Ames and Mason City, the two favorites to cop their respective brackets in the state prep basketball tournament here, jump into semifinal clashes with Holstein and Muscatine this afternoon.

Red, Japanese Patrols Clash Near Border

TOYOHARA, KARAFUTO ISLAND, Japan, March 16 (Saturday) (AP)—Soviet troops were reported to have sustained more than a dozen casualties today in a clash between Russian and Japanese border patrols near the Saghalien-Karafuto boundary.

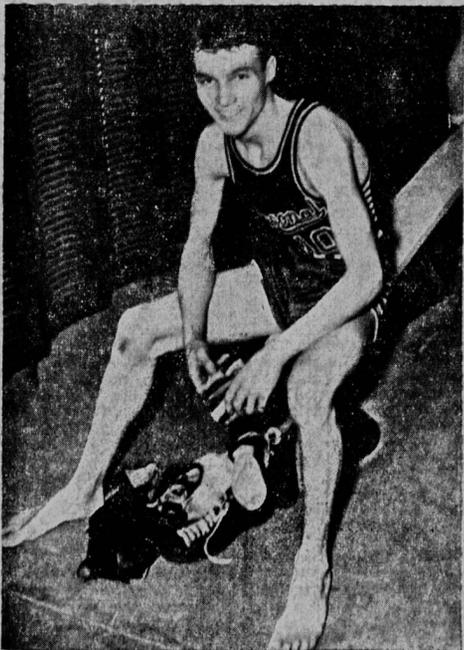

Macy-Musica Tie Described

Charges N. Y. Store Was 'Cover House' For Illegal Liquor

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The firm of R. H. Macy and company, New York's biggest department store, was described in federal court today by George Dietrich-Musica as a "cover house" through which the late assassin, F. Donald Coster-Musica, sold alcohol to bootleggers in the form of eau de quinine.

Dietrich-Musica testified as a government witness in the mail fraud trial of five men accused of guilty knowledge of the astonishing book-keeping gymnastics through which Coster-Musica embellished the $87,000,000 McKesson and Robbins Drug corporation with about $20,000,000 in fictitious assets.

Tough Luck, Bud!

Meet Diagonal's Bud Beymer, member of the Ringgold county team who lost to Creston in the finals of the state tournament last year. Bud's smiling, even though he and his team mates had just lost a quarter-final round game to Holstein. It was Bud's last-minute field goal and free throw that won the Diagonal-Hinton game Thursday afternoon, by the narrow margin of 24-23.

Anything Can Happen— And Does!

Things were happening when Daily Iowan photographer John Mueller snapped this picture during the Diagonal-Holstein game on the Iowa fieldhouse court yesterday afternoon. The ball was about to swish through the basket to give Holstein, in the striped uniforms, another two points on their way to defeating the southern Iowa boys. In the meantime, Guard Edward Hansen (45) of Holstein is very definitely on the way out of bounds with an opponent on Diagonal, under the Diagonal basket. The biggest crowds of the tournament are expected to jam Iowa's fieldhouse today for the semi-final matches of the tournament.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., (AP)—Police were ordered out yesterday to track down 17,000 heels "of all sizes," but admitted the scent was cold. A manufacturing plant discovered during inventory that 48 cases of rubber heels valued at $600 had been stolen a month ago.

Defending Champs Fall Before Ames

Diagonal's Runners-Up Of Last Year Nipped By Holstein's Pirates

By OSCAR HARGRAVE

Mason City's proud Mohawks paced state prep tournament entries through the quarter-final round yesterday, but a total of 15,500 spectators were awakened to the possibility of terrific struggles on the meet's final day.

Mohawks Impressive

most impressive performance in a stormy day that saw Creston and Diagonal, number one and two teams of 1939, tossed unceremoniously to the side by Ames and Holstein, and Waverly's speedy Go-Hawks outmaneuvered by Muscatine. The Mohawks, still rolling easily along, bombarded Keystone into submission, 47-28, last night to put the last remaining class B entry out of the running.

Although they have been, and still are, the odds-on favorites, the Mohawks are still probably the meet's question mark team. (See TOURNEY, Page 8)

Senate Still On 'Anti-Politics'

Hatch Bill Predicted To Pass When Body Convenes Monday

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—In a slam-bang debate, the senate tonight worked close to the point of a final vote on the Hatch "anti-politics" bill but then recessed until Monday, when both sides predicted the measure would probably pass.

Senatorial opponents of the legislation—which would forbid political activity to state employes drawing any part of their pay in their federal funds—were cheerfully resigned to the beating in store for them.

They believed that the house would pigeon-hole the measure because of a recently-inserted amendment which would prohibit any individual or corporation to contribute more than $5,000 to political campaigns in any one year.

During the day, supporters of the bill scored two significant victories. The senate, by a vote of 47 to 30, voted explicit approval of the key section prohibiting political activities to the state employes involved. Then the chamber rejected, 52 to 31, a motion by Senator Lucas (D-Ind.) to send the bill back to the privileges and elections committee for an overhauling.

Leopold Stokowski, Arturo Toscanini Go South American

TWO great conductors are eager to go barnstorming with symphony orchestras in South America during the coming summer.

Since the costs of the proposed tour will be great, it is necessary to have special financial support. This is being sought from Latin American governments and from business leaders there.

It was Mr. Stokowski's plan to organize an orchestra of young players under the age of 25, assembled with the help of the National Youth Administration from all over the country.

Mr. Toscanini's plan is to take the famous N. B. C. orchestra on a less extensive tour. He has a sentimental interest in South America because he began his conducting career there 55 years ago.

Confucius Say 'Who's This Guy Solomon?'

THE "CONFUCIUS SAY" fad, silly but funny, seems to have run its course. And that is well. It will have served a good purpose if it brings an intelligent person here and there a genuine interest in the Chinese sage.

Confucianism, though not a religion, is a noble body of wisdom whose creator is held in great veneration by the Chinese people. Many Chinese must have been offended by the 'Christian' levity and occasional indecency with which thoughtful Americans have treated their great master.

Let us hope that no such frivolous practice arises now with regard to Buddha, the great Aryan teacher, or Mohammed, prophet of the Arabs. In both cases strong religious resentment would be aroused.

But getting back to Confucius in a serious way, it seems odd that he is not more often compared with Solomon, the ancient wise man of the Hebrews. The "Proverbs" seem to parallel in a general way the "Analects" of Confucius. Sometimes his utterances are more worldly, but at his best Solomon rises to greater heights than the Chinese master ever did.

A New Secret Of Long Life From Mrs. Hall

THE SAYING that if one would live long, he should pick out long-lived grandparents, has the approval of Mrs. Lora Ann Doty Hall, who recently observed her 96th birthday. At least, she answered the usual question about the cause of her long life in an unusual way.

"I inherited it. Two of my great-aunts lived to be 106. One of my sisters lived to be 96. I can't say there's any other explanation."

Perhaps there are additional reasons in Mrs. Hall's case. This happy, healthy woman has never been a worrier, although she has had 11 children and is a great-grandmother. If future years could be as satisfactory as the first 96, she says, she wouldn't mind living 96 more.

In still another way this wise old lady seems to be different. She has never known hard times. That may be a matter of definition, but it's Mrs. Hall's story and she will probably stick to it as long as she lives.

Spices For the Foods Of Americans

AMERICANS USE $2,500,000 worth of pepper and mustard a year, and spend an additional $9,500,000 on other seasonings. These are not startling figures. They amount to less than 10 cents per American, which suggests that some people have little highly seasoned food.

There is a growing interest in flavors these days, particularly in the old-fashioned herbs. Housewives use them not to disguise disagreeable odors or tastes, but to lend variety and piquancy to the daily food.

It is said that spice dealers hope to have more of the stuff produced here and are encouraging growers to plant any spices which can stand our climate. No doubt there will be efforts to domesticate more of them.

The reason for this is the growing uncertainty of shipments from the East Indies. If we remember our history rightly, the discovery of the western world and much of the exploration of the 15th and 16th centuries were brought about by search for new routes to the spice sources of the known world.

Are America's Representatives Just Paradoxes?

ARTHUR KROCK, in his New York Times column, recently lined up an interesting display of congressional inconsistencies. He recorded a senator who favors Secretary of State Hull for president, but who has bitterly opposed Hull's reciprocal trade pact.

A representative, strong for American isolation in the current war in Europe, is equally strong for an unconditional loan or gift to Finland. Other isolationists are keen for an embargo against Japan which their opponents say would lead to war with that country.

So it goes, with the "sensible and moderate" often showing just as great inconsistencies as the unwise and extreme legislators. Before pouring out any scorn on his senators and representatives, however, the constituent should look into his own mind. He may find, if he is completely honest with himself, that he is for the Bill of Rights, and also for suppressing opinions contrary to his own; that he is for tolerance but harbors a few racial prejudices also.

It is a humbling process. He may even find that he helped to elect senators and representatives to congress for such inconsistent reasons that it is a wonder they have turned out as well as they have.

An Open Letter To the Hawkeye Weather Man

Dear Mr. Weather-man,— Isn't it enough for the Reds to be unfair to the Finns this week without your being so unfair to your public? You can't consider this cricket, by any means,—this cold weather and snow when it's almost Easter. It's time for spring,—ah me!—when ye birdie sings in your barberry bush. Yet, the cricket still chirps on your hearth. An important man like you MUST cater to his contingent, and there's no future in all this contrary weather of yours. What do you suppose the democrats think of you? You'd better be careful of a R.W.A. (Reform-the-Weather-man Administration) will be thrown into the democratic alphabet soup. Now I don't mean to threaten you, Mr. Weather-man, but how's about looking at the stars again and picking out the "fair and warmer" one? Yers truly, Hurray For Iowa's Presters' Enthusiasm!

"I WON'T be able to do anything all week end!" This is the common cry of college students these days, for the high school 'kid's' basketball tournament has really set them wild. Each person has his favorite. He hangs over the radio between classes. If he has no classes and has the necessary coin, he's right there on the bleachers at the fieldhouse. Perhaps this excitement is due to supporting the 'home team.' But better still is the way those high school people put their whole hearts into the game and use every ounce of energy possible to help win that game. And the rooters restrain themselves not one bit! If enthusiasm and cheering help a team's morale, then any team in the tournament will be hard to beat. It's a good show, a lot of fun, and we love it!

THE ORIGINAL . . . 14-piece Shaw band was augmented by a 13-man string section, three extra reeds and one brass instrument. Artie and his clarinet, of course, still front the organization.

DESPITE the full combination, Shaw will remain in the swing idiom. With the extra musicians, he plans to enhance his style with tone colors and effects heretofore unattained.

"THE GENERAL IDEA," . . . he states, "is not to get away from swing music but to present dance music with more color than is possible with the usual brass and saxophone setup that has, perhaps, due to constant usage, become monotonous."

"I will attempt," he continues, "to have a swing band playing as such, augmented by legitimate instruments playing legitimately."

"IF POSSIBLE," he declares further, "I should like to work this idea into a much needed laboratory for the creation and development of musical effects and innovations necessary to the growth of swing which I contend is a greatly misunderstood term."

BOB CROSBY'S . . . band will open with "It Had to Be You" on the weekly program tonight at 9 o'clock over the NBC-Red network.

MILDRED BAILEY will sing "Danny Boy." The Crosby band will salute St. Patrick's day by playing "Old County Down." This will be followed by "Starlit Hour" and "Sweet Potato Piper," which will be chanted by Crosby.

HUMPTY DUMPTY HAD A "CLOSE CALL!"

Washington Is Interested in the Forthcoming Canadian Election; Will Mackenzie King Win?

Washington's congressmen are considerably interested in Canada's coming general election. They don't particularly care how it results. What intrigues their attention is the difference between the Canadian system and our own. The two are alike in many particulars, but there also are several odd variations between them. Some of them wonder how the Canuck method of conducting a national plebiscite would work on our side of the border.

The Canadian plan is borrowed from England. When the English elect a parliament they elect it, theoretically, for five years (it used to be seven). The recognized leader of the winning party becomes premier, corresponding to our president. The king doesn't signify. He's a mere figurehead. It's the premier's administration. But suppose, before the five years are up, public and parliamentary opinion swings away from the administration? Thereupon the discontented parliamentary element passes a vote of "censure" of the administration, or of "lack of confidence" in it.

The premier then is expected to call another popular election. It doesn't matter that the five years haven't expired. If the election goes against that administration the winning side has the parliamentary majority, and takes over the administration. An administration never defies a vote of "censure." If it did it would be liable to start a revolution.

In Wilson's Day President Woodrow Wilson was a great believer in the English system, because it makes for a very flexible government. When congress refused to indorse the World War settlement that his administration had acquiesced in, and to vote the United States into the League of Nations, he "went to the country," as the English describe these off-year elections. That is to say, he was in the midst of his own second term, but it was a congressional election year. So, by speeches and other appeals to the voters, he tried to get his kind of congressional majority onto Capitol hill. He failed. In England that would have meant the unsuccessful administration's immediate retirement, with a new one, under some such president as William E. Borah, Hiram W. Johnson or James A. Reed, three of the anti-Wilson program's leaders, coming into office.

Here no such rule prevailed. Consequently, President Wilson had the remainder of his term to serve out, repudiated. It was an unpleasant interval. English precedent would have eliminated Premier Mackenzie King Well, as to Canada. William Lyon Mackenzie King is premier—virtually president. Lord Tweedsmuir, the governor general, is of no consequence.

Mackenzie King's a Liberal. Against him are the Conservatives, in a minority in the Canadian parliament. However, there also are Liberals who oppose Mackenzie King, just as there are anti-New Deal democrats who oppose President Roosevelt's policies. One of this bunch is Mitchell F. Hepburn. Hepburn isn't a member of the federal parliament. He's premier of the province of Ontario. His place corresponds to that of the governor of any one of our states. Hostile to Mackenzie King, Hepburn managed to wangle through the Ontario parliament (not the same thing as the federal parliament, but the counterpart of one of our state legislatures) a "vote of censure" of King's present Canadian support of Britain and France against Germany—it's been very inefficient, according to Hepburn.

Now, if this "vote of censure" had been a federal vote there'd have been no question but that Mackenzie King must yield to it, but Ontario's lone vote wasn't binding on him. Was It Just a Bluff? The supposition, according to Canadian news correspondents in Washington, is that the Ontario premier believed Mackenzie King sure to win on an all-Canadian vote and didn't want to precipitate a general election. The correspondents' dope is that Hepburn's scheme was to scare Mackenzie King into agreeing to a coalition Canadian cabinet. Their argument is that Hepburn doesn't care much about the war—that his notion essentially is to get a handful of his political crew in, to influence domestic Canadian tendencies. But Mackenzie King accepted the "censure vote" as the genuine article.

The Canadian premier called a general election. The correspondents are pretty sure that Mackenzie King will win, despite that Ontario "censure." They believe that Hepburn thinks so, too—and is desperately sore because his bluff—if it was a bluff—was called. Naturally, if Mackenzie King wins, he'll be in more solid than ever.

Fat Man In Fret!

Woolcott Discovers Picture Isn't Where It Ought To Be!

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Here's a fat man in a fret. The fat man is Alec Woolcott. He isn't in a fret yet, but he will be soon. Right now he is quite cheerful. He has just left his friend Henry Bernstein, who is the greatest of living French playwrights. Bernstein once had his portrait painted by the great Manet. It was painted when he was seven. The fat man has always wanted to see that portrait.

So he goes to a phone booth, drops a Buffalo in the slot, and dials Ruth Gordon.

"Ruth," he exclaims, "I've just left Bernstein. That Manet of his is up on 57th street. Let's go see it."

"I'd love to," says Miss Gordon, who probably owns more critical valentines from Woolcott than any other actress in the theater. So the fat man gets a hack and calls for Miss Gordon, and they drive to the place where the painting is said to be.

They go in, and a nun-footed attendant comes noiselessly up.

The fat man is feeling fine. "We'd like to look at that Manet of Henry Bernstein," he announces.

The attendant spreads his hands. "There is no such portrait here." "But I just left Mr. Bernstein and he asked me especially to call here."

"I am sorry, but you must be mistaken."

Mr. Woolcott and Miss Gordon exchanged glances. "See here," says the fat man. "I'm Alexander Woolcott and . . ."

"I know you're Alexander Woolcott," interrupts the young man, "but the painting isn't here." Mr. Woolcott bites his lip. Some of the exuberance goes out of his manner.

"Will you be good enough to let me see the manager?" he says icily.

The man shakes his head. "He isn't here."

Woolcott turns helplessly. Frustration is beginning to choke him. He drops into a chair and shoves a cigarette into his mouth.

"You can't smoke here," says the attendant.

Mr. W. jerks the cigarette out of his mouth and shouts, "I'm not smoking," and shoves the cigarette back in his mouth. He begins to pat his foot.

Miss Gordon puts her hand on Mr. W.'s shoulder and says, "Alec, since we are wasting this gentleman's time, we had better go."

"Well," he says to the clerk, "I must say you are an entertaining creature." And with that they depart.

But once outside Miss Gordon says, "Alec, the way you said that you were positively insulting."

Woolcott's face brightens. "Was I?" he cries. He seems almost happy.

"Yes, you were."

"Well, of course I insulted him," exclaims Woolcott, now fully restored. "That's the only way to insult people—just tell them what 'entertaining creatures' they are. Then they can't sue you. They'd look awfully silly trying to explain to the Judge that somebody called them an entertaining creature!"

A long time ago somebody wrote that Woolcott was never so happy as when insulting somebody. There was a man who knew his Woolcott.

After firing on a British merchant vessel, the Japanese announced they didn't know the cannon was loaded. And all the time we were thinking the steamer deliberately jumped into the path of the shell!

The corozo nut, growing in the riverside region of Central and South America, has a kernel of vegetable ivory that can be used for making buttons. It can be turned on a lathe, cut to any shape, and dyed to almost any color. In the plastic houses of the future, say architects and chemical researchers, buildings will admit the warm infra-red sun rays in winter, but deflect them in summer; walls will absorb sunlight by day and give it out as a soft glow in darkness.

Prep Teams Advance to Semi-Finals

Ames Smashes Creston, 39-25

Box score for Ames vs Creston basketball game. Ames (39) vs Creston (25). Ames players: Viquain (3), Ballard (1), Weagley (1), Bailey (1), Woodward (1), O'Neil (1), Donelson (1), McCarthy (1), Nelson (1), Schugart (1), Bliss (1). Creston players: Goodson (1), Jones (1), Wilson (1), Dougherty (1), Healey (1), Harville (1), Tallman (1), Hall (1).

Ames' rugged Little Cyclones from central Iowa pilled up a comfortable early lead yesterday and defied Creston's every effort to shorten it, Ames taking the quarterfinal game in the state high school cage meet, 39-25.

The defending champion Panthers couldn't even approach the form of Thursday, when they trimmed an old enemy, Centerville, Bob Goodson, who marked up 16 points in the Centerville game, counted not a single marker yesterday and finally went out of the game on four personal fouls.

Holstein Trims Diagonal, 37-29

Box score for Holstein vs Diagonal basketball game. Diagonal (29) vs Holstein (37). Diagonal players: Davis (1), Johnston (1), Beymer (1), Yashack (1), Davenport (1), Hogue (1), Campbell (1). Holstein players: Roy Wehde (1), Steen (1), Roy Wehde (1), Goetsch (1), D. McCrea (1), Hansen (1), Asprey (1), Elmer Starr (1).

Holstein's "Dark Horse" entry from the far northwest sent Diagonal tumbling from the state high school basketball meet yesterday afternoon, 37-29. Pop Varner's Diagonal leads, number two team last year, followed the defending champions, Creston, out of the meet, the Panthers having been downed by Ames in the first game of the afternoon session.

Mohawks Dump Keystone, 47-28

Box score for Mohawks vs Keystone basketball game. Mohawks (47) vs Keystone (28). Mohawks players: W. Brauer (1), Feurback (1), D. Albers (1), Pop (1), O. Feurback (1), Eichmeyer (1), L. Albers (1), Koeppen (1), Niebes (1). Keystone players: Bloom (1), McIntyre (1), Kirkland (1), Rediske (1), Carpenter (1), Brierly (1), Eggleston (1), Strotman (1), Leslie (1), Clark (1).

Muscatine played one of the best games of its season last night, taking advantage of several Waverly errors to cop a well-earned, but surprising 30-24 quarterfinal victory over the Mohawks.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

LAKELAND, Fla., March 15 (AP)—It seems a bit off to see the big guy standing away out there outlined against the shamrock-green backdrop of the left field fence, but Skipper Del Baker says his rookie Detroit outfielder is doing all right.

But it is worry, worry, worry at second, the only real problem, all because Charley Gehringer, the old smoothie, shoveled snow last New Year's day. The shovel earned around and bit him, or something. Anyway, he has a crippling crick in his back which is a defying treatment. He exercises lightly and painfully each morning, and even Baker admits your Uncle Gideon knows as much about when Charley can play again as he does.

Frank Croucher is doing his best to fill Gehringer's shoes, but as isn't Gehringer by several jocks. A fellow named Benny McCoy would come in mighty handy right now.

Otherwise the lineup, including the pitchers, is pretty well set. Peppery Dick Bartell, acquired from the Cubs, is at short, Pinky Higgins at third, and Bill McCosky in center, with Bruce Campbell and Ervin Fox probably alternating in right field. George Tebbetts looms as the No. 1 catcher.

Tommy Bridges, Buck Newsom, Schoolboy Rowe and Paul Trout look like the first-line pitchers, with Arnie McKain going in when a left-hander is needed.

The improvement shown by Freddie Hutchinson, the $75,000 beauty who fizzled last year, also is encouraging and Baker thinks the Seattle boy will be a real asset.

"We'll have a hard hitting infield — if Gehringer can play," Baker says. "In fact, we'll be up in there giving them a battle — if Gehringer is in shape."

Which gives an idea of what one man means to a team, and how a little snow in January might cause a big blow in June.

The Tigers will have one of the best triple — threat batting punches in baseball — if Gehringer plays. Gehringer, Greenberg and York, in that order, might wreck any ball game at any time.

Detroit finished a disappointing fifth last year, despite some great work by Bridges and Newsom.

"Higgins was out for a month and a half," Baker explains, "and Gehringer for a long time. At that, do you know that we only lost three more games than we did the year before when we finished in the first division? Our outlook is better this year — if Gehringer can play."

Which seems to be something of a theme song, and which also tells why the Tigers' chances in the pennant race must be counted twice — in, and out.

Agnes Kane Is 1940 Mecca Queen

Wins Crown At Engineers' Mecca Ball

D. Brott, C. Heater, L. Lippold, A. McGowan, V. Craven Attendants

By ANNE MARIE SHEELY
Daily Iowan Society Editor

St. Patrick himself, clad in the long green and white robes of his office as patron saint of all engineers, presided last night at the university college of engineering's annual Mecca Ball in the main lounge of Iowa Union and crowned the Mecca Queen for 1940, Agnes Kane, A2 of Keokuk.

Preceding the actual coronation, the Queen and her five attendants each kissed the Blarney stone and received her award from the good saint. The attendants were Lois Lippold, A1 of Wauwatosa, Wis.; Dorothy Brott, A3 of Marquette, Mich.; Corinne Heater, A1 of Des Moines; Alice McGowan, A2 of Marior and Virginia Craven, A3 of Sioux City.

St. Patrick, whose sceptre was a giant slide rule and whose costume was complete even to his flowing white beard, was in reality Martin Stillier, E4 of St. Louis, Mo., general chairman for Mecca Week. The Blarney stone, a traditional part of Mecca Week activities, was brought to the Ball for the first time for the presentation last night. Francis Ohmer, E4 of McGregor, served as official guard of honor for the Blarney stone and carried it in and out before and after the presentation.

Steven Leonard and his orchestra provided music for last night's party, which was the climax of the annual Mecca Week activities.

Get Ready to Swing Into SPRING

And spring stands for fun . . . new fads . . . new loves . . . and NEW CLOTHES!

Spring means Easter . . . and both mean fun! There is a new spirit of fun and happiness in the most prosaic business. People sense it as they walk about in your stores . . . as they see your brand new merchandise and they feel more like shopping. Why? Because it's fun!

Students are anxious to cast off their dull winter clothes. Men are eager to sport the new checks, chevots, tweeds, and twists . . . the light sweaters in spring shades . . . and the new pleated slacks . . . Women are marking time before they slip into pastel skirts and sweaters . . . wash dresses and spectator pumps. They're watching the advertisements . . . they're eager to buy. It will pay you to advertise in The Daily Iowan.

Announce Visiting Lecture Staff for 1940 Summer Session

41 Lecturers Will Augment S. U. I. Faculty

Ruth Suckow, Noted Authoress, Among Appointees Named

From 19 states, 41 visiting staff lecturers will come to augment the University of Iowa's regular faculty during the 1940 summer session.

The roster of visitors, released yesterday, shows that they will come from institutions in such distant states as Florida, California, New Mexico, New York, and Vermont. They will begin their duties June 10.

Some of the appointees have been on the Iowa staff in past summers, but most of them will be visiting the university for the first time.

Included among those from more distant points are such as Rollin Atwood, geographer from the University of Florida; Hardin Craig, English, Stanford university of California; Thomas W. Stevens, dramatic art, Sante Fe, N. Mex.; Modeste Aloo, music, Newark, N. J.; Wallace Goates, dramatic art, University of Utah; and H. C. Stump, music, Morgantown, W. Va.

The roster also contains the name of Jean Charlot, New York artist; Troyer Anderson, history, Swarthmore college of Pennsylvania; Hanya Holm, dancer, New York; William Hudson, English, Georgia Tech; Thompson Stone, music, Boston, Mass.; and Ruth Suckow, noted Iowa authoress from Cedar Falls.

Local Board To Rate Iowa Women Officials

The Iowa City rating board in basketball will go to Des Moines today to rate women officials in the Polk county area.

Making the trip will be Prof. Gladys Scott and Esther French of the women's physical education department; Agnes Best, instructor at University high school, and Louise Kuhl, graduate student from Beatrice, Neb.

The local board is the only official rating board in Iowa. Plans are underway for the establishment of a rating center at Burlington, officials said.

Prof. Bartow Lectures About Treating Water

Prof. Edward Bartow, head of the University of Iowa chemistry and chemical engineering departments, was guest speaker Wednesday at the weekly meeting of the Iowa student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

His lecture, illustrated by lantern slides and chemical tests, was about "Water Treatment."

Reiff To Bring Debate Teams To Iowa City

Former Graduate Will Have Ottawa Women in Forensics

OTTAWA, Kans., March 15—(Special to The Daily Iowan)—A Reiff, who took his master and doctor's degrees at Iowa, next Wednesday afternoon will take his Ottawa university women's debate teams to Iowa City for a forensic session with representatives of his alma mater. Reiff and his feminine speakers are on a tour of Iowa and Missouri. The debaters are Vera Jackson, Pearl Woolfolk, Dorothy Coad, Nelda Budde and Sarabeth King.

Reiff took his work at Iowa in the department of English. He has been the head of the English work at Ottawa since 1935.

Esther French On Committee

Will Take Charge Of National Women's Softball Rating Board

Esther French, instructor in the women's physical education department, has been appointed a member of the softball committee of the women's athletic section of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Miss French will be in charge of officials' ratings and will assist in the establishment of softball rating boards throughout the United States.

A softball rating board, similar to the basketball and hockey rating boards now in existence, will be established in Iowa City this spring, according to the physical education instructor.

Miss French is the author of the article, "Strategy in Girls' Softball," recently published in the Softball and Volleyball Guide for 1940 by the national section of women's athletics.

Prof. R. L. Wilder of the mathematics department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor will give lectures Monday afternoon and evening in room 222, physics building.

The first lecture, at 4:10 p. m., will be on "Polyhedra" and the evening lecture, at 7:30 p. m., will be titled "Generalized Manifolds."

Avalon Band Airs on WSUI

Earl Harrington and his Avalon orchestra will present the Rhythmic Rambles program over WSUI today from 12 noon to 12:30.

Included on the half-hour program will be "Do I Love You?" "The Starlit Hour," "Holy Smoke," "Moonlight Serenade," "Swingin' A Dream," "Angel," "Cherokee," "A Lover Is Blue," "I Thought About You" and "What Is This Thing Called Love?"

Chick Lang will be featured on vocals.

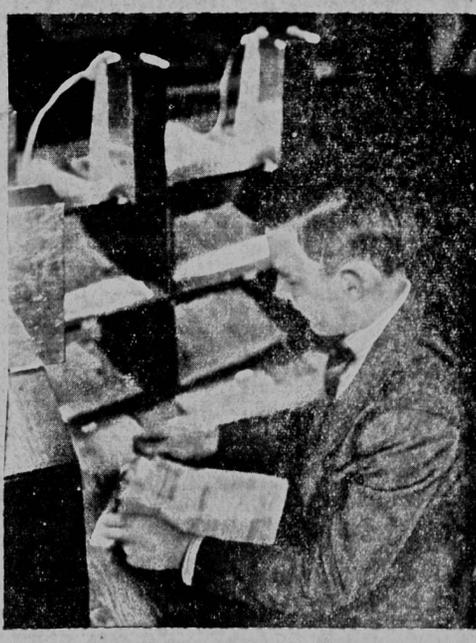

Their Aim - - - To Eliminate Waste of Human Energy

Graduate Engineering Students Study Time and Motion in Order To Save Seconds

Interested in the fundamental motions made in manual work, John V. Balch, assistant in mechanical engineering, is shown above experimenting with one of his time and motion studies. Balch is included on the staff for the management course, devoted to time and motion scheduled here this summer.

Seated before his sorting apparatus, constructed in the time and motion laboratories, Judson C. Spurgeon, industrial engineering graduate student, is attempting to graduate assistant in mechanical engineering, from Follansbee, W. Va.

By JEAN M. DAVIS It may be only a second, but every second counts—especially to three graduate students in industrial engineering here.

In the time and motion studies being made by the engineering students, the elimination of some of the wasted human energy in industry and in everyday life is of vital importance.

The industrial engineers are working for the "working man" and spending hours in the time and motion laboratories here devising methods to save seconds.

A study of the eye movements in inspection work is the problem of Leland Schwartz, graduate student from St. Louis, Mo. involved in the visual inspection. He is attempting to get at the basic facts concerning the time of manufactured products.

Schwartz has devised a "set up" in the time and motion laboratory whereby a study can be made of the length of time it takes the human eye to travel through various angles.

Using sets of specially designed cards, painted with an unorganized array of three-letter words, the subject or "worker" must find the defective cards among the stack and place them in separate piles.

A record of the time involved in handling the cards and in looking for the defective pieces is kept on a kymograph, an automatic apparatus on which curves of pressure are traced. The marks on the kymograph are calculated into time units and used in the time and motion study.

Through the use of a specially-constructed machine, the angular movement of the eye can be noted by Schwartz as the subject examines a piece of work. Graduate student Judson C. Spurgeon of Somersfield, Pa., is thinking of the "office worker" in industry in his study in the time and motion laboratory. He is attempting to devise a sorting apparatus to save time for the industry and energy for the filing clerk.

"Every business must sort or segregate customers' orders, invoices or other documents into various classifications, and finding a 'set up' that will be most efficient is a problem in time and motion," Spurgeon explained.

The graduate student has devised various types of sorting arrangements and is at work on the correlation of the time and motion involved in each method, hoping for a more intelligent solution of the sorting problem.

Recent studies on the fundamental hand motions made in small assembly and gauging operations in factory work have been done here by John V. Balch, graduate assistant in mechanical engineering, from Follansbee, W. Va.

A graduate from West Virginia university, Balch is investigating the various arrangements of workplac about the worker in an attempt to find the position conserving the most time and motion.

Pertinent questions the graduate student is attempting to answer with his studies are "Should supply bins in small assembly work be placed at the sides or in front of the operator? or at some intermediate angle?" and "Should the hands of the worker move together to the same bin or move simultaneously and in opposite direction?"

By means of photo-electric cells, mercury switches and other electrical equipment, data for the studies are automatically recorded.

Local Y.W.C.A. Receives Grant In Scholarships

Twelve Groups Aid Students Attending Geneva Conference

Scholarships for the Annual Y.W.C.A. Geneva conference meeting June 17 to 27 this summer at Lake Geneva, Wis., have been given the local university group by several women's groups, Geraldine Genung, A3 of Glenwood, chairman of the scholarships committee, has announced.

The scholarships, designed to permit women to attend the conference who would be able to afford only a portion of the expense involved, are offered this year for the first time at the university. The amounts of the scholarships vary from full ones to partial ones.

Currier hall association has offered three. Other groups, each of which are offering one, are the following societies: Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta and Zeta Tau Alpha.

85 Tour University Band Plays 17 Concerts

The University of Iowa's 85-piece band returns today after playing 17 concerts in seven days on the most ambitious tour ever undertaken by a musical organization from the institution.

Crowds of from 600 to 1,200 persons heard the band in concerts at high school auditoriums. Press comments were very complimentary.

It is hoped that the tour will become an annual event, with a different section of the state to be covered each spring. Prof. Charles B. Righter is director of the band.

House To House

Phi Delta Theta Howard Reppert, C3 of Des Moines; Dick Collins, A1 of Ottumwa; Bob Knower, A1 of Sigourney, and Steve Parks, J3 of Boston, Mass., attended the founder's day celebration of Phi Delta Theta fraternity in Des Moines yesterday.

Frank Nye of Des Moines visited in the chapter house this week.

Bellaire Interviews Mason City Student On WSUI Today

Ann O'Brien, Mason City high school student, will be interviewed by Art Bellaire at 11:30 this morning on the high school news exchange program of WSUI.

The two will discuss the journalism class of the high school and the Mason City school publication, the "Cub Gazette."

Electric Engineering Students Show Television This Morning as Part of Mecca Week Activities

Television, one of science's most recent achievements, is on exhibit this morning by electrical engineering students in an open house which is being held for visitors of the basketball tournament and students in connection with Mecca week activities.

The "marvel of the century" was displayed yesterday and will be on exhibit yet this morning from 9 o'clock to 12 at the electrical engineering building. Having identical with that used in New York City experiments, the students interview passers-by and then invite them to step inside and see what actually happens when others speak over the microphone.

Inside, early television receivers are on exhibit. Television is not a new field for many of these students for they have been carrying on experiments for years. In a fairly darkened room sits the Stromberg-Carlson receiver which was loaned the department for the exhibit. On this $600 machine is the radio and television screen upon which the picture is cast.

The television screen has 441 lines from top to bottom. The screen, itself, is about eight inches square and because of more lines than were formerly on such screens, the impression of the outside scene is well-defined.

Prof. E. B. Kurtz, head of the electrical engineering department, said that the impression would be much clearer if the sun were shining and if the range of the picture were not so large.

Professor Kurtz added that television has proved to be very successful with the students in carrying on their exhibit. The students have set up all of the intricate equipment assisted by W. C. Morrison, research assistant, and R. C. Kent, graduate student and instructor in communication.

Behind the scenes of the receiver stands a very complicated but necessary machine. It is the huge mechanism which contains some 100 tubes needed to run the iconoscope, the most important machine in connection with television.

Set on a tripod, the iconoscope is the "picture taker" of the television receiver. It sits majestically in the window taking in all that is thrown before it and then through the tube-machine, the picture is thrown through the receiver. All of these instruments were made by the students with the exception of the receiver.

The story of television is not new to this department. Electrical engineers have been carrying on experiments for many years and for eight years they have broadcast their television experiments over a licensed radio system with the call letters, W9XK. The range by which they could send this material was very short, however.

With the advancements made in recent years toward television, added impetus has been given to the department and they are planning to broadcast again under the new call letters, W9XUI. These letters were recently granted the department by the Federal Communications commission.

Professor Kurtz explained that it is highly possible that these television broadcasts may begin next fall on the campus. These programs could, if necessary, be broadcast over radio station WSUI, he stated.

In former years, Kurtz said, broadcasting from the engineering building was very interesting. The control room where the work was carried on is still available. In another room outside the control room was installed a window around which was placed about 12 photo-electric cells. A person would stand in the frame and the image would be transformed to the early receiving sets which are on exhibit.

It is especially important to note, he stated, that all of this equipment has been made on the campus and that it is as complete as that found anywhere in the state of Iowa. In fact, he mentioned, there is no other iconoscope in use outside of New York.

The interviews, as presented yesterday, were not broadcast, however. Had they been, they could have been received in Iowa City and perhaps much of the surrounding territory. In former years, the places which received the programs were chartered to find the distances which had been reached. Television in New York City has reached as far as 125 miles from the original broadcast.

Prof. Baker To Air Review Of Iowa Novel

Prof. Joseph E. Baker of the English department will review Paul Corey's novel, "Three Miles Square" over station WSUI this morning at 11 o'clock.

This will be the third review in which Professor Baker has discussed the leadership of Iowa in contemporary American culture.

Paul Corey, a native Iowan and a graduate of the university in 1925, has succeeded in writing

'BABES IN ARMS' NOW AT VARSITY

M. Rooney, Judy Garland Take Leading Roles In Rogers and Hart Musical

That amazing young man of the screen, Mickey Rooney, came to town yesterday at the Varsity Theater and likewise goes to town in the most amazing performance of his career. Co-starred with Judy Garland, and aided and abetted by what is possibly the largest group of juvenile talent ever presented on the screen at one time, Rooney and Judy deliver an evening of entertaining that is more than worth anybody's time and money. The picture is "Babes in Arms."

As a successful Broadway musical by Rodgers and Hart, "Babes in Arms" was a fine piece of entertainment. As a screen version, enlarged, enriched and embellished by additional song numbers and enhanced by the stagings of Busby Berkeley, the picture is great entertainment.

The Mickey Rooney of the Hardy series, "Boys Town" and other successes uncovers a bag of tricks that few suspected he possessed, and Judy Garland never was seen to better advantage. Mickey sings, dances, plays the piano, gives imitations and acts.

'Nick Carter' Is Varsity Co-Hit

The same quality of inventive thrills which made the Jules Verne works popular has been captured in "Nick Carter, Master Detective," ultra-modern version of the super-sleuth's adventures which opened yesterday at the Varsity Theater with Walter Pidgeon in the title role and Rita Johnson as leading lady.

Super-planes that zoom skyward and attain unprecedented speeds, the theft of plans for other aircraft inventions, air battles, crashes, international intrigue and a murder mystery offer unflagging excitement.

Carole Lombard, B. Aherne, Anne Shirley Star In New 'Vigil in the Night'

Presenting the human side of the nursing profession, RKO Radio's picturization of the sensational A. J. Cronin novel, "Vigil in the Night," co-stars Carole Lombard, Brian Aherne and Anne Shirley. The feature opens at the Englert Sunday.

Hailed as one of the most realistic doctor-nurse films yet brought to the screen, this human drama unfolds a story of courageous sacrifice on the part of a conscientious angel of mercy. Carole Lombard, in striking contrast to her lighter portrayals, plays a nurse whose entire life is so wrapped up in her humanitarian work and in her younger sister, Anne Shirley, a student nurse, that her devotion leads her to heroic accomplishments.

When the sister's criminal carelessness is responsible for the death of a sick child, Carole assumes the blame and is dismissed. Resolutely, she goes to another town, finding work in an under-financed hospital that demands of its nurses only that they be strong and healthy. "Vigil in the Night" features in the supporting cast such fine performers as Julien Mitchell, Robert Coote, Brenda Forbes, Rita Page and Peter Cushing.

stage success, provided director Rouben Mamoulian with something to worry about. Despite the carefully-written script of the Columbia film, now at the Iowa Theater with Barbara Stanwyck, Adolphe Menjou and William Holden starred, Mamoulian felt there might be some doubt as to the possibility of such an occurrence.

He polled his cast, to learn that only one member of it had even dreamed of success as an actor in his youth. And that one, Adolphe Menjou, had once side-tracked ambition in an effort to succeed in the hotel and restaurant business!

At one time Barbara Stanwyck aspired to a missionary life in China, even taught Sunday school in furtherance of her ambition.

William Holden, making his screen debut in the title part, early determined to spend his life peering through a microscope as a bacteriologist.

Joseph Calleia had made a concert tour of Europe, composed semi-classical music and won recognition as a pianist long before he donned greasepaint for the first time.

Sam Levene desired to be the super-salesman of the garment industry. A course in diction at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts led to a small role on Broadway and success.

Even Mamoulian himself, he suddenly realized, had sidetracked an earlier ambition to identify himself with drama. He studied the violin nine years with the intention of becoming a concert violinist.

'Fixer Dugan' Is Iowa Co-Hit

After six months away from Hollywood, a large part of which was spent playing the leading role in the London stage presentation of "Idiot's Delight," Lee Tracy returned to the United States to star in the title role in the screen comedy drama, "Fixer Dugan." This picture features the work of little Virginia Weidler and Peggy Shannon in the leading supporting roles.

The 1933rd session of the Leipzig Trade Fair, at Leipzig, Germany, opens in March, 1940, having operated without interruption through the Thirty Years war, the Napoleonic wars, the World war, and countless political and financial disturbances.

Hignett Case Continued In Court Today

Attempt To Settle Out of Court Fails; 10 Witnesses Testify

An attempt of the attorneys for settlement out of court in the accident case of Forest E. Hignett against the Rock Island Motor Transit company proved fruitless yesterday afternoon, and the trial was resumed in Johnson county district court at 4 p. m.

Hignett is seeking $7,500 damages for injuries allegedly received from an auto accident near West Liberty, March 10, 1939.

The attempted settlement followed the final testimony by prosecution witnesses. A total of eight witnesses had been called to the stand by the prosecuting attorneys.

W. F. Jensen, a farmer living near West Liberty, where the accident occurred, was called to the stand as the first defense witness of the case.

Jensen stated in his testimony that he had heard the crash of the automobiles as they collided, and that after surveying the wreckage he had flagged west-bound traffic for some time.

Judge James P. Gaffney adjourned court until 9 o'clock this morning, when further testimony by defense witnesses will be heard.

The law firm of Dutcher, Ries and Dutcher are representing the plaintiff. The defendant is represented by Messer, Hamilton and Cahill.

Choir To Sing Easter Music Sunday Night

Easter music by the choir will be sung at a candlelight praise service of the First Christian church, at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow, with Mrs. George Spencer as choir director.

Mrs. Guy H. Findly, church organist, will play "Eventide" by J. Arthur Neal. Vocal numbers on the program are:

Anthem, "Christ Our Passover," by Ashford.

Double quartet, "The Radiant Morn," Stainer

Solo by Dr. H. Halbert Leet, "The Palms," Faure

Violin and cello duet by Rollo Norman and Lorene Liston

Double quartet, "I Will Mention the Loving Kindness," Sullivan

Anthem, "Unfold Ye Portals," Mendelssohn.

Youth Fellowship To Sponsor Social Hour for Students

An informal social hour for university students and other young people of the community will be sponsored at 8 o'clock tonight by the Youth Fellowship of the Christian church.

The committee is inviting all young persons to attend the affair.

The speaker questioned the supposed shortage of hospital beds throughout the country, but pointed out that these are often beyond the reach of certain classes. "There is a definite de-

Word Battle Planned

Written, Oral Tests To Be Given to 80 At Court House

A battle of words will be held today at the Johnson county courthouse when contestants from schools throughout the county meet for the third annual city and county spelling contests. A total of 80 contestants is expected to enter.

The first division of the contest, which will consist of students from Iowa City schools exclusively, begins at 10 o'clock.

Entrants from schools in the county other than Iowa City will begin to spell at 2 o'clock.

Written and oral examinations will be given to the contestants, and the winners of each of the examinations will meet in an oral spell-down to determine the grand champion.

One representative from Iowa City schools and one from other schools in the county will be sent to the state contest.

St. Patrick's and St. Mary's are the only two Iowa City schools to submit entries.

1939 Gone 3 Fined for Owning Old Licenses

The 1939 license plate no longer exists in the eyes of the law. All Iowa motorists who have not adorned their automobiles with the new orange and blue 1940 plates are now the prey of both city and state police.

Yesterday four violators were brought before Police Judge Burke N. Carson for failing to have the new plates. Three were fined $1 each and the fourth discovered the owner had 1940 case was dismissed when it was plates in the car.

Announces City Appointment

Cyril Katzenmeyer Given Civil Service Commission Position

Re-appointment of Cyril Katzenmeyer to the city civil service commission for a six-year term was announced yesterday by Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock.

Competitive examinations for police and fire department positions were begun since Katzenmeyer's appointment five years ago by former Mayor Thomas E. Martin, Mayor Willenbrock pointed out.

"I believe Mr. Katzenmeyer has shown unusual interest and ability in his work. . . . In view of his splendid service to the city and his demonstrated qualifications for the position, I am sure that the council will readily approve his re-appointment," Mayor Willenbrock commented.

Mayor Walker and the city council sent Katzenmeyer to Des Moines in 1938 to work with other civil service commissioners in the state on civil service laws and administration, Mayor Willenbrock added.

Tourney—

Winner of 30 straight games this year, they haven't been extended in their wins over McGregor and Keystone. Last night they stepped out to a first quarter lead of 12-2, took things easy while the Keystone shortened the margin to four points and then pulled steadily away in a sustained last half drive that netted 27 points.

High Scorers
Bill Barbour and Don Pickell, forward and center, piled in 15 and 14 points respectively to take first and second honors for the day.

Surprise of the day, perhaps, was the ease with which Ames toppled Creston's defending champs in the afternoon session's opening battle. The Little Cyclones, hitherto regarded as just another team, gave the Panthers a convincing licking to send the Ames stock rocketing skyward.

With Bob Goodson bottled up completely, the Panthers never had a chance. The Little Cyclones were out ahead 19-10 at the half, and the game never got out of their hands. With Romaine Woodward grabbing the rebounds, they were in possession of the ball most of the time and Creston's sporadic offensive thrusts were only the fruitless efforts of a deposed monarch, fighting vainly for the small portion of dignity that is left an honorable loser.

Diagonal Out
Much the same might be said of Diagonal's fall some eighty minutes later. Pop Varner's boys, perennial state meet contestants, couldn't make the grade as Holstein's Black Pirates romped to a well-deserved 37-29 win. Two more noxious Wehdes never grew in any man's back yard than Diagonal saw yesterday in the deft and tricky twins, Ray and Roy Wehde. Roy counted eight points and Ray nine, while towering Verdean Goetsch racked up six field goals to make the day a bad one indeed for last year's runner-up.

Lastly, in the quarterfinals, it was Muscatine who matched shots with Waverly and came out with a 30-24 win that was earned. Just one point in the lead at end of a fiery first half, Muscatine was a little too steady and a trifle too rugged for the rascaling Go-Hawks.

Waverly Misses
Waverly had chances to win the game in the final half, but couldn't make the shots count. The Go-Hawks, forced to a terrific pace by the busy Muskies, traveled too fast for accuracy, missing shots that were almost in the bag. Star of the game, and of the day perhaps, was wily Glen Bloom, who counted 13 points for the Muscatine cause, shifted to forward from a guard post, since Thursday, Bloom could very easily be credited with the new sparkle in the Musky offensive.

Students in Charge
Students in charge of the banquet are Dick McMahon, A3 of Fort Dodge; Jim McKay, D1 of Dubuque; Glen Dyer, A2 of Leeward; Phil Pyles, A1 of Council Bluffs; Mary Cornwall, A3 of Spencer, and Mary Kennedy, A4 of New Hampton.

The committee in charge of the souvenir edition consists of Stephen Sedlack, A1 of Endicott, N. Y.; John Walsh, A3 of Sioux City; Jack Hagens, A3 of Muscatine, Mont., and Ed Mannion, A3 of Iowa City.

The activities to be included in the book will concern the six breakfast meetings held by the club, the two Knights of Columbus mixers, two dances, including the charity dance held last Christmas, three sponsored lectures held in co-operation with the foundation, the student retreat and the three discussion groups that have been in operation during the past semester.

McHugh added that the book will emphasize the growth in membership obtained in the past few years by the club. He pointed out that in 1938, the roll call consisted of 170 members, in 1939, 270 members and in 1940 the club has 400 members.

McHugh announced the election of Mary Margaret Bracewell, C4 of Burlington, as new secretary of the organization. Miss Bracewell fills the vacancy created by Kathleen Anderson, A4 of Iowa City, former secretary who resigned.

Plans for Formal
The president also gave plans for the Newman club formal which will be held in the main lounge of Iowa Union April 9. Music for the affair will be furnished by Vette Kell and his orchestra. He added that this is the first time that any religious group on this campus has given a formal party such as this. The affair will be open to members and guests only, he added.

A scrapbook of all the activities of the club as collected from The Daily Iowan and other newspapers will be on exhibit the evening of the dance, he announced.

Temperatures Rise To Near Normal
Nearer normal temperatures were recorded yesterday in Iowa City as mercury climbed to a high of 37, eight degrees below average.

Early yesterday morning 11 degrees was recorded, making the lowest of the day 14 below normal.

Mercury touched 53 a year ago yesterday, having risen from an early-morning low of 15.

Newman Club Plans Year's Final Activities

Alumni To Attend Banquet To Be Held First Week of May

Plans for the remainder of the school year in connection with Newman club activities were disclosed yesterday by Herb McHugh, C4 of Chicago, president of the club. A final banquet, to be held during the first week in May, will be one of these remaining activities, he said.

A souvenir program edition dedicated to the initial year of the Catholic foundation and containing the year's activities will be given out at the banquet. In addition, former alumni, prominent guests from all over the state and officers of the club will attend, he added. The edition will be sent to alumni all over the state and country.

Students in Charge
Students in charge of the banquet are Dick McMahon, A3 of Fort Dodge; Jim McKay, D1 of Dubuque; Glen Dyer, A2 of Leeward; Phil Pyles, A1 of Council Bluffs; Mary Cornwall, A3 of Spencer, and Mary Kennedy, A4 of New Hampton.
