GERMANS BATTER BRITISH CONVOY

Reynaud To Head New 'Crisis' Cabinet in France

—FROM LONDON—

3 Neutral Craft Are Damaged; Abandon One

Scapa Flow Is Scene Of Retaliation Raid Following Sylt Battle

LONDON, March 21 (Thursday) (AP)—Germany's air force hit back last night in revenge for the tremendous pounding which British planes dealt out to Sylt, swarming down on a convoy off the Scottish coast, fighting a harsh battle with British warships and naval planes and damaging three neutral ships.

Revising its first estimate of the casualties early today, the British admiralty said three neutral ships in the convoy suffered damage and that one of them was abandoned by its crew. The German radio broadcast claims that "several" convoys were sunk or badly damaged.

The abandoned ship was the Norwegian Svinta, of 1,267 tons. Her crew was picked up by another Norwegian vessel.

The Swedish Utiklippan, 1,599 tons, was hit by an incendiary bomb and the Norwegian Tora Elise, 721 tons, likewise was damaged.

Anti-aircraft fire from escorting warships damaged one attacking Heinkel bomber, the admiralty said. Planes of the fleet air arm, Britain's naval air force, hit two other Heinkels and on one occasion two of the British planes scattered ten Heinkels.

None of the British warships or planes was damaged, authorities insisted.

This rapid retaliatory action for the six-hour royal air force smash at the Nazi air base on Sylt served to heighten reports that the British are ready to pit their air fleet against German submarine nests and shipyards in the Baltic itself.

The German accounts of last night's raid placed the scene of action off Scapa Flow. A German attack on this island naval base last Saturday precipitated the 45-plane Sylt raids of Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

The raid, the biggest Britain has made in this war, brought authoritative predictions that a new phase in Britain's aerial attack had been ushered in.

Punctuating the daring of the new British tactics, British fliers today returned to the scene to take photographs of the damage they had done and to drop a few more bombs on objectives that had not been destroyed in the long bombing of the night before.

Among the gleeful statements of the British was that of the Herald which said "scores of Germany's most valuable aircraft-seaplanes and bombers—were destroyed."

"The attack had been delayed so that it should take place when the maximum number of German planes was concentrated on the island. For some time the allied command had known that the Nazi authorities were feverishly building hangars on Sylt—and storing hundreds of planes there. Today a number of those hangars are in ruins, pilots returning told of wrecked barracks, blazing oil tanks, crippled railways."

Air ministry sources, in cautious language, said they believed the Sylt raid showed the R.A.F. was ready for "operations more effective than the preliminary stage of observation."

Most British flights over Germany have been of a purely reconnaissance nature.

Farm Belt Senators Nip Economy Bloc

Senatorial Committee Restores Items Cut By House Legislators

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The senate knocked a big dent in the congressional economy program today with a 63 to 19 vote approving a $212,000,000 appropriation for "parity payments" to farmers.

Administration senators and others from farming areas overwhelmed the economy forces. The debate found Senator Taft (R-Ohio) subjected to a sharp democratic cross-examination on his fiscal views.

The parity payment item was added to the annual appropriation bill for the agriculture department which the senate is expected to pass tomorrow. It was designed to restore to farmers a portion of the purchasing power they enjoyed from 1909 to 1914.

A proposal by Senators Lee (D-Okla.) and Bilbo (D-Miss.) to insure full parity with a $607,000,000 appropriation was voted down, 56 to 27.

The bill as received from the senate appropriations committee, which recommended the $212,000,000 parity item, proposed outlays of $922,864,000, a sum $208,968,000 greater than the total voted by the house.

The parity payments, which are in addition to almost $500,000,000 in soil conservation benefits and some $90,000,000 in loans for agricultural activities, were not included in the house bill.

The house had, in fact, slashed scores of items below President Roosevelt's budget estimates. Many of these the senate committee restored, and today the senate approved most of these increases in rapid, routine fashion and without debate. The additions offset some $300,000,000 in cuts made in other appropriations bills.

A principal speaker for the outnumbered economy forces was Taft, who in his presidential campaigning has said that farm subsidies, in some form, must be continued.

Group Moves To End Foreign Silver Purchase

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The senate banking committee today approved legislation to end the government's foreign silver purchases by a margin which led even opponents of the bill to predict its passage.

Ignoring a personal plea by Secretary Morgenthau for continuation of this phase of administration monetary policy, the committee voted 14 to 4 in favor of a bill by Senator Townsend (R-Del.) to end the six-year-old program.

Reich Anticipating New Step In Russian-Axis Negotiations

BERLIN, March 20 (AP)—Germany with the axis would be marked not later than tomorrow or Friday as a result of German diplomatic efforts to find a common denominator for Russian-German-Italian foreign policy.

The German press busily prepared the German public for Russia's joining her political interests with those of Germany and Italy and considerable publicity was given a reception held in Moscow Sunday by German Ambassador Count Friedrich Werner von Schulenburg in honor of Molotov.

Pride Goeth Before--

The Moral to This Story Is: 'Get To Know the Dean'

CHANUTE, Kas., March 20 (AP)—The young hitch hiker identified himself as a University of Kansas student and bragged that he had cut classes so he could add an extra day to his Easter vacation.

The motorist who picked him up today and brought him here from Lawrence, the university center, merely smiled.

The young man's mouth will pop open when he gets back to Lawrence and learns who the man was—Chancellor Deane W. Malott of the university.

JEFFERSON, (AP)—Lawrence Leonard, 21, delivery man for a grocery store here, was killed yesterday when the motorcycle he was riding and a Northwestern passenger train collided at a grade crossing.

And Students Leave

Familiar sight of yesterday—this. Motorists found University of Iowa students lining the highways toward the east, west, north and south as noon brought the beginning of a six-day Easter recess. By bus, train, automobile and thumb they departed, bound for homes and families. Not a few of the seniors among them went job-hunting; June, with its commencement responsibilities, looms not far ahead. "Going my way?" indicate these windshields, viewed through the windshield of a passing automobile.

Spring Arrives--

Spring arrived at 12:24 p.m. yesterday, and a sunny day brought promises of warmer weather aplenty, despite a chilly breeze. Meanwhile Iowa river began to show signs of activity. Ice began breaking away and moving downstream as the water level rises from melting snows. This general view of the river was taken from the east bank of Iowa river near the City park bridge. The arrival of spring found Iowa City a bit more active than usual, as several thousand students departed for a week of vacation in celebration of Easter.

E. Daladier's Government Quits War Job

French Premier May Accept War Ministry In Mid-Stream Shakeup

By JOHN LLOYD
PARIS, March 21 (Thursday) (AP)—Persons close to Paul Reynaud said early this morning that he hoped before the day was out to complete a new "push the war" cabinet for France and end the government crisis precipitated yesterday by the resignation of the cabinet of Edouard Daladier.

The new government, these sources said, likely will go before the chamber of deputies Friday for a vote of confidence.

The formation planned by Reynaud includes virtually all political parties, but its final makeup depends on the decision of the executive committee of the socialist group, called for late this morning to consider an offer to join the cabinet.

Daladier a Kingpin
Much depends on Daladier, who was offered the war ministry but whose acceptance is not yet official.

Reynaud concluded his first night's consultations about 2 a.m. (7 p.m. CST).

The vigorous Reynaud, mountaineer, world traveler and skilled doctor of French finance, said he would give his definite reply about noon today to President Albert Lebrun's request that he form a cabinet.

Daladier's government, which had prepared the country for war after the uneasy Munich breathing spell for which it was one-fourth responsible and then directed the nation through six and a half months of a conflict of siege, quit this morning.

The reason was a thick atmosphere of dissatisfaction over lack of allied action in the struggle with Germany.

Gentle Albert Lebrun, the president of France, asked Daladier to form a new government. But Daladier, smarting under the hostile refusal by the majority of the chamber of deputies to vote on a motion of confidence early today, refused.

Daladier's Position
Daladier at first refused to take any part in the new government, but tonight he was reported to have changed his mind and to have agreed to enter a Reynaud cabinet either as minister of defense or of war.

Other reports were that Georges Mandel would remain as minister of colonies and that Reynaud himself would take the foreign affairs portfolio.

Reynaud, whose reorganization of French finances is rated as one of the greatest achievements of the Daladier administration and whose personal political star has been rising steadily, was called in.

Chary of words to meet the clamor of the press for "action" to get on with the air, the erstwhile minister of finance said merely, after talking with Lebrun, that the president had asked him to form a government and that he had promised his answer by tomorrow morning.

U. S. Official Ousted from Poland

By ANDRUE BERDING
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Germany forced the United States today to withdraw its consulate general from Poland, where 532 American citizens live.

The state department announced that it had acceded to the German demand but "reserve all of its rights in the matter."

No reason was given for Germany's action, which affected other countries as well. It was understood that Germany was dissatisfied with the activities of some other consulates and ousted them all.

The three Americans comprising the staff of the consulate general left today for Berlin. All matters in connection with American citizens in Poland will be handled through the American embassy in Berlin.

The state department said that "representations were made to the German government stressing the difficulty of rendering assistance and protection to American citizens without consular representation in Warsaw."

Secretary Hull said he was making distinct progress in Berlin, however, toward obtaining permission for a number of American relief workers to enter German-occupied Poland to supervise relief distribution.

Germany, according to dispatches received here, is refusing to permit American and other foreign newspapermen to go to Poland.

When the German armies invaded Poland in September, 1939, the Polish government retired from Warsaw and finally crossed the border into Rumania. The American embassy, headed by ambassador Anthony J. Drexel-Biddle, accompanied the government.

When the Polish government travelled to France and set up a provisional capital at Angers, the American embassy was established here provisionally, and is still under ambassador Drexel-Biddle.

The American consulate general remained behind and endured the siege.

Farley Enters Race For U. S. Presidency

Whether F. R. Will Compete Is Not Clear

Stanley Scores U. S. 'Ringside' War Critics

J. Cromwell 'On the Spot'

Farley said at Springfield, Mass., today that "my name will be presented to the democratic national convention at Chicago, and that's that."

One group of senators contended that Farley presumably had knowledge that his chief would not enter the race. A well-informed westerner who talked recently with Farley said he believed the postmaster general would have resigned before making the statement unless he had been confident the president would not run again.

Farley would not say whether his statement meant that he was in the contest whether or not Mr. Roosevelt runs.

Friends of Vice President Garner, who is a candidate regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's intentions, were pleased with Farley's statement, even though the democratic national chairman said today that he was "in no combination with anybody."

Some interpreted the declaration as an effort to force a statement from Mr. Roosevelt.

LONDON, March 20 (AP)—Britain's war secretary, Oliver Stanley, struck out today at American "ringside" critics of the war, telling a London luncheon audience that Britons may be willing to learn to be tough with neutrals.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—With a view to determining whether disciplinary measures should be applied, Secretary of State Hull today called for an official copy of a speech in which James H. R. Cromwell, millionaire minister to Canada, sided with the allies against Germany.

Meantime the new diplomat was the target for sharp criticism from Capitol Hill. Introducing a resolution calling for a congressional inquiry to determine whether Cromwell was correctly isolated in criticizing "American isolationists," Rep. Sweeney (D-Ohio) said:

"If our playboy minister to Canada wants to fight for the British empire I respectfully suggest that he join the ranks of such distinguished American expatriates as Lady Astor and Kermit Roosevelt, so that he may 'carry on' for the empire.

MIAMI, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The 22-year-old wife of a furniture factory wood-worker revealed today that she hopes to become the mother of quintuplets within the next two months.

Her physician confirmed the report, based on X-ray pictures that appeared to show five distinct heads. He asked that his name be withheld, at least temporarily.

Mrs. Emory Callahan, the wife, at her humble northwest side home, and her 32-year-old husband at his job as a factory apprentice, beamed happily as they told of their hopes.

Should these be realized, medical authorities said Mrs. Callahan would become the thirty-first woman in recorded scientific history to give birth to quintuplets.

Main Attraction: Murder

ALEXANDER R. George, The Associated Press writer, and a veteran observer of military affairs, says that the Finnish war leaves military realists convinced that there is only one real answer to why no big battles have been fought on the western front: "An offensive there would mean mass suicide for an attacking army."

The Russo-Finnish struggle also bolsters the military precept, says Mr. George, that overwhelming superiority in air power is a decisive factor in modern warfare.

The evidence cited to bolster these statements is the terrific price the Finns forced the Russians to pay for their gains against the Mannerheim line.

"If the ratio of manpower had been something like three to one, instead of probably a potential 12 to one," and if the air forces had been fairly evenly matched the Mannerheim line probably never could have been smashed," The Associated Press writer observes.

These statements analyzing the Finnish war give us an inkling of what to expect in the battle between Britain and Germany.

Most of the prognosticators are going to be wrong if the Anglo-German fight doesn't increase in intensity within the coming weeks.

The advent of Spring is destined, supposedly, to mark the release of armies for greater maneuvering.

The headlines of this week relating the exchange of air battles between the belligerents would indicate that the spring offensives are beginning.

And you notice of course that this greatest air battle of the war—England's bombardment of the Silt island—is a battle fought with planes, and not an opening of the western front warfare.

If a superiority in air force is to be the deciding factor in the war between England and Germany, picking the winner will be no easy task.

That this will be an air war rather than a land conflict seems more probable than ever. The test of the Mannerheim line, which can not compare with the fortifications separating France and England, makes it possible to predict that the most intensive warfare will not be on the Western front. Cracking either the Maginot or the West wall is most likely militarily impossible, in spite of the statements from military veterans that no entrenchment is invulnerable to constant pounding by big shells.

"If the French and British did manage to blast their way through a sector of the West wall," writes Mr. George, "their losses might be so heavy as to definitely turn the scales in favor of the Germans."

That's why it is most likely that there will be little change in the situation on the Western front, why there will be no second Verdun.

So far in the European conflict both allies and nazis have said they will not make a big offensive, that they will only retaliate for attacks from the enemy. The result, of course, is as silly as the statement.

You can imagine as well as the possibilities of such a system of relation and counter-retaliation. The impetus for attack being an enemy bombing, Britain has bombed the Silt island. In return, we can be sure, German bombers will again fly over England, and the intensive spring offensives are on.

Now that Russia has conquered Finland, and Finland like Spain has been a splendid laboratory for the master warmongers, we can reasonably assume that "the real thing," in the form of bloody warfare, is about to become a reality.

All through the winter months the British and French, to say nothing of the Americans, have wondered why the fighting was so light on the western front and why London and Berlin had not been bombed.

Almost like a football crowd wanting more touchdowns have been the spectators in this international conflict.

Spring has come, murder is looking up, (and Daladier is out, we mustn't forget, because the French people wanted to see some action) and now the main attraction is about to begin.

Farley's Stamp Store

STAMP collectors never seem to learn. The hobby of stamp collecting, if we are to make a literal translation of the Greek derivatives of the scientific name—philately—is nothing more nor less than the "love of being taxed."

Long ago the governments of other nations made a practice of exploiting stamp collectors. The United States came in late, but is catching up for lost time.

Add the famous authors series of commemorative, the pony express commemorative, and the Pan American union art product (to be issued April 14) to the already profitable and prolific commemorative issues from Washington, and Jim Farley will be seeing his way out of the red.

There's more than one way to balance the postoffice budget, but stamp collectors haven't seemed to realize in their enthusiasm that stamps never used postally but reclining in the albums of the philatelists is the current method in the United States.

This Is The Story Of Leo

THIS STORY, like almost all good stories, has a main character. His name is Leo Jubb. It's a good, stolid name, don't you think?

Leo drove a truck for a living. One June day back in 1933 Leo Jubb ran into trouble.

Leo was just going about his business at the time—driving a truck. But his truck had New York license plates, and Leo was driving in Maine.

Leo believed in democracy, we assume. At least he thought this "federation" of states meant he was as much a citizen of Maine as of New York—or almost, at least.

But some policemen whistled Leo over to the side of the road. Leo was surprised.

He was even more surprised when he was made to pay a $75 Maine license fee.

Ever since that day in June in 1933 people have been asking: "What is a state line?" Most people hope they'll find out soon.

Leo does too. We do too. Don't you?

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

WHAT SWEDEN DID

SOME observers in this country and in England have been critical over the role played by Sweden during the invasion of Finland. To them it seems that Sweden should not only have sent her own troops to defend her neighbor but should have opened the way for the passage of Allied contingents. She should, according to this argument, have made herself part of a conflict which almost certainly would have offered herself as a flank for maneuvers in a general war.

The reason given by Sweden for her failure to follow this course is that it would have been futile: Finland would have been completely overrun and Sweden herself would have faced the Russian armies, backed by whatever German aid was needed, with no adequate outside help.

Whether this would actually have happened, there is no way of knowing. But a glance at the map is enough to dispel the notion that the Allies would have found it easy to put into Scandinavia a large enough force to decide the issue in their favor, or that they could have supplied such a force if they had managed to get it there. It seems highly probable that the battle for the independence of small nations could not have been won in Finland or in Sweden. If it is to be won it will be won in a peace which will restore the reign of law in Europe.

So much for Sweden's failure to enroll herself as a combatant in the struggle. What she did do ought to be written in letters of gold. A dispatch to this newspaper from Stockholm estimates that her aid to Finland, in money and in supplies, has amounted to the remarkable total of $125,000,000. This total is growing with every day that passes. It is growing with every hour as the Swedish food trucks roll in a steady stream over the Finnish border. It already amounts to $20 a head for every man, woman and child in Sweden—the equivalent, per capita, of a gift of more than $2,500,000,000 from the people of the United States.

Holy Week Daily Messages for 1940

(This program of Holy Week meditations has been planned and edited by Rev. Llewelyn Arnold Owen, president of the Iowa City Ministers' association, and minister of the First Congregational church.)

PRAYER By THE REV. RICHARD E. McEVROY Trinity Episcopal Church Iowa City

WHEN WE have analyzed any problem concerned with man's moral life and action deeply, and dissected it for minute scrutiny, we come at last always to a particular spot—an inescapable focal point. We come to the place where we face our need of a deep and moving faith as the motivation for man's moral action. There we begin to understand that, in a Christian sense, this faith so urgently needed, which is the heart of spiritual security and the force which compels to Christian action; depends upon a prior fact—the significance of a relationship with a loving God, who cares, who helps, whom to know in a profound sense, leads to perfect freedom.

The confidence which sustains man in his most bitter crises, springs from the certainty of that relationship. It is the reality that has ever given Man's life a deeper center; that has proven capable of redeeming numberless lives from evil, despair and hopelessness, since there is the power to provoke and to re-direct and to transform the errant will.

Many are shocked today by man's apparent inability to overcome or transform the upward surge of hate and brutality loosed in society, and turn them into ways of sanity and peace. These manifestations should not provoke, as they so often do, the plaintive question: "If God is good, why is there so much evil?" Too much of what is happening is obviously man's failure; ties to the use and abuse of his freedom. There is little humility in that question. The tragedy of man springs from that to which his pride blinds him—a realization of his "lostness"—his loss of purpose of any significant kind; his loss of religious faith; his loss of a spiritual center which is vitalized by the confidence that his mind and will are linked to the mind and will of God beyond him. Faith grows through the practice of prayer.

We ought always to be asking ourselves questions, those of us who profess Christianity. To how many of us is Christianity merely an intellectual leaning or a sentimental hangover, or a casual loyalty or a deluding fragment of the contemporary gospel of bustle and activity? Does what we do belong to the essential part of Christianity—does this help us become better Christians? For the purpose of the Church is God's purpose, not man's; and the means to the fulfillment of His purpose through imperfect and most various man involves the use of the personal and corporate channels through which His Spirit touches life and enriches men's spirits.

The Christian religion has never been indefinite about this. Above all, it has always been certain that the greatest channel has been through communion with God—the lifting up of the mind to God, which is prayer. Furthermore, it is into the fact of man's powerlessness such as we see today; and the inability of the natural man to win victories over hate, doubt, fear, and selfishness (all rooted in egocentric pride) that the mind and life of God enter to transform and complete what must otherwise always be fragmentary, chaotic and disunited.

It is the faith of Christianity that man's tragedy, real though it be, is not hopeless, and cannot be ultimately hopeless, because of the Living God. This confidence springs, let us remember, from where it has always come—from the certainty and the confidence of our relationship to Him, realized through worship, communion and prayer.

Thicker Than Flies-- Song Writers Like Their Work 'Plugged' Over NBC, CBS Nets

BY GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—On Broadway, song pluggers are thicker than flies in fly time. You can close your eyes and reach out your hand and touch one. Let's touch three or four now and see what we get.

We get Bob Stone right off the bat. We get Norm Foley, and Mack Goldman, and Eddy Wolpin. They're on the job tonight, as all song pluggers are on the job every night.

We get Stone, Foley, Goldman and Wolpin because this happens to be their night to have dinner at our hotel. Tomorrow they'll go to some other hotel, but don't let that bother you. Four other song pluggers will be here to take their place.

A song pluggers' dream of heaven is a "major plug." A major plug means having your song played by a dance orchestra between 5 o'clock in the afternoon and one o'clock in the morning over either NBC or CBS.

Let's say you work for a firm that has published a song called "How Were Your Dreams Last Night?" Of course there isn't any

Washington's Chinese Embassy Is Hot Under The Collar Over Stalin's Being Called 'Asiatic'

CHINESE diplomatic feelings in Washington were considerably lacerated a few days ago by a columnist's published remark to the effect that "Josef Stalin is not a European, but an Asiatic."

The commentator was discussing the Russo-Finnish situation, concerning which he's a first-rate authority. Like most Americans, he's strenuously pro-Finnish, and is perfectly outraged at the Soviets' attack on the gallant little neighboring republic. It's almost unbelievable, he submitted, that civilized folk should perpetrate such a thing. But then, at a second thought, he reflected, Russians are NOT civilized; they're barbarians. Stalin's an Asiatic. That, briefly, is how he put it. And that's what makes the Chinese embassy hot under the collar.

Ambassador Hu Shih is here to inform us that his country has the oldest civilization in the world—and a very mild, gentle, pacific type of civilization. To be sure, it's fighting for its life now, but the reason for that is that it's been too pacific for its own good. Anybody who ever has lived in China, as I have, must recognize the justice of Dr. Hu Shih's contention. On an average his countrymen are positively TOO peaceable. The critic who wants to make out that Joe Stalin is a geographically-born ruffian, according to the Chinese embassy's reasoning, would do better to accuse him of being a European rather than an Asiatic. Parenthetically, he's from the Caucasus, some geographers call it Asiatic, some call it European. China disavows it, anyway.

Japan's Viewpoint The Japanese embassy in Washington doesn't care to recognize Comrade Stalin as an Asiatic, either.

At any rate, Ambassador Kenesue Horniouchi doesn't acquiesce in "Asiatic" and "barbarian" as synonymous terms. On the contrary, the Japs think they're highly civilized.

They are, in a way, in comparison with Soviet Russia. They have enlightened economic, industrial and sanitary ideas. Their civil government is easy enough to get along with. The Japs' trouble is that their military class is wholly unmanageable. But even that class isn't as uncivilized in China as Stalin's is in Finland. Anyhow, it's more competent.

I never actually lived in Japan, as I have in China, but I've spent considerable time there. It's maddening totalitarian, but nothing like Russia, not so bad as Germany, perhaps in a class with Italy. Naturally it's different from China, which is mainly anarchy.

An Asiatic Barbarian Summed up, the Chinese and Japanese embassies in Washington are quite willing to have Stalin described as a barbarian, but by any object to have him described as an Asiatic barbarian. They're Asiatics, too.

I don't think the Russian embassy likes it either. It doesn't

TUNING IN with D. Mac Showers

AN 8-YEAR OLD musical sign-off phrase in a famous Negro ballroom in New York furnished the music and an Alabama Negro social rendezvous furnished the title for swingdom's latest musical sensation, "Tuxedo Junction."

At the Savoy ballroom in the heart of New York's famous Harlem, the principal theme in "Tuxedo Junction" has been a standard musical sign-off for over eight years.

ONE BAND, finishing a set, would swing into the simple phrase, picked up by a relief band as it moved onto an adjoining bandstand to take over.

ONE NIGHT, however, Erskine Hawkins' crew had to improvise around the phrase for four minutes before the late Chick Webb's band took over the musical chores. That heralded the birth of "Tuxedo Junction."

AT A BLUEBIRD recording session early last fall, Hawkins ran short one number for a record. In 10 minutes he penned an eight-bar introduction and a 16-bar middle to the principal phrase and "Tuxedo Junction" was put on wax.

STUCK for a name, Hawkins accepted the suggestion of his valet who preferred the title of a trolly crossing in the steel mill district of Birmingham, Ala., where the Negro mill workers went after work to change into their "tuxedos" before heading out for an evening's entertainment.

THE RECORDING made Hawkins a national name and upped his nightly sales price by $100. And now it's his theme song. Curious was the situation a few weeks ago when the tune's publisher granted Glenn Miller exclusive rights to "Tuxedo Junction" for a week. Hawkins, in his broadcasts, could not even play his theme song thereby.

GLENN MILLER orchestrated it for his band as a slow novelty number and recorded it after a deluge of fan mail demanding a record follow his airings of the tune.

IRONICALLY PERTINENT, however, is the fact that the late Chick Webb had been playing a gag on Hawkins when he made him wait four minutes before showing up on the stand. But for his sense of humor, "Tuxedo Junction" might never have been born.

MARTHA RAYE, making one of her infrequent air appearances, will be Rudy Vallee's leading lady tonight at 8:30 over the NBC-Red network.

VALLEE WILL PRESENT an historical sketch based on the life of Pocahontas and Capt. John Smith with original songs and lyrics. Martha will play Pocahontas opposite Vallee in the role of Captain Smith.

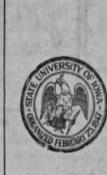

MILTON BERLE, now starring on Broadway in "See My Lawyer," will be headliner on the George Jessel "Celebrity Program" over the NBC-Red network tonight at 7 o'clock.

ALSO TO BE heard are Henry T. Harrison, meteorologist, employed by United Air Lines, who will attempt to predict Easter weather, and Charles Cantor as O. L. Scrum, the ever-present stooge.

VOCALS will be by Benay Venuta and music under the baton of Peter Van Steeden. This is the next to the last of the "Celebrity Programs." The current series will be succeeded by "Mr. District Attorney" for the same sponsor April 4 at the same time and network.

By FRED HOENHORST
LAFAYETTE, La., March 20—(Special to The Daily Iowan)—Booming Hawkeye bats pounded out 21 hits today off Southwestern Louisiana institute pitchers as Coach Otto Vogel's Iowa diamondmen made it three in a row over the southern team, 18-1.

While Keith Wymore and Ted Gordenier checked the Southwestern team with five scattered bingles and a lone run, the Hawkeyes went to work on the hapless enemy. Erwin Prasse, Hawkeye second baseman, blasted out a homer, a triple and two singles in four times at bat for a perfect day. Cook and Kantor pounded out triples for Iowa and doubles were hit by Welp and Gordenier, the Iowa hurler getting two.

Kantor and Cook had almost as big a day at bat as Prasse, each collecting three bingles out of five times at the plate. Southwestern's lone run came in the seventh inning off Gordenier. Wymore held the foes scoreless for the first four innings, giving way to Gordenier in the fifth.

Pirates Win
PASADENA, Cal., (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates blasted out five home runs, three of them in the late innings, to defeat the Chicago White Sox 10 to 7 yesterday and snap the American leagues' winning streak at five games.

Badger Trackmen Hand Iowa One-Sided Defeat

Ben Hogan Leads Golfers At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., March 20 (AP)—Running his sensational scoring into a new record for 36 holes of U. S. championship golf, Ben Hogan today paced the 38th annual north and south open field to the halfway mark with an eleven-under-par total of 133.

His opening effort, a 66 that tied the course record, had opened up a three-stroke gap between him and his nearest pursuer. The second round 67 he shot today widened that margin to seven strokes and left the Texas-born youngster who plays out of White Plains, N. Y., an almost sure shot to come through to first money in tomorrow's final 36 holes.

Wilson Equals Dash Record

MADISON, Wis., March 20 (AP)—Wisconsin closed its indoor dual track meet season tonight by handing Iowa a 61-1-2 to 24-1-2 trimming in the Wisconsin fieldhouse. The Badgers won eight of the ten events, set one new meet record and tied another.

Jim Wilson, Iowa dash man, tied the meet record of 6.4 seconds in the 60-yard dash for Iowa's only individual victory.

Ed Smith, the Badgers' Big Ten high hurdle champion, tied his own meet and fieldhouse mark in the 60-yard high hurdles and Al Harter of Wisconsin set a new meet mark in the high jump with a height of six feet, three and one-quarter inches.

Anderson Joins Grid School Staff At Northwestern

Coach Eddie Anderson, of Iowa, and Ward (Piggy) Lambert, Purdue basketball coach, will join the staff of Northwestern university's summer coaching school, August 19 to 31, it has been announced by K. L. Wilson, athletic director at Northwestern.

In addition to Anderson, the football faculty of the school will consist of Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern and his assistants, Burt Ingwersen, line coach, and Wes Fry, backfield coach. Dutch Lonborg, Wildcat basketball coach, will join with Lambert in giving the course in basketball.

Courses will also be given in track, administration, tennis, intramural athletics and treatment of injuries. These courses will be given by members of Northwestern's athletic staff. The school which has been held annually for the past 14 years attracts high school and college coaches from all sections of the country. One hundred and fifty were enrolled last year.

Hawkeye Highlights

For the sixth year, the facilities of the Iowa field house swimming pool have been made available to state Y. M. C. A. swimmers and divers for their title meet. Competitors will range from 9-year-old lads to ex-collegians. Probable date, April 13, with qualifiers from district meets competing.

Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota will race in one of the matched relays at the Chicago Relays Saturday night. The teams should be evenly matched. Iowa is joint holder of the record, 3:20.6, made last year, but no members of the record team are running now.

One-mile run: won by Schoenike, Wisconsin; Elliot, Iowa second; Eauer, Wisconsin, third. Time—4 minutes, 33.4 seconds.

60-yard dash: won by Wilson, Iowa; Novak, Wisconsin, second; Merrit, Wisconsin, third. Time—6.4 seconds. (Tied meet record set in 1939 by Kaufman, Wisconsin).

High jump: won by Harter, Wisconsin; Timmerman, Wisconsin, second; Phillips, Wisconsin, and Wilson, Iowa, tied for third. High—6 feet 3 1/4 inches. (New meet record), former, 6 feet 3 inches, was set in 1932 by Shaw, Wisconsin).

440-yard dash: won by Zolin, Wisconsin; Gillespie, Iowa, second; Altheimer, Wisconsin, third. Time—51.7 seconds.

60-yard high hurdles: won by Smith, Wisconsin; Sparks, Iowa, second; Haberman, Wisconsin, third. Time—7.5 seconds. (Tied the meet and fieldhouse record held by Smith).

Two-mile run: won by Farin, Wisconsin; Knox, Wisconsin, second; Schnoor, Iowa, third. Time—9 minutes 51 seconds.

Shot put: won by Malisch, Wisconsin; Paskvan, Wisconsin, second; Leuz, Iowa, third. Distance—47 feet 10 inches.

Pole vault: won by Williams and Gardner, Wisconsin; Foster, Wisconsin, second. Height—13 feet.

880-yard run: won by Schoen-

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

TAMPA, Fla., March 20 (AP)—A southern detour on the sports trail:

We-all heah that it's right cold up noath, and that one Johnny Paychek had best be careful or he'll be chilled come a week from next Friday night in New York.

Inopportune Time
Paychek, whom we never saw expect when he took those courtly little pivoting bows when introduced from the ring, is meeting Joe Louis at an inopportune time, although it is admitted that meeting Louis at any time might be termed inopportune.

However, Louis usually bounces back from an unimpressive showing with a slam-bang performance, literally speaking. We recall his bout with Natie Brown in Kansas City shortly after Bob Pastor stayed 10 rounds with the Bomber.

Brown had gone the limit with Louis in a previous bout, but that was before he knew who Louis was. On many occasions since, just knowing Joe's identity has had a strange narcotic effect on his opponents.

Fourth Round
Brown went out in the fourth round of the second bout, barely beating the customers. It was that kind of a fight. Louis won with a minimum of effort to mend his torn prestige.

Paychek is meeting the Bomber after the latter's rather unfortunate experience with Arturo Godoy, who took a deep breath and stayed down for 15 rounds, and thereby stayed up. We thought Louis did as well as could be expected under the circumstances, but many thought otherwise.

He'll be out to regain esteem, and he'll be meeting a man made to order for his style. A critic who saw Paychek on the west coast several years ago reports he is an excellent boxer, and can take a punch or leave it alone, but if he takes it he goes right to sleep. His chin, our informant said, is a little on the brittle side.

If he lasts two or three rounds he'll be doing right well.

BASEBALL CAMPS
Buck Newsum, Detroit pitcher, passing third base umpire on way to dugout after a disputed decision: "Well, I guess that's what you come down here for — to get the knots out of your head."

Hank Gowdy, on the training of pitchers:
"Cy Young used to report to camp and pitch nine innings the first day. It used to be a theory that a pitcher was bound to get a sore arm some time during a season, and that it was best to get it early and get it over with. That's been disproved now, of course."

"And don't let Johnny Vander Meer's wildness worry you too much. They say he threw 76 pitches in two innings the other day. Why that's nothing. The Reds had a pitcher named Barrett here a couple of years ago who walked 16 men in the first two innings, and hit some besides."

The unpredictable Casey Stengel, Bee pilot, pulled another one the other day. One of his rookies had reached third, where Casey was coaching, in an exhibition game. The rookie watched the pitcher throw a couple of balls, then in a hoarse stage whisper said to Casey:
"Mr. Stengel, I can steal home with that pitcher's motion."

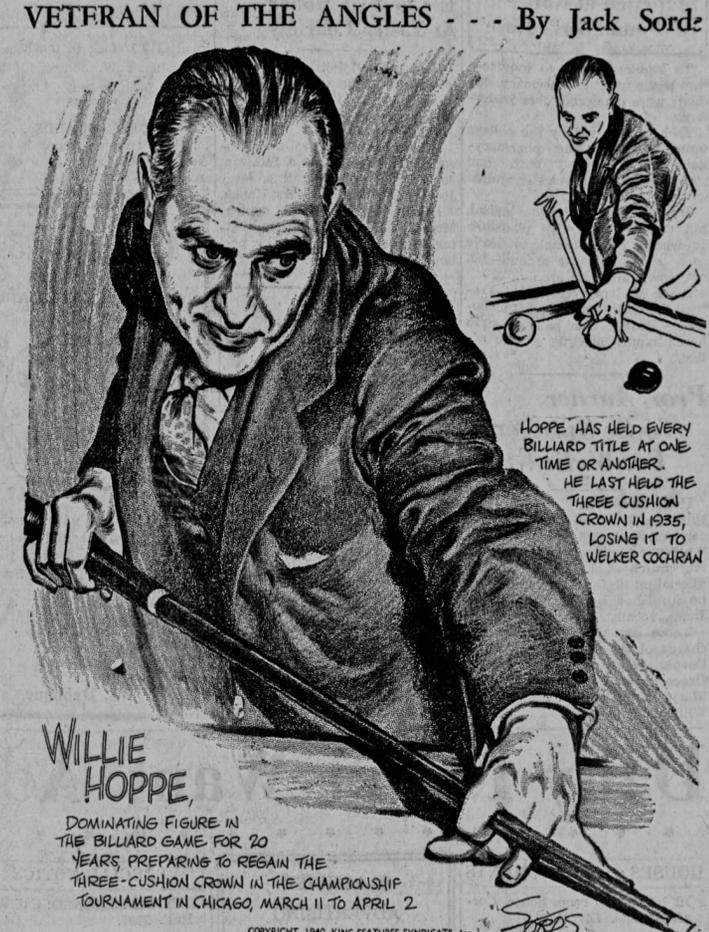

Casey promptly signalled the photographers to get ready, and sent the kid in.
He made it.

Connie Mack's Athletics Rate As Vastly Better Than in 1939

New Material Shows Promise; Veterans O. K.

By ROBERT MYERS
ANAHEIM, Cal., March 20 (AP)—Professor C. McGillicuddy, better known as Connie Mack, still is carrying on extensive spring experiments with his Philadelphia baseball aggregation, but early returns indicate almost to a certainty that his Athletics will be a vastly improved club in 1940 over last year.

Professor Mack has a wealth of promising, and somewhat expensive, new material to work with, along with several fine specimens of proven dependable talent. That is all this 77-year-old master of the national pastime needs.

Meantime, let it be recorded that the Athletics' decision to train in California has not only been a success from more angles than one, but a heart warming personal triumph for Mr. Mack himself. From the acclaim—and the paid attendance at the A's exhibition games, which is something to consider—a casual on-looker would get the idea that this outfit won the pennant last year instead of finishing seventh.

Nor can you make anyone in this rousing town of Anaheim think that the A's will wind up in the lowly spot again. No, sir, they're dead certain the Mack-men will be right up there whacking 'at, if not whacking over, the mighty Yankees.

There seems to be grounds for this confidence, too. The Athletics' pitching staff may be a whizz if some of the newcomers come through; the infield should be much improved over last year; the outfield has more reserve power; and there was nothing wrong with the catching department last year. That was why Frank Hayes, the No. 1 backstop, held out for more money.

Reliable Dick Siebert will be back at first; Benny ($45,000) McCoy, who is doing a great job of brushing off all the flattering attentions paid him, will be at second; Bill Lillard, another hitvy — money purchase, from Baltimore, will be at short, and Mr. Mack likes Al Rubeling's work at third. There are other candidates, including Dario Lodigiana, Fred Chapman, Joe Gantenbein and Al Brancato, yet to be considered for the infield, however, although Gantenbein may go into the outfield if Sam Chapman fails to pick up this year.

Hardhitting Bob Johnson, who ranked third in runs-batted-in the American league last year; Wally Moses, another .300 hitter, Chapman, Wilson Miles and utility man Al Simmons, the old come-back kid himself, make up the outfield.

George Caeter, Nelson Potter, Chubby Dean and William Beekman, are regulars back for hurling duty, but new acquisitions, such as Johnny Babich, drifted from Kansas City, and two purchases from Memphis, Herman Besse and Ed Heusser, as well as Chet Poindexter from Atlanta and Elon Hogsett, from Minneapolis, may give the last year staff something to think about.

Frank Hayes, who reported late, after a holdout siege, probably will resume where he left off last year, with Earle Brucker the No. 2 catcher, and Bud Hancken and Hal Wagner hustling for a third place on the receiving corps.

The A's may not find the exact combination this year, but they are bound to make it tough for some of their opponents, and tougher than ever in 1941.

to third on a single by Bill Dickey and scored on Bill Knickerbocker's fly.

Joe Vosmik of the Dodgers and Frank Crosetti of the Yankees hit home runs.

Bartell, Tigers
Nip Giants, 8-7
LAKELAND, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Rowdy Dick Bartell, once a great hero for the New York Giants, beat them for the Detroit Tigers today, 8 to 7, in a 12-inning exhibition tussle.

He hit a two-run homer to climax a five-run rally in the seventh inning and tried to sew up the game in the eleventh by pounding a double and then stealing third. When he got no help in this frame he came back in the 12th with the bases loaded and two out and slammed his third straight hit.

Around The Big Leagues

Durocher Will Examine Arm
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, announced today he will fly to Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore for an examination of his lame throwing arm.

Durocher injured his arm three weeks ago and since has been unable to throw effectively. It is the first time the little manager ever had trouble with his arm. Coach Charlie Dressen will be in charge of the team during the manager's absence.

Browns Blank
Tulsa Oilers
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 20 (AP)—Bill Cox and Bill Miller pitched 3-hit ball today as the St. Louis Browns blanked the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas league, 14 to 0. The game was called in the last of the eighth inning.

Twelve hits, 12 walks, two hit batters and 5 errors turned the game into a rout after the first inning.

Don Heffner and Tony Criscola hit for extra bases and Walt Judnich singled both times at the plate.

Dodgers Back In Old Form
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers looked like the daffiness boys of old today for one play—and that one play cost them a 5 to 4 loss to the New York Yankees.

In the ninth inning pitcher Max Macon and first baseman Bert Haas collided over an easy ground-er and put Charley Keller on base with the winning run. He raced

State Play Festival Begins April 1 to 6

Communities, Junior Colleges Plan 34 Plays

Will Follow High School Division Presentations in March

The production schedule for the 34 plays in the junior college and community sections of the state play festival at the University of Iowa April 1 to 6 was announced yesterday by the extension division.

The 15 junior colleges will begin presentation of their plays April 1, while the community groups take the stage of the university theater April 4. These sections follow the high school division, in which 67 plays will be offered between March 25 and 30.

Judges will use the group rating system in distribution of awards. In addition to the plays, the actors and producers will attend luncheons and round table sessions of various phases of technique.

This is the official junior college schedule:

Monday, April 1—Dowling of Des Moines, Waukon, Maquoketa, Muscatine, Osceola, Webster City, Clarinda.

Tuesday, April 2—Red Oak, Elkader, Albia, Washington, Creston, Marshalltown, Burlington, and Bloomfield.

Community groups have been booked as follows:

Thursday, April 4—Class B: Scott County Junior Farm Bureau, Osceola, Vinton Faculty club, School for Blind; Cedar Falls, Davenport Woman's club.

Friday, April 5—Class B: Dubuque Drama club, Webster City, Waterloo, Ida Grove, Iowa City, Council Bluffs, Clinton.

Saturday, April 6—Class A: Vinton, Davenport, Burlington; Class C: Des Moines Mask and Candle Players (2), Council Bluffs Studio players, Iowa City.

Student Does Experiments With Surfaces

Working on the formation of a newly developed road surfacing compound, which he will introduce into China upon his return, Lee Fah Yih, graduate student in engineering here from Shanghai, is in Rock Island, Ill., carrying on his research work at the laboratories there.

Under the direction of William Gallagher, Rock Island City engineer, Yih is experimenting with the new road surfacing which is the stabilization of soil through mixture with Portland cement.

I. C. H. S. Group To Give Play This Afternoon

3 Music Contestants Will Play, Sing Solos At Club Session

A play, "Three's a Crowd," will be presented by the Iowa City high school Paint and Patches dramatics club at a general meeting of the Iowa City Woman's club at 2:30 this afternoon in the clubrooms.

The meeting date was scheduled for tomorrow but was changed because of Good Friday.

Cast of the play, which is directed by Pat Baldrige, includes Helen Beye, Martha Mae Chappel, Jim Swanner, Vernon Bothel and Ed Oldis.

Three soloists of Iowa City high school, who are entered in the music contest, will also participate in the program. Bob Merriam will play a clarinet solo, and Charles Ingersoll, tenor, and Phyllis Blackman, soprano, will sing. The latter three appearing on the program are children of club members.

Any Iowa City woman who wishes to join the club may make application at this time. The program is being presented by the drama department. Mrs. Thomas Reese is chairman of the department and of this meeting.

Tea will be served at the meeting. Those on the serving committee are Mrs. Edna M. Harter, Mrs. Cora M. Chapman, Mrs. Clarence J. Koser and Mrs. Lee Bailey.

An executive board meeting will begin at 1:30 this afternoon. Dues will be accepted at this time.

Pharmacy Students Stupefied at Notice Of 'Found Girl's Hose'

To inquire or not to inquire—that is the question pharmacy students were pondering over yesterday.

Each had passed by the college bulletin board in the pharmacy building and each had stopped. Each had read it, smiled and wondered.

It read well, sounded logical, but then—not exactly plausible. It wasn't conventional to leave such things as those around—no, not conventional or proper.

Some students returned to re-read the notice and found it as before—"Found: One pair of girl's hose. Inquire at drug service office."

Prof. Aurner To Be Speaker For Wylie Guild

Prof. Nellie S. Aurner will speak on her recent Mediterranean cruise at a supper meeting of the Wylie Guild of the Presbyterian church at 6 p. m. tomorrow. Special music for the program will be furnished by Elizabeth Bell Jones, vocalist.

Those on the committee in charge of the supper are Ethel Cooper, Fanny Kerr, Jean Cassel, Grace Taylor, Elizabeth Winbigler, Marjorie Moberg and Mrs. J. White Brown.

Church Group Plans Drama

Symbolic Idealism To Be Interpreted By Student Players

A drama symbolic of the one interpolated into the service of the early Christian church will be presented by the young people of the first Congregational church in connection with the annual Maundy Thursday communion service.

The drama is adapted in part from the historical studies of medieval stage productions by Karl Young and the "Quem Queritis" by Paul Osgood.

The original was sung by the priest just before the mass and was called the Easter trope. Out of this plain song developed our more elaborate Easter pageants.

The group presenting the drama desires to recapture the spirit and symbolical idealism of the service in the early church. Emphasis will be laid primarily on symbolism and color. Lines will be chanted and simple costumes will be worn by the actors.

Grace Martin, Miriam Peterson and Jean Prescott will represent the three Maries in the drama. The apostles Peter and John will be represented by Keith Smith and Keith Sutton, and the angel by Hayden Hughes.

The general public is invited to attend this service.

The east and the west ne'er meet, but two other extremes, the worst and the best, meet three days every week in Prof. C. L. Sanders' advertising class in the university school of journalism.

Bill Best, A4 of Omaha, Neb., and Howard Worst, A3 of Muscatine, are the nominal representatives of these opposites on Professor Sanders' attendance record.

"I guess I'll let my name speak for itself," exclaimed Mr. Best when asked to comment on the situation.

"No comment," said Mr. Worst.

Rhubarb was first used in Europe for medical purposes and was one of the most costly of medicines. The cost was caused by the expense of importing it from China, across Asia, and the difficulty of preserving it from attacks of insects.

Consumers' Cooperative Firm Files Articles of Incorporation In County Recorder's Office

Plans To Promote Economic Welfare Of Its Members

An association to be known as the Consumer's Co-operative society of Iowa City filed articles of incorporation yesterday in the Johnson county recorder's office.

The new co-operative will handle and produce foodstuffs, clothing, fuel, petroleum products, building materials and all other merchandise that the society may wish to sell.

Its purpose as stated in the articles of incorporation will be to promote the economic welfare of its members by utilizing their united effort for purchase, distribution and production.

Membership Privileges

To share the distribution and patronage of the new firm, membership may be purchased for $10 which entitles the member to purchase commodities, to participate in meetings, to vote on all matters at meetings and to share in the distribution of patronage dividends.

Five directors will be elected by all members of the organization. These directors will manage the affairs of the society, and will be elected at the first meeting to be held Oct. 15. Local headquarters will be at 319 E. Bloomington street.

To Reserve Fund

The society plans to reserve a reasonable fund for depreciation and to establish an educational fund to be used for the teaching of co-operative methods. The remaining net earnings are to be used in the establishment of a revolving fund credited to the account of each patron in proportion to the amount of business he has done with the society during the year.

According to the articles, the organization may borrow in an amount not to exceed $100 from any member whose membership has been paid in full and certificates of indebtedness may be issued to the members in the denominations of $5 to draw interest not exceeding eight per cent a year.

Howard R. Bowen, June V. Strother, M. M. Johnson, Alexander C. Kern, Emmet H. Potter, Ethan P. Allen, Evans A. Wortley and J. Van der Zee were listed as incorporators. The articles were filed by Roy E. Bazire.

Youngsters Serve Beauty Student Policemen Permit Violation—'She's Beautiful'

Two student policemen from St. Mary's school busily directed traffic at Dubuque and Jefferson streets yesterday.

A large automobile driven by a chauffeur was stopped by them only after a maximum effort. Four or five students crossed the street.

Traffic began to move again. And again the student cops signalled for passing motorists to halt.

A fiery red roadster driven by the usual blonde co-ed flashed past the intersection.

"Get her license number," yelled one of them.

The other one gazed wistfully after the disappearing car. "Shucks," he said. "Leave her go. She's beautiful."

Services For Mrs. L. Lenoch To Be Friday

Life-Long Resident Of Johnson County Succumbs at Home

Funeral service for Mrs. Joseph E. Lenoch, 70, 1109 E. Davenport street, who died yesterday after a lingering illness, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the St. Wenceslaus church.

Mrs. Lenoch is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Krehlik and Mrs. William Petrak, both of near Iowa City; three sisters, Mrs. Lillie Holubar of Boulder, Col., Mrs. J. J. Wanek and Mrs. A. H. Platzer, both of Iowa City; two brothers, Thomas and Joseph of Iowa City; four grandchildren and one great grandson.

Mrs. Lenoch, a life-long resident of Iowa City, was the daughter of Martin and Mary Kutcher. On May 25, 1891, she was married to Mr. Lenoch and they have continued their residence here since.

The body is at the Riley funeral home.

Private Service For J. Maske Will Be Today

Private funeral service will be held at 3 o'clock today for John L. Maske, 1220 E. Court street, who died of a heart attack Tuesday afternoon while employed in dismantling the journalism building. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

The service will be held at Beckman's and the Rev. C. Rollin Sherck will officiate.

A life-long resident of Johnson county, Mr. Maske moved to Iowa City 16 years ago and became employed in the university grounds and building department.

He is survived by three brothers, William Maske of Iowa City, Paul Maske of Kalona and Henry Maske of Oxford; three sisters, Mrs. Ella Klein of Iowa City, Mrs. Minnie Richardson of Sigourney and Miss Arta Maske who lived with him at 1220 E. Court street. One brother and one sister preceded him in death.

Priest Risks Life Donating Blood to Jewish Boy

Despite warnings of possible effects from losing blood in his own weakened condition, Father Paul, assistant pastor of St. Boniface's church, San Francisco, Cal., submits to a blood transfusion in behalf of young Sheldon Bellafsky, 12-year-old Chicago Jew, stricken with staphylococcus septicemia, a deadly blood disease. Father Paul was released six weeks ago from a hospital after a six-month siege of the illness which cost him his left leg below the knee. He will undergo another operation in three weeks and was supposed to be building up his blood supply in order to better withstand the operation. The courageous priest's blood was rushed to Chicago by plane.

Garden Space Applications Already Being Received Here

Gardens Planned To Furnish Food For Unfortunate Families

Many Iowa City families have already applied for space in the Iowa City community gardens, which are sponsored by the WPA and the county board of supervisors, it was announced yesterday by John Barry, executive secretary of the Social Service league.

Although plans for the project are still in an embryonic stage, he asserted, the gardens last year proved to be a benefit to many families and they are anxious for the opportunity again this year.

Seeds for the garden are being purchased in bulk from combined county and relief funds. Supervision in the buying is being furnished by the Social Service league.

It is the plan to provide individual gardens in the city for the families this year, Barry said. Any Iowa City citizens knowing of available garden plots are urged to contact the board of supervisors or the Social Service league.

Local Man Fined $102

C. L. Alberhasky Allegedly Violated Local Building Code

C. L. Alberhasky was fined $102 in police court yesterday for alleged violation of the Iowa City building code.

Alberhasky, who is a plumber's apprentice, was allegedly practicing the trade without a license or permit to do so.

Through his attorney, E. A. Baldwin, Alberhasky appealed the case to the Johnson county district court.

President of Cornell College Speaks to High School Pupils At Annual Holy Week Banquet

Dr. Llewellyn Owen Acts as Toastmaster At Sponsored Affair

Dr. John B. Magee, president of Cornell college, spoke before a capacity audience of between 200 and 250 students from Iowa City and University high schools last night at a banquet in the First Presbyterian church.

The banquet, which was a part of the third annual Holy Week activities for high school youth, was sponsored by the ministerial association of Iowa City. Dr. Llewellyn Owen acted as toastmaster.

Dr. Magee, in the course of his lecture, urged Iowa City's young people to "be patriots but not nationalists."

"There are nations of the world," declared the speaker, "who are crying, 'Release unto us Barabbas, the robber who can rob other states of liberty.' Thus, Barabbas is still applauded, while Christ is crucified afresh."

After Dr. Magee's address, a high school dramatic group, directed by Betty Keyser and Dick Baldrige, presented a one-act play, "The Terrible Meek."

Midgets living in New York buy their clothes from a special shop for rmidgets; others patronize the children's departments of stores.

Mrs. M. Havel Files Petition Asking $430

Asserts Feed Bought From Poultry Company Lessened Production

A petition was filed by Mrs. Melvin Havel in Johnson county district court yesterday against the Iowa City Poultry and Egg company asking a judgment of $430.40.

The plaintiff states in the petition that as a result of poultry feed purchased from the defendant, 75 hens and three cockerels died and that egg production of the flock was lost for a period of four months.

According to the petition, the plaintiff claims negligence on the part of the defendant in selling her the feed.

Attorney Paul Toomey filed the petition for the plaintiff.

Book Describes Iowa Town

Herbert Quick's 'Lattimore' Was Sioux City, Palimpsest Article Reveals

Rocketing real estate values and soaring prices marked the sensational growth of Sioux City during the 1880's. An Iowa novelist, Herbert Quick, was an eye witness of this mad Sioux City boom. In 1904 he wrote "Aladdin & Co.: A Romance of Yankee Magic," describing the phenomenal growth of the fictitious town of Lattimore. This story is typical of Sioux City's development in those fabulous times.

A group of men who called themselves the "Syndicate" were responsible for fictitious Lattimore's growth. The Syndicate's president had been deeply impressed by the town's natural resources and commercial possibilities.

Real estate and insurance companies, loan and trust companies, banks, street railways, waterworks and similar projects were quickly organized. Eastern capital was enticed to Lattimore; speculators swarmed into the town; prices of real estate zoomed upward.

The boomers at first controlled the activities, but once the wheels were set in motion, it seemed they revolved on their own momentum. According to one investor, "We were in the game to win, to be masters; to create — all these things went into our beings in thrilling and dizzying pulsations of a pleasure which was not ignoble."

In the midst of unbelief that anything adverse could happen to Lattimore's prosperity, the panic and hard times did come, and Lattimore and all the Lattimores over the country were hit. The Syndicate did everything it could to prevent total wreckage but fortunes which were built in an incredibly short time were lost even more suddenly.

This story of romantic entanglements and "boom technique" is told by Marie Haefner in a recent issue of "The Palimpsest," monthly publication of the State Historical Society of Iowa.

LONG DISTANCE

When you turn to Long Distance telephone service, you're "there and back" in record time.

Long Distance connections are made (on the average) in about 90 seconds. Quality of transmission is the highest ever. Improvements are constantly fitting the service more and more closely to the public's needs.

No wonder people turn to Long Distance about 2 1/2 million times a day! In business and social life, it's one of America's most reliable and economical short cuts.

Why not telephone home often? Rates for most points are lowest any night after 7 P. M. and all day Sunday.
