

CHICAGO GETS DEMO CONVENTION

Press Flops In 'Pumping' Roosevelt

F. D. R. Stalls in Giving Third Term Intentions; Cites National Gains

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt used up the better part of an hour today to emphasize that he was weary of being harrassed about his third term intentions.

Too, indirectly he pumped figures favorable to the new deal at some of those who want to succeed him in the White House.

Attempts of newsmen to lure him into disclosing his stand on a third term, the president said at a press conference, have been awfully amusing and have produced some perfectly grand wise cracks on his part and theirs.

Tired of Antics

Suggesting that they quit trying to draw him out, however, the chief executive declared that when anything was said it would be at a time chosen by himself and not by newspaper editors. After all, he asserted, you can drive a willing horse to death—both the press and the president.

While he said in no uncertain terms he was tired of all the third term antics at his press conferences it was by indirection that Mr. Roosevelt supplied an answer to critics of his domestic policies.

He took no note by name of men like New York county District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), and Frank Gannett, newspaper publisher, who have lambasted the administration in speeches in which they have campaigned for the republican presidential nomination.

Nor did he speak of some executives of the American Federation of Labor who took potshots at the new deal yesterday from Miami, where the federation's executive committee met.

Cites Advances

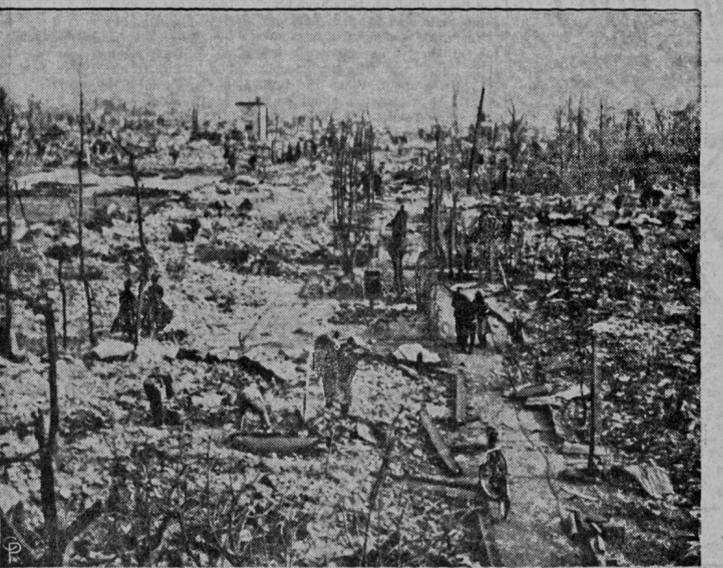

Mr. Roosevelt merely read to reporters a list of figures, with a few comments interpolated, which were designed to show there were big advances in national income, wages and salaries, factory payrolls, farm income, dividend receipts, exports, and non-agricultural employment between 1932 and 1939.

These are pretty formidable figures, he commented, to take on and try to show that the country is, as he put it, bust.

Again, in a message to congress in January, 1939, Mr. Roosevelt said the administration was aiming at a national income of $80,000,000,000 a year—an income which he said would permit a budget that would be a little better than balanced.

There seems to be no question at all, he said, that there would be a balanced budget if the national income reached that level, since obviously federal expenditures for such items as relief would go down, and government income would rise with virtually no change in taxes.

A Once Thriving City in Japan—Razed by Fire

Here is what remains of the ravaged center of Shizuoka after the disastrous fire that burned 7,000 buildings to the ground in mid-January. The fire raged for 18 hours, leaving only a blackened waste in its wake. It was the largest fire suffered by Japan since the Hakodate holocaust in 1934, which destroyed more than 22,000 buildings and killed 2,165 persons.

Finns Anticipate New Drive, Snowfall Restricts Air Raids

Many Soviets May Be Cut From Base

But 18th Red Division Not Destroyed, Says Finnish Headquarters

HELSINKI, Feb. 6 (Tuesday) (AP)—Finnish soldiers watched the Karelian isthmus and the Lake Ladoga regions today for the next major development in the war with Russia, but reports abroad that the Russian 18th division had been destroyed were denied by a headquarters representative.

The spokesman said the report of the annihilation of the division apparently arose from the fact that a decisive development north of Lake Ladoga, in the Kiteala area, had been awaited for days since the Soviet offensive there had been stalled and many Russians were cut off from their supplies.

Some observers interpreted a heavy Russian attack at Summa, on the Karelian isthmus, as a Russian attempt to divert the Finns from the Ladoga region and relieve the two divisions reported stranded there.

Instead, the Finns have been boring into Russian positions north of the lake and yesterday's communique announced the taking of a new stronghold, the killing of 500 Russians and the capture of seven tanks and other war materials.

The Finnish populace hoped today for a repetition of yesterday's general snowfall which blotted out the countryside so successfully that air raids were restricted to a few scattered districts, chiefly along the southwestern coast.

One woman was killed and seven women and children were injured and seven houses were destroyed when seven bombers attacked the fishing village of Kasinen on the Bothnian gulf, it was reported.

The village was of no commercial or military importance, officials said.

Body of Nebraska State Sheriff Found In Hotel Bedroom

OMAHA, Feb. 5 (AP)—State Sheriff William F. Flake's body, clad only in underwear, was found in a hotel bedroom late today and Detective Inspector Fritz Franks said he believed Flake had killed himself.

Discovery of his body culminated a search of several hours, started when deputy state sheriffs telephoned from Lincoln requesting police help in locating their missing chief.

Detective Sergeant W. E. Connolly found Flake's body, a .32 calibre bullet wound in the forehead. A police revolver lay over Flake's arm and powder marks had smeared the bed covers.

J.; Jane Nunne, C4 of Oak Park, Ill.; Esther Finkel, A3 of Fairfield; Roland Benson, C3 of Toledo; Joe Lebeda, C4 of Belle Plaine; Kay Hardy, C4 of Washington; Ruth Ganfield, A4 of Blairtown, and Harriet Harlow, A2 of Toledo.

Gandhi Fails To Secure British Action

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi and Viceroy Lord Linlithgow failed today to agree on Indian demands for independence, the third such stalemate since the European war started.

Gandhi apparently stood firm on the congress (nationalist) party demand for immediate consideration of India's independence while Lord Linlithgow reiterated Britain's stand to postpone final action until after the war.

The tall British statesman and the very little leader of India's millions of Hindus conferred for two and a half hours but a communique indicated the only point of agreement was "to defer for the present further discussions."

Wearing a shawl in addition to his usual light cotton robes as he left the conference called by Lord Linlithgow, Gandhi made it clear the British proposals did not meet the congress party demands.

Allies Agree On Present War Plans

PARIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—The allied supreme war council, meeting for the fifth time since the beginning of the European conflict, was reported tonight by the war ministry to have reached "complete accord" on measures "assuring the greatest efficacy of French-British collaboration."

"It can be assumed that the war in Finland took a prominent place in the discussions of the allied war chiefs, the diplomatic correspondent of the authoritative British press association wrote for London publication.

(Coincident with this report, an estimate was circulated in London that Finland will have enough planes at her disposal by May—when the snow melts—to hold the huge Soviet Russian air force in check.)

The French and British general staffs held a conference between the morning and afternoon meetings of the supreme war council.

Republican Leader Dies

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Charles S. Deneen, veteran republican leader who served two terms as governor of Illinois and one as United States senator, died today at his home.

His death, at the age of 76, was attributed to heart disease.

Two More British Ships Lost As Nazis Intensify Sea War

British Say Beaverburn Torpedoed

Sphinx, Minesweeper, Sinks as Germans Tow Her Into Port

LONDON, Feb. 6 (Tuesday) (AP)—Britain counted new losses today in the relentless war at sea as the 9,874-ton Canadian Pacific steamer Beaverburn was reported torpedoed off the Irish coast a few hours after the minesweeper Sphinx, crippled by German air raiders, sank as she was being towed to port.

Mystery shrouded the sinking of the Beaverburn, which was announced in a terse bulletin by the authoritative British Press Association. No details on the number of casualties was immediately available.

Shipping circles said it was unlikely that full details would be known until rescue vessels had picked up survivors.

Owners of the ship, a fast freighter playing between Liverpool and St. John, New Brunswick, said she carried a crew of between 100 and 200 men.

The foundering of the Sphinx, a vessel of 875 tons, brought to 24 the total number of British Naval vessels sunk since the start of the war. The Beaverburn was the first Canadian ocean going ship reported sunk by torpedo since the start of the war.

Fifty-four of the 100 men aboard were feared lost. Five were known to have been killed by Nazi bombers which ranged British east coastal waters Saturday attacking at least 11 ships.

The minesweeper's engines were disabled and as she was being towed into an eastern port the tow-line snapped and the Sphinx capsized.

Built in 1938 at a cost of about $500,000, the Sphinx was the third minesweeper Britain has lost. The others went down in November.

Naval observers regarded Germany's three air attacks last week on shipping off the exposed east coast as a prelude to sharper efforts to establish a real "bomb blockade" and to renewal of the Nazi submarine campaign in an effort to offset allied maritime strength.

Century Old Mardi Gras Spree Opens as Thousands Laugh, Cavort Through Streets of New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Merrymakers by the scores of thousands laughed by leaky skies and cavorted through the streets tonight, warming up for tomorrow's 24-hour spree of a mad, mardi gras carnival.

The weather was springlike and balmy and there was a chance friendly winds might rout today's showers and make tomorrow a perfect day for the final celebration preceding the penitential period of Lent.

No graver problem than whether to mask or not tonight lay upon the citizens who traditionally surrender to the abandon of merry-making on Shrove Tuesday, all ordinary cares forgotten and business at a standstill.

The century-old carnival this year is one of the greatest in history. The city is filled with an estimated hundred thousand visitors, impressed by the vast, year-long effort and considerable expense behind the celebration.

George H. Terriberry, attorney will preside over the festivities as Rex, king of carnival, and his queen will be beautiful Miss Katherine Phillips, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William D. Phillips.

Labor Groups Fire Blasts At Federal Actions, Policies

British Henceforth Will Get American Protests Privately

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A decision to refrain as far as possible from sending any more "wasplish notes" to Great Britain over neutrality questions has been reached by American officials in charge of foreign policy.

In the future, questions arising between the two governments are expected to be threshed out almost entirely through personal conferences between Washington officials and Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, or between Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and British authorities.

A. F. of L. Council Denounces Recent Indictment of Unions

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—A double-barreled blast at federal policies and actions of the federal government was fired here today in two separate and unrelated statements by labor groups.

The American Federation of Labor's executive council, in mid-winter conference, denounced recent federal indictments charging 35 labor unions in several cities with Sherman anti-trust law violations and accused the justice department of embarking on a "deliberate, nationwide drive to place organized labor under the thumb of the federal government."

Shortly before, a statement criticizing the government's industrial and social economy policies of the past seven years was issued by a group of labor leaders.

The latter statement bore the names of William L. Hutchesson and Matthew Woll who, as first and third vice-presidents, respectively, of the A. F. of L., also are members of the federation's executive council. Names of seven other labor union officials also were affixed.

William Green, president of the federation, disclaimed any knowledge of the Hutchesson-Woll statement and said the executive council's conference would take no cognizance of it.

The council specifically criticized Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold's action in bringing the anti-trust law indictments against the labor unions and warned that the labor federation would "resist with all the power at its command the present reactionary efforts of the department of justice to control organized labor."

"We will carry the issue to the highest court of the land to prove that the Clayton act means what it says," the statement said.

Garner Drive Spreads Into Wisconsin

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Vice-President John N. Garner was informed today that a complete slate of 24 delegates supporting him for the presidency would be entered in the Wisconsin preferential primary.

He received the information from John J. Slocum and William R. Callahan, members of the Wisconsin Garner-for-president club.

Expressing his thanks in a telegram to the two men, Garner said:

"This is in keeping with my public statement in which I said I would accept the nomination," he added. "In that statement, I expressed the opinion that the people should decide and that the candidate should be selected at primaries and conventions as provided by law."

French Have Nothing to Report

PARIS, (AP)—The French high command's evening communique yesterday said "nothing to report."

Beauty Contest Deadline Today

Deadline for entries in the annual beauty contest sponsored by the 1941 Hawkeye yearbook is 5:30 this afternoon. No pictures or petitions will be accepted after that time.

Entries, which are made by petitions signed by 25 students, accompanied by a picture of the candidate, should be brought to the Hawkeye office in W-3 of East hall.

Any university woman is eligible to enter the contest. The only requirements are the signed petition and the picture.

Selection of the beauties will be made first by a group of local faculty men, who will serve as preliminary judges. The names of these judges will be announced after the contest closes.

Chairman Farley To Name Date

Houston, Texas, Offers $200,000; Philadelphia Nearest Competitor

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Democrats chose Chicago, a center of pro-third term activity, as their 1940 convention city today and left it to national chairman James A. Farley to set the date, presumably after he learns when the republicans will meet.

These decisions were reached at an excited and sometimes turbulent meeting of the party's national committee, which saw Houston, Texas, in Vice President Garner's own state, vainly offer $200,000 for the convention, $50,000 more than Chicago's bid.

Philadelphia Nearest Competitor

Chicago's nearest competitor, in fact, was Philadelphia, which also offered $150,000. For a moment, it appeared that Philadelphia might win, but then members from western states who had cast their votes for San Francisco and, in some cases for Houston, switched to the Illinois city. The final count was Chicago 48, Philadelphia 38, San Francisco 7 and Houston 2. One of the last two votes was cast by Garner himself.

After the meeting, Farley told newspapermen that he understood President Roosevelt himself favored taking the convention to Chicago. He indicated he would announce the date for the big party meeting after the republican national committee selects its time and city at a meeting here on Feb. 16.

Chicago 1932 Scene

Chicago, the scene of President Roosevelt's original presidential nomination in 1932, is also the home of the powerful Kelly-Nash democratic organization which has taken a foremost position in the move to draft Mr. Roosevelt for an additional term.

Today's meeting was notable, too, for a warm exchange of felicitations between Farley, who is widely regarded as a presidential aspirant, and Garner, an outright candidate. Introducing Farley, Garner referred to him as the most efficient national chairman in fifty years and praised him as "the most agreeable fellow to work with" he had ever known.

Farley returned the compliment in a nationally broadcast radio address. In thanking the members of the committee for past assistance, he included "sturdy stalwart John Nance Garner, vice president of the United States." Applause followed the remark.

The exchange inevitably aroused speculation as to political implications. Some have been predicting the eventual emergence of a Garner-Farley working alliance, aimed at preventing a third-term nomination for President Roosevelt.

Dies of Accident Injuries

CRESTON, (AP)—Glen Kirby, 37, of Mt. Airy, Ia., died Sunday night in a hospital here of injuries resulting from a power saw accident last Tuesday.

W. H. Stark Takes Life

DAVENPORT, Feb. 5 (AP)—William H. Stark, chairman of the Davenport Civil Service commission, died today of a bullet wound Police Chief Reed Phillips said was self-inflicted.

The shooting took place at the central fire station at 2:30 o'clock, Chief Phillips said.

Stark was police and fire commissioner and formerly was a member of the board of aldermen.

He was about 60 years old. He had been in ill health for several years and officials attributed his act to the illness.

Program, Judges Announced for Iowa High School Music Festival

The complete program for the University of Iowa High School Music festival, to be held here May 2 to May 4, was announced yesterday by Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department. Names of the nationally-known critic-judges for the event were also disclosed.

The festival will be non-competitive in the sense that entries will not be given definite rankings or ratings by the critic-judges. Criticisms and commendations will be made by the judges after each performance, however.

Prof. Eugene J. Welgel, head of the music department and conductor of band and orchestra at the University of Ohio, will be one of the critics and will conduct the festival band, composed of outstanding high school musicians, on Saturday evening, May 4.

Prof. Thompson Stone, conductor of the famous Handel and Haydn society and the Apollo club in Boston, will serve as vocal critic and will conduct the festival chorus in its evening concert May 4.

Dr. Howard Hanson, president of the National Association of Schools of Music, will criticize orchestral performances and lead the festival orchestra. Dr. Hanson is also director of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y.

The festival will be arranged so that critics will have sufficient time to comment on each performance and to direct groups in passages under consideration.

Other festival critics and conductors will include such faculty members of the University of Iowa music department as Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department; Prof. Righter, director of the university band; Prof. Arnold Small, concertmaster of the university symphony orchestra; Prof. Herald Stark, head of voice instruction; Prof. Hans Koebel, well known cellist.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts; Prof. Anne E. Pierce, head of the music department of the university experimental schools; Prof. Addison Alspach, assistant conductor of the university orchestra; Thomas Mule, voice instructor, and Himie Voxman, woodwind instrument instructor.

Richard Crooks, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera association, will present a recital in the field house on Thursday evening, as a highlight of the festival, May 2.

Invitations to the festival will be issued to high schools all over the state on the basis of past achievement or upon the recommendation of prominent musicians who are informed as to the applicant's qualifications. The event is not a part of the contest or festival series annually sponsored in the spring by other state or national music organizations.

It's All A Part Of Education

WITHIN the brief space of two weeks' time—the first two weeks in February, 1940—the University of Iowa calendar of events carries three related occurrences typical of the opportunities offered as a part of the liberal education available at a school such as this university.

The first of these events is now past, the second comes this week and the next is to be Feb. 15.

John Mason Brown, famed Broadway critic, came to the University of Iowa campus last week to present a lecture—free to university students. He is one of the most popular speakers of the day and his popularity here was displayed by the capacity audience which attended the talk in Macbride auditorium.

Then on Wednesday and Friday of this week a group of University of Iowa students will present an opera. More than that, it's more than just an opera—it's Victor Herbert's "The Serenade," one of the five most famous left by the great American composer.

These students have put weeks of work into the production of "The Serenade" and students who will have the opportunity to attend the presentation either night this week will see a production which will make entertainment history on the campus.

The famed St. Louis symphony orchestra for the sixth consecutive year comes to the university campus to present, as usual, two concerts Tuesday, Feb. 15. Under the expert direction of Vladimir Golschmann, the St. Louis symphony is one of the finest musical organizations to come to the campus during any year.

This year's concert will be of special interest because there is rumored the possibility that Conductor Golschmann may not be with the orchestra after this season since he is being considered for the conductor's position of one of the large eastern symphonies.

Some call such a line-up of events as these three "culture." It may be just that but it is also a necessary part of a liberal education. Students come to the university for just such an education and in such a program of events as these two weeks hold, they certainly get the finer things in life.

Observing An American Anniversary

THIS WEEK all America is celebrating the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the Boy Scout movement in America. The movement has its enthusiastic supporters everywhere. Indeed in its three decades nearly 9,000,000 Americans have been Scouts, Cubs and leaders. Today there are over 1,330,000 boys and men actively enrolled.

Now as never before, American adults are giving their time, energies and financial support to time-tested boys and girls organizations that help mold their children into types of citizens that will guarantee the continued existence of the United States along the pattern set by the nation's founders who gave America its democratic form of government and its precious heritage, the Constitution and the bill of rights.

As one of several leading organizations which supplement the home, church and school, the Boy Scouts of America engages boys' leisure-time energies in outdoor life and activities of cultural and practical value which lead boys to become dependable men.

Every president of the United States since William Howard Taft has been an enthusiastic supporter of Scouting and every American acquainted with its beneficial program acknowledges it as worthy of continued confidence and trust.

The Russians May Not Think So

WE do not dispute that Finland is deserving of both sympathy and assistance, as the underdog in a grossly uneven match.

Nevertheless it has been badly evident that little Finland has played on the sympathies of Americans to the extreme. Practically all the stories about the Russo-Finnish war have originated from Finland, and all have been distinguished by being one-sided.

Summarizing the results, the Columbia Missourian says, "It follows naturally from this that, 1. The Russians lose daily, 2. Russian soldiers are poorly equipped and misled, 3. Russian airplanes direct relentless but vain bombing attacks against peaceful Finnish cities in which strangely enough, only a few women, children, and old men are injured, 4. The Finns fight valiantly against staggering odds for their homeland."

We must beware of going overboard on our sentiment for the underdog, and reserve our final judgment on the fighting in the north.

The other side hasn't reported as yet.

Many a European war-maker is learning these days that a chip on the shoulder can be converted in a wink into a clip on the chin.

"Don't," urged the ancient philosopher, "hide your light under a bushel." Good advice but, then, the wisecracker never lived during the era of blackouts.

Of North Carolina's 3,500,000 population, 15,000 are listed as Indians.

THE NEW "POWDER KEG OF EUROPE"

First Rate Advertising Given 'Cactus Jack' Unintentionally by John Lewis -- Stewart

John L. Lewis' reference to Vice President John Garner as an "evil old man" generally is spoken of by politicians as having been, of course, unintentionally first-rate advertising for "Cactus Jack."

If John L. had stopped at calling the Texan a "labor-baiter" he probably would have done the latter some damage. But it's evident that few voters care much whether or not the Lone Star statesman thinks a little whiskey or occasionally plays a little poker.

The prospects of Senator Burton K. Wheeler for the Democratic presidential nomination certainly have been improved. I wouldn't say he's developed into a strong likelihood, but he's in process of developing into a fair bet.

John L. Lewis has spoken more than well of him. So has William Green of the A. F. of L. When you get Lewis and Green in agreement, it's "going some."

In an odd sense Wheeler might be a compromise. In the first place, he's a compromise between Lewis and Green. But he's a compromise between radicalism (not mere liberalism) and conservatism, too.

The C. I. O. leader's denunciation of President Roosevelt as a "traitor to labor" (according to Lewis) is rated as a distinctly effective jab at the present White House tenant—if F. D. seeks an instant term. True, there are plenty of labor spokesmen who disagree with John L. Nevertheless, Lewis

Ireland-- Heaven? O'Casey Makes Liars Of Irish Tunemiths In His Play

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—The Irish are a great people and I know God loves them, but after this I am going to eschew any further revivals or new plays by Sean O'Casey, or Liam O'Flaherty, or any of their distinguished colleagues for the purely personal reason that they leave me with the willies.

Ever since I can remember the Irish song writers have been insisting that Ireland must be Heaven, and the Irish dramatists have been doing their best to make liars out of them. At least the O'Caseys and the O'Flahertys have. There is nothing angelic about the people they write about. When the first curtain rises they are about on a level that Tobacco Road dwellers would regard as poor white trash, and they go down from there.

There is no Broadway at this moment a highly successful revival of Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock." After three acts of this I wondered why even the optimists in the audience didn't go home and open a vein. This play is billed as a comedy and the critics called it "uproariously funny," but the only message I got out of it was that life is futile and that man begins to decay the moment he is born.

"Juno and the Paycock" is the story of a family that rocks to oblivion from the dizzy heights of the gutter. There are four people—the mother, the father, the sister and the brother. The father is the Paycock, a liar and a drunk who will not work. The brother is a fear-crazed weakling who is finally executed by some free-Ireland-or-perish fanatics. The sister turns out to be a girl "who falls by the wayside," leaving only the mother to attempt in some way to hold the ravelled strands of the family together.

All of their acquaintances and friends are liars who excel only in invective and who doublecross each other during and between the acts. The final curtain falls on a dead son, a betrayed daughter, a drunkard (father who plans to horse-whip his daughter for soiling the family name, and the mother, who is now a huddled heap of misery in the center of a bare stage, all of the furniture having been taken away for lack of payment.

These are the sort of people O'Casey writes about, and therefore one must assume that they represent his point of view, or at least his idea of Ireland. None of his characters ever reaches the happy ending. They are always born in a sort of semi-purgatory of horror and their lives are always turned into a series of convulsive fits.

But probably I am all wrong. For a generation critics on both sides of the ocean have called O'Casey a magnificent playwright, and they should know. Once a song writer said that Ireland was something like Heaven. All I can say is that if O'Casey's Ireland is this Heaven, I will take Helsinki.

Iowa Politics Getting Hot

Governorship Worries Dems, 6th District Representative GOP

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Suddenly dropping its lackadaisical pace, Iowa politics surged into mid-campaign speed today with the development of a scrap in democratic ranks and the fevered search of the republicans for a sixth district congressman.

State Sen. Ed Breen of Ft. Dodge, Ia., lashed Sen. Clyde L. Herring and other democrats for what the legislator termed "A brazen attempt to stampede the rank and file of Iowa democrats" into nominating John K. Valentine for governor.

Breen declared a reported agreement reached in Washington on the gubernatorial subject was designed "to frighten other candidates out of the primary."

Mentioned as Candidate The Fort Dodge law-maker himself had been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for governor. Valentine, who is federal district attorney for southern Iowa, has held a wide lead in "hot stove league" talk for the democratic nomination.

Valentine meanwhile issued a statement saying he had come to "no final decision" on whether he will run in the spring. He said he considered the governorship "the highest honor that can come to an Iowan," but also expressed his personal preference for continuation as federal attorney and in private law practice.

Meanwhile, the death of Congressman C. C. Dowell of Des Moines, had the republicans in the sixth district literally running in circles over the task of selecting a candidate to succeed the veteran representative.

The democrats continued calm, probably because of the realization that any candidate of their party faces an uphill fight in this heavily GOP district. Both parties will be required to name standard bearers at district conventions.

Convention Time, Site Republican party sources said that the district committee, composed of one committee member from each of the six counties in the area,

GOOD MORNING

By JAMES FOX AND BILL BARTLEY

The last we heard of James R. Young he was sleeping on the ambassador's old fur coat.

Mr. Young, as you may have read, hails from Springfield, Ill. But having an adventurous spirit and typewriter itch on the ends of his fingers, Mr. Young bundled off to the Orient with his wife and son to do war coverage for Hearst's International News service.

American and Japanese diplomats are playing a game of catch-as-catch-can over trade contracts these days, but James R. Young isn't caring much about that phase of international diplomacy.

He's more curious about the lock-picking skill of the fingers of Uncle Sam. Because if Uncle Sam can't pick locks James Young may be in the Tokyo jail longer than he wants to be.

So far things have been fairly speedy. The Hearst correspondent was arrested on charges of spreading slanderous rumors regarding the Japanese forces in China. Under Japanese law, it matters little that he wasn't even in Japan at the time the offense was committed. Hugh Byas, writing in the New York Times, says, "The case contains legal features of great importance to the press everywhere because the alleged offenses originated in territory outside of Japan in the course of Mr. Young's work as a newspaper correspondent. The charge is 'sending from Shanghai and other places to the head office in the United States and to newspapers and magazines in Japan extremely slanderous news articles regarding the Japanese forces operating in various parts of China.'"

Where native Japanese often lie in jail for years before being brought to trial, the preliminary inquiry is now being conducted by the Japanese. Although the accusa-

with D. Mac Showers

I TURN AWAY ... today from radio directly to a problem nearer home in which I seem to have some concern. Sunday morning last I had a nice telephone chat with an Iowa student.

I suppose he was a university student, that is. He called me at home and asked me if I hadn't said we were going to have a good orchestra for the Commerce Mart. I told him I had said that and added that we were going to have such an orchestra.

I didn't ask his name—didn't care to know it. I soon found out his object in calling me and I was glad to talk with him. For my purposes I wanted him to remain unknown to me.

I wanted him to be the representative voice of Iowa students—campus party-goers. Using him for that purpose, I chatted with him about university parties and orchestras for a good half-hour.

HE DIDN'T LIKE ... the idea of Boyd Raeburn for the commerce party—said he had danced to the band and that it didn't appeal to him and wouldn't appeal to the campus here. But he said that he was going to the Commerce Mart... both he and his roommate.

WHAT HE WANTED, and what he claimed every Iowa student wanted, is "big name" bands for the university parties. So do I. But he didn't realize, and I told him so, the trouble that a party committee goes through to get an orchestra and how seldom a really good orchestra is listed.

So, now I feel that I have heard from the Iowa student body on the party and orchestra situation. It's about as I expected to find and I also find that the majority is in favor of the same improvements that I want.

TO GET THEM ... I'll leave to someone else. They'll probably have to start with the musician's unions and the booking agents for the big-time bands, both of which make trouble for party committees. So it'll be a hard nut to crack.

OH? YES—We both agreed that Kay Kyser was not a sweet band but a swing organization. I was pleased to know someone thought the same as I. He didn't like Sammy Kaye, but I excused him for that.

SO, MY FRIEND, ... I hope to hear more from you. You have good intentions as to what should be done—I have some ideas about how to do it. And maybe we can double date with Glenn Miller plays her. Soon, I hope.

The board of directors of the Alumni association has drawn up a scholarship plan to furnish a guide for establishing scholarships, a part of the 10-point program which is looking ahead to the centennial of the university Feb. 25, 1947, it was announced yesterday.

The purpose of the State University of Iowa alumni scholarship plan is to encourage attendance at the University of Iowa, of students who have ability, personality and promise with emphasis placed on scholarship, need and all-around development, it was pointed out.

Scholarships shall be open to young men and young women in the graduation class of any accredited secondary school whose scholastic rank places them in the upper 50 per cent of the graduates in their class and whose records show high qualities of character personality and leadership.

New Collection Started Manuscript for 'Three Miles Square' Presented to Library

What may become a valuable collection of book manuscripts was started on the campus last week when Prof. Wilbur L. Schramm of the English department presented a package from Bobbs-Merrill to Grace Van Wormer, director of the university library system. The package was bulky, but not so big as its name would indicate.

"Three Miles Square" covers 820 pages of typewritten manuscript. It is interesting to note the author's corrections on the script. "This original manuscript came to us," said Professor Schramm, "on the initiative of Corey himself."

Many Lost 234 U. Grads Must Be Somewhere

Lost: 234 law and commerce alumni of the University of Iowa. Anyone knowing their whereabouts please notify the alumni office.

In an attempt to locate these graduates, the list by classes is being printed in the current issue of the University News Bulletin which is sent to 34,000 alumni.

Although records in the alumni office are unusually complete, it has been impossible to obtain addresses of hundreds of former students. It is hoped that classmates will be able to supply some of the missing records.

There are 163 missing law graduates, ranging from Edson B. Christy, who received his degree in 1868, to Chiu Pai Su, a graduate of 1933. Of the 71 lost commerce grads, the greatest number, 15, is from the class of 1924.

Theodore P. Eslick Reveals That 115 Persons Will Have Employment on 4 Projects

Forty Men, Women To Be Given Jobs At University Hospital

Employment for 115 persons on four University of Iowa projects was announced yesterday by Theodore P. Eslick, state NYA administrator.

Twenty young men and 20 young women will be employed in public health and hospital work at the University hospital as one of the projects. Another project in the college of engineering workshop will employ a like number of persons.

A third project concerned with clerical assistance will use 17 young men and three young women, while a project in the visual aid department of the university will take 15 young men.

Mr. Eslick announced that the new out-of-school projects in their entirety will provide employment for 443 youths, 255 for men and 188 for women. Thirty-one projects comprised in the list will operate in 22 towns in 20 counties of the state, with work training and experience for unemployed youths.

Some of the larger projects include two homemaking projects, one at Atlantic and one at Council Bluffs, road and street improvement at Missouri Valley and Keota, and cleaning 20,000 bricks for street construction at Washington, Ia.

Mr. Eslick announced that additional projects will include repairing educational buildings at Moulton, library service and book repair at Coon Rapids and Spencer, and assistance for operation of federal art project center at Sioux City.

Iowa Shines In Art Show

Five Iowa Paintings Included in Exhibit At Washington, D. C.

Five paintings by students and graduates of the art department at the University of Iowa are included in the present exhibition of oil paintings by art students in the fine arts gallery of the Interior building at Washington, D. C.

"Young Negress" by Elizabeth Cattell, G of Washington, D. C., is one to be included. Others are "Girl in the White Blouse" and "Girl with the Red Hat" by Margaret Miller Waples, who received her master's degree last year; "Life Study" by Charles West, a student here during the last summer session, and "Steel Mills" by Charles Haworth, who received his master's last summer from the art department.

Twenty art schools or art departments of colleges are represented in the exhibition, which is sponsored by the United States Office of Education.

Arnold Nash Talks Today

Presents Lecture In Chemistry Auditorium On Labor Party, War

"The British Labor Party and the War in Europe" is the subject of the college of commerce lecture to be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock in chemistry auditorium by Arnold S. Nash, secretary of the Church of England Moral Welfare council, scientist, philosopher, theologian, and student of the social studies.

Nash has been a Tate science scholar at Liverpool university, and later was a research student under Imperial Chemical industries. He wrote the thesis for his M. A. degree on "Natural Science and the Problem of Theism."

As a result of his school and church work, Mr. Nash has come to be recognized as an authority on social questions, especially on the family and the relation of religion to modern life, Dean C. A. Phillips of the college of commerce said in his announcement.

Poseidon? Cyclops?

Sketched by Bill Tilton For New Translation Of The 'Odyssey'

Poseidon, Cyclops and six-headed Scylla, the Greek gods so well known and completely befuddling to every freshman English student, have been sketched by Bill Tilton, A1 of Benavides, Texas, and are now on display in the lobby of Iowa Union.

Tilton has drawn the characters to illustrate a new translation of the "Odyssey" which a campus professor is now writing. There will be 20 such illustrations when the set is complete.

Sketches done in red, yellow and black pencil of the "home folks," which will be used in Tilton's new book, "Down Home," are also on display.

Other illustrations and sketches in the Iowa Union exhibit are what Tilton calls "Doodles—or convenient ways to pass a rainy afternoon."

TODAY With WSUI

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

The Iowa Union Radio hour, heard today at 3:30 p. m. will feature a discussion of three books, "The Sea in the Jungle" by H. M. Tomlinson, "Voyaging" by Rockwell Kent, and "Animal Treasure" by Ivan Sanderson.

Henderson Forsythe, G of Monroe City, Mo., and Billie Waldron, A4 of Milwaukee, Ore., who will play the leading roles in the next university play, "Winterset," will be interviewed at 12:30 today on the Student on the Campus program.

The second of the program series, From the Archives, will be presented by Marie Haefner at 2 o'clock today. The program is devoted to showing the contrast between the university then and the university now.

A group of members from the community service of the Y. W. C. A. will discuss the topic "Projects of the Community Service Group" at 8:15 this evening.

'Y' Cabinets To Hear Mr., Mrs. A. S. Nash Speak Tonight at 7:30

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. cabinets will meet this evening at 7:30 in the Y. W. C. A. conference room of Iowa Union to hear Mr. and Mrs. Arnold S. Nash, an English couple on their way to a Pacific coast lecture tour, speak on "Men and Women in the Changing World."

Mr. Nash, who will appear in a college of commerce lecture this afternoon, is secretary of the Church of England Moral Welfare council and is a scientist and theologian.

Mrs. Nash, formerly president of the Student Christian movement at the University of Liverpool, has devoted research to the position of the home and the family in the contemporary world.

Schlanbusch Chairman Of Committee

Named Yesterday By Gilmore To Head Finnish Relief Fund

In accordance with the request of former-President Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., President Eugene A. Gilmore appointed and yesterday announced a faculty committee headed by Dr. O. E. Schlanbusch of the college of dentistry.

Others on the committee include, Prof. E. Peterson of the college of education, Prof. O. Nybakken of the classical languages department, Bertram Johansson, graduate assistant in the English department, F. L. Hamburg, university treasurer, and Lucile Mullen, A4 of Daventry, student representative on the committee.

Local donations may be placed in any of the receptacles which are located on the campus or may be sent to Mr. Hamburg, room 2, University hall. Members of the committee will also accept contributions.

Voluntary Contributions Contributions are to be purely voluntary, Mr. Hoover urged. "I fully realize the pressing needs of many of our own people. I would not wish any contributions to this fund for Finland to lessen the support of all these other needs, both at home and abroad," he explained in his letter to President Gilmore.

"However, I firmly believe that America should also make some sacrifices for the brave Finns who are making a heroic stand against the forces of primitive savagery," he concluded.

The money will not be used for military purposes, the committee stated in its announcement. The work involved in the enterprise is entirely voluntary and without remuneration. Several university departments have been called upon to assist in the drive, which will end the last of February.

Local committee members will work in cooperation with the state chairman, Pres. John S. Nollen of Grinnell college.

Earl English Speaks

Earl English, instructor in the school of journalism, spoke on "Title Pages" when he appeared before the Iowa City Library club last night at 7:30 in Ranney Memorial library. The illustrated lecture was in observance of 500 years of printing.

R. Blaylock Plays Lover To Serenade 'Delores' in Victor Herbert's Opera Tomorrow, Friday Nights

Robert Blaylock, C3 of Council Bluffs, basketball numeral man at the University of Iowa and member of the university golf squad, will forsake athletics long enough to portray the role of the troubadour-lover of Delores in "The Serenade," Victor Herbert comic opera to be presented in Macbride auditorium tomorrow and Friday nights.

During his high school days, Mr. Blaylock was a state contestant as baritone soloist and played several leading roles in operettas. He is baritone soloist at the Iowa City Methodist church. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

"The Serenade" is being presented by the University of Iowa music department and is under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark. More than 75 students are taking part in the presentations. Included in this number is the leading cast of 10 persons, a chorus of 40 voices and a selected orchestra of 25 members.

Robert Whitehand, graduate assistant in the dramatic arts department, is in charge of all stage work for the production.

Tickets for "The Serenade" are on sale at Williams' Iowa Supply store, Whetstone's Drug store No. 1 and room 105, music studio building.

Robert C. Mackie Describes Schooling Difficulties in Europe

Speaking to 275 persons in the river room of Iowa Union, Robert C. Mackie Sunday night began the activities of the future Student Christian council, which is to be made up of the Inter-Church council, the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

Using concrete examples of work which his organization, the World Student Christian federation, is doing to keep students of distressed nations in school in other countries, Mr. Mackie compared the United States and his England with China, India, Belgium, France, Germany and Spain.

"Thank God you are Americans. You have the opportunity of continuing your studies and growing up in this free country. I speak for the many thousand students who are not in their countries or are behind barred wires in Europe," Mr. Mackie concluded.

Centering his speech on the problems of keeping students of other countries in school, rather than so-called missionary work among students in school, Mr. Mackie, general secretary of the federation in Geneva, Switzerland, spoke to a group made up of church student groups which had been dismissed for the night in order that members might hear him.

Editorial on flood control says it would cost $8,000,000,000 to make the Mississippi and Ohio rivers behave. This, no doubt, would go down in history as the costliest spanking of all time.

Dr. L. Bass Will Lecture Here Friday

Chemist To Be Guest Of American Chemical Society at 7:30 P. M.

Dr. Lawrence W. Bass, assistant director of Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh, Pa., will be guest of the Iowa City section of American Chemical Society at a lecture Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the chemistry auditorium, it was announced yesterday.

Active in recent research work being done on dairy products, Dr. Bass will discuss "Some Aspects of Food Engineering." The chemist has done pioneering work in chemical economics and photochemistry in this country.

Receiving his B.A. degree from Yale university in 1919, Dr. Bass was awarded a national research fellowship in chemistry there. In 1922, he received his Ph.D. degree and later studied in Paris, France, at the Louis Pasteur institute.

The research chemist in America has been associated with the Rockefeller institute and served as director of research for Borden company of New York City until 1936 when he took over his position at the Mellon institute.

A "Half-Way Party" will mark the mid-year point in the social activities of the Nonpareil club this evening at 9 o'clock at the Varsity hall room.

Dusty Keaton and his orchestra will play for dancing.

Ling-Chi Chang Accepts Position In South America

Ling-Chi Chang, a graduate student in physical education in the university last semester, left last week for Bolivia, South America, where he will assume a position of instructor in physiology.

Mr. Chang was a member of the Chinese Olympic team, and captain in the far east tournaments. He is the decathlon champion of China.

He received his M. P. E. degree from Springfield college, Springfield, Mass.

Women's Pan-Hel Meets Today at 4 In Conference Room

"Who's Who Among Sorority Women" will be the theme of the Women's Pan-Hellenic meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the north conference room of Iowa Union. Each chapter representative will present a brief biography of two or three nationally known members. The second semester membership lists will be turned in at this meeting.

Effects of War on Colonies To Be Discussed at Forum

Need of 'Lebensraum' Also To Be Included At Graduate Meeting

Are colonies vital to the national welfare of Italy or Germany? To what extent are the "have" powers responsible for damaging the economic life of the "have not" powers by excluding them from colonial territories? Is there any arrangement whereby emigrants from over-populated countries are sent abroad into colonial territories?

These questions will be discussed in the graduate college forum on Colonies and "Lebensraum" tonight at 8 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. The forum, which is part of the Peace or War series sponsored by the graduate college and the social science departments, will be concerned with the effects of the present war on the arrangement of colonies.

Controversial Problem This matter of colonies and room for living has been one of the most controversial problems resulting from the first World war, according to Prof. C. W. deKiewiet of the history department, chairman of this series of round table discussions.

Prof. Harold H. McCarty of the college of commerce, an expert on the economic resources of the world, will be discussion leader. Serving as chairman of the forum will be Prof. W. Ross Livingston of the history department.

Members of the panel will include economist Prof. Howard R. Bowen of the college of commerce, who will present his views on the tariffs; Prof. A. K. Miller of the geology department and Prof. W. F. Loehwing of the botany department, who will discuss the question of natural resources.

Prof. H. W. Staupers of the college of commerce, who has done much study on population distribution will be in the group, presenting some results of his research. Goldwin Smith, instructor of English history, will make the British Empire the subject of his discussion.

The last forum of this series is scheduled for Feb. 20 at which time a rational peace will be discussed.

Interpreting The War News--

Balkan Countries Express Continued Neutrality in Belgrade Conference

Red Threat Disregarded By Entente

Southern European Countries Take Heart After Finland's Stand

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer

The way in which Russia's ill-starred Finnish campaign has damaged her prestige elsewhere in the world is illustrated by the doings of the Balkan entente conference at Belgrade.

The four countries, Rumania, Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia, contended they were and would continue to be strictly neutral in the war between Germany and the Franco-British allies. They made no public mention of the Russo-Finnish war, which is an offshoot of the major conflict.

Yet the obvious effect of the decisions taken at Belgrade, however stated officially, was to put Russia on notice that if she moves against Rumania she may find several nations in southeastern Europe presenting a united front against her. A wide door for Italian cooperation to check Russia in the Balkans was opened at Belgrade. Moscow can hardly doubt that Italy's axis mate, Nazi Germany, is a silent partner in Rome's effort to preserve the Balkan status quo and forestall any territorial or economic advance by Russia in that direction.

Had the red army crashed through Finland on schedule, the Balkans might by now have been under the shadow of an approaching Russian bear. As it is, the conclusions of the Balkan entente conference at Belgrade seemed based on an expectation that Russia has been stopped indefinitely in the southeast because of her plight in Finland.

A diplomatic and politico-economic stalemate has developed in southeastern Europe that is hardly less of a deadlock than that imposed on the German and allied armies on the west front by the magnet and siegfried line defenses. Nor can that be wholly disappointing to the allies, even if their major strategy of strangling Germany economically could perhaps have been more quickly severed had Russia precipitated a conflict in the Balkans and thereby disrupted trade with Germany.

Presumably the maintenance of the status quo in Rumania and in other Balkan or Danubian countries from which Germany draws oil and food supplies means that the German-allied war will continue there as a war of economics. There has been little to indicate that London and Paris actually desired any other outcome so far as southeastern Europe is concerned.

Despite German contentions that the allies have been seeking to draw both the Balkans and Scandinavia into the war on their side, the preponderance of evidence seems to point the other way. It argues that the allies are so firmly convinced of their ultimate power to throttle Germany economically that they have no desire to spread the war or see other small countries become belligerents under circumstances that would require prompt dispersion of allied military and other resources to aid them.

The attitude taken by London and Paris toward Finland's struggle against Russia is highly significant. Material help to Finland has been restricted to such as the allies could spare from their own war effort against Germany. Behind that lies the fear of spreading either military or economic action over so wide a front as to weaken its effect.

Short of German intervention in Finland to aid Russia it still seems improbable that Britain and France will take any step to weld Europe's two wars into one or align Russia against them as a belligerent. In some allied quarters, there is still hope of a complete rupture between Moscow and Berlin.

Back-stage cooperation between Rome and Berlin to block Russia in Rumania, such as was hinted at during the Belgrade conference of the Balkan entente group, might be a step in that direction.

Whatever the fact, Italian prestige in the Balkans was strengthened as a result of gestures of amity between Rumania and Hungary and Bulgaria, while Russian influences there was notably lacking.

Auto Noses Out Home as Popular Place to Propose

Boy: "Er—dear—there's something I—er—want to ask you—er—". Girl: "Why, of course I'll marry you—if that's what you mean." Flash! Cupid wins by a knockout! Victory is sealed with a kiss!

A study of 1,181 proposals of marriage conducted by the Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles, Cal., reveals that when boys pop the big question to Girl it's one chance in four they are seated in his car. Twenty-three per cent of marriage proposals take place in the girl's home which formerly held a big lead over all other posals sites. Twenty per cent of the proposals are made in public places such as the street, parks, campus or a restaurant, the survey shows. Thirteen per cent of the "will you be mine?" queries occur on vacation trips or while traveling. Only six out of every 100 proposals are made via telegram.

British Will Return Nine Nazi Seamen

Japanese To Negotiate For Surrender of 21 Men Seized From Ship

TOKYO, Feb. 6 (Tuesday) (AP)—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita told the diet (parliament) today Great Britain had agreed to return nine of 21 German seamen seized Jan. 20 from the Japanese liner Asama Maru, but "I cannot say that the case is entirely settled."

The foreign minister said Japan would continue to negotiate for surrender of all the seamen and added:

"Although the Japanese government does not fail to appreciate the desire on the part of the British government to seek speedy settlement of the Asama Maru case, it cannot express satisfaction because the number of Germans to be delivered to Japanese authorities is only part of those whose extradition was demanded."

The Germans were taken from the Japanese liner 35 miles off Yokohama after the vessel had been halted by a British warship with a shot across her bow. They were interned at Hongkong, British crown colony.

Harper Defines Arts As Ministers of Man's Spiritual Well-Being

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 — The fine arts, truly understood and interpreted, minister to the spiritual well-being of mankind, Dr. Earl E. Harper of the University of Iowa told Iowa ministers and their wives here tonight.

Dr. Harper, dean of the university's college of fine arts, spoke at the ninth annual Iowa Ministers' convocation.

The convocation, attended by ministers of various denominations, opened tonight and will continue through Wednesday. "The message and mission of art are abiding and eternal," Dr. Harper said. "When we adopt the fine arts into the church of God, when we adapt their ministry to the needs and uses of religion; when the artist and the preacher join hands in the common cause of spiritual emancipation of human life, then we may confidently believe that mankind may be led to a rendezvous with his highest destiny."

Dr. Harper's address dwelt largely on the closely-linked relationship of religion, music and architecture.

Dies Refers Charges To Justice Department

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Dies committee decided yesterday to refer to the justice department for

"appropriate action" its charges that letters purporting to link its chairman, Rep. Dies (D-Tex.), with the Silver Shirt legion were forged.

Announcing this action, the committee said it was presenting to the department "indisputable evidence and testimony showing that purported letters from William Dudley Pelley to D. D. Mayne, placed in the congressional record appendix of January 2, 1940, are forgeries."

Pelley is the leader of the Silver Shirts.

Currier Hall Names Four Representatives to Council

Third Annual Iowa Boys' State Planned For June 1 to June 8

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 5 (AP)—The third annual Hawkeye Boys' State, sponsored by the Iowa department of the American Legion, will be held June 1 to 8 at Camp Dodge, the board of directors decided here today.

Six hundred boys from various Iowa communities are selected for instruction in state, county and city government at the Boys' State. Various athletic contests also are held.

Jordan Larson of Ames will be camp director. The age limit for boys attending was changed to 16 to 19 years instead of 16 to 20 years, as has been the limit in the past.

Miss Ivie, Miss Nelson, Mary Beck, Mary Holt Elected to Body

Four new members of Currier council elected Sunday night and last night to represent their respective floors were announced last night by Leta Smith, A4 of Springfield, president of the association. Virginia Ivie, A2 of Shenandoah, is the new representative from first floor; Mary Louise Nelson, A1 of Laurens, second floor; Mary Frances Beck, A4 of Davenport, third floor, and Mary Holt, A3 of Red Oak, fourth floor.

The four new members will replace five former representatives, Felice Swan, A3 of Ida Grove; Harriet Harlow, A2 of Toledo; Helen Kahl, G of Bettendorf; Ila Mae Klockslem, C4 of Paton, and Lois Larson, A4 of Rockford, Ill. Miss Kahl was ineligible to run for office since she became classified as a graduate student with the second semester.

Officers, elected each spring at a general Currier election, include Miss Smith, president; Ruth Subotnik, A4 of Cedar Rapids, vice-president; Pat Sleszer, A3 of Freeport, Ill., secretary, and Barbara Murchison, A3 of Sidney, treasurer. Additional members of council who head special committees are Mina Scott, A4 of Benton Harbor, Mich., house; Betty Gilliland, A3 of Des Moines, publicity; Ruth Summy, A2 of Des Moines, activities, and Helen Berlau, A3 of Newton, social.

He added that the answers to census questions are kept perpetually confidential.

American Privacy Won't Be Violated By Census of 1940

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Hopkins, in a letter to Sen. Tolley (R-NH) denied today that the 1940 census would violate the privacy of Americans.

Hopkins said that questions about mortgages, rent and income, had been asked for years, some as long ago as 90 years ago. Tolley had objected last week that such inquiries were ineffectual.

In an address on the Washington Star's radio forum (NBC) tonight, William Lane Austin, director of the census, said "the questions we will ask you are not our questions, but your questions."

National Defense Week Observance Set for February 15 to 22

Activities To Culminate In Open Banquet

Maj. Jacobsen Names Committee in Charge of Arrangements

The local observance of National Defense week will be held from Feb. 15 to 22, it was announced yesterday by Maj. H. H. Jacobsen, president of the Reserve Officers' association, sponsors of the event.

The week's activities are scheduled to culminate in a banquet in the Jefferson hotel the evening of Feb. 21, open to the general public. The main speaker is expected to be announced next week.

In keeping with the annual custom, window displays by the various army units will feature the celebration.

The university R. O. T. C. will arrange an exhibit in the windows of the Iowa City Light and Power company, it was announced. The display of company I, 113th cavalry of the Iowa national guard, will be constructed in the show windows of Strub's, and company G, 138th medical regiment, in Bremer's.

The American Legion will send a representative to all grade schools in Iowa City to distribute flags to pupils and to present short talks on the meaning of National Defense week. The Reserve Officers' association is also planning an exhibit.

Service club representatives will deliver short talks over radio station WSUI during the week, according to tentative arrangements.

The general committee consists of Major Jacobsen and Lieut. Robert Snyder, who will serve as chairman of the following sub-committee:

Capt. Edward C. Patton, Maj. Walter Merriam, Lieut. John T. Gottman and Lieut. Leo Ruppert, all of the Reserve Officers' association; Col. C. A. Bagby of the regular army; Col. Will J. Hayek, Capt. Elmer Hay, Maj. A. S. Fourn and Capt. E. W. Paulus, all of the Iowa national guards.

Mississippi Dam Project Gets Hearing

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—The state executive council listened four hours this afternoon to arguments for and against the proposed Moscow dam, and then announced it would allow ten days in which to file additional briefs in the case.

The first Iowa hydro-electric cooperative of Muscatine, is seeking a license for the proposed $3,000,000 hydro-electric power project, which would involve creation of an 11-mile-long lake above Moscow, Iowa, on the Cedar river.

Witnesses appearing today in behalf of the project included Harry J. Strong of Muscatine, secretary of the power cooperative; B. Layton, Muscatine engineer; C. S. Timanus, Kansas City, Mo., consulting engineer; J. M. Roth, Muscatine business man who said he represented various civic organizations; and A. A. Couch, president of the Iowa State Federation of Labor.

Opponents at the hearing included Judge George W. Wood of Waterloo, representing the Izaak Walton league; Louis Boldrini of Albia, district president of the United Mine Workers of America; W. H. Jeffries, West Des Moines, representing various railway labor groups; and A. J. Christiansen, Chicago, secretary of the Northern Illinois coal trade association and allied groups.

Fred R. White, Ames, chief engineer for the state highway commission, told the council it would cost an estimated $300,000 to raise highway 6 and protect it from the impounded waters of the proposed power reservoir.

Glenn D. Kelly, Davenport attorney representing the power company, had assured the council at the outset that the company is ready to take care of any damage to highways due to creation of the lake.
