

This Is How It Feels When The German Bombers Are Attacking

By DANIEL DE LUCE

LWOW, Poland, Sept. 13 (AP) (By Courier to Rumanian Frontier, Filed Budapest 9 p.m., 3 p.m. EST) — As I write this dispatch 21 German bombers are raining heavy bombs on the oil and alcohol refineries.

The table under my hand is shaking like something alive. In this infernal din set up by screaming sirens, barking anti-aircraft guns and the roar of bursting bombs I can't take my mind off the shivering wall of this ancient hotel.

If it holds together until I can get this off to Rumania then I will believe in miracles.

Even the sidewalks, or what I can see of them out of the grimy window, seem to dance.

Heavy black smoke over the buildings opposite seems to rise jerkily to the tune of explosions.

This has been going on nearly all the time since I arrived here. Only at nights does the shaking cease. Then it is a case of blind groping through a pitch black city made erie by the flickering light of a dozen buildings fired by nazi bombs.

At night you bump into spy-conscious policemen and discuss the war in hushed tones with people whose faces you can't see. You hope that with daylight the first bombers somehow will fail to arrive.

The days are made up of bad coffee, soggy food, reluctant dashes into smelly cellars when air raid sirens sound and queer pauses, hat in hand, as peasant carts go by with air raid victims piled like so many animals.

One quickly gets a helpless feeling that he can't escape the nazi bombs, that they've got your number.

On the way up here from Hungary shortly after the war began I left the stalled train nearly 20 times with the rest of the passengers to seek refuge in apple orchards, cemeteries, tunnels, or just ditches from the bombing, machine gunning nazi planes.

The first bombardment of Lwow came the morning of Sept. 1, just when Hitler was telling the reichstag his decision to invade Poland.

WARSAW'S DEFENSES WEAKENING

French Engage in Major Drive to Crack Siegfried Fortifications

British Troops Land Safely On French Soil

French Infantry Reports Strategic Gains in Germany

By C. S. FOLTZ, JR. BASEL, Switzerland, Sept. 13 (AP) — Two powerful French army forces were reported tonight to be folding like wings on the German city of Saarbruecken.

More troops were engaged in the drive on the rich center of the Saar mining basin, according to reports reaching Switzerland, than in any action since the war began.

It appeared a major drive to crack the first line of the German Siegfried fortifications was in progress.

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Several hundred thousand British troops have landed in France unhampered either by submarine or aerial attack, it was announced tonight. Announcement of the achievement was made in authorized quarters shortly after Premier Daladier had reformed his cabinet for "win the war" purposes, with himself as premier, minister of foreign affairs and minister of war and national defense.

It also followed an official communique stating that French troops fighting their way forward in the Saarbruecken area of Germany again had bettered their positions after having previously gained a mile.

The addition of two ministries — blockade and armament — and the consolidation of the national defense and foreign affairs ministries under Daladier, gave the cabinet 21 members compared with 19 in the previous government.

Daladier named Senator Georges Pernot, who belongs to the republican union group and has held public works and justice posts in previous cabinets, to the blockade post while Raoul Dautry, former director of the French national railways, was made armament minister.

Georges Bonnet, former foreign minister, becomes minister of justice.

The socialist party, the largest in the chamber of deputies, refused to participate in the government. Former Premier Leon Blum, party head, in a letter to Daladier said the refusal was not directed at Daladier personally but that the socialists could enter the cabinet only on condition they received portfolios in proportion to their political strength. They were offered two secondary ministries.

Washington Man Electrocuted On Power Line

WASHINGTON, Ia., Sept. 13 (AP)—Roy Reichart, 39, of Muscatine, an employee of the Iowa Electric company of Cedar Rapids, was electrocuted today while working on a power line nine miles northwest of here.

Everett Powell and H. W. Reece, both of Muscatine who were working with Reichart, said he had removed a cross arm and was putting on another when his arm contacted a "live" wire. The shock threw his left hip against another wire, the witness said.

Polish 'Life-Line' In Danger

This Central Press map graphically illustrates the German drive to cut the main highways in southern Poland which lead to Rumania and over which Rumanian supplies are obtained by the Polish fighting forces. Should the German plan succeed the Polish forces around Warsaw would be completely isolated from outside help.

Dubuque Woman Takes Life After Killing Her Two Children

Police Find Bodies After Relatives Find House Locked

DUBUQUE, Sept. 13 (AP) — Dubuque County Coroner C. C. Coady said tonight that Mrs. Betty Licklider, 45, committed suicide sometime last night after killing her two children, Jean, 7, and Lee, 12.

Bodies of the woman and her two children were found in their home here late this afternoon when police forced their way into the house after being notified by relatives that they were unable to gain entrance.

Dr. Coady said the mother had taken her life by inhaling gas. Her body was found draped over the kitchen stove in the gas-filled kitchen.

Bodies of the two children, with their skulls crushed by what Dr. Coady said were blows from an axe were found in beds in upstairs bedrooms.

The bloodstained axe, the coroner added, was found in the kitchen near the woman's body. Dr. Coady said no inquest would be held. He said his verdict of double murder and suicide was based on the contents of five notes left by the suicide victim. He did not disclose the contents.

Believe Nazis Planning Bases In S. America

British Will Follow Germany's Example In Bombing Operations

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The official British belief that Germany may attempt to establish submarine and air bases in South and Central America was expressed tonight while the British government made it clear that its bombing operations in Germany depends on whether the reich's high command carried out its threat to bomb unfortified Polish cities.

In a brief communique, the ministry of information said the government had reason to believe that Germany might try to build bases in the Central and South Americas and had instructed England's envoys to be on the watch.

At the same time the British government took the stand that, although it had agreed not to bomb civilians, it would claim a free hand if the German high command carried out its reported threat to bomb Polish towns to crush civilian resistance.

Officials Cross Into Rumania

BUDAPEST, Sept. 13 (AP) — Eleven Polish officials, headed by Eugene Kwiatkowski, vice premier and finance minister, were reported tonight to have crossed the southern Polish border into Rumania.

One of the party was identified as the head of the Polska bank (bank of Poland).

This development was reported as the progress of the war in Poland was veiled here through the inability of observers to pick up Warsaw or Lwow broadcasts during the day and the refusal of the Poles to permit correspondents to enter their country from Hungary or Rumania.

The Polish officials were reported to have arrived at Cernauti, Rumanian city south of the Rumanian-Polish border.

The Rumanian ambassador to Warsaw and his staff also entered Rumania at Cernauti.

Two Sides to The Question

Senator Borah

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho has notified President Roosevelt that he will vigorously fight an attempt to change the neutrality act should the president call a special session of congress to enact the administration's neutrality program.

Congressman White

Representative Dudley A. White of Norwalk, O., an opponent of the administration on the neutrality issue in congress this summer, has announced he favors repeal of the arms embargo and a return to international law.

F. D. R. Opens Way To Embargo Action

Iowa's Solons Split on Issue Of Neutrality

DES MOINES, Sept. 13 (AP)—Iowa's congressional delegation tonight was widely split on the neutrality issue for which a special session has been called for Sept. 21.

An Associated Press poll today disclosed division on the question in both democratic and republican ranks.

Senator Guy M. Gillette (D), whose negative vote was a key factor in burying the administration "cash and carry" neutrality measure in the senate foreign relations committee last season, indicated in a speech today that the outbreak of the war in Europe has not changed his neutrality opinions appreciably.

Calls Congress Into Session For Sept. 21

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — President Roosevelt called a special session of congress for Sept. 21 today and thereby gave the signal for a tense and bitter struggle over his proposal that the present embargo on arms shipments to Europe's belligerents be abolished.

Simultaneously, the chief executive invited the leaders of both parties to an extraordinary conference at the White House on Sept. 20. This invitation apparently was in line with his announced effort to obtain "national unity" in the situation resulting from Europe's war.

A short time after the special session call went out, James A. Farley conferred with the president and then, in talking to reporters, supported the chief executive's plea that politics be adjourned.

"I don't think the people are interested in politics at the moment," said Farley. It became apparent today that Mr. Roosevelt probably would command majority support in the senate foreign relations committee where the opening skirmishes of the neutrality revision battle will be fought. This came about through an announcement from Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind) that he would vote to repeal the embargo and substitute a "cash and carry" system of arms sales, if proper safeguards were provided. A few months ago the committee divided, 12 to 11, against proceeding with the legislation, with Van Nuys opposing the administration at that time.

Many assumed, meanwhile, that the president was counting upon the support of a majority of the senate as well. It was known that before calling the special session, the administration engaged in numerous preliminary discussions to test sentiment.

It was generally believed that Mr. Roosevelt would not have issued his proclamation unless he felt sure of his position.

Battered Polish Forces Retreat To East as Germans Mark Up Fresh Victories in Invasion

Fresh victories for the German army in Poland were reported by Berlin last night while a battered Polish army retreated steadily toward the east.

Giving no details, the Germans announced that Warsaw was encircled and that their troops were pushing toward Lwow (Lemberg), in southeastern Poland.

Modlin, northern keystone to defense of Warsaw, was surrounded, it was said.

On the western front, the French reported several hundred thousand British soldiers were in France and that the poilus had moved about a mile farther into nazi territory. At the same time, a dispatch from Lwow, in the Polish Ukraine, said the Polish army was falling back after temporarily holding German forces along the San and Vistula rivers.

German motorized units were reported to have reached the main highway connecting Lwow with Lublin, 100 miles northward.

While announcing victories in Poland, the German government published in Berlin a contraband law which was said by authoritative sources to be designed as a "defense" against the English "blockade." A long list of forbidden war materials, money, machines and transport equipment was published by the Germans.

French quarters in Paris reported the British troops landed unmolested either by submarine or aerial attack.

Germans Report Polish Advances

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—A German army report tonight said that Warsaw was completely encircled.

A dispatch from the German army in the field stated German troops had surrounded the Polish fortress of Modlin at the confluence of the Narew and Vistula rivers less than 20 miles northwest of Warsaw.

Closing in on the Polish capital, German forces said they had wiped out resistance on another of three fronts defending the city.

A high command communique declared "enormous numbers" of prisoners were captured in a battle ending Polish resistance south of Radom, about 60 miles south of Warsaw.

The vanguard of German forces in south Poland was reported at Lwow, 220 miles southeast of the capital, in a drive to cut Poland's contact with Rumania.

Germany apparently was attempting to prepare foreign opinion for aerial bombardment and artillery shelling of Warsaw on the grounds that it no longer is an open, or unfortified, city.

PRESSBOX PICKUPS By OSCAR HARGRAVE

The belief that there are two sides to everything has been given additional strength by the set and of Dr. Eddie Anderson on the subject of scrimmage as a part of fall grid practice.

The traditional football practice, at least the one most commonly seen and believed in, includes plenty of scenes in which two sets of eleven bruisers do a daily job of bruising Anderson, although not strictly against scrimmage in practice, says he does not intend making it a part of Iowa drills this fall.

This is in marked contrast to the manner of several other Big Ten camps in which there is already an injury list, and in which there is also much hope for a successful season. Minnesota, for instance, has already had a taste of the rough stuff, and the Gophers were scrimmaging early last year after the typical Bierman fashion.

Not so the gridders of Dr. Anderson last season. The Bierman system, which has certainly been successful in our state to the north was not in the least like the equally successful methods of Dr. Anderson who turned out a brilliant Holy Cross eleven.

The difference in the two viewpoints, however, is not a direct disagreement. It arises largely out of what the different coaches have to start with instead of being a difference in what they have to accomplish.

The scrimmages, according to Anderson, probably do help in the matter of conditioning and timing, but that conditioning and timing can be achieved through signal drills, work on the dummies and other parts of grid practice. And, scrimmages are rougher on material. If the boys smash and tackle daily they have a good chance of hurting someone in those drills—a key player possibly.

Anderson does not have a big squad. Injury to Kinnick, Coupee, Prasse, Eulich or any of the other important men might handicap the Hawks tremendously. In other words, the Iowa mentor doesn't think the possible benefits of scrimmages weigh as heavily as the injuries that could occur thereby.

He had no scrimmages for his men before Holy Cross's opener last year, and, judging by the Holy Cross record, the Crusaders need not it. Meanwhile, Bernie Bierman and quite a few of the other coaches continue using successfully the old knock-'em-down style of grid practice.

It leaves us still wondering if the scrimmage question is something like sugar in one's tea—to use or not to use—or whether different sets of conditions in different camps call for vital differences in strategy.

Cards, Cincy Win In National League Race

St. Louis In 10-9 Victory Medwick's Homer Gives Needed Margin Over Philadelphia

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—For the second straight day the Cardinals trailed Philadelphia into the stretch and then nosed them out with a home run. Slugging Joe Medwick's drive into the bleachers at the 400-foot mark with one man on in the eighth climaxed today's 17-hit struggle and gave the Redbirds a 10 to 9 victory necessary to keep them in the thick of the pennant scrap with Cincinnati.

Trailing by five runs as they entered the seventh, the Phils staged a brilliant four run rally and added two more in the eighth to jerk the lead away from the pennant hopefuls.

Bill McGee, who went in in the eighth, was credited with the win, while the loss was charged to Ike Pearson, who only yesterday was beaten 4-3 despite the fact he held the Cards to only five hits. He was inserted at the start of the eighth in an effort to hold the one run advantage.

Cubs Club Bees, 15-4 Hank Leiber Belts Two Homers During Perfect Day at Bat

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP)—Paced by Hank Leiber's two home runs, the Chicago Cubs went on a hitting spree today and defeated the Boston Bees, 15 to 4, in the season's final games between the two teams.

Leiber enjoyed a perfect day at bat, hitting his 17th and 18th home runs in his first two times up, and then came up with a pair of singles and a walk. Leiber drove in six runs to make Claude Fasseau's 14th victory an easy chore.

The Bees used four pitchers but were unable to stem the Cubs' attack, consisting of 19 hits for a total of 31 bases. The Cubs also hit into five double plays.

The game ended the year's business between the two teams with the Cubs winning 16 games and the Bees six.

Reds Tumble Dodgers, 3-0 Junior Thompson Throtles Brooklyn With Two Bingles

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13 (AP)—Taking a lot of strain off a pitching staff which for winning purposes had been reduced to two men, Eugene (Junior) Thompson bobbed up today with a two-hit pitching job to shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 0 for the Cincinnati Reds.

His flashing performance preserved a 3 1-2 game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals, who edged out the Phillies.

The only hits permitted by the rookie righthander were Johnny Hudson's single to right field in the third and a bunt that Dixie Walker beat out in the eighth.

Each came after two were out and the Dodgers never got a runner to second base.

In the face of this masterful showing, Hugh Casey, the Dodgers' own rookie star with a record of six straight victories, didn't have a chance.

He rationed the Reds to six hits, but these included some that were both hard and timely. In the first inning Bill Werber opened with a single and raced home on Ival Goodman's double to left.

Signal Drills Occupy Hawks

Despite a continuance of the heat wave that makes even the donning of a uniform a sweaty job, the Hawkeye grid squad went through another day of double drills yesterday and, in the morning session, they wore the uniforms.

Signals continued to occupy the attention of the entire squad, with three teams running through almost continuous practice in that department.

Added to that, of course, was the daily drill on kicking, especially place and drop-kicking, that Coach Eddie Anderson has insisted on for Nile Kinnick, Buzz Dean and Roger Pettit. A pair of ends, Capt. Erwin Prasse and Jens Norgaard, are also getting some practice at booting.

The Iowa casualties with no scrimmage being undergone as yet, nor planned by Anderson, still are restricted to several blistered feet. On the subject of scrimmage, Anderson explained yesterday that he has planned no contact work as yet. The Iowa coach said that there will probably be no such work in which the backs are involved although the linemen may engage in line scrimmages later on.

That the Hawkeyes will play to the signal barking of a sophomore quarterback continues to appear probable as Al Coupee takes care of that post a majority of the time with Gerald Ankeny filling in occasionally. Both weighing in at approximately 200 pounds they have been shown up well in practice and seem to fit in well with the backfield combination that includes Nile Kinnick, Russell Bush and Ed Murphy during most of the drill. Speed and timing seem to be the immediate objective of the coaching staff. The guards, back and some other players were given orders to speed up the work, which is noticeably improving.

Galento, Nova End Training Heavies Prepared for Bloody 15-Round Go At Philadelphia Tomorrow Night

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13 (AP)—Topping off the end of training for Tony Galento and Lou Nova, manager Joe Jacobs today asked the Pennsylvania state athletic commission to instruct referee George Blake not to stop the 15-round fight Friday night for blood spilling unless one of the managers requests it.

With the bout in municipal stadium only two days off and Blake already fully informed as to the Pennsylvania rules, commission chairman Leon Rains wasn't at all sure he would ask the arbiter to do anything of the kind. Blake was imported from California especially for the tea party, Rains pointed out, and he is experienced enough to know when a man's face is carved not wisely but too well.

"But I still would like to have Blake told not to stop it if Tony's cut unless I ask him to," Jacobs insisted. "I have a special cut remedy, imported from France, and I don't want the ref to interfere in the middle of a round, before we have a chance to work on any cut in the corner. I know Galento can be cut, but that doesn't affect his fighting." With 48 hours still to go, most signs pointed tonight to a gate somewhat short of the rose-colored $150,000 estimate at first expected. "However," one official explained, "the sale on the cheaper tickets has been going pretty well in the last few days, so we may yet go over the $100,000 mark."

Galento and Nova both wound up sparring work yesterday and lightly tapered off today. The two-ton gent from Jersey, down to a mere 231, lighter even than for his recent disastrous challenge against Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, still figures he can stop the ex-collegian from California in less than half the scheduled 15 rounds.

Nova, on the other hand, still goes around with a grim determination to be heavyweight king in a year. He figures he can tap the beer keg that walks in some five or six heats himself, go on to another bout in February, and then take the big fellows' bauble from Louis' dusky brow sometime next spring or summer.

Red Sox Win, 1-0; Feller Bests Yanks

Ruffing Pounded By Cleveland In 9-4 Tilt

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Bobby Feller, the Cleveland fireballer whom manager Oscar Vitt once was accused of steering around the world champion Yankees, beat them 9 to 4 today for his 21st victory and a sweep of the two-game series for the Indians.

As a result New York's lead in the American League was sliced another full game to 15 lengths over the Boston Red Sox, who were victorious against Detroit yesterday.

The contest sized up as the start as a spectacular slinging duel between Feller and Red Ruffing—the only 20-game winners in the league—and for four innings it lived up to its billing.

Then the Indians tore into Ruffing for three runs in both the fifth and sixth innings and got the same helping off Spurgeon Chandler in the seventh.

Feller continued his mastery over the Yankees for eight innings with three-hit shutout pitching. But he weakened in the ninth to let New York bat all the way around on four hits.

The Indians filled the bases in the fifth on three singles, then scored one run on a walk and two on a wild throw by Bill Dickey. In the fifth a triple by Roy Weatherly, a double by Ben Chapman and two singles accounted for three more and in the seventh two passes and three singles cashed three final tallies.

Hal Trosky, Cleveland's slugger in the fourth inning while trapping Joe DiMaggio off first. He had to be helped off the field and Oscar Grimes moved over to his position.

Lefty Grove Blanks Tigers With 4 Hits

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The veteran Lefty Grove turned in his 1939 masterpiece for the Red Sox today by blanking the Detroit Tigers, 1-0, with a sparkling fourth-inning performance.

While chalking up his 14th victory of the season and his 285th of his career, the aged southpaw forced seven of the Tigers to whiff, denied them a base on balls and capped it all with a perfect day at bat, a single and two passes out of three trips to the plate.

Freddie Hutchinson gave the Soxers seven hits during his seven innings on the mound and in the fifth the crippled home team countered its winning tally when Gene Desautels doubled, went to third on Birdie Tebbett's poor throw and raced home after Lou Finney lined a sacrifice fly to left field.

The Tigers had runners in scoring position with one out in the fourth and ninth but the canny Grove foiled them by making the last two batters pop out in each of those frames.

Little Hawks Drill for Opener Against DeWitt Tomorrow

Red and Whites Display New Spark In Long Session

In the last hard drill before the opening game against DeWitt tomorrow night, the City High Little Hawks displayed a well balanced offense, featuring the hard running of Ted Lewis and Dick Martin, with a shifted defense to utilize the defensive ability of every player.

Coach Cormack brought his Red and White squad back to Shrader's field, and the Little Hawks thanked him with a sparkling display of football. With opposing players instead of weeds to dodge, the first team offense went through the "scrub" team with little trouble.

Ted Lewis and John Graham gained many yards on off-tackle plays, while Dick Martin hit the line with enough power to advance the ball around ten yards. Jack Feig played the blocking back position, with Jack Stoner and John Schuppert seeing service in the first team backfield. Bob Towel, letter winner at Waverly last year, played an outstanding defensive game for the second team.

Coach Cormack arranged the first team in the same defensive formation as yesterday. Ted Lewis was at one guard post, along with the regular guard, Bob White. Tackles Ken Bright and Jack Hirt remained at their regular posts. Guard Don Montgomery played one defensive end, with center Virgil Parker on the other flank.

Dorothy Kirby Leads Women's Western Meet

EVANSTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—A blistering 72 over a sunbaked, windwhipped course today enabled Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, Ga., to take the lead at the three quarter mark of the women's western golf derby.

Six strokes under the course record and one under the previous tournament record, Miss Kirby's 72 was five strokes under women's par and only two above men's par. It gave her a 54 hole total of 233.

Long driving Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., turned in the best nine hole score of the tournament when she fired a 34, four-tee par, going out. However, trap trouble coming in bogged her down to a 40 and a 54 hole total of 234.

Both Miss Hicks and Miss Kirby broke the old course record of 78 set by Mrs. John W. Taylor of Evanston in 1933. The previous derby record of 73 was set last year by Patty Berg.

Third place was occupied today by chunky 15 year old Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia. Her 80 today gave her a total of 240.

Wilders Stars For Cyclones

AMES, Sept. 13 (AP)—Big Hank Wilder, who didn't play much last year because of a hip injury, brought considerable satisfaction to Head Coach Jim Yeager in the Iowa State football camp today.

The speedy halfback ripped off long gains as Yeager sent his squad through a hard scrimmage in a hot sun.

Yeager substituted freely as he took good looks at most of the Cyclone candidates. He also was pleased with the performance of Mel Happe, a 210-pound tackle who may help overcome the disadvantage of having an inexperienced line.

Adrian Quist, Cooke Lose

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—Reputations went at a dime a dozen in the national tennis championships today, when Adrian Quist of Australia and Frankie Parker and Elwood Cooke of this country's flannel elite were eliminated in rapid succession in fourth-round matches.

Quist, the most important casualty, tumbled before some inspired play by Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., 11-9, 4-6, 8-6, 6-1. Parker was plastered by Gilbert Hunt Jr., the net-playing terror from Washington, D. C., 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, and Cooke succumbed to the terrific service and forehand drive of Welby Van Horn of Los Angeles, 6-3, 8-10, 6-4, 7-5.

The crowd in the big concrete horseshoe got one thrill after another as the fame-hungry youngsters knocked off the big shots. The officials back under the marquee weren't so happy, because the tournament was left in a fix for head liners.

Favorites Lose In Amateur Golf Tourney

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP)—Slim, dapper Willie Turnesa lost his national amateur golf crown today but got a royal escort to the sidelines as more than a half-dozen other standout favorites—including two former title holders—bowed out of the picture in the tournament's first two rounds of match play.

Turnesa, an easy first round victor over Howard Everitt of Oreland, Pa., was eliminated during the afternoon by George Dawson, 37-year-old Chicago enigma. The outcome of this match climaxed a day marked by the surprise triumphs of longshots and unknowns.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb., winner of the 1937 amateur title and the national open championship on this course, North Shore, was one of the stars who faded from the scene.

Others were Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, winner of the title in 1936; Tom Sheehan, the young Northville, Mich., player who on Monday and Tuesday set a new all-time qualifying record of 139 for 36 holes; Pat Abbott of Pasadena, Cal., the 1938 finalist against Turnesa; Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati, second low qualifier,

AMONG IOWA CITY PEOPLE

H. Clay Harshbarger, 305 Sunset avenue, was a guest recently at the Life and Time Subscriber's library in the Life and Time building in Rockefeller center in New York City, according to word received here.

Carl Burnside of Des Moines and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mogel of Hendrick were visitors yesterday on the university campus. Mr. Burnside was graduated from the university college of pharmacy in June. Mrs. Mogel is a member of the class of 1914 of the university college of pharmacy.

Roger Hargrave, who recently submitted to an operation at the university hospital, is reported to be improving.

Marion Whinery, who has been teaching at Lisbon, will be in Iowa City today visiting at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Whinery, 1023 Kirkwood avenue.

Professors Will Attend Boston Session

Prof. Edward Bartow, head of the University of Iowa chemistry department, and Prof. L. C. Ralston of the chemistry department left Tuesday for Boston, Mass., where they will attend the regular fall meeting of the American Chemical society at Hotel Statler there.

Professor Bartow will participate in the program of the meeting, being in charge of the meetings of the division of water, sewage and sanitation. Yesterday morning the University of Iowa representatives attended an Iowa Alumni breakfast held in conjunction with the society's meeting. It was reported that between 40 and 50 persons attended the breakfast.

Major events at the University of Iowa's Dad's day program of Oct. 6 and 7 will include the dinner, Indiana football game, mass meeting and inspection of the university.

Program For Dad's Day Lists Major Events

Prof. E. E. Harper, chairman of the faculty committee for the second year, soon expects the final program to be drawn. Most of the events are standard from year to year.

The 1939 Dad's day is the first large event on the university's calendar for 1939-40. It is on the corresponding date of the 1938 homecoming and features the first conference football game of the Iowa season.

Following is the schedule for request programs at the Iowa Union music room for the first week on the fall schedule.

Peg Leeper Still Wonders About It All

Iowa's Queen of Redheads Recounts Recent Journey to Movie Capital

By ART GOLDBERG Her head was "spinning" and she was a "little woozy" from the choppy air, but Peg Leeper's sparkling brown eyes proclaimed in no uncertain terms her reign as Queen of Iowa's Redheads as she alighted at the Iowa City airport last night.

She was openly thrilled by the huge bouquets of flowers and the 100 per cent turnout of Gamma Phi Beta sorority sisters that met her plane, and it was hard to believe that Peg would thoroughly enjoy a Hollywood career. Though her screen test hasn't come through as yet and she has no idea as to the probability of her being offered a contract, her sentiments on the subject run something like this:

"This year she will be a senior at Iowa, intent, while here, on going into personnel work; she's more than just satisfied with the situation as is. However, should film developments be forthcoming, 'I wouldn't turn my nose too high.' And should she fail to turn her nose high enough, of course, S. U. I. will suffer.

The treatment accorded her in California was of the type that would tend to discourage her about as much as a land-office business would discourage the corner druggist. The fleet of sleek limousines with uniformed chauffeurs went well with the complete suit at the Hollywood Knickerbocker hotel.

Visits to night spots like the Trocadero, the Brown Derby or Catalina Island wouldn't exactly make a college girl want to turn around and run home. And movie-redhead Susan Hayward makes a swell hostess.

Meeting Mary Martin ("My Heart Belongs to Daddy" fame) or Dorothy Lamour or George Stone are nice things to go through, but it's better still to meet another famous Iowan, so they tossed Priscilla Lane in for good measure.

Hollywood and Los Angeles come more to the liking of our queen than does San Francisco. Which preference can be marked up to the informality, both of dress and action, that prevails in the film capital.

Clothes there, explains Peg, are predominantly slacks, worn in extremely bright colors and set off with unusually heavy make-up. Flowers there are both plentiful and beautiful and come at about a dime-a-dozen.

Though she wouldn't want it to get back to some of them, she mentions that the stars she met are not nearly so glamorous as they appear from the eighth row of the movie house around the corner.

All in all, it must have been a great experience for a great kid. But now is the time for all good men of Iowa to come to the aid of our school and our state—to pray that one Margaret Leeper will decide in any event to sacrifice a film career that Iowa may retain the rightful ruler of its redheaded contingent.

September Proves Popular For Weddings Among Alumni

The bridegroom attended the university here for two years.

Louise Fondroy Wed To Howard Wickey Recently at Cherokee

September is proving almost as popular as June as far as a time for weddings is concerned judging by the announcements of engagements and marriages of university alumni and former students made recently in various Iowa communities.

Fondroy-Wickey

Louise Fondroy, daughter of Mrs. Emil Weidauer, and Howard Wickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Wickey, all of Pomeroy, were married recently at the Methodist church in Cherokee with the Rev. J. A. Farnham officiating.

The bride wore a gown of autumn blue and a corsage of gardenias. She was attended by Mrs. William O'Leary. Mr. O'Leary was best man.

Mrs. Wickey was graduated from the Pomeroy high school and the Sioux City Methodist school of nursing. She attended Morningside college at Sioux City and the University of Minnesota. For the past four years she has been instructor of nurses at the Methodist hospital in Sioux City.

Mr. Wickey was graduated from the Pomeroy high school and also attended the university. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Pomeroy where Mr. Wickey is engaged in business.

Focht-Sharp

Edith Focht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Focht, of Randolph and Lynder Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Sharp of Tabor, have announced their marriage which took place June 9 in Rockport, Mo. Mrs. Sharp attended the University of Nebraska and last year was graduated from Tabor college.

Pledge Prom Set For Tomorrow Night At Iowa Union

Preferred parties today at the various chapter houses and last night parties from 8 to 10 this evening will entertain sorority rushees at the last day of formal rushing parties.

Tonight after the last parties the rushees will go to Iowa Union to fill out preference slips. Tomorrow morning the sororities will turn in their bid lists and tomorrow at 5 p.m. the invitations to pledge will be issued to the rushees at Iowa Union.

Climax of the five-day rushing period will be the Pledge Prom tomorrow from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Dancing will be to the music of Dick Stable's orchestra. Pledges will be furnished with escorts by the various sororities.

This year's Pledge Prom will be the first "cut-in" dance in the history of university parties. A limited number of stag cards will be issued to the various fraternities and a group of 20 special ushers will be provided to assist in introducing the men and the pledges.

Tickets left over after all new pledges have received theirs will be available for active members at the main desk of Iowa Union late tomorrow.

Suffers Burns When Flames Destroy Home

Cleaning Naphtha Gas Ignites; Brother Saves Mrs. Roy Mulford

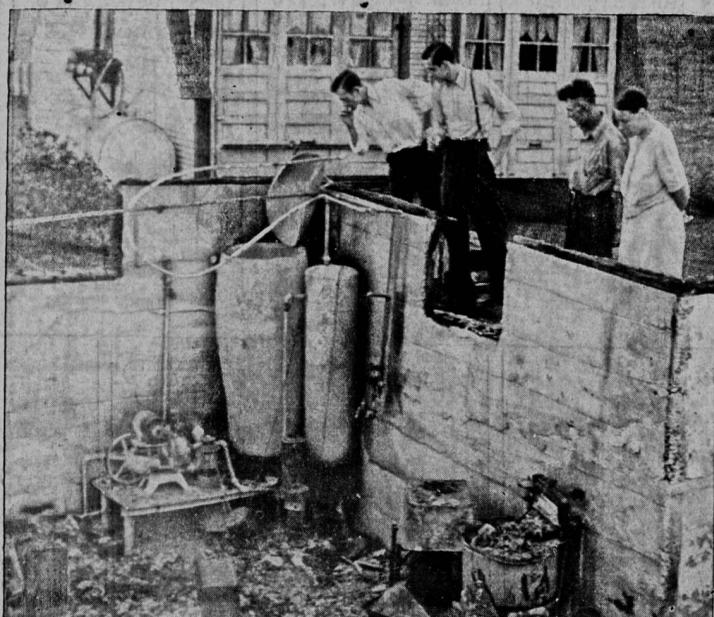

A raging fire claimed a home and nearly a life yesterday morning after Mrs. Roy Mulford poured some cleaning naphtha gas into a pan too near a flame.

Fumes from the gas were ignited, catching Mrs. Mulford's garments on fire. Frank Doane, her brother, who was visiting her at the time, rushed into the kitchen, wrapped her in bedclothes nearby, smothered the flames and carried her outside the burning house.

Firemen were able to save only a newly-built garage nearby, the fire having gained too much headway on the house.

Mrs. Mulford, after treatment at a local hospital, was released and taken to the home of Newton Mulford, 921 Hudson avenue.

Mr. Mulford estimated the damage at $2,500. He said all the family's belongings were destroyed in the fire.

$2,500 Blaze Destroys Iowa City Home

This picture shows the ruins of the home of Mrs. Roy Mulford along highway 218 south of the Iowa City airport after it was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire was started when Mrs. Mulford, cleaning with naphtha gasoline, came too near a stove and ignited the liquid. Mrs. Mulford's clothes burst into flame and it was thought that her life was saved by the quick work of her brother who was visiting at her home when he wrapped her in bed clothing to extinguish the flames and then carried her to safety out of the house. A nearby garage was all that firemen were able to save. In the picture can be seen the ruins of an automatic pumping system and two water tanks which were burst by the heat of the blaze. Mr. Mulford estimated damage at $2,500.

Paul Corey, Iowa Graduate, Advances in Literary World

Young Novelist Publishes Story With Iowa Background, Gains Attention for Pioneering Spirit

Paul Corey, a young novelist who is a native Iowan and who graduated from the University of Iowa receiving his B.A. degree in 1925, and his wife, the poet Ruth Lechlitter, who also attended the University of Iowa as a graduate student receiving her M.A. degree here in 1926, are both discussed in an article in the current September issue of Reader's Digest.

The article, entitled "Pioneer Spirit, '39," is written by William Seabrook and tells, in the author's words, "True stories of the author's neighbors who have solved their own economic problems winning independence and the good life with little money but lots of work."

Corey has just come into the national literary scene with his novel which will be released next Wednesday, Sept. 20. It is entitled "Three Miles Square" and is a story based on Iowa life.

The Reader's Digest story of the Coreys tells of when they lived in New York and sold their writings—but they didn't make enough to live on. They got office jobs, but their writing suffered.

It continues explaining how one spring, they bought some woodland and underbrush where they "lived for a while in a one-room shack, clearing, planting and starting baby chicks."

"By winter, Paul, who had never handled a hammer or studied carpentry, had built a small cottage. He spent nearly $500 on the material and built it so well that after they'd lived in it for a couple of years he sold it at a profit."

The story tells how they built a larger house, this one of stone, on their plot and how they prospered raising chickens and living on vegetables from their garden. Meanwhile they sold their writings and lived, in those years, on $300 a year.

"They are prospering now," Seabrook explains. "On less than $1,000 a year cash income they live in absolute independence."

Paul has finished the house and, the author states, attributes living as they do to three necessary things. "One is willingness to work hard; the second is willingness to give up such comforts as turning faucets and pushing buttons; third and most important, ability to get on with one's neighbors."

Leaving the Reader's Digest mention of Paul and Ruth here is an explanation by Corey of his "Three Miles Square" telling why and how he wrote it.

"Having been born and raised in the middle-west, it is natural that I should write about that section of the country. To me a novel about the middle-west must be a history of a family: agricultural America is a community of families struggling against nature, struggling to love and live. One member of a family may succeed, another may fail; one may be a dreamer, another coldly calculating, but the judgment of the community is focused upon the family as a whole."

"I said to myself, people like to read about families—about parents, brothers and sisters, their growth and emotional conflicts, their everyday struggles. . . . So I created the Mantz family: mother, three sons and a daughter; I set them as a focal point in a three-mile-square community of families. The Mantz farm had to be developed and paid for; that is the everyday struggle."

"The master plan of the family had to be shaped to growing emotions and desires of each member and the changing social and economic trend of the time; that is the life conflict. And that is what I wanted to write about."

"Excellent frontier novels have been written about the middle-west—but the mid-west is no longer a frontier. I decided to set my novel in the period 1910 to 1917—a period vivid in my memory—the time when the pioneer spirit was slowly dying and the modern mechanized agricultural spirit was being born. That period covers the year 1913, now fixed by economists as a norm for farm income."

"But most important is the emotional upheaval which communities and families went through during this transition period in their social and economic outlook. Later came our entrance into the World War, and simultaneously the great land boom; but it was the preceding years in which the idea of education from the country school expanded to the town high school and the university; in which haystack love became love in the back seat of automobiles; and in which farm families got delusions of middle-class grandeur. "They were conditioned for the war and the boom, and the debacle to come. It is through this vital character-shaping period that I wished to follow the Mantz family in writing "Three Miles Square."

It's Still 'Sorta' Warm City's Temperature Nears All-Time Record for Date

Iowa City temperatures yesterday neared an all-time record for mid-September high readings when the mercury climbed to 94 degrees, 16 points above the normal of 78 degrees.

The University of Iowa hydraulics department reported that the record for Sept. 13 in past years was 100 degrees on that day in 1897. This was also the latest day in the year that a 100-degree mark has ever been recorded, it was reported.

Also far above normal was the low reading for the 24-hour period ending at 7 o'clock last night. Yesterday's low reading was 69, 15 points above the normal of 54 degrees.

No rainfall was recorded for the period, the weather station reported.

Remodeling Of Moose Lodge Rooms Begins

Remodeling work on the second floor of the Moose lodge rooms in Iowa City involving an expenditure of about $4,000 will begin immediately, it was announced yesterday by Earl W. Kurtz, local president.

Contracts have been let on the work which will consist of enlarging the dance hall and lodge by about 800 square feet, installation of a new stage and an indirect lighting system.

According to Mr. Kurtz, the Opening of New School Brings Large Amount of Business Before Board

The first ringing of school bells in addition to a new Iowa City high school prompted members of the school board to approve an unusually high stack of monthly bills last night at a meeting in the office of Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of schools.

A large portion of the bills as well as most of the discussion centered around the new high school, directors turning their attention mostly to solving several minor problems in connection with a temporary shortage in chairs and food in the cafeteria, and the length of lunch periods.

Members of the board heard reports from the various committees and the superintendent of grounds and buildings.

Albert B. Sidwell, president, presided at last night's meeting.
