PEACE TALKS REACH FINAL STAGE

Finland Downcast Over Russian Peace Proposal

Sweden Acts As Mediator To Opponents

Expects Nazis To Seek Diplomatic Aid

Italy May Be Asked To Stall Allies While Finnish Peace Made

-FROM ROME-

ROME, March 8 (AP)—Diplomatic circles tonight expressed the belief that German foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop in week end conferences with Premier Mussolini would seek Italy's aid in forestalling allied aid to Finland while Adolf Hitler tries to arrange a Finnish-Russian settlement.

Others expressed the opinion that Il Duce might be asked to appeal to undersecretary of state Sumner Welles for United States aid in mediating Soviet claims on Finland when President Roosevelt's personal envoy returns to Rome about March 16.

Would Prevent Spread

Diplomats said Von Ribbentrop probably would press on Mussolini and his foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, the urgency of helping bring about peace between Russia and Finland to prevent a spread of the northern war.

These sources said they expected Adolf Hitler's emissary would urge the Italians moreover to take a "tough stand" toward Britain in the controversy over British detention of Italian ships carrying German coal.

Germany was believed in diplomatic circles to be anxious to prevent an allied expeditionary force of 30,000 Canadian, Polish and Hungarian volunteers from going to Finland's aid.

Invade Sweden

Foreign observers who investigated rumors all day regarding Von Ribbentrop's visit said he might tell Mussolini that Germany would invade Sweden if the volunteers started for Finland through Scandinavia.

Hitler wants to know what Italy would think about that.

Informed sources said that although official relations between Britain and Italy were calm, they were "really bad" over the coal dispute.

Begin Conversations

Neutral circles reported that Eivind Svinhufvud, former president of Finland, was due in Rome from Berlin perhaps tomorrow for talks simultaneous with the German-Italian conversations.

British press declarations that Italy could not expect "favored treatment" in the allied blockade of Germany drew a sharp retort from Mussolini's Il Popolo D'Italia.

"We say that in order to moralize the world and above all to pacify it, this immoral law which attempts to cut off the air one breathes must cease, even though this air may be of service to the brutality of British egoism," the newspaper said.

Increase Seen For Farm Bill

Senate Subcommittee O. K.'s $297,000,000 For Agriculture Funds

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The congressional economy drive came to an abrupt halt today when a farm-minded senate appropriations sub-committee approved a $297,000,000 increase in agriculture department funds.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said the group raised the total in the annual farm bill to $958,000,000, compared with $749,561,000 previously voted by the house, and $788,929,519 recommended by President Roosevelt.

But that total, he explained, told only part of the story. In addition, the subcommittee directed that the Reconstruction Finance corporation lend $100,000,000 additional to farm agencies—to avoid new appropriations—and that $80,000,000 of benefit payments be shifted to this year's funds from next year.

In all, Russell said the senate group provided more than $1,000,000,000 for the far flung agricultural programs under Secretary Wallace for the fiscal year starting July, compared with $1,307,780,000 for this present fiscal year.

The bulky supply bill will be submitted to the full appropriations committee tomorrow and is expected to reach the senate floor for action Monday.

Expect More Inclusive War If Talk Fails

Finns May Want To Enlist Scandinavian Or Allied Backing

-INTERPRETATIVE-

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer

Peace moves in the Russo-Finnish conflict have set off a new wave of jitters in the capitals of the world; but whether they actually foreshadow peace, or only a bigger, more terrible war baffles conjecture.

The only certain factor as yet is that a peace drive is on in northern Europe. It may be that it is only a Russian peace offensive aimed at war-strained nerves in Finland and Scandinavia. Or it may be that it is a desperate Finnish effort to enlist complete Scandinavian or Franco-British help against her powerful foe before it is too late.

If inspired from Moscow, however indirectly, the peace talk may well represent a Russian attempt to adopt the next technique. Hitler followed up his swift and crushing defeat of Poland with peace proffers to the Franco-British allies, peace on his own terms. They were scornfully rejected in Paris and London.

Should it develop, however, that some Finnish official source is endeavoring to open a diplomatic back-door to discussion of peace terms with Moscow, the motive might be either desperation and an impending collapse of the Finnish defenses, or an effort to force the issue of Scandinavian or Franco-British intervention.

There has been no hint of Finnish despair, grave as is the Finns' situation on the Karelian front. On the contrary, the Russian attack on the Viipuri flanks seems still stalled after a week of bloody battering.

Whatever the facts of the sudden eruption of peace talk, it came precisely at a time when circumstances of the war in Finland logically forecast a Moscow peace offensive. The Finn's Mannerheim line has been bent back across the Karelian isthmus until it now runs almost at right angles to its original front. The first declared Russian objective in attacking her little neighbor has been attained. Nowhere are the Finns now within even big-gun shot of Leningrad.

The "dove of peace" seemingly fluttering over Finland might easily turn out to be just another war-bird of ill omen for Finland and Europe. It depends on whose dove-cote it came from. It may be bearing an olive branch or a bomb.

Chamberlain's Refusal to Deputation Motivated Roosevelt To Send Welles

LONDON, March 8 (AP)—Dr. Alfred Salter, laborite member of parliament, disclosed tonight a deputation of peers and commoners seeking to press Prime Minister Chamberlain to agree to a peace conference had been refused a hearing by Chamberlain, and suggested that the plan involved motivated President Roosevelt to send Sumner Welles to Europe.

Salter linked the move with a purported peace offer by Germany which the Chamberlain government said in the house of commons last month it had received despite lack of evidence it was authentic.

Germany since has repudiated the so-called peace offer.

Dr. Salter added a meeting of British and Scandinavian churchmen, called after President Roosevelt "asked Protestant churches in America to get in touch with their brethren" in Europe, also influenced the president.

"The final factor which decided President Roosevelt to send Welles on his European mission was the receipt from the Swedish minister in Washington of a document which purported to contain terms upon which as a basis Germany was prepared to discuss peace," Salter said.

"That document was similar in all essentials to that which Lord Tavistock obtained from the German legation in Dublin.

The document, sponsored by Lord Tavistock and since repudiated by the German legation in Dublin proposed an independent "reconstructed" Poland, freedom for reconstituted Czech and Slovak states, disarmament all around, membership by Germany in a reformed League of Nations, return of all or some German colonies and a plebiscite to determine the future of Austria.

Senator Barkley Stops Attempt To Kill Anti-Politics Hatch Bill

Ban Would Extend To State Employees As Well as Federal

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—By a dramatic threat to resign his leadership of senate democrats, Senator Barkley of Kentucky late today blocked a determined attempt to kill off the pending Hatch "anti-politics" legislation.

The bill would extend to all state employees who get any part of their pay from federal funds, the existing Hatch act's ban on political activity by federal employees. President Roosevelt has said it should be passed and Barkley has been fighting for it.

But a majority of senate democrats have displayed hostility to the Hatch act in its present form and many of them also are fighting the extension legislation. Only a combination of republican and democratic votes prevented senate approval this week of an amendment to relax a major provision of the original act.

Today, while debate on the extension resolution was going on, a group of democratic senators gathered in a cloakroom. Through the glass doors, they could be seen arguing excitedly.

It was learned later that opponents of the act had surrounded Barkley. First, they presented a request that he call a party caucus. When a caucus is held, the usual tendency is for every one present to feel bound by the majority decision, although there may be individual exceptions.

The result would be that foes of the pending Hatch legislation might be able to kill it, and perhaps even to open up the original act, and alter it.

Davis Criticizes 'Vested Interest' Medical Staffs

BOSTON, March 8 (AP)—Michael M. Davis, New York medical economist, criticized "vested interests" on hospital medical staffs today, and urged that hospital facilities be opened "more widely to the rank and file" of the profession without lowering standards.

Asserting the latter policy "is necessary for the sake of both the profession and the public," he told the 18th meeting of the New England Hospital association.

"Vested interests on the part of senior staff members who do not wish to see their staff services or their private practice diluted by any staff enlargement should not be allowed to stand in the way."

Iowa Attorney Not To Run

John Valentine Says He Will Keep Job Instead of Nomination

DES MOINES, March 8 (AP)—John K. Valentine today chose to stay where he is rather than run for the democratic nomination for governor of Iowa.

In a statement that closed the door even against the party drafting him for the top spot on its ticket, the southern Iowa federal district attorney from Centerville, Iowa, said:

"The necessity of providing for the future of my family and myself leaves me no alternative but to continue the practice of law as United States district attorney and in my Centerville office."

Valentine last May was appointed southern Iowa district attorney at $5,600 a year. His four-year term ends in 1943.

His decision not to run leaves the field virtually clear for state senator Ed Breen of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

The Valentine boom, which reached a peak at the Jackson Day dinner here, in large part was nurtured by senator Clyde L. Herring. The senator today in Washington said he would wait until he heard directly from Valentine before he would comment on the situation.

Sees Stall To Perfect Better Offense Moves

2,000 Reds Killed In Heavy Fighting Over Four Ladoga Islands

-FROM HELSINKI-

HELSINKI, March 8 (AP)—There was no rejoicing in Finland tonight over the prospect of a peace with Russia.

On the streets of the capital men looked at one another with grave faces and said, of the reported Soviet peace terms: "We cannot accept."

Bitterly, some Finns saw only this in the Russian offer to trade peace for large and strategic area of Finland and military concessions: a bid to gain time to perfect offensive strategy.

Others thought it was a "bargaining offer," which might be scaled down if Finland looked upon it seriously.

There was a hush of official silence on the maze of reports concerning negotiations, but the Finnish armies of the isthmus fought on doggedly in their defense of Viipuri, which was Finland's third city before it became a hollow shell of war ruins.

The high command announced that 2,000 more red army soldiers had been killed north of Lake Ladoga, where the Soviet military leaders yesterday claimed the capture of four islands.

The high command communique said that the Russians had lost heavily as they attacked all day yesterday against the northwest coast of Viipuri bay. Fighting raged around the capes and islands at the mouth of the bay until nightfall, but the Finns held their positions.

Eight batteries of artillery which the Russians moved out on the frozen surface of the bay to support their attacks were destroyed by Finnish coastal guns, which also blasted numerous enemy tanks, the communique declared.

It said the Finnish air force had bombed and machine-gunned "close-packed enemy units, transport vehicle, tank and troop columns and artillery batteries crowded on the islands and ice of Viipuri bay."

Between Viipuri and the Vuoksi river the Russians failed in several local attacks in which they lost seven tanks and two armored cars. Still farther west on the Karelian isthmus, the Finns said, they repulsed an attempted crossing of the Vuoksi river, while in the vicinity of Paakola the bodies of 400 Russians killed in fighting the previous day were counted in front of the Finnish lines.

Welles Told of French Post-War Plans

Finds Allies in 'Good Health', Considering Pan-European Union

PARIS, March 8 (AP)—Extension of the French-British alliance into a "pan-European union" after the war, French foreign office sources said tonight, is one of the key ideas which French leaders have given Sumner Welles in the first two days of his three-day visit in Paris.

President Roosevelt's emissary is scheduled to conclude his fact finding mission in France tomorrow with a conversation with finance minister Paul Reynaud and a visit to the Polish emigre government at Angers. Welles will leave Sunday for London, where ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy is making arrangements for his talks

Sea Giant's Skipper

Latest hero among seafaring men is Capt. J. C. Townley, skipper of the British super-ship, Queen Elizabeth. Under Townley, the huge luxury liner was sailed safely from the Clydebank, Scotland, yards where it was built, to the safety of New York harbor.

Alcantara Stands By While German Boat Loads Large Cargo

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 8 (AP)—The former British royal mail liner Alcantara, displaying the small cannon which place her among Britain's auxiliary men-of-war, stood by this port tonight while the 8,498 German passenger-freighter Lahn loaded a million dollar cargo and sailed up river to Buenos Aires.

Uruguayan neutrality laws ordinarily would have required the 22,209-ton Alcantara to depart 24 hours after her arrival in port yesterday, but she was detained by the same laws another 24 hours following the departure of the enemy vessel.

The Lahn's departure for Buenos Aires puzzled observers. She seemed bent on running the tight British blockade of the south Atlantic and making a dash for Germany.

However, granting this were true, shore watchers asked why she would try to leave Buenos Aires, a full day's sail up the La Plata river, with a cargo which she would have small chance of getting through the mouth of the estuary.

Iowa Leads In Promoting Safety

DES MOINES, March 8 (AP)—W. Earl Hall of Mason City, told the spring council meeting of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs today that Iowa has the best organization in the country for promoting highway safety.

Hall, managing editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette and former president of the Iowa state safety council, told the 200 women:

"Our picture, with the state's own agencies and the schools brought into it in an important way, is more complete than it was when our entire reliance was in the safety council's program, which is essentially one of adult education."

Swedish Submission To Opponents

Finnish Submission To Russian Demands Asked Before Peace

-FROM STOCKHOLM-

STOCKHOLM, March 9 (Saturday) (AP)—Russo-Finnish negotiations for peace have reached the final stage, it was learned early today, with Soviet Russia demanding that Finland accept Soviet conditions before there is even an armistice.

The Swedish foreign office confirmed that Sweden had acted as intermediary to establish contact between Finland and Russia.

This work of mediation is understood to have taken several weeks, both parties being unwilling to take any step which might be interpreted as a sign of weakness.

Eventual Peace

When the negotiations finally were begun, the Finns expressed a desire for an armistice, during which an eventual peace might be discussed.

The Russians refused. They said that if there was to be peace, the conditions must be established before hostilities were suspended.

Authoritative Swedish sources flatly denied that Sweden had pressed the Finns to accept Russia's conditions or that Sweden, in moving for peace, acted under German pressure.

(This dispatch was permitted to pass through a strict Swedish censorship.)

Terms Severe

The Russian peace terms have been described as much more severe than those which Finland refused to accept last fall, before she was invaded.

They are understood to include the ceding of the entire Karelian isthmus, the besieged city of Viipuri; the entire northern coast of Lake Ladoga; the Hanko peninsula and its naval port and at least a portion of the Petsamo district in the Arctic.

Finnish foreign minister Vaino Tanner, talking by telephone with the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet yesterday, said Russo-Finnish contacts remained unbroken. Contact is known to have been established between Elias Erkkio, Finnish minister to Sweden and Madame Alexandra Kollontay, Soviet minister to Sweden.

No Sign of Lull On War Front

HELSINKI, March 9 (Saturday) (AP)—A Finnish government spokesman, questioned concerning reports that fighting had ceased on the Karelian isthmus, declared this morning "the situation has not changed."

The spokesman made his comment shortly after midnight. He pointed out that yesterday's army communique was dated "noon, March 8," and made no mention of an end to hostilities which have raged on the isthmus since last November.

"There will be no official comment on all of these rumors," he said.

Newspapers Circulation Up

NEW YORK, (AP)—Editor and Publisher, the trade magazine, said yesterday daily newspaper circulation in the United States increased 42.7 percent in the last 20 years.

Farmers Need Action-F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt said tonight the war abroad had made it "more than ever important for farmers to have a government in Washington that is looking out for their interests—not just by uttering generalities but by specific action."

Together with secretary Wallace and postmaster general Farley, the chief executive spoke by radio to groups of farmers gathered at dinner meetings in the agricultural states. The occasion was the seventh anniversary of the inception of the new deal farm programs.

Wallace, an open advocate of a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, described the chief executive as the "greatest friend" the farmers ever had in the White House. The new deal program, he added, had "specifically recognized the right of the farmers of the United States to economic equality."

Farley said the farm program had received "nearly universal support," because "its administration has been kept out of politics." The cities, he continued, "have every reason to support it" because of "the close relationship between farm prosperity and city prosperity."

From the president came a statement that "the farmers have had a long hard struggle to get laws and programs which give them an opportunity to obtain economic and social justice, to make it possible for them to conserve the good earth which, next to our people and our tradition of freedom is our greatest heritage." To this he added: "I am happy in the thought that American farmers have gone part way along that road to economic and social justice even though they have not reached the goal.

"I am happy in the thought that American farmers understand full well that other great groups, such as the industrial and retail groups in the cities, great and small, such as the small businessmen of the nation, have not yet attained the goal of social and economic justice even though in these seven years they have made undisputed progress toward it."

He went on to say the farm program had been gradually evolved and adapted to the needs of the individual farmer, of the nation and of the land itself. The country's "last frontier of new lands" had been reached, he added, and there was no choice "but to conserve and rebuild our existing soil."

Throughout the programs, he continued, there had been a thread of democracy, with committees of individual farmers providing localized control and the "great general farm organizations" helping to evolve and supporting the policies adopted.

The president said he wished he could tell the farmers that the "whole world had been restored to prosperity and friendly commerce." The administration's reciprocal trade program had "brought results" in better markets for both industrial and farm products, he added, but "in the midst of a world at war, we find that the foreign commerce we had managed to achieve is rudely disturbed."

Chalk Up Another One For Dean Turner!

DEAN TURNER of Illinois, everybody admitted after last Sunday night's interfraternity dinner, was the most adept fellow you ever saw at hitting the nail on the head. He spoke for 50 minutes, and every one of the 50 was worthwhile.

Every minute may have been incommensurate, in part, but then again every minute held something constructive.

There was his specific indictment concerning the willingness of fraternities the nation over to have a "lovely downstairs" when things upstairs "aren't so hot."

The American Standard Of Wastefulness

ONE OF the most popular adjectives a foreigner uses in describing an American probably is "wasteful." Two or three oriental families might be able to live on the food one American family throws away.

John A. A. should be very proud of his standard of living—if he measures it in this way, for he is wasteful in many more ways than one. Being a great lover of movies, he sees an impressive number of them in a year's time.

It ought to be apparent to fraternity men that, while they may know just exactly what a fraternity may mean in comradeship and myriad advantages, the rush doesn't. He has to be sold on fraternities, and the house (not just PART of the house) is a big selling point.

The Scapegoat Gets It In The Neck Again

KNOCKED FROM pillar to post in the majority of countries comprising the civilized world, the Jews for a time breathed a sigh of relief when it appeared that a national home in Palestine would be established.

The most recent blow to the wandering race is almost a coup de grace in the form of the new land laws over which the British government won a motion of censure brought forth by the opposition laborites and liberals.

Why these land laws which prohibit the transfer of much needed land from Arabs to Jews were invoked was explained by Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald.

On the contrary side was Chairman John Hamilton of the republican national committee who saw the G. O. P. tide moving higher.

But Secretary of Agriculture Wallace felt the tide of republican reaction retreating as a result of the election.

Somebody must be wrong. Soon the spring plowing will begin. Maybe that's why so many golf clubs' greens committees are beginning to look worried.

War I England found the Jews very influential and that that influence was sought by means of a promised land. England received the backing of the Jews. Now that it seems that the Jews do not amount to much in the field of power, England turns to the Arabs.

The Arabs are noted for their fighting ability, and this may come in handy if and when the war spreads eastward. Just another good example of England at work.

Harvard's 'Anti-Oomph' Irks Ann Sheridan

HARVARD UNIVERSITY students in their publication, the Lampoon, laruped the cinema's current sex appeal queen, Ann Sheridan, by selecting her as the actress most unlikely to succeed.

Apparently Harvard undergraduates don't care for the unsophisticated type of acting of Miss Sheridan. Apparently they find it too much of a return to primitive sex appeal. It is unfortunate they had to voice their collective opinion so loudly, though.

It can't be denied that her retaliations against Harvard and all that it stands for are unfair and biased. On the other hand, the Lampoon acted indiscreetly by publicly selecting her as the actress most unlikely to succeed.

If the Democrats Lose House AND White House This Fall, There'll Be One Jumbled Government

There can be one of the worst governmental jumbles in Washington in 1941 and 1942 that this country ever saw. In fact, it can be avoided in only one way—by the election this year of a democratic president and a democratic house of representatives.

The whole nub of it is this: The democrats can be beaten presidentially, because 1940 is a presidential year. They can lose their representorial majority, because all representorial seats will be at stake.

There have been cases before where a president, starting off with congress back of him, has lost control of one or the other house, or both of them, in his own mid-term, but in the present instance there's an excellent chance that the whole situation will be split up dating from Inauguration Day.

Suppose that the democrats elect their presidential candidate and hang onto their representorial majority.

If the Democrats Lose House AND White House This Fall, There'll Be One Jumbled Government

By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Columnist. They still will control the senate, even if by a narrow margin. They'll be solid for at least two more years.

The former CAN gobble the entire outfit. The latter can't—not this time. The truth is that the G. O. P. management, when it expresses itself sotto voce, is more confident of scooping in a representorial majority than it is of swiping the White House.

The executive mansion is recognized as a good deal of a gamble, with the odds perhaps somewhat in the democrats' favor, since the republicans (though they don't own up to it) haven't any such appealing first place candidates as several of the democrats.

There are two congressional houses will disagree with one another in all probability. And if, by chance, the republicans capture the White House, while missing a representorial majority, both houses will disagree with the president.

There have been cases before where a president, starting off with congress back of him, has lost control of one or the other house, or both of them, in his own mid-term, but in the present instance there's an excellent chance that the whole situation will be split up dating from Inauguration Day.

No Swing For Hoagland Band Leader Profits By Public's Change To 'Sweet' Rhythms

NEW YORK — New Yorkers never really became acquainted with Everett Hoagland until this winter, principally because Mr. Hoagland is a stubborn sort of bloke with a band, and when swinging hit the saddle a few years ago he said to hell with it and kept on playing music the way he likes it and the way he thinks it ought to be played.

So, while the east has been under a sort of swing blackout, Hoagland and Co. has cruised about the country, making a few friends here, a few there, playing on the coast, playing on the gulf, just kicking around, and in general doing all right.

It was upon this changing scene that Hoagland arrived a couple of months ago, and since that time he has been a busy young man. His name began popping up in the columns. The people began tuning in on him, or calling around the Empire Room at a Park Avenue hotel to get a load of him in person.

What is the chief characteristic of his music? Something akin to organ effects, I suppose—based on a soft recording bass with saxes in the deeper tones. Don Burke is his vocalist, and Don is a whole story in himself.

Less than a year ago he was just a lonely job in the navy. When his enlistment ended he wandered around in his seaman's garb, wondering what would happen next. He didn't even have street clothes to wear for an audition with Hoagland.

The next step was to send him over to Hoagland's tailor for a complete outfit, and while measurements were being taken the tailor suddenly inquired: "What is your name?"

"Burkshire," said Ray. "I mean Burke. . . No, it's Burkshire. . . Say," he cried to Jim Kinney, the band's road manager, who was standing nearby. "What IS my name?"

When a man was reported to have entered a University of Pennsylvania women's dormitory, institution's dean of women allayed the fears of gals and cops with the following: "The man had more to fear than the girls—because 150 women are their own protection."

Long known for their two-bit words and ominous sounding phrases, the medical professors of our institutions of higher learning have come in for a bit of ribbing because of them.

Harvard and Yale naval R. O. T. C. students aren't as tough as they ought to be, in the opinion of one member of congress—and he thinks something ought to be done about it.

TUNING IN with D. Mac Showers

SWING MUSIC is now definitely on the skids but the realization has hit home that there are few sweet outfits now really in the front ranks. It's my opinion, however, that when swing music has completed its fade-out and sweet styles are again favored by dancing America, such up-and-coming bands as Everett Hoagland, Del Courneyne, Art Kassel and Jack McLean come to the fore.

AND THEN, of course, it's strange how drastically a swing band of old can change its style over night to suit the fancy of its customers.

Mohawks Wallop Iowa Falls, 37-20; Creston Has Trouble

DES MOINES, March 8 (AP)—Mason City and Creston, prominent title contenders, turned in expected victories in semifinal contests in the boys' district high school basketball tournament tonight.

The Mohawks chalked up their twenty-seventh straight victory by licking Iowa Falls 37 to 20. Creston, however, narrowly escaped defeat, beating back Atlantic's challenge, 26 to 24, in two overtime periods.

Marshalltown and Ames, two central Iowa standouts, advanced without much trouble, and will play in third district's class A final at Ames tomorrow night. The Bobcats stopped Tama, 35 to 27, while Ames beat Roosevelt of Des Moines, 31 to 24.

Muscatine, the Little Six champion, moved ahead with a 36 to 27 victory over Williamsburg and Anamosa shook Dubuque from the running by a 21 to 20 score.

Other prominent class A teams to win included Ottumwa, Centerville, Waverly, Central of Sioux City, Lorimer, Spirit Lake and Holstein.

In a mild upset, Ute, a class B finalist last year, was eliminated, 21 to 26, by Sergeant Bluff.

Three Hawks Qualify For Loop Mat Finals

AROUND THE BIG TEN

THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS basketball squad presented Coach Doug Mills with a set of matched golf woods at a recent banquet. . . Mills also paid due credit to his great pupil, Bill Hapac, saying that his greatest accomplishment was, "not in your records, but rather in your ability to hold your tongue in your check, control your temper, and come back fighting like a gentleman."

LARRY ARMSTRONG, coach of Minnesota's A. A. U. hockey champions has only one regret to make: "There'll never be another hockey team like this one."

The national intercollegiate wrestling tournament will be held at Illinois on March 29 and 30. . . Only 800 season tickets to the state basketball tourney remain to be sold, according to Charley Galher's latest report. . . . When doctors called for blood donors for George Skogvold, Minnesota athlete, over 50 teammates volunteered.

Now that Iowa's basketball season is over and only the trackmen are spring holdovers, attention is being rapidly shifted to the Hawkeyes' baseball nine. . . The Hawkeyes, winner of the conference flag the past two seasons, appear to have another title contender this season. . . With a veteran infield consisting of Frank Kocur, Erwin Prasse, and Andy Kantor and Norman Hankins behind the plate, Coach Otto Vogel has the nucleus for a powerful team. Vogel also has a pair of invaluable co-captains in Jim George, the conference's leading hitter last year, and Harold Haub, finest hurler in the conference. . . The Hawks embark on their annual trip to the southland next Saturday to play a six-game bill with two schools in Louisiana. . . With their return game here they have a two game series each with Bradley Tech and Luther before meeting Big Ten competition. . . There's a wisp of spring in the air and it won't be long till the clatter of bats and the boos of the spectators ring in the poor umpire's ears.

Michigan Gets Four Places

Sherman, Julius, Whitmore of Iowa Still in Running

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 8 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—The battle for the Big Ten's 1940 wrestling championship appeared to hang between Michigan, Indiana and Iowa tonight as the Wolverines, Hoosiers and Hawkeyes set the pace through the semi-finals.

Michigan put five men through the opening round and sent four into the finals, the Hoosiers had four winners in the first round and put them all through the semis, while the Hawks qualified four in the openers, with only Art Johnson in the heavyweight going out in his second match. In the first round two Iowans, Ralph Peppert, 165 pounds, and Clark Clarence Kemp, 155, lost decisions to McDaniel of Indiana and Janesko of Minnesota. ## Billy Burke, Wood Favored Over Dick Metz, Ky Laffoon

Veteran Golfer Appears Successful In Comeback Try

CORAL GABLES Fla., March 8 (AP)—Billy Burke has been something of a forgotten man in big time golf the last several years, but the records show that over a long route he is still one of the best in the business.

That is one reason he and Craig Wood are favored to beat Dick Metz and Ky Laffoon tomorrow in the delayed 36-hole final of the $5,000 international four-ball tournament.

It is of Burke's own choosing that he hasn't appeared much in the headlines since he won the 1931 national open. He prefers to devote the larger part of his time to teaching the game, and has passed up the winter circuit in favor of his job at Belleair, Fla., the last six years.

He is 37 now, but his nerves still behave under fire and his iron approaches to the green are little short of miraculous.

"I am playing as well now as I ever did," Burke said today puffing placidly on his ever-present cigar. "Just before coming down here I had two 65's, a 63 and a 64 up at Belleair. It's a par of 71 course, and that 64 last Friday included a nine-hole 30."

During the first three rounds of the four-ball Burke and Wood were 31 under par for an even 100 holes—almost a birdie every third hole.

Marathon tournaments, indeed, are right down Burke's alley. His 1931 national open victory was the longest on record—144 holes. He and George Von Elm tied at the end of the regulation 72 holes. They were even again with a 36-hole playoff and Burke won by a single shot on a succeeding 36-hole overtime session.

Iowa Freshmen Nip Buckeyes

The Hawkeye Freshman swimming team made a successful start on the defense of its 1939 undefeated record by downing the Ohio State frosh, 49 to 26, in a postal match.

Vito Lopin was high scorer for Iowa, taking a first in the 100-yard freestyle and a second in the 50-yard freestyle. "Povi" Povallitis missed the national record by 1.4 seconds in winning the 200-yard breast stroke. His time was 2:19.8.

136 pounds—Wilson, Indiana, defeated Taylor, Minnesota, 13-5; Ritz, Wisconsin, defeated Lindeman, Purdue, 11-1.

145 pounds—Montanaro, Ohio State, threw Thomas, Chicago, in 1:50; Combs, Michigan, defeated Martens, Wisconsin, 14-2.

155 pounds—Danner, Michigan, defeated Boyd, Illinois, 13-6; Weiss, Indiana, defeated Janesko, Minnesota, 13-11, in overtime.

165 pounds—McDaniel, Indiana, defeated Galles, Michigan, 2-1; Schumacher, Minnesota, defeated Ferguson, Northwestern, 7-3.

175 pounds—Nichols, Michigan, defeated Sawchyn, Ohio State, 8-5; Whitmore, Iowa, defeated Roberts, Wisconsin, 9-6.

Heavyweight—Downes, Ohio State, threw Sikich, Illinois, in 5:10; Jordan, Michigan, defeated Johnson, Iowa, 5-4.

Gymnasts In Fourth Place

CHICAGO, March 8 (AP)—The University of Minnesota won the Big Ten gymnastics championship tonight by half a point from the University of Illinois, defending champion.

The Gopher team scored a total of 105 1-2 points to take its second gymnastics title in three years.

Chicago finished third with 55 points and Iowa, only other team competing, was fourth with 91-2 points.

Delver Daly of Minnesota won the all-around championship with 178 points.

Open Field House EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State college opened its $1,400,000 Jenison field house last night to the greatest aggregation of track athletes to visit this campus. The athletes, numbering more than 250, were here for the 14th running of the Central collegiate track championships, an event which previously was held at Notre Dame.

Prep Tourney Tickets Sell At Fast Rate

Only about 800 season tickets for the state high school boys' basketball tournament remained on sale at the University of Iowa athletic department Friday.

Charles Galher, business manager of athletics who is handling the sale for the Iowa High School Athletic association, said that about 2,000 already had been sold at $2.50 each. The ticket entitles the holder to a reserved seat at each of the seven sessions starting Thursday, March 14 and ending Saturday evening, March 16.

It also was reported by Galher that the sale of tickets for the individual sessions is heavy. Games will be played Thursday morning, afternoon, and evening; Friday afternoon and evening, with the semi-finals Saturday afternoon and the championship game that evening.

All orders for school children's tickets at the rate of 25 cents per session must be in by Wednesday, March 13, Galher said.

Jenkins Stops Larkin in First

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—Lew Jenkins, knockout specialist from Sweetwater, Texas, climbed into a commanding spot for a chance at the lightweight championship tonight by flattening Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N. J., boxer, in the first round of a scheduled 15-round fight in Madison Square Garden.

Jenkins weighed 134 1-4; Larkin 135 1-4.

Picked For Squad

SIoux CITY (AP)—Orlan Ott, Hartley, golden glove heavyweight boxer who was selected as a member of the Chicago squad for the intercity bouts with New York's champions, yesterday declined the bid because of a press of studies at Morningside college here.

Mason City's Powerful Mohawks Threaten State High School Basketball Contenders

Mason City's Mohawks under the leadership of Coach Judge Grimsley are the choice to succeed the defending champion, Creston, for the 1940 state high school crown.

The Mohawks have won 27 games to date, including the game with Iowa Falls last night. They beat Muscatine's Muskies twice, by top heavy scores to show their strength. Grimsley has three of his first team men back from last season. They are: Jim Humphrey, forward; Don Pickell, center, and Bill Collanton, a guard. Major and Barbour round out the quintet, the former is a forward and the latter a guard.

Marshalltown, Webster City, and Franklin, Cedar Rapids gave the Mohawks some close calls. Art Rust's Franklin team was leading Mason City for 28 minutes of play, until the Mohawks came to life and won by four points. Grimsley's team this year made history for the school, a winning streak of 27 games and still going strong; the former record was 13 games in a row, by Mason City's 1935 state chamions. There is also a new attendance record.

Mason City finished fourth last year in the state tournament. Diagonal beat the Mohawks 33 to 21 in the semifinals and Marshalltown beat them 36 to 30 in the consolation final. Everybody will remember last year when Mason City beat Sac City 22 to 17 in the second round, which was an upset for the books. This year if anybody beats them, it really will be an upset, possibly worse than what Sac City got last year.

Three men on the first team are being given considerable all-state mention. Pickell, Humphrey, and Collanton are possible all-staters.

Marquette In Early Lead

EAST LANSING, Mich., March 8 (AP)—Marquette university's versatile track squad forced itself into position tonight to take its first championship in the central collegiate track conference by qualifying 12 men in preliminaries of the 14th running of the event.

Pitt and Notre Dame, the other two strong contenders, placed six and eight men, respectively, in the finals of tomorrow night.

Michigan State, Michigan Normal and Drake each found four athletes apiece to carry their banners in the finals.

Vets Anchor Hawkeye Nine

Anchored by letter men at key spots, the University of Iowa's baseball squad of eight teen athletes will leave March 15 for Louisiana on the six-game southern training trip.

Although the squad is not yet picked, Coach Otto Vogel will include seven letter men. These are Co-Captain Harold Haub and Fred Hohenhorst, pitchers; Erwin Prasse, second base; Andy Kantor, shortstop; Frank Kocur, third base; Co-Captain Jim George, centerfield; and Norman Hankins, catcher.

Chief problems of Coach Vogel are the development of a first baseman and two outfielders, as well as at least one sophomore hurler. The Hawkeyes, defending Big Ten champions, open a three-game series March 18 at Southwestern Louisiana Institute of Lafayette and also play three games at Louisiana Tech, Ruston.

Cubs Whip Yannisians

Behind the scenes in any act, be it athletic or otherwise, there is a scenshifter and, take it from Waddy Davis, an Iowa athletic scenshifter, "You gotta be tough" to handle the job.

Davis, sawed-off and peppery, was an Iowa captain and quarterback back about 1918 and probably barked signals in an outdoor motor tone. "Them guys haven't got anything. Go get them."

The Davis philosophy wouldn't hold it folly to butt the head against stone walls—even stone will give before a head, providing the head is tough enough.

That, in short, is a good share of the story. You can teach a man plenty of plays, but some players don't have to be taught how to tackle—they do it instinctively. They also, in most cases, are able to recognize and appreciate the same instincts when they find them elsewhere.

Such, I find, is pretty much the case where Waddy Davis is concerned—at least, when he is said an athlete would make good he was usually right. About eighteen months ago, Davis picked Bill Green, All Coupee, Jim Walker and Bill Diehl as four coming stars at Iowa and last fall's events have proved that Davis prophesied correctly. Going back slightly farther into the past, he predicted that Ken Pettit would be plenty of football man at Iowa and stuck to the belief even before Pettit finally became a good performer in a guard position.

At present, between puffs on a villainous pipe (even if it is a cigar it is villainous if Waddy Davis smokes it) he figures out how to keep the fieldhouse in order with the help of a few employees. And, that is considerable of a job. The cinder track goes through a lot of tear, there are things to move around and special events require extra efforts.

Like the state basketball tournament next week, Davis will have to have crowds cleared out, the floors cleaned up and the place back in shape before each session. He'll tear around the place, a portable public address system, telling the boys what to do and the job will be accomplished.

"You gotta be tough," will be the scenshifting slogan then and Davis will be at his best, not agreeing with anyone, but getting along with even the most disagreeable.

Cadets at Randolph Display Military Precision in Review

This is a close-up of one of the platoons of flying cadets as they pass in review during a recent ceremony held at Randolph Field, Texas, the West Point of the Air. Flying cadets from every state in the union are among the young men taking the nine months course of flight training at Uncle Sam's modern flying school.

Military precision of a high order is demonstrated by these flying cadets, for, in addition to being able to fly a plane, each cadet must also learn the rudiments of close order drill. Commanded by cadet officers, chosen from the upper class at Randolph field, many veteran officers of other branches of the service have declared that the Randolph field flying cadets compare favorably with their brothers at the United States military academy at West Point, N. Y.

In addition to the flying cadets who are stationed at Randolph field, more than 1,500 enlisted mechanics, in six complete squadrons are permanently stationed at the airbase. These are the men who actually groom the 300 odd airplanes that are in use.

Flying cadets have their periods of trainings in ground school during which they learn the rudiments of airplane construction and maintenance, but their time is so occupied with learning the mysteries of military flying, that they have no time for actual work on the airplanes they fly daily. The nine months course which graduates a finished military pilot is divided into three portions.

300 Johnson County Farmers Observe AAA Anniversary

Radio Speech By FDR Heard During Dinner

Local Speakers Tell Corn Sealing, Price Stabilizing Benefit

Three hundred Johnson county farmers and their wives celebrated the seventh annual observance of the national farm program last night at a dinner held in Youde's inn.

The climax of the program for the evening was a broadcast made to similar meetings over the country by President Roosevelt. In his speech President Roosevelt pointed out the results which have benefited the economic status of farmers throughout the nation. His speech commended members of the agricultural industry for their acceptance and observance of the entire program.

After the dinner, speeches were given by officers of the local agricultural committees. The main speaker, M. F. Sullivan, who was the first chairman to preside over the Johnson county conservation commission, spoke on the "Changes in the Economic Status of Farmers Since the Beginning of the AAA."

"Due to the increased acreage which was put into production during the first World War," the speaker said, "prices were unusually low when the AAA began. Sheriff sales and foreclosures were prevalent at that time," he said.

Benefit Payments
To counteract the then prevailing conditions, benefit payments to farmers for taking their sub-marginal land out of production were necessary, and farmers now believe in some sort of a production control program, he said.

Sullivan named the corn sealing feature as the most valuable in stabilizing the agricultural prices for the middle-west.

"Problems involving limitations in home consumption have definitely been solved by the use of the AAA," the speaker emphasized.

Members of the local county committee in charge of the observance program included Ed O'Neil, chairman of the committee; Joe G. Raim, Ray E. Smalley and Dale F. Anderson.

School Board Continues Bids

Iowa City Group To Consider Nursery Bids Again Tonight

After three hours of discussion last night, the Iowa City school board decided to continue its consideration tonight of bids for planting trees and shrubbery on the grounds of the new high school. The meeting tonight is scheduled for 8 o'clock in Supt. Iver A. Opstad's office.

Four nursery firms submitted bids, but the board was unable to decide because of the differing interpretations of the bidders derived from the specifications regarding the methods of hauling of dirt and other materials over the school grounds and the restoring of the ground to its original condition.

Iowa Musicians To Audition For Places in Youth Orchestra

The 29 young Iowa musicians who will audition for places in the all-American youth orchestra at the state final in Des Moines today will not include Iowa City's delegation, Theodore P. Eslick, state NYA administrator, announced yesterday.

Eslick said judges for this district decided to continue their audition here today because inclement weather kept many applicants from appearing last week. The state audition committee, he said, will pass on those named from this district at a later date.

Fifteen of the group to appear at the state audition will be young men and 14 young women. The 29, Eslick said, represent the cream of Iowa musicians, each having been selected to enter the state final after district auditions held in 10 key Iowa cities last Saturday with more than 300 applicants trying out for orchestra places.

The 109-piece orchestra, which will make a good-will tour of South America this summer, is to be under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, noted conductor. Making up the state final contingent are seven violinists, two violists, two cellists, two that

For Pipe Smokers

Prof. C. Thompson Describes Pastime For Masonic Service

Do you know how to buy and break in a pipe? Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce, whose hobby is collecting pipes, described his pastime to members of the Masonic Service club at a luncheon meeting at the Masonic temple yesterday.

When buying a pipe its use must be the first consideration, according to Professor Thompson. A pipe that is to be carried around should have either a medium or short stem and a medium bowl while one for home use may be heavier, he said.

Professor Thompson also listed many of the materials from which pipes are commonly made.

Allen said the three had been shooting crows around Iowa City and went hunting nearly every Sunday morning. "Averaged eight or nine birds a morning," Allen said. The hunters collected a total of $4.10 for their few mornings of sport. The county pays 10 cents a bird.

It's Fixed! Drive Up, Fix Phone, Drive Off

A telephone company line truck with three men, a tar kettle, cable, wire snippers, and a box of matches pulled up to the zoology annex yesterday.

They came to see why the telephone to the zoology building didn't work, calling in or out. The men jumped out of the truck, consulted with some men who were digging around the area.

The telephone men climbed the stairs — two flights — to the office in the zoology building. They picked up the phone and listened. Yep, it was dead.

Outside again, they got their equipment ready. They would need tar if there were something to mend, and they would need cable, probably. So they lit the fire under the tar kettle and unwound the cable.

Then they found out that the cable was broken: cut when the men who were digging accidentally hit the telephone line.

After a busy afternoon, the men who were digging lit a flare so people wouldn't fall into the hole, and left the telephone men toiling.

The telephone men again climbed the stairs to the zoology office. Yep, the phone was going now. They loaded the truck again, and drove off.

Iowa Supreme Court Judges Ponder on Summerwill Case

High Division Hears Arguments; Takes Case Under Advisement

DES MOINES, March 8 (AP)—Ren S. Summerwill's appeal from adverse ruling in Johnson county district court in the state's suit to reopen the Farms Loan and Trust company receivership was submitted to the Iowa supreme court today.

Summerwill was receiver-in-charge of the closed bank's affairs until his final report was approved in district court last April and the receivership was closed.

Last fall superintendent of banking D. W. Bates sued to have the receivership reopened, on the grounds that additional assets had been discovered. The suit involves an Iowa City apartment building which the banking superintendent claims Summerwill, as examiner-in-charge, sold to a company in which he has an interest.

R. S. Milner
R. S. Milner, Cedar Rapids attorney representing Summerwill, argued today that district judge W. W. Scott was in error when he held that the court has jurisdiction to re-open the receivership. Milner pointed out that two terms of court went by after Summerwill's report was accepted before the banking department filed suit.

Roscoe Thomas of Fairfield, special attorney for the banking department in the Summerwill case, argued that the apartment building represented assets which had never been liquidated. He said further that Summerwill "was never a party to this action, but an administrative officer of the (district) court."

"I'm satisfied that had the same facts come to the attention of the court, the court on its own motion would have done the same thing, because it would be dealing with its own arm," Thomas concluded. The supreme court took the case under advisement.

German Movie To Be Given

Children's Detective Story To Have Two Showings Thursday

"Emil und die Detektive," a German movie taken from a story by Erich Kästner, will be shown Thursday at 4:10 p.m. and 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium under the auspices of the German club.

Although it was produced by Ufa, "Germany's Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer," many of the scenes were taken on the streets of Berlin in 1934. It has been selected as one of the 10 best foreign films.

Banished, like its author, from Germany, the film is primarily meant for children, but is interesting also to adults. It tells the story of a 12-year old boy who goes to Berlin on a visit, makes friends with a stranger, and after he awakens from a nap, finds his money gone.

The story continues of how the thief is apprehended by Emil and his detective. The author is "very sophisticated, and yet children like his story," says Prof. Memo Spann of the German department.

The 77-minute-long movie has English sub-titles, with the dialogue in German. Members of the German club will be admitted to the show for 10 cents; non-members, for 20 cents.

"It is difficult to see what people would like if they don't like 'Emil,'" a review of the movie by the "New Statesman and Nation," English publication, said.

Professor Spann will give an introductory statement before the film.

A banquet honoring the new initiates will be given tomorrow at 1 p. m. in the river room of Iowa Union.

John Walker, A3 of Keokuk, is in charge of arrangements.

her by placing her on their star roster.

For William Holden, his role in "Golden Boy" was the stepping-off place toward a career that promises to be brilliant. Unlike Miss Bryan, he had had no screen experience before he became a star. He was playing in a small stock company when a talent scout discovered in him just the type his studio was seeking for the "Golden Boy" role, adapted from the original story by Jonathan Finn, based on the Lewis E. Lawes book. Besides the stars, the cast includes Humphrey Bogart, Flora Robson, Paul Kelly, and others.

'Brother Rat And A Baby' Opens Wed.

Although Peter B. Good plays only the second half of the title role of "Brother Rat and a Baby," the Warner Bros. comedy opening Wednesday at the Englert theater, it is his exploits which lead to all the riotous plot complications in the film.

The new film is a sequel to the recent comedy success "Brother Rat," with the same stars — Priscilla Lane, Wayne Morris, Jane Bryan, Eddie Albert, Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan, and a host of well-known featured players. Based on a story by John Monks, Jr., and Fred F. Finklehoffe, it deals with the post-graduation adventures of the Brothers Rat.

'HONEYMOON IN BALI' NEXT AT IOWA

Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll, teamed for the second time, prove that they are among the screen's peers when it comes to romantic teams in Paramount's "Honeymoon in Bali," a gay romantic comedy, which opens at the Iowa theater tomorrow.

Using a smart New York department store, Nassau and Bali for background, the picture casts the ethereally lovely Miss Carroll as a department store executive who is so wrapped up in being competent and independent that she has no time for romance. Fred is cast as the young man who is the disturbing factor in her little scheme of things—a reckless, carefree adventurer who has just returned from Bali, and is more or less convinced that woman's place is in the home and in a man's arms.

Allan Jones, co-starred as an opera singer who is also ardently interested in Miss Carroll. Getting under way in the purview of Manhattan, the story finds Miss Carroll meeting MacMurray just after his return from Bali. Aware that she has fallen in love with him, she refuses to express her love and remains within her shell even when another girl—one of Fred's old friends and still in love with him—appears on the scene.

Fred's next move is to attempt to get her to take care of a cute little four-year-old girl, left on his hands by a friend. At first she refuses, but the woman in her asserts itself, and she decides to take the child for a while.

By his time, Madeleine is so desperately in love with Fred that she is, in the words of a quaint old saying, beside herself. Consequently, she takes the child and flees to Nassau. Fred follows, and when he's rebuffed once again, he decides to return to Bali. Madeleine follows him there, but it isn't until they are back in New York once more that Madeleine makes up her mind about love.

'Little Old New York' Now at Strand

Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray And Richard Greene Co-Stars

Darryl F. Zanuck and Director Henry King, the combination that gave screen fans such films as "In Old Chicago," "Stanley and Livingstone," "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Jesse James," have turned out another smash hit in Zanuck's production of "Little Old New York." This robust, rollicking, romantic drama from 20th Century-Fox opened this week at the Strand theater, with Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray, Richard Greene and Brenda Joyce heading a brilliant cast which includes Andy Devine, Henry Stephenson and Fritz Feld.

"Little Old New York" brings back those days "way back when" cows roamed Fifth avenue, grog was a penny a swig and the Astors and the Roosevelts were just starting on their way. New York's waterfront was a colorful maze of sailing ships, whose rigging made an exotic network against the sky and whose bowsprits jutting into the shore made progress along the waterfront streets like walking under a beamed ceiling. It was a robust, hail-and-hearty life New Yorkers led in those days, typified in the story of the barnaid belle of the brawling waterfront who fought the whole town to win the love and share in the glory of such a man as Robert Fulton.

The headstrong belle is Alice Faye, who finds herself in rivalry with Brenda Joyce, niece of Fulton's wealthy backer, for the affections of Fulton, played by Richard Greene.

Although "Little Old New York" deals basically with the drama of the first steamboat, the "Clermont," the historical aspects are overshadowed by the absorbing double romance, with Fred MacMurray making his bid for love as the rough-hearted, ship-builder admirer of Miss Faye.

inspiring piece of history. And though the fire itself has been recreated on the screen, the saga of the city's rebirth afterward its rise to power and its dominance over all the mid-West, has not heretofore been treated in motion pictures.

It is now vividly portrayed in "Three Sons." Dealing with the career of a far-seeing New Englander who arrives in the city as its ashes are cooling and sets about building a great mercantile empire as well as a family dynasty, the film vividly portrays Chicago's growth over some 40 years as the background of its human story.

The "three sons" of the title are portrayed by Kent Taylor, Dick Hogan and Robert Stanton, and they, with Virginia Vale, comprise Ellis' family, whose selfish careers as they grow from childhood make for much of the film's drama.

'The Private Lives Of Elizabeth and Essex'

Bette Davis, Errol Flynn Star at Pastime

"Maybe I'm exaggerating when I say that Elizabethan love-making is just like twentieth century necking," says director Michael Curtiz, "but what I mean is that fundamentally they are the same thing and the modern motion picture audience understands the latter a lot better than it does Sir Walter Raleigh and Shakespearean schools of love-making. Maybe Essex didn't take Elizabeth out in his roadster and park on some lonely country road, but anyhow it is my opinion that he talked the same language as the neckers when he made love to the Queen."

Consequently, when Mike trained his directorial talents on Warner Bros.' technicolor production, "The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex," coming to the Pastime Sunday, he was determined not to be blinded by a lot of queenly robes and knightly trappings when it came to the business of love making, of which there is more than considerable.

"It is the greatest love story ever written," Mike contends. "That isn't the way he said it because nobody could possibly write the way Mike talks. Nevertheless it's his general idea and Mike's ideas are seldom wrong—witness "Dodge City," currently smashing box-office records throughout the land, "Angels with Dirty Faces," "Four Daughters," "The Adventures of Robin Hood," "Captain Blood," and a score of other film successes.

"Its got more emotion packed into it than any story I have ever read, and I've read plenty," Mike insists, "and I am not going to spoil this great tragic
