vacation March 24. An unfavorable heart condition developed July 30 to make her condition precarious. Quick wit and keen intelligence helped Cecelia Cummings cut a bright path across the capital's social scene in the nearly six years that her husband was in the new deal cabinet.

Miracle Needed. WASHINGTON (AP)—Count Jerzy Potocki, Polish ambassador to the United States, said yesterday it would require a "miracle" to find a solution to the European crisis resulting from the Danzig issue.

Yugoslavia Refuses To Permit Rome-Berlin Supervision, Use Of Railroads in Event of War

Wisconsin's LaFollette Attacks Roosevelt's Neutrality Attitude

Cites Danger In Elimination Of Embargoes

Asserts President Would 'Have Cake And Eat It Too'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt's assertion that a congressional coalition had tied his hands from making any move for world peace by preventing action on the administration's neutrality revision program drew quick dissent today from Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis).

"I don't see what move we could make for peace that would involve the sale of arms, munition and implements of war and that is the nub of the issue presented to congress," LaFollette declared. The Wisconsin senator, a supporter of much administration legislation, opposed the proposal of the president and Secretary of State Hull for repeal of the embargo clause of the present law which prohibits the sale of arms to belligerents.

Gambled With Fate. Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference at Hyde Park yesterday that a coalition of republicans and 20 to 25 per cent of the democrats in congress had gambled with the fate of 1,500,000 persons by delaying consideration of the neutrality subject. Because no action was taken, he said, he would be powerless to make an American move for peace.

"To take the position that the sale of arms would promote peace is to fly in the face of our whole experience leading up to our entry into the last war," LaFollette said. "The president seems to be proceeding on the theory that we can have our cake and eat it too."

Stay Out of Europe. "The way to stay out of Europe is to stay out. If we attempt to influence the course of events prior to hostilities by throwing the American productive capacity on arms, ammunition and implements of war into the balance we will be gambling with the fate of 130,000,000 people who live in the United States, plus those who live in the western hemisphere."

"More important still," LaFollette continued, "we would be staking the fate of American democracy on the turn of a card in a game of power politics which has been going on in Europe for 2,000 years."

LaFollette supported the administration's housing and lending bills, whose defeat Mr. Roosevelt also attributed to a coalition.

Mr. Roosevelt said the coalition had gambled with the livelihood of 20,000,000 Americans by pigeonholing the lending program, inasmuch as there was likely to be a precipitate drop in government employment when WPA rolls are reduced and PWA work ends.

Applauding this statement, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) said he thought the president was right in laying these issues before the people.

"The people will make the decision when they know what the issues are and I have no doubt as to what that decision will be," declared Pepper, a strong administration supporter.

Previously, however, some of those who opposed either the lending or the neutrality programs denied that there had been any coalition against them.

Quack! Quack! Farm Week's Ducks Cause A Near Riot at World's Fair

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Three hundred children at the New York world's fair got a ducking but no ducks in a duck-hunting contest today.

In the first place, there were 100 fewer ducks than children splashing around in Cascade pool on constitution mall. The clamor was terrific.

Sponsors of the contest, a part of farm week at the fair, expected those who caught ducks to take them home.

Instead, most of the captors rented dime-in-the-slot lockers on the grounds and tucked their prizes away for safe keeping.

Soon there was loud squawking in the vicinity of the lockers. The ducks didn't like it in there. Fair police got out master keys and found the ducks, which were turned over to the society for prevention of cruelty to animals.

Agents of the society then toured the grounds rounding up ducks which had escaped. The executive vice president of the society said action would be taken "when we can place the responsibility."

Danzig, Aug. 9 (AP)—Nazis spread the word tonight that their party leader, Albert Forster, fresh from a visit with Adolf Hitler in Berchtesgaden, would give the answer tomorrow night to what one spokesman termed "the unbelievable threat of Poles to shoot Danzig down with cannon."

Party spokesmen predicted at least 30,000 persons would jam picturesque old Lange marketplace to hear Forster at a mass meeting which suddenly was arranged with announcement of his return tonight.

(Nazi charges of Polish "threats" grew out of this sentence in the Polish newspaper Czas: "The guns of the Polish army are facing Danzig, should authorities of the free city not abandon in time the dangerous road they are following on orders from outside.")

Free city newspapers continued attacks on the fantasies of the insane Poles in comment similar to that of the official Danziger Vorposten, which said: "The unbearable Polish lust for conquest, which is beginning gradually to degenerate into political kleptomania, increases evermore under the well-wishing indulgence in London and Paris toward the hysterical clamor of Poland."

Temporary relaxation of tension after the Danzig senate agreed (See NAZI, Page 6)

A foreign office spokesman said Japan was unequivocally opposed to including third powers in the Anglo-Japanese conversations which have been underway here since the middle of July to settle problems growing out of the blockade of Tientsin foreign concessions.

It was believed by observers that the question of considering third powers in the conference was proving to be a new stumbling block to early resumption of the negotiations.

British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie was awaiting further instructions from his government, which has insisted it could not agree to Japan's demands to drop support of the Chinese national currency because other powers were concerned.

On the other hand the foreign office spokesman declared "Japan will not yield her position that economic questions are solely between Britain and Japan. We cannot support any opinion that third powers are involved."

It was understood that Eugene H. Doonan, United States charge d'affaires did not express support of Britain in the current parley, but pointed out that economic questions affected American business in China.

Official Says Spokesman To Go to Italy

Britain, France O. K. Move; Nation Will 'Fight' for Neutrality

By ROBERT B. PARKER JR. BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 9 (AP)—Yugoslavia has refused German and Italian demands for use of her railroads and axis supervision of her economic and military centers in event of European war, it was learned tonight on the highest authority.

With the full support of Britain and France, Premier Dragisa Cvetkovich will fly to Italy tomorrow in a Yugoslav army bomber, it was said, to tell Italy's leaders bluntly that Yugoslavia is determined to maintain strict neutrality even if it is necessary to use her arms to do so.

Germany and Italy were said to have described their proposals as a form of "benevolent" neutrality.

Access to War Materials. Besides use of Yugoslavia's railroads and supervision of her economic and military centers in wartime, it was said the German-Italian demands would give them complete access to all Yugoslavia's war materials and foodstuffs in case of war.

Use of her railroads, besides giving them rail connections through the Yugoslav province of Slovenia, in addition to those they already have through Brenner pass, would give them troop transportation in any advance toward Rumania and the east.

(While Premier Cvetkovich was preparing to journey to Italy, it was learned in Budapest tonight that Count Stephen Csaky, foreign minister of Hungary, northeastern neighbor of Yugoslavia, had arrived at Salzburg where he is a guest of German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop.)

Negotiations Suspended. The premier's sudden decision to fly to Venice and Rome came after "indefinite" suspension of negotiations with Vladimir Macek, peasant leader, over demands of 5,000,000 Croats for home rule.

Cvetkovich's plans were understood to call for direct talks with Italy's foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, and possibly with Premier Benito Mussolini.

It was said that the asserted German and Italian demands, made "unofficially," called on Yugoslavia to promise to place her railroads at the disposal of the axis in case of a European conflict.

All Yugoslavia's war materials and foodstuffs would be at German (See SLAVS, Page 6)

Three Killed in Iowa Rail Crossing Crash

Coroner Says Tall Corn Obscured View

Davis Automobile Collides With Train South of Ft. Dodge

DAYTON, Ia., Aug. 9 (AP)—Three persons were killed instantly today when the automobile in which they were riding and a Chicago and North Western motor train collided at a grade crossing two miles west of here.

The dead: Elmer F. Davis, 51, Ft. Dodge, insurance adjuster.

Mrs. Elsie Welch, about 30, Evansville, Ind.

William Welch, about 12, son of Mrs. Welch.

Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Davis, of Des Moines, was taking Mrs. Welch and her son, who had been visiting in Ft. Dodge, to Des Moines where they planned to board a train for home.

Webster County Coroner J. Robert Forbes said he believed tall corn obscured Davis' view of the track until it was too late to avoid the collision.

The crossing was the same one where Mr. and Mrs. Dan Knuppenberg and daughter, tourists from Idaho, were killed a year ago.

Dayton is 20 miles south of Ft. Dodge.

All the victims' skulls were fractured and their bodies were badly crushed.

The train was partly disabled by the crash and the engineer had to use a hand brake to stop it after it had run half a mile past the crossing.

Bodies of the victims were taken to a Dayton funeral home.

Train 'Runs Over' Little Girl

HANOVER, Pa., Aug. 9 (AP)—A train "ran over" eight-year-old Arlene Luckenbaugh today—but she was only scratched.

The whistle of the approaching train shrilled at the same time the child's foot caught between the ties of a trestle she and her two brothers were crossing.

The boys, failing to free her, told her to lie flat between the rails. They ran from the trestle.

George Reviews British Power; Clouds Force Blackout Delay

Accidents Mar Huge Display of Land, Sea, Air Strength

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—King George VI reviewed an impressive array of Britain's reserve fleet off Weymouth today beneath overcast skies which marred the nation's gigantic display of sea, land and air power and forced a 24-hour postponement of London's first blackout since the World war.

The British admiralty, gearing its mighty war machine to meet a possible autumn "emergency" in Europe, lined up 133 ships of the reserve fleet to demonstrate to the sailor king the nation's maritime preparedness.

Looks At Sea Power. Standing alone in an open cockpit of a streamlined royal barge, King George swept through miles-long lines of trim warships, ranging from the 29,150-ton battleship "Revenge" to small, swift torpedo boats.

Near the monarch in the mahogany barge was Fleet Admiral Jean Darlan, supreme commander of French naval forces, and Lord Stanhope, first lord of the British admiralty.

Through blinding mist and drizzling rain, the king made inspection visits to five representative ships of the fleet, which after a two-week shakedown cruise will join the mighty home fleet for the August-September preparedness period upon which Britain has embarked.

Blackout Postponed. The unfavorable weather, which spread over most of England, resulted in postponement of the London blackout seven hours before the "zero hour" for extinguishing lights by half of the island's population.

The lord privy seal announced the climactic test of the three-day aerial maneuvers would be carried out from midnight tomorrow until 4 a.m. Saturday, regardless of the weather.

The announcement said the delay was necessary "since widespread low clouds would make satisfactory observation impossible."

Knife, Fork Best Way To Obtain Those Vitamins

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—The value of vitamins in preventing disease was reaffirmed today by the American Medical association, but it advised taking them with a knife and fork.

A medical report of experts said many persons don't eat the right foods—or enough of them—to get all the vitamins they should.

It asserted, however, that taking vitamin mixtures "cannot replace the need of adequate amounts of a well balanced diet."

"The use of vitamin mixtures by the public is no assurance of 'good health'; their daily use is no guarantee that all of the vitamins which a person must secure will be provided," it said.

The report, published in the association's journal, was made by its councils on pharmacy and chemistry and on foods. It gives the last word on deficiency diseases due to lack of vitamins, substances essential for maintenance of the body's normal metabolic functions.

Pitt Tyson Maner, of Montgomery, Ala., national president of the young democrats, left, is welcomed to Pittsburgh, Pa., by Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh, right, on his arrival there to open the convention of young democrats. Maner attacked the Hatch bill as un-American and praised President Roosevelt. Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator and regarded as a possible democratic presidential candidate, led a two-train Indiana delegation to the convention.

Another Candidate For President

THIS WEEK TWO republican members of congress teamed themselves together as possible candidate and campaign manager for the 1940 national election. The duo is composed of H. Styles Bridges, the candidate, and Charles Hawks of Wisconsin, his manager.

Hawks made his first pronouncement of campaign strategy when he said it would be an accent on youth. In his initial statement Hawks declared: "We want to interest the young people of the country in their government. And I think we can do it."

Young people are interested in government; they are concerned today, but they are also grateful, not for any intended accent on them by two inexperienced republicans, but rather thankful for the recent benefits they have received from this present administration.

The youth of America will never sanction any campaign platform which reeks of republican economics and deprivation, which even casually implies republicanism. America's youth know what happened in their high school days when the republicans in office began their thrifty programs which eliminated much of the music and art and "unnecessary" curricula of the school.

Young people know, too, the benefits of the NYA which helped them through college or university and gave them backbone training for employment in chosen fields. Talents developed by federal projects cannot honestly forget the givers. Nor will the young men of America forget the CCC which has benefited almost 3,000,000 of them.

For Bridges to even base his campaign for president on any accent on youth is an insult to those he wants for supporters. America's youth dare not forget the advantages of recent federal legislation, which to say the least, did not receive republican support.

If Bridges wanted the public eye for a minute yesterday he had it, but all over the country any campaign he may attempt to perpetrate will be as futile as his "guess who" antics of the past several months which bombarded Washington with "mystery man" literature. These bulletins stated that on a certain date the candidacy of the ideal man for president would be announced. Only laughter greeted the actual announcement that the "mystery man" was H. Styles Bridges with his platform an accent on youth.

Children under 21 don't vote, and youth over 21 don't vote for mystery men. So Bridges has told his short, short bedtime story.

Can The New York Fair Be Saved?

IN A VALIANT effort to increase attendance at the New York world's fair, the admission price last week end was reduced from 75 to 50 cents. But attendance records for the first few days of the new policy fail to show any heartening increase.

The real appeal of this lowered admission is to New Yorkers to come to the fair and to keep coming. But it does seem that the citizens of that city would naturally feel obligated to support the fair, even despite the higher gate fee. To people traveling across the continent, the 25 cents difference means little. Tourists and sight-seers do not begrudge the fair management for charging the higher fee.

If the success of the fair depends on a lowered admission fee the hopes for it are slim. Although considerable publicity was given both to the New York world's fair and to the San Francisco Golden Gate exposition in their early stages, people coming from abroad say the advertising here is nil compared with the galaxy of information they have been exposed to in banners, posters and pamphlets. They seem to think Americans have failed in their otherwise outlandish advertising campaigns. Could such a thing be?

Benefiting from the far away perspective these foreign visitors possess, the advertising offices of both fairs might do well to send out increasing amounts of information about the wonders of the fairs.

When a foreigner doesn't think American advertising has gone far enough it is a strange situation, but this time it might prove to be the answer for the poor attendance and discouraging failure of the fair. A renewed dynamic advertising policy might be able to do more than reduced admission prices in spurring people to come to the fair.

The world outlook being so gloomy, the man at the next desk says he's already buying Christmas gifts for his friends. Handkerchiefs.

Youth's Unemployment—Two Pictures

IN ITS EDITORIAL columns Tuesday morning the Chicago Tribune dared to plead the great cause of youth—starving, underprivileged, unemployed.

When Roosevelt became president, the Tribune said, he promised to solve the serious problems of youth and especially unemployment. And now Roosevelt has failed. Young people are still unemployed.

True, everywhere in the country there are millions—4,000,000 to be exact—of America's youth without jobs. It is a grave situation, but to say youth's position today compares in any like degree with 1928 and 1929 is not only untrue, but a spineless attempt to have youth fooled into believing the ridiculous.

The young people of America have but to compare the years 1928 and 1929 and as late as 1932 when roads were flanked with hitchhikers at the point of desperation to the years 1934 and 1935 and up to now when not only social and recreational facilities have been provided to take them off the highways, but constructive educational programs have been instituted even against the will of those who now try to make a point by criticizing.

If youth is unemployed today it must be remembered that their foundations of training were laid back in the days of republican policies when curricula were narrowed so as to make any special preparation for particular jobs an impossibility.

It is a disheartening task for anyone to take all the millions of young people who should have been given the necessary training for jobs and provide it in the days when youth dislikes going back to the classroom for the background he was denied when he should have been receiving it. But despite any previous schooling which was not provided and which is now available, it should be a startling revelation to the republican economy mongers that we are now spending about $350,000,000 less for education per year than we were in their days of thriftp harping. And to state that enrollment in high schools alone has been increased by over 1,575,000 students does not make this saving less of a magnificent accomplishment. Lack of proper training will always be the greatest cause of unemployment, and America's youth isn't too far removed from school days to realize they missed much of what they should have had.

But there are other factors involved in unemployment. The 4,000,000 total quoted above includes the handicapped who until very recently haven't had any attention paid them; it includes those gilded darlings who wouldn't work under any conditions; it involves those who for one reason or another could never hold a job very long and lastly, those who want jobs but haven't found them.

The main factor in favor of youth today is the realization that set-ups have been provided for educational advantages, for vocational training, for recognizing and developing creative abilities and for making more jobs that youth can fill.

Youth doesn't feel the same sting and unfairness today that they felt back in the "glorious 20's"; youth won't deny the improvements and additional opportunities which have been lately theirs; only the Chicago Tribune would dare intimate that youth can fill.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN NOW ADAYS!

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Not long ago I wrote something about Roy Post, the man who has invented a lie-detector, and since that time I have gone back to see Roy and observed many tests given by this uncanny apparatus. I am convinced that it is the greatest boon to criminologists ever devised.

You simply can't believe anything like this until you see it yourself. It is something that you have no chance to outwit or defeat. If you tell even just a little lie, it catches you, and that's all there is to it.

While I was there a man came in from one of the major insurance companies. He was an executive of the company, and he was interested in a case both macabre and exciting. His company believes the body of an unknown man was substituted for that of a policy holder, and he thinks the beneficiaries were in on the deal. This body has been exhumed, and an autopsy made. The men are at liberty under heavy bail. When someone suggested that these men be given the lie-detector test, the insurance man came over himself to ascertain the veracity of all the lavish claims made for this "truth-finder," as Post himself calls it. He doesn't like to call it a lie-detector because, as he says, this thing points out the truth, but I disagree with him. When you tell the truth, nothing happens. When you tell a lie, a little needle wig-wags violently, thus betraying you.

This insurance executive wanted to take the test himself, just to be sure he wasn't wasting his time. Mr. Post said certainly, he would be glad to demonstrate his machine. So he gave the test, and in less than two minutes he had trapped the executive in as fat a lie as he could want to tell.

The principal of this detector is very simple. Its action is based on the ductless glands, without which no one can live. When these glands function they give off a secretion in the palms of the hands. Your hands are strapped to conveyors. When this secretion touches the conveyors it registers on a very sensitive needle. This causes the needle to jump up and down. And as the mental force behind a lie is sufficient to send these glands into action, the words are hardly past your lips before the needle is on the jump. You simply haven't a chance.

To illustrate its infallibility, Mr. Post asked this insurance executive if he were married, and when the man admitted that he was, he said, "Write down a dozen names on a slip of paper and include your wife's name in the list. Then answer 'NO' to everything I ask you."

This was done, and as Post called off each name, the man replied, "No." And nothing happened. But when he said "no" to the correct name, the little needle lunged wildly from side to side. It was as simple as that. The executive was stunned. These ductless glands, it seems, can not be controlled by any human being. They are so sensitive that just the knowledge that you are telling a harmless falsehood sets them pumping. To see this machine in operation leaves you so flabbergasted that you wonder what is going to happen next. And a simple name game with any criminal is enough to convince him that he can't hope to win. The usual formula after such a test is for the accused, if he is guilty, to say, "Okay, get a stenographer; I'll confess."

If this seems batty to you, don't take my word. Just take the test yourself. You never saw anything quite like it.

neighbors, to accumulate a lot of junk they don't need, to keep rushing all over the countryside, exceeding speed limits.

The latest novelties for giving you pep are the vitamins. And especially the concentrated vitamins. We hear about them on all hands. I have made a few remarks on pep, concentrated vitamins, doctors, superstitions and common sense in the matter, and I want to enlarge on the subject.

I have said, and I still stick to it, that the doctors are among the worst offenders about concentrated vitamins. You wouldn't be surprised if just some ignoramus over the radio talked it up. But to have a doctor of medicine do so would surprise you as if you didn't know doctors as well as I do. A new thing comes along and they take it up with a whoop and plug it as excitedly as a new convert to numerology for a year or two—and then they drop it with a bang.

I have seen more than one of my friends go through allergy, appendicitis, bee venom therapy, focal infection, hypnosis, massage, psycho-analysis, sun baths, salt-free diet, vaccines, xeraphon, yeast and, just to complete the alphabet, zomo therapy.

Those Old-Fashioned G. O. P. Demo Tags Mean Little Now

By CHARLES F. STEWART Central Press Columnist

Congress wound up its January-on-into-August session with the republican and anti-new deal democratic lawmakers, in both houses, virtually welded into a single party. Moreover, it's the majority party. It will still be the majority party when the legislators reconvene next January, or if they're called into special session in the meantime.

But what will the situation be like after the 1940 election? Theoretically there ought to be a major party realignment. The republicans are about half democratic and the democrats are about half republican. They need to sort themselves out. That's what they've done, as practical politicians, on Capitol Hill. The rank and file of the politically less well educated electorate isn't so easy to reclassify. The leaders at least partly understand what it's all about. Their followers are muddled.

The elder Senator La Follette tried to put some sense into inter-party relationships in 1924. He recognized that the republican and democratic labels had ceased to mean anything; that we really had become liberals and conservatives. So he ran presidentially as a liberal (progressive), figuring that he could get a genuine split between the two elements. It didn't work worth a cent. Most of the republican liberals voted with the conservative republicans, just because they were accustomed to the straight republican ticket. For the same reason most of the democratic liberals voted democratically conservative.

Present conditions are somewhat different. We're not now so distinctly liberals and conservatives; we're "pro" and "anti" new dealers. To be sure, the new dealers contend that they're today's liberals, but the "antis" don't admit that they're unduly conservative; they call themselves "constitutionalists" and accuse the "pros" of promoting a policy calculated to change our whole form of American government.

Now, it's perfectly obvious that plenty of prominent old-time democrats are not new dealers; indeed, they're bitterer against the new deal than the average republican is, though the new deal insists it's democratic.

In short, when a statesman says he's a democrat you don't know what he is, except by his record, if you're familiar with it. Neither can you be sure of an anti-new deal public man's antecedents. He may be a Lincolnian republican or he may be simply an anti-new deal democrat. The so-called republicans are a bit more cohesive than the so-called democrats. Skill, Secretaries Wallace and Ickes, for instance, used to train with the G.O.P. until the new deal scooped them in.

Which Is Which? Well, as previously remarked, these experts have a pretty clear idea which is which. But when 1940's election day rolls around, aren't old-fashioned party lines going to be middling closely followed?

Illustratively, take the case of Sen. Harry F. Byrd. I mention him because he'll be up for re-nomination and re-election next year.

Emphatically Senator Byrd is an anti-new dealer. If the new deal truly is democratic, in all consistency he should run as a republican. He can't possibly do that in Virginia, however. If he wins as a democrat (which undoubtedly he'll do) it will be a republican victory. Anyway, it will be a new deal defeat—and the new deal claims to be democratic.

All up and down the line this sort of confusion will prevail. Maybe there'll be two democratic (so-called) national tickets, as happened when Bryan bucked McKinley, with Palmer and Buckner in the field also.

In such an event the anti-new deal G. O. P. presidential candidate will be a good bet as victor. But think what a hodge-podge would follow!

One kind of a president!—with a congress he didn't agree with!—and that didn't agree with itself, either! An administration congressional group! An anti-administration group! Both groups split at least two ways! And a few mavericks!

That's what they call, in Europe, "bloo government"—until it lapses into one of several different brands of dictatorship.

We need to do with the vitamins. They are so natural and have been so natural a part of our income that I believe there is an instinct about them.

TUNING IN

with D. Mac Showers

JOSE ITURBI ... is piloting his own plane up from South America to be a guest on Bob Burn's "Music Hall" tonight at 8 o'clock over NBC-Red. His only passenger will be his sister.

Ken Carpenter returns to the "Music Hall" program this week fully recovered from his appendectomy.

DALE BAXTER'S "It's Up to You" program over NBC-Blue at 6:30 this evening will feature as guests Ben Grauer, Milton Cross, Ford Bond and Charles Nobles. Gene Tunney was supposed to appear but will be unable to do so.

An add to the "Music Hall" show program tonight includes Hedda Hopper, actress-columnist and comedian Frank Albertson in addition to the world famous concert pianist, Joe Iturbi.

SAMMY KAYE, ... as a result of introducing the music "The Schottische," a dance that was popular back in grandma's day, has caused it to be revived by professional dancing teachers throughout the country.

We're told to watch for a stellar build-up for Marion Butler, 15-year-old Portland songstress who made her network debut on Lud Gluskin's "On the Air" program over CBS last Tuesday. Network officials are convinced she has the ability to hold a top spot on commercial presentations.

RUDY VALLEE ... may abandon radio for films, so "is said. It has been no secret that his long-time ambition has been a directional or production berth in Hollywood.

But a hot tip says that Vallee is set to broadcast for Kellogg. At any rate, he'll be heard conducting his variety program at 6 tonight over NBC-Red.

EMILY POST ... mixed a deal with a middle western sponsor this week because she doesn't want to broadcast three times a week, because she won't let anyone else dub in her voice or write her material and because she won't go on the air for drugs, liquor or cosmetics.

AMONG THE BEST For Thursday: 5:30—Joe E. Brown, CBS. 6—Rudy Vallee's hour, NBC-Red. 7—America's Lost Plays, drama, NBC-Red. 7—Major Boves amateur hour, CBS. 8—Columbia Workshop festival, drama, CBS. 8—Kraft music hall, NBC-Red. 9—Dance music, NBC, CBS, MBS.

Grady Sees 'No Possibility' Of Trade Pact With Dictators

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—ent methods of operation, there can be no satisfactory arrangement on commercial matters between us. We had sincerely hoped that in the case of both Germany and Italy we could arrive at some mutually beneficial agreement, but we appear now to have run into a stone wall which cannot be penetrated. Grady said he was convinced the trade methods of such nations "are self-defeating and cannot continue indefinitely." Although he said he believed in the continuance of peace, he admitted that war might be chosen as the way out of economic impasses. "Perhaps," he said, "they will be forced into war out of desperation." Watermelon is food for the soul, too: You never see a person eating a big slice who isn't smiling, too.

Helen Hayes and Katherine Hepburn are among the latest stage and screen stars to attack the stand of Sophie Tucker—"last of the red-hot mamas"—who is attempting to take the American Federation of Actors, of which she is president, into the stage hands' union. Miss Tucker has been suspended from all fields of show business controlled by Actors Equity and has been directed to stand trial Aug. 22. She previously was suspended by the Screen Actors Guild and the American Federation of Radio Artists. The fight on Miss Tucker is being led by Eddie Cantor, stage, screen and air comedian. The battle has delayed reopening of a musical starring Miss Tucker.

August Furniture Sales Offer Chances To Select Bargain Occasional Pieces

August isn't a bit too early to begin to think about your room interiors for next winter. The furniture sales will be on this month and if you keep an astute eye open in the fabrics departments you'll probably find some excellent buys there, too. Even though you may not need to furnish an entire room or to invest in any of the larger pieces of furniture, it is always smart to remember that foresightfulness is the better part of economy and to take stock of the occasional pieces that may add that desired touch of glamour to your room.

Occasional tables are always a good investment and the new ones will do all sorts of interesting things to a furniture grouping. One particularly attractive type is the table with the top of clear or colored plate glass with a plant holder beneath. A table of this type brings a breath of the outdoors into a living room during the months when green things are scarce. A similar table with a plant holder inset into the top may be had in many sizes and shapes. Trays with matching folding stands are almost indispensable in this day of informal entertaining, so if you haven't one already this is the month to keep an eye out for those on sale.

Before you start your shopping tour, it would be a wise idea to take stock of the assets and liabilities of each room and then let the August furniture sales in your local stores help you to add whatever is needed.

Nash Company To Open Branch At Washington

The John Nash company, Iowa City wholesale grocers, will open a branch division in Washington, Ia., this week, it was announced yesterday.

Moving of stock from Iowa City to the new outlet has been in progress all this week and will be completed and ready for opening by the end of the week.

Arthur Nelson, who has been with the company in Iowa City for four years, will manage both selling and delivery divisions of the new business in Washington with Mrs. Nelson assisting in the office.

This is the first branch outlet for the company which has operated in Iowa City for 20 years.

Hot Water New Gadget Fastens To Faucet

No need to shiver in cold baths when one goes week ending in summer cottages any more.

A new gadget to make life a trifle pleasanter is an electric attachment which can be applied to any ordinary faucet and then plugged into an electric socket. The next step is to turn on the water and even though it comes from an icy mountain lake it will flow into the tub with a right merry heat.

It is a handy little gadget to have around any house against the time when the regular heater may fail.

about
Sports
By
J. DENNIS SULLIVAN

Johnny Paycheck got the decision, nearly got the money — 10,000 fish to be arithmetical — and Pinkie George, Des Moines promoter, got the axe in the battle of the "double cross" at Des Moines Tuesday night.

Pinky also got hot under the collar, but what's a guy gonna do with $20,000 in the house and the fans screaming for a fight? When the Paycheck mob informed George that the bellboy's services would carry a tariff of $1,000 a round — a sum not to be taken lightly — there wasn't much left for Pinky to do but dig into the gate receipts with both hands: maybe he dug seven a times — Pinky's hands are rather small.

Later, in a downtown hotel, we were standing in the lobby while Pinky engaged in heated verbal debate with one of Paycheck's representatives. "What d'ya want, my life blood?" screamed George. He repeated this several times without getting any response, the Paycheck envoy apparently considering Pinky's offer not at all out of line.

At any rate, the boys got together late last night and decided that perhaps it was a mistake after all. George dropped the $10,000 damage suit he had brought against Paycheck, and Harold Steinman, Paycheck's manager, is reported to have returned $4,000 of the $10,000 to the Des Moines promoter.

After shutting the dough back and forth Pinky announced that he had "given up all his former rights in the management of Paycheck."

All this brings up the question of how far something like this can go.

If a fighter agrees to fight for a stipulated sum but after a quick gander at the house decides his efforts are worth more than the amount agreed upon, what's to prevent the promoter from engaging in the same sort of byplay.

Assume, for the sake of argument, that Joe Blow is matched for a struggle with Jon Doe. Suppose the promoter promises Joe 25 bucks for his share of the spoils, while John is to receive 15 for being on the catching end of the act.

Then, after several sessions of slugging and being slugged, Joe taps the promoter for his end of the purse and is given two-hits and the advice to spend it for coffee-and, who's to say nay?

Will a written contract stymie this sort of thing?

Not at all. Boxing isn't legal in the state, consequently, a contract wouldn't be worth the paper upon which it is written.

It looks as though the Paycheck incident has established a precedent that's going to prove mighty interesting.

Oilers Defeat Iowans, 12 to 7, In League Tilt

The Kelly Oilers came from behind yesterday to defeat the Daily Iowan 12 to 7. The Iowan team had a 7 to 2 advantage as Kelly's came up in their half of the sixth but when the inning ended Kellys had a five-run lead. Black and Miller formed the winning battery while Ed Olds and Stuart Coon worked for the losers.

Racines defeated St. Mary's 6 to 3 in the evening game, but Leons of Racines and Don Broglia of St. Mary's each collecting two hits. Schuppert and Jim Chadek formed the winning battery with Ed Chadek and Seemuth working for the losers.

Today's game brings together the Press-Citizen and the Des Moines Register.

Estabrooks Beats Miley in Women's Western Meet

DETROIT, Aug. 9 (AP)—It was "black Wednesday" at Oakland Hills country club today and no fewer than three major upsets were recorded as the second round of the 39th annual women's western closed golf championship was completed.

Chief of the day's casualties over the exacting, wind-swept layout was Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky., tournament medalist and two-time champion.

Edith Estabrooks, young Duquesne, Pa., star, accounted for Miss Miley's downfall, winning 2 and 1 after being three down at the end of the first three holes, all of which were birdied by the Kentuckian.

Also on the sidelines tonight was Dorothy Traung, of San Francisco, the 1936 champion, who bowed out to Harriet Randall, 21-year-old Indianapolis player, one up.

The third upset was registered by Mrs. Tim Lowry, of Chicago, who beat the favored Beatrice Barrett, of Minneapolis, one up.

In the quarter-finals tomorrow, the upper bracket, Miss Estabrooks will play Miss Randall while Mrs. Lowry will face Mrs. Russell Mann, of Milwaukee.

Hayes Danningburg, six-time Minnesota champion, of Minneapolis, Mrs. Danningburg defeated Dorothy Foster, of Springfield, Ill., 2 and 1 today. The other quarter-finalists are Mrs. Dan Chandler, of Dallas, Tex., and Ellamae Williams, of Chicago, the Chicago district and Illinois state champion.

Solters Clouts Three Hits But Cleveland Wins

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 (AP)—Outfielder Julius Solters took revenge on the Cleveland Indians who sent him back to the St. Louis Browns, but the Tribe finally pulled out a 6 to 5 victory with a ninth inning rally.

Solters collected three hits today and drove in three of the Browns' runs. His eighth-inning double brought in two tallies to tie the score at 4-4.

St. Louis took a one run lead in the ninth when George McQuinn doubled to bring Don Heffner home. But the Tribe came back with Lou Boudreau's single and Bruce Campbell's double and Ben Chapman drove them in with another double.

Bill Trotter was charged with the loss and Joe Dobson, who relieved Johnny Allen with none out in the eighth, got the victory.

Howard Sued
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Screen Actor Leslie Howard was sued yesterday for $91,128 by United Players Productions, Inc., and its British associate, United Players, Ltd., over an alleged broken contract. The plaintiffs allege the actor signed to play in a film entitled "Bonnie Prince Charlie," but failed to live up to the agreement.

More and More
Three more promising Iowa high school griders yesterday announced their intention of matriculating at the University of Iowa this fall. The three newest prospects for 1940 are John Sanborn of Moline, Dick Breuninger, all-state back from East Waterloo, and Tommy Hand, all-state center from Emmetsburg.

Yanks Slump With 13-8 Win Over Nats; Red Sox Win Two; Rowe Stops White Sox, 10-3

Turnabout
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—A couple of streaks were reversed today as the New York Yankees hammered out a 13 to 8 victory over the Senators, ending Washington's eight-game string of triumphs and the champions' three-game losing streak.

The Senators also lost their star third baseman, Buddy Lewis, who was hit on the head by a ball thrown by Red Ruffing as Lewis tried to beat out a hit to the pitcher's box in the fifth inning.

Lewis was knocked unconscious and taken to a hospital for x-ray examinations.

Credit for the victory went to Ruffing, his 16th, although the dean of the Yankee pitching corps had to have the help of Oral Hildebrand in the eighth and ninth.

The Yankees scored 11 of their runs in the first three innings with Joe DiMaggio hitting his 14th home run with two on and Frank Crosetti homering with one on to spark the spree.

Hambletonian To Peter Astra

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—The dreams of a 70-year-old country doctor came true today.

Two years ago modest, retiring Dr. Lovoy Miller Gullinger of Andover, Ohio, stepped into a New York sales ring and paid $3,250 for the colt Peter Astra.

This afternoon he sat in the midst of a sweltering crowd of some 40,000 fans at Good Time park and saw his horse win the Hambletonian, richest and most famous of trotting horse stakes.

This colt, for which Dr. Gullinger has been offered $37,500, not only fulfilled the hopes of his owner and those of the crowd who made him the prohibitive 2-5 favorite, but he did it the easy way, in straight heats he won $21,342.35, the victor's share of the purse of $40,502.46, to maintain a record of having not lost a heat in challenging up five stakes triumphs this year.

Dr. H. M. Parshall, Urbana (Ohio) 41-year-old veterinarian, brought Peter down to the finish line three lengths in front of Gauntlet, from C. W. Phellis, Greenwich, Conn., stable in the first heat and in the second increased his margin to five lengths over the same horse.

Whittle Lead
BOSTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox courageously came from behind twice today to take two games from the Philadelphia A's, 5 to 3, and 6 to 5, and gain half a game on the league-leading New York Yankees, whom they now trail by six and a half games.

The Sox trailed by 5 to 4 going into the last of the ninth inning of the second game. But Johnny Peacock led off with a single against Nelson Potter, Manager Cronin immediately sent in Leo Nonnenkamp to run for Peacock, and Ostermuller, the winning pitcher, bunted Nonny to second. Doerr's single scored the tying run, and the Sox refused to rest there.

Cramer punched a one-baser into right, putting Doerr on third, and then Foxx walked for the third time during the game to fill the bases.

That set the stage for Ted Williams, who was benched yesterday for indifferent running on the basepaths, to bounce a long single off the left wall and send Doerr in with the deciding tally.

DETROIT, Aug. 9 (AP)—Schoolboy Rowe held the Chicago White Sox to seven hits today in pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 10 to 3 victory and demonstrating once more that he has regained much of his former effectiveness.

It was Rowe's fifth win of the season. He has lost nine games.

Jack Knott, who started for Chicago, was removed after four innings and succeeded by Johnny Marcum. In the seventh Marcum was felled by a batted ball and painfully injured. Rookie Harry Boyles finished. Knott was the losing pitcher.

Pete Fox hit a freak home run into the park in the second. Joe Kuhel of the Sox hit one into the stands in the eighth. The bases were unoccupied both times. Fox also hit a double and a single and drove in three runs altogether.

I. C. School Board Approves $236,921.20 Budget for 1939-40

Appointments Of 2 Teachers Win Approval

Deep Vein, Ender Companies Awarded Contracts for Coal

The Iowa City school board last night approved the final budget of $236,921.20 for the coming school year for the independent school district at the regular monthly meeting in the superintendent's office at the junior high school.

Coal contracts for approximately 1,680 tons of coal were awarded at the meeting, appointment of two new teachers was approved by the board, two resignations were accepted from teachers, July bills were approved, wrecking work on the old junior high school and the administration buildings was approved and plans were discussed for dedication and an open house at the new high school building.

Increased Budget
The new budget for the 1939-40 school year is an increase over last year's budget figure which was $210,591.50. Expenses of moving into the new senior high school building, the addition to the libraries in the junior and senior high schools, the hiring of a librarian and two additions to the teaching staff on a half-time basis are partial causes for the increase in the budget.

Teacher appointments approved last night are Martha Hessong of Ft. Scott, Kan., and Eileen Rutherford of Greeley. Miss Hessong will teach junior high English and mathematics and Miss Rutherford will direct the junior high school opportunity room.

Miss Hessong attended the Ft. Scott, Kan., high school and junior college and Kansas State Teachers college. She majored in English in the teachers college, receiving a B.S. degree this year. Her teaching experience consists of two years in the Uniontown, Kan., schools where she taught from 1935 to 1937.

Attended I. S. T. C.
Miss Rutherford attended Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls majoring in English and receiving her B.A. degree there this year. She taught three years in Clarence schools — from 1936 to 1938.

Resignations accepted were those of Vera Hromatko, first grade teacher at Horace Mann school, and R. J. Gewerth, principal of Roosevelt school. The instructional appointment committee of the school board was authorized to fill all present vacancies in Iowa City schools and to fill any vacancy between now and the opening of school.

Contracts Awarded
Coal contracts were awarded on four different grades of coal, three of these to the Deep Vein Coal company of Chicago and the other to the Ender Coal company of Chicago.

The Deep Vein company was given the contract for the one and one-quarter by ten inch, one and one-quarter by three-quarters inch and three-quarters by ten inch sizes. The Ender company will supply the needs in the six by three inch size.

Tentative plans were discussed for the formal open house and dedication ceremonies of the new senior high school building, to be death of four fliers in a flaming crash and a mishap to a third bomber in which four crewmen were forced to bail out added a somber note to the mammoth tests of Britain's air raid defenses which started yesterday.

Prior to these accidents, Royal Air Force planes had been involved in 105 crashes which claimed 179 lives since Jan. 1. About 1,300 of Britain's best warplanes were engaged in the aerial exercises — a mythical struggle between "Eastland" and "Westland"—(Britain)—with 500 of the participating craft "attacking" in waves.

The air ministry said the attackers, which resumed their raids after a night of imaginary combat, received a "hot reception" from Westland defenders when they circled western London.

A few "enemy" raids were successful overnight because of the weather but most of them were intercepted by fighters or theoretically brought down by anti-aircraft guns.

Tiffin Man's Heart Fails

James Rogers Dies In Grocery Store Following Fall

James Rogers, 68, residing one-half mile south of Tiffin, died in a Tiffin grocery store late yesterday afternoon after he had fallen against an old automobile chassis in the back yard of his home.

Rogers fell with his chest hitting an old brake rod. He walked into town to the grocery store, and fell dead there.

Coroner George D. Calahan attributed death to heart failure. He said no inquest would be held.

Rogers is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, and eight children.

1935 Plymouth Stolen at Solon

A 1935 Plymouth coach belonging to Albert Ehl of Solon was stolen at 12:30 this morning in that town. It was reported to police last night.

The maroon-colored car bore a 52-7603 license plate. Iowa City police reported the theft to Des Moines police via radio.

either shortly before school opens or soon thereafter. Plans were also discussed for some type of student instruction concerning the floor and room plan of the new building. The school year is set to open Sept. 11.

The meeting included discussion of extending contracts of several phases of the new building—sodding, seeding and planting plans, and other details.

Writ of Error Filed in First Tavern Case

A writ of error naming John Agnew and "The Club '88" and certain intoxicating liquors" was filed in district court Tuesday by County Attorney Harold W. Vestermarck and Assistant Atty. Gen. Jens Grothe of Des Moines.

The writ was filed as a petition which will require Justice of the Peace T. M. Fairchild to certify the record and proceedings in his court before the September term of district court.

John Agnew is the first of 18 Johnson county tavern owners who appeared in Fairchild's court Monday morning represented by Atty. E. A. Baldwin and demanded a jury trial at the hearing for disposal of the liquor and gambling devices seized in a county-wide raid July 19.

Johnson County Soil Conservation Committee Meets

Johnson county soil conservation committeemen and their wives met last night at 8 o'clock in C.S.A. hall for an educational and entertainment meeting.

The program opened with the showing of the moving picture, "The River," explaining the Mississippi valley river, its history and development.

Talks were given by two representatives of the state agricultural conservation committee. These were Laurel Dietrich and Mrs. Ellsworth Richardson. Mrs. Richardson spoke on "Some Important Problems Confronting Farmers at the Present Time."

It's Cooler These Days

Weatherman Records 79 for Yesterday's Highest Temperature

Cool summer temperatures continued to keep Iowa Citizens comfortable yesterday as a result of the rains which fell the two preceding days.

Yesterday's highest recorded temperature was 79 degrees, four degrees below the normal 85, according to the weather research station at the Iowa hydraulics laboratory.

Like-wise, yesterday's low temperature was below the normal low. Yesterday's low mark was 51 with 62 degrees the normal. No rain was reported for the 24-hour period ending at 7 o'clock last night.

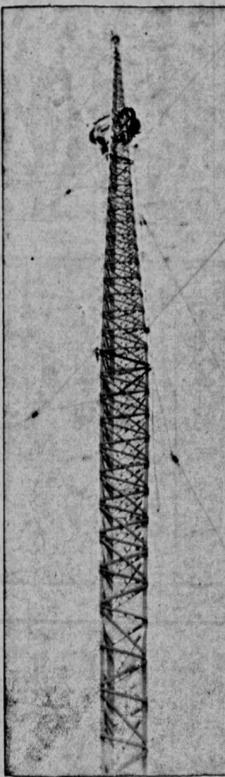

Centennial Lions View Movies Of Celebration

The Iowa City Centennial celebration was again brought to life yesterday when colored motion pictures of the event were shown at the regular noon meeting of the Iowa City Lions club in Reich's pine room.

The pictures were taken by Lee Cochran, director of the University of Iowa visual instruction department, and concerned for the most part the colorful old-time costumes and the gigantic three mile parade of the celebration.

Guests at the meeting were Dr. Gerald Maresh and A. B. Sidwell with Dr. George Maresh and L. T. Michelson with Ted Hunter.

A Woman Steeplejack

Shown here high on the antennae tower of the Iowa City police radio station, KWAP, are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pettibone of Copperopolis, Cal., as they both began the job of applying a new coat of paint to the 100-foot tower which stands in the yard of the Iowa City police station. Mrs. Pettibone, who climbs the tower and paints along with Mr. Pettibone, is the former Ruth Sydel of Tiffin. Many Iowa Citizens were attracted by the couple working atop the slender antennae tower as it swayed with their weight.

4-H Girls To Show Samples Of Handwork

Each 4-H club girl in Johnson county will have an opportunity to be introduced and personally show some object she has made or worked on before an evening audience at the 11th annual 4-H club show Aug. 16, 17 and 18, it was announced by County Agent Emmett C. Gardner yesterday.

Wednesday evening, Aug. 16, beginning at 7:30 township club leaders will be presented by Mrs. Lloyd Burr, county 4-H club chairman, and will in turn introduce the members of their groups. Each girl will then cross the stage showing the object while the club leader describes it to the audience.

Girls, members and leaders, who plan to participate in the event are asked to meet back of the stage along the east side of Iowa stadium with articles to be displayed. The articles may be from any year of the girls' 4-H club work, thereby giving great variety to the show.

man-Italian disposal and they would have the right to cross her territory to Rumania or Bulgaria, if the axis demands were granted, it was said.

Prince Paul, senior regent of Yugoslavia, was said to have explained the axis demands to the British and French governments on his recent trip to London and Paris.

Democracies Back Move
Authoritative sources said Britain and France told the regent they would back Yugoslavia in case she came into conflict with the Rome-Berlin axis, for her surrender would mean a staggering blow had been dealt to Rumania, Greece and Turkey, which have joined the French-British front or have been included in it by British-French guarantees of their independence.

The government of Premier Cvetkovich and Prince Paul were understood to have agreed that the slightest compliance with any such demands would be incompatible with the sovereignty of Yugoslavia.

Whether Macek, the Croat leader, had agreed to suspension of home rule negotiations in view of what the government considered a threat to the existence of the whole nation was not known.

But it was pointed out that the Croats have publicly expressed their will to preserve a strict neutrality along with the Serbs, who are dominant at Belgrade, the Slovenes and other nationalities which make up Yugoslavia.

Threatened Secession
These expressions have been heard despite the fact that Macek on Aug. 1 threatened to draw Croatia into secession if the "Belgrade clique" did not cease blocking his demands for autonomy.

He admitted secession would "probably mean a World War," and acknowledged that the Croats would probably need outside protection, probably German.

"All right — Germany then — let her come and make order," he said.

Despite such statements, however, Croats are not regarded as desiring outside intervention.

They constitute almost a third of Yugoslavia's population, which like former Czechoslovakia, is mostly Slavic.

The suspension earlier today of negotiations for Croat home rule followed refusal, for the second time in four months, of Prince Paul to accept an autonomy plan that had been drafted by Cvetkovich and Macek. Reluctance of Serb politicians and army officers to yield places to Croats had been blamed in Croat quarters for failure of negotiations.

Pressure Increased
Sources close to the government said German and Italian pressure had increased on Yugoslavia as the cabinet and regent showed unwillingness to consider the demands.

Attacks on Yugoslavia in the German press were said already to have been the subject of informal protests to Berlin under a press "non-aggression" pact between the two countries. Yugoslav newspapers recently were warned by the government to preserve a strict neutrality between the axis and British-French front.

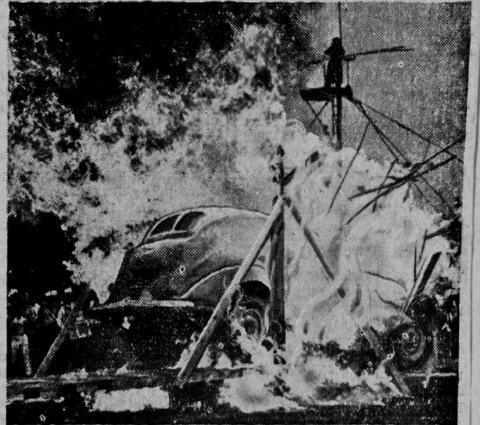

An urgent government decree issued tonight ordered the immediate storing of food for the army and civilian population.

Food will be stored in government warehouses.

Several weeks ago a decree forbade exportation of raw materials necessary for national defense.

Today's decree makes it obligatory to store cereals, meat, canned goods, dried vegetables, salt, fats, oils, coffee and tea.

State Fair To Feature Thrill Days

Flaming wall crashes as shown here, head-on automobile collisions, stunt flying and a dozen similar hair-raising thrills will headline two special "thrill" days at the Iowa State fair, Aug. 26 and Aug. 30, according to final plans announced yesterday at Des Moines. Included on the programs are America's best-known daredevils, Dick Granere, stunt flyer, and Jimmy Lynch, auto stunt man. The program on each of the two afternoons of "thrill" events will include many daredevil features in addition to an open-air circus, hippodrome show and music by famous bands.

Thrill Programs To Entertain State Fair Goers This Year

Plans to set aside two afternoons at this year's Iowa State fair entirely for "thrill" features including all types of automobile "crash" driving and airplane stunting were announced yesterday by fair officials as final plans for the 1939 exposition neared completion.

The two thrill days will be Saturday, Aug. 26, and Wednesday, Aug. 30. Customary races and other features will be dispensed with for the two afternoons and the entire grandstand programs will be devoted to daredevil stunts of all kinds, officials said.

Headlining the Saturday program will be Jimmy Lynch who will come to Des Moines from the New York world's fair with his troupe of automobile crash drivers.

Included in the program will be double flaming wall crashes in which cars are driven through flaming board walls, a head-on collision of two stock sedans at high speed, automobile broad-jumping in which a car leaps over eight parked automobiles while the driver remains at the wheel, "rolling" a car at 60 miles an hour and several other daredevil stunts.

Wednesday, Aug. 30, the program will be augmented by the appearance of Dick Granere, noted airplane stunt pilot featured at last year's National Air races. Using a clipped wing monoplane, Granere will perform such stunts as driving his plane through two targets which are only two feet wider than the wings of the plane, broad-jumping the plane between a row of cars spotted along the race track and performing difficult loops and rolls.

Features on other days of the state fair will include auto races Aug. 25, 27 and Sept. 1, and horse races Aug. 28, 29 and 31.

Name Committees for County 4-H Club Show; Three-Day Event Scheduled To Start Aug. 16

Complete committees to assist in presenting the 11th annual Johnson county 4-H club show in the University of Iowa field house and Iowa stadium Aug. 16, 17 and 18 were announced yesterday by County Agent Emmett C. Gardner.

Lee Schwimley of Kalona, general superintendent of the 1939 show, announced the general committee and project superintendents earlier. Committees named yesterday are the ticket committee, the parking and police committee, the property construction committee and the buildings and grounds committee.

Ticket committee members are Walter Schmidt, chairman of evening tickets; Glen Hope, chairman of day time tickets; E. Earl Thomas, Glen Burr, Stanley Beranek, Joe G. Raim, Ed Kadera, Frank Sullivan, Dewey Swanson and Sam Hunter.

The parking and police committee includes Byron D. Cogan, chief; Will Rowland, Vernon Burr, S. A. Hunter, Ed Kadera, George Grus, J. C. Fuhrmeister, Louis Kroul, Leon Petsel, Frank Doskocil, John O'Connor, Lloyd F. Burr, C. M. Fountain, A. B. Thomas, Moreland Colony, John C. Miller, Gilbert Rarick, J. M. Zenisek, S. K. Stemmmons, George Krall, George Petsel and J. P. Burns.

The field house committee for property construction of girls' club exhibit booths is headed by Robert N. Spencer who is assisted by A. E. Reeve, George Hunter and Lloyd F. Burr.

Robert Spencer and Ed Opfell are the managers of the buildings and grounds committee. Other members are George Bowie, V. C. Cole, Carroll Colony, Peter E. Epensen, Ed O'Neil, A. C. O'Neil, A. A. Schott, Henry Yeggy, Vernon Burr, Frank N. Crow, W. A. Young, Dan P. Donohue, Clarence J. Suplee, Will Propst, R. E. Williams, Francis Driscoll, Charles Berry.

Frank Sehr Jr., Walter Shaffer, Beck Anderson, L. W. Schwimley, Joe M. Yoder, Ed E. Hill, John Ockenfels, Jesse M. Adams, E. C. Brown, H. J. Dane, George Hunter, Louis Lord, Thomas Neuzil, R. E. Roberts, Frank Urbanek, Fred Stock, L. G. Gongwer, F. A. Colony, John Slach, D. J. Fisher, W. H. Griffith, Glenn Speight, John Wolz, Byron Cogan, Ray E. Smalley, E. T. Sals, C. H. Jennings, J. T. Winborn, Ralph Makin Sr., Lee Niffenegger, A. M. Spencer and Louis Zimmerman.

General committee and project superintendents named by Superintendent Schwimley earlier are Emil Meyer of Lone Tree, baby beef; Louis Lord of Iowa City, beef heifers; Will Warren of Iowa City, dairy; John Wolz of Iowa City and Robert Adams of North Liberty, swine; Will Propst of Iowa City, sheep; Fred Stock of Lone Tree, colts; Dan Roth of Iowa City, poultry; Joseph Miltner of Iowa City, judging contest, and George M. Hunter of Iowa City, treasurer of the show.

The show will again be highlighted by livestock exhibits shown by the county 4-H boys. County girls' clubs will present demonstration exhibits and projects.

The livestock exhibits will be in the east concourse of the stadium while girls' displays will be in the field house.

Bovine Beauty Plan Demonstration Of Animal Grooming At Annual 4-H Show

A "Bovine Beauty Culture exhibition" will be presented Wednesday evening, Aug. 16, at the 11th annual 4-H club show at Iowa stadium by the Johnson county 4-H boys' clubs, County Agent Emmett C. Gardner said yesterday.

While club members lead baby beeves onto the stage and proceed with the processes of grooming and hair curling, the county boys' president, William Hunter, will describe what is being done and why it is done.

Other events of the same evening will be the 4-H girls' club "Variety show" and the presentation of the county health champions.

The three-day show will include two evening performances. The second evening performance, Thursday, Aug. 17, will feature the annual horse show, which promises to be very good this year because of the large number of entrants.

There will be no evening show the third day, Aug. 18.
