Vice-President Garner Calls John L. Lewis' Opposition 'Best Asset'

High Official Not Disturbed By Criticism

CIO Leader Declares Democrats Can't Win Without Labor's Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Vice-president Garner told friends today that "John L. Lewis' opposition is the best political asset I have."

That was described authoritatively as the vice president's reaction to Lewis' criticism of the democratic party and of Garner's presidential candidacy. Some months ago Lewis called Garner an "evil old man."

Persons close to Garner said that the vice president had commented, too, with a grin, that his "asset" had been depreciated when Lewis also eliminated President Roosevelt and security administrator Paul V. McNutt from his list of possible democratic nominees.

The vice president's friends attribute Lewis' opposition to the fact that Garner in 1937 advised President Roosevelt to take firm steps to terminate the sit-down strikes which were conducted at that time by some affiliates of the CIO. Garner was said to regard the sit-down and the slow-down alike. Only recently, friends reported, he told Mr. Roosevelt that such strikes were one and the same thing.

U. S. Asks More of the Japanese Than 'Respect'

By ANDRUE BERDING
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The American government will require much more than mere respect for Americans and their properties in China before negotiating a new commercial treaty with Japan.

What the government has in mind by respect for American rights in China transcends the usual interpretation.

The most prevalent popular idea of what is meant by American rights in China is this:

No more bombings of American missions or businesses. No more slappings or pushings-about of Americans. No more discrimination against American businessmen.

But there are authoritative indications that the state department would require assurances of much broader regard for American rights before it would be willing to conclude a new treaty of commerce with Japan.

In view of officials here, American rights embrace:

1—The right to have the nine-power treaty which she and Japan signed lived up to. The treaty signatories agreed "to respect the sovereignty, the independence, and the territorial and administrative integrity of China." The United States therefore has the right to expect Japan to respect the territorial integrity and independence of China by getting out of China, knapsack and wagon.

2—A right to expect a signatory of the Kellogg anti-war pact to refrain from using war as an instrument of national or international policy. Japan used war against China as an instrument of policy. The United States has a right to have the war abandoned and the ad-

Wounded, Dead Total Thousands

Russians Pay Heavy Price for Attempt To Outflank Lines

HELSINKI, Jan. 27 (AP)—The beaten fragments of four Soviet divisions, once 70,000 strong, were reported by Finnish couriers tonight to be scattered in headlong flight after strewn the snows and ice-clogged lakes and rivers with thousands of dead and wounded.

The casualties and heaps of abandoned war materials were the price paid in a futile endeavor to outflank the Mannerheim line, to cut behind it by encircling the frozen shores of Lake Ladoga.

When the whole story is told, the Finns said, it will show the worst disaster of the Russian invasion.

The nightly Finnish communique was tersely non-committal on the extent of the victory, but military reports from the front indicated the backbone of the Russian offensive north of Lake Ladoga had been smashed despite elaborate advance preparations and a week of constant day and night assaults.

Death Trap

These reports said the Russians, attempting at point after point to break through the Finnish lines, had been led into a death trap.

Moving sluggishly, the red army columns were caught in a withering crossfire that broke their communications, smashed supply lines, prevented the arrival of reinforcements and took a terrible toll.

Finnish light artillery, machine-guns and automatic rifles wrought almost unbelievable destruction in the waves of solidly packed Soviet infantry.

Foreign observers said the fact the Russians failed to outflank the Mannerheim line indicated surprising strength in the Finnish mobile defense.

Tonight's army communique reported merely that attacks at various points northeast of Lake Ladoga had been "repulsed with heavy losses" and that "some of the attacking detachments were dispersed in entirety." The communique also announced capture of "numerous automatic weapons."

Understatement

Unofficial sources however, said the communique was a cautious understatement. Hundreds of tanks, armored cars and motorized anti-aircraft weapons were reported to have fallen into the hands of the Finns as the Russians fell back.

These sources said at least three or four men were wounded to every one killed, which would bring the total Russian casualties to approximately 20,000.

Excitement ran high in Helsinki as news of the fighting filtered in from the front. The capital had been stirred for several days by reports that two Russian divisions had been trapped north of Lake Ladoga and that two others were in a critical position.

American Business On Decline

Mills Catching Up With Commitments Of Pre-War Period

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The new-predicted January decline in industrial activity showed up this week in the charts, business indicators and graphs so dear to Wall Street, but there was nothing but a slumping in two orders to indicate how long it would last.

The hum of factory wheels and the belching smoke of factories slowed down perceptibly as mills began to catch up with the commitments piled on their books last fall when many sections of business thought the European war was going to be more profitable than it turned out to be.

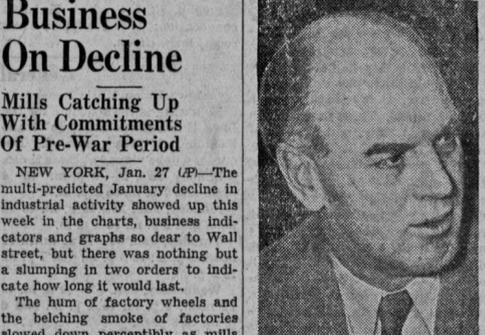

Retail and wholesale trade which had profited by cold weather through most of the nation, suffered when the thermometer went sub-zero, and swept the south with snow. It held its own better than production, but showed less increase than had been expected.

The stock market, not sure whether it had already discounted in lower prices the depths of the business decline, piddled along throughout the week, on very small volume, without getting anywhere. If business had any advice to give it, counsel was ignored.

Not all business executives viewed the picture as bleak. In some industries it was thought new buying to sustain high rates of output would appear in late February or March, when present inventories, still reported as lower than a year ago, were depleted. Others considered six months a reasonable time in which to build up new demand. Spring is a normal time for expansion, but last year betterment was delayed until summer by the soft coal tieup.

Meanwhile, trade authorities generally agreed the high level of factory production in recent weeks steadily has been eating into the backlogs of unfilled orders taken in the September-October war buying.

Dwindling Food, Fuel Supplies Bring Unrest, Distress to Russians

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Skyrocketing prices, dwindling food and fuel supplies, and the coldest weather in 100 years have brought widespread distress and unrest in Soviet Russia according to authoritative advices received in diplomatic circles here.

The reports explain that a breakdown in the transportation system, aggravated by the severe demands necessitated by troop movements to the Finnish front, rather than actual shortages of supplies, is causing great suffering, particularly in Moscow and the surrounding area.

Asked about these reports, the Soviet embassy characterized them as "absurd" without any further comment.

Diplomatic circles were interested in the reports in view of the effect any internal suffering and unrest in Russia might have on the invasion of Finland, the Soviet's relations with Germany, and the future development of general European affairs.

It was pointed out that the difficulties, if as serious as reported, would greatly decrease the amount of supplies Soviet Russia could provide to Germany.

No German Submarines Near U.S.

Reports of Activity Within Territorial Waters 'Unfounded'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The White House said today, in response to inquiries, that reports of German submarines operating off the coast of South America and within the 300-mile American neutrality zone lacked confirmation in official Washington quarters.

Stephen Early, press secretary to President Roosevelt, termed stories of such activity "mere reports" and said "their only effect had been the 'regrettable one' of causing more than 100 cancellations in steamship travel."

By "mere reports," it was explained, he referred to press reports and not to any official reports to the government. He declined to answer when asked specifically if such reports had been received by government departments.

The state department and navy would not comment on the subject.

The Associated Press Thursday quoted maritime sources as saying that three Nazi U-boats, tendered by a former passenger liner, had run the British blockade and were prowling in the vicinity of Trinidad, British West Indies tourist resort and oil port.

These sources, considered informed and reliable, predicted a German submarine thrust against the British "lifelines" in the West Indies — attacks against British and French ships carrying food supplies and fuel oil to England.

The New York Times, in a special dispatch from Rio de Janeiro, said subsequently that captains of coastwise vessels reaching Bahia have reported sighting German submarines near Ilheus, on the border of the states of Bahia and Espirito Santo, and that one report said a German U-boat had been seen near Bermuda.

'Fatal Defect'

At Columbus, Ohio, where the United Mine Workers union is holding its convention, Lewis told interviewers today that "the fatal defect" in democratic party strategy was the assumption that labor had "no place else to go."

"That fallacy has now been exploded," he continued, adding:

"If the democratic party thinks that it can return to power without the support of labor that is the pure depth of stupidity to which I can't descend with them."

Lewis declined to commit himself regarding presidential candidacies, saying:

"The important question is not who will be the presidential candidate but what the democratic party proposes to do for the country."

'Great Tribute'

Capitol hill observers generally have held the view that Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) would have Lewis' endorsement. Wheeler addressed the mine workers convention this week.

On his return to Washington today, Wheeler said he was highly pleased with the reception he received at Columbus, and also expressed gratification that Senator George Norris, the veteran Nebraska independent, had endorsed him for the presidency.

Norris said that if Mr. Roosevelt were not nominated for a third term he would support Wheeler.

"That is a great tribute from a great man," Wheeler said.

CIO Vice-President Endorses Roosevelt, Opposes 'Chief' Lewis

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Sidney Hillman, vice president of the CIO and head of the powerful Amalgamated Clothing Workers union, gave his unqualified endorsement to President Roosevelt today and thereby took a stand in open opposition to his chief, CIO President John L. Lewis.

Without mentioning specifically a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, Hillman, who said he was confident he spoke for the 250,000 members of Amalgamated, declared the new deal had "held fast to the gains of the first six years" and "continued to move forward" and added:

"There is no man in public life today in whom we can so fully and safely confide for the balance of the journey."

On Wednesday in Columbus, O., Lewis sharply criticized the president and told the convention of the United Mine Workers that if he were renominated he would go down to "ignominious defeat."

Hillman said in his written statement that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers "will unquestionably take formal and official action" on the political issues facing the country in the coming national election.

Nazi War On Propaganda Intensified

BERLIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—The government intensified its war against propaganda calculated to undermine German morale by admonishing law enforcement agencies today to deal severely with all caught listening to foreign broadcasts in defiance of a wartime decree.

The admonition came from Roland Freisler, secretary of state in the justice ministry, who pointed out that under the decree of last Sept. 1 judges have no choice but to impose penitentiary sentences on offenders—even the death sentence in flagrant cases.

Freisler declared that in passing on cases involving the spreading of news obtained by listening to foreign stations judges need not determine whether the resistance of the German people actually was undermined.

The mere fact that the news was calculated to endanger German resistance is sufficient, he declared.

Only a few hours before, the Berlin radio broadcast a stern warning reminding Germans of the ban on listening to foreign broadcasts and the penalties for violation, emphasizing that aliens residing in the Reich must also obey the law.

Churchill Cites Reich's Weaknesses

Declares German Submarine Building Less Than Expected

MANCHESTER, England, Jan. 27 (AP)—Winston Churchill today appraised nazi Germany as a weaker foe than the imperial Germany of 1914 while the allies "are far ahead of where we were at this time in the other war."

But he cautioned the British in an address on the progress of the conflict against any relaxation, declaring instead "it is a time to dare and endure."

The first lord of the admiralty spoke in this center of British liberalism and free trade for the first time since he launched a move two years ago to make the League of Nations all-powerful against aggressors.

Mosley and Peace

Hecklers in his free trade audience interrupted by calling the name of Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, but the disturbances ended when a man was ejected after shouting:

"We want Mosley and peace!"

To nazi assertions that Britain's convoy system was ineffective, Churchill replied that "out of nearly 7,500 ships conveyed to and from this island only 15 have been lost." He said half of Germany's submarines had been destroyed and new building had "fallen far short of what we originally estimated."

He charged Germany with "shameful records" in the conquests of Czechoslovakia and Poland, from which he said "we can judge what our own fate would be should we fall into her clutches."

House Group Cuts Supply Bill Further

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The agriculture department's huge regular supply bill, pared drastically by the budget bureau, has been trimmed still further by a house appropriations subcommittee, members reported today.

The bill, scheduled for house consideration Tuesday, is expected to furnish the session's crucial test of congressional economy sentiment because it involves a variety of projects popular with many members.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt called budget director Harold D. Smith—his only visitor of the day—to the White House for a conference. There were no details as to what was discussed but Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, told newsmen the topic was "budgetary difficulties."

There were no authoritative reports as to the amount that the House Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee had pruned from the farm supply bill, but Representative Taber (R-NY) asserted that the administration had "a long way to go" before the bill would be on a "decent" basis.

Rumania To Seek Support In Balkans

Will Ask Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey To Aid In Event of Attack

BUDAPEST, Jan. 27 (AP)—Rumania, high authorities said tonight, will ask her Balkan entente partners — Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia — to promise her military support in case of attack by either Germany or Russia. Otherwise the Rumanian government was understood to have indicated it would be forced to seek an agreement with Adolf Hitler or Joseph Stalin.

Formal presentation of the request for military aid, these sources said, will be made when the foreign ministers of the four powers meet in Belgrade Feb. 2.

Soundings in Athens, Ankara and Belgrade, however, indicated the entente powers would be extremely reluctant to give sweeping guarantees to Rumania.

The Turkish newspaper Aksam said flatly that the Rumanian demand would be turned down.

Rumania's decision to force the issue was reported to have been prompted by the increasingly serious oil situation.

Germany is demanding more Rumanian oil while the British and French are reported to have threatened to withdraw their guarantees of Rumania's integrity if allied-owned companies are forced to furnish oil for the nazis. This oil is available in large quantities only from the foreign owned companies in Rumania.

Farm Hand Poisons Employer 'At His Request'

DUBUQUE, (AP)—Sheriff L. J. Eibsch announced last night that Anton H. Beckman, 48-year-old farm hand, had signed a confession that he poured carbolic acid, milk, and cough syrup down the throat of his sleeping employer, Charles E. Ott, 58, prominent Dubuque county farmer who died early Friday morning at his snow-bound farm home on the Millville road three miles west of Dubuque.

The sheriff said Beckman confessed he performed the act at the request of his employer.

Assistant county attorney Edmund C. Tschudl, who with county coroner C. C. Coady sat in on the questioning of Beckman, described the case as "the most fantastic and bizarre" in his experience.

Ott died at one o'clock Friday morning while Beckman was telephoning Sheriff Eibsch to send medical aid for his employer, who, Beckman told the sheriff, was seriously ill, and who, he feared, had taken some poison by mistake.

When the sheriff and county coroner Coady reached the farm home after battling snowdrifts, they found Ott dead. County coroner Coady said he suspected something was wrong when he found Ott lying in bed with his arms folded and the bedclothing neatly arranged. He said he caught a whiff of carbolic acid and ordered an autopsy. When the autopsy revealed that Ott had died of carbolic acid poisoning, Coady said he ordered the sheriff to arrest Beckman for a questioning. After long questioning, Beckman, the sheriff said, signed a confession late yesterday afternoon.

The sheriff said Beckman told the following story in his confession:

Thursday Ott, who had been in ill health and had suffered financial reverses recently, received a letter from an attorney telling him that foreclosure proceedings would be started in connection with a chattel mortgage on cattle.

This upset Ott, Beckman said, and he brooded over it all day. That night he went to bed early. Later in the evening he called Beckman upstairs and asked him to get a "brown bottle" from a cupboard downstairs, fill a glass with milk, and bring both to him along with some cough syrup.

When Beckman got upstairs, he said, Ott was lying on the bed with his mouth open. Beckman then poured the contents of the "brown bottle" down Ott's throat.

When Ott "went into struggles," Beckman said he began to fear that he had given him poison, so he poured the milk down Ott's throat and then added the cough syrup.

When Ott continued to struggle and moan, Beckman became frantic and called the sheriff.

No charges had been filed against Beckman at a late hour last night.

Wallace for Governor Draft Rumored if 3rd Term Fails

DES MOINES, Jan. 27 (AP)—"That Lewis statement certainly didn't help any."

A month ago almost everybody in Iowa democratic ranks was hotter than horse radish for the president as the sole hope to lead the party back to the power lost in this state in the 1938 election.

They figured the magic of the Roosevelt name would carry the state ticket to victory. They still think so in most instances, but they have a feeling that Lewis' declaration portends an announcement by the president that he will not seek another four years in the White House.

DES MOINES, Jan. 27 (AP)—Maybe it's only wishful thinking inside certain democratic craniums, but those whispers of drafting Henry Wallace to run for governor of Iowa on the democratic ticket are beginning to circulate again.

The rumor revival may be traced to the John L. Lewis statement the other day predicting an ignominious defeat for Franklin D. Roosevelt should the president try for a third term.

America—South of The Border

DESPITE all the talk by the president about the "Good Neighbor" policy and the attempts by various agencies to stress the need for closer, friendlier relations with Central and South America, we have a sneaking suspicion that the citizens of these United States are still unconvinced.

Mainly this is due to a paternalistic attitude toward our southern neighbors, a feeling that they need us rather than we need them. It is a vestigial remnant from the days of the "Big Stick," "Interventions," and "Manifest Destiny."

Those actions by our government are a source of shame today, now that we realize that they were the growing pains of a young nation, that they were inexcusable symptoms of imperialism.

Let's look at a few facts which should shake our sense of superiority over Iberian America.

"Eighty-five years before Howard university opened its doors, students were attending classes at three Latin American universities. Books and newspapers circulated in the Spanish colonies almost a century before they appeared in the United States."

Individual fortunes of half a billion dollars had been amassed in Latin America at a time when settlers in the Thirteen Colonies were still in the log-cabin stage.

Still unconvinced? These things are past, you say? What of the present and the future?

The world's greatest reserves of iron ore are in South America; Chile and Brazil have more than all the rest of the world put together. One-fourth of the world's copper output is from South America, and one-half of the known reserves of that metal are on that continent.

The population of the United States and Latin America each equal about six per cent of the world's total. The area of the United States is about one-third of Latin America.

And, most important of all, look at a recent report by the Foreign Policy Association, "Latin America furnishes so many commodities essential to this country's living standard and to its economic structure as a whole that imports from Latin America are far more essential to the United States than exports (of the U.S.) to that region."

Anglo-Saxon America has developed governmentally more swiftly than the Latin Americas. Stability of government has not always been a blessing enjoyed by our southern neighbors. But more and more it is becoming evident that they are concerned with keeping alive the inherent principles of democracy and the freedom of man as an individual—concerned just as much as we are here.

With war in Europe it is more important than ever that we should forget our nonsensical ideas and do all of our thinking about the South American nations in terms of our own equals.

Words Make The Story

Few of us pay sufficient attention to the language in which we couch our thoughts. We move from day to day with nonchalance, spurring out our ill-conceived ideas in ill-chosen words, forgetting them almost immediately. We think "that" a thing is said infinitely more important than "how" a thing is said. Seldom, beyond momentarily questioning grammar or sound, do we stop to ponder the overtones or import of a word or phrase chosen to convey our ideas. And it is, unfortunately, a serious fault.

In his book, "Language in Action," Hayakawa, a student of semantics, tells the story of how language influenced the unemployment problems of two American cities. The story is worth retelling.

A-town and B-ville were both hard hit by the depression. Each had a number of families who were without employment and desperately in need of financial aid. Since the unemployed were once contributing members of their respective communities, they could not, morally, be left without help.

The city fathers of A-town were, of course, "thinking men," they knew that if one looked hard enough he could find employment. They didn't want anyone to starve in their city, but they knew that if a person was given "something for nothing" his character would be demoralized. There was a difficult choice.

It was decided that each needy family should receive $50 monthly, and a moral lesson to insure against "pauperization." Relief was made disagreeable and difficult to obtain in order that recipients would be eager to "get off relief" and regain "self respect"; people who received "what they hadn't worked for" should learn to be "grateful."

But the recipients resented "investigators" and the difficulty in obtaining relief; they showed little gratitude; they knew they were "just as good as anybody else." Some felt they were "failures" and loss of "self respect" in having "sunk so low" made it hard to "look their wives and kiddies in the face" and so they committed suicide. Out of desperation, others stole and were sent to prison.

Naturally enough, the relief scheme of A-town failed, caused great unhappiness, and left the city fathers with their problem still unsolved.

But a wise man lived in B-ville. He said that the "times," not "lack of character," made for unemployment. He proposed the establishment of a kind of "insurance" in which work, previously done by the now-unemployed, be considered as "premium" against community misfortune, that, as "policy holders," the needy were now entitled to present their "claims" against the "company." It was a "straight business proposition," he said, in which all were "policy holders" in the city's "unemployment insurance plan."

B-ville had "claim adjusters," "relief investigators," and there was no feeling of "snooping" into private affairs; B-ville taught no "moral lesson," was but carrying out a "business transaction;" the "insurance plan" received nationwide attention and all were proud of their city. The Governor of the state and the Mayor presented the first "unemployment insurance claim checks" in the city auditorium and every citizen felt his community "back of him," rejoiced in his "wonderful little town."

Naturally, B-ville's scheme for relief of the unemployed was a success.

What a whale of a difference a few well chosen words can make!

The Most Important Thing In A Nation

(Fifth in a Series) The most important thing in any nation is people. Not merely the quantity of people, but their habits, their distribution and their ways of living.

Analysis of the vast census records on American population reveals not only the present status of our people, but portends future trends of great significance.

Only 24 per cent of the population today is actually supported by farms. Census records show the migration from urban districts to farm districts as resulting from the development of great frontiers, the rise and decline of industries and the regional effects of drought and depression. There are indications that the population swings back to the cities for industrial employment in times of prosperity and back to land in adverse times.

The birth rate is going downward according to these statistics. The rate which in 1915 exceeded 25 babies for 1000 population has dropped to 17. To gauge the future of the nation, it is important to know where these births and deaths take place. States having a birth rate in excess of 20 are New Mexico, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Utah, South Carolina, West Virginia, Alabama, Idaho and Arizona.

Coincident with the sweeping decrease of birth is the death rate reduction. In 1900, 17.6 persons out of each 1000 population died annually. In 1937, this death rate was down to 11.2.

Census death records show that enemies such as tuberculosis, typhoid, smallpox and others are gradually being conquered. In all such statistics, the death rate has been lowered.

If it were not for the decrease in the national death rate, the deaths this year would have exceeded the births, and without immigration, our population would already have reached its peak.

These great changes do affect the future of the nation. The value of all things is dependent on the demand and the demand is dependent on the number of people who want a given thing at a given time. People are markets, and so today's timidity in the field of business development may, therefore, have a close relationship to the prospect of a static condition in population.

Although the growth of cities has been spectacular, the boundary lines haven't expanded as rapidly as the radius. More automobiles have induced people to live farther away from their work.

All of these statistics and facts were made known by the latest census. The 1940 census will add another chapter to the United States history. We will then know more about what the future promises.

New Law Designed To Protect Witnesses At Congressional Investigations Just Passed

THE FIRST new law enacted at the current session of congress, and signed the other day by President Roosevelt, purported to be for the protection of witnesses before congressional committees.

A lot of such witnesses undoubtedly do need protection, but that this law will afford it to them is questionable.

Before ordinary court (the regularly judicial type of tribunal) a witness has certain rights. There are queries that he can't be forced to answer. He can't be bullied and browbeaten. The judge won't permit it. Various "rules of evidence" are observed.

No rules prevail at a congressional inquiry. Probably public opinion would balk at allowing a committee of investigators to torture a witness physically to extract information from him, but some of them don't stop far short of that. They certainly do torture an occasional victim mentally.

They literally put a recalcitrant witness in jail now and then for contempt of congressional authority.

Now, if this new law were designed to curb the congressional investigators, it would be all right, from the witnesses' standpoint. But that isn't the idea. The notion is to penalize any outside influence which may seek to muzzle a witness. No strings are put on the investigators. They can continue to be extra-legal as ever they were. That even outside interference can be altogether prevented seems doubtful. For instance, suppose an employee of some big company testifies, at a congressional quiz, in a fashion that his bosses disapprove of. They can fire him for it afterward, for some ostensible reason entirely independent of his testimony.

However, theoretically the law for the witnesses' protection. Whether or not you approve of the congressional method of conducting investigations depends on which side your sympathies are on, in any given instance.

Assume, for the sake of argument, that you're a conservative and that a conservative committee is trying to prove the undesirability of one liberal policy or another. Putting a conservative witness on the stand, the committee is as polite as pie to him. Being a conservative yourself, this looks to you like perfectly proper procedure. Then the committee gets after a liberal witness—and gosh!—how it does bedevil him! As a conservative, you endorse his bedeviling, too.

But if you're a liberal? Oh, in that case you denounce that committee as the unfair thing ever invented.

It also works vice versa. If a committee's liberal, all liberals proclaim it to be a model; all conservatives speak of its activities as perfectly courageous.

A Sincere Committee Now and then a committee is honestly constructive in its aims. One such is Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney's so-called monopoly committee. The Wyoming senator takes the position that our legislation of years ago no longer fits our present business conditions and is trying to discover, from all sorts of good authorities, what changes are desirable. He isn't attempting to make out any particular case. He simply wants enlightenment, no matter from WHAT source. He treats HIS witnesses as advisers.

The average congressional investigation, though, is launched by some statesman who knows in advance exactly what conclusion he prefers to have arrived at. A witness who agrees with him is handled like a long-lost brother. A witness who disagrees assuredly needs protection—if he can get it.

My own observation is that the system, despite its faults, is better than it would be with TOO many "rules of evidence."

Most likely a court of law has to have them, but technicalities, perhaps, are a trifle overdone even in law courts. It often is complained that legal objections, exception, appeals and miscellaneous palaver obstruct justice.

A congressional committee that is TOO unfair makes itself ridiculous. If it's moderately reasonable it GETS somewhere.

Still, they generally are tough on the witnesses.

Criticises New York

Tucker Says Palisades Should Be Name Of G. Washington Bridge

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—New York has a way of honoring the nation's heroes by naming buildings and bridges after them. This is a gracious and a laudatory thing, and yet I wonder if the city doesn't err in naming its edifices after men when an examination of the surrounding terrain would suggest more appropriate names.

I have in mind particularly the George Washington bridge and the Lincoln tunnel. The George Washington bridge is a magnificent expanse of concrete and steel and it spans the Hudson in a great hanging highway that may be seen for many miles.

But much as we love George Washington, the Palisades Bridge would be a better name. The Palisades are among the nation's most beautiful landmarks. They rise in sheer rocky eminence for miles along the Hudson. They are the scenes of many incidents of historic importance. On them Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr had their senseless, tragic duel. Washington's spies used to lie on them and study the activities of the British, who then held Manhattan. Once the Indians built their camps on the spot where the Weehawken ferry has its slips.

The Lincoln tunnel crosses the river from about 38th street on the Manhattan side and burrows to New Jersey some distance on the "under side" of the ferries.

We all honor and respect the memory of Lincoln, but there is no earthly reason why this tunnel should be named after him. He never lived here. He wasn't a New Yorker. He was as far from being an "easterner" as any man could be. A far better name would be the Manhattan tunnel or the Weehawken tunnel, or even simply the Hudson tunnel. These names mean something, locally, and have a local significance. Lincoln does not.

Fifth avenue, where many of the most expensive shops are situated, isn't very subtle about its defenders—the detectives who roam its byways and keep an eye peeled for snatchers. Most of the docks, looking like characters out of a grade-B melodrama, congregate between 52nd and 59th streets. All have gray hair, all wear turn-down felt brims, and all are as transparent as if they wore placards on their backs.

The mistake these officers make is standing in one place every day and talking to the same people.

Most of these detectives are ex-cops who have been promoted. They are fond of talk with each other, too, and it is a fairly common occurrence to find three or four of them passing small talk in a friendly manner on the street.

If we could stand on the moon, says an astronomer, and look toward the earth, we would find it a beautiful sight. Except, of course, that ugly scar known as the western front.

MYSTERY FLAG WAVES OVER LEWIS

The above picture is believed to be the only one which escaped destruction at the hands of infuriated delegates to the United Mine Workers' jubilee convention in Columbus, O. Beneath the red flag bearing the emblem of the Communist party stands John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief and United Mine Workers' president, making a talk over a nation-wide radio hook-up. As Lewis was speaking the flag was suddenly unfurled by some unknown person. Enraged delegates gathered up all plates from press photographers present but this picture, somehow, escaped destruction.

PRESSBOX PICKUPS OSCAR HARGRAVE

Though it has been discredited about once for every flea that ticks the back of grandfather's pet bone hound, there is still life in the old fallacy that says high school stars are sure to be bums in college, and vice-versa.

This isn't saying that a bum can't grow up, his feet become something to run on instead of broad and immovable pedestals, and he improve as an athlete.

Neither would anyone go on record as stating that "once a good man always on top," but most generally the guys out there on the team are the same ones that were on teams back in the days when they sneaked out behind the barn to break training on Uncle Joe's broken down pipes.

In case there is any doubt, the list of Iowa's, or any other university's, athletes, should prove that the kid who worked the hidden ball trick in a pair of pink rompers is the most apt to get away with it in the approved uniform of the bigger outfits.

Some few men here might be offered as exceptions, including Wally Bergstrom, Wilbur Nead and Bob Allen. But, Bergstrom, although he started his football last spring, didn't develop his frame in early youth by any exercise as simple as reading the funny papers.

Wrestling, incidentally, the sport Nead shone at here, is pretty well bottled up among a few high schools in the state. In college, we find, most of the stars come from Cherokee, Council Bluffs and Ft. Dodge, the high school wrestling strongholds, with an occasional man cropping up from some place where they don't wrestle until a carnival comes to town and offers half the gate receipts to the guy who can toss the show's favorite strangle artist.

It's just a little bit more proof, this prominence of former high school stars in college athletics, that while "it's never too late to learn," any time an athlete starts training is none too soon.

Hawks Meet S. D. State Tomorrow Night

Farm Systems To Remain Same Despite Landis' Ruling

By JUDSON BAILEY NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—In spite of all the clamor and confusion, baseball's farm systems are likely to look essentially the same next summer as they did last season.

Shell-shocked from the repeated bombings of Commissioner Kennesaw Mountain Landis which included making 91 members Detroit farm hands free agents, the major league magnates are too astounded by his latest proposal for abolishment of the chain gangs altogether to comment on the validity of the plan.

But there is a unanimity of opinion that the Landis program of training schools, subsidies to minor leagues and elimination of optional assignments is a long-range shot and does not affect materially the muddled 1940 situation.

As to the consequences of his previous seven-point declaration of restrictions on farm operations the big league owners are not in agreement. However, most of them have decided to run the gauntlet on the theory that operations which were bonafide in 1939 will continue to be this year.

A hasty survey shows only the New York Yankees, St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers considering any considerable curtailment of working agreements. How sweeping their cut may be remains to be seen.

On the other side of the picture the New York Giants are going ahead with all the farm clubs chosen previously. In addition they have seen fit to arrange one new working agreement since the Landis ukase of January 15.

In Pittsburgh President William E. Benswanger of the Pirates said: "I don't believe the Landis bulletin makes any changes in our setup and we have not withdrawn working agreements with any clubs."

In Boston Billy Evans said the Red Sox would continue their normal farm operations, and the Sox not only are planning to maintain their system of last year but are expanding into the interstate league.

Washington's farm agreements likewise are all set for 1940. Clark Griffith said he saw no need for curtailment, but added: "Detroit's been hit a pretty hard blow. (By Landis' ruling making 91 players free agents). I am afraid it's going to hurt them and naturally some minor leagues. Baseball, however, will go on."

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics expressed a personal belief that "Landis' ruling was a good one." While the A's working agreements haven't been completed, and some changes may be made, he didn't foresee any great revision.

The Phillies, having installed a farm director in John Ogden, intended to expand. They had two or three working agreements and plan half a dozen this year.

The Chicago White Sox have decided to drop a couple of small clubs, but the Cubs will have the same lineup.

The Cincinnati Reds and Cleveland Indians, both with fairly extensive farm operations, are standing pat for the present and in any case are likely to continue their connections in the minors through the 1940 season.

Detroit is attempting to clear away its shambles and reorganize while the St. Louis Browns, which own three clubs and had working agreements with seven others last season, are sitting back quietly waiting to see how far they can go this year.

A possible temporary solution for the problems of the Cardinals and Yankees, whose operations are incomparably more complex than those of other clubs, was held forth last night by President William G. Branham of the national association (of minor leagues), who asked Landis to postpone some of his prohibitions until after the 1940 season so that the clubs would have a chance to straighten out their affairs.

If this doesn't meet with Landis' approval the chances are some or all of the ten agreements recalled by the Cards and the seven by the Yankees, all between lesser units in their systems, may be cancelled.

But the Cardinals chopped their chain down last year from 33 units to 25 without much fanfare. Inasmuch as there were some 150 minor league clubs which had working agreements in major league farm systems in 1939, the cutting off of a dozen or so more this season seems unlikely to change the complexion of baseball on a national scale this summer, at least.

Milt Kuhl May Bolster Pivot Post

Sophomore Center Joins Hawk Squad; Evans Will Start

Probable Starting Lineups Iowa S. D. State Wheeler F Thornton Siegel F Andrews Evans C Laur Prasse G Oddy Soderquist G Ferges Officials: Referee, H. G. Hodges (Dartmouth); Umpire, Paul Young (Davenport) (Time and Place: Tomorrow, 7:35 p.m., Iowa fieldhouse. Broadcast: Station WSUL.

Fortified by the addition of rangy Milt Kuhl to the squad and rejuvenated by two weeks' rest after their Big Ten victory over Chicago, Iowa's cagers begin their second semester of competition against South Dakota State at the fieldhouse tomorrow night.

Although they eased off drills while taking final exams, Coach Rollie Williams' men have been back into the midst of a hectic practice series in the past three days. There has been gradual improvement in the work of the Hawkeyes, but Williams is still seeking a steadier team. Some hope of consistent scoring power came out of the Chicago game in which the scoring was well scattered among the Hawks and they suffered few defensive lapses.

Also contributing to the renewal of Hawkeye ambitions is the coming of Kuhl, skyscraping center candidate. Kuhl, who measures six feet, six inches, became a sophomore at the end of the first semester and looks like an exceptionally promising newcomer.

Despite the welcome addition to his squad, however, Williams will start practically the same lineup that he used in earlier games. With Kuhl, Kenny Bastian and Bruce Fountain held in reserve, Dick Evans, ex-grinder and most consistent Iowa pivot man to date, will probably get the starting call.

Working around Evans will be the pony forward combination of Vic Siegel and Bill Wheeler, with Tommy Lind held in reserve as either a forward or guard possibility. The guards who will begin the game are the veteran, Erwin Prasse, and, probably, Rudy Soderquist.

Dean, Cubs End Strife

Baseball Players Collect Insurance During 'Off-Season'

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—The contract differences between the Chicago Cubs and Dizzy Dean apparently are over.

The eccentric righthander telephoned owner Phil Wrigley from his Texas home today, asking for a contract which would guarantee him more money if he regained his old-time form. Wrigley agreed, and a new contract will be sent to Dean early next week.

Dean previously had sent back unsigned two contracts calling for $10,000 annually. Wrigley has told the pitcher he must earn a spot on the pitching staff this season on his performance. Dean drew $41,000 the last two years while winning only 13 games with a sore arm.

DiMaggio was announced. This left only seven Reds unsigned for 1940. Ernie Lombardi and Billy Myers are the major non-conformists but neither is regarded as a holdout yet.

Amateur King Shoots 68 In Crosby Open

DELMAR, Calif., Jan. 27 (AP)—National amateur champion Marvin (Bud) Ward and two professionals, Harold McSpaden and Ed Oliver, set the pace with sub-par 68's in today's round of the annual $3,000 Bing Crosby open golf tournament.

He said he was "over-golfed" and his game had "suffered from too much advice, good though it was."

One stroke back of the three leaders were ten players as par took a drubbing.

Oddly enough, there is no trophy for a winning amateur in the medal play, but host Crosby said one would be obtained if Ward should win. Chief amateur competition was on a best-ball basis, with the amateurs teaming with pros.

Walter Hagen and screen star Richard Arlen, trailed by a large gallery, posted a best ball of 70 as did Ty Cobb, baseball's hero, and Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y. Low best-ball honors went to Willie Goggin, San Francisco pro, and Marshall Duffield of Hollywood. They had 62.

Another amateur, Pat Abbot of Pasadena, former national public links champion, turned in an individual 69 and best-ball score of 64 with Ky Laffoon.

Hagen, playing a complete round for the first time in many weeks, discovered he had three birdies in a row, and as the gallery chuckled, he confided to Arlen: "This is too much like old times. Let's relax."

Nebraska Grid Coach Says 'Not Interested in Big Ten'

Transportation Would Be Biggest Problem For Husker Teams

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—Major Lawrence (Biff) Jones, Nebraska university football coach, declared in an interview here today that the Cornhuskers were not "actively seeking membership in the Big Ten and have not been invited."

Here attending the American Legion's boys' state conference, Jones pointed out his team "can get every bit as good a schedule in surrounding states."

"Geographically, we would find ourselves on the fringe of the conference and presented with transportation problems," he added.

Jones held out the possibility that athletic relations with Notre Dame might be resumed.

Another highlight of STRUB'S lovely selection is a new creation by Dorcas Junior having a draped effect bodice of princess lines with forest skirt and the new Balalika sleeves. Also in the popular Spring shades of navy blue and white is the charming frock of twin polka dots with buttoned on skirt and long sleeved jacket fastened with large pearl buttons.

And, also, be sure to see the gay peasant frock at STRUB'S which has a black swing skirt and white long full sleeved blouse trimmed with bright red yarn embroidered cuffs and a similar trim at the neck. Most alluring is the black and white checked Shirley Lea dress with pleated skirt accented with a bright red belt having three patent leather buckle clasps and a matching red jacket trimmed with novelty buttons of black and white.

We have been raving about STRUB'S quality, high-fashion suits and frocks so long that it's getting to be a habit. We can't help it though, as STRUB'S really have "it." Take our tip and see STRUB'S right away and be a style leader at the Freshman Party.

Pin hangings are getting to be a habit at the Theta house. Betty Kerwin, The Theta, is now wearing Al Meyer's Delta Theta pin.

Men admire daintiness! You can't claim to be dainty unless you have your clothes frequently dry cleaned. The new fabrics clean so dependably with LE VORA'S careful expert methods. Let LE VORA'S take all your soiled garments off your hands. They'll return them daintily fresh and your wardrobe will be ready for a new whirl of pleasure. You can tell a lot about people by their "wags." The British for instance, "stand" for public office, and we Americans "run" for it. But the best way to win in either count is "by a walk."

But you can't win Her by a walk to the Freshman Party. You can be sure she'll be glad to go if she knows you've engaged a YELLOW CAB. She knows from experience the thrill of YELLOW'S warm, clean, cozy cabs. So don't disappoint her—make it a YELLOW and you'll win. Dial 3131.

Because Mendon, Mich., has a fire truck but no motorcycle, the town council has authorized Policeman William Davis to use the fire truck to chase speeders. Motorists who are stopped by him can ask that question policemen often use. "Where's the fire?"

Start the new semester right—arrange your room for proper study conditions. A new I.E.S. lamp will do wonders to help you get that much wanted 3 point. Such restful light keeps you studying those books for many hours without tiring. See about a new I.E.S. lamp from IOWA CITY LIGHT AND POWER CO. and we're betting you that your professors will start boosting those grades.

Russian armies are like most Russian names. They end up with a "ski."

Speaking of Freshmen—did you hear about the little Freshman coed who is now engaged to three fellows at once. It seems that she received a ring for Christmas from the boy-friend back home. She returned wearing it on her right hand claiming it to be a gift from Mother. Now we see it on her left hand due to the inducement of a second boy-friend—who believes that it signifies their engagement. And then she is wearing a pin of a third—the fellow hung his fraternity pin on her just for the thrill of seeing his name in Frivol. Some fun!

Old Man Winter has finally arrived—and how! Keep him out of your home by ordering a supply of that clean, dustless, oil-treated coal from CITY FUEL. Its high heat, long burning, low ash qualities are too much for Old Man Winter to buck even when at his worst. Be prepared for his next frigid blast with a binful of quality coal from CITY FUEL. Spring is peeking around the corner adding the new season's influence to the frocks to be worn at the Freshman Party. But did you say you just couldn't afford a new dress? Oh yes you can, just rush your last year's frocks down to the RE-STYLE SHOP and watch the results. New trimming and a minor style change can do wonders toward a new creation—costing you, oh, so little. 111 E. Burlington. Dial 3324.

Listen to what we have to say about STRUB'S new Spring frocks for the Freshman Party—To be captain of the crew attending this big fun party—see STRUB'S new Cartwright's designed by Martha Gale. Truly adorable are these new sailor frocks of navy blue— "The Seven Seas" having white embroidered trim—giving to give effect of a trimmed sailor collar besides hand embroidered stars on both sleeves and pockets and "The Little Skipper" similar but with an added white ribbon stripe from edge of pocket to bottom of the dress.

Senate Board To Sponsor Noted Critic

Will Speak On 'Broadway in Review' In Macbride Auditorium

John Mason Brown, dramatic critic, will deliver a university lecture on the subject "Broadway in Review" in Macbride auditorium Thursday at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the senate board on university lectures.

Mr. Brown has had an extensive experience and training in the theater. At Harvard he was one of the famous "474 Workshop Group" whose members were later to carve careers for themselves in the theater.

After leaving college he was associate editor of "Theater Arts Monthly" and went from that position to be dramatic critic of the New York Evening Post, where he has been for the past decade.

Playwright, Director
Having experimented in the fields of playwrighting and direction as well as production, he has a thorough knowledge of the theater from both sides of the footlights.

Speaks Thursday

JOHN MASON BROWN

In addition to his keen sense of box-office values, he is also a scholar of the theater, having written "Two on the Aisle," "The Art of Playgoing," "Letters from Greenroom Ghosts," "Upstage," and "The Modern Theater in Revolt."

He has been staff lecturer for the laboratory theater in New York, has conducted on the history of criticism at Yale and on play-writing and the history of the modern theater at Harvard. He has been described by no less an authority than William Lyon Phelps as "one of the best public lecturers in the United States."

In the last three years he has appeared at Town Hall, New York city, 14 times; Columbia university, 10 times, and the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, 13 times.

Newspaper Work
Mr. Brown's newspaper training started with his holding a job on the Louisville Courier Journal during the last days of the famous Henry Watterson's regime. He received his degree from Harvard university and immediately took a position as director of the dramatic department of the summer school of the University of Montana.

His activities have included teaching at New York's American Laboratory theater, the Bread Loaf Writers' conference, Columbia university and Yale.

"Although," says Burns Mantle, "John Mason Brown is young enough to be enthusiastic, he is old enough to be wise."
Admission to the lecture will be by ticket. Tickets will be available to faculty and students on Tuesday and Wednesday, at Iowa Union desk. Any tickets which remain on Thursday, will be available to the general public.

Prof. Meier To Broadcast Class in Social Psychology Will Be Heard 3 Times Weekly

One of the highlights of the WSUI classroom broadcast schedule is the class in advanced social psychology by Prof. Norman C. Meier which is heard every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11 a.m. beginning tomorrow.

The second semester or advanced portion of the course will include psychological factors in social control operating principally in public opinion and propaganda through the control, facilitation, deflection and conditioning of attitudes and behavior.

Professor Meier's courses this year are different from those of previous years in two respects: (1) they introduce more of the public opinion phenomena and the measurement gathered in the last four years from his connection with the American Institute of Public Opinion and close relationship with Dr. George Gallup, conductor of the polls by the public opinion institute, and (2) considerably more attention will be paid to the aspects of propaganda which will be gone into more thoroughly both for its timeliness and as a means of completing the preparation for the summer session course which he will give next summer at the University of California.

Dorothy Keppler, James McGreevey Give Exhibition Waltz at University Ice Carnival

To the lilting strains of the "Sari Waltz," Dorothy Keppler and James McGreevey performed the graceful skaters' waltz at the university ice carnival held for the first time on skating lagoon. Nearly 1,000 skaters and spectators witnessed this and many other events which proved that ice skating has become one of the major winter sports on the university campus.

Under the colored spot lights, Gusti Glayston and Miss Keppler exhibited fancy figure skating. Both are local skaters and were featured skaters in the ice carnival staged last year in Iowa City.

President Eugene Gilmore presented flowers to Miss Keppler and Miss Glayston at the conclusion of their exhibitions. President Gilmore was introduced by Prof. Earl Harper.

In the men's one-mile race, Vito Lopin placed first and Derio Dalasta, second. In the men's one-half mile, Leo Biedrzycki took first and Vito Lopin, second. The time in the mile race was 4:21 and the time in the one-half mile was 2:01 3/10.

Mary Francis Arduser placed first in the girls' one-fourth mile and Gladys Parizek took second. The time in the race was 1:10 7/10. This race was the only one held for the women.

Charles Kennett, manager of the lagoon, presented badges to the winners of the races. Those first received gold medals and second place winners received silver badges. The medals had the seal of the university and a pair of ice skaters which were on a raised surface.

Dave Armbruster and George Bresnahan, both of the men's physical education department, were officials for the racing events.

The lagoon has proved to be one of the most active spots on the campus these ideal skating days, Mr. Kennett said yesterday.

Final Plans for President's Birthday Celebration Announced

2 Orchestras Will Play At Benefit Ball

Funds To Be Used In Fight Against Infantile Paralysis

Final plans for accommodating record crowds at the President's Birthday ball, to be held locally Wednesday night in the Iowa City Community building, were announced last night by Attorney Ingalls Swisher, Johnson county chairman.

Dancing will start at 9 p.m. with the grand march scheduled for an hour later.

Both the main ballroom and basement dance floor will be used, with one orchestra in each place.

Concessions

Soft drink concessions will be in charge of Dan Callahan of the Iowa City Bottling works.

Proceeds from tickets, concessions and the "March of Dimes," all of which are used each year to raise funds in fighting infantile paralysis, will be divided in half between the national and local foundations.

Because of the scheduling of university convocation for Tuesday, actually President Roosevelt's birthday, the Johnson county committee chose to stage the celebration the following night.

Two Bands

The hiring of two bands and expanding facilities to the lower floor were necessitated by the increase in the sale of tickets over last year, officials said. Although no official count has been taken on the number of tickets, it was indicated that this year's sales far surpass those of last.

Leslie Moore, in charge of ticket sales, announced that tickets, selling at $1 a couple, will also be sold at the door the night of the dance but he urged response to solicitors in order to avoid congestion at the doors Wednesday night.

The Highlanders featured Scottish songs and dances, and received a big reception, it was reported last night.

The Iowa football team got its share of compliments, too — from the dinner speaker.

Commission May Decide

Attorney General Rules State Executives Can't Prevent Dam Project

DES MOINES, Jan. 27 (AP)—The governor and state executive council have no authority to prevent construction of a proposed $6,000,000 federal flood control reservoir at Coralville, the attorney general's office ruled today.

The opinion held that the conservation commission is the sole authority in the matter. The commission has passed a resolution asking the government to drop the project, on the grounds it would damage Lake Macbride state park and lake.

Clerk Miller Says 68 Cases Have Been Filed in Court

A total of 68 cases has been filed for the February term of court, it was announced yesterday by Clerk of Court R. Nelson Miller. Grand jurors have been instructed to report at 9 a. m. on the opening day of the term, Feb. 5.

Petit jury members will report at 10 a. m., Feb. 12.

Judge James P. Gaffney will preside during the February term, replacing Judge Harold D. Evans, who will preside at the Iowa county district court at Marengo.

Cases being filed just before the deadline Friday included an action brought by the Potosi Brewing company against E. D. Rayburn and P. A. Rayburn, representatives of the Iowa City Distributing company, in an effort to secure a judgment against the defendants for $221.56, the amount allegedly due the plaintiff on a promissory note. Attorney F. B. Olsen represents the plaintiff.

Another petition filed by Harold Diehl named Lewis L. Smith and Annie Smith as defendants in an action to recover $76.30 damages allegedly sustained by the plaintiff's car after a collision with the defendant's auto at Burlington and Clinton streets. The accident occurred Nov. 28, 1939, according to the petition.

W. Nelson Fined $300

Arrested January 25 By Sheriff McComas On Intoxication Charge

William Nelson was fined $300 and costs in Johnson county district court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, filed against him in a county attorney's information.

Judge Harold D. Evans suspended $100 of the fine during Nelson's good behavior.

The defendant was arrested Jan. 25 by Sheriff Don McComas, when the automobile which Nelson was driving collided with another vehicle.

The law firm of Wilson, Clearman and Brant represented the defendant.

Final Explanation Of Social Security Provision Clarified

Editor's note: Every worker who has a social security account number card should know how the recent congressional changes in the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the social security act apply to him or her. For the benefit of readers of The Daily Iowan, the social security board's field office manager for this area has prepared a series of brief articles, each explaining one point of the new provisions. Following is the 18th and last of the series.

Several changes were made in the old-age insurance financing provisions by congress last summer.

The old-age insurance tax which was to increase in 1940 has been "frozen" at its present level of one per cent on employers and one per cent on employees until 1943. It is estimated that employers and wage earners will thus save about $825,000,000 in the next three years.

Beginning with 1940, any wages over $3,000 which a worker receives will not be counted toward benefits even though he works for more than one employer. A man who works for several employers will pay taxes on wages up to $3,000 from each employer, but at the end of the year he may file a claim with the treasury department and receive a refund of the taxes he paid for that year on wages over $3,000.

The "old-age reserve account," which was set up under the original social security act, is replaced by an "old-age and survivors insurance trust fund," put into effect Jan. 1.

All of the old-age insurance tax money collected by the treasury is now permanently appropriated to this trust fund.

Old-Age insurance benefits will be paid out of this fund which is to be managed by a board of trustees consisting of the secretary of the treasury, secretary of labor and chairman of the social security board.

For further information call or write Social Security board, 307 Federal building, Cedar Rapids.

Judge Evans Continues Ebright Case

Arthur Ebright pleaded guilty in district court yesterday to a charge of breaking and entering which was filed against him in a county attorney's information.

Judge Harold D. Evans continued the case for sentence to a later date.

The defendant was released to the custody of his mother and an order provided that he should not leave her home after 6 p. m. except when accompanied by her.

Attorney William R. Hart is representing the defendant.

'FOUR WIVES' NOW AT ENGLERT

Lane Sisters, Gale Page Appear in Movie Sequel Of 'Four Daughters' Hit

"Four Wives" is playing at the Englert theater, with last time's Monday. A sequel to last year's popular film hit, "Four Daughters," it has the same cast, consisting of the three Lane sisters, Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola, Gale Page, Claude Rains, Jeffrey Lynn, May Robson, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran. Added to the roster of stars is Eddie Albert, comedy star of "Brother Rat." John Garfield, whose "Mickey Borden" met an untimely death in "Four Daughters," will be seen in "Four Wives," but only as a vision.

While the story of "Four Wives" is complete in itself, it takes up the fortunes and romances of the "Four Daughters" where last year's film left off. Gale Page and Lola Lane, who play the two oldest daughters, are already married to Dick Foran and Frank McHugh, respectively, when the story opens. Rosemary, playing the romance-loving middle sister, is still waiting for her dream man to come along, while Priscilla, the youngest, and a widow, is preparing to marry the young concert musician played by Jeffrey Lynn. Already there are prospects of a new generation, too. The girls all go to keep an appointment which Gale Page has with the doctor. But Gale's hopes are blasted when the doctor tells her she will never have children. The same visit reveals, however, that Priscilla is about to have a baby—the child of her dead husband.

Meanwhile Rosemary has found a likely matrimonial prospect in Eddie Albert, who plays the role of a bashful young doctor, and is busily engaged in luring him altarward. Lola decides to adopt a little girl, but a few weeks after she has done it, she discovers she is to have her own baby. Priscilla and Jeffrey are married, but the memory of "Mickey Borden" is clouding their happiness, until Jeffrey takes the situation into his own hands and gives her a memory she can cherish.

Story of 'Reno,' National Divorce Capital, Is Co-Feature

The romance between an impetuous frontierswoman and the determined leader of the Pennsylvania colonists who revolted against the British soldiery in the 1760's is woven throughout RKO Radio's pre-Revolutionary epic, "Allegheny Uprising," now showing at the Varsity.

Claire Trevor and John Wayne, who recently scored a smash hit in "Stagecoach," play the lovers in this romantic American drama depicting the first flare of rebellion against the British crown which predated the Revolution more than a decade later.

Based on Neil Swanson's best seller, "The First Rebel," "Allegheny Uprising" includes in its supporting cast George Sanders, Brian Donlevy, Wilfrid Lawson, Robert Barrat, John F. Hamilton, Mervin Olsen and Eddie Quillan.

How a little Nevada mining town became the nation's divorce capital is interestingly told in "Reno," the co-hit, stirring screen drama based on the growth of the famous city. Richard Dix and Gail Patrick have the stellar roles.

Pollen Collector

Collecting plant pollen which might cause hay fever or asthma is the unusual job of Lin Tung Chun, pre-medical student in the University of Hawaii, who is working "his way through." From the university campus, from the surrounding hills of Honolulu, and from along the beaches of Hawaii he gathers blossoms of plants and takes the pollen from them so that others can study cures for hay fever.

• Coconut tree blossoms have never been proven a dangerous pollen to hay fever or asthmatic persons, but Chun examines a blossom to determine if it is in the right stage for gathering pollen to be used in testing.

• In the laboratory, Chun, who is a senior, demonstrates his technique in gathering plant pollen for use in hay fever experiments.

The Christmas berry blossom is minute and the pollen imperceptible, but Chun inserts his needle in each blossom. It takes days to fill the small vial held between his fingers.

THE CENTURY READY TO "HIGHBALL," as they say in railroading! Engineer Walter L. HERE'S EXTRA MILDNESS, EXTRA COOLNESS, AND EXTRA FLAVOR. Camels are slower-burning. They have thoroughbred quality through and through. Finer, more expensive tobaccos are used, in the first place. And these choice tobaccos are combined into a matchless blend. Next time you smoke a Camel, notice how slowly it burns. That is your clue to true cigarette enjoyment—the "extras" of mildness, coolness, flavor—and—extra smoking in every cigarette. Camels burned 25% slower than any other cigarette in recent tests (details at right). You'll always rejoice over the day you switched to Camels!

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

It's Really "Higher" Education Now!

● Many tests are administered before applicant is accepted for course, and stiffest examination to pass is the physical. CA administrators have had difficulty securing interested students who could also come up to their physical standards.

385 Colleges Teach Aviation

With 10,000 college men and women participating, 385 of the nation's higher educational institutions this year are aiding Uncle Sam to build a giant reserve force of pilots—a reserve force that will be increased by 95,000 college-trained fliers under a five-year program sponsored by the Civil Aeronautics authority. Spending $4,000,000 this year, the C. A. A. pays one-third of each student's ground school instruction, with individuals contributing $40 of the training fee. Fifty hours of flight instruction and 72 hours of ground school work are provided for each registrant, and upon completion of this course he is eligible for a private pilot's license. Typical of what is taking place in this new branch of higher education are the activities pictured here—photographed for Collegiate Digest readers on the University of Alabama campus by John Faber.

● A complete course in aerodynamics, theory of instruments and engines, is given all students during the ground school instruction. This instructor is lecturing on propellers.

● Extensive instruction in mapmaking and reading and general meteorology required of all students. Thus they learn how to read weather maps and other fly flight courses.

● Theory of engines and study of engine parts is necessary so that the future flyers may determine motor failure causes in times of emergency.

● Before the first flight, the head instructor explains what will be done while in the air. Small ships are used for flight training in the basic course.

● An actual take-off is observed by the students so they can see the amount of movement of control surfaces needed to carry a plane off the ground.

● Happy moment for all students is the time when they receive the certificate signifying they have completed their training course.

Training Oddities

● Darrell Irwin, University of Miami junior, was the first U. S. college student to fly a seaplane under the CAA program.

Wide World

● Kathleen Hildebrand, Kansas City Junior College, was an inch too short of the CAA's height requirements. But, believe it or not, she took stretching exercises like the above, finally made the correct height with the help of a self-inflicted bump on the head.

● Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute has the only feminine flight instructor in the college program, Miss Barbara Kibbee, a flyer since her high school days.

Announcing Collegiate Digest's Third Annual Salon Competition

Collegiate Camera Art At Its Best

Last year's candid division winner: "Water Shortage" by John Faber, University of Alabama.

Again this year, Collegiate Digest invites all student and faculty photographers to enter its Salon Edition competition — a competition that is recognized as the outstanding event of the year in college camera circles.

Largest and most widely known of all student-faculty photo contests, the competition is held each year to secure pictures for the annual Collegiate Digest Salon Edition. Appearing as one of the spring issues of collegeland's own picture section, this special edition gives recognition to the outstanding work of campus photographers and demonstrates the great progress made by them during the year. In addition, winning photographers receive cash prizes and their pictures are exhibited at leading college art centers.

All students and faculty members, no matter what their equipment or experience may be, may enter the competition. Many winners in past years have used only the most elementary kind of cameras. Yes, the picture's the thing that counts — so send your prize prints today!

Salon Competition Rules

1. All material must be sent not later than April 1, to: Salon Editor, Collegiate Digest Section, 323 Fawkes Building, Minneapolis, Minn.
2. Send technical data about each photo submitted. Give college year or faculty standing of the photographer. Information about the subject of the photo will be helpful. Any size of photo is acceptable, but pictures larger than 3 by 5 inches are preferred.
3. Enter your photo in one of the following divisions: a) still life; b) scenes; c) action and candid photos; d) portraits; e) "college life."
4. First place winners in each division will receive a cash award of $5; second and third place winners, $3 and $2.
5. There is no entry fee, and each individual may submit as many photos as he wishes. Photos will be returned if postage accompanies entries.
