Russians Make One of Worst Raids of War

At Least Fifty Killed As Reds Bomb Air-Raid Shelters, Hospitals

-FROM HELSINKI-

By MAX HANSELSON HELSINKI, March 6 (Wednesday) (AP)—At least 50 persons were killed and scores wounded in a small south central Finnish town yesterday when Russian planes executed one of their worst bombing raids of the war.

Five direct hits were scored on a hospital, and one bomb dropped on an air-raid shelter. The raiders, diving out of the clouds to 1,400 or 1,700 feet, swept over in two flights 50 minutes apart.

Bomb Near Hospital Fifteen of the bombs struck in the vicinity of a military hospital and one big explosive missile went directly down the stairway from the top of the four-story building to the bottom.

Twenty-five persons, nearly all of them women, were killed when a bomb hit the top of the air raid shelter. Two hundred bombs, all effective, were dropped in the raid by 32 planes just after a party of five foreign newspaper correspondents and photographers arrived in the town.

Finns Still Holding The attack, a sample of the air warfare which Russia is pressing home, came as the Finns with their own air force had bombed and machine-gunned red army detachments attempting to cross ice-crusted Viipuri bay. The Finns said they still were holding the Russians at the outskirts of that battered port.

Some Russian troops were drowned and several tanks sunk in huge fissures of the ice of Viipuri bay, opened up when bombs and artillery fired on the attackers coming west in an attempt to encircle the city, unofficial Finnish reports said.

The Finnish high command said fighting still was in progress among the rugged inlets at the mouth of the bay, and the Finnish flag still waved from Viipuri's historic castle.

Chicago Policy Heads Indicted

3 Negro Brothers Accused of Evading Income Tax Laws

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—The policy wheel stopped on an unlucky number today for the three affluent Jones brothers of Chicago's Harlem today when the government charged them with evading more than $1,000,000 in income taxes.

The indictments, first in the policy field during the current investigation of incomes of alleged Chicago gambling kingpins, also accused Thomas R. Gilson, a lawyer and former federal deputy collector of internal revenue, with aiding and abetting the Joneses in the alleged evasion.

Several hours later William R. Johnson, allegedly one of the top men in Chicago's gambling syndicate, surrendered at the federal building, was fingerprinted and posted $50,000 surety bond on an indictment returned Friday charging he owed the government $2,232,497 in income taxes, penalties and interest. He made no statement.

Government agents said the three Negro brothers, Edward P. Jones, McKissack McKenry Jones and George P. Jones, came from Mississippi 20 years ago, worked as railroad dining car waiters and then entered the policy game, profits of which rapidly pushed them up to a plane of "lavish living."

Edward, at least, frequently traveled to France where he would rent a villa at Cannes for the season, they related.

Sam Karchomsky Receives First Prize For Hawkeye Snapshot

Prize winners in the 1941 gold-an anniversary Hawkeye's photography contest were announced today by Editor Martha Lois Koch, A3 of Evansville, Ind. The winners: First: Sam Karchomsky, A3 of Council Bluffs. Second: R. A. Edberg, E2 of Fargo, N. D. Third: Walter F. Adrian, A2 of Iowa City.

Honorable mention: Pat Sleezer, A3 of Freeport, Ill.; Ruth Subotnik, A4 of Cedar Rapids; Verdun Daste, G of New Orleans, La., and R. A. Edberg.

Prizes were $2.50 for first prize, $2 for second, $1.50 for third and $1 for each honorable mention. Winners in the contest, which ended March 1, were selected by two prominent university persons: Lee Cochran, director of the visual education division of the university, and Shirley Briggs, graduate student in the graphic and plastic arts department.

The prize winning pictures were declared most typical of Iowa student life. Karchomsky's prize winner finds an enthusiastic Iowa football fan, a resident of the Quad, pasting a newspaper banner of the score of the Iowa-Minnesota game at the end of a long string of banners of Iowa's gridiron victories.

Edberg's winner, snapped at an early game during the season, uses as its center of attraction the leopard-head adornment around the neck of one of Iowa's Scottish highlanders.

Putting Practice Adrian's winning photograph finds Paul Brown, L2 of Bloomfield, engaging in a bit of putting practice in his room, preparatory to rounds of spring golf.

More than 100 photographs, many of which will appear in the golden anniversary Hawkeye in May, were submitted in the competition. Jo McNeill, A1 of Monticello, was chairman of the contest.

Fire Sweeps Airport Hangar In New York

Million-Dollar Blaze Costs LaGuardia Field $1,250,000 Damages

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—A million-dollar fire late today swept an incompletely block-long hangar at LaGuardia field, the city's new $40,000,000 municipal airport.

The hangar, valued at $1,250,000, was under lease to Transcontinental and Western Air and was to have been put in operation late this month. It was the center one of a bank of three.

Early tonight, while red-hot steel slabs from the roof and sides of the vast sprawling building were crashing heavily to earth in thin showers of sparks it appeared that the initial peril to the two adjoining hangars, of similar size and cost, had been averted.

Among other officials at hand was Mayor LaGuardia, who led the long campaign for the construction of the great airport, which was built by WPA labor and is near the New York world's fair grounds, at North Beach, Queens.

While an official statement as to the cause of the fire awaited investigation, William H. Peters, a WPA laborer, said it had sprung up as a "small blaze" in a paint locker. Police Inspector John La Garrenne said it appeared accidental.

No airplanes were inside. The blaze at its height—accompanied by boiling black smoke from burning tar which obscured much of the immediate area—leaped up 100 feet, showing dull red at great distances through the late afternoon murk.

Senator Tobey Accuses F.D.R. Of 'Poor Taste'

Believes President 'Obtruding Himself' In Legislative Matter

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Accused by President Roosevelt of making a "political" row about 1940 census questions, Senator Tobey (R-NH) struck back tonight with a charge that the president was displaying "poor taste" by "obtruding himself" into a legislative matter.

Tobey is leading the fight to delete questions about personal income from the census on the ground they are an invasion of privacy. Asked about this at his press conference today, the president said: "The whole thing is a political move. Everybody accredited to congress knows that is the sole motive."

He said he wondered whether any newspaperman present had any statistical information he wanted to hide from the government. The chief executive quickly added that he had nothing to hide and believed none of the newspapermen had.

One reporter asked about the census question "Have you ever been divorced?" Mr. Roosevelt said such information need not be supplied neighbors but probably was valuable to the census bureau in recording the curve of marriage and divorce. The president said nobody cares a rap who the individuals are.

Tobey's statement, issued later, pointed out that his resolution for the deletion of the question was pending before a senate committee and added:

"It is another example of the executive obtruding himself in a purely legislative matter."

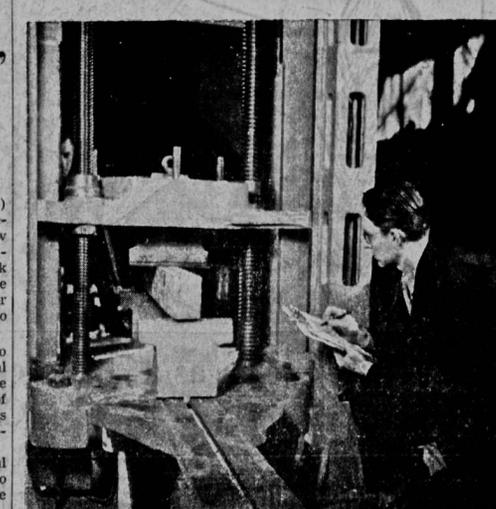

First Censure Of War Sought In Parliament

LONDON, March 6 (Wednesday) (AP)—Great Britain's new restrictions on Palestine's Jews today precipitated a demand from the labor opposition in the house of commons for a vote of censure against the government—the first of the war.

Debate later today on drastic restrictions promulgated on the sale of land by Arabs to Jews threatened to cut the government majority to an abnormally small figure. It was recalled that the government margin was only 88 votes last May 17 in favor of adoption of a white paper which declared it was not part of British policy that "Palestine should become a Jewish state."

The vote of censure will be moved by Laborite Philip Noel-Baker when he opens the debate on the new land restrictions in commons this afternoon. He will ask the house to vote that the government acted without authority of the League of Nations and that the regulations discriminate unjustly against one section of the Holy Land's inhabitants (the Jews).

'Highlights of Iowa' Scene

This "still" shot taken in the college of engineering's testing laboratory is but one of the many interesting branches of engineering work depicted in the new campus film, "Highlights of Iowa," which will have its premiere campus showing tomorrow night in Macbride auditorium at 7:30. A second showing was announced last night for 8:45 tomorrow night, immediately following the initial production. This second showing was made necessary by the great interest shown in the film after the supply of free tickets for the 7:30 showing had been given out.

Goodwin To Replace Dowell in Congress

'Evil Old Labor Baiter' Wins Election By 10,000-Vote

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—While senate sponsors of anti-lynching legislation protested that he was hurting their cause, Benjamin Davis, Negro communist, called Vice-President Garner an "evil old labor baiter" today and accused him of agreeing with President Roosevelt to "scuttle" the anti-lynch bill.

Davis, who identified himself as an associate editor of The Daily Worker, communist newspaper, testified at a tumultuous hearing before a senate judiciary subcommittee considering an anti-lynching bill already passed by the house. The measure would provide penalties for counties and county officials in event of a lynching.

The Negro's remarks about the president and vice-president, and his reference to southern members of congress as "stooges for the landlords and mill-owners who degrade white womanhood by refusing to pay them a living wage," were stricken from the hearing record by Chairman Van Nuys (D-Ind.). Van Nuys, himself a sponsor of anti-lynching legislation, warned the witness repeatedly against referring to members of congress.

Serves Until Jan. 3; Declares He Will Not Run for Re-Election

DES MOINES, March 5 (AP)—Henry Wallace's home district sent Robert K. Goodwin, a young republican, to congress today in a corn belt test-tube special election that gave the G. O. P. candidate 60 per cent of the vote. Goodwin won by a margin of more than 10,000 votes over his new deal opponent, Byron G. Allen of Des Moines. Two hundred twelve returns from 218 precincts showed: Robert K. Goodwin (R) 29,248 Byron G. Allen (D) 18,770 W. W. Klein (Ind) 405

The district normally is republican. Goodwin will fill the vacancy created by the death Feb. 4 of Representative C. C. Dowell, Des Moines republican.

Only once in history, in the 1934 election, has a democrat been able to break through the republican sixth district congressional monopoly.

Goodwin, 35, mayor of Redfield, Ia., operator of a 280-acre farm and part owner of a brick and tile manufacturing business, has announced he will not run again in the spring primaries. He thus will serve only until next Jan. 3 when the winner in next fall's general election takes over.

Second Movie Will Follow 7:30 Premiere

Need No Tickets For 8:45 Show, Says Visual Supervisor

A second showing of "Highlights of Iowa," to be at 8:45 p.m. tomorrow following the premier showing at 7:30 in Macbride auditorium, was announced last night by Lee Cochran, supervisor of the visual instruction department. The additional showing was scheduled when it was found all tickets for the first showing were gone and there was still an unusual demand for admission tickets.

No tickets will be required for the 8:45 show, Cochran said. However, tickets must be presented for the 7:30 production.

A few tickets are still available this morning at some of the distribution places. These include Iowa Union desk, the extension division offices in East hall, rooms C-105A and C-5, the alumni office in Old Capitol, the Daily Iowan offices in the basement of East hall, Hillcrest, Quadrangle, Currier hall, Eastlawn, Westlawn and Law Commons offices. No charge is made for these tickets.

"Highlights of Iowa," an all color film of campus scenes with every college and school of the University of Iowa represented by typical shots, was produced by the local visual instruction department.

Outside scenes were photographed last fall and inside scenes were taken during January. During February the producers edited, titled and prepared the film for its initial showing tomorrow night.

About 45 minutes is required to show the entire film of four reels. Tomorrow night's showing is sponsored by the extension division and The Daily Iowan.

Pencil Shortage For Censors Scores Officials

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—A sudden shortage of blue pencils for censors threatened to hold up the war tonight. Officials of the British press and censorship bureau vainly combed stores for new supplies.

F. D. R. Still Maintains Silence Over Third Term Question

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt adhered to his policy of strict public silence on the third term question today despite the heaviest barrage of press conference in more than a year.

He dismissed most queries with the statement that he knew nothing about this or that development because he had just returned from a 17-day trip to the Panama canal.

The president declared he had not read an article by Ernest Lindley, columnist, which said the chief executive had told an un-

Announce War Loan As Navy Tightens Economic Blockade

-FROM LONDON-

By DREW MIDDLETON LONDON, March 5 (AP)—Britain today seized five Italian ships, at least two of them laden with German coal, in emphatic answer to a sharp Italian protest and stepped up other phases of her economic warfare against Germany by announcing a $1,200,000 war loan and launching a determined campaign to increase her own exports.

Despite Italy's pointed warning of a severe strain on political and economic relations between the two powers by the newly enforced coal blockade, the Italian ships were escorted into the contraband control base off Deal, southeastern England, while a search was under way for other coal-bearing ships which slipped out of Rotterdam.

In all, 12 Italian ships have left Rotterdam in the last two days and four more are loading. They were taking on their cargoes in the Netherlands port when the British seizure order went into effect March 1.

Today's move to further strangle German exports were accompanied by chancellor of the exchequer Sir John Simon's announcement that lists for the new war loan would open March 12 and a government white paper promising efforts to obtain the "greatest volume of export trade possible" to bolster England's financial and economic defenses.

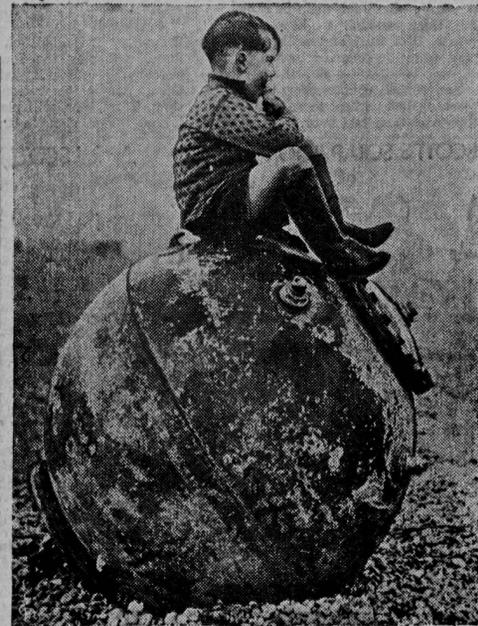

The loan is to be for 15 to 18 years at three percent and will be issued at par, it will be redeemable at par on Oct. 15, 1959, and the treasury may redeem the issue in whole or in part any time after Oct. 15, 1955.

Subscriptions Limited Ten percent of all subscriptions are payable upon application and the balance on April 15, 1940. Subscriptions are to be limited between 10 pounds and 1,000 pounds ($40 and $4,000) a person.

The white paper, presented to the house by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, president of the board of trade, indicated that the United States and South American markets were considered fields to be developed.

It explained the work of the recently organized export council and hinted that monster publicity and propaganda campaigns soon would be started to make "made in Great Britain" better known.

RESERVED SEAT—ON A MINE

Apparently the rising generation in England doesn't scare easily. For witness this little chap squatting comfortably atop a marine mine that could be potent enough to sink a ship. The mine, washed ashore, is harmless now for the detonator has been removed.

Sherwood Eddy Advocates a Federated Europe

By IRENE SUTTON Dr. Sherwood Eddy, internationally known writer and lecturer, suggested a federated Europe, with America as an unbiased mediator, as the basis for a just peace plan in last night's forum in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. "I do not anticipate a complete victory on either side, nor a dictated peace, but rather a 'just' peace to help a prostrate Europe," explained Dr. Eddy. Such a plan must be evolved by establishing a regional organization of European nations in the interests of a cooperative world peace, according to Dr. Eddy.

The United States must "put her own house in order first" before she begins to outline peace plans for Europe, stated Dr. Eddy. In order to do this, America must set up a socialized planned economy to relieve the suffering of the poor and unemployed within her own boundaries. Only then will she be ready to present practical plans for a post war peace.

Dr. Eddy praised the peace techniques being carried out by the United States today. "I am glad that Sumner Welles has been sent over to Europe; now it is possible to learn the terms of each of the belligerents," contended Dr. Eddy. "I believe this plan backed by President Roosevelt is fundamentally sound and does not intend to promote any selfish interests of the United States," further stated Dr. Eddy.

Dr. Eddy pointed out that Great Britain fears that a "Wall-Street Peace" will be imposed by the United States upon the war torn nations. To combat this conception, America will have to make perfectly clear her reasons for proposing peace plans, and act as a nation interested in the welfare of the peoples of the world. A panel composed of seven students of the University of Iowa continued the discussion at the conclusion of Dr. Eddy's lecture. A peace plan based on a federated Europe versus one formed with Germany as a dominating power provided a theme for the panel discussion. George Willoughby, graduate of Des Moines, favored a plan of a federated Europe founded on the ground that the countries have many things in common, such as cultural background, economic and social institutions. He stated that these common interests could (See EDDY, Page 8)

Really, Mom And Dad, It Can't Be Helped!

Scene: Most any library on the Iowa campus. Setting: any table within most any library. One girl is writing earnestly. The other girl is studying her French.

An observer peering over the first girl's shoulder would find her writing the following:

Dear Mom and Dad, I know I write home to you often for money, but sometimes I just can't help it! For instance today! I am broke-but I could get along without a cent for just spending money. It's my HOSE that I'm worried about.

Only last Saturday I purchased two brand new pairs, but even if I try to be careful, in the course of deep concentration I move my feet about—and well, I snag my stockings and then they run. No earthly good for parties then!

For instance, yesterday I was studying and I started to get up from the table and caught my eye on the rough edges of the awkward side board on the base of the table.

Today I caught the second pair on a splintery chair. There seems to be no justice! But, Dad and Mom, I can't go to the house dance if I don't have any money with which to buy a new pair of hose. Believe me, this is the truth!

Lovingly, "Mary"

Trampling Out The Vintage

"The Grapes of Wrath" made the plight of the migrant workers vivid to the American public. This blight on American civilization does not occur only in California, but there is also a movement on the Atlantic coast of migratory farm workers.

Some 30,000 families pick peaches in Georgia, strawberries, potatoes and vegetables in the Carolinas, apples in Virginia, truck stuff in Maryland and Delaware, cranberries in New Jersey bogs. Swelling this number are the part-time industrial workers from cities en route.

But industry has been going at a faster tempo, inventing new machines that take the place of men. The increased use of machinery in plants and farms has displaced many of the workers. Then, too, it is said, the workers are thoroughly exploited by labor bosses and padrones.

True to the "Joan family" picture, these migrants on the Atlantic coast live in wretched conditions in jalousies, roadside camps and rudely erected hovels. Children get no schooling and are lucky to get scanty care. Health and sanitation—they never heard of these things.

Both armies of job-hungry workers are bad in themselves and in the areas they affect. No state or community can afford to allow these groups to linger long in their confines. Federal aid is not available because of their constant roving.

But these people must be settled—must be put to work in conditions that are livable and healthful. Armies of hungry people on both coasts can become a menace to law and order. When these people must live off the land like scavenging rats, then it is apparent that the federal government must step in to provide work for the victims of the temporary mal-adjustments of the American system.

British Quit Smoking U. S. Tobacco, And—

This war is getting rough on the American tobacco grower. The English are not buying any more. The situation is ironic. It was the British and French who made the use of tobacco during the World War and now, with a second general European war, the same countries are stopping the importation of the crop that has made agricultural history in the southeast in the past 20 years.

The cash and carry provisions of the neutrality act, made by the United States, prohibit the extending of credit. So the British, with a limited amount of cash, had to cut down on something—it was tobacco that got the axe.

So the AAA has another problem to figure out. What to do with the surplus that used to be sold to England?

War Profits Collapse

War is not as profitable this season as had been anticipated. Which ought to be good news to most of us who usually pay for such profits.

Food costs, commodity market statisticians say, have dropped rapidly since last September when the United States made a wild rush to get as much sugar as possible and the American pocket-book took a beating.

The price of pork chops is the lowest in seven years and prices are about on the five year level that has prevailed since 1936. There is only one drawback to this picture, prices are following almost the same curve as they did in 1915, two years before America entered the World war.

When Does Spring Really Come?

NO MATTER WHAT the weatherman says, spring has come. No, it isn't that someone has seen the first robin. Such signs are for the amateur prognosticators.

But the real harbinger of spring—the one upon which any genuine professional forecaster will stake his reputation—has put in its appearance.

The marbles are out! It was muddy and wet, and maybe even just a wee bit chilly, but there they were. Steeles and glassies, large and small, with new and then a precious agate—they were all there in the sheltered lee of an understanding building that spread its protection against the north wind.

It was mostly little boys that were playing—little fellows that had tasted only last season of the indescribable joy of knuckling down on a big dirt ring. They were anxious to get their pet shooter warmed up, to prove their superiority at lagging for a line or marble-filled hole.

No matter what the weather is today, spring is here because—Friday after school an old building looked down and saw a youngster say, "What do you use that old steele for, anyway?"

Another County Heard From

Of all things! The P. T. recently started agitation to "cop" that 6 million dollar appropriation for building a government dam in the Iowa river at Coralville and turn the money instead over to restoration and preservation of Storm Lake.

This movement on our part was just going good when the Manson Journal horned in, demanding half of it to complete the dredging of Twin Lakes.

Now comes the Humboldt Republican asking "why not spend some of this cash on the west fork of the Des Moines river west and northwest of Humboldt?"

Editor Jaqua points out that there are tracts near Humboldt that could be bought cheaply and turned into a state park, that the mill dam, Lake Nokomis, could be enlarged, numerous bayous improved, stumps removed, etc., etc.

"Let's all get in on this," he suggests. Just a moment, boys; We saw this 6 million dollars first! If you fellows want some government money, find some other project and let Storm Lake handle this Coralville proposition!—The Storm Lake Pilot-Tribune.

The Coralville Dam

In the public hearing at Iowa City on the proposed 6 million dollar dam project at Coralville, the government engineer, Col. Gross, tried hard to show that such a dam would benefit citizens of Iowa and Johnson counties. But flood control in the immediate vicinity of the dam is not the real purpose of the undertaking. The object of the dam is to hold back the water from the Iowa river and its tributaries during flood seasons until the Mississippi has absorbed the waters from the Ohio and other rivers, farther south. By building a series of dams, the government engineers believe disastrous flood damage in the lower Mississippi regions can be prevented. Local benefit is merely incidental to the larger program. Whether a government 45 million in debt and getting deeper in the debt mire every minute can afford to indulge this luxury is another matter.—The Eagle Grove Eagle.

Mayor LaGuardia as a Presidential Possibility Is an IM-Possibility, Declares Charles Stewart

MAYOR FIORELLO H. LA GUARDIA of New York didn't need to announce, as he did the other day, that he isn't a candidate for a presidential nomination.

As a "liberal" is much too weak. "Radical" is the word. At least he's a radical in theory. The fact that he served on Capitol Hill as a Socialist speaks for itself.

But Fiorello never made his radicalism ridiculous, as a lot of extreme "leftists" do. The reason undoubtedly is that he has tip-top ability and good taste and a sense of humor. He didn't even say that he isn't a presidential candidate in a way to imply that he BELIEVES he is. He dismissed the notion as a joke.

Not that he hasn't been a first-class mayor. It generally is agreed that he's been a dandy. He was a fine congressman, too, from the standpoint of folk of a pretty radical tendency. He's a bang-up campaigner. He's a dynamic chap. He knows the country also. He was born in Arizona. He isn't the kind of New Yorker who never heard of anything west of Manhattan island.

He served in congress as a Republican and as a Socialist. He's been mayor as a Fusionist and an American Labor Partyite. He never officially decorated himself with the Democratic label, but he's a New Dealer—if that makes him a Democrat. An ex-Republican or two (such as Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Wallace) have been suggested as Democratic possibilities, but Wallace's record wouldn't be a circumstance in comparison with Fiorello's variations.

But what party would nominate him? He served in congress as a Republican and as a Socialist. He's been mayor as a Fusionist and an American Labor Partyite. He never officially decorated himself with the Democratic label, but he's a New Dealer—if that makes him a Democrat. An ex-Republican or two (such as Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Wallace) have been suggested as Democratic possibilities, but Wallace's record wouldn't be a circumstance in comparison with Fiorello's variations.

As mayor of New York, while still a radical, he's been no second edition of Stalin or Hitler or Mussolini. On the contrary, he's said that Hitler ought to be put in a "chamber of horrors." And it made Adolf so sore that he protested to the state department about it. That was wonderful advertising for Fiorello.

An Impossibility

All the same, as a presidential possibility, he's an IM-possibility. Imagine an ex-Socialist running for the presidency of the United States! He'd be a super-interesting candidate, to be sure. And if he ever got into the White House—oh, my!

But, "Phooey!"—as Fiorello himself has remarked of all the Republican possibilities who have been mentioned. As a radical, he can't stomach any of THEM. He likewise recognizes that he's too close to his Italian ancestry (only one degree removed) to figure presidentially in this country. And his first name, Fiorello ("Little Flower"), he has admitted to me, would be a fatal handicap. It isn't so much dwell on now, but it would be dug up, with devastating results, he once assured me, in the event of a major campaign.

Fiorello was a rip-snorting aviator during the World war. "I never," he told me, while he was a member of congress, "went up in a plane that I wasn't scared to death. I guess I ain't much of a hero."

Much Too Weak

To refer to Mayor LaGuardia as a "liberal" is much too weak. "Radical" is the word. At least he's a radical in theory. The fact that he served on Capitol Hill as a Socialist speaks for itself.

But Fiorello never made his radicalism ridiculous, as a lot of extreme "leftists" do. The reason undoubtedly is that he has tip-top ability and good taste and a sense of humor. He didn't even say that he isn't a presidential candidate in a way to imply that he BELIEVES he is. He dismissed the notion as a joke.

Not that he hasn't been a first-class mayor. It generally is agreed that he's been a dandy. He was a fine congressman, too, from the standpoint of folk of a pretty radical tendency. An Unsung Hero— Why Doesn't Some Studio Film Story Of O. O. McIntyre?

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—O. O. McIntyre has been dead two years, and as yet no motion picture company has filmed the story of his life. In an era when dead heroes and slain gangsters are glorified almost before their remains are decently composed, this omission is not easy to understand.

McIntyre's career had more elements of real drama, and bore the marks of more personal triumphs and private griefs, than an anthology of Horatio Alger heroes. He was a country boy who made good in the big city.

All his life he suffered from an inferiority complex. He grew into a nervous, jerky neurotic who hated daylight and was afraid of being poisoned. And when fame brought him riches he withdrew into a world shared only by his wife, his dogs, and a few friends.

Whatever your opinion of McIntyre may have been, this much is certain: in point of readers, no other columnist ever came close to him. And when he died he was mourned by millions in every key city and in all the hundreds of lost hamlets and country court-houses from coast to coast.

He came up from the tall corn to a princely income and an apartment on Park Avenue. The very last line he ever wrote ended with the word "success." But even more important, I imagine, were his last words addressed to his wife, the only woman he ever loved. "Won't you please turn this way," he said. "I like to look at your face."

I seem to be making frequent mention of Oscar Levant these days, but then that just shows how much you get talked about when you do important things. A year or so ago Levant's friends were worried because he didn't seem to be getting anywhere. They knew he was an unusual young man, perhaps a genius.

So they talked it over and decided that Oscar should write a daily column about popular music, since popular music touches the lives in one way or another of nine out of every ten persons in this country. They knew he was fitted for such a task, because Levant knows everybody who writes successful music. But nobody wanted Oscar as a columnist, although he is a witty talker and a very funny writer.

This, remember, was little more than a year ago. Now, with his book, his music, and his position as an intellectual expert on the Information Please show, almost any metropolitan newspaper would prize his by-line at the head of a column. But now Oscar hasn't the time. The trouble with days, he says, is that they never have more than 24 hours.

Katherine Hepburn, she of the long gangling legs and the high cheek bones, is a changed young woman. Maybe it is because she is tired of having broiled reporter on toast every morning. A few years ago she was an unpredictable young hellion who loped across fields and dove through kitchen windows to escape interviews.

Today she is a serious and determined young actress who is making good on Broadway. Already her play, "Philadelphia Story," is in its 13th month, with the end nowhere in sight. She can't yet claim parity with the Fontannes and Cornells, but a few more seasons such as this one and she'll be a real star.

Front-line petroleum workers wear "invisible gloves" which come, like other magic, out of a bottle. They are in the form of a cream which is liquid enough to penetrate the pores of the skin, but thick enough to keep out grease, dirt, dust and acids, and may easily be removed by water.

The N.Y.A. college program is reaching 18.8 percent more youths this year than last year.

"The Bride Waltz" is the title of the drama presentation to be heard tonight over the Hollywood Playhouse on the NBC-Red network at 7 o'clock. Taking parts are Charles Boyer and Frances Robinson.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- A Bad Fifth
- Nothing Wrong
- Jorges Is O. K.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 5 (AP) — There is a fairly general idea that the New York Giants are an "if" club this year, with some of the more skeptical bunching all the little "ifs" together under one big if to the effect that "if that's a winning ball club I'm the Fourth of July."

A Bad Fifth
The opinion is based on memory of the 1939 season, when Bill Terry's club suffered a slow leak and wound up a badly deflated fifth. That was a real "if" club. If Mr. Terry had never seen it he would be much happier. Nothing went right, and the fans can't see how it could change into a winner on such short notice.

But Mr. Terry can, and he can almost make a believer of you, although deep down you know he is relying heavily on a couple of patched up pitchers, two erstwhile super-stars, but at this date liable to fall apart at the seams at any time, and also that he has three uncertain infield spots dancing before his eyes.

Just tunc in a minute on the Terry hour.
"Frankly," he says, "I'd rather have this club than the one I started with last year — knowing what I do now. It's a different type of club, younger, and with more muscle and eager to improve. Why, I worked them about four hours today, and there wasn't a squawk."

Nothing Wrong
"There's nothing wrong with our pitching staff. It's a good staff. Hubbell and Schumacher are like a couple of kids out there. Vandenberg is looking good. Castleman is working hard, and Gumbert and Melton are okay. Roy Joiner is going to be a big help. He's a southpaw, but can hit you in the eye with the ball, and he's always ready. He'll stink. And Bob Carpenter is looking good."

"Babe Young will be our first baseman. If Zeke Bonura signs I'll carry him, but he doesn't figure in my plans. Young is a great hitter, a power hitter. He's a little clumsy catching the ball, but he catches it, and he'll improve."

Soft music there, building up to the climax of the program. Mr. Terry's voice cracked with enthusiasm as he spoke of Mickey Witke, the second baseman from Newark.

"There's a ball player," he enthused. "You only have to look at him two minutes to know that. He'll make our double play combination. He handles himself something like Gehring out there. And he's a 150 — game player. He's a good hitter, more on the singles order."

Jorges Is O. K.
"Jorges will take care of short, and it looks like young Glen Stewart, from Jersey City, at third, although Whitehead is trying for the job and looks good. Stewart is a fair hitter, but a fine fielder with a good arm. His only fault appears to be on the bases. He gets down to first fast enough, but seems to have trouble getting one foot across over the other on the turns."

"Our outfield, with Ott, Moore and Demaree, and Dickshot also looks good, appears set, and Ott and Moore should have better seasons. Danning, of course, will handle the catching."
"Our infield will be much better, and we'll probably have more hitting power."
"I don't see why we can't click," he ventured thoughtfully, "but if we don't, we'll just have to start building again."

The Colonel is so obviously sincere in his hopes it's difficult to offer any rebuttal, but conceding the veterans have a good year, the whole future simmers down to the ability of three rookies, infielders to come through.
And it's usually a fairly long odds bet as to whether even one will make the grade in any given year.

Betty Jameson Paces Golfers

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 5 (AP) — Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, the national champion, carded a 74 today to win qualifying honors in the annual Florida East Coast Women's golf tournament.

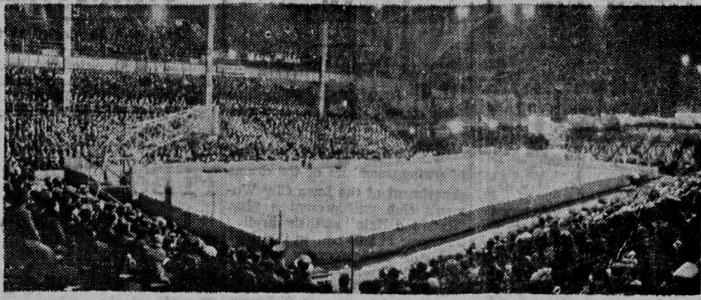

Miss Jameson's 39-35 gave her a two-stroke margin over Patty Berg of Minneapolis and Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., who tied for third with 77s.

Second place went to Clara Callender of Long Beach, Cal., who posted 38-37-75.

A score of 91 or better was necessary to qualify for one of the 16 championship flight places.

Mahr Picks Mason City, Creston, Spencer To Win Way to High School Cage Finals

(Editor's Note: With the state high school basketball finals scheduled for Iowa fieldhouse March 14, 15 and 16, Iowa Citizens are interested in the probable participants. Here, Jake Mahr has picked the 16 teams he feels, on the basis of records, have the best chance of coming through the district meets this week.)

By JAKE MAHR

District 1
Class A at Fairfield—Centerville is the choice here, with many possibilities in Ft. Madison and the Ottumwa Bulldogs. Ottumwa should be the runnerup.

Class B at Humeston — Even bet on Kalona, Melrose, and Montrose. I'll take Melrose on a hunch, with Montrose pushing them to the limit.

District 2
Class A at Atlantic — Creston, 1939 champions, should get by providing they can overcome the Abraham Lincoln, Council Bluffs jinx. The Lynx has beaten them the last two years in regular season play. Lorimer should come in as the runnerup.

Class B at Diagonal—A dogfight between Diagonal and unbeaten Wota. Wota, because of its brilliant record.

District 3
Class A at Muscatine — Between three teams, Roosevelt, Cedar Rapids, Davenport, and Muscatine. Davenport is the choice with the Muskies the runnerup. Roosevelt may surprise everyone and win.

Class B at Clarence—The winner of the Greeley-Keystone battle should get the tourney. Keystone on a shivering vote with Andrew coming in second. Tiffin might upset the dope sheet.

District 4
Class A at Ames—The team that is hot will win this one. Ames, because of its victory over Roosevelt, Des Moines, Pella and Marshalltown fighting it out for the runnerup spot. Pella could be the winner here.

Class B at Nevada—Minnburn—powerful quintet with Garwin, the runnerup.

District 5
Class A at Mapleton — Central Sioux City the winner with Holstein's unbeaten team second. Manning may be the giant-killer again.

Class B at Ute—Ute's classy outfit all the way with Blencoe finishing second.

District 6
Class A at New Hampton—A battle between West Waterloo and Waverly. West Waterloo, because of its tougher schedule. Oelwein should be the runnerup.

Class B at McGregor — McGregor to average a one-point loss to Clermont, by winning top honors here. Dike might be the surprise team.

District 7
Class A at Mason City—The top team of the state will have a tough hurdle in the first round game with Webster City. The Mohawks barely beat them in their only meeting of the year 24-22. Mason City to stretch its string of 28 games in a row in entering the state tournament. The Mohawks are my choice to succeed Creston as the 1940 winner, providing they play the basketball they've played so far. Ft. Dodge to be the runner-up.

Class B at Luverne — Livermore on past records, with Luverne the runnerup. Kensett, the dark horse of this tourney.

District 8
Class A at Spirit Lake—Spencer, the losers of only one game during the season to take the top honors, with Albert City giving them a battle.

Class B at Orange City — A real fight here with three teams after the honors, Hinton, Peterson and Rembrandt. Hinton, by a nose over Rembrandt.

Frosh Thinclads Drop Meet To Michigan Trackmen, 57-47

Six Wrestlers Selected For Big Ten Meet

The University of Iowa will be represented at the Big Ten conference wrestling meet at Lafayette, Indiana, this week end by a squad of six men. The only weight divisions that the Iowa team will not challenge are in the 136 and the 145 pound classes.

The boys who will vie against the best wrestlers that the Big Ten can offer are Bill Sherman, 121 pounds; Loy Julius, 128 pounds; Capt. Clarence Kemp, 155 pounds; Ralph Geppert, 165 pounds; Paul Whitmore, 175 pounds, and Art Johnson, in the heavyweight division.

So far this year it has been mostly the work of Paul Whitmore that has brought a smile of gratitude to the countenance of Coach Mike Howard. Paul is the leading point getter of the Iowa team, having amassed a total of 21 points by winning five out of six bouts. If anyone on the Iowa wrestling team is apt to place in the Big Ten meet it is Whitmore.

Capt. Clarence Kemp is second in the point getting department as the records show that he has totaled 19 points in six dual meets.

Bill Sherman has had an in and out season as far as wins and losses are concerned but the diminutive grappler has a lot of fight and likes it best when the going is toughest.

Art Johnson may surprise a lot of people by his performance in the Big Ten meet. He has proved that he can use his strength and mat technique to a good advantage and he should show up well against better than average competition.

Sig Eps Win 3 Game Series

Sigma Phi Epsilon topped the fraternity volleyball competition last night by downing Delta Chi by winning two out of three games. The Sig Eps took the first game by a 15-6 margin, but Delta Chi came back in the second till to win, 15-11. The third and deciding game went to Sigma Phi Epsilon, 15-12, after the lead had changed hands many times.

Phi Kappa Psi, after dropping the opening game to Sigma Nu, 15-2, came back strong in the next two games to win the encounter. The Phi Psi's took the second game by a 15-10 score, and the third, 15-8.

6 Teams Vie For Intramural Basketball Title

The basketball championship intramural round got under way last night as six teams played for the all-university title.

Upper D, champions of the Quadrangle, downed the Delta Upsilon class B team 31-24. Upper D took an early lead at the end of the period with a 9-4 margin. The victors were never headed throughout the entire game.

Schroeder led the winners attack with eight points and Overholt aided the winners with the seven points. Pine of the D.U.'s was high man in the game with 12 points.

The D.U. class A team defeated Hillcrest's champions by 30-22 score. The victors held a 11-6 margin over First at the end of the first period and 23-16 at the end of the second stanza.

McGrath of the Hillcrest quintet was high scorer of the game with 14 points. D. Humphrey led the winners attack with 13 points. Phi Kappa Psi eked out a 35-33 victory over Wilson. The Phi Psi's led 14-12 at the end of the first period and 30-20 at the end of the second period. The losers started to rally and came within one point of a deadlock.

Klein of the Phi Psi's shared scoring honors with Butler and Wilson as each scored 13 points.

The Southwestern section of the town league defeated Harris Hall, 19-7. Pettit was the star for the victors with 10 points.

District III of the town league won over District I by a 28-23 score. Briggs led the winners attack with eight points and Bob Otto led the District I quintet with seven points.

Wolves Take Six Events, Iowans Five

Taking six first places, a strong Michigan freshman track team won over the Hawk yearlings, 57 to 47 in a postal meet, the results of which were disclosed yesterday by Coach Ted Swenson.

Three Michigan men placing one-two-three in the half mile run all ran under 2 minutes. Ufer winning with the good time of one minute, 58.6 seconds. Purdue was second in one minute, 50 seconds and Matthews just one tenth of a second behind his team mate for the third Michigan place in this event. Ufer also won the 440-yard dash in the very fast time of 50.5 seconds.

Capt. George Vacik and Bob Wilson were double winners for the Iowa squad. Wilson led the scorers with a high of 13 points, winning the 60-yard high and low hurdles and placing second in the broad jump.

A mile relay event was added to the meet and was won by the men from Ann Arbor in 3 minutes, 25.8 seconds.

60-yard dash: Won by W. Todd (I), Clay (I), and Donahay (M), tie for first place: Time: 6.5 seconds.

440-yard dash: Won by Ufer (M); Dalsell (M), second; W. Todd (I), third: Time: 50.5 seconds.

880-yard dash: Won by Ufer (M); Purdue (M), second; Matthews (M), third: Time: 1:58.6.

One-mile run: Won by Vacik (I); Purdue (M), second; Kelso (I), third: Time: 4:36.4.

Two-mile run: Won by Vacik (I); Fuller (I), second; Lewis (I), third: Time: 10:11.9.

60-yard high hurdles: Won by Wilson (I); MacIntyre (M), second; Byerly (M), third: Time: 7.9 seconds.

60-yard low hurdles: Won by Wilson (I); Elson (M), second; MacIntyre (M), third: Time: 7.1 seconds.

Shot Put: Won by Sengal (M); Hirsch (M), second; Steele (M), third: Distance: 45 feet 2 1-4 inches.

Broad Jump: Won by Machael (I); Wilson (I), second; MacIntyre (M), third: Distance: 22 feet 3-4 inches.

Scoring Records Set During Cage Season

Hawks Finish 8th in Loop

Tom Lind, Siegel Prasse's Work Noted

From the welter of inconsistent play of the University of Iowa basketball squad, new scoring records and some brilliant individual performances emerge as brightest spots of the 1939-40 season.

The Hawkeyes won four of 12 conference games to finish eighth in the conference, an improvement over the record of last year. Two of the wins were over Illinois and Ohio State, the third and fourth place teams.

Some of the feats of the season:
1. The new Iowa all-time scoring record for a single game, 62 points against Illinois, breaking the record of 55 set in 1914. It cracked the Iowa record for a Big Ten game, 49, set in 1939.

2. The 62 points also was a high mark in the conference for the season, exceeding Illinois' 60 against Minnesota. No team has scored such a total in a league game since 1937.

3. Sophomore Vic Siegel's great play, which netted him 187 points in 21 games, the second-highest total ever made by an Iowan in one season. Siegel made 73 field goals and 43 free throws, with 19 free throws missed. He made 114 in the Big Ten, fifth high total ever reached by an Iowan, placing him seventh among conference scorers.

4. Tommy Lind's development as a star forward. He finished with 136 points in all games and 90 in the conference and either topped or shared Iowa high-point honors in five conference games as compared with Siegel's six.

5. Great defensive performances turned in by Erwin Prasse, the three-sport star. Prasse on one Saturday night held Hapaac, the league's scoring record-holder, to three field goals and on the following Monday restricted Klein of Northwestern, second place scorer, to one goal.

Iowans scored 448 points, for an average of 37 1-3 in conference play, while opponents averaged 40 3-4 on 488 points. Poor free throwing in several games kept the Hawkeyes in trouble, although in the Illinois game the 20 free throws was a season's conference record.

Propose Shift In Track Date

Shifting of the date of the state class A high school indoor track and field championships from April 13 to March 30 now is being considered by the Iowa State High School Athletic association.

Coach George Bresnahan, manager of the meet to be held in the University of Iowa field house, said that the reason for the contemplated change is a conflict with the Valley relays at West Des Moines April 13.

The class B meet definitely will occur April 6 in the field house. This is the first year that the schools have been divided into classes according to enrollment.

More than twenty class A schools already have indicated that they will enter the title affair. The university athletic department annually conducts the meet at the request of the I.H.S.A.A.

Swimmers Set for Big Ten

Hawkeyes Expected To Finish High in Loop; Michigan Rated as Favorite

The Hawkeye swimming team will leave this morning for Columbus, Ohio, where the Iowans will compete in the Big Ten conference meet Friday and Saturday. The Iowans are hoping to finish higher in the ratings than last year when they tied for fourth place with Illinois and Northwestern.

Michigan and Ohio State will furnish the tough competition for top ranking, with Northwestern and Minnesota not to be disregarded. Michigan has dominated Big Ten swimming for so long that the Wolves must be recognized as the favorites again this year. Ohio State, however, will be swimming at home, but is known to be tough in anybody's pool. The Buckeyes will be depending on such boys as Higgins, Stanhope and Patrick.

Northwestern is something of an unknown quantity as far as the Hawkeyes are concerned. The Wildcats have shown up well in dual meets this season except against Michigan who defeated the 'Cats by approximately the same score as they defeated Iowa. Powell, star diver, will probably lead the Northwestern scoring. Minnesota was trounced at Iowa earlier in the season, but some of the races were so close as to warrant some good competition from the Gophers.

Iowa has a good dual match team. It is well balanced, with scoring power in every event. In a championship meet, however, every team usually has at least one or two outstanding men, and when the whole group comes together the competition is among these stars. The good dual team, however, can make a good ranking by its consistency.

The Hawkeyes have their stars, too — Co-Capt. All Armbruster, Don Wenstrum, Russ Dotson and Carl Ahlgren have turned in consistently good performances. The medley relay team has turned in better times this season than any conference team other than Michigan.

If the Hawks perform anywhere near to their past exhibitions, they should reach the upper bracket without too much trouble. The sophomores have been improving steadily and with the help of some of the veteran stars can give anybody a good race.

The following men have been chosen to make the trip: Co-Captains Al Armbruster and Tony Bremer, Poulos, Bareisa, Dotson, Ahlgren, Karaffa, Wentstrom, Vargon, Biedrzycki, Mahoney, Gerber and Johnson.

Spring Football Practice Will Begin After State Cage Meet

Joe DiMaggio, Red Rolfe Sign Yank Contracts

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, No. 1 star of the world champion New York Yankees, accepted the club's terms today, ending the Yanks' last holdout problem.

Notification of DiMaggio's acceptance came to manager Joe McCarthy by telephone from president E. G. Barrow in New York. No announcement was made of the salary terms, but it is believed here that DiMaggio accepted the club's offer of $30,000, a $5,000 raise over his 1939 salary.

McCarthy also was told that the star outfielder would leave his home at San Francisco early tomorrow morning for the training camp here.

Earlier in the day Red Rolfe, holdout third baseman came to terms for a reported $17,000. He also plans to leave for camp tomorrow from Penacook, N. H.

TRAVELER Trade Gives Garms Long Trip

BRADENTON, Fla., March 5 (AP) — Third baseman Debs Garms pulled into town early today with his wife and 18-month old baby boy after a three-day motor trip from Texas, and learned he had been traded to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Garms took a couple of hours off for breakfast, then turned around and headed west on a 1300-mile trip to his home in Sunset, Tex., and then to San Bernardino, Cal., Pirate camp.

Basketball's scoring pace, always growing faster, can't be checked on any easier or more convincingly than in the records of top scorers during the years. The boys throw more balls at the hoop these days and hit it more regularly.

Take the two latest examples of high scoring individuals among Hawkeye players for instance. I refer, specifically to Benny Stephens of last year and Vic Siegel of this year's team. Stephens set an Iowa scoring record each year he was around and Siegel may better Stephens' best before he gets through. At least, this year's total of 189 points beats Blazing Ben's sophomore total by some 20 points. And, I don't, despite the fact that Siegel is undoubtedly one of the country's best sophomores, think he is any better than the Stephens of three years ago. Both were tops as newcomers, yet the latest edition scored more.

Back before the time of Stephens were other hot shots—they were probably as hot in their time as Stephens or Siegel, but the scoring wasn't as high, although Jack Funk holds the Iowa scoring record for a Big Ten season, aided by the fact that he was allowed to shoot all Iowa's free throws. The fact that the Hawkeyes set an Iowa scoring record for Big Ten games with 49 points last year and then set an all time Iowa record with 62 points this year is just a little more proof.

The regular basketball season over, Coach Rolf Williams will take a look at the frosh, he says. He plans to keep them working out for a couple of weeks now and also get in a little work after spring football practice. The late spring workouts will give some of the gridders a chance to drill, with Ben Trickey, Bill Stauss and a few more of the boys looked on as definite possibilities for next year's quintet.

Williams, right now is going to take in a couple of the high school meets around the state, a sort of a postman's holiday. He'll probably take a full vacation when the state tourney gets down here and see it down to the last basket.

It is reported at the field house that Dave Armbruster went up to Knoxville to a father and son banquet the other night thinking he wouldn't have to give a speech. A definite mistake. It ended up with Dave stealing the show—which is evidence that coaching is a good speaking course.

Still Pitch!
Monty Would if Third Base Vanished

PASADENA, Calif., March 5 (AP) — Monty Stratton, Chicago White Sox coach whose mound career was halted when he lost a leg in a hunting accident, still has hopes of pitching big league ball again.

Stratton is confident he could pitch winning ball, but admits he still doesn't know what would happen "if they started bunting down the third base line." Stratton wears a wooden leg.

Vice President Harry Grabiner, however, says the Texan "has a job with us as a coach and we don't expect any more from him than that."

bers have been working out with several athletic squads, with track claiming a large percentage. Thus, the gridders are expected to report in good condition with few exceptions.

Girl Scouts, Parents, Leaders Will Attend Birthday Banquet

Program Tomorrow Celebrates 28th Year Of Scout Movement

Iowa City Girl Scouts, many in new uniforms, will bring their parents to the annual birthday banquet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the river room of Iowa Union. The banquet will be a celebration of the 28th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scout movement.

Table decorations will be a complete surprise, according to an announcement made by the committee. Troop members and their parents will meet according to troops in the lounge of Iowa Union before the dinner.

Mrs. O. B. Limoseth will lead the group singing on the program. Mrs. James W. Jones, city Girl Scout commissioner, will be the guest speaker. A quartette of singers from the university college of dentistry will also be included on the program. Inquiring reporters, representatives from each of the troops, will conduct interviews with Juliette Low girls selected from different troupes.

The Juliette Low fund, which promotes international friendship between American Girl Scouts and European Girl Guides, will be contributed to by local scouts during the Penny March. This fund will be used for Polish and Finnish Girl Guide refugees and for the establishment of a camp this summer for Girl Scouts from South America, Canada and the United States.

Special Guests
Special guests for the evening will be members of the Girl Scout organization in West Branch. The Iowa City Girl Scout council; troop leaders; Marian Chassell, local director; troop members and their parents will attend the dinner.

Those on the committee in charge of the banquet include Mrs. Arthur V. O'Brien, Mrs. William J. Petersen, Mrs. F. D. Francis, Prof. Mate Giddings, Mrs. E. A. Worthley, Mrs. Kenneth Barwick and Marcella Kurtz.

Leaders are expected to report all reservations to the Girl Scout office by noon today and unsold tickets must be returned by tomorrow.

Music Group To Have Sale

Mrs. S. R. Ranshaw Chairman of Benefit For Band, Chorus

A rummage sale will be held March 23 in the community building by the Iowa City Music auxiliary. This is one of the projects to raise money to send the high school band, orchestra and chorus to the national music contest this year.

Mrs. V. W. Bales, chairman of the auxiliary, has announced the appointment of Mrs. S. R. Ranshaw as general chairman of the sale. Mrs. J. W. Willard is chairman of collecting the rummage. Mrs. W. H. Simpson, chairman of sorting and pricing the clothing; Mrs. Lloyd Howell, chairman of miscellaneous; and Mrs. F. A. Kinney, chairman of publicity.

Children in the organization will collect the rummage and take it to the community building for sale.

Music Auxiliary Meets Tonight At Junior High

Parents of music students in the Iowa City high school, who are members of the Iowa City Music auxiliary, will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Iowa City junior high school auditorium to discuss plans for sending the high school musicians to the national contests. All members are urged to attend as important issues will be decided at the meeting.

The music auxiliary each year creates a fund which finances the musicians to contests. All of the necessary funds are raised by the auxiliary through various projects. At tonight's meeting ways and means of realizing the budget this year will be discussed.

Receive Word Of Alumni Marriages

Melva M. Deal, Lynn Burnett Wed in Davenport

News has been received here of the marriages of several university alumni and former students.

Deal-Burnett
The marriage of Melva Marie Deal, daughter of Mrs. Lulu Deal of West Liberty, and Lynn Burnett, son of Mrs. Nellie Burnett, also of West Liberty, took place in the First Presbyterian church in Davenport Feb. 26. The Rev. Alfred S. Nickless officiated, and the attendants were Jane Kerr of Iowa City and the bridegroom's brother, Marion.

After the ceremony a dinner was served at Bishop's cafeteria, and the couple left on a wedding trip to Chicago.

Both young people were graduated from the West Liberty high school, after which the bride attended the university. Mr. Burnett was graduated from Brown's business college in Davenport.

The couple will live on the Burnett farm, north of West Liberty.

Henley-Reiley

Alice Irene Henley, daughter of Mrs. D. E. Henley, and John M. Reiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Reiley, all of Oskaloosa, were married Feb. 25 in the St. James Episcopal church in Oskaloosa. Father David Pierce-Jones officiated at the ceremony.

Sixty guests were entertained at a reception after the ceremony in the reception room of the church.

Mrs. Reiley was graduated from Oskaloosa high school. Mr. Reiley was graduated from Oskaloosa high school, attended William Penn college in Oskaloosa, and the university here.

Following a wedding trip to Des Moines the couple are at home in Oskaloosa.

Barr-Matteson

The marriage of Florence Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Barr of Lamont, and Orval Matteson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Matteson of Elgin, took place Feb. 14. Judge H. C. Ring of Cedar Rapids, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony in the Ring home in the presence of a few friends.

After the ceremony the guests were entertained at luncheon in the Florentine room of the Hotel Roosevelt in Cedar Rapids.

The bride is a graduate of the Lamont high school and of the university. While here she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Since then she has taught in the high school at Littleport.

Mr. Matteson was graduated from the Elgin high school and from the university. He was a member of Alpha Phi Omega, the R. O. T. C., Phi Epsilon Pi, the "T" club and Phi Epsilon Kappa.

The couple will live at Monacqua, Wis., where Mr. Matteson is an officer in the CCC camp at Crystal Lake.

Emmick-Faust

Doris Emmick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Emmick of Glidden, and Carrol Faust, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Faust of Schleswig, were married Feb. 19 in St. Peter's chapel in Carroll. The wedding was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives.

After the ceremony the wedding party drove to Glidden, where a breakfast was served in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Emmick.

The bride was graduated from the Glidden high school and since then has been working in

Four Feet and Still Growing!

Growing from three to six inches a day, this African lily is becoming quite a problem to its owners, Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Hazard, 521 Clark. Since the first of February, it has attained a height of over four feet! Mrs. Hazard kept the bulb in the basement until then and brought it out at that time in hopes it would grow enough to serve as a sizeable Easter lily. Now she is afraid they will have to build an addition on to the house by the time Easter comes. This plant, which has a maroon color, was introduced on the Cape of Good Hope in the 17th century and flourishes in that country but is uncommon here. It is a handsome greenhouse plant, hardy in the southern part of England and Ireland if protected from severe frosts. In summer, when it blooms, the central flower-stalk ends in an umbel of bright blue funnel-shaped flowers. It requires a great deal of water during the summer and is very effective on margins of lakes or running streams. It may be increased by offsets and propagated by dividing the rootstock in early spring or autumn. Mrs. Hazard is shown here examining this unusual African lily.

S. U. I. Women To Participate In Swim Meet

Seals Club Sponsors All-University Tourney Tomorrow, 4:15 P. M.

Women swimmers in the university will participate in the first section of the Intercollegiate Telegraphic swimming meet tomorrow at 4:15 p. m. in the women's pool.

Any undergraduate woman student in the university is eligible to enter the meet, sponsored by the local Seals club. The second section of the meet is arranged for a week from Thursday, March 14.

Contests include the 40 and 100 yard breast stroke, crawl and back stroke; the 80-yard relay free style, and the 60-yard medley.

Officials will be chosen from members of the club and the physical education faculty.

The committee in charge of Thursday's meet includes Lois Wescott, A3 of Hampton; Dorothy Gleystein, A3 of Sioux City; Gertrude Brin, A1 of Webster City, and Mary Stephenson, A1 of Davenport.

The local scores will be entered in the central region of the national contest.

L. K. Preston Dies at Home Of Daughter

Mrs. Louise Kaufman Preston, 88, former resident of Iowa City who received three degrees from the university, died Feb. 20 in Wellesley, Mass., at the home of her daughter, Gertrude Preston, with whom she lived.

Mrs. Preston received a B. D. degree from Iowa in 1870, a B. A. degree in 1873 and an M. A. degree in 1876. She lived in Davenport and Colorado as well as Iowa City before she moved to Wellesley where her daughter is a teacher in Wellesley college.

She is survived by her daughter; a son, Arthur C. Preston of Wilbraham, Mass., and three grandsons. A cousin, Mrs. William D. Cannon of the Summit apartments, lives in Iowa City.

House To House

S. U. I. Students Present Recital In High School

Five students of the music department and their director, instructor Himie Voxman, presented a recital at the Wapello consolidated high school Monday night. The group played ensemble and solo numbers.

Student participants were Charles Eble, A4 of Shelby, piano; Frederick Baker, A1 of Baldwin, N. Y., flute; John Webster, A2 of Iowa City, clarinet; Robert Hardwig, A4 of Waverly, horn, and Chris Schrock, A1 of Iowa City, bassoon.

It's a Robin --Or Is It?

It Must Be Spring; Hillcrest Men Hear Song Birds Again

"Tweet, chirrup, tweet, chirrup, tweet, tweet!"

Hey, what's that, a bird? That's right it is a bird—probably one of the first to herald spring this year.

At least that's what the men living on the east side of Hillcrest believe since last Saturday morning, for since the day winter set in, there has been not the slightest "tweet" from the huge trees in front of the dormitory.

Even though the bird may be one of the winter species, it has the peculiar warble of a contented feathered-friend. The quality in its voice is typical of the notes sung when spring is in the air.

The only possible objection to the warble is that it keeps late-sleepers from their "40 winks."

Maybe it is a robin, which is highly improbable, but no matter what species it is, it signified just one old adage: "When the birds start singing, good times are ahead." At least that is what most people are hoping for these last winter days!

Anthes Smith New President Of Fraternity

Anthes Smith, A2 of Ft. Madison, was elected president of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at a meeting of the local active chapter last night at the chapter house.

Other new officers are Dan Hays, E3 of Grinnell, treasurer; Bill Hagens, A2 of Missoula, Mont., recording secretary; John Maher, A2 of Springfield, Ill., and Bob Wollenweber, A3 of Keokuk.

Mecca Week Will Begin With 'Smoker'

Engineers Will Vote On Six Candidates For Mecca Queen

A "smoker" in the cafeteria of Iowa Union at 8 p.m. Wednesday, March 13, will be the opening event of Mecca week activities, Martin Stiller, chairman of the general committee, said yesterday.

The affair is an annual, informal "get-together" of engineering students and faculty.

The six Mecca queen candidates will be interviewed at the smoker by Harold Gibbons, E4 of Burlington, master of ceremonies. The engineering students will then vote on the candidates to decide which one will reign at the Mecca Ball on Friday night, March 15.

The presentation of the "blarney stone" to the junior class by the seniors will be a highlight of the evening. The stone was recovered last year after an absence of 28 years and again became the traditional theme of Mecca week activities.

John Goodman, research assistant in the Iowa institute of hydraulics research, will assume the role of magician for the evening and provide additional entertainment for the engineers. The singing of engineering songs will be another part of the program.

Members of the smoker committee are: Allen Butterworth, E3 of Hinsdale, Ill., chairman; Timothy O'Connor, E4 of Lawler; Lawrence Stotts, E4 of Perry, and Lloyd Keil, E3 of Marengo.

Prof. E. Kurtz Attends Meet Of Engineers

Prof. E. B. Kurtz, head of the University of Iowa electrical engineering department, is in Des Moines today attending the Iowa section meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

E. O. Shreve, vice-president of the General Electric company, will be one of the principal speakers at the meeting, which is being held in the Fort Des Moines hotel and is jointly sponsored by the institute, the Engineers club of Des Moines and the Des Moines Electrical league.

Professor Kurtz is a past president of the Iowa section of the institute.

Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., Harvard law student and son of the Ambassador to Great Britain, will be a delegate to the Democratic national convention.

German Poetry Topic of Article By Prof. Funke

Prof. Erich Funke, head of the German department, is the author of an article in the February number of the "Germanic Review." This is a professional journal published quarterly by the department of Germanic languages at Columbia university.

The article is entitled "Zur Form des 'Phantastus'" and deals with the poetry of Arno Holz, a German writer of the late 19th century.

Iowa Women Win Honors In Basketball

Using a shifting zone defense, Iowa's women basketball players, members of honorary Basketball club emerged victorious in three out of the four games played in the annual invitational basketball play day held here this week end, reports show.

The local players were defeated by Grinnell, one of the four visiting college teams, which also used the popular shifting zone defense technique. Other schools represented at the play day were Central, Cornell and Iowa Wesleyan colleges.

The basketball defense used by Iowa's teams and by Grinnell is similar to the sliding man to man defense used in men's basketball, officials said.

In connection with the play day, official basketball rating examinations were given by the Iowa City board in which Fern Newcomer, A3 of Iowa City, received a "local" rating.

Engineering Faculty Members To Attend Power Conference

Prof. H. O. Croft Is Official Delegate To Chicago Meeting

Several faculty members and alumni of the college of engineering will attend the Midwest Power conference in Chicago April 9 and 10, Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college announced yesterday.

Iowa State college, Michigan State college, Purdue university, the University of Illinois, the University of Michigan and the University of Wisconsin will also participate in the conference. Prof. H. O. Croft, head of the mechanical engineering department, will be Iowa's official faculty representative.

Dean Dawson will be chairman of the discussion of hydro-power and L. F. Harza of Chicago, who is on the advisory council of the Iowa hydraulics institute, will discuss the "Santee-Cooper Project" in the same group.

James S. Bowman, a graduate of the college of engineering who is now working in the Tennessee Valley authority in Knoxville, Tenn., will speak on "The Hydrological Factors in the Design of a Dam."

"Stratification of Gases in Coal-Fired Furnaces" will be discussed by John M. Drabelle, consulting engineer for an electric company in Cedar Rapids.

The conference, sponsored by the Armour Institute of Technology, has been established to provide an opportunity "for all persons interested in power production, transmission or consumption to meet annually for the study of mutual problems," Dean Dawson said.

Proving Himself an Accomplished Performer at the International Poker Table—

Mussolini, Whatever His Aims May Be, Returns to the Spotlight of Europe

—INTERPRETATIVE—

His Protests Embarrassing To Britain

Duce Has Hole Cards In the Current Game Of Political Deuces Wild

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Whatever its real purport, Rome's harshly worded protest against the Anglo-French blockade policy came at an especially embarrassing moment for the allies.

It was carefully timed by Mussolini, who has again proven himself an accomplished performer at the international poker table, although his real purposes remain obscure.

The war sap is rising in Europe under the urge of approaching spring. In France, particularly, there is greater tenseness over the possibility of a German attack than at any time since the outbreak of the conflict.

The French and their British colleagues are concentrated from Switzerland to the North sea behind vast fortifications, braced to meet either a direct Nazi onslaught on the Maginot line or an attempt to flank it through neutral Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

And just at this moment, Mussolini steps forward with his protest over British interception of cargoes of German coal destined for Italy. He virtually reiterates the Nazi charges that allied blockade policies are both illegal and inhumane.

Despite the vigor of the Italian protest, however, there is much doubt that Mussolini has any notion of intervening in the war on the side of Germany. It is recalled that Italy's attitude toward Berlin chilled rapidly when the Nazis struck up a friendship with Moscow, Rome has missed no opportunity to disclose its determination to block Russian economic and territorial ambitions.

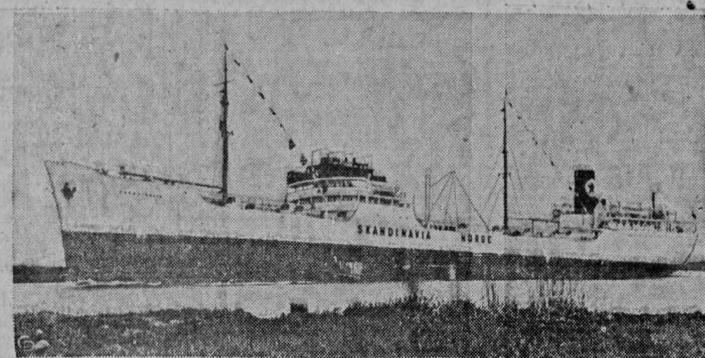

Hitler's most recent broadcast picturing Germany as bastioned for victory by her Italian and Soviet Russian fellowships had a distinct touch of unreality in view of that.

Nevertheless, if Duce has hole cards in the game of diplomatic deuces-wild that seem to demand some form of allied conciliation. An increasingly restive Italy just now would require the allies to take the precautionary step of decentralizing their armed forces to meet any Italian threat.

Certain as London and Paris may be that if Duce is more or less bluffing in the German coal controversy, they dare not risk the possibility that he is not. Nor can they overlook the fact that Rome, in embarking on its new fishing expedition in war troubled European waters, has baited its diplomatic hook with a dramatic bid for world leadership of neutral protests against the blockade.

In effect, the Italian note to London echoed some of the statements Hitler is supposed to have made to President Roosevelt's fact-finding emissary, Sumner Welles. Hitler is said to have told Welles that there could be no peace until the allies disgorged ill-gotten world war booty in German colonies, and guaranteed to keep their hands off German "living room" in central Europe. Nazi spokesmen also contend that Britain must loosen her grip on such vital gateways of world commerce

JUST A NEW TANKER, BUT HAS ADVENTUROUS CAREER

The Scandinavia

Though Germany is supposed to be devoting all her ship building facilities to the production of warcraft, this 10,000-ton oil tanker, the Scandinavia, pictured at Port Arthur, Tex., was constructed for the Texas Oil company by German shipbuilders. Slipping out of Hamburg, the Scandinavia ran the British blockade with a Norwegian crew aboard and is now safe in American coastal waters engaged in the prosaic business of being just an oil tanker.

New Labels Cards Will Identify Specimens

You won't have to look twice now to identify the strange specimens in bird and mammal hall in the university museum.

Fifty new labels are being installed in each exhibit to facilitate the identification of the museum's collections. Printed by the University printing service, the new permanent labels are large, white cards, explaining in easy-to-read print the species in the case.

The new batch of labels is the first result of a movement to replace all of the worn and faded cards formerly used in the museum.

Group To Attend District Meeting

Johnson county commodity loan inspectors and two members of the county soil conservation committee are scheduled to attend a district meeting today at Cedar Rapids. E. A. Ellison, state commodity loan supervisor, will preside.

Local representatives will be A. B. Thomas, Stanley Beranek, R. S. Spencer and F. A. Colony, commodity loan inspectors, and Ray E. Smalley, member, and Joe G. Raim, chairman of the county soil conservation committee.

as Gibraltar, the Suez canal and Singapore.

That is something of a program for Germany, even if she were fully backed by Russia, Italy and even Japan. One element of it, however, might be of special interest to the Italians. Before the allied-German war broke, Italy was putting the heat on France for territorial "concessions" in the Mediterranean theater, and on England for a share of control in the Suez canal, economic pot-o-gold. As the price of acceptance of the allied embargo of German coal, Rome may be renewing either or both those demands under the surface.

And a mere gesture of war-like activity in Italy right now would be very troublesome to the allies. Mussolini does not need to go to war to compel the French to remain the Franco-Italian border in force or to make the British divert warships and aircraft from the vital waters about Britain to an extended watch-on-the-Mediterranean.

$500 Offered as 1940 Award For Best Short Radio Play

Charles H. Sergel Contest Open to All Residents of U. S.

Five hundred dollars for the best short radio play is offered as the 1940 award in the annual Charles H. Sergel contest which is sponsored by the University of Chicago and open to all residents of the United States. This is the first time the prize has been tendered for radio.

In the past, a University of Iowa student, Marcus Bach, won the prize for his religious play, "The Happy Merger." Following its production in Prof. Edward C. Mabie's experimental theater here, Bach revised the play and submitted it in the contest and received $500.

Only complete radio plays requiring from 20 to 25 minutes of playing time will be considered. Dramatizations of short stories are not eligible unless the author uses his own story material.

"Radio provides a rapidly widening field for playwrights and the new techniques deserve encouragement," said Prof. Frank Huruburt O'Hara of the University of Chicago English department which is in charge of the contest.

"Today radio is building large listening audiences for good plays. With the coming of television the opportunity for the radio playwright will be still greater," he pointed out.

Each writer may submit one play accompanied by a signed statement certifying the work is original and never before broadcast or published. Entries should be mailed to the Charles H. Sergel contest, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill., by June 1.

CHAPERONS

When Iowa students attend the Senior Hop in Iowa Union from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday, they'll have as their chaperons representatives of a cross-section of the faculty, emblematic of the last class dance of the academic careers of the class of 1940.

The chaperons:
Dean and Mrs. George D. Stoddard
Dean and Mrs. Ewen M. MacEwen
Dean and Mrs. F. M. Dawson
Prof. and Mrs. Bruce E. Mahan
Prof. and Mrs. F. M. Pownall
Dr. and Mrs. Erling Thoen
Dr. and Mrs. James A. Greene.

Campus Group Will Sponsor 'Fireside Chats'

After-dinner fireside chats, an annual project sponsored by the religious activities office of Iowa Union, are being presented this week and next by faculty members to dormitory, sorority and fraternity groups.

Prof. John W. Ashton of the English department spoke to the Alpha Xi Delta sorority last night. Sudhindra Bose, lecturer in political science, spoke last night at the Chi Omega house, when Dr. William H. Morgan of the school of religion spoke to the Delta Tau Delta fraternity and Dr. Kurt Schaefer of the college of commerce to residents of Eastlawn.

Westminster Professor Tells Group of Handicraft Exhibit

Prof. Harold J. Brennan of Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa., last night exhibited and explained in detail some of his handicraft at an invitational library talk sponsored by Union board in Iowa Union library.

Speaking to persons especially interested in leathercraft, jewelry and metal work, the "faculty-artist" from Pennsylvania told and demonstrated some of his experiences with these materials.

He attended Harvard university before he graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology and in 1938 held a traveling scholarship at the Institute of Art and Archeology in the University of Paris.

The artist has brought an exhibit of 20 of his drawings, examples of jewelry and metal work done by his students. This exhibit is on display in Iowa Union, where he is scheduled for a series of lectures.

Alice M. McGowan, A2 of Marion, was in charge of the library talk. The series is under the general direction of June Hyland, A3 of Traer, chairman of the library committee of Union Board.

About Eric Knight's 'The Happy Land'

THE HAPPY LAND... the trials and tribulations of a family of Yorkshire colliers.

ERIC KNIGHT... the author, quondam journalist, scenario, rancher; now teacher of short story at the University of Iowa, author of a book of novellas called "The Flying Yorkshireman," and "Song on Your Bugles."

Thomas Scherbeck, the reviewer.

Don't let the title of Eric Knight's new novel, "The Happy Land," fool you. The title is ironic; there is really little happiness in the land and there are troubles everywhere, numerous and monumental enough to try the patience and fortitude of even the strongest job.

The mines where Tom Clough and his two sons work close down. The Cloughs and all the other men of the town are slowly strangled by an ever increasing gloom and despair. All But Tom's daughter, Thora. It is she who refuses to let the family go on the dole; it is she who forces her brothers, day after day, to travel abroad looking for work; it is she who, through fierce pride and determination to keep her little family together, gives off a few rays of sunlight in a rather dark world.

There is a kind of elemental grandeur about Thora Clough, a kind of epic quality. She is never sentimental about her family, she is always opened eyed and frank. Against her father who quickly succumbs to the inactive life; against Fred, her younger brother, who she sends out into the world to get a job so that they can, all of them together, leave this closed-mine town; against Matt, the strong, against Florrie who wants a bit of happiness no matter how she gets it, Thora Clough fights alone. It is a stirring fight, though a losing one, a fight in which one has the greatest respect for the loser.

But the story is not quite as grim as the preceding paragraph may have led you to believe. Mr. Knight has that rare gift of making important and interesting the most minute details. We live from day to day with the Cloughs, with the slowly dissolving morale of the other miners; we take to ourselves their joys, their hopes, their despairs, their failures. There is comedy in "The Happy Land," comedy of the broad earthy human kind, and there is tragedy which moves relentlessly forward engulfing all who come within its path.

It would have been all too easy for Mr. Knight to paint a very depressing picture of simple folk, such as was the family of Tom Clough, caught in the maw of contemporary events. But Mr. Knight is interested, rather, in portraying the strengths and weaknesses of men and women

Y.M.C.A. Plans Election Today

Milo Himes To Speak About Cooperatives At Meeting at Union

Election of officers for the Y. M. C. A. will take place at an all-Y. M. meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. rooms of Iowa Union, it was announced yesterday by Max Paige, A2 of Waterloo, president.

Candidates for president are Ed Hoag, A2 of Freeport, Ill.; John Bangs, A2 of Fairfield, and Robert Moyers, D1 of Guthrie Center. The man receiving the second-highest number of ballots automatically will be vice-president.

Ernest Bush, A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Keith Braymen, A2 of Shenandoah, are candidates for secretary and Winston Hall, A1 of Neola, and Ed Wielen, A1 of Dysart, are candidates for treasurer.

Following the election, Milo Himes, A2 of Normal, Ill., who worked last year on the Mississippi Delta cooperative farms, will preside at a discussion on Dr. Sherwood Eddy's lectures emphasizing the cooperative movement.

Eldon Obrecht Will Present Recital Today

Eldon Obrecht, A4 of Rolfe, will present a contrabass recital this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the north music hall. The contrabass is seldom heard in a solo performance, Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department, said yesterday.

Obrecht will be accompanied by Norma Cross, A3 of Forest City. The complete program is as follows:

Sonata in A major... Abel-Obrecht
Allegro
Andante
Minuetto
Concerto in B major... Dittersdorf
Allegro moderato
Adagio
Allegro

Lieut. E. A. Brown Demonstrates Rifle For Officers Tonight

A meeting of the 13th engineer battalion officers' troop school will be held in the University armory at 7:15 tonight.

A demonstration of the new M-1 rifle will be given by Lieut. E. A. Brown Jr., of the corps of engineers. His discussion will be illustrated by motion pictures, it was announced.

ROLLING OUT THE BARREL—AND IN RECORD TIME, TOO

Finland workers roll barrels of oil and carry containers away from an oil depot which is being bombed by Russian airmen near Aabo, Finland.

'Go in' to Literary Meetin'?

Rural literary societies were of great importance in developing leadership in the isolated Iowa communities. Before easy communication with the towns was established the young people seeking intellectual stimulus used such means as were at hand; and the literary society, crude as its offspring, were fostered that individualism which stamps life in remote places and which passes as soon as urban influence begins to overshadow rural life.

The story of the Verdi literary society in Washington county is told by Katherine Euxbaum in the January issue of "The Palimpsest," the monthly publication of the State Historical Society of Iowa.

During the early 90's Verdi was little more than a depot and a general store located on the Rock Island railroad. The Walnut district school was located there, however, and it was in the schoolhouse that the literary society met on Friday evenings during the winter, its meetings open to the public which gave it enthusiastic support.

On fine nights when the roads were good, the kerosene lamps shone out over a whole roomful of faces, and the flattering attendance threw the performers into a state of mild excitement.

Although the debate was the principle feature of the program, the committee in charge understood program building well. Lighter numbers, such as songs and recitations, were put first. Then came the debate, which occupied an hour or more and the program was concluded by the newspaper, a spicy collection of jokes and local bits, calculated to send the audience home in good humor.

Today such organizations as the 4H clubs and the Farm Bureau have taken the place of this important element in rural cultural development.

Grid Letter-Winners, Coaches Entertained by Junior C. of C.

Letter-winners of the 1939 football team and their coaches were guests of the junior chamber of commerce at an informal dinner last night at the Iowa City country club.

The guests were introduced by Dr. Eddie Anderson, but according to plans for a "different" dinner, all of them were excused from speech making.

After-dinner entertainment consisted of three acts: Leroy McGinnis, L3 of Iowa City, as "Leroy the Mystic" in a sleight of hand performance; the "Derbies" quartet, Paul Lundell, D3 of Webster City, Everett Hogan, D3 of Epworth, Loren Gruber, D3 of Spencer, and Robert Katschkowsky, D3 of Iowa City; and a drum act by Vernon Leonard, A2 of Mason City, and Martin Yoseloff, A3 of Mason City.

The junior chamber's next meeting, March 19, will be a business meeting, it was announced.

Club Hears Prof. Peterson

Educator Discusses School's Need For State Financial Aid

Pleading for more state support of public education, Prof. E. T. Peterson of the college of education yesterday pointed out to the Iowa City Kiwanis club at its noon luncheon meeting that Iowa ranks at the bottom in regard to state-supported educational institutions.

"It is true," he said, "that our public schools do receive a little help from the state, but it is negligible." Professor Peterson quoted statistics which showed that of the $45,000,000 spent every year on the public school system in Iowa the state contributed only one and one half per cent. The remainder came from the particular locality in which the school is located.

"Some school districts are 200 times as wealthy as others," he declared, "thus giving rise to a situation in which students in the wealthy districts receive a well rounded education while those in the poorer districts suffer."

The solution, according to Professor Peterson, would lie in a minimum, uniform local levy upon property with the remainder of the money coming from the state.

Local Moose Lodge Shows Special Film To Children Tonight

Iowa City Moose lodge No. 1096 will entertain the children of its members at a special showing of movies of Moose lodge activities tonight, it was announced yesterday.

Special treats will be given every child who attends. A special comic film will be shown in addition to the pictures of lodge activities.

The films are to be shown in the Moose clubrooms.

34 County Residents Chosen To Inform Public on Cancer

An advisory board consisting of 34 residents of Johnson county, whose purpose is to spread practical information concerning the symptoms and control of cancer throughout Johnson county, was yesterday appointed to act during 1940 in conjunction with the Women's Field army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

The following persons have been chosen by Mrs. N. F. Sorg, Johnson county division captain, and Mrs. I. R. Pollock, deputy captain.

Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock, President Eugene A. Gilmore, F. J. Snider, county superintendent of schools; Dr. Andrew H. Woods, president of the Johnson County Medical society; Dean of Men Robert E. Rienow, Dean of Women Adelaide Burge, Judge Harold D. Evans, Dr. John Peck, director of Oakdale sanatorium; Mrs. Hilkea Thompson, county nurse.

Supt. Iver A. Opstad of the Iowa City schools; Lois Corder, director of the school of nursing; Sister Mary Rita, superintendent of Mercy hospital; Mayor Maurice Dever of Coralville; Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, president of the Iowa City Woman's club; the Rev. Llewellyn A. Owen, president of the Iowa City Ministerial association; Ben S. Summerwill of the Iowa State Bank and Trust company.

Principal M. W. Stout of University high school; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl H. Meinberg, dean of the Iowa City deanery and pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church;

Baptists Plan 'Family Night' Supper Tonight

Members of the Baptist church and congregation will hold their monthly church family night starting with a supper at 6:30 tonight, it was announced yesterday.

After the supper is served, Mrs. H. W. Smith, who has returned from Rangoon, Burma, where she was engaged in mission work, will speak on her experiences and exhibit objects she has brought from Burma.

Members of the choir will be guests of the church at the supper.

Judge Gaffney Lists District Court Cases

Petit Jury Members To Report for Duty Monday Morning

The second law assignment for the February term of Johnson county district court was made yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney.

Judge Gaffney also announced that members of the petit jury would report for duty at 10 a. m. Monday after a two weeks' vacation brought about by the illness of several jury members and witnesses who were scheduled to appear.

Cases scheduled for next week include Pruess vs. Hocheteller, Scheetz vs. Kuebrich, Burke vs. Harris, Tennyson vs. Great Northern Life Insurance company, and Hignett, et al. vs. Rock Island Motor Transit company.

Cases listed in the assignment to begin March 18 and following include Strickler, administratrix, vs. Keeshin Motor Express company, et al, Marias vs. Iowa City Coach company, estate of Schintler (will contest) and the estate of Albert Ensminger (will contest).

Judge Gaffney Grants Divorce To M. Anderson

Marguerite Anderson was granted a divorce from Earl R. Anderson yesterday. The defendant was charged with cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple were married March 8, 1918, in Iowa City. The decree, given by Judge James P. Gaffney, awarded the plaintiff custody of four minor children and alimony of $90 a month.

Attorney William R. Hart represented the plaintiff. The defendant was represented by Attorney Robert L. Larson.

Bernard Glasglow Fined Five Dollars

Bernard Glasglow was fined $5 and costs yesterday by T. M. Fairchild, justice of the peace.

Glasglow was charged in a preliminary petition with operating a motor vehicle which was not properly licensed.

Johnson County Achievement Day Scheduled March 26 at Iowa City

Associated women of the county farm bureau will hold a Johnson County Achievement day March 26 in Iowa City, it has been announced.

Preliminary arrangements were outlined at the monthly board meeting of the township chairmen at the local farm bureau office recently.

The following Achievement day committees were appointed: Invitations and publicity: Mrs. S. K. Stemmoms, Mrs. Lee Nifenecker, Mrs. J. L. Shima, Mrs. Emil Meyer, Mrs. Dewey Swanson. Township publicity chairmen are ex-officio members of this committee.

Room and lunch: Miss Clara Kutz, Mrs. Will Rowland and Mrs. A. J. Hogan.

Hostesses: Mrs. Moreland Colony, Mrs. Will Griffith and Mrs. E. E. Miller. Township chairmen are ex-officio members of this committee.

Registration: Mrs. Roger Reeve, Mrs. Glenn Johnson and Mrs. Ray Smalley.

State Chairman Mrs. Raymond B. Sayer will be invited to participate in the program.

'Ambassador of Good Caroms' Peterson, Fancy-Shot Billiards Champ, Performs in Union March 13

Charley Peterson, fancy-shot billiards champion who will perform in the main lounge of Iowa Union Wednesday, March 13, from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m., has been called the "ambassador of good caroms" because of his annual tour of over 200 colleges and universities.

Peterson tours the country, lecturing to college students on billiards, giving lessons, stimulating interest in the game as an intramural and intercollegiate sport—and emphasizing his conception of the game as a proper pastime for both men and women students.

Billiards have, he says, become "the rage" in all-girl schools such as Smith college in Northampton, Mass., as well as in coeducational schools.

"You haven't any idea how the game has caught on," Peterson said recently. "The colleges have billiard parties which are rather like bridge games. The boys and girls team up and swap tables until the two best couples finally meet and battle for the championship."

Peterson has been playing the game for 45 years. Most of his trick-shots are original—and he admits that he stumbled on to many of them "by accident."

His tour to popularize billiards, sponsored by the National Associations of College Unions, has been extended to include, upon invitation, the boys' clubs in the various cities in which he visits.

One of Peterson's most popular shots is the "Jitterbug," in which the cue ball slides past the object ball, takes four cushions and leaps out for a billiard. His motto is: "Show me a shot I can't make!"

Yesterday's High Reaches 33 Degrees

Despite cloudy, dismal skies yesterday's temperature hung just above the freezing mark most of the day. The mercurial high point of the day was 33 degrees.

The normal high temperature is seven degrees above yesterday's mark, but the normal low reading is 22 degrees.

Harry Reece Injured Slightly By Automobile

Harry Reece, 23, 825 Page street, suffered possible fracture of the left forearm at 10 o'clock last night when he was hit by an automobile driven by W. O. Coyne, 15 Woolf avenue, on College near Dubuque street.

Police said Reece started to cross the street about 15 feet east of the corner behind a parked car so that the visions of both the pedestrian and the driver were blocked until he reached the front of the car.

Reece was released after treatment by a physician.

American Scandinavian Foundation Requests Aid for Kindred Finland

An appeal from Henry Goddard Leach, president of the American Scandinavian foundation, has been received by President Eugene A. Gilmore in which the foundation requests, "Come to the assistance of Finland soon and in every way possible."

The American Scandinavian foundation had been requested by distinguished scholars and intellectual leaders in Sweden to send this appeal for Finland to their American colleagues.

Being an appeal from Sweden for Finland, it is stated that "it is a nation of intimate spiritual kinship to your own for which we appeal for support."

New Stamps To Be Issued Late in March

Five new stamp issues in the Educator's group will be released beginning March 14, postal authorities disclosed yesterday.

Portraits of Horace Mann, Mark Hopkins, Charles W. Eliot, Frances E. Willard and Booker T. Washington will appear on the one, two, three, five and 10-cent stamps, respectively.

New stamp issues are usually available at the Iowa City post office one day later than the first-day release. Postmaster Walter J. Barrow declared. First day sales are confined to localities which have some connection with the subject of the issue.

On March 14 the Horace Mann stamp (green) will be released at Boston, Mass., and the Mark Hopkins issue (red) at Williams-town, Mass. The Charles W. Eliot stamp will circulate at Cambridge, Mass., and the Frances E. Willard stamp, at Evanston, Ill., on March 28. At Tuskegee Institute, Ala., the Booker T. Washington stamp may be purchased April 7.

A circular frame will enclose the portrait on each stamp. In the upper half "United States Postage" in dark Gothic letters will appear on a light ground. A solid shield-shaped panel, supported on each side by acanthus leaves, will be superimposed on the dark background of the lower half. The panel will enclose the "Lamp of Learning."

RATS TO YOU! RODENT CONFUSES THINGS, GETS LIQUIDATED

MIAMI, Fla., March 5 (AU)—A live rat, suspended from an improvised parachute, floated down to a tenth story ledge of the courthouse.

Attached to the confused rodent was a penciled note saying: "This jail is full of rats!" Okay so far. But the ingenious complainer failed to say which jail he was in. The city jail is located on the 16th to 18th floors, the county jail on the 20th to 24th. Officials in each jail insisted their premises were rat-free but hinted darkly about conditions in the other.

A suggestion that the rat be released and followed home came too late. He had been liquidated.

Two Speedsters Fined

Police Judge Burke N. Carson fined two speeders in court yesterday. Al Schreiber was fined $3 and costs and Eddie Kulak of Chicago forfeited a $5 bond when he did not appear at the hearing.

overcome the differences in languages and quaint local customs. Taking the opposite point of view, Carl Cone, G of Iowa City, advocated that Germany should be allowed to expand and dominate the smaller countries to bring about a more stable Europe on an economic basis.

Again entering the discussion, Dr. Eddy offered resisting arguments to this proposal on the grounds of Germany's past exploitations and merciless invasions. He feared that such a peace would be one of death and slavery, and added that this belief is held by Czechoslovakia and Poland who have suffered under German domination.

Other students who participated in the panel discussion included Roland Christensen, A3 of Iowa City; Ruth Subotnik, A4 of Cedar Rapids; Mary Ellen Hennessey, A3 of Council Bluffs; Ching Su Chen, G of China, and Grover Platt, G of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Ohio, a position Donahay held for three terms. Throughout the rapid-fire questioning, Mr. Roosevelt was unruffled. He seemed to enjoy the verbal fencing despite his recent Hyde Park statement that he was getting weary of third term interrogations.

Earlier in the day he had sent to the senate the nomination of Herbert F. Goodrich, dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, as judge of the third United States circuit court, to succeed Francis Biddle of Philadelphia, promoted to solicitor general.

Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), who had favored John M. McCann, Cambria county judge, for the federal post, recalled that he had said he would "sink or swim" with McCann, and was still for him.

Knows Nothing Asked flatly whether he preferred Guffey or Walter A. Jones, Pittsburgh businessman, in the coming Pennsylvania senatorial primary, the president said he had just returned and knew nothing.

Then the conference became alternately humorous and serious when a reporter brought up the question of Lindley's column.

Mr. Roosevelt said that Senator Byrnes (D-Sc) had telephoned him and urged him to read the column because word was going around that Senator E. D. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D-Sc), an administration critic, was the unnamed southern source of the story.

After the laughter died down, a reporter said: "Seriously, Mr. president, have you discussed that with Smith?" The president replied with a grin that that would have to be asked a senate investigating committee.

Doesn't Remember Another newsman interjected that Rep. Doughton (D-Nc) was reported to be the source of the story, but Mr. Roosevelt said he did not remember talking with Doughton.

The North Carolinian commented: "I never said anything to anybody to make me responsible for that story."

Lindley's column said Mr. Roosevelt had not only favored Hull for the presidential nomination but had endorsed Attorney General Jackson, Senator Wheeler of Montana or Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, for the vice presidency.

Mr. Roosevelt volunteered he had read another column in the Washington Post quoting Thomas Jefferson as classifying material in newspapers into four categories—facts, possibilities, probabilities and lies.

"What category is the Lindley column in?" everyone chorused. The president only laughed.

City High's 'Mother's Husband' Three-Act-Comedy Boasts Fine Technical, Acting Performances

With excellent technical work, including staging and properties, the junior class of the Iowa City high school last night presented 13 of its members in a three-act comedy, "Mother's Husband."

Although there was much comedy scattered throughout the performance, a bit of impromptu acting when the cat crawled out of the basket in which it was supposed to stay brought gleeful applause in the middle of the first act.

The play, written by Dorothy Bennett and Irving White, tells the story of a family which, reconciled with the father after 12 years' separation, casually upsets his ideas of propriety and parental respect. At the same time, the mother's plans to marry the "professor" are upset, too.

All scenes occur in the living room of the family's Cape Cod, Provincetown, Mass., sea-side cottage, with an especially constructed set which was tastefully and realistically designed.

Directed by Lola Hughes, the cast included Bill McGinnis, Dorothe Lorenz, Marjorie Sidwell, Clifford Richards, Grace Jean Hicks, Cherie Kadghin, Dick Smith, Bob Swisher, Vernon Bothell, Jane Spencer, Roger Kessler, Jack Fetig and Cathryn Irwin.

The technical staff was headed by the director's assistants, Pat Baldrige, Helen Beye and Elva Wilson, and included Miss Spencer, Bob Parden, Jack Doyle, Dick Baldrige, Victor Chabal, Dick Houck, Don Pierce.
