FINNS PARRY RUSSIAN DEMANDS

Russian People Indignant Over Finland's Artillery 'Attack'

Soviet Press, Labor Irked At Neighbors

Great Britain, France Accused as Finnish Imperialistic Bosses

MOSCOW, Nov. 27 (AP)—Soviet meetings and the press produced mass excitement today over the Russian charge that Finnish troops shot across the border and killed four and wounded nine red soldiers.

Throughout the country countless meetings of soldiers, workers and farmers were held at which resolutions were adopted, some expressing anger against Finland or threatening her or calling for the Russian government to take action by adopting "the strictest measures."

Workers at a bearings plant in Moscow, were reported by Tass, official Soviet news agency, to have adopted a resolution declaring "our invincible red army will reduce the enemy to dust on his own territory" if "provocateurs" ventured war against the "powerful country of socialism."

Lightning Meetings
The agency carried a summary of other resolutions adopted at "lightning meetings" and said a "storm of the peoples' wrath and indignation had been called forth by the alleged incident."

"If need be we shall strike at the dirty paws of the Finnish militarists," said one such resolution. "The people of the Soviet will send to the devil all political gamblers," this statement continued.

Meetings were being held all over the country, Tass reported, at which unanimous support was given the government's demand for withdrawal of Finnish troops 12 to 16 miles from the border north of Leningrad.

No mention was made in the Soviet newspapers or over the Soviet radio of Finland's denial that any shots had been fired by Finns.

The press initiated a campaign against Finland which was strikingly similar to that which preceded the invasion of Poland.

Meetings of troops stationed in the Moscow district adopted resolutions stating "there is a limit to any patience—ten days were enough to conquer Poland."

Adopt Strict Measures
Another said: "We request the Soviet government to bridle the provocateurs of war. We want the government to adopt the strictest measures."

Some factories in Moscow held mass meetings at 8 a. m., before the beginning of the day's work. They adopted resolutions expressing indignation and accusing the Finns of trying to provoke war. One urged that Russia reply "with a triple blow." The "triple blow" was not explained.

Polish Lesson
If the Finnish troops do not withdraw from the frontier, "we will throw them out," one resolution said. Another warned the Finns that if they did not yield "we will repeat the lesson given the Polish pawns (landlords)."

The resolutions accused Finnish leaders of "fulfilling orders of their imperialistic masters," presumably Great Britain and France, and of being "well-bribed."

No Prize for Peace
OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Nobel prize committee yesterday decided not to award a peace prize for 1939.

Roosevelt, Aide Go on Pruning Budget for 1940

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt and his budget officer, Harold D. Smith, used the pruning shears today on the government's budget for the year beginning next July 1.

How much was shaved off in dollars and cents was not disclosed.

Smith told reporters after a three-hour conference with the chief executive.

"We continued the operations on the budget," he said.

Asked whether they were pruning operations and whether the operations had been a success, the budget director replied with a smiling affirmative and a remark that "we were taking out a few appendices."

Dewey To Air His Views On National Issues

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, the spectacular young New York gang buster, apparently is ready for a new chapter in his political career—a public presentation of his views on national issues, the platform on which his presidential candidate will rest.

Unusual among presidential prospects, he has managed to date to obtain and hold a leading position in the republican nomination sweepstakes without having committed himself on such questions, beyond a few generalizations.

His boom has rested instead upon two other factors; his national reputation as a successful public prosecutor with the aura of romance and danger that surrounds such a figure, and his demonstrated ability to get votes in the highly important state of New York.

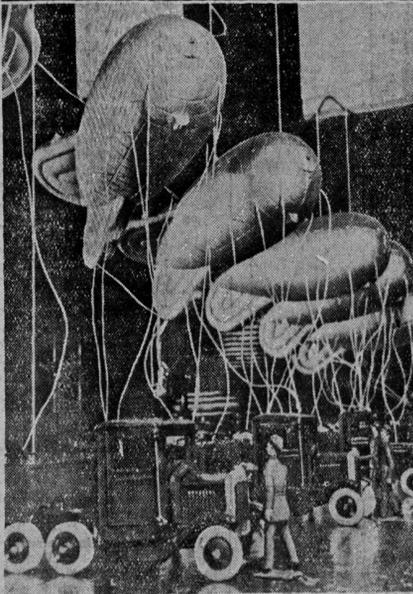

Now, New York has 47 votes in the electoral college, one more than the combined electoral ballots of the 13 least populous states. On election day, the 47 go as a unit to the man who can command a majority in New York.

So, to politicians who take a practical view of things and want a winner first of all, any candidate with a reasonable chance of carrying New York and thereby gathering in nearly a tenth of the electoral college at one sweep, must be given serious consideration.

Dillon Guilty Of Illegal Use of Mails

DES MOINES, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sidney J. Dillon, Des Moines investment trustee, today was found guilty in federal court here of using the mails to defraud and was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary. L. E. Crowley, Dillon's associate, drew a 3-year sentence on a similar charge. Each also was fined $1,000.

Santa Offers Balloon Barrage

Britain's spectacular but unproven defense against raiding warplanes, the balloon barrage, has inspired one of the biggest selling Christmas toys (above). The models come complete with ladders, winches and soldier-operated. At war with Germany, her normal toy supply source, England is developing her own industry.

Detention of 'Forgotten Men' Causes Suspension of Officers

DES MOINES, Nov. 27 (AP)—The detention of three "forgotten men" in the city jail resulted today in the suspension of two high police officials after a city council session.

Under suspension are Police Chief Henry A. Alber and Chief of Detectives J. A. Brophy, both veterans on the force.

The city council voted unanimously to suspend the two temporarily until investigation is completed in the case of the "forgotten men," three Garden Grove, Ia., residents allowed to languish 33 hours in jail and then released without the filing of charges when they had paid an attorney a $65 fee.

The council appointed Police Capt. Floyd Hartzler acting chief in charge of the department and Detective Capt. Paul Castelline to fill Brophy's place as acting chief of detectives.

Chief Alber, appearing before the council, declared that the practice of holding prisoners for "investigation," condemned by the council, "has been going on for years and years here and throughout the country in handling criminals."

"Either every man's job on the police department is in jeopardy or else homes in the city are in jeopardy to be robbed and attacked," Brophy said he had no comment.

Charges against both Alber and Brophy will be aired before the city civil service commission, the suspensions against them to stand until the commission rules. Mayor Mark Conkling said both would be removed from the city payroll.

'First Lady' Airs View On Feminine Workers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told junior leaguers today that she thought women who work for money when they don't need it should be sure to do something that causes employment—or else give the money away in a manner which increases jobs.

Eventually most of them may find their way into Swiss refugee camps, established by the federal police and the army. The Swiss are studying ways and means of putting them to work.

1939 Problem—How To Leave Swiss Nation?

Rules of Countries Around Switzerland Prevent Emigration

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ JR.
BERNE, Switzerland, (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Thousands of refugees now in Switzerland literally are "on the spot" and can't leave it.

They would like to go. The Swiss want them to go. Many of them even have obtained the necessary papers to settle in the United States, Mexico or other Latin American states, but they can't budge.

Of the 15,000 foreign refugees in Switzerland, by far the greater part are German and most of those are Jews.

They must leave landlocked Switzerland for some port to cross the Atlantic. Switzerland is bound by Germany, France and Italy.

Germany, of course, won't take most of them. The refugees they would take probably would get a one-way ticket to a concentration camp.

France, for reasons understandable in war time, will not issue a transit visa to any German citizen, regardless of how anti-Nazi the person professes to be.

Italy still is neutral, but Italian steamship agencies will not book passengers of German nationality for fear of exposing their neutral boats to trouble from allied warships.

Most eastern European states won't take German Jews and the latter feel that they are safer in Switzerland.

The Swiss are not preventing the refugees from leaving, on the other hand, they are seeking every possible means of getting them out.

Switzerland has her own unemployed to take care of, particularly since thousands of Swiss came back to their native land from homes they had established in France or Germany. Some came as refugees, others to be mobilized into the Swiss army.

The federal council met the situation by issuing an order calling for strict enforcement of an old decree banning all foreigners from holding jobs of any kind without obtaining special police permission.

The order said the refugees without authorized papers "could only expect tolerance."

That group includes most of the German Jewish refugees. Many of them got out of Germany with only enough money to live for a few months, if that much, and thousands crossed the frontiers illegally by night.

Now their money is running out and they are desperate. They cannot work, and Switzerland's permanent Jewish colony, numbering less than 17,000, is swamped with appeals for aid.

The colony already spends about 350,000 Swiss francs (about $50,000) a month for refugee support.

Many of the refugees have spent the nest eggs they had put aside for steamship tickets to buy food.

Frank Carideo, Jim Harris To Be Honored

DES MOINES, Nov. 27 (AP)—Des Moines alumni and friends of the University of Iowa will present new automobiles to Coach Eddie Anderson's two assistants at a luncheon here tomorrow, it was announced tonight.

The new cars will go to Jim Harris and Frank Carideo. Daventport fans presented a car to Coach Anderson on the eve of the Homecoming game 10 days ago.

President's Wife Faces Prospect Of Testifying Before Dies Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The unprecedented prospect of a president's wife testifying before a congressional investigating committee arose today.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told her press conference that she would be willing to testify before the Dies committee regarding the American Youth Congress, whose leaders she has often defended against accusations of communism, and "would answer anybody's questions asked in the interest of youth."

Committee members immediately expressed eagerness to hear her. Mrs. Roosevelt made it clear that she would not volunteer to testify and Chairman Starnes (D-La.) of the subcommittee now conducting the hearings said that "of course, we couldn't subpoena the first lady of the land."

It was distinctly possible, however, that the committee might invite her to appear. A decision probably will await a conference of committee members with Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) who was out of town today.

Secretary Morgenthau Asks Public Aid for New Expenses

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau, asking the public to lend the treasury $500,000,000 for imminent federal expenses, said today that congress soon must do something about increasing the national debt limit or levying new taxes, "if the boys are going to eat."

He made the "eating" comment in a joking tone and declined to explain it. However, it was understood the secretary meant that if congressional appropriations were going to be met the treasury would need some means of getting the money.

The $500,000,000, for which bids will be received tomorrow, will be an addition to the public debt, now $41,286,551,646. With more deficits in view, the treasury is getting close to the $45,000,000,000 limit placed on the debt more than 15 years ago.

Morgenthau, grinning to show that he was "not worried" about the debt situation, said his confidence in public investment demand for government bonds was shown by his choice of a two per cent interest rate on the 9 to 11 year bonds to be sold to raise the $500,000,000.

This was, he said, the lowest interest rate ever offered on a comparable government security.

Although the treasury has $1,500,000,000 in cash on hand, Morgenthau said the borrowing was being undertaken because of the need for more cash to pay for the deficit in coming months.

Texas Mayor Still Faces Eight Counts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—Eighteen of 26 counts in one of five indictments against Mayor Maury Maverick and three others charging illegal payment of a poll tax were quashed tonight. He will be tried on the other eight.

The mayor, his secretary, Richard Jeffrey; Miss Rebecca Taylor and George Glass, garment workers union leaders, are charged with payment of the state required elector tax for R. L. O'Brien.

Faculty, Students To Discuss 'Student Government' Tonight

Prof. Ethan P. Allen of the political science department and Marshall B. Clinard, instructor in sociology, will present the faculty side of the student government question tonight at the year's second student forum at 7:30 in chemistry auditorium.

Margaret Kuttler, A3 of Daventport, president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, member of the U. W. A. council, and member of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, will be the chairman of the forum which will attempt to iron out the problem of self-government on the Iowa campus.

The University of Iowa, it has been pointed out, is the only Big Ten university without some form of representative student government.

Student speakers will be Pat Jeezer, A3 of Freeport, Ill., member of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, secretary of the Currier hall association and chairman of the Youth Committee Against War, and William Applegate, G of Sidney, Ohio, president of the graduate students' association and representative on the student council at Ohio State university when he was a student there.

Nine campus organizations are sponsoring tonight's forum where the Iowa governing system will be compared with the systems employed on other campuses.

Included are the Currier hall association council, the Hillel foundation, Iowa Student League, Eastlawn council, Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A., the Youth Committee Against War, the University Women's (See FORUM, Page 8)

Claim Troops Of Both Sides Must Withdraw

Proposition May Be Movement Towards New Negotiations

HELSINKI, Nov. 27 (AP)—Finland gave a soft answer tonight to turn the wrath of renewed Soviet-Russian demands.

The little northern country told her big neighbor that on the condition that Russian troops also withdraw, Finland is willing to negotiate for withdrawal of her troops which have been stationed on the border for weeks.

A note, sent tonight by the Finnish foreign minister to Moscow was the answer to a Soviet protest last night which charged Finnish artillery with killing four red soldiers and wounding nine at Maimila (Mainila) on the Finnish-Russian border north of Leningrad. The Soviet asked that Finnish troops be drawn back 12 to 16 miles in that area.

Diplomatic observers interpreted the Finnish answer as one designed to give the Russians the opportunity to resume negotiations which were broken off by Finland on Nov. 13 when Finland refused to make further concessions to Soviet demands for border revisions and naval bases.

An opportunity was afforded, it was pointed out, for Russia to relieve any embarrassment caused by the firm Finnish stand regarding earlier demands.

This view was based on the belief in some quarters that Russia is not planning to use force, but hopes to use the alleged incident as a form of continued pressure on her little neighbor.

Nevertheless, it was pointed out, the Finnish note tonight rejected any unilateral concessions regarding disposition of troops which might later jeopardize her defense.

An investigation had shown, said the note, that Finnish soldiers fired no shots yesterday, as the Soviet charged.

Details recorded in the journals of the Finnish frontier guards at the time of the shooting before the Russian protest was filed, said the Finnish note, told of bursting shells being seen in a field about 800 meters (about 900 yards) across the frontier on the Russian side.

Chess Players Meet at Union To Form Club

Students and faculty members will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in the north conference room of Iowa Union to form a Chess club, first permanent chess club on the Iowa campus for some 35 or 40 years.

Tonight's meeting, open to advanced players, beginning players and persons who would like to learn the game, will be held primarily to elect officers and decide organization plans.

Henry Teicher, A2 of Newark, N. J., is in charge of student participation, and Prof. Nelson Conkright of the mathematics department, advisor to the new organization, is heading the faculty membership committee.

Since chess playing generally has been limited in the United States to the Atlantic seaboard states and in Iowa to the northwestern portion of the state, local participation has been comparatively slight.

The appearance on the campus of increased numbers of students from the east and from the chess-playing section of Iowa has quickened interest in chess on the campus to the point where the committee feels that this year's club will be a lasting one.

Hurray For Fire!

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Twice in one day firemen were called to an apartment house to check a blaze in the coal pile. When the fire still resisted on the second visit, they shoveled the fuel from the basement—there were 30 tons of it.

Sea Battle Story Described by Admiralty

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The story of a blazing sea battle in which two German raiders, one the pocket battleship Deutschland, sank the armed British merchantman Rawalpindi off the southeast coast of Iceland, was told tonight in a vivid admiralty communique.

Fighting until riddled by shot and shell, the Rawalpindi went down with colors flying in a fight against overwhelming odds, on Nov. 23, the admiralty said.

Britain's warships are searching night and day now for the swift, heavily armed raiders which eluded a British cruiser in darkness and storm after sinking the 16,697-ton Rawalpindi with an estimated loss of 259 lives.

A stringent economic reprisal was decided on today by Great Britain to counter Germany's intensified sea warfare by armed raiders, mines and submarines, which added three more ships to the growing toll of merchant vessels.

will be addressed by King George VI who today signed an order in council proclaiming Britain's right to seize all goods of "enemy destination, origin or ownership," even in neutral ships.

Authorities said King George's order would be published tomorrow in the London Gazette and would be placed in operation "in a few days."

Meantime, it was understood, an effort will be made to smooth over objections of six neutral governments which protested the new blockade order on the ground it would stifle trade.

British naval authorities said the blockade, including German exports as well as imports, would be more effective than in the World War because the reich now is in need of cash and credits.

(France announced a decree would be published tomorrow paving the way to take similar measures to shut off all German exports.)

Frank Carideo, Jim Harris To Be Honored

DES MOINES, Nov. 27 (AP)—Des Moines alumni and friends of the University of Iowa will present new automobiles to Coach Eddie Anderson's two assistants at a luncheon here tomorrow, it was announced tonight.

The new cars will go to Jim Harris and Frank Carideo. Daventport fans presented a car to Coach Anderson on the eve of the Homecoming game 10 days ago.

Paging Rube

Goldberg A GREAT deal of publicity has been given to isolationists, pacifists, and to those who believe in collective security. But there is one group which as yet has not made the headlines. This group is made up of inventors working for the good of humanity.

Starting with the premise that humanity cannot be made safe from war, they arrive at a logical conclusion and assert that war can be made safe for humanity. Being believers in action as proof of this theory, the group set to work immediately and showed surprising results in very short order.

Since the war in Europe it is not surprising to find that the majority of the inventors work in that part of the globe. England especially is a great field for this form of activity.

A humanitarian inventor gives the British Ministry of Supply and Invention board an idea for new artillery shells. Accordingly, his shells, when bursting on terra firma, would release live venomous snakes, and that would cause great chagrin to the enemy. How this is to be done is not explained, yet it is possible that soldiers, seeing these great snakes, would think themselves stewed to the gills and might therefore lie down for a short nap. The opposition would then rump in and clean them up.

Another great mind suggests a beam of black light to blot out the moon and thereby make night air raids impossible. Turning his attention to sea warfare, a genius suggests the making of a torpedo which, if it missed the target, would immediately turn around and repeat the attack.

Since all these inventions are for humanity's sake we might suggest a problem for these inventors to solve. Their names would go down in posterity if they would invent something which would enable students to stay in bed until 12 noon and still be marked present in their 8, 9, 10, and 11 o'clock classes.

Let Chuck Mail It

YOU ALL know Chuck. He is that typical, matter-of-fact student who turns in his class assignments almost regularly, likes socials, is friendly with fellow students, and occasionally talks about the folks back home.

Chuck is the boy in the room across the hall from yours, or else in that upstairs corner room of the house next door. Or, he may be the one who sits next to you in class. In fact, he may be you! If he is, I mean if you are, well, let's face a common problem together. Chuck, and you, and I will forget it, otherwise.

It is that problem of mailing early for Christmas. Our typical friend has people back home that he has to remember this year—people who deserve a thoughtful card, a cheerful letter, or even a present. Lest he forgets these, he'll have a rush between classes and during free periods to buy things for Mamie, Cousin Joe and Uncle Alfred.

He'll have to undergo that routine we usually dread, and put off to the last minute—of selecting just that thing for each, of checking on addresses, of packing, weighing and mailing. He'll stand in line at the postoffice, and ask the question most everyone else asks, "Will this arrive in time?"

But Chuck won't face all this trouble and worry, if he reads this. He will be wise, and shop and mail early. Maybe if we brought him behind those grilled windows of the postoffice building during pre-Christmas week he'd be more anxious to get his Yuletide offerings in earlier.

We take him behind the clerk at the parcel post window, apparently the busiest spot in the whole place.

He'll see rubber stamps being smacked on packages and letters pouches. He'll hear, "Sorry, but that'll have to be rewrapped. Fifteen cents postage on the other. What's yours? Here y'are," and all in one endless breath by a clerk who is at the same time dishing out stamps, issuing insurance receipts, making entries on his books, and wondering when it'll end.

Chuck then strolls back of the cages, all filled high with sacks of mail, boxes, bundles and even a crate or two. Back he goes, along the long line of sorting tables, where sit carriers who are throwing letters into pigeon holes in preparation for making their daily deliveries. The pile of unsorted mail in front of each dwindles slowly, for almost every hour more comes, to be sorted and delivered. Improvised tables have been erected to help take care of the heavy surplus. At these sit raw recruits, men who are untrained and have to be taught how to work.

At the rear entrance of the office a truck is being unloaded, while another is making ready for deliveries. Each truck brings more headaches for the busiest men in the world at Christmas time. Above all is heard the constant clatter and thud of the automatic cancelling machines and the whirl of the endless belts that carry letters to the central sorting table.

After about 20 minutes of that, Chuck realizes that he has been through a mad house—a mad house that has been created by the united negligence of people like himself. How the mail gets out on time he cannot understand. Sometimes it doesn't. Sometimes the last two dozen people in line in the front office are too late. Then they, too, suffer. Their gifts and cards arrive after Christmas.

On taking leave of the building, our mutual friend accidentally collided with a carrier, heavily laden. The carrier clutched wildly at one of his filled pouches to prevent its capsizing. But it was too late for the second—it contents flew wildly to the floor. "Gosh, I'm sorry, mister," apologized Chuck, and the mailman smiled. The unique thing about this expression of regret, however, that Chuck really meant it. You would have, too, after seeing a postoffice just before Christmas.

COACH EDDIE SNUBS THOSE COVETOUS CALIFORNIANS

California is all burned up. Of all things, those Chamber of Commerce guys out there are at long last jealous of an Iowa possession. They have witnessed a successful football team on the University of Iowa campus and pronto they want to abduct the Iowa coach.

The gridiron publicity for the Old Gold in Iowa has set the Golden Staters all agog. What? Is Iowa, that backwoodsie farming state, stealing the show? That must not be. Publicity belongs to the land of sunshine, movie stars and earth tremors.

Right away the Sunkist boys dangle a lure in front of Coach Eddie Anderson. It's the same old come-on gag—come to California, Eddie, and we'll feather your nest. None other than these chest-pounding Californians would be first to go after the best. Not satisfied with luring our citizens and our wealth, now they want our renowned Coach Eddie.

They took our Coach Jones from Iowa City years ago and they made him happy but they threatened to fire him last year when his Southern California football team had a let down. And now another national figure arises in coachdom (the first in Iowa in many a moon) and jealousy arises to plague the westerners.

But Iowa is wary. It has learned something of the value of publicity—maybe from the Californians. It proposes to keep Eddie and at once offers him a long contract.

Says Eddie: "I like it here in Iowa. You can tell them for me that as long as the people and board of control continue to like me, I'm going to be here as Iowa's football coach."

Pfist! Californian! That for you! Eddie is a real guy. Sunshine, gold, sea breezes and honey do not tempt him. He has made his name in Iowa, and he intends to stick by the state that gave him his opportunity. He refuses to put Iowa on the spot in the bickering process of selling his services to the highest bidder. Again we say, Eddie is a great guy. —The Red Oak Express

TROUBLE ON THE WAVES

Vincente Villamin Campaigning in United States So Philippines Won't Gain More Independence

By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Columnist

FOR VARIETY, a kaleidoscope has nothing on an interview with Dr. Vicente Villamin. A Filipino. Dr. Villamin is campaigning here to prevent the United States from granting to the Philippines any greater independence than they enjoy already. He's a world-politician, an economist, a lawyer, a writer, an all-around savant and he's traveled in more countries than any other globe-trotter I ever encountered.

All the subjects that he's familiar with and all the places he's visited (from astronomy to retail merchandising, from Manila westwardly around the earth to Patagonia) he discusses miscellaneously. He doesn't deal with them separately. He mixes 'em up regardless of consequences.

Of course, his favorite theme is the Yankee-Filipino relationship. "Americans," he says, "are the fairest, most understanding and generous people in the world. As a Filipino I am thankful that my country is with the United States and strongly hope that the association will continue throughout the endless procession of the years."

Changing the subject. Then, changing his theme, "The $5-word, 'totalitarian,' observes the 'doc,' 'like the 5-cent word, 'jitterbug,' isn't going to last long. It's as hard to pronounce as the clownish dance is hard to perform."

"Some pseudo-intellectuals get the notion that it's a mark of in-

AROUND THE TOWN

MONDAY LEFTOVERS Yesterday's morning was slow in coming and came all in a blaze of light when it arrived... At 5:30 a. m. there was as magnificent a moon as ever I've seen...

A little anti-climactical, though... Somewhat wasteful of the celestial power plant...

Peter Maurin's crack was worth repeating, "Sports are to education what bullfighting is to agriculture."

That university higher-up surely didn't mean that when he publicly termed the Minnesota defeat, "The most important thing that's ever happened at Iowa."

And Herb Cormack's appraisal of the Northwestern affair is notable. "A moral victory for the Evanston boys," he quipped. "Probably they won't have classes on Monday."

HISTORICAL DATA—James Russell Lowell was a notoriously bad student at Harvard, had ten conditions on Commencement day. He wouldn't have been given a degree but that he was already winning fame and Harvard hung to his coat-tails by allotting him a sheepskin...

He'd read every book, he used to say, except his texts...

And Robert Marion LaFollette (That's the elder) was so unpromising a scholar at Wisconsin they've kept his records from public view...

He fell in love in his senior year and coached his girlfriend for the senior oration. Himself, he had too low grades to enter... So they were married.

He and the Mrs. LaFollette went through law college together and set up their first shingle to read, "LaFollette and LaFollette."

That movie "Here I Am A Stranger" lights up one of the important mysteries of college graduation... Why campus bigshots frequently finish well-acquainted with gutters...

Partly it's an illusion. Many collegiate winners continue the same pace in life, but more often not... Strangely enough, lots of those I know wouldn't have it any different.

The campus leaders who plan to return to the old home town, spending their energies in Boy Scout leadership and pacing the women's clubs are the most average...

Those who, like myself, want the Big City, think of a life not more than a 15-minute walk from Times Square or the White House or Piccadilly circus have a clearer field than you'd think...

Nile Kinnick thinks he'd like to farm... And just now Kinnick could have about what he'd choose out of life...

SEITZ, though, it's still the main-travelled channels for this reporter... I like people, all kinds, but the ones who're making history their way better than others...

Out at CBS last summer the man who does the hiring was talking about it... "Thousands of kids come here every year with B. A. degrees," he said, "but don't let that worry you. Thousands of them go home in a month, and they're glad about it."

"They spend the rest of their lives saying Big Towns are a hell of a place to live," he concluded, "but they're not... Not if you're well-harnessed to a star wagon..."

Rod Erickson's the best example I know... He spent two years bumming the big city radio studios, the theater managers' offices, eating—well, not regularly... Constantly out of money, tempted to try the smaller thoroughfares...

Hawks' Record One of Finest in Big Ten Conference History

The University of Iowa's football season, one of superlatives, is over, but in its wake are a series of feats which won national acclaim for Dr. Eddie Anderson and the team of Hawkeye iron men.

And the deeds of the valiant Iowans not only provide topics for sports conversation for months to come but also be recorded as among the finest in Big Ten conference history.

Leaving the superlatives out, these are among the feats which speak for themselves in words louder than any fancy adjectives:

1. The winning of second place in the Big Ten, when experts picked the Hawkeyes for a low spot in the second flight. Iowa won 4, lost 1, and tied 1; defeating Indiana, Wisconsin, Purdue and Minnesota; losing to Michigan and tying Northwestern.
2. The victory over Notre Dame, ending the Irish record of no defeats, no ties.
3. The Iron man feats of the Iowans which captured the imagiination of the fans from coast to coast; 13 men played 60 minutes in from 1 to 6 games; led by Nile Kinnick and Mike Enich, 6; Capt. Erwin Prasse, 5; and Wally Bergstrom and Dick Evans, 4 each.

4. Nile Kinnick's performance which caused many sports writers to call him the back of the year.

5. The remarkable coaching of Dr. Eddie Anderson and his aids, which in one season brought Iowa up among national leaders. His achievement is hailed as the outstanding coaching job of 1939.

Finishes Strong

In winning six games, losing one, and tying one, Iowa piled up 91 points to 91 for foes. The team constantly demonstrated its courage and its confidence in its ability by defeating Indiana, Wisconsin, Purdue and Minnesota in the fourth quarter, and tying Northwestern.

Forced by shortage of material to pass numerous men for full time, Dr. Anderson conditioned his players so that they actually wore down the opposition, despite the influx of fresh men sent against them.

Official statistics show that Iowa gained 1,763 yards to opponents' 1,679, averaging 4.2 yards per rushing and passing play. The Hawkeyes rushed for 1,104 yards and completed 36 of 100 passes for 418 yards. Eleven of the 19 touchdowns were scored on passes, all thrown by Kinnick.

Kinnick Leads

Kinnick was the leading scorer with 41 points and the leading yard - marker with 374 in 106 trials. Runner-up posts were secured by Bill Green with 232 yards, and Capt. Erwin Prasse, with 24 points.

Some of the other figures: returned punts 270 yards and kicked 702, intercepted 16 forward passes, recovered half of the 14 fumbles, and averaged nearly 40 yards on punts.

Kinnick already has won posts on several all-American teams, is in the running for the Heisman trophy as the nation's outstanding player, while all-conference recognition has gone to Mike Enich, tackle, and Capt. Erwin Prasse, end.

Daily Iowan Sports Reporter

Led by the effective basket eye of Jim Chadek and the outstanding defensive and offensive work of Bill Bock, the St. Mary's Ramblers easily ran over a poorly organized Muscatine, 33 to 16, and stamped themselves as real contenders in the new Catholic loop.

The Ramblers hit mid-season form at times during the first half, and found little competition from the river lads. Chadek, Ray Cole and Bock formed a smooth working nucleus, and the Marian attack was effective at all times. Bill Nau was the only Muskie player to hit the basket with any regularity and took second honors for the evening with a total of nine points.

The Ramblers started out like champions as Chadek tallied within the first minute of play. Chadek added another point, and the total was pushed up to 5 when Bock added a charity toss. Chadek and Bock teamed together to manufacture three baskets, and Tony Brock made good on two free throws. With a comfortable lead, Coach Francis Suplee sent in his second string, and the reserves, led by Bob Brown and Pat Bannon, dominated the play for the remainder of the first half.

Regular and reserves took turns in the second half as the Marian continued to build their lead. Chadek was good for several pointers from the back court. The reserves fought more on a par with the Muskies, and the score remained constant during most of the fourth quarter. Bob Brown was especially impressive for the local reserves as the lanky pivot man got most of the rebounds, and worked smoothly on offense and defense. Pat Bannon and Bob Knodel showed signs of improvement, and along with Brown should give Coach Suplee at least one good reserve for each position.

Bill Nau was forced to play a one man game for the Muskies, since the Rambler defense broke up all other attempts to score. Nau made most of his points from near the center circle. Jim Chadek was most effective under the basket, while Bock collected most of his points from far out in the court.

The victory gave the Marian their third victory in as many starts, and placed them in the commanding position in the Big Five Catholic loop.

Williams Starts Long Drills for Hawkeye Cagers

With the opening basketball game only one week away Coach Rollie Williams began to beat down on his cagers by stressing accurate ball handling and passing.

After a lengthy opening workout for the entire squad in which many men were given individual work on offense and defense, Coach Williams and assistant coach Harrison each took two teams and drilled them on the Iowa system on opposite ends of the court.

Championship Frat Touchball Contest Called

They returned Sunday night from their trip to Evanston, Ill., where they had battled Northwestern's Wildcats to a 7-7 tie. Over 2,000 Iowa Citizens and students were there to welcome them, but the Hawkeyes were not satisfied with their last showing of the year.

Red Frye, a young man who is being toasted as the third hero of the year at the center spot, thought he should have run back the pass he intercepted for a touchdown. That, mind you, in spite of the fact that Frye had played a game that even veterans could not have bettered. It shows, we think, the way the Hawks look at things this year. They were not satisfied to let things go with an average season. They planned to win, and ties were not enough. That, we feel, is the reason why the Hawkeyes of 1939 are a great team. They outdid all expectations, refused to rest on any laurels and played it out—even after their line was but a shattered string of crippled heroes, who played beyond their capabilities.

In the end, it didn't matter whether the Hawkeyes won the Big Ten title. They played plenty of football this fall, they smashed some of the nation's most powerful eleven and were still able to battle the Wildcats, an imposing assortment of flashy performers, on even terms.

We have never seen a team with more speedy backs than Northwestern. Bill De Correvont, Soper, Clawson, McGurn, Ryan, Red Hahnemann, Chambers and all the other Wildcats in the contest were topnotch performers.

They had speed and power, while the Hawkeyes were plainly worn down by previous contests to the point where Saturday's contest should have been easy for enemies.

Yet, the Hawkeyes were far from easy. With a patched up backfield that held three fullbacks in it at one time, Iowa held. The line was crippled and worn, but it held together and braced to hold back touchdowns that might have meant the ball game.

You can't describe the Iowa eleven with mere words. They have played the most sensational brand of football we ever saw here and all Iowa is grateful.

Not only did Dr. Eddie Anderson get the good wishes of Iowa backers in the form of a new car, but backfield coach Frank Carideo and line coach Jim Harris are each going to be presented with automobiles, according to the latest story.

The end of the season leaves several Hawks in crippled condition. Nile Kinnick, Jim Walker and Bill Diehl will all undergo operations to fix up injured parts. Diehl and Walker each, injured a knee during the season, while Kinnick will have some work done on his shoulder that was injured at Northwestern.

The first team that took the floor for the Hawkeyes was composed of Tom Chapman and Tom Lind at forwards, Charley Plett at the center and Rudy Soderquist and Vince Harsha at the guards.

The next team that was worked against the orange shirted opposition was made up of Bill Wheeler and Vic Siegel, with Bruce Fountain at center and Paul Siglin and Bob Jenkins at the guards.

In all probability these men will see some action in today's scrimmage as Coach Williams prepares his squad for the Carleton Clash at Mason City this week end.

Best in Big Ten

Delta Tau Delta and Delta Upsilon played yesterday afternoon for the championship of class A in the fraternity intramural touch football league.

The game was called in the middle of the second half because of darkness and will be finished this afternoon at 4:20 p.m. The score was 18-13 in favor of Delta Tau Delta when the game was called.

Delta Upsilon opened the scoring when Howard Humphrey intercepted a pass and lateraled to his brother Don, who went over for the score. The extra point was converted to give D. U. a 7-0 lead. Delta Tau Delta came right back, however, and pulled up to within one point of a tie when a pass from Art Manush to Youker was good for a touchdown. The extra point was not converted. Delta Upsilon again increased their lead 13-6 when Dick Mestayer fired a touchdown pass to Bob Blaylock.

Delta Tau Delta again had a chance to tie it up when another pass from Manush to Youker clicked for a score, but the try for the conversion was no good and the score stood at 13-12.

Just before the game was called Delta Tau Delta scored again on the same Manush to Youker combination and took the lead 18-13. It was too dark to attempt the conversion, and the game will take up from this point this afternoon.

Dr. Anderson, Coaching Aides Turn Attention to Freshmen

With the final game of the 1939 season behind them, Iowa's football coaches began to direct their efforts toward the Hawkeye yearling squad yesterday afternoon.

Although head coach Eddie Anderson and line coach Jim Harris were not present yesterday, Frank Carideo was on the practice field helping out with the freshman backs.

It is expected that Anderson and Harris will be on hand for the next week or so with Carideo to help the freshman staff for a final check-up with the fresh.

The squad this year, has plenty of promising material, including a number of backfield men who are equally adept at running, passing and kicking, and a good array of big linemen.

The squad drill has been concentrated on fundamentals with blocking, tackling, ball-handling, passing and kicking receiving the most attention.

The freshmen have been under the supervision of Bill Hofer, head freshman coach, and his assistants, Ted Swensen, Glenn Devine and Bob Allen.

The drills will probably end within the next two weeks.

Lower D won over Lower B by the score of 32-21. Peterson led the winners with 10 points with Flanders and Buckner accounting for six each.

Upper A defeated Upper C 15-7. Popma starred for the winners as he accounted for six points.

Coaches All Vote for Nile

Prasse Also On First Team; Enich Rates Second Eleven

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Nile Clark Kinnick Jr., superb triple-threat back and spark of the Iowa eleven, was the Western conference's outstanding individual player of the season and you have the Big Ten coaches' word for it.

Kinnick, cast in an "iron-man" role on Iowa's undermanned eleven, was the only unanimous selection of the coaches on the annual Associated Press all-conference team.

Of the five players making the all-star team a year ago who were still in competition, only two repeated on the first team. Erwin Prasse, Iowa end, was picked for an end spot and Tommy Harmon, Michigan ace, for the halfback opposite Kinnick.

Forest Evashevski, Michigan's blocking back who was hampered by injuries, dropped to the second team, and John Murray, Wisconsin center, and Lou Brock, Purdue back, the other two all-stars of 1938, were given honorable mention.

In the backfield with Kinnick and Harmon the coaches placed Don Scott, Ohio State's big quarterback, and George Paskvan, Wisconsin's pile-driving fullback.

Esco Sarkkinen, versatile Ohio State end, won the other flank post. The tackle spots went to Win Pedersen, Minnesota stalwart and Jim Reeder of Illinois.

The coaches named Hal Method of Northwestern and Vic Marino of Ohio State at guards.

John Haman of Northwestern, second team center a year ago, was promoted to the first team for his consistently brilliant work.

The second team is composed of Dave Rankin, Purdue, and John Mariucci, Minnesota, ends; Mike Enich, Iowa, and Nick Cutlich, Northwestern, tackles; Mel Brewer, Illinois, and James Logan, Indiana, guards; Steve Andracko, Ohio State, center; Evashevski, quarterback; Jim Langhurst, Ohio State, fullback, and Harold Van Every, Minnesota, Jim Strausbaugh, Ohio State and George Frank, Minnesota, halfbacks. This trio tied for the two second team halfback spots.

Another One For Hawklets
Washington Crew Tough Foe For Locals Tonight

Breaking even in two starts to date, the City high Hawklets run up against Washington's tough Wildcats tonight at the new gym in what may be the toughest test to date for Iowa City.

Washington, the surprise team of the Little Six conference last year, has four of their starters of last year back this season. The Orange and Black finished third in their league last year, beating both Ft. Madison, the champions, and Muscatine, the runnerup, in late season games.

With this imposing array of veterans to contend with, Coach Francis Merten at City high is set for a tough ball game. Although his boys have shown surprising improvement in a week of practice, Merten is still in the process of sifting out his first two strings, substituting in wholesale lots to find the competitive spirit and ball handling he is in search of.

Mr. Layden, on that grand game your boys played?

Layden Satisfied

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame—Southern California had lots of power and it was a grand game. We are satisfied Notre Dame came through a tough schedule in such fine style. With a little break here and there we might have won, but my hat is off to a great USC team, the best we've met since it beat us last year.

Howard Jones, Southern California—There's no question about Notre Dame being the toughest team we've met yet. They gained more ground than any other team we've played. We aren't talking about a Rose Bowl opponent yet, at least until we get there. We don't care whether or not it's Tennessee, Kerr, Piepul, Sheridan and Riffle were outstanding for the Irish.

Beronica Leeney, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a lace dress over peach satin, the sleeves and neckline of which were trimmed with blue and peach flowers. Her shoulder-length veil was also trimmed with blue and peach flowers. She wore a gold necklace and carried tea roses.

LeRoy Rohret, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Another brother, George Rohret, ushered. Joseph Welsh and Wilfred Widdingfeld, both of Tender, Neb., were also ushers.

Eight-year-old Genevieve Rohret, a niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a blue lace net dress.

University of Iowa To Sponsor First High School Music Festival

Event To Put Emphasis Upon Musical Values

Professor Harper Heads Committee; To Be Next May

The first high school music festival sponsored by the University of Iowa will be held here May 2, 3, and 4, 1940, with the emphasis upon musical values and sound technical accomplishment rather than upon competition.

This was announced yesterday by the festival committee of which Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, is the head.

It marks a change from the situation of the past 14 years when the state university co-operated with the Iowa High School Music association in holding a state festival. The 1940 affair is entirely under the auspices of the university.

Give Purposes

In a bulletin announcing the festival, officials say "The purposes are to recognize outstanding musical performance, to provide an opportunity for the best talent to be heard by critic judges, and to place emphasis upon musical values and sound technical accomplishment."

The program will offer numerous features, among which will be auditions before critic judges for large groups, ensembles, and soloists, sight-reading tests by large groups, two rehearsals daily by the festival orchestra, chorus, and band under distinguished conductors; marching band exhibition, concert by the large groups, and daily conference meetings for teachers.

It is pointed out that the festival will be non-competitive, for entries will not be given definite rankings or ratings by the critic judges.

34 Events Listed

Thirty-four events are listed and schools will be classified in three events according to size. Participation is strictly upon an invitation basis, with bids to be issued upon information furnished on application blanks. Any accredited Iowa high school is eligible.

In addition to Professor Harper, festival committee members are Prof. P. G. Clapp and Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department; Prof. Bruce E. Mahan of the extension division; and Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education.

Active Cooperation for Common Good Urged By Catholic Advocate of Equality Among Men

"Call me an investigator, cogitator, agitator and instigator."

That was the way Maurin, founder and co-editor of the Catholic Worker, described himself at the public colloquy held Sunday evening in the cafeteria of Iowa Union.

Peter . . . everybody during the discussion called him by his first name . . . is a working man who is vitally interested in the social difficulties of our time. More, he sees a possible solution to these problems and has become vocal about it.

"What's the use of having beliefs if we don't do something about them?" he asks.

The discussion revealed the things which Peter is doing about his own convictions. His Catholic Worker newspaper has constantly fought for the "equitable distribution of the fruits of man's labor."

Specifically, it advocates a back-to-the-land movement, public ownership of public utilities, cooperative hostels, parish co-operatives.

tives and farming communes. Already 40 "Houses of Hospitality" and four farming communes have been established under the newspaper's direct instigation.

Peter lives in one of these houses, along with 40 or more indigent "guests." Every morning he and his co-editors feed coffee, rye bread and apple butter to some 1,000 men.

The man himself has taken the vow of poverty. It is his belief that activity and a Franciscan poverty are two indispensable qualifications for his particular work.

Universities and colleges are today "intellectual cafeterias," according to the Catholic editor. They are places where specialists are learning more and more about less and less. "Sports," he added, "are to education what bullfighting is to agriculture."

Questions continued to be asked even after the regular hour of discussion was ended. An emphatic "no" was his answer to one questioner who wanted to know if Peter was ever a member of the Communist party.

He added, however, that most Catholics speak of communism with bated breaths. "And yet the members of that party are apt to stand a better chance in the eyes of God than those Catholics who see the ills of the world and refuse to help alleviate them."

Peter Maurin answered many questions during the evening with his self-styled "Easy Essays." The method was originated in 1927 when he was called upon to speak at a Rotarian club meeting. It seems one member thought he would have some fun at Peter's expense. This was what he told them:

"The other fellow says that I am queer; and that is normal. When he says that I am queer he means that I am queer to him. I may be queer to him,

Ad Club Meets Tonight; Meier To Be Speaker

The University Ad club will have a meeting tonight at 7:30 in the party room above Smith's cafe.

Prof. Norman C. Meier of the university psychology department, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Psychology as Employed in Modern Advertising."

All who are interested in the profession of advertising are invited to attend. There will be no charge.

Station WSUI Features Old Tunes Today

The Iowa City Woman's club chorus presents a half-hour musical program over station WSUI beginning at 2:30 this afternoon. Mrs. Dwight Curtis directs the group and Maude Whedon Smith is the accompanist.

"Come Ye Here, Laddie," a light hearted Slovakian folk song, and "The Lovely Rose" which has the smooth flowing melody and rich harmony typical of Finnish folk songs will be sung by the chorus.

"Summer is A-comin'" probably the oldest part song extant, written in the 13th century, will be sung by women's voices in three parts.

Maude Whedon Smith will play "Money Musk," an ancient dance arranged in modern style by Leo Soverdy.

The chorus will then sing "Come Lasses and Lads," a Sir Roger de Coverly English country dance, and "The Three Doves," a plaintive, sentimental melody of the Italian folksong group.

The group will conclude the program by singing "My Man John," a spirited English folk song featuring an amusing bit of dialogue.

Rev. R. C. Raines To Speak At Vespers Service Sunday

Appearance To Be Methodist Minister's First on Campus

The Rev. Richard C. Raines, D.D., pastor of the Hennepin Avenue Methodist church of Minneapolis, will speak at the next university vespers service Sunday at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium. His subject will be "Salt, Light and Leaven."

Although the Rev. Mr. Raines is only 40 years old, he has come to be regarded as one of the most attractive personalities among the younger preachers of America. Prof. M. Willard Lampe, chairman of the senate board on vespers, said yesterday in his announcement of the vespers.

One of the Rev. Mr. Raines' sermons appears in the volume, "Great Sermons by Younger Preachers," published in 1930.

For the past nine years he has been the minister of one of the strongest congregations in the Methodist church, with the church frequently filled to capacity for two successive services Sunday.

Junior Law Club Arguments To Open Tonight at Commons

Atty. Arthur O. Leff In Charge of Case; Gaffney To Preside

Junior Law club arguments will be given this evening at 7 o'clock in the Law Commons and will commence the series of junior law arguments. Attorney Arthur O. Leff, assistant in practice in the college of law, has charge of the junior arguments.

James P. Gaffney, one of the judges of the eighth judicial district, will preside at tonight's argument.

Richard Beebe, L2 of Ottumwa, and Richard K. Smith, L2 of Clarion, are attorneys for the appellant tonight. Robert C. Fisk, L2 of Curlew, and Gad James, L2 of Iowa City, are attorneys for appellees.

The case for tonight concerns John Barton, appellant vs. Board of Adjustment of Iowa City, Iowa, and the Building Inspector of Iowa City. The case concerns a lot in an exclusive residential district in Iowa City, a zoning ordinance providing for no commercial use of the lot, and the appellant putting it to such a commercial use.

The issues to be presented are: is the Zoning Ordinance constitutional if it prohibits the use contemplated in this case? did the Board of Adjustment have jurisdiction to pass on the issues in this case? and can an estoppel be effective against the appellees during the period provided in the ordinance for appeal to the Board of Adjustment?

There will be four junior law arguments, of which tonight's is the first. Two men will be selected from each of these four cases who, in their senior year, are eligible for Supreme Court day arguments.

The next junior law argument will be held one week from tonight.

Announces Pledging

mornings. Professor Lampe, director of the school of religion, said.

Sunday's appearance will be the Rev. Mr. Raines' first on this campus, although he was born and reared at Independence and is a graduate and trustee of Cornell college at Mt. Vernon.

Illness detained his appearing here last year when he was to have been a member of the Religious Emphasis week team.

Sunday's meeting will not be broadcast. The public is invited.

MOMENT IN PEKING... a long novel concerned with change in China. Published by the John Day Co. for $3.00.

...tang writes his novel. Many things the reader will remember: the scenes of a strange yet familiar way of living...

It is opportune that at this particular time should come a novel which tells so vividly of China's change. Welcome it is, though strange, that such a novel as "Moment in Peking" could be written with such calm objectivity...

"Moment in Peking" is a saga of family life. Before our eyes, and just as slowly and relentlessly as life itself, we see China's traditions and ways of life of the centuries shattered...

While change in the national character of China is the main thesis of "Moment in Peking" not at all does Lin Yutang belabor his reader with intrusive propaganda. It is with people, with their relationships to one another and themselves during this period of change...

It is with the same exquisite care which we are accustomed to look for in all Chinese art that Lin Yutang writes his novel. Many things the reader will remember: the scenes of a strange yet familiar way of living...

Charges Filed On Ebright In Local Court

Charges of breaking and entering the Alpha Delta Pi sorority house were filed yesterday morning against Arthur Ebright, 22, in the court of T. M. Fairchild, justice of the peace.

The arrest was made Friday night when Patrolmen E. J. Ruppert and G. J. Mulherin found the youth wearing a woman's fur coat in the vicinity of the sorority house. Chief of Police Frank Burns said that Ebright confessed having stolen several articles from the sorority house located at 222 N. Clinton street Dec. 3, 1933.

He also admitted, Chief Burns said, having taken several articles from two apartments in the Burkley apartment building Jan. 29.

The stolen goods, hidden in a Bloomington street garage, included, according to police, two black seal fur coats, several pairs of women's shoes, a compact, ring, silk negligee, shoes, gloves, a coin purse and a woman's hat.

Date for the preliminary hearing had not been set last night.

In a large modern candy factory, 40 to 50 men and women are employed for a full working week scrubbing floors, windows and equipment.

Mehl Leads Runners
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State pushed enough runners across the finish line yesterday to win National and Central Collegiate Cross Country team championships, but Walter Mehl, of Wisconsin, broke the tape first. Mehl, running well to the head of the 79 harriers for three of the four miles, surged into the lead at the three-quarter post and was 60 yards ahead at the tape. His time was 20:30.9, for a new course record. The old course record was 20:59.5 set this year by Michigan State's Roy Fehr.

Federal Judge O.K.'s Becicka's Release to Iowa for Trial Here

Alleged Slayer Will Be Tried In Local Court

Application Authorized To Surrender Suspect To Johnson County

Federal District Judge Charles A. Dewey of Des Moines, yesterday authorized the United States marshal to surrender Charles Becicka, confessed slayer of Mr. and Mrs. George Novotny, aged Shueyville farm couple, to state authorities to face trial on charge of murder. The Associated Press reported last night.

District Attorney John K. Valentine told the Des Moines judge the United States attorney general had authorized filing of the application to release Becicka to Johnson county for trial.

Neither Sheriff Don McComas nor County Attorney Harold Westmark, who were out of town last night, could be reached for a statement.

Charged With Extortion

Becicka was arrested several days ago on a federal warrant charging him with attempting to extort $200 from Curtis Novotny, administrator of the George Novotny estate. Becicka, a nephew of George Novotny, signed a confession Friday at Davenport admitting that he shot and killed the elderly Shueyville couple Sept. 9.

Despite approval of the arrangement with state authorities to try Becicka for murder, Valentine said the extortion case would be presented to the federal grand jury in Des Moines next week. In the event the defendant is indicted on the federal charge, he added, a detainer order will be placed on him in the state courts by the marshal.

Becicka is charged in two informations filed Saturday in the court of T. M. Fairchild, justice of the peace, with the murder of the Novotnys.

To Appear Today

Becicka had been scheduled to appear today on the extortion charge in the Des Moines federal court.

Becicka's confession was filed at dawn Friday in the presence of Sheriff McComas, State Agent Bob Gregson, R. W. Nebergall, chief of the state bureau of investigation, Gail Burbridge of the state bureau of investigation and Scott County Sheriff W. H. Beuse. The defendant was arrested Nov. 15 and admitted trying to extort $200 from Wesley Novotny, of Curtis, brother of the slain man.

All university women must attend three of the scheduled practice games to be eligible to participate on a team. Managers of the respective teams are asked to contact players and arrange for definite practice methods, Miss Poulson urged. The basketball tournament will get under way before the holidays, according to the intramural head, and the winning teams will receive points toward the intramural trophy awarded each year.

Admitting his motive was robbery, Becicka said he obtained less than $20.

W. E. Smith Presents Aids For Licensing

County Treasurer Says Gross Weight Needed by Truckers

W. E. Smith, county treasurer, anticipating opening of sale of motor vehicle licenses Friday, said yesterday that under a new law enacted by the last general assembly of Iowa it will be necessary for owners of trucks to report the empty weight of these vehicles in registering them for 1940.

Registration of trucks, which includes truck-tractors, road tractors, semi-trailers and trailers, will be on a gross weight basis, Smith said, the gross weight being the empty weight of the vehicle plus the maximum load to be carried.

Weight Tickets

Smith asks that all truckers secure weight tickets and present them at the desk when registering. He said it would be necessary to know the empty weight and the weight of the maximum load to be carried. The licenses will be based on the combined weight.

"It should be noted," he pointed out, "that trucks are no longer licensed as ton trucks or one and a half ton trucks, as rated by the manufacturers, but on actual weight of the empty truck plus the maximum load to be carried."

Smith said the number of vehicles registered in 1939 was the largest on record in Johnson county. There were 9,573 passenger cars and 1,376 trucks registered in 1939, an increase of 290 passenger cars and 101 trucks over 1938, he added.

Service Clubs Estimate 200 Families Need Christmas Aid

Interested Groups Asked To Contribute To Social League

Representatives of Iowa City service clubs, student organizations and churches, at a meeting held at the Social Service headquarters Sunday afternoon, estimated that 200 families would require Christmas aid this year.

The Christmas committee, consisting of Mrs. Minerva S. Knight, Mrs. Grace Kendall, Mrs. F. B. Olsen and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, called the meeting to lay plans for the Christmas relief fund in which all organizations are urged to take part. As in the past, the Social Service league will try to distribute Christmas aid to all needy families with a minimum of duplication. Frances Wilson, executive of the Social Service league, said. All groups or individuals interested in contributing are urged to contact the league, she continued.

"Last year provision for about 300 poor families' Christmas day went through our agency," she went on. "The number will be somewhat smaller this year, however, because more families have had work, and are able to provide at least in part for themselves."

Children's Needs

"There are many families in our community who either through the WPA wages, or with the help from our agency, have been able to secure the necessities of life such as food, shelter and clothing. They do not have, however, any resources to take care of miscellaneous needs or to buy Christmas gifts for their children."

The first religious service of any denomination was given by the Methodist church one hundred years ago this month. The location of Matthew Teneich's home, where the first service in Iowa City was held, is directly across the street from the journalism building.

Besides the usual necessities, a subscription to a magazine or newspaper, plants for shut-ins, Christmas trees and ornaments are all useful gifts, Miss Wilson pointed out. Toys of various descriptions including such materials as kindergarten scissors, work books and construction toys which may have educational value are also needed, she said.

"Of course there is always a need of wearing apparel, especially mittens, scarfs and caps that can be used for school children. Milk funds, household supplies of cooking utensils, linen bedding and furniture are always excellent to be used as gifts. Also parties for children give groups an opportunity to have a close personal participation in their Christmas sharing."
