Finnish Minister Says Reds Erred in Attack, Country Will 'Fight to the End-Even After'

Claims Enemy Will Only Be Disappointed

Finland States Port Blockade Illegal As Russia Denies War

HELSINKI, Dec. 8 (AP)—Russian calculations of Finnish weakness have miscarried because the Finns will "fight to the end—even after the end," Prime Minister Risto Ryti declared tonight in a nationwide broadcast. "Russian action against Finland was based on incorrect information and an error in calculation," he declared.

Result Disappointment
"It was supposed that the defensive capacity and the spirit of the Finnish army and nation could be broken by savage destruction which the whole civilized world abhors. The result will be a disappointment to Soviet Russia."

Ryti's address followed a statement by the government that since the Soviet Russian government itself holds that there is no war against Finland there can be no legal justification for the legal blockade of Finnish ports proclaimed by Moscow today.

Fully United
"The Finnish people at this moment are fully united," Ryti said, "firm as steel and ready for the greatest sacrifices in behalf of their independence and their existence, for they are fully aware of what awaits them under the rule of such men as Mr. Kussinen."

(Otto Kussinen is chairman and minister of foreign affairs of the Soviet sponsored "peoples' government set up at Terijoki.)

"It compelled to do so we shall fight to the end—even after the end. A conquest of Finland will not be a parade but will demand at every side heavy sacrifices from the attacker."

Blockade Illegal
The Finnish government communique on the blockade pointed out that in peacetime there could be a question of a blockade "only against a nation which violates various provisions of the convention of the League of Nations—for instance, as the Soviet Union has violated them in launching her present attack."

As far as the Gulf of Bothnia is concerned, the blockade "lacks both legal and practical significance" for Russia has no warships there and cannot send them there, the government asserted.

U. S. Eager To Send Aid Over to Finns

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8 (AP)—A flood of telegrams from American newspapers, individuals and organizations pledging support to the Finnish relief fund followed an appeal today by former President Herbert Hoover.

Many were received at his hotel suite here and others went to headquarters of the fund in New York City.

They included responses from hundreds of newspapers, more than 100 of them in larger cities, agreeing to act as agencies for collection of contributions to the fund, of which Mr. Hoover is the head.

"We are tremendously encouraged by the response, and by the speed with which collection of the fund can be accomplished," said the former chairman of the wartime commission for relief in Belgium.

"We have high hopes that we shall be in a position to start actual purchases and dispatching of cargoes within a few days. For the need is immediate and urgent."

"We wish, of course, to buy under the most favorable circumstances, by having on hand sufficient funds for necessary purchases."

Kennedy Urges Reelection of F.D.R.; Says He Is Only Man To Guide U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The "draft Roosevelt" movement received a powerful stimulant today from Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, one that obviously bolstered the hopes and expectations of the new dealers who have been urging a third term.

Standing in the spotlight that pours upon a newly returned ambassador to a great nation at war, Kennedy openly called for Mr. Roosevelt's reelection by asserting that he and he only was capable of conducting the nation's affairs in the present troubled foreign and domestic situation.

His statement vastly encouraged the new deal supporters who openly or behind the scenes have been fostering the third term movement, because Kennedy is the man they marked long ago to assume the leadership. The emphatic nature of his words today was regarded in several quarters as having thrust him to the forefront of the movement.

U. S. Disputes British Right To Seize All German Exports

Russia To Be Held Liable For Losses From Finn Blockade

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The United States disputed today Great Britain's right to seize German exports indiscriminately and also served notice that Russia would be held liable for any losses suffered by Americans as a result of a blockade of Finland.

The reservation of American rights under Britain's expanded blockade of Germany was lodged when the American embassy delivered to the British foreign office a note contending that it was a violation of international law for Britain to stop German exports to the United States through neutral ports.

The note told Britain that the measures of a belligerent "may not rightfully be carried to the point of enlarging the rights of a belligerent over neutral vessels and their cargoes, or of otherwise penalizing neutral states or their nationals in connection with their legitimate activities."

As to Russia's blockade of Finland, Secretary Hull said at his press conference that this government would make reservations of all rights to damages or compensation for any injuries to or interference with American rights or interests. Each such case, he said, would be dealt with as it arose.

The state department said Britain would have to justify interference with neutral vessels by basing its action on "some recognized belligerent right."

France Terms Russ-Finn War Great Outrage

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—Premier Daladier today placed France's official sympathy on the side of Finland and bitterly criticized Russia.

In his first public pronouncement the line already laid down by British leaders and termed the Russian invasion of Finland "an abominable outrage" producing "universal disgust."

"Finland," he told a cheering chamber of deputies, "has France's salute and assurance of profound and strong sympathy."

On France's own war front German reconnaissance planes, according to military quarters, failed last night in an attempt to reach Paris. It was said the planes flew in at a great height, but it was not explained how they were turned back.

He denied he ever demanded or received money from the gravel company president or favored the company in contracts.

The sinking of five British merchantmen and the crippling of a British destroyer were also announced.

The air ministry reported a royal air force plane sank one Nazi U-boat and went on to attack another after which "patches of oil appeared."

Subsequently the authoritative press association announced that

All-American Again!

Nile Kinnick has won almost every honor a football player can achieve. Winner of the Heisman and Maxwell awards as the outstanding college player of 1939, winner of a place on almost 100 per cent of the season's all-America selections, winner of a position yesterday on Colliers authoritative nation-wide team, Iowa's star of stars this morning adds another signal honor to his mounting list. The Associated Press names Kinnick on its All-America team of 1939. For a complete story of this super-team, including Iowa's super Nile Kinnick, turn to page 4 of this morning's Daily Iowan.

Jury Acquits Political Boss Of Conspiracy

Pennsylvania Demo Chairman Accused Of Contract Favors

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—Pennsylvania's democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence was acquitted tonight of charges of blackmail, and conspiracy to favor a gravel company on state contracts.

Lawrence, who also was secretary of the commonwealth in former Gov. George H. Earle's "little new deal" administration, was charged with favoring the company, blackmailing its president of $5,000, and failing to report that sum as a political contribution.

The jury which heard 21 days of testimony brought in the verdict after five hours and 33 minutes deliberation.

The high Pennsylvania democrat was one of 12 indicted on charges that grew from an investigation of statements made in a bitterly contested primary campaign last year. In previous trials, three have been convicted and one acquitted.

Lawrence, who said as he awaited the verdict, "I feel like I do on election night after the polls have closed and before they start counting the ballots," expressed confidence throughout the trial that he would be "vindicated." He was not in the courtroom when the verdict was announced.

He denied he ever demanded or received money from the gravel company president or favored the company in contracts.

Red Blockade Causes Egress Of Shipping

Scandinavian Fleets Leave Finland Prior To Russian Decree

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 8 (AP)—Scandinavian merchant fleets beat a hasty retreat from Finnish ports tonight on the heels of Soviet Russia's declaration of a blockade of the Finnish coast, supplementing her attack by land, sea and air.

The naval blockade, however, only hastens by a few weeks the suspension of shipments every year due to the great ice blockade which cripples navigation in the Bothnia and Finnish gulfs.

The Russian blockade was announced as effective at noon today, but neutral ships were given until noon tomorrow to leave the blockaded zone. After that, Russia warned, the waters would be "dangerous for shipping."

Freezing over of shipping channels is now overdue. It is expected that by Christmas or New Year's the winter weather will have paralyzed sea traffic in the forbidden zones decreed at Moscow—including movements of the red fleet.

Seasonal closing of the Gulf of Finland, gateway to Leningrad, was one of the factors which prompted Russia to obtain naval concessions from Latvia in the Gulf of Riga.

On the Swedish side of the Gulf of Bothnia, a few harbors are kept open the year around through the constant efforts of icebreakers during the coldest months.

Doubt was expressed here that Russian warships would succeed in entering approaches to the Gulf of Bothnia, which have been mined by both Finland and Sweden.

Official circles asserted Russia was within her rights under international law in declaring the blockade. Diplomatic quarters said they believed Scandinavian states would leave the decision to shippers as to whether to take the risk of running the blockade.

Maverick Wins 'Political' Tax Case Acquittal

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Mayor Maury Maverick, who blamed "politics" for criminal poll tax proceedings against him, won acquittal today from a jury which deliberated less than 12 hours.

This was removed a major obstacle in the political comeback trail of the plain-spoken former congressman who hit that trail last May with a triumph in the mayor's race after his defeat by a few votes in his 1938 bid for renomination to the national house.

Maverick was tried on the first of five felony indictments alleging that he conspired with others to pay poll taxes of members of the International Ladies Garment workers union for the last city election. The penalty under conviction would have been two to five years imprisonment.

A poll tax receipt is a voting requirement in Texas. District Attorney John R. Shook, political foe of Maverick, indicated he would not bring any of the other felony indictments to trial.

Rhodes Scholars Get Chance To Continue Work

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 8 (AP)—The entire group of American Rhodes scholars whom the war deprived of study in England will be able to continue their work in the United States, Dr. Frank Aydelotte, American secretary to the Rhodes trustees, announced today. The neutrality act forced suspension of the scholarships for the duration of the war.

Since Moscow takes the view that she is not at war with Finland, these observers said, she has no right to seize neutral ships. It was held possible, therefore, that Russia would argue the blockade was being effected by the new Soviet-sponsored Finnish "peoples' government" and that Russian ships would be "loaned" for the purpose of enforcing it.

Manufacturer Will Not Pay Old Age Taxes

Defies Authorities To Collect—Fought NRA Wage Law

YORK, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP)—Defying social security laws as he did the NRA five years ago, Battery Manufacturer Fred Perkins declared today he had never paid old age and unemployment taxes—and challenged authorities to collect them.

Perkins, 61, went to jail here for 18 days in 1934 on charges of paying employees less than the 40 cents an hour required by the NRA battery code. He directed his business from his cell, was released in $5,000 bail and later was convicted and fined $1,500. He appealed but the case was dropped when the supreme court invalidated NRA.

Asserting in an interview that he "refused" to pay the employer's share of the old age benefits tax and the Pennsylvania unemployment compensation tax, Perkins demanded that federal and state governments "put up or shut up."

W. J. Rothensies, collector of internal revenue at Philadelphia, wrote Perkins more than a year ago calling attention to a delinquency in social security tax payments and advising him that $51.13 had been levied on his personal bank account. He warned him evasion of the tax is punishable by five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Thrusting out his firm jaw, Perkins, former Cornell football player, declared his small business employs six to eight men—could not bear the social security taxes. He suggested "another Boston tea party."

"In the name of the small businessmen in the country, I ask the government if it has the courage to enforce this law," he said. "I do not intend to pay unless the money is taken from me by distraint—and the instant they start that game I propose to give them a fight."

"I shall do my level best to put the new deal's fantastic philippic with respect to business to the test of public opinion in America."

Believe Soviet Blockade Will Spread Conflict

Observers Assert Measure Will Prove Hindrance to Neutrals

MOSCOW, Dec. 8 (AP)—Complications with neutrals and the further spread of the European conflict were believed possible today by many foreign observers in the event Soviet Russia enforces her newly-proclaimed blockade against Finland.

Since Moscow takes the view that she is not at war with Finland, these observers said, she has no right to seize neutral ships. It was held possible, therefore, that Russia would argue the blockade was being effected by the new Soviet-sponsored Finnish "peoples' government" and that Russian ships would be "loaned" for the purpose of enforcing it.

The eve of the league of nations hearing on Finland's charge of aggression against Russia brought forecasts from well-informed foreign quarters that Moscow would quit Geneva.

Since her non-aggression pact with Germany and her growing estrangement from France and Great Britain, these quarters pointed out that Russia now has little or no interest in the league, having abandoned her policy of collective security.

It was learned today that the Soviet government had created a new military district in the Odessa region. Odessa is near the Rumanian frontier and faces Turkey across the Black sea. The move presumably reflects growing importance of the region from a military standpoint.

A red army communique reported meanwhile that Russian troops in the Leningrad military area "continued advancing in all directions."

"In the eastern section of the Karelian isthmus Soviet troops, which on Dec. 7 broke through the main Finnish defenses along the Taipaleenki river and the Vuoksi water system developed success in a northern direction and on the flanks," it asserted.

(Finnish commanders on the Karelian front said the Russians had been halted and denied that their main defenses had been broken.)

The army reported that unfavorable weather cancelled aviation activity except for reconnaissance flights.

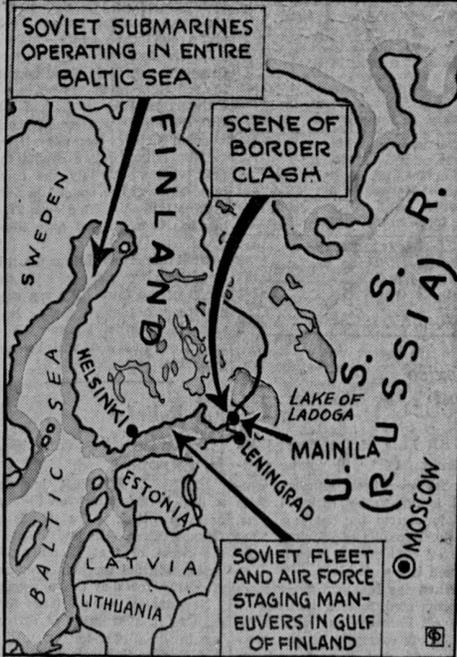

Hungary Builds Mountain Barriers

BUDAPEST, Dec. 8 (AP)—Fortifications are being constructed at top speed in the Carpathian mountains by Hungary as the countries of southeastern Europe watch Soviet Russia's campaign in Finland for an indication of what their own fate may be.

The mountains form the new frontier between Hungarian Rumania—the easternmost province of Czechoslovakia before that republic's dismemberment—and the Russian-occupied part of Poland.

Cement is almost unobtainable in Budapest because of the defense work.

Next Objective of Soviet Russia?

Are the Balkans the next goal of expanding Soviet Russia's ambitions? Observers wonder following publication of an article in Communist International, organ of the Communist organization, urging Rumania to sign a mutual assistance pact with Russia. Foreign diplomats expressed belief that Rumania might yield in part to Russian pressure by ceding Bessarabia, former Russian province given to Rumania after the World war.

Women's Magazine Columnist To Lead Journalism Roundtable

F.D.R. GOSSIPS AVOIDS 3RD TERM IN CHAT WITH LONDON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Alf M. Landon, who twice has challenged President Roosevelt to disclose his third term intentions, talked with the chief executive for nearly half an hour today—and the subject wasn't even mentioned.

He reported the president didn't bring it up and "I didn't either." Landon said they had touched on foreign affairs but only in a "gossipy way." He had merely called at the White House to pay his respects, he said.

F.D.R. Critical Of Ohio Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—New deal officialdom and a republican governor fell to quarreling at long distance today over President Roosevelt's declaration that Ohio had shirked its obligations to the needy unemployed.

Gov. John R. Bricker's tart retort—that "they seem more interested in the politics of the affair than in helping the needy"—aroused Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who cracked back with this:

"Why shouldn't there be a political attack on a republican administration if it's as heartless as his is?"

Quoting a memorandum from WPA Administrator F. C. Harrington, the president asserted that Ohio had not provided nearly as well for its needy as Pennsylvania. Average general benefits in October, Harrington said, were $16 in Ohio and $27 in Pennsylvania.

Gladys Schultz Will Speak at Wayzgoose Celebration Tuesday

Gladys Denny Schultz, Better Homes and Gardens staff columnist, will lead a roundtable on "Women in Journalism" Tuesday afternoon, Ann Marie Sheely, president of Theta Sigma Phi, announced last night.

The roundtable, which Mrs. Schultz will lead at 3 p.m. is one of three scheduled in connection with the annual Wayzgoose festival of the school of journalism.

At 2 p.m. Ward Barnes, editor of the Eagle Grove Eagle will lead a Sigma Delta Chi roundtable on "Editing the Country Weekly" and at 4 p.m. W. W. Waymack, editorial page editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, will lead a graduate college roundtable in Old Capitol.

The climax of Wayzgoose festival activities will be the annual Wayzgoose banquet of the Associated Students of Journalism, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at Youde's inn.

Mr. Waymack will be the main speaker on the banquet program, which includes a "fun session" which program committee members refuse to divulge, and distribution of the "Wayzgoose Gazette," razz sheet published by journalism students.

At noon Tuesday Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism sorority, will have a luncheon meeting in the private dining room at Iowa Union. Faculty wives and alumni have been invited to the luncheon. Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Lois Worrell, dial 7674. Reservations must be made before Monday.

Sigma Delta Chi, the professional fraternity, will have a luncheon in the north conference room of Iowa Union Tuesday, which will be followed by an initiation of six pledges.

Mrs. Schultz, leader of the roundtable at 3 p.m., has written for leading national women's magazines, such as Pictorial Review and Ladies Home Journal. Before going to Better Homes and Gardens she was on the staff of the Des Moines Register.

Waymack, who will lead the graduate college roundtable and give the main Wayzgoose banquet speech, is a winner of the Pulitzer award for distinguished editorial writing. During the past summer he made an airplane tour of Europe's capitals, gathering first hand information on the international crises.

All roundtables will be open to any who wish to attend. Banquet tickets are obtainable in the office of the director of the school of journalism and are limited to 150. Reservations for the banquet must be made before Monday noon.

Nazis Sink 5 Ships, British Sink 2 Subs

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Britain reported the sinking of two German submarines and an apparently successful attack on a third today during a spurt in sea warfare.

An apparent attempt to damage the Firth of Forth bridge at Edinburgh, near the big Rosyth naval base, was disclosed by Scottish police and military authorities.

They said an object, thrown from a train crossing the bridge, caught fire. Its remains were examined to see whether it was an incendiary bomb.

The submarine which yesterday torpedoed the destroyer—the 1,690-ton Jersey—had been sunk. Eighty-four lives were lost in the intensified sea warfare.

searched but no arrests were made. Reports circulated that the outlawed Irish republican army might have been involved.

The sinking of the German submarine, it was announced, was accomplished by two direct hits from a royal air force bomber.

British fliers and gunners also demonstrated their defensive ability by driving off German warplanes, believed to have been minesweepers, from the east coast and the Thames estuary, broad water road to London.

ports even when they are carried under neutral flags was underlined by authoritative sources, meanwhile, despite the United States note questioning the legality of such action.

These sources said the Washington note would be examined carefully, but contended the blockade had a sound basis in international law as a reprisal for "illegal German warfare most recently evidenced in the use of magnetic mines which, by disregard of the rights of neutrals, gave Germans an unfair advantage."

British determination to prosecute a blockade of German ex-

Finns Halt Russian Onslaught; Artillery Destroys 100 Tanks

By LYNN HEINZERLING
With the Finnish army on the Karelian front, Dec. 8 (AP)—Hard-fighting Finns armed with Swedish anti-tank guns, a commanding officer reported tonight, have disabled 100 Russian tanks and stopped a drive by 200,000 Soviet troops on the Karelian Isthmus.

Heavy artillery thundered today on both sides of the front at Summa, a village only 20 miles from the ancient Finnish city of Viipuri and 40 miles within Finland.

Colonel Alexander Mellblom, commandant of the Viipuri sector, said the Russian advance had been halted momentarily, but expressed belief Russia was bringing up fresh troops for a new assault.

Unusual Finnish success against the Russian tanks, Mellblom said, was due to Soviet use of old-fashioned models with thin armor plate, poor handling and a powerful new Swedish anti-tank gun.

Although the Russians near Summa had advanced as far as 35 miles into Finland along some places on the isthmus front, the commandant said, they had not yet reached the Mannerheim line, main Finnish defense system.

Russia's mechanized army is still being held up by the weather. It is bitterly cold along the front but not cold enough to freeze the lakes for use by foot soldiers let alone tanks and trucks. A big freeze was expected soon, however.

Despite the experience of a week ago when squadron after squadron of Russian aircraft dumped bombs ranging up to 200 pounds on Viipuri, the military and civilian population are as cool as the weather.

Mexico And The Oil Wells

THE END of the story titled "Mexican Oil" will not be written for some time; American capital is not to be satisfied with opinions from the supreme court of the Republic of Mexico.

When the Mexican government expropriated foreign interests in the oil industry, she did so for legitimate reasons. It seems presumptuous that these foreign interests should deny to the other American republics the independence they treasure so on this side of the Rio.

It has been more than a year and a half since the government took over these interests. The supreme court's decision gives the Mexican government a monopoly on the industry.

Mexico will now have her own problems in selling the oil. Most of the markets are either not open or are inaccessible, leaving her little room for sales except in the United States.

It is right that American oil companies should be promptly and fully compensated for their investments, as Secretary Hull has asked. The Mexican court has decided that the firms should be repaid for capital directly and legitimately invested in oil production in Mexico and for the oil which they had above ground at the time of the expropriation.

International Euphemism. In today's topsy-turvy world it has become commonplace that when a nation deals with a nation words are used not merely to conceal meaning but to reverse meaning.

If America is to prove herself capable of filling the "good neighbor" role she has taken for herself, this opportunity to treat a small nation squarely must not be circumvented.

It is to America's interest as well as Mexico's that a satisfactory compromise be reached.

All That's Admirable In Youth

THERE HAVE been many winners of the Heisman trophy, many "All-American" football players. If Nile Kinnick were just a football player, a hero of the gridiron, the glory that he has won would be of much less magnitude.

It was not a foolhardy flight across the ocean that made Lindbergh an international hero. Nor is it his accomplishments on the football field that have brought Kinnick the admiration of America's sports lovers.

The fact that a football player has combined with his athletic skill a large measure of intelligence and an unassuming, friendly personality, has impressed those who have met Iowa's football star.

Whitney Martin, when he says "Kinnick typifies everything admirable in youth," expresses well the feeling that the nation has toward the Heisman trophy winner.

"I thank God that I was born to the gridirons of the middlewest and not to the battlefields of Europe," Kinnick asserted in New York Wednesday. "I can speak confidently and positively that the football players of this country would much rather fight for the Heisman trophy than for the Croix de Guerre."

From the lips of a youth such as Nile Kinnick that statement carries great weight.

The University of Iowa takes a great pride in "Men of Iowa" of the type this year has produced on the football field. Whether it's Captain Prasse or the others, who, like Kinnick, have showed a balanced development through their college years, these are the men who promise to bring the most "glory and honor and praise" to "Old Gold."

America Must Stay Neutral

INTERNATIONAL events are so unpredictable that nations are unable to plan more than a day ahead on the structure of their policies. Into the morass that Germany created is being poured the red elixir of the Soviet.

Russia, set-back in Finland, but still certain to win against such a small nation, has not waited for the killing before eyeing the next victim. Already the communist power has opened her attack on Rumania. And even Turkey has been warned from Moscow.

What tomorrow brings in this ever-widening war is still the secret of the fates. We can only assert again that no matter how wide the conflict becomes, American participation will be unthinkable.

For Relief Of Suffering In Europe

HERBERT HOOVER has described Stalin's attack on Finland as a throwback to the morals of Genghis Khan. His enlistment in the cause of that Scandinavian nation will aid much in arousing sympathy for that brave people.

Nevertheless, we must not forget that it is for relief of suffering in those war-torn countries that Hoover first gained admiration. If we are sympathetic, we wholeheartedly can demonstrate our feelings through aid for the people who have great need for relief.

The name of Herbert Hoover as the head of an organization for the aid of the homeless in Finland would do much to assure the success of such a movement.

Aborigine women obey their men, even if they are ordered not to speak for as long as a

The name "Australia" was first applied to a group of South sea islands.

International Euphemism. In today's topsy-turvy world it has become commonplace that when a nation deals with a nation words are used not merely to conceal meaning but to reverse meaning.

Berlin is blaming Britain for Finland's attack on Russia. By this reasoning London egged on Helsingfors. It is not explained why mighty Finland should have needed any encouragement to tackle such a weak and retiring opponent as the Soviet.

But London may have the key; it now discloses that the British effort to obtain a pact with Russia broke down because Britain would not agree to Soviet plans for guaranteeing the small Baltic States. This implies that one price of the German pact with Moscow was the sort of guarantees Russia has now given Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, and a free hand to resist Finnish aggression.

Incidentally, in Italy, that sturdy protector of Ethiopia and Albania, there is great indignation over Finland, and alarm lest Rumania become the next aggressor against Russia. In Berlin that too could be put down to British support of Rumania. Germans who recall that the German Army created Finland, must be very annoyed with Britain; for by objecting to the extension of Nazi protection over Eastern Europe and tying up German military might in the West, those "obtuse English" have left no barrier to Bolshevism.

This kind of camouflage is matched only by the Soviet rejection of Finland's plea to the League of Nations. Moscow now says it has no dispute with the Finnish Government, having settled everything with the Red Government it has set up at Terijoki. If that isn't a joke we should expect to see the Soviet troops withdrawn from Finnish soil and a cessation of the bombing of Helsingfors - but we forget; according to Moscow no invasion, no bombing of civilians has occurred.

Happily what the Finns are doing is beyond any need of euphemism.

THEME NOTE—George Auld, presently fronting Artie Shaw's band, has changed the group's theme song from "Nightmare" to the song which put Shaw and his style on top in America, "Begin the Beguine."

Japan, Say Stewart and Y. F. Lieu, Has Bitten Off More Than She Can Chew in Fighting China

These Chinese hentracks—translated thus "Mr. Charles P. Stewart, National Press Club, 14th and F streets, Washington, D. C., U. S. A."

I can't diagnose Dr. Lieu's address to me. Occidentals tend to classify Chinese names according to sound. For instance, there's a northern Chinese river generally known as the Hoang-ho. There's a river off Shanghai known as the Whang-poo, or, according to taste, the Whang-pu. To Chinese ears Hoang and Whang sound the same way. Western geographers happened to hit on a variation. There's only one term that I can make Chinese sense out of. In Chinese, this means a man:

And here's a hentrack that means a roof:

Now combine some of these hentracks into one word, in this fashion:

Two women under one roof! What do you suppose that combination means in one word, in Chinese?

"Trouble."

China, says Dr. Lieu, "is too big and too hostile for Japan to conquer and keep conquered. It can win, in spots, but as soon as it proceeds, to conquer a new spot, it loses the last one."

"It's like a ship," he explains, "that cuts through the water, but in its wake, the water closes in behind it."

It's a fact. The Chinese have been licked repeatedly. But every time they've been licked the victors have been assimilated into China.

But this time, asserts Dr. Lieu, the Japs have bitten off more than they can masticate. China, he asserts, is getting stronger, and Japan is getting weaker at home, for economic reasons. Economics, he maintains, don't so much affect China, because it's so much more primitive.

"Suppose," proposes the "doc," "the United States had Mexico to squelch. It could do it. But it would take 1,000,000 troops to KEEP it squelched. It wouldn't be worth while to police it."

"Well, how are a few million Japanese to police 400,000,000 Chinese?" "It would wreck the mikado's empire. It's beginning to do it already."

Irwin Edman's article in American Mercury has a fine definition of college. "That period," he quaffs, "between puberty and adultery." And he's a professor of philosophy.

Some few Iowa Citizens got quite a shock at Life's photo showing Dr. James Monroe Smith in prison stripes. Several local families were entertained at the presidential mansion when he was at L. S. U. A charming host then, you couldn't tell him from any other second-rate thief in the "Life" picture.

I like my fairy stories unadulterated. Maybe that's why Deanna Durbin's "Cinderella" seemed one of the pleasantest movies of the winter. They've called it "First Love," but the whole thing's there: the six white mice, the lost slipper, the leaving at midnight. And just in passing, a happy ending. 'MERRY CHRISTMAS'

Japan, Say Stewart and Y. F. Lieu, Has Bitten Off More Than She Can Chew in Fighting China

These Chinese hentracks—translated thus "Mr. Charles P. Stewart, National Press Club, 14th and F streets, Washington, D. C., U. S. A."

I can't diagnose Dr. Lieu's address to me. Occidentals tend to classify Chinese names according to sound. For instance, there's a northern Chinese river generally known as the Hoang-ho. There's a river off Shanghai known as the Whang-poo, or, according to taste, the Whang-pu. To Chinese ears Hoang and Whang sound the same way. Western geographers happened to hit on a variation. There's only one term that I can make Chinese sense out of. In Chinese, this means a man:

And here's a hentrack that means a roof:

Now combine some of these hentracks into one word, in this fashion:

Two women under one roof! What do you suppose that combination means in one word, in Chinese?

"Trouble."

China, says Dr. Lieu, "is too big and too hostile for Japan to conquer and keep conquered. It can win, in spots, but as soon as it proceeds, to conquer a new spot, it loses the last one."

"It's like a ship," he explains, "that cuts through the water, but in its wake, the water closes in behind it."

It's a fact. The Chinese have been licked repeatedly. But every time they've been licked the victors have been assimilated into China.

But this time, asserts Dr. Lieu, the Japs have bitten off more than they can masticate. China, he asserts, is getting stronger, and Japan is getting weaker at home, for economic reasons. Economics, he maintains, don't so much affect China, because it's so much more primitive.

"Suppose," proposes the "doc," "the United States had Mexico to squelch. It could do it. But it would take 1,000,000 troops to KEEP it squelched. It wouldn't be worth while to police it."

"Well, how are a few million Japanese to police 400,000,000 Chinese?" "It would wreck the mikado's empire. It's beginning to do it already."

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

DYSPEPTIC DOODLES More than one faculty folk has looked on the whole student self-government movement with a feeling of tolerant solicitude. With only 60 stalwarts, they've reasoned, it can't come to much.

Well, maybe. But the Labor party in England started with 21 members. Four years later there were 5 million. Hitler was No. 13 of the National Socialist Party.

I'd be for the rebellious 60 if for no other cause than that one going-up administrative officer of the university said on Wednesday night, "I think these forums are a swell idea. Let the hairbrains come down here and blow off steam, and then they'll leave us alone."

I for one'll agree that self-government for undergraduates isn't even a probability this year. But with a genuine study of the social committee and why it's the most unpopular faculty-student organization on the campus, a step has been made.

Lots of us feel there's something wrong when a Russ Morgan dance is only half-attended, while thousands can't afford any kind of week end fun at all.

The whole movement will be better and sounder if the ones who lead off the sentiment will emphasize the seriousness of the group's intent and the fact that no one person or group is personally chosen for malignment.

I, for one, have never believed in fighting just for the feel of battle. There's much to be said for peaceful progression too.

Student government probably wouldn't do anything about such a project as the graduate forum series, but someone might. There's considerable feeling about the whole business.

First place there's a large group among the faculty who feel the programs have become a little quibbly, some faculty members having appeared often, many others not at all.

And the whole discussion trend has been toward an empire-plugging support of the British-French cause.

There are plenty of anti-AI teachers on the staff waiting with their dime's worth of comment. And how about a session with Prof. Sushindra Bose, who was scheduled for one appearance but wasn't on the program.

All this in addition to the fact as I've mentioned before that forums that tingle with life don't have as many participants as those so far.

Irwin Edman's article in American Mercury has a fine definition of college. "That period," he quaffs, "between puberty and adultery." And he's a professor of philosophy.

South Gets Four Places On 1939 Associated Press All-America

Midwest Lands Three Posts; Backfield Choices Difficult

By HERB BARKER
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — The South, boasting the greatest array of football talent in its history, sharply challenges the Middle West for control of the 15th annual All-American team, selected today by The Associated Press on the basis of a nation-wide survey of expert opinion.

These two sections monopolize seven of the 11 All-American berths, four going to the South and three to the Middle West. Of the remaining four, the Far West gets two and the Southwest and East one apiece.

Even that fails to tell the whole story. On the All-American squad as a whole — first, second and third teams — the same general trend prevails. With 33 places open, nine go to the Mid-West, eight to the South, six to the Far West and five each to the Southwest and East.

Year by year the trend toward large squads, substituted as units, grows more pronounced, adding new complexities to the gargantuan All-American task. The unit idea seems to be the sole solution to the problem of meeting modern bone-crushing schedules. Notre Dame, Tennessee, Tulane, Cornell, Southern California, to name only a few, could not even in Michigan's losing games with Illinois and Minnesota. He piled up 102 points on 14 touchdowns, 15 extra points and a field goal. He tossed passes for seven more touchdowns and set up others with his passes or sensational runs.

not even in Michigan's losing games with Illinois and Minnesota. He piled up 102 points on 14 touchdowns, 15 extra points and a field goal. He tossed passes for seven more touchdowns and set up others with his passes or sensational runs.

He was in the headlines all season but enjoyed his greatest days against Iowa, Pennsylvania and Ohio State. He scored all of Michigan's 27 points in the 27-7 rout of Iowa, running 90 yards with an intercepted pass for one touchdown. All told he ran or passed for 146 of the 170 yards Michigan gained. Against Penn, the Michigan star scored two touchdowns, one on an amazing 63-yard broken field gallop. He passed for another. He gained a total of 202 yards rushing that day. In the crucial game with Ohio State in which Michigan came from behind to whip the Big Ten champions, Harmon scored one touchdown, passed for another, set up the third and booted all three extra points.

McFadden, who paced Clemson's strong team through a season spoiled only by a 7-6 beating from Tulane, was the greatest all-around back in the Southern Conference. This long, lean South Carolinian was a standout from start to finish, a fine runner, passer and defensive ace, as well as one of the finest kickers in the business.

An artist at the quick kick, McFadden rolled the opposition back on its heels all season and by the same token set up Clemson touchdowns at the same time. He was the whole show in the bruising game with Tulane, passing for the Clemson touchdown and kicking magnificently. He averaged 42 yards per punt in this game, getting off two 63-yard quick kicks.

Rival coaches agreed Kimbrough, sparkplug of Texas A. and M.'s great team, had no weakness as a fullback. Exceptionally fast for so big a man, he was used not only as a line plunger and blocker but also on sweeps. Big and rugged, this 210-pounder from Haskell, Texas, also had more than his share of football brains and was a tower of strength in the Aggies' tough defense.

Plenty Of Competition NOWHERE was backfield competition so tough as in the Southern conference where McFadden's chief rivals were George McAfee of Duke, George Stirnweiss and Jim Lalanne of North Carolina, Roten Shetley of Furman, Paul Shu of Virginia Military, and John Polanski of Wake Forest.

In the Southeastern group, the standouts were George Cafego of Tennessee although injuries handicapped him somewhat; his teammate, Bob Fox, and Bob (Red) Kellogg of Tulane. Bill Schneller and Junior Hovious of Mississippi, Dick McGowan of Auburn and Junius Plunkett of Vanderbilt were close behind.

In the Southwest, Kimbrough was tops in a field that also included Jack Crain, Texas' sensational sophomore; Kay Eakin of Arkansas; Jack Wilson of Baylor; Olie Cordill of Rice; Preston Johnston of Southern Methodist, and Jim Thomason, Texas A. and M.'s fine blocker.

In the Middle West, Harmon and Kimbrough were followed by such great performers as Paul Christman of Missouri; Don Scott of Ohio State; George Paskvan of Wisconsin; Harold Van Every of Minnesota; Harry Stevenson of Notre Dame; Beryl Clark of Oklahoma; and Herman Rohrig of Nebraska.

Dominic Principe was a great back for Fordham and set the pace in the East where his chief rivals were Cornell's Big Five of Walt Matuszczak, Hal McCullough, Whit Baker, Mort Landsberg and Walter Scholl; Dartmouth's Bill Hutchinson; Penn's Francis Reagan; Holy Cross' Ronnie Cahill, to lack the all-around qualifications of Kerr and Severin, but moves into a second-team berth along with Sarkkinen, a great end for Ohio State all season. Ivy and Gustafson take over the third team positions.

Many Good Wingmen Ranking well up on any list of the campaign's best wingmen would be Robert Ison of Georgia Tech; Don Crumbaker of Kansas State; Erwin Prasse of Iowa; Alvah Kelley and Kirk Hershey of Cornell; Ed Ciphers of Tennessee; Ralph Wenzel of Tulane; Dave Rankin of Purdue; John Mariucci of Minnesota; Joe Blalock, Clemson; Bob Winslow and Bill Fisk of Southern California; Woodrow Strode of U. C. L. A. and Jay MacDowell of Washington.

The first-team tackle posts go to Drahos and McCollum after a close race with Harry Stella of Army, Lee Artoe of California, Win Pedersen of Minnesota and Joe Boyd of Texas A. and M.

McCollum, six-feet, five-inches tall and weighing 235 pounds, was a block of granite in Tulane's great forward wall. Some critics called him the greatest tackle in southern history and all of them praised his play on defense and offense.

On a squad that stressed team play so strongly as Cornell it was difficult to single out an outstanding performer, game after game, but there was no questioning Drahos' right to ranking. This 210-pound junior from Cedarhurst, Long Island, was a great worker on the offense and yielded little or nothing on defense. He was the greatest lineman on the field when Cornell upset Ohio State and he starred against Princeton and Columbia.

Stella was the one bright spot in Army's disappointing season and Artoe, Boyd and Pedersen all were standouts in their own sections.

Not far behind these six were Bernard Weiner of Kansas State, and Gilford Duggan of Oklahoma, the Big Six leaders; Jim Reeder of Illinois, Rupert Pate of Wake Forest, and Dick Boisseau of Washington & Lee; Jim Stuart of Oregon; Bob Tierney of Princeton; Carl Nery of Duquesne; Joe Ungerer of Fordham; Harry Peteret of New York University; and Tom Healey of Harvard.

Guards Are Tough Two of the country's great arrays, possible Rose Bowl rivals, contribute the guards to the All-America team. Smith was the sparkplug of the Southern California line just as Molinski was of Tennessee's.

Smith, big moon-faced senior from Ontario, Calif., started a bit slowly this season but came along sensationally when the chips were down. Against Notre Dame, he was in the thick of every play and rival coaches call him a stand-out from every angle.

Molinski, a star in his own right as a sophomore last year, took the play away from his more widely known teammate, Bob Suffridge, this year when injuries handicapped Suffridge. Steady rather than flashy, he is perfection itself in carrying out assignments and is at his best in the tough spots.

Hal Method of Northwestern; Vic Marino of Ohio State; Augie Lio, of Georgetown, and Ernest Schwotzer of Boston College.

Trojans Face Uclans Today In Final Test

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8 (AP)—University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles play tomorrow for the biggest prize of all — the Rose Bowl.

A record crowd of around 103,000 was in prospect for this climactic struggle.

The powerful Trojans of U. S. C., needing but a tie to lay claim to the Rose Bowl assignment, generally was picked to win. Many expect to see a free scoring battle and hard going for Troy.

On past records, the Trojans boast a stronger defense and a crushed offense backed by superior reserve power. U.C.L.A., due in the main to Halfback Kenny Washington, has come from behind to win or tie the last six of its nine games this season.

Southern Cal has but a tie with Oregon in the first game this fall against its record. The Uclans have two conference ties and one non-conference deadlock against them.

The winner must await formal recognition from the conference before proceeding with the matter of inviting an opponent for the post season game in the Rose Bowl. Tennessee, provided it defeats Auburn tomorrow, apparently is the logical choice.

Giants Roll Into Milwaukee; Confident of Retaining Crown

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 8 (AP) — The New York Giants — 30 strong — rolled into town today and expressed confidence of taking home the winner's share of the record $80,000 gate assured for the National Football league's playoff game here Sunday between the Giants and Green Bay Packers.

"We beat 'em twice last year," said Acting Coach Bo Molenda, "and there's no reason why we can't do it again. They haven't strengthened their team at one position, as far as I can see, over last year's squad — and don't forget some of their stars of 1938 aren't as spry as they used to be."

And what have the Packers to say to this? Listen to Coach Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau who brought his men to Milwaukee a few hours after the New Yorkers arrived: "So Bo thinks we haven't strengthened our team. Well, he's in for a surprise. "Sure, they beat us last year, but don't forget Don Hutson (Green Bay's great pass-catching end) played only a few minutes in the championship game in New York. He was in no shape to play even those few minutes. He had a leg that was so bad he should have been in a hospital. "Don is in shape today. So are 29 other men. We haven't an injury on the squad and all we ask is a dry, fast field."

Indications were that the Packers' coach would get his wish, as no rain was in sight and the field was in fine shape. The game was rated as a toss-up, with little betting either way. Tickets are sold out at regular agencies, but some scalpers still had a few. One agent was asking $50 for a pair of $4.40 seats.

Todd, Dean, Old Rivals, Now On Same Ball Club

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — Transfer of Catcher Al Todd to the Chicago Cubs today made him a team mate and battery partner of Dizzy Dean, with whom he had a famous feud when both were in the Texas league.

Dean was pitching then for the Houston club, St. Louis Cardinals' farm, and Todd was the Dallas catcher. One day Dizzy irked Todd. The catcher strode irked from the plate to the pitcher's mound and knocked the "great man" flat.

Near the end of the season Houston and Dallas were locked in a tight fight for the league pennant. Dizzy was pitching masterfully in a night game at Dallas. Suddenly he lost control, or seemed to, and walked three consecutive batters, filling the bases with two out.

The overflow crowd was in an uproar, as out from the dugout came none other than Al Todd to take his turn at bat.

The Dallas fans were howling for him to flatten Dean a second time — this time with a base hit. So Dizzy took a hitch at his belt, faced the pugilistic Todd — and fanned him on three straight pitches.

Miske Scores Kayoe Over Crawford in 6th

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 8 (AP) — Young Billy Miske, 181, Minneapolis, scored a technical knockout in the seventh round here tonight over Eddie Crawford, 227, Ashland, Ky.

The fight was fairly even until the sixth, when Miske smashed a booming left hook into the Kentuckian's mouth, inflicting a gash

Thomas' Case Placed Before Dewey's Office

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — The investigation concerning the published statement of Harry Thomas that he had participated in a "fixed" fight with Max Schmeling here Dec. 13, 1937, was placed in the hands of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office today.

The New York State Athletic Commission, thwarted in its attempts to gain information from Thomas unless he was granted immunity, and unable to grant this immunity, turned the investigation over to Dewey's office for such action as it may see fit.

Thomas, who at previous hearings had refused to answer questions on the ground it might incriminate him, did not testify at today's hearing, but stated through his attorney, John Daley Jr., that he would talk if granted immunity from any punishment that might result from his testimony.

It is a criminal offense to "throw" a fight in New York. Today's hearing was given over entirely to the testimony of Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, which published Thomas' statements that he had "thrown" his fight with Schmeling, as well as one with Tony Galento in Philadelphia last year.

Today's hearing was the fifth concerning the investigation. At the last hearing Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, testified that to his knowledge the fight was not fixed, but fought solely on its merits.

from the lower lip to the chin. Referee Tommy Thomas of Chicago stopped the bout at the opening of the seventh.

Woman's Club Celebrates 50th Year of General Foundation

'Progress for Human Needs' Theme Of Golden Jubilee Fair

"Progress for Human Needs," the theme of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was demonstrated at a "Golden Jubilee Fair" sponsored by the Iowa City Woman's club yesterday in the community building, to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the general federation. Exhibits representing achievements of the eight departments of the local group and the county and state organizations lined the walls of the gymnasium in the community center.

In connection with a display of paintings by members of the art department, Mrs. Louis Pelzer painted in oils a picture of a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Poems written by members of the poetry department and several collections of poems published by them were included in another exhibit.

The social sciences and public welfare departments worked together in a representation of their progress in child welfare work, the county health unit and the recreational center, which are sponsored by these groups.

A Model Room
A model room was furnished with articles made by members of the home department, including afghans, crocheted and embroidered handwork, block printing, leather work and hooked rugs. Figures fashioned from corn husks were a unique form of decoration.

Seasonal table decorations arranged by members of the home department were displayed with emphasis on those for the holiday season.

A puppet theater symbolic of the children's theater sponsored by the state federation was displayed with reports of the state play production festival in which the federation cooperates with the university.

Child Welfare Booth
Material from the child welfare booth which won first prize at the district convention in October was also on display. It included an extensive study of juvenile delinquency and the work of the Johnson county juvenile home.

To demonstrate their work, the drama and music departments joined in presenting a musical pageant, "Progress for Human Needs," written by Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, tracing the history of women's clubs in the United States. A typical club meeting and a physical culture class of earlier days were humorous examples of pioneering in club work. The woman's club chorus, dressed in old-fashioned costumes, sang a group of folk songs.

Enterprising Oswald
A one-act comedy, "Enterprising Oswald," was presented by Mrs. L. C. Jones and Mrs. Edwin Oberg. Three dogs, also members of the cast, displayed native acting talents to add to the humor of the play.

The program closed with group singing of a golden jubilee song written by Mrs. Roy Flickinger. Tea was served in the organization's new clubrooms by hostesses wearing costumes suitable to the anniversary celebration.

Pharmacists Install Miller As President

Installation of new officers of group 16 of the Iowa Pharmaceutical association was a feature of its dinner meeting in Park's tea room Thursday evening. F. William Miller of Amana was installed as president, Thomas M. Morrison of Iowa City as vice-president and E. E. Newkirk of Williamsburg as secretary-treasurer. Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy acted as installing officer.

Dean R. A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy spoke to the group on "Barbiturates." Movies of the Iowa-Notre Dame football game were shown.

Group 16 includes all druggists in Johnson, Cedar, Muscatine, Washington and Iowa counties.

College of Pharmacy Presents Exhibit of Possible Yule Gifts

"Oh, I haven't even started my Christmas shopping yet," is a common wail heard these last few days while the stores and merchants continue displaying a limitless variety of suitable gifts.

The week's display in the college of pharmacy is calculated to be of assistance in this matter, and the entire window is devoted to a gift selection surmounted by the perennial decorated pine tree and glistening snow and tinsel.

There are several kinds of each gift suggestion for the various sized purses or tastes. Cameras, the standard box kind, shutter and the small pocket variety make excellent and practical Yule presents. One kind with two batteries, an electric camera, comes in a box equipped with four flash bulbs, ready to begin.

Pen and pencil sets in all colors, slender or sturdy, are a practical gift that comes under the heading of handsome also.

Compacts and lipsticks, small and large perfumed sachets, dusting tale in great round boxes with puffs, cologne and smaller bottles of perfume are among the favorites that Santa has written on every woman's list. English lavender in quaint straw covered bottles appears as an old favorite each Christmas.

Holiday wrapped boxes of several leading brands of milk chocolates are also featured in the groupings.

Class members in practical pharmacy who helped install the window were Stanley Taylor of Decatur, Ill.; Bernard Slaff of Passaic, N. J.; Marris Dunham of Blanchard, and Edward Pratter of Buffalo, N. Y., all P2, and Claude Wester, P3 of Jesup.

Less Books Circulation Decreases From 1938

The total circulation of books for all departments in the university library system showed a decrease for the month of November as compared with the total circulation for the corresponding month last year.

In November, 1939, 69,631 books were circulated throughout the system, whereas in November, 1938, 72,786 books were circulated, indicating a decrease of 3,155 for November of this year.

The only departments showing an increase were the general library in Macbride hall and the documents department. There was also an increase in the number of books sent to extension students, but a decrease in the number of books sent to individuals.

This decrease was a change from the circulation for September and October of this year, when an increase was noted over the circulation for 1938.

Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law will speak in Des Moines Tuesday before the County Attorney association. His subject will be "Legal Aspects of the Use of the Blood Test to Determine Intoxication in Criminal Cases."

Iowa Union's Christmas Begins Today

Christmas Tree, Holly Wreaths Placed in Lounge

"Christmas week" at Iowa Union starts today with many special events planned from now until next Saturday when university students go home for vacation.

A large Christmas tree, complete with lights and decorations, stands in the main lounge of the Union and large holly wreaths decorate the fireplaces and doors. Log fires burn in the fireplace, adding to the holiday spirit.

Christmas music will be played from the balcony twice daily this week—recorded music at 10 a.m. and programs arranged by the music department at 4:15 p.m. Original Christmas cards by Mrs. Paul Engle, wife of the faculty member-poet, are on exhibition in the lobby.

The university chorus will appear in a special Christmas vespers concert at the Union Wednesday night and a special tea dance in the river room is scheduled for Thursday.

Prof. Schramm To Lecture At 4:10 Tuesday

Prof. Wilbur Schramm of the English department will give his annual lecture on current books Tuesday at 4:10 p.m. in Iowa Union library.

Professor Schramm will present his talk with emphasis on books as Christmas gifts. Margaret Kuttler, A3 of Davenport, has charge of Tuesday's book talk, sponsored by the library sub-committee of Union Board.

Persons who would like to attend the lecture but who have not received invitations should leave their names at the information desk of Iowa Union before noon Monday, June Hyland, A3 of Traer, chairman of the library committee, has announced.

Positions Open at Hospital Employees Needed To Carry on Work During Christmas Vacation

Christmas holidays do not mean a vacation for the University hospital. Patients must be cared for as usual, operations continue to be scheduled, and staff conferences are conducted.

To carry on this work, the University hospital needs 190 students or non-students during the period from Dec. 16 to Jan. 3. Mr. Lee Kann of the employment bureau reports that approximately 30 applicants have already filed requests to work for daily board at the University hospital, and 80 have applied to work for nine-hour board accumulation jobs. Eighty positions are still open to those who wish to forego the pleasures of a Christmas at home in order to work at the hospital.

Employees will receive work assignments taking them to interesting recesses of the laboratory, operating rooms, the offices of the staff, where life often balances on the analysis of tests, a delicate stroke of the scalpel, or a decision arrived at in a staff conference.

Mr. Kann announced that as many as 50 applications have been received asking for cash employment during the holidays. From all indications there will be little employment remunerating in cash.

Down-town establishments tend to hire people who have previously substituted or are permanently employed by them.

Although there is an apparent shortage of cash jobs, Mr. Kann stated that students or non-students still have the opportunity to earn the equivalent of $46 by working board accumulation jobs at the University hospital.

Anyone interested in employment for the Christmas holiday period can secure further information from the university employment bureau in the Old Dental building.

No Depression This Year

Christmas Season in Iowa More Hopeful Than 1929 Holiday

Once again Iowa prepares for the most significant holiday of the year—Christmas. From all indications, the Christmas of 1939 will be one filled with good feeling and a hope for the future.

Exactly 10 years ago, the United States experienced one of its greatest shocks when the stock market collapsed and left the country virtually bankrupt. Christmases following those years were empty both in spirit and pocketbook.

This depression apparently let up in 1934 for that year was the turning point in depressing Christmases. It was both profitable to merchants and the country, in general.

However, back in the early days of Iowa's history, Christmas wove a charm around each of the pioneers. Different from today, however, were the ways in which they celebrated Christmas. They celebrated according to their national, regional, or religious heritage.

The figure which we call Santa Claus was called either Santa Claus, St. Nicholas, or Kris Kringle. No matter what they called Santa Claus, or how they celebrated it, Christmas was a time of joy to those early settlers.

The Christmas tree, with all its golden angels and strung popcorn, was introduced by the German settlers. As is done in some homes now, children hung their stockings before the fireplace.

Food and the annual Christmas feast was of the utmost importance to pioneers. Often a pioneer shot or trapped wild game and shared it with his neighbor. With an abundance of all good things to eat on the table, the pioneers made their Christmas feast the highlight of the day. Following this feast, it was the custom to sit before a blazing fire, with candy and popcorn in hand, and sing and tell stories.

Religions of the people were another important part in the pioneer Christmas and throughout the day deep reverence was held.

Toys were almost unknown among pioneer children and their gifts for Christmas day consisted of a practical home-made gift and a cookie or candy stuffed in the child's stocking. By 1870, some of the larger Iowa towns advertised "Toys for Sale."

Now, Iowa City displays thousands of toys for children, the streets of the city are well-decorated and Christmas will come with all its fun and frolic.

One of the most interesting customs built around the celebration of Christmas is the Christmas card. The card was originated in England in 1846, but did not become popular in America until the Christmas of 1900. Many thousands of greetings will pass through the Iowa City post-office for the next few weeks until Christmas.

Becicka Pleads Not Guilty of Slayings

Trial May Not Begin Until First of Year

Charge of Extortion Faces Defendant If Freed in Murders

Charles Becicka, Des Moines, pleaded not guilty in a crowded district courtroom yesterday morning to two first degree murder charges which named him as the slayer of Mr. and Mrs. George Novotny, the aged Shuevity farm couple found murdered in the kitchen of their home Sept. 9.

The defendant sat handcuffed facing the bench as Judge H. D. Evans read both of the county attorney's informations accusing him of murder. Attorney Will J. Hayek, representing Becicka, rose to both charges to enter his client's plea of not guilty.

Saying he did not think immediate court business would permit trial of the case during the November term of court, Judge Evans said the case would probably be brought to trial as soon after the first of the year as possible.

Becicka was arrested Nov. 15 at Des Moines for sending an extortion letter allegedly demanding $200 from Wesley Novotny, brother of the murdered man and administrator of the estate. Questioning resulted in a confession to the $20 robbery-slaying.

The former Des Moines restaurant dishwasher was indicted on a federal extortion charge, but released to Johnson county officials for trial on the murder charge. A hold order was placed against Becicka Monday by federal agents for federal prosecution in the event he is freed on the murder counts.

Chest Drive 3 Per Cent Short of Goal

Subtotal of $17,397.55 Reported From Eight Divisions of Drive

As the 1940 Iowa City Community Chest campaign drive neared its close yesterday, a subtotal of $17,397.55 was reported from the eight divisions, representing 97.4 of the goal.

Jack J. Swamer, campaign director, said last night that subscriptions to date include the following amounts:

Public schools, $374.50; college of medicine and university hospitals, $1,477.50; residential, $1,061.25; professional, $900; business, $5,469.75; employees, $1,795.05; national firms, $1,911; and university, $4,404.50.

Announcing that this year's drive has come nearer to the goal than any local previous campaigns, Swamer expressed his confidence that the $17,850 goal will be reached before the close of the drive.

The subscriber's dollar in the Community chest is divided among five benefiting organizations. They include the Social Service League, Recreational Center, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and city relief.

The Social Service League, under the leadership of Frances Nelson, besides its routine functions of providing direct relief to the poor and certifying applicants for WPA work, each year prepares hundreds of Christmas baskets for distribution among the needy families of the surrounding territory.

A new floor was recently installed at the Recreational Center gymnasium, another feature offered the youth of Iowa City who have chosen to learn sports and other games under supervised training.

This year's Chest divisional directors include Dr. Dabney Kerr, university hospitals and the college of medicine; Prof. Walter Daykin, university; Attorney Arthur O. Luff, professional; Mrs. Lloyd Howell, residential; Leonard Nagle, business; H. S. Ivie, national firms; Ernest O. Nybakken, public schools; and Harold Schuppert, employees.

The campaign opened Oct. 23.

Church Choir Will Present Season's Songs

The First Christian church choir will present a program of Christmas music in a candlelight service under the direction of Mrs. George Spencer, choir leader, at 8 p.m. tomorrow, it was announced yesterday.

The program includes a prelude, "Shepherd's Pipes" by Harris, played as an organ solo by Mrs. Guy H. Findly, and the professional hymn, "Angels from the Realms of Glory."

The choir will sing a chant to be followed by Gounod's anthem, "Send Unto Thy Light." Scripture reading and prayer will be offered and Ernest Bush will sing "Sanctus," an anthem by Gounod.

The choir will continue with Bertini's anthem, "Cherubim Song" and Mrs. George Spencer will sing "Come Unto Him," from the Messiah by Handel.

Featured on the program will be the carol group by the choir. Songs include "Hary the Herald Angels Sing," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and "Silent Night, Holy Night."

The anthem, "Sing, O Heavens" by Tours, and the recessional, "Joy to the World" will be sung by the choir. The program will close with the choir singing the postlude, "Christmas Medley."

Newman Club To Give Dance

Billy Ray's Orchestra To Furnish Music For Affair Tonight

Members of Newman club will sponsor a dance tonight from 9 to 12 o'clock in the south rehearsal hall of the music building, with music by Billy Ray and his orchestra.

Each member will be admitted to the dance by his or her membership card and is entitled to invite one guest. Each member is asked to bring some useful grocery item to the party. The contributions will be used in making up Christmas baskets for poor families of Iowa City.

The baskets will be distributed by the Catholic Charities organization through the three Catholic churches of Iowa City—St. Mary's, St. Patrick's and St. Wenceslaus. Chaperons for the affair will be the Rev. Patrick J. O'Reilly, and Prof. and Mrs. L. J. Waldbauer. Jack Sener, E2 of Chicago, is chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

One hundred years ago the tuition fee per semester at Princeton was $40. Today it is $225.

West Branch Boy Victim Of Gun Accident

James Haslett, West Branch, was accidentally shot in the right arm at 2 p.m. yesterday in his home and brought to Mercy hospital here for an emergency operation. Attendants reported his condition last night as "satisfactory."

The boy's mother, Mrs. Ed Haslett, said after he had arrived back from hunting and laid the gun down inside the house it discharged. His brother, Ed Haslett, had been with him hunting in the early afternoon.

He was brought to Iowa City by a West Branch physician.

Week's Heat Wave Hits High of 52

Mercury's highest reading of 52 again surpassed normal yesterday by 19 degrees, consistent with the week's winter heat wave.

The low of 22 degrees stood six above the normal low as compared with a two-degree range, 34 to 36, a year ago yesterday.

The new project was approved by the council Nov. 1, just before presidential consent was forthcoming from Washington, D. C.

Labor is being furnished by WPA, the official cost, $12,292, however, originally listed as material expense. Actually, Gartzke said, WPA is also furnishing certain materials, which will bring the cost to taxpayers below $10,000.

Those sections of the city to be affected by the passage of the new project include Manville addition, Chautauqua heights, Bloomington street near Governor, Walnut street, Kirkwood avenue (including Franklin street and part of the Rundell addition), G street, Second avenue, Friendship avenue and Court street.

The council is scheduled also to hear monthly reports, petitions and approve bills at their Monday night meeting.

Offers To Be Taken By Clerk's Office, Opened at Council

Members of the city council will act Monday night on bids for materials in the recently approved $12,292 sewer improvement program affecting nine sections of Iowa City.

City Engineer Fred Gartzke said last night that work has already begun on the Chautauqua heights section, 24 men having started a week ago.

It was announced that sealed bids will be received at the city clerk's office until 2 p.m. Monday, and opened in the council chambers of the city hall, the site of the evening meeting, at 2 p.m. to prepare action for the 7:30 session of the council.

Materials listed by Gartzke needed for the project upon which bids will be made include the following:

Mrs. R. O. Flanders To Be Buried In New York Sunday

Funeral service for Mrs. Raymond O. Flanders, 419 1/2 E. Washington, 20, A2 of Iowa City, who died Thursday in University hospital of a streptococcus throat infection, will be held in Gloversville, N. Y., Sunday afternoon.

The former Marjorie Howorth, she was born in Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 23, 1919, and was married last September to Raymond Flanders, A3.

Councilmen Will Take Action Monday on Sewer Work Bids

four-inch connections and stoppers, 53 standard manhole rings and covers, 214 manhole steps, 5,862 pounds of Kalkite, 2,018 pounds of Oakum, 420 sacks of cement and 132 sacks of lime.

The new project was approved by the council Nov. 1, just before presidential consent was forthcoming from Washington, D. C.

Labor is being furnished by WPA, the official cost, $12,292, however, originally listed as material expense. Actually, Gartzke said, WPA is also furnishing certain materials, which will bring the cost to taxpayers below $10,000.

Those sections of the city to be affected by the passage of the new project include Manville addition, Chautauqua heights, Bloomington street near Governor, Walnut street, Kirkwood avenue (including Franklin street and part of the Rundell addition), G street, Second avenue, Friendship avenue and Court street.

The council is scheduled also to hear monthly reports, petitions and approve bills at their Monday night meeting.

Offers To Be Taken By Clerk's Office, Opened at Council

Members of the city council will act Monday night on bids for materials in the recently approved $12,292 sewer improvement program affecting nine sections of Iowa City.

City Engineer Fred Gartzke said last night that work has already begun on the Chautauqua heights section, 24 men having started a week ago.

It was announced that sealed bids will be received at the city clerk's office until 2 p.m. Monday, and opened in the council chambers of the city hall, the site of the evening meeting, at 2 p.m. to prepare action for the 7:30 session of the council.

Materials listed by Gartzke needed for the project upon which bids will be made include the following:

Twelve thousand eight hundred fifty-nine linear feet of eight-inch vitrified sewer pipe, 303 eight-inch Wye branches with
