Northwestern Game Nov. 25 Named as Out-of-Town Trip

Special Train To Take Band, Student Group

Parade in Chicago To Precede Event, Slaughter Announces

The official out-of-town football game trip this year will be made to the Northwestern game at Evanston, Ill., Nov. 25, President Eugene A. Gilmore announced last night.

A special train to carry students, faculty members, Iowa supporters, and the Iowa bands will leave Iowa City shortly after 12 noon, Nov. 24, Col. Homer H. Slaughter, chairman of the committee in charge, has announced.

The train will be divided into three sections, one for students, one for the uniformed groups, and the third for the Iowa City fans.

They'll go Making the official trip for the university will be the university football band, the Scottish Highlanders and a small group of university officials.

Tentative plans call for the band and the Highlanders to parade in the Chicago loop before leaving for Evanston. They will march again at Evanston, dividing the time at the half during the game with the Northwestern band.

The trip ends officially Sunday, but students are permitted to return individually on any Rock Island train except the Rocket either Saturday night or Sunday. There is no special train for the return trip.

Special Rate A special rate for students and townspeople making the trip is available. The round trip charge will be $5.05.

Although final arrangements for hotel accommodations have not been made, Colonel Slaughter last night reported that hotel rates for room and bath with four or five persons in a room will not exceed $1.25. Arrangements will be made so students may arrange themselves in groups and obtain hotel reservations at Iowa Union before leaving Iowa City.

As students will have both Friday and Saturday evenings free in Chicago, information will be available for those who are not familiar with Chicago as to what entertainment they can obtain for their free evenings. Information on the better movies, concerts, dances and other entertainment will be made available together with the cost, for the convenience of the students.

Reserved Section Plans for the section of the train which is being reserved for citizens are being made by a committee composed of Charles A. Bowman, president of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, Fred Roberson, president of the Junior chamber of commerce, and Eddie Green, managing editor of the Press-Citizen.

The campus committee for the trip chose the Northwestern game over the Wisconsin game, which previously had been announced (See OUT-OF-TOWN, Page 5)

COW WHISTLES

Respectable Man Will Vouch for It

BERLIN, Conn., Sept. 30—(AP)—As a rival to the mid-west's famed "singing mouse" Connecticut advanced the claims of this community to a "whistling cow."

The animal was discovered by a Berlin resident who preferred anonymity, but who was identified by the local correspondent of a Hartford newspaper as a "respectable elderly man whose veracity no one doubts."

The discoverer said the sound was so nearly human that it wasn't until the third whistle that he became convinced it was the cow.

Inter-American Body Defines Economic Plan

Spirit of Alliance Protection Against Belligerent Actions

PANAMA, Panama, Sept. 30 (AP)—The inter-American conference on neutrality tonight completed a plan for a strengthened economic front.

Definition of an American safety zone to be patrolled by the combined navies of the two hemispheres was left unsettled.

Committees considering policing loans backed by the United States and Cuba will meet again tomorrow. The proposed safety zone would circle the Americas and prescribe limits within which belligerent activities would not be permitted.

On the economic front, Esteban Jaramillo of Colombia said the report was a "defensive alliance against factors which threaten to disturb and weaken the economy of each nation of this continent."

"Representatives of the American republics have come here to tell the world that democracies of the continent are united with an unbreakable decision and sincere spirit of solidarity to help each other," Jaramillo declared. Delegates said the proposed advisory group on shipping and exchange should start functioning in Washington by November 15 as an "extension" of the conference.

The economic and financial body of 21 experts would study monetary problems, exchange balances, international payments, means of obtaining monetary and economic stability, exports and imports legislation and other data affecting shipping and commerce.

Killed in Crash FT. DODGE, (AP)—Ira L. Foster of Ft. New President Assumes Head Of Lost Nation

Razkiewicz Succeeds Moscicki To Direct Affairs of Poland

PARIS, Sept. 30—(AP)—A Polish government without a country was established officially in France today.

In a dramatic ceremony at the Polish embassy, mild-mannered Wladyslaw Razkiewicz, former president of the Warsaw senate, took the oath of office as president of the republic now divided between Germany and Russia.

Succeeds Moscicki He succeeded 71-year-old Dr. Ignace Moscicki, who has been held in internment in Rumania where he fled before the German invaders.

(Dr. Moscicki tonight passed through Subotica, Yugoslavia, enroute to France by way of Italy. He travelled as a private citizen.)

Moscicki's resignation from the presidency, which he had held since 1926, was announced through the embassy a few minutes before the new president took the oath.

Through the inauguration of Razkiewicz, the Poles sought to outmaneuver what diplomats called Nazi efforts to prevent the existence of a Polish government by keeping Moscicki in Rumania without power to exercise his functions.

Decrees Resignation Razkiewicz's first act was to decree the resignation of the cabinet headed by Slawoj Skladkowski since it was unable to function from neutral Rumanian territory.

The 54-year-old president took over his duties, the embassy said, "in conformity with constitutional law" embodied in a decree drafted Sept. 17, 1939, at the Polish border town of Kutny after the government fled.

Nazis Warn Britain Not To Arm Ships

BERLIN, Oct. 1—(Sunday) (AP)—The controlled Nazi press today answered an alleged British decision to arm merchant ships with indications that such vessels might be sunk without warning.

The newspaper Boersen Zeitung in an editorial headed "British Snipers at Sea," defined the German attitude toward armed ships and declared:

"If merchant ships offer armed resistance or are conveyed by enemy warships, they must be prepared that, according to international custom, respective means of combat will be employed against them."

"...The arming of merchant ships draws legal consequences. Such ships must be treated the same as warships."

News that mutual assistance and economic agreements with Turkey are ready for signature and that a 5-man Turkish military mission headed by ruddy, handsome Gen. Kiazim Orbay is en route to London was printed widely. Receiving less prominence were reports that the pacts contain a clause cancelling Turkish commitments if Britain and Soviet Russia go to war.

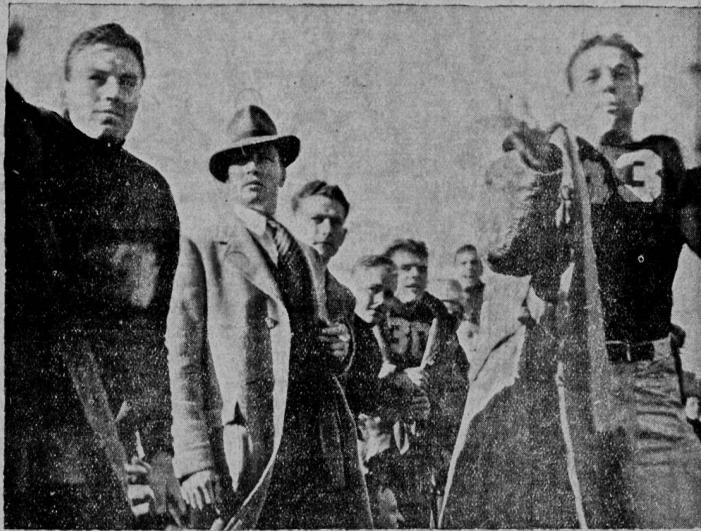

Natural Attitude Although official comment was withheld, persons usually well-informed said that London regarded such an attitude on the part of Turkey as natural because the friendship between Turkey and Russia was indispensable economically and strategically to both countries.

The same sources predicted that the government would make a statement on the progress of British-Turkish alliance negotiations within three days but that this would not deal with recent Russian-Turkish talks in Moscow.

Today, contended this credit restriction was tantamount to cash. It was apparent, however, that many senators were ready to dispute this in the long-awaited senate debate which will begin Monday with an address by Pittman and a reply by Senator Borah (R-Idaho) ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee.

One oppositionist, who asked anonymity, said that foes of the bill might shift the main thrust of their attack from the embargo repeal to the credit provisions. He said that a strict requirement for cash payments probably would have more popular appeal than proposals to continue the existing arms embargo, which forbids the shipment of American armaments to belligerents.

Teammates, Coach Watch Kinnick Score

The above picture was snapped just as Nile Kinnick skirted the South Dakota end for 15 yards and a touchdown in the second quarter of the Iowa - South Dakota game in Iowa stadium yesterday afternoon. The photograph shows (left to right) Gerald Ankeny, Coach Eddie Anderson, and men in uniform behind Anderson — Pettit, Couppee, Kelley and Green. The Hawkeyes went on to score three more markers to bring the game total to 41-0. Kinnick was responsible for 35 of the Hawks' points—going over for three touchdowns, passing for two, and converting five goals.

Soviet Shadow Hangs Heavily Over Balkans

Britain Works At War, Eyes Turkish Pact

Fleet Pulls Blockade Tighter About Reich; Troops Sail to France

LONDON, Sept. 30—(AP)—Beneath the deceptive tranquility of an autumn week end, Britain's soldiers, sailors and statesmen worked at war tonight from the North Sea to the Dardanelles. Millions, bored by sandbags and blackouts, knocked off work early just as always, and headed for the country. They were cheered by newspaper headlines which told them "Anglo-Turkish pact is ready," and by repeated authorized assurances that the Russian-German agreement on Poland and a dictated peace "changes nothing for England."

War held nothing of the thrill of the fleeting "peace in our time" which Prime Minister Chamberlain brought home from Munich just one year ago today.

Troops to France But a steady procession of grey-clad, troop-jammed transports steamed to France. The might of the fleet held Germans in a tightening blockade. Royal airforce bombers roared low over the Siegfried line with photographers and mappers. Whitehill threw all the power of its secret diplomacy into the tug-of-war for the upper hand in the Near East and the Balkans.

News that mutual assistance and economic agreements with Turkey are ready for signature and that a 5-man Turkish military mission headed by ruddy, handsome Gen. Kiazim Orbay is en route to London was printed widely. Receiving less prominence were reports that the pacts contain a clause cancelling Turkish commitments if Britain and Soviet Russia go to war.

U. S. Industry Speeds Output, Nears '37 Peak

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The whirl of United States industry approached its pre-recession, 1937 pitch this week, with the heavy industries leading the way in accelerated output.

Seasonally the level was the best for autumn since 1929.

Grand Central Station Safe-Tell Mr. Kuhn

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—(AP)—The "bombing" of Grand Central station tonight was a complete dud, the "zero hour" of 5 p.m. (CST) passing without any more untoward incident than the arrival and departure of a few trains and thousands of innocent travelers.

A hundred detectives took up guard at the station shortly before 5 p.m. after a Queens resident reported he received a mysterious telephone message that a bombing was scheduled for that hour. Nothing happened, however.

Raymond F. Clair, of Jamaica, told police the caller, a man, first asked to speak to "Mr. Kuhn." When Clair told the speaker "Mr. Kuhn" did not live there and that he did not know him, the caller gave Clair the message, prefacing it with "tell Mr. Kuhn."

Mechanicsville Man Robbed

MECHANICSVILLE, Sept. 30—(AP)—Gunplay marked a hold-up staged at 9:15 o'clock tonight in the real estate and insurance office of Harry Gibeau, former banker. Two bandits, one armed, obtained the wallet containing $360 of Joe Brummet, a farmer, who had entered Gibeau's office as a customer.

The two bandits fled through a rear door by which they had entered, and jumped into a car a half block away and sped northward out of town towards Anamosa.

Turkey Warns Britain, France

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 30 (AP)—Turkey, her role in the past few days, was reported to be ready to cancel, her mutual assistance obligations to France and Britain if they go to war with Soviet Russia. The mission left for the British capital tonight.

Too Much Kinnick for Coyotes; Nile Has Hand in 35 Points

Hawks' Blocking Impresses Grid Premiere Fans; Vollenweider's Kick-Off Return Sets New Long-Distance Scoring Record

By OSCAR HARGRAVE Daily Iowan Sports Editor Before an opening day crowd of 16,000 football curious, Dr. Eddie Anderson's first Iowa eleven staged a six touch-down scoring parade at Iowa stadium yesterday to trim South Dakota university, 41-0.

It was, in agreement with the pre-season dope, Nile Kinnick who led the successful Hawkeye march through the season's tune-up game. The triple-threat Kinnick, all-conference back in 1937, started his senior year auspiciously as he personally scored three of the Iowa touchdowns, tossed passes to account for two more and dropkicked for five extra points. The two passes, one to Russell Busk on a scoring play that was good for over 60 yards and the other to Kelly in the end zone completed Kinnick's work for the afternoon.

By The Associated Press BERLIN — Adolf Hitler arranges consultation with Italian Foreign Minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, calls reichstag to meet next week; official news agency says seven British, one French plane downed in two air battles.

LONDON — Air ministry announces British planes fight Germans over enemy territory, "some" casualties result; Britain's soldiers, sailors and statesmen work at war from North sea to Dardanelles.

ROME—Ciano leaves suddenly for Berlin; government imposes new taxes on property and business.

PARIS — French high command reports artillery duel on Moselle river, also aerial activity; French army, navy and air commanders meet Premier Daladier for review war's first four weeks; Polish government without a country established as Wladyslaw Razkiewicz takes presidency vacated by Ignace Moscicki.

SUBOTICA, Yugoslavia — Dr. Ignace Moscicki arrives from Rumania en route to France.

MOSCOW — Soviet Russia's shadow over Balkans thrown in sharper relief tonight by the impending arrival of Rumania's foreign minister.

(A Bucharest announcement said Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu of Rumania and a staff of experts would leave for Moscow Monday to confer with Soviet officials).

Some sources said the Rumanian's visit tended to confirm reports that Russia had assumed a dominant role in the Balkans and had been given a free hand there by Germany in exchange for assurances of raw materials and neutrality in the western European war.

Negotiations with Rumania are projected at a time when Moscow has become the center of feverish diplomatic activity because of the visit this week of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop; completed negotiations with Estonia for a mutual assistance pact and Russian bases on Estonian soil; and consultations with Turkish foreign minister Sukru Saracoglu.

Unofficial quarters said they had expected for some time that the Soviet government would demand the return of Bessarabia, which Rumania gained from Russia as a result of the World war.

(A report in official circles in Bucharest said Rumania had received assurances "through a third party" that Soviet Russia had no intention of seizing Bessarabia. There was no immediate confirmation).

Longest Run

It was an Iowa sophomore, and a former high school track star, Henry Vollenweider, who accounted for the other six points on the longest run ever seen in Iowa stadium. Taking the kick-off to open the second half, Vollenweider, substitute fullback, swung in behind a wall of interference and raced down the sidelines for a touchdown. Two Coyotes eluded blockers and made desperate attempts to head off Vollenweider's 93-yard scoring sprint, but the Hawkeye newcomer outraced them and crossed the goal line untouched.

All told, the Hawks scored once in the opening quarter, three times in the second and once in each quarter of the final half. The Coyotes, obviously not the equal of a Big Ten team, threatened seriously once, midway in the third quarter, on a series of drives by Taplett, Burns and Wernli, but were halted on the Iowa two-yard stripe.

Kinnick Opens Kinnick, opening the scoring for the game, staged one of the long Iowa runs when he accounted for the first marker late in the first quarter. After the teams had see-sawed back and forth with the ball, for the most part, in Coyote territory, the Iowa left halfback broke through left tackle, cut past the startled secondary and, with Capt. Erwin Prasse taking out the last two enemies, crossed the goal line standing up as the climax of a 65-yard jaunt. Previously another Iowa scoring threat, in which Kinnick's 30-yard run was a feature, came to naught when penalties cost Iowa the ball.

Warning to their task in the second quarter, the Hawkeyes lost little time in scoring again. The period was barely under way when Russell Busk, diminutive speedster, swept wide around his own left end and down to the Coyote 15 before Wernli, South Dakota fullback, made the tackle that ended the 31-yard run.

Kinnick Takes Charge From there Kinnick took charge. He smashed for a yard on the first play, drove to the four on the next and from there he crashed over. As he had done after his first marker, Kinnick booted a perfect dropkick for the extra point to give Iowa a 14-point lead.

After driving the Coyotes back on an exchange of punts, the Hawks steamed goalward again a scant few minutes later. Taking an enemy kick on the South Dakota 37, Kinnick lateraled the ball to Busk who travelled to the 22. Busk made nine on the (See HAWKEYES, Page 4)

Fight Neutrality Credit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Indications of strong opposition to allowing warring nations to make purchases here on any credit terms whatsoever led to talk among some administration senators tonight changing the neutrality bill to a strict "cash and carry" measure.

Senator Minton (D-Ind) the majority whip and one of the leaders in the fight for the administration program, told reporters he thought it might be advisable to eliminate the 90-day credit provision and require strict cash payments.

"It would make it much easier to pass the bill," he asserted. "We will be back here in January, and if the cash provision is found unworkable we can change it."

As reported by the senate foreign relations committee, the measure would carry out President Roosevelt's recommendation that the existing arms embargo be repealed, would permit belligerent governments to obtain 90-day credits on purchases in the United States, would require that shipments to belligerents be carried in non-American ships and would authorize the president to designate combat zones in which American vessels and citizens could not travel.

If a foreign government failed to pay for its purchases within 90 days, it would be required to pay cash for future purchases until the debt was paid.

Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) chairman of the foreign relations committee, who filed a majority committee report on the measure,

We Show Our Pride

DESERVING of acclaim are the University of Iowa football band and the man who had had no small part in developing it to its present excellence.

Iowa fans' satisfaction with the skill of the organization yesterday is the product of many hours of drill on the part of the band organization. The one man who can be singled out for credit is Prof. Charles B. Righter.

At the time Professor Righter became director of the organization, there was a great deal of dissatisfaction with the band's displays. We would imagine that Professor Righter's work has not been easy, but he has done it well in three years.

The formations of yesterday's half-time were cause for exclamations of pleasure from those in the stands. Those who saw the "WSUT" formation will not soon forget the splendid tribute one student division has given to another.

Professor Righter could probably tell us many places where yesterday's demonstrations were weak. We will vouch that before the season is much farther underway whatever rough corners he recognized will be smoothed off.

The band deserves the commendation for its part in university life can not be expressed concretely; we know it is a great deal. For its brightness, its snap, its skill in maneuvers the band has shown itself ready to stand up to the "Big 10" level.

We're proud of it.

Let's Not Repeat Munich!

WHAT IS happening on the western front? So far it seems to be a mere swapping of lies. Why haven't the French and the British made any attempt to seize the valuable industrial section of the Saar?

According to Louis Lochner, the AP's ace Berlin correspondent who is making a tour of the Siegfried line, no effort has been made to seize it nor has it been under fire by enemy artillery.

What of these stories of attacks and counter-attacks at Saarbruecken and its neighbor to the southwest, Zweibruecken? Mr. Lochner reports that he could see no signs of their having been hit, and certainly there was no activity during his stay there, he wrote.

The man at the next desk thinks he knows what became of the Bremen. That Loch Ness sea serpent swallowed it.

After reading the latest exploits of British propaganda distributing planes it seems the poet should have written it—"The leaflets of autumn fall, one million by one million."

Words Without Meaning

THE WAR is important, but there are other problems. No one would minimize the importance of what's occurring in Europe, and those who assured us that "what happens in the other parts of the world needn't concern us" are undoubtedly eating their words.

Of course, Europe's war concerns us. It may wreck our economy; it may finish our democracy; it may be the end of the things we believe in. It may involve us in the fighting. Naturally, we're vitally interested; our whole future is at stake.

And yet again there are other problems. One of them has been hidden among the foreign dispatches during the last ten days.

The stories came from Washington and concerned the investigation now being conducted by Congressman Martin Dies, the look into "un-American activities."

Congressman Dies has declared, "The communists in the present administration are about to be purged." He said he had his information on the highest authority. Yet Attorney General Frank Murphy denied having heard of any such move and, moreover, of knowing that there are communists in the present administration.

Further, Congressman Dies on Friday answered back William Z. Foster former communist party presidential candidate, when Foster declared he would not support the United States in any "imperialist war."

As Mr. Foster stepped down from the witness stand, Dies declared the communist party in the United States should be disbanded. He pointed to France as a precedent.

Unhappily, many of those attending the investigation hearings cheered the statement of Mr. Dies.

That seems to us the sheerest kind of sensationalism. Moreover, it appears to be dangerously inflammatory.

One need not be an admirer of the communist party to plead for tolerance. One need only point to the fact that it is a legally recognized minority political group. One need say only that its doctrines have the right to be presented in a democracy.

Many commentators have pointed out how "stupidous," how "uninformed," and "how silly," the communist party has been during the last few weeks. It has been that.

Yet no true democrat will deny that any group or any individual has the right to be all of these under the American system of government. Otherwise the high-sounding words about "democracy," "justice," and "our kind of civilization" become meaningless and dead and Herr Hitler's kind of Nazism is the answer for us.

We do not believe that; we hope Martin Dies does not.

On European maps these days the shaded areas are often the little countries that once had their place in the sun.

The man at the next desk thinks he knows what became of the Bremen. That Loch Ness sea serpent swallowed it.

After reading the latest exploits of British propaganda distributing planes it seems the poet should have written it—"The leaflets of autumn fall, one million by one million."

Russia and Germany will attack Rumania for her oil, according to a European observer. It certainly is a swell civilization in which only those countries that have nothing are safe.

This war has not lived up to expectations on the western front. Granted, it is less than a month old, but in these four weeks Berlin, London and Paris remain untouched, industrial centers on both sides of the frontier have never been shelled, and the French have scarcely dented Germany's border let alone reached the Siegfried line.

Perhaps there is a tacit agreement to refrain from shelling or bombing industrial works, and mines which are internationally owned. Such cases were known to have occurred in the last war. Munitions magazines have never been inclined to take sides; god-like they stand behind both forces.

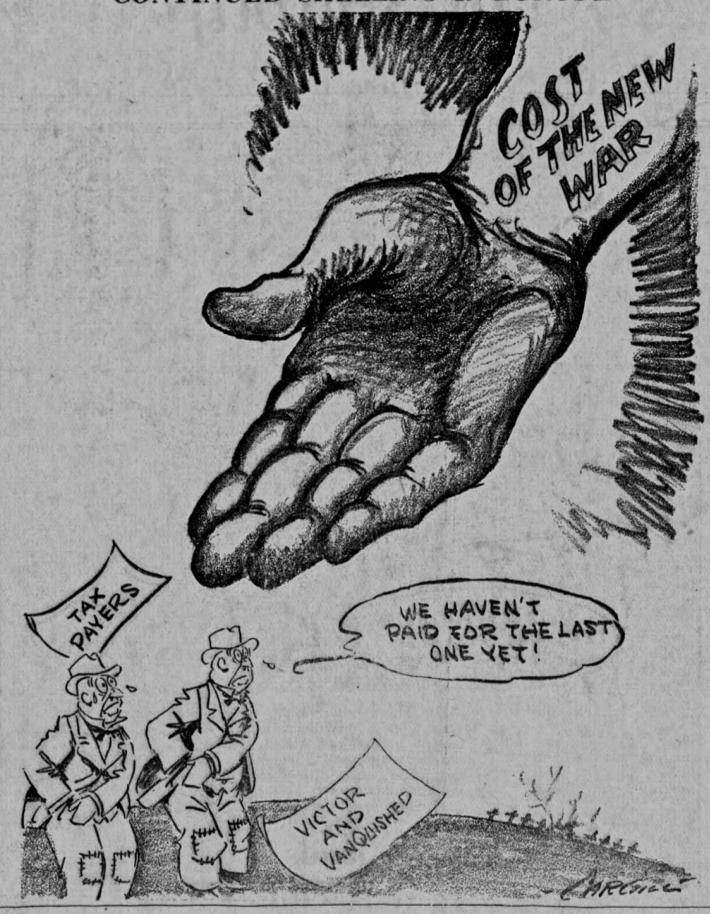

Do the Allies have any intention of pressing the war on the western front? Despite both Britain and France's repeated threats to hold out until Hitlerism is banished from Germany it is possible that they may forget them, such threats have been forgotten before, and sit down with Der Fuehrer and quietly discuss the possibilities of peace now that Warsaw has folded and Poland is no more.

Almost any day now we expect to hear that the name of dill pickles, the sourest of vegetables, has been changed to Hitler cucumbers.

The new sport deserves the stimulus of a national organization, and Mr. Rockefeller's friendship for Captain Hawks promises to have a happy result for the country. It is a noble memorial to a great flier.

Stewart Says Polish Reports That Von Fritsch Had Been Assassinated May Have Some Truth

Warsaw's radioed story that despised Hitler as a mere upstart and influence, even after his purgation out of his army command, and needed to be attended to, to intimidate others.

Von Fritsch a Purgee There can't be much doubt about all this, or the fuhrer wouldn't have purged him out of his job as army commander-in-chief. It surely wasn't because he wasn't competent, since he's given credit for creating today's German army, and soldiers everywhere mention him as having been one of the world's ablest military organizers and tacticians.

Yet it appears that he was at the head of only a single regiment when killed by the Poles—or, perhaps, murdered by the Gestapo. There have been cases before of an officer being shot in the back from his own ranks.

Hitler, as we know, went up from Berlin to the Polish front to look over the situation.

It was commonly talked that he didn't go particularly to give any military advice—for what does he know about large scale military maneuvering? The theory was that his mission was to show German officerdom (the "vons") how popular he is with the rank and file, thus scaring officerdom into submission to nazi-ism.

And maybe von Fritsch, being recalcitrant, needed to be liquidated.

That's the Polish conclusion. It's likely he had a lot of friends and influence, even after his purgation out of his army command, and needed to be attended to, to intimidate others.

How Strong Is Adolf? All along the question has been: How strong, at home, basically, is Adolf?

He's looked middling solid. But the junkers apparently are against him.

The intellectuals also—like the late Freud and Einstein. The Freuds and Einsteins aren't so essential militarily, but the von Fritsch crowd counts. Even Marshal Goering, the No. 2 nazi, defended von Fritsch when the Hitlerites attacked him on grounds of immorality.

What Washington critics want to know is: Isn't Herr Hitler in danger of a serious crack-up at home in the near future?

The intellectuals are against him. So are the aristocrats—if General von Fritsch is a specimen. Can he hold the hot polio?

Washington's guess is that he's got to depend on common folk—and that he'll have to show THEM mighty speedy results to hold 'em—at the present rate of rationing.

That Germany'll blow up under Hitler isn't guaranteed. But will it blow up UNDER HITLER?

It can have another revolution.

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

NOT WITH A BANG—BUT WITH A WHIMPER Calling this one "a war of reluctance" is the best description I've heard...

The main reason the German embassy was so angry over the Czechs not giving theirs up when they were defeated on the field of prattle is that the Nazi legation could have moved out of the second-rate brick dwelling housing its ambassador into the airy temple that is now the only free Czech territory in the world.

Those hardy democrats (now fighting the only unsmirched battle for liberty in Europe, probably) also provided the one catch-in-throat sight at the World's fair...

Their simple, handsome building was three-quarters completed last September... Its construction stopped short when Mr. Chamberlain found "peace for our time"...

And as you entered at the fair, the walls were bare, unpainted, starkly undecorated... There's a sign carved by American Czechs...

"This is in memory," it begins, "of a country that is dead geographically but still lives on in the hearts of men, as it has, to be sure, for a thousand years and more..."

PERSONAL NOTE TO SENATOR BRIDGES OF N. HAMPSHIRE. You won't remember me, Senator Bridges. We met only very briefly in the senate dining room...

You boomed at me when you heard I was an Iowan and mentioned to Jack Watson and myself that you'd be with us, "before you know it."

You seemed like a nice guy... That's why I wanted to let you know about that speech of the other night... You're ashamed of the administration neutrality bill, you said... It relinquishes so many traditional American rights...

"I hang my head in shame," you declared...

You're following the lead of Mrs. Roosevelt whose charm I enjoy but whose logic I on occasion deplore... "This is no time to be thinking of our skins," Mrs. Roosevelt declares...

As for me, of course, I can think of nothing more important right now... I like my skin; I want to stay in it for quite a little while until I find out if there's anything inside worth preserving...

It seems to me the skins of American boys ought to be the main thing to think about right now... Maybe the only thing... I like living, strangely enough... I'm afraid of dying unless I'm sure it's worth it...

I'm not yet... So keep on hanging your head in shame if you like, Senator Bridges... I'm glad you've still got your head to hang... People are losing theirs to the right and to the left of us...

I know quite a number of people, men and women, who hope we get into the war as soon as possible... They're not sworded militarists nor particular enemies of Mr. Hitler. Neither have they any illusions about democracy...

Most of them are about my own age, several of them on the campus. They're looking at it pretty straightforwardly. As they see it, war at best means something as an assurance of a temporary job that's more than they have on tap at present... Besides a war would speed up our economy the way it did the last time. It might last for 20 years; it did after the first one.

We'll take care of the next depression when it comes, they say... Eat, drink, and fight today, for tomorrow...

They're willing to admit that they might not come back from this expedition... But, as they explain it, a one-way trip is better than the rest of your days on WPA...

I hope no one has mistaken this for patriotism; that won't come until the bands start playing and the cheering begins...

As one of them so effectively put it, "It's not pleasant—but got anything better to suggest?"... I kept still; I haven't

AIR YOUTH

AS a memorial to that gallant flier, Capt. Frank Hawks, the Air Youth of America has been organized under the auspices of Winthrop Rockefeller to help the millions of boys and girls now flying model airplanes.

This hobby-sport which began about 1907, just four years after the Wright brothers proved that man could fly, has some 2,000,000 youthful devotees now. No one who recalls how the old "pushmobile" meets and races helped to make this a motorized nation will doubt that flying model planes can be made a powerful force for an air-minded America.

The new sport deserves the stimulus of a national organization, and Mr. Rockefeller's friendship for Captain Hawks promises to have a happy result for the country. It is a noble memorial to a great flier.

Iowa's R. O. T. C. Uses New Simplified Drill Regulations

Army Changes To Improved March Styles

Maneuvers Changed For First Time Since 1911

By DAVE DOWNEY
 Military students at the University of Iowa this year will be trained according to the war department's new, simplified army drill regulations.

Because this is only the fourth time in the history of the country, and the first time since 1911, that the army has changed any of its drill maneuvers, it is receiving considerable attention within the various military organizations of the United States.

The two main features necessary in close order drill, being of a disciplinary nature, are precision and smoothness of movement. The war department has been working for many years to perfect a simplified drill embodying these points, but only recently has become satisfied with its efforts.

Regulations Revised
 In 1928 regulations similar to those at the present were released, but soon recalled for more improvement. Again in 1931, a company of the 29th infantry school, an experimental school for the army at Fort Benning, Ga., drilled for 18 months on new drill regulations which were again recalled.

The permanent drill regulations, the result of these years of experimentation, became effective Sept. 1, 1939. These will apply to the regular army, R. O. T. C., and national guard, the three divisions of America's national military organization.

Under the old regulations, it took a man approximately nine months to learn the drill techniques, but because of the simplified features of the new regulations, the war department expects men to be able to learn the mechanics of drill much more rapidly than before, and consequently be able to give more time to learning the duties of a soldier.

Among Changes
 A few of the more radical changes include:

1. A 12-man squad in single file including a sergeant and a corporal second in command, in place of the former eight-man unit in double formation.

2. No movement called "squads right" or "squads left," for the first time in the history of the army.

3. Because of the enlarged squad, the platoon has 12 more men than before, arranged in a more open formation.

4. Men will assume "right shoulder arms" previous to marching and maintain the position after ceasing to march until the order is given to bring the rifle to the ground.

(The old method instructed that the rifle be brought to the shoulder as the first three steps in marching were taken, and brought to the ground immediately after ceasing to march.)

5. No longer will the rifle be tossed to position "port arms," the mid-way point between the ground and right shoulder arms, but will be carried with one hand always remaining in contact with the gun, thereby eliminating any possibility of dropping it or hitting the man on the left.

Now In Effect
 A number of other more minor changes regarding commands are now in effect which will eliminate hesitation on the part of the man as to just what the command of execution may be.

However, the drill is not so different that men instructed under the old regulations will find the new ones difficult to learn. Maj. James F. Butler of the military department reports that the sophomores are already well acquainted with the new formations, and that they have been progressing rapidly, since school began, in their re-learning of the various formations.

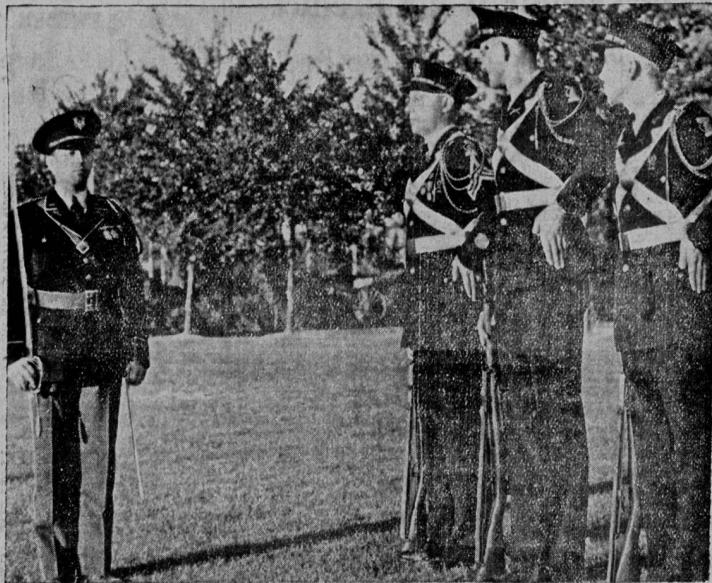

3 Vacancies To Be Filled

Tomorrow Deadline For New Social Committee Nominees

Names and qualifications of nominees to fill the three vacancies in the university senate committee on social organizations and affairs must be turned in at the main desk of Iowa Union by tomorrow.

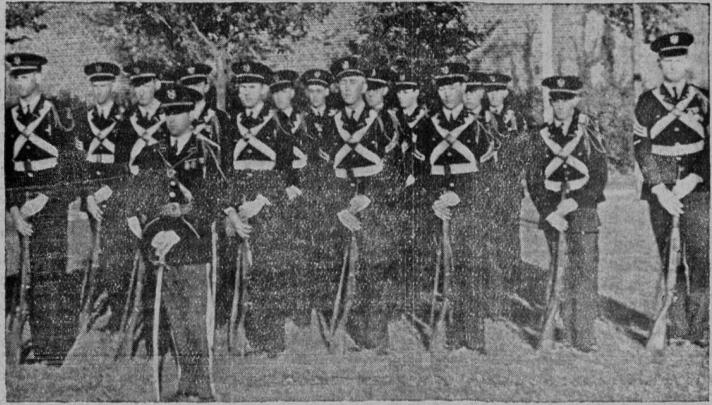

Dean Ewen M. MacEwen of the university college of medicine, chairman of the committee, has announced that all dormitories, fraternities and sororities are eligible to nominate candidates of junior standing for membership on the committee. Any other student meeting the qualifications may be nominated by a petition signed by 25 students.

Pershing Riflemen - Dress Right!

Parade Rest - Old Style

Here is shown the position "parade rest" as executed according to the old army drill regulations. The rifle was turned one half turn to the left, inclined so that the stacking swivel was at the center of the body, and gripped firmly with both hands as shown above. At the same time the right foot was moved six inches to the rear. Another view of the Pershing Rifle organization, executing the movement according to new regulations, is also pictured here.

Parade Rest - New Style

Above is pictured the position "stand at ease," which has since been eliminated from all drill commands. The movement is executed by moving the left foot one half step to the left, and at the same time pushing the rifle out to arms length as shown in the picture. This demonstration was given by the Pershing Rifle drill company of the military department last Friday afternoon at the field house armory.

It's Tough - - But L. Cochran Will Miss Indiana's Game

Lee Cochran, director of the visual instruction department of the University of Iowa extension division, will not attend the Iowa-Indiana football game here next Saturday.

That statement, in itself, sounds rather insignificant, but for a man with a record like Mr. Cochran's, it's a sad thing of which to think. At least he says so.

Formerly connected with the athletic department ticket office, Mr. Cochran has not missed a single University of Iowa home football game since the fall of 1922.

He was connected with ticket sales from 1922 to 1928 and in 1928 he was named manager of ticket sales. He held that position until last July 1.

The reason for his absence, however, Mr. Cochran explains, seems legitimate enough to warrant his going. He must attend a meeting of the American Association of School Film Libraries in New York City.

Last summer, Mr. Cochran was elected to the board of directors of the organization and now feels that he should attend in spite of sacrificing his 17-year standing record.

For the past three football seasons, the visual instruction department head has attended the games with his motion picture camera to record all plays on film. Some of these movies are the popular colored pictures of university football games shown about the campus and the state.

Before that he attended to take pictures of the game, but not to cover all plays. That was before photography assumed its present importance.

Mr. Cochran spent all the time during the game yesterday afternoon atop the west press box filming plays of the teams and the band maneuvers during the half time and before the game. Some of his assistants worked on the field taking close-up moving pictures of the game.

Enrollment Up In Pharmacy, Dean Reports

Registration Record Shattered in Iowa's Druggist College

One hundred fifty-five persons filled out in minute detail a series of red registration cards and, by so doing, established an all-time record for enrollment in the college of pharmacy, according to figures released yesterday by Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college.

This new record surpassed by 17 per cent the former record of 133 made just 10 years ago and by 23 per cent last year's figure of 126.

Not only have more people than ever decided to take work in pharmacy at Iowa, but many come after other college experience—40 per cent of the new students and 35.5 per cent of the whole school, to be exact. Five

Officers Inspect Pershing Riflemen

Major James Butler, right background, and Maj. William Hilliard of the military department are shown here inspecting the Pershing Rifles crack drill company last Friday afternoon at the armory as they were demonstrating a number of the new army drill regulations effective the country over Sept. 1. In the above picture, the position assumed is "dress right," used to let the men form a straight line with the man on the right used as a guide.

Port Arms!

In the picture above the new way of coming to port arms is demonstrated. Formerly the rifle was tossed to this position, thereby often causing the rifle to be dropped or the man on the left to be hit. According to the new technique, at least one hand is always gripping the rifle, automatically eliminating either of the mentioned possibilities.

Iowa Bands In Step With Grid Revival

Opening of WSU's New Studio Building Commemorated at Iowa

By D. MAC SHOWERS
 Daily Iowan City Editor

As the timekeeper's gun went off marking the end of the first half of the Iowa-South Dakota game yesterday afternoon in Iowa stadium, the scoreboard reading "Iowa, 28, South Dakota, 0," Iowa fans had had instilled in them a new feeling—possibly a revived feeling.

It was the feeling of new life in Iowa football history. Then the colorful Iowa band and marching units moved onto the field to present another of their famous half-time maneuvers. Hand in hand with the new football spirit went a similar newness in Iowa band history.

Preview
 Iowa fans had seen a preview of the new band drill before the game as the organization greeted both Iowa and South Dakota spectators with two large "HELLO" formations, one facing each stand.

Following the greetings preceding the game was the impressive flag-raising ceremony. This event, common to every home game, launched a new football year. The band played the "Star Spangled Banner," playing the last note just as the large American flag touched the top of the flag pole.

But as the bands moved onto the field at half-time, the first maneuver was a diagonal across the field spelling "SO DAK" and facing the east stands. After this tribute was paid to the visitors, the five groups of band members changed their formations, faced the west stands, and quickly formed "HAWKS."

Tribute to WSUI
 In this formation both instrumental and vocal tributes were presented to the Iowans. The band then struck up the "Notre Dame Victory March" moving systematically into four huge letters, "WSUI," and a large radio tower extending the entire width persons in the school have graduated elsewhere with a B.S. or a B.A. degree.

The red cards show that 41 students had one year of school before entering pharmacy and 41 had two years of school—43 per cent in junior colleges and 57 per cent in other colleges. Nine new students are transfers from other colleges of pharmacy.

One student came from Italy and one from China, but most—71 per cent—are from Iowa. Eight per cent are from Illinois and 12 other states are represented also.

One-fourth of the students are following in the steps of their druggist-parents, while others seek work different from the work of their parents who are doctors, dentists, teachers, bankers and so on. Fifteen per cent of the fathers are farmers, 10 per cent are laborers and 9 per cent are merchants.

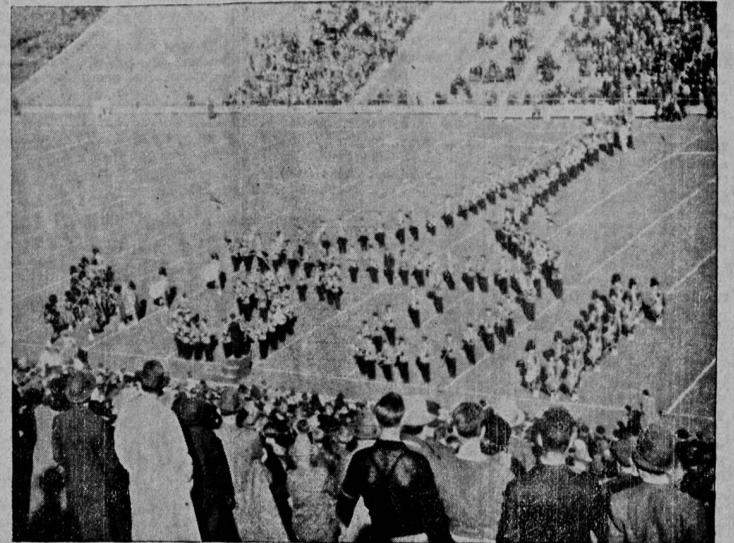

The last questions on the red cards—the question about outside work and wages—disclose the fact that nearly half of the pharmacy students are self-supporting.

of the playing field. As this was formed, two men laid two strips of cloth from the top of the tower formation signifying radio beams.

No sooner had the formation been completed than over the public address system came loud radio signals broken in later by an announcer "putting WSUI on the air." The formation and its significance were then explained.

The drill was planned by Prof. Charles B. Righter and his assistants in commemoration of the opening of the new WSUI studio building last week.

New Idea in Marching
 Those who knew how marching organizations "click" yesterday saw in the performances of the university band the perfect working of an entirely new idea in marching bands.

It was Professor Righter's "double-ended" band. The band had no special back end, nor did it even have one single front end. Both ends of the 120-man marching organization were equipped to lead out of a formation.

There was a drum-major on each end, Parley Wellstead of Ottumwa on one and Jean Hedt of Ottumwa on the other. The first row of players on each end was trombones. Similarly, both ends were the same right up to the bass drummer in the center of the group.

The new system offers every advantage toward making a band drill faster, snappier and more interesting. It eliminates all kinds of turns and counter-marches. A counter-march is done with the order, "to the rear, march," and the end which has been trailing is ready to take up the lead, drum-major, trombones and all.

Snappier Band
 It worked perfectly yesterday. The band was snappier. Drills were executed more rapidly, and movements always held the center of interest; no time was taken up with slow, out-of-line turns.

Then after the WSUI and tower formation, the band moved off and the Scottish Highlanders, who had formed the "W" and "I" of the latter formation, presented a short marching drill in mid-field. The band concluded the half-time entertainment with a snappy demonstration of new marching movements.

So, all in all, it was a significant day.

There was new spirit in the hearts of Iowa football fans. Iowans saw a new, more spectacular Hawkeye band.

They watched the band pay tribute to a new and finer WSUI. And Iowa won the game.

Notre Dame Downs Purdue

Fighting Irish Eke Out Win In 3-0 Tilt

Kelleher's Boot In Third Period Is Winning Margin

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 30 (AP)—A 21-year-old Irishman named John Charles Kelleher bobbed up from the ranks for one brief glory-filled moment today, booting a field goal that gave Notre Dame a hard won 3-0 victory over Purdue before 40,000 spectators in the Irish stadium.

Kelleher Stars
 Kelleher, who lives in Lorain, Ohio, and struggled gamely through the past two seasons as a fifth or sixth string quarterback, trotted onto the field in the third period to coolly collect the points which gave the Irish their hardest won opening game in years.

Steve Sitko, first string Irish signal caller, opened the Notre Dame drive that ended with Kelleher's boot. Sitko returned a Purdue punt 13 yards to the Boilermaker 34-yard stripe to start a smashing offense which carried to the Purdue 21. Then Joe Thesing, Irish fullback, spun and fought his way 17 yards to the Purdue four-yard marker.

Purdue Forwards
 Purdue's forwards gallantly halted the Notre Dame surge, tossing Notre Dame back six yards on two straight plays. Thesing smashed to the Purdue eight-yard marker on the next try and Kelleher entered the game to replace Sitko, sending a low, straight kick between the uprights as the throng roared. Kelleher, a senior, played a large portion of the remainder of the battle.

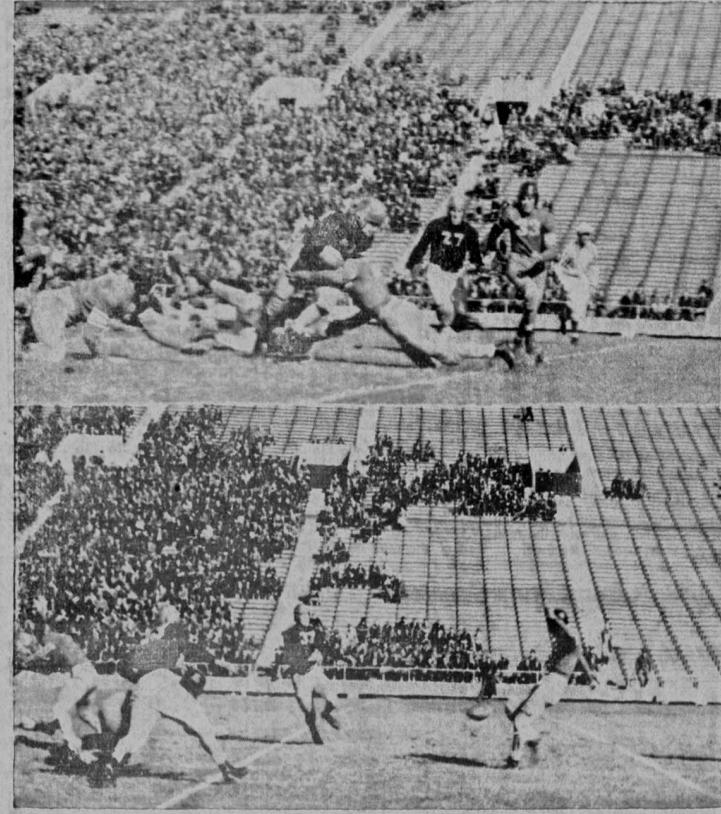

With both schools boasting several star backs, the game was expected to develop into a wide open offensive duel. Instead, it was the linemen who stole most of the show, forwards on both elevens repeatedly breaking up plays at the line and forcing both teams to punt frequently.

Three Bees
 Purdue's famed "three Bees"—Lou Brock, Jack Brown and Mike Byelene—had little success against the Irish forwards and on only one occasion did the Purdue offense come to life. In the fourth period the Boilermakers smashed and passed their way 43 yards to the Irish 37 before Notre Dame's line dug in and handed Purdue a net loss of two yards on three plays and forced Purdue to punt once more.

Byelene's 20-yard streak through center and passes by him and a reserve back, Johnny Galvin, were highlights of this futile Purdue bid.

Each team made five first downs, indicating the closeness of the game. Notre Dame picked up 131 yards by rushing to Purdue's 61, with Lou Zontini the best Irish ball carrier with a total of 51 yards in 20 tries. The speedy Byelene gained 48 yards on nine smashes at the tough Notre Dame line.

There were many scenes like these in Iowa stadium yesterday as Iowa's Hawkeyes battered South Dakota university, 41-0. In the top picture Nile Kinnick runs into a tackler at the end of a run. In this play, which came immediately before Kinnick started the scoring with a 65-yard dash, the Iowa back set the stage for the sensational dash to the Coyote goal line. Below, Wernli, South Dakota fullback stands on next play and Kinnick took the ball over from the 15 for his third successive touchdown and then kicked the extra point.

Take to Air
 For the fourth touchdown the Hawkeyes took to the air shortly before the first half ended. The play, a pass of better than 30 yards by Kinnick and Busk's dash to the goal line, was good for more than 60 yards. Kinnick's dropkick gave Iowa a 28-0 lead at halftime.

The second half, outside of Vollenweider's sensational opening run and the South Dakota threat, was uneventful, with a substitute Iowa team, for the most part, battling on even terms with the Coyotes.

Returning to the game shortly before the final whistle, Kinnick again launched an Iowa drive. Coupee's 15-yard sneak around right end and McLain's 20-yard dash were made fruitless when Dean's long pass to Moore was called back.

Kinnick in Again
 From there Kinnick took up the tossing when Iowa regained possession of the ball as Coupee snatched up a fumble in South Dakota territory. Two passes failed before Kinnick connected to Maher on the 15. Following with another perfect shot, Kinnick rifled the ball to Kelly in the end zone and, to give himself a perfect afternoon, dropkicked his fifth extra point just three plays before the game ended.

In all, the game was indicative of scoring power in the Hawkeye eleven and the first string appeared strong defensively. But, it was also evident that reserve strength is lacking in the Iowa team, especially in the line.

While the towering Henry Luebecke, Mike Enich, Jim Walker and Charles Tollefson appeared almost as a stone wall, the second and third string lines seemed far from impregnable, although they finally held the most threatening Coyote march in the shadow of the Iowa goal posts.

Tennis Matches Continue

Play will continue in the annual fall all-university tennis tournament tomorrow, after a two day layoff due to the extreme cold temperatures.

Norman Sandler, tournament favorite, will take the court for the second time tomorrow, when he meets Paul Mathis in a feature match. Bob Vollenweber, third choice in the seedings, will tackle John Paulus in a quarter-final match.

Coach Arthur Wendler, tournament manager, urges that the following matches be played by tomorrow night, since he plans to finish the quarter-finals by Tuesday.

McKechnie Won't Predict Cincinnati Manager Admits Yankee Power, But Has Faith in Reds

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30—(AP)—Twenty pounds underweight, but recovering fast now that his boys are in, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds is choosing his words very carefully when he talks about the world series starting next Wednesday against the New York Yankees.

"Now don't expect me to make any fire-eating predictions," said the deacon today. "But I will say this much: the Yankees are a long way from being a super-team. Every club in their league has beat them this year, and I think I have a lot better team than most of them in that league."

"That's correct," said Third-baseman Bill Werber, who came to the Reds from the Athletics last spring. "We beat them three straight one series."

"So figure it out from that," McKechnie went on. "There are ways of beating them, just like any other club."

Did Bill think, for instance, that he had a better pitching staff than the three-time champs? "No-o-o," he said cautiously. "But I don't think the Yankee pitchers are any better than mine. In other words, I wouldn't trade Walters and Derringer for Ruffing and Gomez. At the same time, maybe Joe McCarthy wouldn't trade with me, either."

It may be judged from this conversation that McKechnie is not going to be much help in picking the winner of the series. He spent last night at his home here and said he had his first good, sound sleep in over a month.

Creighton In 26-0 Victory

By OSCAR HARGRAVE

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 30—(AP)—Creighton's Bluejays passed, plunged and ran the ends to gain almost at will tonight against the Iowa State Teachers and pile up a 26 to 0 victory.

The Jays scored a touchdown in each quarter while Coach Marchie Schwartz experimented with a variety of backfield and line combinations for harder games to come—such as Tulsa and Drake on consecutive week ends.

Seasoned Left Halfback Johnny Knolls was the whole show in the first half. He scored the first touchdown on a fake end run after setting the stage by grabbing a pass from Quarterback Kool good for 57 yards to the one-yard stripe. His touchdown on a pass in the second period completed a sustained 63-yard Creighton drive.

But it was a big sophomore, Bob Fitzgerald, who rallied the Jays for their last pair of counters. Starting on their own six, Creighton marched down the field to the one-yard mark, where Fullback Truscott plunked over. Fitzgerald passed to Leonard for the final counter.

The Iowans warmed up in the third period and passed and plunged their way to a first down on the Bluejays eight yard line.

Marquette Plays Wisconsin To Standstill; Lose 14-13

Bill Schmitz Leads Badger Eleven To Win in Opener

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 30 (AP)—An under-dog Marquette team played Wisconsin to a standstill most of the way in the annual renewal of their football rivalry here today but dropped the decision by a score of 14 to 13. A crowd of 30,000 saw the game.

Wisconsin gained little yardage through Marquette's hard charging line but its aerial thrusts and ability to convert extra points brought victory.

Alertness of Bill Schmitz, Badger right halfback, probably spelled the difference between victory and a tie. After the second Badger score, the kick for extra point was blocked. Schmitz picked up the ball and dashed across the goal.

Wisconsin's first rally came in the opening quarter. Schmitz tossed a long pass, good for 37 yards, to quarterback Fred Gage, who caught the ball on the 4 and sped across. Gage's kick for the extra point was good.

Shortly after the kickoff Jim Richardson, Marquette sophomore, took a Badger punt on his 15-yard marker and raced 85 yards for a touchdown. Downfield blocking by several Marquette men helped clear the way. Bob Kennitz booted the extra point and the score was tied, 7-7.

A Marquette fumble, recovered by Wisconsin on the Marquette 26, paved the way to Wisconsin's second touchdown. After two line plays failed to gain Schmitz passed to Bob Cone, substitute left halfback for a touchdown. Then came Schmitz' play on the blocked kick.

With less than three minutes to play Marquette started a scoring drive from its own 21-yard line, not stopping until it scored. The marker came on a 34-yard pass from Richardson to Don Vosberg, an end. Kennitz's try for extra point was wide of the goal posts.

Coe, St. Ambrose Play 0-0 Tie

CEDAR RAPIDS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Coe and St. Ambrose football teams battled through four scoreless periods here today, with few scoring threats by either team.

Coe came within 14 yards of the enemy goal in the second period and elected to placekick. The attempt failed, however, when a low pass from center was mishandled. In the same period, St. Ambrose reached the Coe 10, but lost the ball on a fumble.

The Bees led in first downs, 7 to 6, but Coe had an advantage of 25 yards in play from scrimmage.

Bits about Sports

All that's red doesn't mean STOP. . . The way those Iowa backs scurried over and around the guys in the red jerseys, a body would think they were color blind. The score of 41-0, Iowa-yah, Iowa-caused nothing but hilarity among the fans who were victory hungry enough to enjoy the one-sided contest—me too. . . The fans weren't foolin'—neither were the Hawkeyes. . . Iowa ball carriers were scrambling for every foot and Iowa linemen were putting their feet all over Coyote ball carriers. . . Kinnick's punting was off. . . He aimed at the five-yard line once during the second quarter and the ball rolled out on the six.

Teams Battle To Deadlock Before 18,000

Rohrig, Luther Star As Huskers Tally In Final Period

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 30 (AP) — Flashing an unheralded attack that clicked with precision, Nebraska's Cornhuskers rallied in the fourth period to gain a 7-7 tie with Indiana university today in the football opener for both schools.

A crowd of 18,000 saw the game, which was the second successive tie in a series that started in 1936. Last year's contest was a scoreless deadlock; Nebraska was victorious in 1936 and 1937.

Overcast skies cleared near the end of the game and the last quarter was played in bright sunshine.

After a dull first half, in which neither team was able to make its running attack click, the Hoosiers loosed an aerial offensive in the third period that paved the way to a touchdown. The pass attack, plus an end run, pushed the Cornhuskers back to their seven, from where Fullback Toffi smashed through center in three tries for the Indiana score.

Nebraska's rally came midway in the final period, sparked by accurate heaving by left halfback Rohrig and plain and fancy receiving by Luther, his running mate at right half. Luther finally circled left end on a reverse and Rohrig converted to tie up the game.

The Huskers had to make a goal line stand to hold off the scrapping Hoosiers in the last minute and a half. Hursh, the Indiana passing star, hurled to Zimmer and Tipmore in a drive that carried to the Huskers' 10-yard line. There, Monsky, Nebraska left guard, intercepted a fourth pass to Tipmore, who was free on the five-yard line.

The Hoosiers outgained the visitors from scrimmage, 12 first downs to six.

Dolphins Prepare For Annual Show

The 1939 Dolphin show, the University of Iowa's popular aquatic exhibition, will be staged on the evening of Nov. 9, 10, and 11, Ed Gerber, president of the Dolphins, has announced.

Plans for the show are as yet incomplete. Officers of the organization are, in addition to Gerber, Banford Cochrane, vice president; George Brown, secretary; Charles Bremer, treasurer, and Tom Saluri, sergeant-at-arms.

All Dolphin members and freshman pledges are requested to attend a meeting of the organization Thursday, October 5, at 8 p. m. in Iowa Union cafeteria.

Moving pictures will be shown and refreshments served at the close of the meeting.

Chicago Beaten Again

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—The University of Chicago, victim of much rough football treatment in recent years, fell to a new low today when the Maroons lost to little Beloit college, 6 to 0, in the opening game of the season before 5,000 spectators.

Alert Bradley Battles Illini To 0-0 Tie

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—An alert Bradley line combined with Ken Olson's clever kicking to give Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., a scoreless tie with Illinois in the 1939 opener at Memorial stadium.

Although Tech failed to make a single first down by rushing, and collected just two first downs to Illinois' 18, Olson repeatedly put the Illini in trouble with long punts, and the Bradley line stopped six offensive thrusts deep in their territory.

Jimmy Smith, Illini starting left half, and Chuck Purvis, his replacement, gained almost at will through the Bradley line until the Illini penetrated deeply into Tech ground.

Visitors Take 30-0 Drubbing At Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 30 (AP)—Colorado university sent its football team down from the snow-capped Rocky mountains today and the visitors wilted under the warm reception tendered them by the University of Missouri athletes, 30 to 0.

Much of the welcoming was done by Missouri's great Paul Cunningham and a newcomer, Bill Cunningham. It was the former who registered the first three touchdowns for the Tigers and the latter who converted each.

The contest was the first for Cunningham, who is a plunging fullback only until he reaches the line of scrimmage. After that he is as willow-hipped as any racing halfback. Much of his success today, however, must be attributed to Christian's presence whose aerial successes kept the Buffaloes from setting too strong a defense for Cunningham's drives.

Missouri slashed through the Coloradoans for 23 first downs to five for the losers. Only four of Tigers' total came through the air although Christian completed seven of his 19 attempts for a gain of 105 yards.

Missouri scoring: touchdowns, Luther; point try from after touchdown—Rohrig (drop kick).

Indiana scoring: touchdown, Toffi; point try from after touchdown, Herbert (place kick).

Bierman Uses Five Elevens Against Helpless Wildcats

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Minnesota massacred Arizona in the Big Ten champions' opening game today, winning 62 to 0 before 43,000 persons.

The Wildcats from the far western border conference were hopelessly outclassed, Minnesota getting 34 points in the first period.

Coach Bernie Bierman used almost five elevens, testing out his squad for the strenuous schedule ahead. He found needed front line power in Bob Smith, guard, and John Billman and Butch Levy, tackles, all sophomores.

His backfield roared noisily behind the hard-charging line which opened the gates for Harold Van Every and George Franck, veteran halfbacks, and sophomore Bruce Smith, Joe Mernik and Bob Sweiger, the latter a fullback with the potentialities of a Joesting or a Nagurski, Minnesota immortals.

The game became a field meet from the third play when Van Every knifed through tackle, slanted to his left and ran 66 yards for the first score. He ran and passed spectacularly during his short stay in the game, setting up one touchdown with an accurate heave and pitching over the last line for another.

Sooners Tie S. M. U., 7-7

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 30 (AP)—Southern Methodist's mighty Mustangs and the Sooners of Oklahoma pushed each other around Owen field today and wound up in a 7 to 7 deadlock.

A bad case of sophomore-jitters robbed the home club of a victory in the season's opener for both sides.

More than 25,000 fans watched the Sooners drive 42 yards to a first period touchdown and then spend the rest of the game scratching their backs on their own goal posts.

Oklahoma unwrapped a long-kicking, pass-pitching sophomore named Jack Jacobs who was the spearhead of the Sooner offense, but it was their lone scoring thrust in the third period.

University of Southern California's Rose Bowl dreams got a rough going over today as the Webfoots of Oregon battled the mighty Trojans to a 7-7 deadlock.

Forty thousand fans gathered for this Pacific coast conference opener. They saw Doyle Nave, pass throwing hero of S. C.'s victory in the Rose Bowl last January, pitch his embattled mates to a tie midway in the final quarter.

Coach Gerald (Tex) Oliver's well drilled lads from the north, expected to give Troy a workout and little more, staged a brilliant 58-yard aerial attack in the second period and led at half time 7-0.

Southern California rushed in its one, two and three teams, but the Webfoots staved off all threats until Nave went to work.

The last time Oregon defeated the Trojans, was in 1915. Unable since then even to tie the men of Troy, they froze on to the ball in the closing minutes, content with an even break.

Nine plays and 58 yards brought the Oregon touchdown. Little Jay Graybeard started the fireworks and turned the job over to southpaw Bob Smith, who finished it with a perfect pass to John Berry, as he stood just over the line. Ralph Anderson converted.

Southern California's great array of backs, including Grenville Lansdell, Jack Banta, Bob Peoples and a few more, piled up yardage, but the Webfoots held tight.

With minutes fading, Nave came in. Troy moved from midfield as Peoples and Joe Shell began snaggling his perfect passes. With the ball on the 11, Nave found Peoples over in one corner. The ball went home, and Oklahoma Bob jerked and wiggled past two Oregon backs for the score. Phil Gaspar added the tying point.

Again Doyle began throwing the ball, and Troy started toward midfield, but Berry, one of the best men on the field, intercepted and Oregon kept the ball until the final seconds.

Southern California had a big edge in statistics, but that was all.

PELLA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Central college knocked off Dubuque U., 13 to 6, here today after taking the lead in the second quarter on a 90-yard touchdown dash by Eldon Braley.

The defeat spoiled the debut of Coach Emmet Mercer of Dubuque in Iowa conference competition.

Dubuque opened the scoring in the second quarter when Sellergren plunged over from the 2-yard line after pitching two perfect passes to place the ball deep in Dutch territory. A pass for the point was incomplete.

Braley, however, took the kickoff on the Central 10 a minute later and threaded his way through the visitors for a touchdown. Omar Ray placekicked the point.

Stagg's Eleven Upsets Bears Of California

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 30 (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, 76-year-old football wizard, brilliantly signalized his fiftieth year of coaching today when his College of the Pacific Tigers scored a smashing upset in beating University of California, 6-0.

Pacific outmaneuvered the highly favored Bears virtually all the way and pushed over a touchdown late in the third period after a 54-yard march.

The touchdown thrust was a pass from halfback Bob Adamina to end Doug Smallwood, tossed from the 16. Smallwood grabbed the ball on the seven and elbowed through three California players to cross the goal line standing up. Roy Cooper's place kick sailed wide.

The game was the second half of a double bill. California beat the California Aggies in the first contest, 32 to 14, scoring four touchdowns in the second half. The Aggies led at halftime 14 to 6.

Washington took the opening kickoff and punted immediately. Starting on their own 31, the Panthers interspersed long ground gainers with passes to travel 69 yards for their first score. It came on a fourth down 20-yard pass from Emil Narick to Joe Rettinger, end, who caught the ball in the end zone.

Partly blocked punts by lanky End John Dickinson led to Pitt's second and fourth touchdowns. Dickinson recovered one on the Husky 44 in the second period, and Cassiano went over nine plays later.

In the final quarter Dickinson blocked another punt by Dean McAdams in the Husky end zone, the ball zooming skyward and coming to rest in the clutches of Tackle Ted Konetsky on the Husky 2. Kish went over three plays later.

The final Pitt score came in the last quarter. Center Dick Fullerton set it up with a 44-yard pass interception, running to the Husky 9. Cassiano passed to Kish for the score. Rettinger converted twice, Kish once.

Washington rolled only in the third quarter, traveling from the Pitt 46 for a score, with Capt. Don Jones and McAdams biting off most of the yardage. Jones finally scored from a yard and a half out.

Pitt Passes To Easy Win Over Huskies

SEATTLE, Sept. 30 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Panthers, who traveled the 2,600 miles from Pittsburgh to Seattle by plane, took to the air again today, completing 12 of 18 passes for an easy 27-6 victory over the University of Washington Huskies in an inter-sectional football opener before 25,000 fans.

The Pitt aerial circus took command in the first five minutes and never was headed, although it looked for a while in the third period as though the weary Panther airmen were heading for the hangar for repairs.

Lightning-fast backfield work by Dick Cassiano, only remaining member of Pitt's 1938 "dream backfield," and Ben Kish, rugged 200-pound quarterback, was a deciding factor for the easterners. The Pitt attack wasted no time getting under way, either by land or by air, and "quicker" passes had the Husky defenders dizzy.

Washington took the opening kickoff and punted immediately. Starting on their own 31, the Panthers interspersed long ground gainers with passes to travel 69 yards for their first score. It came on a fourth down 20-yard pass from Emil Narick to Joe Rettinger, end, who caught the ball in the end zone.

Iowa - South Dakota, Play by Play

Prasse kicked off out of bounds on the South Dakota 30. After an exchange of punts, Iowa was in possession of the ball on its own 39, but two penalties set the Hawkeyes back and Kinnick punted. Wernli punted right back for South Dakota to Kinnick who returned to the Iowa 40. Murphy, McLain and Kinnick made it first down on the South Dakota 47, but the Hawkeyes were forced to punt again. Kinnick kicking out of bounds on the South Dakota nine. Another of Wernli's punts found Iowa in possession on the South Dakota 35 but Iowa fumbled and the Coyotes recovered. Wernli punted to Iowa on the 25.

Busk turned left end to the 35 for a first and ten, and then Kinnick shot off his own right tackle for a 65 yard touchdown jaunt, behind some beautiful Iowa blocking. Kinnick drop kicked the extra point. Score, Iowa 7; South Dakota nothing.

Trompeter returned Prasse's kick-off to the South Dakota 42. Trompeter was injured on the play. He was replaced by Taplett. Green, in at fullback for Murphy, intercepted Gundersen's pass on the South Dakota 47 and Kinnick and Green made it a first and ten on the 35 as the quarter ended. Score, Iowa 7; South Dakota 0.

Following the kickoff, another exchange of punts found Kinnick booting out of bounds on the South Dakota nine. Taplett punted after 2 plays failed for South Dakota to Kinnick, who lateraled to Busk on the 35 and he went to the 22, on the next play Busk turned his left end for nine yards to the 13, and Kinnick swept wide around the opposite end for his third touchdown. He drop kicked the extra point. Score, Iowa 21; South Dakota 0.

South Dakota could not gain after Prasse kicked off to Taplett and he was downed on the 28. Taplett punted to Kinnick on the Iowa 33, and he returned to the 38 before he was downed. On the first play, Kinnick passed long to Busk, who caught it running on the 30 and scampered the rest of the way for a touchdown. His fourth try for the extra point was good. Score, Iowa 28; South Dakota 0.

Third Quarter

Wernli kicked off for South Dakota to Vollenweider on the Iowa ten yard line, and the former Dubuque high school track star, went 90 yards for a touchdown. Pettit's attempted conversion from placement failed. Score, Iowa 34; South Dakota 0.

Anderson started his second string team in the third quarter. South Dakota made two of first downs, in succession to the Iowa 41, after the next kickoff, with Burns and Taplett doing the ball carrying. A pass, Taplett to Solberg was good for another first down on the Iowa 24. Burns, Taplett and Wernli were good for another first down on the Iowa nine. Burns went to the 3 on an end sweep, but he was a yard short on a fourth down plunge. Iowa took over and punted out to the 28.

An exchange of punts found Iowa in possession on their own five. McKinnon was good for a first and ten to the Iowa 25. Pettit's pass was intercepted by Kessler on the Iowa 28. Gallagher and Dean went into the Iowa backfield. Dean intercepted Taplett's pass on the 25. McKinnon turned left end for a first down on the next play, Petranek, the South Dakota left tackle, took the ball out of Dean's hands to give the Coyotes the ball on the Iowa 35. Taplett punted out of bounds on the Iowa seven as the quarter ended. Score, Iowa 34; South Dakota 0.

Fourth Quarter

An exchange of punts found South Dakota with the ball on the Iowa 35, but the Coyotes could not gain. Iowa was penalized to within a yard of the goal line, however, and Dean's punt was only good to the 18. Moore, Iowa right end, recovered a South Dakota fumble, and Iowa took over again on their own 15. Dean and McLain made it first and ten on the Iowa 26. A pass, Dean to K. Pettit, was good for another first down, and McLain turned left end to the Iowa 45, and Dean made it first and ten on the South Dakota 34. Coupee, in for Gallagher, was good for another to the 20 yard line. Offside penalty and Dean's 12-yard loss as he attempted to pass set Iowa back to the 35. Dean's fourth down pass to McLain was inches short of a first down, and South Dakota took the ball on downs.

The officials ruled interference on Taplett's pass to Solberg and the Coyotes had a first and ten on their own 37. South Dakota failed to gain, and Salvis, in at fullback, punted 30, he returned to the Iowa 42.

Dean's pass to Coupee was good to the South Dakota 32. Iowa lost the ball on downs on the 40, but Coupee recovered Burns' fumble on the first South Dakota play to give Iowa the ball on the South Dakota 40. With less than a minute left to play, Kinnick replaced Dean in the Iowa backfield, and Maher replaced Moore at end for Iowa. A pass Kinnick to Maher was good to the 15, another pass, Kinnick to Kelly was good for a touchdown. Kinnick's drop kick was good. Score Iowa 41; South Dakota 0.

Frisch To Pilot Pirates In '40, '41

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30 (AP)—President William E. Benschwanger announced tonight Frankie Frisch will manage the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National baseball league in 1940 and 1941, succeeding Harold (Pie) Traynor.

Although it had been rumored here for days that the Fordham flash was to succeed Traynor, who resigned Thursday, Benschwanger said the deal was not closed until noon today by telephone.

Frisch will sign a contract in New York, probably Tuesday, when he will meet Benschwanger and Traynor at the draft meeting preceding the opening of the world series Wednesday, the Pirate president added.

An ancestor of Anthony Eden of England was appointed governor of Maryland, U. S. A., in 1776, by Lord North.

THE BOOK PARADE

'Two Books by Iowa Authors' Take Honors

First Novelist . . .

Augusta Tucker, whose first novel, MISS SUSIE SLAGLE'S will be published by Harper and Brothers on Oct. 20.

- THE BOOK . . . "Three Miles Square," a novel of life on an Iowa farm. Published by Bobbs-Merrill at $2.50.
• THE AUTHOR . . . Paul Corey, a native Iowan, and former student of creative writing at the University of Iowa.
• THE REVIEWER . . . Thomas Scherrebeck.

In general, two divergent ideologies are available for the writer of the "rural" novel. He can either become a Realist and emphasize the tragic elements of farm life, or he can become a Romanticist and stress the idyllic qualities.

The story is primarily concerned with the maturing of the Mantz children and their struggle for existence on their Iowa farm. When Bessie Mantz is widowed, Andrew, her eldest son, is 14. Bessie is, at first, tempted to sell the farm and buy a store in town.

It is the unfulfilled dream of the dead Chris Mantz to be an architect which inspires Andrew in his almost too-great task. It is the memory of Chris Mantz which helps the family in their most difficult moments.

But the Mantz family is only the center of the book. Their periphery, the "three miles square," is crowded with neighbors who help and hinder.

Paul Corey's style of writing has been compared to the style which Grant Wood, a fellow Iowan, has employed in painting. Corey is meticulous to the point of finality.

It is inevitable that "Three Miles Square" be compared with another recent novel of farm life, "Wind Without Rain" by Herbert Krause, a former University of Iowa student.

There are Fords, and moonshiners, and C.C.C. boys and asphalt roads in "Gauley Mountain." Some of the pioneer stock has become diluted in the passing of time.

Right Way To Peace

New Volumes At Public Library Tell How to Maintain It

Three new books on America and her neighbors are now in circulation at the Iowa City public library, Jessie B. Gordon, city librarian, has announced.

"Americans to the South" by Whitaker is a book in which the author tells the average responsible American what he must do and know about his neighbors.

"Australia" by McQuire is a factual account of the author's native country. Writing with a personal regard, the author is not blind to the country's mistakes and foibles.

"Iceland, the First American Republic," by Stefansson is the story of a neutral country, which makes a refreshing bit of reading in these troubled times.

The above paragraphs are not intended to subtract from Paul Corey's very genuine gifts as a craftsman. The fabric of his story he has woven well; it is quietly and undeniably the essence of Iowa.

"Gauley Mountain," a loosely connected verse-story of Gauley, West Virginia, its people, its past and present. Published by Harcourt, Brace and Company at $2.00.

Louise MacNeill, former graduate student at the University of Iowa, and reader for "American Prefaces." Miss MacNeill's poems have appeared in such publications as "Forum," "The Saturday Evening Post," "American Prefaces," "American Mercury," and "Poetry, A Magazine of Verse."

Thomas Scherrebeck, graduate assistant in the English department. Gauley is more than a mountain, a plain, a town or a river. It is the sum of its folk, and through the lives of its folk it comes alive in Louise MacNeill's book of poems, "Gauley Mountain."

Here is American history in the making. Over the mountain, down into the valley, following the bison trail, come Dan O'Kane the murderer, and the Dutchman, Cornelius Verner, come Matthew Renick, who knew cowardice in battle, and Jacob Marlin with his theological disputing.

There are Fords, and moonshiners, and C.C.C. boys and asphalt roads in "Gauley Mountain." Some of the pioneer stock has become diluted in the passing of time.

There is nothing arty or pretentious or pseudo in Miss MacNeill's work. Her poetry is simple and to the point and as ripsort-ing as Gauley River itself. Authenticity and genuineness of feeling suffuse the book. Miss MacNeill knows Gauley, revels in its folk and their history, and, because she is honest, she cannot rest in the somewhat romantic past, but must write also of the dubious present and future.

"Gauley Mountain" is American poetry sung to the scraping of fiddle and bow. America should be happy in such a poet.

"A Treasury of Art Masterpieces: From the Renaissance to the Present Day," a book of prints.

Thomas Craven, noted art critic, author of "Men of Art," and many other books.

In a handsomely bound volume, Thomas Craven has brought together representative works of the great masters. He believes that "Great painting, to be fully understood, must be seen again and again—studied, explored and contemplated."

From the Italian Primitives to the Moderns, Craven has selected those works which he considers have added worthwhile experiences of non-technical nature.

Each colored print is explained by short, trenchant comments of non-technical nature.

Congressman Thomas Smith Opens Lecture Series Thursday

Chicago Professor Stresses Liberalism As Practical Mode

Prof. Thomas V. Smith of the University of Chicago will present the first university lecture Thursday at 8 p. m. in Macbride auditorium.

Smith, who is professor of philosophy at Chicago and congressman-at-large from Illinois, will speak on "The New Federalism."

He is known as a practical philosopher with a firm belief in liberalism and democracy and believes the actions of government are necessarily concerned with right and wrong.

It is his philosophy that the concepts of liberalism and democracy must be strengthened. He advocates a "fraternized" liberty, believes that unless liberty is generalized into fraternity, democracy is not the final formulation for the aspiration of the human spirit.

Author of the "Democratic Way of Life," "The Promise of American Politics" and many other works, Smith received his B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of Texas and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago.

Smith has also been a leader on the Sunday morning round table discussions of the University of Chicago.

Of Lincoln, he has said, "How prudently we proud men compete for nameless graves while now and then some starveling of fate forgets himself into immortality."

On tariff war between states, "the only way for the 48 states to carry on as neighbors is to build a forty-ninth state; namely, a 'state of mind' to respect each other's rights in furthering a greater nation of finer states."

He was professor of English literature at Texas Christian university in 1916 and professor of philosophy there the following year. Smith is a member of the American philosophical association, the American Political Science association, Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Sigma Rho.

Admission to the lecture will be by ticket, free of charge. Tickets will be available to faculty and students Tuesday and Wednesday at Iowa Union desk. Any tickets which remain Thursday will be available to the general public.

GOOD BYE, MR. CHIPS

SYNOPSIS
Chipping has been a master at the Brookfield School for twenty years. Shy and diffident, he has not succeeded in making friends with the boys. He fails to get the expected House-mastership because of that inability to make friends with the pupils. He is very disappointed, and accepts the invitation of a fellow master, Herr Max Staefel, to go with him on a walking tour of the Tyrol. Caught in the mountains in a mist, alone, he hears a woman call. Thinking her in danger, he clambers up through the mist, and finds an English girl, Katherine Ellis. It is after midnight when the mist lifts and they start down for the inn, each having made a deep impression on the other.

To give you an evening," they did? "I-I didn't understand. I hope I wasn't rude." "No, no, they understood. Miss Ellis asked me to say goodbye, and to thank you again, and to say hello to Chipping." "Yes. They are going away early in the morning. On their bicycles." And for the rest of that walking tour, Chipping kept his eyes open for English ladies on bicycles at the various inns. Once he was sure he had found them, until a suspicious, middle-aged English woman came out and threatened to go to the British consul if she so much as set eyes on him and his friend again. They fled from that inn.

They took a river steamer to make their entrance into Vienna, and floated down the Danube. "Why do they call it the Blue Danube?" asked Max. "It looks brown to me."

"There's a legend, you know, that the Danube is blue only to those who love people in love," said Chipping.

"Ah, so? You surprise me." After silence Max suddenly asked: "Chipping, the Danube does not by any chance look blue to you, does it?"

"What do you... Really, Staefel, you do talk the most infernal rot sometimes!"

They had got their luggage and were turning to leave the landing platform when Chipping, glancing by chance back at the steamer, came to a sudden halt, only to run back, leaving Staefel astounded.

Chipping rushed up to Kathie and Flora, just disembarked from the same river steamer, in the center of the landing stage.

"Miss Ellis! Well!" he beamed with astounded pleasure. "And Miss Staefel! Well, she wandered back to Kathie. 'Well, of all the... Well, how do you do.'"

"Why, Mr. Chipping!" exclaimed Kathie, her hand going out impulsively to him.

"I'd just about given you up—er... I hoped I might run into you."

"And now we have."

"Extraordinary, isn't it?"

A few evenings later, the four of them were together in a ballroom filled with officers in striking uniforms and attractive women in beautiful gowns. The orchestra played a Strauss waltz and many couples, including Max and Flora, were dancing. Chipping and Kathie sat at a table listening to the music, watching the dancers. Max and Flora floated past, waltzing to the dreamy music.

Chipping leaned toward his companion, comic confidence in his voice, and asked: "Tell me, are those two—er—do you think they're in love?"

"No... Yes, I was once. Rather a long time ago. I was fourteen. She was the greengrocer's daughter."

"Papa and Mama intervened, I suppose?"

"Yes. So did the greengrocer." A pause followed their laughter. "A pity it all this—has to end tomorrow."

"Thank you, but not for you. You have three weeks, yet. It's been wonderful!"

"For me, too... We shall have a lot to remember—our adventure in the mountain—"

"That white sea, drifting—"

"We were canoeing. What will stand out in your memory?"

"Oh, I don't know. Schoenbrunn, the Emperor driving by. What will you remember?"

"I... really... I can't say." He did not have the courage to tell her.

"Then I shall tell you—the waltz you danced in Vienna—tonight, now, with me."

"Oh, but I couldn't possibly!" he said appalled. "Good Heavens! I haven't danced since my college days."

"You're not serious. I'd be terribly rusty! In front of all these people."

"Well, of course, if you'd really rather not, but it would have been fun just once before going home." She sighed in resignation.

Chipping arose suddenly to his feet, taking his courage in both clenched hands.

"Miss Kathie, may I have the pleasure of this dance?"

A radiant smile spread over her face. "I shall be happy, Mr. Chipping."

They danced cautiously at first, but soon the delight in holding Kathie in his arms, her lighthearted and grace, overcame his nervousness, and half an hour afterwards they floated by Max and Flora with little trace of Chipping's awkwardness left.

"Himmel!" cried Max astonished. "Did I take too much wine?"

Chapter Six

IN A VIENNESE BALLROOM
They met a searching party, headed by Max Staefel and Kathie's friend, Flora, and several guides, coming to hunt for them. The girls fell into each other's arms, while Max shook Chipping's hand again and again. Kathie told of Chipping's climb up the mountain in the mist, going, as he thought, to rescue her when she was in danger. The Tyroleans knew the dangers that beset a traveler overtaken by the treacherous mists of the mountains, and the story of his action soon spread among them.

After getting thoroughly warmed, they were invited into the bar where a dozen or more persons were gathered. The landlord poured a glass of cognac for everyone and then raised his own at arms length.

"To the health of the hero of the mist," he said, "the honorable Mr. von Chipping!"

Everybody raised their glasses and drank shouting, "Servus!" while Chipping and Kathie smiled at each other in an embarrassed way. Kathie lifted her glass to the schoolmaster, "Servus! Is that right?"

"But I did nothing—nothing at all," insisted Chipping.

Max clapped him on the shoulder. "Modest fellow! The minute I let you out of my sight, you become a hero!"

"Nonsense, Staefel! This is absurd! I mere—"

"You were wonderful!" cried Flora. "And I am going to kiss you." And she proceeded to do it to his utter consternation.

"But, my dear young lady," he stammered, "I'm at a loss..."

He broke off abruptly and turned to Kathie. "Miss Ellis, I'll say good night. I hope you'll be none the worse—"

"Good night!" said Max, astonished.

"Yes, I'm a little tired. I think I'll go to bed," said Kathie.

"To bed? 'Ach nein!' cried the landlord. 'I have food for you—a goulash, strudel—'

"Perhaps you'll be good enough to send something to my room. Good night, everybody."

"Thank you again," said Kathie, understanding his embarrassment. "You were very kind."

Chipping made his way quickly out of the bar. He heard the landlord asking for a song—something gay for the Fraulein, and Kathie's warm and smiling voice saying: "Thank you, it's sweet of you."

He sat in a chair on the balcony in front of the French windows of his room, in dressing gown and scarf, and thoughtfully filled his pipe, listening to the singing in the bar, and then voices below and cries of "Gute Nacht!" as the Tyroleans took their departure.

Suddenly a light sprang out in the adjoining room, and then Kathie stepped out her little balcony, but a few feet away, Chipping half stood, and then, fearing of attracting attention to himself, sank back in the chair. Then he heard Flora's voice.

"What are you doing out there, Kathie?"

"Looking at my mountain, in the moonlight."

"I should think you had seen enough of it."

"It will be rather a thrilling memory—back in Bloomersbury."

"It's a pity your knight-errant was such an old stick-in-the-mud."

"He isn't at all old, darling, and I think he's quite charming. He's just shy, and a little difficult to know. I'm sorry for shy people. They must be awfully lonely sometimes." She left the balcony and closed the French windows. The listener was strangely stirred by the words Kathie had uttered—and grateful.

The light went on his room and a moment afterwards Max stepped out on the balcony.

"Ah, Chipping, you should have stayed. It was quite a party."

"I'm not much good at that sort of thing."

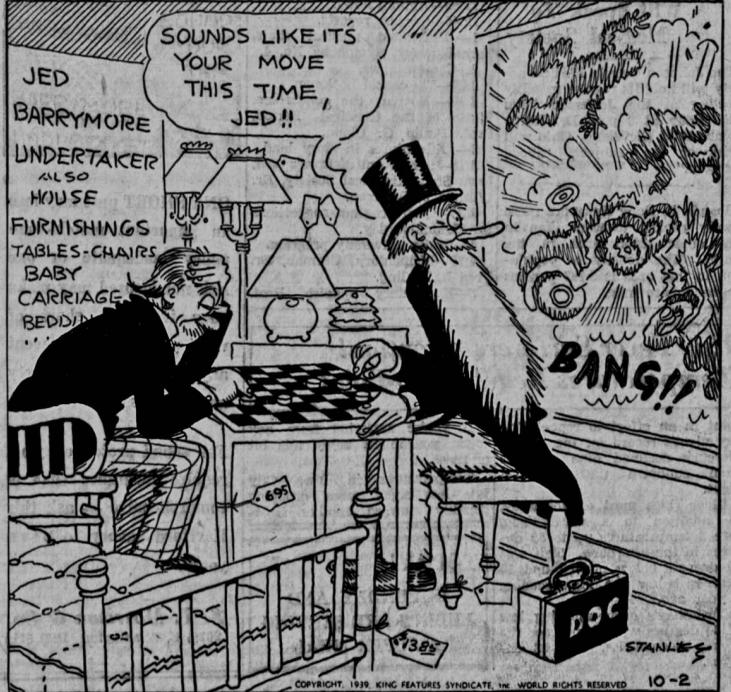

"A pity! They wanted so much

Local Resident Fatally Injured In Cycle Crash

Attempt To Avoid Barricade Causes Motorcycle To Skid

Clifford L. Stimmel, 25, 625 E. Iowa avenue, was fatally injured yesterday on the outskirts of Cedar Rapids when the motorcycle he was riding skidded on loose gravel on the pavement and upset, throwing him to the ground.

The accident occurred at about 7 a.m. He was taken to Mercy hospital there, where he died at 2:30 p.m. At the hospital he was said to have suffered a fractured skull, brain concussion and a fractured right leg.

He pulled out of line to go around a barricade, but as he did so the car in front of him slowed up. When he applied his brakes he skidded on loose gravel scattered along the pavement.

Erwin Stimmel, a brother, was present at the hospital when he died.

Stimmel has lived in Iowa City all his life. He was born Sept. 24, 1914. He attended Iowa City high school. At the time of his death he was employed by the Economy Advertising company here.

He was a member of the Eagles lodge.

During the same period employment service interviewers made 41,398 calls on employers to learn the required specifications for new workers, he said.

Hay Fever Sufferers Attention! Temperatures Reach Frost-Point

In an effort to repeat Friday night's record for the season, Mercury declined nine degrees from sundown until 7:30 last night.

Clear skies most of yesterday, in addition to a warm sun, forced temperatures up to 55 degrees in the afternoon. This was 15 degrees below normal and 19 degrees below the high reading a year ago.

Yesterday's early morning low of 33 degrees was blamed for the frost. Normal low was 52 degrees.

He'd Make A Great Punter

Mr. Tommy Davis Kicked Too Hard Once Too Often

Late on a recent afternoon, Tom Davis, 5 years old, sat on the curbing, kicking his feet and waiting for dinner. The city bus passed by and Tom kicked his foot a little harder than usual. Then he went in the house.

His mother, Mrs. Robert T. Davis, 1030 E. Burlington street, called the Western Union telegraph office, asking them to look out the door to see if the buses had lined up.

They had. The messenger boy from Western Union went down to the buses on the corner and approached each driver with the request that he be permitted to look them over.

The boy searched them, one by one, under and over the seats. A little later at the Davis home the messenger boy rode up on his bicycle.

He had something for Tom. It was a shoe. Tom had kicked it through the open bus window a half hour ago.

The Irish in E. P. Murphy Breaks A 63-Year Record

Because the Irish in Edward Murphy, above, got the better of him, he saw his first football game yesterday. Being a true Irishman, Murphy was at Iowa stadium yesterday to see the Notre Dame system introduced into Iowa football.

Edward P. Murphy, 63 years young, residing at 127 1-2 S. Dubuque street in Iowa City, yesterday afternoon saw the first football game of his life.

"It was the grandest thing I ever saw in my life," Mr. Murphy stated last night. The old gentleman has listened to broadcasts of games over the radio for some time, but explained when the Hawks tried it out for a 41 to 0 win over South Dakota. Murphy, who has used up at least three score of his allotted years, is employed in sales promotion work in Iowa City.

Yesterday that he "couldn't follow them that way."

Of the stadium, Mr. Murphy also said it was "the greatest thing he had ever seen." "And you can tell the world that Iowa will have its share of winnings this year," the enthusiastic football fan exclaimed. Asked to tell his age, he said, "only 63—63 years young."
