FINNS REPEL FIVE RED ATTACKS

Pelley Denies Under Cover Agreement With Dies

Calls Letters 'Forgeries' On Capitol Hill

'I'm Giving Dies Absolutely Clean Bill Of Health,' Says He

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—William Dudley Pelley, goateed foe of the Silver Shirt Legion, appeared dramatically out of the nowhere today to explode any idea that he and Representative Dies of Texas had an under-the-table agreement.

Long a will o' the wisp to investigators working for Dies' committee on un-American activities, Pelley nonchalantly showed up on Capitol Hill and branded the now-notorious "Pelley letters" as rank forgeries. These letters, signed with the name "Pelley," had predicted Dies would not go out of his way to call Pelley for questioning.

"None of those letters were written by me, or signed by me," Pelley informed a house rules subcommittee. "I don't know anything about them."

"I'm giving Martin Dies an absolutely clean bill of health," he told reporters. "I admire the work he's done." Then, in rapid-fire sequence, the following events occurred: "Manufactured Letters"

David Mayne of Washington, former aide of Pelley's, blandly asserted before the subcommittee that he manufactured the letters "right out of the clear air." He had previously said that his motive was to put foes of the Dies committee "out on a limb" by turning the letters over to them.

Representative Hook (D-Mich.), a fiery critic of Dies' methods and the man who started the whole public rumpus by putting the letters into the Congressional Record, finally acknowledged that they were the "figment of somebody's imagination." He got up in the house, withdrew the letters from the record, and proclaimed that he "wouldn't be too small to extend my apologies to anybody."

Down in Asheville, N. C., Sheriff Lawrence E. Brown dispatched telegrams to the Washington, D. C., police, the federal bureau of investigation and the Dies committee asking that Pelley be held for him. Pelley was convicted in 1935 of violating the state "blue sky" securities law, and a superior court judge has accused him of violating the conditions on which his jail sentence was suspended.

Denounces Pelley However, the Dies committee wants to question him further here. It slapped a subpoena on him today, and acting Chairman Starnes (D-Ala.) said that as long as Pelley was under this subpoena neither state nor federal officers could interfere.

The committee has denounced Pelley, a distributor of anti-Semitic literature, as head of one of the richest of so-called American "fascist groups."

Among charges which the committee has made against him is this one: "From the documentary evidence and testimony before the committee the conclusion that he is a racketeer engaged in milking thousands of dollars annually from his fanatical and misled followers and credulous people all over the United States and Canada and certain foreign countries, is inescapable."

During the day, Gardner Jackson of labor's non-partisan league appeared before the rules subcommittee. He acknowledged that he furnished $105 for Harold Weisberg, a friend and former LaFollette civil liberties committee employe, to buy the letters from Mayne and said he had seen the original letters.

89 Dramatic Groups Will Enter Annual State Play Festival

Eighty nine high schools, junior colleges and community dramatic groups have entered the 15th annual state play production festival at the University of Iowa, Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, announced yesterday.

High schools will give their plays March 25 to 30, junior colleges, April 1 and 2 and community groups, April 4 to 6. The high school class is the largest with 57 schools entered. Eighteen community groups and 14 junior colleges are participating.

Garner Casts Vote To Break Tie in Senate

Economy Advocates Win Close Victory By 35-34 Decision

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Vice President Garner cast his first vote in the senate in almost six years today and thereby helped economy advocates win a hair-line victory.

Garner struck his blow for lower expenditures by breaking a 34-34 tie on the first of a series of proposed amendments stripping $1,178,739 from the amount the house had voted for the civil aeronautics authority.

The vice president is permitted to vote only when a tie occurs. Although Garner has had numerous opportunities to break ties in the seven years he has presided in the senate, he previously had availed himself of the privilege only twice.

The last time was on April 17, 1934, when he voted "aye" to break a tie on a motion to take up a bill by the late Senator Borah (R-Ida) to prevent members of congress from acting as attorneys before government departments. Senate attaches said Garner cast his only other deciding vote on June 2, 1933. At that time he supported an amendment to limit reductions in veterans' pensions to 25 per cent.

The vice-president's refusal to vote constitutes an unspoken "no" since, under the senate rules, a tie vote automatically defeats a proposal.

"On this vote," the bushy-browed Texan announced crisply today, "the yeas are 34 and the nays are 34. The chair votes yeas and the amendment is agreed to."

Browder Out Of Congress By Landslide

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—Earl Browder, the American communist leader under a 4-year federal prison sentence, was overwhelmingly defeated for congress today in a special election in which, for two reasons, he had no right to vote.

The winner was M. Michael Edelstein, a tammany democrat who pledged support of the new deal and was described by other party leaders as having the blessing of President Roosevelt.

In second place was Louis Lefkowitz, a republican endorsed by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. A candidate for that party's presidential nomination.

Final returns from all 61 election districts gave Edelstein 12,962; Lefkowitz 6,665, and Browder 3,080. This vote for the communist candidate was 80 more than the estimated number of eligible registered communist voters.

The election was in the 14th congressional district to fill a house vacancy occasioned by the death of Rep. William I. Sirovich, a democrat.

The festival program includes demonstrations and round table discussions on problems of acting, directing, staging playwrighting and the educational aspects of dramatic art.

All the plays given during the festival will be evaluated and their achievements will be described as superior, excellent, good, average, or below average. Two or more plays may receive an identical rating.

The judges will be selected by the general committee. Groups rated as superior or excellent will be presented certificates of award by the general committee. All Iowa high schools are eligible to enroll but are divided into three classes. Class A schools include high schools with grades 9 to 12 having an enrollment of more than 450 or with grades 10 to 12 having an enrollment of more than 375.

Class B schools are those with grades 9 to 12 having an enrollment of from 151 to 450 or with grades 10 to 12 having an enrollment of from 121 to 375.

Class C high schools include schools with grade 9 to 12 having an enrollment of 150 or less or with grades 10 to 12 having an enrollment of 120 or less. All Iowa junior colleges are eligible to enroll.

Community groups are also divided into three groups. Class A includes organized little theater groups which produce plays extensively under a specifically named director.

Community drama groups which produce plays only occasionally under various directors or members are included in Class B. The class C group includes the first production of original one-act plays written and entered by a western playwright. Plays entered in this class are given two ratings, one based on the play itself and one on the production. The official list of entrants is given here.

Class A high school—Missouri Valley, Davenport, Clinton, East Waterloo, Burlington, West Waterloo, Keokuk, Ft. Madison and Muscatine.

Class B high school—Emmetsburg, Valley High of Des Moines, Jesup, Manson, Leon, DeWitt, Strawberry Point, Tama, Manchester, Marion, Independence, Sumner, Nevada, Monticello,

Waverly, La Porte City and Moulton. BALKANS WOULD REMAIN NEUTRAL

Once known as the cockpit of Europe, the Balkans, shown in Central Press map above, have determined to remain neutral if possible. The Balkan entente—embracing Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey—in a three-day session affirmed this stand and made efforts toward improving trade relations among themselves. Rumania, which came to the Entente conference, held in Budapest, Yugoslavia, seeking guarantees against pressure by Germany and Russia, failed to receive such assurances.

Fresh Meat Rationing Spells 'Pinch of War' for British

'A Pound A Week' Per Person Prevails After March 11

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Announcement of rationing of fresh meat effective March 11 at a rate of a bit over a pound a week per person brought the pinch of war home today to the British whose sea lanes have been the object of unrelenting German attack.

Parliament received the rationing news along with the brighter word from Prime Minister Chamberlain and foreign Secretary Lord Halifax that a British-Japanese quarrel over halting of a Japanese liner was near a settlement without Britain surrendering her belligerent rights.

Food Minister W. S. Morrison announced that fresh meat would be added to the list of rationed foods which already include sugar, butter and ham and bacon. Each person over six will be limited to fresh meat valued at one shilling, 10 pence—about 37 cents. That means each will be entitled to from one pound to one pound and a half, including bone and fat. Younger children will get half rations.

(German meat rations now allow one pound, 1.6 ounces per person a week.) Ordinarily the average Briton consumes about one pound and three-quarters of beef or mutton a week.

At present other food rations permit a half pound of either bacon or ham per week, a quarter pound of butter and three-quarters of a pound of sugar.

During the World war meat rationing was not instituted until Feb. 25, 1918, when the allowance was from one shilling three pence to one shilling eight pence. Butter and sugar rationing went into effect in December, 1917, and at one point the butter allowance was only one ounce a week.

Junior Group Picks Workers For Banquet

Junior C. of C. Lists Committee Members For Feb. 19 Dinner

The committee for the junior chamber of commerce's Americanism dinner, at which Tom Reed, national executive vice-president will speak, was selected at the junior chamber's meeting in Smith's private dining room last night. Planned for Feb. 19 in the Jefferson hotel, the dinner will be open to all Iowa City men.

Chairman Stephen Darling will be assisted by Delmer Sample, Henry Herring and Harold Ahlff. Tickets will be sold by the committee and other junior chamber members.

Hawkeye football letter winners of 1939 and their coaches will be invited to be guests of the junior chamber at an informal dinner March 5, it was decided. The program will be planned by Dean Jones, Burke Carson, Dale Welt, Robert Davis and Karl Ketelson.

Framed statements of "recognition and appreciation" were awarded to The Daily Iowan, the Press-Citizen and WSUI. The citations for discharging obligations in "civic and social advancement" were signed by local and national officers of the junior chamber. W. Fred Robertson, former president of the local chamber, made the presentation.

A plan for youth welfare, conceived by Lee Kann, director of the university employment service, was approved by the junior chamber, and a committee was appointed to work on the program.

The local youth welfare committee will consist of Kann, chairman; Burke Carson, Harold Diehl, Burnell Horrabin, Arthur Boss, Bert Tingle and Robert Hogan.

Campus Homes Sell All-Iowa Dinner Tickets

Tickets for the all-Iowa football banquet of next Monday are now being sold at fraternity houses and dormitories, the committee headed by Joe Lebeda, C4 of Belle Plaine, announced Tuesday.

An effort is being made to have a large student delegation at the affair in honor of the 1939 football squad, Coach Eddie Anderson and Nile Kinnick.

The banquet, which will begin at 5:30 p.m., will feature the presentation of the Chicago Tribune's silver football to Kinnick by Wilfrid Smith, Tribune sports writer.

It is recommended by the committee that students purchase their tickets as soon as possible. Working with the student committee are three faculty members, Prof. George Haskell, William Hughey and Pat Boland.

Rhodes Case Again Before High Court

DES MOINES, Feb. 6 (AP)—The question of whether Walter Rhodes, convicted Iowa City wife murderer, shall live or die was before the Iowa supreme court again today.

A petition for a rehearing in his case was filed with the high bench and his attorney, Will Hayek of Iowa City, spoke briefly in support of the defense contention that one juror should not have been permitted to serve in this trial.

Assistant Attorney General Jens Grothe argued that the question had already been disposed of when the court made its last decision, and that the decision should stand.

The case has been before the supreme court six times. The court once reversed his conviction, but then changed its decision when the state appealed and ruled he must hang.

Rhodes has been in death row at Fort Madison penitentiary nearly three years. He was convicted of murdering his wife, Mabel, by tricking her into firing a dynamite-loaded shotgun Feb. 9, 1937.

'The Serenade' Will Be Given By 75 Students

Leading Cast of 10, Chorus, Orchestra Take Part Tonight

Tonight at 8:15 in Macbride auditorium the University of Iowa music department will present the first performance of Victor Herbert's comic opera, "The Serenade." A repeat performance will be presented at 8:15 Friday night.

More than 75 university students are participating in the production of the opera, one of the most famous left by the famous American composer. There are 10 persons in the leading cast. These are supported by a chorus of 40 voices and music is provided by a selected orchestra of 25 members picked from the ranks of the University symphony orchestra.

Women taking lead parts in the performance will be Charlotte Braun, A4 of Muscatine, playing the lead contralto, "Dolores"; Virginia DeButts, A3 of Melbourne, taking the soprano role of "Yvonne"; Donnastie Lohmeyer, G of Kansas City, Mo., portraying the "Mother Superior," a contralto part.

Men with leading parts are Robert C. Blaylock, C3 of Council Bluffs, baritone, as "Alvarado"; Robert Olds, A2 of Centerville, baritone, as the "Duke"; Keith Sutton, A3 of Paton, baritone, as "Romero"; Arthur Conolly, C4 of Moline, Ill., bass, as "Gomez"; Keith Smith, P3 of Iowa City, tenor, as "Lopez"; Charles Hummer, C3 of Iowa City, tenor, as "Colombo"; and Richard Fuson, G of Holyoke, Mass., baritone, as the "Prior."

"The Serenade" is a travesty on Italian grand opera. The scene of the entire performance is in Spain.

The plot revolves about the Duke of Santa Cruz and his jealous love for his charming young ward, Dolores. Alvarado, an operatic baritone, has captured the heart of Dolores by his singing of the "Serenade," a popular Spanish love song.

Finnish Air Forces Strike Like Lightning

Bombers Rain Death On Shivering Russians Around Open Fires

HELSINKI, Feb. 6 (AP)—Guided by the snow-reflected glare of hundreds of campfires, Finnish warplanes tonight bombed massive Red army infantry concentrations before the Mannerheim line after repelling Soviet tanks and manpower which broke five times in futile assault against a single Finnish base.

This new technique of "blitz" attack—swift, brief and deadly—by the Finnish air force was begun last night, and was resumed after the early twilight fell today.

Couriers from the front lines said the campfires of the Soviet attackers were the key to success of the raids. They explained that the Russians had massed great numbers of infantrymen in the Summa sector, 20 miles south of the Finnish held city of Viipri, without adequate provision for shelter against the cold and that the troops were forced to shiver about open fires in order to keep from freezing.

These fires made splendid targets for the Finnish bombers. Other farther ranging planes meantime bombed Soviet troop columns with increasing frequency.

A Finnish officer returning from the Mannerheim line area of the Karelian isthmus said the Summa front, about 11 miles long between Muolajarvi and Haljalahti, had suffered the most violent artillery bombardment of the war.

"The area is as full of shell craters as any part of the western front during the World war," he declared.

Asked when he thought the Summa attack would end, he replied: "When the Russians have lost enough men and tanks and realize they cannot get through anyway."

The present attack started six days ago with a terrific artillery bombardment. Three hundred guns fired continually on Finnish lines. Then the infantry attacked in waves for two days with Soviet fliers machine gunning Finnish lines in the rear. The officer reported the Russians used 150 tanks in the attack.

Finland Gets Italian Planes Across France

PARIS, Feb. 6 (AP)—Fifty carloads of Italian-made warplanes, destined for Finland and first refused transit through Germany, will reach the Finns after all—by way of France.

The disclosure that the shipment had been rerouted through France was made today as a campaign for large-scale allied military aid for the Finns picked up momentum in parliament.

Sources close to the government said the badly-needed planes were halted in Germany and sent back to France by Italy picked out the French route.

(Authorized nazi sources in Berlin confirmed on Jan. 8 that Germany had refused to handle the planes. Russia, they asserted, would have objected violently. Hence Germany deemed it expedient to refuse transit as a means of preventing "extension of the war area.")

We Must Be Nice About It!

"A decision to refrain as far as possible from sending any more 'waspy notes' to Great Britain over neutrality questions has been reached by American officials in charge of foreign policy.

"In the future questions arising between the two governments are expected to be threshed out almost entirely through personal conferences between Washington officials and Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, or between Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and British authorities."

—Associated Press Dispatch Time: Almost any time henceforth.

Scene: Office of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Washington, D. C. Secretary is at his desk, telephone in hand.

"Lord Lothian speaking." "This is Hull."

"Oh, good morning, Cordell. How are things with you?" "Fine except that I have just learned that your government seized a cargo of closthepins en route to Norway. I checked your contraband list of late yesterday afternoon and I didn't see closthepins."

"That's right." "I wish you would come over and explain yourself, Lothian. I may do that, Cordell."

A week later the British ambassador accepts the invitation. Over lunch they thresh out the closthepins issue. They establish the facts that the contraband list has been extended again and that in the interests of American shipping the state department doesn't like it.

After lunch Secretary Hull asks an aide to file a memorandum to the effect that he entertained the British ambassador at lunch.

This imaginary happening demonstrates the advantage that the new method of 'personal conferences' will have over the old method of 'waspy notes.' No

GOOD MORNING

By JAMES FOX AND WILLIAM BARTLEY

On another part of this page today there is reprinted an editorial from The Minnesota Daily, student paper of the University of Minnesota, concerning freedom of speech in academic circles.

Now we will agree that any squelching of free speech is contrary to the democratic principles which this country has as its ideal—whether the person squelched is a teacher, a laborer, or any other citizen.

But we are not willing to admit, as does The Minnesota Daily, that there has arisen "a double standard of free speech rights—a standard which has virtually denied freedom of speech to educators."

We don't believe that such a double standard really exists, although many sincerely believe the contrary.

There may be instances of censorship of professors or of punitive measures against teachers who have championed causes not favored by those in authority. But we don't think that these instances are any more numerous than similar incidents in any other fields of work in this country.

In other words, we will admit there is not absolute freedom of speech for educators. But that does not establish a "double standard."

Not so long ago a young professor left the University of Iowa campus to join another faculty. Because his views on labor were not those of the United States Chamber of Commerce, it was immediately whispered by some that "X was given the boot because of his radical views."

We asked him frankly if this need longer for lengthy, involved diplomatic notes, which, even if they are not always revealed immediately, are nevertheless preserved for posterity. Some day, you know, the archives will be opened and then it would be so distressing to learn that back in 1940 the United States did have something to be indignant about to Britain. Yes, 'personal conferences' will have a definite advantage.

Maybe the administration is adhering to Roosevelt's statement, "We are against any entangling alliances, obviously," but these 'personal conferences' indicate a mighty entangling relationship.

Our good democratic neighbor across the Atlantic is the chief beneficiary in this little pact.

Wanted: A Good 'Joe'

Clever, these Russians! When a Dr. K. Wenckebach, an Amsterdam specialist, was summoned to Moscow to attend Stalin, he was faced with ten mustachioed doubles of the dictator. Two of them had high blood pressure, so Dr. Wenckebach guessed that one of these was the authentic Josef. Probably a good guess, judging from the success of the Finnish campaign!

The plan of having a flock of mirror-likesness has many attractive points. For instance, a submissive double would be a boon to the person who has eight o'clock classes. If mutiny began to show its hoary head, it would be a simple matter to organize your doubles into shifts.

The night shift could take care of the problems arising from blind dates. If the "blind" happened to be a goon, your double would take the punishment of the evening. If the date was good, you could take over for the second meeting and as long as the flavor lasted. In the case of a double-cross, you could always have a purge.

There's no doubt about it, the Russian is a wily individual. If Stalin ever gets into difficulties with his temperamental Nazi "friend," all he needs to say is, "I had nothing to do with it. It must have been two other Joes." And Adolf could hardly call him a liar!

And if the time ever comes when a reward is offered for the capture of the Comrade (as happened in the first World War in the case of the Kaiser), the announcement will probably read: "$1,000,000 prize offered! Just send in the carcass of Joseph Stalin—or a reasonable facsimile!"

This week marks the thirtieth anniversary of scouting in America, which is swell. But there's one thing that bothers us—can they light all thirty candles with only one match?

With all the aid being sent by other countries to Finland, one can imagine Stalin muttering, "Those lousy capitalists will do anything for a 'Fin'!"

John L. Lewis is rapidly diminishing the field of Democratic candidates who can be sure of his protective wing. In time, only one man will be acceptable to the belligerent labor leader—John L. Lewis, perhaps?

Let the Teacher Speak His Mind For years now "upright citizens" have been hurling charges at college faculty members who have chosen to express their personal views on current social, political and economic problems. As a result there has unfortunately arisen a double standard of free speech rights—a standard which has virtually denied freedom of speech to educators. Heretofore various objections to this have been voiced, but recently the Association of American Colleges adopted a statement of conduct which defines intelligently the teacher's role as a citizen and an individual.

The resolution sets forth the right of a teacher to speak, write and act without institutional discipline or censorship, as can any other member of society. Recognizing, however, the harm that can be done by teachers who permit others to think them official mouthpieces of their colleges, the resolution states that the teacher must use restraint, respect the opinions of others and let others know he is speaking for himself.

The association dropped from the statement one essential point in the teacher's fight for professional freedom, a sentence reading, "the judgment of what constitutes fulfillment of these obligations (the restrictions) should rest with the individual." Though no formal statement was made, President William C. Dennis of Earlham college, who has lead opposition to the resolution in a bitter fight for the last 3 years, implied that a tribunal of teachers should act upon the acceptability of their colleague's conduct.

It appears then that the battle is only half won for college teachers wishing to be accepted as individuals in the community. As long as the teacher shows plainly that he is acting, speaking or writing on his own, and as long as he respects the ethical standards of his community, he should be recognized as his own best boss. Tribunals of colleagues passing upon the conduct of a fellow teacher could be easily more tyrannical than the pressure of public opinion that once sought to confine a teacher to his classroom.

The Ideal Bridge Hand Sammy Kaye Gets Perfect Hand At Intermission Game

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Most orchestras who play in hotels have an hour's recess every night between nine and ten o'clock. This is the stretching hour between the dinner and the supper crowds. At the Commodore the other night Sammy Kaye and his boys finished up the dinner turn and then fled into a card room, where bridge is played among themselves every night.

At the game was also Jimmy Peppe, Kaye's manager. The game got under way hurriedly, and after a while, a strange look came over Sammy's face. He kept looking at his hand and folding it up and opening it again. Nobody said anything for a long time. Then one of the boys said, "We don't want to rush you, Sammy, but you've been pondering over that hand for ten minutes, and we'll have to go back on that stand in a few moments."

"Well," said Sammy, "I guess I'll bid two clubs." This being a demand bid, his partner replied, and Kaye then said he would try seven no trump.

He thereupon laid down a perfect hand—one of those rare phenomena of bridge. Professionals sometimes go a lifetime without drawing such a hand. Kaye's beautiful mitt went like this: Ace of spades; A, K, Q of hearts; A, K, Q diamonds; and A, K, Q, J, 10, 9 of clubs.

Since then, however, his luck has run out on him. He hasn't drawn a single bidable major suit this week.

In one of the radio offices recently Elsie Hitz, the actress, was talking with a girl who writes those commercial advertisements which are spotted throughout the various programs you hear. She was in high good humor. "Look," she cried, "I got this for writing an essay against the cruel use of steel traps to snare wild animals." It was a check for a thousand dollars.

"My goodness," exclaimed Miss Hitz, "What in the world are you going to do with it?" "I think," said she, "I'll go right out and buy myself a mink coat."

With so many British ships torpedoed and mined, the gag around town is this: "Have you heard the latest about King George?"

"No, what?" "He's bought himself a diving suit, so he can review the British fleet."

Wishing to repeat "Stop Kicking My Heart Around," which he wrote, on his Celebrity program, George Jessel called his publishers and said, "How about it?"

But the girl who took his call didn't recognize Jessel's voice, and she replied, "It'll be all right with us if you use that song, but you'll have to have permission from Mr. Jessel, too. It's his song, you know."

Then she added, "But I'm sure you won't have any trouble. He's glad to get anybody to sing it."

"Ain't it odd that two writing geniuses like you and me should be teamed up together?" remarked Jimmy Durante to Robert Benchley. "Why, Jimmy, I didn't know you were an author. What are some of your books?"

"Not book, bookies," said Jimmy, "and I underwrite 'em, not write 'em."

quately enough non-partisanship. Their scheme is this:

If the Republicans put up a conservative presidential ticket, they're Democrats, provided the Democrats put up a liberal ticket. Or vice versa. They don't care a hoot for party labels.

But suppose both Democratic and Republican conventions name what are regarded as conservative tickets?—say John N. Garner and Robert A. Taft.

Then what?

In that event there are hints of a third party—as in 1924. Some liberals think it would work better now than it did then. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes (who used to be a Republican) speaks hopefully of it.

Ickes says, candidly, that he doesn't believe a third party candidate could win for the presidency in 1940. Still, he'd take the risk.

La Guardia has got the nerve to go against it. He'd take the nomination and risk his chances. Fiorello H. LaGuardia wouldn't have the chance of a rabbit presidentially—or nominatorially.

But he's a tremendous political influence.

He isn't alone a New Yorker. He knows the west. He's from Arizona.

I've suggested heretofore that there are "nuisance candidates" for the presidency—Democratic or Republican.

La Guardia wouldn't do anyway—Democratically, Republicanly or Progressively. He's too recently alien to count anyway.

But he'll have a lot to do with the selection of 1940 presidential candidates. And on both tickets. He's better figure on his influence—among radicals, anyway.

Music From Electricity Joseph Saeveit Plays Musical Instrument Without Actual Touch

Music flowed from the fingertips of Joseph Saeveit of the music department yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Iowa City Kiwanis club. Saeveit was demonstrating a theremin, an instrument which is played not by actual touch but by interruptions of an electrical field. Accompanied by Mrs. Saeveit, he played "Evening Star" from Wagner's Tannhauser and "The Gypsy Love Song."

With two oscillators as its principal base, the instrument produces music as there is a change in the capacity of the electrical current. The distance of the hands from two electrically charged rods determines the pitch and volume.

"Few people have the coordination and patience it takes to play this instrument properly," Saeveit said.

He also explained a device he is working on which will produce actual word sounds and will give the effect of singing when used with the theremin.

Third Party May Enter Race For 1940 Elections - - Stewart

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Abandonment of old time Republican and Democratic party lines in this country and the creation of two new parties, a Liberal and a Conservative, is an idea that is being simmering for a long time. It made its first sure-enough attempt to realize itself in 1924, when the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette ran for president on the Progressive ticket, against the Republicans, on one hand, and the Democrats, on the other hand. Senator La Follette got a Democrat, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, to run with him. He also got considerable Republican support. Nevertheless, the effort fizzled.

Some Republicans and some Democrats deserted their original parties to vote for La Follette and Wheeler, but not enough of them, combined to enable the Progressives to carry more than Senator La Follette's home state of Wisconsin.

It probably wasn't that there were not plenty of liberals, both Republican and Democratic, but they didn't vote that way, generally speaking. They cared less for their liberal principles than they did for their respective Republican and Democratic party labels.

Trying It Again Now the thing's to be tried again with certain variations. Not long ago President Roosevelt and Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York got together on the subject of Washington.

I take it for granted that President Roosevelt is recognized as what Senator La Follette would have called a Progressive, though they might have differed to details. F. D. has been described as a Democrat. Fiorello has served in congress as a Republican and a Socialist, in New York City as a Fusionist and an American Party Laborite. Surely that's an ade-

Serenader's Night Tonight

Conelly Takes Part of Love-Sick Tailor; Hummer Displays Comedy

(Editor's note: This is the sixth and last in a series of personality sketches of cast members for the University of Iowa music department's presentation of Victor Herbert's "The Serenade.")

Arthur Conelly, C4 of Moline, Ill., will play the part of "Gomez," the love-sick tailor who takes singing lessons from Colombo, the old, broken-down operatic tenor, in a vain attempt to learn to sing "The Serenade" that he may woo the Duke's ward, Dolores, in the University of Iowa music department's production of Victor Herbert's comic opera, "The Serenade," tonight in Macbride auditorium.

Mr. Conelly has had considerable stage experience having appeared in "Pirate of Penzance," "Huckleberry Finn" and "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" as well as in minstrel shows during his high school days. He was soloist at Christ Episcopal church in Moline. He is active in other campus affairs being editor of the Journal of Business.

The role of "Colombo," the former opera tenor who has passed his best singing days, but who still believes he has the world's greatest voice, will be enacted by Charles Hummer, C3 of Iowa City.

The role gives Mr. Hummer ample opportunity to display his talents at comedy. His scenes are among the funniest in the play. The singing lessons he gives Gomez are certain to bring hearty laughs from the audience.

Another local singer, Keith Smith, P3, will assume the part of "Lopez," lieutenant of the bandits. He finally wins the heart of his beloved, Yvonne.

Mr. Smith appeared locally in his high school days, taking leading tenor roles in various operettas. He is tenor soloist in the Congregational church and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Richard Fuson, G of Holyoke, Mass., plays the "Abbott" who would maintain strict discipline among the brotherhood. He prefers, above all, to slumber and dream in the sun at the monastery garden door. He comes to the University of Iowa from Harvard.

"The Serenade" will be presented tonight and Friday night in Macbride auditorium under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark of the music department.

Hawkeye Cagers Prep For Big Ten Games

SOX FIXTURE By Jack Sords

TED LYONS
SIGNED FOR THE 17th CONSECUTIVE SEASON AS A PITCHER FOR THE CHICAGO WHITE SOX

HE WON 14 GAMES AND LOST ONLY SIX LAST YEAR

Face Badgers Saturday Night

Team Gives Promises Of Regaining Form For Conference Tilts

Their non-conference schedule completed for the year, Iowa's cagers turn back to the Big Ten scramble this week end, meeting Wisconsin Saturday night and Ohio State Monday at the field-house.

Thus far, winners of their last three games, the Hawkeyes have a record of seven losses and three wins, with a conference mark of one victory out of four games.

Iowa efficiency, which reached its lowest point in the South Dakota State game last week, showed signs of an intended return as the Hawkeyes rolled over DePauw Monday night in a fast and furious contest. The Iowans, ragged at times, showed more punch than at any time since early in the season.

Feeling that his cagers have regained some of the snap that was so sadly lacking a week ago, Coach Rollie Williams turned yesterday to the matter of conditioning, along with some work on smoothing out the wrinkles. A faster breaking offense, used against DePauw, seems to have been well received by the predominantly sophomore quintet, but there were a number of misplays Monday that were indicative of a need for work on the floor play.

Cut down to some extent Monday night was the wildness from the free throw line. Whereas, in previous games, the Hawkeyes had scored on but half their charity attempts, Monday night's game saw them count nine free throws while missing five. Also on the brighter side was the improvement in Milt Kuhl's work. The rangy center post newcomer looked like a big time ball player in spots, with promise of some real shooting ability.

Vic Siegel, the dependable little sophomore, still tops the scoring columns for Iowa with a 114-point total for 13 games. Second place in the scoring scramble belongs to Bill Wheeler, just one point ahead of the veteran Tommy Lind. Wheeler has 65 points to his credit, while Lind has 64.

Loras Triumphs
DUBUQUE, (AP)—Loras college climbed from fifth to third place in the Iowa conference basketball race tonight by coming from behind in the second half to defeat Iowa Wesleyan 41 to 36. The victory gave the Loras five victories and two defeats in loop games and was the third defeat for Wesleyan in seven starts.

Iowa City Fighters Win Bouts At Cedar Rapids Glove Meet

Basler, L. Cutler, Rochex Advance To Second Round

Three out of five Iowa City representatives in the 1940 Golden Gloves at the Cedar Rapids Coliseum came through their initial tests with flying colors last night.

Vance Basler, defending 160 pound champ, finished fast after trailing in the first round, to stop Joe Ruocka, rangy Waverly mid-dieweight, in 34 of the third stanza. Basler, still suffering from the effects of a heavy cold, failed to catch his opponent in the first round, but late in the second a short right chop staggered the Waverly boy badly and set him up for a quick knockout in the third heat.

Lloyd Cutler, mustachioed U. of I. student, won his initial test in the batonweight division by stopping Kenneth Chitty of Traer. Cutler led the fighting throughout the first minute of the bout and then finished him with a short right hook to the jaw after 1:36. Cutler seems to have a fine chance to cop the duke in this division although Leslie Leggett of Monticello, the defending titleholder is entered.

Iowa City's other successful competitor was Bill Rochex, lightweight, who easily defeated Harry Erickson of Hampton in a three round match.

Larry Christensen, inexperienced but game 135-pounder put up a good fight against Keith Bryon of Hampton, but superior punching power gave the Hampton boy the win.

In a decision which the majority of the crowd disliked intensely, Dick Goenne, tall Iowa City lightweight, lost to Marvin Whitters of Cedar Rapids in three rounds. Most of the sports writers on hand thought Goenne had won all three rounds, as did the referee, but both judges voted for Whitters.

Basler, Cutler and Rochex will all see action tonight in the final preliminaries.

Hawk Swimmers Preparing For Gopher Invasion

Well satisfied with the performance of his swimming team against Illinois last Saturday, Hawkeye Coach Dave Armstrong is busy getting his boys in shape for their second home meet of the season against Minnesota Friday night.

The Gophers are bringing a well balanced veteran team to meet the Iowans and are expected to furnish much stiffer competition than was provided by the Illini. They are undefeated in four meets to date this season, having won over Gustavus Adolphus, Chicago, Nebraska and Iowa State. Co-Captains Sy Jablonski and John Sahlman have been influential in the Minnesota victories, as has Charles "Judd" Ringer, a sophomore. Ringer set a new pool record at Ames in the 200-yard breast stroke with a time of 2:26.3.

Iowa's sophomores—Russell Dotson, Vic Vargon, Leo Biedrzycki, Don Wenstrom, Carl Ahlgren and Walt Baraisa, are expected to aid in garnering Hawkeye points.

Frank Brandon has been showing up well in fancy diving during practice sessions and may win a place in the starting lineup.

Frosh Thinclad Team in Action

The Hawk freshman track team began their indoor season yesterday afternoon running the first of a series of events constituting a meet with Notre Dame.

The afternoon of events included the 60-yard dash; the 60-yard high hurdles; the 440-yard test and the mile run. This afternoon the field events will be started and completed and tomorrow the meet will come to a close with the running of the remaining events on the card—the 60-yard low hurdles, the half mile, and the two-mile grind.

Coach Ted Swenson has a fine group of yearlings and is looking forward to taking a number CEDAR RAPIDS, Feb. 6 (Special To The Daily Iowan)—St. Pat's three-game winning streak was stopped short here tonight by St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids, whose 22-16 victory avenged an earlier defeat by the Shamrocks.

In a closely played game with the Red Hawks' zone defense an outstanding factor, the C. R. team held the Shamrocks without a field goal the last half to move away from a 9-9 deadlock at the halftime.

The St. Pat's basket had a lid over it throughout the game, but the stellar defensive play of the Red Hawks held the Shamrocks to a minimum of hurried shots. St. Pat's three field goals were collected in the first half, with Red Miller getting two and a long shot by Don Black accounting for the other one.

The scoring was opened with Red Miller giving the Fighting Irish a lead which was short-lived. Zobl's basket tied the count and the Red Hawks moved ahead to a 7-5 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Shamrocks brought it up to a 9-9 tie at the half but were behind, 17-13, going into the final period.

Six free throws out of eight attempts kept the Fighting Irish in the running the last half, but the Shamrock rally failed to materialize, for the Red Hawks kept them well out and away from the pay rim.

Intramurals Phi Psi Win Games In Two Loops

One championship class A game, and one class B game were played last night in the fraternity intramural basketball tournament.

Phi Kappa Psi defeated Delta Sigma Delta in the class A round robin tournament by the one-sided score of 37-16. The Phi Psi's started off slowly and led 8-5 at the end of the first period. In the second period they outscored Delta Sigma Delta, 15-9, to lead, 23-14, at the end of that period.

The third and final period saw Phi Kappa Psi speed up its attack to pile up 14 points to two for Delta Sigma Delta, and win going away. Hertzler sparked the Phi Psi team as he caged 14 points.

WHAT CAUSES EPILEPSY?

A booklet containing the opinions of many doctors on this interesting subject will be sent FREE, while they last, to any reader writing to the Educational Division, 535 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y., Dept.

Perhaps it's a stupid question, but I would like to inquire some time about the true meaning of the term "ineligibility."

The word, quite easily understood by practically everyone, has been applied to something like 24 University of Wisconsin athletes. It's not a mysterious statement when applied to a basketball player. He, at this time of the year, has failed one of last semester's courses, which means that he is barred from Big Ten competition until the following session, providing he passes this semester's courses.

Remembering that football doesn't come until next fall, I can't see where they get off calling a football player an ineligible, simply because he flunked a first semester course. Yet, several graders are listed among the Badger casualties—to which the obvious comment should be "Nuts," they'll be eligible next fall, which is when they'll do the playing.

Hawkeye footballers could, if the university wanted to buy the place, get in shape at a dude ranch next summer. There is an offer, from Tom LaFollette, an Iowa grad from Pringle, S. D., of a 2,240 acre tract in the Black Hills. He is offering the university, or Iowa followers, first chance at the place and suggests that athletes could train there.

Says Charles Gálher, ticket sales for the Iowa-Ohio State basketball game next Monday night are going quite well. With Nite Kinnick getting the Chicago Tribune trophy as the Big Ten's most valuable grinder, it looks like the attendance will near the 13,200 capacity, provided the weather is good. Dr. Eddie Anderson, it was announced yesterday, will introduce Wilfred Smith of the Tribune between halves of the game. Smith will give Kinnick the silver football.

Anderson and Dad Schroeder are among the pictured celebrities in the Union Pacific railroad's bulletin. The picture is of the Iowans riding U.P. coaches to the coast recently, where they attended the N.C.A.A. meeting and watched Southern Cal whip Tennessee in the Rose Bowl.

Word comes from Don Simmons, brother of the great Oze, that he will probably join the Chicago public schools staff in physical education. Simmons, according to a letter to Dad Schroeder, has been handling playground work in the windy city. Oze, the "Ebony Eel," recently got his Iowa degree.

Track, always recommended by Eddie Anderson for gridders, has already claimed a fairly large contingent of next fall's hopefuls. Work is mainly on starts, with some jogging included for condition. The results of last year's work seem to justify the continuance.

Norsemen Win
DECORAH, (AP)—Luther rolled up an easy 45 to 29 victory over Upper Iowa in a one-sided Iowa conference basketball game here tonight. The visitors took the lead in the opening minutes of play and then fell behind as Luther cagers put on an offensive drive that put them ahead 21 to 14 at the intermission.

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Feb. 6 (AP)—No one, to date, has accused Joe Louis of being short of artillery, but the Brown Bomber, nevertheless, is developing a new cannon for the fireworks display with which he is planning to entertain Arturo Godoy in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

This is a left uppercut, delivered in close, and like most of the heavyweight champion's firecrackers, it does tricks when coming in contact with an opponent's chin. Oddly enough, while most of Joe's wallops are delivered in an effort to knock an opponent down, the purpose of this particular punch is to straighten him up.

Louis has used the blow before but never has concentrated on it so much as in his training here on the frozen shore of Pompton Lake for his ninth title defense. This is because the rough, tough Chilean clown, who hopes to put a crimp in the Bomber's string of seven straight knockout title triumphs, is a bobbing, weaving warrior, who fights out of a crouch and rarely gives an opponent an open target to pitch at.

Joe showed against Tony Galento last summer that he has a tough time tagging a rival who forces him to punch down. As long as Tony, who took in today's four round boxing drill, stayed in his crouch, Joe couldn't hit him with a handful of buckshot. Godoy is a somewhat similar socker, and that's where the uppercut comes in. When pitched properly, it straightens a rival upright and sets him up just to a nice position to receive the following straight right hand shot, which is strictly nothing to take on the chin if you want to remain conscious.

Louis tried it in his semi-final boxing drill today several times against Emil Scholz of Boston, one of his spar mates, and each time the crouching Emil stood up as straight as a private receiving a top-sergeant's command.

By SID FEDER

There's the angle, too, that if Joe tries straight punching at a crouching rival, he is in danger of bouncing a blow off of said rival's skull. And even the best of battlers have found out that the bone of a hand can be crushed by such a punch. Joe never has had any serious trouble with his hands, but they were hurt to some extent by punches to the head of Tommy Farr and in the first fight with Max Schmeling. And there's no reason to believe Godoy's head is any softer than those of Tommy and Maxie.

Otherwise, Joe is in the "pink" for Friday's 15-rounder. He was positively vicious today in working out on four spar mates, and he dropped one of them—Scholz—to the canvas with a short right hand which even the ring-siders felt.

Galento, who exchanged an "hello, Joe"—"howya feel" greeting with Joe during the workout, figured Louis should win and "might do it by a knockout if he gets a good shot at Godoy." Tony should know. He's tangled with both of them.

Ramblers Have Chance To Win Crown at Burlington Tonight

St. Paul's Only Obstacle in Path Of Conference Title

With the Catholic Big Five conference title in their hands if they win, St. Mary's travels to Burlington tonight, meeting St. Paul's in a return game.

If the Ramblers slide past the Purple in the encounter, and they should not meet too much trouble, the first uncontested title in the history of the conference will be theirs.

In the first game between the two, St. Mary's rolled over the Burlington five with power to spare, finishing the fourth quarter with the reserves entirely in charge.

Undeafened in the conference, the Blue and White have but two blotches on their Catholic record, a frowzy St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids defeat, and a bona fide whipping from Loras. Within the next two weeks, St. Mary's meets both of these teams, and will use tonight's game to tune up for a final revenge drive against the rest of their schedule. On the road for three of the remaining tilts, the Ramblers will polish their away-from-home tactics tonight.

Hawklets Face Boone Friday

It's been said that the Mississippi Valley conference is the toughest high school league in the state. Friday night, a measure of proof will be available when Boone, one of the better teams of central Iowa, invades the City high gym.

The Treadors have whipped through the bigger share of the season with an average of about three wins in every four games, and will prove plenty tough for the Little Hawks, who are now on the upgrade after several disappointing moments.

Coached by Wayne Hill, brother of the sophomore basketballer for Iowa, Boone is out on a road trip to pick up tournament experience. This is the stretch drive for Boone, so if Iowa City wins, they will know they are the better team.

In his discussion, Dr. Campbell will describe the effects of different kinds of language on human behavior, particularly in relation to social and educational problems.

After receiving a medical degree from the University of Toronto medical school, Dr. Campbell served as assistant clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of Chicago from 1931 to 1933. Additional education of Dr. Campbell includes his studying in Vienna and England.

Associate of Founder As trustee of the Institute of General Semantics in Chicago, Dr. Campbell for several years has been closely associated with Count Alfred Korzybski, founder of the institute. He has also been a member of the Royal College of Physicians.

During the summer of 1940, Dr. Campbell will conduct the Mills California summer work shop, which will be devoted to general semantics for teachers. In this field the University of Iowa was the first university to introduce a course in general semantics. This subject, taught by Prof. Wendell K. Johnson, was first included in the curricula of the psychology and speech departments last fall.

Law Students Hear Speech

Chief Justice Oliver Speaks at Commons On 'Legal Precedents'

Chief Justice Ralph A. Oliver of the Iowa supreme court spoke last night at the law commons on the general subject of "Legal Precedents" to residents of the commons. A dinner, in honor of Judge Oliver, was held prior to the address.

In his speech Judge Oliver explained the justification for the use of legal precedents and stated specific examples both from experiences on the highest court of the state and the minor courts of the state.

Judge Oliver also emphasized in his address the basis for judicial decisions and more fully stated the processes used in making legal decisions.

Judge Oliver graduated from the University of Iowa in 1907 and was a leading attorney in Sioux City for a number of years. He has been a justice on the Iowa supreme court for one year and recently became the chief justice of the high court.

Boy Scouts' 30th Birthday Celebration Begins Here Today

Local Scouts Will Inaugurate Observance With Radio Playlet

1,500,000 Boys Unite In Boy Scout Week To Urge Reverence

The Iowa City celebration of the 30th birthday of the Boy Scouts of America will begin today, one day earlier than the national observance of Boy Scout week with a radio playlet over WSUL. Written by Frank Marlow, A4 of University City, Mo., the play's cast includes Raymond Hudachek, Fred Goss, Robert Hein, Don Morgan, Wayne Mahana, Don Walter and Clarence Conklin.

Starting tomorrow and continuing through Feb. 16, the 450 scouts in this area will join a million and a half boys throughout the nation in the birthday celebration. Throughout the week all the scouts will wear their complete uniforms to school.

F. D. R. To Broadcast
Tomorrow night President Roosevelt, honorary scout president, will begin the national celebration with a speech over the three major radio networks. Other speakers will trace the history of American scouting back to 1910 when William Boyce, a Chicago publisher, brought the idea back with him from England.

The local observance will be featured by a "court of honor" at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the city hall in which Iowa City scouts will receive awards.

On Sunday morning local scouts will join in a 15 minute devotional period at the Methodist church as part of the national Scout Reverence day.

Throughout the week, the service clubs of Iowa City will hear and see programs featuring local Boy Scouts.

Boy Scout week is the most important week in the Boy Scout calendar, and 9,000,000 past and present scouts will join in this year's celebration which has as its theme "Scouting—The American Way."

"This year's observance," said M. R. Petersen, district scout commissioner, "lays special emphasis upon the twelfth point in the Scout law which says that a scout should be reverent, that he should be faithful in his religious duties and respect the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion. This we consider to be the most important phase of the 'American Way' which is the theme of this year's celebration."

Mr. Petersen went on to point out that every president beginning with William Howard Taft had realized the importance of the Boy Scout movement in building better citizens, and that all of them had become honorary national presidents.

The committee in charge of the local celebration includes Walter Meinzer, chairman, M. N. Lefler and Charles Whipple.

Women's Club Renews Plans For Supper

Mrs. Rudolph Prybil is chairman of the committee in charge. Assisting her are Mrs. Manly Fountain, Mrs. Neil Nolan, Mrs. Charles N. Showers, Mrs. Thomas Phillip, Mrs. William Lenz and Mrs. Orr Keith.

First District V.F.W. Group To Meet Here

Organization Comes To Iowa City For First Time, Feb. 18

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, first Iowa district, will hold its convention Feb. 18 in Iowa City, according to a statement issued yesterday by James T. Gwynne, general chairman of the arrangements committee. This is the first time that the group has been brought to Iowa City, he said.

Delegates in attendance will represent the posts of Muscatine, Washington, Burlington, Iowa City, Fairfield, Ft. Madison, Mt. Pleasant, Tipton and Keokuk. A business session and class initiation will be held in the afternoon at the headquarters of the local post.

A speaking program is being arranged for the banquet that will be served in one of the larger local halls. John L. Johnston, post quartermaster, is assisting Chairman Gwynne on the committee.

County Workmen Are Shifted

The discharge of one man from each maintenance crew of the county highway department and a reduction of a nickle an hour in the wages of two WPA foremen marked the major changes which resulted from a resolution passed Jan. 4 by the newly-reorganized Johnson county board of supervisors pledging efficiency and consolidation, it was reported yesterday.

The board's economy measure ordered the county auditor to notify all the 65 workmen on the highway department rolls their services would terminate Feb. 1 and to urge them to reapply for their jobs.

The board reported yesterday that most superintendents and assistants in each county district were rehired, dropping for the sake of saving money the third workman who was previously employed in nearly every division.

This action was explained by the board to mean that two men could do the respective jobs as efficiently as three.

In the district at Hills, Stanley Fountain replaced Clem Kupka as foreman. Ralph Springmire replaced Floyd Myers as foreman at North Liberty. Myers assumed Springmire's former position as assistant.

One of the two county WPA foremen, Cletus Hogan, was discharged and Charles Grissel Jr., was appointed in his place. James Michel, the other foreman, re-

1940 Fashion Trends! Parent-Teacher Benefit Style Show Gives New Pointers in Spring Clothes

Advanced spring fashions were shown last night in the Parent-Teacher council benefit style show, at Strub's department store.

Trends for the spring of 1940 indicate that white is to be the predominating accessory color. Navy and black basic colors will again be good, with such new shades as lime green, saddle brown, confectioner's pink, taffy beige, kilarny green and stop red becoming very popular for trimming purposes. Costume ensembles, matching coat and dress suits, will take the lead in spring wear. You will find that polka dots will be outstanding in more than one way with stripes and plaids following close behind.

A navy pin stripe costume suit in Julliard's sheer woolen, with inserts in the coat, was modeled last night by Margaret Anderson. A white bow and gloves gave the contrast.

Martha Ann Isaacs displayed a black and white shepherd's check tailored suit in softer details with a swing to the skirt. Her white frothy blouse matched her white sailor hat and other accessories. The suit was topped by a black refect.

Swing will again come with spring as was shown by Jean Taylor in a beige jacket dress with a rust and green polka dot blouse. She wore a kilarny green conelade hat and carried a large suede bag.

Navy executive, named for its crisp lines and efficient collar, was worn by Mrs. L. C. Fitzpatrick. This tailored outfit with self material buttons was also set off by white accessories.

A dusty blue crepe with a cashmere jersey cardigan was worn by Mrs. Sig Nelson. She also wore a top coat of stratosphere blue shagmore and accessories of wine.

Mrs. Ansel Martin modeled a camel's hair weatherwhipper with a thermostatic lining that zipped in and out. The dress was a striped Cartwright celanese. The

Will Free Trade Prevent War? Panel Forum Calls It A Factor

Emphasis on the need for free trade was brought out by panel members in last night's graduate forum on "Colonies and Lebensraum" conducted in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The faculty members agreed that development of free trade would eliminate further desires for colonization by aggressive nations. In this regard, Prof. Harold H. McCarty of the college of commerce stated, "If Great Britain would open up the doors of trade again, Germany would have nothing left to fight for."

With regard to colonies as investment outlets, Prof. Howard R. Bowen of the college of commerce said, "Colonies often fulfill the need for the expansion of capitalism, and make up a substantial part of an empire's economy."

Concluding last night's forum, discussion leaders were convinced that the merits and demerits of colonies still form one of the most controversial problems of the war.

Equity, Law Cases Announced For February Term of Court

The additional three cases in equity which are assigned for Tuesday at 2 p.m. are Kasper vs. Chaloupka, et al; Riddle vs. Brogan, et al; and Kennedy vs. Fahey, et al.
