Premiere Showings of 'Highlights of Iowa' To Be Tonight at 7:30, 8:45

Pharmaceutical Laboratory Work

Laboratory work in the University of Iowa college of pharmacy, is shown at the left above in a scene from the colored motion picture, "Highlights of Iowa," which will have its premiere showing tonight at 7:30 and 8:45 in Macbride auditorium, is shown above. Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college

Tonight at 7:30 and again at 8:45 in Macbride auditorium University of Iowa faculty and students and any other Iowa Citizens interested may see the campus premiere of the visual instruction department's new colored motion picture of university campus life, "Highlights of Iowa."

In the shots representing the various colleges and departments, students are shown at work as much as possible to make the film as true to life as could be done. This is the first film to be produced by the local department to be entirely in color—titles, art work and all photography. Lee Cochran, supervisor of the visual instruction department, was in charge of all photography for the new picture. Vernon Putnam, a member of the visual instruction department, was assistant photographer. All art work was done by Joe Sherry and titling by Ben Mercer. The numerous outside scenes shown in the opening part of the picture depicting general campus life were taken last fall soon after the opening of school. All inside pictures were taken during the month of January. Since that time, work has been underway editing and titling the film in preparation for tonight's premiere showing. Admission to the 7:30 showing will be by ticket only. Persons not holding tickets may see the second showing at 8:45.

Italy Still Waiting For Answer To Protest Against Fuel Seizures

By DREW MIDDLETON
LONDON, March 7 (Thursday) (AP)—Great Britain's economic warfare command detained 100,000 tons of German coal aboard 14 Italian ships in the tightly guarded reaches of the English channel downs early today — prize of a war blockade girding two hemispheres.

Will Mice, or Won't Mice, Eat Casein Buttons?

MUSKEGON, Mich., March 6 (AP)—This is a story of mice and men's buttons—shirt buttons. It was the subject today of learned and intense controversy and the question was: Will mice eat buttons made of casein, a milk industry by-product. They most certainly will not, said technicians of the George Morrell corporation, which makes shirt buttons of casein. They most certainly will, said technicians of the American Institute of Laundering, which defends laundries from charges of button-busting.

In spite of the belief that mice like cheese and cheese comes from milk, the Morrell experts declared that mice would rather starve than eat a casein button. For one thing, said the Morrell corporation, milk properties used for making cheese have been removed from the casein before it is used to make buttons. For another thing, the Morrell buttons are covered with a chemical film composed of a solution of chlorine and caustic soda, rendering them highly unpalatable. The controversy was precipitated by the laundry institute, which recently said that laundries should not be blamed for all missing buttons.

'Elizabeth' Makes Perilous Trip in Safety

World's Biggest Ship, Minus Passengers, Near End of Secret Voyage

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—The $28,750,000 British liner Queen Elizabeth, the biggest ship afloat, neared the neutral sanctuary of New York harbor tonight after a secret and audaciously successful run from England across the perilous North Atlantic.

The 85,000-ton vessel, still not wholly completed, was expected to dock early tomorrow and berth alongside the next-best in the British merchant fleet, the 81,000-ton Queen Mary, and the mightiest of French liners, the 83,000-ton Normandie. Both have lain here in idleness and gathering rust since the outbreak of the war.

Utmost Secrecy
The Elizabeth began her run for it under conditions of the utmost secrecy—and all but ended it the same way. It was not until late this afternoon that word seeped out here that she was on the way, and an hour or so later this was authoritatively confirmed in London.

This confirmation came only after the liner was judged to be safe beyond question and seemed immediately to point to one of these conclusions:

That the submarine menace in the Atlantic was not as great as had appeared earlier in the war; that the Elizabeth's great speed had been a vital factor—her top is assumed to be about 30 knots—or that her convoy was so powerful as to be impregnable.

Nowhere in the war's 6-month history thus far had there been such a feat by a merchant ship, save the long, furtive and half-incredible chase led the British navy by the German liner Bremen before she arrived last Dec. 12 safe in a German port.

Bremen Race
The Bremen, carrying no passengers and riding low in the water under a tremendous load of food and fuel, raced out of New York harbor 36 hours before the German legions marched on Poland, put on a hurried disguise at sea, slipped past the British to reach Mursinsk, Russia, by a lonely northern route and made her way triumphantly home from (See VOYAGE, Page 6)

Prof. Sidney G. Winter of the college of commerce was elected president and Prof. Allen T. Craig of the mathematics department was elected secretary-treasurer of the University of Iowa chapter of the American Association of University Professors by the group last night in the Triangle clubrooms of Iowa Union.

Prof. Alexander Ellet of the physics department and Prof. C. J. Posey of the college of engineering were elected members of the executive council.

Professor Ellet is out-going president of the organization, which limits its membership to those who devote a major portion of their work to teaching and research, and Professor Posey is out-going secretary-treasurer.

To Take Final Action Friday On Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee announced tonight the committee would meet Friday to take final action on the administration's trade agreements program. With hearings completed today, he had planned for a committee vote on Monday, but decided after a conference with 14 other democrats to hurry the measure along. The legislation would continue for three years the administration's authority to reduce tariffs by negotiation with other nations.

To Act Today On Roosevelt Divorce Case

LOS ANGELES, March 6 (AP)—Mrs. Betsy Cushing Roosevelt goes to court tomorrow to learn whether Superior Judge Thomas C. Gould will grant her a divorce from James Roosevelt, the president's son. Evidence in the case was completed today. Mrs. Roosevelt, who charged cruelty and desertion, testified Friday her husband had asked her in May, 1938, to obtain a divorce. She refused, she said, and followed him to Hollywood the following November, when he again told her he wanted his freedom "and asked me to leave California."

'Cotton Ed' Will Champion Hull For Presidency

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Senator Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D-SC) came out strongly today for Secretary of State Hull for the democratic presidential nomination, saying that Hull could end all strife within the party. "A presidential boom is rapidly developing around Hull," Smith said. "He's about as near a real American democrat as we've got in public life." Smith has been a bitter critic of the Roosevelt administration and has threatened "to take a walk" from the party convention if it nominated President Roosevelt for a third term. His backing of Hull attracted attention on Capitol Hill, especially in view of predictions by some democrats that Hull could win support from all factions of the democratic party.

HELSINKI, March 6 (AP)—attacks in the last four days attempting to seize coastal positions for an attack on ruined Viipuri from the rear. For three successive days Finnish communiques have mentioned this fighting in their opening sentences, this time saying the Russians "supported by aircraft, tanks and artillery" had been repulsed. Heavy Russian losses were described on the Pollakkala sector near the isthmus center. The village of Pollakkala, famous as an athletic center in peaceful times, is on a narrow stretch of the Vuoksi river which parallels the Finnish defense lines. The battle, which appeared to be increasing in intensity, was strung along a front from ice-covered Viipuri bay to the Vuoksi river near the center of the Kar-elian isthmus. Some of the bloodiest fighting was reported on the icy bay where the Russians have made repeated

British Affirm Palestine Plan; First Censure Move Quashed

Say New Palestine Land Laws Constitute Wartime Necessity

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's majority tonight smashed the first motion of censure it has faced in the house of commons since the war with Germany began a little more than six months ago. By a vote of 292 to 129, the house upheld the government in its contention that new Palestine land laws impeding Jewish land purchases constitute a wartime necessity to keep disorder from spreading through most of the strategically-placed Arab world.

The majority of 163 against the opposition censure motion was much larger than the 88-vote margin the government obtained on its white paper last May. The white paper declared it was not British policy that "Palestine should become a Jewish state."

The land laws, restricting transfer of land from Arabs to Jews, were announced suddenly by Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald Feb. 28. Jews throughout Palestine have staged protests against them, and there have been disturbances in several holy land cities.

Television Over N. Y.

Metropolitans Thrill As Planes Transmit Pictures From Sky

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
Associated Press Radio Editor

NEW YORK, March 6—Televised from the sky in the first public test of the kind ever made, New York City unfolded itself on receivers all over the metropolitan area and in Schenectady this afternoon just as it looks to aviators winging overhead. Results were regarded as pretty good.

Viewers sitting before 8 by 10-inch receiving screens easily picked out big buildings, saw automobiles speeding along the parkways, and boats in the Hudson and East rivers, looked down on the world's fair grounds and followed the skyline in the more distant views.

Highlight of the television-from-the-sky came near the end of the 45-minute scenic program when views of a 21-passenger plane accompanying the camera machine were thrown on the screen. Aboard were newspapermen looking in on a specially installed receiver.

EDWARD WEEKS

Atlantic Editor Will Appear On Wednesday

Noted Speaker Will Discuss Importance Of Modern Books

Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, will deliver the next university lecture Wednesday evening in Macbride Auditorium at 8 p.m., it was announced yesterday by Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, chairman of the senate board on university lectures.

Weeks, who will discuss many of the new books in his lecture, "The Importance of New Books," regards Steinbeck's controversial novel as "quite as important in our time as Sinclair Lewis' 'Main Street' was in the early 20's." He believes it is one of the important landmarks in American literature.

"I think," he adds, "it is a story whose characters—if they be not opposed by convention—will come nearer the heart than any other family of American I have read about since the war."

Atlantic Editor
Weeks was made editor of "The Atlantic" a little more than a year ago after having served as editor-in-chief of the Atlantic Monthly Press for ten years. He is the monthly's ninth editor and is the successor of the traditions created by such famous predecessors in "The Atlantic's" editorial chair as James Russell Lowell, William Dean Howells, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Walter Hines Page, Bliss Perry and Elzery Sedgwick.

His parents wanted him to be an engineer but somehow building bridges and dams never caught Edward Weeks' imagination. When the World war broke out, he left Cornell university to drive an ambulance in the French army. He saw war in eight different sectors and was (See WEEKS, Page 6)

Political Action Denied Federal Job-Holders

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—By a dramatic three-vote margin, the senate refused today to strip the Hatch act of its vital section forbidding government employees to engage in political activities.

Twenty-two democrats joined with an all but solid alignment of republicans to retain the full vigor of the law. The vote was 44 to 41. Most of the southern democrats, it was noted, joined in the losing effort to alter the law.

The action came upon an amendment by Senator Miller (D-Ark) which he said would leave federal employees free to undertake political work on a purely voluntary basis. He argued that the law as it stands infringes their constitutional rights.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) author of the act, usually the soul of unruffled calmness in debate, heatedly retorted that the amendment would cause a return to the "spoils system" of handing out political offices.

F. D. R.'s Economic Advisers See Business Upturn in April

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt's economic advisers, it was learned authoritatively today, now feel that the economic stage is set for a new, but gradual, upturn of business. One of the chief executive's regular consultants said he looked for the rise to begin in April. The federal economists, who blame the sharp curtailment of production since December upon factory output outracing consumption, now believe that production and consumption are once more in balance. Therefore, they argue, factories are no longer warranted in curtailing output. This situation is supposed to give the war export and other business-stimulating factors a chance to turn trade indices upward. In figures, these men calculate by the federal reserve board's monthly index of production. The index reached a record high of 128 in December, and is expected by the federal experts to touch bottom at 105 in April. From that point they are counting on a rise to 115 by the last quarter of 1940.

Here is a detachment of Danish troops marching in latest maneuvers. In common with her Scandinavian neighbors Denmark has felt the threat of possible aggression and is making every effort to be prepared for any eventuality, bringing the Danish armed forces to full strength.

Goodwin Will Be Rushed To Washington

DES MOINES, March 6 (AP)—Iowa's sixth district election tabulating machinery was shoved into high gear tonight with the objective of getting the state's newest congressman, Republican Robert K. Goodwin, to Washington with the utmost speed.

Complete unofficial returns from all of the district's 218 precincts elected Goodwin last night by a more than three to two majority over his democratic opponent, Byron G. Allen.

The unofficial count was complete—but the routine of canvassing the vote both in counties and in the statehouse must be finished before Governor George A. Wilson can issue a certificate of election necessary to seat him. Goodwin will have only three of four months to sit in regular congressional sessions, although he will represent his district until Jan. 3 and be subject to call for a special session.

Republican officials hoped that the county canvassing boards, meeting at 1 p.m. tomorrow, can declare the vote official and get it to Des Moines by tomorrow night.

Iowa's
Fraternities
Can Do It!

DEAN FRED TURNER of the University of Illinois had some pretty significant things to say about fraternities when he came over to Iowa for the interfraternity dinner the other night.

It wasn't only about fraternities at Iowa, but about fraternities all over the country. In fact, the things Dean Turner had to say about what's wrong with fraternity systems in general did not apply, in some important instances, to Iowa.

But some of the things he said did apply at Iowa, and it's up to the fraternities to do something about it. The "cactus plants and occasional stink weeds" that crop out here and there. And they needn't, if Iowa's fraternities men here are willing to work.

We have one thing of importance to say about Iowa's system. Last week's decision of the interfraternity court proves, pretty conclusively we think, that there are among the men in Iowa's fraternities some of the university's most capable leaders—certainly not all of them, but a great many.

Because the court's decision proved that that group realizes what is wrong, in part, in Iowa's system, and is determined that whatever it may do as a judicial body will be done. That's great!

But the court, we know, functions only when cases are referred to it by the council. That body capable though it may be, cannot correct or even consider what may transpire in the rest of the system.

The truth of Dean Turner's remark that some fraternity system somewhere has a great chance right now to make fraternity history seems all too apparent. Why shouldn't it be at Iowa?

Iowa's a splendid system. It was utilized to the full, if Iowa's fraternities men were willing to take advantage of what their system offers, if Iowa's fraternities men had the initiative Dean Turner declares is lacking all over the country, that fraternity history he spoke about could be made—right here at S.U.I.

There are a number of things in our favor. The lack of fraternity-university cooperation Dean Turner pointed to as an evil does not exist at Iowa. The university is cooperative, no matter what some people may think about Iowa's new dormitories. The fraternity system is integrated with the university, offering every opportunity for mutual advancement.

Add to that the realization that the interfraternity court has voiced, at the one opportunity it's had this year, it's determination to work for better things at Iowa.

The men are here, the system is here. What, then, is lacking? We're willing to suggest that there's room for a display of a great deal more initiative, a greater desire to WORK than fraternity men here have manifested—than fraternity men anywhere in the country have manifested, apparently.

There's no question in our minds of the value of campus fraternities. There's plenty of room for them to grow, and the university may build fine new dormitories without endangering fraternities—if fraternities meet the challenge.

As Dean Turner pointed out last Sunday, dormitories need not compete with fraternities, but they are certainly excellent as standards by which fraternities must govern themselves.

So permit us to suggest that we not only admit that Dean Turner is right, but that Iowa's fraternities men, with a system adaptable to his "history-making" challenge, do something about it, here and now.

A scientist announces that the English, if they had to, could subsist on a diet of nothing more than seagulls and seaweed. That's the trouble with war—people are always visualizing things like that.

The Fruits
Of Finding
Facts

IN 1916 Colonel House, as the personal representative of president Wilson in Europe, concluded a secret agreement which provided for the intervention of the United States in the European war to save the allies. The secret agreement, made in 1916 before Wilson was elected to a second term in the White House, was not known to the public until after Wilson's death.

Those who criticize the current European tour of Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles have attempted to draw a parallel between Welles' mission and that of Colonel House in 1916. The comparison is more likely based on politics than on a sincere fear that Welles may prepare the ground for American participation in the second world war.

There are, however, several factors involved which leave little hope that Welles will succeed in his mission. The tour is ostensibly for the purpose of finding facts, and if he should learn something substantial, it is believed Roosevelt would extend his office to make a peace on the basis of a compromise, and a good compromise must be on the basis of a new sound international system and a world-wide reduction of armaments. That any such attempt at peace is doomed to failure at this time is evident from the results of Welles' visit to Berlin. Hitler made it plain that he would accept no compromise. Nor was his welcome of Welles, an outspoken critic of Hitler and nazism, cordial.

Welles need not expect a reception any more cordial in London, for the British also refuse to entertain any peace based on compromise with Hitler. Nor will the fact that the American undersecretary, although an able statesman and a career diplomat, was one of the sponsors of the American neutrality zone which was vigorously denounced by the British assist him in getting much information of value.

The fact-finding tour thus far has proved nothing more than that American intervention is not yet welcome in Europe and that the sooner Welles sets foot on American soil once more, the sooner the bogey of American entanglement abroad will be dispelled from the hearts of many American politicians.

The Finnish government should enlist that Canadian owl which has been terrorizing those lumberjacks. It ought to prove a match for those Russian bombing squads.

Spring must be near, says Zaddock Dumbkopf. His next door neighbor has just returned the snow shovel he borrowed last November.

The man at the next desk has just announced that his plans for a new outfit for Easter have been nipped in the bud.

Letters To
The Editor

Editor, The Daily Iowan:

DEMOCRACY in its most idealistic form has been seen in action throughout the university campus this last week as representatives of the committee for student government have visited the various housing groups and sat down with them to discuss the problem of student government and to get their reactions to the movement.

The aims of the committee and proposed constitution are being carefully analyzed and defects and suggestions for improvement which are brought out during the discussion are being carefully noted by the representatives. They will be given special attention at the next meeting of the committee and those that merit it will be incorporated into the constitution.

The constitution, as it stands, is not perfect and student government may not be the thing that students think will remedy their ills and get for them certain privileges that they do not now enjoy. The thing that impresses is that on our campus there are students who have the interest of their group enough at heart to spend their free time trying to assure for themselves representation in matters that vitally concern them.

Democracy is, lately, being attacked by cynics and dictators as a lost cause because, as they say, the people do not know what is good for them and if they did, wouldn't take the trouble to do anything about it.

Certainly with groups, such as this one, active it is plain to see that democracy is a very real thing to the American people and that education, even self-education, in its principles is a vital concern of the coming generation. Our governmental system may not be a perfect one but they will strive to improve it through the years.

We feel sure that if student government is right we will have it; if it is wrong the committee will be the first to recognize that fact.

SEVEN-EIGHTHS OF AN ICEBERG IS BELOW WATER

Colonists Find Paraguay Tough Place To Settle;
Yet It's Agriculturally and Pastorally Valuable

One of our Latin American neighbors had a revolution the other day. Gen. Jose Felix Estigarribia grabbed control of the Paraguayan capital, Asuncion.

It's cabled from nearby Buenos Aires that the general has both the army and navy back of him. Congress isn't mentioned, but that's immaterial, because Senator Estigarribia has suspended the legislative end of the government. It's to be a dictatorship for awhile.

This is the fourth revolution Paraguay has had since the end of the so-called republic's Chaco war with Bolivia, two or three years ago. It was a row over disputed territory. Paraguay hung onto most of the controverted area, which is supposed to be very rich in oil. It HAS some oil. Yankee money is trying to develop it. But it's questionable whether or not it's very rich. It simply is in process of being prospected.

It's agriculturally and pastorally valuable, though. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray tried to colonize it right after the 1914-18 World war. He couldn't get away with his program. The realm was too primitive. Bill's Oklahoma followers couldn't live without modern facilities, telephones and up-to-date plumbing. They soon quit and went home. Subsequently, "Tex" Rickard tried to do it, and also fizzled. It was too tough for his Texans, likewise. It's estimated that Tex lost $1,000,000 on his venture. Then Fred Engen undertook to plant a Canadian settlement in the same region, and that experiment blew up a bit later.

Yet the place (about the size of the Lone Star state) remains enticing — if settlers had the nerve that our own early western pioneers had.

Two Difficulties
"Selling" the Chaco is a job which encounters two big difficulties.

1. "Chaco" is an Indian word which signifies "wilderness." There don't seem to be enough civilized people on earth, in our generation, with the stamina to conquer a wilderness. There are plenty of folk in the war-torn old world who want some place to go, but they aren't equal to such conditions.

Their demand is for room in large cities and Latin America's cities already are overcrowded. For instance, take Argentina. It's about one-third the size of the United States, with only an eight or nine million national population. But, of these eight or nine millions, approximately two millions and a half are packed together in the single center of Buenos Aires.

Paraguay's the same way, on a smaller scale. If Europe's refugees would make for the Paraguayan Chaco there'd be accommodations for all of them. However, they'd be sure to huddle together in the country's capital and metropolis, Asuncion, which already is bigger than it ought to be.

Objection No. 2. South American transportation is inadequate. The Chaco can produce meat to feed the world — and numerous vegetables, drinkables, too, like coffee; wearables also,

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

such as cotton; and rubber. And, as previously remarked, perhaps there's considerable oil. Only the South American producers can't get their stuff to market. Not alone are there no railroads. There are no roads at all—not even trails. So would-be settlers don't exaggerate when they refer to Chaco life as pretty tough.

Paraguay's Revolutions
But to get back to Paraguay's revolutions.

The country's rather prone to them traditionally, but the reason they have been coming so frequently of late is that the nation's economies are in fearful shape, due to the recent war with Bolivia.

General Estigarribia, from all accounts, isn't a Communist, a Nazi or a Fascist. He simply is a Latin American dictator, of the conventional Latin American type — his philosophy's his own; not Stalin's or Hitler's or Mussolini's.

How long he'll hang on is problematic.

If the army really is behind him, that doubtless will be a help.

It's questionable, though, that the navy will do anything substantial for him — considering that Paraguay's 500 miles overland, by the shortest cut, from tide-water.

Still, it's true that he has a small gunboat and two gasoline launches on the Paraguay river. It also has a sizeable fleet of skiffs. Probably they can keep order on the waterfront. The trouble is that their admirals may develop revolutionary tendencies of his own unless he and his crews get their pay.

OTHER speakers include Philip Bancroft of the Associated Farmers of California; Hugh Bennett of the soil conservation service, and Carve McWilliams, commissioner of immigration of California.

LOUISE SUNDERMAN, cellist, will guest star tonight on the "Musical Americana" program over the NBC-Blue network at 7 o'clock. Regulars on the show are a symphony orchestra conducted by Raymond Paige, 100 Men of Melody and Deems Taylor as master of ceremonies.

FRANKIE MASTERS, whose orchestra is featured in midnight broadcasts from the Hotel Roosevelt in New York City, has been asked by Vacation to double his output of records.

REASON IS A sharp increase in popularity of the bell-tone music originated by Masters. Although he has been using the style since 1934, attention was only recently focused on him through his recording of "Scatterbrain," a song of his own composition.

Already this week he has cut

Ruth Gordon
Confesses

'Literature of World Open to Movies,'
She Says Frankly

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Ruth Gordon just happens to be an extraordinarily able actress, and when she steps off the stage she leaves the character she has portrayed behind her. But every time I see her or talk to her I think of a girl on a toboggan slide with Raymond Massey, and a huge rock at the foot of the slide, and a tragic, fumbling crash that did not kill but maimed them instead and left them embittered for life.

That was "Ethan Frome." That was Raymond Massey married to a woman he did not love and loving a woman he could not have. Ruth Gordon was the woman. They took the easy way out because they thought they could find in the after-life the thing they could not have in this life.

It didn't work out that way. They grew into crippled, bed-ridden people who despised each other and remained that way until, out of pure senility, they died.

I have seen Ruth Gordon in many plays, but for me she will always be the girl on the toboggan slide. I asked her just the other day what about that play for the movies. "No," she said, "not now. They haven't any right to film 'Ethan Frome.' It's too tragic, too morbid. No one has the right to picture or portray unhappiness in times like these. What we want to do now is learn how to laugh."

"Well, did you get some laughs in Hollywood?" I asked her, since only recently she went there to appear with this same Raymond Massey in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and with Edward G. Robinson in "Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet."

"Not the kind you mean," she said. "I just went out to get paid, like all the rest, but it wasn't like that at all. Charles Laughton was right when he said, 'If 20 actors sat in a room all night trying to think of the most wonderful thing in the world they still couldn't think of Hollywood, because nobody has that much imagination. It is an actor's paradise.'"

"You mean that?"

"Yes, I do. Let's be frank. What has the theater done in the last 10 or 12 years? Not much, has it? Maybe the theater is tired. After all, the theater, as we know it, started with Shakespeare, but the movies started from nothing. They're still working up. They have a goal. The literature of the world is open to them. There isn't anything they can't do."

Well, I must admit Ruth Gordon surprised me. Most successful theater actresses look down the sides of their noses when they speak of the films. Not Miss Gordon. She is fundamentally too honest and too alert to stub her toe on this form of intellectual intolerance.

Perhaps the theater would make more progress if it awakened to the fact that, in films, it really faces a dangerous rival.

four new sides including "Lover's Lullaby," "Polkadots and Moonbeams," "Watching the Clock" and "Woodpecker." The first named tune is a composition of the "Pot O' Gold" pianist, Frankie Carle who also penned "Sunrise Serenade."

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- An Open Race
- Enough Pitching
- Infield Puzzle

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 6 (AP) — Ray Blades appreciates the compliment inferred in the choice of the Cardinals by many to finish first in the National league, but if the critics had just picked his club as "Miss St. Louis" or "Queen of the Corn Festival" he'd feel much better about it all.

An Open Race
This "thanks very much, the pleasure is all yours" sprouts from his belief that any one of six clubs has a chance to win the pennant. The Phillies and the Bees, he figures, have just enough strength to hold up the tail end of the league.

He reclined on a dressing table in his two-by-four locker room between the daily double practice sessions. Coach Mike Gonzales flashed a gold-toothed smile, dressed hurriedly and left for nourishment. But Blades just rested and pondered, explaining he wasn't lurching these days. Some ball clubs could take away a manager's appetite, at that, although the Cards aren't that type.

"I don't like it very well," he protested, referring to the rating given his club. "Any one of six clubs, if it gets the breaks, could win, and Cincinnati certainly is the team to beat."

Enough Pitching
"Our pitching should be all right, with Curt Davis, Bob Bowman, Bill McGee, Morton Cooper, Lon Warneke, who was handicapped by the flu last year, and others."

It was recalled that Blades worked his pitchers in shifts last year, with comparatively few going the route. It looked like a shuttle relay race between the bull pen and the mound, and not very many fumbled the baton, at that. The system was both praised and criticized. The Cards finished a booming second, but whether they would have finished first or fourth under a different system is a question that never can be answered.

"That's the system I followed for several years, and which I'll continue," he argued. "Win today's game, I figure. Tomorrow it might rain."

Infield Puzzle
Blades admitted his baldish head was a little puzzled over the infield situation. Johnny Mize, of course, takes care of first base, but the other jobs are more or less open. Jimmy Brown will be in there somewhere, but where remains to be seen.

"I have several shortstops," he explained. "Martin Marion, from Rochester, and Ed Lake, up from Houston last September, look pretty good. Lake is a little, saved-off guy with a great arm. He got 151 walks last year."

"Marion is a long, string-bean of a fellow, a smooth fielder. He hit .272 for Rochester. If he can do that in the majors, he's our shortstop."

That would mean Brown would be shifted either to third or second. Every year they count out peppy little Don Gutteridge at third, only to have him jump up and holler: "Hey, what goes on here," and stay right in there. Stu Martin at second isn't too rugged, and a little on the light side at the plate.

Blades admits he has the best outfield in the league in Medwick, Moore and Slaughter, with Pepper Martin bouncing in there occasionally to go out there one day and his legs stay on the bench. And as added tribute, Blades rates Terry Moore as the greatest outfielder he's managed or played with, which takes in several acres of territory.

All in all, he thinks he has a good club with a good chance, and right now he's neck-deep in rookies, which means the toughest part of his job is coming.

"It's awfully hard," he says, "to call a boy in here some day and tell him he must go back to the minors. Some realize it's to their best interest, but it's tough, anyway."

Bresnahan Nominates 16 Track Men for Conference Meet

A squad of 16 trackmen will journey to Chicago tomorrow morning carrying the colors of Old Gold and Black with them to the Big Ten conference indoor meet, to be held Friday and Saturday in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

Coach George Bresnahan has entered men in every event but the pole vault and is looking for a good showing in the 10 team meet.

The Hawk thincads will run into a dog-eat-dog battle on more than a half dozen fronts and should walk out with a good share of the places.

Jim Wilson, Art Schlauder and Bill Green will be matched against some of the speediest 60-yard men in the country when they meet Roy Cochran of Indiana and Myron Piker of Northwestern. Each of these Iowa boys, however, is able to run the dash in the best time made by any runner this season and will be in the money for the first spot.

The high hurdles will see Hank Vollenweider and Jack Whitehurst doing their bit to better the efforts of Smith of Wisconsin, Finch of Northwestern and Olson of Illinois.

Coach Bresnahan has entered four men in the 440-yard test, Ed Baird, Myron Gillespie, Louis Lapham and Joel Hinrichs. These men will be up against Cochran, who has just set a new world indoor record for the event in 48.3 seconds, Jack Sulzman of Ohio State, Will McCowan of Illinois and Warren Breidenbach of Michigan.

Merl Erickson, Ed Elliott and Arnold Carlson are slated to run in both the mile run and the 880-yard dash, and will meet such stars as Campbell Kane, of Indiana, and Bob Hoke of the same school. Ralph Schwarzkopf, of the Michigan squad is favored to take the mile event and possibly the two-mile grind in which Carl Schnoor, of the Hawkeyes has been entered.

Bill Leuz has an excellent chance of placing high in the shot put along with his teammate Hank Luebke. It will be a tough event with such men as Harris, of Indiana, Paskvan, of Wisconsin, and Rendleman, of Chicago giving their all to take first honors.

Wilson will also compete in the high jump which will include Canham of Michigan and Smith of Northwestern, both fine jumpers. Vince Harsha will also represent Iowa in this event. Harsha has just completed his work on the basketball floor and will get his first taste of Big Ten track competition, in a whole-sale manner, this week end.

The mile relay team will be made up of Schlauder, Baird, Lapham, Gillespie, Wilson and Hinrichs. Illinois is favored in this event with Michigan a close second but anything can happen in a relay race, so watch the Hawkeyes.

HARGRAVE

There is still interest, it seems, here and elsewhere, in Iowa's biggest football season, with Nile Kinnick still rated as the man of the hour, or hours. From the kindergarten to the chamber of commerce people still want to know the details.

A local reader sends in a suggestion that might very easily be adopted by some local group. He mentions that, in the interest of those who haven't seen all the Kinnick trophies, it might be a good idea to display the complete collection publicly, possibly at the time of the state cage tourney next week.

Another letter, from Paul B. Smith of Columbus Junction, suggests that the flag raising ceremony, so impressive before football games, could be adapted to basketball. Some campus organization, he says, might plan the regular event, figuring out an interesting and attractive ceremony. It would also be possible to use the flag raising at other sports if the idea went over.

Back to sports of the moment, there are interesting possibilities in Iowa's six-man entry in the Big Ten wrestling tournament at Lafayette, Ind., this week end. The Hawkeyes might win six titles and they might win nothing at all, although either extreme is unlikely.

There isn't, it might be said, a definite title favorite on the Iowa squad, but each Hawkeye rates among the top three or four men. Bill Sherman, at 121 pounds, is probably the classiest man in the conference, but can't be given much of an edge—it's pretty much a toss-up where he is concerned, with other Hawkeyes all given a chance.

Art Johnson, for instance, has won all but one match as a heavyweight and should go most of the way through, but Slick of Illinois and Downes of Ohio State are more experienced and would be favored to outpoint Johnson. The same might be applied to Paul Whitmore, Iowa 175-pounder, who will be up against Nichols of Michigan and a couple of other tough ones.

Capt. Clarence Kemp, Ralph Geppert and Loy Julius, other Iowans, must be called dangerous contenders, but there isn't a single odds-on favorite on the squad. It's a situation that might be productive of practically anything but touchdowns or free throws.

Iowan Suspended
CHICAGO, (AP)—The Illinois athletic commission yesterday suspended Andy "Kid" Miller, Sioux City, boxer, for 90 days and ordered his purse withheld for his unsatisfactory showing here Feb. 17 in a bout with Lem Franklin, Cleveland Negro heavyweight.

Iowa Battlers Lose In Chicago Glove Meet

Dolphins Meet At Columbus

Ed Gerber Chosen To Represent Iowa At Big Ten Meeting

Ed Gerber of St. Louis, president of the Iowa Dolphin club, left with the swimming team yesterday for Columbus, Ohio, where he will attend the first annual convention of Big Ten Dolphin chapters. There are four active chapters among the Western conference schools at present: Purdue, Illinois, Chicago and Iowa. Four new schools, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana and Michigan, will be taken in at the meeting.

The purpose of organizing on a Big Ten basis, according to Gerber, is to promote a feeling of friendly competition among the swimmers. At dual meets, the two clubs will meet together after the match to discuss viewpoints and activities, and the local chapter will provide some sort of entertainment for the visitors.

The Dolphins originated in 1921 when chapters were organized at Iowa and Illinois. They were first organized nationally in 1931 under the direction of Wentworth Lobdell, Hawkeye national champion diver.

The local chapter has always been one of the national leaders, its latest contribution being the presentation of an annual Dolphin Show. These performances have been so successful that requests have been received from all over the nation concerning their production.

Proceeds from the Hawkeye show are used to send members on an annual swimming expedition to Florida during Christmas vacation, and to send members of the varsity swimming squad to the National Collegiate meet.

Oklahoma Aps Accept Bid

STILLWATER, Okla., March 6 (AP) — It's a long jump between New York and Oklahoma City, but the Oklahoma Aggies—fast enough to show their heels to their basketball foes in 25 consecutive games—are going to romp in Madison Square Garden and Oklahoma City's auditorium on successive nights.

Coach Henry Iba, who must have his Missouri Valley champions back in Oklahoma City March 16 to meet the Big Six conference winners in the fifth district N.C.A.A. playoffs, accepted an invitation today to play in New York's metropolitan tournament, March 11 to 15.

Will Replay Protested Tilt

The game between Phi Kappa Psi and Wilson, one of the championship games now being played for the all-university title, will be played over because of protest. The game will be played tonight at 9 p.m.

Grover Triumphs Over Manse In Volleyball Meet

Four Out of Seven Scheduled Games Were Played Last Night In The Intramural Volleyball Tournament In The Men's Dormitory League

Grover upset Manse in the co-op league by winning two consecutive games. Grover won the first game, 15-8, and the second game, 15-10.

Upper D had an easy time with Upper B as it won two straight games, 15-2 and, 15-2. Wilson trounced Kellogg in the first game of their volleyball match by a 15-1 score, but the Kellogg team gave its opponents a tougher time in the second game as Wilson finally won, 15-10.

Upper A also took two consecutive games from Upper C. The winners won the first game with a 15-11 margin and the second game was won by a 15-4 score.

Louis Changes Camp

NEW YORK, (AP)—The reported shift in heavyweight champion Joe Louis' training base from Pompton Lakes, N. J., to Greenwood Lake, N. Y., was made definite yesterday. Louis, his representatives announced, will arrive today and go direct to his new camp, operated by Joe Murchio, to begin preparations for his April 3 bout with Johnny Paycheck of Des Moines.

Cage Meet Sale Reaches 1,900

Sale of season tickets for the state high school cage tourney, to be held in Iowa City next week, has reached a total of 1,900 thus far, according to Charles Galher, business manager of university athletics.

The season tickets have been on sale for several weeks, with a total of 2,800 available. Individual season reserved seats are now available and Iowa officials are making plans to accommodate capacity crowds of more than 13,000, for the final sessions at least.

A's Trample Portland

ANAHEIM, Cal., (AP)—Earle Brucker, first string catcher while Frankie Hayes is a hold-out, paced the Philadelphia Athletics to a 12 to 3 victory over Portland of the Pacific coast league in an exhibition game here yesterday.

Hawk Diamondmen Leave Next Week on Trip Through South; 18 Men To Make Journey

One week from this Friday Coach Otto Vogel will take 18 ball players and Dr. W. W. Hayne, the team physician, on an 1100-mile bus ride to Lafayette, La., where the Hawkeyes will open up their spring training schedule.

Winter Training
As yet Coach Vogel has not determined just who will make the trip. He has a pretty good idea, however, of the potentialities of his material since the Hawks have been working out inside the fieldhouse for over a month.

Coach Vogel is "centering" his team this year in order to build up his infield and outfield as strongly as possible. That is, he will have a fairly strong pitching department built around the veterans, Harold Haub, Fred Hohenhorst, and Bob Stastny and the catching department will be handled by the veteran Norman Hanks who will have at least two or three understudies from the sophomore ranks.

Prasse and Kantor
At second base and at shortstop the Hawkeyes have the best keystone sack combination in the Big Ten. Erwin Prasse will be playing his third year at second base and his timely hitting and smooth defensive play are well remembered by the followers of the Vogelmen. His partner in numerous double plays is Andy Kantor, who will also be rounding out his collegiate baseball

Young Whips Orlan Ott

Semi-Final Round Eliminates Iowans; Hayes, Owens Lose

CHICAGO, March 6 (AP)—Four Iowa fighters were eliminated in the semi-finals of the Chicago Golden Gloves tourney tonight. Diego Hidalgo, Ft. Madison, dropped a decision to Gene Evans of Oklahoma City; George Hayes, Lenox, lost to Morris Corona, Ft. Worth Tex.; Jesse Owens, Des Moines, lost to James Richie, St. Louis, and Orlan Ott, Hartley, lost to Cornelius Young, Chicago.

112-pound class: Harold Dade Chicago, defeated Gene Evans, Oklahoma City, Okla., (3). 118-pound class: Richard Menchaca, Port Arthur, Texas, defeated Jimmy Joyce, Gary, Ind., (3).

126-pound class: Roy Lewis, Fairland, Ind., defeated Leon Haire, St. Louis, Mo., (3).

147-pound class: Savor Canada, Chicago, defeated Morris Corona, Port Worth, Tex., (3). 160-pound class: Joe Maxim, Cleveland, defeated Otto Stove, Springfield, Ill., (3).

COACHES' SCHOOL Anderson Will Teach At Northwestern

An announcement made yesterday revealed that Iowa's popular football coach, Dr. Edward N. Anderson, has been named by the University of Northwestern as one of the instructors for the Northwestern short course late in the summer.

The course will be held over a ten-day period at Evanston, Illinois.

Joe Medwick Returns Home For Sit Down

ST. LOUIS, March 6 (AP)—Joe Medwick, leader of the nation's holdout division, flew home from training camp today, a disgruntled, dissatisfied ballplayer but certain the St. Louis Cardinals would not let his $200,000 talents remain idle.

In a huff because Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Cardinals, had failed to meet him yesterday to discuss salary terms, the slugging outfielder left St. Petersburg, Fla., where the team is training, and came to St. Louis by airplane.

A die-hard holdout, he said he intended to remain here at his home and carry on a fireside sit-out until club officials came to him with a suitable contract for the coming season.

Medwick, who has had many altercations on the field, said he was in good shape and ready to play, but he saw no reason for remaining at St. Petersburg while unsigned. He has never hit under .300 during his major league career.

Hawk Diamondmen Leave Next Week on Trip Through South; 18 Men To Make Journey

career this year. Kantor is a dependable, cool-headed player who scoops up everything that is hit his way.

George in Center Field
With Jimmy George playing center-field this year the theme of "centering the team" has been carried out. George is a consistent performer who came through last season with a batting average of .452 to lead the conference. He also took first honors in total hits, total bases, and tied with Art Manush of Iowa for second place in total runs scored.

Who Coach Vogel will put in the outfield along with George is hard to tell. Keith Wymore, diminutive utility man from last year's championship team, may get the call and there are also some sophomore infield prospects who may be used in the outfield.

Third base will undoubtedly be taken care of by Frank Kocur. Frank had a little trouble finding his batting eye last year but this year he vows to become a consistent threat offensively as well as defensively.

This leaves the initial sack to be taken care of by the sophomore contingent of this year's ball club. Rudy Radics, who hails from New Brunswick, N. J., and Dick Smith appear to have the inside track on the first base job.

The Vogelmen will be seeking their third Big Ten championship in a row. Under Vogel's

O'Dell, Fuller Score Falls In Mat Meet

Two falls and two decisions were the results in the four matches in the intramural wrestling tournament yesterday afternoon in the men's dormitory league.

Harold O'Dell of Whetstone threw Tom Howell of Gables in four minutes and 37 seconds. During the first period, Howell had the advantage over his opponent but tired in the third period to give O'Dell the match.

Keith Fuller of Lower D wasted no time and threw Elmer England of Upper A in 32 seconds. As soon as the starting whistle blew, Fuller took advantage by some clever wrestling and finished the match.

Louis Schwartz of Jefferson and Marshall Cook of Gables had to go the limit as neither could throw his opponent. The decision was given to Schwartz.

The match between Derio Dalasta of Whetstone and Wayne Daugherty of Gables also went full time and the referee gave the decision to Dalasta. Dalasta was always on top of Daugherty but couldn't throw him.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL Princeton 34; Columbia 30 Penn State 46; Temple 36

"I CERTAINLY THANK YOU FOR BEING SO KIND AND HELPFUL ON THIS TRIP"

OVERHEARD on the ROCKY MOUNTAIN Rocket

This year they will play 28 games of which 12 will be conference games. Of these 12 games six will be at home and six away. The local baseball fans will see the Hawkeyes in action 14 times on the Iowa diamond.

Following is the complete schedule:

March 18, 19, 20—Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, La.
March 21, 22, 23—Louisiana Tech at Ruston, La.
March 29, 30—Bradley Tech at Iowa City.
April 5, 6—Luther college at Iowa City.
April 10, 11—Purdue at Lafayette.
April 12, 13—Notre Dame at South Bend.
April 19, 20—Illinois at Iowa City.
April 26, 27—Wisconsin at Madison.
May 3, 4—Chicago at Iowa City.
May 10, 11—Northwestern at Evanston.
May 17, 18—Michigan State at Iowa City.
May 24, 25—Western State at Iowa City.
May 31-June 1—Minnesota at Iowa City.

Big Ten Meet Calls Matmen To Lafayette

This morning six Hawkeye wrestlers will leave for Lafayette, Indiana to enter the Big Ten conference championship meet.

The boys who will pit their strength and skill against the best opposition that the Big Ten can offer are Bill Sherman, 121 pounds; Loy Julius, 128 pounds; Capt. Clarence Kemp, 155 pounds; Ralph Geppert, 165 pounds; Paul Whitmore, 175 pounds, and Art Johnson, heavyweight.

Leading the Hawkeye team is Capt. Clarence Kemp, who is second in the total number of points scored in dual competition this year.

Paul Whitmore, Iowa's outstanding performer in the 175-pound division is perhaps the most favored of the Hawkeyes to go places in the meet.

Leonard's Orchestra Will Play for Mecca Ball March 15

Mecca Queen Presentation Party Highlight

Informal S. U. I. Dance Will Be Climax Of Mecca Week Activities

Steven Leonard and his sweet swing orchestra will play for the informal Mecca Ball March 15 in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The organization is one of the country's newest orchestras and has recently concluded a record six month engagement at Melody Mill, prominent dancing spot of Chicago.

For the fifth year, the Mecca Ball committee will introduce a new band to the university campus. Among other bands that have been thus introduced are Dick Jurgens and Tommy Tucker.

West Coast Tour
Leonard is returning from an extended tour of the west coast and has just signed a contract to make a number of recordings for the Brunswick recording company. He has become a favorite particularly throughout the middle west, with his "Dick Jurgens" style.

A novel program is planned for the presentation of the Mecca Queen and her five attendants at this party climax of Mecca week activities to which university women will wear street-length dresses.

Candidates for Mecca Queen include Dorothy Brott, A3 of Marquette, Mich.; Lois Lippold, A3 of Wauwatosa, Wis.; Agnes Kane, A2 of Shenandoah; Virginia Craven, A3 of Sioux City; Alice McGowan, A2 of Marion, and Corinne Heister, A1 of Des Moines.

Committee Chairman
Verne Anthony, E3 of Iowa City, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Assisting him are Fred Stage, E3 of Davenport; Bill Metcalf, E4 of Knoxville; Bill Jackson, E3 of Cedar Rapids; and Henry Hardaway, E4 of Shepardsville, Ky.

Tickets will be available to all university students Monday at 8 a. m. at the main desk of Iowa Union.

Girl Scouts Busy Now

Make Dolls, Dress Them; Others Make Belts, Learn Dances

Dolls of any description are lovable to little girls, but there is something especially appealing about rag dolls. This is what members of Brownie troop, No. 19, of the Iowa City Girl Scouts are learning, as they make rag dolls as a handicraft project.

Girls in the troop, which is in Henry Sabin school, are cutting out and stuffing the dolls end embroidering the tiny faces. They will dress the dolls in the style of clothes that their own grandmothers wore, several of the costumes coming from Europe.

Leaders of the troop are Mrs. F. M. Barker and Mrs. Arthur Noel, her assistant.

"Hobbie Belts"
"Hobbie belts" are the handicraft work of Girl Scout troop, No. 10, at University high school.

Members make the belts from different colors of suede, tracing and cutting out designs representing their particular hobbies. Designs for the little "hobbie figures" are original.

Mrs. H. Garland Hershey is the leader of troop 10, and Cornelia Cameron is her assistant.

The intricate designs of the Highland fling have been learned by troop, No. 13, at Roosevelt school. Mrs. Alfred Seales is the teacher. The secrets of the kitchen have also been explored by troop 13 for a recent candy sale to buy tickets to the Girl Scout Birthday banquet to-night in the river room of Iowa Union.

Mrs. Dale Greenwald is the leader of troop 13; her assistant is Mrs. L. H. Crow.

C.A.A. pilot training students have flown 80,000 hours without a serious accident. Some 3,700 students have soloed.

Miss Zihlman has been a stewardess since 1937 and has a flight record of 500,000 miles in the air.

They Listen Classroom Broadcasts Win Popularity

Have you ever wondered how large an audience listens to the WSUI classroom broadcasts? Perhaps you thought the audience would be small because of the extremely technical nature of the material presented.

Prof. Bartholow V. Crawford conducts a class in "American Novel" which is broadcast every Tuesday and Thursday at 9 o'clock. From Feb. 1 to Feb. 23, seven announcements were made to the effect that the second semester reading list would be sent to anyone of the radio audience who wrote in requesting it.

From these seven announcements have come 78 requests to WSUI.

Taking the accepted figure that only one fourth of a radio audience would write in to a station,

Campus Women's Groups Will Elect Officers Wednesday

Day-Long Polls Will Be Open In Iowa Union

U. W. A., W. A. A., Y. W. C. A. Announce Lists of Candidates

Candidates for election to the offices of the three campus women's groups, the U.W.A., Y.W.C.A. and W.A.A., were announced yesterday by the dean of women's office and will be voted upon by the membership of the groups in a day-long election Wednesday in Iowa Union.

Margaret Kuttler, A3 of Davenport, and June Hyland, A3 of Traer, have been nominated to run for president of University Women's association, to which all undergraduate women in the university automatically belong with registration.

Beverly Barnes, A3 of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Jane Nugent, U of Oak Park, Ill., are candidates for secretary and Mary Frances Arduer A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Louise Seeburger, C3 of Des Moines, are candidates for treasurer. Two women running for freshman representatives to the council are Enid Ellison of Webster Groves, Mo., and Mary Barnes, of Iowa City.

Y.W.C.A. Candidates
Patricia Sleezer, A3 of Freeport, Ill., and Betty Addington, A3 of Des Moines, have been selected for the presidency of the Young Women's Christian association, and Mary Penningroth, A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Josephine Sidwell, A3 of Iowa City, for the secretaryship.

The treasurer of the organization will be determined between Mary Ellen Hennessy, A3 of Council Bluffs, and Dorothy Gleystein, A3 of Sioux City. Running for the two-year term as representative to the Student Christian council are Josephine McElhinney, A2 of Iowa City, and Virginia Ivie, A2 of Shenandoah. Only one candidate, Winifred Coningham, A1 of Middletown, Ill., has been announced for the one-year term representative.

In both U.W.A. and the Y.W.C.A. the unsuccessful candidate for president will automatically become vice-president.

W.A.A. Candidates
Annabelle Hinkle, A3 of Valparaiso, Ind., and Fern Newcomer, A3 of Iowa City, are candidates for president of the Women's Athletic association. Katherine J. Hrusovar, A2 of Moline, Ill., and Virginia Padovan, C3 of Numa, are listed for the vice-presidency of the organization.

Other W.A.A. candidates are Barbara Bagby, A3 of Iowa City, and Wahnia L. Lucas, A2 of Muscatine, for secretary, and Lucile J. Hardenbrook, A2 of Danville, Ill., and Mary Lipton, A2 of Ida Grove, for treasurer.

Governed by a council made up of four officers elected each spring, a freshman representative and heads of the projects sponsored by the group, the U.W.A. is the largest single organization on the campus, including in its membership all women in the university.

Y.W.C.A. Started in 1886
The Y.W.C.A. which had its beginnings in 1886 and which has actively promoted various campus activities since 1890, includes women of all beliefs and races and incorporates in its work social as well as community projects. Officers, a cabinet and a council administer the association.

W.A.A. is made up of women belonging to seasonal sports clubs and promotes interest in recreational activities, handicraft and sports.

The elections are administered by a central committee of 17 women headed by Miss Barnes, present secretary of the University Women's association. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Events in Mediterranean, Maginot, Finland Make Serious Crises Inevitable

-INTERPRETATIVE-

Italo-British Relations Under Strain

Nazi Raids on British May Mean 'Complete War' on West Front

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Events on far separated fronts in Europe's twin wars are rushing toward triple crises.

One point in the ominous triangle involves the delicately balanced status quo in the Mediterranean, Italian neutrality in the war between Germany and the Franco-British allies is under the heaviest strain that conflict has yet produced.

A show-down between London and Rome over British interception of coal shipments from Germany to Italy cannot be long delayed. The allies have called for it by their acts even before Britain framed her answer to Rome's sternly-worded protest against the blockade.

Mussolini has been challenged to show his hand, disclose definitely his true role in the European war conflagration. His reaction may decide whether there is to be peace in the Mediterranean, the Balkans and in the near east.

Grave Crisis

Simultaneously with the sudden evolution of this new and grave crisis, German shock troops lashed out in a raiding foray against a British advance post on the Maginot line. This could signal the early coming of "complete war" on the west front. Nazi storm troops and British tank units came to real grips in that action for the first time in this war.

A few score men on both sides were involved. Whatever the losses in casualties or prisoners, the only significance of the raid lies in the possibility that Nazi strategists were seeking to discover the weakest link in the Maginot line on which to center a major attack. They may be feeling for the junction of Franco-British armies in France. That is always the weak spot of allied armies.

Desperate Effort

It was against such an Anglo-French junction that imperial Germany aimed her last desperate effort for victory in the World War. She rolled back British forces and wrung a "back-to-the-wall" cry from the British commander, Sir Douglas Haig. Pershing's doughboys plugged that gap at Amiens just a few weeks short of 22 years ago.

Nazi press chortling over capture of British tank units in the recent raid suggests it might have been primarily to further the "war of nerves" and propaganda. Nazi loud speakers at the front blared their own account of the skirmish into the ears of French Poilus across no-man's-land, hoping to stir trouble in allied ranks.

Yet the raid could be a more definite forerunner of a major attack by Germany within days or weeks than any recent happening on the main front of the war.

The third angle of crisis is in Finland. Despite all odds, the Finns are still clinging desperately to the ruins of Viipuri on the western flank of the Karelian isthmus, yet it seems that only the intervention of the weather can long postpone its fall.

awarded the Croix de Guerre for his services.

Went to Harvard

When the war was over he returned to attend Harvard university and after graduation won a scholarship for a year's study at Trinity college, Cambridge. Upon his return to the United States he went to work for the publishing firm of Boni and Liveright. From Boni and Liveright he transferred to the Atlantic Monthly press. In 1928 he was made editor of the Press and in 1938 was chosen editor of the Atlantic Monthly.

Following the policy of the "Press," Weeks' principal concern was discovering and promoting new literary talent. He sponsored the now famous Atlantic contests, which regularly attract between 1,000 and 2,000 book-length manuscripts from young writers.

His interest and efforts in uncovering new writers is practically indefatigable and on his lecture tours, he is always glad to meet and know young writers.

Books He Edited

Some of the books brought out under the Atlantic imprint during Weeks' editorship include the Jaina books, the Bounty trilogy by Nordoff and Hall, "Goodbye Mr. Chips" by James Hilton, "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years," "The House of Exile" by Nora Wain and the war diaries of Harvey Cushing.

Admission to the lecture will be by ticket, which will be available to faculty members and students Monday and Tuesday at the Iowa Union information desk. Any tickets remaining Wednesday will be made available to the general public.

Y. M. Will Discuss Philosophy for Life

Dr. William H. Morgan, director of the religious activities office, will speak to members of the Y.M.C.A. at the group's weekly discussion group this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the "Y" rooms of Iowa Union.

John Bangs, A2 of Fairfield, will preside at the meeting, which will center around the topic, "The Elements of a Philosophy of Life."

coats Viipuri bay so heavily that Russian troops, lighter guns and even smaller tanks can use it to attempt invasion of the city on all sides, could save the Finns. Weather history of the upper reaches of the Gulf of Finland on which Viipuri stands gives no real promise of that before April comes. Yet the winter in Europe has been the coldest in decades, and a hard winter often forecasts an early spring.

The spring thaw has come along the Franco-German frontier. With it there has arrived in France the ally that failed Poland six months ago, mud.

Mud which is turning all but the main roads along the Maginot line into quagmire tank traps is a factor the Nazi high command must reckon with in dating an attack, if attack is to come. Mud and heat-rotted ice could yet hold Finland's Karelian gateway against all that Russia can do. The fickle weather gods may hold the balance of power both in France and Finland and determine the course of both wars for months to come.

Bridge Tournament Continues; Teams Will Forfeit Games If Not Played on Schedule

Auction and contract bridge teams listed below are scheduled to play their Union Board bridge tournament contests this afternoon and evening, it was announced last night by Ed. McCloy, C4 of Iowa City, chairman of the annual tournament.

Teams to play this afternoon in the contract division include Sigma Chi versus Chi Omega and Sigma Nu versus Alpha Chi Omega. In the auction division teams to play are Triangle versus Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Sigma versus Kappa Kappa Gamma and Quadrangle team two versus Alpha Chi Omega.

The evening games tonight in the contract division must be played by Phi Epsilon Pi versus Kappa Kappa Gamma, Sigma Phi Epsilon versus Pi Kappa Alpha, Currier hall team one versus Kappa Alpha Theta and Psi Omega versus Delta Gamma. Auction games at this time include Manse versus Eastlawn team two and Quadrangle team three versus Alpha Delta Pi.

McCloy stressed the point that these games must be played as scheduled or the teams must forfeit. Afternoon playing is from 4 to 6 and evening playing is 7 to 9, all in the women's lounge of Iowa Union.

Results of Tuesday's competition, in contract games, Delta Upsilon won over Hillcrest team one, Phi Kappa Sigma over Hillcrest team two and Phi Mu over Alpha Delta Pi. In auction Quadrangle team one defeated Phi Epsilon Pi and Eastlawn team one defeated the Kellogg-Folsom team.

Due to a mix-up in schedules, a group of matches scheduled for Tuesday were not played. They are Alpha Tau Omega versus Zeta Tau Alpha, Delta Chi versus Phi Alpha Delta, Kellogg-Folsom versus Phi Gamma Delta and Theta Xi versus Phi Delta Theta.

These matches must be played some afternoon or evening before Saturday, March 9, at 9 p.m., McCloy said last night.

Team captains and their telephone numbers may be secured by calling Iowa Union desk. If these delayed games are not played, they will be forfeited. McCloy requested that they be played at the regular playing times during the afternoon and evening.

$6,600,000 Coralville Dam Project 'Up to Government'

Four Iowa Citizens were told by Governor George A. Wilson yesterday that construction of a flood control dam at Coralville was "up to the government," it was learned last night.

The Associated Press reported that the governor referred to an attorney general's opinion to the effect that "if the government wants to put in the dam, it can go ahead."

Plans for the project include a $6,600,000 dam and reservoir. Approximately half of this sum would cover labor and material.

The conservation commission recently held a public hearing at Iowa City after passing a resolution objecting to the project contending it would damage Lake Macbride and Lake Macbride State park near Iowa City.

Yesterday's delegation was led by Gordon H. Brown, secretary of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, and included Representative William F. Morrison, Attorney Kenneth M. Dunlop and D. C. Nolan, all of Iowa City.

Doctors Submit Bills at Drake, Hazers Remit

DES MOINES, March 6 (AP)—Five Drake university students involved in a "hazing" incident Feb. 11 have paid the hospital and doctor bills of James Black, freshman from St. Joseph, Mo., who was "hazed," it was announced today.

Black collapsed after he was put in a shower at the new men's dormitory by the five students. He was in a hospital six days.

Dean L. E. Hoffman said the five students had paid the bills totaling $57.10. They were asked to pay the bills, Dean Hoffman said, because a faculty investigating committee felt neither Black nor the university was responsible for the incident.

chinery were damaged last Feb. 21 in a fire about which there was some talk of sabotage, although it was officially attributed to an electrical defect.

Tonight, the Mauretania, a lesser Britisher, was moved from pier 90—the current home of the Queen Mary and Normandie—to make room for the Elizabeth, and workmen scurried about under the dock lights making ready for her arrival. Whether the final minor construction still required in her interior is to be made while she remains here was not disclosed.

Shipping Reduced
The enforced leave taken by the Queen Mary and the French liners Normandie and Ile de France has greatly reduced British and French shipping here since the war began, although the new Mauretania and such other smaller British vessels as the Scythia, Georgic and Britannic have carried on a camouflaged and semi-secret traffic.

The Ile de France left her big berth in the North river some time ago and is now tied up at Staten island.

Safe Voyage Laid to Secrecy

LONDON, March 7 (Thursday) (AP)—Announcement that the giant liner Queen Elizabeth had crossed the Atlantic unharmed on a secret maiden trip was hailed throughout Great Britain today as striking proof of the royal navy's command of the seas and a remarkable tribute to the Englishman's ability to keep an important secret.

"Thousands of Clydeside people knew the Elizabeth had left her berth nine days ago and the Scottish and national press of Great Britain knew it," said the authoritative British Press association, "and yet the secret was kept."

"The lives of the crew of the great ship were at stake, not to mention the pride of the British navy itself. Clydesiders...remembered Britain's guardian motto, 'Careless talk costs lives.'"

University Sound Man Imitates Everything From Soup to Nuts

By CORINNE HAYES

"All he needs is a Tazman yell," might be your reaction when you see Ray Heinen, G. of Cherokee, beating his chest. He isn't fooling, however, because he is a sound man for radio station WSUI merely imitating the sound made by a man as he runs on the turf.

This is but one of thousands of sound pictures which Heinen, in charge of the sound department, must work out for local radio presentations. In fact, he has selected a vocation which is definitely "not a snap."

cellophane against strawberry boxes to give the sounds of a crackling good fire.

Fundamental sounds are classified into three groups, recorded, manual and vocal. Approximately 70 per cent of the sounds are recorded, but it still takes "a pile of junk" to present those manual sounds. Heinen must have everything from tubs to the aforementioned flour sifter to aid in university productions.

Boats and Oars

The creaking of oars as a boat is rowed along a river is nothing more or less than a squeaky chair. When the boat is pulled up on the beach, the sound man is scraping his foot in a box of gravel covered canvas. (Heinen could even find a practical use for that floor board back home that always squeaks when you are trying to sneak in late!)

Recordings come to the aid of the sound man whenever he has difficulty in producing the exact sound when he desires. The local radio station has such sounds as airplanes, applause, police cars, whistles, children, explosions, and scores of other recordings which attempt to simplify the job of the "man who makes the noises."

Other Duties

Heinen is working for his teacher's certificate this year with his major in speech. In addition to his extensive work as a sound technician, he is in charge of the record library and is farm editor for WSUI.

He was recently married to June Herring, daughter of Mrs. Charles Morganstern, 330 N. Linn street.

Second to his desire to give sound impressions, Heinen would like to serve as farm editor on a radio station after he has received his certificate.

That Model T
Imitating a Model T was "a tough assignment" which took much research, but the problem was solved by using a fish reel, an alarm clock, jello mold, flour sifter, noise maker, horn, cup and some corn. To start the rattling car the fish reel was wound, the alarm clock was set off and the revolving wheel was allowed to scrape the inside of the jello mold, the noise maker was whirled and the flour sifter turned, kernels of corn were dropped into the cup and the final touch which signified that the car had finally started was the blowing of the horn.

A sound man must have a natural ear for "noises" and a good rhythmic sense. He must be reliable and alert and possess a dramatic sense, so that he may easily tie his sound into the production. Those are but the personal requisites of a sound technician — he must be a handyman and master of more trades than you can possibly imagine.

Until television steps in to interrupt him, Heinen will continue to milk a cow over the air by taking an automobile tire pump filled with water and pumping it into a pail. He rubs

Heinen Controls Radio Sounds

"The dusty stage coach rattled and creaked as the drivers cracked their whips to speed the racing horses." That is just a sentence in a radio script, but it means work for Ray Heinen, official sound man for radio station WSUI. A wooden box pivoted on a metal rod and filled led with chains is what the technician uses to duplicate the noise that the coaches of years ago made as they clattered down the lonesome trails. Heinen is pictured above as he controls the "stagecoach" with his foot and pounds rubber plungers on dirt to imitate the rushing horses.

Iowa City Boys, Girls Will Stage Kite Contest March 30

Recreational Center To Sponsor Event Again This Spring

Iowa City boys and girls in grade school, junior high and high school will brave March winds on the last Saturday of the month to stage the annual Recreational Center kite contest, it was announced yesterday by Eugene Trowbridge, Center director.

In previous years the contest has been held on the practice field west of the field house. The competition, according to Trowbridge, will be divided into three classes. They are:

Class 1—Two or three stick, single plane kites.

Class 2—Novelty kites with single plane or curved surface of unusual design.

Class 3—Compound and box kites.

Awards in each class will be made for the best-built kite, the highest flyer, the smallest kite and the largest kite to fly.

A special feature of the meet will be the 100-yard dash. In this event each kite entered will have 300 feet of cord attached. At the starting signal all the kites will be launched and the contestant who is able to let out and wind in the length of the string in the shortest time will be the winner.

In last year's contest Iowa City merchants offered merchandise prizes to the winners of the individual contests.

Otto Toppenberg, craft instructor at the Center, is conducting classes in kite construction in the craft room on Saturday mornings from 9 to 12. The first meeting of the class was held last Saturday as Iowa City boys and girls started making preparations for the contest on March 30.

Mrs. Carney Suffers Hand, Forearm Burns

Mercer To Be Candidate For State Senator

Leroy S. Mercer of Iowa City, who has served three terms as representative in the state legislature, announced yesterday he would be a candidate for state senator from this district.

Mercer, who has long been prominent in civic affairs here, was chairman of many important committees, which include the appropriations committee, the ways and means committee, the public utilities committee and the interim committee, during his past terms of office.

Although he was born in Ohio, he received his education in the Iowa City schools and the University of Iowa, his parents having moved here when he was five years old.

Mercer is vice-president of the Economy Advertising company, president of the Iowa City Rotary club and a member of the Elks, Mystic Shrine, Knights Templar and Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Married and the father of two daughters, he lives at 709 South Summit street.

Seering Taken Into Custody

Wilbert Seering was taken into custody and placed in the county jail yesterday after he was accused, in an information filed by Roscoe Hall, of uttering a false instrument.

Seering, according to the information, signed a fictitious name on a check for $32.47 drawn against the Iowa State Bank and Trust company.

The warrant for Seering's arrest was signed by Police Judge Burke N. Carson.

Not So Cold Reached 37 Degrees Yesterday

To aid Johnson county taxpayers in preparing their 1939 Iowa income tax returns, Charles R. Forsen, auditor of state corporation and individual income tax division, will be in Iowa City during the week of March 11 to 16, it was announced yesterday.

Forsen will have a private room in the recorder's office at the Johnson county courthouse where county taxpayers may consult him.

Prof. H. H. Hoeltje To Discuss Emerson, Alcott in Lecture

'The Sheltering Tree' To Be Basis for Talk In Old Capitol Tonight

The relationship between Ralph Waldo Emerson and Bronson Alcott will be the subject of Prof. H. H. Hoeltje of the English department in his Baconian lecture tonight at 7:30 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

A chapter in the friendship of America's outstanding man of letters, Emerson, and whom he called America's greatest thinker, Alcott, will be the phase taken up by Professor Hoeltje. The lecture tonight comprises a chapter from his book, "The Sheltering Tree," which Professor Hoeltje expects to complete this coming summer.

This chief friendship in Emerson's life lasted for over fifty years, and is interesting today because the thoughts of these two men give us a cross view of the transcendental movement in America, a movement that has had no equal in American literature.

Both Emerson and Alcott were inveterate writers of journals, most of which have remained unpublished. It was to these sources that Professor Hoeltje turned for the material in "The Sheltering Tree."

A rattlesnake was once the emblem used by the colonies during the American revolution.

Three Chosen To Teach In New Session

Professors Appointed From Faculties Of U. S. Universities

Professors of three varied subjects from east, south, and Pacific coast have been appointed to the summer session faculty of the University of Iowa, it was announced yesterday.

Prof. Hardin Craig, an authority on Shakespeare who once was head of the university's English department, will come from Stanford university of California. He has been a member of several other summer session staffs here.

From the University of Florida in Gainesville will come Prof. Rollin S. Atwood to teach two courses in geography, including one on geographic factors underlying world economy.

The third appointee announced yesterday is Prof. Troyer Anderson of Swarthmore college of Pennsylvania, a history expert. His courses are on factors in development of modern Europe and 20th century Europe.

The Clue that Trapped the Heirs of Huey Long

ON THE MORNING OF JUNE 7, 1939, a hot tip came in to the city desk of the New Orleans States, evening newspaper sister of the famous Times-Picayune.

When a truck drove up before a half-built house in the suburbs and began unloading window sash, the States' photographer was hiding behind a hedge. The picture he got touched off a string of giant firecrackers that blew hundreds of Louisiana politicians out of the public trough.

► For the license plate proved that the truck belonged to Louisiana State University—and the half-built house belonged to the wife of a colonel on the governor's staff. Just a drop in the bucket of graft that the political heirs of Huey Long had been passing around for years. But the first case that could be proved—libelproof, airtight.

That night 64-year-old Jim Crown, the States' fighting editor, sat down on his bed and sobbed—reaction from months without respite in the front-line editorial trenches. "At last we get a break!"

► With the fuse once lit, the firecrackers kept popping around the cowering Longsters. Three men committed suicide; more than 200 faced federal and state indictments. It had been a great spree, but thanks to the battling Picayune papers, it was all over.

They're in the great American tradition, the dignified old Times-Picayune and the rip-roaring, rough-and-tumble New Orleans States. They have a line behind them that reaches back to Ben Franklin and Sam Adams and Tom Paine.

When Jim Crown strides around his office, dictating editorials at the top of his leather lungs, Greeley and Dana keep step with him: Pulitzer and Nast pound him on the back. And through him William Lloyd Garrison speaks again: "I am in earnest. I will not equivocate; I will not excuse; I will not retreat a single inch; and I will be heard!"

► Courage is probably, next to truth, the greatest quality that a newspaper can have. For the world abounds in forces, actions, events, and people before which neither man, nor newspaper, nor the Newsmagazine, can be coldly objective. Silence, indifference, genteel or amiable omissions are not true impartiality—they are just what the forces of corruption or stupidity want, the broth in which they thrive.

► TIME has never believed that icy indifference or "pure objectivity" is either possible or desirable in news reporting. Any colorful, humanized story contains something of the mental attitudes and judgments of the men who wrote and edited it.

But over and above this is the sense of heightened responsibility that characterizes these times, as it has other periods of crisis. These days are big with destiny for our country and the world. And the Newsmagazine in this era has a deep and peculiar responsibility. It is, in a sense, the national newspaper; it has the same obligation to all the people of the U. S. that the best dailies feel toward the people of their cities. That obligation means more than finding and condemning the things that are wrong. It also means finding and supporting the things that are right.

► It's not so easy as it sounds.

The world of right and wrong dresses in shades of gray. The pepper-and-salt of ordinary human nature... the protective coloration of the rascal... the unrepenting garments that can hide a clean white motive.

► Studying that gray crowd-picture, penetrating its disguises, throwing a searchlight here and an X-ray there, is part of TIME's job. TIME queries its reporters and correspondents again and again: "What's behind this? Who's behind it? Give us the background." TIME listens to people—all kinds of people, with all kinds of causes and crusades—balances their ideas against events, against knowledge, horse sense, and plain old American morals.

And sometimes when every possible scrap of fact, every line of expert and inexpert opinion is on the table, TIME editors still miss the last train home, trying to decide what's right, who's right, and how to let the people know it.

► Judgments arrived at this way are not infallible, for nothing human is. But they are genuinely responsible. Essential to people who share TIME's attitudes—stimulating to people who don't. And backed by the courage of conviction.

This is one of a series of advertisements in which the Editors of TIME hope to give all the readers of this newspaper a clearer picture of the world of news-gathering, news-writing, and news-reading—and the part TIME plays in helping you to grasp, measure, and use the history of your lifetime as you live the story of your life.
