ALLIES FORM 'WAR PARTNERSHIP'

Dean Ladd Reveals Supreme Court Day Plans

—FROM LONDON—

Will Attempt Construction Of New Europe

Britain, France Agree On 3 Vital Points After 6-Hour Meeting

By DREW MIDDLETON
LONDON, March 28 (AP) — Britain and France joined their mighty empires today in permanent partnership for war, peace and the building of a new Europe and bent the full force of the entente's diplomatic skill against the enemy behind the Rhine.

After six hours of deliberation in the sixth meeting of the allied war council at Number 10, Downing street, the leadership of the allied nations agreed to a solemn declaration of three vital points. They were:

1. The allies will maintain after the war a "community of action in all spheres" and attempt "reconstruction with the assistance of other nations of an international order" which will ensure liberty, respect for law and peace in Europe.
2. Britain and France will "neither negotiate nor conclude an armistice or a treaty of peace" except by mutual consent.
3. There will be no peace talk before the allies have agreed completely on the conditions necessary to ensure for each an "effective and lasting" guarantee of security.

The meeting brought Paul Reynaud to England for the first time in the role of premier of France.

Decision Coincidental
The allies' decision was coincidental to the start of a widespread effort to mend Anglo-French diplomatic fences in the Balkans to bar Germany from access to the rich resources of southeastern Europe.

Britain's ambassador to Turkey and her ministers to Bulgaria, Greece, Rumania, Hungary and Yugoslavia were ordered home for consultations with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax.

Significantly, their arrival in London was timed to coincide with the presence here of Sir Percy Loraine, the British ambassador to Italy. Italy regards the Balkans as within her "sphere of influence."

France Prepares
France, with a new hand at the helm, also appeared to be preparing for a correlated diplomatic offensive in the south. Reynaud, who returned to Paris immediately after the meeting of the war council, already has called his ambassador to Rome, Andre Francois-Poncet, home for a conference. The premier is expected to talk later with French envoys at other diplomatic outposts.

Iowa Judges Will Preside At Argument

'Juke Box' Controversy To Be Debated Next Thursday on Campus

Final plans for Supreme Court day activities, to take place on the University of Iowa campus next Thursday, were announced yesterday by Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law.

Chief Justice W. H. Hamilton, Sigourney, and the other eight justices of the Iowa supreme court will preside over the argument which will be held in the house chamber of Old Capitol at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Supreme court judges are W. L. Bliss, Mason City; Oscar Hale, Wapello; Frederick M. Miller, Des Moines; Richard F. Mitchell, Ft. Dodge; Ralph A. Oliver, Sioux City; Paul W. Richards, Red Oak; E. A. Sager, Waverly and Carl B. Stiger, Toledo.

Other Guests
The Iowa state board of education and other notables from around the state will be guests during the day.

John Hyland, Tama; John Donahay, Panora; C. Davison Metz, Burlington; and Paul F. Kriehle, Jr., Burt, are the four senior law students who will present the argument before the justices of the Supreme Court.

The day's program consists of initiation for Order of Coif in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 10 a.m. Membership in the Order of Coif is an honor extended and limited to those students who rank in the upper 10 per cent of the senior class; also, to those who have achieved distinction in the legal profession. Seven law students will be initiated at this time.

Order of Coif Luncheon
An initiation luncheon for the Order of Coif will be held in the Law commons at noon. Scott Jordan, L3 of Fairfield, will be toastmaster for the occasion. Remarks will be made by President Eugene A. Gilmore and Harley H. Stipp of Des Moines, president of the Iowa State Bar association.

The Supreme Court day argument, held at 2:30 p.m. will be open to the general public. Donahay and Kriehle, are attorneys (See COURT DAY, Page 8)

English Would Soothe Japan

Ambassador Craigie Tells Tokyo Heads Of British Sympathy

TOKYO, March 28 (AP)—Britain's ambassador told an audience of highly-placed Japanese today that "it is not beyond the powers of constructive statesmanship to bring the aims" of British and Japanese policy into "full harmony."

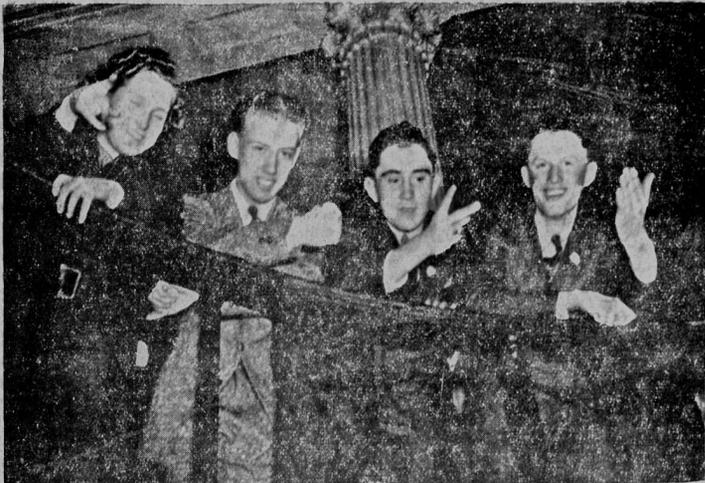

Delivered against the background of months of bitter British-Japanese hostility, especially in China, the speech of the ambassador, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, aroused comment by its tone, considered unusually conciliatory.

He said there had been serious differences of purpose and outlook between the two great maritime empires, "but what has struck me most is the extent to which the real differences have been overlaid by a mass of misunderstanding, misrepresentation and all too often fostered by the unwelcome attentions of interested third parties."

The ambassador's speech, the most notable British effort in recent months to placate the Japanese, was interpreted in diplomatic circles as an extension into the far eastern field of the diplomatic phase of the European war.

It was expected to impress profoundly the Japanese government, which would welcome any British tendency to lessen support for the recognized Chinese government under Chiang Kai-Shek.

Reasons One, Two, Three and Four—

Here are four reasons why competitors in class C of the Iowa High School Forensic league had better watch their steps today and tomorrow. Left to right, the "reasons" are Ruth Schwartz, Jock Holmquist, Albert Pfaltzgraf and

Kenneth Boutelle. They're from Manly high school. Awaiting opening rounds of debating at 4 p.m. yesterday, they struck up poses they'll use on competitors in Class C. High school and junior college speakers throughout Iowa have gathered here for the annual championship finals which began yesterday, and which will reach a climax in the final rounds tomorrow.

Debaters from Peterson Ready for Tournament

Debaters from Peterson, up in northwestern Iowa, sat down in the senate chamber of Old Capitol yesterday afternoon to take a look at the competition they'll meet in class C of the forensic finals. But it's all Greek at the moment. All you'll find on those sheets of paper are a lot of numbers. Coaches, meanwhile, were in the house chamber solving the number puzzle by drawing numbers for their teams—numbers they'll keep throughout the tournament. Members of this foursome, left to right, are Irene Meyer, Mary Lou Tigges, Elinor Stoner and Reyn Norton. Peterson is 26 miles southwest of Spencer.

Forensic Leagues' Tournament Swings Into Biggest Day

Events Include Poetry, Prose, Debate Rounds

Prof. C. Harshbarger Chooses Six Winners Among Radio Speakers

With 22 events scheduled, the junior college forensic league tournament and the Iowa high school forensic league finals swing into the biggest day of the three-day affair here today.

First winners of the contest to be announced are the six persons who ranked highest in the junior college radio speaking division. They broadcast over station WSUI last night. Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger selected as the winning six Mike Flynn, Burlington; Ruth Moyle, Maquoketa; Orin Wallick, Tipton, Jim Cross, Joe McTigue and Beulah Stowe of Ft. Dodge.

Results Tonight
After the last three rounds of the junior college debate tourney, results will be announced at a dinner which will be held in the river room of Iowa Union tonight at 6 o'clock. Toastmaster for the occasion will be Prof. A. Craig Baird, university debate director.

Speakers at the dinner will be Prof. Lee Norvelle of the University of Indiana, who is judging the class A schools in the current play production festival; Prof. Donald Winbigler, Professor Harshbarger, Carroll Arnold, assistant director of the tourney, and Elton Abernathy of Louisiana Tech.

Besides the debate contests, individual competitions today include those in junior college prose and poetry reading, original oratory contest, extempore speaking, and high school radio speaking.

High School Extempore
Entrants in the high school extempore speaking division are Abe Arkoff, Ft. Dodge; William Arnold, Sioux City (East); William Bierenbaum, Waterloo (West); Ben Birdsall, Clarion; Marjorie Bock, Council Bluffs (Abraham Lincoln); Jerry Cooksey, Perry; Sarah Anne Duschl, Hapleton; Marilyn Glassman, Iowa City; Albert Goss, Muscatine; Jack Hodaway, Hawarden; Jane Shipton, Davenport, and Kenneth Thompson, Cedar Falls.

Participants in the high school oratory contest include Homney Abraham, Mapleton; Derrine Bieber, Muscatine; Ben Birdsall, Clarion; Michael Cuff, Ft. Dodge; Jean Ferguson, Cedar Falls; Roy Fitch, Des Moines; Richard Lancaster, Ottumwa; Charles McManaster, (See DEBATES, Page 5)

Mt. Ayr Strategists—

Ellen Wilson, left, and Ruth Eurril, debaters from Mt. Ayr, arrived in Iowa City yesterday afternoon for the opening rounds in class B of the Iowa High School Forensic league finals. The team is coached by James Brown. Mt. Ayr, in Ringgold county, is a

F. R. Hears Results of Welles' European Trip—No Peace Hope?

Session Kept Secret As Three Men Meet In White House Study

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—In an historic, hour-and-a-half conference, President Roosevelt received the results of Sumner Welles' fact-finding mission to Europe—and the general opinion here tonight was that the talk could have raised no hopes for an early peace.

Extraordinary secrecy was observed as the president, Secretary of State Hull and Undersecretary Welles put their heads together in the president's second-floor White House study. All others — even the closest of White House aides—were excluded.

The only interruption was when Stephen Early, presidential secretary, looked in for a moment to obtain the president's approval of a statement drawn up for reporters. This statement said: "Neither the president, the secretary of state nor the undersecretary of state will have any word to say, following their conference, to the press or to any of their friends or to anyone anywhere."

The information that Welles brought apparently was considered too delicate to entrust even to coded cables. Hull had indicated that Welles had sent none of it ahead of him.

Trade Program Test Vote Today

Senate Plans Trial Ballot Over Issue

Administration Seen As Close Winner In Ratification Argument

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—After a day of behind-the-scenes maneuvering by both sides for any advantage they could obtain, the senate agreed today to vote at 3 p.m. (CST) tomorrow on a proposed requirement that future trade agreements be subject to senate ratification.

The ballot is expected to provide a test of whether the administration can eventually win continuance of its reciprocal trade program in its present form.

So close is the senate's division on that question and so great the interest in the outcome — since an issue of government prestige is involved, that the leadership of both sides checked and rechecked their polls repeatedly.

In general, these pointed, although not conclusively, to a tie vote, or an administration victory by one or two votes. A tie was generally believed would be resolved by Vice-President Garner in favor of the administration.

The maneuvering had to do principally with the question of obtaining pairs for all absentees, and the time for voting. For a time the situation was that proponents of the ratification restriction were delaying a vote until the administration leadership agreed to grant pairs for the absentees. In the end the understanding was that pairs would be provided for all absentees.

(The senate "pair" enables an absent senator to make his vote count. It consists in an agreement with another senator, on the other side, under which the latter withholds his vote. Frequently pairs are arranged between two absent senators, one on each side of a question.)

The pending legislation, already approved by the house, would authorize a continuance of the trade agreements program for three years.

Dies in Chair
TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — The Rev. Walter Dworecki, 43, Polish Baptist clergyman, died last night in New Jersey's electric chair for plotting the murder of his 18-year-old daughter.

2nd 'Red' Cited For Contempt By Dies Group

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—For the second time in a week, a communist leader flatly defied the Dies committee today, whereupon the committee voted to cite him for contempt.

Despite the threat of a jail sentence, George Powers, who identified himself as district secretary of the communist party at Pittsburgh, refused to give the committee a list of the party's members.

The committee then voted to charge him with contempt of the house, an offense punishable by up to a year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Hope for Olympics

NEW YORK (AP)—A faint hope that the Olympic games might yet be held this summer was indicated in a dispatch from Helsinki yesterday.

Nazis Bomb Allied Shipping

BERLIN, March 29 (Friday) (AP) — D. N. B., the German news agency, announced early today that the German air force last night had "successfully" attacked a British convoy near the Shetland islands and a French destroyer in the English channel.

The convoy split up after the attack, D. N. B. said, but a number of the ships were hit by the bombs.

Earlier in the day, the announcement continued, German planes carried out "extensive reconnaissance flights" over the North sea, Great Britain and France.

Resume Test Drilling

CRESTON, Ia., (AP)—Drilling was resumed yesterday at the Phillips Petroleum company's oil test well near here. Operations were shut down five days while repairs were made on the equipment.

Class A Plays To Begin Today

Applying Years With a Powder Puff

The cast of La Porte City's play is shown at the make-up table. Hyla Beroen, director of the play, is applying powder to the hair of Ruth Coburn. Dale Foster is making up and Darlene Larson and Lloyd Turner are standing behind him. The play "The First Dress Suit" is a modern farce about what happens when the groom doesn't receive his dress suit just before his wedding. La Porte City's play is entered in class B competition in the Iowa play production festival.

Norvelle Will Judge Players

Four class A schools will present plays this evening in the first division of this class as the high school 1940 festival enters its final two days. Four more class A schools will perform tomorrow night — a total of eight class A schools enrolled in the festival.

Franklin high of Cedar Rapids, presents "Rich Man, Poor Man" with a cast of 12, the largest in the festival.

"It is Time," given by Clinton high school this evening, has as the setting a courtyard of an inn in the Holy Land during the time of Christ.

Class B Today

Three class B schools will compete this morning beginning at 9:30. They are Moulton, "Sparkin'"; Clear Lake, "The Castle of Mr. Simpson," and Marion, "Poor Aubrey."

Beginning at 2:15 this afternoon the class B schools competing are Jesup, "The Happy Journey"; Nevada, "The Nine Day's Queen," and Postville, "The Flight of the Herons."

The evening session begins at (See FESTIVAL, Page 5)

Question And Answer Game

DURING the last few years question and answer contests have been winning increasing popularity. As we follow the progress of such contests as Dr. I. Q., Vox Pop, and the like on the radio, the question arises as to their value. Are they really beneficial to the people? Or, on the other hand, are they just another popular means of advertising?

Let's analyze the material on which the populace is questioned in these contests. It is most generally factual, dealing with events which are either current or historical. The question, moreover, may be some mathematical problem, a tongue-twister, a test of vocabulary, or about some well known and prominent figure. One question on Dr. I. Q.'s program recently was the problem of the $2.50 wager that was not paid off for 500 years. The money was put in the bank, where it drew 6 per cent interest compounded semi-annually. How much money was in the bank at the end of the 500 years, $25, $2,000, $50,000, 20 million or 2 billion dollars. The woman on the radio snapped up the question with the correct answer, 2 billion dollars, and got $22 for a prize. This same program has given out as much as $500 a single night for correct answers.

On the whole, the consensus seems to be that these programs are good for people. They make them wake up to current affairs and be more alert on contemporary questions. They are not a graft, but just an educational way of advertising. The question and answer programs do not necessarily show that the general population is becoming more intelligent, but that they are more wide-awake about everyday affairs. According to Dr. I. Q., who is a favorite radio quizzer, women have been quicker on the draw than men. However, the explanation for this may be that he tries out his questions on his office workers, generally young women, and the questions selected may follow a definite trend—the questions asked may be particularly suited to women.

As long as people continue to attend and listen to question and answer programs, they are definitely an asset to radio. The more programs of this type that are used in place of these thriller serials that have been running riot on the radio, the more may we say that radio is progressing. People are not going to mind advertising, as long as they get something in return.

This Scarcity Of Barbers

BARBERS, BARBERS everywhere, but not a one in prison. This must be the refrain that is running through the mind of Raymond Kartak, workhouse superintendent at St. Paul. For Mr. Kartak is unaccountably fresh out of barbers. Carpenters he has, and plumbers too, but no barbers. And of 200 prisoners, 119 need a haircut. (One of them must be baldheaded.) Truly it is a barber's paradise. There would be no waiting for business—it would be brought to your door. There would be no worry about where the next meal was coming from—you would know, beyond a shadow of a doubt. Somewhere among the economic forces that control the ups and downs and spatial distribution of barbers, there must be a maladjustment. It must be so—how else can one account for a scarcity of barbers in a place where they are so sorely needed?

Perhaps there should be a congressional investigation.

Chaucer And The 600 Years

CHAUCER, "THE Father of English Poetry," was born 600 years ago in 1340. Two centuries later his vocabulary was considered archaic and his verse unmelodious because of the influence of the Italian and ancient literature which was taking hold of English authors.

But today, this same Chaucer, who was inspired in his subject matter by earlier literature and in his treatment by study of human life, this Chaucer who was considered archaic in the 16th century, is studied by high school and college students the English-speaking world over.

Although he didn't go through the agony of having his contemporaries disregard him, the true worth of his works and his influence on Pope, Milton, Dryden and other English and American poets was not felt until comparatively recently.

We might suggest that people who aren't appreciated should wait a few years, or a few generations, or even a few centuries later, except for two reasons: (1) Not everyone is a Chaucer and so does not have his ability, and (2) who wants to wait until a few years, or a few generations or a few centuries until one is appreciated?

Philosophy From The Play Festival

THEATER-GOERS who saw Vinton's School for the Blind present the one-act play "Hunger" at the university theater Tuesday night went away marveling at the ease with which the blind actors managed the intricacies of "stage business."

With never an awkward gesture, without hesitation, the actors opened doors, crossed the room, and even ate dinner. They gave a marvelous exhibition of how will-power, training and intelligence can be combined to overcome the lack of the most necessary of sense faculties.

There is a bit of good philosophy to be gained from such an exhibition. It has to do with a bigger stage—the stage of life.

There are many persons on the stage of life who have been given every advantage possible, physically and mentally. Yet many of them fail to achieve the most out of such an advantageous existence. Is it not true that the fortunate person should set up an obstacle, or perhaps a high idea, so that in overcoming or achieving it, life will be an adventure of lasting satisfaction? Is not the superior individual he who unselfishly uses all within his power to display his best talents on the stage of life?

Aviation Sets A Record

TUESDAY WAS an epic day. It was noted with newspaper stories—that is all. No one really marked it down on the calendar to tell their sons and daughters that they observed one of the greatest days of progress.

Tuesday the commercial airlines in the United States completed a solid year of flying without a single life being lost on a regularly scheduled transport plane. During the year 87,300,000 flying miles were chalked up, with 2,028,000 passengers being carried.

Considering the number of passengers and the distance safely flown—equal to more than 3,400 trips around the world, the people of this country can truly hail one of the history making days of this age.

Planes are safer, ground equipment is complete, new equipment is being introduced, great strides are being made mechanically—aviation is over the period of cutting its eye teeth.

With strict safety regulation and continued advancements in the field, aviation will continue to soar to the front and bring real progress in transportation.

Oh, Yes!

The Reception Was Delightfully Sooty!

THE AUDIENCE attending the play production festival the other night was given quite a reception—and not all too pleasant, either! As the people assembled in the theater it was quite obvious that everyone was covered with soot. Well, it was funny then—the smudges all over faces and clothes. But the next day, there were many calls made to cleaning establishments.

No one begrudges a firm cleaning business, but how he hates to pay for the removal of dirt from clothes when he didn't even have a chance to run for cover.

Not long ago the Iowan cited that St. Louis was one of the cities wrestling with the smoke problem. The estimate was given that $19,000,000 a year was wasted in fuel because of ruined materials and extra cleaning bills. Iowa City is much smaller—but even so, money spent on extra cleaning bills could be used nicely elsewhere.

Yes, it's been mentioned before, this smoke and soot problem, but it really should be seriously considered.

Scientist believes he may have found a method of removing all dust from coal, we read. He would—just when spring arrives!

It Would Appear That the Old Argument Over Waterways Versus Rails Is On in Washington

The rivers and harbors congress, held in Washington recently, wanted considerably more money for the development of America's inland waterways, than President Roosevelt regards as a judicious federal expenditure at present. It's the usual situation. Theoretically everybody's strongly pro-economy. But no special group is in favor of it in connection with the particular objective that that group is interested in.

From remarks I overheard at the last R. and H. congress I wouldn't draw the conclusion that those in attendance were violently clamorous for coastal harbor improvements, but there was no doubt that all hands wanted plenty of cash to make our rivers more and more conveniently navigable.

There also was vehement objection to making inland water transportation subject to regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission or any other government bureau.

The foremost proponent of I. C. C. regulation is Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who has just completed an investigation of the railroads' financial straits during the last decade or two. There's no doubt that the rail lines are hard up. The Wheeler inquiry explained their distress on the ground that auto trucks and river steamboatmen have had their highways and waterways improved for them at public expense, enabling them to underbid the rail companies, which have to pay for their own permanent equipment.

Rival Views The Wheeler theory is that the I. C. C. should be empowered to require the truckmen and rivermen to hike their rates, to permit the railroads the better to compete with them.

This may be all right from the standpoint of Senator Wheeler, who hails from an area which is very dependent on railroads, but isn't much tapped by waterways. It isn't much satisfactory reasoning to Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, who's up at the head of mid-continental water. Senator Shipstead recalls times when the railroads, unopposed with, were maddeningly oppressive to his section of the country. It's largely their own fault, he says, that they're pinched today; they wouldn't have been, if they hadn't been so greedy when they had a monopoly.

The Minnesota senator calls attention to the huge saving his state makes by getting its coal by river, down the Ohio river and up the Mississippi; to its economy in its own products' shipment down the Father of Waters, up the Ohio and the Big Muddy, and thereafter. He's for navigation and lots of it, as cheaply as possible.

"What's more," observes Senator Shipstead, "water's an asset. We don't want to trickle it off as soon as possible, by nature's own means."

Argument for Water "We want to conserve it, upriver, by means of dams, turning it loose only as it's needed, to float river boats. It prevents erosion. It preserves our soil. It's anything but a liability!"

This isn't much of a defense of the auto-truck, of which the railroads also complain.

Trucks, after all, can't do a large bulk business. They can carry quite a few second-class passengers. I've traveled both by bus and by train, and I'll guarantee that a train is the more comfortable than the two. I don't think that aviation makes much of a dent.

Anyway, buses can't carry coal and grain in appreciable quantities. River boats can.

Essentially the row is between the railroads' past misdeeds and current conditions.

Senator Shipstead is right, though, in saying that inland water is an asset.

It's involved in the rivers and harbors controversy — rivers particularly, not so much maritime.

Gambling, An Industry Revenue From Dice, Divorces in Reno Provides Many Jobs

By GEORGE TUCKER RENO, Nev.—This is just like any other solid, comfortable western or midwestern town with the exception that its night life is a sort of trading post Coney Island in chaps.

Being a newcomer, I find it a little incongruous, and at the same time fascinating, to see a squaw with a papoose strapped on her back standing next to a man who is her antithesis in everything he thinks and does, placing $50 and $500 bets on a little bouncing ball with no more ado than if he were laying down complimentary books of paper matches.

You get off the train, and the first thing you see is a long line of well-lit gambling casinos where a man has his choice of everything from roulette, keno and chuck-a-luck to faro, craps, blackjack and probably two dozen other games of chance, including slot machines. And with this, he has his choice of playing for a penny, a nickel, a dime, a quarter, a half, or a dollar. There is no limit in Reno beyond a man's judgment and the Nevada sky.

I heard a man ask about the limit in the Bank Club, and the croupier said, "There is no limit. If you want to place a bet of a thousand, the house will be glad to cover." He didn't place this bet while I was there, but if he had, and if he had won, the house would have paid him $36,000.

After seeing a thing like this, it seems sort of incongruous to walk into a drugstore where people are gambling right and left, and all sorts of liquor is on display, and be told that you can't buy cigarettes there because it is against the law.

But if these things surprise, it is because most visitors here are caught unaware by the sheer open-handedness of things. In Reno, it is legitimate enterprise. In New York and elsewhere, you go behind locked doors.

Because I had read so avidly of this place and because my imagination has a trick of magnifying things all out of their proportions, I think I was a little disappointed in the gambling clubs at first. Most people think of Reno in terms of Monte Carlo, or rather in terms of E. Philip Oppenheim's novels, meaning tall young men in broad-caded blue waistcoats gambling dangerously while mysterious but beautiful young women move serenely from table to table, wheeling state secrets from visiting Balkan princes.

Instead, you find that most clubs here look suspiciously like reconditioned Five and Dime stores and jammed with hundreds of Mr. Average Citizen, and also with Paiute bucks and Washoe squaws. You see house servants and Hollywood actresses gambling at the same table, and this is as it should be. Freedom of gaming tables in Reno means freedom for all.

The town's conservative element, and it is in majority, is not too enthusiastic about the emphasis the rest of America has placed on the dice and quick divorces. They like to think Reno is like any other American city of its size, and that gambling is fundamentally an industry, like auto-motors in Detroit and politics in Washington. The revenue therefrom provides lots of jobs and takes up plenty of slack.

One of the things that fascinates you here is that everyone gets paid off every day and always in big round silver dollars. There appears to be some smart reckoning behind this practice. If a man is handed a lot of paper money, he naturally puts it into his pocket. Conversely, silver makes a very pleasant jingle when you have it in your hands, and there are always the eternal slot machines to attract you.

Brown Bomber Heavy Favorite To Win Bout

Joe Louis Angry After Godoy Fight; Will Shoot Works

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Funnier things have happened in the fight game than the possibility that Johnny Paychek will take the heavyweight title from Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

But, despite the Jim Braddocks and Max Schmeling who pulled in the 1 to 10 shots in recent years, there just doesn't seem any chance that "it can happen here" this time. Somehow, the Brown Bomber doesn't appear in any more danger for his tenth title defense than in pulling on his britches in the solitude of his own boudoir.

His Pride Is Hurt
Not only has he the physical equipment, particularly in the hands he wars at the end of his arms, to dispose of the fight-

Cubs Trample City Rivals

LOS ANGELES, March 28 (AP)—Chicago's Cubs made it four victories in six starts against the Chicago White Sox, winning 10 to 1 in their farewell California exhibition today. The two resume their series at Tucson, Ariz., tomorrow.

The Cubs clinched victory with a six run second inning. The Sox could not bunt hits effectively against Bill Lee and Dick Bass.

Gabby Hartnett, Cub manager, announced before the game that pitcher Al Epperly had been sent to San Francisco outright and that Julian Tubb, another right hand hurler, had been optioned to San Diego.

Around The Big Leagues

Phillies Nip Syracuse, 10-6

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Three timely home runs paced the Philadelphia Nationals to their fourth straight triumph over the Syracuse Chiefs of the International league, 10 to 6, here today.

Circuit blows by Hugh Mulcahy and Joe Marty wiped out the Chiefs' 2 to 0 lead in the fifth and rookie Danny Litwhiler came through with another in the eighth, with two on, to give the Phils a 7-3 advantage.

Connors and Porter of the Chiefs also got homers.

Bees Wallop Tigers, 3-1

LAKELAND, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The Boston Bees made extra base hits count today as they defeated the Detroit Tigers, 3 to 1, in a Grapefruit league game behind the steady pitching of Jim Turner and Bill Swift.

Each side got five hits, but the Bees, scoring all their runs off the Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe in the seven innings he was in the box, made three good for nine bases.

Outfielder Bob Loane hit a home run for the Bees in the fifth and first baseman Rudy York averted a shutout for the Tigers when he homered in the second.

Dodgers Deny Landis' Act

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 28 (AP)—With the exhibition game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Bees rained out today, President Larry MacPhail of the Dodgers took the stage to announce Commissioner K. M. Landis had issued no "order" stipulating the salary to be paid rookie outfielder Lindsay Deal.

"Any reports," fumed MacPhail on his return to camp, "that Judge

Frats, Co-Op Volleyballers In Loop Games

Fraternity and co-operative dormitory teams held the spotlight in the intramural volleyball tournament last night as four games were played.

Phi Epsilon Kappa's class A team had a fairly easy time in downing Phi Gamma Delta in two successive games, 15-10, 15-7.

The class B team of Phi Epsilon Kappa also emerged victorious in downing Sigma Chi, 15-12, 17-15.

Phi Kappa Psi went down to defeat at the hands of a powerful Phi Gamma Delta team by the scores of 4-15, 12-15.

Jefferson swapped Gables in a co-operative league tilt by the one-sided scores of 15-6, 15-7.

could not bunt hits effectively against Bill Lee and Dick Bass.

Gabby Hartnett, Cub manager, announced before the game that pitcher Al Epperly had been sent to San Francisco outright and that Julian Tubb, another right hand hurler, had been optioned to San Diego.

When informed of MacPhail's statement, Landis laughed and replied: "What of it. I never make any statements about anything pertaining to baseball."

Browns Win Another, 10-3

CUERO, Tex., March 28 (AP)—Bob Harris went the route for the St. Louis Browns today, scattering seven hits to defeat the Toledo Mudhens, 10 to 3, for the fifth straight time this season.

Aided by Walter Judnich's home run, the Browns pounced hard on two former teammates, Harry Kimberlin and Ed Cole, and ended the game with a four-run ninth inning finish.

The Mudhens were off to a two-run lead in the first, but the Browns came back strong, showing five men around the paths in the second and third innings.

Newark Dumps Yankees, 6-4

SEBRING, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Raking Spud Chandler for five runs in the first three innings, the Newark Bears disrespectfully dumped the world champion New York Yankees 6 to 4 today to square their spring exhibition series.

Chandler settled down, after his shaky start and Steve Sundra, who succeeded him in the sixth, allowed only one run. But the damage was done.

The only Yankee who could get his war club swinging regularly was the dependable Joe Gordon, who collected three hits.

36 Schools Enter 173 Aquatic Aces; Michigan Favored

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 28 (AP)—Swimming stars were a dime a dozen here today, there were so many of them present awaiting a turn to limer up in the crowded Yale pool where the two-day National Collegiate Athletic association championships start tomorrow.

In fact, officials said the 173 entries from 36 of the country's leading institutions comprised the greatest galaxy of college swimming aces ever assembled in one tank and predicted the hardest fought meet in the N.C.A.A.'s 17-year-old history was inevitable, as a result.

Coach Matt Mann's Michigan Wolverines, defending team champs and victors of this college classic 10 times in the last 12 years, were favorites, but close observers said Yale, the best in the east, could, just to list one name, upset the dope. Ohio State, runner-up last year; Princeton and Wayne were also mentioned.

Eleven individual titles are to be settled, six of them tomorrow—the 1,500 meter, 500 and 220-yard free-style, 150-yard relay stroke and 300-yard medley relay races and the one-meter diving.

Trial heats will be run off during the afternoon with the finals at night. An exception was being made in the 1,500 meter event, which due to its nature, was slated to be settled tomorrow morning in the Elis' long practice pool.

Prep Trackmen Tangle Today

Little Six Stars To Run At Fieldhouse

More than 150 trackmen will gather in the fieldhouse tonight to compete in the annual Little Six conference indoor track meet.

Strange as it seems, and not in accord with the conference title, the affair will bring together eight different teams, Muscatine, Burlington, Ft. Madison, Keokuk, Ottumwa, Fairfield, Washington and Mt. Pleasant.

The meet, under the direction of Elwin Stein, will get under way at 6:30 with the pole vault, the running events and remaining field events to be held in swift order.

All teams are fairly well matched this year but two stand out as possible winners, Ottumwa and Ft. Madison. The Ft. Madison squad is coached by a former Iowa athlete, Ty Smith.

The meet tonight will be the first in a series of high school meets to be held here this spring. Tomorrow night another group of high school trackmeets will be set to pound the fieldhouse dirt oval when the Mississippi Valley conference meets for their indoor get-together.

On Monday evening the Cedar Valley contingent will bring together a fine array of trackmen for their annual indoor championships.

On Saturday, April 6, the state interscholastic indoor track and field championships for class B schools will be run off in the eve-

Hogan Finishes Fast To Win at Greensboro

Takes Second Straight Meet

Sawed-Off Texan Drubs Craig Wood, Ralph Guldahl

By BILL BONI

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 28 (AP)—Ben Hogan, the little man with the big golf game, cut loose with a seven-under-par finish in the $5,000 Greensboro open golf tournament today to win first prize of $1,200 with a tournament record score of 270.

The hard-hitting Texas welterweight, breaking 70 on each of his four rounds, shot a 68 over the Sedgfield country club course this morning to hold a seven-stroke lead with 18 holes to go. Sticking to his fire-for-the-pin tactics right to the final hole, he blazed through the last round in 67. And thus handed an all-star field an all-star licking.

It was his second triumph and second tournament mark within eight days. Last Thursday at Pinehurst he set a new record for the north-south open with a score of 277. His 270 here was one stroke lower than the former mark set by Sam Snead in the first Greensboro open two years ago.

Hogan was so consistently brilliant that it is hard to describe the type of game he played. Even Ralph Guldahl, two-time national open champion who has played with the White Plains ace for the last two rounds, had to concede that he'd rarely if ever seen a similar exhibition for 36 holes.

Hogan's drives, which whistled as they went by, consistently out-distanced Guldahl and Craig Wood, the veteran blond bomber whose 279 was good for second place. His iron shots time and again were placing him inside his partners. Even on the rare occasions when his approaches fell short of the fringe, he would chip up so dead to the cup that he'd dropped the ball in for a birdie.

The afternoon with the finals at night. An exception was being made in the 1,500 meter event, which due to its nature, was slated to be settled tomorrow morning in the Elis' long practice pool.

Local DeMolays To Compete In State Tourney

Iowa City's DeMolay basketball team, composed wholly of former City high players, travels to Waterloo to compete in the state tournament today, meeting Marion at 1:30 this afternoon in a first round battle.

Coached by Alan "Bingo" Snyder, giant City high hardcourter of past years, a squad composed of Joe McGinnis, Johnny Lemons, Clarence Crumley, Bob Buckley, Merrel Goldberg, Johnny Graham, Owen Blehrud, and Kenny Slichter will see action in the tourney.

Several high school and junior college teams will play intact under the guise of DeMolay in the meet, with Waterloo, the defending champ, rated the favorite. Dick Seidler, scoring champ of the Mississippi Valley league, paces the Waterloo attack.

Boone, Webster City, and Muscatine rate as the strongest powers to contend with, while Harlan and Iowa City occupy dark horse roles.

First School Enters Meet

Martinsburg is the first school to enter the state interscholastic indoor track and field meet in class B section at the University of Iowa April 6.

Coach George Bresnahan, meet manager for the Iowa High School Athletic association, said Thursday that he expects about 25 schools to enroll before the deadline date of April 2.

Split into two sections for the first time, the state indoor meet includes the class B division, for schools of less than 600 enrollment in the upper four grades and the class A, 600 or over. Class A schools will compete in the fieldhouse April 13.

Soggy Infield Limits Drills For Vogelman

Otto Still Looking For New Fly Chasers; Pitchers Work Out

With inclement weather conditions limiting the extent of their practice sessions, the Hawkeye baseball team continued to hold light batting and fielding drills yesterday.

Coach Vogel concentrated his efforts by trying to find a couple of outfielders to work in left and right field, which appear to be the weak spots in an otherwise strong baseball team.

Among those who are attempting to prove to Iowa's baseball mentor that they can fill the bill are Jack Genes, Bob Cook, John Brochner, John Vogt, Floyd Smith, Clark Briscoe and Vic Siegel.

In spite of the cool weather all of the Iowa moundsmen took their turn in pitching during the batting practice.

Coach Vogel has indicated that he will hold a drill on sliding practice this afternoon.

D. U.'s Win Cage Title

Defeat Upper D In Final Game By 19 to 13 Score

The Delta Upsilon class A team was crowned all-university basketball champion last night when the fraternity champs won the final game of the season from Upper D of the Quad, 19-13.

The game was held at a low score until the final period. Neither team managed to make more than two baskets in the first two periods of play.

The winners started the scoring and held a one point margin at the end of the first period, 4-3. The two Humphrey brothers made all the points for the winners in this first stanza of play, while Ted Schroeder was responsible for the three points for the Quadrangle champions.

The loser started a rally as it made two field goals to lead the D. U.'s 7-4. But the fraternity quintet came from behind and led by a 8-7 margin at the close of the second period.

The lead changed hands many times during the final period of play. The count was tied, 8-8, at the early stages of the period and then Upper D took a 10-8 lead with free throws made by Enich and Busk.

Hine and Fender put the D. U.'s in a 11-10 lead but Enich's free throw knotted the score 11-11. With two minutes to play, Blaylock's three baskets and Mestayer's one basket gave the D. U.'s a 19-11 margin. In the last few seconds to play, Ted Schroeder stopped the winners' rally and made the last basket of the game for the final 19-13 count.

Will Judge Class A--

Norvelle of Indiana Arrives Today For Iowa Play Festival

Prof. Lee R. Norvelle of Indiana university, former graduate and once a member of the University of Iowa faculty, arrives in Iowa City today where he will judge the class A high school plays.

Professor Norvelle has been in charge of the speech division at Indiana university since 1925 and director of dramatics since 1929.

He received an A.B. degree in 1921 and a Ph.D. degree in 1931, both from the University of Indiana. In 1923 Professor Norvelle received the A.M. degree from the University of Iowa.

Studied at Oxford
Professor Norvelle also has studied at Oxford, the University of London and with Max Reinhardt in Germany. He has traveled extensively in England and on the continent. He is author of one text in public speaking and has contributed a number of articles to speech magazines.

He is serving his third term as national president of Theta Alpha Phi, professional dramatic fraternity.

Theater President
Professor Norvelle is former president of the American Education Theater association and is a member of the national committee of speech curriculum of the National Association of Teachers of Speech.

Before joining the faculty of Indiana university, Professor Norvelle taught three years at the University of Iowa and one year at the University of Montana.

Professor Norvelle, in Hollywood the summer of 1938 and on the production staff of "Soliloquy," assisted with the dialogue of the play.

Faculty Changes Time Of Chamber Music Recital to 4:15 P. M.

The chamber music recital by faculty members of the music department, originally scheduled for 8 p.m. Sunday, has been changed to 4:15 p.m. Sunday, it was announced yesterday.

Participating professors will be Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the department, piano; Prof. Hans Koelbel, violoncello, and Otto Jelinek, violin.

The works to be played were written by Dohmany, Juon and Bax, all contemporary composers. The recital will be free and open to the public.

C. Henderlider Will Interview Speech Winners

Clair Henderlider, A4 of Onawa, will preside over the Forensic Forum broadcast this afternoon at 3 o'clock over station WSUI.

Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of university debate and Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the radio department, will give short introductory speeches.

Mr. Henderlider plans to interview a coach, some debaters and some of the champions in the various events of extempore speaking and debating.

Name Winners In Tournament

Eight Teams Play Off Second Round Of Bridge Finals

Winners in the second round of the round robin competition in the finals of the Union Board university bridge tournament were announced last night by Ed McCloy, C4 of Iowa City, general chairman of the event.

In yesterday's playing Quadrangle team three defeated Gamma Phi Beta and Quadrangle team one defeated Quadrangle team two in auction playing. In contract, Kappa Alpha Theta defeated Gamma Phi Beta and Sigma Nu defeated Theta Xi.

These eight teams are playing round robin as the finals in the tournament. At the end of this playing, the teams which have won the most games will be tournament winners, McCloy explained.

Next playing will be Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Iowa Union. Pairings for that day, also announced last night by the chairman, are Quadrangle on versus Quadrangle three and Quadrangle two versus Gamma Phi Beta in auction playing. In the contract division, Sigma Nu versus Kappa Alpha Theta and Theta Xi versus Gamma Phi Beta.

Show Must Go On--

Manson High Group Presents Its Play Minus 1 Character

That's a well-known and well-worn phrase but it nevertheless will apply to a peculiar situation which arose yesterday morning with the Manson high school play cast.

The Manson players, accompanied by their director, F. Morrison, arrived in Iowa City Wednesday evening. Yesterday morning a member of the cast, Merle Yordy, was suffering from an infected lip and doctors at University hospital recommended that he not take part in the play as the infection might develop into something more serious.

Undaunted, Mr. Morrison and the other three members of the cast were determined to go ahead with their presentation of "On Vengeance Height" by Allan Davis.

It seems that such a thing was hard to do, but, with a little revision of the script to eliminate the character of "Clay," it was accomplished.

"The character just won't come on. The story won't be too complete but the idea will be there," Mr. Morrison explained while he

'Harlem Tin-Type'

Mary Ellen Grazian, director, is shown instructing Marjorie Moodie and Edwin Neumann of Waverly high school in the production "Brother Bill" entered in class B competition in the Iowa high school play production festival.

Using only the small lower inner stage and a minimum of furniture, this stylized drama was done in blackface. Miss Grazian was enrolled in the university last year, where she did graduate work in speech. The make-up used, was designed by Miss Grazian and was so real it defied detection. No wig was used over the boy's own naturally curly hair. The play, written in verse, was by Alfred Kreybomberg. Waverly high school received a superior rating in last year's festival.

was making up the remainder of his cast shortly before curtain time yesterday. "I figured that we didn't come down here for nothing," he said. So the show went on in spite of the handicap and those who saw the production couldn't detect the difference except that the fourth character listed on the programs just didn't appear.

Expect 300 To Attend Annual Art Conference

Schedule 10th Iowa Meeting, Art Exhibitions

Program To Feature Artists, Educators, Judging of Exhibition

Three hundred art teachers and administrators of Iowa and neighboring states are expected to attend the 10th annual University of Iowa art conference April 12 and 13.

Artists who will appear on the program are Grant Wood of the university faculty, who will speak on regional art; Ruth Reeves, designer of hand-painted textiles, who will give a demonstration talk, and Emil Ganso of Lawrence college in Wisconsin, who is scheduled to demonstrate and lecture on lithography.

Three art educators who will act as judges for the Iowa high school art exhibition will also speak. They are Ruth Raymond of the University of Minnesota; Muriel Sibell, head of the fine arts department at the University of Colorado, and Otto Ege, head of teacher training in the Cleveland, Ohio, school of art.

Art historians who have been named on the program are Alden F. Megrew, head of the Lawrence college art department, Otto Brendel of Washington university of St. Louis, Mo., and Prof. Lester Longman, head of the Iowa art department. Prof. Norman C. Meier of the university's psychology department will discuss artistic aptitudes.

Four art exhibitions are to be held at the time of the conference. In addition to the high school exhibition, these are American oil paintings from the Milch galleries, prints by Emil Ganso, and a student salon of art.

Will Lecture, Show Pictures About Rubber

A motion picture and lecture on the "Romance of Rubber" will be presented in the chemistry auditorium at 4 o'clock today by Victor B. Russell, field lecturer for the Goodrich Rubber Co.

On a topic of general interest, the lecture, sponsored by the college of pharmacy, is open to the general public and entire student body.

The speaker will conclude the lecture with a demonstration of "Making of Rubber Gloves."

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

One seven-day book, Richard Wright's "Native Son," is one of several general interest books selected from recent additions to the university library and announced yesterday by the staff.

Fourteen-day books are "Modern Marketing," Clara Wright Barker; "Giddy Minds and Foreign Quarrels," Charles Austin Beard; "Home from the Sea," Robert Louis Stevenson in Samoa; "Richard Arnold Bernann; "Race, Language and Culture," Franz Boas; "Kiss the Boys Good-Bye," Clara Boothe.

Cancer Display

Window Exhibit in Botany Building Shows Cancer Cures

"Help Fight Cancer With Knowledge" is the advice offered in this week's model display window in the pharmacy-botany building.

Describing the effective methods of treatment for cancer as surgery, radium and x-ray, the display explains that "early cancer is curable."

Various types of cancer and parts of the body where the cancerous growth tends to locate are illustrated in the display by plaster casts, shown through the courtesy of the Iowa City section of the Women's Field army.

The local group, headed by Mrs. Arthur V. O'Brien, state commander, is associated with the American Society for Control of Cancer.

The actual cancer specimens in the display are the property of Dr. Harry P. Smith, head of the pathology department here.

Pharmacy students who designed and worked on the preparation of the window were Ione R. Card, P2 of New Hampton; Robert R. Clothier, P2 of Polo, Ill.; Stanley Taylor, P2 of Decatur, Ill.; Robert J. Telfer, P2 of Nevada, and Leonard M. Thompson, P2 of Webster City.

Iowa Student To Speak On CBS Program

Roland Christensen Invited To Participate In 'Bull Session'

Roland Christensen, A3 of Iowa City, a member of the university debate team, has been invited to participate in the Columbia Broadcasting system's weekly "Bull Session" program over the network Saturday, April 6, at 3 p.m.

Discarding the usual forensic techniques, top-ranking debaters from five middlewestern universities will gather informally around the CBS microphone for the discussion program.

Delegates to the western conference debate tournament, meeting at Northwestern university April 5 and 6 will witness the unrehearsed discussion in Columbia's Chicago studios.

The program marks the return of the "Bull Session" to Chicago. Originally developed there, it has been heard for the past several months from eastern universities.

Under the subject, "Peaceful Change," the bull-sessioners are expected to hash over such questions as: What are the obstacles to peaceful change? Why did the League of Nations fail? How can education promote peaceful change? Can cooperation become a normal method of conducting world affairs?

Austin Ranney, junior in speech, will represent Northwestern university; William Rueckert, junior in commerce, University of Illinois; Donald Pearlberg, senior in agriculture, Purdue university, and Gordon Dupee, graduate student, University of Wisconsin.

Parker Whehtly, radio director of Northwestern university, will sit in with the students as referee.

Army Air Corps Training Field Uses Small Scale Models First

Small scale models of BT-9 training planes are used extensively in ground instruction at Randolph Field, Texas, training center for the United States army air corps.

These miniature planes have moveable controls, as shown in the above photograph. An instructor, center, is shown adjusting the rudder and elevators to the position they would be in when doing a "chandelle."

This way the student pilots are able to visualize just what goes on when they go aloft to put the theory into actual practice. Any air corps pilot would probably say that the maneuver with which he had the most trouble while in training was the "chandelle."

Actually the "chandelle" is just an exaggerated climbing turn through 180 degrees. It has no tactical value but it is highly important because during a maneuver the plane is flown at all speeds from a slight dive to a steep climb approaching a stall. As the speed varies, so does the pressure on the controls and thus for one maneuver requiring a small part of a minute a complete range of control pressures is obtained.

Dr. W. F. Durand To Speak On Effects of Coulee Dam

Engineers Invite Public To Attend Address Thursday

Dr. W. F. Durand, recognized as one of the greatest of contemporary engineers, will address a convocation of engineering students called by Dean F. M. Dawson next Thursday at 1:10 p. m. in the chemistry auditorium. He will discuss "The Grand Coulee Dam and its Relation to the Agricultural and Economic Development of the Northwest."

Because of the general interest of the lecture, the meeting will be open to the public. Dr. Durand is appearing under the auspices of the junior branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Dr. Durand holds the John Fritz medal, one of the highest honors bestowed by the engineering profession. Dr. Durand is famous for his work on the faculty of Cornell and Stanford universities. He is also recognized as one of the best consulting engineers in the fields of marine engineering, aeronautics and hydrodynamics.

Dr. Durand has had many appointments to governmental and scientific commissions including scientific attache at the American embassy at Paris, member of the international commission on inventions, member of the president's aircraft board, advisory board of Boulder dam project engineers, member of the national advisory commission for aeronautics, member of the national research council and chairman of the world power conference.

Fire Damages Barracks

DES MOINES, (AP)—A fire believed to have resulted from defective wiring caused minor damage last night to a brick building at Fort Des Moines army post. The building housed non-commissioned officers.

Relief Needs Drop

DES MOINES (AP) — State social welfare officials estimated yesterday that Iowa's April relief needs would total $548,500, a drop of $32,500 from March.

Dalasta, E3 of Ankeny; Leroy Hansen, E3 of Sioux City; Omer Clark, E3 of Sabula; Robert L. Hughes, E3 of Buffalo, N. Y., and Fred Stage, E3 of Davenport.

Membership to the group is based on scholarship, personal character and the probability of individual success as an electrical engineer. A junior standing is prerequisite.

Following the initiation members of the organization attended a banquet in the private dining room of Iowa Union, R. D. Borgstadt, E4 of Muscatine, president, was in charge of the initiation and dinner.

Guests were two faculty advisors of the group—Prof. E. B. Kurtz, head of the electrical engineering department of the college of engineering, and Prof. George F. Corcoran of the department.

'Dusty' Rhodes' Defense Files 37-Page Clemency Argument

Tye Charges Police Got Confession By Third Degree Methods

DES MOINES, March 28 (AP)—A 37-page argument for executive clemency for Walter Rhodes, former Iowa City quarry worker now under death sentence for the slaying of his wife, was filed with Gov. George A. Wilson today.

The brief was filed by John B. Tye of Marshalltown, attorney employed by Rhodes' parents. It was in reply to an argument filed last week by the state attorney general's office which urged that Rhodes' sentence to the gallows be allowed to stand.

Governor Wilson now must set a date for the execution of Rhodes or commute his death penalty to life imprisonment.

Rhodes was convicted of the shot-gun-dynamite slaying of his wife in Iowa City in 1937.

In his brief, Tye cited at length from a recent United States supreme court decision written by Justice Hugo Black, attacking police "third degree" practices.

Tye charged that a confession which Rhodes was said to have made while in custody of state agents in Des Moines shortly after his arrest was obtained in a manner similar to that used in the case cited by Justice Black.

In the latter case, the United States supreme court set aside death sentences of four Florida Negroes and condemned "the secret, inquisitorial police methods used in obtaining the confessions."

Tye charged that state agents used inquisitorial methods "the like of which has never previously been disclosed in the annals of Iowa" and that Rhodes was "forced" to sign a confession "which he could not have understood" by "threats, shouting, intimidation, coaxing, coercion and honeyed phrases."

F. C. Luderer Given Award For Excellence

Frederick C. Luderer, L2 of Punksutawney, Pa., last night was the first junior law student to be awarded the Frank C. Messer award for all-around excellence in fraternal work in the Iowa Hammond chapter of Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity.

The $25 award is made annually to the junior who, in the estimation of the senior members of the organization, has contributed most to the success of Hammond chapter.

The award is the gift of Attorney Frank C. Messer of Iowa City, a chapter member for the past 30 years.

4-H Boys Pass 1939 Record

Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, announced yesterday that the Johnson county farm boys who are active in the 4-H baby beef club program for 1940 are feeding 12 more baby beef calves than during 1939.

The calves were started on the feeding program before Jan. 1, 1940, Gardner said. Seventy 4-H Baby Beef club certificates of the boys in the program yesterday were mailed to Iowa State college in Ames, he added.

These certificates are the records of each calf's feeding. The calves will be exhibited at the annual 4-H club show here in August.

Disaster-- Almost!

6 Skillful Engineers Untangle Strings On First Kite of Spring

The first air disaster this spring just about happened yesterday, but sheer skill on the part of six young men averted it.

The crowd, with upturned eyes, weren't exactly breathless, but they were definitely interested. It wasn't a large crowd, but it wasn't a large air-craft, either.

The six medium-sized boys hastily conferred. The crowd was getting painfully quiet and something had to be done. Between the tree on one side of the street and telephone wires on the other, the kite was having a pretty tough time.

It WAS having a pretty tough time.

Then a momentous decision was made by the six engineers. A few slight jerks and gentle nudges on the kite string released the kite from the tree and expert manipulation of the string by one of the boys, helped and assisted by the five aidants, let it soar again

City Council Refuses Reappointment of Civil Service Head

Votes Against Re-Naming Of Katzenmeyer

$256,047 City Budget Adopted for New Year Beginning April 1

Members of the Iowa City council, meeting last night in council chambers at the city hall, refused by a 6 to 1 vote Mayor H. F. Willenbrock's reappointment of Cyril P. Katzenmeyer for the six-year term of civil service commissioner.

Alderman Sam Whiting Jr., of the third ward was the single councilman to vote for the reappointment. Katzenmeyer has served on the commission during the past six years. Other members of the commission at the present time are Frank J. Belger and Delmer M. Sample.

Further business of the council included the adoption of the budget for city expenditures for the fiscal year beginning April 1. The grand total of the budget for the ensuing year was set at $256,047. The sum figure, representing the total outgo, will be raised both by taxation and fees of various sorts levied by the city.

Permit Granted

One new class B beer permit was granted by the council to Charles Emanuel, proprietor of Chuck's tavern, 203 N. Linn street. In addition the council renewed a class B club permit for beer to the Roy L. Chopek Post of the American Legion, 204 S. Gilbert.

From four bids submitted to the council on a truck, the lowest bid by the Cline Farm Implement company of $957 for one and a half ton International truck was accepted. The truck will be used both in the street and sewer departments.

It was voted by the council to employ George Pickering as an extra laborer in the sewage treatment plant for eight months beginning April 1, at a salary of $80 a month. The council voted further to increase the salary of Robert D. Mott, superintendent of the plant, in the amount of $15 a month. William Manson, a laborer at the plant, will receive a salary increase of $5 a month.

An ordinance was introduced and given first reading before the council prohibiting pawn brokers, junk and second hand dealers from purchasing or receiving personal property from minors and providing for the copying of records of all transactions and the making of reports of such transactions to Iowa City police. The ordinance was given a first reading before the council.

Other business transacted by the council consisted of the sale of lot one, block nine of the Rundell addition for the sum of $500. The sale was made to Fred T. Bauer, 1618 Wilson street.

A report of the planning commission was favorable to the proposed ordinance to vacate the alley in block 38, original town of Iowa City to the Mercy hospital. The ordinance was accepted by the council.

Bicycle Accidents

A representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars introduced a plan to the council whereby bicycle accidents "would be reduced or entirely eliminated."

The plan provides for the licensing of all bicycles. Before the issuing of a license the vehicle must meet certain mechanical requirements such as the condition of brakes and the equipage of lights.

Agar Hurls Challenge: 'WORK for American Democracy' 3-Cent Stamp To Be Issued On April 14

By IRENE SUTTON

"People must live face-to-face with great questions in this process of Americanism," stated Herbert Agar as he explained the principles of democracy in last night's university lecture in Macbride auditorium.

In giving the first criterion of a citizen's duty in his country, Agar asserted that he should know what is happening. "There should be no beating around the bush on the problem facing America," continued Agar. For many years politicians have been glibly talking about the principles of liberty and democracy and have done little about it.

As one of the important issues facing Americans, Agar referred to oppressed conditions of workers in Sacramento valley of California so aptly described in John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath." "How can people dare to get up and applaud Americanism," charged Agar, "when they sidestep such problems as these?"

Agar, moreover, invited Americans to probe the mysteries of this "dogma of democracy" and find out what it really is. On the moral side, he explained democracy as a fusion of two great traditions — the brotherhood of man and the reasonableness of man. "I'm not going to prove that these exist by scientific reasoning," Agar said, "but they are something you have to accept just as you do the existence of God."

"Secondly, there is the economic aspect. People must shoulder the burdens of unemployment, the problem of slums and other alarming conditions, if they are to recognize the importance of the economic aspect of democracy," Agar contended.

Finally, and least important of the three, Agar listed political machinery as a part of our democratic order. Adequate political machinery has been provided for by our forefathers, if Americans are willing to establish stable economic and moral bases.

Liberty Defined

As an integral part of Americanism, Agar clarified the meaning of liberty. He defined liberty as the combination of legal defense of civil rights plus a citizen's right to a living and security. Neither one can stand alone, he maintained; they must work together.

"I believe Americans know what kind of a country they want," admitted Agar; "the problem is how to get there."

"Americanism is worth working for and worrying about," he continued, "and its continuance depends on the awareness of citizens, of the problem facing their country." It's no easy job to be a citizen, asserted the Kentucky journalist as he concluded his discussion, but we must be willing to pay the price of freedom by accepting the burdens that accompany it.

3-Cent Stamp To Be Issued On April 14

A new stamp issue commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Pan-American Union will be released at Washington April 14, local postal authorities have been informed.

Central design on the stamp will be three feminine figures with clasped hands. Copied from the allegorical painting, "Spring," by Boticelli, the design typifies "the bonds of friendship and good will that exist between the countries of the Pan-American Union," it is explained.

The stamp, a three-cent denomination, will be purple with white lettering of an old English style used in the 14th century.

Proclaims April As Month For Cancer Control

Mayor Willenbrock Endorses Campaign Of National Society

Mayor H. F. Willenbrock in a proclamation yesterday formally set aside April as cancer control month. This was done in cooperation with the annual campaign conducted by the Johnson county chapter of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

In the proclamation Mayor Willenbrock praised the society and urged all men and women to support the work of the field army. He emphasized the fact that cancer is most apt to strike persons who have reached maturity.

Mrs. N. F. Sorg is captain and Mrs. I. L. Pollock is deputy captain of the Johnson county organization this year. Several lieutenants have been appointed to further the work of the society throughout the county.

The Women's Field Army has been active in the United States since 1936. It was organized by the American Society for Cancer Control which had been engaged in research concerning the disease for 27 years. The American Medical association has endorsed the work of the field army.

Fine Three Drivers In City Police Court

T. A. Manual of Cedar Rapids and R. J. Stuart were fined $1 each yesterday in police court for parking in prohibited zones. John Walker was fined $1 and costs of $1 for driving an auto with defective lights.

A merit of the plan pointed out by Mayor Willenbrock lay in the fact that it would reduce and possibly eliminate the stealing of bicycles.

Firemen Nip Blaze At H. Roger's Home

Local firemen extinguished a blaze which started in an upstairs closet at the home of Harvey Rogers, 924 Bloomington street, at 12:50 a.m. yesterday morning. J. J. Clark, fire chief, reported yesterday. Little damage was caused by the fire.

Issue 2 New Stamps Here

To Depict Group; Will Bear Portraits Of Eliot, Willard

Two stamps of the Educators' group, these bearing the portraits of Charles W. Eliot and Frances E. Willard, will be issued locally at the Iowa City post office today.

Characteristic of the stamps in this group, both issues feature a portrait of an educator and a solid panel-shaped shield enclosing the "Lamp of Learning." The panel is supported on each side by acanthus leaves.

Both stamps were released nationally for the first time yesterday, the Eliot issue at Cambridge, Mass., and the Willard stamp at Evanston, Ill. The three-cent, Eliot stamp is purple and the five-cent, Willard stamp is blue.

Others in the series honor Horace Mann, Mark Hopkins and Booker T. Washington.

Jury Acquits Ralph Schmitt

A verdict of the Johnson county petit jury read yesterday in open court acquitted Ralph Schmitt of a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Charges were filed against Schmitt Jan. 26 in a county attorney's information. County Attorney Harold Vestermark prosecuted for the state. Attorney W. F. Murphy represented the defendant.

Bond Issue Regulations

Post Office Cannot Sell Bonds in Name Of Group—April 1

United States savings bonds will not be issued in the name of corporations, partnerships, associations, trustees, or guardians beginning April 1, federal officials have notified local postal authorities. The bonds are sold in Iowa City through the post office.

A second qualification stipulates that after April 1, the savings bonds may be issued only to citizens of the United States and its territories, the Canal Zone, the Philippines, and U.S. citizens temporarily living in other countries.

Hereafter the bonds will be registered in one name only, two names as co-owners, or in one name with another designated as beneficiary, it was announced.

District Court Dismisses Jury, Continues Case

Petit jury members who have served during the February term of Johnson county district court were discharged at 2:50 p.m. yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney and the case of the State vs. Ivan Schmitt was continued for action.

Several of the witnesses scheduled to appear in the case were not available because of illness. Judge Gaffney stated that equity cases were scheduled to be heard by the court next week.

Espionage Penalty Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt signed into law yesterday legislation increasing the maximum penalty for espionage to 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine. The previous maximum was two years and $2,000.

Court Day--

for the appellants and Hyland and Metz are attorneys for appellee.

According to the abstract facts and issues, Paul Wayne, nationally famous orchestra leader, because of his interpretation and rendition of popular music over the radio and in theaters and ballrooms, seeks to enjoin the defendant, Carl J. Manfred, owner and operator of a chain of juke boxes in Iowa, from using the recordings of his renditions on his machines.

Commercial Use

These recordings have upon them the name of the musical compositions, that it was produced by Paul Wayne and his "Rhythmites," and the following notice: "This record is sold for private use only; it is not licensed to be used in juke boxes, radio broadcasting, theaters, dance halls, nor for any commercial use whatsoever."

The result of defendant's use of said recordings has been to decrease the sale of these recordings, and the "Rhythmites" have been unable to secure their usual number of engagements in Iowa.

The issues are: Have the appellants a property right or common law copyright in their renditions of musical compositions? If they have such a copyright, was it lost by a general publication by the sale of the records to the public? If the appellants have a common law copyright in their renditions and it has not been lost by a general publication, has the appellee infringed upon this copyright?

Competition?

Furthermore, is the equitable servitude or restriction on the use of the record reasonable? If it is should it be enforced against a subsequent purchaser? Does the appellee's use of the records in his juke boxes constitute unfair competition with the appellants? Does the appellee's use of the records in his juke boxes constitute an invasion of the appellant's right of privacy?

According to A. O. Leff, the facts and problems as presented in this argument are of vital national interest. The public use of phonograph records is of current interest today, he added. The facts, as in the case, will be presented as actual, he stated.

Immediately following the luncheon, a reception will be held in the lounge of the Law commons in honor of the visiting justices of the Iowa supreme court and judges of the district courts.

The judges of the district courts are James Gaffney, Williamsburg; Harold Evans, Iowa City; H. M. Keppler, Northwood, and P. J. Sieger, Newton. In addition, Attorney General Fred D. Everett will be a guest of the day.

Banquet

A banquet will be given in the main lounge of Iowa Union beginning at 6:30 p.m. Robert O. Frederick, L3 of Cedar Rapids, will preside at the dinner. Dean Mason Ladd will give a brief address; presentation of prizes to second year contestants will be made by Judge P. J. Siegers to 16 students; presentation of Law Review certificates will be presented by Justice Ralph A. Oliver, presentation of plaques to Supreme Court day contestants will
