They Command The Highest Of Praise

FIVE YEARS ago Colonel George F. N. Dailey, then head of the military department at University of Iowa had an idea. His unflagging energy and initiative soon transformed that idea into a fact. Equipment was purchased and a small group of selected students began training to form the nucleus of a unique organization.

The difficulties in trying to raise a Scottish bagpipe band in this section of the country are numerous. In the East and in Canada the art of playing the highland bagpipe flourishes but in the middle west there are no competent instructors to be found. This problem the resourceful colonel solved by sending a man to Canada for a short time to learn what he could under a fine instructor.

Uniforms and instruments had to be imported from Scotland and the objections of a disinterested faculty overcome, but these were almost minor obstacles in comparison with lack of trained pipers.

That first night in Kansas City six pipers and a proportionate number of drummers performed. The band today is the largest in the world, Great Britain not excepted.

Colonel Dailey, the guiding genius of the Highlanders, is no longer stationed at the university but the fine organization he founded and nurtured is thriving.

Tuesday night twenty-two new members were initiated into the group. Applications for membership were sent in from all over the state as well as from other states before the beginning of the school year and the new group represents the most likely of those candidates who have, after the period of probation, been selected for membership in the Band.

Colonel Dailey is now in command of an infantry regiment and the army post at Fort Crook, Nebraska, but he still maintains contact with the unit he founded and he may well be proud of the great work accomplished entirely through his own efforts.

Calling All Drivers!

CALLING all drivers! Calling all drivers! Go to the northeast corner of Clinton and Washington streets in Iowa City and look at the chart there. That is all.

It is quite an ordinary chart that hangs there—a draftsman's map of the city, showing the streets and highways and byways of the town.

But the brown and yellow and red pins that are scattered over this map are not ordinary—they are the symbols of dishonor—they mark the spot where some driver failed in his duty.

Some of the drivers whose deeds are recorded on this legend of dishonor were lucky. They did not maim or kill someone, they only damaged property. Their luck is rewarded with a brown pin.

But many others were not so fortunate. Yellow and red pins point out the exact scene of their exploits. That yellow pin proclaims a broken leg that put a family breadwinner out of work for two months. This one shouts of a broken pelvis that never did heal properly. The owners of the yellow pins were not quite so lucky as the brown offenders.

But the red is yet to come. And there are red pins scattered across the city—red pins that stand for the blood that was spilled there in an "accident." One marks the intersection of a well-traveled road and a highway—another an out-of-the-way "safe corner" of the city—they brighten up the chart, set off the dull brown and gleaming yellow.

These red pins belong to drivers who really left their mark in the world. They made an indelible impression—upon the community and upon their own minds. Perhaps it wasn't their fault. But they saw that broken body lying there, and they swore never again to let those brakes go unfix, never again to "take a chance." They remember that red pin.

Calling all drivers! Calling all drivers! Go to the corner of Clinton and Washington streets and look at the chart there. And then get back into your car and DRIVE SAFELY. That is all.

THIS FOOTBALL THING

It's a strange phenomenon, this football thing. Some people explain it as a phase of hero worship inherited from past ages, but that won't explain it all. It is an emotional outlet. It feeds our hunger for excitement and stimulates the spirit of competition which is in all of us.

Iowa's football spirit is on a high surge this season because our university team, after ten years of disappointing experiences, has resurrected itself into the goings, winningest aggregation we've seen in a long time. Result: 50,000 people on the sidelines Saturday to see Iowa and Minnesota battle it out to a spectacular and highly satisfactory finish—into one stadium, is a spectacle in itself, and was not the least of the interesting features in the afternoon's program.

The thing that has gripped these football crowds is the fact that the Iowa team has been winning its games by uncomfortable narrow margins. If the victories had been walk-aways it wouldn't have been so much fun, but when the home boys come up from behind a disheartening start to score a win, the delight is wild and deafening. At the end of the first half Saturday, Minnesota had 9 and Iowa 0. That didn't look very encouraging.

But when Iowa flashed through for a couple of touchdowns in the second half and finished with a score of 13, all the pent-up emotions of those 50,000 fans were cut loose in one grand jargon of cheering, back slapping, and hat throwing.

Who can say that it isn't a wholesome demonstration? Certainly it is much to be preferred to the marching steps of soldiers going off to war. The spectacle we watched Saturday at Iowa City, when we stop to think of it, couldn't have happened in Europe.

In the first place, an assembly of 50,000 people wouldn't be permitted over there for fear of possible riots. In the second place, even if it were permitted, the people couldn't enjoy it because their emotions are cowed by the tragic presence of war. As is the custom, the combined bands of the two universities played The Star Spangled Banner just before the Saturday game began, and every man, woman and child in that vast stadium stood at reverent attention. That is patriotism at its best.

Outside the noise it was an orderly crowd. Nobody got mad. The special police, the ushers and the hot-dog salesmen all wore smiles, and the customers smiled right back at them. Taxes and interest and mortgages and foreclosures and business worries were all discarded for the time being, and 50,000 people gave themselves over to a rip-roaring good time.

We need more of that sort of let-down, and if football provides it, let's have more football.

Stewart Says Hawaiian-Japanese Are Loyal To U.S. Despite Nippon's Anti-Occidental Policy

The other day I had occasion to suggest a faint suspicion that Japan has an ultimate, though rather remote eye on the Hawaiian islands. But I wouldn't for a minute hint at any disloyalty on the part of our Hawaiian-Japanese.

When State Secretary Hull, irritated by Nippon's anti-Occidental policy in China, recently put a period to Uncle Sam's commercial agreement with the mikado, the Tokio press immediately took the position that he was stinging all Japanese-Americans, among others.

Their civilian population is as peaceful as a dove. Their diplomats couldn't be improved on. They are polite and reasonable, and when they make an international bargain they intend to stick to it. It's their militarists who make all the trouble.

It's as if we had a government with our present executive department set-up—except for our war department.

It's as if our war department were entirely independent of everybody else, including the president. It's as if it paid no attention whatever to our state department's dickers with other countries.

It's as if our secretary of war made a business of having our secretary of state assassinated if the latter bothered him too much.

The Hawaiian-Japanese are outright anti-militarist. They emigrated a generation or two ago to get away from their military class at home.

So if the mikado ever tries to grab those islands, I surmise that the Americanized Japanese there will be found fighting on our side instead of rallying to the banner of their ancestors.

Frye Shows Promise At Center Position

Will Probably Start Saturday

Hawks Show Spirit In Drills Against Northwestern

Dr. Eddie Anderson's Hawkeye gridders ran through a spirited practice session yesterday afternoon with George Frye, the question mark player of the moment, showing promises of living up to the high standards of Bill Diehl and Bruno Andruska when he takes over the center duties in Saturday's battle with Northwestern.

Frye came out on the field a full hour before the regular practice began and worked on the various phases of his center assignments.

Anderson worked him in the center position on the first team throughout the entire drill. When the first team was shoved against the third eleven to work on defense, Frye was all over the field, knocking down and intercepting passes, and meeting line plays before they could get to the secondary. No bad passes from center were noticed during the entire drill.

Chuck Tollefson continued to occupy the left guard position with Ken Pettit moved to the second team. Pettit is still recovering from the battering he received last Saturday, but he will undoubtedly be ready to face the Wildcats.

Bill Gallagher and Al Coupee alternated at the signal calling post, but Coupee's injured shoulder has been improving rapidly and he will probably get the call Saturday.

The remainder of the first team remained intact as they ran signals and worked on defense against Northwestern plays. The regulars and the second team were both sent against the third eleven and had little difficulty stopping their running and passing plays.

The Northwestern eleven however, will give the Hawkeyes plenty of trouble with a fast backfield centered around Bill De Corveont and Don Clawson. De Corveont, the widely publicized high school back, got off to a slow start early in the season but has been the result of the Wildcats' late upward swing in the conference race.

Clawson, a hard-plunging fullback who has a special like for enemy lines, will cause the Iowa forwards plenty of trouble when the two eleven clash.

Seven Hawkeyes will make their last football trip when the pride of Iowa rolls toward Evanston Friday morning. Probably the five players that Anderson will miss most next year will be Nile Kinnick, Capt. Erwin Prasse, Dick Evans, Floyd Dean and Ed McLain. Other seniors who will make their last appearance for the Old Gold and Black will be Russell Busk, Carl Conrad and Bob Herman.

The Hawks will take their final workout on the home field this afternoon. They will work out on the Loyola university field Friday afternoon before going on to Evanston.

Kinnick Still Worries Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 22 (AP)—Coach Lynn Waldorf tried out a new fullback on offensive plays and switched his linemen around today in an attempt to find a combination capable of stopping Nile Kinnick and his Iowa iron men Saturday.

Don Kruger, a sophomore, was tried out at fullback to fill a position left by George Benson, when he was hurt two weeks ago.

Smith Joins Illini
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jimmy Smith, sophomore halfback injured in the Ohio State game, rejoined the squad yesterday and took over left half duties as Illinoians engaged in a spirited offensive dummy scrimmage for the Chicago game Saturday.

No Let-Down For Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 22 (AP)—Ohio State gridders went through a muddy workout today only to find there will be no Thanksgiving day let-down before the Western conference championship game against Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Coach Francis Schmidt ordered the squad out Thursday forenoon for a two-hour drill, to be climaxed by the "last tackle" ceremony for 15 seniors. However, they will get a turkey dinner at their final training table meeting of the season.

Hoosiers Drill On Blocking

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 22 (AP)—Indiana drilled today on blocking for "Hurling Hal" Hursh, its ace passer, in practice for the Purdue football game here Saturday. Coach Bo McMillin sought to improve the timing of Hoosier plays and polish defensive tactics.

Eduard Revamps Formations

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 22 (AP)—Purdue's football squad revised its defensive and offensive plays today on a sloppy practice field. Coach Mal Eduard experimented with several backfield combinations in case of emergency in the Indiana game at Bloomington Saturday. The Boiler-makers' aerial attack was impressive in spite of a slippery ball.

Badgers Show Snap in Drills

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 22 (AP)—Several times Coach Harry Stuhldreher had to caution his University of Wisconsin football players to take this a little easier as they executed a snappy practice session with the freshman squad today. He named 36 gridders to make the trip to Minneapolis for the game against the University of Minnesota on Saturday.

Tony Gradisnik, left halfback, was included on the roster but an injury was expected to keep him on the sidelines.

Michigan Squad Spirit High

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22 (AP)—Fritz Crisler, Michigan's football coach, crawled out today on a limb which appeared pretty safe.

Of the forthcoming battle with Ohio State, he said: "If the boys keep on improving, it ought to be a whale of a game." The Wolverines, who are in position to bounce their traditional rivals out of an exclusive claim to the Big Ten title provided Iowa can beat Northwestern, snapped through a workout today with squad spirit high.

Gophers Work On Pass Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 22 (AP)—More pass defense drilling and running of Wisconsin plays occupied the Minnesota Gophers' workout today in preparation for their gridiron clash with Wisconsin Saturday in the season's closing game for both teams.

The lineups for the day indicated the Gophers may be at full strength as Sy Johnson and Bob Smith again worked with the varsity as alternates. About 5,000 Badger fans planned to attend the contest which was expected to attract 40,000.

Basketball Season Gets Started For Ten Intramural Quintets

Fumble Called Important Play In Scoring

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Through all the length of a football season which is shortening rapidly, the recovered fumble stands out like a lighthouse on a rocky coast as the one play that has set up more important touchdowns than all the 60-yard forward passes and 20-yard end runs you can mention.

It probably will continue to play a vital part for the few remaining major days of competition, just as it did last Saturday, for one example.

Nebraska, in gaining its second victory over Pitt since 1921, went 23 yards for its first touchdown after recovering a fumble. The same play gave Tulane the ball on Columbia's 15 for its second tally. New York U.'s sloppy handling of the Georgetown kickoff led to the unbeaten Hoyas' first score, and Georgia Tech went 38 yards after an Alabama fumble for the only touchdown of the game.

Recovery of five Indiana bobbles enabled Michigan State to play the Hoosiers on even terms, while Illinois almost broke through against Ohio State by recovering the ball on the Buckeye 7 on the first play after the kickoff. Fumbles and pass interceptions (another vital "break" in many games this fall) led to all three of the Boston College scores against Boston U.

Upper A Defeats Upper B, 31-19; Lower B Wins

The intramural basketball season got its initial start last night in the field house gymnasium as five games were played.

Upper A downed Upper B of the Quadrangle 31-19. R. Smith was the leading scorer for Upper A as he notched 14 points. Duvvinsky and Reed came next with six points apiece. Mentzel paced the losers by caging 15 of his team's 19 points.

Lower B Wins
Lower B defeated Lower A of the Quadrangle 29-17. Hommel and Hall were mainly responsible for Lower B's win by scoring 18 of the 29 points. Hommel had 10 and Hall eight. The scoring for Lower A was pretty evenly divided with Luce making six points and Kontz and Henry four apiece. Burke notched two and Olson one.

Upper D emerged the victor in a close battle over Upper C by a 19-17 score. The Snyder brothers were the stars for the winning team as G. Snyder netted 12 points and B. Snyder added four. Skou and Bailly were the high scorers for the losers. Skou led his team with seven points and Bailly followed with four.

Big Margin
Lower C trounced Lower D in the Quadrangle league by the score of 31-11. It was Hanson's nine points and Ralston's six points that aided the winners to its first triumph of the season. Peterson starred for the losers with six points.

Third South won a close game over Fourth of Hillcrest league 35-34. Both teams displayed good offensive and defensive play and the lead changed many times. Jack Johnston's 18 points lead the victors and both Cold with eight points and Eaton with seven added to the total score of the win-

'Iron Men' Near Season's End

When the Hawkeyes square off Saturday with the Wildcats at Evanston, Ill., it will be the sixth straight game for Mike Enich, left, and the fourth for Ken Pettit, right. Enich has played 60 minutes of football against Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame and Minnesota, while Pettit has gone the route against the last three opponents. Enich, despite his continual battling, is still in good shape, while Pettit is bothered somewhat this week by a bad wrist. Along with this pair will be some of the other 60-minute Iowans, including Capt. Erwin Prasse, Dick Evans, Nile

Kinnick, Wally Bergstrom and Al Coupee. Coupee had his string of straight full-time battles snapped when he was injured last week. Bruno Andruska, who played the last several full games at center was lost to the "Iron Line" because of a broken wrist.

'Bowl' Games Start Today In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 22 (AP)—Getting a 38-day jump on their nearest competitors, the first "bowl" game of the present football season will be played here tomorrow.

It's the "gold bowl" game between the Alaska Sourdoughs and the Baranof Bears. The contest has aroused so much interest that ministers are holding their Thanksgiving services early so church-goers can join the expected crowd of 2,000.

The natives, whose only glimpse of football has been in the newsreels, were wagering on the Sourdoughs in Alaska's only Thanksgiving day game in history. Line-ups include many former college players.

Moore May Be Dead Hero

BETHANY, W. Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—The unsung men of the line who open the way for rip-roaring halfbacks on the gridiron may point with pride to little "Scrapper" Moore.

He is Bethany college's center and on Saturday will line up against Bob "Ton" Swoope, Heidelberg's center. The respective weights: Moore 145, Swoope 290.

ning team. Ely was the star for the losers with 14 points to his credit followed by Ransom with eight.

Second South won over Second East by default as did Third East over Third North.

Hawkeye Highlights

Keeping up with Kinnick (something no football players in the nation have been able to do)—current facts about his achievements in seven games: 11 of his 28 completed passes went for touchdowns, gains totalling 630 yards; averaged 40.2 yards on 59 yards; returned 29 points and kick-offs for 550 yards, average 19; drop-kicked 11 points after touchdown in 17 attempts, scored 41 points and threw passes for 66 others, thereby instrumental in making 107 of Iowa's 123 markers; averaged 3.64 yards per rushing attempt—261 yards in 93 trials, scored five touchdowns on runs of three to 65 yards.

Northwestern is the only Big Ten team played by Iowa this season on which the Hawkeyes have an edge in the all-time series. . . it's 13 wins, 8 losses, 2 ties. . . series began in 1897. . . and it was in 1913 that Iowa made its biggest score in a conference game when it beat the Wildcats 78-6.

About 3,500 tickets for the Northwestern game have been sold to Iowans. . . 1,500 more are left, reports Charles Gallier. . . the throng probably will be the second-largest ever to follow an Iowa team. . . 10,000 went to Minneapolis in 1936.

Last workout of the Iowans in 1939 will occur on Loyola university field Friday afternoon. . . the squad leaves for Chicago Friday at 9:16 a.m. . . headquarters at Edgewater Beach hotel. . . it's the first time Iowa has appeared against Northwestern at Dych stadium since the conference opener in October, 1936.

Paychek Looks Ready for Bout With Hartnek

OMAHA, Nov. 22 (AP)—Johnny Paychek, the former Des Moines bell boy who will battle Paul Hartnek in a scheduled 10-round bout here Friday night gave local fans a chance to look at him in a workout at the auditorium training headquarters today.

A crowd of several hundred watched Paychek's unlimbering session following his arrival from Chicago.

Paychek didn't expose what he would toss at the former Creight-fid his chores to shadow boxing, bag punching and rope skipping gridders, however, and con-

He will stay away from the ring tomorrow, when a long walk plus a lot of rest are in store for him. He looked trim and ready and probably will weigh in at his usual fighting weight, 193 pounds.

Hartnek, meanwhile, went all the way in his session, including five rounds of boxing with his sparring mates. He worked on the big bag and skipped rope in addition. He'll weigh in about 195, a few pounds more than when he last appeared here.

Fear Illinoians Passes
CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's Maroons shifted from offensive to defensive maneuvers yesterday in preparation for their season's windup here Saturday against Illinois. Special stress was placed on guarding against Illini passes. Thirteen Maroon seniors will end their intercollegiate football careers in Saturday's game.

By OSCAR HARGRAVE

Any doubt that experience is a great teacher can always be pushed aside by glancing around at a few football games, checking the records of seniors against those of newcomers and adding up a number of things, including inspiration to the team and general usefulness.

Thus, when you read of a freshman who will lead some big league team out of the cellar position next year, dissolve the pill in two glasses of water before taking. The chances are just about that thin—I mean the chances his presence will be all the team needs to make it a winner.

It can be figured, to start with, that he still has plenty to learn and he will be learning it for two years before he reaches his college best—barring exceptions and accidents. And, we have an idea that if he is being looked upon as a coming Moses his job will be even tougher.

A case to point at might be that of Bill De Corveont, whom the Hawkeyes will face Saturday afternoon. De Corveont, one of the most highly publicized high school stars in history, had a lot of trouble getting started this fall. Opponents laid for him, while Northwestern was running into lots of trouble, and De Corveont wasn't getting anywhere at all. Since the season started, the Wildcat sophomore has proved that he can actually play ball. He probably will get lots of places on the gridiron before his career ends, but too much anticipation by the football world failed by some miles to help his chances.

For an example on the other side, we might look around the Iowa camp. We find William Green, Al Coupee, Bill Diehl and Jim Walker were noted as exceptionally good prospects last spring, but they weren't counted three times each in an eager desire to get them started wrong. That all four, along with a couple others in the new crop, have been drawing plenty of favorable comment, proves that it's on the varsity where a player actually makes his mark.

Take Green, for instance. So fast they almost had to get out the fire truck to run him down, Green might easily have been the boy who would be expected to score three times on 80-yard runs in each game. And, with 11 men watching him in each game, chances are Green would have proved a disappointment. But, going in as just another promising sophomore, the Newton speedster has done enough for almost any back and, chances are, will do quite a job of backfielding for Iowa for two more years. He has the speed, he plays good defensive football, drives hard, is exceptionally cool-headed for a sophomore and catches passes for some of the Iowa touchdowns.

In the final analysis, one of those sophomores might have been the shining light on the Iowa team this year. They have proved

Pros Smash Old Marks

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Four new individual National Professional Football league records have been written into the books as a result of last Sunday's games, making it the sixth straight week in which old league marks were surpassed.

Don Hutson, Green Bay's classy end, accounted for two of the new marks, and a pair of backs, "Anvil Andy" Farkas of Washington and "Lil' Davey" O'Brien of Philadelphia, shattered one each.

Farkas' record was that for 11 touchdowns in one season, surpassing the old mark of nine, which, incidentally, belonged to Hutson.

Hutson, however, countered with two new records for yardage gained on passes. His 794 yards advanced on the receiving end of aerials this season smashed the old record of 675 yards set by Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals in 1937. And his 1939 yardage brings his lifetime total of 2,838 in five seasons, surpassing the old mark of 2,755 compiled by Johnny Blood in 14 campaigns.

With these two records, Hutson now holds outright or shares in every pass receiving record on the books.

It took Davey O'Brien some time to get going, but once he started there was no holding him and his pitching, Sunday, he completed 21 passes to break the record of 19 which he set only a week previously.

Bill Osmanski of the Chicago Bears is the leading ground-gaining running back for the season with 699 yards and an average of 5.7 per crack. His teammate, Joe Maniaci, shows the best average in the loop with 7.1 yards per rush.

that they are high-caliber ball players, but we still think it's been fortunate they weren't given six lines of type to one for the veterans—a player should climb up the ladder when his career starts, not be pushed to the top ahead of time to have a good falling-off-spot.

'Everybody Scores,' Might Be 1939 Hawkeyes' Slogan

"Everybody scores," might well be the Hawkeye football slogan this year on the basis of figures. With a huge total of 123 points to its credit, Dr. Eddie Anderson's team has not a man who is threatening any scoring records, but the fact that nine Hawks have scored is almost a record in itself.

Leading the parade is Nile Kinnick, with five touchdowns and 11 conversions after touchdown for a total of 41 points. Next comes Capt. Erwin Prasse with four touchdowns and Bill Green is third with 18 points. Remainder of the Hawkeye total is divided among six other men at one touchdown each.

And, in that long list of point-getters lies much of the secret of Hawkeye success—versatility. The Hawkeyes have scored 11 times through the air and seven by hand, with four points chalked up to a charging Iowa line in the Purdue game. In fact, the Hawkeyes have used every known method to score, except for field goals.

Early in the season, before the Wisconsin game, in fact, the word passed around that if opponents could stop Kinnick's off-tackle smashes and end runs and bottle up Prasse, favorite pass receiver, Iowa would be stopped. Against the Badgers, who stuck to Prasse three other receivers, Al Coupee, Bill Green and Dick Evans, and fired touchdown passes to each.

Perhaps that was where the Badgers made their mistake, for even before that the Hawkeyes had been dividing the scoring. Buzz Dean had scored Iowa's touchdown against Michigan, Bill Kelly, Russell Busk and Prasse had caught other passes for scores and Green and Henry Vollenweider had both scored by the ground, along with Kinnick, who had made four touchdown jaunts.

The Wisconsin game, with three Hawkeyes as pass-catchers, left opponents wondering, and enemies were still more confused after Iowa downed Purdue and Notre Dame without scoring once by passes. Against Minnesota it was Prasse and Green again, with Buzz Dean also catching tosses for gains.

Small wonder the enemies have been confused at times. The Hawkeyes score in any and all ways, with practically everyone getting a few points. Kinnick, Prasse and Green have scored the most often, but even Dr. W. W. Hayne, team physician, and Charles Gallier, athletic business manager, might enter the scoring columns some of these days.

CARBURETOR KAYWOODIE $4

In this Kaywoodie pipe, called the Carburator Kaywoodie, a wonderfully sweet-smoking pipe has been improved by the application of a neat little principle of physics. When you take a puff at one of these Carburator Kaywoodies, you automatically draw air in through a tiny inlet in the bottom of the bowl. That incoming air keeps the smoke cool, sweet and serene, no matter how beligerently you puff. In fact, the harder you puff, the more air comes in. That's why it's called a Carburator Kaywoodie. Everybody knows that a Kaywoodie is the most socially-conscious of pipes—gets itself admired everywhere. And the Kaywoodie Flavor is famous. But don't let us urge you—Shown above, No. 22.

Iowa Author Praised

'Three Miles Square' By Paul Corey Approved by Critics

Praise has been lavished for "Three Miles Square" a novel written by Paul Corey, a native Iowan. Corey was born and reared near Atlantic and graduated from the university.

Excerpts from the book of rural Iowa life include: Grand Wood — Here is realism of the best sort — not soft and verbose on the one hand or adolescently hard-boiled on the other.

New York Times Book Review — "Three Miles Square" strikes one as the best farm novel that has come along in many a day.

New York Herald Tribune Books — In "Three Miles Square" Corey plumbs virtue and vice in their everyday expressions of labor, joy and growth.

Book-of-the-Month Club News — Few novels of farm life have produced such vivid, keenly detailed pictures of the sights and sounds and smells, the activities of men, women and wind in the grain belt.

Los Angeles Times — Paul Corey's story has been aptly described as comparable to a Grant Wood canvas. He has made a signal contribution in picturing his section of the American scene with such simplicity and clarity.

Louis Bromfield — It seems to me one of the beautiful and important books of our time. It is full of truth and understanding and beautifully done.

Lewis Mumford — One of the best novels of agricultural America that anyone has produced in our generation. I recommend it to all those who wish to read more intimately the living face of America.

Miss Grossman and Miss Beans will pour.

Although Monday was an official school holiday because of the extra-curricular work done by the football team Saturday in the Iowa - Minnesota Homecoming game, the library business was as strong as ever, with some 2,600 books checked out during that day.

"Noticeable among the students were the football players," commented Grace Van Wormer, acting director of the university library system.

The circulation of reserve library and the general library in Macbride hall was "very slightly above the average for a normal day," she said.

James Fox, A4 of Boone, was elected president of the senior class of the university school of journalism at a meeting of the group yesterday in room 205 of the journalism building.

Other officers elected were Corrie Shrauger, A4 of Atlantic, vice-president, and Loren Hickerson, A4 of Iowa City, secretary-treasurer.

Prof. Edward H. Reisner of the education department of the Teachers college, Columbia university, will present a lecture, probably dealing with the Danish Folk high schools, at 2:10 p.m. tomorrow in room E104, East hall.

Professor Reisner has recently returned from a protracted study of educational conditions in the Scandinavian countries.

All members of the faculty and student body are invited to attend.

200 Engineering Graduates Meet, Reminiscence at Homecoming Reception

It has been 50 years since Drew Musser of Little Falls, Minn., was graduated from the University of Iowa's engineering college, but he was back for the Homecoming celebration this year along with approximately 200 of his fellow engineering alumni.

Now a banker and lumberman in Minnesota, Musser renewed old acquaintances and reminisced with his friends at the reception held in Dean Francis Dawson's office before the game. Representatives from almost every class were in attendance. From the class of 1905 was Hugh E. Young, who is now chief engineer for the Chicago Planning commission. J. H. Ravlin of the class of 1911 was there also. He is president and manager of the Barnett and Record company in Minneapolis.

Division superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company, H. C. Munson of the class of 1923 and two 1925 graduates, H. W. Cook and Ned Ashton were other engineers who found the reception attended by old school friends.

Chicago To See S. U. I. Unit

Chicagoans in the loop on Saturday will see the University of Iowa's Scottish Highlanders bagpipe unit which last summer staged half a dozen parades in New York and appeared at the world's fair.

The Highlanders, numbering 40 pipers and drummers, will be led in the parade by Pipe-Major William L. Adamson. With the unit will be the brilliantly-costumed 120-piece Hawkeye band.

Highlanders and band will appear between halves of the Iowa-Northwestern game at Dyche stadium. Included will be Frances Adamson doing the Highland fling on top of the bass drum, an act which attracted attention at the New York fair.

Prof. N. Conkwright Becomes Advisor Of New Activity

For the first time in several years, and perhaps in the history of the university, a student-faculty chess club is being organized as an active campus group, Henry Teicher, A2 of Newark, N. J., announced yesterday.

The first meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, will take place in the north conference room of Iowa Union and is open to all players regardless of ability, and to persons who wish to learn to play, Teicher said.

Previous attempts in other years to organize a permanent chess club have failed, but interest in such a club this year has been sufficiently strong to promise an active organization, Teicher explained.

Prof. Nelson Conkwright of the mathematics department is faculty advisor for the group.

Tuesday's meeting will include an election of officers, besides a presentation of the general plans for organization.

85% of Well-Water Samples Prove Impure, States Wieters

Engineers Discusses Iowa Lab Problems At Luncheon Meet

"Tests made by the State Hygienic laboratory located at the State University of Iowa indicate that 85 per cent of all samples of water submitted from private wells throughout the state are unsatisfactory," explained Engineer A. H. Wieters, director of the engineering division of the state department of health, before the engineering faculty at a weekly luncheon yesterday.

Speaking on "The Approval of Public Water Supply," Wieters discussed the function of the engineering division which inspects and investigates local water supply problems and renders technical service. He spoke of the cooperation which exists between the state health department and the local engineering laboratory which is financed through the health division.

President of the Iowa section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Wieters spoke to the student class in municipal and rural sanitation yesterday morning on phases of sanitation work carried out by the department of engineering in public health. His speech before the student group completed a series of three talks which he has given this year.

"Equipped with 276 municipal sewage treatment plants, Iowa is exceeded by only three other states," acknowledged the state director, who is assisted in the department by 15 trained engineers. Created in 1913, the public health engineering division for 10 years had the services of only one engineer.

Life of Peter Anthony Dey, Iowa Citian, Subject of New Book by Dr. Jack Johnson

By JACK HAGENS

Dr. Jack T. Johnson, political science instructor and co-author of the new book "Railroad To The Sea," has recently finished a book concerning the life of Peter Anthony Dey, one of the most prominent of Iowa's historical characters.

"The book grew out of an interest in the Union Pacific," Dr. Johnson stated. Peter Dey, being a prominent figure in Iowa and an outstanding Iowa City citizen, also prompted Dr. Johnson to write the book.

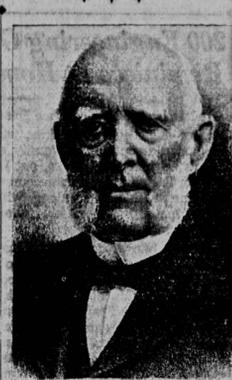

Published by the State Historical Society of Iowa, the book comes as another of the Iowa Biographical series. The series, written mainly by members of the State Historical society, has previously included such lives as those of Robert Lucas, first territorial governor of Iowa, and Samuel J. Kirkwood, Civil war governor of Iowa.

Written in four parts and documented from original sources, the book has been written around two ideas: first, to exemplify the principle of integrity in public service by Dey, and secondly, to point out the development and progression of the railroad across the American continent between 1850 and 1870.

Peter Dey's life is presented against this moving background. His heredity goes back to New Amsterdam early in the 17th century. He came to Iowa with the railroad in 1850 as an engineer-surveyor. Previously, he had worked with the New York-Erie, Northern Indiana (first to Chicago from the east), Rock Island, Mississippi-Missouri, and Union Pacific railroads.

Following the order of the book, Dr. Johnson states that Dey made the first survey for the Union Pacific and later the actual location followed the route he had planned. Dey was the first chief engineer of the Union Pacific. Calling this "The best position of engineering ever offered any man," Dey resigned because he was of the opinion that the company was becoming involved in graft. His view later became the basis for the findings of the Credit-Mobilizer investigations.

The services which Dey rendered to Iowa City are magnanimous. He was mayor in 1860 and active in local Democratic politics. He promoted the Iowa City Elevator company which was a huge enterprise in its day. He was president of the First National bank and was a promoter of a

In later years, he was one of the most prominent men in Iowa City. "This was the noblest Roman of them all. His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world, this was Japanese military authorities. He declared that Japanese foreign office officials and Grew were expected to confer soon regarding relations between the two countries, and that it was possible some new commercial understanding would be reached.

The state department made public earlier this week reports of Japanese interference with trade between Americans and the British and French concessions in Tientsin, China. Welles said then that the state department felt American nationals had a right to engage in such trade.

U. S. Stands Firm
That statement, coupled with Welles' remarks today, indicated that the government was determined to stand by its renunciation of the existing Japanese-American treaty unless the Japanese respected American interests in China.

Meanwhile the commerce department said today that there was little probability that Japan would experience a war boom as a result of the European conflict. James W. Young, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said some of the reasons were:

Export industries already are operating at abnormally low levels because of restraints imposed during the conflict with China.

Obstacles Apparent
Serious obstacles are presenting themselves in the procurement of essential industrial materials, particularly from the British empire. Hitherto, a large part of the mechanical equipment required for industrial expansion have been supplied by Germany.

The situation in the iron and steel industry has been rendered uncertain by the "indefinite status" of scrap iron shipments from the United States after expiration of the Japanese-American commercial treaty next January.

Elimination of noise and throbbing of the engines is the latest development in air lines, making for passenger comfort.

Prison Strikers Succumb To Evening Meal

FOLSOM PRISON, Calif., Nov. 22 (AP)—The two-day hunger strike of 900 convicts apparently collapsed tonight when all but 50 or so of the dissenters succumbed to an evening meal of spaghetti, chili beans, bread, canned peaches and coffee.

Prison Director A. R. O'Brien said it appeared the strike was nearly over, and he expressed belief it would end completely tomorrow, when a Thanksgiving dinner of "prison turkey"—plain pork outside the "big house"—will be served.

Court Upholds Japan-- Distribution Of Handbills

Declares Restricting Ordinances Strike At Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Referring to pamphlets as "historical weapons in the defense of liberty," the supreme court today held unconstitutional three city ordinances restricting their distribution.

The opinion, written by Justice Roberts, said the ordinances struck "at the very heart of the constitutional guarantees." Justice McReynolds dissented but did not appear in court to deliver an opinion. Justice Butler, who died last week, had not participated in the preparation of the opinion.

The ordinances, passed by Los Angeles, Milwaukee, and Worcester, Mass., prohibited the distribution of handbills on sidewalks and other public places.

Russell Wins Fifteen Cents, Will Lose Life

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Jack Russell won 15 cents today but lost a court battle for his life. The Oklahoma desperado was convicted of kidnaping and killing William Scott Hamilton, an Arkansas City Kans. flour salesman, by a jury which fixed his penalty at death in the electric chair.

He received the verdict of the seven women and five men in silence but after he left the federal court room he protested: "I was never a killer."

Quickly he recalled, with an attempt to jest, that he had won a nickel each from three deputy marshals with whom he had wagered that he would get the chair.

Before the 39 year old prisoner went to jail, Judge Charles E. Woodward set Nov. 29 for hearing motions for a new trial. The jurist said that, if they were denied, he would impose the sentence on that date.

Nurses Arrested
BRUSSELS (AP)—Two nurses and a hospital attendant were arrested yesterday at Charleroi and charged with aiding 20 Belgian soldiers to avoid mobilization by teaching them to simulate epilepsy. The soldiers allegedly paid from $30 to $150 for instruction.

give Cleveland $360,000 — only enough for scattered emergency use, the city welfare director said.

Cleveland's Mayor Harold H. Burton, ordinarily mild-mannered, suggested today to labor leaders that they "give the devil" to Gov. John W. Bricker for his disinclination to call the legislature. He said the current situation in Cleveland was "inexcusable" and a "crime."

Governor Stands Pat
Governor Bricker apparently was standing by his insistence that other means of meeting the situation could be found. He expressed doubt whether rural legislators, frequently skeptical of cities' demands, would agree to appropriate additional funds for the state to match with cities' relief appropriations. Several legislative leaders joined him in doubting whether a special session would be fruitful.

Ohio gets its principal revenue from a 3 per cent sales tax, and Governor Bricker expects the state to end the year with a balance in its treasury. Communities get their principal income from real estate taxes, and under the state constitution these may not exceed $1 a year on every $100 of assessed valuation. Voters, backed by organizations insisting there be "no new taxes," have refused in recent years to permit many additional levies.

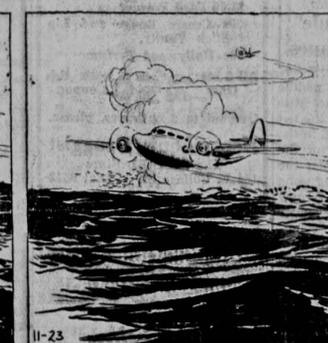

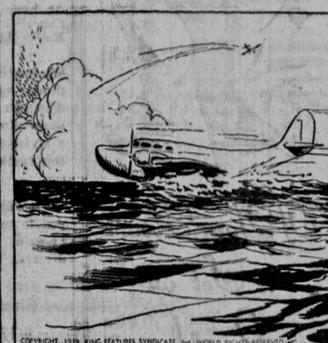

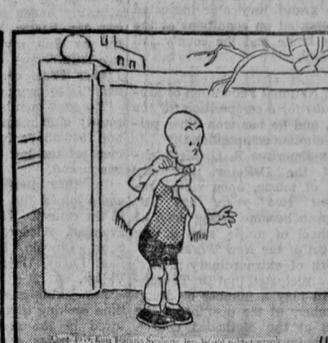

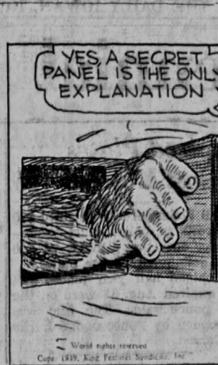

St. Pat's Begin Cage Practices

Basketball practice is in full swing at St. Pat's. With three veterans returning Coach Father Harry Ryan is drilling his charges daily for a 19 game schedule.

Don Black, nifty ball handler; Merle "Red" Miller and tall Paul Holland are veterans of last year's team. Ryan's job now is to fill in the posts left vacant by graduation.

The parochial basket shooters have only 10 days to prepare for the opening game with St. Ambrose of Rock Island on Dec. 5 which will be played on the local court.

Of the 19 games that the Irish have scheduled nine of them are on the home floor.

Dr. V. D. Thompson Plans To Attend Methodist Centennial

Dr. Van Denman Thompson, dean of the school of music at DePauw university, plans to come to Iowa City to hear the Methodist choir sing his "Evangel of the New World," an oratorio, in connection with the centennial celebration at the Methodist church next Sunday night.

The oratorio, under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark of the university music department, is among the most beautiful of contemporary church music and is being heard for the first time in Iowa City Sunday evening. The oratorio has been in rehearsal for many weeks and will be sung in church robes by high school, university and town people affiliated with the church in Iowa City.

Known as Organist

Dr. Thompson is known as one of the most brilliant organists in America. As a composer he is principally noted for his anthems and cantatas. However, he has written many pieces for organ and piano and many songs for concert use which are widely known and used. He has perhaps gained most fame in composition through his "Evangel of the New World."

Dr. Thompson is largely a self-educated musician, and he began to compose when 10 years of age. However, he attended Colby academy and Harvard university. At the age of 17, he entered the New England Conservatory of Music from which he graduated one year later. He continued at the conservatory, however, as a graduate student.

The oratorio was first performed at the Methodist Sesqui-Centennial in Baltimore in 1934. Commissioned to write the work, Dr. Thompson gathered old camp meeting hymns on which to base his work. He presents the church from its humble beginnings and traces its activity with pioneer life.

Wins Prize

Dr. Thompson has been instructor in organ at the DePauw university school of music since 1911. In 1919 he won the prize offered by the National Federation of Music Clubs for a composition for the organ, and he has won other prizes in similar compositions. Dean Emeritus R. G. McCutchan of the DePauw university school of music, upon whose retirement two years ago Dr. Thompson became acting dean of the school of music, says of the "Evangel of the New World," it is "a work of extraordinary merit."

It is anticipated that Dr. Thompson will play a number or group of numbers at the opening of the service at the Methodist church next Sunday night.

110 Pledges Of 4-H Club To Be Initiated

4 New Townships Added; Enrollment Most in 10 Years

Officers of the Johnson county girls' 4-H club will initiate 110 pledges at a meeting at 2 p. m. Saturday in the assembly room of the Iowa City Light and Power company, Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, announced yesterday.

The meeting will be the first activity for the new club year of the county 4-H girls who are staging the annual membership drive. The drive will close with the "rally day" for the county in June or July, the county agent said.

Initiates, club leaders, assistant leaders and members of county committees will attend the initiation meeting. The new members will take the following pledge in unison: "I pledge my heart to clear thinking, my hands to longer service and my health for better living for my club, my community and my country."

Miss Frus, county club president, is to conduct the ceremony. The new members will raise the county club membership for 1939 and 1940 above the average enrollment of the last 10 years, it was announced.

In 1939 four new township clubs joined the six former clubs in the county. Townships include Fremont, Cedar, Clear Creek, Scott, Lincoln, Sharon, Liberty, East Lucas, Union and Pleasant Valley.

Ping-Pongers Battle It Out

New Champs Reign, New Challenge Made As Tourney Continues

A green rubber covered paddle reaches desperately for the little celluloid ball flicked across the net—and misses. On the board in the corner of the game room of the Iowa City Recreational Center the standings in the ladder ping pong tournament are changed. A new name goes to the top of the ladder to reign until defeated by someone lower in the standings.

For two months now the ping pongers at the Center have battled it out in the two divisions—the junior group, for those 14 or under, and the senior group, for those 15 and up. On these two ladders is room for 10 names. Anyone may challenge a higher-ranking player, and his challenge must be accepted within three days. A victory for the challenger results in the exchange of positions on the ladder. Those who do not appear in the rankings may earn a place by beating one of the 10. The tournament is to continue until March, when the winners will be sent to Cedar Rapids for the state tournament, Eugene Trowbridge, director, said.

The junior group, ranked in order, includes Bill Lee, Dick Lee, Don Miller, Bob Lee, Kenneth Gluensing, Don Teffy, Robert Hull, Billy Olson and Melvin Glaser. The seniors, reading from the top of the ladder down, are Allen Wallen, Carl Williams, Garland Kircher, Jack Livermore, Bob Kelley, Ed Budreau, Isaac Searl, John Brown, Chuck Ellett and Winston LaPorte.
