Senate Passes Hatch Bill by Large Majority, Future in House Uncertain

Two-to-One Vote for Bill Is Unexpected

State Employees Paid By Federal Funds Barred From Politics

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The new Hatch bill, barring some 500,000 state employees from politics, was passed by the senate today with an unexpected, two-to-one majority and sent to the house, where a highly uncertain future lay before it.

The vote, 58 to 28, surprised even the measure's principal sponsors. The republican membership lined up solidly behind the measure, as had been expected, while numerous democrats who had voted with the opposition on various preliminary tests turned on the final roll call to the bill's support.

The bill is an extension of the original Hatch act which applies to federal workers. It would forbid state employees, paid in whole or in part by federal funds, to engage in political activities. As the administrator of the proposed law, the civil service commission would investigate complaints and if they were found justified would order the dismissal of the offending employee.

In addition, written into the bill by the opposition is a proviso that no individual may make campaign contributions of more than $5,000 in any year—a clause which the opponents hoped would make the bill so distasteful as to assure its ultimate defeat.

Sweden Gets Assurances From Russia

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 18 (AP)—Official Swedish circles declared tonight that Russia has given assurances she has no more territorial aspirations in Scandinavia.

The assurances, said to have been given to Sweden, did not make clear whether they had come voluntarily or at the request of Sweden for clarification of points in the Russian-Finnish peace treaty.

Swedish circles have shown considerable worry over certain aspects of that treaty which project Russian railway connections to the Swedish border.

The Soviet gave assurances, official circles said, that these rail transport facilities across the center of Finland would be used only for commercial purposes.

800 Scientists Prepare Lab Attack On Farm Surplus Crop Problem

NEW ORLEANS, March 19 (AP)—A regiment of 800 scientists is preparing a laboratory attack on America's farm surplus problem in an effort to find domestic outlets for the products of an abundant nation.

Here on the short of Lake Pontchartrain the U. S. department of agriculture is completing the first of four agricultural research laboratories in each of which 200 highly specialized men and women will solve many of the problems of America's surplus crops.

Crop curtailment must continue under the agricultural adjustment act, authorities of the department in Washington declare, because of decreased exports resulting from the European and far eastern wars and the competition of synthetic products, such as artificial silk made from coal, water and air.

However, scientific research offers another hope of finding uses for present products which will both increase the farmer's income and provide better clothing, food, housing and automobiles at less cost, scientists who are supervising the building of the southern regional laboratory here declared.

Eleanor Roosevelt Takes Note Women 'No Longer Touchy'

Census Questions On Income, Divorce, Age, All Answered

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt expressed the opinion today that most women won't mind telling the census enumerator their age, income and whether they have been divorced.

In fact, the first lady said at a press conference, people are not so touchy nowadays about answering personal questions. "Women used to hate to tell their ages," she said, "but that was years ago. I don't think they mind any more."

Mrs. Roosevelt made these observations when asked her opinion of the controversy over two census questions about income. The controversy began when Senator Tobey (R-NH), who contends the questions are illegal and an invasion of personal rights, introduced a resolution disapproving them. President Roosevelt, defending the questions, ascribed political motives to Tobey's campaign, and Secretary Hopkins asserted they would supply needed data on the unemployment situation.

Turkey Looks To Friendship With Russia

ANKARA, March 18 (AP)—Official circles today stressed Turkey's willingness to reestablish "old ties of friendship" with Soviet Russia but there was no confirmation of widespread reports that the two governments are about to resume consideration of a non-aggression pact.

They declared Turkey's relations with Soviet Russia could be strengthened without violating the terms of Turkey's mutual assistance treaties with Britain and France.

Despite the talk of an improvement of relations with Russia, Berlin dispatches saying Germany was seeking to neutralize Turkey aroused antagonism here.

was not made known officially, but the intention was disclosed with the arrival late in the day, aboard the British steamer Antonia, of 770 officers and men to supplement the skeleton crews which have been manning the Mary and Mauretania at their quiet piers. (In London, the admiralty would not comment.) While the owners, the Cunard-White Star line, acknowledged the presence of an additional corps of seamen, a spokesman declined to discuss the job assigned them, saying:

Chamberlain Faces Critics Of Policies

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—A calm defense of his national government against rebellious criticism in the house of commons was prepared tonight by Prime Minister Chamberlain as Britain sought some diplomatic counter-stroke to the Rome-Berlin axis conference at Brenner pass.

The prime minister, energetic today on his 71st birthday, faces the most serious opposition of his term tomorrow when he speaks in commons seeking to justify his policy.

Not only must he explain conduct of the war but informed sources said he was being pressed to give Britain's answer to the rendezvous which Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini had today. Believe Italy Neutral

Diplomatic circles expressed belief that conference was concerned either with extension of the axis to Moscow with subsequent partition of the Balkans at least into spheres of influence or with proposals for increase of Italian economic aid to Germany during the war.

The first interpretation was the more favored, however, and no credence was given reports that Hitler had convinced Mussolini to enter the war immediately on Germany's side.

Announcement by foreign undersecretary R. A. Butler that Britain, France and Turkey were consulting over the form of aid to be given Turkey if she should become involved in war was taken as evidence that Chamberlain's government is not entirely somnolent in the present diplomatic contest.

Curtiss-Wright, Atlas Reveal Huge Merger

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—A $165,000,000 merger of Curtiss-Wright corp., one of America's largest aircraft manufacturing companies, and the Atlas corp., one of the nation's principal investing companies, was announced tonight by the managements of the two giant corporations.

Floyd B. Odium, 48-year old financier, who built up the Atlas corp. in ten depression years to its present $60,000,000 market-value status, joined in the announcement with George N. Armsby, chairman, and Guy W. Vaughan, president, of Curtiss-Wright. Curtiss-Wright with its predecessors has been a leader in aviation since the Wright brothers' pioneering days. The current market value of its stocks approximately $105,000,000.

The plan of merger will be submitted within 3 weeks to stockholders of both companies for their approval.

Resume Nazi Air Service BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—The German Condor airline today resumed between Buenos Aires and Santiago, Chile, weekly service suspended at the outbreak of the European war.

"If the ships are to be placed in service as Australian troopships you could hardly expect us to admit it at this time." U. S. Customs men said, however, that because of information that the Britishers would be transferred by tomorrow to the Queen Mary and Mauretania it had not been necessary to inspect their baggage. No information was available as to when the vessels might leave, but the circumstances suggested a departure within a month. But shortly after dark, as 470 of the newly arrived British tars

Jury Panel Termed Not Representative

OMAHA, March 18 (AP)—An entire jury panel was challenged today by Attorney G. P. North on the ground it "is not representative; it does not include enough WPA workers and farmers."

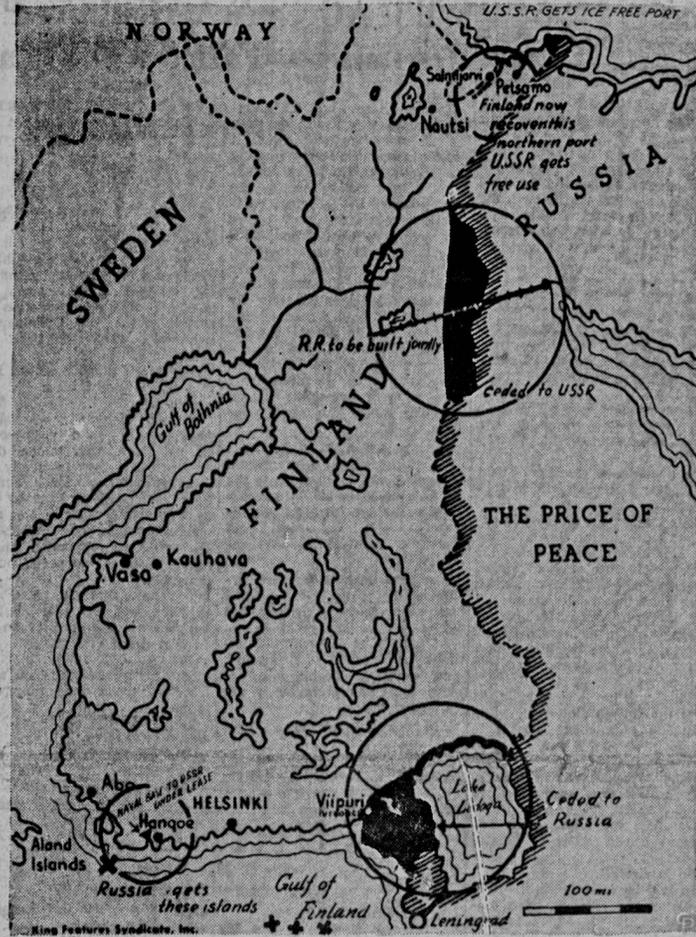

The case at issue was Mrs. Florida Deprez' suit against several Omaha policemen and the street car company for $50,000. She charged she was shot in the leg in 1935 in a riot growing out of the street car company strike.

Roy A. Ewers Takes School Board Position

Roy A. Ewers last night was elected president of the reorganized Iowa City school board for a one-year term to succeed Albert B. Sidwell. Appointment of other officers is scheduled for a later meeting of the board. Ewers said he would appoint his committees later in the week.

Mrs. Howard Beye and John P. Kelly, both of whom were selected in the March 11 elections to succeed Prof. Thomas G. Caywood and Elza Means as directors, were seated officially last night on the board. An official canvass of the votes last night disclosed no change in the official standing which saw the two new members tally more votes than Alva Oathout and Professor Caywood in the recent elections.

WHAT FINLAND GAVE UP TO RUSSIA FOR PEACE

This excellent map shows at a glance what Finland had to cede to Soviet Russia as a peace pact ending the three and one-half-month war. The Russian grant is even greater than demands made prior to the beginning of the war. Peace on such terms was not pleasing to Finland's populace.

Germany Claim Half of English Battleships Sunk or Disabled

LOS ANGELES, March 18 (AP)—Mae West won't have to pay Joan Storm $1,000,000 for material she used in her "Adam and Eve" radio broadcast, Federal Judge Harry Hollzer ruled today.

The writer claimed part of her script, "Love and Applesauce," had been used by Miss West in the radio skit. The actress and the National Broadcasting company, co-defendants, claimed she stayed up all night writing the script in an emergency.

Judge Hollzer read both scripts and said there was not enough similarity to constitute infringement.

Nazis Reveal Naval Victories

BERLIN, March 18 (AP)—Half of Britain's most powerful battleships "which represent the kernel of English marine power," have been sunk or damaged by German submarines, mines and planes, the official German news agency, DNB, said today in a resume of the war at sea.

DNB said the heart of the British grand fleet consisted of 15 battleships, of which only the Nelson, Rodney and Hood are regarded as modern according to German standards.

Asks Budget Cuts To Make AAA Possible

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Proponents of a $212,000,000 appropriation for farm parity payments told the senate today that the sum could be voted without levying new taxes and without increasing the statutory debt limit.

The item was written by the senate appropriations committee into a $713,896,084 house-approved agriculture department appropriation bill. When the senate began consideration of the huge supply measure, Senator Russell (D-Ga.) suggested that reductions could be made in other appropriation bills so that the farm bill would not upset the budget. Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) said he had information that tax receipts would run $100,000,000 higher than the treasury estimates. And Senator Clark (D-Mo.) recommended that congress "dip into" the treasury's $1,622,000,000 working balance, which he said was an excessive amount of ready cash to keep on hand. The senate chamber emptied quickly after passage of the Hatch bill late in the day and only a dozen senators were on the floor when Russell, as chairman of the appropriations subcommittee, took the floor to explain the $22,864,688 bill.

Balkan Pacts Would Finish 'Safety Ring'

BERLIN, March 18 (AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini held a sudden, momentous conference in a railway car on their common frontier at the Brenner Pass today from which Germany emerged with certain expectations:

1. That Italy is ready to join the European war actively on Germany's side if and when needed, and

2. That the Rome-Berlin axis would be extended to Moscow soon, perhaps before the week is over. German Italian aims for remodeling Europe will be endorsed by Moscow, excellently-informed sources said, as a third partner. Germany does not expect, however, that Russia will become a belligerent. Rather, she is looked upon as a great storehouse of raw materials.

Italian Comment (In Rome, where the only official comment on the conference was that it was "cordial," neutral observers believed that Hitler enlisted Italy's aid to seal a "safety ring" around Germany, perhaps by neutralizing the Balkans against a British-French war offensive by making a series of pacts with the small southeastern countries.)

(Well informed Rome sources said that neither Rome nor Moscow had made a move thus far toward a rapprochement, but they admitted that Germany might enter into negotiations with Russia for a three-corner arrangement.)

Italy Would Join As details of the spectacular meeting in Il Duce's private car at Brennero, on the Italian side of the frontier, trickled through to Berlin, it appeared that the two statesmen agreed that Italy would join the war on Germany's side if it should become desirable for her to abandon her present status in which she is "not neutral and yet not waging war."

Until such time, it was said, Italy would lose no opportunity to demonstrate to the western powers that she is Germany's ally economically, politically and ideologically.

The two statesmen were understood to have agreed that (See RUSSIA, Page 8)

Queen Mary To Be Australian Troop Ship

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Secret preparations to make Australian transports of Britain's 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary and its 35,000-ton New Mauretania were under way here tonight. Both opulently built for the luxury transatlantic trade of peacetime, they have been lying here idle under dirty gray camouflage paint, the Queen Mary since the outbreak of the war and the Mauretania for some three months. The British admiralty's decision to put them in the troop service was not made known officially, but the intention was disclosed with the arrival late in the day, aboard the British steamer Antonia, of 770 officers and men to supplement the skeleton crews which have been manning the Mary and Mauretania at their quiet piers. (In London, the admiralty would not comment.) While the owners, the Cunard-White Star line, acknowledged the presence of an additional corps of seamen, a spokesman declined to discuss the job assigned them, saying:

"If the ships are to be placed in service as Australian troopships you could hardly expect us to admit it at this time." U. S. Customs men said, however, that because of information that the Britishers would be transferred by tomorrow to the Queen Mary and Mauretania it had not been necessary to inspect their baggage. No information was available as to when the vessels might leave, but the circumstances suggested a departure within a month. But shortly after dark, as 470 of the newly arrived British tars were hurriedly put aboard the Queen Mary, unconfirmed rumors arose that she might even leave as early as next Wednesday. A program that would presuppose a hurried conversion at sea. At the same time, some sort of cargo was being loaded aboard the Mauretania. Their course could, and probably will, take them out of the path of German danger, possibly allowing also for the transport of some Canadian troops. Both could take the route around the Cape of Good Hope to Australia. The Mauretania could elect the Panama canal as an alternative, but shipping men said the locks were not big enough for the Mary. A little more than a month ago—on Feb. 12—the British landed at Suez, Egypt, a great army of New Zealanders and Australians. The departure of the $25,000,000 Mary, and the less showy but newer Mauretania would leave here the biggest of all merchant vessels—the 85,000-ton Queen Elizabeth, a $27,500,000 British investment which reached here on March 7 after running the gauntlet of the north Atlantic on a strange maiden voyage.

Wanted: Unused Sheepskins!

THE 1940 crop of college graduates will soon be marching out into business," begins an item from Forbes magazine.

For 10 years advice on how to get a job has been cheap, but getting a job has not been such an easy task.

The advice from Forbes magazine, however, takes a different slant. It's not aimed at college students but is designed for employers.

For the first time since 1929," the editors assert, "many will march straight into jobs. Not only because business is better, but also because some 50 companies are now sending 'talent scouts' to leading universities, to gather executive timber before it leaves the campus.

"This is nothing new. But the practice is gaining so much favor that no company can afford to overlook it.

"In most cases, students are not judged on their class records alone. Their appearance, personality and character, as revealed by professors, classmates and friends are also considered by these company scouts.

"Many outstanding figures in the business world today were thus scouted into their first jobs. Why not follow the example of these 50 companies and get your share of the cream?"

We know nothing more encouraging to report to this year's seniors than this bit from Forbes magazine. When the employers instead of the prospective employes begin getting advice—well, it looks like prosperity must be just around the corner!

The Descent of Man

THIS LEAP year may go down in history as the year the scientists ascertained the hegemony of women.

It may be a man's world now, but it won't be long until this will be a woman's world—at least in the United States. Statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company call attention to the fact that a surplus of women in the American population has become a certainty of the future because women are outliving the men and curtailed immigration will not add enough males to make up the numerical difference between the sexes.

Pointing out that the proportion of women in the population has been growing since the turn of the century, the statisticians say that, from 1901 to 1937, the mortality of white women improved steadily and at a greater rate than that of men. As a result, the expectation of life at birth has increased 14 years for women but only 12 and one half years for men. In 1901, a girl baby at birth had an expectation of life 2.85 years greater than that of a baby boy, but by 1937 the difference in favor of the girl had increased to 4.33 years.

Practically every age of life shows lower death rates for American women than for men and also a more rapid reduction in the death rate. As a result of these shifting conditions, it is explained, the ration of female to male mortality among the white population has changed materially.

If majority rules, it's time for men to beware!

And In The Beginning—

COMPARING the lean years, the New York Times recalls "A Memorable Day" in its March 3 issue. The day described in words by the Times' writer, Turner Catledge, has been almost forgotten.

It is worth recalling. "Few people who live in Washington will ever forget the New Deal's natal day. That day dawned a dark one in every respect. The great depression hung over the country like a darkening cloud. Banks were closing literally by the hundreds. Life savings in bank accounts and securities were being blown away like so much dust. Homes and farms were going on the auction block in ever-increasing numbers. In certain sections citizens were beginning to grow desperate. Word reached Washington that morning of hungry people raiding a food store in one community in the Southwest. In another state, only a few days before, irate citizens had forcibly stopped a foreclosure sale, and in another they had actually dragged a judge from the bench and threatened to tar and feather him for carrying out the state law in declaring the forfeit on a farmer's mortgage."

America: Russia's Ally

NOW THAT Russia has gained her objectives of defensive positions on former Finnish soil, it is interesting to consider the important role that the United States played in making this Russian aggression possible.

While hundreds of organizations campaigned for the Finnish relief funds and millions gave their tithes, while Congress debated and finally voted to make $30,000,000 in credit available to Finland, the industrialists of this country carried on an ever-increasing lucrative commerce with the Soviet Union.

For several years our export trade with Russia has been expanding, as well as the import trade. In December, 1938, our exports to the Soviet Union were valued at $7,195,754 and in December, 1939, they were valued at $11,922,420.

Similar increases are shown in the November figures of the two years—from $4,070,711 to $7,282,425.

And notice—November, 1939, $7,282,425; December, 1939, $11,922,420.

This tremendous increase in our export trade to the Soviet Union can only be explained through the war which was being waged against Finland. Furthermore it is obvious that the materials we sent to Russia are materials useful in carrying on a war, or the demand for them would not have increased as Russia marched into Finland.

What does the Soviet Union get from the United States? In 1937, the most recent data we found available, we exported to Russia $3,725,816 (worth of petroleum and products. Included in these exports was gasoline valued at $3,718,382.

Gasoline, you know, is an important consideration in waging a war.

So is aircraft. In 1937 we exported to the Reds airplanes and airplane parts valued at $3,212,729.

The heart of the industrialist must have weighed, and must still weigh, upon himself as the bombs fell on Finland.

Other factual condemnations of the industrialists (1939 figures): Industrial machinery $13,605,026 Mining and well-pumping mach. 3,623,543 Agricultural machinery 14,311 Tractors 9,230

Power driven electrical machinery 6,759,216 Autos 3,655,211 Trucks 47,226

Industrial chemicals 224,810 Chemicals 98,386 Iron and steel semi-manufactures 6,631,672 Steel mill manufactures 6,631,672 Copper (4,403,739 pounds) 422,194

Electrical machinery 2,483,309 Radio apparatus 1,323,876

We can safely assume that these exports of materials necessary for waging a war increased tremendously during the war period, as the total export figures show.

The question whether it was the exports of the United States that made the Finnish conquest possible is immaterial.

The single fact is: with our one hand we fed the hungry war-mouth of Finland, with the other we nourish the land-hungry appetite of the Soviet Union.

This policy is the one that we have been pursuing for the duration of the Chino-Japanese war. It is the policy that aided our entrance into the World war.

Pierre Van Paasen has an interesting commentary on such convincing, through which the blood of thousands run, in his book "Days of Our Years." He charges in that volume, and presents evidence to substantiate his charge, that during the World war the armament makers of the various belligerents combined to make each country, on the Central and Allied side, capable of large scale war.

The situation is clear. We not only aided Russia in her raping of Finland, but the industrialists of the east prospered and probably Iowa with them, on the blood of both, democracy and communism to the contrary. We cannot serve democracy and materialism both.

The industrialists are handling blood money. "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon both."

Holy Week Daily Messages for 1940

(This program of Holy Week meditations has been planned and edited by Rev. Llewellyn Arnold Owen, president of the Iowa City Ministers' association, First Congregational church.)

COURAGE

By Dr. M. Willard Lampe, director, School of Religion, S. U. I.

The theme assigned to me for this Holy Week meditation is Courage. The following amazing story is told by Rev. Roy L. Smith of Los Angeles, and appears in fuller form in the March 1st issue of China Information Service.

A Canadian was a guest, not long ago, in the home of General and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek. All was quiet in the living room when a servant appeared and said in a low tone to Madame Chiang, "We have just had word there is to be an air raid in thirty minutes.

In twenty minutes the lights will go out." The servant then withdrew, leaving a flash light. Madame Chiang, seemingly as unperturbed as though the announcement was for dinner, continued some writing. After nineteen minutes, she arose and said quietly to her guest, "We have just had word there will be an air raid in a few minutes. The lights will go out in a minute and I will ask you to go with me into the yard." The General appeared at about the same moment and the three of them went into the yard where they remained while bombs were dropped only a quarter of a mile away, destroying an entire block of the city of Chung King.

Then they returned and had dinner, during which not a word was said about the danger to which they had just been exposed. When, later in the evening, the Canadian arose to go, he was asked to remain for the family's devotions. Such an invitation comes to very few, and the Canadian quickly acquiesced, seating himself again. A Bible was produced and the General began by reading some Scripture, then the three joined in prayer, the General leading. Said the Canadian, "I never expect to hear such a prayer again in all my life." The General began with a simple expression of thanks for their personal safety. Then he added thanks for the courage of the nation under fire. Then he prayed for strength for the men in the field and along the firing lines; he prayed for strength for himself, and added a most earnest plea for guidance and wisdom, that he should not fail the people. But the most amazing thing in his prayer was a plea that God would help him and help China, not to hate the Japanese people. He prayed for the Japanese Christians, and all the suffering multitudes of Japan whose impoverishment was making the war on China possible. He prayed for the people who were bombed, for forgiveness for those who dropped the bombs.

In the simplest and humblest terms he laid himself at the service of Almighty God, and begged that he might know the Divine will, and do it on the morrow. When the thirty minutes of Scripture and prayer were concluded, the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang rose, extended their hands in friendly good-nights, and escorted their guest to the door. As he went out into the night and started on his way to the hotel, he was saying to himself, "I have found two Christians."

William Green's Agriculture Plan Gets No Response - - - Farmers Too 'Unconcentrated'

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

Though there's lots of it, agriculture is spread out so thin, it's so unconcentrated, that it doesn't respond very promptly to a suggestion which undoubtedly was intended to be for the joint good of urban labor, capitalistic employment, agriculture and everybody else. The plan—to get all these classes together, to hit on a program for their common benefit, all around—was put forward the other day by President William Green of the A. F. of L. He might have included distributors and consumers generally, too. However, these omissions unquestionably were a mere oversight. Green obviously meant the whole population.

He says the A. F. of L. wants congress to create a permanent advisory board to co-ordinate the interests of all hands. He recognizes that those interests are inter-dependent. He speaks of "economic recovery" as his objective.

The new deal, to be sure, assumes that it's accomplished "economic recovery" already, but Bill Green evidently thinks not—he complains of plenty of unemployment yet—of young folk who can't "break in," and of older folk who prematurely are "squeezed out."

He blames government also, for having developed a popular "jittery state of mind." He not only wants "economic improvement" — he wants it in perpetuity. Back to the N. R. A. His scheme somehow dates back to the new federal N. R. A., which was abandoned as a fizzle. Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney likewise has a congressional committee, engaged in an attempt to re-adjust old-time conditions to modern days. But O'Mahoney's committee advertises itself as "temporary."

Bill Green urges a set-up forever of "industry, labor and agriculture."

Capitans of industry are rather unexpectedly quite acquiescent. In not such very olden days they weren't overly ready to listen to hints from labor sources. Now they seem disposed to discuss William Green's scheme reasonably enough. Several of them already have expressed themselves, through the press, pretty favorably.

The fact that the A. F. of L. lead was the individual to put forward the idea of an industrial-labor-agricultural alliance seems to imply that the organized workers are in a more placatory mood than they used to be. Labor, on the one hand, evidently realizes that it, too, suffers when the employers are financially distressed. The employers, on the opposite hand, have come to recognize that good pay enables the workers to be better buyers of the formers' merchandise. The past decade has been mutually educational to them.

Agriculture isn't so promptly heard from in response to President Green's recommendation. That probably is because the farmers are so widely scattered that they're not readily vocal. However, maybe they'll be friendly to the Green program, too, as they get to talking about it.

Getting Together The nub of it is: Labor, hitherto inclining somewhat in the direction of radicalism, apparently, if Bill Green voices its views correctly, is tending moderately in the direction of mild conservatism. It complains of high taxes, as having forced a lot of big employment concerns into the "red," to the injury, not only of themselves, but to their employees. "Sock the rich!" no longer is as popular a slogan as it was.

Correspondingly, hitherto strongly conservative big industrialists appear, judging from their spokesmen's published remarks, to be swinging toward a more liberal attitude. It's occurred to them that they can't make money except from a generally prosperous country. The initial symptoms are all to the good, anyway.

No Ear-Plugs For Sammy Tucker Admires Kaye For Working Up Ladder From Bottom

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The slogan that helped Sammy Kaye become famous as an orchestra leader is a simple little lilting phrase that is easy to say and just as easy to remember. It is "Swing and Sway with Sammy Kaye" and it is bawled out to the air waves a dozen times a week by announcers who work his programs. We have admired Mr. Kaye for a long time, principally because you can listen to his music without ear-plugs, and also because we admire anyone who starts at the bottom and keeps on swimming till their head breaks water.

The other morning, however, a young man named Hal Desfor who is affiliated with one of the advertising agencies on Broadway got on a Remsen Ave. bus in Brooklyn and practically broke into song at something he saw scratched on one of the bus windows. Perhaps we should add that Mr. Kaye is a client of Mr. Desfor's agency, and the thing that delighted him so was the familiar beginning of the old phrase "Swing and Sway." There was something else written under it, and to get close enough to read it Desfor practically had to climb into a lady's lap. But he made it, and the line he saw was a slight variation from the original lyric. "Swing and Sway with Malky Kay," someone had improvised.

This was puzzling for a few moments, until Desfor noted how rhythmically the bus began to sway from side to side. Then he found the answer. Malky Kay was the name of the bus driver. LAFAYETTE, La., March 18—(Special to The Daily Iowan)—Otto Vogel's Big Ten titling baseball team of last year started off its 1940 campaign successfully here today with a 6-4 triumph over Southwestern Louisiana institute.

Behind the superb hurling of the veteran Harold Haub, the Hawkeyes went to town on a barrage of 11 hits, two, a double by George Smith and a triple by Frank Kocur, for extra bases.

Haub, big righthander who won four conference tilts last year for the Hawkeyes, held the southern team well in check after entering the game. Schommer started for Iowa, but was wild, issuing six bases on balls.

Norman Hankins, Hawkeye catcher, injured his left shoulder when he put Grand out at the plate in the first inning. It is probable that Hankins will be unable to play the rest of the trip. The Hawkeyes play two more games against Southwestern and then move over to Ruston, La. for three games with Louisiana Tech.

SPORTS TRAIL

- Abner Hicks
- He Knows Them
- Some Highlights

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Washington Senator scouting staff took off his heavy blue coat, draped it over his arm like a damp towel, and settled his thick body into a grandstand seat to watch the Reds and Cardinals play baseball. Joe Cambria was enjoying a bushman's holiday.

He's short and he's robust; is this ex-Baltimore laundryman who branched out into a minor league baseball magnate, and from there into the lone material witness for Clark Griffith, his olive skin is toasted to a fudge-brown, and sitting there in his white shirt sleeves, with vest unbuttoned and white panama hat set sedately on his head he might have been any Abner Hicks lolling about the farm machinery exhibit at a county fair on a steamy August day. Just folks.

They poke a lot of fun at Uncle Joe. They say he chases his prospects up trees and lassos them, or smokes them out of their caves; that every time a young fellow in Cuba hits the ball out of the infield he hears about it.

He does come up with some rare specimens, at that, cornered at some dusty inland crossroads where the boys play on fields that failed to escape the fall plowing, and he turns them up in astonishing quantities until Bucky Harris runs and hides every time a bus stops at Orlando. He just signs 'em all, and then he can't miss any.

Let it never be said Uncle Joe doesn't know a ball player when he sees one. For instance, they tell of the time he was looking over Joe Stripp's baseball school when a young fellow caught his eye.

A likely lad, said Uncle Joe to himself, and lurking behind bushes and telephone poles he observed his victim for three days. Just when he was ready to

Just A Few Technicalities

As the search begins for the man who can throw passes like Nile Kinnick did last fall, the Iowa all-American himself is around the Iowa fieldhouse taking a big interest in the proceedings. Here, he discusses the all-important matter of passing with four of the men who are being looked over by Iowa coaches as possible triple-threat gridders. Left to right in the picture are Kinnick, holding the ball, Bob Bender of Davenport, Tom Farmer of Cedar Rapids, Bill Stauss of Creston and Jim Youel of Ft. Madison. The Iowa squad checked out equipment yesterday and began actual football practice for the first time.

Spring Football Starts

An Interested Spectator

An interested spectator as Iowa's 1940 grid candidates went through their first drill was Vince Spasato, right, who was visiting Backfield Coach Frank Carideo of the Hawkeyes. Spasato, a junior at Notre Dame, is a nephew of Carideo. With Spasato in the picture is Bill Hofer, Iowa's freshman coach who was a star quarterback at Notre Dame, graduating there in the spring of 1930.

ponce, he discovered the boy was Johnny Cooney, a youngster of some 38 summers who has been playing National league ball off and on for nearly 20 years.

Uncle Joe also claims to have walked right into Connie Mack's ball park in broad daylight and signed George Washington Case, and to have picked up Buddy Lewis for nothing when the Giants had turned him down as a poor risk.

In short, staccato sentences, punctuated by nudging movements and "See what I mean?" and "Am I right?" queries, he sketches his life story, including such highlights as:

"Played ball in 1911 with Berlin, Canada, and then with Fall River in Northeastern league. . . broke leg, and went into laundry business. . . bought Hagerstown club in Blue Ridge league in 1929. . . started buying other clubs and scouting for Senators on side. . . only individual in baseball who owned clubs in all minor league classifications. . . Salisbury in class D, Youngstown in class C, Greenville in class B, Springfield, Mass., in class A, and Albany in AA. . . bought Albany franchise for $7,500, sold about $60,000 worth of players, and sold club to Giants for $65,000. . . now has Springfield, Salisbury, and Greenville clubs. . . uncovered such players as Case, Buddy Lewis, Joe Krakauskas, Babe Phelps, Jake Powell, Hal Quick, Hugh Mulcahy, Ed Leip, Alejandro Carrasquel. . . started scouting full time for Griffith last year."

Uncle Joe gives his beloved "Griff" credit for all the baseball success he has enjoyed. "He developed me," Joe explains.

He is a little hazy as to the number of players he has signed in the last 10 years. He started in 1900, then got it down to 200, with about half of them making good as pros.

50 Gridders Start Work

Hawks Will Drill Today, Then Take Easter Vacation

Spring football officially got under way yesterday at the University of Iowa as Coach Eddie Anderson, Frank Carideo and Jim Harris called the boys out in the west end of the fieldhouse and got them started in a series of signal drills.

The squad of approximately 50 men was issued uniforms and started to work. However, Anderson will dismiss the men after today until the Easter holiday is over. After that they will settle down to a training schedule that will probably last until late in April.

Most of the Hawkeye candidates have been working out with other athletic squads at the fieldhouse and reported in good physical condition.

There appeared to be a goodly quantity of necessary weight and toughness among the newcomers and several potential triple threat men are present, but the left halfback spot and the end posts, vacated by All-American Nile Kinnick, Erwin Prasse and Dick Evans, are still the biggest uncertainties.

Upper D Wins From D. U.'s In Title Game

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—A bunch of big guys from the west, taking over after their little team-mates had finished "fooling around," came on tonight to fight the east's team to a draw in the annual Intercollegiate Golden Gloves championship before a crowd of 18,388 in Madison Square Garden.

After dropping six of the first eight bouts, these survivors of sectional tournaments in the yearly amateur boxing warfare between the westers, headed by smooth-boxing Jim Richie of St. Louis, rallied through the welterweight, middleweight and light-heavyweight going to end up with eight triumphs, five of them in the championship class, and three in the "alternate" brackets.

Richie, a St. Louis hod-carrier, was about the classiest boxer and he had little or no trouble disposing of Andy Sfris of Philadelphia to take the light-heavyweight title. However, the fireworks, as usual, were left to Ray Robinson, the tap-dancing knocker-outer from New York.

He kept up his record by flattening Tony Ancona of Detroit in 40 seconds of the third round with a looping right-hand shot for his seventh K.O.

For the westers, the championship winners were Jimmy Joyce, Gary, Ind., 118-pounder; Savior Canado, Chicago, welterweight; Joe Maxin, Cleveland, middleweight; Richie, St. Louis, light-heavyweight, and Cornelius Young, Chicago, heavyweight. Alternate winners for the west were Lon Haire St. Louis, 126 pounds; Anthony Jones, Springfield, Ill., welterweight, and Shelton Bell, Wilberforce (Ohio) university student, light-heavyweight.

Hawk Trackmen Face Wisconsin Tomorrow

20 Iowans To Make Trip

Event at Madison Will Be Last Meet Of Indoor Season

Coach George Bresnahan has named 20 men to represent Iowa on Wisconsin's dirt oval tomorrow night in what is to be the Hawks' last indoor dual track meet of the season.

The large squad will leave tomorrow morning, consisting of 15 men. Five other men will leave this afternoon, their tasks requiring extra rest.

Wisconsin's Badgers have two Big Ten champs on the team in Ed Smith, colored high hurdler, and Ed Buxton, veteran half-miler. Paskvan, star back on the Badger football team, will be out to take the shot put event away from Bill Leuz. Leuz placed fourth in the conference indoor meet for the Hawkeyes, adding the only points to Iowa's score in the meet. Hank Vollenweider and Jack Whitehurst will be matched against Smith in the high sticks event; while Arnold Carlson, Ed Elliott and Merl Erickson will hit off the 880-yard test along with Buxton.

Relay Team To Run at Chicago

Iowa's mile relay team, invited to compete in the annual Chicago relays, will be matched against two other Big Ten schools in this event. Wisconsin and Minnesota will be Hawkeyes' foes in what is considered the biggest invitational indoor track meet in the nation.

Selection of the four man team has not as yet been made but will be right after the meet at Wisconsin which takes place tomorrow evening at Madison. The men from which the squad will be selected are, Ed Elliot, Ed Baird, Lewis Lapham, Gil Gillespie, Art Schlauder, Jim Wilson and Joe Hinrichs.

Medals are given by the Chicago Daily News to the first and second place teams in the relay events.

By OSCAR HARGRAVE

It should have been proved during the late part of last week that the state basketball tournament was where it should be. At least I can't imagine any place where it could have been better taken care of.

For instance, the crowds amounting to slightly over sixty thousand for all sessions as against the previous high of 40,000 for a state meet. And, the field house was never badly crowded. It was full Saturday night with 13,500 customers, but not jammed.

Add to that the fact that crowds were orderly, that teams were well taken care of and that customers were never left waiting for the games to start and you can see why the event is apt to return to Iowa City next year.

Looking around for the reasons for such an absolute minimum of trouble a dozen things can be pointed out. To start with, there's nothing like having enough room. Iowa field house not only will accommodate about twice as many customers as any other such place in the state, but locker room facilities for the players are plentiful and entrances and ticket offices are so disposed as to allow the fastest handling of crowds.

There are, also, personal reasons for liking the tournament. The press didn't undergo the slightest discomfort. Due to a room fixed up especially for the newspapermen and to lunches and cigarettes furnished by the Quarterback club, the arduous task of covering the terrific total of 16 games in a three-day period was made enjoyable. There was even enough room in the press row, something rather unusual for an event of the kind.

Then there are the university's special organizations, which did yeoman duty. Charley Gallicher and his office staff, who handled thousands of football tickets last fall, handled the business end. There was no trouble at any stage of the meet in regard to tickets. People who wanted to reserve seats had the job done ahead of time and late comers got in without much standing in line.

And, proving that the whole university comes into the picture, the military department furnished the ushers, the Pershing Rifles and the Pontoniers, to be exact, helping customers find their seats. Meanwhile, it was up to Waddy Davis and his regular fieldhouse crew to straighten up the place between sessions.

The whole organization, or organization, clicked on the tournament, with Iowa City as a whole deserving quite a bit of credit. If

Matmen Enter Semi-Finals In All-U Meet

The fraternity league wrestlers advanced to the semi and final rounds of the intramural wrestling tournament at the fieldhouse yesterday afternoon.

In the 135-pound division, Enabnit of Phi Gamma Delta threw Willis of S.A.E. in two minutes, 25 seconds. In the same class, Eiel of Sigma Nu won by a fall over Goldenberg of Phi Epsilon Pi in three minutes, six seconds.

Maplethorpe of Phi Kappa Psi lost to Baker of Sigma Chi by a fall in one minute, 31 seconds in the 145-pound class. Baughman of Beta Theta Pi eked out a decision over Johnson of Phi Kappa Sigma in the same class.

In the only 155-pound division match, Conkling drew a decision over Schneider of Phi Gamma Delta in one minute, 36 seconds in the only 165-pound scrap.

In one of the two matches in the heavyweight division, Wright of Delta Upsilon won a decision over Young of Phi Kappa Psi. In the Quadrangle league, Podmajersky of Lower C won a decision over George of Lower D in the other heavyweight match.

Montrose of the town league won a close decision over Paul of the quadrangle league of the 155-pound division.

Bosox Shade Newark, 4-2

SEBRING, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Roger Cramer was the only regular in the lineup today as a weak-hitting Red Sox team edged the Newark Bears of the international league, 4-2, in a 10-inning contest.

Earl Johnson's wildness and failure to cover first on an infield hit gave Newark its first run, and the second was scored on Bill Johnson's lusty triple in the third. Boston scored one in the first on Hank Borowoy's generosity, got another in the second and came through with two runs in the tenth to sew up the verdict.

Bivins Whips Sutka
CHICAGO, (AP)—Jimmy Bivins, 158, Cleveland, outpointed Joe Sutka, 158, Detroit, in the eight-round main event at Marigold Gardens last night. Willie Muldune, 180, Cleveland, knocked out Frank Greene, 180, Taylorville, Ill., in the fourth round; and George Nyberg, 150, Port Arthur, Ont., won an eight-round decision over Tony Yates, 148 1-2, Minneapolis.

there is anything that could add to pride in the university and the town it might well be the ability to handle an athletic event as big as the state tourney in the manner that job was done last week.

Iowa Mermen Down Wildcats In Dual Meet

Armbruster, Bremer Pace Teammates To 46-38 Victory

By BOB HOWARD
The Hawkeye swimming team ended its dual meet season on a victorious note by downing a team of fighting Northwestern Wildcats 46 to 38 at the Iowa fieldhouse pool last night. With the meet more than half over, the Iowans overcame a nine point Northwestern lead and swept to victory by winning first and second places in three consecutive events. Northwestern won five events and Iowa took four.

Iowa's Co-Captains Al Armbruster and Tony Bremer, both swimming their last meet, started their team mates on the climb to victory by placing first and second respectively in the 150-yard back stroke. George Poulos and Carl Ahlgren then came through with firsts in the breast stroke and the 440. Don Westrom, Dwight Johnston and Russ Dotson, all swimming under handicaps of recent injuries and illness, gave especially good performances.

Dick Fahrback paced the 'Cats by winning both sprints and also swimming on the winning sprint relay team. Capt. Lynn Surles took the 220 and Tom Powell won the fancy diving.

Al Povalaitis, freshman star, swam into the aquatic limelight by breaking the world record in the 100 meter breast stroke with a time of 1:12.8. His time will not stand as a new record, however, since it was not established in actual competition but in an individual exhibition.

It will be sent into the national records committee with the recommendation that it be recognized as a noteworthy performance. He was also clocked in the 100 yard distance but fell 1.7 seconds short of the national record.

300-yard medley relay—won by Iowa (Armbruster, Johnson Karaffa); second, Northwestern (Zehr, J. Bitting, W. Bitting). Time—3:02.3.

220-yard free style—won by Surles, Northwestern; second, Ahlgren, Iowa; third, Dotson, Iowa. Time—2:15.5.

60-yard free style—won by Fahrback, Northwestern; second, Westrom, Iowa; third, Gray, Northwestern. Time—29.2.

Low board fancy diving—won by Powell, Northwestern (367.3); second, Biedrzycki, Iowa (345.5); third, Vargon, Iowa (328.4).

100-yard free style — won by Fahrback, Northwestern; second, Surles, Northwestern; third, Westrom, Iowa. Time—52.7.

150-yard back stroke — won by Armbruster, Iowa; second, Bremer, Iowa; third, Zehr, Northwestern. Time—1:38.7.

200-yard breast stroke — won by Poulos, Iowa; second, Johnson, Iowa; third, J. Bitting, Northwestern. Time—2:30.2.

440-yard free style relay — Ahlgren, Iowa; second, Dotson, Iowa; third, Walsh, Northwestern. Time—5:01.2.

400-yard free style relay — won by Northwestern (Surles, Fahrback, Gray, W. Bitting); second, Iowa (Gerber, Mahoney Noon, Karaffa). Time—3:37.5.

Festival Features!

Bands Here May 4 Will Give Pattern Formations, Novelties

Pattern formations and novelties, rather than routine formations, will be featured during the marching band exhibition at the University of Iowa's music festival in May.

The bands will appear in the stadium May 4 in the most spectacular event of the festival. No competition between units is involved.

Included among the organizations probably will be bands which received high ratings in the state marching band contest held last fall.

Invitations to participate in the festival have been sent to outstanding groups and individuals. The affair, opening May 2, will continue for three days and all participants are invited to remain for the duration of the festival.

Prof. Briggs Prizes Collection of 'Federalist Papers'

By JACK HAGENS "It's more a study than a hobby," Prof. John E. Briggs said as he grasped one of his prized "Federalist Papers" editions which he has been collecting for a number of years.

The whole study, he claimed, started quite some time ago when he had not found a necessary "Federalist Papers" edition which he was seeking at the library. Not feeling that this was a bad state of affairs, he, nevertheless, declined to collect as many editions as he could—just for the curiosity of it all.

Many of the books he acquired through catalogs advertising editions yet to be found. He now has 14 books in his Federalist collection of which his 1810 edition is the "prize." This edition comes in two volumes and was edited by John Wells. It contains the works of John Jay, James Madison and Alexander Hamilton in which the trio was making an attempt to bring about the adoption of the constitution.

This edition is the seventh edition and is the first one to have the various articles with the names of the authors attached. This, according to Professor Briggs, makes it important in his collection.

"The editor, John Wells, used information which he got from Alexander Hamilton in regard to the authorship of the various articles," Professor Briggs said. He said that Hamilton wrote nearly two-thirds of the articles, Jay wrote approximately five, and Madison's number was not definitely determined.

"Later scholars are confused as to the exact authorship of all of the articles," he stated. All of them were signed "PUBLIUS" which makes the job somewhat indefinite, he added.

Other editions found in the collection are 1818, an edition edited by Jacob Gideon which used the same page plates as the 1810 version; 1863, edited by Henry B. Dawson; 1864, J. C. Hamilton, editor; 1888, edited by Henry Cabot Lodge, known as the "Lodge Edition"; 1894, E. H. Scott, editor; 1898, edited by P. L. Ford, and 1901, E. G. Bourne editor.

"Ford's is my favorite edition, although Bourne is perhaps the most brilliant student in that period of American history," he stated. The Lodge edition is more or less standard, for all the earlier editions are out of print, he concluded.

Professor Briggs pointed out the fact that as the editions progress in time, different articles are assigned to different authors and that in many cases one section of the text may be moved to another to make the book more authentic.

"The Federalist Papers constitute the most thorough analysis of government that has ever been written,"—that, in Professor Briggs' words, is his opinion concerning his collection.

Professor Briggs finds these volumes and others which he has collected especially helpful in his course on political literature. In a more personal manner, he finds it interesting to compare the differences found in the books concerning the authorship of the articles. The editions cost about $3 per volume, he estimated. The first editions would be, of course, much more expensive, he said. Professor Briggs now seeks the French edition, which is believed to be the first ever printed.

Other rare books in his field of political science in the collection are also important to his course on political literature. Professor Briggs has the first issue of the first edition, 1651, of Hobbs' book on political philosophy, "Leviathan."

James Harrington's "The Oceana," is the book upon which the American scheme of government was largely planned. The 1700 edition was more or less a Utopian plan, Professor Briggs stated.

These and other volumes are classics in the field of political science, he stated. They are excellent facilities for conducting these courses, Professor Briggs added.

Furthermore, in a more recent vein—Professor Briggs collects all the works of Walter Lippman, Harold Lasky and Stewart Chase!

Annual Exhibition of Student Art Begins With Tea April 7

The seventh annual exhibition of the student salon of art, sponsored by Union Board, will begin with a tea Sunday, April 7, in the main lounge of Iowa Union, Ralph F. Evans, chairman, has announced. At that time the exhibit will be judged for the popularity awards.

Visitors April 7 will ballot for their choices in each medium. In addition to the popularity awards, non-competitive quality awards based on standards of excellence will be awarded by judges selected by Union Board. The exhibit will continue until April 15.

Resident undergraduate and graduate students in all departments of the university are eligible to submit entries for the contest, which includes sections in oil paintings, water colors, pastels, sculpture and monochromes. Works must be delivered to the information desk of Iowa Union Wednesday, April 3.

Oil paintings must be framed, and other works must be matted and may be framed. Not more than three works may be submitted by any student in any one medium, but he may enter in all media if he wishes.

Title of the work, the name and local address of the contributor and his classification must be printed or typed and attached to the back of each work. Students entering the exhibit signify their willingness to have their works shown in the Big Ten exhibit if they are among those chosen for this purpose, Evans said.

The annual exhibition, part of which later makes up the traveling Big Ten display, is sponsored for two reasons: to stimulate the production of original works of art by university students and to stimulate a greater interest in art among all students at the university.

Work done outside of university classes, except those done under private tutorage or in other schools, will be eligible for entry in any of the media. A competent committee of judges, chosen by the Union Board, will select works which in its opinion merit the honor of a showing in Iowa Union. Notification will be sent to any exhibitor whose works are not accepted for display before the formal showing.

All work submitted will be handled with all possible care, but the committee will accept no responsibility for loss of or damage to the submitted works, Evans said.

Others on Evans' committee are Cornelia Shrauger, A4 of Atlantic, who is in charge of the formal showing April 7, and Helen Kading, N4 of Casey.

Radio Station WSUI Broadcasts 2,496 Hours Each Year, Survey Reveals

Music Leads Departments With 1072 Hrs.

Pearl Bennett Broxam, Program Director, Makes Compilation

By MADELYN MILES
WSUI, in an average year, is on the air 2,496 hours and 40 minutes.

Pearl Bennett Broxam, program director for station WSUI, recently completed a survey of WSUI programs for one year. She computed the average time the various colleges and departments of the university participate in WSUI programs, the various types of programs presented and the service that WSUI renders to local, state and national organizations.

The music department has the largest amount of broadcasting time in an average year with 1,072 hours. The speech department is next with 405 hours and third is the school of journalism with 306 hours. The athletics and physical education department has 122 hours; the school of religion, 102, and the classical language department, 102, the survey revealed.

Ranging on down come the English department with 70 hours; the romance language department, 62; college of commerce, 46; German department, 36; political science department, 34; Iowa child welfare research station, 27; Iowa State Historical society, 20; school of fine arts, 18; dean of men's office, 15.

College of education, 11; college of engineering, nine; alumni service, eight; school of letters, eight; dean of women's office, four; graphic and plastic arts department, three; college of law, three; history department, two; home economics department, one, and the school of nursing, 45 minutes.

Programs are divided by type into seven groups—serious, light and popular. According to hours and minutes per week, there are 18 hours, 25 minutes of serious music; seven hours, 20 minutes of light, and four hours, 15 minutes of popular. Thus a total of 30 hours, 30 minutes per week or 1,566 hours per year is attained.

Drama is divided into general and children's. In an average week there is one hour, 45 minutes of general drama, and 45 minutes of children's. This adds up to two hours, 30 minutes per week or 130 hours per year.

Divisions in talks and dialogues are social and economic, five hours, 40 minutes; literature, history and general cultural, 14 hours; household and other of special interest to women, six hours, 30 minutes; farm management and others of special interest to farmers, one hour. Thus this would make 27 hours, 10 minutes in an average week or 1,412 hours, 40 minutes in an average year.

News is divided by type into three groups—news reports, seven hours, 10 minutes; sport flashes, one hour, 20 minutes and market, crop and weather reports, three hours, five minutes, making a total of 11 hours, 35 minutes per week or 602 hours, 20 minutes per year.

Religious and devotional programs are on the air two hours, 30 minutes per week or 130 hours per year.

Under the heading of special events are meetings and occasions of special interest, 45 minutes; sports, one hour, 30 minutes, and other interviews, 15 minutes. The total of special events for the week is two hours, 30 minutes or 120 hours a year.

Television is on the air on the average of 30 minutes per week or 26 hours per year.

Special events which were broadcast during the year which were classified as occasions of civic interest included Supreme Court day, All University Men's Sports dinner, Kick-Off dinner, all university sing, Armistice day exercises, commencement exercises in January and in June, football pep meetings, conferences, high school music festival; high school fests; high school football; Governor's day luncheon, Mother, Son, Daughter; dinner, farm and home week, National Brotherhood day, Religious Emphasis week, state corn husking day and the Keota community club corn banquet.

Under the topic of sports are football games, basketball games, baseball games, swimming meets, track meets and tennis tournaments.

A partial list of the views and interviews during that time included such leading names as John Mason Brown, Lyman Bryson, Glenn Frank, Robert Hoplock, Phil Stong, Joseph Keenan, Alexander Kerensky, Andre Maurois, Ida B. Wise Smith, Hudson Strode, Clarence Chamberlain and Linton Wells.

Defense Uses 'Intoxication Blood Test'

DES MOINES, March 13 (AP)—The scientific blood test, frequently used throughout the nation by prosecutors in attempts to convict persons of driving while intoxicated, was used in Polk county district court today as a major defense weapon in a drunken driving test.

Customarily blood tests have been taken at the direction of arresting and prosecuting officers and introduced by the state during the trial.

However, in today's case—that of John T. McGill, 20, of Des Moines—Defense Attorney Charles Bowers introduced the blood test on behalf of his client.

Bowers showed that McGill went to a hospital and submitted to the blood test—at his own request—within six and a half hours after he was arrested Dec. 30 following an accident.

Testimony of the doctor who made the test was to the effect that there was no trace of alcohol in McGill's blood, as there would have been, under normal conditions, if he had been intoxicated at the time of the accident.

McGill also took the stand, testifying that he had two drinks before the accident, but was not intoxicated. He asserted that the crash was due to icy pavement.

Testimony in the case will continue tomorrow.

Monk Service Held

Funeral service was held at 3 p.m. yesterday at the Hohenschuh mortuary for Joseph Allen Monk, nine-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Monk, 234 Lowell street, who died yesterday morning at a local hospital. He was buried in Oakland cemetery.

Basic Training Airplane Used By Cadets at Randolph Field

This night aerial photograph of a basic training airplane was made by the Randolph Field, Texas, photographic department while the plane was flying at an altitude of several thousand feet over the main airbase.

This type of plane used for the secondary phase of training of flying cadets at the air corps primary flying school. Future pilots of Uncle Sam's air force receive a thorough course in the art of flying military aircraft before their graduation from Kelly field, the advanced flying school.

After their primary course, which is given at one of the nine primary training schools throughout the nation, the flying cadets are transferred to the West Point of the Air for training in these BT-9's, as shown in the photograph. Sixty-five hours of flying time, more than half of which is solo, is acquired by each cadet during primary training. Then, in the larger, faster basic trainers, they acquire additional skill in aerial acrobatics, night flying and blind flying.

During the course of instruction at the various fields, the cadets are paid $75 monthly in addition to their food, uniforms and lodging. Young men between the ages of 20-27 are eligible for enrollment as flying cadets.

Those who have at least two years of college education are exempt from a written mental examination. Upon completion of the course in flying, the cadets receive the coveted "wings," insignia of a military airplane pilot. They are then commissioned as a second lieutenant in the air corps reserve and transferred to tactical stations of the air corps for duty.

Pilot Course Now Reaches Quota of 50

10 Students Assigned To Grant Woldum For Flying Instruction

The university's government-sponsored pilot training course reached its full quota of 50 students this week when 10 new students were assigned to instructor Grant H. Woldum, Prof. H. O. Croft of the college of engineering, director of the course, announced recently.

The University of Iowa has more students flying at the present time than any other school in this district which includes Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and North and South Dakota, Professor Croft said.

The 10 new students are Scott H. Swisher, A2 of Iowa City; Frank Batman, A2 of Sioux City; William M. Thorsen, A1 of Seattle, Wash.; Miles Hamilton, E2 of Sac City; William J. Wilkinson, A2 of Marengo; James Butsch, A3 of Owatonna, Minn.; Willis E. Dirks, C4 of Decorah; George W. Lutz, E1 of Joy, Ill.; Jack J. Russell, E3 of Cedar Rapids, and Richard T. Smith, A4 of Hazelton.

Credit Given
Students enrolled in the civilian pilot training course receive three hours of university credit for ground school work, which includes theory of flight, aircraft construction, navigation and meteorology.

Rules require that there be one instructor for each group of 10 students. The local instructors are Paul Shaw, Lain Guthrie, Woldum, Robert Whitmore, and Donald Bush.

Minimum requirements in the four stages of flight instruction are stage A, eight hours of dual instruction; stage B, one hour of dual instruction, three hours of solo work; stage C-1, four hours of dual instruction, seven hours of solo work; stage C-2, four hours of dual instruction, eight hours of solo work.

Fifteen students are now in stage A, five in B, 21 in C-1 and nine in C-2, Professor Croft stated. Completion of the course is marked by receipt of a private flyer's certificate.

The students now taking the course were selected, mostly on a physical basis, from 160 applicants. Any university student was eligible to apply.

To Continue Program
"It is expected that the program will be continued next year," Professor Croft has announced. "There is the possibility that an advanced flying course may be offered for the best qualified students."

University faculty members besides Professor Croft who comprise the committee in charge of the course are Dean F. M. Dawson of the college of engineering; Prof. George Stewart, head of the physics department; Prof. Sydney Miller of the college of commerce; Prof. J. H. Allan of the college of medicine, flight surgeon, and Arthur Leff, Iowa City attorney.

Historical Journal Publishes Article by Professor Wright

Prof. Luella M. Wright of the English department has written the leading article for the Iowa Journal of History and Politics, a quarterly magazine issued by State Historical society of Iowa. The article published in the April issues is titled "Culture Through Lectures." This article is the second long essay written by Professor Wright for the Journal. The earlier one on "The Cedar Falls Parlor Reading Circle" was submitted a year ago as part of the Iowa Arts survey to Lura Beam, national chairman of the arts division for the American Association of University Women.

Of the large number of articles sent in from many sections of the United States, Miss Beam gave Professor Wright's article superior rating because of its analysis of cultural undertakings in small towns in the middle west during the last quarter of the 19th century.

At the national convention of the A. A. U. W., Professor Wright addressed the arts section on the contents of a new course which is being offered for the first time at the University of Iowa—a study of cultural developments in Iowa.

In her article, Professor Wright has emphasized the necessity of cultural advancement in small Iowa communities following the reconstruction period of the Civil war. Bureaus were established by which these communities secured such speakers as Ralph Waldo Emerson, P. T. Barnum, one of the most famous persons of the period, and Clara Barton, organizer of the Red Cross.

Other articles have been written by Frederic C. Smith, life-long member of the society and Charles W. Cruikshank, retired superintendent of the Mt. Pleasant schools.

Governor To Give Opinion On Conservation Project

Colonel Gross Asks Wilson's Views on Dam

Engineers Have Spent $100,000 Up to Now On Coralville Site

Col. C. P. Gross of the U. S. army engineer's office yesterday asked Governor George A. Wilson for his personal attitude on construction of an Iowa river dam at Coralville, The Associated Press reported last night.

Colonel Gross said he went to Des Moines today to find whether the governor would endorse personally the state conservation commission's opposition to the project.

Governor Wilson told Colonel Gross he would give him his decision later in writing.

The colonel said engineers have spent $100,000 in preliminary borings and work at the site. A total of $300,000 remains out of which the dam site, part of the acreage in the proposed pool, buildings and equipment would be purchased.

He said he did not expect to see the present congress appropriate money for the structure but was confident the next congress would grant funds.

Colonel Gross said he "hoped they could come into the project without the stigma of official opposition but of course now it has that stigma" through the conservation commission's action.

Law Fraternity Initiates 12

Officers Elected, Philip Bergfield To Serve as Justice

Twelve law students were initiated into Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity Saturday afternoon in the law commons, preceding the group's dinner dance.

New officers elected after the initiation and installed following the dinner by William M. O'Shea of Chicago, national vice-justice of the fraternity, are Philip S. Bergfield, L. J. Sheldon, justice; Harold G. De Kay, L. J. of Sioux City, vice-justice; Lorraine Lisle, L. J. of Hastings, clerk; Charles R. Warren, L. J. of Hastings, treasurer, and John J. Vintzios, L. J. of Sioux City, sergeant at arms.

Attorney R. E. Hatter of Marengo, alumni advisor of the fraternity, was toastmaster for the dinner at which Judge James P. Gaffney, Representative William Morrison, Attorney Frank Messer, Judge Burke Carson, Attorney William M. O'Shea and Robert C. Petersen, L. J. of Council Bluffs, retiring justice of the local chapter of the fraternity, spoke.

Following the dinner, Don Christy's orchestra played for the dance which was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Milton Cowan, Mrs. Ethel Miller, Judge and Mrs. Gaffney and Mr. and Mrs. Morrison.

Men initiated are Thomas Ainley, L. J. of Perry; Bergfield; William Broz, L. J. of Walford; Robert Burdette, L. J. of Afton; Fred Chauspky, L. J. of Buckingham; DeKay; Peter Gaass, L. Cornell Head Gives Praise To Kindness

"If you speak kindness, kindness will be returned to you," were the words around which Dr. John B. Magee, president of Cornell college, built his talk last night entitled "The Language of Kindness."

Speaking at the community holy week service at the First Christian church, Dr. Magee cited Oscar Wilde's quotation of Jesus, "Does no man condemn thee? Neither do I condemn thee. Go and sin no more."

"I would rather have said that," the speaker quoted Wilde as saying, "than any other sentence ever to have come to the lips of man." The service, sponsored by the Iowa City Ministerial association and the laymen's inter-church committee, will feature another address by Dr. Magee tonight at the First Christian church. The pastor, the Rev. John Bruce Dalton, presided last night.

Return With Championship Trophy City High Girls', Boys' Rifle Teams

The Iowa City high school girls' and boys' rifle teams returned to Iowa City Sunday bearing one championship trophy and twelve individual medals won in the annual indoor rifle meet held at Boonville, Mo., last week.

With a higher final score than that of any college girls' team, the local high school's girls rifle team placed first in their field of seven teams. The high school boys' team won fifth place out of a field of nine team entries.

Girls Score High
The girls score of 393, one point above the highest in college competition, won them the championship trophy, and each of the four girls received a silver team medal and an expert rifleman badge. Their individual scores in the team competition were as follows: Charlotte Conaway, 98; Dorothy Wallace, 99; Alice Kanak, 98; and Lorraine Wyjack 98.

Miss Kanak and Miss Conaway won second and third place medals, respectively, in the individual prone firing contest. Both fired 100, the highest possible score. Miss Wallace followed with a score of 98. Miss Wyjack had 96 points. A totaling of her record in team and individual competition gave Miss Kanak a second place grand aggregate medal. Her total score was 198. Miss Conaway had a total of 198, Miss Wallace, 197 and Miss Wyjack, 194.

Voelckers Wins Medal
In the boys' competition, William Voelckers placed third in the grand aggregate competition and received a bronze medal for his score of 185.

Firing in prone position, the boys made the following records out of a possible 50 points: William Shimitz, 49; Voelckers, 50; Howard Rankin, 49, and Barney Doyle, 48.

The following scores were made in sitting positions: Shimitz, 46; Voelckers, 47; Rankin, 49, and Doyle, 34. The following scores were standing positions: Shimitz, 38; Voelckers, 38; Rankin, 35; and Doyle, 37.

Buckley Coaches
Ranging behind Voelckers' grand aggregate score of 185, Shimitz had a total of 178 points; Rankin, 178 and Doyle, 164.

Accompanied by their coach, Sgt. William C. Buckley and Alice Spinden of the military department the teams returned to Iowa City Sunday afternoon by bus with the rifle teams from Coe college.

High school and college teams from eight states competed in the meet, which is held at Boonville, Mo., each year under the auspices of the Missouri Rifle association, sponsored by the National Rifle association. States represented were Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois and Texas.

The matches were fired on the 50 foot indoor range of the Kemper Military academy at Boonville.

Plane Lands, Crashes Fence

Trio Uninjured As Ship Comes To Rest In Soggy Field Here

John O. Bradshaw of Ames, a reserve pilot in the United States army, and two passengers, Mrs. Milo Whipple, house-mother at the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, and Robert W. Miller, L. J. of Atlantic, escaped injury Sunday afternoon when the airplane Bradshaw was flying crashed into a fence after a forced landing in a small soggy field near the airport.

According to Lain Guthrie, owner of the three-passenger Stinson plane that figured in the accident, $300 damage was done to the airplane in the crash. The propeller and cowling were smashed when the plane hit the fence.

Bradshaw, who is a graduate of the United States army flying school at Kelly field in Texas and has more than 800 hours in the air, was flying at about 1,000 feet when the motor failed. After the forced landing he was unable to stop the rolling plane. It crashed into a fence that encloses the field.

That the motor stopped while it was being idled in flight and would not start again was the surmise of airport officials.

Mrs. Whipple and Miller, the passengers, said Bradshaw showed great presence of mind when he realized the danger and did an excellent piece of work in landing the plane with such little damage in the small field. This was the second time Mrs. Whipple had ever flown.

The plane which could not be flown from the field after the accident because of the soft ground, was dismantled yesterday and will be shipped immediately to Detroit where it will be repaired and rechecked, the owner said.

Carson Fines 4 for Traffic Violations

Italian-Russian rapprochement must come next, with a careful delineation of spheres of influence in the Balkans to follow.

Russian Conference
Berlin was filled with rumors that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop would confer with Russian Premier-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov immediately upon his return from Brennero. He and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano sat in the conference with their chiefs.

Whether Molotov would fly to Berlin or whether von Ribbentrop would travel to Moscow seemed still not to have been decided upon, but everybody in high-placed and informed circles kept saying "fasten your eyes on Moscow next."

Hitler and Mussolini appear to have worked on plans for a complete reorganization of Europe, it was said here. That Russia is to be a partner to such remodeling was taken as apparent from the following commentary on the Brennero conference released with obvious governmental approval by Dienst Aus Deutschland:
Cooperation Not Limited
"In no way is German-Italian cooperation limited to partial solutions and to warding off English attempts at befuddling the issues. It is evidently to serve as a focus for a more far-reaching combination through which the European order is to be placed on new national and social foundations.

"In the German viewpoint, Russia too belongs in such a system of order. Russia has shown a remarkable understanding for Italy's attitude and for Italian awareness of maneuvers by British-French diplomacy in the Balkans and the near east. It may therefore be concluded that a far-going unanimity exists between the three great powers, Germany, Italy and Russia, not only in a defensive sense but also in a constructive sense of desiring to rear a new European order."

Dirty Knuckles, Torn Trousers—But It's Spring!

Two balmy days of warm sun in contrast to chilly nights have not only affected the local manner of dress or increased the comments about spring fever, but also have caused the usual squabbles over marbles and have added to the anxiety and vexation of pupils and teachers in the local elementary schools. The four boys above, left to right, Frank Neider, Eddie Rocca, Nicholas Anderson and Jackie Schrader, students of St. Mary's school, will tell you 50 and 60 degrees in contrast to yesterday's 50 degree normal high. The low of the last 24 hours, 35, stood eight above average.

Theta Epsilon Pledges Two

One woman was initiated into and two were pledged to Theta Epsilon, Baptist student women's sorority, at the Baptist student center last night, Lucy Chapman, A4 of Davenport, president, announced.

Dorothy Denham, A1 of Deep River, is the new initiate and Alice Swain, A1 of Lake Ronkonkoma, N. Y., and Marjorie Starr, A3 of Creston, are the new pledges.

Anna M. Hatcher Estate Admitted To Probate Yesterday

The estate of Anna M. Hatcher, who died March 7, was admitted to probate in Johnson county district court yesterday.

Harold Hatcher was appointed administrator of the will. Bond was set at $300 by the court. Attorney Will J. Hayek represented the estate.

This unusually plain language—unusual for Nazi Germany in being released before an expected event—can leave little doubt that Italy and Russia will be brought closer together through German effort and on German initiative.

R. O. T. C. Rifle Team Wins 2nd Place in Boonville Meet

Iowa Won Trophy Twice—Once More, Permanent Possession

Losing to Kemper military academy by a score of 743 to 725 out of a possible total of 800 points, the university advanced R. O. T. C. rifle team passed up permanent possession of the grand championship cup for this year at the annual indoor rifle meet held at Boonville, Mo., last week.

Their score won them, however, second place in the R. O. T. C. competition for the advanced trophy. First place was won by Washington university. For two years Iowa has held the grand championship trophy. A third win would give them permanent possession.

Positions
The teams fired from prone, sitting and kneeling positions. In the individual competition in prone position, medals were won by Raymond J. Drewelow, A1 of New Hampton, and Conrad F. Schadt, A3 of Williamsburg. Other medals were won by Schadt and Robert C. Kadgish, A3 of Iowa City, for their grand aggregate scores.

Further results of the meet and the final decisions of the judges have not been received by the military department, according to Major W. G. Hilliard Jr., director of the university rifle team. Accompanied by Major Hilliard, Staff Sgt. Charles H. Hamill, and Staff Sgt. Herbert W. Wendlandt, assistant coach, the basic and advanced R. O. T. C. teams composed of 13 men returned to Iowa City Sunday.

Composing the advanced team were George W. Brown, A3 of Chicago, Schadt, Frank A. Park, E4 of Sloan, Kenneth G. Heller, E3 of Marengo, and Kadgish.

Basic Team
Men who made up the basic R. O. T. C. team are Virgil E. Pettit, A2 of Des Moines, Bruce E. Boyer, E2 of Farmington, Leonard F. Sven, A2 of Ft. Dodge, James M. Ruby, A2 of Seymour, Loran F. Parker, A1 of Perry, Winston W. Hall, A1 of Neola, Drewelow, and Bernard R. Conrad, A1 of Council Bluffs.

The rifle meet, fired annually on the 50-foot indoor range of the Kemper military academy, is held under the auspices of the Missouri Rifle association sponsored by the National Rifle association.
