

'NO WAR WITH FINNS' SAYS SOVIET

Finland Claims New Victories Over Red Invaders

Leader Says 1,500 Russians Are Captured

Soviet Army Stopped In Northern Attack On Arctic Region

HELSINKI, Dec. 4 (AP)—Fighting Finland tonight claimed new successes against Soviet Russian invaders and steeled herself for new and more vigorous assaults expected by land, sea and air.

This ghost-like capital, deserted except for defenders and those necessary for vital services, was grateful for lowering clouds and snowfall which kept Russian bombers away and gave time to strengthen defenses and clear away the debris of last week's air bombardment.

As night fell without further air raids on Helsinki a government spokesman announced that in the eastern sector north of Lake Ladoga the Finns had captured 1,500 Russian troops. He said no further details of the capture were available.

Soviet Troops Land

(In the north, reports reaching Kirkenes, Norway, said 20,000 first line, well-equipped Finnish troops were standing off the Russian attack on the Arctic region of Petsamo. The reports said several thousand Soviet troops had landed in that area but Finnish leaders declared their well-trained regiments in the far north would not be pushed back.)

The Helsinki government announced the Swedish minister to Moscow, who had been asked to seek peaceful mediation of the Russian-Finnish conflict, had not yet been received at the Kremlin.

The government here remained in almost continuous session but it was said that no important inner political developments had occurred.

Government Remains

No decision for the government to leave Helsinki had been reached although vigorous efforts were being made to board up the city in preparation for new bombing raids.

Total civilian casualties in air raids on Finland were announced as 85 dead, and 181 wounded, with 65 of the dead killed in Helsinki where 16 buildings were destroyed by bombs, 11 by fire and 233 others damaged.

English Ship Is Sea Victim

'Doric Star' Sunk In South Atlantic By 'Admiral Scheer'

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Another British vessel, this time the 10,086-ton steamer Doric Star, was chucked up tonight as a victim of the wide-ranging German sea raider, the Admiral Scheer.

The British admiralty's announcement said the Doric Star presumably went to the bottom after being "attacked by a German raider" in the south Atlantic. Unofficial information was that her attacker was the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer.

This was the first report of the German sea raider since Nov. 18 when some survivors of the British tanker, Africa Shell, sunk in the Indian ocean off the east coast of Africa, identified the enemy ship as the Admiral Scheer.

Homeward bound with a cargo of meat from New Zealand and Australia under command of Captain W. Stubbs of Liverpool, the Blue Star liner Doric Star had a crew of 70 and accommodations for six passengers.

No reports on the fate of the Doric Star's crew were available here, and it was not known whether she carried passengers.

In addition to the Doric Star, it was reported during the day that a British and one Swedish vessel were sunk by mines, another British ship was sunk in a collision and two other British ships were damaged in collisions. A German mine layer was reported sunk.

Carroll's 'White Steed' Opens Tonight in University Theater

Tonight at the University theater the second play of the season, "White Steed," by Paul Vincent Carroll, opens with an outstanding cast to portray the vivid characters with hot tempers and bitter tongues created by the Irish playwright.

Joseph Becker, G of Elgin, in the principal role presents a brilliant and unforgettable figure. Others in the cast include Marjorie Jackson, G of Iowa Falls; Clark G. Kunej, G of Boston, Mass.; Mary Katherine Flynn, A4 of Sioux City; Robley Evans, A2 of Kent, Ohio; James Andrews, A3 of Ogdan, Utah; Miriam Ryan, A1 of Des Moines; Helen M. Dyer, A1 of Des Moines; Aaron Lowenberg, A1 of Baltimore, Md.; Ambrose Schenk, G of Utica, S. D.; Mary Hardin, G of Springfield, Mo., and Robert Hull, G of Logan, Utah.

Prof. William D. Coder is directing the production. Prof. Arnold S. Gillette supervised the settings and Prof. Hunton D. Sellman is in charge of lighting.

This richly eloquent and immensely moving play, which received such high praise from metropolitan critics, is seasoned with flaring humor and genial wisdom.

Those in the stage crew include Dorothy Fouks, A4 of Valley City, N. D.; Helen Kircher, Butler, Mo.; James Powers, A4 of Tipton; Florence Christenson, G of Denison; Sherman Paul, A2 of Lakewood, Ohio; Pauline Anderson, A4 of Harcourt; Alex J. Sater, A2 of Birmingham, Ala.; Virginia Manchester, G of Madison, Wis.; Genevieve Griebel, A3 of Waukon; Helen K. Lybbert, A3 of Cresco; Jane deSpaine, A4 of Williamsburg; Richard Snyder, A4 of Riverside; Maxine Schafer, A3 of Alliance, Neb., and Marina Abdnor, A4 of Kennebec, S. D.

Those making up the building crew are Stanley Danowski, A3 of Gary, Ind.; Robert O'Brian, A3 of Logansport, Ind.; Don Sueeske, A4 of Mason City; John D. Goss, A2 of Blairtown; Frances K. Mallon, A3 of Harrisonville, Mo.; Dorothy Rosenthal, A3 of St. Joseph, Mo.; Maxine Schafer, A3 of Alliance, Neb.; Paul Bogen, G of Lincoln, Neb.; Vincent G. Mostrom, G of Hawley, Minn.; Mickey Adams, G of Radford, Va.; Richard Snyder, A4 of Riverside; Elmo Martz, A2 of Grand River, and Edward Mitchell, G of Carbondale, Ill.

The paint crew includes Ray Abel, A4 of Cedar Rapids; Joe Beck, G of Elgin; Margaret Kohlmeir, G of Wakefield, Neb.; Arthur Clifton Lamb, G of Prairie View, Tex.; Grant Redford, G of Cedar City, Utah; William Dozier, G of Huntsboro, Ala.; Walter Schmidt, G of Milwaukee, Wis.; Benjamin Hickok, G of Oneonta, N. Y.; Louise Beard, A3 of St. Joseph, Mo.; Paul Bogen, G of Lincoln, Neb.; Dorothy Brennen, G of Meadville, Pa.; Stanley Danowski, A3 of Gary, Ind.; Mary Hardin, G of Springfield, Mo.; Effie Louise Crane, A3 of Bloomington, Ill.; Frederick L. Russia Not To Take Part In League Protest

Russia Proclaims 'Peaceful Relations, No Finnish Threats'

MOSCOW, Dec. 4 (AP)—Soviet Russia today declared that it would not be possible to take part in the league of nations meetings called next Saturday and Monday to consider a Finnish protest at the Russian invasion.

"The Soviet Union is not in a state of war with Finland and does not threaten the Finnish people with war," Premier Vyacheslav Molotov told Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the league in a cablegram.

Replying to notification of meetings of league council and assembly, called to consider a Finnish appeal for arbitration of the conflict, Molotov said the Soviet government regarded the Finnish appeal "unfounded."

He said that Russia was maintaining "peaceful relations" with the "people's" government of Finland, which, Soviet Russia has said, was set up at Terijoki on Finnish soil last Saturday.

Molotov declared the Finnish government at Helsinki had "now resigned its powers" and that the petition to the league was not made by "authorized representatives of the Finnish people."

The Soviet government, he said, has signed a treaty of "mutual assistance and friendship" with the "people's" government of Finland and that this treaty "settles all questions."

He added that Avenol's reproduction of the "offensive and slanderous" Finnish petition in a communication advising Moscow of the appeal was "incompatible with requirements for due respect for the Soviet Union."

"If notwithstanding the above considerations, the council league and assembly were still convened to consider Rudolf Holsti's (Finnish representative in Geneva) application, the Soviet government would not deem it possible to take part in these assemblies," Molotov's message concluded.

The communication was made public by Tass, official Soviet news agency, after it was announced Molotov had refused Swedish efforts to mediate and had charged the Finnish government at Helsinki already had abandoned the Finnish capital.

Meanwhile, the Leningrad military headquarters asserted the red army was driving 22 miles south of Petsamo, the Arctic ocean port, and striking into Finland at a depth of about 30 miles on the Karelian isthmus north of Leningrad.

Court Upholds Government

Chicago Milk Dealers To Be Prosecuted Under Anti-Trust Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The supreme court today upheld the government's right to prosecute Chicago milk dealers under the anti-trust laws and the power of two governmental agencies to take important actions in the field of labor relations.

The labor board was found to have proceeded in accordance with the Wagner act in ordering the Newport News shipbuilding & dry dock company to withdraw recognition from an alleged "company union" despite a showing that the employees were satisfied with it and that no serious labor dispute had arisen.

The interstate commerce commission has power, the court said, to require trustees of the Chicago, Rock Island Gulf railroad to make economic provisions for 49 employees who would be discharged and 20 who would be transferred in a proposed reorganization.

But another question of importance to labor, which was raised in the Chicago milk case, was not decided. This was whether the Sherman act applies to labor unions and their activities. A vigorous controversy on this point has arisen between President William Green of the AFL and justice department officials as a result of the department's anti-monopoly drive in the building industry.

Fifth Forum on 'War or Peace' Will Be Discussed Tonight

Faculty Members Debate Problem, 'Is Civilization at Stake?'

Six faculty members will discuss the question, "Is civilization at stake," in the fifth forum of the War or Peace series in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 8 o'clock tonight. The graduate college, in cooperation with the social science departments, is sponsoring the forum.

Since the last World War there has been built up a fear complex that another war would wipe mankind from the face of the earth. What is the basis for this fear? Is western culture threatened with extinction? Is American culture facing catastrophe? These are among the questions to be introduced by Prof. Ethan P. Allen of the political science department, acting as discussion leader of the panel.

Professor Allen is author of the recent book, "Man's Adventure in Government," in which he made a study of the part of government in a civilized society.

Paul Engle of the English department, well known poet who has lived and studied in Europe, will be on the panel. Prof. L. D. Longman of the art department, who has recently returned from an extensive tour of Europe, will be another member of the group.

Prof. Stephen H. Bush of the romance language department and Prof. Kirk H. Porter of the political science department, both of whom have served on previous forums in the series, will be on tonight's panel.

Prof. Herbert Feigl of the philosophy department is the sixth member of the group. Professor Feigl, described as a "philosopher of unusual distinction," has long been interested in international problems.

Ohio Officials Clash Over Relief Problem

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 4 (AP)—Ohio's governor and Toledo's city manager clashed tonight over responsibility for the serious relief situation afflicting several Ohio cities.

Gov. John W. Bricker contended the state "has done all in its power" and cities must help themselves. City Manager George N. Schoonmaker said the alternatives for cities were: continue piling up deficiency bonds, or shut up shop.

Gov Bricker has refused pleas of Toledo, Cleveland and other cities that he call the legislature to cope with the food-for-the-needy problem.

WPA officials moved today to ease the situation by opening up new jobs, but thousands of Ohioans still were in want.

Name 'Corn King' CHICAGO (AP)—C. E. Troyer, 53-year-old La Fontaine, Ind., farmer, was named "corn king" of North America today at the 21st international grain and hay show.

U. S. Will Not Quit Relations With Russia

Some Congressmen Call for Diplomatic Break as Rebuke

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Any move to rupture diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia appeared today to have been definitely discarded by the administration—at least for the time being.

Although some members of the senate and house called for the break as a further rebuke to the Soviets for their invasion of Finland, the word was passed that officials desired to proceed cautiously.

State department officials were known to be arguing that severance of relations and recall of Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt would:

- 1.—Not help Finland, already fighting for its life; 2.—Deprive the United States of a source of information and a contact at Moscow at a moment when they are sorely needed; and 3.—Possibly impair the influence the United States might bring to bear on an eventual peace in Europe.

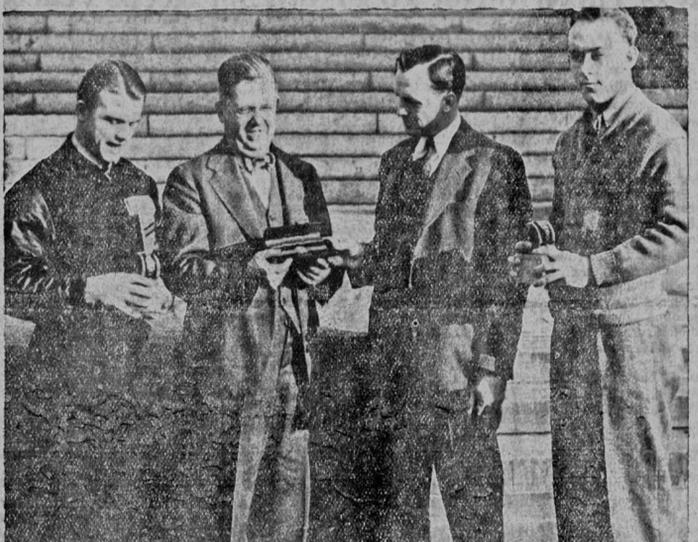

Secretary Hull said at his press conference that there was nothing for him to take up on the question of breaking off relations. He said also that the question of extending the "combat area," declared under the neutrality act, to include Soviet Russia had not come up and added that the government had not discussed the possibility of including petroleum in its "moral embargo" on the shipment of war planes to Russia.

Federal Judge Barnes Upholds Wage-Hour Law

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP)—Federal Judge John P. Barnes today upheld the constitutionality of the wage-hour law—the first ruling of its kind, government attorney's said, in a criminal prosecution under the statute.

The jurist overruled motions to quash the indictment naming the Chicago Meacroni company and three of its officers. They were charged with failure to pay minimum wages of 25 cents an hour and overtime after 44 hours a week and with falsification and failure to keep required records.

With The Sports Writers' Compliments

"These aren't snowflakes," said Dr. Eddie Anderson, second from right, when he scanned the diamonds studding the platinum wrist watch he received yesterday from midwestern sports writers in appreciation of the football season he treated them to. Nile Kinnick, left, and Capt. Erwin Prasse, right, are holding watches awarded them while Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the University of Iowa school of journalism, makes the presentation for the sports writers. Anderson and Kinnick, recently voted the outstanding gridders in the nation, leave for New York this morning where Kinnick will receive the Heisman trophy.

Nile Kinnick, Anderson Leave for N.Y. Today

Hawkeye Star To Get Trophy

By OSCAR HARGRAVE Daily Iowan Sports Editor

As New York prepares a welcome, Iowa's Nile Kinnick and his coach, Dr. Edward N. Anderson, will leave Iowa City this morning at 9 o'clock on the Rock Island "Rocket" and will journey east to receive the emblem of this year's success, the Heisman trophy.

Voted the trophy by a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters, Kinnick will receive the outstanding player award tomorrow before a huge New York audience as the fifth winner. Kinnick has also been voted the Maxwell trophy, which he will receive at Philadelphia in January.

But coming back to the outstanding player himself—he was called the best because of a string of eight successive top-notch performances, and he became Iowa's first all-American in several years by continuous brilliant play through the biggest season Iowa has ever known—that is why Iowa fans would like to be present when Kinnick gets the award and when New York applauds both player and coach.

The upturn in football fortunes was heralded last spring when rumors drifted from the Iowa practice field that the Hawkeyes were beginning to shape up as a spirited aggregation and that Kinnick was looking better even than his sophomore year, when he had been all-conference quarterback.

It was only a rumor, though, until the season's opener in which the Hawkeyes rolled over South Dakota, 41-0, with Kinnick out in the lead. The Hawkeye halfback stepped off at a terrific pace in the opener, scored three touchdowns and passed to mates for two more, besides which he kicked five points after touchdowns.

After that came Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame, Minnesota and Northwestern. A terrific schedule, sports writers said, and the Hawkeyes were undiminished, but sports writers liked the audacious Hawks and the smart, aggressive football that Kinnick typified. They came back, and so did the fans, expecting to see more football, and they went away singing the praises of an "Iron Man" team, its immitable coaching staff and its triple-threat scoring power.

Nile Kinnick, "The Cornbelt Comet," flaring through the football heavens.

It was Kinnick's year, his and the Iowa team's, and they made the most of it. The season is history with its tales of sensational victories over Indiana, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame and Minnesota and a tie with Northwestern to far overbalance a defeat at the hands of Michigan, but it's pleasant history to recount.

Through that string of conflicts, Kinnick played over 400 minutes without relief and thousands of Iowans were in the stands.

That's why all Iowa City, and a good part of Iowa, would like to be in New York tomorrow night. They went through the season with Kinnick, they and the Hawkeye squad, and they'd like to see it through that way to the end.

Lee Cochran, director of the visual education department who has taken color motion pictures throughout the year of the Hawkeyes in action, is expected to make the New York trip with Anderson and Kinnick to bring back a photographic account of the affair.

Hull To Talk In Chicago

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Secretary Hull is en route to Chicago to make an address tomorrow night, which officials characterized as of utmost importance. It will deal, they say, with "War, Peace and the American Farmer."

The address will be broadcast (9:10 p.m. Central Standard Time, NBC.)

Round Tables, Banquet Listed On Program

Hickerson Announces Committee; Goldberg To Edit 'Gazette'

With W. W. Waymack, Pulitzer prize winning editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune heading the day's program, plans were announced yesterday by Associated Students of Journalism for the annual Wayzgoose festival, next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Waymack will give the main address at the Wayzgoose banquet, which climaxes the day's activities. He is also scheduled for one of three round table discussions to be held during the afternoon.

Special Luncheons

The day's activities will begin at noon when Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, journalism sorority, have special luncheon meetings.

Sigma Delta Chi will meet in the north conference room of Iowa Union and will follow the luncheon with an initiation of new members.

At 2 p.m. Sigma Delta Chi will sponsor a round table in the journalism building, to be led by Ward Barnes, editor of the Eagle Grove Eagle and winner of a "Master Editor and Publisher" award. The round table will deal with problems in country weekly publishing.

Round Table

Theta Sigma Phi will sponsor a round table at 3 p.m. on "Journalism for Women."

At 4 p.m. Waymack will lead a graduate college roundtable in Old Capitol. Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the school of journalism, will be chairman of the round table.

The Wayzgoose banquet will be at 6:30 in Youde's inn. Tickets for the banquet, which are available at the office of the director of the school of journalism in the journalism building, go on sale this morning. Tickets are also being sold by committee members.

Sioux City Reporter

Waymack, who holds an A.B. degree from Morningside college and an LL.D. degree from Drake university, began his newspaper career as a reporter on the Sioux City Journal. He later was city editor and chief editorial writer of the Journal.

In 1918 he went to the Des Moines Register and Tribune as editorial writer and later, managing editor. He is at present editor of the Des Moines papers.

Waymack has gained nationwide attention for his editorials, one of which was awarded the Pulitzer prize in 1937. He returned last summer from a world tour which took him to the important world capitals where he gained first-hand knowledge of the international crises.

Memberships He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the National Press club of Washington, D. C., and the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He has served on many national economic boards and commissions and holds memberships (See WAYZGOOSE, Page 6)

In The Direction Of Reason

CHAIRMAN DIES said yesterday that no more important witnesses will be called this year before his committee investigating un-American activities.

Before that time American public opinion will be taking stock of what Mr. Dies has accomplished in the past, as Dies himself has declared he is willing to rest on his accomplishments.

The Dies investigations began more than a year and a half ago when congress appropriated $25,000 for its work.

On a limited budget, however, the congressman from Texas stirred up a lot of headlines. He called hundreds of witnesses and brought forth thousands of accusations.

So far as most of the public was concerned, the whole investigation became a stock joke when Shirley Temple was named, indirectly, as an agent of Moscow in Hollywood.

While we were laughing, Martin Dies asked for and got an additional congressional appropriation of $100,000 for more questions about "un-Americanism."

This year the entire atmosphere was different, and most of our senses of humor were dulled. A war had begun; Russia had done what appeared to be an almost direct appeal to face politically, and the "popular front" of the communist party which had been designed to unite pro-democratic, anti-fascist forces was killed by the communists themselves.

This year it was easier to hate and more difficult to reason.

That was one of the reasons there were fewer protests when Martin Dies brought forth more than a hundred names of members and mailing-list sympathizers of the American League for Peace and Democracy.

Some of the names revealed were high in administrative positions, to be sure; but the real point seemed to be that those named believed the American League to be simply an anti-fascist, pro-democratic group of Americans.

The publication of the list of sympathizers produced no proof to the contrary.

Then Mr. Dies went into the schools and colleges. He questioned officials of the American Youth congress and the American Student union.

To date the sole evidence of "subversive" activity against either of these groups seems to be that they are a "noisy minority" and that some members are communists.

No officer of either undergraduate group has denied any of these charges but has merely pointed out that both groups have had a consistently democratic program.

No officer of either undergraduate group has denied any of these charges but has merely pointed out that both groups have had a consistently democratic program.

Both have favored more money for NYA, CCC camps, WPA work projects, and federal health bills.

"Make Democracy Work," they have stressed, "By Keeping It Serving Human Needs."

Undergraduates involved have emphasized that if communists want to follow such a program as this that is their business, not that of the organization involved.

As Joseph P. Lash, executive secretary of the Student union said, "We have not insisted that students think any particular way but simply that they think about problems of the day."

Now Mr. Dies is going home to Texas until January. Meantime, the American public should be aware of the Dies record. A half million dollars is a lot of money for headlines, even in 1939.

Perhaps the real contribution to American democracy at the present time will not come from the tactics of Chairman Dies' committee. Perhaps they will be found more in the methods of such traditional democrats as Plato, Voltaire, Jefferson and Justice Holmes—all of whom were at one in admiring the democratic way and insisting that it must live through reason and discussion.

Has Chairman Dies a contribution in this direction worth half a million?

1,500,000 Boys Emulate Knight Jacques De Molay

A NATIONAL three month celebration of the coming age of the Order of De Molay, the Masonic-sponsored organization for youths, opened last week in Kansas City.

The Order of De Molay, inspired by the story of a brave knight, Jacques De Molay, who died at the stake rather than give up his beliefs, has made indelible impressions on the million and a half young men who have been members.

A bridge between "Boy Scout" training and college for most of its members, De Molay gets young men at a time when they are in need of direction that can not be given in the home, school or church.

A vast number of the decisions that must be made concerning one's standards are made in the ages from 15 to 21. With the inspiration of De Molay, thousands of young men have been aided in arriving at decisions that make them stronger.

There are now 1,098 chapters of De Molay in North America and 63 others over the world. There were 17 in Italy until Mussolini wiped them out along with the Boy Scouts and the Camp Fire Girls.

This birthday, the twenty-first for De Molay, is an excellent time for De Molay to receive honor upon its majority. Few men have had the opportunity to do so much for young men as has Frank S. Land, founder of the original chapter which met in Kansas City in 1919.

Few organizations can claim as inspiring a record as De Molay for instilling the highest of American chivalric ideals in young men.

It Is The Will Not To Fight That Keeps Peace, But Preparedness Is Insurance Says Stewart

THE OTHER day Assistant State Secretary George S. Messersmith was discussing the kind of peace that the world ought to agree on when its present war (or wars, for it's plural) end.

He seemed to take the position that international disarmament should do the business. Nevertheless, Uncle Sam, in whose executive councils Mr. Messersmith is prominent, is arming defensively to the tune of millions and billions. It isn't unnatural, in the face of present conditions, but there's a contradiction involved.

If ALL countries would disarm simultaneously, perhaps the trick could be turned. If most nations disarm, however, and a few don't, the disarmed folk are left at an obvious disadvantage.

But suppose they ALL disarm? Will that keep 'em from fighting? Pro and Contra.

In the rather early days after the last World War Congressman Fred Britten of Illinois was chairman of the American house of representatives' committee on naval affairs. He was considered a pretty hard-boiled advocate of a big Yankee fighting fleet. Nevertheless, he urged all-around disarmament.

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

GLEANINGS! The Finns were going red! . . . A British ship had been sunk! . . . Army-Navy was a banner. . . Yet every D. M. Register salesman in the town Saturday night shouted, "Extra! . . . Big News! . . . Iowa City Boy on All-State Team!" . . . Swell choice of headlines, at that.

"Elizabeth and Essex" is my idea of the way history ought to be filmed. . . Bette Davis is the kind of Elizabeth I'd enthroned in my imagination. (Not too superior to University theater's Marie Parks of a few seasons back at that!)

And it was delightful to have a technician that didn't spend half the footage just being technical. . . .

But the real scene was the one in the throne room where Cecil was crawling at Elizabeth's feet with a protest. . . . She, with a queenly gesture, motioned him away with a simple, "Away, little man!" . . . What a wonderful line for so many occasions.

Spent all of Saturday night over a book, the first novel I've read in months and a good one, Sterling North's "Seven Against the Years."

It's the story of six A. B.'s of the University of Chicago in '29. . . . And one—Sterling North himself—who wasn't awarded a degree. . . . One, the most brilliant of the class, becomes an itinerant bum, another a C. I. O. organizer, a third a millionaire meat-packer (His mother was rich), a fourth a Y. M. C. A. director, another a twentieth-century politician, a sixth a big-time gigolo, and the last a successful novelist.

A beautiful indictment of modern college training, especially the last chapter where they meet again, these seven, after 10 years of the world. . . . Ten years in which they've failed to understand one of the world's problems, have even failed to realize they exist, have been the hollow men of '29.

North concludes with a bitter thought, "Where can we go from here—except backward?"

Roy Bazire's (Class of '39, Iowa) letter of yesterday brought an intelligent appraisal of the student government movement, seemed to me. . . . I'm not worried about the fact that Iowa is the only Big Ten university without student government," he writes. . . . "Most student government is disorganized, ineffective and without force.

"To me student government isn't so much a regulation of the external behavior of students as it is a regulation of the society in which the student lives—the university.

"Real student government must come in a genuinely democratic university in which both students and faculty decide upon the objective and function of said university."

Of course, I'm one of the rebels who believes students ought to be able to decide what courses they'd be required to take and what ideas should be included for department majors. . . . That's real radicalism.

And it won't come to Iowa when only 20 undergraduates turn out for discussions of the subject. . . .

A brief note here for "Many Are Called," in this week's Post, one of the most honest, soverly rushing pictures I've ever read. . . . And required reading for all Greek women.

Cassill and Anderson's art exhibit is one of the finest I remember. . . . Especially enjoyed the earthy kind of Americanism in such works as Don's "Party Night" and "Bird Killer" and Verlin's "Hitch Hikers" and "White Store."

Goldwin Smith's quite a detective fan, he declares. . . . Reads several thrillers a week for sleep inducement. . . . Goldwin and FDR. . . .

Major 'I' Letters Awarded to 24 Hawkeyes by Athletic Board

List Includes Seven Seniors

Twenty-four major "I" letters and a minor award will go to members of the Iowa "Iron Man" squad this year, the athletic board announced yesterday after acting on the recommendations of Dr. Eddie Anderson.

Of the 24 men, seven are receiving their last Iowa award for football, while Joe Moore, who gets the minor letter, is also a senior. The men getting major "I" awards include Capt. Erwin Prasse, all-American end, Nile Kinnick, all-American halfback and the nation's outstanding player, Dick Evans, all-American honorable mention as an end, Henry Luebeck, Buzz Dean, now starting with the Des Moines Comets as a halfback, and Ed McLain.

Prasse is receiving his seventh major Iowa letter and is expected to win awards in basketball and baseball to become the first nine-letter man at Iowa in years. He reported yesterday for basketball, in which he plays a guard position, and will play second base on Otto Vogel's baseball team next spring.

Major "I" awards granted: Bruno J. Andruska, center; Gerald Ankeny, quarterback; Wallace Bergstrom, tackle; Russell Busk, halfback; Albert Couppe, quarterback; Floyd Dean, halfback; William Diehl, center; Mike Enich, tackle; Richard Evans, end; George Frye, center; Bill Gallagher, quarterback; Bill Green, fullback; Max Hawkins, guard; Nile Kinnick, halfback; Henry Luebeck, guard; Ed McLain, halfback; Ray Murphy, fullback; Jens Norgaard, end; Kenneth Pettit, guard; Erwin Prasse, end; Herman Snider, guard; Charles Toljerson, guard; Henry Vollenweider, fullback; James Walker, tackle.

Minor "I" letter: Joe Moore, end.

Harmon, Paskvan, Van Every and Piepul Form Backfield on Hawkeyes All-Opponent Eleven

Iowa Citizens have wondered this year what an all-star team without some of the Hawkeyes would look like, but haven't had a chance to find out since even the all-American selections have had their Iowa contingent.

We present here a team we have all had a chance to observe in action, but which eliminates the Hawkeyes — an all-Iowa opponents team. The selections have been made on the basis of personal observations, opinions of fans and with suggestions of Iowa coaches and players, who have been, beyond doubt, in a good position to judge.

All-Iowa Opponents Team—1939
Ends—Bill Kerr (Notre Dame) and Dave Rankin (Purdue).
Tackles—Win Pedersen (Minnesota) and Roland Savilla (Michigan).
Guards—Jim Logan (Indiana) and Hal Methel (Northwestern).
Center—Jack Murray (Wisconsin).
Backs—George Paskvan (Wisconsin), Tom Harmon (Michigan), Milt Piepul (Notre Dame) and Harold Van Every (Minnesota).
Just what they did against other opponents is not known in all cases, their performances against Iowa being the main consideration.

Kerr and Rankin are probably two of the Midwest's best flankers. Kerr, picked on several all-American teams, was definitely a standout against Iowa. Players and fans alike said he was worthy of all-American rating. Rankin, likewise, played plenty of football against the Hawkeyes and has been consistently good this season. His smart work on defense kept the Hawks from making yardage around the ends in the game at Lafayette, so he wins the post over Moeller of Wisconsin and Minnesota's Mariucci by a shade.

Among the tackles Minnesota's Capt. Win Pedersen, a powerful member of a stonewall line, cannot be overlooked and neither can Savilla, the Michigan lineman who rushed Kinnick on punts and passes at Ann Arbor.

The guard posts go to Jim Logan, Indiana's captain, and Hal Methel of Northwestern. Both were steady and both did big afternoons of work against Iowa. Closest competitors here were DeFranco of Notre Dame and Bykowski of Purdue.

Probably the strongest spot on the most teams of the Big Ten this year was the center post. Picking in opposition to most of the all-conference observers, we offer Jack Murray of Wisconsin, big, powerful and fast. Murray made the Wisconsin pivot post the strongest Iowa has faced. Haman of Northwestern was all football player, but Murray, on the basis of his work against Iowa, would be about the nation's best. McIntyre of Notre Dame and Morningstar of Purdue also looked good.

For the backfield we have selected what we thought were the four outstanding backs, instead of picking for each of the four positions. The shuffling of the four would probably be different under different coaches, anyway.

Tom Harmon of Michigan, who is a great running back, goes down in one spot. Big and fast, Harmon was the Big Ten's high scorer and leading ground gainer. Although Harmon's effectiveness was impaired without Evashevski, that would not hamper him here, not considering his backfield company.

Milt Piepul, who scored the Notre Dame touchdown in Iowa stadium, is one of the most powerful plungers in the country. He weighs over 200 pounds, is fast and a good defensive man. The same might be said of Wisconsin's roaring George Paskvan, not quite as heavy or powerful as Piepul, but plenty of plunger for all that.

The fourth backfield post goes to Harold Van Every, triple-threat star of the Minnesota backfield. The fact that Van Every does everything and does it well makes him one of the best men Iowa has faced this year. He made it tough for the Hawkeyes for a full afternoon in November, so Van Every gets the nod over his teammate, Sonny Frank, Purdue's "Three B's." Stevenson of Notre Dame and Northwestern's Hahnstein and Clawson.

They were, we think, the best men the Hawkeyes faced, at least on those particular afternoons.

Hawkeyes Return to Practice After Cage Win Over Carls

Face Milliken Friday Night

Williams Satisfied With Sophomores; Lineup Uncertain

Their first test over, Rollie Williams and his sophomore cagers returned to practice for their home opener, against Milliken Friday night. The Hawks, with only three veterans in the list of 10 men to see action, outscored Carleton, 24-21, at Mason City Saturday night.

Williams expressed himself as satisfied with the showing against the Carls, although the careful offense of the Norsemen slowed down the pace of the game and gave little opportunity for a fast-breaking offense.

It did, however, give some opportunity to check the progress made in molding a team from new material. Yesterday, with Erwin Prasse reporting back to the floor, the squad received additional experienced support, although Williams continued to give much of his attention to the sophomores, Bill Wheeler, Vic Siegel, Rudy Soderquist, Dick Hein, Bruce Fountain and Vince Harsha.

There is still doubt about practically every post on the team, with any number of combinations possible. The forwards look like Siegel, Tom Chapman, Wheeler and Anapol, with Tommy Lind alternating between guard and forward. Lind acted as captain against the Carls and is certain to be used. The center post will have as many as five possible candidates, all of whom look fairly near equal, including Fountain and Hein, along with the veterans Chuck Plett, Ken Bastian and Dick Evans. The guards rest between the veterans, Prasse, Howard Irvine, Bob Jenkins and Lind, and Harsha, Soderquist and Siglin of the new men.

In other words, the cage situation awaits further tests before even the starting Iowa lineup can be anywhere near a certainty.

National Pro Marks Tumble

Fourteen New Records Marked Down, One Tied, As Gridders Run Wild

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—clubs largely was responsible for the new league scoring high of 1,692 points—208 more than were chalked up last year.

In an unprecedented sweep, 14 records were broken and one tie in the 19th year of the play home open, against Milliken Friday night. Every offensive record, with one exception, was wiped off the books as the Chicago Bears, the Cleveland Rams, the Washington Redskins, the Philadelphia Eagles, the New York Giants and the Detroit Lions all participated in the record-wrecking orgy.

The Chicago Bears cracked six of the marks as their fine quartet of Sid Luckman, Billy Patterson, Bob MacLeod and Bill Osmanski gave them a fresh and freshman impetus that could not be denied.

The Bears accounted for four records in ground gaining and two in scoring by running up 298 points and 3,988 yards against opponents.

Washington and Green Bay also exceeded the former 11-game marks in these departments of play. The antics of those three

St. Pat's Open Cage Season

Oppose St. Ambrose Here Tonight With Question Mark Five

The fighting Irish of St. Pat's officially opened the basketball season at the southside school tonight against St. Ambrose of Davenport.

With three veterans returning from last year's team the Ryanites are conceded a good chance to whip the Davenport outfit. The veterans are Don Black, forward; Paul Holland, center, and Red Miller, guard.

Teaming with these campaigners will be Fitzpatrick, a forward with some experience, while Bruce Beasley will round out the team at the other guard post.

Replacements for the first five are scarce. Out of the squad of 20 Coach Ryan has only a few lads that have had experience in competition.

Little can be told of the prowess of the St. Pat's cagers for little competition can be afforded the first five by the remainder of the squad. In most practices of the short session preceding the opener, Ryan has limited his cagers to fundamentals only.

It is also the opening game for St. Ambrose, who usually boasts a strong team. The academy has three returning regulars and a good supply of lettermen.

St. Pat's will employ a fast break to shake up the defense of the St. Ambrose cagers. The Davenport school has one of the strongest teams that St. Pat's will encounter. To mark up a win would be to start the fighting Irish off with a reputation of a strong team.

Little Hawks Point for Clinton

Scalzo, Chavez Sign NEW YORK, (AP)—Pete Scalzo of New York and Simon Chavez, Venezuelan fighter, today signed for a 10-round featherweight bout to be held in Madison Square garden Dec. 22.

They will fight at 126 pounds. The winner will be offered a shot at champion Joey Archibald later.

Cincinnati Friday, but did not discuss the nature of his business with the Tiger boss.

The Cubs went to the meeting admittedly seeking a shortstop to replace the veteran Bartell, who experienced one of the worst seasons of his career last season. Rogell also is a big league veteran, both shortstops having spent 12 years in the majors.

Thinclads In Intra-Squad Competition

The air has been filled with 'athlons these many weeks in the fall track season; now that early winter is here three more of these so-called 'athlons will begin a two-week stand in the fieldhouse this afternoon.

With the jump triathlon an event of the past, this afternoon Coach George Bresnahan unfolds three series of events open to all university men. These events are classed as the weight triathlon, the sprint sextathlon and the distance quadrathlon. The weight events will include the shot-put, discus, and the 25-pound weight. The sprint, or dash events will be run in this order, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70 and 80 yards. Included in the distance tests will be the 220, 330, 440 and 660 yard runs.

The events beginning this afternoon at 4 o'clock will be carried through the week and will be concluded next Thursday, Dec. 14.

The winners in both the varsity and freshman teams trying for honors in the running 'athlons will be determined on the lowest total of times made in both series of events. Prizes will be awarded.

Last season's winner was Milt Billig, who holds the 440 yard record here of 48.3 seconds, close behind him was John Graves for second spot. In the freshman group, last year we find that Art Schlauder took the sprint section and will be back this year to do it again in the role of the varsity man.

Bartell-Rogell Exchange Likely In Major Shakeup

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Chicago Times said tonight the Chicago Cubs "had agreed" to trade Shortstop Dick Bartell to the Detroit Tigers for Shortstop Billy Rogell.

The Times story, printed under a Cincinnati dateline, said however that the deal would not be completed until Owner Walter Briggs of Detroit and Owner Phil Wrigley of the Cubs arrive later in the week at the winter baseball meeting in Cincinnati.

Wrigley said here that he had an appointment with Briggs in

Defensive Drill Gets Attention In Local Camp

That overwhelming walloping that City high took at the hands of Davenport last week only had one effect at the Hawket camp—more work.

There was no gloom hanging heavy over the new gym last night, no excuses, just a new determination to improve and win. That spirit was very much in evidence, as Coach Fran Merten sent his cagers through a long workout.

Merten was convinced last night that he would have to throw up an airtight defense to compensate for a lack of offensive power. Acting on this assumption, the Little Hawk mentor gave the squad fundamental instructions in both the zone and man for man defenses. Evidently building his squad so as to develop late in the season, Merten will stress these basic rules in drills for the next several weeks.

Preparing for an expected man for man defense on the part of Clinton, who comes to Iowa City Saturday night for a conference game, Merten also sent his boys through a long passing session, working the ball in with block plays and short passes.

This week's game has been shifted to Saturday night to avoid conflict with the university game with Milliken. Game time will be at 9 p.m., with the preliminary game between the Iowa City and Clinton sophomores starting at 7.

Savold Knocks Out Strickland

DES MOINES, Dec. 4 (AP)—Lee Savold of Des Moines knocked out Maurice Strickland, New Zealand heavyweight, in the third round of their scheduled 10-round bout here tonight.

Savold weighed 187; Strickland 192.

Although the first two rounds ended in draws, Savold appeared to be making the most progress in wearing down his opponent during the furious exchange of blows.

Savold opened a cut over Strickland's right eye with a sharp hook near the close of the first round. They were in a clinch at the bell.

In the second, Strickland started fast and got in several effective shots before Savold began bothering him with his bobbing and weaving style of defense. Savold landed a hard left to the body which brought a grunt from Strickland. They were exchanging jabs at the bell.

As the third round opened Savold was short with two lefts and then got in the one-two blow that sent his opponent down for the count — and a few extra seconds.

Savold received a big ovation as he left the ring after winning his 10th knockout victory in the last 11 starts.

It was the first bout held in Iowa under sanction of the National Boxing association.

Before the fight, Promoter Pinkie George announced he had received assurance from a Detroit promoter that the winner would be matched with Bob Pastor in the Michigan city.

Notre Dame never was in danger as it hung up its second victory of the season.

Major-Minor Trade Season Opens

Dodgers on Trail of Don Padgett; Pirates Put Rizzo on Market

CINCINNATI, Dec. 4 (AP)—Trade facts and rumors from the major-minor baseball meetings:

Facts:

Cleveland Indians sold Shortstop Jimmy Webb to St. Paul of American Association for cash.

Philadelphia Phils sold Outfielder Gibrack to St. Paul for cash.

Buffalo of International league sold Pitcher Fabian Kowalik to Fort Worth of Texas league.

Newark of International league sold Catcher Billy Holm to Los Angeles of Pacific Coast league.

St. Paul sold Infielder Tony Yergo to Shreveport of Texas league for cash.

St. Paul traded Pitcher Sugar Cain and Outfielder Malin (Bit) McCullough to Knoxville of Southern Association for Outfielder Woody Abernathy.

Toronto of International league traded Outfielder Mayo Smith to Buffalo of same league for Outfielder John Tyler.

Toronto sold Pitcher Joe Milligan to Oakland of Pacific Coast league for cash.

Rumors:

Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers negotiating deal which would send Outfielder Doc Cramer or Outfielder Joe Vosmik and Catcher Johnny Peacock of Boston to Detroit for Catcher Birdie Tebbets.

Cleveland Indians sought Outfielder Bob Johnson from Philadelphia Athletics, but after some discussion the veteran Connie Mack told Manager Oscar Vitti of Indians: "Mr. Vitti, I wouldn't trade you Bob Johnson for Bob Feller even."

Chicago Cubs sought Shortstop Arky Vaughn from Pittsburgh Pirates and Shortstop Billy Myers from Cincinnati, and were refused.

Cincinnati Reds were trying to make a deal for First Baseman Les Searsella who can't be re-usable to minors again and presumably can't be used by Reds. One proposal would send him and Third Baseman Lou Riggs to New York Giants for Outfielder Joe Moore. Another would send him to Boston Bees for an outfielder.

Brooklyn Dodgers were seeking Catcher-Outfielder Don Padgett of St. Louis Cardinals and President Larry MacPhail told newspapermen, "If anybody can get Padgett for me for $60,000 I'll give $10,000 commission."

Chicago White Sox were reported peddling Outfielder Gee Walker either for Catcher Frankie Pyltak of Cleveland or in some combination with Detroit.

Pittsburgh was believed to have Outfielder John Rizzo on the market, possibly for direct deal with Brooklyn for Infielder Johnny Hudson or Outfielder Ernie Coy and other considerations.

Cincinnati proffered Pitcher Lee Grissom to New York Giants for Outfielder Joe Moore with other considerations involved.

Philadelphia Phillies would send Catcher Walter Millies to Jersey City of International league for unknown considerations.

Brooklyn Dodgers seeking either Outfielder Hank Leiber or Outfielder Augie Galan of Chicago Cubs and offering Infielder Johnny Hudson and an outfielder.

Notre Dame never was in danger as it hung up its second victory of the season.

Texas Aggies Top Tennessee In Rankings

Southern Cal Placed In Third Position By Sports Writers

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Rose Bowl promoters won't pick the contending teams for their New Year's day festival until after Southern California battles U. C. L. A. and Tennessee meets Auburn on Saturday, and the country's football experts won't arrive at their final decision on which is the No. 1 team of the year until those games are played.

Iowa Eighth
In the next-to-last Associated Press ranking poll of the season, they appear to have decided on Texas A. and M. the all-winning Southwest conference champions, breaking out of last week's tie for the lead with Southern Cal, moved back into outright possession of first place today with a total of 763 points out of a possible 870.

Iowa was in eighth place, up one spot from a week ago.

Twenty-eight of the 87 ballots ranked the farmers at the head of the list, and there wasn't a single expert who placed them lower than sixth.

Tennessee, pushed down to fourth position a week ago, came rocketing back into second place after its defensively powerful exhibition against Kentucky. Polling 19 first-place votes, the Vols accumulated 741 points, to trail the Aggies by only 22 and lead U. S. C. by 32. The Trojans got 18 nominations for first place, to 15 for Cornell, which dropped into fourth position. Tulane, practically a fixture in fifth, remained there for another week.

U. C. L. A. Comes Up

Outside of Tennessee's rise and Cornell's drop, the major changes occurred in the lower half of the first 10. There U. C. L. A., which has its own ideas about Southern California's eligibility for the Rose Bowl and will attempt to put them in practice Saturday, came out of the second 10 into ninth place. Duquesne, tied by Detroit in its finale after winning all its other games, skidded from sixth to tenth; Duke advanced from seventh to sixth, while Holy Cross, tenth a week ago, dropped down with the last of the also-rans after its thorough defeat by Boston College.

Standings of the teams (points figured on 10-9-8, etc., basis, first-place votes in parentheses):

Team	Points
1. Texas A. & M. (28)	763
2. Tennessee (19)	741
3. Southern California (18)	709
4. Cornell (15-)	665
5. Tulane (5)	572
6. Duke (1)	307
7. Missouri	242
8. Iowa	138
9. U. C. L. A.	99½
10. Duquesne	90

Notre Dame 11th

Second ten — 11. Notre Dame, 88½. 12. Ohio State, 82. 13. Georgia Tech, 62. 14. Boston College, 57. 15. Clemson (1) 46. 16. Santa Clara, 39. 17. Nebraska, 21. (Tied for 18) Fordham and San Jose (Cal.) State, 20 each. 20. Georgetown, 19.

Also ran—Michigan, 13; Princeton and North Carolina, 11 each; Oregon State and Southern Methodist, 6 each; Villanova, 4; Oklahoma, 3; Holy Cross, Colorado and Minnesota, 1 each.

The margin between Texas A. and M. and the second- and third-place teams is close enough so that an overwhelming margin of victory for either of these two this week end might send it to the top in next week's final poll. Tennessee, appears to have the easier task, but may be hampered by injuries to its two ranking key backfield men, George (bad news) Cafego and Johnny Butler. Southern California will have to hold Kenny Washington and Jack Robinson in check if it hopes to overcome U. C. L. A.'s unbeaten, three-tied Bruins.

Galey Puts Ice On 'Killer' Katz

DES MOINES, Dec. 4 (AP)—Results of preliminaries to the Lee Savold-Maurice Strickland fight here tonight included: Jim Galey, 175, Ottumwa, won a technical knockout over "Killer" Katz, 178, Mason City, when the referee stopped the scrap after 1 minute and 23 seconds of the second round.

Merle King, Des Moines, won a four-round decision over Don McGraw, 138, Washington.

Buzz Lanning, 135, Ottumwa, won a decision over Howdy Dawson, 132, Waterloo, in four rounds.

Attendance Remains Steady

Hawkeyes Make One of Biggest Gains in Nation Over 1938-1939 Period

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—College football attendance for 1939 rose barely one per cent over 1938, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Based on reports from 69 representative schools from every section of the country, the survey showed total attendance of 7,570,150 for 333 games this year as against 7,489,785 for 341 games a year ago. This year's game average thus was 22,733, compared with 21,964 a year ago, an increase of 769.

Only sensational increases in the south and Rocky moutain group kept the attendance figures on the rise. Thanks mainly to a big gain by Tulane, southern attendance figures increased about 11 per cent. The gain in the Rocky mountain group, represented by Denver, Utah and Colorado, was 19 per cent.

Tulane set what was claimed to be a new southern record in playing to 267,796 in eight home games this season as against 92,027 in seven games a year ago.

Bramham Opens Attack Against Business Agents of Minor Clubs

Says 'Baseball Is In Darkest Spot Since Black Sox Scandal'

By JUDSON BAILEY
CINCINNATI, Dec. 4 (AP)—A chubby, usually jovial judge, named by the minor leagues seven years ago to lead them from a depression morass, lashed business agents of the clubs today with the assertion that baseball "is in the darkest spot since the Black Sox scandal."

William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, spared nothing but names as he told the first day's gathering of the minors that contracts were being hidden and forged, that even attendance figures were being falsified and that some clubs' affairs were in the hands of incompetent individuals.

While hundreds of baseball men thronged the hotel headquarters of the convention the minor leaguers took the show away from the major league magnates who talked singly and in groups, but accomplished nothing.

In the meeting of the minors, attended by some 300 club representatives, Bramham followed his declaration regarding the "Black Sox scandal," which occurred in this same city exactly 20 years ago during a world series, by citing troublesome instances.

"We have a case before us now in which a club filed 14 contracts calling for salaries from $60 to $90 per month. We found that the players had not signed those contracts, but that their names had been forged," Bramham asserted.

"The contracts signed by the players called for salaries of $175 to $250 per month and those were the salaries they drew, although those salaries put the clubs total salaries far above the league limit."

Bramham added that all officials of the club from the multimillionaire owner down to the manager, professed not to know who was responsible but that "some one is going to be seriously hurt before it's cleared up."

Then, to show that this was not an isolated contract mixup, Bramham said he heard 507 free-agency appeals from the players last season and expected to handle at least 2,000 next year.

"The big trouble," he barked, "seems to be that many clubs have men handling their business who cannot follow instructions of any kind. I'd advise clubs to waste no money on a secretary who can't do the job the way it should be done."

Bramham said the 41 leagues in the association reported a total attendance of 18,500,000 during the past year, a new record, but that figure probably should be a half million higher.

"I can't even get, confidentially, the exact attendance figures from some of you club owners," he protested, "because you're afraid they'll get you into income tax trouble or something. Sometimes you give a different report to your league president than you do to me."

The minor league delegates are scheduled to consider a number of amendments to their code tomorrow, some of which would curb certain present policies of Commissioner Keneaw M. Landis in regard to restricting working agreements between major and minor league clubs.

Dolphins Hold Annual Feast

Over 70 Celebrate Success of 1940 Dolphin Follies

MADISON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team opened its season here tonight by swamping Carleton college 37 to 19 before a crowd of 4,200.

Coach Bud Foster's Badgers were slow in starting but late in the first half and throughout the second period they were far superior to the Northfield quintet.

Gene Englund, Badger center, paced the winners with 13 points on 6 baskets and a free throw, all in the final half. Bob Schwartz, forward, was runner-up with 11.

Dick Raiter, Carleton forward, and Capt. Quintus Nelson, center, were tied for high honors for the losers with six points each.

The Iowa Dolphins held their annual banquet Sunday evening at the Mad Hatters tea room in celebration of their recent water carnival, The Dolphin Follies of 1940.

Over 70 members and guests attended the banquet, which was preceded by the initiation of new members into the swimming organization. The initiation took place in Iowa Union.

Speakers on the program included Dave Armbruster; E. G. (Dad) Schroeder, athletic director; Al Armbruster and Tony Bremer, co-captains; Robert Allen, freshman coach, and Ed Gerber, president of the organization.

The 1940 Dolphin Queen, Georgia Gaddis, was presented a cup and shield by the Dolphins. Her attendants, Madeleine Collesler, Carol Jane Osterholm, Barbara Miller and Doris Jean Replogle were presented with shields.

Special mention by the speakers was given to the rise in popularity that the follies has shown in recent years, and praise was duly awarded all members of the fraternity for their work in making the show a success this year.

Coach Armbruster pointed out in his speech the highlights of former Dolphin shows and swimming meets and expressed the fact that the Hawkeyes this season are capable of going down as possible, greats in Iowa swimming history.

Faculty members of the organization present at the banquet included Schroeder, Allen, E. K. Shain, athletic equipment manager; W. J. Teeters, dean-emeritus of the college of pharmacy, and W. W. Tuttle of the school of medicine.

Tennessee, Vols Invited to Dallas

DALLAS, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Dallas News said tonight Texas A. and M. college and the University of Tennessee were extended invitations to send their undefeated, untied football teams here to play in the Cotton Bowl game New Year's day.

Each team is being guaranteed $85,000 by a group of Dallas bankers and business leaders, the News said adding it had learned replies had been asked before midnight Tuesday.

Texas A. and M. will meet at noon tomorrow at College Station to vote on post-season game bids.

Shapiro Wins Navy's Christmas Problems Solved

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Maxie Shapiro, 130 3-4, of New York, easily outpointed Wally Hally, 135, of Los Angeles in an eight-round bout at St. Nicholas Palace tonight. Shapiro worked inside Hally's wings and did considerable damage with short lefts followed by hard rights.

In four-round preliminaries, Tony Grippo, 133 3-4, New York, stopped Frankie Van, 132, Bayonne, N. J., in 50 seconds of the third and Jimmy Casa, 157 1-2, New York, outpointed Eddie Van Alstyne, 160, Albany, N. Y.

Second South Swamps Second East, 32 to 9, As Hillcrest Cage Teams Battle; First Wins

Hillcrest, cooperative dormitory and fraternity teams continued to play in their respective leagues last night as seven of nine scheduled games were played.

First of Hillcrest swamped a hapless Second North team 30-8. Harrell and Smith of First together made over half their team's total score by caging eight points apiece. Roberts was next in line with four. Arkwright paced the losers with four points.

Second South, also of Hillcrest, ran roughshod over Second East 32-9. Lanquake was outstanding for the winners with nine points. K. Lange and Wymore were next with six and five points respectively. Johnson notched four points for Second East.

Fourth downed Third East of Hillcrest 38-20. Fourth led all the way through, with Third East never threatening. Ely was the sparkplug of Fourth with his 12 points. Cowan and Feine caged six points each for the winners.

Hill led the losers' attack with his seven points, while Borhart was close behind with six.

Folsom defeated Chesley 24-23. Patton sparked Wilson with his 13 points. Miltich caged eight for the losers, with Green, Howard and Armusson with four apiece.

Whetstone trounced Manse to a 32-8 score. The high-light of the game was the all around playing of Percival for the winning team. Percival accounted for 20 of the 32 points for the victors. Watson of Manse accounted for five points.

Delta Theta Phi of the class A fraternity league won its first game of the season over its lone loss as it trounced Sigma Phi 46-19. But the winners scored at will in the second and third periods. The losers were kept to one point in the second period and added eight in the final period. Simpson's 18, Olson's 12 and Firth's 10 points accounted for the large margin of victory for the winners. R. Hosman starred for the losers with seven points.

Kellogg won over Jefferson by default as did Third South over Third North.

Roxy Promises Refunds
DETROIT, Dec. 4 (AP)—John Roxborough, co-manager of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, said today he planned to pay any losses suffered by promoters as a result of cancellation of the Brown Bomber's scheduled exhibition tour between Chicago and Los Angeles.

Roxborough said that he had instructed persons who had booked the champion to send in statements of any money they had expended in preparation for an anticipated appearance of Louis.

Woman's Club Will Celebrate Golden Jubilee

Review of Music, Drama To Be Part Of Program Friday

Women of Iowa City and Johnson county have been invited to a Golden Jubilee party to be given by the Iowa City Woman's club Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. in the gymnasium of the recreational center in observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the general federation. Displays of the projects sponsored by each of the eight departments of the local organization will be shown.

A special guest at the celebration will be Mrs. R. L. Evans of North Liberty, first district chairman. Showing the relationship between the Iowa City Woman's club and the county, district, state and general federations will be exhibits of their activities.

Among the exhibits will be a model room planned by members of the home department. Their display will also include a group of seasonal table decorations, as well as demonstrations of crafts and hobbies. Examples of "sick" and "well" house plants and suggestions for their care will be the contribution of the garden department. Methods of arranging winter bouquets will be shown.

Contemporary Best Sellers
A display of contemporary best sellers will be presented by the literature department. Poetry written by members of the poetry department will be on exhibit, with a group of dolls representing the verse speaking choir.

Pantomimes of their activities in connection with the recreational center, county health unit and social service will be given by members of the public welfare department.

Posters and descriptive literature will indicate the scope of activities of the social sciences department.

Drama, Music Departments
Members of the drama and music departments will join in presenting a program to begin at 2:30 p.m. "Progress for Human Needs," a musical pageant based on the history of the general federation of woman's clubs and written by the local president, Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Kendall Gibson of Hollywood, Cal., are spending a few days visiting Mrs. Gibson's sister, Mrs. H. J. Long, 322 Melrose.

A license to wed was issued yesterday by County Clerk R. Neilson Miller, to James Carlton Bae, 29, and Edith Ambrose, 24, both of Iowa City.

Wives of Pharmacy Faculty To Entertain Women Students

Women students of the university college of pharmacy will be guests at a dinner given by the faculty wives of the college tonight at 6 o'clock in the home of Dean and Mrs. R. A. Kuever, 5 Melrose circle.

About 23 guests are expected to attend this Christmas affair.

Every war leaves a hangover, but it's the next generation that suffers it.

Staniford, Seyb Wed Recently At Bartlesville

Helen Staniford of Glenwood, and Leslie P. Seyb, of Donnellson, both graduates of the university, were married Nov. 25 at the First Presbyterian church in Bartlesville, Okla., and are now at home there after a short wedding trip.

The Rev. Max M. Morrison officiated at the ceremony, and organ music was played by Mrs. G. V. N. Yates.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of pilot blue and a corsage of gardenias.

She was attended by Winifred Johnson of Glenwood who wore a dusty pink dress with a corsage of roses. Robert Hahn of Kansas City was best man.

Wedding guests attended a luncheon preceding the wedding, and the bride and bridegroom left immediately after the ceremony.

Mr. Seyb is employed in the research department of the Phillips Petroleum company in Bartlesville.

Bowling Club Meets Today At Local Alley

The newly-organized bowling club for university women will hold its second meeting today at 4:10 p.m. in the local bowling alley, according to Prof. Gladys Scott of the women's physical education department, sponsor of the organization.

"With a membership of over 20 women, mostly beginning bowlers, the club welcomes all women interested in participating in the new sport," Miss Scott said. The technique and rules of bowling are shown through demonstrations on the alleys. Bowling club members receive a rate of 15 cents per line.

Persian and Indian prints, brass and inlaid will also be a feature of the display. For those who desire something from Egypt, copper and Hieroglyphic hangings are available.

The Navajo Indians have contributed San Ildefonso pottery, baskets and Cheinayo arts.

Examples of American handicraft have been contributed by Mrs. Edward F. Mason, 818 N. Linn, Margaret Gardner, 412 E. Bloomington, Oakdale patients, and others.

Mountain sweets have been sent by the Berea Students Industries of Berea, Ohio.

Foreign dolls from many lands will also be available.

Named Defendant
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanley M. Doyle, a witness in the recent Harry Bridges deportation hearing, was made the defendant yesterday in an annulment suit. Mrs. Amy Doyle charged that when she married him at Brookings, S. D., in January, 1928, a previous marriage of Doyle's was in full force and effect.

Hoover for Peace
DETROIT (AP) — President Roosevelt was urged yesterday by the board of foreign missions of the old Methodist Episcopal church to appoint former President Hoover as his ambassador of peace in an effort to bring about an armistice in Europe.

Child's Drawing Activity Before Seventh Year Basis for Later Ability --- Mrs. Voss Tells Club

The drawing activity of a child before his seventh year constitutes the basis for any artistic ability that he may display in later life, according to Mrs. Harold Dows Voss who spoke at the regular luncheon meeting of the Child Study club in the river room of Iowa Union Saturday. Her topic was "Art for Boys and Girls."

At the age of about 18 months, when the child becomes attracted to crayons and starts to manipulate them, he has the desire to draw. His first step towards fulfilling that desire is to pound on a piece of paper with the crayon. If he pounds a bit too hard and the crayon slides, the long mark that results is very pleasing to the young artist.

"All children go through the very same development along this line," said Mrs. Voss. The first stage in drawing activity is scribbling. The sweeping movement of the hand from the shoulder, which results in a wavy scribble, begins at the age of about 19 months.

Angles, Zigzags, Circles "Then one day his arm will start in a different direction," Mrs. Voss continued. Usually the circular scribble follows. Later the child varies his drawing activity into angles, zig-zags and circles.

Mrs. Voss explained that children are all alike in their fundamental attitude toward drawing. Their only pleasure in it comes from the muscular movement and the line that follows. After some months of practice at scribbling, the child comes upon the idea of intentional design. Then, although the picture is the same in each case, each one represents something different in his mind. This is a very important stage in the maturing of the child.

Intellectual Realism When the child develops intellectual realism, at about the age of ten years, he tries to draw details of the human figure as he sees them. His receptive activity develops much faster than his productive activity. Therefore, if his essential idea of a man consists of a head and two legs, he will draw a man with only those features.

"The most important thing that we can say about a child's drawing," said Mrs. Voss, "is that the child draws what he knows and not what he sees."

Some children develop into specialists and continually draw the same object. He may draw that object very well but fail on all others. Usually, however, his concepts of objects change as he grows older and he changes his drawing to conform to those concepts.

Eyes Rarely Forgotten "Eyes are rarely forgotten in children's drawings," Mrs. Voss stated. "Ears and hair appear only occasionally and they seem to consider the body a mere device for supporting the head. Clothing appears relatively early and a row of buttons may appear on the figure while it is still in the 'tadpole' stage."

"The pipe is a very early accessory," she continued. The child usually has great difficulty trying to depict movement in his drawing. He sometimes manages this by a straight line.

Man Picking Flower For instance, if he wants to portray a man picking a flower, he extends the man's arm down to the flower. Since the child has no knowledge of perspective, articles in space prove a great difficulty. Objects in the background of his picture are apt to be just as large as the objects in the foreground.

"As the child grows older, he passes from full face to profile drawings," said Mrs. Voss. Sometimes he attempts to include both the full face and the profile. This is indicative of his transition from intellectual realism to visual realism.

This transition, according to Mrs. Voss, is the dividing line between pre-artistic activity and artistic activity. If the child has no genuine artistic ability, his interest is very apt to fade at this point. The ability to write and speak language puts a damper on

Guest Soloists Will Perform In Production

Thelma Von Eisenhauer, soprano, and Robert Kessler, tenor, will be guest soloists in the 35th annual performance of Handel's Christmas pageant, "The Messiah," in Cornell chapel Dec. 10.

Ruth Pinkerton, contralto, and Francis German, baritone, both of the Cornell conservatory faculty, complete the quartet. The chorus of 100 voices and the symphony orchestra will be directed by Jacques Jolas, Juilliard professor of piano at Cornell.

Miss Von Eisenhauer is a member of the Chicago City Opera company and Mr. Kessler sings with the Continental quartet and the Northern's Octet on radio. This is Mr. Kessler's first appearance at Cornell but Miss Von Eisenhauer's second.

his ability to express himself with pictures.

Must Develop Technique If he goes on with drawing, he must develop all the complicated technique that is necessary in graphic art.

Mrs. Voss said that about the only help that parents could give to the child in his drawing activity is to provide him with materials. She advocated an easel for the child so that he could have perfectly free arm movements.

"Never give the child negative criticism," concluded Mrs. Voss. "Praise his work and point out its good features. And let him see you draw, too. It will be an incentive for him to continue."

STUCK? There's No Need to Be Stuck on the Question of What to Give Him --- Come In! We Know Exactly What He Wants! RACINE'S CIGAR STORES

Christmas Gifts Soon To Harry Curious

Recipients of Books May Require Will Power To Resist 'Peek'

Do not open until Christmas! Not only inquisitive little boys need to heed this warning for all people who send books for Christmas gifts encounter greater temptations. And strong indeed is he who can resist peeking into the first chapter just to meet the characters.

With events moving so swiftly in a troubled world, books offer release or information available nowhere else. Never before has there been such a variety either in biography, novels, history or comic books and never before has America been so well represented.

Perhaps the American reading public has had a surfeit of Europe. At any rate America has come into her own with such excellent reading fare as "The Old Santa Fe Trail" and "The Heritage of America," the latter told through letters and ledgers of the pioneers. Biography stars with "Statesmen of the Lost Cause," the story of Jefferson Davis and his cabinet; "Old Tippecanoe," about William Henry Harrison, even "Whistler's Mother," the life of a woman now famous as a portrait.

Away From Problems Novels present a distinct trend away from problems and rather toward pleasantness. There are still several novels of character, not quite romantic literature; Ethel Vance's picture of a German concentration camp, "Escape," the Harper's prize novel, "Children of God," a character analysis by Christopher Morley, "Kitty Foyle;" and another charming fantasy by the author of "The Sword in the Stone," entitled "The Witch in the Wood."

Two very different favorites appear with "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal" by Lloyd Douglas and "Christmas Holiday" by Somerset Maugham.

The gift royal for any book lover would be a copy of "A Treasury of Art Masterpieces." Other critical minded folk might prefer Mark Van Doren's "Shakespeare" or the currently favorite "Men of Music." The politically inclined have probably already asked Santa for "From Nazi Sources," "The Revolution of Nihilism" or "The March of Fascism."

"The Last Flower" The most unique book of the season turns out to be James Thayer's self-illustrated parable "The Last Flower," as prophetic a history of mankind as H. G. Wells ever wrote. This book might well be recommended for reading to the family on Christmas day before everyone is too well fed to listen.

Christmas is of course a time for eating and there are books for this too, books like "Good Maine Food," "The Yankee Cookbook" and "Herbs in the Kitchen," the last of which will prob-

Union Board To Sponsor Seventh Annual Student Art Salon

To Be Hung In Iowa Union Next April

Ralph F. Evans, Committee Chairman, Announces Plans

The seventh annual exhibit of the student salon of art, sponsored by the student Union Board, will be held in Iowa Union this year from April 7 to 15, 1940. Ralph F. Evans, G of Decatur, Ill., chairman of the committee in charge, announced yesterday.

The annual exhibit is sponsored by Union Board for two reasons—(1) to stimulate the production of original works of art by university students and (2) to stimulate a greater interest in art among all students at the university. Evans said in his announcement.

Open to resident undergraduate and graduate students in all colleges and departments of the university, the contest includes oil paintings, water colors or pastels, monochromes and sculpture. Not more than three works may be submitted by any student in any one of these media.

Delivery Date

Works must be delivered to the main desk of Iowa Union by Wednesday, April 5, 1940. The title of the work, the name and local address of the contributor and his classification in the university must be typed or printed and fastened to the back of each work entered. Oil paintings must be framed, while water colors, pastels and monochromes must be matted and may be framed.

Students entering work in this exhibit signify their willingness to have their works shown in the Big Ten exhibit if they are among those chosen by the judges for this purpose, Evans said.

Two types of awards will be provided by Union Board—popularity awards and quality awards. Both types will be in the form of prize ribbons, suitably designating the honor achieved.

Quality awards will be based on standards of excellence and will not be ranked competitively. Quality awards will be based on balloting conducted at the formal showing, April 7, 1940, when the awards will be presented.

Ten of the works submitted will be chosen for showing in the Big Ten exhibition, a traveling collection of the 10 winners of all exhibits in the Big Ten.

Special Prizes
Special prizes in the form of cash or other awards will be accepted by the Union Board from private individuals or organized groups desirous of stimulating student art at the university, the chairman explained.

Such awards must be free from any commercial obligations or implications, he said, but persons or organizations giving such awards may designate the name of the award, the media or type of work for which it is intended, and the standards to be considered in making the award.

The Union Board reserves final decision on the acceptance or rejection of all such prizes preferred. The decisions of the judges, selected by the Union Board, will be final in determining the recipient of each award.

Union board members assisting Evans are Cornelia Shrauger, A4 of Atlantic, and Helen Kading, A4 of Casey.

Iowa Woman To Be Speaker In New York

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Mrs. Alice Weitz of Des Moines will speak at the Congress of American Industry at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City Dec. 8.

Mrs. Catt and Mrs. Weitz, the latter editor of "The Club Woman," are the first women to be included on the program of the congress, which is sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers. Because of the important part that women are now playing in the modern economic system, it was decided by the committee in charge to invite Mrs. Catt and Mrs. Weitz, nationally known in women's organizations, to speak at the meeting.

Another interesting feature will be the "Fashion Show of Tomorrow," where models will display garments made of coal, clay, air, water, milk, glass, vinegar, rubber and moth balls. Many of these products have not yet been put on the commercial market.

Pi Lambda Theta Will Have Dinner

Members of Pi Lambda Theta will meet for dinner Wednesday at 6 p. m. in Iowa Union, Mary Newell, librarian for the educational, philosophical and psychological libraries, president, announced yesterday.

Miss Newell said that reservations should be sent or phoned to Elinor Olson, 7643.

Teams To Hold Final Practice For Tournament

The final basketball practice game for women interested in participating in the intramural basketball tournament will be played tonight at 7:15 in the women's gymnasium, according to Helen Poulsen, A4 of Iowa Falls, head of women's intramurals.

Managers, heading teams scheduled to participate in the tournament, are urged to check on their players to see that each woman has participated in three of the practice games, Miss Poulsen said. The tournament will get underway tomorrow night. Teams chosen to play in the opening game will be notified, the intramural's head declared.

Second Case In Law Series To Be Tonight

McGrath, Skalowsky Appellant Attorneys This Evening

The second in the series of junior law arguments will be held this evening at 7 o'clock at the Law Commons. The Hon. P. J. Siegers of the sixth judicial district will preside.

James W. McGrath, L2 of Eagle Grove, and Raymond F. Skalowsky, L2 of Norfolk, Neb., will be attorneys for appellant. Robert S. Pousek, L2 of Iowa City, and Corwin W. Johnson, L2 of Centerville, will be attorneys for appellees.

The case for this evening under the "University Court of the University of Iowa," will be John Cook, administrator of the estate of Edward Cook, deceased (appellant) versus The Mutual Life Insurance company and James Cook, (appellees) in equity.

The case concerns the right of the son, James, to receive the money from an insurance company following his father's and mother's death. The issues at stake are—was the arrangement testamentary in character and void as an improperly executed will, or was it a valid third party beneficiary contract or trust?

The next law arguments will be held Thursday evening.

Prof. Righter Holds Clinic For Directors

Prof. Charles B. Righter, director of the university bands, discussed "College Marching Bands" at the annual marching band clinic of the Iowa School Music association in Waterloo Saturday. In connection with his talk, he showed films of the university band routines at the 1939 Notre Dame and Minnesota football games.

Sponsored by the Northeast Band Masters' association but attracting directors from all over the state, the meeting was held in the music annex of East high school.

Professor Righter was accompanied by his assistant, Hugh Gunderson, Drum Major Jean Hedlund, A2 of Cedar Falls, and Fred Weddle, A3 of Lamoni. Professor Righter will conduct another band clinic at Blackton next Saturday.

Prof. H. Waite Selected Head Of State Group

Prof. Helen Waite of the home economics department has recently been elected president of the Iowa Home Economics association. It was announced yesterday.

The organization is one of all home economists in the state—dietitians, high school and college teachers, home-makers, business and professional women.

Mary Drake, a former student in the home economics department here and now a teacher in the Cherokee schools, was elected secretary of the organization.

Sculpture in Ice

This huge swan was carved from a block of ice for the Caps Caprice Friday evening. The dance, the annual affair given by the university school of nursing, was in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The swan, which was decorated with roses and green foliage, was placed in the private dining room with the doors open so that it was visible from the dance floor.

Alpha Phi Omega Announces Plans For All-University Christmas Party

An all-university informal Christmas party sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, has been planned for Thursday, Dec. 14, from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. in the river room of Iowa Union, Lewis Lapham, A2 of Charles City, chairman, announced yesterday.

Registrar Harry G. Barnes, formerly in charge of freshman speech activities, will give a reading. Assistant Dean of Men Don Mallett will be master of ceremonies of the party, which is free to all university students.

Planned for the last Thursday before Christmas vacation, which begins Dec. 16, the party will make possible a university-wide celebration of Christmas before students leave the campus for their respective homes, Lapham said.

The committee in charge includes, besides Lapham, Dave Whitney, A4 of Independence; Leroy Luce, A2 of McGregor; Don Blacketer, E2 of What Cheer; Ed McCloy, C4 of Iowa City; William Schmetz, A3 of Burlington, and Warren Randall, A3 of Miles City, Mont.

University Chess Club Plans Second Meeting for Tonight

Teacher Will Appoint Committee To Teach All New Members

Members of the newly-formed university chess club will hold their second meeting tonight in the Fireside clubrooms of the Unitarian church, Iowa avenue and Gilbert street, at 7 o'clock.

A committee will be appointed by Henry Teicher, A2 of Newark, N. J., executive secretary, to teach chess to members of the club new at the game.

The personnel of this committee will change every month, Teicher said, so that every member will have a chance to teach.

Each person who attended last week's meeting is expected to bring another player or potential player who is interested in the club but did not have an opportunity to attend last week.

Members with chess sets are urged to bring their boards and sets tonight. A ladder tournament will be arranged for the week, seeding all players in three classes according to their respective abilities.

The new club, first chess club on the campus for some 35 or 40 years, will be a success this year, the attendance at last Tuesday's meeting would indicate, Teicher said.

Toyland Is Fairyland! Child Discovers Dolls From All Countries In Department Store

By JESSIE LOU KING
Once upon a time a child wandered into Fairyland. He had often dreamed of Fairyland, thinking it was somewhere high above the clouds. So the child was very surprised to learn that Fairyland actually existed in a large department store where a dreary-voiced elevator girl called out, "Fifth floor, Children's department and Toyland."

But the child knew it was Fairyland, because right before the elevator were little people from every country in the world—Heidi of Switzerland, Malcolm of Scotland, Petruska, the peasant girl, Rosita of Mexico, Hulda of Hungary, Katina of the Tyrol, Delores of Spain, Hans, the Dutch boy, Catherine of Scotland, Olga of Russia and Angela of Italy. Right next to them were all the people he had read about, Humpty Dumpty, the calico cat, and some calico chickens too, Pinocchio, Gulliver, even Ferdinand; and they all wanted him to take them with him.

The child walked along the big aisles, and he stopped to play with the games. Best of all he liked the bowling game with penguins for pins and the red rubber balls. He fingered the set of plaques of faces and houses which could be painted with watercolors and washed off again, and he stopped to look at the little marionette theater that he himself could set up and work.

The child loved the big books of paper dolls for he saw dolls of the two little princesses of England and of the Lilliputians and Dorothy and the folk in Oz and of all the people in funny papers. He did not look at the toy tanks that were on the next counter, but he admired the big airplanes and the streamlined cars and the hen that laid a real egg and cackled when you turned a key.

The child was very generous, and from all of this splendor he did not buy a thing for himself. Instead he helped Santa Claus and bought a present for his sister, a complete nurse's bag, fitted with stethoscope, thermometer, nurse's apron, cap, rubber gloves, wrist watch and diploma, boasting charts, tongue sticks and bandages. Then the child left Fairyland but he carried a bit of it with him, because Fairyland and Christmas were very real to him.

Activity Talk For WSUI

Miller To Interview Students, Faculty Daily This Week

A cross section of student-faculty activities on the University of Iowa campus will be presented in four interviews over Station WSUI each noon at 12:30 beginning today, Pearl Bennett Broxam, program director, has announced.

Merle Miller, WSUI news commentator and interviewer, will be in charge of the interview series. Today Verlin Cassill, 21, and one of the two artists represented in this month's student art exhibit at the art building will talk about what undergraduate artists on the Iowa campus are doing.

Tomorrow at 12:30 Dr. Jack T. Johnson of the political science department will be questioned about the two books on phases of American railroad history which he has written.

Thursday Mrs. Maud Hollis Tindall, matron at the Quadrangle, men's dormitory, will discuss the problems of a house-mother of 700 university men.

Friday Prof. Cornelius de Kiewiet of the history department will discuss a phase of the present war in Europe from the historical viewpoint.

On Saturday at 12:30 Mr. Miller will review and interpret the news of the week.

Y. M. Plans Event Tonight

Judge Carlson To Be Featured Speaker; Max Paige To Preside

Judge E. C. Carlson of Des Moines, chairman of the national council of the Y. M. C. A., will speak tonight at 5:45 when the local Y. M. C. A. will honor its new advisory board at a dinner in the blue room of the D and I grill.

With Max Paige, A2 of Waterloo, presiding, Bob Moyers, D1 of Guthrie Center, will introduce the new board members, welcoming them on behalf of the Y. M. C. A. council and general membership.

Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann of the college of education, president of the new advisory board, will reply briefly on behalf of the board members.

Judge Carlson will speak on "What the Y. M. C. A. Means to Me and Why I Am Interested in Y. M. C. A. College Work."

After giving a statement concerning his convictions about the Y. M. C. A., Judge Carlson will lead a general discussion.

Board members honored by the dinner include Professor Ojemann; Prof. Dewey Stuit of the psychology department; Prof. Edwin B. Kurtz, head of the electrical engineering department; Alexander C. Iowa Graduate Given Mention For Film Work

Prof. James E. Bliss of the college of dentistry at Western Reserve university at Dayton, Ohio, a graduate of the college of dentistry here, has recently been awarded honorable mention by Movie-Makes magazine, making the third time he has had national honors for his film work.

This time it is "Complete Immediate Denture Technique" in 1,200 feet of color photography which he worked out with one of the departments of the school.

It will be used for a teaching film and for demonstration to groups of dentists throughout the country. Professor Bliss won his award in the special class, in which he was competing with professional photographers.

A member of an old western family, Professor Bliss is a brother of Dr. C. H. Bliss, a prominent Sioux City dentist. His mother, Mrs. J. A. Bliss is a librarian on the Iowa campus.

Prof. Clark Bye Appointed To Plan Law Review Meeting

Prof. Clark Bye, adviser to the Iowa Law Review and member of the law faculty, was appointed chairman of the committee which will plan the next mid-west meeting of the Law Review organizations. A committee of Iowa law students, headed by Professor Bye recently returned from the Law Review meeting held this year at the University of Indiana in Bloomington.

Pi Epsilon Pi To Initiate 100

Union Cafeteria Will Be Scene Of Service at 8 Tonight

Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity, will initiate over 100 pledges at a ceremony in the cafeteria of Iowa Union at 8 o'clock tonight, it was announced yesterday by George Prichard, A4 of Onawa, president of the Iowa chapter.

The national pep fraternity had its beginning on the Iowa campus in 1925 and has since spread to eight other mid-western universities. There are now chapters at Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Northwestern, Ohio State and Purdue universities.

The national headquarters are at Iowa and the Iowa chapter president is also national president.

Activities of the organization on the Iowa campus include the Pep Jamboree, annual all-university party, pep rallies, organization of cheering sections at games, cooperation with chartering of a student train for the annual student-bands trip and the sponsoring of men's week.

TODAY WITH WSUI

Verlin Cassill, one of the two students represented in the student art salon in the art building will be interviewed on the Campus program at 12:30 today. Cassill, at 20, is at work on a master's degree and is doing a novel for his master's thesis.

The Fiction Parade at 3 o'clock this afternoon will present a radio dramatization of Emily Bronte's novel, "Wuthering Heights."

Beverly Barnes will interview Pat Sleezer tonight at 6:50 on the religious activities program.

The international affairs group of the Y.W.C.A. will discuss "Germany and the War; Her Chances for Winning" at 8:15 this evening.

Honor Society Plans To Meet

Sigma Xi Will Hear Three Addresses Tomorrow Night

Sigma Xi, honorary society of the science departments, will hold its first evening meeting of the academic year in the medical amphitheater of University hospital tomorrow at eight p. m. Dr. W. H. Tuttle, professor of physiology, is completing arrangements for the meeting of which the college of medicine is in charge.

A program of three addresses has been arranged. Dr. Emory D. Warner, associate professor of pathology, will speak on "Recent Studies on Thrombin." Dr. E. L. DeGowin, associate in theory and practice, will discuss "The Preservation of Human Blood for Transfusion." "Observations on the Posterior Lobe of the Pituitary and the Adrenal Cortex, and Their Interrelationships" will be presented by Dr. W. R. Ingram, associate professor of anatomy, Dr. C. A. Winter, of the physiology department, and Dr. E. G. Gross, professor of pharmacology.

Following the program, refreshments will be served.

Doctor Named To Take Place Of Prof. Hines

Dr. K. G. Wakim of Mayo foundation will come to the college of medicine faculty Jan. 1 as acting professor of physiology. He has been appointed to take the place of Prof. H. M. Hines, who was granted a leave of absence to conduct research work at Cornell university in New York City, until July 1.

Dr. Wakim received his B.A. degree from the American university at Beirut, Syria in 1929. He was awarded an M.D. in 1933 and in 1938 was granted a Mayo Foundation scholarship. Now a candidate for a Ph.D. degree at the University of Minnesota, Dr. Wakim is interested in the conditions regulating the capillary blood flow in the liver.

Hillel Members To Fete Rabbi At Iowa Union

Members of the Hillel club will attend a luncheon for Rabbi Milton Steinberg sponsored by the club council tomorrow noon in the union board room of Iowa Union.

Rabbi Steinberg, who will speak in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 4 p. m. on "Judaism and Hellenism," is rabbi of the Park Avenue synagogue, New York City.

Reservations for the luncheon, to which members and friends of the club are invited, should be made with Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer in the office of the school of religion, Macbride hall.

'Kickoff' Banquet Begins Religious Activities Finance Drive

$3,200 Goal Set for 1939 Campaign

Prof. C. J. Lapp Addresses Meeting As Drive Begins

Applying the "importance of the line" to the line of workers in the 1939-40 religious activities finance drive — the solicitors — Prof. Claude J. Lapp of the physics department addressed some 85 solicitors and workers gathered in the new Hillcrest dining room for the drive's "kick-off" banquet Sunday night.

With a goal of $3,200, the solicitors and workers began the annual drive, which will continue this week with soliciting in housing groups.

In the starting "line-up" at the banquet were the following speakers: Prof. Mate Giddings of the home economics department; Cornelia Shrauger, A4 of Atlantic; Josephine McElhinney, A2 of Iowa City; Winston Hall, A1 of Neola; Ed Hoag, A2 of Freeport, Ill.; Pat Slezzer, A3 of Freeport, Ill., and Professor Lapp.

The "announcer," James Brownwell, A2 of Cedar Rapids, introduced the "board of directors," the executive committee — including Miss Slezzer, executive chairman; Hall; Miss McElhinney; Bernice Jacobs, A2 of Edgewood; Frankie Sample, A2 of Iowa City; Betty Gilliland, A3 of Des Moines; Jack Moyers, A1 of Guthrie Center, Donald Hesselschwerdt, A1 of Kalona; Virginia Ivie, A2 of Shenandoah, and Max Paige, A2 of Waterloo; Brownwell is also a member of the committee.

The "coaching staff," Dr. William Morgan, director of the religious activities office; Anne McPhee, executive secretary of the local Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. Margaret MacDonald, assistant in the religious activities office in Iowa Union, were introduced.

President Eugene A. Gilmore sent his regrets that he could not attend the dinner, but said that if he were there, he "would urge upon each one of you and upon each student of the university to regard the campus religious activities as constituting an essential and important part of our university life."

Kuever Extends Best Wishes
The "best wishes for a successful drive" were read from Dean R. A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy and Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts.

Women Plan Guild Bazaar For Thursday

The Ladies' guild of the English Lutheran church will have its annual Christmas bazaar at the church Thursday. A cafeteria-style luncheon will be served. Doors will open for the bazaar at 9 a. m., and serving will begin at 11 a. m.

Chairman of the cafeteria committee is Mrs. Frank Hauth. She will be assisted by Mrs. George Mocha, Mrs. Fred Riecke, Mrs. Lewis Smith, Mrs. L. C. Ansel and Mrs. H. D. Hoy.

Mrs. John Strub is in charge of fancy-work and useful Christmas articles for the bazaar. Her committee includes Mrs. Ernest Thomas, Mrs. Darwin Cox, Mrs. William Groh and Mrs. M. B. Huffman.

Responsible for the apron booth are Minnie Wolz, chairman, Mrs. John Zellar, Mrs. Anna Sievers, Mrs. Will Sievers, Mrs. F. D. Benson and Mrs. H. W. Neumann. The sale of home-made candies will be in charge of Mrs. A. C. Cahill, assisted by Mrs. S. A. Neumann and Mrs. C. M. Tanner.

Nation's Business Quickly Recovers After Brief Pause During October According to Prof. George R. Davies

The nation's business, after a brief temporary pause in October, but quickly recovered and resumed the rapid upswing which began early in the summer, according to Prof. George R. Davies of the University of Iowa college of commerce in the November issue of "Iowa Business Digest." Materially stimulating the advance was, of course, the outbreak of war in Europe, the Iowa professor writes. Early November reports indicate a strong forward movement, and although speculation at first exaggerated prospects, it is evident that war orders will be substantial, Davies believes. Each production increase creates further stimuli through supply purchases, wage payments, and profits. The stock market, however, has not maintained the same consistent upward trend, although September showed a significant increase. Part of this slow response in securities is laid at the door of the allies' liquidation of their holdings to finance purchases in America and may also be due in part to the competition of expanding business, which diverts money from stock speculation, the Digest reports. Iowa business showed only seasonal gains over preceding months, but more important increases were evident in year-to-year comparisons. Since last

THE BOOK PARADE— Seven Short Stories for Super-Sophisticated Folk

TO STEP ASIDE... a volume of seven short stories for the super-sophisticated. Published by Doubleday, Doran and Co. for $2.50.

NOEL COWARD... actor, director, composer, author of "Present Indictment" an autobiography, and such stage successes as "Design for Living," "Cavalcade," "Hay Fever," "Bitter Sweet," and "Tonight at 8.30."

Thomas W. Scherbeck.

One of the brightest of the theater's many bright-boys is Noel Coward. Whatever he has turned his pen to has been successful. His compositions for musical shows have been whistled the world over, his latest "bon mots" are whispered through the sophisticated world with the same relish as those of Dorothy Parker...

into which he dipped to write many of his plays he has dipped to write the seven short stories of "To Step Aside." But vitriol in the veins can never take the place of blood and so his characters never come to life. They seem to be but the puppets of Noel Coward pulled into a variety of grotesque attitudes by his creator, mouthing clear lines, moving in endlessly monotonous little circles, filling in the interval between birth and death with a macabre dance.

If the world of "To Step Aside" is the real world then it is a pretty sorry one and the quicker gotten out of the better. All people are not of easy virtue, all are not drunkards, fairies, inconsequential. It is a shame that Noel Coward has never been introduced to real people; or if he has met them, that he has not taken time out to cultivate them. Unless the characters in "To Step Aside" are intended to show Noel Coward as the great social critic then there is little reason for even their fictional existence.

That there may be people like

Aunt Tittie, Aubrey Dakers, Louise Steinhauser and her crowd, and virginal Evan Lorrimer goes without saving. But Noel Coward has given them to his audience again and again. He has added no new portraits to his gallery. Perhaps life is as unappealingly vulgar as the characters in "To Step Aside" lead one to believe; this reviewer does not believe it.

This reviewer does not want to be considered smug in his criticism. There is, no doubt, a place for stories of this type illustrated in "To Step Aside," just where that place is a matter of conjecture—this reviewer does not waste time with that kind of journal. If the stories possessed the virtue of being even brilliantly clever there would be some commendation; they are not even clever. Although not squeamish in the least, one cannot turn from such a story as "What Mad Pursuit" without feeling a bit queasy.

One cannot help wondering just why Coward wrote these stories. Perhaps because he wants to be a critic of his own class; but with that rather suspects that he writes with too much relish to really hate that which he may be criticizing. Whatever may be Coward's feeling toward the universe created in those short stories, for this reviewer it is one which it is better "to step aside."

CAPITAL CITY... a lusty novel concerning life in the capital city of the mythical mid-western state of Kanewa. Published by Little, Brown and Company at $2.50.

MARI SANDOZ... a Nebraskan, author of "Slogum House" and winner of the Atlantic Monthly Non-Fiction Prize, "Old Jules."

T. W. S.

"Capital City" is a novel from real American history. It shouts, it yells, it fights, and it swears; it is full of surging red blood. Whether or not you think it a better book than Sandoz' first book, "Old Jules," is one thing; whether or not you will be able to lay it aside before you finish it is another. Mari Sandoz has a way of vitalizing everything which comes into her ken; there is never a dull moment in "Capital City."

The political life of a community has served as the theme of other novels, but this is the first where the interpenetration politics and community life are complete. Successes may lie in the fact that the most important thing to Sandoz is people. She wants to get down inside them, to see how they tick and why. For Sandoz there are no abstract characters; each of her people has a definite individuality, and it is in the interplay of individual upon individual that she seems to get her keenest pleasure. Divorced from the people who participate in politics, politics seem to have small meaning.

With the same honest frankness which characterized "Old Jules" and "Slogum House" "Capital City" is written. To some this frankness may seem in excess, but to this reviewer the integrity which shines on every page validates its use. There is a healthy open-air freshness about the book which was very welcome after reading Coward's "To Step Aside."

Medical, Engineering Positions Now Open in United States Civil Service

Open competition for eight governmental positions has been announced by the United States civil service commission with application to be on file in the commission's office at Washington, D. C., not later than Jan. 2.

Positions include junior medical officer (rotating internship), $2,000 a year, and junior medical officer (psychiatric resident), $2,000. For the rotating internship applicants must be fourth year students in a class A medical school. Completion of the four-year medical course prior to June 30, 1940, is necessary before they may enter on duty. For psychiatric resident applicants must have completed the four-year medical course subsequent to Dec. 31, 1936, must have received either the B.M. or M.D. degree and must have completed an internship of at least one year. Application will be accepted from persons now serving the internship. Applicants for both positions must not be more than 40 years old.

Engineering draftsman, $1,800 a year; principal, $2,300 a year; senior, $2,000; assistant $1,620, various optional branches, and junior engineering draftsman, $1,440 a year. High school education and certain drafting training or experience are required. Additional drafting experience may be substituted for the high school education, and college study in engineering or architecture may be substituted for a certain part of the drafting experience. Applicants for the three higher grades must not be more than 53 years old, for the assistant grade, 45, and for the junior grade, 40 years old.

Principal engineering draftsman (patents), $2,300 a year, bureau of aeronautics, navy department. High school education and drafting training or experience, including four years of patent drafting experience, are required. Additional drafting experience may be substituted for the high school education. Applicants must not be more than 53 years old.

Full information may be obtained from the local postoffice.

Federal Hold Order, Charging Attempted Extortion, Placed On C. Becicka by Marshall

Confessed Murderer Must First Answer State Charges Here

The federal marshall's office in Des Moines yesterday placed a hold order on Charles Becicka, 28, Des Moines restaurant employe, charged with the murder of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Novotny at Shuerville Sept. 9, the Associated Press reported last night.

The order was sent to Johnson County Sheriff Don McComas at Iowa City, where Becicka faces prosecution.

Becicka is scheduled to appear in court here for arraignment Friday morning on a charge of first degree murder.

The defendant was indicted on federal extortion charges after his recent arrest in a Des Moines postoffice, where he was waiting for a package containing $200 he allegedly tried to extort from Wesley Novotny, Curtis, administrator of the George Novotny estate.

The defendant placed in Des Moines yesterday will hold him for federal prosecution in case he is freed of the murder case.

Becicka confessed Nov. 24 in Davenport that he murdered the Novotny couple in an attempted robbery. He said he shot them to death after Mr. Novotny threatened to call the police.

If the defendant pleads guilty of the murder charge Friday, he will be sentenced after presentation of the state's evidence. In the event that he pleads not guilty, he will be scheduled to stand trial.

Four Drivers Penalized On Traffic Count

Roy Hale, Burlington, was fined $10 and costs by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday for failing to observe a stop light.

Three traffic violation cases were before Judge Carson Sunday morning. The driver's license of Richard Heldridge, 225 N. Dodge, was suspended a week for failing to stop at a stop sign. Milton Baulb Jr., Burlington, forfeited a $5 bond for the same offense. Francis Megan, 520 S. Dodge street, was fined $3 and costs for speeding.

Dan Griffin, 519 E. Jefferson, was fined $35 and costs for disorderly conduct.

Chest Drive Strikes Slump

Swaner Announces Campaign Is $1,166 Short of Goal

The 1940 Iowa City Community Chest, still $1,166.45 short of its goal, showed a slight increase yesterday toward the $17,850 target. Jack J. Swaner, campaign director, announced that response from non-subscribers is expected before the end of the week.

Yesterday's subtotal of $16,683.55 included the following divisional reports: Public schools, $367.50; professional, $890; residential, $1,060.25; university, $4,389.50; college of medicine and university hospital, $1,472.50; business, $4,797.75; employes, $1,795, and national firms, $1,911.

This year's drive began Oct. 23.

Congregational Choir To Present Cantata, 'Story of Christmas'

The choir of the First Congregational church will present the cantata, "The Story of Christmas," by H. Alexander Matthews, on Dec. 10 at 10:45 a.m.

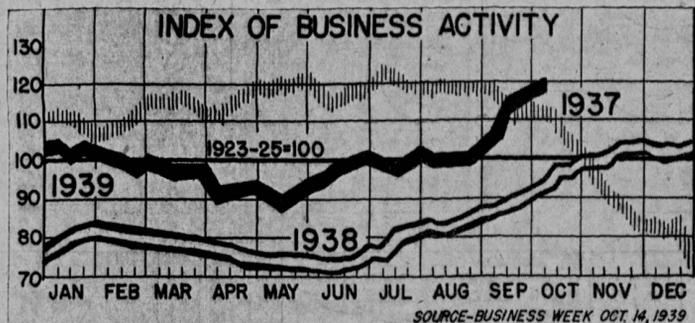

The four solo parts will be sung by Joan Joehnk, soprano; Mrs. Grace Martin, contralto; Keith Smith, tenor, and Keith Sutton, baritone. Mrs. Gerald Buxton will serve as organist. The music will be directed by Ansel C. Martin.

To Elect Officers

The Eureka lodge of I. O. O. F. will hold election to the offices of noble grand, vice-grand, recording secretary, financial secretary, treasurer and trustee at their weekly meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the Odd Fellows hall.

Business Upturn Increases Employment

Marked Rise in Placements During November—Simpson

The sharp upturn of business activity during the last two months has made for a like increase in employment, it was announced yesterday by W. H. Simpson, acting manager for the local Iowa State Employment office. Business in general throughout the United States reached the highest October level since 1929, he said.

November showed a marked increase over the preceding month for placements made, Simpson said, during which time a total of 187 jobs were filled, 123 being in private industry and 63 for public works. Of these, 115 were filled by men and 72 by women. Five placements were made from the local office for positions outside the county, he revealed.

In November more private placements were made because of the seasonal demands for domestic work and increased retail activity, Simpson said, while a decrease was observed in public works resulting from seasonal suspension of various types of construction.

There were 121 new applications at the local office, a slight increase over the average, due, according to Simpson, to the anticipation of building expansion. Also 144 initial claims for unemployment compensation were filed during the month.

By DAVE DOWNEY

According to the Iowa state employment bulletin for October, "It is to be expected that as far as the immediate future is concerned, recovery will probably proceed at a slower rate than has been established during the past few weeks. At the current level it is only natural to expect a growing resistance to further advance."

"By now forward buying has spent its main force. The orders are now on the books, they're being filled and the inventories that have been built up have to be consumed before there can be another wave of buying."

Dependence on Consumption "There are several factors working for expansion," the bulletin stated, "and the direction that trend takes at a later time will depend on whether the inventories that have been built up will go into final consumption by way of foreign orders or retail buying or both."

With this decided upward trend in business, the outlook for re-employment appears to be the brightest since the spring of 1936, Simpson said. This trend in Iowa is reflected by the large number of placements made in private industry in September as well as by the small number of claims for unemployment compensation filed during the month.

However two basic industries, automobiles and construction, are far below their 1929 peak, Simpson stated. "Therefore whether the trend of general business activity will surpass the 1929 high depends to a large extent on what happens to the automobile and building industries."

Students Remodel Own Recreation Room

The 70 university students who attended the dedication ceremonies of their remodeled Roger Williams club rooms on Thanksgiving won't have to dent their treasury to a great extent to pay for labor.

With few exceptions they were responsible for all improvements.

Members of the student center have transformed the former basement room into an attractive club room in a little less than two months time, the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, pastor of the First Baptist church, said. The idea was conceived early last fall, but actual work was not begun until last Oct. 10. Much of the planning was done by Jack Borg, A3 of Des Moines, whose father is a member of a contracting firm there, the Rev. Mr. Dierks said.

The new recreational room is a student project which is maintained largely by donations of club members, interested friends and alumni. Between 90 and 95 people have participated in the building of the recreational room, the Rev. Mr. Dierks said, either by monetary contributions or by labor.

Twenty-five members of the club have done almost all of the actual work. Skilled workmen have been called in only twice since the beginning of the project. A large stone fireplace, built of fossil rock and topped by a solid walnut mantel, is the main item of pride in the remodeled room. The walls of the basement room which were originally cement have been covered by knotty pine boards, and composition blocks cover the originally unfinished ceiling.

The room is equipped with rustic furniture made of wild cherry. Many of the furnishings are the contributions of members and the parents of members. A piano and equipment for ping-pong, checkers, chess and other games which belong to the club have been placed in the room.

"This entire project has been a noble and successful experiment," the Rev. Mr. Dierks said. "It is the purpose of the Roger Williams club to develop the fellowship which has been so extremely pronounced during these weeks of labor on our new room." The Roger Williams house, which has recently changed its name from the Baptist student center, has as a purpose the provision of a home-like atmosphere in which students can become acquainted in an informal manner, the pastor pointed out.

Those participating in the dedication ceremony included Lewis Lapham, who spoke on "Appreciation," Jack Borg, "What I Should Like the Recreational Center to Mean," Laura Dempster, "The Feminine Touch," and the Rev. Mr. Dierks, "What I Hope the Center Will Mean."

The man at the next desk thinks political speakers in next year's campaign should be forced to do all their broadcasting on amateur programs. The going might save us many an earache.

Great Stuff! Girl Scouts See Police And Fire Methods

Fourteen wide-eyed nine-year-old girls, members of troop 20 of the Brownies, visited the local police and fire stations yesterday afternoon. Mrs. W. Bauer and Mrs. George Miller are the leaders of the troop whose members all attend grade 4B at Longfellow school.

The highly polished fire fighting equipment was displayed for them at the fire station, and at the police station modern methods of keeping law and order were explained and demonstrated.

R. C. Rummelhart Asks Refund Of $1,000 Insurance Premiums

Disabled Man Files Suit Against Company In District Court

Refund of $1,000 worth of insurance premiums and $100 a month for disability from January, 1930, was asked in district court yesterday in the suit of Rupert C. Rummelhart against the Mutual Life Insurance company. Rummelhart told the court he became ill in December, 1929, and since that time has been totally and permanently disabled and unable to follow gainful occupation. His insurance, according to his arguments in court, provided for $100 a month disability benefit which the insurance company has failed to pay.

Rummelhart said he submitted to a physician's examination provided by the defendant, but that the defendant refused to furnish insured blanks. The plaintiff also pointed out that there was no further demand on the part of the defendant for additional proofs of the disability.

According to the plaintiff, the defendant induced him to assent to a reduction of 80 per cent of the coverage and benefit at a time when the plaintiff was not in a competent condition. Reinstatement of the original contract is asked in the final settlement. The $100 a month disability payment the plaintiff asks to be paid until termination of his illness.

St. Mary's To Give Bazaar Tomorrow

The annual bazaar and turkey supper will be sponsored by the various organizations of St. Mary's church tomorrow afternoon and evening in the basement auditorium of St. Mary's school. Supper will be served by St. Anne's society from 5 to 7 p.m. Fancy and useful handmade articles will be shown at the bazaar. Diversions, refreshments and games will be offered.

Mercury Ignores Normal

The mercury ignored normalcy in Iowa City yesterday.

With a sub-par low of 18 degrees above zero, a thin shell of ice formed on Iowa river, but during the day the mercury reached a high of 49, 12 degrees above normal under a bright sun.

Readings a year ago yesterday ranged from 32 to 44.
