500 Planes Support Russians in Karelian Drive

Finns Admit Village Of Summa Taken

Gains Made at Three Places Along Finnish Mannerheim Line

BULLETIN
MOSCOW, Feb. 17 (Saturday) (AP)—The capture of 22 more Finnish "defensive fortifications" by Soviet Russian troops in yesterday's heavy fighting on the Karelian isthmus was reported today in the communique issued by the Leningrad military headquarters. The latest report boosted the total of such Finnish positions claimed by the Russians to 175, 153 having been previously reported. During the offensive against the Mannerheim line in the Summa sector, the communique said, the Finns lost 420 machine guns and 170 other guns. Soviet troops also occupied two towns on the isthmus—Leipaso and Kamara, both about five miles north of Summa, scene of the war's heaviest fighting.

HELSENKI, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Soviet army, with 500 planes supporting a tremendous land attack, has crashed ahead to dearly-bought gains at three places along Finland's Mannerheim line on the Karelian isthmus, tonight's Finnish army communique acknowledged.

It was the second time in three days that the Russian mass drive was acknowledged to have made a dent in the main Finnish defense fortifications. Village Captured Shortly before the communique was issued a military informant admitted that the red army had captured at least part of the village of Summa, which has seen fiercest fighting of the 16-day-old isthmus battle.

He said the Russians were in Summa on Feb. 13 and presumably still were there. "Verdun" of the Russian-Finnish war, now demolished by shellfire, lies only 20 miles southeast of Viipuri, Finland's second largest city and apparent immediate objective of the Russian onslaught.

As in previous days, tonight's communique spoke of heavy Russian losses as the cost of the great red offensive, in which the Finns say the invaders have been mowed down "like wheat." But more men, and more guns and more airplanes keep coming.

Aerial Concentration
The Russian aerial concentration on the isthmus yesterday, with 500 planes taking part, was the greatest of any day since the attack started, and the official report significantly noted the bombardment of Finnish troops along with attacks on Riihimaki, Viipuri and Lappeenranta in which 34 persons were killed and 60 injured.

The seriousness with which this little nation regards the isthmus battle was apparent in the unsmiling faces of citizens and officials while reading the latest official announcement—a strange contrast to smiling joking and confident troops seen on Saturday when the Russian infantry attacks were diminished in force in the Summa sector.

There was no question of any sudden collapse of the Finnish defense, Finnish military men said, but the tremendous pressure of the never-ending attacks put a heavy strain on every fighting man. (Premier Hansson of Sweden disclosed Friday that Finland had appealed for "transport of Swedish military groups to Finland" and that Sweden had declined. Stockholm felt Finland's problem of getting outside military help was acute, with a peace with Russia the only alternative. London pointed out that technical difficulties would prevent Britain and France from sending troops to Finland quickly.)

Tonight's communique, covering activity of yesterday, said this of the isthmus fighting: "Enemy attacks continued on Feb. 15. The severest pressure occurred between the Hatjalahdenjarvi and the Vuoksi (river) and at Taipale.

Des Moines Attorney Dies Unexpectedly

DES MOINES, Feb. 16 (AP)—Howard J. Clark, 72, widely known Des Moines attorney and republican candidate for the United States senate in 1926, died unexpectedly in his office at 3:15 p.m. today.

Apparently in the best of health, Clark was conversing with Morton Root, another attorney, when he slumped down in his chair. Dr. W. O. Smouse, summoned to his side, pronounced him dead. Death apparently was caused by a heart attack.

Garner Enters Primary Race

Vice-President Seeks Support of California For Demo Nomination

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Vice President Garner announced today he would enter the democratic primary in California, seeking to duplicate his 1932 feat of winning the California delegation's support for the democratic presidential nomination. In a telegram to Garner-for-president club leaders, the vice president said their action in entering his name in the May 7 preferential primary in California had his "full approval."

The telegram was addressed to Zach Lamar Cobb of Los Angeles and William H. Wallace Jr., of San Francisco. They previously had written Garner that it was "the prevailing belief that California will be yours by an even greater majority" than in 1932 when the state's delegates were instructed for Garner for president.

"I am pleased to acknowledge your telegram of today advising that my friends in California, acting through the California Garner-for-president organization, propose to enter my name as a candidate in the May presidential primary election," Garner telegraphed Cobb and Wallace.

"This has my full approval since it is in conformity with my public announcement a few weeks ago in which I expressed the opinion that the democratic candidate should be selected at the primaries and conventions."

The entry of the vice president in the California race recalled the incident of the 1932 democratic national convention when Garner and former Senator McAdoo of California threw the support of the California and Texas delegations, totalling 90 votes, to President Roosevelt and assured his nomination. Texas has 46 votes and California 44 in the convention.

Don't Say! 'Strict Neutrality' Says Adolf Hitler

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter declared tonight that Germany demands "strict neutrality" from neutral states, not merely "renunciation of direct warlike acts" or "lip service for official usage." This sharp editorial developed a theme first expressed by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels in instructing Nazi orators this week. This time, however, Belgium and Switzerland were mentioned.

"The German people never forget anyone who refuses this moderate demand," said the newspaper. "We believe that neutrals are obliged to record war events and the attitude of belligerent nations at least objectively. What a number of them are doing is, however, exactly the opposite."

"Under the protective cloak of 'democratic freedom of opinion,'" said Volkischer Beobachter, "the views, act and aims of a German nation of eight millions intentionally are suppressed or misrepresented, but the claims of her opponents are reproduced to the greatest extent and supported."

House Approves Appropriation But Strikes Off Pacific Outpost

Record-Breaking $965,779,438 Appropriation Bill Does Not Include Guam Proposal; Fear Japanese Anger

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A record-breaking appropriation of $965,779,438 for the navy won the quick approval of the house today but only after a proposal to make Guam a Pacific outpost for naval patrol planes was stricken from the measure.

Heading warnings that the project might lead to war with Japan, the house adopted an amendment eliminating $1,000,000 sought by the navy to start work on a $3,000,000 dredging and breakwater construction job to make the island's harbor safe for both naval and commercial aircraft. The teller vote was 123 to 114.

The debate was a hot, but abbreviated, repetition of the fight last year, when a somewhat more ambitious project for Guam was beaten.

New Ships
The navy bill, in the form in which it was sent to the senate today, carried funds to start work on 19 new combat ships, five auxiliary vessels and 352 additional airplanes, as well as money to continue work on 79 warships and 18 auxiliaries now under construction.

No attempt was made to restore any of the $111,699,699 cut by the house appropriations committee from the amount President Roosevelt originally recommended for the navy despite the chief executive's expressed hope that funds to start a second pair of 45,000-ton battleships would be put back.

Condemns 'Imitating'
The appropriations committee allowed only $1,500,000 of the $7,800,000 requested for that purpose and urged the navy to study the matter to determine whether bigger ships should not be substituted. Asserting it had learned the 45,000-ton craft would be virtually the same as those being built abroad, the committee condemned what it called the navy's policy of "imitating" foreign navies.

However, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee asserted the curtailed amount would be sufficient to enable the navy to go ahead with plans and let contracts for the 45,000-tonners.

The $965,779,438 measure, which went through without a record record vote, is the regular annual appropriation bill, carrying money for the next fiscal year. Despite the drastic cut in the president's naval estimates, the bill carried about $50,000,000 more than the navy received for the current fiscal year.

Naval Aviation
In addition to $340,371,979 for ship construction, armament and ordnance the bill would provide $99,563,300 in direct appropriations for naval aviation, plus contract authorizations totalling $10,000,000; and $41,638,475 for a variety of projects at naval shore establishments. An attempt by Rep. Rich (R-Pa.) to strike cut funds for one of the projected new battleships was swamped, 199 to 52.

Rep. Richards (D-S.C.), author of the amendment eliminating the funds for Guam, sounded the keynote of the opposition to the project when he declared its prosecution would embrace "the grave danger of involving us in war."

The South Carolinian said the danger lay in the fact that Guam, less than 1,500 miles from Tokyo, was located in the midst of 1,000 Japanese mandated islands.

Nazis Assert Sea Warfare More Effective Than in 1914

Institute Offensive Against Great Britain's Vital Oil Supplies

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Germany boasted tonight that her present sea warfare against Great Britain has proved far more effective than in 1914.

With the Nazi naval attack taking a new tack—a stiff offensive against ocean-going tankers carrying Britain's vital oil supplies—German military experts gave the following comparison to demonstrate the success of the new German navy. During the first five months of the present war, 1,500,000 tons of British, French and neutral shipping were destroyed; in the first five months of the World war 370,000 tons were sunk.

To illustrate further, it was said that in 10 months of 1918, 2,750,000 tons were sunk. This meant, the experts said, the tonnage now being destroyed, averaging 300,000 tons monthly, already exceeds the average for the last year of the World war.

(German commentators do not refer to losses inflicted upon shipping in 1917, when unrestricted submarine warfare reached its peak. According to the best available sources, more than 3,500,000 tons of shipping were sunk. These figures included 1,134 British vessels sunk by submarines, 137 by mines and 38 by surface craft. Seventy-five German submarines were destroyed by the allies.)

(During the February and March, 1917, a weekly average of 23 British ships were lost, and in April 196 vessels of nearly 600,000 tons went to the bottom.) Since the beginning of the war the volume of sinkings of British oil tankers has increased 112.8 per cent, military authorities said tonight. German figures were presented to show that in about 5 1-2 months of warfare 27 tankers belonging to the western allies, with a total tonnage of 212,268, have been sent to the bottom.

Rail Service Resumed Near Des Moines

DES MOINES, Feb. 16 (AP)—Traffic was resumed this afternoon on the Chicago and Great Western railroad line 20 miles southwest of here following the repair of tracks damaged when part of a freight train was derailed last night.

Charles J. Foster, division superintendent of the railroad, said no estimate had been made of the damage.

Ten cars in the center of a 23-car meat train toppled from a bridge when the trucks broke on one of the cars.

Nothing New In This Case

Scientific Accuracy Of Bible Argued In N. Y. Municipal Court

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—After listening for two days to a renewal of arguments that have raged since man first gave thought to his own origin and that of the world in which he lives, a municipal court justice today dismissed a $1,000 action based on the scientific accuracy or inaccuracy of the bible.

The first chapter of the book of Genesis was one of the principal points at issue between opposing lawyers in the suit brought by William Floyd, publisher of the magazine "The Arbitrator," against the Rev. Harry Rimmer, evangelist and defender of the bible's scientific correctness.

Floyd alleged that Rimmer offered $1,000 to anyone who could prove any scientific inaccuracies in the bible, that he (Floyd) produced 51 and that Rimmer refused to pay him the reward.

Justice Benjamin Halleck, who heard the case without a jury, dismissed the suit on the ground a prima facie case had not been established. He ruled that Floyd had failed to prove that Rimmer had inserted an advertisement in a morning newspaper offering $1,000 for proof of biblical inaccuracies from a scientific viewpoint, or that he had any knowledge of its insertion.

The principal witness today was Wolsley Teller, vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, who described himself as an editor, scientist and writer on astronomy, anthropology and biology.

He said scientists disagreed with the first chapter of Genesis—the story of creation.

"Science," he said, "does not recognize the words 'created' or 'made' because they involve a maker. The consensus of science is that the earth evolved by evolution."

Earth Round, Not Flat
Teller testified, among other things, that the earth was two thousand million years old and was round, not flat. He said "no one was there" when the earth was created "but the theory is that two stars were close together and the larger star threw out a film which condensed into several planets and one of them is the earth." The stars, he added, "came from the nebulae."

Man, testified Teller, began with the vertebrates and now "is an evolved ape."

These theories, Teller declared, did not conform to the story in the first chapter of Genesis nor to the biblical story that the earth was created in six days.

"Do you believe in God?" Teller was asked by James A. Bennett, lawyer for Rimmer.

"No, sir," replied the witness. "And all your testimony is given from the viewpoint of a man who doesn't believe in God?"

"From the viewpoint of science which has brought me to the viewpoint there is no God," snapped Teller.

Germany May Transfer Credits
MADRID, (AP)—Reliable informants said last night that Germany is negotiating for the transfer to Spain of some of the dollar credits which it holds in the United States.

Philadelphia Is Republican Choice for 1940 Convention

Mayor R. Lamberton Offers GOP $200,000, Use of Convention Hall

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—By the overwhelming vote of 66 to 32, the republican national committee today chose Philadelphia for the party's 1940 convention city. The date of the convention was fixed for June 24.

The thing that won for Philadelphia was, obviously, an offer of $200,000 and the use of a convention hall. The offer was made by Mayor Robert Lamberton, who reminded the committee members that the money, over and above the expenses of the convention, could be applied to the cost of the ensuing campaign.

For Chicago, Mayor Edward J. Kelly offered to defray the cost of the convention, with nothing additional. Eleven days ago he stood before a similar meeting of the democratic national committee and offered to match any reasonable cash bid that might be made by any of the other cities. He got the democratic convention for $150,000.

Philadelphia and Chicago
The choice of a republican convention city settled down several days ago to a contest between Philadelphia and Chicago. It became so obvious, in fact, that one or the other would get the big party meeting that bids which had been expected from St. Louis and San Francisco were not even submitted.

Just one other city was proposed, Fargo, N. D. To the delight and amusement of the crowd, William Stern, North Dakota Committeeman, detailed the advantages to be found there—20 hotels "all protected by the police," and 53 miles of paving.

He concluded by handing National Chairman John D. Hamilton a blank check on the Dakota National Bank adding that he was its president.

Two for Fargo
A roll call vote showed 66 votes for Philadelphia, 30 for Chicago and two for Fargo, the latter cast by Stern and Charles A. Jonas, committeeman from North Carolina.

The committee went into executive session for its decision on the date of the convention because, it was said, several members wanted to express themselves fully and freely on the subject. For months there had been a hubbub of discussion over the possibility of abandoning tradition and holding the convention in July or August.

It was apparent at once, however, that sentiment for the late convention had tapered down.

King Carol To Visit Rome Next March To Seek Italian Aid

BUCHAREST, Feb. 16 (AP)—The projected visit of King Carol II of Rumania to Rome next March appeared tonight to be a new and vital step in the Italian plan to keep peace in southeastern Europe.

It was reported here that General Teofilu Sidorovici, leader of the Rumanian youth organization who was received at Rome today by King Vittorio Emanuele and Premier Mussolini, was arranging the trip because King Carol is anxious to obtain Italian help in resisting the squeeze between Germany and the British-French allies for Rumanian oil deliveries.

The Italians were reported glad to receive King Carol because that would give them a chance to negotiate directly with the Rumanian monarch for some sort of a settlement of Hungary's territorial claims. Yugoslavia failed in an attempt at such mediation at the Balkan entente meeting last month.

Hungary, it was said in Budapest, is willing to pledge military aid to Rumania against any Soviet Russian attack if in return she can get a promise of some sort of territorial settlement at the end of hostilities.

England Plans For Extension Of War Front

New Conscripts To Take Arms Before Spring

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain, preparing for any extension of the war front, stepped up its mobilization program tonight to permit quick absorption of a new class of 250,000 conscripts ordered to register tomorrow for military service.

The new conscripts, Britons now 23 years old, probably will be placed under arms early in March in line with a training speedup expected to increase the army to a total of 2,500,000 men before 1941.

At sea, the day's reports told of the bombing and possible sinking of a German submarine by a British plane, listed four neutral ships sunk or missing, one small British tanker feared lost, and two Finnish boats bound for Britain captured. Twenty-two lives were lost aboard two Danish vessels, torpedoed off northeast Scotland.

U-Boat Bombed
A pilot who caught the submarine on the North Sea bombed it just as the U-boat, fleeing the plane, submerged. One bomb fell directly ahead of the periscope and another burst just in front of the same spot. Patches of oil appeared and no further trace of the submarine was seen.

It was said unofficially that nearly 50 German submarines have been sunk thus far in the war, some of them accounted for by planes.

The torpedoing of the 4-622-ton British cargo ship Langford in the Atlantic Wednesday while she was enroute home from Boston was disclosed with the arrival of a lifeboat with 15 survivors on the west coast of Ireland. One sailor was killed in the blast, two died in the life boat and a second boat carrying the captain and 14 other crewmen was missing.

Land Survivors
Thirty-nine survivors of the two Danish vessels, the 1,066-ton passenger ship Sleipner and the 1-064-ton Rhone, were landed in a British port. Missing from the Sleipner were seven seamen and six passengers.

The ships missing were the British tanker Creffield, 838 tons, and the Norwegian freighters Bisp, 1,000 tons, and Start, 1,168 tons. The Bisp, which carried a crew of 16, left a British port Jan. 20 with a cargo of coal for Norway.

A Helsinki radio broadcast said Germany had captured and confiscated two Finnish ships bound for Britain with cargoes of timber.

The British mobilization speed-up fitted in with allied troop concentrations in the near east and Britain's helping hand in the war in Finland.

Recruit Volunteers
Recruiting of volunteers to fight against the Russians, sanctioned by a royal decree published tonight in the London Gazette is proceeding steadily. It was unlikely, however, that any of the British recruits would reach Finland in time to help turn the tide in the battle now raging on the Karelian isthmus.

Public sympathy and interest with the Finnish cause was reflected by newspaper headlines which gave the war in Finland precedence over Britain's struggle with Germany.

British Destroyer Stalks Steamer

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The British destroyer Intrepid was reported by the official German news agency tonight to be lying in wait off the Norwegian coast ready to pounce upon the elusive German steamer Altmarr after one unsuccessful attempt to capture the supply and prison ship which accompanied the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee on its last raiding voyage.

The agency, DNB, said that skillful maneuvering and the intervention of two Norwegian torpedo boats forced the first effort of the Intrepid, within yards of Norwegian shores, to fail. The Altmarr, which carried 300 prisoners taken during the Graf Spee's raiding operations.

One group of democrats dissatisfied with state party leaders, formed "the democratic party organization of Wisconsin" and put up a slate of delegate candidates pledged to nominate the president of anyone he selected.

The Menace Of Age

In refuting the statements of certain alarmists depressed by the increasing aged population, the bureau of business research of the university made a statement of broad implication.

"It is indeed strange that an era which has harnessed the forces of nature, doubled the average length of life, and checked the dangerous overcrowding which once caused wars, should now see its blessings and achievements as menaces."

Even those unacquainted with business statistics feel a certain repulsion to those who resent the prolongation of life. Frequent statements pointing with alarm to the top heavy percentage of older people have appeared in recent months.

What the bureau said in substance was that the critics of this population trend are superficial analysts. They disregard the accompanying decrease in the young, thus maintaining the number of dependents.

Now, be he thoroughbred or mongrel, a dog has an important mission to fulfill in this world. Time was when he could lie quietly in front of the fireplace and doze, but not so today.

The bureau of business research is commended for stepping out and redefining the "menace" of an increasing aged population as a blessing. Certainly science, and in particular medicine, should be heartened to know that their efforts in behalf of longer life are welcomed by society.

The Magic Metal

MEN have fought wars for gold. Men have gone crazy over the lust for the yellow metal. Men have murdered and robbed to possess it.

Today there is little chance for any of the above to happen because of the precious metal. The United States government now has 510,000,000 ounces carefully guarded in treasury vaults or more than 60 per cent of the world's supply.

The question of what to do with it has reached the point where it is very similar to the surplus corn question in the midwest. It is rapidly reaching a point where it will not be valuable for commerce because one country will control it all, and yet, federal laws make it illegal to use gold in almost any form.

The high price of gold makes its use for the arts prohibitive. It is illegal to lend the gold abroad to the European nations who are depleting their treasuries to pay for war. It is illegal to use gold coin in commerce or for hoarding.

Meanwhile it costs taxpayers a small fortune to guard and keep the precious metal. Fort Knox, Ky., was built for the specific purpose of guarding the nation's increasing gold supply.

At $35 an ounce those who are fortunate to own gold mines are, in popular slang, "cleaning up." Meanwhile someone is going to be left "holding the bag" when the metal ceases to be of economic worth.

And it looks like Uncle Sam is going to be that person unless plans materialize to put the "king" of metals to work.

Man's Best Friend

DOGS HAVE served man from time immemorial. First renowned were the brave Saint Bernards who risked their lives to bring relief and help to travellers, lost in the treacherous passes of the Swiss Alps.

Perhaps not so far-famed but deserving to be are the countless dogs making up the Seeing Eye organization. There, in Morristown, N. J., dogs are taught to lead the blind.

And now canines will render a still greater service to mankind if the British war office accepts a proposal of Col. E. H. Richardson. He has sent out a nationwide appeal for the donation of dogs to be trained for service with the British expeditionary forces.

In the last World War 2,000 of Colonel Richardson's dogs played the parts of heroes, many of them dying in action and being buried in unmarked graves in Flanders. This army of canines, by the carrying of official dispatches, saved entire battalions from certain annihilation.

Colonel Richardson, who is now 74, has trained dogs not only to carry dispatches but also to locate wounded soldiers and even to aid in the famous work of Scotland Yard. Three of his dogs were trained for a most unusual but interesting job, that of acting as watchdogs in the harem of Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey.

Now, be he thoroughbred or mongrel, a dog has an important mission to fulfill in this world. Time was when he could lie quietly in front of the fireplace and doze, but not so today.

Today poor canines can not even lead a "dog's life."

GOOD MORNING

By JAMES FOX AND BILL BARTLEY

About once a week this column is supposed to discuss a new novel. Last week we admitted that "Beer For The Kitten" by Hester Pine simply "rolled us in the aisle."

So a well-meaning gentleman suggested that we might like another new "light" novel. "No More Gas" was good, he told us.

Well, we've read "No More Gas" now, and if it wasn't just something that Nordhoff and Hall turned out to meet a publisher's deadline, then those two literary stars are beginning to burn rather dimly in our literary sky.

A lot of fun, goes in debt, finds a lost ship, discovers that it belongs to the finders, sells the ship, and spends the proceeds on a grand and glorious spree. Just as the mortgage on the old homestead is about to be foreclosed, they discover a way to save it. Does it sound interesting?

We can recommend "Forever Wilt Thou Love" by Ludwig Lewisohn as excellent reading, however. If you can forget that Mr. Lewisohn is currently airing his domestic difficulties in public and that these troubles closely resemble some of the plot of his story, you'll find plenty of stimulating philosophy in the book. We liked "Upstream" as well as anything Lewisohn had ever written until we read "Forever Wilt Thou Love."

"DEATH VALLEY KID" is tonight's drama on the

ALL THE NEWS FROM THE BASEBALL FRONT!

Summer Welles Will Undertake A Tough Job - Trying To Bring Cool Breeze to Europe's Blaze

DESPITE President Roosevelt's advice to newspaper correspondents not to draw any conclusions of their own in connection with Undersecretary of State Summer Welles' trip to Europe to sound out neutral governments on the subject of post-war peace arrangements and to discuss present-war conditions at the belligerent countries' capitals, plenty of guessing is being done in Washington relative to Welles' mission.

Such guessing as is being done, the president warned the scribes in advance, is bound to be all wrong. Nevertheless, the reporters are hard at it, and so are all the senators and representatives down on the "hill."

Most of the legislators say they think the expedition will do no harm even if it does no good. Still, there's an undercurrent of sentiment to the effect that the experiment is unpleasantly suggestive of "monkeying with a buzz-saw." Isolationists pessimistically recall that, in the early days of the last war, President Wilson had a "roving ambassador" in the Old World in the person of Colonel House, and their contention is that the colonel had a good bit to do with getting the United States into the conflict.

Another theory, suggested by anti-third termers, is that the White House wants to have a promising looking line of peace activities wagging along, as the pre-convention political campaign progresses, with Washington managing it, the idea being that plenty of people will oppose having it interfered with by a change in administrations; thus, that the demand for F. D.'s renomination will become overwhelming.

These guessers' thesis is: "Woodrow Wilson was re-elected largely on the slogan, 'He's kept us out of war.' Now President Roosevelt is trying to go Wilson one better" by making it appear that he's about to end today's war altogether.

It's quite widely surmised that Welles will have very good luck with the neutrals.

It also is conjectured that Fuehrer Hitler will grab at whatever proposal is contemplative of peace again—but substantially on his own terms. It's suspected that he begins to realize that he's "biting off more than he can chew," and maybe will be disposed even to make small concessions, in order to escape from a dangerous German situation. But nobody believes that he'll consent to abdicate his own fuhrer-ship.

As to the British and French, London and Paris dispatches already show their reaction to the Welles visit. Their position is that they've told specifically what their only peace condition is—the extinction of Hitler and Nazi-dom. Naturally that's Adolf's "non possumus."

It looks, then, like a deadlock, as between Germany and Britain and France. It's hard to see how that outfit's deemed too "nutty" a knockout—no mere decision.

Italy's different. It's taken for granted that Benito Mussolini is as pacific in this particular instance as could be desired. Italy has everything to lose and nothing to gain in the pending muddle. It's difficult to understand why it's included among the "belligerent countries" Summer Welles is scheduled to visit. It isn't belligerent.

And there's Russia still to be reckoned with. Summer isn't slated to call at Moscow. Apparently that outfit's deemed to "nutty" to negotiate with.

A Crafty Diplomat

Summer Welles is a crafty diplomat. He's a career man—a professional. American diplomacy usually, in the past, has been out-diplomatized in its foreign dickering, because the foreigners have been experts at the game, and our crowd have been amateurs.

Colonel House, for instance, knew no more about world conditions than a rabbit. Welles is a shark at 'em. He not only is experienced, he's a genius.

House was "played for a sucker." Welles won't be. He takes a ticklish assignment, though.

Boo Heifetz If You Like

He Doesn't Mind Being Hissed By Displeased Audience

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Jascha Heifetz thinks audiences should hiss when they dislike his performances, just as they applaud when they are pleased. This is the 39-year-old violinist who alternates a Guarnerius with a Stradivarius in civilized countries but practices on an aluminum violin in the tropics because the jungles are tough on strings.

Alexander Woolcott recalls that he and Heifetz were having dinner with Harpo Marx one night and they all began discussing how hard they worked.

"Why," said Heifetz, "I've been supporting myself since I was seven years old."

"Before that," replied Harpo, "I suppose you were just a bum."

But as a matter of record, Heifetz has been playing since he was three. He figures he has played something like 70,000 hours and has travelled more than a million and a half miles, mostly by air. This includes four world tours and countless coast-to-coast journeys in the U. S.

You don't kick around the world like this unless you build up a pile of interesting memoirs and come back with a lot of curious doodads. Two of Heifetz's most prized souvenirs are a fiddle made of 2,500 matches, and a Chinese fiddle that doubles as a walking stick. He got the match-fiddle in South Africa.

It was in London that he had his first meeting with Shaw. The old carrot-eater, who refuses to touch meat or pluck flowers because he is opposed to violence, came back stage and, placing his hand gently on Heifetz's shoulder, said: "You know, nothing may be perfect in the world, or the gods become jealous and destroy it. So would you mind playing one sour note every night before you go to bed?"

In private life Heifetz is the husband of Florence Vidor, star of the silent films. They have two children—Joseph, aged nine, and Robert, who is seven. Both play the piano, which is the instrument of their choice. "All children should play some instrument," says Heifetz, "and they should be made to listen to good music. Then they will have some musical standards when they grow up."

There are moments when his face is in repose that Heifetz appears melancholy and perhaps too serious. His friends say this is not true. They say he will go out of his way to play practical jokes on his friends. So perhaps those instances of gloom are but passing thoughts of the days when his family fled Russia and the long trail they followed through Siberia and Japan and finally the Hawaiian Islands before they reached New York.

As for his hands, though they mean his career, they are not insured. Most violinists like to take out heavy policies on their hands. But Heifetz explains it this way: "If my hands were insured I should become too conscious of them, and perhaps this would impair my playing."

But his Strad and the Guarneri are insured for $75,000 each.

That Guarnerius, incidentally, has a temperamental streak. Before being played, it has to remain overnight in a room where the temperature is exactly 72 degrees—no more, no less.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- A New Max?
Nova's Feet
Hits Bottom

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Word from the west to the effect that Max Baer is toughening himself by digging up tree stumps with the hope that some promoter will reciprocate by digging up Max Baer brings to mind the strange case of Lou Nova, the kid who fell off the fight merry-go-round just as he was reaching for the iron ring.

A New Max Baer's statement on his 31st birthday, pointing out that he is a new Max Baer, ready to relieve Joe Louis of his title, brings Nova into the picture. It was just a little less than a year ago that Max breezed into town for a bout with Nova, telling one and all he was a new Max Baer, and it turned out the only thing new about him was a haircut.

Anyway, a year ago Lou Nova, next to Louis himself, was the most discussed heavyweight in the business, the Sir Galahad whose goal was the championship. He had come east on short notice in November, 1938, to sub for Bob Pastor in a bout with Gunnar Barlund after Pastor had whacked a piece out of his bike leg with an axe.

Nova beat Barlund, a tough cookie, and seemed to be on his way. We saw him first about a year ago, a big, rugged, rather bashful youth with broad face, deep-set eyes, high cheek-bones and a will of his own. In that work-out he seemed to have one major fault, a fault he never could correct. His feet never seemed to find out about his general plans until too late, and they were always stumbling along trying to catch up with him.

With him was quiet, slim, gentle Ray Carlen, almost too darned nice and above-board to be a fight manager, but with the courage to stand up on his hind legs and tell Gene Tunney to go hoe his own cabbages when Gene suggested that Nova was being hurried to a Louis slaughter too quickly.

Dull-Witted Feet Nova next defeated Tommy Farr in 15 rounds, and the fact he had Farr in more trouble than did Louis added to the young Californian's prestige, although those dull-witted feet still brought a question to the minds of the ring wise.

We next saw Nova at the fantastic camp up the Hudson, where amid a jungle atmosphere he brooded over Yogi philosophy as he prepared to meet Baer.

He beat Baer, the fans being convinced the more Maxie changed the more he was the same, and Nova was one step nearer his goal. Success brought a swagger and cockiness to the likable kid. His temerity vanished. We saw him at the Poughkeepsie boat races, a nattily garbed young Adonis bubbling with self-assurance.

We saw him at the ringside after the Baer-Galento fight, when he casually remarked he would cut either Galento or Louis to pieces if he ever met them.

That cockiness might have had something to do with his undoing. He was matched with Galento for a Philadelphia fight. The match wasn't promising. Here was a clean-living, youthful giant pitted against a comic, globular figure whose road work consisted of running over his accounts and running down Joe Louis.

Back to The Bottom But Galento won, and it was the clean-living, high-idealized Nova who was arm and leg-weary and exhausted as the bout dragged on and on, and looking back on Nova's exhibition of that night it seems that he was a slow, clumsy old man in a mental fog.

We saw him in his dressing room afterward, a pathetic figure trying to jettison heartbreak. His castle in the clouds had tumbled about his ears. That was the last we saw of him. He went west, and news trickled back that he was a very sick man, that he never would fight again, that the fine physique had become gaunt.

Whether he fights again is his own business, but if he does he'll have the long, rocky trail to climb all over again. He was so near the top, and in one brief hour dropped to the bottom again. He's a nice kid and everyone wishes him well, and that goes double for Ray Carlen, the gentleman whose hopes also went tumbling in that tragic Philadelphia story.

Break Cunningham Monopoly Fenske Favored To Best Kansan Tonight In 27th Annual Baxter Mile

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cutting in on Glenn Cunningham's private mile-running domain has become a 1940 habit with Chuck Fenske. Tomorrow night, in the 27th running of the New York A. C.'s Baxter mile at Madison Square Garden, he stands an excellent chance of breaking another Cunningham monopoly.

Like the other plank-track fixtures, the Baxter has borne the indelible Cunningham stamp for the last seven years. Over that stretch, the Kansan veteran has won five times, the last three in succession.

But circumstances, consisting chiefly of his own lack of proper training and Fenske's great form, have conspired to put the "master miler" behind the eight-ball. This should be his last showing on the New York A. C. mile and, while it would be nice to see the man with the flame-scarred legs and barrel chest bow out a winner, the form chart doesn't say so. He's gone to the post in five major races this winter, and in each the gold medal has gone to someone else, to Gene Venzke once and Fenske four times. His last time out, in Boston last Saturday, Glenn suffered the added indignity of having Lou Zamperini as well as Fenske beat him over the finish line. Those two, Venzke and Archie San Romani will be in the field tomorrow and, if one of them will set himself up as a pace-setting sacrificial lamb, Cunningham may even see his meet record of 4:08.6 go by the boards.

The mile, chief drawing card for some 15,000 customers, is one of nine invitation specials.

Iowa Meets Powerful Michigan Swim Team at Ann Arbor Today

Loss of Vargon, Dotson To Hurt Hawkeyes' Chances

A weakened Hawkeye swimming team will encounter stiff competition when it meets the Michigan Wolverines at Ann Arbor tonight. The loss of Russ Dotson and Vic Vargon, dependable sophomore point winners, has seriously diminished the Iowa possibilities for victory. There is an outside chance, however, that Dotson may be able to compete in the sprints.

Michigan, a perennial title contender, has a strong team again this year and is expected to figure prominently in the championship meets at the end of the season. Since the advent of Coach Matt Mann in 1925, the Wolverines have established a record unparalleled in athletic history for their continued dominance of Big Ten and National Collegiate titles. They have finished as low as third in the Big Ten only once, and have finished second in the three national meets which were not won.

Coach Mann has nine major letter men to form the nucleus of his 1940 squad. Heading the list are Charles Barker, national sprints champion, and Jimmy Welsh, Big Ten distance champ. The Hawkeyes, however, also have a good outfit, and before losing Dotson and Vargon, were conceded a chance at topping the mighty Wolverines. In spite of this setback, they are expected to make a creditable showing.

Illinois Relays Attracts 34 Teams In Opening Today

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 16 (AP)—The 17th annual Illinois indoor relay carnival, to be held tomorrow, will furnish track fans with a close-up of the strength and weaknesses or more than a score of collegiate teams in the middle and southwest.

Before an anticipated crowd of more than 4,000, some 500 stars from 34 colleges and universities will match strides and skill in the special field events. Some of the schools undoubtedly will make strong bids for sectional and national honors this spring in both indoor and outdoor competition. Michigan, holder of both the Big Ten indoor and outdoor titles, has entered 37 athletes. Purdue, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio State and Northwestern will have large squads on hand. Notre Dame and Kansas State each will send 23 men into action, with Nebraska represented by 13 and Missouri by 17.

Michigan will be hard to stop in several events. In the mile relay the Wolverines will use several of their "dream" quarter milers, including Warren Breidenbach, the best 440 man in Michigan track history. The high point of the afternoon program will be the all-around event. The main meet will go on at 7:15 p.m. (CST), with Harry Gill, founder of the meet, serving as referee.

Brack's Basket In Last Period Decides Game

Table with columns: St. Patrick's (17), FG, FT, PF, TP. Rows: Black, Grady, Holland, Miller, Fitzpatrick, Daly, TOTALS.

TOTALS 6 5 10 17 Score at half, St. Mary's 13-8.

By WARREN CURRY It's always a battle—St. Mary's 18; St. Patrick's 17. The two parochial schools last night gave a capacity crowd a thrilling 32 minutes of action with a hair raising finish decided by a basket by Tony Brack a minute and a half before the final gun.

From start to finish the two teams provided thrills and spills on the St. Pat's hardwood. The small gym was a den of excitement with the supporters of the two teams evenly divided. Grady opened the scoring for the evening with a free toss for the Fighting Irish but the lead was short lived for a field goal by Jim Chadek put the Ramblers out ahead. A basket by Brack and another by Chadek overshadowed Grady's one point and gave the Mariani a 6-1 lead at the end of the first quarter.

St. Mary's widest margin came in the second quarter by virtue of early period scoring. The Ryanites were not to be outdone so early in the contest, and a rally was staged which made the scoring even in the second quarter. Seven points for each team accounted for St. Mary's 13-8 lead at the half.

Supporters for both teams gave great cheers when the second half started and Bill Bock satisfied the St. Mary's followers with a long shot that widened the Mariani's lead. A free throw by the same lad, however, was the total scoring for the Suplepellen in the third quarter.

Free throws by Don Black and field goals by Miller and Fitzpatrick narrowed the gap. The whistle opening the fourth and final period found the Mariani out ahead, 16-14, and both teams anxious to get the issue settled. Minutes passed and neither team scored until big Bruce Beasley, Shamrock substitute, sank a free throw and St. Mary's lead was a meager one point. Soon after, from far out on the court, "Red" Miller, high scorer for the Fighting Irish, let go a long shot that ripped the net and put the Shamrocks ahead, 17-16. The cheers of the St. Pat's supporters were still ringing loudly when Tony Brack countered Miller's shot with a long basket for two points and a St. Mary's victory.

Take All But Two Matches In Dual Meet

Sherman, Whitmore Annex Decisions; Other Hawks Lose

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 16 (AP)—The University of Illinois wrestling team, winning six out of eight bouts, defeated the University of Iowa squad tonight 18 to 6. The feature match was between Berry of the Illini and Geppert, 165-pound Iowa grappler, the former winning a close decision.

The summaries (all decisions): 120 pounds—Sherman, Iowa, defeated Kindy, Illinois, 7-0. 128 pounds—Petry, Illinois, beat Julius, Iowa, 11-1. 136 pounds—Capt. Emmons, Illinois, beat Ingle, Iowa, 10-2. 145 pounds—Purvin, Illinois, defeated Miller, Iowa, 10-0. 155 pounds—Boyd, Illinois, defeated Capt. Kemp, Iowa, 15-6. 165 pounds—Berry, Illinois, beat Geppert, Iowa, 9-8. 175 pounds—Whitemore, Iowa, defeated Godevare, Illinois, 8-5. Heavyweights—Siklich, Illinois, beat Johnson, Iowa, 8-1.

A scrappy U-high team out-fought and outshot a visiting Mt. Vernon team in an Eastern Iowa conference game played in the U-high gym last night, 27-18. The U-high seconds defeated the Mt. Vernon seconds in a preliminary game, 20-10.

The game was featured by many scrambles for loose balls and the ambitious, if not expert, follow in shots of the opposing centers, Eyre and Lehman. Lehman did his work on the few occasions Evans and Halvorson missed the hoop. Murray Dawson, U-high star, came back strong in the second half with three baskets after missing a barrage of shots in the first half. One of the baskets came as a gift of lady luck as it happened that, in a scramble for the ball, one of the players ran into the official as Dawson was stepping in bounds with the ball. While the official's view was obstructed Dawson let fly a long left handed

Illinois, Iowa Gymnastic Teams Tangle at Urbana

Iowa's gymnastic team will open its 1940 season this afternoon against Illinois, National Intercollegiate champions, at Urbana.

Coach Albert Baumgartner holds little hope for victory in the opener, but realizes that the mighty Illini must be met some time and an early match will prepare his inexperienced men for the remainder of the schedule. Although the Hawks lack experience and many members of the team have been forced to give up the sport because of illness, enthusiasm has been at a high pitch since the second semester started.

The last minute withdrawal of Tom Davis has also injured the Hawks' chances. The Hawk entries are:

Side Horse—Co. Capt. Roy Lipoti, Don Weiss and Earl Bartholomew. Flying Rings—Co. Capt. Ed McCloy, Harold Leffler and Harold Eastman.

Cagers Seek Fourth Conference Win Against Minnesota Tonight

Williams' Men Hope To Boost Winning Streak to Six Tilts

Faced with the toughest week end in their schedule to date, Iowa's cagers are at Minneapolis tonight for a game with the Golden Gophers of Minnesota, who defeated the Hawkeyes a month ago. Monday night, the Hawks face Indiana in the Iowa field-house.

With a recent winning streak of five games behind them, the Hawks will go into the pair of tough battles depending on a quintet of mixed veteran and sophomore talent. Coach Rollie Williams will use Vic Siegel and the veteran Tommy Lind at the forwards in both games, with Dick

According to reports from Ann Arbor, Francis Heydt, backstroke star who left Iowa for Michigan two years ago, will not swim in his specialty, the 150-yard backstroke when the two teams clash today. Says Heydt in the Michigan Daily, "I just can't picture myself in competition against a fellow like Al Armbruster, the Hawkeye backstroke."

"We were real buddies when I was at Iowa, in fact we used to live together, and it certainly doesn't seem right for me to try to beat Al now that I am on the other side of the fence."

Heydt was winner in the National AAU meet in Columbus last March and finished second in the Western Conference and National AAU in 1938.

MEMBERS of the Iowa football squad have been going through daily workouts in the fieldhouse the past several weeks. Line Coach Jim Harris is having the graders working on starts while Frank Carideo is concentrating on several "hopefuls" whom he hopes will take over Nile Kinnick's passing duties on the Hawk eleven next fall.

PRESSBOX PICKUPS By OSCAR HARGRAVE

There is, it seems to me, much more than the necessary noise about Bill DeCorrevont's apparent trouble at Northwestern. It may be that he can, or cannot, get along with the coaches, but there are a couple of funny things about the whole story.

Take, for example, the little matter of the statements Young Bill is supposed to have made—especially the one about the Northwestern system and himself. And, we can include the worries about the blocking DeCorrevont got last fall.

If, as the story goes, Northwestern's system is not suited to DeCorrevont, there is something quite strange about this year. Northwestern has prospered in the past under Lynn Waldorf's coaching and the backfields featured almost every sort of a runner.

As for the system, it can't be blamed to any extent. A football system, be it of any kind, can be adapted to practically any sort of a man and any sort of a man can be adapted to the system. They talk of the Notre Dame style and Eddie Anderson's version of it—we saw that worked quite successfully last fall. It is my own belief that any sort of a man could be used on an Anderson team, providing the man learned his job and played with more enthusiasm than a Scotchman has in kicking about his light bill.

There are, of course, outmoded styles of play and coaches who can't go the pace, but Waldorf hasn't been one of these. His Northwestern teams have been too good for such classification.

I saw DeCorrevont play against Iowa and he couldn't have kicked about the blocking, on some occasions at least. One time, when he nearly got away on a touchdown run, he moved down the sideline behind an almost impenetrable wall of interference. If that wasn't blocking, the Big Ten has never had a look at that fundamental art.

There is no doubt but that the Wildcat youngster is one of the game's most dangerous runners. He should have broken loose for a dozen touchdowns last year, but he didn't—neither did Northwestern live up to its potentialities, but there still doesn't seem reason to think DeCorrevont caused all the trouble.

Before the season began, even Waldorf thought the Wildcats were nearly a national champion. If there had been trouble at that time he wouldn't have been so sure nor would the public have. It wasn't until after their first couple failures that the 'Cats really came into the public eye as a dissension ridden squad.

In other words, I don't think the dissension part was serious, although later attempts to explain the failures might cause a barrelful of player-coach rifts. The Wildcats were just an outfit that couldn't get going and the sinister causes for failure didn't run much deeper than an early dose of overconfidence.

Suggest Dempsey, Louis Exhibition

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—A three-round exhibition between Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis was suggested today by Gene Normile to end the discussion over the relative merits of the two fighters and at the same time raise funds for the Finnish relief fund.

The San Diego sportsman, Dempsey's manager for the second bout with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia, said the former champion, even at 44, would be able to go three rounds with only a reasonable amount of training. As to his views of the current discussion, Normile said only one word—"Dempsey."

Iowa Dormitories Have Raised Living Standard - Pres. Gilmore

University Reports Over 2,000 Housed At Little Extra Cost

A dormitory program which has been developed at little cost to taxpayers, with structures having a capacity of 2,121 men and women, now is benefitting students at the University of Iowa.

In a report prepared for the information of alumni in connection with the university's 93rd birthday celebration, university officials checked the present status of the project.

Demand for additional dormitory space has resulted in the completion of an addition to Hillcrest, men's dormitory, bringing the total capacity of that structure to 411; and to Currier Hall, which now accommodates 529 women. Among others are Quadrangle, 686 men, law commons, 128 men; eight co-operatives, 229 men, and East-lawn, 84 women.

It was in 1912 that the state legislature gave the initial help. More funds were voted in 1919, the aggregate of the two appropriations being about $300,000.

Raise Money
Remainder of the funds has been raised by the board of education's power to borrow money, PWA matching funds, and the pooled earnings of dormitories and dining services. The system now is self-liquidating.

President Eugene A. Gilmore, under whose administration the recent impetus to dormitory development has occurred, has pointed out that standards of living have been raised and prices for all living accommodations have been kept at a reasonable figure. The plans also have given substantial aid in self-government of students in their social and recreational life.

The policy of the university, however, is not to erect dormitories to house all the students, for it is expected that a large number will live in fraternity and sorority houses and in Iowa City residences.

Forecasting Indexes To Aid Business Cycle

Dean Phillips Points To Services For Establishing Stability

Further narrowing of the range of the upswings and downswings of the business cycle will probably be the result of more dependable forecasting indexes.

Dean Chester A. Phillips of the college of commerce has this opinion, pointing out the number of new services.

Among them, he said, are federal reserve interests, United States department of commerce, and the United Business service. Much of the forecasting has been in the line of new orders, sales and inventories. He recommended careful appraisal by the business man with respect to their influence upon business itself.

"Prosperity formerly grew to great volume at times because of the ignorance of business interests who were unable clearly to see the actual situation. Therefore, these interests moved on and on until a topheavy structure of prosperity toppled into a pronounced depression," Dean Phillips declared.

He believes that a wider utilization of our improving business indexes will be favorable to business stability. The more nearly complete and adequate our business data, the more nearly straight will tend to be the line representing the course of business activity.

Girl Scouts Plan Banquet

To Entertain Parents At Party Celebrating 28th Year of Group

The parents of Iowa City Girl Scouts will be invited to join their daughters at the annual Parent - Daughter banquet given by the local organization in the river room of Iowa Union at 6:30 p.m. March 7. The banquet celebrates the 28th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouting movement.

Tickets for the banquet can be purchased from troop leaders or the Girl Scout office Monday. Telephone reservations can be made in the office before March 5.

The program of the banquet will include songs by groups under the direction of Mrs. O. B. Limoseth. Another event scheduled is a penny march for the Juliette Low fund, a fund which is sent by the Girl Scouts to help Girl Guide refugees in Finland, Poland and other European countries. Local scouts will contribute pennies to the fund.

Members of the department will continue work on craft projects. Mrs. J. W. Anderson will give a demonstration of hanging baskets, and the making of fuzzy mats will be described by Mrs. B. W. Carlson.

Women Plan Play Night

Intramural Group Will Entertain At Gym This Evening

University men and women will be entertained at a play night in the women's gymnasium tonight from 7:30 to 10 o'clock by the women's intramural association.

The first of this semester's play nights, it will include social dancing, badminton, volley ball, table tennis and aerial darts.

General chairman for the affair is Helen Poulsen, A4 of Iowa Falls. Assisting with the night's activities will be Janet Davenport of Neola, Joyce Brown of Sioux City, Imogene Schulte-necht of Sumner and Jean Christie of Wapello, all A1 hostesses.

Mary Redinbaugh, A1 of Neola, is in charge of the games in the social room. Assisting with the games will be Virginia Benson, A1 of Ft. Madison; Marjorie Davis, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Janet McElhinney, A1 of Buckingham; Jean Hoffman, A2 of Walker; Lois Reed, A1 of Aledo, Ill., and Laura Walker, A1 of Highland Park, Ill.

The social and square dancing will be under the direction of Ruth Magill, A3 of Atlantic; Ruth Summy, A2 of Des Moines, and Billie Young, A2 of Cedar Rapids.

Paul Leysac Will Lecture

Danish Translator To Appear at Cornell College February 20

Paul Leysac, Danish translator of Hans Christian Andersen, the man who wrote the familiar childhood stories "The Ugly Duckling" and "The Steadfast Tin Soldier," will appear on the Cornell college artist-lecture course at Mt. Vernon, Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Mr. Leysac's lecture, in which he attempts to catch the "colloquial rhythm of the satiric Andersen," will be taken largely from his book of Andersen translations "It's Perfectly True and Other Stories."

Mr. Leysac's mother knew Hans Andersen and he was brought up "jumping about in the shadow of the long legs of that extraordinary man." As an author and raconteur, his reputation is almost as far reaching as that of Andersen himself. In the capacity of an actor, Mr. Leysac is well known here and abroad, appearing in feature roles on stage, screen, and radio, opposite such stars as Anna Neagle, Jessie Matthews, and Eva La Gallienne.

Mr. Leysac says that Andersen's stories have some of the same irony that made "Ferdinand the Bull" so popular.

To Hold Play Day, Tea Here This Afternoon

The annual badminton play day between Cedar Rapids Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. and the University of Iowa's Badminton club will get under way at 2 o'clock today in the women's gymnasium.

The games will be followed by tea in the social room with Carol Dunger, A3 of Aurora, Ill. in charge. Other club members assisting with arrangements were Mildred Anderson, A3 of Las Vegas, N. Mex.; Everett Weeks, A1 of Newton; Norman Berman, A1 of Binghamton, N. Y.; Mary Jane Huber, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Ruth Summy, A2 of Des Moines, and Bette Embick, A3 of Hutchinson, Kan.

To Initiate 11 Into Women Of Moose Club

Eleven candidates will be initiated at the meeting of Women of the Moose Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in Moose hall. Mrs. William Weis, ritualistic chairman, will be in charge of the ceremony. The executive committee will meet at 7:15 p.m. prior to initiation.

Iowa Pharmacy Display Wins Second in National Contest

Depicting the "World of Pharmacy," a window display devised by five University of Iowa pharmacy students, placed second among national collegiate competition in a contest held in connection with the 15th observance of National Pharmacy week, it was announced recently.

The winning display was shown in the local college of pharmacy's model window in the pharmacy-botany building. Each week the show window contains an exhibit planned and executed by students as a part of the practical pharmacy course offered here. Prof. Louis C. Zopf, director of drug service, teaches the course and directs the display.

Held each year as a part of the pharmacy week observance, the window display competition, made up of three classes—retail stores, state associations and colleges, is sponsored by the American Pharmaceutical Association and the National Association of Retail Druggists. Entries were judged by a committee representing these organizations.

Sophomore pharmacy students who worked on the winning display window are Robert M. Bickel, Vinton; Robert W. Clothier, Polo, Ill.; Delpha L. Donner, Malvern; Warren J. Puls, Bellevue; and Lyle G. Searle, Rockford, Ill. The theme of the window, "World of Pharmacy," was represented by a globe of the world set beneath scales on which "public health" counterbalanced "your pharmacist." Over the beam of the balance was written "scientific research."

Drugs displayed in the window included pharmaceutical supplies of animal, mineral and plant origin. The growing, potted plants in the exhibit were raised in the local pharmacy-botany drug garden. Important sources for drug extractions shown were the castor bean, wormwood, lavender, belladonna and spearmint plants. Introduced in the display was a brief history of pharmacy, originating with the date 460 B. C., when Hippocrates first used scientific methods in pharmacy. Mentioned in the history sketch were the first pharmacy schools in Padua, Italy and Leyden, Holland, as early as 1100 A. D. Digitalis, the powerful cardiac stimulant used for diseases of the heart, was discovered in 1300, while the first apothecary to practice in America was in 1535.

In 1899 when Emil Behring, noted German physician, discovered diphtheria antitoxin, two other pharmaceutical substances, iodine and quinine, had already been discovered by Frenchmen and were in popular use, according to the history outline.

Contributions to pharmacy by United States legislation, such as the 1914 Harrison Anti-Narcotic act and the 1939 Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic act, also received recognition in the winning display showing.

To Play Here
He plays the trumpet, he sings, he dances and he directs the orchestra which will furnish music for dancing at the Barristers' Ball, March 1 in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Dick Barrie and his orchestra play music of the sweet type that doesn't ignore the lively swing trend of the day. Tickets for this informal closed party will be available to law students and pre-law students Monday at the office of the university college of law.

Gibbs Heads State Druggists

Annual Pharmacists Convention Installs Local Man as Head

Harrison H. Gibbs, Iowa City pharmacist, was installed as president of the Iowa State Pharmaceutical association at the annual convention held in Des Moines this week. Gibbs was graduated from the local pharmacy college in 1909.

President-elect, chosen at the recent meeting, is Chester R. Schlumberger of Denison, who was graduated in 1921. Elected to serve as second vice-president of the I. S. P. A. was William S. Harrison, class of 1921, who is a pharmacist in Creston.

Alumni members chosen for the legislative committee for the coming year were Harvey J. Norgaard, class of 1931, of Harlan; J. Clinton Marshall, class of 1925, of Hampton, and Raymond G. Grimm, class of 1921, of Muscatine.

Size means nothing, February—the shortest month—is big enough to contain the birthdays of the two greatest men in American history.

Helen Moylan Will Entertain

Helen Moylan will entertain a small group of friends at a dinner tonight at 6:30 in the private dining room of Iowa Union. Miss Moylan is the university law librarian.

Bus Drivers and Company Officials Reach Final Settlement

Get Raise Of $20 A Month; Sign Contract

Department of Labor Representative Sent Back to Washington

Company officials and the 14 bus drivers of the Iowa City Motor Coach company at 9 o'clock last night officially settled a wage dispute which had neared strike stages early in the afternoon in a contract providing a $20-a-month raise for the employees, newly unionized.

The signed agreement sets forth a minimum guarantee of $95 a month pay for all employees for work up to 250 hours a month, it was announced by Sam B. Berrong of Detroit, Mich., representing the A. F. of L. international, who has been in town participating in negotiations for the past two days.

For all overtime, the employe must be guaranteed a minimum of two hours for any piece of work.

All drivers will be given a 10-day vacation each year with pay. According to Berrong, the contract includes a modified closed shop clause, and provides that the American Federation of Labor shall be the sole bargaining agent for the employes in case of dispute.

The contract, Berrong pointed out, is made out for one year but will automatically renew itself indefinitely. Either party may terminate it or change or modify it, he added, by submitting a written notice 30 days before the date of change to the other party.

Commissioner William Houston of the department of labor in Washington, D. C., who was scheduled to arrive today to help negotiate the misunderstandings, was advised by wire from Berrong yesterday that he was not needed.

The drivers had first asked $90 and were offered by the employes about $8 less.

Present at the meeting yesterday were Ralph A. Hess, president of the newly-organized local No. 1,234 A. F. of L.; Berrong; Henry Negus, operator of the local company; Commissioner Charles Harness and Deputy Commissioner Frank Flaherty, both of the Iowa state bureau of labor, and Charles Briggs of the Cedar Rapids union.

Berrong explained the "modified closed shop" clause of the contract to mean that new employes not in the union could be hired by the company.

The threatened strike of the drivers at 3 p. m. yesterday was delayed until the evening meeting. The drivers had been receiving $72.50 a month plus a $2.50 a month bonus, having worked on an average of eight and a half hours a day, six to seven days each week.

Besides Hess, other officers of the new local union are William Frauenholz, vice-president; Carroll Heacock, secretary, and George Zimmerman, treasurer.

Leo Kinsinger Killed Near Wellman, Iowa

Car Collides With Oil Truck Driven By Kalona Man

Leo Kinsinger of Wellman died at 5:55 p. m. yesterday in Mercy hospital from injuries which resulted from an auto-truck collision six miles northeast of Wellman Wednesday.

His injury was said to have been a fracture at the base of the skull.

The car which he was driving had hit an oil truck driven by Morris Swartzendruber of Kalona. Swartzendruber was not injured, and his truck, which rolled over, did not catch fire.

Kinsinger's body was taken to the Bidwell funeral home in Wellman last night.

Boy Scouts Give Play At Masonic Club

Boy Scout week was featured at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Masonic service club yesterday noon as seven local scouts and six university students presented a play entitled "Scouting Versus Pioneering."

The play was originally broadcast over station WSUI to initiate the local observance of Boy Scout week. The original sound effects were used.

The scouts taking part included Ray Hudachek, Robert Hein, Donald Morgan, Fred Goss, Clarence Conklin, Donald Walter and Wayne Mahana.

The following students took part in the production: Bob Smylie, U of Columbus Junction; Fred Keller, A3 of Grand Haven, Mich.; Marold Glaspey, A3 of Hills; Anita Pollett, A3 of Janesboro, Ark.; Marjorie Lester, G of Lewiston, Idaho, and Gordon Combs.

Berrong explained the "modified closed shop" clause of the contract to mean that new employes not in the union could be hired by the company.
