FINNS FIRM, FEAR START OF WAR

Russia Breaks Off Relations With Finland

Soviet Declares, However, She Won't Annex Territory

By WITT HANCOCK MOSCOW, Nov. 30 (AP)—Soviet Russia has broken off diplomatic relations with Finland but left the world in doubt as to her further intentions. Severance of diplomatic relations between nations often is a forerunner of war but Soviet Russia declared she had no intention of annexing Finnish territory or of compromising Finland's independence.

With a million Russian troops massed on the Finnish border facing Finnish forces that at best can muster 400,000 men, Russian premier-foreign minister Vyacheslav Molotov declared in a midnight broadcast that Russia was taking "immediate steps" to keep her security inviolate. His midnight broadcast, delivered with a background of stirring martial music and red army marching songs, called on Russia's millions of red troops and her navy to be prepared for any action.

The navy already has been engaged in exercises in the Gulf of Finland, in close proximity to Finnish islands which Russia has asked for naval bases. The official note severing relations was handed by Molotov to Baron Aarno Yrjo-Koskinen, the Finnish minister, at 10:30 p.m. (Wednesday) (1:30 p.m. CST). The news was received with consternation in Helsinki, the Finnish capital. Other Scandinavian countries regarded the Russian action as extremely ominous and feared there was no further possibility of a peaceful settlement of the Finnish-Russian dispute.

'On Iowa' Club Plans Meeting

Coaches, Hawkeyes To Attend Tomorrow Night's Color Movies

The last session of the "On Iowa" club will convene at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Maebride auditorium, with moving pictures in color of the Iowa-Northwestern game and a repeat performance of the movies of the Wisconsin game as the attraction. Invitations to the performance have been extended to each of the 39 members of the Hawkeye football squad, Prof. Karl E. Leib, chairman of the board in control of athletics; Line Coach Jim Harris and Backfield Coach Frank Carideo.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, head coach, will be in Chicago and will not be able to attend the meeting. It was announced last night that friends of the club will be admitted to this final performance of the season at an admission price of 10 cents. Regular members will be admitted by ticket.

British Hold U. S. Ships For Inspection

American Vessels Exposed to Bombing By Enemy Aircraft

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—United States merchant ships, banned from the European war zone by the American neutrality law, still are being brought into British ports—in war zone—for examination. This disclosure today by the ministry of economic warfare was followed quickly by the declaration in neutral circles that vessels thus concentrated for examination by the British contraband control were exposed to bombing by enemy craft.

Thirteen American merchantmen were among 134 neutral ships whose cases were considered by the contraband committee in the week ending Nov. 25. There were 85 ships, including two American which had been held more than a week, still at three United Kingdom contraband control points yesterday.

The neutrality law, which became operative Nov. 4, prohibits American ships from entering ports situated in the combat area around most of northern Europe and the British Isles. British authorities in Washington have contended, however, that international law gives Britain a clear right to order neutral vessels into British ports for examination.

(State department authorities said they had not been advised officially of British action in taking American vessels into the forbidden areas and that therefore international problems which might be involved were not under consideration at present.)

The government tightened its hold on parliamentary procedure, meanwhile, when the house of commons approved by a vote of 213 to 115 a proposal by Prime Minister Chamberlain to restrict the introduction of bills to government measures. A similar rule was in force during the World war.

In air warfare, the British reported their combat planes brought down a lone German raider off the northeast coast of England. Coastal residents watched the battle off the Northumberland coast. A lifeboat failed to find any trace of the raider, identified as a German Heinkel plane, which the air ministry said "dived vertically into clouds toward the sea."

Swedish Educator To Speak In Baconian Series Tomorrow

Prof. Martin P. Nilsson of Lund university, Sweden, will deliver the fourth Baconian lecture tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the chemistry auditorium, on "The Mysteries and Religion of Eleusis." The lecture, under the auspices of the Classical conference, will be illustrated with slides. Professor Nilsson, who is teaching ancient history at the Lund university, is one of the world authorities in the field of Greek studies and the history of religion. He comes to this country by invitation of the Committee on the History of Religion of the American council of learned societies and as lecturer on the Norton Foundation for the Archaeological Institute of America.

Hull Offers To Aid in Soviet-Finn Crisis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—In a last-minute attempt to stave off Russo-Finnish hostilities, the United States government informed the world late today that it stood ready to aid in a peaceful solution of the dispute.

An unexpected statement, issued by Secretary of State Hull shortly before news was received that Russia had broken off diplomatic relations with Finland, declared that if both countries wished it the United States would "gladly extend its good offices."

50,000 Detroit Strikers Start Work Monday

Auto Workers Will Get More Pay After 7 Weeks of Dispute

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (AP)—More than 50,000 Chrysler corporation employees who haven't had a payday for seven weeks eagerly waited tonight for a chance to resume work under a new contract announced today.

Corporation officials, hoping to recoup an estimated $100,000,000 sales loss caused by the 54-day shutdown which marked the automobile industry's longest labor dispute, rushed plans to get final assembly lines operating again. Spokesmen said all plants would be open by Monday.

The corporation instructed thousands of employees to resume work at several plants tomorrow morning for "regular shifts." These included the Dodge, Plymouth and De Soto plants. Additional thousands were called back for Friday, Saturday and Monday mornings.

A general wage increase of three cents an hour for all hourly employees of the corporation, and an additional increase of one cent for workers in all Chrysler plants outside Detroit, was included in the settlement.

Officials of the CIO United Automobile Workers estimated that the increases would total between $5,600,000 and $6,000,000 a year. The corporation said it was "about $5,000,000."

Nation Leaves Decision Up To U. S. S. R.

Surprised But Calm As Russia Severs Diplomatic Relations

HELSINKI, Nov. 30 (Thursday) (AP)—Profoundly disturbed by Moscow's action rupturing diplomatic relations but still determined to stand fast, Finns uneasily awaited developments today, fearing the beginning of hostilities at any time.

But up to 12:45 a.m. (4:45 p.m. CST), officials said, there had been no troop movements across the borders so far as they could learn. It was all the more shocking to the Finns because Moscow action came before they could deliver a note to the Kremlin offering to withdraw Finnish defense forces from the frontier as a gesture towards settling their quarrel.

Minister Makes Offer The offer was made by Foreign Minister Elias Erko in his reply to Russia's denunciation of the 1932 Finnish-Soviet nonaggression treaty.

"My government is ready to settle with the Soviet government the question of the removal of Finnish defense forces on the Karelian isthmus with the exception of frontier customs guard forces, to such a distance from Leningrad that it could not even be alleged that they threaten its security," Erko's note said.

He prefaced this statement with the explanation that Finland was motivated by a desire "to prove emphatically there is a sincere effort to reach an accord with the Soviet government and refute the Soviet government's allegations that Finland has adopted a hostile attitude toward the U.S.S.R., and it is desirous of threatening the security of Leningrad."

Russia Denounces Pact Finland's refusal previously to withdraw her border forces led to Russia's denunciation of the non-aggression pact Tuesday. A foreign office spokesman said "Everything is up to Russia now. The situation is too difficult for comment."

Japanese Boat Goes To Aid Of U. S. Freighter in Distress

TOKYO, Nov. 30 (AP)—The salvage boat Yusho Maru today started to the aid of the American freighter Peter Kerr, reported in distress off the northern Japanese port of Hakodate.

(Globe wireless reported in San Francisco Monday that the Peter Kerr had broadcast a general call for ships to "please stand by." The freighter Michigan was said to have been going to her aid.)

(The Globe report said a message from the liner President Coolidge advised that the Peter Kerr's No. 1 hold was full of water but that she was in no immediate danger. The position of the Peter Kerr, which left Los Angeles Nov. 4, for Vladivostok, was given as 555 miles from Hakodate.)

Bundsfuehrer Hears Verdict On Fund Theft

Awaits Sentence To Be Imposed Dec. 5; 30-Year Maximum

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn was convicted tonight of grand larceny and forgery in the alleged theft of money from his German-American fund.

Eight and one half hours after receiving the case, the jury of 12 men announced their verdict—conviction on all of the five counts left to the jury's decision.

The maximum penalty for the bundsfuehrer could be 30 years in prison. Sentence will be imposed Dec. 5. There was little excitement in the courtroom. Spectators had been barred from trial sessions for some time and were not admitted tonight.

The jury entered the courtroom at 9 p.m. (CST) and four minutes later returned its verdict. As the foreman announced the decision, Kuhn, in the prisoner's dock, stood erect and blinked his eyes. Then he sank back against a court railing, but said nothing.

Satisfaction Is Reward Enough

THE ANNUAL Religious Activities financial drive begins December 3 and lasts until December 8. This year, more than ever, this drive needs the support of every student, faculty member and interested friends...

Proof that the office carries on worthwhile projects is plentiful, for it sponsors the annual Freshman conference, fireside chats in which faculty members visit with students...

In addition the office serves as a clearing house and service agency for all the student religious groups on the campus and in the churches.

As yet, the state legislature has not given financial support to this budget. It is not the hope of the staff that the entire budget will some day be undertaken by the state...

Students solicitors will approach every group on the campus next week. These young men and young women show their interest in the Religious Activities program by expending their time and energy in the hope that the final results will be in returns enough to continue such a program on our campus.

Though a gift of this sort may not give the donor tangible returns, each person has the satisfaction of creating something worthwhile.

So with the spirit of the solicitors, that of willingly asking for financial help to support a worthwhile program, in the same spirit we should all contribute as we are able.

The satisfaction of giving to a splendid program is reward enough.

What Every Small Nation Should Know

THE SPECTACLE painted by the Soviet showing little Finland taking the lead in aggression is as incongruous as any this present unsettled condition in Europe has inspired.

It is again apparent that the world cannot continue to exist under international anarchy if the higher values of human living are to remain undestroyed. We saw Czechoslovakia and the others die because they dared to resist the bullying of a larger nation.

The conditions of international living are intolerable so long as small nations must give way before the brute force of a larger nation. Finland is but one example of incidents that have become increasingly common.

The Soviet government, angered at the stout Finnish resistance, is taking one step after another to lead toward "justification" of military subjugation of a people that worked diligently and bravely for deserved independence.

While Hitler attempts to drag the Finnish affair to full length, in order to keep Stalin out of southeastern Europe so long as possible, the Soviet seems to be pressing the Finns more and more. New incidents are manufactured or caused to happen.

But how unoriginal are the Soviet's methods. Russia has borrowed every fascist trick in this crude campaign. The Soviet whips up hatred for the Finns, masses great divisions of soldiers on the frontier, accuses the Finnish troops of firing as a pretext for demanding retirement of Finland's troops.

If the Nazi methods of subjugation are as catching as it would seem from Russian adoption of them, there is a great threat to the world that must be eliminated. If nations like Finland are to be forced to bow before outlaw powers, no nation is safe.

The world must not become a jungle in which all nations live in a state of perpetual war.

There Is Cause For Giving Thanks

IT IS BY now an old theme, but nevertheless true: few nations in the world will have so much cause today for the giving of thanks to God as will America.

A great contemporary German philosopher has warned the world that there can be no happiness in times of social upheaval. What he says is true in Europe, has been true through the centuries.

America, we believe, is made of more vital stuff. It was in the midst of the heaviest stress that the Pilgrim families first showed how grateful America is for bountiful favors. Even in times of greatest stress, there are causes for rejoicing. We who are not involved in the conflicts that rack Europe, we who will eat and drink without fear of not eating or drinking the next day, we who know freedom and security that the peoples of Europe do not know can well afford this day for the giving of thanks to God.

There are troubles in this land, but they shrink into miniature alongside the rich favors that this nation almost alone enjoys today.

Now Is The Time

WHEN YOU learned to type-write—if you took a formal course—you at some time wrote over and over that famous line:

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

No more significance was ever attached to that phrase than is being attached today. Not so many months ago people were saying that the elephant was dead—the "Grand Old Party" had succumbed.

Don't believe it. The Republicans are out to wipe away the last vestige of memory that America may have of those dark days when defeat was made more difficult by adverse propaganda.

Now there is coming another election year. This is only the beginning, but we don't believe we're wrong in predicting that you'll see unexpected vigor and life in that old Elephant.

The Relative Merits of The Whiffenpoof

THE WHIFFENPOOF, be it animal, vegetable or mineral, is a fine thing. Songs have been written about it. It stands for something very elusive, yet very definite—a sort of combined spirit of a body of students residing on the University of Iowa campus, at the Quadrangle.

Iowa's whiffenpoof has been exemplified through a monument, and given definite form here for the first time, which, we think is splendid.

What are the relative merits of the whiffenpoof as compared to other ideals, pets or social phenomena?

1. It stays where you put it, barring circumstances beyond anybody's control, which certainly is a good thing.

2. It doesn't eat, making it superior to a house pet like a dog, cat, goldfish or canary.

3. It doesn't bark or sit on the back fence at night and howl.

4. You don't have to put it out in the evening.

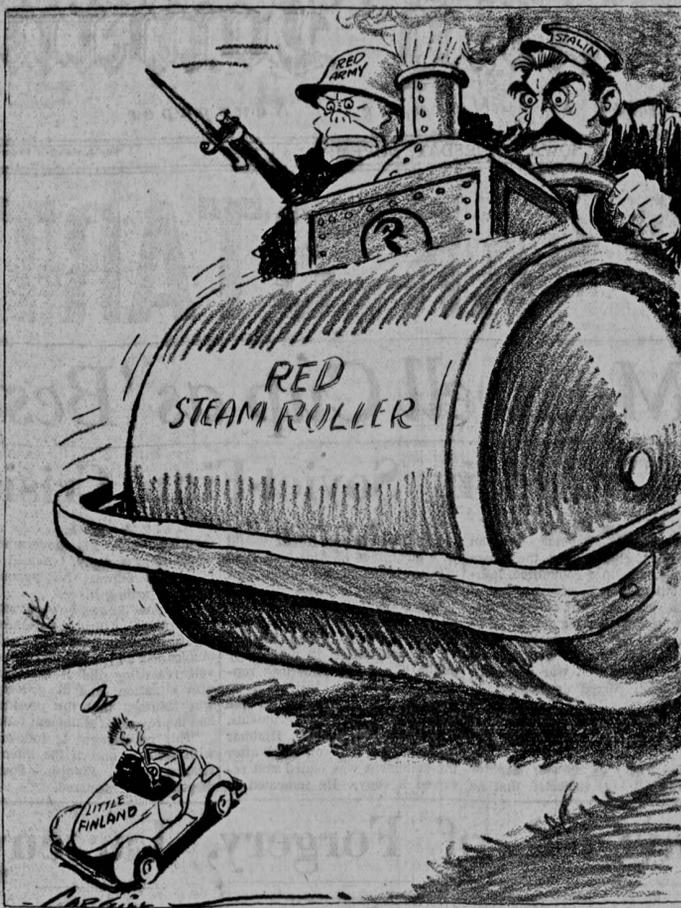

5. You don't have to wash it, because, if it's infested with anything, it's termites, which are comparatively harmless and unimportant.

6. Its personality is neither schizoid nor dementia-precox; it sits on an even keel of intense existence.

These half-dozen reasons should convince the public of the desirability of a whiffenpoof in every home.

And we go on record: a whiffenpoof is certainly a fine thing.

Justice McReynolds Considered Liberal in 1914, Now Seen as Last of Conservative Mohicans

With Justice Pierce Butler's recent death, everybody's aware that Justice James C. McReynolds remains as the last of the conservative Mohicans on the federal supreme bench. But not so many folks remember that Justice McReynolds was considered quite a decided liberal when President Woodrow Wilson appointed him, back in 1914. It must seem funny to him to look back on—to recall that old-fashioned solons regarded him somewhat askance, as rather dangerously radical, when his name came up for senatorial confirmation to membership among the "nine old men" on Capitol Hill. Today he rates as the final survivor of the court's supposedly reactionary "Last Man's Club."

Elevation to that particular woosack transforms many an individual in an extraordinary manner. It doesn't transform all of them. The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, for instance, appointed as a liberal, stayed liberal. Justice McReynolds, however, eventually changed his spots. And Justice Harlan F. Stone? President Calvin Coolidge picked him. Is it likely that "Cautious Cal" would have named anyone whom he didn't deem safely to the right of center? Not a bit of it. Harlan had been a J. P. Morgan lawyer. His confirmation was fought on the ground that he'd twisted justice in big capitalism's interest. Yet, as to date, he rates as a notable upholder of New Deal legislation. Perhaps he isn't as pronounced as, say, Justice Hugo L. Black, but he's even more substantial. For that matter, Justice Black may change conservatively. Justice Stone has changed in the opposite direction. He's done it already.

Not only does a supreme court justiceship seem to alter a jurist's views. Apparently it modifies his entire personality. I can remember when the present Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was conducting his insurance investigation a generation ago. He simply was rampant for publicity. He liked it while he was governor of New York. While he was secretary of state he was always accessible. The minute he got into the supreme court the sphinx had nothing on him. Justice Stone, while attorney general, was readily approachable. Now try to see him? Anybody could drop in and talk with Justice Black, so long as he was a representative. You could ask him about anything. Now? Murder!

AROUND THE TOWN With MERLE MILLER

LAURELS TO A HERO! On Thanksgiving morning, columnists traditionally count their blessings. I have many, not the least of which is the luck of the moon-born. I'm thankful.

But this is not the story of luck or of a columnist. On Thanksgiving it's traditional to think of the others who inhabit his planet. So this is about a friend of mine, a kid you may know.

He's a brave person, I think, in a way not easily understood. Perhaps I should begin when he was a freshman. I knew him only slightly then. He tried out for football, and he was good. That was no surprise. He had a sensational high school record, and every gridiron-conscious campus in the country had been after him.

Money was mentioned more than once. This kid came to the University of Iowa because he wanted to be a lawyer, and he'd heard the Iowa City college was a good one.

Don't think, though, that football prowess guaranteed his success. It didn't. People may like to forget it now, but most of them thought him stand-offish and too quiet. He took himself too seriously, they said. After all, an athlete should be an athlete.

What's more this kid studied. He lived at the Quad, and he read books that weren't required. Everyone knows a good football man can have the grades he wants without effort.

Too shy, too quiet, and too serious. Not an easy combination. Too bad. He was a good back.

The next year I knew him a little better, and he was sensational enough by then to be first-rate squad material on a generally third-rate team. He played basketball too and played it well.

But still, if they'll remember, not many undergraduate hero-worshippers followed his trail. He had a few friends who were good friends, and that was all.

Still he studied, still he shunned easy notoriety, and by then it was fairly well-established that he was Phi Beta Kappa material.

Too bad he couldn't have had a team behind him to make him big-time. Football is an 11-man game, and this kid would have been the first to recognize that.

His junior year wasn't his best either. Somehow nobody really clicked that year, and although he played well, it wasn't spectacular. If only he hadn't come to Iowa, the sports writers niggled. Now at Notre Dame—well, a couple mentioned All-America. Sounded far-fetched, they admitted.

The football season ended in a cloud last November, but it was especially dark for two people—a coach named Tubbs and this kid.

His real friends were still around, but as for general acclaim, well, it was nice the basketball season was coming on. He'd need that.

Two weeks later he announced he wasn't playing. He'd come to the University of Iowa to learn, he said, and he meant it. He wasn't going out for basketball because he didn't have the time.

I remember the sports writers and the side-line cheerers then. There was much talk about school loyalty and "do-or-die," none about loyalty to one's self.

This year's story is too well known for repeating. They know it in New York City and in the foothills of California and in the lumber camps of Washington.

Tuesday Nile Kinnick won the Heisman award, and that's homage to my hero. But even the best of trophies get dulled with time, and this is Nile for the more fundamental parts of his college experience and of life afterward. All of which takes as much guts as any 60 minutes on the football field.

Honors still keep piling up these days for Nile Kinnick, now all-American, all-Big Ten and American's outstanding player. Yesterday he was voted the Maxwell trophy, also given to the nation's outstanding player, and landed another all-American berth, receiving the highest point total of any member.

It didn't stop there, either, for the Hawkeyes. Capt. Erwin Prasse rated a second all-American and Mike Enich got honorable mention as a tackle. That is in addition to a first team Big Ten berth for each Prasse and Enich, a second team post to Wally Bergstrom and mentions for Al Couppee and Dick Evans.

These are, of course, the headline signs of Hawkeye success, but there are a few other results of the past season—meaning the pleasure alumni and former Iowans in other places than the Midwest are getting. They read all they can find about the Hawkeyes, listen in on games and then write letters—to Dr. Eddie Anderson, to Dad Schroeder and to Iowa newspapers, all praising the Iowa coaches, Iowa players and Iowa in general.

W. G. Thompson of Brooklyn, N. Y., class of '28, writes that all alumni around there are proud of the Hawkeyes and their coach. He also encloses a clipping from a New York paper that tells of the mighty achievements of this fall.

From way up in Canada comes word that Iowa is getting to be an international institution. Sid Hoffman, a sports writer at St. Catherine's, Ontario, says Iowa has gained attention in the dominion in spite of the war. Which makes Adolf Hitler just another guy named Gus. After all, he hasn't coached the nazis through their first victory yet and Goering gets not a single all-star berth.

While on the subject of war, it was nearly declared by Iowa riders when they discovered Mike Enich was left off an all-Big Ten team. Says Ken Pettit, "Any all-conference team stinks without Mike Enich." At least that was the general tone of Pettit's statement and, I suspect, a fairly good summary of the whole squad's attitude.

Enich, Kinnick and Prasse each played all but a few minutes of Iowa's seven major games, and those games were major enough to be the equal of any European catastrophe. Check it over for yourself. Kinnick and Enich played six full games each and Prasse played five, while none missed more than 15 minutes of competition through Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame, Minnesota and Northwestern. That's as much football as any other three men in the country played and far more than the average all-star selection.

You can get a pretty fair line on players by talking to teammates and we would guess that Tait Cummins' prize crack about Bill Stern going down in history as the man who left Nile Kinnick off his first all-American team, might have a parallel, in teammates' opinions at least, in the pickers who didn't know Mike Enich plays more football than any lineman in the country.

Weight Men All-University Meet Set For Tuesday

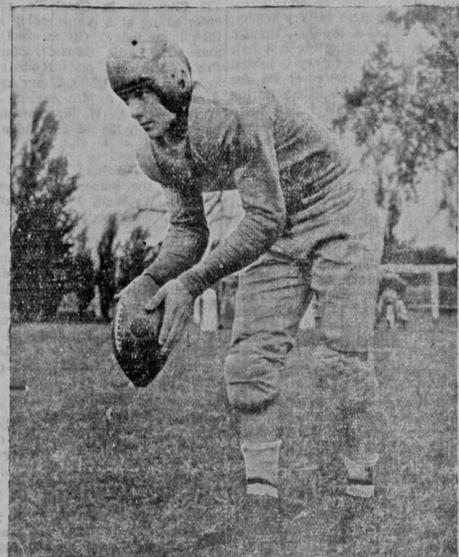

On next Tuesday, Dec. 5, the all-university weight triathlon will be held in the field house. The meet will consist of three events: the shot-put, the 25-pound weight and the discus. This annual event will be carried over during the week and will run along with the sprint sextathlon and distance quadrathlon starting on the same date. The winner of the weight events will be determined on the basis of the total number of points made in the three tosses. The regular conference schedule has not yet been drawn up for the track squad; but is expected to be ready the second week in December. Coach George Bresnahan states that the meets, both indoors and out this year, will most likely follow the schedule of the last few years. That is, with such teams as Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Chicago, the Drake and Kansas Relays.

Comets Sign Up Dean

More Work for the Buzzer

Buzz Dean, above, the man who booted the extra point in last week's 7-7 tie with Northwestern, will turn to professional football Sunday when he plays with the Des Moines Comets at Des Moines. Dean played his last game for the Hawkeyes Saturday and was one of the game's stars. During the season just past Dean has been one of the mainstays of the Hawkeye backfield, playing at right halfback most of the time. When Nile Kinnick left the game last week, Dean took over the kicking and passing duties.

1900 Wildcats Troubled Iowa

Iowa Alumnus Writes Anderson of Deadlock; Hawkeyes Were All III

Iowa's 7-7 tie with Northwestern of this year had a predecessor way back in 1900, and the predecessor had complications that far outdid anything modern could dig up, according to a letter received yesterday by Dr. Eddie Anderson.

The letter, from W. C. Edson of Storm Lake, tells Coach Anderson of the appreciation of fans in that section for the football deeds of the Hawkeyes and their coaches, and adds a narrative about the tie game of nearly 40 years ago.

Big League's 'Evil Practices' Are Denounced

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, with a vehement denunciation of several clubs for the "evil practices" of concealing player contracts from his office, imposed fines totalling $2,500 today on four teams, including the Detroit Tigers and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Iowa Coaches To Arrange '40 Schedules

Schedules for 1940 in seven sports will be drawn by University of Iowa coaches at the Big Ten meeting in Chicago Dec. 8 and 9.

Merten Is Pleased With Showing Made By His Team So Far

Whipping through a three game preparatory schedule in promising style, the Iowa City high Hawks led into action against league competition Friday night, when they tackle a veteran Davenport quintet at Davenport.

Hawklet Cagers Play Davenport In League Opener Friday Night

Heartened by the smooth showing of his first team against Washington earlier in the week, Coach Francis Merten sent his men through a long scrimmage last night against an expected Davenport zone defense. After putting Dick Culberson through a session under the basket, teaching him a few offensive tricks on tip shots, Merten saw his work pay dividends in the scrimmage as the rangy pivot man scored repeatedly from close range.

Hawk Cagers Set for Opener At Mason City Saturday Night

Prasse Turns to Basketball

Erwin Prasse, Iowa's first potential nine letter winner in more than a decade will soon check out his basketball equipment and lend his services to the 1939-40 cage squad. "Biscuits" plays guard and those Hawkeye fans who saw him in action last year can remember his rugged and aggressive play was a vital factor in the successes of last year's quintet. Prasse will probably not see action in the first game of the year as he is still bothered by a football injury.

Meet Carleton In First Tilt Of Season

Rollie Williams Uses Sophomores In Early Drills

Coach Rollie Williams continued to experiment with various combinations at forward and guard posts as the Iowa cage squad went through another long drill on offense and defense yesterday. The scrimmage which followed gave every man a chance to show what he has to offer to the Hawkeye cause.

Kinnick's Dad Was Good Too; Just Ask Him

OMAHA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Nile Kinnick of Omaha, is mighty proud of his famous football playing son, Nile, Jr., of the University of Iowa, but: He does wish sons Nile, Ben, a student at Iowa State college, and George, would let him talk more about his own days as a gridiron hero at Iowa State. "I have a hard time convincing these boys that I ever played football," papa Kinnick said. "I try to tell them about the things that happened in those days, but they just laugh."

University High Cagers Begin Practice for Opener Dec. 6

Team Is Hampered Because of Repair Work on Cage Floor

Despair and repair dominate the basketball scene at U-high. The Blues began practicing on their own court this week, while improvements on the gym continue, thus limiting the cagers to the use of only half of the floor. Nor does Coach Brechler have any more hopes for a successful season than he did when he had his first glimpse of the squad several weeks ago.

first string has been picked yet, and it appears that there will be a fight for every post. Working at the forwards have been Dawson Murray, Don Welt, and Jack Evans. Murray, a rangy lad, is pretty certain to get the call at one of the posts. George Lehman and Hank Pelzer have been alternating at the center. Both boys have plenty of height with Lehman having a slight edge. It is a toss-up as to who will get the guard assignments, also. Chuck Means, Cy Beye, and Jack Canby figure in the scramble, and it is likely that they all will see plenty of action.

Coach Brechler plans to employ a zone defense in an effort to offset the apparent slowness of the Rivermen. Therefore, two different systems will appear when the Blues meet St. Mary's man-to-man defense in U-High's opening contest Dec. 6.

Holidays Usher Turkeys Into Their Own

Prof. Edna Hill Suggests Two Tasty Stuffin' Recipes

By MARY E. HIGGINS

The glorious gobbler comes into his own with the advent of the holiday season. He's been a sort of national anthem of praise for freedom and prosperity since long before the national anthem was written. No wonder, when you consider that these birds, found wild on our eastern shores, provided food in plenty for our pilgrim fathers and graced each holiday feast from then until now. Now - a - days, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Years are all feast days for turkey.

Even if you're inexperienced when it comes to buying and cooking a turkey, you've nothing to fear for all the answers are easy. Anyone can buy and serve a turkey with perfect assurance if he will only buy his turkey from someone who can guarantee the quality of the bird. Be sure it is a young, milk-fed turkey, raised by someone who knows how to raise turkeys. It is impossible to make something out of nothing. In other words you must have a fine bird to start with. No old, tough, turkey will turn out to be delicious, juicy and tender, no matter how you cook it.

Roasting Is Easy
If the turkey is of good quality to start with then anyone can roast it with perfect confidence if he remembers just one important thing - a low oven.

The best way to do is to look up your dealer a week or 10 days ahead of the holiday and put in your order for the size bird you want. Ask for the new table dressed poultry if you want to save yourself work. These are completely cleaned and ready for roasting. The pinfeathers, feet, head are removed; the giblets cleaned and wrapped and tucked into the body cavity; the whole wrapped in moisture proof cellophane and quick frosted to preserve the fine fresh flavor.

Each bird is weighed-dressed and the weight appears on the wrapper. You pay only for edible meat. You can afford to pay at least one-fourth to one-third more per pound for these birds, for a nine-pound dressed bird will be equal in edible meat to about a 12-pound regular dressed turkey. Buy one pound at least for each person. Good turkeys range from 8 to 16 pounds dressed.

Especially Dressed
This type of turkey has been dressed to assure easy and effective trussing. The neck is off (you get it, of course, along with the giblets) - but the neck skin is left on so that you can stuff the neck cavity and pull the skin to the back of the bird. The body opening is made clear at the side, almost under leg so that when trussed, and the feet tied in place, the opening doesn't even show. When stuffed and trussed, it is a work of art.

Prof. Edna Hill, head of the foods department of the university home economics department, suggests an easy method for roasting your turkey, that gives grand results: that is, brown skin, unbroken by blisters, juicy meat and grand gravy.

Trussing: Fill the neck cavity first, then draw the skin to the back of the turkey and pin it in place with a wire skewer. Fold the tips of wings to under side. Now fill body cavity, loosely, and close the opening by sticking three short skewers, long black headed pins or tooth picks across the opening and lacing it shut with twine or cord just like you lace a boot. Leave the ends of the string long enough to wrap around ends of feet and tie them securely to the tail piece. You now have a nice compact bird which will not dry out in roasting.

Roasting the Turkey: Place turkey on its back, on a rack in any uncovered pan, big enough to hold it. The drip pan from the broiler may be used if no other big pan is available. Brush the turkey all over with melted butter or lard. The butter gives it an especially good flavor. An excellent idea, which Professor Hill recommends, is to dip a sizeable square of clean cloth into the rest of the melted butter and cover the turkey, especially the breast, legs and wings. These are the parts of the turkey which are usually the driest. Or a covering made of ordinary biscuit dough will serve the same purpose.

Do not depend on any time table for roasting as it is governed by the type of turkey you are roasting. Most young birds will be done fine if kept in an uncovered pan in the oven at 300 F. all of the time. But a good standard is to place the pan, uncovered, into a 300-325 F. oven and roast for 25 minutes per pound for birds under 12 pounds or 20 minutes or until the flesh is very tender. If you want it browner, remove the clothing during the last half hour. After the turkey is brown you may put the cover on for about an hour sometime during the roasting. This makes more and better gravy. But do not keep the cover on longer than that if you want a roasted and not a steamed turkey. Season when half done, not before. Baste several times with drippings in pan or with more melted butter or lard.

Ideas for Stuffings
Now for the stuffings, without which the turkey would certainly be incomplete. Here are two delicious recipes which Professor Hill highly recommends.

Giblet Stuffing
Turkey giblets
2 quarts bread-cubes toasted
3-4 cup melted butter
1-2 teaspoons celery salt
1-4 cup onion chopped
2 tablespoons salt
About 3-4 cup hot water
Cut giblets fine and brown slowly with onions for 20-25 minutes in butter. Add to bread cubes, add seasoning and water and stuff into bird.

Sausage Stuffing
3 quarts bread-cubes toasted
1 lb. pork sausage links
2 tart apples, chopped
1-2 teaspoons salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1-4 cup chopped onion
Cut sausages in pieces and fry 10 to 12 minutes. Add meat and fat to bread cubes, add apples and seasoning. Stuff into bird.

Three Exhibitions To Open Sunday in S.U.I. Art Building

Opening of three exhibitions to the public on Sunday will initiate an ambitious holiday program at the university's art building. Limited Editions Sculpture and 50 American prints will be on view in the exhibition lounge, and a joint exhibition of paintings, drawings and prints by Ronald Cassill and Donald Anderson in the auditorium.

Gallery talks by Harry E. Stinson and Richard Gates on the sculpture and prints respectively will be presented at 4:15 p.m. Sunday, as the second of a series of Sunday afternoon gallery talks sponsored by the art department. A concert of chamber music by four university music students will precede the talks. Members of the quartet are Evelyn Thomas, violin; Miriam Boysen, viola; Rollo Norman, cello, and Fritz Baker, flute. They will play Mozart's Quartet in C major.

Original Etchings
The American prints are original etchings and lithographs on loan from the Associated American Artists from New York. The list of men represented in the collection reads like a directory of America's topflight artists with such names as Yasuo Kuniyoshi, Grant Wood, Luigi Lucioni, John Costigan, Arnold Blanch, George Grosz, Adolf Dehn, Thomas Benton, Boardman Robinson, Ernest Fiene, Raphael Soyer and Peggy Bacon.

These prints were all recently published in the program of the Associated American Artists, which was created five years ago by 24 American artists in an attempt to increase nationwide interest in the ownership of fine originals. The exhibition is part of its educational program and one of a series sent on tour throughout the United States. The artists have participated in the program to the extent of allowing these originals to be sold at the price of five dollars each as part of their plan to stimulate ownership by the individuals and public collections of the works of living men.

America's Sculptures
The Limited Editions Sculpture is as equally representative as the American prints. Some of America's best sculptors, among them William Zorach, Warren Weelock, Jose de Creeft, Robert Laurent, and Concetta Scaravaglione, have contributed. Only last year the Robinson Galleries in New York started to "socialize" sculpture—that is, to bring sculpture within easy reach of the public.

Newsweek reviewed the opening of the exhibition in New York in the following words: "Few citizens can afford good sculpture... the situation is even harder on the artists." Last week a new gallery launched a plan designed to lift public and sculptors alike off the horns of this dilemma. Because the artists sign Robinson Galleries Limited Editions, each piece is considered an original work of art. Sculptors are enthusiastic. Sculpture—heretofore a near monopoly of rich private citizens and big popular institutions—may become as popular as good color reproductions of paintings and original etchings.

Limit Editions
The editions are limited to 100 to 300 duplicate originals for from $10 to $50 each, averaging about $25. The sculptures are available in cast marbles, granites, limestones, etc., in a profusion of colors and textures, fine-grained woods, and other media.
Ronald Cassill and Donald Anderson are Iowa students already well known to Iowa Citizens as promising young artists. Oils, water colors, drawings, and prints from their hands will fill the walls of the auditorium. A special program is planned for their exhibition on Sunday, Dec. 10.

The exhibitions of sculpture and prints in the exhibition lounge will continue until Dec. 23, while the Cassill-Anderson show will remain in the auditorium until Dec. 31.

Soft Soaping? Bathing Accessories Attractive Gifts

There is a technique to bathing, and this Christmas sees luxuries added to the bath that would have delighted a Roman. Soaps, soaps, oils, powders have made bathing not what it was in the days of the Puritans.

This should be a clean winter if the number and varieties of soap at the toiletries counters give any indication. Never have there been such remarkable shapes—sets of 15 "billiard balls" shining pink hearts engraved with "Here goes my heart" set to music; huge bunches of grapes complete with leaves, even a gay nineties corset.

Mary's little lamb is to be found among the soaps as well, with a baby blue wash cloth just made for washing behind ears. Other animals seem well represented, as corpulent porkers shoulder the three "Itty Fishies" and soap hens lay soap eggs.

There is a snow man too, that will undoubtedly melt away and there are smartly uniformed soldiers who will never meet an enemy. But best of all for mothers who despair of ever making the Saturday night bath attractive is "Tubby the Diving Boy," who has sponge arms and legs and the purest of dispositions.

There are, we read, 500 different kinds of cheese. And this does not include, we presume, some of the new Broadway plays.

Woman's club leader says we ought to celebrate Father's Day oftener than once a year. We do—it's the first of every month.

Students Plan Thanksgiving Joint Breakfast

Inter-Church Unit, 'Y' Groups To Meet At 9 A. M. Today

Students representing the Inter-Church council, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. will gather for a Thanksgiving breakfast this morning at 9 o'clock in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

Under the general chairmanship of Al Lemen, A4 of Akron, representatives from all the church student groups and the "Y" organizations will present a program including four toasts centering on the topic, "Thanksgiving, So What!"; a short skit by members of the Wesley foundation and a vocal solo by Jack Roe, A1 of Anita.

With Bessie Jean Rowe, A2 of Lockport, Ill., as toastmistress, the toasts will be "Seven Years Old" by Loren Tesdell, A3 of Des Moines; "The College Student," by Virginia Benson, A1 of Ft. Madison; "The Parent," by Bob Moyers, D1 of Guthrie Center, and "Grandmother," by Virginia Ivie, A2 of Shenandoah.

Others on the program will be Alice Hyslop, A3 of Saur Rapids, Minn., and Carl Lapp, E4 of Alliance, Ohio. Joseph Saeveit, a research associate, will lead group singing.

Admission to the breakfast is 10 cents. The committee-in-charge has announced that the program will be completed in time for those who wish to go to the Union Thanksgiving service upstairs in the Presbyterian church auditorium.

Union To Give Radio Series

Music, Book Talks To Be Broadcast By Staff Members

A new series of broadcasts from the Iowa Union library and music room will be heard over radio station WSUI every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 p.m., starting Tuesday, Dec. 5.

Mrs. Serge Bodereff, Iowa Union librarian, will have charge of the first two of these broadcasts and all of the half-hour programs will be presented by union staff members.

Mrs. Bodereff will discuss on the first broadcast two Russian novels, "Oblomov" by Ivan Goncharov and "House of the Dead" by Fedor Dostoyevsky, and a play, "Medea," by the Greek dramatist, Euripides.

A musical program will be broadcast Thursday, Dec. 7. It will be introduced by Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of Iowa Union, and will include Enesco's Rumanian Rhapsody and ballet music from Gounod's opera, "Faust."

Medical Library Receives Gift For Memorial

A volume of the collected reprints of the works of the late Dr. Campbell Power Howard has been presented to the university for the medical library by Mrs. Howard of Montreal, Canada, in Dr. Howard's memory.

Club To Begin Winter Season

The university's Archery club will begin its winter season Saturday afternoon when a shoot open to all students and faculty members is held from 2 to 4 p.m. in the mirror room of the women's gymnasium.

New 18-inch targets will make indoor shooting comparable to the outdoor range, according to Phyllis Whitmore, A3 of Batavia, club president. Equipment for shooters, beginners and advanced, will be furnished by the department. Tournaments will be scheduled soon, Miss Whitmore said.

Prof. C. H. McCloy Lectures to Students In Chicago Saturday

Prof. C. H. McCloy of the physical education department will lecture on "Posture" tomorrow and again on Saturday to students of the Wright Junior college in Chicago.

Approximately 1,800 students will have heard Professor McCloy speak after he has finished the two-day series of five lectures before small groups.

To Broadcast Debate Forum Over WSUI

Speech Professors To Present Policy Of Strict Isolation

Eight university men from the speech department will present the radio debate forum to be broadcast tomorrow at 3 p.m. over radio station WSUI.

Tomorrow's discussion will include an analysis of the question "Resolved, That the United States Should Follow a Policy of Strict (Economic and Military) Isolation Toward All Nations Outside the Western Hemisphere Engaged in Armed, International or Civil Conflict."

Speaking will be Richard O. Sternitzke, A4 of Ft. Dodge; Marold L. Glaspey, A3 of Hills; Henry Albers, A3 of Luzerne; Dean Travis, A4 of Allerton; K. Grant Johnson, C3 of Lamoni; Richard A. Snyder, A4 of Riverside; Marvin Chapman, A2 of Iowa City, and Norman Krause, A3 of Hutchinson, Kan.

Malvin Hansen, G of Dixon, will have charge of the program and will be chairman.

The question to be discussed has been selected as a subject for debate for the junior colleges of Iowa, by the Iowa invitational inter-collegiate tournament to be held in Iowa City, Feb. 29 and March 1 and 2, 1940, and by the western conference tournament at Evanston, Ill., in April.

It has also been chosen as the national inter-collegiate question and by Pi Kappa Delta, a national inter-collegiate debate fraternity.

Prof. Eversole Talks at Union

Engineering Faculty Hears Discussion By Commerce Professor

"The certified public accountant does not assume the position of an appraiser or a valuer of his client's technical materials, since that is left up to the engineering staff," explained Prof. Harold B. Eversole of the college of commerce in his talk before the engineering faculty at the weekly luncheon yesterday at Iowa Union.

Discussing "The Importance of Engineering to Accounting Reports," the commerce professor spoke of the widespread misunderstanding as to what the accountant's reports intend to convey. The accountant's reports are merely "expert opinions" derived from the material formulated and evaluated by the client's technical staff, according to the speaker.

"The accountant makes only such physical tests of the client's inventories as will serve to substantiate the accounting reports," pointed out Professor Eversole. The mistakes in appraisals made by public accountants should often be blamed to the technical advisors, who give the wrong valuation to the client's property, emphasized the speaker.

'The Model Living Room'

Looking Over the Bedroom

Zora Hill, A2 of Cedar Rapids, inspects the bedroom, also arranged by the 17 girls in the home decoration class. Again using one of Mrs. Pelzer's paintings as a starting point, the class selected colors and types of furnishings from the Avery furniture store and arranged them according to the principle of household decoration they have learned this year. A dining room arrangement is also on display within the store. A local department store furnished draperies, china and linens for the project, which was managed by Prof. Lulu Smith of the home economics department.

3 Campus Women To Attend Western Conference Debate

Students To Discuss Un-American Groups At Informal Talks

Dorothea Guenther, A3 of Davenport; Marjorie Mangold, A3 of Ryan, and Alberta Ewald, A3 of Oakland will represent the University of Iowa women debaters at the women's western conference discussion at Ohio State university at Columbus, Ohio, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 8 and 9.

Miss Mangold will represent Iowa Friday morning by discussing the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, the Vigilantes and the Black Legion at an open forum discussion on the nature of the problem, "Shall the United States Suppress Anti-Democratic Organizations?"

Miss Guenther will act as chairman of one of five groups discussing informally Friday afternoon the same question, which is the problem to be considered throughout the conference.

Miss Ewald will act as speaker for Iowa at a general assembly late Friday afternoon in a speakers' panel-discussion of possible solution to the problem of anti-democratic organizations.

Friday evening Iowa will again be represented by Miss Guenther by an after dinner speech at a banquet at the Ft. Hayes hotel in Columbus.

Historical Society Adds 6 Members

At the regular meeting of the Board of Curators of the State Historical Society of Iowa, held in the rooms of the society at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, six persons were elected to membership. They are Mrs. A. W. Burgess, Onawa; Mrs. Susie Webb Wright, Des Moines; William R. Ferguson, Baxter; Marion C. Hamiel, Tip-ton; R. D. Hunt, Fairfield, and Phil Stong, Washington, Conn.

School of Religion, Hillel Foundation To Sponsor Speaker

Rabbi Milton Steinberg, brilliant lecturer and author, will speak in the senate chamber of Old Capitol Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 6, under the auspices of the school of religion and the Hillel foundation. Rabbi Steinberg's topic will be "Judaism and Hellenism;" his lecture will begin at 4 p.m.

Rabbi Steinberg, who has graduated with highest honor from Columbia university and the Jewish Theological Seminary, has forged forward as one of our leading rabbis and thinkers.

Rabbi of the Park Avenue synagogue, he is invariably effective as both a lecturer and leader of discussion groups.

Rabbi Steinberg is the author of "The Making of the Modern Jew" which received high recommendation from the Book-of-the-Month club and from the Religion Book club. The book is a summary of the Jew and the influences which created his present character.

The Hillel council will honor Rabbi Steinberg with a noon luncheon.

Annual Dinner Will Honor Football Squad

President and Mrs. Eugene A. Gilmore will entertain the University of Iowa's football squad at the traditional president's dinner at Iowa Union Dec. 12.

The custom honoring the squad was started in 1922 by President Walter A. Jessup and has been continued without interruption since that year.

On the guest list will be players, members of the athletic board, the coaching staff, and special guests. If custom is followed, the captain of next season's team will be elected and the letters will be awarded.

Bazaar Begins At International House Tomorrow

An international bazaar with handicrafts from Russia, Mexico, China, the Holy Land, Persia, India, Egypt, the United States and other countries will take place beginning tomorrow and continuing through Saturday, Nov. 9, at International house, 19 Evans street. The committee in charge includes Mrs. C. E. Seashore, chairman; Mrs. Sudhindra Bose, secretary, and Mrs. C. H. McCloy, manager.

The bazaar, the proceeds of which will go to the support of International house, will be open from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

To Present Paper

Prof. Gordon Marsh of the zoology department will present a paper on "The relation of the Protoplasmic E. M. F. of Valonia ventricosa to the pH of the surrounding sea water" at the zoology seminar meeting tomorrow at 4 p.m. in room 307 of the zoology building.

Do Your Mailing Early!

Week to Ten Days Required for Prompt Delivery Before December 25

Suggestions to the public for mailing Christmas parcels in order to insure prompt delivery were issued by Postmaster Walter J. Barrow yesterday.

All Christmas mail should be sent at least one week or 10 days before Dec. 25, according to the distance, since the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent during the holiday time, Barrow said. This will not only assure their arrival before Christmas day but will be a great aid to the postal service and postal employees, enabling them to spend the holiday with their families, he added.

All parcels must be securely packed and wrapped with strong paper and heavy twine, he continued. Packages that may be easily damaged should be marked "fragile," and candies should be packed in outside boxes or containers.

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail, he said.

Parcels containing perishable articles must be marked "perishable" and articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing, Barrow warned. The use of special-delivery stamps to hasten delivery is suggested by the officials.

Greeting cards should be sent by first-class mail for best results and should not be mailed in red, green or other dark-colored envelopes or in very small envelopes.

Parcels are limited to 100 inches in length and girth combined and 70 pounds in weight. The domestic rate for air-mail postage is six cents for each ounce on the mainland of the United States, and 96 cents a pound.

Rates to Hawaii, Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and other island possessions may be obtained from the postoffice. Regular air-mail envelopes are preferred for air mail although plain envelopes with the proper amount of postage may be used with "Via Air Mail" or "Special Delivery-Air Mail" written near the address. The use of a special delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas day if mailed at the proper time, Barrow said.

Parcels of fourth-class matter endorsed "Special Handling" will be given special handling, transportation and delivery practicable upon payment of the proper charge, which is in addition to the regular postage, he continued.

Uninsured parcels of eight ounces or less may be mailed in street letter or package boxes at all classified stations and branches, and at such numbered stations as are designated to receive parcels, Barrow said. Parcels weighing more than eight ounces must be taken to the main postoffice or classified station or branch. Parcels with meat, food products, cut flowers or other perishable matter should be mailed only at the main postoffice or one of the large classified stations, he said.

Written matter may not be enclosed in packages but may be attached to them in addressed envelopes at pre-paid first class rates, Barrow warned.

Insurance fees were announced as follows: value not exceeding $5, five cents; not exceeding $25, 10 cents; not exceeding $50, 15 cents; not exceeding $100, 25 cents; not exceeding $150, 30 cents; and not exceeding $200, 35 cents. Return receipts may be obtained upon payment of an additional fee of three cents, the postmaster announced.

Mail to foreign countries should be sent at the latest in November to assure delivery by Christmas day due to the long sea travel frequently involved and the customs inspections abroad, Barrow said.

Ordinary pasteboard containers are wholly inadequate for sending parcels abroad, he said. Parcels should be packed in heavy canvas or a similar material.

She'll Keep Warm

Larry Evans, AI of Sioux City, (above) is pictured wearing a pair of those new shaggy wool mittens that seem to be all the rage just now. They are made with leather palms, soft wool backs, and long knitted wool cuffs. Maybe they look queer at the first glance, like a big bear paw waving in the air, but they are certainly the thing for handy warmth. And they come in a variety of different colors to match any outfit you like. Larry, incidentally, is wearing white ones—the leading color this season. How about a pair for Christmas?

It's That War Again!

European Situation Affects New Scarves On American Market

Scarves! That's one thing that the ordinary buyers would hardly think of as being affected by the war in Europe, but, nevertheless, there's a difference in the scarves now on the market.

Before the present war, most of the scarves available on the American market came from Czechoslovakia and Poland. Today they are from Switzerland and Belgium.

Four types of scarves are the most popular at present (they'll all make popular presents, too). They are the large square which so many girls and women tie over the curls peasant style, the smaller squares that are folded and worn Boy Scout fashion around the wearer's neck, the long narrow coat scarf and the more sophisticated ascot.

Paisley is an important pattern in scarves. This all over scroll pattern is often a hand-printed design on wool or silk. Made in light weight wool it makes an attractive kerchief for headwear.

The long coat scarf comes in both silk and satin, in plain and printed materials, in pastel colors or the popular fall shades. Chiffon wool coat scarves are popular for winter wear, for they are warm, durable, attractive and still light weight.

A new touch in scarves is the angora ascot with mittens to match. In white it's the latest set for dress-up or formal evening wear.

Food Preparedness Makes Holiday Easier for Housewife, Hostess

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER AP Feature Service Writer

Food preparedness will prove a mighty help during the holiday season. It will give you more time to take part in the festivities and will help you with impromptu entertaining.

Stock pantry shelves with canned fish, meats and sandwich fillings, relishes, cheese, crackers and marmalades. Cram the refrigerator with fruits, salad makings and dressings. Keep on hand a large order of sliced smoked ham and lots of eggs. A pot of baked beans won't come amiss, either.

Bake date or raisin bread, and steam some Boston brown bread with chopped prunes in it. Prepare extra cranberry jelly (it brightens up meat and salad platters) a fish loaf and a bowl of and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Toss the dough onto a flour-board, roll it 1-3 inch thick, cut with a doughnut cutter and brown in hot, deep fat. Store the crullers in a tightly covered jar in the coolest part of the cupboard.

Spiced drops with their delicate mocha flavor are mainstays for holiday guests. Make up a jarful.

Spiced Drops

Cream 1 cup of fat (part butter for flavor) and mix in 2 cups dark brown sugar, add 1-3 cup leftover coffee, 2 teaspoons cinnamon and 1 teaspoon each of cloves, nutmeg, mace and salt. Add 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon of vanilla, 1 cup chopped dates, 1-4 cup chopped citron and 1-2 cup broken nutmeats. Beat 2 minutes, lightly blend in 4-2 cups flour and a teaspoon each of soda and baking powder. Drop dough from a spoon onto greased baking sheets. Bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven.

Get Your Best Linen Ready; Christmas Dinner's Coming

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Pretty soon you'll be getting out your best table linens for those family Christmas dinners.

Some of those linens may look a little dingy, unless you've had a bit of special training in caring for them.

Here's some advice on the care of table linens gathered from a number of manufacturers and dealers.

Wash them in soft water. If the water where you live is hard, add a water softener which you can get from your grocer or druggist.

Use a mild soap. Do not apply the soap directly to the linen; squeeze or flush the suds through the fabric. Do not use soaps with a strong alkali content; it may turn your best tablecloth a dirty yellow.

Rinse each piece at least twice in fresh, clear water. Your third rinse should contain some bluing, thoroughly dissolved and blended. Starch comes last and should be applied on the wrong side if you use it. A number of manufacturers, however, advise against starch; they say it stiffens threads unnecessarily.

Dry your linens on the grass, if you can; grass drying helps to bleach them. Avoid overheated atmosphere of indoor drying rooms, but if you leave things outside, don't let them freeze since freezing makes the fibers brittle.

Linens should be ironed damp, and only a moderately hot oven should be used, because linen scorches easily. Start on the back, ironing the linen partly dry, then finish the job on the right side.

Ironing on the wrong side only usually is best for colored linens, although some of them may be ironed on both sides, since the luster is increased if the ironing is done on both sides.

Here are some hints on storing linens.

Some pieces may have to be folded. It is generally considered best not to fold on the same creases each time. Make as few folds as possible, of course.

The ideal way to put linens away is to roll them. Mailing tubes are excellent, so are broom handles, window shade rollers or sections of poles on which rugs may have been rolled. Store linens in a cool — not hot or dry — place.

For new linens, wash them thoroughly in cold water before you put them away. That will remove certain ingredients used in the final manufacturing process.

They Must Have Dates

Here Are Some Hints on Making Christmas Boxes

Your Christmas candy boxes and dishes won't be complete without stuffed dates. Here are a few suggestions for fillings for the dates.

Orange Fondant
1 egg yolk
1 cup confectioners sugar
1 to 2 tablespoons of orange juice

Grated rind of 1 orange
Beat egg yolk slightly. Stir in sugar, adding juice to desired consistency. Add rind. Bits of candied orange peel sprinkled over the filling add flavor and color.

Marshmallow Coconut
Cut 1-4 pound fresh marshmallows into quarters. Stuff each date with a piece of marshmallow, cut side up. Dip sticky surface into shredded coconut, colored plain or toasted.

Fruit Delight
1-4 pound layer figs
1 package pasteurized dates

1 package shredded cocoanut
1-2 pound marshmallows
1-2 cup candied cherries
1-2 package candied orange peel
1 cup nutmeats

Put figs, dates, cocoanut, orange peel and nutmeats through food chopper. Melt marshmallows over hot water. Add fruit paste and mix. Spread evenly in a well buttered shallow pan. The paste should be about 3-4 to one inch thick. Stuff dates as usual and press slices of cherries into filling.

Feet First!

There's a new show kit out which would make an excellent "little gift" for a school boy or even for dad or big brother. It's a shoe kit equipped with all necessary pastes, brushes and cloths to keep either brown or black shoes in the pink of condition.

'Eatable' Bells

Cut a small hole in the top of each of your bell-shaped Christmas sugar cookies, then after they're baked tie a small red ribbon through them and hang them on the tree. They'll be attractive, and what the kiddies will like better, they'll be good to eat!

Charles Becicka Indicted In Des Moines Federal District Court on Extortion Charge

Confessed Murderer To Be Arraigned At 9 A. M. Tomorrow

Already charged with murder and due to appear for arraignment in Johnson county district court at 9 a. m. tomorrow, Charles Becicka, 28, former dishwasher in a Des Moines restaurant, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Des Moines on a charge of attempted extortion, according to a report last night by the Associated Press.

He was arrested at the main postoffice in Des Moines Nov. 15 by federal agents when he asked for a package supposedly containing $200 he had demanded of Wesley Novotny, a brother of the slain man and administrator of his estate.

Becicka is being held in Iowa City where Johnson county authorities have filed first degree murder charges against him in the $20 robbery-slaying of Mr. and Mrs. George Novotny at their Shueville farm home Sept. 9.

Federal authorities surrendered Becicka to Johnson county officers so he could stand trial for murder, but they placed a hold order against him so the extortion charge could be disposed of later.

Tomorrow's court appearance will determine whether Becicka's plea will be "guilty" or "not guilty."

The defendant was returned to Johnson county early Tuesday night by Sheriff Don McComas and State Agent Bob Gregson from Davenport, where he was being held on the federal charge.

Fire Damages Company Truck

A one-and-a-half ton truck owned by the Sanitary Dairy Farm company, Cedar Rapids, was slightly damaged by flames at 10:45 a. m. yesterday on highway No. 6, seven miles east of Iowa City. Local firemen were called to extinguish the flames.

No Mail Delivery

Post office officials announced yesterday that there will be no city delivery today in observance of Thanksgiving.

There will be a rural delivery, however, as the rural mail carriers observed Nov. 23 as Thanksgiving.

12 Floats To Parade Saturday

Christmas Fairyland To Thrill Kids

Live Camel, Reindeer, Huskies, Ponies To March With Nursery Folk

Iowa City children will get their glimpse of Santa Claus Saturday in a mile-long parade sponsored by the retail trade division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

The parade, which begins at 10:30 a. m. will include 12 floats, fully decorated, with animated characters taken from nursery rhymes, Christmas bells and tabloids placed on the tops.

The parade will start at Washington and Van Buren and proceed west to Clinton, south to College, east to Dubuque, north to Iowa avenue, west to Clinton, south to Burlington, east to Dubuque, north to College, east to Linn, north to Washington, and east to Van Buren, where it originated.

Service clubs, lodges and similar organizations have been invited to take place in the parade but no commercial, advertising floats are desired, the sponsors said.

"Ferdinand the Bull" is a reproduction of the character in the story and the moving picture production. The Wynken, Blynken and Nod float will be drawn by two of Santa's tiny Shetland ponies.

The parade is designed to give an unspoken message of joy, gladness and "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" to the sponsors announced.

The "Santa Claus Special" with the characters and equipment for the parade will arrive here in the early morning of the day of the big parade.

Immediately in front of the parade will be Santa's own official trumpeter, riding a parading white horse, paving the way for the parade and heralding the arrival of Santa Claus and his pageantry parade.

Children owning ponies, dogs, cats or bicycles which can be decorated are invited to appear in the parade.

Another feature of the Christmas parade will be the comedy section with many clowns in colorful and appropriate costumes and funny faces.

Santa Claus is scheduled to speak briefly after the parade and will then receive the children in his cabin.

Student Trip Largest Yet, Haskell Says

The thousands of Iowa students that attended the Northwestern game last week comprised the largest student body to attend an official out-of-town game in the history of the university, Prof. George Haskell of the college of commerce told the Lions club members at their weekly meeting yesterday noon in Reich's pine room.

Professor Haskell, who was in charge of the student trip to the game last week, said the official out-of-town game trip was inaugurated in the university eight years ago.

"The trip was financed years ago through solicitation by the merchants of the city and through collections made in the stands during the games here in Iowa City, but the proceeds were small," he said.

Professor Haskell, commenting on the game and the year's football said, "We may have more powerful teams in the future, and teams with more impressive records, but I don't believe that in our lifetimes we will ever see a more colorful team."

The speaker was introduced by Prof. E. W. Hills of the college of commerce.

The zone spelling bee that was held at the Jefferson hotel Monday night was won by the Davenport contingent, who will represent this zone in the championship match in Mt. Vernon sometime in February, it was announced.

Dr. O. E. Schlambach announced that a committee of five has been appointed to decide on the type of entertainment to raise money for child welfare and other activities sponsored by the Lions each year.

With nearly all large European capitals undergoing nightly blackouts, the most unpopular song over there these days must be "Shine On, Shine on Harvest Moon!"

Nelson Horn Will Address Church Group

Methodist Centennial Scheduled To End With Sunday Service

President Nelson P. Horn of Baker university will highlight Education night with an address at 8 p. m. tomorrow on "The Church, Its Educational Opportunity," another of the programs sponsored by the Methodist Episcopal church, celebrating its centennial this week.

Attorney Dan C. Dutcher will preside at the banquet which is scheduled to begin at 6 p. m. Music for the evening will be furnished by the Iowa City high school string quartet.

Other parts in the program include short talks by Paul Morgan, on "Student Activities" and "The High School" by Superintendent Iver A. Opstad. Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law will speak on "The University."

Church School Program

The centennial will close Sunday morning with a church school program at 9:30 a. m. and the morning worship at 10:45 a. m. at which Bishop J. Ralph Magee will speak. The text of his sermon will be on "The Church in the Modern World."

Throughout the week the Methodist Episcopal church has had varied programs covering practically every phase of the church's life. It has held double importance to Iowa City Methodists, for the national Methodist church organized this year into one general church. It had formerly been divided into three parts, all however holding the same doctrine of the Methodists. There are, because of this national reorganization, 8,000,000 members in the present Methodist church, statistics reveal.

Today Iowa City Methodist church boasts the first church ever erected in Iowa City as well as the first sermon ever preached in the city.

Rotary Club Hears Speech By Rev. Dalton

Out of an agricultural life comes the genuine Thanksgiving feeling, the Rev. John Bruce Dalton, pastor of the Christian church, told the members of the Rotary club at their weekly luncheon meeting yesterday noon in the Jefferson hotel.

"Things that come from the power of the earth give you a genuine Thanksgiving sentiment," the Rev. Mr. Dalton said. "Of course we residents of the middlewest are in the center of the area where this sort of feeling prevails."

"Man's sympathies are expanded when he becomes aware of the power of the soil that brings forth our harvests. In an industrial age such as we are living in, we need to bring the agricultural point of view to those communities who are liable to place too much faith in the machine and factory as the source of their benefits," the speaker said.

"Thanksgiving should be one of our most honored holidays," he continued. "Benjamin Franklin, who was not particularly

License Suspended, Law Violators Fined By Judge Carson

Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday fined E. S. Frantz, 1326 Kirkwood, $5 and costs for failing to stop at an arterial highway.

Clarence Carstens, 505 Iowa avenue, was fined $1 for disorderly conduct. The driver's license of J. LeRoy Wenman was suspended until Dec. 6 because he failed to observe a stop sign.

Basketball is a peculiar game, postcards A. J. G. Even championship quintets, he avers, must get their victories by dribbles.

County Seal Drive Opens

Proceeds Will Go To National, State, Local Associations

Johnson county residents opening their mail tomorrow will find sheets of blue stamps bearing an angel and, in the upper left-hand corner, the red cross of the American Tuberculosis association as annual nation-wide drive for the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals officially opens to last through the holiday season.

Proceeds from the sale of the stamps will be used through the coming year by the Tuberculosis association to sponsor free diagnosis and treatment of indigent cases.

"We have sent seals to 2,429 persons throughout the county," Alice Stewart, general chairman of the drive, said yesterday. "Two hundred seals have been sent to each person. We expect a return of $1,700, part of which will be sent to state and national branches of the association, but most of which will be used for local needs. We have also sent out some bond letters requesting people to buy as many as they can."

Last year the county collected $1,600 from the seals sale. Of this amount approximately $900 was used by the city, about $300 by Oakdale sanitarium and $300 by the county schools, she said.

Other members of the local committee include Attorney W. F. Morrison, city chairman; Mrs. H. J. Long, mails chairman; Mrs. Clyde Shellady, schools chairman; Mrs. Sadie Seagrave, Oakdale chairman, and Frank J. Snider.

Irene Kelly Seeks Divorce, Child's Custody

Irene Kelly filed a petition for divorce in district court yesterday against John Kelly on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple was married Dec. 31, 1937.

The petition asked that during the pendency of the action and until the cause was settled the defendant be enjoined from interfering in any way with the plaintiff's custody of their minor child. Judge H. D. Evans ordered that a temporary injunction be issued without bond.

In the petition, the plaintiff asked that the defendant be required to contribute to her support and that of their child.

The law firm of Messer and Cahill handled the petition for Mrs. Kelly.

noted for his piety, gave one of the most effective definitions of God which I have ever heard. He said, 'God is powerful goodness,' which sides in with my idea of why we really do have and should have Thanksgiving," he said.

"There has been a great deal of discussion and joking about when we should hold our Thanksgiving day this year," the speaker said. "But it is a lot better to be discussing when we should hold it, than whether we should hold it at all or not."

Guests at the meeting were Dr. J. J. Lambert of Santa Monica, Cal., and Frank Williams of Iowa City.

Churches Plan Joint Service

Rev. Owen To Lead Thanksgiving Service At First Presbyterian

The First Presbyterian church will be the scene of the annual community-wide Thanksgiving church service at 10 o'clock this morning. The Rev. Lewelyn A. Owen, pastor of the First Congregational church, will deliver the service.

The custom of providing a community-wide Thanksgiving service in one church originated several years ago. It is sponsored by the Iowa City Ministerial association. University students and town people have been invited to attend.

A breakfast for students has been arranged under the auspices of the inter-church council in cooperation with the Ministerial association and will be held at the Presbyterian church.

The offering taken at the morning service will be turned over to the Social Service league to be used in caring for needy families in the community.

Dr. Iliot T. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preside at the service. Frank Marlow, student representative selected by the Inter-Church council, will assist in the service.

The churches uniting in the service include First Baptist, First Christian, First Congregational, Methodist, Church of the Nazarene, First Presbyterian, Trinity Episcopal and the Unitarian. The student groups associated through the inter-church student council are also included in the service.

Caps Caprice Will Dance To Kay Orchestra

Chaperons for Caps Caprice, the annual nurses' dance, to be given in the main lounge of Iowa Union Friday night from 9 to 12:30, were announced yesterday.

They include Dr. and Mrs. C. I. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Barnes, Dr. and Mrs. William M. Hale, Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Fournier and Dr. and Mrs. Stuart C. Cullen.

Herbie Kay and his orchestra will provide the music. Singers with the band will be Fuzzy Combs and Jean Webb.

A reception will be held during the first intermission in the private dining room off the lounge for the medical staff and supervisors. Lois B. Corder, director of the school of nursing, and Lola Lindsey, educational director of the school of nursing, will pour.

The social committee is composed of Helen Watkins, N4 of Coon Rapids, Mae Clark, N4 of Kalona, and Phyllis Rehn, N3 of Opheim, Ill.

Annual Matinee To Be at Theater

The annual toy matinee will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the Varsity theater, it was announced yesterday. Admission to the theater will be the presentation of an old toy by a child.

The toys will be repaired at the Recreation Center and given to needy children Christmas.

THANKSGIVING

The wilderness was their chosen lot
In which their homes they made.

The Pilgrims, though, ne'er once forgot
To give thanks for what God gave.

1939

We've even more to be thankful for . . .
Safety, homes, our nation . . .

Let's all bow down once more
And pray . . . in Pilgrim emulation.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Three hundred eighteen years ago, in 1621, the first Puritan settlers at Plymouth Rock set aside a day to give thanks for a bountiful harvest. Through the more than three centuries that have passed since the first Thanksgiving Day this occasion has become the best loved of all American traditions.
