U. S. Envoy's Speech Rocks Japan

Grew Declares Nation Resents Nippon Actions

'Outspoken Address' Creates Fear in Japan Of American Action

TOKYO, Oct. 20 (Friday) (AP)—Official and diplomatic circles were rocked today by the speech of United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in which he declared frankly that American opinion deeply resented the "bombings, indignities and manifold interference with American rights" in China at the hands of the Japanese army.

Japanese and foreign observers who said they were "astounded" at the outspoken address, one of the strongest ever made by a diplomat in Japan, expressed the belief that it had two possible meanings:

1. That the United States was preparing definite action to oppose further Japanese "interference" in China.

2. A strong indication that public opinion in Japan itself has turned sharply against Japanese militarists.

"The ground in Japan must have been prepared in advance for such a powerful statement," well informed sources declared. "A year ago it would have done more harm than good, therefore it would not have been made."

Senate Debate Down to Cases On Neutrality

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—For a brief, frank interim, the senate's neutrality debate got down today to what many senators consider the essential question involved in repealing the arms embargo—and a point that has been largely avoided in nearly three weeks' discussion.

This was the argument that the ban on arms shipments to belligerents should be lifted to help Great Britain and France win the war and thereby eliminate any danger of German aggression against the western hemisphere.

A republican supporter of President Roosevelt on the neutrality issue, Senator Austin (R-Vt.), raised that question today, and in doing so set the senate off to a short, excited flurry of give-and-take debate.

Kuhn Angrily Defends Russo-German Pact; Declares He Still Battles U. S. Communism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—In an uproarious session marked by much angry shouting, Fritz Kuhn, German-American bund leader, defended the recent Russo-German pact before the Dies committee today but declared that he still was battling communism in this country.

The blond and bulky witness explained that Germany turned to Russia for raw materials because Great Britain for years had rejected the reich's pleas for relief from a shortage of such commodities. The United States, he

EMULATE GEHRIG WOULD BE BEST WAY TO PREVENT CRIME

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Giving young people "a few more Lou Gehrigs and Joe DiMaggios to emulate" would be one of the best ways of helping crime prevention, Warden James Johnston of Alcatraz prison said today—to an advertising club luncheon audience that included Lou Gehrig.

Turkish Pact Seen as Curb To Soviet Plan

Alliance Restricts Russian Cooperation With Nazi Germany

MOSCOW, Oct. 19 (AP)—Signing of a mutual assistance pact between Turkey and the French-British allies was interpreted by foreign observers tonight as a curb upon any possible Russian plan to extend military aid to Germany and a restriction of Russian aims in the Balkans.

No official reaction to the development was available here, but foreign circles saw the alliance as Russia's first defeat in her fast-moving series of diplomatic "victories" over neighboring states.

Nevertheless close cooperation with Germany apparently remained the present touchstone of Russian policy.

It was announced that the presidium of the supreme Soviet had ratified the German-Russian treaty of friendship concluded Sept. 28 and the supplementary protocol of Oct. 4 in which their frontiers in Poland were settled.

Proceeding with her Baltic program, Russia sent her troops through Estonia today to occupy military bases in the little nation.

Senate Debate Down to Cases On Neutrality

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—For a brief, frank interim, the senate's neutrality debate got down today to what many senators consider the essential question involved in repealing the arms embargo—and a point that has been largely avoided in nearly three weeks' discussion.

This was the argument that the ban on arms shipments to belligerents should be lifted to help Great Britain and France win the war and thereby eliminate any danger of German aggression against the western hemisphere.

Norse Unite, Minus Mention Of Finnish Aid

Statesmen Convene, Stress Nordic Unity, But Attack No Problem

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 19 (AP)—A conference of northern neutral countries held in the shadow of the Russian-Finnish crisis ended today without definitely promising Finland any material aid.

A joint communique issued after the two-day meeting of the kings of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark and the president of Finland stressed their unity but contained no specific mention of the Finnish problem.

Official quarters emphasized the conference had no military character. "Our strength is not in ships or guns or planes," a spokesman for one participating country said. "We hurl no challenge in direction of any power. Our strength is in our tradition, in our value of the community of nations and our appeal to reason."

Indications of this moral strength were seen in the messages of support received from President Roosevelt and other American republics.

Recover Car Stolen Here

Auto, Reported Used In Muscatine Holdup, Found in Oskaloosa

Iowa City police last night reported that an automobile belonging to Roscoe E. Taylor, vice president and general manager of the local light and power company, which was stolen from a driveway of the Pi Beta Phi sorority house late Wednesday night was found in Oskaloosa.

The local station received word by radio from the Des Moines police department at 8:18 p. m., that the car was abandoned inside the Oskaloosa city limits, about 100 miles west of Muscatine, where it was reportedly used in a filling station holdup which resulted in the shooting and robbing of the station attendant early yesterday morning.

Police said late last night that the two bandits were not yet located.

Muscatine police reported that the holdup men were both between 20 and 25 years old. It was learned that the two men entered the filling station at Muscatine about 4:45 a. m. yesterday with the apparent intention of buying gas. The attendant who came out to meet them, Charles F. Ball, 20, was attacked and shot in the left shoulder.

Judge Pays Fine INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Judge John J. McNeilis, who has been presiding over traffic cases in municipal court the past month, learned yesterday how it feels to be the bar for the other side. He paid a $2 fine for overtime parking.

Visitor From Turkey—

Dr. Josef Igersheimer, ophthalmologist in the medical college of the University of Istanbul, Turkey, (left) is greeted by his host, Dr. James H. Allen, assistant professor of ophthalmology, shortly after his arrival in Iowa City last night from Rochester, Minn. Dr. Igersheimer will visit the eye clinic in University hospital today. He will go to Chicago from here.

A Turkish Medical Educator Views 'The American Way'

By LAYTON HURST

He was the picture of old world courtesy as he stepped from the bus with his satchel, his brief case and his cane, and raised his hat to be introduced. Formalities were brief. "Dr. Josef Igersheimer of Istanbul, Turkey."

He was in the car and was describing his trip from Rochester and the Mayo clinic, which he found "amazing." Was there a telegraph station where he could send a wire? He would like to notify his wife, whom he had left in Chicago, of his arrival in Iowa City. "She thinks I'm still in Rochester," he chuckled.

The conversation was light, but much lay beneath the surface. Iowa City may be new to Dr. Igersheimer, but his name is well-known in local medical circles since his speech before delegates at the convention of the American Association of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology held in Chicago last week.

For six years he has worked at the head of the department of ophthalmology at the University of Frankfurt, Germany. Arriving in the United States last August for a lecture tour, he has visited New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C. and Chicago—"getting acquainted with the east." He will visit the eye clinic in University hospital today.

Being a faculty man himself, schools were an interesting subject; so he talked of the University of Istanbul, while the lights of the University of Iowa glided by. And, as he talked, the Turkish city, "gateway to the Black Sea," with its five to six thousand students, seemed very near.

"Eighteen hundred students are enrolled in medicine," he explained. "You will be interested to know that of that number, 80 per cent are studying with government funds. People are simply too poor to educate themselves. They are eligible for student aid as soon as they can pass their entrance examinations."

"Aid" not only meant education, he said. It included room and board in one of the five large dormitories scattered over the city.

And repayment? "For four years after they graduate, students work in the service of the government," Dr. Igersheimer continued. "Some are sent to the interior as a sort of country doctor. Others enter the military service."

Another Turkish university is located at Ankara, according to Dr. Igersheimer. As yet, however, it has no medical school. "And America? He was 'amazed' at the organization of its medicine, especially of the eye. Yes, he was most favorably impressed. From here, Dr. Igersheimer will return to New York. At present he is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Allen of 715 River street. Dr. Allen is assistant professor of ophthalmology at University hospital.

Turkey Signs 15-Year Pact With Allies

Agreement Designed To Preserve Peace In Balkan Regions

ANKARA, Oct. 19 (AP)—Turkey formally lined up tonight with Great Britain and France, her World War enemies, in a 15-year mutual assistance pact to preserve the present territorial and political status in the eastern Mediterranean and the Balkans.

The treaty provided that the three powers come to the aid of one another in case of aggression leading to war in those two areas. Turkey therefore would not become involved in the British-French war with Germany unless it spreads there.

A clause in the pact likewise permits Turkey to remain neutral in the event of war among Britain, France and Soviet Russia. This was interpreted to mean any war with Russia which did not upset the present situation in the eastern Mediterranean or the Balkans.

Military, Economic Clauses The treaty, which included economic as well as military clauses, was signed for Turkey by Premier Refik Saydam and Marshal Fezi Tchakmak; for France by Rene Massigli, ambassador to Ankara, and General Maxime Weygand, commander-in-chief of French forces in the eastern Mediterranean, and for Britain by Ambassador Sir Hugh M. Knatchbull-Hugessen and Lieut. Gen. Archibald P. Wavell, British middle east commander.

Its provisions include: 1. British-French assistance to Turkey if an act of aggression is committed against Turkey by a European power and in the event of an act of aggression by a European power leading to war in the Mediterranean area in which Turkey is involved.

2. Turkish assistance to Britain and France if they become involved in any war in the eastern Mediterranean resulting from an act of aggression by a European power and in the event the western powers become engaged in hostilities in carrying out their independence guarantees to Greece and Rumania.

3. Immediate tripartite consultation "with a view to such common action as might be considered effective" in case of aggression by a European power against another whose assistance one of the contracting parties has undertaken and in the event of any aggression against another European state which one of the signatories considered "a menace to its own security."

Key to Black Sea Diplomats said these terms secured the strategic - owned Dardanelles, gateway to the Black sea, for France and Britain should Germany attempt to push into the Balkans.

Tension quickened in southeastern Europe when the word of the signing of the treaty spread. In Bulgaria, the country most desirous of a change in the present Balkan lineup, the cabinet of Premier George Kiossevanoff resigned and King Boris III set about establishing a new government of national concentration.

Des Moines Man Cuts Wrong Cable, And Capital Experiences A Blackout

DES MOINES, Oct. 19 (AP)—Virtually the entire downtown Des Moines business district was without electricity for an hour late today when a workman saved into an electric power cable carrying 4,000 volts in a manhole at a busy intersection.

The workman, Gerald Finley of Des Moines, was burned about the face, but his condition was not considered serious. His companion, Ben Daniels, also of Des Moines, escaped with singed hair. Witnesses said flames shot out of the manhole to the accompaniment of a roaring noise as the saw bit into the live power cable.

SOAK SOAKED PRISONER TELLS JUDGE HE GOT WET

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19 (AP)—The plea of a man held on a drunk charge today that he had already "been soaked" won him freedom before Police Judge John B. Brachey.

The prisoner told the court that while asleep in a vacant house Wednesday night a fire broke out in the rear and firemen turned a hose on him as he slumbered. "They nearly drowned me, judge," he pleaded.

22 Injured As Hurricane Hits Liner Acadia

150 Mile An Hour Wind Strikes Ship With Terrific Force

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Battered in mountainous seas by a hurricane which at times reached an intensity of 150 miles an hour, the staunch, little American steamer Acadia made port from Europe tonight, with 22 injured aboard.

She carried 520 passengers, including 480 Americans fleeing the war-zones.

None of the 22, of whom 6 were passengers, was seriously injured, for which the ship's surgeon, Dr. George E. McLaughlin, credited the master, Capt. Robert H. Allen, who ordered all passengers to remain in their cabins during the storm's peak.

The hurricane struck Tuesday with "terrific" force, 300 miles southeast of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, Capt. Allen said, declaring that in his 30 years at sea he had never experienced its equal. He estimated the wind velocity at 125 miles an hour "and in gusts reached 150 miles an hour."

"You can tell the world this little ship stood up better than anyone could have expected," he said. "The only damage done to the ship was a visor torn off the front of the pilot house."

The Acadia was chartered by the United States Lines to bring home Americans from Europe.

Nebraska U. Student Editor Suspended

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 19 (AP)—The University of Nebraska student publications board suspended Harold Niemann of Nebraska City today as editor of The Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper, after a controversy regarding publication of certain campus news.

Niemann had charged officials repeatedly closed regular campus news sources to Nebraskan reporters.

The conflict began last week when Niemann wrote and printed a story concerning a university senate action. University officials said the student editor ignored the story's release date and "broke it without permission."

Turkish Move May Create General War

Direct Involvement Of Russian, Italian Interests 'Dangerous'

BERLIN, Oct. 19 (AP)—Authoritative quarters took a grave view today of Turkey's signature of a mutual assistance pact with Britain and France, asserting they feared it might cause an outbreak of general war inasmuch as Italy's and Russia's interests were directly involved.

These quarters looked to Italy to react as a Mediterranean power, and said the fact Turkey had turned her back on Russia and had faced toward the Mediterranean was sufficient cause to bring Italy and Russia to work together as the nazis and Soviets already are doing.

Russia Disappointed Soviet Russia was represented by these authoritative persons as being "highly disappointed" at the outcome in Ankara today.

Adolf Hitler's immediate reaction was to formally ratify the friendship treaty with Russia signed at Moscow Sept. 28 and subsequent agreements of Oct. 4, made with Soviet Russia concerning Poland and the boundaries of their "spheres of influence" in that country.

German and Russian solidarity seemed firmer than ever. It also was announced that Germany had formally annexed Pomerellen (the Polish corridor) and Polish upper Silesia, while a general staff communique stated that the "first phase of the war in the west" had ended by the French evacuation of small areas of German territory.

Nazis Puzzle Informed Nazi quarters said frankly they could not understand why Turkey acted "against her best interests," and expressed belief the situation might prove similar to the Polish one.

In that case the Polish foreign minister, Jozef Beck, angered Germany by seeking English aid last spring, nazis said, and concluding a mutual assistance pact with Britain and France.

"England cannot help Turkey any more than she helped Poland," they said. One source said, "God help the Angolan peasants. There are no trees there for them to hide behind when the bombers come. There were trees in Poland."

No Threat Authoritative nazis, however, professed to see no immediate threat to Germany's strategic military position in the new and unexpected development.

The entire tendency was to emphasize that Italy is the power most directly affected and that it now is up to Premier Mussolini.

Officials meanwhile awaited the full text of the 15-year mutual assistance treaty signed at Ankara and a report from the German ambassador, Franz von Papen, who is arriving tomorrow from Ankara.

Earlier, with official comment on the pact lacking, informed quarters gave indications that it was an unwelcome turn.

French Report 'Very Light' Losses as Troops Withdraw 6 Miles Along Section of West Front

PARIS, Oct. 19 (AP)—The French high command tonight announced its forces had withdrawn for distances as much as six miles along a 22-mile section of the western front's northern flank.

The withdrawals were described in a communique issued as the French reported a diplomatic victory in the new French-British-Turkish treaty which they said gave the allies control of the Dardanelles, Germany's back door, in case the war spreads to the Balkans.

The communique, reviewing Monday's German attack in force, indicated that the French now were almost back on their own frontier, since the best estimates of the French advance into Germany during the first month of the war placed them no further than seven miles on German soil at any one point.

The French said their losses were "very light" in the pre-arranged withdrawal to a line still "far in advance" of the permanent Maginot fortifications.

One unit officer and 50 men, however, were outflanked by the advancing Germans and cut off. Whether they died on the spot or were taken prisoners was not disclosed, the communique saying merely the unit "defended itself gallantly."

The only activity reported today was described as that of numerous patrols and artillery fire, particularly on the extreme northern flank of the front just east of the Luxembourg border.

Penitence Becomes Us

ELSEWHERE on this page The Daily Iowan this week has been presenting a series of stories concerned with the war situation and the problems of peace as seen from the churches' point of view.

In a world in which large masses of people lose their heads during chaos, the most logical group to keep a sane point of view is that group which professes the Christian faith. It is in keeping with this viewpoint that the Federal Council of the Churches has issued a statement on the war situation.

Recognizing that every nation "has some share in the common guilt," the message declares that penitence is the mood that best becomes us. An appeal is made to the churches to preserve and strengthen their "world-wide bonds." The defense of "freedom of conscience" and "the liberties of press, platform and pulpit" is emphasized.

And, as the Survey Graphic comments, "For self-protection, if for no humanitarian reason, an expanding program of federal aid to education is predicted as inevitable." If communities are not willing to support education, they can expect no less than government intervention. They can place the blame nowhere but upon themselves if government intervention results in education which approximates the type of propaganda done in totalitarian states.

It must be a sorry disillusionment for the professor who finds he must exist on the wages of a laborer and who must give up his research because finances with which to continue it are not forthcoming. The private fortunes which have built many of our great schools and hospitals in the past are being broken up; if the responsibility for these institutions is not taken over by the people, it is to be expected that the federal government will step in.

The taxpayers, who support more than 90 per cent of America's educational establishment, maintain the nation's "biggest business," "Survey Graphic" states, with more employees than General Motors and U. S. Steel combined, and with a larger budget than the navy, including new construction. But the taxpayers, according to many studies, are seldom informed on pedagogical problems and do not as a rule concern themselves with education outside of their own communities.

In the crossroads rural schools, one fourth of the nation's children are educationally underprivileged and many of them are actually growing up illiterate. This problem is being met in part, and yet there is not sufficient interest on the part of the people to meet it fully. As we said above, the assistance given to education, especially to higher institutions of learning, will not be forthcoming in future times. It will be necessary for state or federal tax funds to support research, to build needed institutions, to pay the salaries of professors. Unless a greater interest is taken in education, unless local groups take upon themselves this full burden, the results may prove to be devastating for America.

of a world order in which the common need and service of all nations may find a home. "We call upon the churches now to reaffirm good will when ill will is rife. It is our task now, while resisting hatred, to cleave to the right; while guarding against misleading propaganda, to discern moral issues and to stand for the truth; to dismiss hysteria in the strength of a quiet spirit and, for Christ's sake, who bade us 'love one another', to refrain from bitter condemnation.

"We call upon the churches now to make unflinching intercessions. It is our deepest task, our spiritual and creative enterprise, to pray without ceasing in His name who prayed for all men from a cross. "So shall the Church be His body, the new incarnation of His Spirit among men. Hope thou in God, for we shall yet praise Him Who is the help of our countenance and our God."

U. S. Education Is Challenged By World Crisis

DESPITE any apathy we may have for the rapidly increasing amount of federal control, the situations which exist in America today seem to offer no other solution than that of governmental sponsorship.

It has long been said by the Dale Carnegies that he who does not take responsibilities seriously can expect those responsibilities to be taken over by others. The states and cities have shirked many of their duties as units. Individuals have gone about in a haze of well-meaning until it has become necessary in order to get things done to allocate these necessary duties to the federal authority.

Educational leaders generally seem to dislike government interference. Apparently this grows from the fear of totalitarianism and the hampering of educational freedom. Yet, a group of the nation's leading educators were honest enough to say in a recent symposium that "It is everybody's business and the republic's concern that the future population of our cities is being drawn from the educationally underprivileged sections of the country."

And, as the Survey Graphic comments, "For self-protection, if for no humanitarian reason, an expanding program of federal aid to education is predicted as inevitable." If communities are not willing to support education, they can expect no less than government intervention. They can place the blame nowhere but upon themselves if government intervention results in education which approximates the type of propaganda done in totalitarian states.

At no time has America realized as fully as today the need of education for democracy. There are problems to be solved in our nation that are vital to the preservation of this form of government. We enjoy with so little effort. The responsibility for solution to America's problems and for the preservation of democracy is being laid at the door of education. It is time the American people

The Jewish View of Peace

(Editor's note: The following is the fourth in a series of articles being published in observance of Peace Makers Sunday, Oct. 22. The series is being prepared under the direction of the Rev. Llewellyn A. Owen, pastor of the First Congregational church and president of the Iowa City Ministerial association and the Inter-Faith Fellowship council.)

By RABBI MORRIS N. KERTZER, Associate Professor, School of Religion

Since the visionary eye of the prophet Isaiah caught a glimpse of the ideal of peace, the people of Israel have looked forward to the day when "nation will not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

The Hebrew word for peace is almost identical with the term used for wholeness and unity, and our sages long recognized that there can never be universal peace as long as we are divided by intolerance and bigotry, as long as we continue our "dislike for those who are unlike us."

When the League of Nations was first proposed, world Jewry hailed with fervent joy the first realization of our prophet's dream. Now that the League has been rendered impotent, there is that counsel of despair which declares that it was never more than an idle dream, and that international cooperation can never be achieved. The traditional Jewish attitude is that peace can never come until such an institution is established. Albert Einstein reflects the true spirit of his religion when he asserts that war is futile, that it can solve no problems but create new ones. The Jew knows full well the costs of war: the first victims of the Warsaw bombings were the patients in a Jewish hospital for tubercular children, when fifteen sickly children were blown to bits. And when Poland was divided in two, one-quarter of the Jews of the world fell into the concentration-camp that is now Germany, and the rule of the godless Soviet regime, which forbids the teaching of the Jewish religion.

Since the first days of fascist aggression, the position of the religious Jew has been that the only hope for democracy lies in what President Roosevelt aptly described as a "quarantine," isolating those forces which threaten the liberties and the spirit of democracy which are our heritage. The only religious and moral way to fight an evil is by economic boycott. To those who offer the argument that economic sanctions lead to war, my answer is that it has never been tried, while the other method has eternally led to the disastrous results which are apparent in the world today. I recently viewed some moving picture scenes of the victims of Japanese bombs in China, and could not help but be conscious-stricken in the thought that I had been a party to that crime: many of those bombs which destroyed a child in its mother's arms, and left crying orphans seeking vainly for a father in the shambles of Hankow and Peiping, had the label "Made in U.S.A." The answer of religion to the challenge of the aggressor nations must be: We will not have any traffic with you! As I would avoid the shop of a man whose life is disreputable, as I would keep away from a merchant whose actions were dishonorable, so I would keep my distance from any people who exalted might above right.

Why do nations still resort to war as a means of settling their differences? To my mind, the reason is that we are taught from early childhood to accept war as an inevitable part of life. I recall by my spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts.

The only prayer that the Jew of today can offer is an echo of the prophetic hope in an age of enlightenment when all men will recognize the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of men: an age which will repeat the words of the visionary Zechariah: "Not by might, nor by power, but by My spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."

some time ago: it was a children's hour describing the world of 1970; here was a world in which man had conquered the skies as well as the earth, and all the stars in heaven were man's domain. And yet what kind of life was envisioned for the child - listeners? It was the old story of man pitted against man in a death - struggle, and all the ingenuity of the men of the future used to promote new engines of destruction. A delectable tale for our children, yet typical of the thinking which forms part of our education. The malicious propaganda for war is not as effective as the innocent propaganda in which we all play a part. In introducing our children to toy cannons, in exalting the heroes of the battlefield while we gloss over the achievements of our heroes of the medical laboratory, we share the responsibility for creating a war mentality.

It was Victor Hugo who once predicted that the day would come when all our war-engines would be exhibited in museums beside the ancient instruments of the Inquisition as relics of an age of barbarism. While I do not question the wisdom of our fabulous outlay for munitions in the face of menace of war, I cannot look with equanimity to the time when we will confess to our grandchildren that we sacrificed billions of our national wealth for implements of destruction, while we hesitated and haggled over the costs of education and national health.

He scared dozens away in a single afternoon, he reports. Of course the whole technique's not unknown on this campus. . . . Almost every sorority has its tucked-away, one or two girls who get politely in the solum during open house and reception.

AROUND THE TOWN

Merle Miller

Rod and Mrs. Stewart apparently have a full year's job at least. . . . The Hart - Kaufman play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," is even funnier than "Can't Take It With You". . . . It's a thinly disguised portrait of Alexander Woolcott, one who as an artist is called "temperamental" but as a human being simply "dirty disposition."

My favorite story of Woolcott, of course, concerns his undergraduate days at Hamilton. . . . He was a horrid creature then, bathing only when his frat brothers left him at a table by himself, wearing a dingy Turkish fez, red, and a green turtle-necked sweater. . . . He wasn't very helpful in fraternity rushing; so his brothers one day conceived the idea of his heing his excess poundage to a rival frat of an afternoon, sitting on the porch and ogling prospective rushes as they went by. . . .

It's said, Paul Toomey is getting a pretty fair reputation in the mid-west as one of the best-informed lawyers in the country on the problems of transportation. . . . He's taken a special interest in trucks and has won a dozen cases where the companies came up against inter-state laws.

Dick Maibaum's play seems to be doing all right, despite the lukewarm criticisms. . . . People on Broadway want to laugh this year especially, he reasons. . . . (Incidentally, John Anderson the critic who laughed the hardest opening night, wrote the coldest review. . . . That's the way critics are.)

For his part, Dick was too tired to be much disturbed one way or another. He'd been re-writing up until the curtain's going up.

On the campus (although he probably wouldn't mention it himself) Dick was a near four-point man and a Phi Beta Kappa as well. . . . And it's not true that Phi Beta Kappa keys hock for only a dime.

Dick got $7.50 for his (along with a ring and a watch). . . . But he's glad to have it back nevertheless. . . .

And no one's mentioned Dick's being an actor, but that's what everyone expected he'd be while he was on the campus. . . . His "Othello" is still one of the theater's high-spot memories.

The rumor around the post-office yesterday was that we needn't be too surprised at two-cent stamps again. They figure the added business will make up the difference and then some. . . .

Boake Carter blames Frank Roosevelt for everything. . . . In Des Moines last fall he told them the president was responsible for getting him off the air. . . . I do hope not. . . . At least I hope the president had nothing to do with his getting on again.

These are days of nostalgia. . . . It's better that way; if we accepted things as they are, we'd all be raving maniacs.

So the ones of us under 30 look to the future. . . . Some picturing an economic Ethiopia where each will be treated according to ability, each receive according to need. . . .

A few—not many—foreseeing a spiritual revolution where everyone will love everyone else and vice versa (Sounds dull). . . .

Monitor Writer Offers Tribute To The Nation's Library Women

MORE spontaneous recognition as literary monuments, nor even as repositories of encyclopedic data, does she regard them, as touchstones that may open up worlds of thought, feeling and knowledge.

But now the adult education movement is pressing hard at the doors of the libraries and setting up new standards for the librarian. To take her place in "adult service for education," the librarian must now study general educational theory, know something about "the learning process," about the methods of research, about "the community as a sociological category" and about "reading abilities, interests, deficiencies, grading, testing."

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By George Tucker

New York—It must be a source of genuine satisfaction for John Barrymore to know that New York still thinks of him as the embodiment of Hamlet, despite a locust swarm of Hamlets, fat and thin, in the last five years. . . . Though impressions of Evans, Gielgud, Howard, and others are fresh and undimmed, the critics, who have been watching Shakespeare's gloomy, almost do-well for a generation, almost without exception say Barrymore could give them all Spades and still come out on top. John Mason Brown has written, "John Barrymore remains the Hamlet we shall continue to see in our mind's eye, as the perfect embodiment of the Prince. . . . The Hamlet he ignited with the fire of genius."

That was nearly 20 years ago on Broadway. . . . As the years go by appreciation of the lanky Barrymore's acting becomes keener. . . . John himself, touched with nostalgia and in a mood to reminisce, declares he intends to do a limited engagement of Hamlet again before very long. . . . Probably this is the impulsive speech of an actor who likes to do things on the spur of the moment. . . . But he can't forget, and who is to blame him, that he won a most flattering success in New York Hamlet before I was able to get a theater in London. . . . Finally the First Night. . . . The man in front of the house kept coming back to tell me about the audience. "Of course, you know," he reported, "Mr. Shaw is in the house."

Next he came back to say, "With the greatest difficulty we managed to find two seats for Mr. Masefield." . . . The effect of this upon a nervous American in London, about to appear in the best play that London has produced, can well be imagined. The man from the front kept on telling me of the arrival of people—of Dunsany, of Maughan, of the Asquiths. . . . Somehow it did not add to my scare. I had the same sense of detachment, I imagine, that one would feel on the route to the guillotine. Then my first scene. . . . Those seconds I sat on the darkened stage waiting for the curtain to go up I shall never forget.

As a matter of fact, the Barrymore Hamlet became the subject of a celebrated letter to the actor from Shaw, who thought Jack had plenty of nerve to "rewrite" Shakespeare. Barrymore had cut the original play and re-written a part of it. . . . After the performance, Shaw wrote: "Dear Mr. Barrymore, as an actor you are not without a certain skill, but at writing plays, Shakespeare can write your head off."

Barrymore wants to go back to London—not as the Prince—but with "My Dear Children," which New York has not yet seen but which has been running continuously for months in Chicago.

Hawklets Vs. Rams in Homecoming Tilt

As Little Hawks Face Homecoming Battle

Dubuque Team Rated Favorite Over City High

Hoerner, Paper, Will Provide Trouble For Red and White Team

Coach Herb Cormack of City high prepared a balance sheet at practice last night, listing his own starting team as an asset and the visiting Dubuque Rams a liability payable under the lights tonight at Schrader field in the Little Hawk homecoming battle.

If the Hawklets come through with a win tonight Cormack's investment in time will show a profit, but a loss will mean bankruptcy for a potentially powerful City high eleven in business for the Mississippi Valley league title.

Led by Dick Hoerner, high-stepping halfback, and Pape, a speed merchant, the Red and Blue come to town the top-heavy favorite to take City high's measure. The Rams are in full stride after victories over Davenport and Franklin of Cedar Rapids but are taking no chances with Iowa City and will be out to take an undisputed conference pennant.

Dubuque has lost but one game this year — that to a LaCrosse, Wis., eleven on a definitely off night. With Hoerner as the spearhead of both the running and passing games of the Dubuque outfit, Coach Wilbur Dalzell puts a team on the field which is noted for its tricky laterals, screened forwards, and hidden reverses. A triple — lateral forward is the climax of this pigskin wizardry and has scored a touchdown every time it has been used. A strong defensive line completes the Ram makeup which has held for two touchdowns in five games.

Cormack was not ready to indicate his starting lineup last night, as he sent his charges through a long signal drill. Cormack has cooked up a razzle-dazzle attack of his own during the last two weeks, however, and may sacrifice the power of his former starting team for the speed necessary to keep up with Dubuque.

On one team last night, the City high mentor had Clark and Martin at ends, Hirt and Bright at tackles, Bothell and Stoner at guards, Parker at center, Lewis at quarter, Towell and Miller at halves, and Fetig at full.

This will probably not be the starting lineup, but is one combination with which Cormack has taken a lot of time in drills. First line replacements will be Swane, Walden and Laughlin, ends, Miller and Broders, tackles, White, guard, Lillick, center, and Graham, Voeckers and Schuppert, backs.

Iowa City has not lost a homecoming game in six years, and has not been beaten by Dubuque in four years. The last City high team to be beaten by the Rams took a 6-0 defeat in 1934, when bad breaks beat the Hawklets at Dubuque.

The score in 1935 was 13-6, in 1936 6-0, in 1937 6-6 and last year, 16-7. A capacity crowd of 3,500 is expected at Schrader field tonight, as Iowa City enters the game as the underdog for the first time in two years.

Cross Country Race Attracts 100 Athletes

Over 100 high school athletes will participate in the annual interscholastic cross-country run over the university course at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

With fine weather in view the meet should be a great success and will bring runners from all parts of the state to compete for team honors in three classes.

The race will start on the cinder track east of the stadium and will continue around Finkbine field with the race ending on the quarter-mile track. The meet is under the direction of Coach George Bresnahan who expects several additional schools to enter today.

Each school is allowed to run five men, three of whom will count in the scoring.

Oskaloosa is the defending champion in class A, University high in class B and Thornburg the winner of last year's class C crown.

Other schools entered are: Clarence, Williamsburg, McKinley and Wilson of Cedar Rapids, Adel, Knoxville, Hedrick, Laurel and University high.

Sigma Chi Rolls Over Gamma Eta's, 33-0, As Frats End Second Week of Touchball Play

The second week of intramural touch football was completed yesterday afternoon as eight fraternity teams battled on the gridiron.

The class A team of Sigma Chi trounced Gamma Eta Gamma, 33-0. The feature of the game was the passing of Goenne to Logan for the Sigma Chi's. Quinlan started the scoring early in the first period for Sigma Chi as he intercepted a pass and ran the ball back for the marker. Logan took a pass for the extra point. Later the ball was given to Rumble who lateraled to Goenne to work the score to 13-0 at the half time.

The second period featured aerial attacks from both teams. The first touchdown was a pass from Arnold to Logan for the Sigma Chi's. Then Goenne took over passing duties and tossed a long one to Logan who ran it over for the second touchdown for his team. With the score reading 26-0 in its favor, Sigma Chi substituted freely but left the passing combination of Goenne and Logan remain in operation as the final touchdown was made by them in the final minutes of play.

A late rally by Theta Xi failed to be effective as it came out on the short end of the game with Phi Kappa Sigma, 19-6. The passing of Dunagan to Berns was the highlight of the Phi Kappa Sigma attack. The first score of the game occurred in the first half as Dunagan completed his first pass to Berns. Starting the second half with a lead of 7-0, Dunagan again passed to Berns to put Phi Kappa Sigma in the lead 13-0. After a few substitutions, the Phi Kappa's made their last score with a pass from Wickstrom to Peterson. In the last few seconds of play, Hauth of Theta Xi passed to Neishan for its only score of the game.

The Phi Epsilon Kappa forfeited to Triangle and Delta Chi won from Phi Kappa Psi by a forfeit.

Gamma Delta's by the score of 13-6. All the scores were made in the first period of play. Weiss started the scoring for Sigma Chi as he made a 30 yard run for the goal line. But the Phi Gamma Delta's brought the score to 7-6 as Heldridge threw a completed pass to Tom Kruse. The winning touchdown of the game came in the last seconds of the first period as Althouse passed to Jack Anderson in the end zone. Both teams were unable to score in the second half as they both displayed tight defenses.

The Phi Gamma Delta class A team, centered around Carson, won its first game of the season 27-7 over Sigma Nu. Two runs by Carson and a pass from Carson to Erikson accounted for all the scores for Phi Gamma Delta. The only score for Sigma Nu was made by a pass from Buckles to Sieh.

Phi Epsilon Kappa forfeited to Triangle and Delta Chi won from Phi Kappa Psi by a forfeit.

ANKENY WORKS ON FIRST TEAM

Shoulder Bothers Al Coupee; Pettit Used at Guard Post

Iowa's gridglers felt the wrath of Coach Eddie Anderson again yesterday afternoon as they were sent through a stiff scrimmage session for the fourth straight day this week.

Gerald Ankeny, Dixon, Ill., sophomore, took over the signal calling duties on the first eleven in place of Al Coupee who is still favoring his injured shoulder.

Other newcomers who saw service on the first team yesterday were Ken Pettit, taking over Chuck Tolleson's guard duties; and Fred Smith who was used in the left end position.

Ankeny teamed with Nile Kinrick, Ray Murphy, and Russ Busk in the first team backfield. Ankeny also saw service on the second team while Coupee was used with the above three in signal drill after their scrimmage.

Anderson used Burdell Gilleard, Ed McLain, Hank Vollenweider, and Ankeny on the second team with a pair of guards, Ham Snider and Bruno Andruska, teaming in the line with former regulars—Capt. Erwin Prasse and Dick Evans.

Anderson and his aides stressed blocking in the long scrimmage session and considerable improvement was shown over the performances of the gridglers earlier this week.

The Hawkeyes' first eleven was shoved against the third team during the early part of the practice period and was then sent through a signal drill while the second team had its workout against the third stringers.

The Hawkeyes will continue on fundamental work and scrimmages this week before working on Wisconsin plays and formations.

Charles Galier, business manager of athletics, today emphatically denied all rumors that there has been a total sellout of tickets for the Notre Dame game, Nov. 11. There are 9,000 tickets left.

This means that four sections are still open. These sections are not at the ends of the gridiron but are the end sections on each side of the stadium.

According to Galier the Notre Dame contingent from South Bend will number about 5,000. He further stated that potential purchasers should become actual owners without further delay if they want to see the game.

Glen Sparks, Clay, Booth Share Spotlight in All-U Track Meet

St. Pat's Have Slim Chance At Kalona Tonight

Booth Throws Discus 122 Feet; Milt Kuhl Wins Shot Put Crown

Yesterday afternoon marked the close of the annual all-university track meet. Eight events were held to complete the schedule held over from Tuesday.

Three double winners took the spotlight over the course of the two day meet. Glenn Sparks took the first spot Tuesday in the three-quarters and yesterday won the mile-and-a-half run, while Booth scored firsts in both the discus and javelin throws at yesterday's event.

Clay took the 220 and broad jump. Jim Wilson did right well for himself in the concluding events taking first in the 120 low hurdles, second in the 220 yard dash and third in the broad jump. Clay ran a fast race to take the 220 away from Wilson.

Kuhl took the shot-put, Conklin the 660 and Vack, Webb, Carstens, Pullman and Markovitz all showed fine form.

Coach George Bresnahan is looking forward to more meets of this caliber because of the success of this meet and will announce in the near future both individual and team meet events which will usher in the indoor season.

120 low hurdles: Won by Wilson; Pullman, second; Markovitz, third; Baird, fourth. Time, 13:8 seconds.

220 yard dash: Won by Clay; Wilson, second; Brower, third; Markovitz, fourth. Time, 23:8 seconds.

660 yards: Won by Conklin; Webb, second; Fuller, third; Fritsch, fourth. Time, 1:33.9.

2,640 yards: Won by Sparks; Vack, second; Lewis, third. Time, 7:30.8.

Shot-put: Won by Kuhl; Booth, second. 41 feet.

Discus: Won by Booth; Kuhl, second. 122 feet 8 inches.

Broad jump: Won by Clay; Carstens, second; Wilson, third; Putzreth, fourth. 19 feet 9 inches.

Javelin throw: Won by Booth. 133 feet.

'War of Waiters' Battle

Iowa Union's 'Hashpackers' Set for Tilt With Strong Hillcrest Team

Action in abundance was promised yesterday for the game Saturday in which Hillcrest's dining service gridglers face Iowa Union's powerful Hashpackers in their second annual battle.

The latest news from the Hillcrest camp was to the effect that there would be at least two all-state high school players of last year, along with a lineman who worked part of last season with the Green Bay Packers, in the Hillcrest lineup.

Facing this array of talent, the Hashpackers coached by Wayne Mason, will have an outfit that reeks with offensive power, with Co-Captains Kenny Bigelow and Joe Kehoe, right halfback, and fullback as the main scoring spark. The union roster also is sprinkled with former all-staters, including Jack Young and Chuck Warner, ends, and Paul Traaswech, halfback who will not be in the starting lineup, but is expected to see action.

U-High will be the underdog this afternoon when the Blues tangle with the league-leading Mt. Vernon eleven in a contest that may determine the eventual champion of the Eastern Iowa conference. The game, which will be played on the Mt. Vernon gridiron at 3:30, can either make or break U-High, as it is their last clash with a pennant-contending team.

The northsiders' captain and ace fullback, Owen Morgan, will be lost to the squad for today's battle, although he may be in uniform. Morgan's injured ankle has failed to heal, and he will be unable to get back into action until some time next week.

Morgan's loss comes at a most inopportune time, as Coach Brechler has had to make a number of shifts in the Blues' line-up with only a few day's notice. The rivermen have practically no reserve backfield strength, so the only alternative that Coach Brechler had was to switch Jack Canny, regular guard, to the vacated fullback post. Canny weighs only 135 pounds, but makes up for his weight handicap with his fighting spirit.

The Blues showed a decided improvement in their ball-handling and timing during a final dummy scrimmage yesterday. Very little of the fumbling of Wednesday night's drill was evident, and, thus, much confidence was restored.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Who Hits Hardest?
- Louis Can Be Hit
- Dempsey Could Hit

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP) — Figuring that the best way to find out how hard a couple of mules kick is not to ask the mules but to ask the barn door, Freddy Corcoran went right to the bankboard to find out who hits the hardest—Joe Louis or Jack Dempsey.

Freddy Corcoran's business is to help keep the golf pros in yellow sweaters and rainbow neckties by arranging tournaments for them, but he has an avid interest in all sports. He comes from Boston, and is well acquainted with Jack Sharkey, the man who met both Dempsey and Louis.

"Tell me," he asked the flinty-eyed ex-gob, "who hit you the hardest — Dempsey or Louis?" Sharkey gave the question serious thought, then said slowly: "Well, I was at my peak when I met Dempsey, and on my way down when I fought Louis."

"When Dempsey hit me, it was just like someone had dumped a load of concrete over my head. I've felt that punch for 13 years. I never thought a man could hit so hard."

"When Dempsey hits you a good one, that's enough and the show is over. Louis hit me about 13 times, but me down several times. I don't think Louis has the paralyzing punch Dempsey had."

However, Sharkey hastened to assure Corcoran that Louis is a really great fighter who can hit remarkably fast.

"What would happen if they met, each at his peak?" Corcoran probed.

"Other newcomers who saw service on the first team yesterday were Ken Pettit, taking over Chuck Tolleson's guard duties; and Fred Smith who was used in the left end position."

Ankeny teamed with Nile Kinrick, Ray Murphy, and Russ Busk in the first team backfield. Ankeny also saw service on the second team while Coupee was used with the above three in signal drill after their scrimmage.

Anderson used Burdell Gilleard, Ed McLain, Hank Vollenweider, and Ankeny on the second team with a pair of guards, Ham Snider and Bruno Andruska, teaming in the line

$15,000 for Two Words! That's Hollywood

Richard Maibaum of 'See My Lawyer' Fame Discusses Film Writing

"Motion pictures guilds and agencies are in a deplorable condition at present!" Richard Maibaum, Iowa's own playwright, said as he spoke of conditions in Hollywood to the magazine article and feature writing class in the school of journalism yesterday.

"And conditions will not be alleviated until people like you learn to write screen play form," he said. "As much care should be taken in writing for the screen as for novels and non-fiction," he added.

He stressed the fact that Hollywood is in desperate need of material and if a manuscript has just one clever idea, producers will often buy it for that one sequence and hire writers to write the remainder.

He mentioned that "one sees so many movies that are the same that there is an open field for anyone with ideas."

"An entire Hollywood production is built around a new locale or an interesting character," he said.

"Get me something new" is the war cry of all Hollywood agents. Interesting was the illustration of the way he ran across the idea for his play now running on Broadway, "See My Lawyer."

Maibaum was called out of bed at 2:30 in the morning by a friend who said, "Come ball me out; I'm temporarily in jail."

A young lawyer took him to his law office. The beautiful upholstery and modern decorations impressed him and Maibaum admitted he was somewhat surprised at the young lawyer's financial status. As he was looking around he noticed a list of 12 names on the door. He inquired, and found that 12 young lawyers just out of college had this one office and were trying to get started. There, right before him, was a new locale and recognizing it, Maibaum made use of it in his new Broadway hit.

"Hollywood also hires 'idea men,' he said, who do nothing but think up ideas." For example, someone thinks up the idea of "earthquake" and "San Francisco" is filmed. At one time these men ran out of ideas and once Hollywood was in a desperate need of something for W. C. Fields. The publicity agent came to the rescue, saying that J. B. Priestly had a capital idea and would give him the idea for $15,000.

An interview was arranged and Priestly said "I'm just going to say two words, and then you'll have to decide."

"O.K.," said the producer. Priestly said "Piano tuner."

"Great!" replied the producer and for another $15,000 Priestly wrote the 30-page treatment form, which is the first manuscript a free-lance writer submits to the producer.

Writing for Hollywood is chiefly free-lance work and is not easy, but once a treatment is accepted, one is handsomely rewarded. From $1,000 to $40,000 is paid for them. Out of the 25,000 treatments submitted yearly, about 550 are used.

Maibaum advised anyone writing scenarios to send them to agents and not to the studios, adding "the agencies will treat your work with care and consideration, looking for even the slightest suggestion of a new idea. Large sums are paid by movie firms for just suggestions," the scenario writer encouraged.

March of Time Films To Be Offered Visual Education Department Sends News Pictures to Iowa Schools

Only a few years ago education was a dull process. Now, through the utilization of motion picture films in classroom study, world affairs, politics and economic problems become vivid living realities, easily understandable to the student.

Illustrating this new trend, the department of visual education directed by Lee Cochran, is offering 17 March of Time sound films to educational groups throughout the state.

As a member of the Association of School Film Libraries, Inc. of New York the extension division of the University of Iowa can secure the March of Time films and distribute them to schools of the state solely for educational purposes and not as entertainment features.

During the last two weeks due to the great interest of educational institutions in regard to war and peace, the March of Time has released 10 new film subjects to the association.

The association cuts and edits the sound films, limiting them to one specific subject pertinent to classroom curriculum. Cochran explained that, in themselves, the pictures cannot act as a substitute for the instructor, but only serve as a tool to clarify the subjects to the students.

According to Cochran, a variety of topics are offered in the March of Time group of 17 films.

National government is emphasized in one film showing a panoramic view of the Supreme Court and outlining President F. D. Roosevelt's attempt to liberalize it in 1937.

Two reels of Japan's war in China reviewing events of the struggle and the consequences of the advancement of civilization in China are available to educational groups through the services of the extension department.

Corrective measures in soil control to prevent soil erosion, preservation of wild life and control of insects are brought into the student's range of study through the March of Time films.

In former days, educators waited until juvenile delinquents appeared before taking any measures toward a remedy. Now through seeing results rather than experiencing them, children realize the causes and effects of juvenile crime. The film entitled "Juvenile Delinquency" tells the story of how young criminals are made and of the measures that are being taken to reduce the number of criminals in the present generation of young boys.

The study of economics takes on enriched value when its forces can actually be seen functioning. Impoverished sharecroppers of the south, malnutrition of one-half of the British population and industrial conditions become startling situations to students as they see them portrayed.

Other March of Time films which the department has to distribute include "Progressive Education," "Safety on the Highway," "The League of Nations," "Key West," "Alaska's Salmon Fisheries," "Cancer, Its Cure and Prevention" and "Protecting the Consumer."

Realizing the value still further of visual instruction, motion picture producers are cooperating with Teaching Film Custodians towards making films available to educational institutions.

For a period of three years, large motion picture companies have agreed to turn over a group of short features to these custodians for them to distribute. Members of the Teaching Film Custodians include faculty members of Johns Hopkins university, Yale university, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and others who are interested in the progress of education.

Act Authorized 1839 Schools

Iowa Children Trace Education Privilege To First Assembly

Half a million public school children in Iowa can trace their privilege of education back one hundred years.

J. A. Swisher of the University of Iowa, in a study of the beginnings of public schools in Iowa, said that Gov. Robert Lucas in 1839 approved an act of the first legislative assembly.

This act, according to Dr. Swisher, authorized the establishment of common schools which should be "open and free for every class of white citizens between the ages of four and 21 years."

School trustees were required to examine and hire the teacher, check the number of children, lease the land belonging to the district, and keep a record of the time school was in session and the expense of the same.

The law fixed the school tax as not to exceed five mills on the assessed value of the property in the district, or more than $10 per year for any one person, "either payable in cash or good merchantable produce at cash price."

Governor Lucas said that the law "might appear to be in advance of the times," according to Dr. Swisher. In 1839 Dubuque organized a school district but no record of the establishment of similar public schools in other towns has been found.

But the development occurred until in 1838 Iowa had 4,873 school districts, 21,156 members of boards of education, and 26,215 teachers, Dr. Swisher declared.

Petition Filed To Reopen Receivership

State Officials Say Farmers Loan Co. Has Further Assets

D. W. Bates, superintendent of banking of Iowa, filed a petition in district court yesterday to reopen receivership of the defunct

Farmers Loan and Trust company of which Ben S. Summerwill was examiner in charge. The company was placed in receivership about Jan. 4, 1932. It was a liquidation receivership, whereby the assets of the Farmers Loan and Trust company were marshalled and liquidated, and the proceeds of liquidation distributed to the depositors and other creditors. Receivership was closed in April, 1939, and Summerwill discharged as receiver, according to records.

The petition in part states "that it now appears that there are now further additional assets belonging to said receivership, and which should be realized upon for the benefit of depositors and other creditors of the said Farmers Loan and Trust company, which this petitioner did not know at the time the said order of April 26, 1939 was entered, and did not discover until recently. The said assets which should be recovered, as heretofore alleged, arise out of the following circumstances:

"That among the assets of the said Farmers Loan and Trust company at the time of going into receivership were bonds of the Iowa apartments of Iowa City, Iowa, of the par value of $19,500, which bonds were carried by the said Farmers Loan and Trust company and by the receivership, on the books at their face value. That said bonds were part of the total bond issue outstanding, in the amount of $105,000.

"That in the fall of 1933, an action of foreclosure was instituted in the district court to foreclose the mortgage or trust indenture securing said bonds, and on Jan. 10, 1934, real estate and property covered by said mortgage or trust indenture, the subject of said foreclosure, was sold at sheriff's sale for the sum of $25,000, the purchaser thereunder being one Van Vechten Shaffer of Cedar Rapids.

"That Van Vechten Shaffer appears to have been a representative of the Merchants National bank was the holder of bonds of the said Iowa apartments, incorporated, in the amount of $19,500 par value, the same amount as held by the receivership of the Farmers Loan and Trust company. That immediately subsequent to the sheriff's sale, a group of bondholders representing the total par value of the bonds, approximately $66,000, arranged to contribute the $25,000 bid for said property by the said Van Vechten Shaffer, said contributions to be in the same ratio as their bond holdings.

"That on or about Feb. 2, 1934, Ben S. Summerwill, the examiner in charge, in the name of this petitioner, on application made to the court, obtained an order of this court authorizing the purchase of bonds from other bond holders, and further authorizing the receiver to contribute to the $25,000 bid at the sheriff's sale in proportion to their holdings in bonds.

"That at about said time the receivership of the Farmers Loan and Trust company purchased from the Merchants National bank the $19,500 of bonds owned by them, and paid therefor the sum of $3,900. That at about the same time the said Ben S. Summerwill delivered a check to Don McComas, in the amount of $15,476.18, said amount being the pro rata share of the receivership, for making contribution on the basis of the receivership being the holder of bonds in the aggregate amount of $39,000.

"The contributions of the balance of $25,000 was made by the balance of the holders of approximately $66,000 worth of bonds, and after the payment of the court costs of said foreclosure action, there was left for distribution to the holders of the outstanding $105,000 worth of bonds the sum of $23,769 and thereupon John A. Schneider, trustee under said foreclosure, distributed the said $23,769 pro rata among the $105,000 outstanding bondholders.

"That in the course of the said distribution there was received by the said Ben S. Summerwill for and on behalf of the receivership, the sum of $8,986.74, the payment being made on or about April 4, 1934, representing the share of $39,000 par value of bonds in $23,769 distributed among the holders of $105,000 outstanding bonds."

The petition continues "that said Ben S. Summerwill upon the receipt of the sum of $8,986.74, did not credit same on the books of the receivership against the amount at which the same bonds were carried on the books, and charge of the balance of the carrying charge as a loss, but Ben S. Summerwill proceeded to make the entries thereof on the receipt of said sum, in the following manner:

Sale of bonds for cash $3,900
Recovery of advances $1,186.74
"That on the same date the said examiner in charge made an entry on the books of the receivership charging $15,600 to loss on securities sold."

Further in the petition is stated "that on or about Sept. 8, 1934, Ben S. Summerwill, in the name of this petitioner, as receiver, but without the actual knowledge of this petitioner, filed in this court an application for orders wherein he asked for authority to sell the bond account in the Iowa apartments, which he stated was their pro rata share of the sheriff's sale therein, for the sum of $14,289.44, and on the same date secured an exparte order in this court authorizing, empowering and directing him to sell it whenever deemed advisable and possible, for the said amount of $14,289.44. That neither said application nor order stated as to whom it was expected that the purported sale would be made.

"That during the period from approximately Jan. 8, 1936, to Aug. 29, 1939, the said Iowa apartments have paid dividends totaling $36 a share, and that said Ben S. Summerwill has received in dividends on the 390 shares of stock standing in his name on the books of the corporation, the sum of $14,030.

"That Ben S. Summerwill, as examiner in charge of the Farmers Loan and Trust company, was acting in the capacity of trustee and fiduciary, and that as said fiduciary he was under an obligation, both in law and in equity, to deal with the assets of the company in such a manner as to promote the best interests of the depositors and other creditors of the company, and that he was under the duty to refrain from dealing with himself as an individual in any manner detrimental to the best interests of the said trusts, and particularly was he under a duty and obligation not to deal with himself in any manner as to bring profit to himself by reason of the fiduciary relationship which he occupied.

"That the acts of Ben S. Summerwill in dealing with himself as set out, were fraudulent in law and in equity, and were in violation of his duties as examiner in charge of the Farmers Loan and Trust company, and by accepting and taking the property in the manner set out, he committed a fraud upon the said receivership and upon the creditors thereof. That by reason of the matters hereinbefore alleged, he not only deprived the receivership of the sum of $1,186.74, but he also secured for himself property, or an interest in property, of the value in excess of $16,000.

"That this petitioner believes that it is his duty to require Ben S. Summerwill to properly account, by reason of matters set out, and to that end this petition is made for the reopening of said receivership."

The petition was signed by Bates, Fred D. Everett, attorney general, and Floyd Philbrick, assistant attorney general.

Firemen Beat Path

Three Minor Fires Keep Firemen Busy In Answering Calls

Members of the fire department almost wore a path in their front driveway yesterday in answer to three minor calls throughout the city.

The first fire was reported at the C. Urban Kelly residence, 601 S. Governor street, at 11 a.m. yesterday. Flame from the blowtorch of a workman removing paint from the side of the house was believed responsible for the small blaze which started on the outer wall. The fire department reported only small fire and smoke damage.

Burning leaves were responsible for the second fire yesterday at 12:45 p.m., near the home of Mrs. Bertha M. Geiger, 213 E. Market street.

A similar fire, burning grass, reported later in the afternoon, was extinguished by firemen.

There are 75 varieties of fancy mice bred in the United States and England, and additional varieties are being bred and developed to true strains from time to time.

Ten Cornhuskers To Compete In Johnson County Contest

Judges Pick Farm Of Fred Stock As Site For October 23

Ten corn huskers will compete in the Johnson county corn husking contest to be held at 9 a.m. Oct. 23 on the Fred Stock farm in Lincoln township, Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, announced yesterday.

Entered in this year's contest are Charles P. Stover, last year's champion; Harry C. Breneman, Nichols, and Arthur Schuessler, Lone Tree, both winners of previous Johnson county contests.

Other entries to date include Raymond L. Kile, West Liberty; Bill Spratt, Oxford; Cleo Ruf, R.F.D. 6; Harley Watkinson, R.F.D. 5, and Harold Aubrecht, R.F.D. 5.

Judges Select Field

Chairman A. B. Thomas and Jesse Fuhrmeister of the judges and general committee, and Gardner selected the field for the contest Wednesday after an inspection of Johnson county farms.

The location of the Stock farm is nine miles east of Iowa City on highway No. 6, turning south one-half mile on the first road after passing the Scott church, Gardner said.

A carnival motif will be used at the farm where refreshments will be served from stands on the grounds during the husking.

Rain Will Be Starter

Joe G. Rain will act as official starter and time keepers will be Frank Sullivan and Glenn Hope. The committee taking 100 pound samples includes Stanley Beranek, Will Warren, Frank Colony and George Black.

Other committees include R. N. Spencer, Glenn Burr, Fremont Isaacs and Omar Yoder, husk weighing; H. J. Dane, Leon Petzel and Lee Schwimley, parking; Vernon Burr, Emil Meyer and Leonard Stock, lands, teams and wagon, with Ed Opfell, chairman;

W. H. Simpson Takes Job As Acting Manager

Although a new manager for the local Iowa State Employment office has not yet been announced by the State Unemployment Compensation commission, the local office is continuing its usual functions at the present with William H. Simpson as the acting manager.

Simpson is regularly the traveling representative of the local office for Johnson, Iowa and Cedar counties, but since the manager's position was vacated last Sunday by the sudden death of Nyle Jones, who had been manager since 1933, Simpson is assuming the position until the state office announces the new manager.

H. Vestermark Files Denial

County Attorney Harold Vestermark yesterday filed a firm denial on behalf of the Johnson county board of supervisors to three petitions filed recently in district court by county tavern owners who have objected to revocation of their beer permits.

Acting for the defendants, Vestermark's answer denied every charge brought through a petition and amendments of the tavern owners, Victor Oliva, Arthur Smith and Mrs. Ellen Stimmel.

The amendments, filed by Plaintiff Attorney E. A. Baldwin, stated that revocation of the permits is unconstitutional, contrary to the "due process" clause.

Judge James P. Gaffney, who heard the case in district court here more than a week ago, has suspended a decision until proper investigation has been made.

Dr. Jenkinson Shows Slides At Club Meeting

Dr. Harry Jenkinson used slides to illustrate his lecture, "Wild Flowers I Have Known," before the weekly meeting of the Rotary club in the Jefferson hotel yesterday.

Dr. Jenkinson's slides were made from pictures which he had taken throughout the state of Iowa, for the most part dealing with the wild plant life of this state.

Guests at the meeting included Dr. George Albright, Gordon Kent and L. A. Ware, all of Iowa City, and Reed Wilson, W. C. Odell, Bell Barrow and Otto A. Kohl, all of Cedar Rapids.

The idea of a community recreational center and program for the youth of Iowa City grew from the thinking and vision of a number of leading Iowa Citizens and one forward-looking woman's organization.

The concern of a city librarian for the welfare of a large number of girls and boys who apparently had many empty hours of leisure time to while away, a probation officer's conviction that a recreational program for the young people of our community would be a prime factor in helping prevent juvenile delinquency, an initial contribution of $500 by the Iowa City Woman's club, the action of other civic leaders in helping to establish such a program resulted in the establishing of the first local recreational center in the early part of 1934.

The first recreational board members were fortunate in obtaining the services of a competent and conscientious director in formal game room at the center is equipped with several ping pong tables, a junior size pocket billiard table, game tables for a variety of card games, but which are also diagramed for checkers and Three-in-a-Row or Old Mill, carom and Chinese check boards and counter equipment for a number of other special table games suitable for youngsters of all ages.

The local PTA council has for the past several years supplied the center corner library with a list of the finest youth magazines. A craft shop well equipped with power tools for the boy with wood-working interests was added to the center during the past year with the assistance of the local Kiwanis club members.

Up until about six months ago when the center was moved to the present quarters in the community building, the indoor program was hampered by an inadequate amount of separation of space. Yet with small and unattractive indoor quarters, the youngsters of Iowa City participated in the program in large numbers and for each indoor season of the past two years, more than 600 girls and boys, ranging in age from 8 to 18 years, have registered for the various activities offered.

Many athletic coaches hold that a "good offense is the best defense." Let the recreational "offense" in our city be our best defense against the destructive forces of idle hours.

There may be Community Chest subscribers who do not realize that the summer playground program is also operated and financed by the recreational center board. Three outdoor play centers were operated last summer. Attendance at the 1937 playground amounted to 6,131; 1938, 13,831; and 1939, 15,329.

The greater number of group interests a community recreational program can effectively foster, the more of constructive value it becomes to the community. Past years have seen the work of the recreational center hampered by the lack of satisfactory quarters; yet the number of lives it has touched and the scope of its program have increased many times over.

The center's new quarters in the reconstructed community building give promise of offering an almost ideal indoor recreational setup to the young people of Iowa City. And more, the new quarters open up the possibilities for a fine adult program.

Judging from the experiences of many other communities, it can be safely predicted that once the groupings of our community have taken part themselves in such a program they will not relinquish it.

the person of Luella Reckmeyer, now treasurer of the board, who gave a fine account of her services to the community in laying the foundation for an effective program.

From the beginning the recreation board members have held as their purpose and offered to the community a competently supervised program of worthwhile leisure time activities free of charge for all youths of Iowa City.

The local recreational program operates as an indoor, centralized program during the school seasons of fall, winter and spring, and as an out-of-doors playground program during the vacation months of the summer.

Five years ago the indoor program of the recreational center was conducted in one room quarters with a small amount of equipment, two part time student assistants and a part time director. The program at present needs and uses the services of a full time director, five full time WPA recreation leaders, an average of seven part time NYA student leaders assigned to the work by the university and a number of volunteer leaders who assist in their various fields of interest during the course of a year.

Community Chest bookkeepers have a simplified method of separating potential subscribers separated on their files.

Each of the eight divisions of subscribers is filed under a different color, so that a name may be found in shorter time. The divisions and their card color are as follows: business houses, yellow; employes, pink; public schools, green; national firms, brown; professional groups, gray; hospitals and the college of medicine, orange; university, blue; and residences, white.

The colored cards are to be sent to the various subscribers, duplicates of which are retained in the files, J. J. Sawner, director, explained.

Cards of all divisions offer any of three methods of paying the subscription. Employees' cards contain the three following ways:

1. I request and authorize my employer to deduct the proportionate amount from my pay each week or month.
2. I will pay my subscription direct to the Iowa City Community Chest.
3. I will pay quarterly, during the year starting January 1, 1940.

All divisions will be canvassed beginning Tuesday, Swamer said, by more than 180 solicitors appointed this week by the eight divisional directors.
