Hawkeyes Try For Second Conference Win Today

63 to 30 Vote Ends 4 Weeks Of Hot Debate

Badger Power Pitted Against Hawk Speed

Absence of Walker Handicaps Old Gold; Wisconsin Crippled

By OSCAR HARGRAVE Daily Iowan Sports Editor

MADISON, Wis. (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Wisconsin's much, but not badly, wounded Badger crouched in his den tonight and snarled defiance at the sharp clawed Hawk that plans invasion of this fair of Badgers tomorrow. Some 25,000 of the faithful plan attendance at the Dad's day test of Coach Harry Stuhldreher's eleven.

Kinnick vs. Paskvan And test it is, for there are doubts hereabouts of Wisconsin's ability to halt the sharpshooting Nile Kinnick and his fleetfooted backfield compatriots, although there is a sort of expectation that roaring George Paskvan may be the man to outshine Kinnick. It is, after all, a contest between the crushing power that Wisconsin might loose and the deadly swiftness of Hawkeye thrusts.

There is power in the Badger team, which will average 203 pounds to Iowa's 187, but this superiority in power may be outweighed by the sparkling Iowa offensive.

Like the Hawkeyes, handicapped by the loss of Jim Walker, Wisconsin is crippled and will play without Bob Holloway, regular guard, whose place will be filled by Kolbusz, and Bill Schmitz, former Hawkeye nemesis, who gives way to Bob Peterson at left halfback.

Expect Pasning Dual There is a passing dual prospect, with the Badgers planning to fight Iowa's fire with fire of its own, but the Badgers depend on Paskvan's running for most of their yardage, for the 200 pound fullback has gained 160 yards in the last two games.

War Secretary Denounces U.S. War Fatalists

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring struck out tonight at those who "pronounce the inevitability of our entrance into this second world war" and declared that to create such a psychology "is to deny that most Americans are convinced that our democratic form of government can be maintained only through continuance of peace."

"There is no man in public life today," he told the national guard association in a broadcast address (WJZ-NBC), "who is more determined than your secretary of war that your sons and my sons shall not march forth to war!"

Those who say war is inevitable "arouse suspicion among our more gullible citizens toward the effort of the federal government to assure complete neutrality," he asserted. "They breed mistrust in the determination of the national administration definitely to assure peace for the western hemisphere."

Omaha Negro Signs Statement Admitting Mutilation Murder

Police Get Suspect In Carroll County; Waives Extradition

CARROLL, Ia., Oct. 27 (AP) — Sheriff Tom Finegan said tonight Jeff Lowe, Omaha Negro also known as Jerry Lloyd, had signed a statement admitting he killed and mutilated Mrs. Abraham Schwazickin, 43, wife of an Omaha synagogue cantor, at her home yesterday.

The killing and dismemberment of the woman resulted from an argument about $8, the sheriff said the Negro related in the statement.

Lowe waived extradition and returned to Omaha tonight with officers of that city.

A first degree murder charge is on file against him there as a result of the killing.

Lowe signed the statement a few hours after he was taken into custody at nearby Glidden as he sought food at a house.

Sheriff Finegan said Lowe's statement was being put in writing and that the Negro had indicated he would sign it tonight, after which he would be returned to face a first degree murder charge in connection with the slaying.

Lowe told Sheriff Finegan, the officer related, that in Omaha he was known as Jerry Lloyd, and that he had been married there under that name.

The Negro was taken into custody at Glidden as he sought food at a house. He was arrested by Town Marshal Jack Carty. All Carroll county law enforcement officers were hunting through the county for the suspect at the time.

Pope Assails 'Force' Nations

Directs Opening Encyclical Toward World Christianity

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, in the first encyclical of his pontificate, today assailed governments in which civil authority "puts itself in the place of the almighty and elevates the state or group into the last end of life."

"It is quite true that power based on such weak and unsteady foundations can attain at times under chance circumstances material successes apt to arouse wonder in superficial observers," he acknowledged.

"But the moment comes," he warned, "when the inevitable law triumphs, which strikes down all that has been constructed upon a hidden or open disproportion between the greatness of the material and outward success and the weakness of the inward value and of its moral foundation."

The pontiff, who said his first encyclical was "directed to the whole Christian people scattered over the world," offered his consolation to conquered Poland, condemned treaty violations and resorts to force and offered his support for peace efforts.

Those who say war is inevitable "arouse suspicion among our more gullible citizens toward the effort of the federal government to assure complete neutrality," he asserted. "They breed mistrust in the determination of the national administration definitely to assure peace for the western hemisphere."

THAT OLD QUERY DID I EVER SHOW YOU MY OPERATION?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eddie Cantor, the comedian with the goo-goo eyes, put on an impromptu show for a dozen stenographers in the White House lobby.

Emerging from a call on President Roosevelt, the actor saw the crowd of girls waiting for autographs. Before they could reach him, however, Cantor stretched out on a large table in the lobby, half opened his shirt and asked if they wanted to see his operation. Cantor then signed about a dozen slips of paper, posed for photographers and departed.

Believe Bandit Car Sighted

Officers Say Sedan Of Bankrobber Was Seen Near Cresco

McINTIRE, Ia., Oct. 27 (AP)—A speeding sedan which ran through a highway stop sign 15 miles east of here this afternoon gave officers their only important clue tonight to the bandit who held up the Aetna Savings Bank and escaped at 11 a. m. with between $500 and $600 in cash.

The car was seen near Cresco, Iowa, at the junction of highways 9 and 63 shortly after noon.

The state bureau of criminal investigation in Des Moines announced that the car "may have some connection with the McIntire bank robbery this morning." It was believed to have turned off on a gravel road.

A lone bandit, polite and "smooth-working," held up R. D. Williams, Aetna bank cashier, and Grace O'Brien, bookkeeper, when they were alone in the bank this morning.

"Give me what money you have in the drawer and make it snappy," he told Williams, pointing a revolver at him.

Miss O'Brien declared the robbery happened "so suddenly, we hardly knew what was happening."

The man walked out the front door of the bank, and both victims lost sight of him immediately. Officers, however, believe the man had an accomplice outside the bank and that both escaped in a car.

It was the second bank robbery in Iowa this year, a bandit escaping with $2,100 from a branch bank at Clearfield, Iowa, last June 30.

Germans Report City of Flint In North Sea

BERLIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The American freighter City of Flint which Germany claims as a war prize was reported tonight to be making a precarious voyage down the North Sea toward Hamburg in possession of a German crew.

The exchange resulted from the Dies committee's act in making public the names of 563 government employees alleged to be on a membership and mailing list of the American League for peace and democracy. Dies has branded this league as a "communist front organization," a charge denied by league officials.

Voices Determination To Expose 'Reds' In U. S. Positions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)— Accused by President Roosevelt of employing "sordid procedure," Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committee on un-American activities replied today that he was merely determined to expose "communists in key federal positions."

The exchange resulted from the Dies committee's act in making public the names of 563 government employees alleged to be on a membership and mailing list of the American League for peace and democracy. Dies has branded this league as a "communist front organization," a charge denied by league officials.

Iowan Photographer Creates Diversion As 'Fake' Queen

Sallie Taylor, A4, of Joliet, Ill., was presented last night as the first Pica Queen in the history of the university. Miss Taylor was presented at the annual Pica Ball last night in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Preceding the presentation of the real queen, John Mueller, A3 of Iowa City, The Daily Iowan photographer, caused a sudden diversion by bursting out onto the balcony where the presentation was to take place. Mr. Mueller was clad in a red satin evening gown and yellow curls. Loren Hickerson, A4 of Iowa City, chairman of the Pica Ball committee, escorted Mr. Mueller from the balcony and later presided at the presentation of the real queen.

Miss Taylor was selected earlier yesterday by the committee in charge of the dance. Bill Carlson and his orchestra played for last night's affair, the second all-university party of the current season.

New Cornell Head Foresees Internal Distress

MY GOODNESS! TRAIN SPEEDS THROUGH NO-MAN'S-LAND

BASEL, Switzerland, Oct. 27 (AP)—The arrival of a French train which steamed right through no-man's-land caused more excitement in this border city for a while today than all the reports of impending big offensives on the western front.

A guard at the deserted French side of the international station saw the train coming up from France and did a Paul Revere dash to the Swiss side to gasp out the news to the authorities.

Reich, French Troops Clash

Germans Reportedly Strengthen Western Patrol Movements

PARIS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Clashes of increasing intensity between German and French combat patrols were reported tonight on the western front between the Rhine and the Moselle rivers.

Reports from the front said the Germans were strengthening their patrol action, which was said to be passing from a preliminary reconnaissance phase, in which groups of four or five scouts were used, to action involving combat patrols of about 50 men. The fighting was about equally divided between French and German soil and carried on in bitter cold weather.

The night communique told of increasing activity of advance guards in contact along the 100-mile front and added that artillery fire from both sides was increasing.

Some points of no-man's-land, which varies from about 500 yards to a mile and a half in width, are almost entirely within France, while others are on the German side of the frontier.

The German combat patrols were said to be led by Grenschultz troops who are natives of the frontier region and know every forest trail and every hill and valley.

The French studied carefully reports of their intelligence service on German troop dispositions for indications of the Germans' intentions. These reports said the Nazi forces were in six great concentrations running from the Italian frontier to Denmark with one in reserve.

Coast Guard Vessels Answer Distress Call

Soviet Orders 'City of Flint' Out of Port

Says Vessel Left Murmansk in Same Status as on Entry

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP) —Russia informed United States officials tonight that she had acted according to international law and the "obligations of a neutral" in ordering the captured American freighter City of Flint to leave her territory with a German prize crew in charge.

Laurence A. Steinhardt, United States ambassador, who relayed this message from Moscow, said he had been informed that the vessel had been ordered out of Murmansk in the "same status as she entered," that is, with the prize crew in charge, the American crew on board, and the cargo intact.

The United States had demanded possession of the American vessel, which had been seized by a German raider as a contraband carrier, and taken to Murmansk. However, Vladimir Potemkin, assistant commissar of foreign affairs, told Steinhardt today that to accede to the American demand "would be an unneutral act."

Steinhardt's report came after a day in which the state department had received very little official information about the City of Flint. Informed quarters in Russia had reported the departure of the vessel from Murmansk, but there had been some doubt as to whether it was in charge of the German crew.

The American ambassador advised that he had reiterated "my indignation at the lack of cooperation by the soviet government in withholding information from me while issuing communiques with respect to the City of Flint through the medium of the Tass agency (soviet news agency)."

Potemkin replied that Tass was an official agency of the soviet government and that it was the custom of his government to make announcements through it.

It was after the formal demand for return of the vessel and her cargo, Steinhardt said, that Potemkin told him it had been decided "to send her out in the same status as she had entered one of the ports."

The ambassador added that Potemkin told him the decision was final. Steinhardt's dispatch did not say, however, whether the ship had yet sailed, though he reported that the soviet commissar told him the order for the German crew to take the vessel out of Murmansk was effective immediately.

Steinhardt said that in response to his inquiries as to the welfare of the American crew, Potemkin told him it was his understanding that they had been on board the ship all the time and were well.

Bill Permits Warring Nations To Purchase All Goods For Cash

By RICHARD L. TURNER WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)— Voting overwhelmingly to repeal the arms embargo, the senate tonight approved the administration neutrality bill and sent it on to the house, where the proponents of the measure claim a small but safe majority.

The 63 to 30 vote for the measure was the climax of four weeks debate in the senate and a discussion which has raged up and down the nation as a whole since the war in Europe began.

The bill would permit the belligerents of Europe to buy American products of any kind, with the restriction that in general they must pay cash, and must provide foreign ships for transporting their purchases across the Atlantic.

To Prevent "Incidents" Further, it is intended to insulate the United States from war, by laying down conditions designed to prevent "incidents" likely to inflame public opinion or tending otherwise to drag this country into the conflict.

For this purpose it forbids American ships to sail for belligerent ports in the danger areas, or to enter "combat" zones to be demarcated by the president, and prohibits American citizens to travel on belligerent ships.

Four weeks of debate had so fully covered the issue of the embargo, that when the senate reached the point at which it was confronted with what Senator Clark (D-Mo) called the "nailed issue of whether we should have an embargo or not," the legislators finally found that they had nothing more to say.

The vote on repeal, presented by Clark in the form of an amendment to insert an embargo into the present bill, showed 60 senators for repeal and 33 against it. However, three of those who voted to retain the embargo, felt obliged to support the bill on final passage. They were Senators Gillette (D-Ia), Reed (R-Kan), and Johnson (D-Col). Thus the vote on the final passage was 63 to 30.

Three senators were absent, but their position was announced by colleagues. Of them, Glass (D-Va) and Ashurst (D-Ariz), were for the bill, and Bone (D-Wash) was against. Counting all the senate, then, the final vote was 65 to 31, with the administration receiving almost exactly the number of votes it estimated would go to it when the session began five weeks ago.

Final Day Quiet For the most part the final day of the debate was a quiet and expeditious killing of one opposition amendment after another, mostly by the approximate two-to-one majorities that showed themselves on the final vote. The senate was obviously impatient to be done with the subject, yet for the most part was cheerful and good natured. One exception to that, however, was a bluntly worded personal exchange between two old foes of the issue, Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the foreign relations committee and Senator Clark (D-Mo).

In the house, as was the case in the senate, the central issue obviously will be repealing the present embargo on arms, ammunition and implements of war to nations at war. Senate opponents of such action have repeatedly denounced it as a "step toward war."

How that issue is to be approached has not yet been definitely decided by the house leadership, but they lean toward a plan which would afford the house a separate vote on the embargo question.

Germans 'Unmoved' By Senate Vote

BERLIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The United States senate's approval of repeal of the arms embargo today caused no surprise in official circles here.

Official comment was lacking, a foreign office spokesman saying that the legislation as finally adopted must be studied before any possible effect on the course of the war could be appraised.

Times Change, Don't They?

WE WERE looking through a file of ours the other day and it occurred to us that sometimes files are interesting. We thought, "My how times change!" when we read this:

Disarmament. Disarmament conferences. Disarmament: Naval. Disarmament: China. Disarmament: France. Disarmament: Germany. Disarmament: Great Britain. Disarmament: Italy. Disarmament: Japan. Disarmament: Russia. Disarmament: United States. The last item in that particular index was quite a joke. "Disarmament: World."

Now we're debating whether to close the file, or to be optimistic and leave it open for additions.

Pope Pius Appeals Again For Peace

THE HOPE of Pope Pius for peace was a false hope. Now, the Pope has made a plea that the armistice which comes at the end of this war will bring forth treaties "which would avoid the sacrifices and sufferings which failed to bring lasting peace in the past."

It is the hope of many of the peoples of the earth that the close of this war may be the close of all war. As gossamer as this thread of hope appears, man will never cease hoping for the display of intelligence that man claims.

The last war brought forth statements from those who wanted lasting peace. But even their pleas were rejected.

Pleas for something more than a short "armistice" will be made throughout these months to come. There is much hope in the world, among political leaders as much as from church leaders, that some effort will be made to stop such foolish waste as is war.

We join with the Pope in this expression for something besides intermittent warfare as an amusement for mankind. We hope that this new plea of the Pontiff will be heard by those who have it within their power to lift nations to higher levels of morality.

America Saw This Coming Once!

IT WAS inevitable that a story like that of the capture of the "City of Flint" would receive banner headlines in the newspapers. It certainly was not because the ship being captured was as important as that. A number of other American ships have been searched by both British and German crews. But the nature of the capture was so unusual as to make this an outstanding story; it is regrettable if the large play given the story incites careless readers.

The incident, however, will have direct bearing on American action. The isolationists can well be provoked by it, since this incident is speeding the congress work on neutrality legislation.

It was to prevent such incidents and the effect they have in inflaming public sentiment, that the cash-and-carry provision of the bill was written into the peace act which expired in May.

It is encouraging that American reaction to the capture of the City of Flint has not been to become emotionally aroused over the capture, but rather to question the advisability of the ship's being in the danger zone.

There is little doubt left but that sentiment of the public is to want steps taken to prevent, insofar as possible, the recurrence of such events.

It is important that we remember not to get aroused over such incidents. We can not expect a nation at war to respect the "rights" of a nation which is assisting an enemy. The success of the senate vote on the neutrality legislation becomes imperative for American security.

Even though our own ships are forced to lay up in dry docks, there is no reason why we should interfere to an extent that we become involved in this dubious battle of Europe's states.

The "City of Flint" serves as an example of what can happen to American ships; that which we failed to do in peace times—the enactment of the cash-and-carry measure—should be done now.

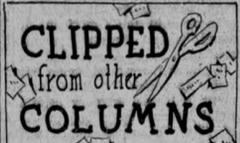

Democracy: A Problem For Educators

EDUCATORS in America must face the sobering fact that largely upon them rests the future of democracy. The principles upon which this nation was built are seriously being challenged within and without the country. It is only when the youth of America learns what the bases of Americanism really are that they will be able to withstand the subtle forces which tend to destroy. No Dies committee will ever work a miracle.

The democracy which we believe in today may not be the democracy of tomorrow. It is futile to attempt to preserve intact the ideals of a previous era. But it is the solemn duty of educators in America to train the youth of today to think for themselves so that they will be able to adequately fend for themselves in the times to come. We cannot expect to retain some form of democracy unless we train ourselves for that task.

Whatever the future holds, it is inconceivable that America will ever willingly surrender the basic spirit of democracy. But it is conceivable that unless America propagandizes her virtues with the same enthusiasm that her European neighbors propagandize their so-called virtues the youth of today may grow up philosophically ignorant of the system under which they live. In ignorance lies the potential seed of change.

Democracy did not spring full grown from the minds of the revolutionary fathers. It was a long time developing; it is, as yet, not fully developed.

ZANE GREY'S LAST TRAIL. There will be those who will mourn the passing of Zane Grey as an outstanding American man of letters. Others will remember him as a great sportsman, performing amazing feats with rod and reel. Perhaps he should be remembered as a great industrialist.

Zane Grey made the production of western fiction a great and profitable industry. He developed a product that millions came to regard as a household necessity; he standardized it, and put it into mass production. Like the parts of a Ford motorcar, the parts of one Zane Grey novel could be interchanged with parts of another, and both, after sputtering a bit, would run smoothly.

The big fight from "The Last Trail" could be riveted onto the chassis of "The Spirit of the Border." The tender love scene from "The Light of Western Stars" could be fitted into "Riders of the Purple Sage"—or vice versa. There were new Zane Grey models once a year—sometimes twice a year, but the consumer always knew what he was getting.

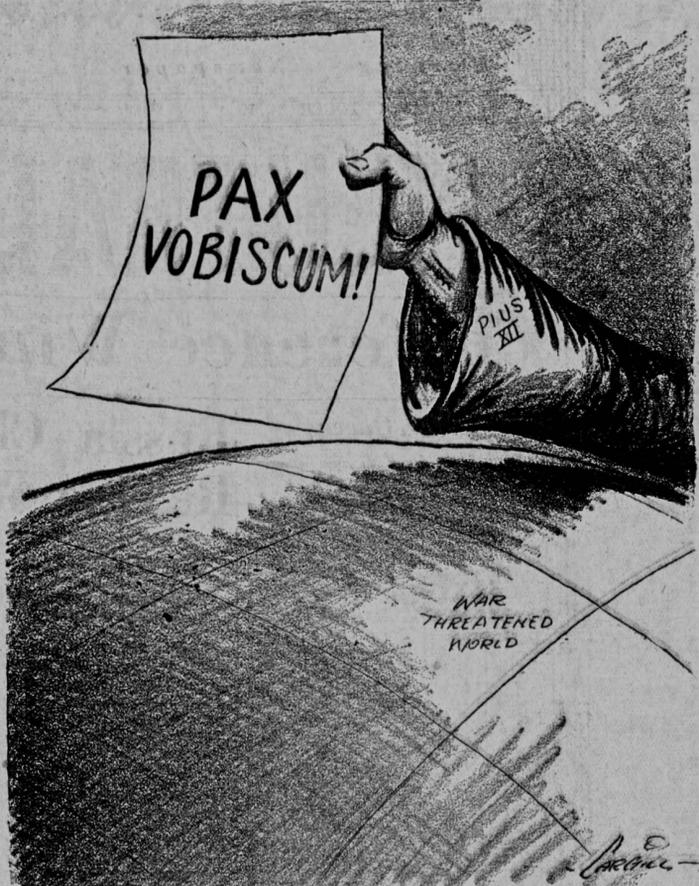

No subtlety of plot, or characterization; no felicity of phrase characterized Zane Grey's stories of the wide-open spaces where men are men, and a man's best friend is his horse. There was never any doubt as to who was the villain or who was the hero. There was never any doubt that right would triumph, and that the final chapter would find the cowboy and the gal riding slowly side by side into the sunset in search of a parson.

Literary critics will continue—justifiably—to ignore Zane Grey. But social historians of the machine age cannot well afford to. He may have been merely a minor phenomenon of the era of mass production, but through mass production methods he afforded millions some measure of escape from the drab, regimented conformity that the machine age produced. His stories never depicted life as it was; but they painted an alluring picture of life as it might have been.

They made it possible for millions to ride hard, vicariously; to think fast, shoot straight, and to triumph over insurmountable odds.

A MESSAGE TO ALL MEN AND ALL CREEDS!

Stewart Says The United States Is Arming On Principle That Strength Will Guarantee Peace

Uncle Sam is developing considerable military, naval and aviation activity. The army's being enlarged. Our fighting fleet is being strengthened. Our air force is being stimulated. Our industrial equipment is being keyed up to meet possible war-time requirements.

Chairman Key Pittman and Sol Bloom, respectively of the senate and house foreign relations committees, just now are the two busiest legislators in Washington, but next to them, in point of activity, are Chairman Morris Sheppard and Andrew J. May of the senate and house military affairs committees and Chairman David I. Walsh and Carl Vinson of the senate and house naval affairs committees.

The theory is that a country which is so strong as to be hopelessly dangerous to tackle is pretty sure to be left in peace; that a weak country is sure to be imposed on. The counter-argument is that a very strong country is likely to be tempted to use its strength aggressively. Of course, it will say it's using it defensively, but pacifists maintain that it's hard to tell the difference.

It can be reasoned either way. Potentially strong but actually unarmed China can be jumped on by essentially weaker but better-prepared Japan. Germany, loaded for bear, isn't afraid to go to the mat with anybody. Maybe

TUNING IN with D. Mac Showers

CAL TINNEY, who starts his new "Youth vs. Age" series over the NBC-Blue network today, has been booked for an appearance at the Philadelphia Auto show the last week of this month.

ILKA CHASE, noted actress, will try her luck at gag-busting when she guests with Milton Berle on the "Stop Me if You've Heard This One" program tonight at 7:30 over the NBC-Red network.

MILDRED BAILEY'S second appearance on Benny Goodman's Saturday program resulted in such an enthusiastic reaction from the listeners that the "Queen of Swing" will join the "King of Swing" on the air as a regular attraction commencing tonight when the show takes the air at 9 o'clock over NBC-Red.

Miss Bailey, who has been prominent as a jazz and blues singer ever since she left a 10-cent store place to become a professional, possesses a voice that blends beautifully with the Goodman music. Her rich, throaty tones contrast with the full instrumental rhythms of Benny Goodman's orchestra.

THE SONGSTRESS will sing many of her famous songs as well as new numbers that will be especially arranged for her to do in conjunction with the orchestra.

Back to the "Stop Me if You've Heard This One" program of tonight, a flash just informs us that the guest orchestra on the show will be Teddy Powell's redhot aggregation.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ and his wife, Lily Pons, again proved their tremendous drawing power, evidenced on previous concert tours, when they smashed all previous Saturday attendance records with their joint appearance at the San Francisco island fair last Saturday.

Kostelanetz is currently broadcasting his "Tune-Up Time" programs via CBS from Hollywood where he is completing an acting role in "Music in My Heart" for which he also scored the music. His programs are on Monday nights at 7 o'clock.

AROUND THE TOWN

LIFTED LEFT EYEBROW. There's one dubious paragraph in that widely quoted New York Sun editorial about the advantages of being an American. Among the freedoms listed, there's this—"His military training, an R. O. T. C. course in college, he took because it excused him from the gym course, and it was not compulsory."

The city hall appears to be fortified against all comers at any time. There, too, the flag flies all night of late.

The Cedar Rapids agitation for a teacher's tenure law has a promising sound. For example, it took courage for that political science prof to give the not-brilliant daughter of the state's best-known legislator a "D." Even when it should have been an "F."

Joe Lash will be in Washington Nov. 21, representing the 20,000 undergraduates who are American Student Union members. He'll be appearing before the Martin Dies committee. But Joe has ammunition ready.

Night before there'll be a mass-meeting of several thousand New York collegians. Joe will speak, and he'll outline the four-year record of the ASU.

He'll point to the consistent fight for larger NYA grants (a drive that brought the present upswing in youth appropriations).

He'll mention the fights for academic freedom, the organization of student workers, the battle for a continuation of the new deal in 1939 (and again in '40). The drive against compulsory military training. For civil liberties and racial equality. Against the M-day plans and for more WPA, better housing, the Wagner health bill.

Lash will finish off by saying, "If this be treason, make the most of it." And undoubtedly Martin Dies will.

Just in case they expose us, I'm one of the 20,000. And a registered member of the democratic party, thanks. Undoubtedly the group those investigators represent will be calling that "un-American" any week now.

One of the campus faculty leaders turned down the presidency of one of America's biggest universities. He expects to be an executive nearer at home.

Midland House is more than an idea by now. The fifth and sixth volumes to be issued are already underway, and Ethan Allen's "Man's Adventure" is on its way to a second printing. The first edition is completely gone, and it hasn't been published yet. Nationally that happens about twice a year, with "Grapes of Wrath" and "Rebecca."

Apparently college graduates will have an easier time this year. In some of the technical colleges, business schools are trying to persuade upperclassmen to leave without the degree. Skilled labor is getting scarce again.

The graduate college forums have been a mild success, but only mild. Almost any forum expert knows that four round-table members are enough, five too many, eight a crowd.

The French have a phrase for it. One of the recently returned travelers reports that in Paris they say, "C'est une drole de guerre." It's a queer war.

William G. Cox, art student who spent the summer working for Walt Disney, will present the Arts and Decorations program this morning at 11.

Boni Picks Hawks To Win - Kinnick Spells Difference

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—The college football campaign, which each week has managed to produce one game of overshadowing importance, turns up another "natural" tomorrow in the meeting at Columbus between the unbeaten and untied forces of Ohio State and Cornell.

Buckeyes' stadium to see this clash, but the day's honors for attendance, once again, are due to go to Notre Dame. The Irish move into Pittsburgh, stacking their hopes for a perfect season against the embattled Skibos of Carnegie Tech, and a sellout crowd of better than 65,000 will witness the festivities.

Everything so far, but the Buckeyes will be tough on their own field, they have picked up strength with the return of line-plunger Johnny Raab, and Ohio State is the pick in a real battle.

Daily Iowan SPORTS

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1939 PAGE THREE

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 27 (Special to The Daily Iowan) - Some indication of the respect which Eddie Anderson and his Hawkeye grid team have commanded in midwest, and national, football circles can easily be gleaned from the Wisconsin publicity and from Wisconsin backers as a whole in this Badger town.

Although the Badgers, who have not made too impressive a record so far this year, rate much higher than that same record and feel that tomorrow will be their chance to break into Big Ten victory columns, they do not look upon this game as a mere parade of Badgers.

Madison will come to the game to see, besides Paskvan, Schmitz and company, a potential all-American, Nile Kinnick, along with several other Iowans. It is worthy of note that the Kinnick-Prasse pass and touchdown combination has not gone unnoticed by Badger fans.

There is also mention from this lair of the fearsome Badgers of others who have faced Wisconsin before. There is some concern at the thought of facing Russell Busk, Ed McLain and Buzz Dean, who play their part in the hard-running Iowa ground attack, and Badger fans, as well as the team, express some concern about Bill Green, heralded in the Western conference as one of America's fastest backs.

In all, it's not taken for granted that Wisconsin will win. The reputation of the Hawkeye team as a snappy ball club that strikes from any spot in the field has preceded Eddie Anderson's eleven to the Badger stronghold. Badger fans want to win, but they look for some football that will be interesting to say the least.

Badgers In Good Spirits

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 27 (AP)—In good spirits despite two successive defeats, the University of Wisconsin football team will be seeking its first conference victory when it meets Iowa here tomorrow before a Dad's Day audience of about 25,000.

Drake Wins ST. LOUIS (AP) - Drake university's Bulldogs set up nearly a dozen scoring opportunities but were held to a 12 to 0 victory by a stubborn St. Louis university eleven in a Missouri Valley conference game here tonight.

U-High Takes Decisive 19-0 Victory Over West Branch

Hightshoe Puts Spark in Blue Scoring Drives

By NED WILLIS
Daily Iowan Sports Reporter
U-High's grid machine rolled back into form yesterday afternoon by freezing out West Branch's Polar Bears, 19-0, for their third Eastern Iowa Conference victory on a muggy, wind-swept field.

U-High's Clarence Hightshoe was unstoppable. His lightning-like off-tackle thrusts and wide end runs spearheaded the northsiders' attack. Hightshoe's 55-yard touchdown jaunt after intercepting a West Branch pass was the feature of the game.

The rivermen's defense bogged down several times, enabling West Branch to advance inside the Blues' five yard line. However, the U-High line then tightened and took the ball over on downs.

Starting Lineups

U-High W. Branch
Dawson LE D. Anderson
Seelman LT Reeve
Bender LG Hansen
Bowersy RC Wright
Bridenstine RG Bowers (c)
Pelzer RT Stephenson
Means RE Cahill
Dunn QB Thomas
Hightshoe HB W. Anderson
Heye HB W. Baldrige
Canney FB Jacobs

With Hightshoe skirting right end for long runs U-High again marched deep into West Branch territory at the start of the third period. After failing to hit pay dirt on three successive line plays, Hightshoe came to the rescue with another of his end run specialties.

The last score of the game occurred early in the final period when Hightshoe grabbed a West Branch pass on his own 45, and outran two Polar Bear backs in a 55-yard jaunt. The count remained at 19-0 as the try for point failed.

Jacobs led a West Branch attack to the U-High 3 yard line late in the quarter, but four plays were not enough for the Polar Bears to score, and they lost the ball on downs.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Rabbit Maranville
- 25 Years in Majors
- Started as Catcher

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Rabbit is loose again, and nobody would be surprised much if he next bobbed up doing anything from managing a team in the Three-Eye league to playing shortstop for the 1940 world champions.

Rabbit Maranville He's one of those little guys who goes on forever, is Walter Maranville, who has just been informed that his services as manager of the Albany club no longer will be needed.

25 Years in Majors For 24 years he hopped around in the big show, his 5 foot, five inch, 146-pound chassis spitting fire and brimstone, asking no quarter and giving none. He suffered his first broken leg in 1925, and the next year the Dodgers decided he was a relic.

Started as a Catcher Oddy enough, Maranville started his baseball career as a catcher, with the Springfield, Mass., Technical high school. He started pro ball at New Bedford, Mass., and it was there the Boston Braves spotted him and bought him for $10,000.

Still Going That injury put him on the shelf as far as the majors were concerned, but he wasn't through yet by a long shot. He signed as player-manager of the Elmira team in 1936, and went to the Montreal Royals as manager in 1937.

And who also, writhing in pain from a broken leg, begged a player to knock him out with his fist. Game to the core, the Rabbit, and if he doesn't turn up next year with a pretty fair job everybody will be surprised.

St. Ambrose Victors 26-6

Overpower Nebraska State Teachers In Last Three Periods

DAVENPORT, Oct. 27 (AP)—Scoring three touchdowns in the final quarter, St. Ambrose of Davenport overpowered the Nebraska State Teachers eleven from Kearney 26 to 6 here tonight.

The Nebraska scored first after a 52-yard march in the opening quarter. Carl Meyer, left halfback, went over from the one-yard line after the drive down the field. Fahey's attempt to kick the point was blocked.

St. Ambrose went into the lead in the last eight seconds of the second period when Jim Oakey, right halfback, took a lateral from Tony Sacco and went the last five yards to the goal line. Lucier converted the point.

AMES, Ia., Oct. 27 (AP)—There was confidence in the Iowa State football camp tonight that the Cyclones would stop Missouri in the homecoming game tomorrow for which a crowd of 15,000 is expected.

Blue Devils Keep Hawklets From Scoring

Lateral Pass Spells Defeat for City High; Title Hopes Also Lost

Outcharged and outthought by a big Blue Devil line, the Iowa City high Hawklets bowed to a superior Davenport high eleven, 6 to 0, at Davenport last night.

The margin of victory was clearly the difference between the two forward walls, as Davenport, led by Warren Porter, an end, and Captain John Staak, a tackle, drifted into the Iowa City backfield time and again, not allowing the potent Little Hawk running attack to start functioning.

Varsity Track Squad Shows Pre-Season Form The varsity track squad is rapidly getting into pre-season form and soon will be ready to match strides with the best teams in the Big Ten conference.

Little Hawk Frosh, Sophomore Eleven Seek First Victory Still seeking their first victory of the season, the Little Hawk freshmen-sophomore team will take the field for the third time this year, as they meet the Franklin yearlings in Cedar Rapids this morning.

Temple Wins PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Line shattering Jonah Bowles led Temple to a 16 to 0 victory over Bucknell last night. The 190-pound fullback from Eskdale, W. Va., smashed over for both Temple's touchdowns, kicked both extra points while his punt that went out on the Bucknell one-yard line led to an automatic safety.

Harry Joho Passes Theta Xi To 30-0 Win Over Sigma Nu in Touchball Tilt

Theta Xi captured an easy victory from Sigma Nu yesterday afternoon in the intramural touch football tournament by the score of 30-0.

To Show Art of Jean Charlot In Exhibition for Public

40 Paintings, Drawings Hang In Collection

Artist Was on Staff Of Fine Arts School In Summer Session

A large exhibition of the art of Jean Charlot will be opened to the public in the art building next Wednesday. Forty paintings, plus a number of lithographs and drawings, will hang on the walls of the exhibition lounge on the first floor and the auditorium in the basement.

Charlot's paintings have been shown before in New York and Los Angeles, but this is the first time that such a large collection has been assembled in this country. The Earl of Stendahl galleries of Los Angeles have sent 30 of his recent paintings to the show, and the artist himself has forwarded from New York a shipment of canvases done previously.

Jean Charlot is already familiar to Iowans. He was one of the guest artists at the fine arts festival in Iowa City last summer. During his six-weeks stay he was on the staff of the university art department, teaching classes in fresco painting and lithography.

Although only 41 years old, Charlot has a record that is colored with many different achievements. He has been at times a university student, an army officer, an archaeologist, a writer, and a lecturer, but he has never permitted these interludes to swerve him from his career as a painter.

The 40 paintings to be displayed here are only a part of his artistic output. His frescoes are on the walls of government buildings in Mexico, and his illustrations appear in Mexican, French and American periodicals and books.

Since setting foot on American soil in 1921 he has explored the possibilities of American art from Mayan temples of Yucatan to the Hollywood studios of Wall, Jimmy. Jean Charlot was born in Paris, France, on Feb. 7, 1898. Although his birth and training were predominantly French, and his art by choice and practice Mexican, he has become thoroughly American, living and working in New York City.

Jean Charlot worked for some time in Mexico as a member of an expedition of the Carnegie institution of Washington on the Temple of Warriors at Chichon-Itza. He made a thorough study of Mayan art and fresco painting in particular, and has written articles on these subjects. In his drawings, he has interpreted Mexican life in terms of Mayan types.

At 41, Charlot is known equally well as a painter, lithographer, illustrator and teacher. His prints are owned by the Metropolitan Museum in New York and the Uffizi Gallery in Florence, Italy. Some of his frescoes are owned by the Mexican government.

Charlot is one of the leaders in the group composed of Diego Rivera, Orozco and Siquieros. It is said their work changed the course of Mexican art so much that its power was felt north of the Rio Grande. The mural art took on new life in this country and the United States government gave many the chance to try their brushes on post-office walls.

Weather Halts Tour to Amana By Freshmen

The freshman conference tour to the Amana colonies today has been postponed because of bad weather, it was announced last night by Winston Hall, A1 of Neola, chairman of the event.

Members of the 1938, 1937, 1936 and 1939 Freshman conferences were to have attended the picnic which was to leave this afternoon at 1:50. Following a tour of the colonies under the direction of the native guides, the group was to have eaten dinner at the Hotel South Amana, returning to Iowa City by 8 o'clock tonight.

City Girl Scouts To Present Skit Over WSUI

"Girl Scout Week" is the skit to be presented at 4:45 tomorrow over WSUI by the Iowa City Girl Scouts, as the first event of national Girl Scout week.

Ruth Ganfield, A3 of Blairs-town, will direct the skit, assisted by other members of Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger's radio presentation classes. Five members of local troop 10 of university high school will take part, with Mrs. H. G. Hershey in charge. They are Patricia Grothues, Eleanor Pownall, Mary Alice Wareham, Margaret Lane and Shirley Harper.

$100,000 To Be Awarded as Prizes In International Live Stock Exposition

More than $100,000 will be awarded to the prize entries in the International livestock exposition at the Chicago stockyards Dec. 2 to 9. The premiums will be given for 30 different breeds of cattle, horses, sheep and swine.

B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the exposition, has announced that the early entry is the heaviest it has ever been. An unusually large showing is expected this year owing to the cancellation of the fall exhibitions in Canada. It will also be the first that South American entries have been represented in the show. Stock classes will be accepted until Wednesday, and exhibits for the International Grain and Hay show may be entered until Nov. 20.

The exposition will be staged in the huge International amphitheatre, situated at the east entrance to the Chicago stockyards. It includes a central coliseum with seats for 7,500 and adjoining display areas encompassing six acres.

As an officer of artillery, he served during the entire war, posted in the Italian Alps. His delayed debut took place in Rome at the Teatro Reale dell'Opera, in "Tristan," and his success was brilliant. Then followed engagements in Turin and La Scala under Toscanini and finally a contract with the Metropolitan in New York. Pinza made his American debut in "La Vestale," drawing glowing tributes from the New York press. Olin Downes of the New York Times epitomized them by saying: "A majestic figure on the stage, a bass of superb sonority and impressiveness."

From "La Vestale," Pinza went on to sing in a long list of operas, taking the basso leads in "Louise," "Nerone," singing a most striking Mephistopheles in "Faust" and Fiesco in the revival of Verdi's "Simone Boccanegra."

Not less in concert than in opera is this gifted artist similar to the great Russian, Chaliapin, and his concert appearances here Monday night will be one of the musical events of the season.

Ensign To Be At Induction Education Professor To Represent S. U. I. At Upper Iowa U.

Prof. Forest C. Ensign of the college of education will represent the university today in the inauguration ceremonies of Dr. Vivian T. Smith as president of Upper Iowa university at Fayette.

Gov. George Wilson will be a guest of honor and will deliver one of the principal addresses in connection with the inauguration. Upper Iowa is one of the oldest educational institutions in the state, having begun its program of instruction in 1857, just two years after the University of Iowa organized its first classes. The institution was established under the auspices of the Methodist church.

Dr. O. N. Fellowes of the college of medicine will also attend the inauguration, representing his liberal arts alma mater, Mt. Union college, Alliance, Ohio.

Peace Subject Of Round Table In Old Capitol

"The Bases of a Permanent Peace" will be the subject of a public round table lecture to be conducted by Dr. Robert Dexter at 4:10 p. m. Wednesday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, announced yesterday.

Dr. Dexter is secretary of social and foreign relations of the American Unitarian association. The lecture is open to the public, Professor Lampe said.

NOTICE All Presbyterians are invited to attend a luncheon at Presbyterian church next Wednesday at 7 o'clock. Please make reservations by Tuesday afternoon at the church.

New Trends in Phonograph Recording Harvard Men To Present Leading Paper of Final Acoustical Session

The first meeting of the Acoustical Society of America ever to convene at the University of Iowa will close next Saturday, a week from today, with a round table on phonograph recording at 2 p. m. in room E-6, East hall.

The feature paper will be presented by F. V. Hunt and J. A. Pierce of the Cruff laboratory at Harvard university. Other participants will be Prof. Milton Cowan of the Iowa German department, Paul Griffith, electrical technician in the psychology department, and E. D. Peterson of Chicago.

Chairman will be S. N. Trevino of the Romance languages department at University of Chicago. Professor Hunt, Harvard physicist, has worked extensively on the development of new apparatus in the phonograph recording field.

He designed a special high-quality recorder to get a permanent record of all speeches at the Harvard centennial, and as a result designed a new phonograph pickup, radically different in design, which, if it should become commercially available, will revolutionize the phonographic industry.

It differs from earlier models in that it is extremely light in weight, and uses a diamond-point stylus with long-playing life which preserves the life of the phonograph record almost indefinitely. Professor Hunt's paper will discuss the proper design of needles and styli for reproduction of records.

Professor Cowan has been technical director of the university's modern language phonetics laboratory since 1938, and has had charge of the design and installation of phonograph recording equipment used there.

The purpose of the laboratory is to make available to students of foreign languages at Iowa large bodies of recorded materials. The laboratory makes its own recordings, to be used by students for training purposes—to illustrate difficulties and progress.

Professor Cowan's paper will deal with a simple method of calibrating both phonographic and reproducing equipment. The principle involved was discovered by Buchmann and Meyer in Germany and makes use of a quantitative evaluation of light patterns reflected from the surface of phonograph records.

Following the session, Professor Cowan and Griffith will demonstrate practical applications of the principle in the laboratory. Peterson, Chicago commercial engineer, will discuss the merits of various types of phonograph recorders on the market.

Engineers have recognized that phonograph recording has gone through phenomenal development in 10 years, due to electrical reproduction. Infinite possibilities are known to exist for the future.

High fidelity apparatus already has produced sound so perfectly, according to Professor Cowan, that it cannot be distinguished from the original, but only under laboratory conditions.

Eventually, he asserts, that quality will be available to the general public.

Prof. C. H. McCloy Addresses Teachers in Lincoln, Nebraska

Prof. C. H. McCloy of the men's physical education department, spoke twice at the Nebraska State Teacher's Meeting in Lincoln, Neb., yesterday.

The subject of his after-lunch speech was "A New Doubles Team. The Scientist and the Coach." He also spoke before a section meeting on "Evaluating Activities in the Physical Education Program."

Professor McCloy will also appear Nov. 3 at the State Physical Education association meeting in Urbana, Ill. He will talk at that time on "Physical Education at the Psychological Crossroads," and at an evening banquet on "Reminiscing."

Janet Cumming Fetes Women P. E. Majors

The subject of their first scrimmage will be "Resolved that the United States should follow a policy of strict (economic and military) isolation toward all nations outside the Western Hemisphere engaged in armed international or civil conflict."

Smiths Leave For California

Mrs. Earle Smith and her daughter, Isabelle, left last night for Pica, Cal., where they will visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Wright.

The marriage of Miss Smith to Dr. J. Franklin Robinson will take place Nov. 4 in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wright, aunt and uncle of the bride.

Bywater Will Award Prizes In Nine Fields

Ray Bywater of Iowa City has been selected as a member of the committee which will draw up rules dealing with the awarding of prizes for which 37 Junior Chamber of Commerce organizations will compete, it was announced yesterday by James J. Kloehr of Ottumwa, chairman of the awards committee of the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the trophies will be to increase the effectiveness of the community service programs in which more than four thousand Junior Chamber members are engaged, Kloehr said. He said that awards would be made in nine fields of endeavor; namely, the outstanding Junior Chamber in Iowa, the outstanding single project, farm youth activity, Christmas activities, co-operation with civil authorities, local bulletins, safety, Americanism and youth activities.

Winners of the awards for the year will be announced next spring at the state convention in Mason City, Kloehr said.

Write Papers For A. S. C. E.

Prof. A. A. Kalinske and Prof. C. J. Posey of the university hydraulics department and Dr. F. T. I. formerly of the department, are authors of two papers appearing in the October issue of the Proceedings of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Professor Posey and Dr. I. are co-authors of the first paper which presents a method for the design of flood control reservoirs which is said to be simpler and more accurate than previous methods.

Men of Engineering Department Present Hydraulics Methods

The use of the new method will enable engineers to make efficient and economical designs even when only a limited amount of time is allowed for planning.

Professor Kalinske's paper, "Relation of the Statistical Theory of Turbulence to Hydraulics," summarizes the recent development in the theory of turbulence, giving special attention to applications in the field of Civil Engineering.

The results of experiments performed by Professor Kalinske at the Hydraulics laboratory are shown to check the statistical theory recently developed in this country and in England.

Dr. I. is now in Washington, D. C., where he has recently been promoted to assistant engineer on the construction of an addition to the Shoreham hotel.

Prof. Haynes Visits Friends

Prof. E. E. Haynes of the sociology department left yesterday morning on a visit to Stillwater, Okla., where he will be the guest of Prof. S. G. Standing, former professor here in sociology.

Professor Haynes will visit the Oklahoma Agriculture and Mining college in Stillwater and will speak to some students on crime.

Prof. Haynes is an expert on crime and penal institutions. His itinerary includes visiting many of the Oklahoma penal institutions.

Professor Standing is teaching sociology at the Oklahoma colleges.

Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison To Speak at University Vespers

The program of tomorrow's university vespers service in Macbride auditorium at 8 p. m. was announced yesterday by Prof. M. Willard Lampe, chairman of the senate board on vespers.

The service, at which President Eugene A. Gilmore will preside, has as its guest speaker Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor of the Christian Century.

Chamber of Commerce Appoints Gordon H. Brown Secretary

Board Announces Bowman Successor To Start December 1

Gordon H. Brown of Davenport has been named secretary of the local chamber of commerce to succeed Charles A. Bowman, who resigned last week, the board of directors announced yesterday.

Brown, who is assistant secretary of the Davenport chamber of commerce, will arrive here Dec. 1, the directors said.

He is assistant to the secretary in the general administration of the Davenport chamber and has been directing the retail merchants' activities, membership work and better business committee.

Brown was executive secretary of the Davenport better housing commission at the introduction of the federal housing administration program there, and was manager of the annual better homes expositions under the direction of the Davenport real estate board for four years.

A graduate of Davenport high school and of George Washington university, Washington, D. C., Brown also holds a first lieutenant's commission as quartermaster in the United States reserve army. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and their seven-month-old son will make their home in Iowa City after Dec. 1.

The board of directors of the local chamber of commerce includes Delmer M. Sample, M. R.

Malay Idols To Star

I. C. School Children To See Movies At Hallowe'en Frolic

Ancient Malayan idols and savage Central American natives will contribute to the Hallowe'en fun of Iowa City school children Tuesday night at the Hallowe'en parade and frolic.

The ancient idols and savage natives will come with the showing of "Tarzan and the Green Goddess," an eight-reel all-talking picture which will close the evening of Hallowe'en fun at the old City high gym. Starring Herman Brix, former Olympic swimming champ, the film will depict the exciting search of Tarzan for an ancient Malayan idol and the secret it contains in the jungle wilds of Guatemala.

The picture is being sponsored by the retail merchant's bureau, a division of the local chamber of commerce.

Lee Cochran, university supervisor of visual education, is donating the use of his projector for the showing of the film.

Funeral services for Jacob P. Kasper, 75, 808 E. Church street, who died Thursday evening following an illness of 31 years, will be held at 9 o'clock this morning at the St. Wenceslaus church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mr. Kasper was born on a farm near here and was married to Mary Shayer, who died in 1892. He is survived by a son, Richard Kasper, Iowa City, and three brothers, Andrew Kasper and Henry Kasper, both of Iowa City, and Frank Kasper of North Liberty.

The body will be at the Hohen-schuh mortuary until the services.

Welfare Group To Meet Today At Iowa Union

King Palmer To Be Speaker at Dinner; Singing Will Follow

The program of the southeast Iowa welfare conference, which was announced yesterday by Frances Wilson, executive secretary of the Social Service league, will begin with registration at the Iowa Union at 12 noon today. It will be followed by a general meeting at which Mrs. Rose McClelland, director of the Sunny Slope sanitarium at Ottumwa, will speak on "Community Interpretation."

At 3:45 this afternoon are scheduled discussion groups which will cover the subjects of psychiatric social work and crippled children.

Beginning promptly at 5:45 p. m., will be a fellowship dinner at which King Palmer, chairman of the state board of social welfare, is to be the main speaker. The subject of Palmer's speech is "Getting Along With People."

After the dinner, Norman Gibson, Albia, will lead the group in singing.

A large number of representatives from 25 counties of the southeast district are expected to attend the meeting.

Let Contract For New Floor

Community Chest Supplies Funds For Gym in City Center

A contract for a hard maple floor to be installed in the gymnasium of the recreational center within two weeks has been let to M. D. McCreedy, general contractor, Harry Bremer, president of the board, announced yesterday.

The floor will be 50 by 89 feet. After it has been installed, two more weeks will be necessary for refinishing and varnishing, Bremer said.

The Iowa City Community Chest will supply funds for the floor although the money will be returned to the Chest by the Community Center, officials announced.

The dressing rooms next to the gymnasium will be replastered, refinished and painted, Eugene Trowbridge, director of the Recreational Center said yesterday. He added that shower rooms have been finished and the plans call for refinishing of a game room for older boys and adults on the gymnasium floor level. The room will contain a billiard table and ping pong tables, he said.

Chest Campaign To End Tuesday; Total to Date $3,263

Community Chest donations, like the lull before the storm, showed little increase yesterday as total collections amounted to $3,263. The campaign officially ends Tuesday.

Yesterday's sum represented 17 per cent of the $17,850 goal. Jack J. Swamer, director, said large returns are expected today and Monday, since several solicitors have not yet reported their collections to their respective divisional directors.

In making motion pictures of wintry scenes an expensive candy, in pill form, is employed by the actors. It gives off a vapor when dissolving, thus giving a realistic illusion of breath in wintry air.

Iowa City Tavern Operators Granted Injunction Restraining Revocation of Beer Permits

Did Not Get Proper Hearing by Board, Judge Gaffney Rules

Decision in favor of the three tavern operators, Mrs. Ellen Stimmel, Victor Oliva and Arthur Smith, was decided by District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday when he granted a temporary injunction be issued restraining the board of supervisors from proceeding to revoke the class B beer permits of the plaintiff without a hearing.

Judge Gaffney has had the case under advisement since Oct. 11, when the tavern owners petitioned the court asking for the injunction.

The board's action to revoke the beer permits on the ground that the taverns were not located in legally platted areas had been prompted by a recommendation of County Attorney Harold Vestmark.

The decree in part stated, "The court specifically finds that the plaintiff was given no notice of any hearing, if any was legally had, of the board of supervisors of Johnson county, in the matter of the revocation of the said permits. Finds that plaintiffs paid out sums of money for license fees to the county, state and federal government, a premium on a bond, and made other valuable improvements in connection with said permits, which under law could not be refunded by the board of supervisors, out of the revenues of Johnson county to the applicants.

"Finds that the instrument purporting to be a resolution of the board dated Oct. 2, does not rise to the dignity of such formal expression of opinion or will of said body which made any definite finding of fact or gave any legal reason why the class B permits should be revoked.

"Said resolution fails to show that there was any independent action upon the part of said official body or any facts given for the revocation of said permit, but merely discloses a rickshotted action on the judgment of the county attorney.

"It further fails to show whether or not the same was passed at a regular or special meeting of the board, and flagrantly omits to show that any hearing was had by said body on the matter of the permits.

"Said resolution further fails to make any direction to any person or officer to give notice of said purported action of the board to these applicants or any other person. It certainly fails to show a determination or decision of the board with respect to its own opinion or intention, such as is required of a deliberate or quasi-judicial body."

The decree goes on to state, "Certainly after the previous action of the board, based upon a thorough investigation by the county attorney, and a written opinion by him before the permit was originally granted that plaintiffs' property was within that area to which a class B permit might be issued, there was a fact determination which should be respected, and given some dignity in the law, and that to permit the board, without hearing and without notice thereof, and aside from any of the statutory provisions for revocation, to attempt to revoke plaintiffs' permit, was arbitrary, unfair, and a clear abuse of the exercise of any discretion which may have been given it.

"The permittees was denied in an unfair and arbitrary manner any notice and opportunity to defend against such spasmodic action of the inferior tribunal or board."

Calls Navy 'Magainot Line'

George Paradise Endorses Demands For Armed Neutrality

"The navy is our 'Magainot line', or frontier," George Paradise of Sioux City, state commander of the American Legion, told Legionnaires of the Roy L. Chopek post at a Navy day dinner in the community building last night.

Paradise endorsed the demands of the recent national Legion convention at Chicago for a well-armed neutrality for the United States through expansion of armed forces, especially the navy.

"We must keep America out of Europe and Europe out of America," he said.

"The American Legion wants to preserve the peace of the United States. Peace is not the only issue, however. We must also keep our sovereignty and dignity," declared the state commander.

Myron J. Walker, former lieutenant-commander in the navy, said that since this country has never found isolation practical, strengthening the navy is necessary.

Toastmaster was Judge Harold D. Evans, who introduced the speakers.

Dr. George Maresh, local post commander, announced that 190 memberships have been obtained in the current drive, which ends Nov. 11.

Several district Legion officers were guests at the dinner. They were Fred Downing of Washington, commander; John Rees of Ft. Madison, chaplain; and Bill Brown of Washington, adjutant.

Other guests were Ben Nichols of Nichols, department chairman of Americanism; Joe Young of Sioux City; Tommy O'Connor of Ft. Madison; and Harry Simpson of Washington.

Law Fraternity To Have Party

Sketches Life of Jail Inmate

Dr. Fred Erbe Says Lifers in Penitentiary Born to Poor Social Heritage

Dr. Fred O. Erbe of the sociology department has sketched the typical life of an inmate at the Iowa state penitentiary at Ft. Madison after thorough research. The picture includes a home of low economic level; denied during formative years many opportunities for adjustment to complexities of surroundings; thrown upon the world to support himself at an early age, and deprived of the usual amount of education. Forced to accept low wages because of lack of capacity and training; unhappy in his domestic relations; or without the social ties of the family; somewhat emotionally unstable, and because of a peculiar trend of events in his life, he is fated to offend against society in a major fashion.

Dr. Erbe made his study of 150 "lifers" at Ft. Madison to ascertain conditions under which these men grew up in a rural state like Iowa. His work was directed by Prof. Fred E. Haynes, authority on criminology.

For his facts, Dr. Erbe took data from the "lifers' files" in the governor's office and had a personal interview with each man. Then he organized the accumulated data and treated it in a statistical manner.

Some of his other findings showed that the murderer is unstable emotionally, reacting impulsively in a crisis situation. The property offender is the product of a bad economic and social background, with many reverses which caused an unstable adult employment history.

Dr. Dexter will also conduct a round table in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, Wednesday at 4:10 p.m., on the subject, "Bases for a Permanent Peace."

Congressman Martin Appointed To Agricultural Problems Unit

Congressman Thomas E. Martin, Iowa City, was appointed as one of the members of the special committee to study agricultural problems, it was announced by Joseph W. Martin, republican leader in the house of representatives. Clifford R. Hope, of Kansas, ranking republican member of the committee on agriculture, was named chairman.

In announcing the appointment, Congressman J. W. Martin said: "The many conditions involved in the unhealthy state of American agriculture cannot be remedied by any single formula. The factors which have reduced agriculture to its present plight have arisen from causes which extend throughout the entire economic structure of the world.

"Some of these causes are due to changes incident to the progress of civilization, and are permanent. Other factors involved must each be dealt with in a special way."

The first prerequisite in the effort to solve these problems in agriculture, Martin continued, is a careful study of each problem, and in order to achieve this there was named a large committee composed of republican members of the house who are said to have a special knowledge of the various phases of agriculture.

The committee will be subdivided, Martin explained, each division of study to fall generally into one of the following categories:

- Dairying, poultry, eggs, live stock, meats, wheat, corn and hogs, potatoes, vegetable and canning industries, wool, cotton and other southern crops, competition, farm credits.
- Fruits, sugar, farm chemistry, soil conservation, irrigation, for-
