Browder Convicted of Passport Fraud; Receives 4-Year Sentence, $2,000 Fine

Defends Self For An Hour Before Jury

Jurors Deliberate 45 Minutes On 'Defenseless' Case

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Earl Russell Browder, the Kansas-born American communist leader, was convicted of passport fraud in federal court today and sentenced to four years in prison and fined $2,000.

The jury of 11 men and a young woman deliberated only 45 minutes on the verdict after hearing Browder himself in a singular summation plead for his freedom for more than an hour. No other defense was offered.

Brushing aside his attorney, George Gordon Battle, Browder took the floor with the statement that he was a correspondence school lawyer.

The sentence was pronounced immediately after the jury was polled and a defense motion for delay was denied. It specified that two-year sentences on each of two counts must be served consecutively. The maximum prison sentence would have been 10 years.

Browder, a perennial candidate for political office, was the communist candidate for president in 1936 and is now a candidate for the seat in congress vacated by the recent death of Representative Sir- vich (D-NY).

Lenin Memorial
He was scheduled to speak tonight at a communist rally billed as a Lenin memorial meeting.

Browder presented a defenseless case after acknowledging at the outset that he had traveled incognito to and from conferences with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

He was accused specifically of borrowing the names of three other men and affixing them to passport visas.

This was done, his attorney explained, because as a widely known agent of the Soviet Union Browder's travels through Europe would be beset by danger if his true identity became known.

Browder's conviction in federal court came only several weeks after Fritz Kuhn was found guilty in a state court and sent to prison for stealing funds from the German-American fund which he headed.

Anticipated Conviction
The communist leader anticipated his conviction in an authorized statement last week in which the communist party said he might receive the votes of his followers while languishing in prison, like the late Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, who ran for president from an Atlanta prison cell.

Browder served a sentence in Leavenworth (Kan.) federal prison after refusing to register for the World War army draft on the ground that he was a conscientious objector.

At the sentencing today, Browder, whose official position is that of general secretary of the communist party, U. S. A., stood mute before the bench, his hands clasped behind his back.

His bail of $7,500 was continued until Wednesday when he must appear for approval of a new bond (See BROWDER, Page 4)

U. S. Rebukes British

Note to British Reveals Existence of Diplomatic Protest on November 28, Previously Unmentioned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—If in diplomacy one note leads to another, sometimes one note uncovers another.

This was the case tonight with the state department's aide memoire (memorandum) to Britain, protesting against British treatment of American ships at Gibraltar and in the Mediterranean.

The aide memoire referred in passing to a note presented to Great Britain Nov. 28 by Ambassador Kennedy on instructions from the state department.

And this was the first mention of the fact that such a note existed. The note questioned the legality of certain types of interference by the British government with cargoes moving from one neutral country to another. State department officials refused tonight to divulge its contents further.

The unwitting revelation, however, brings to a total of five the diplomatic communications handed—or known to be handed—to the British government in the last two months. The others, in addition to the aide memoire made public tonight, include notes protesting the British blockade of German exports, her interference with American mails and her action in taking American ships into the combat area.

Japan Accuses Great Britain Of 'Serious Unfriendly Act'

English Seize 21 German Seamen From Japanese Ship

TOKYO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Japan in a vigorous protest tonight accused Britain of "a serious unfriendly act" in seizing 21 German seamen from the Japanese liner Asama Maru 35 miles off the east coast of Japan.

The Japanese government, declaring "forcible measures" were used to capture the Germans Saturday, reserved the right to demand return of the prisoners and requested a "full, valid explanation."

British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie received the protest at the foreign office in an interview with Masayuki Tani, vice minister of foreign affairs, who said Japan attaches "greatest importance" to the incident.

The Asama Maru, bound for Yokohama from San Francisco, was halted by a shot across her bows from a British warship. A British boarding party seized the 21 German seamen of military age but did not molest 17 other German seamen and passengers. Two seamen escaped detection by hiding.

British authorities indicated that the captives, part of a group who formerly served on Standard Oil vessels in Central and South America, would be interned at Hongkong.

A foreign office communique said Tani told Sir Robert that Japan adhered to the principle that only those "embodied in the armed forces" of a belligerent should be yielded to a demanding belligerent.

Dewey Goes To Boston

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, left on a New England campaign trip today. He will deliver his third major speech tomorrow night in Boston. It will be broadcast nationally (6:30 - 7 p.m. CST NBC-WJZ).

Ship Delay Unduly Long, Note States

Italian Ships Held 4 Days, American 11 for Inspection

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The United States has expressed to Great Britain "its serious concern" over the treatment British authorities are accorded American shipping in the Mediterranean area, particularly at Gibraltar.

This was disclosed tonight when the state department made public an aide memoire, handed to the British ambassador Saturday, which protested that American ships at Gibraltar were being detained three times as long as British contraband authorities hold Italian ships there.

The aide memoire, appending a list of nine American ships detained by British authorities at Gibraltar between November 15 and December 15, pointed out that they were held an average of 12.4 days each, whereas Italian ships were held an average of only four days, and demanded assurances that the examination of American ships be speeded up. The present situation was declared to discriminate against American shipping.

Gibraltar Chief Port
Since the proclamation of the combat area which keeps American ships out of north European waters, Gibraltar has become the chief port of examination of American ships by British authorities.

The protest was another in a series of representations made recently by the United States on such matters as Britain's blockade of German exports, her taking American ships into the combat area, and her interference with American mails.

In addition, Secretary Hull called the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, to his office today and drew his attention to the plight of American tobacco growers as a result of Britain's refusal to buy American tobacco although, for political reasons, she is increasing her orders of Turkish tobacco.

The aide memoire, after recalling that this government had already protested British interference with cargoes moving from one neutral country to another, said:

Unwarrantable Delay
"In addition, it now regrets the necessity of being forced to observe not only that British interference, carried out under the (See SHIPS, Page 5)

Finns Report Stopping Red Line Thrusts

HELSINKI, Jan. 22 (AP)—To the accompaniment of loudspeaker broadcasts that the Germans were coming and "would kill all Finns," Russia's Red army was reported in military dispatches today to have lost 800 troops in a fruitless attempt to crack Finland's Mannerheim line.

(Nazis in Berlin immediately replied that Germany's position remained "friendly toward the Russian cause but strictly that of an observer.")

Heavy fighting was reported northeast of Lake Ladoga in the direction of Kitta, Kollantjoki and Ilomantsi with the Russians leaving more than 600 dead on the battlefields. The Red army appeared ready for a new effort after concentrating new supplies and munitions.

Another Soviet attack at Taipale on the Karelian Isthmus was "halted in its infancy" it was reported in tonight's communique covering yesterday.

"After yesterday's fighting (at Taipale) about 120 enemy dead were counted in our foremost positions," the communique said, "and on the ground in the front of our lines were the bodies of several hundred others."

IS IT—BRR!—COLD ENOUGH—BRR!—FOR YOU?

A nation-wide cold wave which has 130,000,000 teeth-chattering Americans quivering and yearning for the good old summer time has made winter a bitter, icy fact in every corner of the United States except the extreme southern portions. Pictured above are scenes typical throughout the country today—except the photo, in top center, of the perspiring chap who gazes at a thermometer showing 110 in the shade. We print this picture just to remind you that only six months ago you were longing for a little winter weather. But that seems a long, long time ago.

United States Pays Tribute To Borah

National Leaders Attend Solemn Ceremony In Senate Chamber

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt and other national leaders bowed in grief today at a state funeral for the revered elder statesman, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

Senator Glass (D-Va.) and many another brushed tears from their eyes in the hushed half-gloom of the senate chamber as congressional chaplains prayed over the slate gray, steel casket containing the remains of the man who came out of the west 33 years ago to win fame in some of history's most momentous debates.

After the ceremony the doors were locked, and the body lay in solitude, except for an honor guard of policemen, until the time at 5:10 p.m. (CST) to start the long journey back to Idaho, where burial will take place Thursday in Boise.

Aside from the solemn grandeur of the scene—floor and galleries packed with black-clad diplomats, legislators, judges and Borah's friends from private life—the ceremony itself was simple.

Mrs. Henrietta Bagger Plum, well-known Washington singer, opened the service with the hymn, (See BORAH, Page 4)

Kuble Asks Where Herring Got 'Illegal Liquor' Reports

DES MOINES, Jan. 22 (AP)—Polk County Attorney Francis J. Kuble wants to know where Senator Clyde L. Herring (D-Ia.) got his information on shipments "by the truckload" of illegal liquor into central Iowa.

Kuble today sent a telegram to Herring in Washington asking for the names of persons who gave the senator the details of purported liquor smuggling in this area.

The senator could not be reached immediately for comment. Herring has charged that illegal liquor has been coming into central Iowa "by the truckload." The senator said he had obtained his information from men "who were reliable and in a position to know."

Kuble said he would arrange for Herring's appearance before the special liquor grand jury.

"If this is not agreeable for you, I will appreciate it if you will furnish me these names either in a telegram or letter so that I may immediately call them before the grand jury," Kuble's message said.

House Rules Group O. K.'s Resolution

Document Seeks Reestablishment Of Dies' Investigators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—A resolution to reestablish the house committee on un-American activities cleared its first legislative hurdle today despite fresh criticism of the committee's methods and a charge that its chairman, Rep. Dies (D-Tex.), had "actively associated" with a "fellow traveler" of the Christian front.

The house rules committee unanimously approved the resolution and put it on the calendar for house consideration tomorrow. Leaders said its approval by the house was virtually certain. The Dies committee's authority expired Jan. 3.

Rep. Hook (D-Mich) linked Dies' name with the Christian front, 17 of whose members have been arrested in New York and charged with plotting to overthrow the government.

Hook appeared before the rules committee with a mass of documents he wanted the members to look over, and when they refused, put into the congressional record a statement declaring that Dies was in "active association with a prominent collaborator" of the Christian front, and had been "taking us for a ride for his own political purposes." This "collaborator," Hook said, was Merwin K. Hart of New York City.

Attempt To Smear
Later, acting chairman Starnes (D-La) of the Dies committee issued a statement which branded Hook's statement "untrue" and called it "a work of desperation in a last-minute attempt to smear chairman Dies and the work of the special committee on un-American activities."

"I regret he has seen fit to attack a member in a personal manner who is unable to be present to defend himself because of illness," Starnes said. Dies is ill at his Texas home.

Starnes asserted that the committee "is prepared to produce evidence to show that the Christian mobilizers planned to assault Chairman Dies."

Endanger Rights
Before the rules committee, Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) asserted that continuance of the Dies investigation might endanger the democratic rights of minority groups and that the Dies committee's actions were "such as to create a type of hysteria engendered in 1917 prior to America getting into the war."

Representatives Voorhis (D-Ca) and Casey (D-Mass) of the Dies committee suggested that restrictions be imposed to assure that the inquiry would be "more analytical and less unfair."

Rep. Mason (R-Ill), a third committeeman, contended, however, that the house should not set up rules for the committee and that it would adopt "the proper procedure" of its own accord.

Hook's Statement
Hook's statement described Hart as "a kind of Park avenue operator for the Christian front."

"If he is not a member of it," Hook said, "he is certainly one of the most energetic and cooperative 'fellow travelers' of the Christian (See DIES, Page 8)

Ships Answer SOS Quickly After Strange Pre-Dawn Explosion

MARSEILLE, France, Jan. 22 (AP)—Survivors of the burning Italian liner Orazio told tales of escape in borrowed lifeboats on a stormy sea when 48 were landed here today.

The ship was a gigantic torch on the Mediterranean 38 miles off here yesterday morning after a mysterious pre-dawn explosion.

The fire burned all but two of the vessel's lifeboats.

But rescue vessels which speedily answered distress calls sent over their own lifeboats and Italian officials said all 412 passengers were believed saved and most of the crew of 231.

The Orazio, it was disclosed, was shaken by an explosion in the engine room at 4 a.m., and then almost instantly was in flames from bow to stern.

Engineers who best might have helped explain whether the explosion was due to engine trouble or possibly to sabotage were reported dead—killed instantly by the initial blast.

"I think about four or five were trapped in the engine room," said second officer Giorello.

In Paris, an official statement indignantly denied what was termed a German insinuation that a French contraband control party, which boarded the Orazio before the fire, was responsible for sabotage. The statement was issued in (See RESCUED, Page 8)

Court States Labor Board Can't Dictate

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—The U. S. circuit court of appeals held today that the national labor relations board has no authority to "dictate" to an employer the number of workers he must use to run his business.

In a two-to-one decision overruling a board order requiring reinstatement of a dismissed employe of the Union Drawn Steel company, Beaver Falls, Pa., a subsidiary of Republic Steel corporation, the court declared:

"The right of the employer, for general economic reasons, to make use of a small staff to operate his business, to decrease his production, or to go out of business . . . must be deemed to be one of the employer's weapons in the general economic struggle."

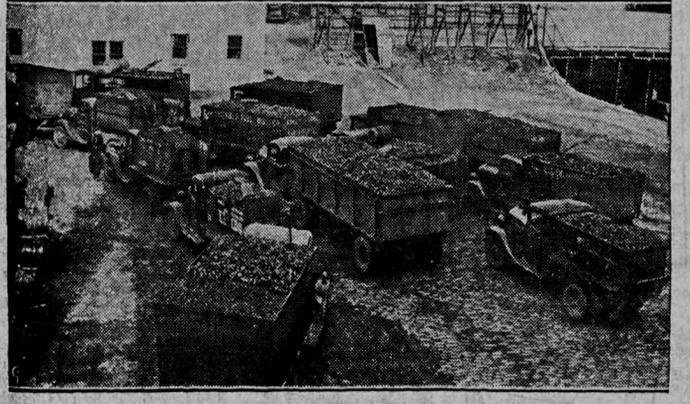

At the same time the court unanimously upheld the board in requiring the steel company to withdraw "all recognition" of two "plant" unions.

'Buy American' Given As Solution For Economic Problems

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Charles Goodwin, secretary of the United States Potters association, advocated today a "buy American" program as a solution of the country's economic problems.

"If everyone would buy American, we never would have idle men," said Goodwin in an interview.

ardis passports had been obtained. The defense contention that Browder as a communist official was thus traveling merely "incognito" as a matter of safety, the prosecutor declared sardonically, was "a classic understatement."

"Was the United States allowed to go incognito?" he asked. "Certainly not."

"The United States was used and abused. We have the case of a man who set his purposes above those requirements laid down in our democratic form of government."

"What a grand use of the freedom of our country and the safe conduct set forth in our passport! The American people have a sense of humor; but there comes a time when such light treatment of our institutions demands stinging rebuke."

Browder Considers Conviction An 'Honor' By PAT McGRADY

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Earl Browder, the communist leader sentenced to four years in prison for passport fraud, told some 20,000 demonstrators at a party mass meeting tonight that he considered the conviction "a great honor" and would carry on his campaign for election to congress.

"Today," he said, "I received in your behalf a sentence against our movement. At the same time, carrying out appeal from the court of the ruling class of America to the people of America, the verdict is but one movement in the drive toward war."

"In this court today I was prohibited from speaking except within the limits laid down by the judge."

"(Displacing his attorney, Browder argued his own case to the jury. He did not take the stand during the trial.)"

Speaking in Madison Square Garden—its seating accommodations of about 20,000 were filled—Browder asserted that "above all, I was prohibited from discussing the motives of the prosecution."

"It is not enough to say that the motives of the prosecution lie in the general campaign of the ruling class to prepare this country for war. The trial today is the opening gun to curb the labor movement."

"It belongs with the war and hunger budget—the campaign against labor leaders."

"Lead Kindly Light." There was no accompaniment.

"I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord," began the house chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery. The senate chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Ze Barney Phillips, then read a lesson from the 14th chapter of St. John and the eighth chapter of Romans.

Another song by Mrs. Plum, "Abide With Me," and a prayer, including a supplication for Mrs. Borah and the late senator, concluded the service. The Rev. Dr. Phillips raised his hand over the casket in a blessing.

Desk Flower-Decked Throughout the ceremony, Senator Borah's desk, near the rear of the chamber, stood empty, with a spray of brilliant red roses cascading over its top.

President Roosevelt sat with folded hands and sorrowful mien directly in front of the casket in the well of the chamber. Across the aisle was the distinguished chief justice, Charles Evans Hughes, and members of the supreme court, who knew Borah as a man learned in constitutional law.

Behind the court were ranged the representatives of foreign countries, to whom Borah's thundering voice was one of the most authoritative in the nation during the years he served as chairman of the foreign relations committee.

Mrs. Borah, known affectionately to thousands in Washington as "little Borah," sat in a senate lobby out of sight of the throng in the chamber. With her was Cora Rubin, the senator's secretary for more than 30 years.

Back of the president and his cabinet sat the senator's congressional colleagues, among whom were to be found some of the great-

Senators Moved

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), a close friend, kept his eyes lowered throughout the service. Senator Johnson (R-Cal.), his companion in the successful campaign to keep this nation out of the league of nations, sat with his head bowed. Senators King (D-Utah) and Connally (D-Tex.) had tears in their eyes.

Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead sat together above the billowing tiers of flowers around the senate rostrum. Those who sent floral tributes included both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt and an anonymous 16-year-old admirer who enclosed a quotation from J. G. Holland's poem, "Wanted," with a small potted flower.

"God give us men," the poem began, "the time demands strong minds, great hearts, true faith and willing hands."

Lost "Needed Man" A note at the bottom said that the "United States lost a needed man when the senator died."

Mrs. Roosevelt sat apart from the nation's officialdom in the diplomatic gallery. The first lady appeared to be weeping as she left the gallery soon after her husband, last to enter and first to leave, was escorted from the chamber.

A congressional delegation was appointed to accompany the body to Boise on a funeral train leaving at 5:10 p. m. (CST). Members of the group include: Senators Auswhich would allow him continued freedom pending appeal. He left the courtroom replying "No comment" when asked if he had anything to say.

When the jury filed in to give its verdict—guilty on both counts of the indictment—he sat rocking stolidly in his swivel chair and gazing vacantly at the juror's box.

U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill asked a sentence of five years and the 5,000 maximum fine.

"It does seem to me," he told the court, "that in addition to the passport charge, the accompanying offenses of perjury and tampering with this country's vital statistics should be taken into consideration."

The 4-year sentence could be reduced to three for good behavior. Pleading his own case, Browder pictured himself as the victim of a federal campaign against "civil rights."

"I am a communist; I am secretary of the communist party (U.S.A.); I am proud of it. I have nothing to apologize for," he said at the end.

Emotional Oratory Closing for the government, Cahill accused Browder of "emotional oratory," and denounced him as the "mocker of our most sacred institutions."

The case went to the jury at 3:09 p. m. (EST) after a charge from Judge Alfred Cox that "matters of public policy or interest" were not to be considered. This was a reference to the defendant's ideology.

Browder, his graying hair slicked down, stood before the jury for an hour and quarter, moving but little and reading occasionally from a thick manuscript, arguing sometimes with Judge Cox and sometimes with Cahill, and returning over and over again to the claim that the case against him was "flimsy and frivolous."

The charge was that he used a passport obtained by false representations—that having got such documents in 1921, 1927 and 1931 under the names "Nicholas Dozenberg, George Morris and Albert Henry Richards" he swore when he obtained a passport under his name in 1934 that he never had one before.

With this 1934 passport he re-entered the country in 1937 and in 1938 from his travels to the Soviet union and elsewhere abroad.

In all his long arguments he did not specifically admit nor deny that he had at times been "Dozenberg," "Morris" and "Richards." Dozenberg, a recanting communist, has pleaded guilty to similar passport fraud charges and was a government witness against Browder. His sentencing was postponed until after Browder's trial.

Browder asserted repeatedly that he was charged merely with having re-entered this country under a valid passport, and stressed the fact that as an "American born" citizen the constitution protected him in any case from exclusion.

Argument Called Insult Cahill, declaring that Browder's argument in that connection was an "insult" to the country, spoke of the "deep schemes" by which the faked Dozenberg, Morris and Rich-

To Receive Entries April 3 For Student Salon of Art

Union Board Lists Rules for Seventh Annual Art Exhibit

Entries in the seventh annual Student Salon of Art, to be sponsored by Union Board in the main lounge of Iowa Union April 7 to 15, should be left at the information desk of Iowa Union Wednesday, April 3, Ralph F. Evans, G of Deatur, Ill., chairman of the exhibit, announced yesterday.

The six entries considered best by the judges will form part of the Big Ten traveling exhibit which is sent from college to college during the spring.

The contest is designed to stimulate greater interest in art among the student body and to promote a greater production of original works by university students.

Rules Listed

All works should have the following information typed or printed and attached to the back: (1) the title of the work, (2) the name and address of the artist, and (3) the classification of the artist in the university.

The salon is open to undergraduates and graduate students in all colleges and departments of the university.

Students entering work must signify a willingness to have their productions shown in the Big Ten exhibit if their work is selected for that purpose.

No more than three works in any one medium may be entered by any one student, although each exhibitor may enter work in all media.

Awards

Quality and popularity awards will be provided by Union Board, the first to be determined by a committee of judges and the second by a popular ballot conducted the first day of the exhibit when a tea and reception will introduce the works to the public.

In addition, special awards may be offered by private individuals with special specifications, providing those specifications do not involve commercial obligations or implications.

Assisting Evans are Cornelia Shrauger, A4 of Atlantic, and Helen Kading, N4 of Casey, both Union Board members.

Install Gages For Rainfall Instruments Determine Run-Off, Flood Predictions, Howe Says

Run-off and flood predictions in the upper Mississippi valley will be made much more certain by use of 115 rainfall gages.

Prof. J. W. Howe, acting chairman of the department of mechanics and hydraulics at the University of Iowa, reported the installation of the gages.

The work was done by the regional office of the United States Weather bureau, working in cooperation with the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research.

Professor Howe said that 75 recording gages were installed to measure the rainfall, and that 40 non-recording ones were set up in the upper Mississippi valley.

The project, he said, will be continued in 1940. Tentative plans also are taking form for an investigation to discover more fully the laws governing evaporation. Although evaporation research has been in progress during the past year, it is hoped to go beyond the limits of the present work, he declared.

Don't Say 'A Young Man With A Horn'

Tommy Dorsey's Trumpeter Objects, Wants To Keep Slate Clean

By ED MANNION

Trumpet Man Lee Castaldo who has left University hospital to take over his regular job with Tommy Dorsey's orchestra, does not want to be called "A Young Man With A Horn."

"The title is swell and all that," was the explanation to his unusual request, "but I want to be different. You see, I'm about the only trumpet player in the nation who hasn't been tagged with that cognomen at one time or another, and I want to keep my record clean."

All of which at least tags him as "A Young Man With A Sense of Humor," and prepares one somewhat for the sudden outbursts of exuberance, frankness, and downright charm which characterize the 24-year-old swing musician.

It was a sick and badly suffering trumpet player who displayed his wares at the Military Ball here not long ago. Castaldo admits that his jaw was badly swollen by an infected tooth during that performance, a circumstance which later sent him to the hospital for treatment and a much needed rest. How much the latter was enjoyed can be realized by the fact that the band had no rest, except that which could be caught on the bus, from a previous engagement the night before in Minneapolis.

Ships--

theory of contraband control, has worked a wholly unwarrantable delay on American shipping to and from the Mediterranean area; but also that the effect of such action appears to have been discriminatory.

"Since ample time has elapsed to permit the setting up of an efficient system of control, it would seem that the present situation can no longer be ascribed to the confusion attendant on early organization difficulties."

The aide memoire went on to say that American vessels proceeding to neutral ports "have been detained at Gibraltar for periods varying from nine to 18 days; that cargoes and mail have been removed from such ships; that official mail for American (diplomatic) missions in Europe has been greatly delayed; that in some instances American vessels have been ordered to proceed, in violation of American law, to the belligerent port of Marseilles to unload cargoes, and there to experience further delays."

(The neutrality act forbids American ships to go to belligerent ports in the European area.)

Italians Favored

"It is further reported," the memoire added, "that cargoes on Italian vessels receive more favorable consideration than similar or equivalent cargoes carried by American ships, and that Italian vessels are permitted to pass through the control with far less inconvenience and delay."

The appended list of ships covered those detained during the period from Nov. 11 to Dec. 23 last.

After calling pointed attention to the average delay to American ships—12.4 day—and to Italian ships in the same period—four days—the aide memoire concluded:

"This government must expect that the British government will at least take suitable and prompt measures to bring about an immediate correction of this situation. It will appreciate receiving advices that the situation has been corrected."

The ships listed were the Express, Nishmaha, Examiner, Excambion, Exmouth, Extavia, Exochorda, Exmoor and Explorer.

From the Examiner, which was detained 18 days 11 bags of first class mail were removed.

Iowa Bankers Turn to Small Personal 'Installment Loans'

DES MOINES, Jan. 22 (AP)—With more money in the vaults than they know what to do with, Iowa bankers have turned more and more to making small, personal "installment loans."

Three hundred members of the Iowa Bankers association spent this afternoon discussing problems arising in connection with such loans. They were here for a mid-winter banking conference.

Carleton Sias, vice-president of the Waterloo Savings bank, Waterloo, discussed the possibilities of this kind of loan in an industrial area; J. E. King, president of the Peoples National bank at Albia, took up the same question in relation to a coal mining area; S. R. Torgeson, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants State bank, Lake Mills, talked about consumer credit (installment loans) in a grain growing area; Charles E. Fleener, cashier of the Farmers & Merchants Savings bank, Waterville, CRESTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Hunton lime, a geological strata in which oil was found at Falls City, Neb., has been reached in the Phillips Petroleum company's test well near here and has been found to be without productive possibilities.

Preparations are being made to set a string of 10-inch casings in the Hunton lime preparatory to drilling further to test other formations at lower levels.

Drillers now have reached a depth of 1,644 feet.

Prominent Speakers Will Discuss General Business Problems

Success of the 1939 course in industrial management has caused the University of Iowa to schedule another in June for the benefit of executives and engineers.

The 1940 course will run from June 10 to 28 and will include lectures in motion and time study, waste elimination, cost reduction, and general management problems. It will be in charge of Prof. Ralph M. Barnes, assisted by L. P. Persing of the General Electric company of Ft. Wayne, Ind.; and J. V. Balch of the university.

Five visiting lecturers have been signed. They are John A. Aldridge of Sears Roebuck company of Chicago, Ill.; W. E. Crotley, of the International Business Machines corporation of New York; Erick G. Erickson of the Buddy "L" company of East Moline, Ill.; Dr. Lillian Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J.; and J. K. Loudon of the Owens-Illinois Glass company of Toledo, Ohio.

From the university faculty, the lecturers will be Prof. W. L. Daykin of the college of commerce, Prof. Dewey Stuit, of the psychology department and Prof. C. M. Upegraff of the law college.

It is likely that other prominent speakers will be added to the roster, according to Professor Barnes. The 1939 course, first of its kind held here, was attended by persons representing 25 industries in the United States and Canada.

University To Sponsor Conference

Water works officials again will have their chance to learn new methods of their profession when the University of Iowa holds its annual water works conference in the spring.

In charge of Prof. Earle Waterman, the affair will occur either in March or May. Definite dates soon will be set. Professor Waterman contributed to the program will be water works superintendents themselves. They will lead discussions on such subjects as resources of supply, water treatment, distribution systems and operation.

Close Testimony in Fraud Case Against Norman Baker

Attorneys To Give Final Arguments In Court Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 22 (AP)—A jury that had listened to two weeks of technical testimony in the Norman Baker "cancer cure" trial today heard closing arguments in the case.

Assistant U. S. District attorney Leon B. Catlett contended the government had proven its charge that Baker and three co-defendants used the mails to defraud in advertising the Baker cancer treatment as a "cure."

"The scheme to defraud," he said, involved advertising to the effect that doctors recognized by the American Medical Association could not cure cancer "and that Baker in 1929 had discovered a sure cure for cancer and for a long list of other ailments."

had carried forth a campaign "to destroy the faith of the general public in local physicians who were members of the A. M. A." Catlett told the jury the evidence indicated that the Baker hospitals at Muscatine, Iowa, and Eureka Springs, Ark., "gave the same treatment to everyone, whether for a broken pelvis or a wart on the nose" and that it had been represented as beneficial for afflictions "from dandruff to fallen arches."

For the defense, Judge A. G. Bush of Davenport, Iowa, and W. R. Donham, former associate justice of the Arkansas supreme court, argued that the Baker hospitals had never advertised "a sure cure," but had stated in their pamphlets that all cases were not curable. They referred to testimony of 44 former Baker patients that they were cured or greatly benefitted but who, under a court ruling, were prevented from saying what their alleged ailments were.

"Who is Defrauded?"
"Who is complaining of being defrauded in this case?" asked Don-

ham. "Certainly not the cured patients who took the stand. This is the first case I ever saw where the government attempted to prosecute a fraud charge without producing any witness who had been defrauded."

Charles O. Ozias of Kansas City, asserting that the Baker and Ozias treatments "were by no means the same." He denied that all patients received the same treatment.

Assistant prosecutor W. H. Gregory and defense attorney Fred A. Isgrig, a former U. S. district attorney, remained to be heard when court recessed until morning.

Trades Group Urges Opposition to Coralville Project Cancellation

Confers With Gov. Wilson; Appears Before City Council

Group To Circulate Petitions in City; $6,000,000 Involved

The Iowa City Building Trades council representatives, after a conference in Des Moines yesterday with Gov. George A. Wilson, last night announced they would circulate petitions throughout the city and seek the support of the city council and chamber of commerce in their efforts to prevent the cancellation of the proposed $6,000,000 Coralville flood control program.

L. L. Stoeber, president of the local A. F. of L. affiliate, last night appeared before members of the city council asking its support as a representative body.

Besides Stoeber, other Iowa Citizens present at the meeting in Des Moines were Vernon Stutzman, secretary of the Central Labor union, and Everett Tompkins.

Commission Disapproves
The Iowa conservation commission Saturday voiced its disapproval of the proposal contending that such a project would damage Lake Macbride and Lake Macbride State park.

It was stated last night that such an objection would carry official refusal unless overruled by higher authority. The governor yesterday told the labor leaders he would consult both the conservation commission and the attorney general as to his authority in the case.

Stoeber said $30,000 was spent surveying the proposed program and that reports in Des Moines were that half of the $6,000,000 would be spent for labor meaning 500,000 man days of work.

Argue Labor Aspect
Stoeber argued that 500 men could have worked in such a project for three years besides the labor required for production and transportation of materials.

The conservation commission had previously stated its objections through the following three ideas:

1. Back waters from the project reservoir at times would flow across Lake Macbride, ruining the park's vegetation and carrying undesirable fish into the "made" lake.

2. The waters would sit up the beach and would submerge the bath-house. Privately-owned cottages in the park might be similarly affected.

3. Recreational value of the river in that area would be reduced.

Would Restore Water Level
Stoeber said that, according to a geologic survey, the Iowa river water level is now seven feet below normal and has dropped each year in the past decade. He said the project would materially assist in restoring the water level in the Iowa river valley.

Others of the 25 present at yesterday's conference with the governor were Ray King, president of the Iowa Building Trades council; G. D. Payn, council business agent; F. T. Goerd, business agent of building laborers; Walter Shadle, vice-president of the state council of carpenters, and C. K. Morton and Ernest St. Germain, all of Cedar Rapids.

Stutzman said in Des Moines, according to The Associated Press, that the petitions would ask that the conservation commission reopen the matter for further hearing.

Lake Macbride State park, opened in 1938, attracted 65,000 visitors in 1939. Its area is 714 acres, 139 acres of which is occupied by the lake itself.

Five Cottages Involved
Stoeber said the survey showed that removal of only five cottages would be necessary if the project is carried out.

The body of water was created by damming two streams, the result of a combination program in which emergency relief, the soil erosion service, the national park service and private enterprise all joined.

Lieut. Col. Charles P. Gross, army engineer at Rock Island, Ill., said that not only Iowa areas would benefit by the resultant flood control, but the control would aid in battling high water all the way down the Mississippi.

Investigation Bureau Seizes 'Illegal Liquor' Arrest Muscatine Man

DES MOINES, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Iowa bureau of investigation reported the seizure today of 12 cases of allegedly illegal liquor at Davenport, and the arrest of a man who gave his name as W. L. Lage of Muscatine, on charges of violating the state liquor control act.

In Lage's car, officials said, were 10 cases of whisky and two cases of alcohol bearing Illinois state liquor stamps.

Soviet Reports Skirmishes
MOSCOW (AP)—Leningrad military headquarters issued the following communique last night: "Skirmishes between reconnoitering units in all directions. In a number of areas artillery fire. Soviet aviation made reconnoitering flights."

Nation Cold—It's Winter Heavy Texas Snow, Greatest in Decade, Causes Crop Damage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wintry winds kept virtually the entire nation on the cold standard yesterday.

Although many areas enjoyed moderation, subzero readings were recorded in a dozen states, subfreezing lows were reported in 29 others and subnormal temperatures were registered at a number of points outside the frigid zones.

A recapitulation of deaths attributed to the severe weather since waves of cold moved east and south from the northwest ten days ago showed 257 had perished in 32 states.

The heaviest snow in a decade swept across most of Texas. It ranged from three to seven inches. It was the first fall in ten years in San Antonio and Houston. An inch an hour piled up in Texas.

The storm reached Little Rock, Ark., on its eastward fling. Freezing conditions, tempered somewhat by rain, chilled the citrus fruit groves in the lower Rio Grande valley for the fifth consecutive day. Crop damage in Texas was reported to be extensive, particularly to fruits, vegetables and small grains, but I. R. Castelman, plant supervisor for the Rio Grande Citrus Exchange, thought the citrus damage would be slight.

Clouds and wind saved most of Florida's citrus crop from destruction, but J. W. Milligan of the federal-state frost protection service estimated that about half the beans, peas and tomatoes in the Lake Okechobee sector would be lost as a result of heavy frost and, in a few districts, ice. The minimum temperature in that region was 27.8 above zero.

City Council Gives Permit

C. Switzer Submits Petition Asking Bill Of $144 Be Cancelled

Members of the city council at a meeting last night in the council chambers of the city hall granted a cigarette permit to the National Tea company store, 117 S. Clinton street.

A petition submitted by Clara Corlett Switzer, requested by Attorney Kenneth Dunlop, asked that the council order the cancellation of $144.48 charged against her property in the sewage disposal office.

She contended that water had been piped through her property, formerly owned by the Academy Cigar store, to the Dinette cafe, and as a result all water used in both buildings was sent through her meter.

She contended that it was not the intention of the city ordinance "that such sewage rental charges should be declared to be in a lien upon the property of the owner in cases where lessees incurred the bill and the property was not under the direct control of the owner and where the water account was charged to the lessee."

The petition was received and referred to the water committee. The monthly reports of the health department and fire department were received and placed on file.

front I can hope to find anywhere." He declared that Dies was guest of honor at a meeting of the New York state economic council in New York on Dec. 8, 1938, at which Hart presided and Fritz Kuhn, German-American bund leader, was among the guests.

"I believe that these facts showing those with whom congressman Dies has collaborated and still collaborates (so far as I know) are striking enough to make all of us in this body ask whether we really know what Dies and his committee are doing," Hook said.

"Are We Suckers?" "Are we suckers for congressman Dies? Have we been used by him to shield and actually to promote the type of organization he seems to like?"

Dies himself was ill at his home in Orange, Tex., and acting chairman Starnes (D-Ala) presented the case for continuance of the committee, saying it sought renewed authority to present a "mass of material" gathered by investigators in a "judicial manner and perhaps recommended remedial legislation."

Relief Fund, $7,486
DES MOINES (AP)—Contributions to the Iowa fund for Finnish relief reached a total of $7,486 yesterday as donations totaling $800 were received.

Leaves Church Last Time

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. J. Schulte Once St. Ambrose College President

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. J. Schulte, P. A., pastor of St. Mary's parish here for the past 49 years, left his church yesterday for the last time.

After a two-hour funeral mass in his church filled past seating capacity with former personal friends and other city and church officials, the monsignor was buried in St. Joseph's cemetery. He died Wednesday, five days after falling on a downtown street.

The service began at 10 a.m. with the Most Rev. Francis J. L. Beckman, S.T.D., archbishop of the Dubuque Catholic diocese, celebrating the pontifical requiem funeral mass for the monsignor, who was 81 years old.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. U. A. Hauber, once president of St. Ambrose college and formerly from Iowa City, delivered the sermon.

The monsignor opened his sermon saying that Monsignor Schulte, "the friend of a lifetime, has gone to his eternal reward." Speaking of him as an "inseparable part of our memories," the monsignor recalled him as he was nearly 50 years ago going among the sick, saying mass, on his way to confession, at the school.

"For nearly 50 years Monsignor Schulte, like the rising sun in the morning, has been a constant feature of our daily lives," Monsignor Hauber said.

He spoke of Monsignor Schulte's work in his parish and of the main points of his life at St. Mary's parish.

Speaking to members of the parish he said that Iowa City mourns the loss of Monsignor Schulte who was in a sense its first and most respected citizen.

He expressed gratitude to "your excellency, most reverend archbishop" for coming to the service enabling the rites to be "conducted with fitting solemnity."

He told how Monsignor Schulte, the first president of St. Ambrose college, Davenport, was transferred to the St. Mary's parish. He told of the monsignor's pride in the university and his approval when his parishioners worked for advanced degrees here.

Archbishop Beckman in a few words after the service spoke of the importance of preparing to die. Besides members of the parish and friends in the community who attended the service, Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock and the city council attended in a group. The pastors of churches of other denominations in Iowa City also attended.

Other priests attending the service included: The Revs. D. C. Browne, Kinross; N. Meinhardt, Clinton; U. Frencken, Mechanicsville; James P. Gookin, Riverdale; R. F. Trageser, Ft. Madison; Henry B. Geels, response to a dispatch by DNB, official German news agency.

The Italian line office in Rome tonight credited the steamship Colombo, which had already picked up 173 persons, with saving an additional group of 22.

This left 82 not officially accounted for, but the line's representatives were optimistic. They said they believed all had been picked up; that some of the rescue ships had been unable to report their total rescues.

Earlier the line had announced that 104 were missing, including 40 of the crew.

The liner Conte Biancamano, with 318 survivors, was due in Genoa tomorrow at 8 a.m.

Most of the survivors were being taken to Italian ports.

"We still don't know the reason for the explosion," said second officer Giorello, whose left eye was badly burned and whose uniform was tattered and blackened by the smoke.

The 48 survivors reaching Marseille, including 25 women and three children, were rescued by a French warship. They suffered from burns and exposure from their all-day fight to escape the burning sea trap, and were hurried to two hotels which were converted into emergency hospitals.

912,000 Individuals May Receive Benefits Before End of 1940

Editor's note: Every worker who has a social security account number should know how the recent congressional changes in the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the social security act apply to him or her. For the benefit of readers of The Daily Iowan, the social security board's field office manager for this area has prepared a series of brief articles, each explaining one point of the new provisions. Following is the 13th of the series.

How many persons in this state will receive payments of old age and survivors insurance benefits this year? This question has been asked by many. No one knows the answer to that question because no one knows just how many insured workers will die, nor how many widows and children will be left to claim survivors benefits.

Neither does any one know how many insured workers will retire next year nor how many aged wives or dependent children of such annuitants there will be to claim payments of old-age insurance.

While there are no accurate figures regarding the number of persons who will receive benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance provisions during 1940, it is estimated that approximately 912,000 persons in the United States may be entitled to monthly benefits before the end of 1940.

This assumes that there will be approximately 485,000 primary
