FINNS FIGHTING ON RUSSIAN SOIL

South Opposes Cut in Farm Benefits

F.D.R. Didn't Budget Items Omitted in '39

26% Reduction Hits Parity Payments On Cotton, Wheat, Corn

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Some farm-state congressmen expressed opposition today to President Roosevelt's proposal that appropriations for crop control, farm subsidies and other agriculture activities be cut by $331,385,363 for the 1941 fiscal year.

In his budget message, the chief executive asked that $908,255,707 be appropriated for the agriculture department, compared with this fiscal year's record sum of $1,239,641,070. Included was $31,025,003 previously appropriated but unobligated.

This 26 per cent reduction carried a cut of $226,000,000 in direct subsidies to growers and $33,000,000 in funds for the disposal of agricultural surpluses. The 1941 budget, if approved, would provide $724,582,740 for subsidies, surplus disposal and crop insurance programs, compared with $967,637,012 made available for the current year. The big item left out was provision for parity payments on cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco, for which $225,000,000 was voted this year despite the fact it too was un-budgeted.

Senators Hill (D-La.) and Ellender (D-La.), warm administration supporters, voiced opposition to farm cuts. "I would not favor any reduction in farm benefits," declared Hill.

Ellender said: "If they cut farm benefits, we'll put them back. We won't stand for it."

Reduction No Surprise
The president's reduced budget estimates were not unexpected at the agriculture department. Some aides of Secretary Wallace expressed the opinion, however, that the budget would increase support for a revenue measure to restore the reductions and place the farm programs on a parity self-supporting basis.

Wallace has urged approval of a certificate plan designed to raise farmer income on domestically-consumed portions of the cotton, wheat, rice and possibly tobacco crops. Farmers cooperating with crop programs would receive income certificates which dealers would be required to buy along with the crops. The certificates would be valued at the difference between the actual price and a desired parity price. Mr. Roosevelt made no mention of the certificate proposal in his message. He expressed the hope, however, that farm prices would continue recent advances and offset the loss in farm income which would result from reduced subsidies.

The chief executive indicated that if his hopes did not materialize he might not be adverse to approving an appropriation for parity payments.

Government Control Placed on Vessels

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Following a precedent established in the World War, the British government tonight requisitioned all merchant ships of the United Kingdom and its colonies to speed a shipping program centered on obtaining food supplies from abroad.

Sir John Gilmour, minister of shipping, announced that the program would go into effect Feb. 1 and that all ships would be placed under government control as soon as they make their first cargo discharges in the United Kingdom after that date. Ships of dominion register are exempt from the order.

Britain and her colonies have a merchant fleet of some 7,000 vessels totaling approximately 17,500,000 tons—the largest in the world.

Berlin Fears Outcome of Russian War

Economic Future May Be Endangered If Supply Lines Cut Off

Soviet Russia's ill-starred adventure in Finland is resetting the European stage in so fantastic a fashion that Berlin's apprehension over what may come of it can no longer be concealed.

Glowering warnings by the Nazi press to Norway and Sweden clearly indicate that apprehension that Germany may give active aid to Russia if the two Scandinavian countries afford the Franco-British allies routes for heavy movement of troops or munitions to back up the battling Finns, Berlin obviously fears that Finland may ultimately become a base of allied operations against Germany; and that the two Scandinavian countries may even be drawn into the war on the allied side.

That is not an impossible consequence of the Russo-Finnish conflict, nor is it lacking in grave dangers for Germany. Any development that opened the way for an attack upon German Baltic ports or upon vital Nazi supply lines in the Baltic would be a serious complication for Germany.

It is against that contingency that Nazi leadership is aiming its propaganda guns. While intimations from Berlin that Russia has found her plight so desperate in Finland that she is seeking military help from Germany may be Nazi wishful thinking, they indicate strikingly the predicament in which Germany finds herself, due to the failure of Russia to carry through her campaign on schedule.

The complexity of the problem that faces Germany is heightened by the fact that her other political associate, Italy, seems to be going even farther than the allies to add to Russia's difficulties in Finland. Italian planes are reported to be taking a share in the resurgence of Finnish air activity against Russian troops and communication lines. There are reports also that a considerable contingent of Italian technical experts are either already in Finland or on the way there.

Of that Italian help to Finland, Berlin reports have made no mention. It is only French or British moves of similar nature that have stirred the wrath of the controlled Nazi press. Yet the one-time pivot of Hitler's political craftsmanship, the Rome-Berlin axis, is now under as heavy a strain in Finland as it is in the Balkans.

It has been significant that from the outset of the Russian thrust at Finland, Nazi approval of that attack as officially voiced in Berlin has been limited to one consideration. In effect, the Nazis agreed that it was necessary for Stalin to safeguard Leningrad and the Karelian isthmus route of possible future attack on Russia.

Berlin has never approved a Russian attempt to subjugate Finland and reduce it to puppet status. Apparently, Nazi leadership condoned the Russian resort to arms only to the extent that force might be necessary to reverse the Finnish Mannerheim line on that isthmus and make it a vital element of Russian defense.

Russia has failed to achieve that. Her failure against a Finnish stand that is the wonder of the world has given Germany's Franco-British foes an opportunity to bring the threat of a two-front war much closer for Germany, and it was to avoid a two-front war that the Nazi deal with Moscow was made.

Should it develop, as Berlin advises hint, that Russia is now seeking German aid in cracking the Finnish Mannerheim line, a price will unquestionably be exacted by Berlin. And that price probably would be a definite Russian pledge to halt the drive on that line and abandon the invasion of Finland elsewhere.

An independent and friendly Finland in the Baltic seems essential to Germany's hopes of maintaining and improving her place in the world's economic sun. Thus, it is possible, despite the fuming of the Nazi press, that Nazi pressure is being exerted to localize the Russo-Finnish conflict and rigidly limit Russian objectives in Finland.

A war between Russia and a group composed of the Franco-British allies, Finland and perhaps Sweden and Norway could be as disastrous to Germany's hopes of retaining her dominant role in the Baltic as a too-sweeping Russian victory in that area.

Goering Heads New Council

Takes Responsibility For Nazi Wartime Economic Conduct

BERLIN, Jan. 4 (AP)—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering has assumed supreme responsibility for the conduct of Germany's economy in wartime, establishing anew that he is not afraid to tackle tasks of gigantic dimensions.

He has become for the duration of the war what he was in peacetime when Adolf Hitler decided to concentrate the nation's entire economic peace activities in a four-year plan for self-sufficiency. At that time, too, Goering tackled a job considered by experts as one of the most difficult in a country poor in raw materials.

Henceforth the field marshal will be the "supreme war-economic authority."

Important Feature
According to the national Zeitung of Essen, which has particularly close connections with Goering, one of the most important features of the new coordination plan is the inclusion of Lieut-Gen. Georg Thomas, chief of the economic section of the supreme high command, in a new "general council."

The heads of other economic offices in the reich also will be members of this council and therefore, according to the national Zeitung, "valuable mutual contact and cooperative solution of problems arising will be rendered possible between the highest officer in the army's economic staff and all the economic departments of the civil government."

Defense Council
Another important factor in the scheme is the fact that Goering at the same time heads the ministerial defense council, the other members of which are Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of the armed forces; Dr. Walter Funk, president of the reichsbank and minister of economics; Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior; Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, and Dr. Hans Heinrich Lammers, liaison member between Hitler and the council.

The suggestion for this tremendous concentration of power and responsibility was ascribed to Funk. The national Zeitung contrasted an asserted genius in Germany for organization with what it termed Great Britain's policy of muddling through. It also charged that the German leadership in 1914 was at fault in not providing similar coordination and concentration.

Adds To Fund
Former President Herbert Hoover today transferred to Finnish agencies the fourth $100,000 collected by the Finnish relief fund of which he is national chairman.

Stritch Selected As Archbishop Of Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 (AP)—The appointment of the most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch to the important post of archbishop of Chicago evoked expressions of approval from clergy and laity today.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, who has served as administrator of the Chicago archdiocese since the death of George Cardinal Mundelein last Oct. 2, asserted Roman Catholics here would extend a warm welcome and added: "Both by experience and fine talent of mind and heart he will guide this great archdiocese to new heights of achievement."

Comment in similar vein came from Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Bishop William D. O'Brien, rector of Holy Name cathedral, Michael Howlett, supreme director of the Knights of Columbus, and others. The selection of Archbishop Stritch, who has been archbishop of Milwaukee for nine years, was made by Pope Pius XII and was announced by the apostolic delegation in Washington.

Official Statement Confirms Resignation of SUI President

The report that President Eugene A. Gilmore had submitted his resignation as president of the University of Iowa to the Iowa State Board of Education was confirmed yesterday in an official statement issued from the office of the president. "It is the general policy," the statement said, "of the Board of Education that at the age of 68, persons holding administrative positions shall relinquish them, and those holding instructional positions shall relinquish them at the age of 70."

In keeping with this policy President Gilmore, who will be 69 next July, has tendered his resignation to the board as president of the university effective at the end of the current year. "As to the future," President Gilmore stated he has no plans. When asked whether he would join the college of law faculty, he said that was a matter in the hands of the dean of the college of law and the Board of Education.

Husband Beater
WHEELING, W. VA. (AP)—Judge Charles Bonnesen today sent Mrs. Ethel Wolfson, husky Irishwoman, to jail for 30 days on her husband's plea that she beat him. Displaying several bruises and bumps, the slender husband said Mrs. Wolfson used a hair brush.

National Guard Sent To Stop Lynching Party

Mississippi Governor Fears Mob May Try To Kill Hunted Negro

MEADVILLE, Miss., Jan. 4 (AP)—Governor Hugh White today dispatched national guardsmen here in an attempt to prevent the lynching of a Negro trapped by a mob of 100 men in a heavily wooded area near Meadville.

Almost simultaneously reports drifted through of two unsuccessful attempts Monday night to seize a Negro jailed at Columbia in a case unrelated to the Meadville incident. The danger there passed with removal of the Negro to an unnamed jail.

At Jackson today Governor White received from Deputy Sheriff Grahame Herring of Meadville a telephone request for armed assistance to prevent the threatened violence.

Unit In Service

Major T. B. Birdsong, head of Mississippi's national guard, left with five guardsmen equipped with sidearms and tear gas and authorized pressing a small local unit into service.

Justice of the Peace W. R. Mitchell of Knoxville, three miles from Meadville, gave this account of the trouble: "On Monday two Negroes known as 'Oklahoma Red' and Red Williams who had been blamed for church robberies and other depredations were surprised and attacked in a house at Meadville. Twenty-one-year old Hillard Hall of Franklin county was killed in a gun fight which followed and two other white men in the attacking party were wounded. These men were J. W. Shell and his brother constable Phillip Shell."

Negroes Escaped
The Negroes escaped and have been hunted with mounting intensity since. Today at noon the Negro known as Red Williams was reported to have fled to a house just outside Meadville. Officers went to the house, but Williams fled and vanished in the woods. News of the escape hummed through the town and immediately armed men converged on that section of the woods. Three times, Mitchell said, possemen sighted the Negro and pot-shot at him as he scurried past openings in the trees. One report said he had been wounded.

The mob action Monday at Columbia resulted from the slaying of J. C. Sanford at Prentiss on the same day. Sanford, a contractor and former marshal, had attempted, Sheriff S. G. Magee reported, to arrest three Negroes suspected of running liquor. Tenants screamed for help and one woman waved a lamp from her window to attract attention. Three hotel employees—Manager Dwight Brackney, night clerk Tom Spurrier and bellboy Dwight West—warned tenants from the telephone switchboard and alternated in bringing people down in the smoke clogged elevator. Thomas Henely, a resident, jumped two stories to an adjacent roof. Pat Culklin, another permanent resident, recalled carrying a one-legged man to safety.

Anna Lawther To Give Talk At Convocation

Anna B. Lawther of Dubuque, a member of the state board of education, will give the principal address at the mid-year convocation which will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 8 p. m. in the main lounge of the Iowa Union. Prof. F. G. Higbee, director of convocations, is in charge of the affair.

About 150 degrees will be conferred at the graduates' dinner which will be held in the river room of the Iowa Union in conjunction with the convocation. Pres. Eugene A. Gilmore will preside at the dinner and Harry G. Barnes, university registrar, will be the principal speaker. The dinner will be at 8 p. m. preceding the convocation exercises. Candidates for degrees may secure tickets for themselves and their guests at the alumni office, Old Capitol, up to 12 noon Tuesday, Jan. 30.

Professor Higbee announced that all candidates who wish to purchase invitations for the mid-year convocation should leave their order at the alumni office by Jan. 18 at 12 noon. Miss Lawther received her B. A. from Bryn Mawr in 1897. Morningside college conferred an L.H.D. and she received an L.L.D. from the University of Dubuque in 1936. She also attended Miss Stevens' school in Germantown, Pa.

'FLINT' DAMAGED Bumped by Freighter; Halts Sailing

BERGEN, NORWAY, Jan. 4 (AP)—A report from Narvik said today that the American freighter City of Flint, preparing to return to the United States, bumped into a British freighter while maneuvering in the harbor there. The necessity of repairing damaged plates postponed the City of Flint's sailing until at least Saturday.

The City of Flint has been in Norwegian waters since Nov. 11 when the Norwegian government declared her free and interned at Haugesund a German prize crew which had taken her to Murmansk, Russia, and then sought to take her down the Norwegian coast to Germany as a prize.

In charge of the same American crew which operated her during her wandering through northern waters, the City of Flint had been scheduled to leave Narvik yesterday with a cargo of iron ore.

Cause of Fire Still Unknown

Omaha Hotel Blaze Results in Critical Injury to Woman

OMAHA, Jan. 4 (AP)—Sheathed in ice, the Henshaw hotel and adjoining business buildings were grim monuments tonight to a destructive $200,000 fire which raged in downtown Omaha early this morning.

None of the several score patrons was killed, but one, Mrs. W. B. Howard, 69, of St. Paul, Minn., was injured critically. Hospital attendants said her condition was "poor" tonight. She suffered second and third degree burns and shock.

Cause of the blaze remained unknown, but Fire Chief Art Olsen said questioning of several hotel employees indicated the fire started as early as 11 o'clock last night. They recalled noticing a trace of smoke in the air then, but thought it came from the boiler room and were not alarmed.

More than two hours later the first of three alarms brought firemen. They concentrated at first on rescuing tenants, many of them permanent residents, then turned their attention to the blaze.

Thirteen persons were burned or injured in addition to Mrs. Howard. Three of the injured were firemen, hurt during some of the spectacular rescue attempts.

In one of the most dramatic escapes, M. F. Calhoun, 45, fled from his seventh floor room to the fifth floor via a ladder improvised from two sheets, two blankets and two curtains. From there firemen rescued him.

Tenants screamed for help and one woman waved a lamp from her window to attract attention. Three hotel employees—Manager Dwight Brackney, night clerk Tom Spurrier and bellboy Dwight West—warned tenants from the telephone switchboard and alternated in bringing people down in the smoke clogged elevator. Thomas Henely, a resident, jumped two stories to an adjacent roof. Pat Culklin, another permanent resident, recalled carrying a one-legged man to safety.

London 'Promises' Nazis Can Export

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The British government has given the United States assurances that "in very exceptional circumstances" exports from Germany to the United States will be permitted to come through without interference.

The state department made public today a series of questions submitted by the American embassy in London and answers by the British ministry of economic warfare, dated December 25 and embodying these assurances.

The British government promised that "applications for exemption from the provisions of the order in council (establishing a blockade of German exports) in certain circumstances will be entertained and if granted an assurance will be given that the consentment concerned will not be interfered with."

The ministry said, however, that "such exemptions will only be given in very exceptional circumstances." It was not possible, the statement continued, to define the facts on which an exception would be made.

Encircle Soviet Forces Fleeing Central Front

Unconfirmed Reports Claim A Second Red Division Wiped Out

WITH FINNISH FORCES ON THE LAKE KIANTA FRONT, Jan. 4 (AP)—Speedy Finnish ski patrols have cut deeply into Russia at several points to encircle forces of the red army fleeing from the defeat administered to them six days ago on the shores of this Finnish lake.

(Unconfirmed reports in Copenhagen said the Finns had surrounded a second Russian division in central Finland between Lake Kianta and the border. The division was en route to the aid of the red army's 163rd division, trapped and wiped out by the Finns in the greatest battle of the war.)

The cutting of Russia's vital Murmansk railroad not once, but several times by flying ski raiders was reported reliably.

Hand-To-Hand
Hand-to-hand guerrilla fighting between opposing ski soldiers is occurring frequently. Small numbers of Russian ski troops are in action—mostly on the Russian side of the border—in attempts to stem the advance of elusive Finnish patrols.

The main Finnish force in central Finland, meantime has strengthened and consolidated its positions within five miles of the border and is continuing mopping-up operations against fleeing Russians of the routed 163rd division.

(Reports received at Bergen, Norway, said unidentified bombing planes bombed the Finnish Arctic port of Linnahamari, for the second time today. The port has been in the hands of the Russians since early in the war. The aircraft, of a type not used hitherto by the Finns, vanished over the sea, leading to rumors sea-based British planes had participated. Damages or casualties were not cited by the reports.

Drop Leaflets
(The newspaper Social Demokraten at Stockholm declared Finnish planes flew over Leningrad yesterday, dropping thousands of leaflets in the Russian language declaring the Finns were fighting only to defend their independence. The newspaper said pamphlets also were scattered over Soviet lines on the Karelian Isthmus.)

Press dispatches at Copenhagen reported further that Finnish bombers attacked and partly destroyed the new Russian air bases on the islands of Dagoo and Oesel, off the coast of Estonia near the southern side of the entrance to the gulf of Finland. Estonia last fall gave the U.S.S.R. The right to fortify these islands. The newspaper Aftenavis speculated that the Finns might have used new English and Italian planes on these raids.)

Helsinki officials said red army planes bombed Hanko, Finland's "Gibraltar of the Baltic," twice today. Two bombers inflicted slight damage during the morning and a larger number of raiders dropped between 40 and 50 incendiary bombs in the afternoon. No loss of life was reported.

Today's raids followed air attacks which a general staff communique said the Russian airmen directed yesterday at the south-western naval base and the nearby Turku district.

Irish Parliament Acts Against I.R.A.

DUBLIN, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Irish parliament completed action tonight on an emergency powers bill giving the government authority to intern without trial members of the outlawed Irish republican army.

As police pressed a mass roundup of extremists charged with being dangerous to the state, the senate adopted without amendment the emergency measure previously approved by the dail Eireann (lower house).

At the same time the dail passed a companion act for dealing with "offenses against the state" which will go to the senate tomorrow. The dail then recessed until Jan. 21.

In Unity We Do Believe

A HEADLINE read, "1940 Dream—A United States of Europe." And in the thoughts and convictions of many men this is not an impossibility.

Already a commission has been formed composed of Dr. James T. Shotwell of Columbia University, chairman, Dr. William Allen Neilson, former president of Smith College, chairman of the executive committee, and Clark M. Eichelberger, director of the commission and director for the league of nations in this country.

This commission, states Dr. Shotwell, is "not an effort to bring back the league of nations," but an effort to study the organization of world peace. He thinks that if the commission gets started early enough, it "can act more intelligently than at the cessation of hostilities in the World War."

At the same time in Europe an effort is being made to build up sentiment for a federation of European states, hoping that it would eventually embrace the world.

Leaders hope that many neutral countries would now join with them in a cooperative system which provides for inter-change of products to safeguard fuller manufacture and flow of trade between countries of the goods of which one or the other is short, alteration or removal of tariff barriers, renovation of the currency system and wartime cooperation of armies and navies.

So in spite of war hostilities now, men are looking to the future and are hoping for the best results. They must think that the only way to insure peace is to have social, economic and political interchange agreeably with other nations.

These hopefuls, these visionaries, want a United States of America, a United States of Europe and a United World.

Enchantment In The First Snow!

WEATHER in Iowa City, an always intriguing topic, has at last reached the point of resemblance to winter. Students are wearing ear muffs and gloves to keep the below freezing temperatures from nipping touchy spots.

And, finally, there are "some" who fall their semester at the university because they should never have been allowed to come in the first place. From them the university should ask pardon. Being what it is, the state university must admit almost all who knock and ask entrance; nevertheless, ability to pass entrance examinations does not insure ability to competently carry a university schedule.

Surely it would have been infinitely more kind to have refused them entrance last September than to have carried them along on the almost-forgotten hope that they "might possibly" get through. It is to be hoped that the sacrifices which both they and their parents have made, the strain of reaching for something which constantly eluded their grasping, and the inescapable disappointment, mental shock, and emotional readjustment following will not turn them against the university and all higher education.

Although it is axiomatic with democracy that all men be given an equal opportunity for education (a dream, as yet, unrealized), it does not of necessity follow that all men are capable of receiving a so-called "higher education." Some are called to be leaders, others to be led; in a democracy it does not mean that one is "better" than the other; before the face of men and the law they are equals.

about the snow after the first thrill of seeing it fall. "Yet if this snow lasts a week I shall be heartily sick of it and glad to speed its going. It is not the snow itself, the sight of the blanketed world, that is so enchanting, but the first coming of the snow, the sudden and magical change. Today has had a quality, an atmosphere, quite different from that of yesterday, and I have moved through it feeling a different person."

Are YOU Going To Fail?

WITHIN THE next month many young men and women will be told that they have failed to meet the scholastic requirements of the University of Iowa. By tallying up the marks, or lack of marks, in their little books, the Powers-That-Be will be forced to send away from the university many an otherwise acceptable youngster whom they would keep, if they could. But in the little books, in letters of black, stand the tell-tale, damning marks; and they are helpless.

Before the fatal moment comes, it is not well to take stock, to square off with one's self, to decide where and on whom the blame really rests? In the heat of disappointment it is only too easy to lay blame where blame is not really due, to accuse the innocent and let the guilty go free.

There are "some" whose going will cause small regret. Among them are those who have come to enjoy a four-year's loaf on Dad's dough and with studied nonchalance have frittered away time, money and opportunity; those who have seen the university as a state-supported matrimonial bureau; those who feel that contacts made (the term remaining undefined) are infinitely more valuable than knowledge gained; and those who feel that the university ought to give them an education while they indulge themselves in a gay social whirl. It goes without saying that the university will be the better off when they are gone and that the blame of their failure rests wholly upon their own shoulders.

There are "some" whose going will cause real regret. They have failed even though they are blessed with good minds, are sincere, diligent, and hard-working. Because their economic conditions were so bad they were forced to spend more hours earning a meager subsistence than they could afford to spend learning, they have failed; because they were forced to wear out their energy with physical labor before they had a chance to sit down to a book, they have failed; because their zeal for education exceeded their means to provide it for themselves or the state's means to provide it for them, they have failed. No sense of shame should be theirs. As to the blame: true, the "state" is probably at fault somewhere, and serious effort must be made to rectify a condition which prevents potential future leaders of the state from full flowering. It is hoped that they will somehow, sometime, be able to return.

There are "some"—though a very few—who have received a raw deal at the hands of the All-Powerful-Ones. Their gripes may be justifiable indeed, for there is incompetence, nonchalance, and prejudice even in the teaching profession; but a straight-from-the-shoulder, sensible discussion at the proper sources is usually sufficient to clean up the whole matter.

And, finally, there are "some" who fall their semester at the university because they should never have been allowed to come in the first place. From them the university should ask pardon. Being what it is, the state university must admit almost all who knock and ask entrance; nevertheless, ability to pass entrance examinations does not insure ability to competently carry a university schedule.

Surely it would have been infinitely more kind to have refused them entrance last September than to have carried them along on the almost-forgotten hope that they "might possibly" get through. It is to be hoped that the sacrifices which both they and their parents have made, the strain of reaching for something which constantly eluded their grasping, and the inescapable disappointment, mental shock, and emotional readjustment following will not turn them against the university and all higher education.

Although it is axiomatic with democracy that all men be given an equal opportunity for education (a dream, as yet, unrealized), it does not of necessity follow that all men are capable of receiving a so-called "higher education." Some are called to be leaders, others to be led; in a democracy it does not mean that one is "better" than the other; before the face of men and the law they are equals.

Therefore it is the solemn duty of each of those who has been unable to make the academic standards set up by the university to return to his or her community, to assume the rights and privileges of citizenship which are inalienable theirs, and to endeavor to lead full, honest, and worthwhile lives.

Failure at the University of Iowa does not mean that they are complete failures!

Refugee Criminologist Discusses Jails

By BRIAN BELL AP Feature Service WASHINGTON — A cockeyed decade came in bare headed and went out with its hair standing up!

Way back in 1931 college boys drove hat manufacturers frantic by refusing to cover their heads. The vogue reached such proportions that petitions were sent to some of the more conservative concerns asking them to force their employes to wear hats.

Late in 1939 many boys and men were still hatless, and hair-raising episodes of war were startling the reading public. In between the snubbing of hats for males and the hair-raising episode, many incidents caused people to say "It's a strange world." The climax was reached on October 30, 1938.

Orson Welles decided to dramatize H. G. Wells' "The War of the Worlds" over a nation wide radio hook-up. The air play was just what the doctor ordered for large sections of the public waiting for a hysteria jag.

Newspaper offices were swamped with queries as the air waves began to toss out tidings of men from Mars sweeping through New Jersey. Telephone operators had no time to say "hello" but repeated over and over "It's just a radio show." Families were packed into automobiles and a bee line made for the safety of the hills.

Several cities called for blackouts. Others wanted more light to find their way out of town. All was chaos. When the books are finally balanced for the odd nuts and bolts of the decade this radio broadcast and its repercussions can't miss being near the top of the list.

Midget and Morgan J. P. Morgan went to Washington in July, 1935, to testify before the senate banking committee and between sessions found a 31-year-old midget sitting on his lap. The committee room was thrown into an uproar but Mr. Morgan remained good-natured about the whole thing. Not so, the senators. There was talk of an embargo or something—on midgets. Maybe a quota was fixed. Anyway the movement was stopped.

ers joined their colleagues in indignation protest. Sally Rand came along with some graceful dance steps emerging from a lot of fans. Soon fan dancers were underfoot everywhere. Sally then switched to bubbles.

Dr. Mary Walker wore trousers in the 90's and few women followed suit, but the 30's brought slacks—just another name for trousers, and the men lost their monopoly on pants. Maybe Marlene Dietrich started the fad. Anyway it gained momentum. Legislative action by many towns, even leading to arrests, failed to slow the trend.

The men, too, became radical in the clothes line and had their evening clothes made of blue when their fathers and grandfathers had been satisfied with black. Anthony Eden made a black Homburg hat the sign of a well dressed man and his fellow countryman. Prime Minister Chamberlain, made the umbrella a symbol of peace—for a little while.

Wolf At The Door Walt Disney brought animated cartoons to life and people everywhere began to whistle "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf" and later "Some Day My Prince Will Come." "The Wizard of Oz" changed from a children's book to a million dollar motion picture bidding for All-American recognition.

Nursery rhymes lent a hand to song writers and "A Tisket A Tasket" turned the musical clock back. Other songs bobbed up with a bad ear for grammar and some queer words. On March 16, 1936, undergraduates at Princeton organized "The Veterans of Future Wars" with Vassar contributing an auxiliary. Chapters sprung up at 11 colleges

Miller's orchestra will play a special arrangement of "Punishment Fits the Crime" from "Hot Mikado."

SELECTIONS FROM Kalman's "Sari" will be played in a special medley by Frank Black and his NBC concert orchestra on tonight's Cities Service concert over the NBC-Red network at 7 o'clock.

Included are "Love's Own Sweet Song," "Love Has Wings," "Ha-Za-Za," "My Faithful Stradivari" and "Pick a Husband."

GUY LOMBARDO gets a renewal on CBS from his present cosmetic sponsor effective Jan. 22. The sponsor, however, will drop its NBC series after the program of Jan. 26. He's heard tonight at 9 o'clock over NBC-Red.

SEN. ROBERT A. TAFT will address the Chicago Bar association tonight at 8:30. The address will be broadcast over the facilities of the NBC - Blue network.

A boxing bout from Madison Square garden will be broadcast at 9 o'clock tonight over the NBC-Blue network. The match is a 10-round light heavyweight bout between Mello Bettina and Fred Apostoli.

Certainly it is a far cry from zero to forty-two billions in the red! But if we ever really start back even in the direction of the true Jacksonian ideal, let's have a joint Jackson day dinner which 'Old Hickory' himself—bless his memory!—would be glad to attend. Only 'deficit spenders' will be unhappy on that glorious occasion!"

AROUND THE TOWN

With MERLE MILLER

FROM A COLUMNIST'S SCRABOOK . . . Yesterday's mail brought this answer to Sunday's column, signed "Love Problem Editor." "Your trouble is that you are too gentle and ingratiating. Be haughty and hard to please. Also let there be a subtle hint of caveman stuff under a polished manner. You are too mature for your contemporaries. The average girl has a mental outlook that hovers right around the 12-year-old level. You have to come down to it. Be frivolous at times."

I detect the fine hand of a woman. . . No man would dare as much of where it concerns the other category of humans. . . As for me, my favorite cartoon is the one in the "New Yorker" showing the broad-shouldered woman leaning forward to the chinless intellectual. . .

"I'm so glad there are two sexes, aren't you?" she whispers. . . Surprisingly enough, the report of the Dies committee was saner than I'd expected. . . Although the real harm of the "un-American" committee tactics has already been done, with the false headlines, the misleading testimony, and the assuredly unjust attitude of the committee members. . .

It seems even Mr. Dies has found the C.I.O. "not Communist" (which is more than some about-face camp reactionaries would admit), gave John L. Lewis a clean slate, and absolved the American Youth Congress of blame as a "red front." . .

Still, if I were in Washington this session I'd grant more money to Bob LaFollette's "evil liberties" investigation, none at all to Martin Dies. . . LaFollette's testimony has made fewer headlines but has, on the whole, been more important. . . Such as revealing that General Motors spent a million dollars in a single year for labor-spying among its employees. . .

And the fact that the Associated Farmers in California (the anti-Joad group of "Grapes of Wrath") ordered "shoot to kill" if they couldn't intimidate labor organizers. . .

My regular Washington correspondent writes again, saying that "Prof. T. V. Smith, who was on the campus, 'spellbound' them at the American Political Science Association meeting. . . He's too outspoken, though, referring to the remarking that the "Christian myth is no longer valid." . . . Them's not politician's words. . . Also included was a comment on the John Gilmore engagement announcement New Year's eve. . . Apparently it was one of the big social events of the season. . .

And the Iowan "Dick" Roberts was married in D.C., Dec. 15. . . Anyone who's worried about the Nazi invasion of England ought, assuredly, to read Sak's "When William Came." . . Swell satiric comment on England's subjugation by Kaiser Wilhelm. . .

Poems usually say their say with confusion, but not my favorite from Louis Untermeyer's new volume. . . He calls it "Prayer," and, indeed, might be the abovesaid motto of every columnist everywhere. . . "Ever insurgent let me be, Make me more daring than devout; From sleek contentment keep me free, And fill me with a buoyant doubt."

"From compromise and things half-done, Keep me with a stubborn pride, And when at last the fight is won, God, keep me still unsatisfied. . . And so to fight. . .

Guess our writers decided they had no chance against the competition of European propagandists. By now, we are beginning to suspect, Herr Hitler wishes he hadn't gotten into this war until he had counted up to a hundred—more coupled battleships. It won't be long now, we guess, before five new columns appear in your favorite newspaper. Because of wartime restrictions German beer is now so thin, we understand, that hardly anyone can tell the difference in Berlin between a heavy drinker and a teetotaler.

They'll fight the battle of sophomores tomorrow night in the Iowa fieldhouse when Iowa's newcomers meet the fast-traveling youngsters of Minnesota's cage team in the Big Ten opener. The contest, scheduled to get underway at 7:35, throws together two comparatively inexperienced Iowans, who have dropped four out of their seven games to date. Despite the fact that they are performing without the veteran Hawkies will depend mainly on stars of last year, the Gophers have been rolling merrily along down the usually rocky road of non-conference competition. The Minnesota team has piled up a tremendous point total in smashing seven preliminary opponents, in contrast to the record of the service are inexperienced in Big Ten competition. It is again up to the sophomore pair of Vic Siegel, leading Iowa scorer, and curly-topped Bill Wheeler, to lead the Hawkies scoring. In seven games, Siegel has marked up a neat total of 62 points, an average of nearly 10 markers to the game. Wheeler, unable to hit at first, has apparently settled down to the serious business of throwing them in and has swelled his combined scoring total to 37 points. Chief among Wheeler's feats has been that of the Marquette tilt in which he steamed along to a 17 point evening, the individual one-game Iowa scoring record for this year. Backing this pair will be Kenny Bastian, veteran center, who will probably change off with another veteran, Dick Evans, and the sophomores, Dick Hein and

Bruce Fountain. The center post has been rather uncertain thus far, with all of the candidates fairly equal in ability and none of them able to hit consistently. At guards, Williams plans to start Tommy Lind and Erwin Prasse, both veterans. With this pair on the back court to lend experience to a quintet that has been long on speed but short on steadiness, the Hawkies may be able to steady what has been a rather shaky defense. It is also probable that Williams will use his three sophomore guards, Vince Harsha, Rudy Soderquist and Paul Siglin, at times during the game. Following the game, the Hawkies will get ready for a meeting Monday night with the highly-rated Hoosier quintet that wears the basketball crimson of Indiana, always a powerful entry. The Hawks will leave Iowa City Sunday.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL
• Under-Cover Man
• Pros Awfully Good
• Rules Reasonable

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Joe Dey wound one leg around the other until he looked like a totem pole, violated the smoke ordinance with one great puff of a fat cigar, and reckoned that, yes, there was no news.

Under-Cover Man
Joe Dey is the under-cover man of the U. S. G. A. As executive secretary he just does all the work, but you can't find his name anywhere but in the telephone book. Just the guy who makes the waves that keep the golf boat bobbing across the stage.

"We have our annual meeting Saturday," he explained, "and everything is in this pamphlet, but it can't be used until then." We asked him casually why it might not be a bad idea to rate the first 10 amateurs in the same manner ratings are given in the other sports, and that brought a question back that was a stumper.

"Why?" he asked. Just for publicity fodder? The Walker cup choices just about serve the same purpose, don't they? Nine players are selected, but we make no attempt to list them in order. We just put the names down alphabetically and let it go at that. I'd hate to try to list them 1-2-3-4.

"Yes, I've heard some suggestions for a Ryder cup-Walker cup match for charity. It would be interesting, wouldn't it?" Which was quite a frank statement for a fellow who isn't in much of a position to speak without getting together a quorum of committee-men to see that it was quite all right.

Dey has his misgivings as to just how the amateurs would fare in such a match.

Pros Awfully Good
"Those pros are awfully good," he mused. "Of course match play is the amateurs' game, but the pros are more consistent. Funny, isn't it, how some players are fine match players and fold up in medal play? Psychology, I guess. Just the difference in playing a flesh and blood opponent and cold figures."

"The really good amateurs, though, are good medal players too. Take Goodman, Jones, Ouire, Ward for example. Ward always has been a fine medal player."

"You hear a lot about Bud Ward now, what a fine player he is. It's true, but if he hadn't won the amateur he'd just be another fellow who didn't win the open. He'd have won that if it weren't for a brace of fives on two par 3 holes."

"And speaking of good amateurs, don't overlook Ray Billows. He was runnerup the last two years in the National, and that's something."

Sig Eps Win Intramural Tilt, 23-20
The pledge fraternity league in the intramural basketball tournament resumed play last night as four games were played off. Sigma Phi Epsilon nosed out Delta Tau Delta in a close game by the score of 23-20. The Sigma Phi Epsilon's had a one-point lead at the end of the first period and at the end of the second period by a 15-14 margin.

Phi Kappa Sigma downed Delta Upsilon to the tune of 28-25. The score at the end of the first period stood at 12-12. Phi Kappa Sigma forged ahead to lead 18-13 at the end of the second period. These three points gave them a nine point margin.

Phi Epsilon Pi defeated Beta Theta Pi 25-24 in the last 10 seconds of play on a field goal by Marty Robinson. Abe Rosenberg was high scorer for the Phi Eps with 11 points.

Sigma Chi won over Theta Xi by the score of 30-22. Rude parked the Sigma Chi attack by notching 10 points. Rumble was second with eight.

First of Hillcrest trounced Second South 26-11. Bergstrom and Smith starred for the winning team.

U-High Meets Williamsburg Here Tonight
U-High fans will have their first chance to get a glimpse of the recently remodeled gym of the Blues tonight when the River school clashes with the highly-touted Williamsburg five in a double bill that begins promptly at 7 o'clock.

The Blues will go into the contest with two strikes on them. Captain Chuck Means, veteran guard, definitely will not start because of sickness. Also the Williamsburg outfit has the edge in experience and practice. The invaders have many more games under their belt and have made a number of successful showings against some of the powerhouse outfits of the state. While Coach Brechler's boys remained idle over the holidays, the Williamsburg quintet met several foes.

Yesterday's practice was the third drill since Dec. 14 for the northsiders. Although the varsity didn't function as well last night as it did Wednesday, the Blues still look decidedly improved. Most of the drill was spent with the first string using a fast break from a zone defense. The success of this type of offense will be largely dependent upon George Lehman, lanky sophomore center who is improving rapidly. Cy Beyne has been taking over Means' place as he has been taking over Means' place to handle the position in good shape.

Umpire Dies
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 4 (AP)—John B. Haskell, 70, former major league baseball umpire and state representative from Jackson county (Kansas City) for 13 years, died yesterday. Haskell, a native of Omaha, officiated in the American league in the 90's and played in what then was called the Western league.

Play Begins Tomorrow In Frat B Loop
The class B fraternity league in the intramural basketball tournament will inaugurate play tomorrow afternoon. Nine games are scheduled and any of the teams may practice in the field house any time today.

The schedule for Saturday's games is as follows:

Phi Epsilon Pi vs. Phi Kappa Sigma
Alpha Sigma Phi vs. Gamma Eta Gamma

Feder Sticks To Apostoli Despite Bettina's Poundage
By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Fearless Freddy Apostoli's message to the boys who like to bet a bob or two on the fights, is not to sell him short in his light-heavyweight debut tomorrow night just because Melio Bettina is a southpaw.

Fearless Freddy, you recall, was king of the middleweights hereabouts until Ceterino Garcia brought along the revolution and his right hand a few months ago. Bettina bossed the light-heavyweights until Billy Conn took over last summer. Tomorrow, Freddy and Melio meet in a 12-rounder in Madison Square Garden from which may come Conn's next 175-pound challenger.

Bettina, the sturdy Beacon, N. Y., beller who lost two decisions to Conn during 1939, has been installed a 5 to 9 favorite for this tussle. One reason for this price is that Bettina is of that troublesome clan known as southpaw-fighters who box from just an opposite stance to that usually employed, and therefore considerably tougher for opponents to solve.

"So what," was the fearless Freddy's comment. "Bettina isn't the first southpaw I've fought—and whipped. What was the matter with Lou Brouillard and George Nichols. And don't forget, I only won the middleweight championship from a lefty, Young Corbett."

Bettina and Apostoli each has met Conn twice, and each lost twice to the current light-heavyweight "Mr. Big." Should one or the other win convincingly tomorrow, it isn't unlikely promoter Jacobs will have Conn take a vacation from his forthcoming heavyweight campaigning to tangle with the victor for the 175-pound belt.

Regular Guard Has Foot Injury
Merten Hoping New Offense To Bring Hawklets Victory
Bob King, regular starting guard for the Iowa City high Hawklet cagers, may be lost to the team for tonight's conference game with Wilson high of Cedar Rapids as the result of an infected foot, it was learned yesterday.

King, a dependable defensive man and "clutch" man when it comes to point getting, missed practice yesterday morning, and it was feared that the foot would not respond enough to medical treatment to enable him to play tonight. It was King who won the Williamsburg game early in the season with a last second ball stealing act and a resulting setup which gave Iowa City a one-point game advantage.

Undaunted, Coach Francis Merten's slumped team are seeking their first win in four games from the Wilson Ramblers. With his cagers showing a great improvement in drills this week, Merten is depending upon a new offense to bring in a Little Hawk victory.

With big Dick Cuberson manning the peak in dependable style, Iowa City will show a fast-breaking offense in a game for the first time this year. It will undoubtedly come in the form of a surprise to City high opponents for Merten has been doing on good ball-handling combined with deliberate shooting to pick up his game points. Russ Hirt, the peak of the highly effective fast break last year, was lost by graduation, and it was not thought that anyone on this year's roster could fill his shoes. Cuberson's showing, therefore, has come as a pleasant addition to the Red and White bag of tricks.

Wilson, tail-ender in the Valley league, has won only one game so far this year, an early-season victory over Manchester. Since then the Ramblers have dropped games to West Waterloo, Independence, Roosevelt, and McKinley for a disastrous half-season record. The Rapids quintet have one weapon on their side, however, the law o' averages. Wilson has yet to win a varsity athletic contest from Iowa City. Tonight may be the night, but the Blue and Gold will have to do some tall stepping to combat the determined Hawklets in their bid for a win. Tvrdik, a forward, is the chief

Pacific Coast Conference Reveals Athletic Violations
Acts of Misconduct, Plague Organization Of College Football
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4 (AP)—Pacific coast conference faculty representatives admitted today the 10-member collegiate organization is plagued by abuses and violations of rules governing its athletic administration.

Portions of the famed Edwin N. Atherton report, a fact-finding survey completed by the former FBI agent, were summarized for public consumption.

Except for the stamp of authority, the revelations disclosed nothing not already known. Acts of misconduct, side-stepping of mutual agreements, and the like, have been whispered through the conference for years.

PRESSBOX PICKUPS By OSCAR HARGRAVE

Among the things the many bowl games didn't decide was the right of any team to the mythical national championship. Southern Cal, of course, gave a demonstration of power and the Texas Aggies did likewise, but that leaves the two still as leading claimants.

The Rose Bowl game, by Dr. Eddie Anderson's report, was pretty much the Trojans all the way. Southern Cal has too much power, too many guns and was just naturally too many for the Volunteers from Tennessee. Anderson, incidentally, was one of those who predicted victory for Southern Cal. Any team that could beat the Notre Dame team we saw in Iowa stadium, he must have figured, didn't deserve short end rating in any game. Notre Dame, we might add, outscored the Georgia Tech team which so befuddled Missouri and Paul Christian in the Orange Bowl.

Which game and its aftermath bring some comment. Missouri's coach, Don Faurot, said that he had a squad of only 36 players at Miami was responsible for his defeat. He didn't have enough players for proper preparation. Considering that Notre Dame beat the Rambling Wreck, Iowa's victory over the Irish with a squad of approximately the same size during all preparations is something of a miracle.

A Milwaukee sports columnist includes two Hawkies among the athletes who helped him get his biggest sports thrills of 1939. The tops of all the thrills, he says was Nile Kinnick's performance at Camp Randall stadium, as the Hawkies rumbled over Wisconsin's powerful Badgers, 19-13.

The other Iowan to get mention was Blazing Benny Stephens, who the Wisconsin writer terms a mighty athlete on anybody's basketball team. Blazing Ben, who piled up a total college scoring record of nearly 600 points in three years, is still moving along. He leads the National Professional cage league in scoring at present.

While admitting the impossibility of anything like correct predictions, it doesn't look too improbable that Vic Siegel might near Stephens' mark some day. Siegel shoots better from out on the floor, is a smooth ball handler and seems to have the poise for a consistent worker. And, Bill Wheeler looks like the Al Coupee of the cage team. Wheeler, like Coupee, is one of those guys the crowds watch. He whips the ball around as though tossing rotten eggs at an unpopular politician. He has, in other words, that something known as "color."

Wilson threat and the leading Wilson scorer to date. Probable starting lineup for Iowa City will be Bud Lemons and Ray Sullivan at the forwards, Dick Culberson at center, and Jack Fetig, and either Mark Liljeli or Norm Paukert at the guards.

to light that most of the abuses exist in football. Most important problems presented through the survey, the statement said, were: "High pressure methods employed in competition for prospective athletes.

"Provisions of trips and entertainment for prospective athletes by alumni and other off-campus groups.

Still a White Hope

PAT COMISKEY STILL A WHITE HOPE DESPITE HIS RECENT DEFEAT BY STEVE DUDAS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns and not the perennial pennant winning New York Yankees are causing American league clubs and President William Harridge the greatest worry, the league president declared here last night.

He disclosed the league has asked each of the seven clubs to help the Browns by trading the tail-enders surplus player material.

"We're not satisfied with conditions in St. Louis," Harridge said, "and I don't mean from a financial standpoint. Don Barnes and the other St. Louis men associated with him have enough money to carry on but they can't buy the players they need to strengthen the club."

"Something has to be done to remedy the situation and the league is taking the initiative in the matter," he continued.

"It's up to the clubs to do something, for it is to their benefit if the league race is more than a one-team affair."

Harridge was non-committal on the Yanks repeating this year, saying "nobody can predict the future in baseball."

But he added "when Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, and the A's and the other clubs start reaping the harvest of their farms, then watch out, Yankees, it'll be anybody's race."

NYC Alums To Honor Gilmore, Eddie, Kinnick

Nile Will Receive Maxwell Trophy In Philadelphia Jan. 9

New York alumni of the University of Iowa will gather Jan. 13 to honor Dr. Eddie Anderson, President Eugene A. Gilmore, and Nile Kinnick.

Arlo Wilson, president of the Iowa association in New York, announced that he expects more than 250 persons of the metropolitan area to meet at the Western University club for the dinner.

Dr. Anderson and Kinnick will go to New York after the presentation of the Maxwell trophy in Philadelphia Jan. 9. It will be their second appearance in New York within six weeks, for in early December Kinnick was awarded the Heisman trophy by the Downtown A.C. and Dr. Anderson won the coach of the year award from the World-Telegram.

In addition to talks to be given by President Gilmore, Dr. Anderson, and Kinnick, the all-American halfback will serve as commentator for the motion pictures of the Iowa victory over Notre Dame.

Seven Events Face Hawkeye Sports Teams

Hawkeye teams in three sports will be in action during January as the University of Iowa engages in seven contests, four of them at home.

Iowans meet Minnesota in basketball here Saturday in the first home event of 1940. Wrestlers oppose Northwestern Jan. 13 while the swimmers will attempt to win the Iowa district A. A. U. championships Jan. 12 and 13.

The only other home event this month is the South Dakota State basketball game of Jan. 29. Iowa cagers will travel to Indiana, Michigan and Chicago.

Irish Busy At Parnell

Idle for two weeks the fighting Irish of St. Pat's swing back into action tonight against Parnell on the latter's court.

Coach Ryan will use the same starting lineup with Jack Fitzpatrick and Don Black at forwards, Bud Holland at center and Merle "Red" Miller and Bruce Beasley at the guard posts.

The southsiders have had four games, experience with two losses and as many wins. In the first game of the season, St. Pat's fell before St. Ambrose and on Dec. 19 went down in a close game with Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids.

In two one-sided victories St. Pat's downed St. Mary's of Riverside and Cosgrove.

League Teams Pile Up Points

Free scoring battles opened play last night in the city basketball league, with four teams piling up a total score that amounted to nearly 200 points in the two games.

In a close tilt, Moose nosed out West Branch in a wild game, 56 to 53. In the other game on last night's schedule, the Complete Auto quintet piled up a top-heavy margin to roll over Dycart's. The final score was 68 to 22.

Yankees Get Lee Grissom

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—This town, where the Yankees are the epitome of everything great, grinned today with pleasure at the latest coup of their world champion baseball team.

For the Yankees, figuratively thumbing their noses at the American league ban which prevents them from trading in their own league, obtained lefty Lee Grissom from the Cincinnati Reds today in one of baseball's smartest winter deals.

All they gave up was a guy named Joe—last name Beggs—from their Newark farm.

Sam Snyder Presents Talk

Student Discusses Electrical Fencing For Engineer Group

"Electric Fence Controller Characteristics" were discussed by Samuel Snyder, E4 of Clinton, at the first meeting of the new year Wednesday before the student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Patented in 1934, the electric fencing has been gaining in popularity until today there are over 200,000 electric fence controllers in use in this country, the speaker said.

The recent research studies, conducted by electrical engineers to prove the amount of current effective for electric fences and the amount dangerous, were discussed by Snyder.

The student engineer spoke of the desirable characteristics of the electric controller. He stated that today most of the commercial controllers may be classed in one of four groups, each of which has its own characteristic type of output. The four classes are the intermittent, A. C. output, inductive discharge, condenser discharge and the thermionic types. The different types were discussed by the speaker with blackboard circuit diagrams.

Westinghouse Sets Up Fund

To Give Engineering Graduate Fellowships Before April 1, 1940

The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company has set up a $25,000 trust fund to provide graduate fellowships in electrical engineering, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers announced yesterday.

Beginning in 1940, the fellowship committee of the institute will annually select the "most promising candidates" to receive the awards, which provide a minimum allowance of $500 each. The committee is also empowered to grant additional allowances. The 1940 awards will be made before April 1.

Known as the Charles Legey Fortescue fellowship, the educational trust was established as a memorial to Dr. Fortescue, "in recognition of his valuable contributions to the electric power industry." His outstanding achievements were his development of symmetrical coordinates, his work on transformer design, and his theories of lightning behavior.

Any student of electrical engineering who has received a bachelor's degree from an accredited college is eligible for a fellowship, provided he does not hold other fellowships which carry a stipend greater than the tuition required by the institution at which he proposes to undertake his graduate work.

Dr. Fortescue was graduated from Queens university, Kingston, Ontario, in 1898 as the school's first electrical engineer. Prior to his death Dec. 4, 1936, he was the recipient of 185 patents for electrical inventions achieved during his 38-year association with the Westinghouse company.

Fine Arts Festival Looms As Highlight of S. U. I. Summer

Highlight of the summer at the University of Iowa and probably the largest single event on the Iowa campus was the first fine arts festival July 16 to 23. The event was designed as a climax to the work in the school of fine arts during the summer session. Elaborate programs for the festive week were planned in the art, music and drama departments of the school. Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, was general chairman of the festival. Included on the program were noted speakers, leaders in the field of music, art and drama, and other famous persons. Highlight of the festival was a recital on Thursday, July 20, by the famed baritone, Lawrence Tibbett. Thousands of persons came from miles around and packed the university fieldhouse to hear Tibbett's only public recital of the season in the United States. Paul Green, noted playwright, came to the campus to personally direct production of his play, "The House of Connelly." Another play was given during the week—the world premiere showing of Prof. Ellsworth P. Conkle's "Paul and the Blue Ox."

New Coach

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON, head football coach, was popularly acclaimed "man of the year" on the University of Iowa campus. From the time of his arrival on the campus near the end of 1938, he was a popular man about Iowa. Now, following one of the most successful football seasons in Iowa history, Anderson is one of the university's most outstanding figures.

New WSUI Transmitter House Near Coralville

Radio Station WSUI Makes Noted Advance

One of the most outstanding advancements at the University of Iowa during 1939 was made by radio station WSUI. The university station moved into a $94,000, three-story studio building early in the fall and recently received approval of a power increase application from the Federal Communications commission in Washington, D. C. Included in the improvement of the university station's broadcasting facilities is an out-of-the-city transmitter located about two miles west of Iowa City near Coralville. At this site a four-room transmitter house has been constructed (above) and three 255-foot transmitter antennae will be built around it. Special power and communication lines have been laid from the studio building to the transmitter. Carl Menzer, director of WSUI, personally supervised the installation of all equipment in the new studio building, constructed as an addition to the engineering building. In the photo to the right above, Mr. Menzer is shown installing the control panel in the main control room at the studio building. There are two main broadcast studios, a radio instruction studio, a classroom studio and a large audience studio included in the new building. When all new equipment is installed and the transmitter is completed, WSUI will be one of the leading university-owned and operated radio stations. Included in the new transmitter equipment will be a directional radiator designed to send WSUI's programs out over the entire state of Iowa and reducing local interference to a minimum. A complete daily broadcast schedule is maintained six days a week from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. This includes programs by many state organizations, popular and classical musical programs by both local artists and by recording, news broadcasts, campus organization programs and many other series designed to give training in radio work to university students. Mrs. Pearl Bennett Broxam is program director of WSUI. WSUI was a pioneer in university radio work when it first entered the broadcasting field 20 years ago and the 1939 progress of the station launches it on its second period of pioneering.

Prof. Frank L. Mott Wins 1939 Pulitzer Prize for History

One of the greatest honors to come to the University of Iowa campus during 1939 was the announcement on May 1, that Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the university school of journalism, had been named winner of the 1939 Pulitzer prize in history for his "History of American Magazines." In the picture to the right, Professor Mott is shown working in the study of his home in Coralville. The $1,000 prize was awarded on the basis of the magazine history series. Two volumes are yet to come bringing the history down to the present. Following the award the Associated Students of Journalism, Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism sorority, gave a testimonial dinner in honor of Professor Mott. Prominent men and women in journalism from all over the mid-west came to the dinner to personally congratulate the school's director. Speakers at the dinner included representatives from both the campus, city and state organizations.

1939 Corn Monument Burned

During the football season of 1939, student pep and enthusiasm attained a new high in university history. Students repeatedly acclaimed the outstanding successes of Iowa's 1939 "Iron Men." Above is shown President Eugene A. Gilmore (left), United States Sen. Clyde L. Herring (center) and Nile Kinnick, Iowa star, officially claiming "Floyd of Rosedale" back to its native state. The bronze pig was returned as a result of the Iowa victory over the Minnesota Gophers for the first time in 10 years. Senator Herring was governor of Iowa when the pig first fell into Minnesota's hands to remain "until an Iowa football team could defeat Minnesota." That happened this year and the lower photo shows the student mass meeting which took place on the east approach of Old Capitol Monday afternoon following the victory. Classes were officially dismissed for the day and a large victory tea dance was held in Iowa Union later in the afternoon. To the left is a view of the burning of the 1939 Homecoming corn monument following the Minnesota defeat by Iowa. Burning the monument is a tradition on the campus when Iowa wins the Homecoming game and it went up in flames less than two hours after the Iowa-Minnesota game had ended Nov. 18. On other occasions during the football season unprecedented student pep was shown on the Iowa campus. Mass meetings both before and after games were noted as the largest in campus history.

Romeo, Juliet To Wed After Elopement

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Eileen Herriek and George Lowther, III, the so-called Romeo and Juliet of New York society, have eloped and will be married tomorrow, the New York Daily News says in a copyrighted story.

The sweethearts, separated because of Eileen's parents' displeasure at the romance, were reported by the newspaper to have fled to a "peculiar hamlet hundreds of miles from New York" where a license and a clergyman were ready for the ceremony.

Miss Herriek, 20-year-old daughter of former park commissioner Walter R. Herriek, head of a distinguished old family, was said to have escaped her family home in the swank east side on her use of pretending to take her dog for a walk.

Three minutes after leaving the Herriek apartment, Miss Herriek was seen to enter a taxicab which sped her across town to "the apartment of a confidante," the News says.

It adds that Lowther, 30-year-old insurance broker whom the Herrieks had once forbidden to visit their daughter and who twice brought his suit into court via the unromantic route of "habeas corpus," met her there full of happiness and honeymoon plans, and left at once for the undisclosed "hamlet," where they could be married at once. (New York law requires a three-day period between the issuance of the license and the ceremony.)

The News says Miss Herriek left home hatless and with only a simple black and cream house dress and polo coat in which she had hastily thrust a tooth brush and a comb.

These were the words attributed to the departing social registerite:

Eileen: "All I can say is that I am desperately happy to be with George at last, as I am sorry to have brought all this confusion and trouble to my friends. But all the worry is over now. From tomorrow morning on I'm going to be one of I'm upset that Eileen's parents don't like me, but I think they'll find in time that I'm the man who loves their daughter more than any one else could, and that's saying a lot."

Debators Will Discuss Soviet Over WSUI

"How Has Russia's Invasion of Finland Effected World Politics?" This question will be discussed in a forensic forum to be broadcast over radio station WSUI this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Seven university debators will participate in the discussion. They are Norman L. Krause, A3 of Hutchinson, Kan., Marvin S. Chapman, A2 of Iowa City, David L. Sayre, A3 of Ames, John C. Specific points to be discussed in connection with the subject will be the effect of the Russo-Finnish situation upon Russian status, upon the European war, upon the oriental situation, upon the Scandinavian countries, and upon the policy of the United States.

Testifies on Petition To Reduce Kansas Railroad Grain Rates

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 (AP)—Frank B. Townsend, of the Minneapolis Traffic association, testified before an interstate commerce commission hearing today on a petition to reduce railroad grain rates in the Kansas City area that "trucks imperil the entire transportation system."

"I'll support every petition to aid the rails in meeting truck competition," he said. "The mid west transportation system has been hurt by the inroads of the truckers."

"It is unfortunate that the carriers were not awake to the necessity of meeting this form of competition."

"A few years ago they were termed 'itinerant truckers,' but today they are well financed and really are traveling grain merchants."

Townsend said that by limiting the reduced rates on corn, oats and barley and direct products there of the area of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado only, as proposed by the railroads in the present hearing, the commission would be injuring certain other territories.

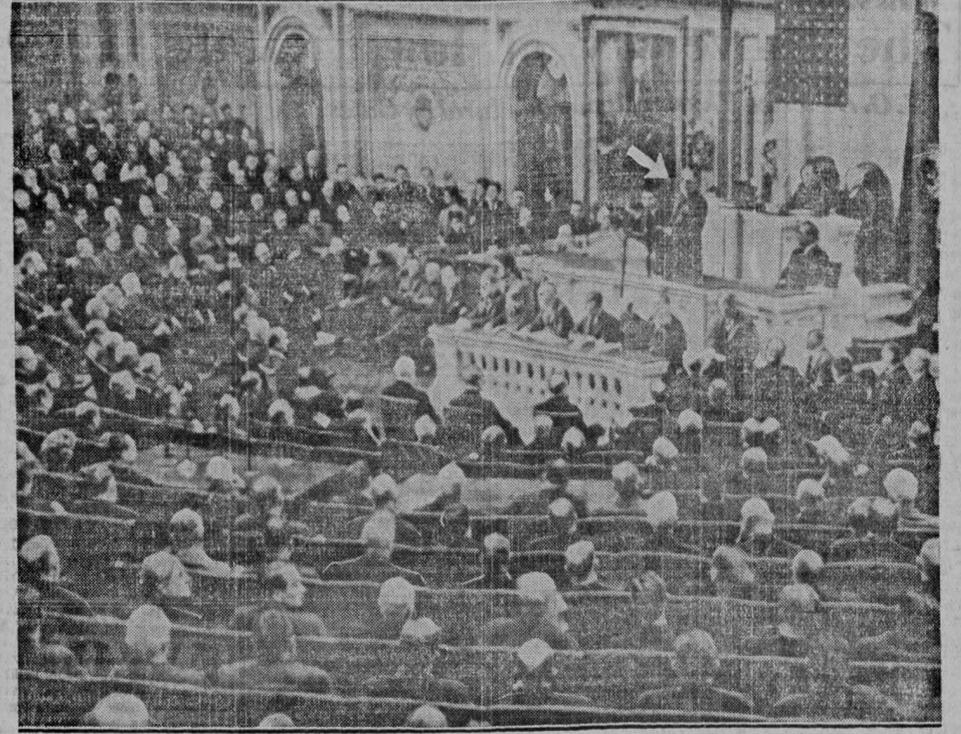

Townsend urged that the commission grant similar reduced rates on mill feed, soybean and vegetable meals also in the Minneapolis area. By limiting the reductions to coarse grains and one Kansas City area only, he said, the result would be to disturb the established Minneapolis marketing area.

Describes Area

He described this area as North and South Dakota, eastern Montana, northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Part of the session was devoted to cross examination of George A. Hoffelder, grain rate expert of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy railroad, by A. J. Leber, of St. Louis, representing the Missouri Millers' association. Hoffelder represented all the western rail-

Regional Counselor Reports Progress By Planning Board

OMAHA, Jan. 4 (AP)—Philip H. Elwood, regional counselor for the national resources planning board, reported today "notable progress" in planning in this region during 1939.

"For the first time," he said, "the picture of this Missouri valley region is being put together bit by bit, so that we may see clearly how our resources and manpower are being used and the direction in which we are moving."

Elwood, who combines his planning activities with a professorship at Iowa State college, said

'March of Dimes' Campaign To Begin Today in Iowa City

H. Shulman Appointed To Head Fight

President's Birthday To Be Celebrated At Two Dances Jan. 31

The "March of Dimes," chosen by a Johnson county committee as one of two chief ways of fighting infantile paralysis, begins today in Iowa City under the direction of Harry Shulman, appointed last night by Attorney Ingalls Swisher, chairman of the county committee for the celebration of the 1940 President's Birthday ball.

Residents of Johnson county will be contacted within the next two weeks, Attorney Swisher said, for the purpose of raising dimes to send to the White House. The funds received there, he added, will be divided in half, 50 per cent returned to Johnson county and the other half retained by the national foundation for the mutual purpose of fighting infantile paralysis.

The appointment of Shulman was approved by the president's ball committee which met last night in the Jefferson hotel.

Women Sell Tickets

The committee decided that tickets for the annual President's Birthday ball, which will be held here Jan. 31 at the Iowa City Community building and another place yet to be decided, will be sold through the Women of the Moose, who will canvass the city this week.

Last year's celebration was held on Saturday, Jan. 28, two days before the national festivities and the president's birthday, and the 1940 event is scheduled for one day after the national celebration due to the fact that university convocation falls on Jan. 30.

Like from the "March of Dimes," proceeds from the annual benefit dance will be divided equally between the local and national foundations.

This year's committee includes, besides Attorney Swisher as chairman, Kenneth Dunlop, Sam Wor-ton, Dr. T. J. Greteman, Attorney E. A. Baldwin, Edward F. Rate, L. A. Moore, Arthur Bellaire, Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, Robert Hogan, Edward Bryan, Walter J. Barrow, Attorney Robert L. Larson, Harry L. Johnson, Attorney W. J. Jackson, Ray L. Bywater, Harold M. Schuppert, Attorney William R. Hart and Shulman.

Dr. Greteman was appointed in charge of the university division in the sale of tickets.

Social Security Requires Aged Work Quarters

Editor's note: Every worker who has a social security account number card should know how the recent congressional changes in the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the social security act apply to him or her. For the benefit of the readers of The Daily Iowan, the social security board's field office manager for this area has prepared a series of brief articles, each explaining one point of the new provisions. Following is the fifth of the series.

In order to qualify for monthly old-age primary insurance benefits after 1939, a worker must be 65 years old or over, must have worked on a job or jobs covered by the social security act and must have received a certain minimum of pay from such jobs during certain periods of time.

The amount of pay he must have earned to qualify for benefits is $50 or more in each of a certain number of calendar quarters. The quarters in which a worker earns $50 or more on covered jobs are called "quarters of coverage," with the quarters beginning Jan. 1, April 1, July 1 and Oct. 1.

A worker who has already reached the age of 65 or who will reach 65 before July 1, 1940, needs only six quarters of coverage in order to qualify for monthly benefits. A middle aged or younger worker must have not less than one quarter of coverage for each two quarters elapsing after 1936 and before the quarter in which he becomes 65 to qualify.

An employee who acquires 40 quarters of coverage is fully insured for the rest of his life. For example, a middle aged mill employee after working until the end of 1949 leaves the factory to work on a farm. Beginning Jan. 1, 1937 (when the original old-age insurance provisions went into effect) and counting four quarters each year, 48 quarters elapse during the 12 years in which he worked in employment covered by the act.

Assuming he was without work during eight quarters of that time, he will still have 40 quarters of coverage, and though he never works again in covered employment, he will be "fully insured."

Thornton Says U.S. Can Help, Yet Be Neutral

In his speech on "America and the War" Prof. H. J. Thornton of the history department told the Rotary club members yesterday noon in the Jefferson hotel that the United States can and undoubtedly will be beneficial to the countries involved in the present European war which it considers as friendly nations, and still "we can maintain legal neutrality."

Allies' Defeat Injures America
"If things go against the allies in this struggle, the long-range interests of the American people will be greatly damaged," Professor Thornton continued. "If the English navy should be defeated, it would mean that the United States navy would lose a time-honored friend, and also it would mean that the United States would have to increase its naval force to twice its present number in order to protect both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans from the dominating Japanese navy."

British Navy Protects Rubber
Professor Thornton named the British navy as the protector of the source of rubber, tin and other materials which job would necessarily fall upon the United States navy if Britain should meet defeat. England also has certain holdings in the new world, and should the British be defeated, these possessions in the western hemisphere would naturally become the spoils of the victor, he said.

Should Stay Out of War
"We should stay out of war because such a war will deprive us of our most cherished liberties," Professor Thornton asserted, "and along that same line, a war would undoubtedly bring another fictitious boom. One hundred billion dollars of debt added to our already staggering $40,000,000,000 could easily result in bankruptcy," he emphasized.

Professor Thornton concluded with the statement that one thing the present European conflict has enabled us to do is to further the solidarity of the western world.

Commends Good Neighbor Policy
"The good-neighbor policy of former Presidents Coolidge and Hoover and of President Roosevelt is to be commended," he added.

Guests at the meeting included Ben Halstead and A. L. Dice, both of West Liberty; John L. Hamilton of Winnetka, Ill.; A. J. Dunn of Chicago, W. C. Odell of Cedar Rapids, and the Rev. E. E. Voigt of Iowa City.

Elks To Resume Weekly Luncheons

Local Church Will Entertain

A party and social evening will be held at the Congregational church in the vestry tonight at 8 o'clock for university students and other young people of college age, it was announced.

141 Farmers Pay $25 Each For Dinner

DES MOINES, Jan. 4 (AP)—Elmer Carlson, secretary of a farm group sponsoring a rural representation at the Iowa Jackson day dinner here, reported tonight that $25-a-plate tickets had been purchased by 141 Iowa farmers up to tonight.

At current prices, a ticket represents what the farmer would receive from the sale of two good butcher hogs or about 50 bushels of corn.

"At first we thought that to ask 100 farmers to dig up $25 for a dinner might be expecting too much," Carlson, former national cornhusking champion from Iowa, said. "However, the response demonstrates that farmers consider $25 a small investment for support of a program upon which the future of agriculture rests."

"Without question it proves that the farmers of Iowa are ready to put up a fight for their farm program, and for the administration that gave them the farm program," he said.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace will be the main speaker at the banquet Monday night. Dinner officials said the farmer delegation would be seated at a special table.

"We now hope for an even larger farmer delegation at the banquet so the sentiment of Iowa farmers toward the national farm program cannot be misunderstood," Carlson said.

Boerner's Win Schuppert Suit For Damages

A sealed verdict finding for the defendants was read in district court yesterday morning in the damage suit of Edward Schuppert against Helen Louise Boerner, Boerner's pharmacy and Fred W. Boerner. The jury deliberated 11 hours.

Schuppert sought $900 damages when, he said, most of the trees in his orchard were killed as the result of using a locust spray solution which he allegedly bought from the defendants.

Defense testimony brought out in the case indicated that Schuppert had been warned by the defendants that use of the solution on his trees would result in their destruction.

Summerwill Hearing Today

Will Challenge Court's Jurisdiction in Two Of Bates' Petitions

Ben S. Summerwill, former examiner in charge of four Iowa City banks is scheduled to appear at 2 o'clock this afternoon in district court here to challenge the court's jurisdiction over him personally and over the subject of two petitions filed recently by D. W. Bates, state superintendent of banking.

Bates' petitions charged Summerwill with the misuse of some of the banks' funds, one of them accusing him of fraud.

Summerwill, who will be defended in court today by R. S. Milner of Cedar Rapids and Frank Messer, Iowa City, made a special appearance Nov. 20 answering the charges filed by Bates.

The defendant said, in regard to Bates' first application which seeks payment of additional funds from Summerwill for a car purchased in substitution for indebtedness of Orville and Mattie Simmons and the Simmons Motor company, that he would settle for what the court decides. He said he had paid only what was asked of him.

Three days later, Oct. 19, Bates filed another petition. It was an application for the reopening of the receivership of the Farmers Loan and Trust company and for an order that Summerwill be required to make an accounting of certain deals as receiver.

Summerwill contended in both answers that the court holds no jurisdiction in the matter and added in regard to the second that he personally cannot be made a party to a case which involves the bank of which he was examiner in charge because he "had never before been a party in any plenary or other known or lawful proceeding."

Assistant Attorney General Floyd Philbrick and Roscoe Thoma, special assistant attorney general, are expected to represent Bates in today's hearing.

Judge W. W. Scott of Davenport will preside.

'Nazism Hits Harness Horses'; Dictatorial Power War Rages

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 4 (AP)—More fuel was tossed today into a flaming controversy over control of the country's harness horses activities.

The 52-year-old American trotting association of Chicago charged its youthful but powerful rival, the United States Trotting association, with assuming dictatorial powers to the financial detriment of small owners.

A year ago the United and National Trotting associations, and the National Trotting Register merged into the U. S. T. A. The American declined an invitation to join.

Claiming to govern 90 per cent of the country's trotting - pacing ovals, the U. S. T. A. barred for 1940 except from its free-for-all events, all horses which appear under the American banner. That "isolation" decree would prevent American-sponsored trotters and pacers from entering all the U. S.

T. A. stake events, including the $40,000 Hambletonian, as well as the numerous two- and three-year-old fixtures.

C. H. Perry of Chicago, secretary of the American, in a statement headed "Hitlerism hits the harness horse," declared:

"In the latest and most arbitrary dictatorial ukase ever issued by the 'lovers of the trotter' and U. S. Trotting association has decreed the utter extinction of the American Trotting association, but notwithstanding the sentence of death, the American will continue to function as in the past, and with no increase in cost to its members."

Perry questioned legality of the U. S. T. A. ruling, and declared it "would deprive a large majority of the so-called small owners of an opportunity to obtain a living from their own, and often only, means of revenue."

The American association makes no charge for drivers' licenses, does not demand compulsory registration of horses, and charges $1 for eligibility certificates. The U. S. T. A. has compulsory registration with a charge of $5 if made the year of birth, $15 if made the second year and $25 if made later. Eligibility certificates under the U. S. T. A. cost $2 up to May 1, after which they are $4.

Ohio, home of more trotters, pacers, trainers and drivers than any other state, gets a chance to enter the debate Jan. 10 as the annual meeting of district No. 1 of the U. S. T. A. is held here.

Legislators Propose $5,000 Appropriation For Expense Money

LINCOLN, Jan. 4 (AP)—The legislature's appropriations committee estimated today the cost of the special session at approximately $4,000 on the basis of a 10 day tenure.

The group proposed a $5,000 appropriation in a bill it introduced in late afternoon with the thought that the amount could be altered either up or down as seen fit.

The bill was offered after Attorney General Walter Johnson ruled the legislature has inherent power to appropriate expense money even though the item was not included in Gov. R. L. Cochran's special session call.

If the 10 day session plans materialize, and if there is a Saturday meeting this week, the legislature should adjourn by Friday, Jan. 12. It convened Tuesday for the prime purpose of boosting the state assistance appropriation.

Cost of Session
Chairman Frank Brady, Atkinson, was of the opinion that the session might cost approximately $10,000, but later consented to place the $5,000 figure in the bill, which Senator L. B. Murphy, Scottsbluff, had proposed.

The committee, meanwhile, took steps to make a thorough inquiry into tax sources before letting out an estimate on what can be expected in addition to the $8,400,000 state appropriation made by the 1939 regular session.

When the committee conducts a hearing tomorrow afternoon on LB 1 which provides for the increased assistance budget, it will call in the heads of various departments connected with the tax revenues. The bill itself contains no estimate as yet.

Resolution Read
Immediately upon convening after the noon recess, Lieut. Gov. W. E. Johnson authorized the clerk to read a list of resolutions on assistance adopted by the Nebraska old age pension association. SRB had just started reading them when Senator Amos Thomas, Omaha, objected on the ground they did not come under the governor's call.

Speaker W. H. Diers, Gresham, then suggested they be read at tomorrow morning's session and this was agreed upon.

The bill changing the state unemployment compensation act so as to conform with recently enacted federal legislation was advanced to select file—next-to-last step—without difficulty.
