'I'm Santa Claus From Santa Fe, and I'm Giving Away Chickens With Feathers on 'em! Peace!'

Woody Hockaday Passes Out Live Chickens in Interests of Peace in New York

By JOHN FERRIS

NEW YORK, March 23—(AP)—Whooping and roaring, a man dressed in Santa Claus costume topped with an Indian headdress rode a creaking wagon into Rockefeller Center today and tried to distribute 600 live chickens "in the interest of world peace."
'I'm Santa Clause from Sante Fe,' he roared, "and I'm giving away chickens. Chickens with feathers on 'em. Peace! The whole world's going to have peace."
Pedestrians in the plaza stopped. The crowd around the skating rink turned to the strange figure who grinned amiably.

"I'm old Santa Claus from Santa Fe," he bellowed. "On the Q.T., though I'm old Woody Hockaday. Have a chicken, my friend."
He held out two birds, but spectators shied. "Come on, my friends," he shouted. "Old Santa Claus' chickens won't bite you. Take one home for the kiddies. Any chickens today? The same old Santa Claus coming your way."
A policeman came over. Santa Claus tossed the chickens in the air. Then he opened a crate and freed some more. Then another crate. The chickens looked scared and dodged among the spectators.

Next Santa leaped from wagon to horse's back and turned west on 50th street, roaring his tidings of peace and chickens with the cop in pursuit.
At Sixth avenue he halted, and began giving away more chickens. Men and women held out their hands. Kids scrambled into the wagon and seized chickens. Feathers flew. And finally the puffing cop arrived. Santa Claus shoved a chicken into his face.
Another policeman ran over.
'I'm just giving away chickens,' shouted Santa Claus. So they took him to the West 47th street police station. The far-famed Woody—he was booked by the gendarmes as Hockaday—was charged with cruelty to animals on the complaint of an agent of the A.S.P.C.A. and then was sent to Bellevue hospital for observation after he tried unsuccessfully to escape in front of the station.

It was the first time, so far as could be learned, that Hockaday had used live chickens in his spectacular demonstrations. Chicken feathers have been his medium heretofore: He once dumped pounds of them on Secretary of War Woodring and repeated the stunt at a Detroit meeting of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.
In the past he has called himself "Chief Pow Wow."

Nazis Convinced Molotoff To Visit Berlin Soon

—FROM BERLIN—

Expect Soviet To Join Axis Without Fight

Powers Face Problem Of Balkan Peace, Stable Agreements After War

MOSCOW, March 24 (Sunday) (AP)—Tass, the Soviet official news agency, today branded as "devoid of any foundation" rumors which it said were being circulated abroad regarding the proposed visit of Russian premier-foreign minister Vyacheslav Molotoff to Berlin.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—Official Germany apparently is convinced that Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotoff, will at least visit Berlin to cement anew the recently-formed Berlin - Moscow friendship and remove any obstacles to Russian-Italian cooperation for the duration of the European war.

Men usually well informed put the date of Molotoff's likely arrival all the way from next Tuesday to a fortnight hence.

It was believed possible that Italy's foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, might be in Berlin at the same time, although it could not be learned definitely whether negotiations had progressed far enough to permit this.

Three-Power Pact
If and when Molotoff comes to Berlin it may be taken for granted that a three-power understanding concerning southeastern Europe will result, according to which Russia, Germany and Italy, without giving up their ideologies and without tying themselves beyond the duration of the present war, will agree.

1. To keep the Balkans at peace, and
2. To consult the Balkan nations themselves on the kind of arrangement necessary in south— (See MOLOTOFF, Page 5)

Indicate F. D. R. Would Veto Trade Plan If Senate Requires Treaty Ratification

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Word spread on Capitol Hill today that President Roosevelt would veto legislation continuing his reciprocal trade program if congress adopted a proposal to require senate ratification of trade agreements.

It was said that Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Hull had agreed, and passed this word on to legislative leaders, that the ratification proposal would destroy the usefulness of the trade program.

The question whether the treaties should be subject to senate ratification, by a two-thirds vote, is expected to be a major issue of contention when the senate debates continuance of the trade program.

General Shake-Up of Airplane Purchasing Programs Planned

U. S. Army, Navy Move To Speed Fulfillment Of Foreign Orders

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—The army and navy were reported authoritatively today to have decided on a general shake-up of their airplane purchasing programs with the aim both of speeding fulfillment of British and French orders and getting better and cheaper planes for themselves.

The new policy, shaped in cooperation with treasury officials, involves transfer to the allies of possibly several hundred planes nearing completion for the American armed services, temporarily sidetracking some army - navy orders, and release for sale abroad of additional new model fighting aircraft.

Administration spokesmen expect to bare details of the new policy at next week's postponed inquiry by the house military committee on the effect of foreign purchases on the national defense.

Britain Expects Bitter Attacks On 'Life Lines'

Reich's 'Sub a Day' Plan Fills Northern Waters With Danger

LONDON, March 23 (AP)—The start of undersea warfare "on a scale undreamed of in the World war" within two weeks was declared probable by informed quarters in London today.

German submarines were reported filtering through mine fields and allied surface patrols into the North sea and Atlantic for a new wave of attacks on the British bread line that runs the breadth of the seven seas.

A large number of U - boats were reported just outside Norwegian waters yesterday and a German submarine commander was quoted by a Norwegian fishing captain as saying German undersea craft soon would be as thick as fishing smacks in the North sea waters.

Neutral naval officers in London said they believed "more than half" the new wave of submarines emerging from the Kiel canal into the North sea had been built this winter.

(Informed German sources asserted several weeks ago that the reich was building one submarine a day.)

Moreover, neutral officers asserted the crews probably were experienced and said that the almost general assumption in London that Germany is suffering a submarine crew shortage probably is wrong.

Mankind Stops To Celebrate Resurrection

Jerusalem, London, Paris, Vatican City Centers of Festivity

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mankind at war paused in troubled Europe today to celebrate in restrained Easter festivities the resurrection of the Prince of Peace 1,940 years ago.

Under the shadow of guns threatening to speak out in long-forgotten total war, Christians of all sects raised their voices in song and prayer amidst ceremony and custom handed down through the centuries.

The Holy City of Jerusalem was the mecca of thousands of pilgrims who gathered to participate in impressive services around the church of the Holy Sepulchre, on the site of the tomb from which Christ arose.

Pope To Speak
The eyes of the Roman Catholic world turned to Vatican City where Pope Pius XII personally arranged to celebrate mass in the basilica of historic St. Peter's.

The war kept down the usual throng of tourists attending the brilliant Easter service in St. Peter's but the occasion afforded the pontiff an occasion for another admonition for peace.

In his homily prepared for delivery before imparting his blessing on Rome and the world from the balcony of the ancient edifice, the pope was expected to appeal for a return of concord among nations without, however, suggesting an immediate truce.

Both his message and benediction will be broadcast by the Vatican radio station, beginning at 8 a.m. (1 a.m. CST).

The 40 days of Lent ended yesterday with the ringing of the bells of Rome's 400 churches as Holy Saturday services commemorated Christ's resurrection.

Blessings
Priests went about the eternal city blessing homes and offices, food shops strung their fronts with sausages and filled their windows with stacks of Easter cakes for today's feasting.

At the end of each session, however, the judge will give a critical analysis of the plays presented during the session. Casts and directors will be invited to ask questions at this time.

Saturday noon in Iowa Union there will be a luncheon for the Iowa play production festival participants in conjunction with the Iowa Forensic league meeting which will convene on the Iowa campus later this week.

All plays of the entire festival will be presented on the stage of University theater with an especially designed set which may readily be adapted to any type of play.

Ratings will be made by judges on the basis of "superior" and "excellent." The judging will be non-competitive, as many schools are desirous being placed in the superior or excellent classes.

Do We Need Better Citizens, Or Better Soldiers?

"IN A transition stage where we pass from an era largely military in its political activities to an era largely or wholly industrial in character, the process of developing responsibility is of necessity slow. We still think of liberty as if won chiefly on the battlefield; of human rights as protected mainly by the sword; of free institutions as if maintained by the army of the soldier. The quiet processes by which thousands of citizens formulate public opinion and provide for its execution have never been dramatized as have the scenes of war. The poet, the painter, the historian, the dramatist, have portrayed the conflicts of war in masterpieces that are immortal, but the new obligations incident to citizenship are not yet fully realized. Hence we find that men who are willing to suffer and die for their country in war, may be unwilling to serve it in time of peace, or remain indifferent because they do not see the connection between effort and effect in public affairs as in military affairs. The action of the bullet, the bayonet or the sword is direct and perceptible. The citizen's part in moulding public opinion is difficult to trace, although none the less mighty in effect. The difficulty in our present situation lies in transferring the old types of military enthusiasm to new conditions. The citizen has the spirit and virtue of the soldier, but he does not see the necessity of applying these qualities to social and political conditions."

Iowa Pioneer In General Semantics

IN AN era when Superman comes along to beat the spinach out of Popeye, it is not unusual that a new system of thinking designed to preserve world sanity should gain wide attention. Whether it is just a current fad or will become a permanent scientific ence. General Semantics has attracted the attention of many educators and seems destined for widespread adoption and practice. The University of Iowa has a unique interest in General Semantics. But a few weeks have passed, since a University audience went to Old Capitol to hear a lecture, supposing it would be a simple discourse on the "tyranny of words." They came away knowing little except that General Semantics for some unhappy reason is "the label for a relatively new science which deals with problems and methods of human adjustment."

The complexity of this new science is so great as to defy any simplified explanation so far as we are concerned. But its origin is an interesting story, and the University of Iowa holds the distinction of being the first university in the world to offer a credit course in the subject.

Taught by Wendell Johnson, whose interest in the subject apparently originates with the science's value as a clinical method in the correction of speech disorders, the course is well-known in other universities through a monograph by Johnson, "Language and Speech Hygiene: An Application of General Semantics. Outline of a Course, Iowa University."

General Semantics was formulated by Alfred Korzybski, a Polish mathematician, in his book "Science and Sanity," published in 1933.

The study of General Semantics is bringing results such as this fervent testimonial from Robert Lord, motion picture producer, "I know that the study and putting into practice of the basic canons of this system have brought me a surprisingly large amount of serenity, flexibility, and ability to cope with the problems of maintaining a certain modicum of sanity in an insane world."

Count Alfred Korzybski, we are told, who formulated the new science and now directs the Institute of General Semantics, Chicago, was born in Warsaw, Poland. Before the first world war this part of Poland was under Russian domination. In world war 1, Korzybski enlisted in the cavalry, and was later transferred to the imperial bodyguard heavy artillery of the Russian army. However, he actually "was commandeered to the General Staff Intelligence department because of his knowledge of languages and his insight into human reactions."

Later he was a special officer at the disposal of the Minister of War. Eventually he was sent as an artillery expert to North America, and after the collapse of the Russian front during the first world war, Korzybski was appointed a recruiting officer for the Polish-French army and later on became a war lecturer for the United States government. He has been in this country since.

His first book, "Manhood of Humanity: The Art and Science of Human Engineering," was published in 1921.

Because such extensive claims are made for General Semantics—the way from preventing dental caries to preserving the sanity of the race—it sounds like a fantastic hoax. That it is not such would seem to be proved by the fact that the world's foremost scientists and educators have endorsed it. Such men as Ernest Hooton, Thurman Arnold, Roscoe Pound, and Nolan D. C. Lewis are among the 31 prominent men serving as Honorary Trustees of the Institute.

If General Semantics has all the values its founder claims, the new science may be a considerable factor in changing the direction of the world from its present reckless course.

Summer Welles' European Tour May Have Been '100% Wasted'

BY CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

In the light of Finland's surrender to Russia, State Undersecretary Summer Welles' trip to Europe may turn out to have been 100 per cent wasted.

As the state department (confidentially, not officially) sees it, the Russo-Finnish development has so changed the situation that Welles' chats with Il Duce Mussolini, Fuhrer Hitler and Premier Chamberlain and Daladier no longer mean much.

The Finns' capitulation generally is recognized as having strengthened Adolf's position decidedly. It wasn't much of a victory for Russia, which, though it gained more than it asked for originally, has lost immensely in prestige by the strength that the resistance the little republic put up against the Soviets' huge numerical superiority. But the outcome helped Hitler; he probably is glad enough to see Muscovites materially deflated.

It's foreseen that the net result will be an increased disposition on the Fuehrer's part to talk peace—ON HIS TERMS.

Naturally, He'll feel that the Allies will be scared; consequently better inclined toward accepting the best conditions he'll agree to. But the Allies are made of sterner stuff than that. Britain is, anyway. The more formidable Adolf gets, the more determined the British are to go on fighting him.

In fact, London's press comment hints that Welles' visit, just at the present juncture, has annoyed John Bull considerably. When he left the United States, Summer was spoken of in England as a welcome enough caller. But by the time he got there, Adolf already had scored his indirect triumph in Finland. Thus the Fuehrer is enabled to propose peace (ON HIS TERMS) more fluently than ever. And Britain (which won't accept HIS TERMS) is placed in the position of insisting on going on fighting.

Undersecretary Welles, accordingly, is described by the British press as a "meddler."

Paris was politer to him than London was, but perhaps that's because the French are naturally more courteous than the English. Berlin was very polite, indeed. Things were "breaking" Berlin's way, and it could afford to be affable.

It would have been interesting if Summer had dropped in on Moscow, but he didn't do it.

But Italy? Mussolini wants peace, like every civilized ruler — if HE'S civilized.

He was just as nice as he could be to Summer.

FAITH By The Rev. Donald Hayne Chaplain of the Catholic Foundation, Professor of Religion, S. U. I.

Among the counterfeits passing as current coin in the market of modern thought, there is none which gives out a more leaden ring than the badly worn "It doesn't matter what a man believes." How far we have come from sturdy Martin Luther! "In England, you see," Mr. Britling remarked... "we have domesticated everything. We have even domesticated God."

We cannot talk about anything unless we have an idea of what the words mean; so with faith, so with God. If by faith we mean a funny kind of feeling in the area of the thorax, if by God we mean a kind of mascot for our latest scheme of social betterment, we can hardly wonder if an age which D. H. Lawrence called "peculiarly suspicious of substitute and swindle" finds us and our religion rather tiresome. Well, a man can speak only for himself. By faith I mean the assent of the intellect to truth upon the authority of God revealing it. This definition supposes that the reason has become convinced (a) that there is a personal God and (b) that God has made a revelation of certain truths clearly enough to warrant and command acceptance. Religious belief is not like stepping out of the house of reason into the dark and hoping Someone Nice will be there to meet you, it is like stepping off the ladder of reason onto a solid platform higher than the ladder and nearer to the sun. How one gets there is another story, but, even without going into that, we can see plainly that it matters a great deal what a man believes, for a man, consciously or not, is governed by what he believes. For instance, if I believe that human nature is totally depraved and God a "Great Taskmaster" just waiting to catch me enjoying myself, then I am bound to condemn whatever ministers to human pleasure. On the other hand, if I believe that everything God made is good, I will enjoy, each in its measure, brandy and baseball and Beethoven. "The purple bullfinch in the lilac-tree "The tiltyard skill, the strategy of chess, "Love in the garden, singing to the instrument—" unless perchance I leave them for a higher good; and then I shall not cease to love them because they do not cease to be God's. And so on. A man's beliefs determine his attitudes. His attitudes determine his choices. His choices determine the kind of world he has to live in. Dogmas are not fifth wheels; they are the fuel in the engine. The power of faith is a motive power. The direction which that power takes, for man's weal or woe, depends ultimately upon the truth of the dogmas to which the mind by the act of faith assents. And by truth I do not mean what makes me feel good or what appears to be socially useful this month; I mean correspondence with reality. Some day people may, like little Jack Horner, discover what has been there all the time. If they do not, our dying civilization will go on dying and no humanitarian palliative will save it. If they do — but that's another story too.

Easter Greetings from Father Hayne

The Rev. Donald Hayne, professor in the school of religion and Catholic chaplain of Iowa students, is one of the newest members of the University faculty. Yet he is already well known to nearly 700 Catholic students on the campus, and is actively connected with the Newman club which is composed of more than 400 Catholic students.

Following his graduation at Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C., Father Hayne continued his studies at North American college in Rome, Italy. During his stay in Rome Father Hayne had the opportunity to take a number of short trips to neighboring countries of Mediterranean Europe. One observation that he made during his stay abroad is the novel and completely natural way in which the Latin peoples link their religion with their lives. They celebrate church feast days in a similar fashion to the way that we celebrate national holidays, with speech making, dancing and fireworks.

At the feast of Epiphany Jan. 6 there is a fair in Rome, which features child sermons. These sermons are given entirely by children, and sometimes last the whole day long, each child speaking or singing something that he or she has memorized, from the pulpit of the local church. About this time each year the spring housecleaning is done and on Saturday of Holy Week it is completed by a great number of priests from St. Peter's calling at each house in the city, blessing all houses that have been cleaned, as well as the uncooked Easter dinner which is heaped upon tables in the front rooms of the houses. Lamb is the favorite Easter dinner meat in contrast to the American traditional dinner of ham. According to Father Hayne, "the Latin countries have neither the Easter bonnet nor the Easter bunny but instead they still derive their joyous celebrations from the fact of the resurrection of Christ." "After a stay of a little more than a year Father Hayne returned to the United States to finish his seminary work at the Mt. Saint Mary's seminary in Emmitsburg, Md. Following the completion of his work, he taught for several years at the Davenport diocese from which he was sent to St. Wenceslaus church here in Iowa City for two years. Father Hayne teaches four classes weekly to both Catholic and non-Catholic students, and he adds "most of the 'A's' are made

It's In The Stars Tucker Crashes Party He'd Been Invited To Attend

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I believe that we are inextricably linked with the stars, and if a man is supposed to be at a certain place at an appointed time, he will be there, and nothing he may say or do will make the slightest difference.

Last night, for instance, the theater was over. The big side doors had disgorged their crowds, and the cleaners were already mopping the floors. I walked up 45th street and turned into Broadway, pausing briefly to chat with Shoestring Jennie, a drudge I know who has peddled chewing gum and razor blades to theater crowds for 20 years.

I crossed Times Square to the Seventh Avenue side, the rain driving me deeper into my coat, and moved on past the Bird in Hand, past Sloppy Joe's, on past Roxy's and almost to 51st Street, where I intended to turn east and seek out the office. I hadn't been there in a couple of days and I knew the desk must be in an awful fix.

But I turned instead into a hotel, because it was raining, and I was hungry, and went downstairs where a great mob of people were having a time, and I ate a big supper of a lot of things that complemented a fine filet mignon. Then I asked for the check.

The waiter shook his head. "There is no check, monsieur," he said. "It is the first time in my long and spotty career that a New York hotel has refused cash money," I told him. "You had better check with the head waiter again because I do not wish to be nabbed walking out of here and held up to this crowd as a check dodger."

Not that the hotel, or any hotel, would needlessly embarrass a guest, but...

"See," cried the waiter, hurrying back with an accomplice, "there is no check. Francois, tell this gentleman he is Monsieur Bernie's guest tonight."

So that was it. Ben Bernie was giving a party, and I had crashed it. Well, that is not exactly setting a precedent on Broadway. I sent a vague wave in the direction of the stand, and went out. Outside the rain was still driving viciously. It seemed almost as if nature were trying to enflame the passers-by with a crossfire of her own.

Back at the office the desk was an untidy heap, as I knew it would be, piled high with letters, old press releases, all of yesterday's useless and dead newspapers. From the typewriter this note protruded:

"Greetings and salutations. My good friend, Alfred Lewis, manager of The Taft, has very graciously offered me ye whole Grill in order to invite my personal friends as well as his, as his and my guests (deah, deah) for tomorrow night. "We aim to have some supper, a little dancin', and your favorite drinks at this informal party; so won't you set aside tomorrow night from 11 until—???" "I don't like to ask you to R. S. V. P., but Al says the Chief must know. So won't you drop this enclosed card in your nearest mail box, and we will be all set for a swell evening. "Love and kisses. Ben."

You see? It's just as I say. We haven't anything to do with these things. They're fixed, preordained, and if a man is supposed to be at a certain place at an appointed time, he'll be there, and nothing he may say or do will make the slightest difference.

TUNING IN with D. Mac Showers

"OH, THAT TRUMPET," is the easiest way to describe the new Varsity recordings by Johnny McGehee and his orchestra. Some of the late releases now available by the swing trumpeters include "On the Isle of May," "Way Back in 1939 A.D." as well as the trumpet specialties, "Hot Lips" and "Sugar Blues."

AT THE EASTER Sunrise Service in the Hollywood Bowl this morning from 7 to 8 o'clock over MBS, Kenny Baker will sing "Ave Maria." Other radio personalities on the bowl program are Tyrone Power, Carrie Jacobs-Bond and others.

To fill out the day, Jack will return Welles' favor by appearing on the latter's CBS broadcast as well. He will star in Orson's radio version of the stage success, "June Moon," although he still doesn't feel equal to attempting the role of "Mr. Chips" on his own.

The whole thing's gummed up impossibly. It's a good deal worse than diplomacy was in the last war. American military strategists argue that the state department oughtn't to have been so badly jolted by the Moscow-Helsinki dicker.

They say that Norway and Sweden were quite right in refusing to let democratic countries' forces cross their territory on their way to help the Finns. They say that the democracies would have been all right, if they had offered SUFFICIENT forces to do any good.

But, "Phooey!" they say, so far as the few regiments they suggested.

What jolted our diplomacy was that the thing occurred so suddenly.

Regardless of Norway and Sweden (via the Atlantic and the Baltic) navy experts point out that the English and French could have broken into northern Finland and Russia by way of their respective ice-free Arctic ports. It would have been inconvenient, but no more inconvenient than for the Russians — whose Arctic coast is undefended.

In short, the Allies didn't try very hard.

Parentetically, look at the map. Don't look at one of these newspaper maps. They're too jumbled up to mean anything. Look at a Rand-McNally map — if that's advertising.

JACK BENNY, who learned enough about grunting and growling from Orson Welles last week to qualify as a wrestler, will put into practice his new and gained knowledge of dramatic technique during his NBC-Red broadcast this evening at 8 o'clock.

Jack Benny, who learned enough about grunting and growling from Orson Welles last week to qualify as a wrestler, will put into practice his new and gained knowledge of dramatic technique during his NBC-Red broadcast this evening at 8 o'clock.

To fill out the day, Jack will return Welles' favor by appearing on the latter's CBS broadcast as well. He will star in Orson's radio version of the stage success, "June Moon," although he still doesn't feel equal to attempting the role of "Mr. Chips" on his own.

DENNIS DAY will observe the passing of winter by singing "It Seems to be Spring" and Phil Harris' orchestra will make the musical query "Do I Love You?"

OSCAR BRADLEY and his orchestra will supply the musical score while John Conte will be on hand to help Roger Pryor run the famous guests through the popular "Question Box," an exclusive feature on the Screen Guild theater showing the stars as they are in real life.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ will present a belated salute to spring on his "Tune-Up Time" program over CBS tomorrow at 7 p.m. The conductor has arranged a special medley of seasonal songs for his 45-piece orchestra.

Eastern Experts Say Louis-Paychek Bout Friday Will Be 'Short and Sweet'

By SID FEDER
 NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—The Finns and Joe Louis are going to benefit from the fistic festivities in Madison Square Garden Friday night. But it is almost unanimously agreed that the only pleasure the other half of the duet, Johnny Paychek, will derive will be when — and if — he picks up his namesake the next day.

The "if" is used advisedly in this case, referring to Louis' tenth defense of the world's heavy-weight championship. The "ex-pers" have given the fiddle-playing flailer from Des Moines a thorough "once-over" two or three times. And, even knowing full well that stranger things have happened in the pleasant pastime of scrambling ears, they're convinced there is no immediate danger the Bomber will blow this one.

He may have trouble from the style of the serious minded socker with the sparse hair, and he may be hurt by the short right hand Johnny drops into your whiskers. But, like little Louise when she hops into the rumble seat behind Joe and her beau, Johnny looks like he's just along for the ride this time.

On a count of noses, the majority votes for a short and sweet — to everybody but Johnny — ending to the thing. Since this corner is never one to go against the will of the majority, yours truly figures the whole affair will be over and Joe will be hopping a cab for Harlem and some fried chicken inside of five rounds.

This prediction is made with a vivid recollection of the wreckage the limb made when it let go under the weight of a large number of the experts who didn't think Arturo Godoy, the rhumba riot from Chile, would survive long enough to say "buenas noches" to Louis February 9.

The Bomber and his fistic family — especially the latter — have learned their lessons well in some of Joe's most recent bouts, such as those with Godoy, Bob Pastor and Tony Galento. As a result, they're not kidding around for any opponent. So they have Joe as busy as a starving man over a steak in his training for this affair. At his camp at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., "Mr. Deadpan" has even been boxing five days weekly, once more than his usual stint.

As usual, the lure of Louis is expected to make Friday's fuss a financial as well as an artistic success. Promoter Mike Jacobs who has been drawing a considerable number of blanks here lately, won't feel at all hurt if the thing lives up to his expectations of a gate of $80,000 or over. What with the recent woe-ful events, which saw the Billy Conn-Gus Lesnevich, Henry Armstrong - Lou Ambers and Buddy Baer-Valentin Campolo bouts cancelled for one reason or another, "Uncle Mike" is looking for the jackpot this time.

The Finnish relief fund which is to get a percentage "off the top," benefits from this scrap instead of the Tony Galento-Max Baer brawl. Originally, "Uncle Mike" offered the latter but the N. Y. boxing commission took steps to toss it over to Jersey City, relief or no relief. The state's sagacious solons of sock refused to give Joe Jacobs a manager's license, although Yussel is recognized as Tony's manager just about everywhere except Zululand — where they haven't heard of Yussel yet.

After Friday's work, Louis intends to take it easy for a short spell but he's definitely planning to have two more fights this year, equalling his '39 record of four. He may even break his own par with five outings. Right now it appears he will tangle in New York with either Galento (if he gets by Baer in May) or Godoy

(if he escapes Hollywood's pit-falls). If Joe's still unbeaten, the next trip to the post will be in September, against either (1) the guy who's left out in the cold in July, (2) Lee Savold, another corn-country product from Des Moines, or (3) the winner of a scheduled Bob Pastor-Billy (Boils) Conn clout affair. (That gleeful gentleman with the facial "spinach" who you see in the background is your old Uncle Sam — or, as Joe puts it, "Mah pal, Mr. Income Tax, the man with his hand out.")

Pressbox Pickups
By OSCAR HARGRAVE

Kenny Reid, former Hawkeye twirler, seems to be doing good with the White Sox. The other day, against Hollywood, he pitched three scoreless innings, allowing just a couple of hits.

Reid, incidentally, held something of a record before coming to Iowa, having pitched six no-hit games in one year at Rose Hill high school. For the Hawk-eyes, Reid didn't do much until his senior year. Plagued with a chronic sore arm, Reid didn't manage to make a name for himself until a year ago, when he became one of the regular hurlers to help pitch the Hawks to the Big Ten title.

The White Sox boast a pitcher in Vallie Eaves who rivals the great Monty Stratton in the overcoming of difficulties. Stratton, it will be remembered, lost a leg in a hunting accident, but plans to continue pitching.

Eaves had an infection in a leg bone when 14, was an invalid for something like five years, but, despite doctors' statements that he would never walk again, ended up his high school days on the ball team.

This year, Eaves, who is one-fourth Cherokee Indian, is a good bet to stay with the majors. He won 21 games while losing 10 with Shreveport and has been impressive in exhibition games against the Cubs and Athletics.

Michigan's tennis squad is one of the most regular campaigners in the country. Last year the Wolves won 17 of 20 starts, finishing third in the Big Ten. This year they have 21 meets scheduled through April and May. Not only that, but meets are going to be arranged for a "B" squad.

Notre Dame's 1940 grid team, although prospects look bright, will get along with its famous "S" men. The graduation losses list rangy Harry Stevenson, Steve Sitko and Ben Sheridan. Both Stevenson and Sitko played important parts in the game here last fall between the Hawkeyes and Irish.

Stevenson did the kicking and passing and he also is the man who came back after being flattened by one of Bill Green's terrific tackles, a jolt that could be heard in the stands. Sitko was the Notre Dame player who set up Iowa's touchdown by intercepting in his own end zone and fumbling when tackled by Bruno Andruska.

Little Ben Sheridan, one of the most dangerous Irish runners, didn't see much service here. He got in the game only after Irish passes had come to nought and Elmer Layden, gambling desperately to keep the Notre Dame record clean of defeats, sent Sheridan in for a running play, Bob Saggau, of Dennison, Ia., will be the only returning "S" man. Other returning backs will be Capt. Milt Pieplu, Bernie Crimmins, Bob Hargrave and Steve Bagarus, while Lou Zontini, Joe Thesing and Johnny Kelleher are added to the list of the graduates.

At West Liberty tomorrow night they're going to put on a wrestling show. This time it's six against one, although the weight is claimed to be almost equally divided.

On one side in the battle will be the "Human Blimp," who weighs in at 642, and opposition will be Cowboy Waters, Billy Jeffries, Dominic Serio, Walter Dusek, Henry Kolln and Tony Churney.

Fenske Sets New Record
 CHICAGO, March 23 (AP)—Charles Fenske, University of Wisconsin graduate student, won his eighth straight mile victory of the indoor season tonight in the Chicago relays, breaking the meet record with a time of four minutes, 7.9 seconds.

Gene Venzke of the New York Athletic club was second, 12 yards behind the winner and Glenn Cunningham, of Kansas, was third. Archie San Romani, Emporia, Kas., the only other starter, dropped out at the three quarters mark.

Fenske's record clipped two seconds off the record set by Cunningham two years ago. The performance was a half second above Fenske's best mile of the season, a 4:07.4 run in New York several weeks ago.

Dodgers Maul Tiger Hurlers
 CLEARWATER, Fla., March 23 (AP)—Breaking the spell that American leaguers had held over them in exhibition games, the Brooklyn Dodgers walloped the Detroit Tigers 12 to 4 today with a 16-hit assault on three rookie pitchers.

Phil's Licked By Rochester
 WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 23 (AP)—Baffled by the slants of Hershel Lyons, Bill McLaughlin and Henry Gornicki, the Phillies were defeated by Rochester, of the International league, 4 to 1, here today.

Walters, Moore Halt Cubs, 6-1
 HAVANA, March 23 (AP)—With Bucky Walters and Whitey Moore pitching effectively, Cincinnati's Reds downed the Cuban All Stars 6-1 today to even up their exhibition series at a game apiece.

Manager Bill McKechnie juggled his lineup, putting Billy Myers in the leadoff position and Mike McCormick in seventh.

Walters and Garcia fought on even terms for four innings, but the Reds broke away in the fifth, aided by Bucky's own double, for their first two runs. The Cubs managed to squeeze across a run in the ninth on three singles off Moore, who pitched the last three innings.

Prep School Cage Tourney Dates Set

DES MOINES, March 23 (AP)—The Iowa state high school athletic association announced tonight that the dates of the boys' sectional, district and state basketball tournaments in 1941 would be a week later than those of this year.

The 64 sectional tournaments will be staged March 5, 6, 7 and 8, with district tournaments, of which there are 16, to be held March 12, 13, 14 and 15.

The finals will be run off March 20, 21, and 22, probably at the University of Iowa fieldhouse at Iowa City, officials said.

Dates of the girls' state series, as yet unannounced, probably will be ahead of the boys' eliminations.

Heafner, Hogan Lead Pack Finish First Round of Greensboro Meet In First Place at 69

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 23 (AP)—Clayton Heafner, one of the first to tee off, and Ben Hogan, one of the last, finished the first round of the $5,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament today tied for first place with two-under par 69's over the Starmount Forest country club course.

Heafner was all over the lot at various stages to compile his record. Hogan, on the other hand, played as consistently as he did in winning the North-South title at Pinehurst. The former Texan had only one bogey, when he missed the green at the 11th. Otherwise he put together three birdies and 14 pars.

But the most amazing part of his round was that it could have been a 63. In all, the White Plains (N. Y.) pro missed six putts of five feet or less.

Hogan and Heafner finished one stroke in front of a foursome. This included Sam Sneed, last man to hole out; Craig Wood, the big blond from Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Jack Helms of Charlotte, N. C.

Heafner got his 69 in spite of a double bogey 6 on the second hole.

Only man to match par-71 was Gene Sarazen. Tony Manero, Ky; Laffoon and Johnny Bulla were at 72; 73's were returned by such aces as Open champion Byron Nelson, Jug McSpaden, Paul Runyan, Ed Oliver, Horton Smith and Ralph Guldahl and amateur Henry Styers of Lexington, N. C., matched the 74's scored by Willie Goggin, Lawson Little, Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz and Johnny Revolta.

Henry Picard was a 75-shooter, Jimmy Thomson had 76, Harry Cooper and Vic Ghezzi had 77, and Jimmy Hines an 80, his worst round of the year.

Kansas Tangles Deaf School Meet

OMAHA, March 23 (AP)—A surprise 23-11 victory by Nebraska's school for the deaf over the strong Kansas school threw the five state deaf school basketball tourney into a tangle tonight.

It was Kansas' last game in the two day double round robin competition and gave the young Jayhawks a record of three wins and one defeat. Earlier today Kansas beat South Dakota 31-12.

Minnesota handed Iowa its second defeat of the tourney, 34-32, in the other afternoon game. That left Minnesota with two victories and one more game to play — with South Dakota, which has lost three.

In the remaining game tonight, Nebraska and Iowa were to meet. Victories by Minnesota and Nebraska would tie them for first with Kansas.

High School Track Meet Set For Iowa Fieldhouse Saturday

LINCOLN, Neb., March 23 (AP)—Coach W. H. Browne of the University of Nebraska basketball team thinks something should be done to take the present "penalty" off the team scoring a basket.

Browne suggested the present giving of the ball to the team scored upon inflicts an unjust penalty on the scoring squad. He said he would propose this be changed to provide for a jump ball after a basket.

The ball would be brought out to the nearest free throw line where the scoring player and any one of the five scored upon players would jump for possession. This, he pointed out, would give each team a fighting chance for the leather.

He declared such a change would still place a premium on ability as the tall boy who couldn't score wouldn't be jumping for the ball, and the necessity of going halfway down the

Clinton Defends Mississippi Valley Conference Title

Clinton's River Kings will put their Mississippi Valley track and field championship on the block at Iowa fieldhouse Saturday afternoon in a meet that includes 11 events. The meet begins at 1:45 and is scheduled to last until 4 o'clock.

The River Kings, defending champs, are, as usual one of the main favorites to take the loop title. In fact, in the 10-year history of the meet, no team besides Clinton or Davenport has been champion.

Davenport has won the meet five times and Clinton has been titleholder four times. Likewise the two hold most of the records, five being marked up for Davenport, five for Clinton and one for Dubuque.

The annual spring meeting of principals, athletic directors and coaches will also be at the fieldhouse, at 10 a. m. the day of the meet.

LOS ANGELES, March 23 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs took a free hitting contest from their home town rivals, the White Sox, today, 10 to 6.

Rice Wallops Colorado 60-56

KANSAS CITY, March 23 (AP)—A Colorado basket in the last 90 seconds of regulation playing time, tying the score at 50-all so infuriated the Rice Institute Owls they poured in ten points in the five-minute overtime period for a 60 to 56 triumph and third place in the Western N. C. A. A. playoffs.

The defeat was the second in a row for Colorado, Big Seven conference champion who last week won the Metropolitan Sports Writers tournament in New York and moved to the top of the national collegiate rankings.

Bowler Gets Hot

DETROIT, (AP)—A 35-year-old Elizabeth, N. J., tailor, Marty Cassio, skyrocketed into the lead in both the singles and all-events of the American bowling congress championships here yesterday with a crescendo of strikes. Cassio, New Jersey match champion competing in his seventh national tournament, rolled a sensational 725 in the singles to pass the leader, Harry Halfman, Milwaukee, and compiled a nine-game total of 1943 for top honors in the all-events.

Sandlot Hall Of Fame Honors Hutchinson

DETROIT, March 23 (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, the Detroit Tiger sophomore pitcher, today became the first semi-pro player to be named to sandlot baseball's hall of fame.

His selection was announced by the national semi-pro baseball congress which, President Ray Dumont said, plans to choose annually for the award a sandlot player who graduates into professional ranks.

The 20-year-old Hutchinson, obtained from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league, participated in the 1937 national semi-pro tourney at Wichita and was practically unnoticed. Hutchinson, then only 16, won one game and lost two for the Tacoma Paints. Later he became Seattle's boy star.

Dumont said the Detroit pitcher's sensational rise to the majors prompted the congress to offer bonuses to sponsors of young players who enter professional baseball.

Under the plan the sponsor of a semi-pro club receives $500 bonus for its first player to graduate to class AA ball and stay a minimum of one year and $100 for other players who do so.

Georgia Marlas Gets $1,250 In Damage Suit

Petit Jury Returns Verdict After An 8 Hour Deliberation

After eight hours deliberation, the Johnson county petit jury returned a sealed verdict, which was read in open court yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney, awarding the plaintiff $1,250 in the case of Georgia Marlas vs. the Iowa City Coach company.

The plaintiff asked $13,375 damages in the petition for injuries allegedly received on March 6, 1939. The defendants were charged in the petition with negligence and carelessness in the operation of a bus in which the plaintiff was a passenger.

According to the petition, the plaintiff had started to walk to her seat after entering the bus, and a sudden jerk of the bus allegedly caused her to be thrown to the floor.

Attorney Will J. Hayek is representing the plaintiff. The defendant is represented by Attorneys Henry Negus and D. C. Nolan.

Big Planes To Stop Here

Airport Officials Awaiting Report Of CAA Inspector

Iowa City's airport will become a regular stopping place for big east-west 21-passenger Douglas mainliners on April 1, thus replacing the 10-passenger Boeings that are now being used, if the civil aeronautics authority is willing.

This was the announcement made yesterday by Harold Cray, vice-president of the traffic department of United Airlines in Chicago. No exact schedules have been made as yet, he said.

One of the 21 passenger Douglas brought officials of the airline and a CAA inspector here on February 28 to discover whether the field could accommodate these airplanes. Several take-offs and landings were made.

The north-south runway, from which the flights were made is 3,500 feet long, the minimum length allowed by the CAA for the landing of planes of this size.

As yet the inspector's report on whether the field is suitable for use by these planes or not has not been made public.

Youths Prepare for Annual Kite Contest

March 30 Set for Competition on the University Athletic Practice Field

Mass production of kites for the annual kite contest to be held March 30 is keeping machinery humming in the craft shop at the recreational center. Dennis Saulsbury takes instruction on the jig-saw from Otto Toppenbern, (center) instructor at the craft shop.

On Toppenbern's left are Chester Fisher and Ernest Lantz. Don Packer is at the extreme right. The kite contest will be held on the university athletic practice field between the fieldhouse and the stadium. Awards will be given to the contestant with the best constructed kite, best flyer, smallest kite, largest kite, most novel or best decorated kite and the highest flyer. Kites constructed anywhere else are eligible, and purchased kites may be used in the contest.

The final event of the meet will be a 100-yard dash. For this event the kite must have at least 300 feet of string attached. At a given signal all the kites will be launched, and the winner will be determined by the shortest amount of time any one contestant can let out and wind in his kite.

Kite building classes are being held at the recreational center, and any youngster is invited to attend. Kites constructed anywhere else are eligible, and purchased kites may be used in the contest.

The committee include Mrs. John Evers, Mrs. Bruce Sackler, Mrs. William Gay, Mrs. Edward Hughes, Mrs. E. Hartsock and Mrs. Robert Hull.

Map Shows Business Conditions

This map represents current business conditions. It appears in the April number of "Nations Business", published by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The United States chamber of commerce map of business conditions shows that stormy weather in February continued to hamper distributive trade in many sections of the country, resulting in slightly more shaded areas in this month's map. The barometer shows that while some evidence of slackening in the rapid downturn appeared in the latter part of February, industrial production for the month, as a whole, registered a further sharp decline from the December peak.

Easter--

since the war's start--sings again today at services in imposing Notre Dame cathedral while Frenchmen pray for peace.

The venerable Abbe Hoch, who has not seen the choir since Strasbourg's population was scattered over the countryside and the city became a ghost town on the Rhine, joyfully greeted the members, Alsatian refugees all, who reassembled in Paris for the services.

Last night Parisians jammed trains leaving the French capital for a holiday in the country and Britons poured in aboard incoming trains to join husbands or sons on leave from the front.

American and French churches in Paris arranged special services, but the music of former years was missing because of the war.

Easter In Trenches

Services were scheduled for French troops at the front in trenches and rear line rest posts. War-time rationing put a serious dent in Germany's Easter egg supply. Some of Germany's Easter customs were missing altogether. The traditional roast lamb was a rarity.

Some 10,000 weddings, with many of the grooms and a few of the brides in khaki or blue, featured Great Britain's Easter observance, a welcome break in three dreary months of war.

British churches, from London's massive St. Paul's to the tiniest village chapel were crowded from midnight on with wives, sisters and mothers of men in the fighting services.

London swapped thousands of tired citizens for thousands of eager visitors. Londoners jammed a full schedule of holiday trains, making for the seashore and quiet of the country, while into the city poured a mass of "provincials" and soldiers from the British expeditionary force or dominion troops training there.

The latter, getting their first look at the British capital, made Easter eve one of the gayest nights of the war. There was a continuous procession of couples at London marriage registry offices. From all over England came reports of similar "booms."

While there were record train reservations, many Britons who had kept their cars in storage because of war-time gasoline rationing got them out for the Easter week end. Hundreds of others who couldn't afford cars or railway tickets used bicycles for trips to the seashore where many hotels and boarding houses posted "full up" signs.

Molotoff--

eastern Europe after the present war to ensure a stable peace. (After the Brenner pass conference between Fuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini last Monday sources in Berlin usually well informed said it had been agreed that Russia would join the Rome-Berlin axis in a political, non-ideological maneuver by which Russia would aid Germany's war effort by supplying raw materials without actually becoming a belligerent.)

German officials for the most part went home or to the countryside today for a brief Easter vacation believing that Molotoff would come, although authorized sources remained as non-committal about rumors to this effect as they had been about the meeting at Brenner pass on Monday. They would neither affirm nor deny, except to say that no political events of magnitude were in prospect "during Easter."

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop is remaining in Berlin over Easter--another indication that he is working on something more than a routine matter. Although yesterday was Good Friday and a legal holiday, the foreign minister's personal staff worked feverishly. Political circles believed that these aides were arranging details for reception of the Soviet premier.

At the Russian embassy the cautious reply to inquiries was: "The exact date for events in the offing is not yet set." There were other indications that the foreign office and the Russian embassy were preparing for a Molotoff visit.

French Cause Delay It was understood that the German, Russian and Italian governments were taking their time about closing their three-power agreement to permit a crystallization of the results of the French cabinet change and other developments.

Meanwhile official Germany regarded the visit of the Hungarian premier, Count Pal Teleky, to Premier Mussolini this week end as the natural outcome of a desire by nations having a special friendship with one another to remain in close touch in these fateful days. According to Diplomatisch-

Politische Korrespondenz, semi-official mouthpiece of the foreign office, Count Teleky wanted to discuss with Mussolini the Danubian question as affected by the Brenner conference. This organ admitted that certain Balkan nations may have tried to use the occasion of a major conflict among Germany, Britain and France to try to settle their own scores, but wise statesmanship counsels against such a course, it said.

Police Capture Ice Pick Killer In Apartment

SEATTLE, March 23 (AP)—Denzel Davis, 23, charged with the ice-pick slaying of his mother, Mrs. Harriet Arnold, was captured today in a friend's apartment.

Sheriff's Deputy O. K. Bodia quoted Davis as saying: "Yes, I killed her." The body of Mrs. Arnold, 45, was found stuffed in a cupboard of her suburban home last Tuesday.

Davis, a laborer, surrendered without resistance. Bodia said he found him hiding on the upper shelf of a closet in the apartment where he went seeking information on the man's possible whereabouts. The friend was not at home, Bodia said.

Chilly Easter No Relief in Sight For Cold Spell

DES MOINES, March 23 (AP)—Spring is three days old by the calendar, and tomorrow is Easter, but the weatherman had no consideration for the fact that a lot of ladies would like to wear their spring outfits to church in the morning.

Temperatures were below freezing in Iowa, and no relief was in sight, according to the forecast. Snow which fell in part of the state Friday still remained tonight in large patches.

Cash Income Of Farmers Better in '40

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Cash income of farmers, the agriculture department reported today, totaled $1,378,000,000 during the first two months of 1940, topping receipts of the same month last year by $218,000,000.

More than half the increase was in government benefit payments. Income from farm marketings was reported to be $1,154,000,000, compared with $1,064,000,000 in the corresponding months in 1939, while payments to farmers who cooperated with 1939 crop production control programs amounted to $224,000,000, compared with $96,000,000 a year earlier.

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—Retail merchants in many communities counted today wide trade gains over last year in the heaviest Easter buying since 1937. In some places in the south, record Easter sales were reported in a nation-wide survey.

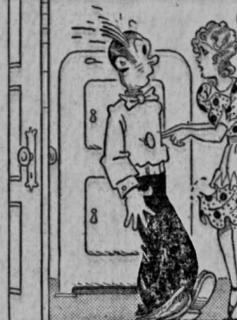

A winter hang-over of snow and cold in the north and east delayed purchases for the spring parade of fashions, making for an uneven business showing sectionally. Despite the reluctance of winter to yield to the official arrival of spring, trade generally seemed well ahead of last year as cash registers in the United States jingled to peace-time spending for spring styles, new hats and shoes, Easter baskets.

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—It may be Easter influence: The Rev. J. W. Briscoe's red New Hampshire hen began laying double-yolk eggs every other day, topping the performance with a triple-yolk four-ounce job. The hen's been doing it more than a week, Mr. Briscoe reported.

Mr. Agar is author of the book, "The People's Choice," which won the 1934 Pulitzer history prize.

His column, "Time and Tide," is widely circulated. He is also the American correspondent for such well-known English publications as the "English Review" and "The New Statesman and Nation."

Though educated at Princeton Thursday at 8 p. m. in Macbride and the school of journalism at Columbia university, Agar was introduced to journalism in "The English Review."

While he was in London, Ambassador Bingham made him an attaché of the American embassy.

In World War Agar was born in New York City and attended the Newman school in New Jersey and then entered Columbia university. When the United States entered the world war in 1917, he left his studies for service in the navy.

After the armistice he went back to Columbia and was graduated in 1919. He received his master's degree at Princeton in 1920 and his Ph.D. degree in 1922, also at Princeton.

Agar's first book, "The People's Choice," a study of United States presidents from Washington to Harding, won him instantaneous attention. This was followed the next year by "Land of the Free," a buoyant, brilliant book in which Agar analyzed this country's problems and suggested a remedy.

In 1936 he collaborated with Allen Tate in editing a symposium, "Who Owns America," called by the "American Review" "without doubt the most significant American book produced by the depression."

Most Recent Books His most recent book, "The Pursuit of Happiness," gives a brilliant review of the history of the democratic party's efforts at resisting the growth of finance and capitalism.

Easter Morning

The freshest morning in spring! And who looks more like spring than Miss Iowa when she appears at the breakfast table with her family in the soft "peachbloom" pink of this housecoat, sketched in a local shop. Mother and Dad will beam approvingly on their college-going daughter and small sister that will be awed by the splendor of her clothes. The housecoat boasts a huge bustle bow and three-quarter length sleeves, while the full skirt is accordion pleated in front and back.

The Tri Delt certainly deserve credit for their recent clever comeback in the Tri Delt-Phi Psi feud. After spending nearly a week searching for a little Negro boy, the Tri Delt sent him to the Phi Psi house during the noon hour wearing a card reading—Delegate from the Georgia chapter—with a Phi Psi crest also on the card. The boy also sang a song—Paradox of the Fiery Cross. As the Tri Delt housemother was leaving for a short stay in Georgia, the Tri Delt arranged to have her send the Phi Psi a card with a picture of the penitentiary on the front and a note reading—As we have just moved into our new house, we are sending you a picture of it. Thank you so much for being so nice to our delegate. Signed Georgia chapter of Phi Kappa Psi. (The Georgia chapter was given a Greek name.)

DOCTORS

By Charles Beckman

Recently a press dispatch from Chicago, reported an offer of a young man who wanted to sell himself, for any use whatsoever, for $2,000, in order to get the means to provide surgical aid for a crippled brother. The article undoubtedly touched the hearts of many readers and probably brought the aid needed, without the necessity for any such sacrifice.

But the publication of the article was unfortunate because it might give to many the false idea that needed medical or surgical aid is hopelessly expensive or that physicians in general are coldly mercenary. The very opposite is true. All over the nation, are hospitals of the finest type, sponsored by public tax or private charity, where the best physicians and surgeons give their expert services gladly and freely at no cost to the patient.

All over the nation, at this very instant, doctors are responding to calls for aid, with no thought of recompense beyond the approval of their inner-selves.
