Vote Nears on Extension of U.S. Trade Program

New Efforts To Restrict Measure Fail

Bill Permits Nation To Reduce Tariffs On Reciprocal Basis

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—New efforts to clamp congressional restrictions on the administration's reciprocal trade program failed today, and leaders predicted a final vote tomorrow on legislation to continue the program for three more years.

An amendment which would have required majority approval of both houses of congress for all trade pacts with foreign nations, and one which would have required approval by a majority of the senate had no better luck than an earlier proposal for two-thirds senate ratification.

Amendment Rejected
The first, by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), was rejected 44 to 33, and the second, offered by Senator Adams (D-Colo.), was turned down by a 46 to 34 count.

May Reduce Tariffs
Under the program the administration may reduce tariffs as much as 50 per cent in return for concessions from other nations.

Asks "Protection"
American producers, McCarran contended, should be "protected against slave-produced commodities."

U.S. Officials Angry Over New 'Propaganda'
Canadian War Plea Denounced

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—A Canadian official's plea for United States involvement in the European war stirred angry denunciations of "propaganda" today, during which Senator Holt (D-W Va.) described James H. R. Cromwell, American minister to Canada, as a "tea hound" diplomat "who paid $50,000 for his job."

Holt read the senate excerpts from an address yesterday by Ontario's attorney general, Gordon Conant. Conant said that Canadians should "do everything within our power to enlist the active support of the United States in the cause of the allies."

Americans Not to Blame
"But I don't hold the Canadian people any more responsible for that statement," Holt shouted, "than the American people are responsible for the statements of Jimmie Cromwell."

Iowa Supreme Court Justices Hear Annual Court Day Argument

Nine Colleges Added to List Accepted as Accredited By Colleges, Secondary Schools Association

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—The North Central association of colleges and secondary schools added nine colleges to its accredited list today and recommended that another be dropped from its roll.

Those approved for accrediting were the Arkansas Agricultural and Mechanical college, Monticello, Ark.; Fenn college, Cleveland; McPherson college, McPherson, Kas.; Minnesota State Teachers college at Mankato; Minnesota State Teachers college at Winona; Nazareth college, Nazareth, Mich.; Siena Heights college, Adrian, Mich.; Northern State Teachers college, Aberdeen, S. ### Iowa Supreme Body Divided In Its Opinion

Participants Receive Plaques at Annual Dinner in Iowa Union

Although the Iowa Supreme Court was divided in its opinion concerning the "juke box" controversy argued yesterday afternoon by four seniors in the college of law, the majority decision was for the appellees.

John Hyland, Tama, and C. Davison Metz, Burlington, were the attorneys for the appellee, Carl J. Manfred, owner and distributor of a chain of "juke boxes" in Iowa.

The announcement of the decision was made last night at the Supreme Court day banquet which climaxed the 14th annual celebration. The banquet was held in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Prominent guests from all over the state attended.

Chamberlain Calls Secret War Session

Commons To Discuss Economic Warfare Against Germany

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today ordered a secret session of the house of commons for next Thursday for debate on the worldwide economic warfare by which the allies are seeking to "drain the life-blood out of our enemy."

A new step in the economic offensive was taken with establishment of "the English Commercial Corporation, Limited" to deal with neutrals, particularly in south-eastern Europe, to divert vital goods from Germany and capture markets for Britain.

The prime minister optimistically surveyed the war in a luncheon speech before his conservative party council even as the nation weighed with skepticism yesterday's cabinet reshuffle which gave Winston Churchill prime responsibility for war strategy but was seen as doing little else.

Chamberlain declared Britain was in "a great deal" stronger position relative to Germany now than at the start of the war.

Senators Seek Relief Funds

Additional Amounts Proposed To Prevent 'Real Suffering'

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—An immediate increase of $150,000,000 in relief funds was sought in the senate today shortly after a house appropriation subcommittee began secret hearings on President Roosevelt's estimates for WPA for the year starting July 1.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) proposed the additional appropriation, asserting it was necessary to prevent "real suffering" between now and June 30. Congress voted $1,477,000,000 for WPA last year.

Meanwhile, Colonel F. C. Harrington, commissioner of the works project administration, appeared before the house group behind closed doors and gave it an outline of the unemployment situation. Committee members said later the $985,000,000 which President Roosevelt recommended to run the WPA for the year starting July 1 would provide for about 1,600,000 persons. That would represent a reduction of about 500,000 from the total on WPA rolls this month.

'Just an Idea' Now Movement For New Educational Approach

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—An idea that sprang from a casual conversation two years ago between an industrialist and a college president took form today in a movement which its sponsor says may result in an entirely new approach to higher education.

The idea is embodied in a three-day clinic to be attended by many of the nation's leading business men and industrialists, college students and their professors at the University of Rochester, May 7-9.

$784,999,094 Army Bill Goes To Senate Body

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—An overwhelming house vote sent a $784,999,094 army appropriation bill to the senate today and established a new speed record for disposal of the session's 11 regular supply bills.

In approving the huge defense measure without a roll call, the house not only sustained its appropriations committee in slashing $67,357,660 from the amount recommended by President Roosevelt for the army, but trimmed off an additional $1,000,000 intended to buy more land for Ft. Knox, Ky.

As finally approved, the measure carried $66,474,151 less than the army had for the current fiscal year.

It brought the total vote by the house in the 11 regular money bills to $6,120,138,932. Three deficiency bills passed by the house this session increased the appropriation total to $6,533,317,023.

Death—

Where Is Thy Sting?

PEOPLE who live adventurous lives, hunting in African jungles, scaling unconquerable mountains, flying across oceans, and all such breath-taking pastimes, are just lilies at heart—at least they are if you believe the statisticians of the Northwestern National Life insurance company.

The colorless people who "never take chances" are really the ones who are defying death. For instance, if you're used to dodging across busy American streets in the middle of the block, your chances of sudden death are almost exactly the same as if you were in a European city under air bombardment for the 15 to 30 seconds it takes you to reach the far curb.

The alcoholic automobile driver puts himself and his passengers under approximately the same hazard of death as if they were all passengers in a contraband-carrying ship in the present submarine zones, according to the statisticians. These figures are based on the same periods of exposure in each case—the passenger in the car of the drinking driver should be just as uneasy during his half-hour ride as if he were spending the same moments on a darkened freighter zigzagging through the eastern Atlantic or the North sea.

The sober driver who keeps his speedometer at 60 miles an hour at night incurs, with his passengers, 20 per cent greater chances of death than do student pilots at the army and navy flying schools.

The meek housewife who shrinks from "anything dangerous" but does her dry-cleaning with naphtha, benzine, or gasoline, is subject to almost double the hazard of death or fatal injury as is the student air pilot, and about 30 per cent more hazard than if she were driving a mile a minute at night for the same length of time as it takes her to finish with her dry cleaning, according to casualty ratings.

The driver who goes through a stop sign more than doubles the death hazard rate, for that brief period of time, of the lady working with gasoline, and might, for that same period of exposure, almost as well be serving in the British navy in the war zone in the present war—his death hazard is only 20 per cent less. And his risk is four times as great as that of the student air pilot at U. S. army or navy flying schools.

If you're looking for a safe, quiet job, we'd recommend your enlistment for duty on the Western front. Unless you watch yourself, you're in more danger of death in Iowa City.

Tribute For Service

"ANYONE who knows anything about American librarians," writes Pearl Strachan in the Christian Science Monitor, "knows how devoted they are, as groups and as individuals to the people. It has been my opportunity to observe many of them, behind the scenes, and I know of no other profession requiring such sympathetic approach to the 'human' problems of the public, and with such anonymity; with so meager material reward."

Miss Strachan knows whereof she speaks. Probably no person has paid greater homage to the librarians than the writer Jim Tully. A boy of the roads, Tully as a youth found shelter in the public libraries, and gives the librarians credit for his entire education.

Jim Tully's librarians aren't the only ones who have gone beyond the mere mechanics of book-checking, who have gone into the hearts of people to give comfort and counsel to patrons of their institution.

Almost any librarian could tell you about the man on WPA who came to the library, learned a skill from books recommended by a warm-hearted librarian, and went off to earn a more profitable living with the knowledge obtained from books. Or these same librarians—if they were given to telling such things, which they are not,—could tell you about the people who come to librarians with tangled lives. Many librarians have had to be psychologist, minister, lawyer and teacher, straightening out muddled minds by finding proper books for persons who know no other way of obtaining assistance.

Most of the rewards for librarians now must be in Heaven. Perhaps some day there will be more mundane awards for their unselfish labors.

The First Fly

AN EPOCH-MAKING event in the annual coming of spring has passed. The first housefly has made its appearance upon the scene.

A group of students were just starting to eat lunch. Their spirits were high. They spoke of tennis matches, compared notes on baseball, dreamed joyfully of picnics and moonlight walks.

Suddenly all was quiet. They saw it almost at the same time—just as it poised over the milk pitcher. With a queer detached fascination they watched it—leaning forward as it stopped on the edge of the vessel.

It was an omen—a symbol—of the billions of its brethren that would soon follow in its wake—to crawl on sweating arms, to tickle tender noses, to become nuisances that would have to be shooed away from food.

Someone stealthily slid his open hand toward the intruder as he squatted on the brink of the pitcher. Closer and closer drew the hand, then it stopped for the final attack.

While fifteen pairs of eyes watched breathlessly, the fly sprang deliberately from its perch, circled once about the head of its would-be assassin, and flew away. The war with the flies is on.

A West Point For The Civil Servant

THE TOP MEN in the United States diplomatic service would not be the ones with the most money bags if a bill pending in congress should be passed. The bill calls for the immediate establishment of a $10,000,000 National Academy of Public Affairs, a politician's West Point, to educate young Americans in administrative and diplomatic service both in national and international affairs.

Its author, Congressman Disney of Oklahoma, sees the termination of the "spoils system" and the insertion of more competent brains into our vitally important service. For years our head diplomatic post to Great Britain has gone to the man with the most money, not because he was more qualified, but because the salary afforded by the U. S. government was not sufficient to cover the high expenses incurred during his period of service at the king's court. It is quite easy to agree with Mr. Disney that in the present time of tense international diplomacy, America needs to be represented by the most intelligent students of foreign affairs available.

The proposed school, which would be established in the District of Columbia, would have an enrollment of 2,000 for the four-year course. The students, from 17 to 25 years of age, would be subjected to the same rigid entrance tests that are in effect at West Point and Annapolis.

The institution would be free of political control and there would be absolute freedom of academic thought and speech. Upon completion of the course, the graduate would not be forced to serve the government.

"The government can control the building of a house, the price of wheat, the value of money, the freedom of foreign trade, plunge us into war, regulate commerce and fix individual income," Disney says in advocating the school which would aid potential politicians in obtaining the broad vision necessary to carry on the responsibilities of a great democracy in a world of turmoil.

Junior doesn't care about the first robin of spring. He's much more interested in the first poster of the circus season.

HE WILL BE supported in excerpts from his latest picture, "Johnny Apollo," by Thomas Mitchell, who won the Academy award of 1939 for his supporting role in the motion picture, "Stagecoach."

IT IS Power's first radio appearance since he was summarily removed from his own program more than a year ago by Darryl Zanuck in a radio-movie flare-up. It is also his first appearance with Kate Smith.

"POLITICAL SURVEY OF THE WEEK"

It's Not Clear, But 'Big Jim' Farley May Be Aiming at the Vice-Presidency of the U. S.

It isn't quite clear whether James A. Farley is campaigning for the democratic presidential or vice presidential nomination. At least, nominally it's the presidential nomination that he's after.

However, plenty of politicians say they think it's the vice presidential nomination he genuinely is trying to get. Not, of course, that anybody imagines he won't accept first place if he's named for it, but lots of good guessers are of the opinion that he doesn't really believe the party will pick him to head its ticket.

His candidacy, either way, places him in the position of a Rooseveltian and anti-third term. If he's presidentially selected, Roosevelt necessarily is foreclosed against. And, as a New Yorker, he can't be vice presidentially chosen if the present White House tenant, also a New Yorker, gets a third bid.

Washington's favorite betting is that Jim's honest-to-goodness aim is to get onto the ticket as erally is assumed that he'd prefer the tail to a Cordell Hull or a John N. Garner kite. It generally, because it's surmised that he regards the latter as more of a probability than Garner. He'd be a pretty good second to either one. He wouldn't combine so logically with any more pronounced a New Dealer than one of these two. Even Burton K. Wheeler, while anti-New Dealerish in spots, is much too liberal to go well with Jim. By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Columnist

Hull and Garner. And, from Jim's standpoint, Hull and Garner would be almost equally satisfactory "first-placers" because both are reasonably old. One or the other of them might die in office, letting Jim automatically slide into the vacancy.

Heaven forbid that anybody should suspect Jim of counting on anything like that. Such things do happen, though. Ernest K. Lindley, the columnist, certainly raised hedges with his recent yarn to the effect that President Roosevelt had told an unnamed "stalwart democratic statesman" that he (the president) wasn't a third-term aspirant but that he didn't think Farley would do, on religious grounds.

After some days delay, Roosevelt, as we know, spoke of this story as "made up out of whole cloth." It amounted to classifying that spiel among "short and ugly words."

All right, we're expected to take what the president says as Gospel. Nevertheless, Ernest Lindley has been known, among White House correspondents, as particularly close to the president. He likewise is an exceptionally reliable chap. He stands pat. He insists that his account was correct. He hesitates a trifle at applying the "short and ugly word" that the president implies, but that's what it amounts to.

Would Jim Hear It? Now, let's not, for a minute, suggest that President Roosevelt wasn't quite right in terming that Lindley interview as a phoney.

But suppose, for the sake of argument, that the president had had some such chat with a "stalwart democrat" as Ernest describes. Isn't it possible that said "stalwart" would have leaked it to Jim Farley as well as to Ernest?

And wouldn't it have been calculated to make Jim sore? True, the "stalwart" may have been the Ananias. He may have made the entire yarn up out of "whole cloth" — telling it to Jim Farley and Ernest Lindley alike.

Yet, if that's what he did, his scheme worked middling well. He pulled off an excellent line of publicity for whatever target he may be shooting at. There are democratic stalwarts and stalwarts. Some are New Deal stalwarts and some are "antis." If an "anti" hit on this scheme to split the party, he had a bright idea.

Ernest Lindley has the key to the thing. Let him tell the source of his alleged information. But an ethical newspaperman can't do that.

Road— Is That 7-Year-Old Record-Breaker To Become a Movie?

By GEORGE TUCKER

ABOARD THE COMMODORE VANDERBILT — A sidelight of this trip was that Harry Oshrin and Jake Wilk traveled as far as Reno with us and then went on to the coast. As Oshrin is the owner of "Tobacco Road," this may indicate the Hayes office ban on that blunt and brutal comedy is about to be lifted, and that, after seven years on Broadway, it is to be made into a motion picture.

How much of this play, other than the title, can be salvaged for the films I wouldn't know, but Jake Wilk is the shrewdest story scout in the business, and if he is taking Oshrin to Los Angeles, it is for the purpose of talking terms with Jack Warner and not for the ride.

Jake Wilk is an old hand at buying novels and plays, and even back page feature stories for the movies. When he wasn't studying 24 courses in English literature, which means an exhaustive study of plot, he was in the theater studying plays, or earning a fat living as a literary agent. Since 1929 he has scouted story material for Warner Brothers, and the list of his "buys" shapes up as something of a best-seller list through the last 10 years.

It was Wilk who succeeded in obtaining the rights to "Anthony Adverse," but it required a trip to Europe and a dash to Hollywood to do it. "Oil For the Lamps of China," "Boy Meets Girl," "The Male Animal," "Fugitive From a Chain Gang," and "Brother Rat" are just a few of the name plays and stories he has corralled.

I asked Jake point blank whether he had bought "Tobacco Road." He said, "That's a nice tie you have on, but it ought to have a figure in it; I don't like solid colors."

I asked Harry Oshrin point blank. He said, "Who me? I'm just along for the ride."

After putting a curse on both of them I went back to reflecting on the curious, unbelievable history the "Road" has had. It was damned by the critics. It is replete with sordid atmosphere, and every other line is an unsavory puddle.

Yet, it caught on. It hung by a thread for a week, and nearly died. Then it hit with a big loud bang. That was seven years ago, and it is still running on Broadway. No other play in the entire history of the theater has even come close to this mark.

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

WEATHER NOTE: Education took a holiday recently at Cornors (Okla.) State Agricultural college — not because it wanted to but because it was frozen out of house and home.

When a sudden cold wave descended, all water pipes in the college buildings were frozen, students and boilers didn't have water — so classes were dismissed until the first thaw. "Thaw, thaw, stay away," was the students' chant for several days.

DOROTHY DIX NOTE: Most unorthodox was a query received recently by an Ohio State university faculty office: "Can you tell me the approximate cost of loving per month for a couple?" Needless to say, the question was not answered as written.

COLOR NOTE: Superstitions come and superstitions go, claims the University of Idaho's Psychologist Allan C. Lemon, but one that college students stick with is this: Blondes are less trustworthy than brunettes.

CORRESPONDENCE NOTE: Believed the longest personal telegram in history, Alabama Polytechnic Institute students despatched a 7,000 word wire to Bandman Kay Kyser inviting him to play on their campus. The wire was signed by every member of the student body.

● Trouble Center
● Tom Sebring
● Iowa's Example

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Tom Lieb has been hired to coach the University of Florida football team, and if he is influenced by precedent he will hunt up a nice little villa on some quiet street in beautiful Gainesville and sign a three-year lease. That's just about long enough for the average stay of a 'Gator mentor.

Trouble Center
Other schools have gained some renown as hot spots for football coaches, but with its record of seven coaches in the last 20 years Florida probably can argue with any of them, and maybe spot them a coach or two.

During this corner's recent visit to the state the Florida papers were filled with yarns relating to the resignation of Josh Cody and speculation as to his successor, and from many sources we learned the cause for the future. The state is red hot for its football, and that doesn't mean the weather during the fall months.

Florida football history is of post-war vintage. Before the first World war the sport was small time in the state, but along about 1920 the alumni and other citizens got the yen to build a place in the football sun.

The first move was to hire a Nebraskan, Bill Kline, who tutored the 'Gators in 1921 and 1922 and brought in a few players. He was followed by Maj. J. Van Fleet, who also stayed two years.

Tom Sebring
Then came Tom Sebring, a star at Kansas State under Charley Bachman. He had been Van Fleet's assistant, and he carried on the building so well that when he left after the 1927 season he left his successor, and former coach, Bachman, a team that was the nation's highest scorer in 1928.

Bachman remained until 1932, and he was followed by an all-alumni staff headed by Dutch Stanley, now end coach at Duke. Stanley lasted through 1935, and Cody took over and held the job until his recent resignation to join the staff of Ray Morrison at Temple.

Numerous reasons were advanced by Floridians for the comparatively short terms of the mentors, but the reasons all simmered down to one basic cause — impatience on the part of the followers.

The school has had numerous handicaps to overcome. To begin with, it is a young institution competing in one of the toughest leagues in the nation — the southeastern conference.

Its traditions date back only two decades. It has lacked money to lure even its own native sons, with the result that many a star on a distant team writes "Florida" as his place of residence. The material is there, but, as one fan pointed out, it will take a wall along the border to keep it there and to keep out enemy scouts who come laden with gold-trinkets.

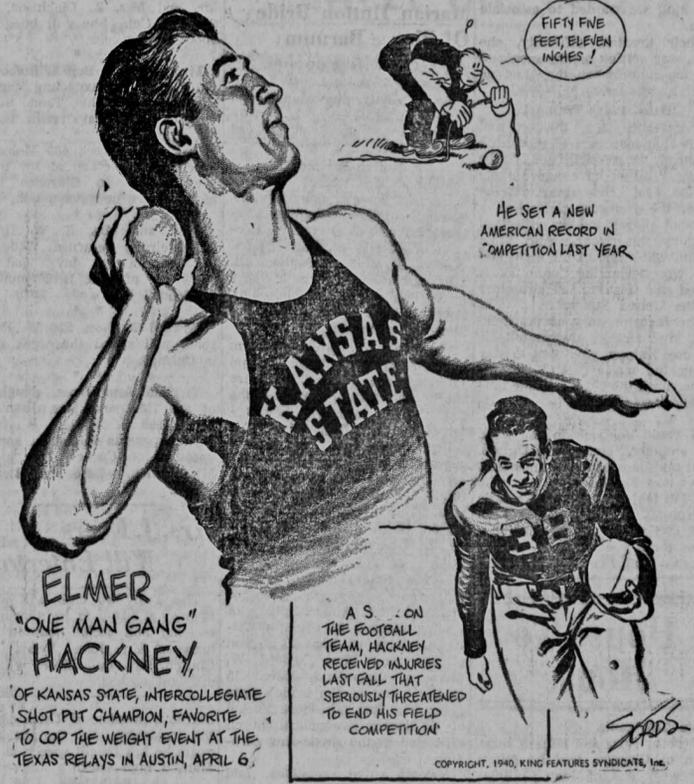

Add to these difficulties the demand of the fans for a good team not tomorrow, but right now, the fact that the state is split into factions, with Miami supporting Miami university and Tampa backing Tampa U., and the problems confronting a coach are obvious. Jacksonville, among the bigger towns, was cited as the only city which was 100 per cent back of the state school.

Iowa's Example
Cody retired voluntarily. He is rated an excellent organizer, and a builder of great defensive teams, although there was some criticism to the effect that his offense was a little on the "here's the ball, there's the goal, git it there" order. Floridians like their football flashy. However, his value as a contact man is evident in the warning of one fan: "Watch Temple a couple of years from now."

What the school needs, the fans agreed, is a bang-up season which

They'll Run, Despite War Britons Favor Kiltstar in Grand National; American Horses Entered

AINTREE, Eng., April 4 (AP)—Kiltstar, a rangy horse with a temper, today was established the strong favorite for the second straight year to win the 102nd Grand National Steeplechase over Aintree's four and one-half miles of flat and terrifying jumps tomorrow.

There were 31 other horses in the field but only two of them were American-owned, the smallest contingent from across the Atlantic in many years. There was a possibility John Hay Whitney would scratch his National Night before race time (about 8:30 a. m., central standard time) leaving Mrs. Louis E. Stoddard's well liked Milano alone to represent the United States.

But as the crowd, which despite war thunder to the east was expected to better 150,000, poured into this capitol of Britain's steeple-chase racing, it was the disposition, speed and staying power of Kiltstar that was of chief concern. At the Victoria club's final callover in London he was heavily supported at 100 to 30 to give Dorothy Paget her second victory in the classic. She won with Golden Miller in 1934.

Last year, Kiltstar was installed the 15 to 2 favorite but faltered under the terrific pace and straggled home third, 15 lengths back of L. Scott Briggs' MacMoffat, the second place horse. Kiltstar carried 143 pounds then. He will tote 154 tomorrow. MacMoffat is back again but Workman, last year's Irish-bred winner, was scratched some time ago.

The hottest thing, however, in nearby Liverpool and Aintree today was not Kiltstar or H. C. McNally's Royal Daniel I, the 9 to 1 second choice which finished a head back of the American-owned Battleship in 1938, but was Mrs. I. Strong's The Professor 2nd.

The professor has not yet had a chance to display staying power sufficient for the long journey and 30 fences but he was priced at 100 to 9 along with MacMoffat. The Prof's odds may be still short-lived by post time.

Oak Park Pro Takes Lead

Mustachioed Golfer Beats Demaret's 67 Of Opening Round

By BILL BONI
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—They drew lines from tees to greens today at the Augusta National Golf club, and Lloyd Mangrum followed them all.

Hitting woods and irons as if the ball was tied to those lines, the 24-year-old assistant professional from Oak Park, Ill., took the lead in the first round of the seventh annual masters' golf tournament with a 64 that set all sorts of records.

It was, to begin with, eight under par for one of the most testing courses on this or any other side of the Atlantic. It broke the course record held jointly by Gene Sarazen and Byron Nelson. It set a new competitive record for championship golf in this country.

It was, in the final analysis, a round that completely beggared description.

For 18 holes of tough tournament golf, this mustachioed, Texas-born caballero hit every green in the required number of shots. He bagged four birdies on the outgoing nine for a 32, then started the back nine with a bogey 5 on the tenth hole, where he took three putts.

Already up on the scoreboard was a 67 for another Texan, happy-go-lucky Jimmy Demaret of Houston. That round had included a record six-under-par 30 for the back nine, and looked like the goods. It looked even better when Mangrum took those three putts.

But Lloyd was only fooling. Before a steadily growing gallery drawn away from the clubhouse by grapevine word of his miraculous feats, he settled for a conservative par 4 on the 11th hole.

Then he played the next seven holes in five under par, and had witnesses to prove it.

For the first time in state interscholastic indoor track championship meet history the affair will be divided into two sections, A and B. The class B division will get under way tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the fieldhouse and will run almost continuously until 9:30, except for an hour out early in the evening.

More than 350 high school jumpers and runners, representing 41 schools in the state, will compete in 10 individual events and four

Tulsa Whips Yanks, 10-6

TULSA, Okla., April 4 (AP)—Except for one inning the New York Yankees' exhibition against the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas league today was about like any other game for the world champions.

But in the fourth inning the Oilers rallied for seven runs to whip baseball's wonder boys 10 to 6.

The uprising was staged against rookie righthander Tommy Reus, who has been trying to stick with the champs and had worked smoothly for the first three frames.

Charley Keller labored to preserve the Yankee legend with a home run, a double and a single.

Ted Gordinier Is Probable Mound Choice

IOWA CITY, April 4 (AP)—Pitcher Clydell Castleman has been placed on the New York Giants' voluntarily retired list, Manager Bill Terry announced today.

Returning from Memphis where he had taken Castleman to consult Dr. J. Spencer Speed, Terry said Castleman was suffering from a recurrence of an old back ailment and had been advised to give up baseball at least until his condition improved.

For today's game, starting at 4:05 p. m., the Hawkeyes will probably work behind the pitching of Ted Gordinier, rangy left-handed sophomore, with Dick Hein another sophomore possibility for mound service. Otherwise, the Iowa lineup will probably be about the same as in Wednesday's 15-8 victory over Bradley Tech.

Same Infield
Bill Welp, sophomore who has been performing behind the plate since Norm Hankins injured a shoulder in the south, is expected to be behind the plate, while Rudy Radics at first, Erwin Praske at second, Frank Kocur at third and Andy Kantor at shortstop will make up the infield.

Although Vogel has been trying out a number of outfielders, it is probable that he will work Co-Capt. Jim George, Jack Jean and Bob Cook, the same trio that saw work Wednesday. Cook, who clouted a pair of triples and a single in the Bradley game, might be the man to add the batting power to an outfield that lost Art Manush and Bill Vogt by graduation.

Such power will probably be needed this year, as the Hawks have not as yet demonstrated as well-balanced batting strength as last year. Defensively, the Hawks looked good Wednesday, despite a number of bobbles, largely traceable to a wind that reached near-gale proportions. The pitching appears to be fairly well taken care of, especially if Gordinier, Bob Stastny, Dick Hein and Cecil Schaefer come through to give capable help to Co-Capt. Harold Haub and Fred Hohenhorst, veteran righthanders.

Castleman On Retired List

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—George Caster pitched shutout ball for six innings today as the Philadelphia Athletics turned back Fort Worth, 1939 Texas league champions, 5 to 3, in an exhibition game.

Caster gave up five hits and his single in the fifth figured in the A's first three runs. Fort Worth took advantage of Chief Hogsett's wild pitch and Bill Lillard's error to score all their runs in the eighth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 4 (AP)—George Caster pitched shutout ball for six innings today as the Philadelphia Athletics turned back Fort Worth, 1939 Texas league champions, 5 to 3, in an exhibition game.

Browns Trim Oilers, 9-2

SAN ANGELO, Tex., April 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, playing their final contest against a minor league opponent, turned in an easy 9 to 2 victory over the Texas Oilers, a semi-pro club, here today.

Jake Wade and Loy Hanning allowed only five hits while their teammates were pounding the offerings of three Texas hurlers for 14 safeties. Joe Gallagher hit two homers for the Browns and Walt Judnich one.

The Browns open a 7-game series with the Chicago Cubs, with the first two games scheduled for San Antonio. Vernon Kennedy will start on the hill for the Browns.

Leiber Makes 1940 Debut

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 4 (AP)—Hank Leiber, who has had 12 days of batting practice since ending his holdout, makes his 1940 Chicago Cub debut tomorrow, replacing Bill Nicholson in right field, as the Bruins face the St. Louis Browns.

Larry French was nominated to go nine innings against the Browns, if he could, and also to pitch the National leaguers out of a three game losing streak. The Cubs were given today off after a long ride from El Paso.

Phillies Take 7-1 Drubbing

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP)—The Philadelphia Nationals started a two-week exhibition tour in reverse today, taking a 7 to 1 drubbing from Minneapolis of the American association.

The Millers tied up the score at 1-1 in the fifth, then landed on Clyde Smoll for five hits and four runs in the sixth to ice the game. The Phils got their only run in the fourth.

Southpaw Milt Haeferer kept the National leaguers well under control until relieved in the seventh by Harry Kelly.

Cards Wallop Pensacola, 8-4

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of some wild pitching today, scoring five runs on only one hit in the fifth inning to defeat Pensacola of the southeastern league, 8 to 4.

In this big inning, six Cards were issued passes, and Joe Medwick's single accounted for two of the runs.

Curt Davis and Clyde Shoun gave home run balls to Carl Bethman and pinch hitter Myron Hayworth, but held their opponents to eight hits.

Iowa Prepares for Annual Y.M.C.A. Swim Meet, April 13

Preparations are going forward for the annual state Y.M.C.A. swimming meet to be held April 13th at the Iowa fieldhouse pool, according to Dave Armbruster, Hawkeye swimming coach. Three district meets have been held and the finalists from each of these will be eligible to compete in the finals here.

The boys are divided into four classes in proportion to age, and the distances have been arranged accordingly. The junior A division includes boys from the ages of 9 to 12; junior B, 13 to 15; intermediate, 16 to 17; and senior, 18 and over. Approximately 150 contestants are expected.

8 Year Development
From a small beginning eight years ago, the state Y-meet has developed into one of the major state tournaments of the year. In 1934, the state was first divided into districts, and the finals have been held annually since then at the university pool.

One of the good things about these meets, according to Coach Armbruster, is that they encourage youngsters to learn and master the various strokes at an early age. A number of men have come up via the Y.M.C.A. route to develop as stars on the Iowa varsity. Prominent freshman swimmers who competed here in last year's tournament are Bob Decker and Clarence Moore of Clinton, Dick Wunchel and Bob Mahood ofavenport, and Gerald Ard of Cedar Rapids.

All-U Champs Crowned In Mat Tourney

Podmajerski Beats Bob Allen; Conrad Tosses Karchomsky

New champions were crowned in the all-university wrestling tournament yesterday to bring to a close the intramural wrestling season.

Sam Karchomsky, champion of the 118-pound division of the Quadrangle, was thrown in two minutes, 54 seconds by Carl Conrad of Sigma Phi Epsilon, in the final match of that division. Karchomsky was runner-up in this same class last year.

Hugh Guthrie was crowned champion in the 126-pound division by gaining a decision over Delta Upsilon's John Sjulin.

Bob Eiel of Sigma Nu took the title in the 135-pound division as he threw Claude Crist of Gables in five minutes, 37 seconds.

A decision was awarded to Ben Kirby of Kellogg over Paul Hanson of Beta Teta Pi in the final wrestling match in the 145-pound class.

In one minute, 21 seconds of the final 155-pound wrestling bout, Harold Montross of the town league threw LePrest of Hillcrest.

The 165-pound wrestling crown was given to Thomas Peterson of Whetstone by a decision over Lewis Cowan of S. A. E.

Ervin Goodman of the town league won the 175-pound class wrestling crown by gaining a decision over the Gables' Johnson.

Bob Allen, defending heavyweight champion, lost to the Quadrangle champion, Paul Podmajerski, by a decision. Allen, winner in the fraternity league, is of S. A. E.

Volleyball Teams Clash In All-U Meet

Nine teams clashed in the intramural volleyball tournament championship round last night. Four teams represented the class A fraternity league, four in the class B fraternity league and two of the Coop league.

In the class A contest, Phi Epsilon Kappa won two consecutive games from Phi Gamma Delta, 15-8 and 6-14. The same Phi Epsilon Kappa team later lost a volleyball series to Delta Upsilon by 15-8 and 16-14 scores.

The class B Phi Gamma Delta team won its volleyball encounter by winning two consecutive games from Sigma Chi, 15-11 and 15-0. In the same league, Delta Upsilon was compelled to win two out of three games from S. A. E. to gain in the championship round. The Deltas won the first game, 15-9, but lost the second encounter, 15-13. But the winners came back strong to win the decisive game, 15-11.

Wilson of the co-op league won two straight games over Manse, 15-8 and 15-7.

Jimmy Foxx Bosox Star Clouts Home Run

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., April 4 (AP)—Five runs off Paul Derringer in the fourth inning and Jimmy Foxx's circuit smash with the bases loaded in the seventh, helped the Boston Red Sox to a 13-3 walkover from the National league champion Reds today.

Three other homers marked the Beantown 15-hit attack: by Cramer in the first, by Finney in the third and Nonnenkamp in the ninth.

Derringer was stung for 11 safeties in five frames. Dickman went eight innings, and scattered eight hits.

Bob Feller Bests Hubbell

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—A pitching duel between Carl Hubbell and Bob Feller that would have elated thousands in a major league city was offered for the edification of 500 fans today as the Cleveland Indians stopped the New York Giants 1 to 0.

The game's only run was a homer by Ben Chapman with two out in the first inning.

Although there is little upon which to base estimates, some of the stronger teams probably will be Fairfield, Little Six conference champion; Valley of West Des Moines, Grinnell, Wilson of Cedar Rapids, Perry, and Knoxville.

Preliminary events to be held tomorrow afternoon will include the sprint and hurdle events. Three final events will be completed at the afternoon session, the two mile relay, quarter mile run and the pole vault.

Coach George Bresnahan will be in charge of the meet and will have some of his varsity and freshman runners on hand for exhibition events at both the afternoon and evening meetings. The 440-yard varsity trackmen will run a special race in their event on the afternoon card and the combined forces of varsity and freshman 880-yard men will stage a race at that distance during the evening affair.

One of the officials slated to pull the trigger on some of the various running events will be Sam Francis, former all-American football player and one of the nation's greatest shot-putters from the University of Nebraska. Sam is doing graduate work here this year.

Poor Tenor! Alone With 12 Babes

But Margaret Was One of the Coquettes—She Enjoyed It

By JESSIE LOU KING

MARGARET DUTTON

Twelve girls and a tenor! That's an experience for anyone, but when the twelve girls are joined into the "Coquettes," an all-women orchestra, and you are one of them, then you have something to talk about. Margaret Dutton, u of Sioux City, knows, for she was a Coquette for three years.

"We're about the only all-girl orchestra outside of Phil Spitalny," says Miss Dutton with enthusiasm, her dark eyes snapping. "We went up and down the Atlantic seaboard last year and even down into Kentucky, playing theaters and night clubs and doing one-night stands. It's lots of fun, nine of us in a seven-passenger Dodge playing all the different places."

Miss Dutton joined the Coquettes three years ago when she was attending Nebraska State Teachers college in Wayne, Neb., and the band came along with a Major Bowes amateur unit. She became a "trumpet" and part of a song trio, interrupting her engagement with the band only long enough to attend classes at the University of Chicago for several months.

Amateur Unit Snap "It was a snap with the amateur unit," says Miss Dutton. "Theater work is easier than night clubs anyhow; the hours are better and usually the kind of people we met around night clubs weren't always the kind we wanted to associate with."

Their greatest difficulty, she says, was getting arrangements of the top tunes when they had no special arranger.

"Baby" Plays Trumpet "Sometimes the theater and night club managers were a little skeptical of all-girl bands," she laughs. "But we have a good name in the east. The 'Baby' of the band, the youngest girl who's a trumpet player too, is with Phil Spitalny this year. And Viola Smith, who's one of the eight sisters who began the Coquettes, is called the fastest girl drummer in the United States."

The favorite story of the band that Miss Dutton always tells is the dog, Skippy, who used to stay under the music stand of her owner until the closing theme music and then came out to say goodbye.

"I could go back to the band this summer," states Miss Dutton. "But my plans are very uncertain. Right now I'm interested in radio and I'm taking radio and dramatic interpretation. But whether I go back or not, I'll always remember those three years as part of the grandest fun I've had."

Life with an all-girl band is really very natural, Miss Dutton insists. "We always had a good time together," she asserts. "Of course we're never in a place long enough to meet many friends and

Union Board, Student Publications Election To Be April 24

L. A. Students To Name 6 To Union Board

Three To Be Named To Board of Trustees Of Student Publications

Wednesday, April 24, has been set for the annual election of three students to the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc., and six liberal arts representatives on Union Board held each spring in Iowa Union.

Elections will be held from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the women's lounge and the Y.W.C.A. rooms of Iowa Union.

Three men and three women will be elected from the college of liberal arts to supplement the 10 other members of Union Board selected by their respective colleges. One representative for each comes from the colleges of dentistry, education, engineering, law, medicine, pharmacy, one from the graduate college, one from the school of nursing and one man and one woman from the college of commerce.

Three students will be elected from the student body to fill two two-year terms on the publications board now filled by George Dunn, L3 of Glenwood, and Frederick Loomis, M4 of Waterloo, and one one-year term now filled by Edward Hoag, A2 of Freeport, Ill.

Qualifications for candidates to the student Union Board are approval by the present board and at least 12 hours service on a Union Board sub-committee. Students who were members of sub-committees this year will be notified concerning their eligibility. All eligible persons will run for office, and those who in previous years have fulfilled requirements may run by presenting an application to Union Board.

Letters will be sent to other colleges and to the school of nursing asking them to choose a member by the method they desire, providing the method has been approved by Union Board.

Board of Trustees Any student eligible to take office next year may be nominated for the board of trustees by a petition with not less than 25 signers. The Union Board, which exists to "encourage, coordinate and sponsor student activities," is a governing unit for all student activities in Iowa Union. All students of the university are ipso facto members of the student union.

Activities of Union Board include work done on the following sub-committees: games, bridge, tea dance, art salon, library, house, and two activities undertaken by the group as a whole, the Homecoming dance and the Club Cabaret.

Present members of Union Board are Bill Sener, G of Chicago, president; Richard F. Witt, A3 of Shell Rock, vice-president; June Hyland, A3 of Traer, secretary; Nona Seberg, A4 of Mt. Pleasant, treasurer, and the following additional members: Edward McCloy, C4 of Iowa City; Jocelyn McRoberts, C4 of Columbus Junction.

Containers For Drugs

Pharmacy Display Shows Old Vessels or Carrying Opium

Modern sanitary containers for pharmaceutical products have come a long way from the animal skin and weed basket containers of yesterday.

On display in the model pharmacy display window this week are drug containers formerly used in foreign countries for transporting drugs from the source to the manufacturer.

A part of the college of pharmacy's early pharmaceutical supplies, the drug containers are a few of the early types still in existence today.

Common drug containers, shown in the display, were animal skins made into sack-like pouches for transporting such drugs as coca leaves and sarsaparilla from Central and South America. The vanilla bean from Mexico, used extensively here today, is exhibited in the display together with an original tin container in which the bean was for many years shipped to this country.

From China the college of pharmacy has secured an early opium container and it is exhibited in the window with a formaldehyde container from Germany.

Prof. James W. Jones of the college of pharmacy will be toastmaster at the banquet. Speakers at the dinner will be Prof. Walter F. Loehwing of the botany department and Dean R. A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy.

Composers Don't Run True to Form

Leon Karel, University Student Composer, Discusses His Work

By BETTY KAY DAUGHTON "Composers don't — as most people suppose — get great flashes of inspiration during the wee small hours, then jump out of bed to create immortal music while the world sleeps!" This is the opinion of Leon Karel, A4 of Iowa City, and Karel should know, for he's a prolific composer in his own right. His "Lamentations," an a cappella choral number written this year, will be included in the university chorus' concert at Iowa Union Wednesday night.

The work might be described as a "slow, sorrowful dirge," Karel commented yesterday. The text is based on words and phrases from the Bible. Reiterating his explosion of the popularly-accepted "composers-are-most-irregular-people" theory, the young musician said he worked at his own composing a few hours each day. Most of it is done in connection with his composition course, taught by Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department. Karel's descriptive tone poem, "The Great Stone Face," will have an audition with the university symphony orchestra, within the next few weeks and will probably be included in a symphony concert soon. Others of his works, including a solo for the flute, will be heard on student recitals throughout the year. He started composing about three years ago, he said. "In those three years, I've decided a lot of my work wasn't any good, but I haven't thrown any of it away. It's fun to go back later, when you've learned more about composing, and see how you've made mistakes—but I don't let anyone see them!" Plans for the future? He plans to stay here and get his M.A. degree next year. After that, he will probably go into teaching. History shows, he comments dryly, that composers, no matter how talented, seldom get sizable incomes from their creative works alone.

Prof. Frank Mott Tips Off Correspondents in New Book

"The best wishes of the community are extended to the happy couple," or "all departed at a late hour wishing Henry many more happy birthdays" won't be written by newspaper correspondents who follow the suggestions of Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the University of Iowa school of journalism. Professor Mott has issued a bulletin through the extension division, "Instructions and Suggestions for Correspondents." It includes what to write, what not to write, pointers, and hints on writing news. And he defines news as "whatever interests readers at a given time, and the best news is that which interests the largest number most." The university man says, for instance, "Keep the paper out of neighborhood quarrels, don't send in obituary poetry, no jokes on local people, no opinion or comment, avoid business locals or veiled advertising." Writing about avoidance of trite expressions, Professor Mott says that no one is ever "on the sick list" any more. Neither do tables "groan with good things." And, he warns, do not write of "the happy pair," or somewhat later, "the happy parents of a bouncing baby boy."

Hillel Members Plan Humorous Meeting Tonight

Advertising Executive Dies BIRMINGHAM, Ala., (AP)—J. J. Eaton, 58-year-old newspaper advertising executive, died yesterday after a long illness.

University Chorus To Give Second Concert Wednesday

Alsopch To Conduct Part of Performance In Iowa Union Lounge

The university chorus will appear in its second concert of the season Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union, Prof. Herald Stark of the music department, conductor of the group, announced yesterday.

The program will include vocal solos, a piano solo by Jack Latimer, A4 of Corning, as well as choral numbers. Music student Leon Karel, A4 of Iowa City, is the composer of the a cappella number, "Lamentations," which will be heard at the concert.

The nine vocalists, who will participate in Liszt's "Benedictus Qui Venit," a second number on the program, are Virginia Swanson, A4 of Vincent, and Margaret Meikle, A3 of Bedford, sopranos; Lois Hook, A2 of Grundy Center, and Katherine Raeds, A2 of Iowa City, altos; Keith Smith, P3 of Iowa City, Mayme Courter, C4 of Winfield, and James Huff, instructor in the music department, tenors, and Keith Sutton, A3 of Paton, and Wilfred Lee, A1 of Good Hope, Ill., basses.

Prof. Addison Alsopch of the music department will conduct part of the performance. The complete program is as follows: Et incarnatus est Crucifixus, (from the "Mass in B Minor").....Bach Benedictus qui Venit, (from "Mis-

Simpson Predicts Change in Europe With Churchill's Elevation—

British Leader Answers New Threat To Nazi Victory Drive

—INTERPRETATIVE—

British Official In Command Of All Forces

New Job Comparable To One Goering Holds Under Nazi Regime

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

The elevation of Winston Churchill, Britain's fire-breathing apostle of war-to-the-death against Nazi Germany, to a dominant role in shaping Franco-British battle strategy bodes an end, soon or late, of hit-and-run tactics in Europe.

When or how "complete war" may come and whether by the initiative of Germany or the allies remains unpredictable. Yet the assignment of Hitlerism's arch foe, Churchill, to virtual command of all British armed forces answered a new and blood-curdling threat of a Nazi "victory" drive in the west.

Challenge Accepted

In effect, Britain had accepted the challenge voiced by Hitler's heir-designate, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, even before it was spoken. The London cabinet shift marks Churchill, potentially, as Goering is already marked by Hitler fiat, for succession to supreme political as well as military command. Churchill's new job is the virtual equivalent of the one Goering holds in Nazidom.

Britain's No. 2 man is now squarely confronting his Nazi rival, Goering, across the bomb, mine and torpedo-infested North sea. Both are men of action as well as words. The personal courage and daring of both have been battle-tested long ago.

And between them they personify in dramatic fashion the fundamental power concept around which this war revolves—sea power versus air power. Churchill is steeped in British sea traditions; Goering the personal symbol of the Nazi conviction that air might will be the dominant factor in world power in the future.

That is one of the great issues at stake in this war. It is the unknown quantity of a great equation that has yet to be worked out by events—decisive battle or ultimate economic strangulation of Germany.

And no two figures towering on the allied-German war stage so dynamically represent that prime issue as do Britain's first lord of the admiralty and Germany's bulky, colorful and forceful air captain. In the popular imagination both already overshadow in some degree the chiefs-tains whom they may succeed before this war ends.

"Blitzkrieg" Threat The announcement of Churchill's elevation came before echoes of Goering's thundering threat of a Nazi "blitzkrieg" in the west had subsided. Circumstances suggest that Berlin had advanced information of what was coming in London, or that she accurately guessed.

A German broadcaster was on the air with the news of the Churchill elevation before the London announcement was released. That suggests that the Goering "blitzkrieg" threat was timed to off-set the British move.

Hope of stirring popular fear in Britain may have been one of the motives for the Goering blast. Nor can it be doubted that it was designed to meet two differing Nazi needs at once, both interlocking with the Churchill advancement.

The blitzkrieg threat came almost from the fountainhead of Nazi power, yet did not actually commit Germany to such an attack. Hitler's veto power was as much stressed by Goering as the Fuehrer's readiness to launch the stroke if need be. That painted Hitler anew as a man of peace, not war, unless goaded to attack by his foes.

The other possible motive made Goering above all the man to voice the threat. During and since the successive crises which led to the war, British white papers and quasi-official accounts of what happened in Berlin have stressed that Goering was reluctant to risk war with Britain.

Over The Week End At S. U. I.

There has been speculation as to whether the allies, particularly Britain, might not be willing to talk peace and appeasement with a Nazi regime headed by Goering. There have even been vague whispers that Hitler might step out some day if assured that he alone stood in the way of a negotiated peace.

There is no authoritative word on which to rest such speculation, yet it persists. And with Winston Churchill at the British war-making helm, peace with Hitler is ruled out of allied plans more definitely and dramatically than by any other word or act.

Iowa Art Instructor Discusses Northern Influences on Renaissance Art—

'The Smile of the Mona Lisa Is a Gothic Smile'—Janson

By MADELYN MILES

"The smile of the Mona Lisa is a Gothic smile."

Although this statement by an eminent art historian is really contradictory to the popular assumption that all Renaissance art had its beginnings in Florence—an assumption that has been believed for centuries—Horst W. Janson of the art department last night pointed out that there might be a great deal of truth in the statement.

Mr. Janson spoke on "The Influence of the North in Early Italian Renaissance Art" in the senate chamber of Old Capitol last night in the next to the last Baconian lecture of the year.

Mr. Janson is, as Prof. J. W. Ashton of the English department pointed out in his introduction of Janson, a pioneer in the research of this field.

The term "Renaissance" has generally been used only in a laudatory sense but recently historians have become less blinded so that they can see the real thing that lay behind the term, in Mr. Janson's opinion. For a long time, "Renaissance" has meant a succession of great individuals and few have inquired into the deeper meaning, he said.

One of the basic characteristics of Renaissance art was the discovery of the individual, and in this, he stated, the northern influence was not merely incidental but vital.

Janson illustrated his points with slides showing the various northern works of art which played a part in influencing Florentine painters, especially the work of da Vinci.

"It was not so much the paintings which were the means of influence—they were too heavy to transport—but the Flemish and German engravings that introduced a new element into Italian painting," Janson explained.

For instance, he humorously remarked, one of the principal northern paintings was sidetracked enroute to Florence, and today hangs in Danzig.

Listing as characteristics which definitely point to northern influence, Janson named such things as Flemish costumes, which appear in Italian works, subject matter which is modeled after the German, and the northern idea of subdivision of paintings into good and bad halves which appears in some early Renaissance art.

The art instructor specifically pointed out the influence of northern artists, especially the Master E. S., whose name is unknown and who is identified only by his initials, had on the work of da Vinci.

He said that many of Leonardo's drawings of grotesque faces is indicative of German prints.

"The Last Supper," said Janson, differs greatly from early Italian Renaissance art. Although it is always called the "echo of Italian temper," it really shows the influence of the north.

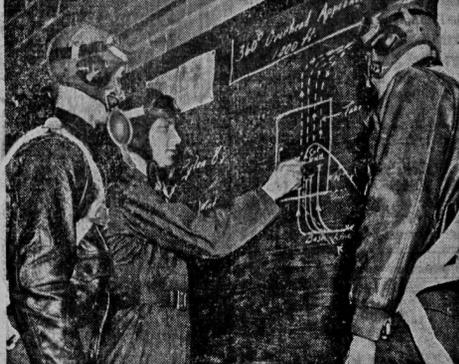

"Madonna of the Grotto" painted by da Vinci while he was in Milan, is another which shows the influence of the Master E. S., Janson stated.

Blackboard Talks Form Part Of Flying Cadets' Training

All flying instruction is not carried on in the air at Randolph Field, Texas, for much precious flying time can be wasted if the flying cadets don't understand thoroughly the principles involved in a new maneuver.

Hence, blackboard lectures are frequently used by the instructor before taking the air for a practical demonstration with his student pilots.

The instructor, center in the above picture, has drawn a diagram illustrating the various phases of the "360-degree approach." Each step in this precision maneuver is discussed thoroughly including the initial take-off, direction of turn, angle of turn, altitude, method of maneuvering until the landing is

11-Year Old Girl Figures in Murder of 4

Tells Sordid Tale of Deaths

Declares Mother Killed 3 Children, Requested Daughter To Kill Her

LOS ANGELES, April 4 (AP)—Police Captain Edgar Edwards said today 11-year-old Chloe Davis had admitted she hammered her mother to death and smashed her 3-year-old brother's skull with the hammer to "quieten him."

Police began questioning the girl after the mother, Mrs. Lotia Bkorkman Davis, and three of her four children were found dead in their home. The children were Daphne, 10, Deborah Ann, seven, and Marquis, three.

Chloe, suffering from a head injury, told police her 36-year-old mother killed the children and then set fire to herself and forced the girl to strike her with a hammer until she "stopped talking."

Dead When She Awoke After several hours of questioning, Edwards said, the girl changed her story that Marquis was dead when she awakened, and that she found her mother striking her young sisters.

Edwards said the girl admitted hitting her brother as well as her mother, but denied striking her sisters.

Chloe said the killings occurred just after her father, Barton Davis, grocery store employe and former Grand Rapids, Mich., resident, left for work.

Edwards said Chloe told him that after beating her mother until she was dead, she heard "Mark"—Marquis—groaning in the kitchen. Then, she said, she hammered him until he stopped groaning.

It was the only change in her original story, Edwards said. She said that after the killings and before telephoning her father, she chatted in the yard with a neighbor, saying nothing of the bodies in the house. The child gave no explanation for such behavior.

Appears Near Tears Only once during the questioning did she appear near tears, when she said, "I've been through a terrible experience."

"You must try to forget it," she was told. "My father is one who should

Arrangements for Community Garden Projects Completed

30 Small Plots Are Available For Planting

'Individual' Crops Have Been Planned Inside City Limits

Final arrangements for the community garden projects have been completed and spring planting will soon begin, according to a statement made yesterday by John Barry, executive secretary of the Social Service league.

The gardens are sponsored each year by the county board of supervisors, the board of social welfare and the Social Service league.

This year, instead of having the usual one large plot of ground outside Iowa City, several garden spots have been selected inside the city limits, Barry explained. By using this method, it will permit more individualized gardens, and also will eliminate transportation expenses to and from the gardens, he said.

Thirty Gardens

A total of 30 gardens have already been selected and made available for people on relief, he stated. County officials have rented a group of lots in the south and east additions of Iowa City. Lots which have been sold for taxes have been donated by the city and several individuals have donated lots for the project.

"Around 300 persons were given seeds and ground in the community garden last year," Barry said, "and we expect at least that many to participate again this year."

Outside of Iowa City there is little trouble in finding garden spots for those on relief, he asserted, because there are so many inexpensive garden spots available.

Seeds Purchased

Seeds for the gardens have been purchased in carload lots through funds furnished by the county and state, he said. Over 18,000 pounds of seed potatoes have been purchased and are now being distributed by John Miller, the county gardener, and his assistant, Charles Kindl.

Miller and Kindl are provided by the WPA, and are to supervise the entire community garden program. After the gardens are planted, it is the job of these men to check each garden and to see that proper attention is given it. Also they are available to give advice on any gardening problems that may arise.

"Seeds will be distributed only to persons on direct relief or to persons meeting the requirements of the Social Service league," Barry explained.

Seed Distribution

The amount of seeds distributed to each family will depend entirely upon the size of the family and the amount of county and state relief the family is already receiving.

In addition to the seeds purchased, hot beds were made at the county home two weeks ago. Cabbage and tomato plants, growing in these beds, will be ready for distribution in less than a month, according to Barry.

Church Plans Annual Dinner

Magician Will Perform At Banquet for Fathers, Sons at 6 Tonight

The annual First Congregational church father and son banquet will be held tonight at 6 o'clock in the church vestry.

Fred Wade will serve as toastmaster of the program which is to follow the dinner.

John Goodrum, G of Vicksburg, Miss., a magician, will perform sleight of hand tricks.

Don Wenstrom, E3, high point man on the varsity swimming team, will give a brief address to the group.

A violin selection will be played by Edward Korab, and the Rev. Llewelyn A. Owen will lead the group in community singing.

Alexander Kern of the English department will give a toast of welcome to the sons. James Bower, a high school student, will answer with a toast in behalf of the sons.

Chimney Spark Sets Mop Afire

Sparks from a chimney which was burning out set fire to an oil mop at the Stemen's cafe yesterday at 1:30 p.m.

Firemen who answered the call extinguished the blaze. No damage was reported.

The department also answered a call to extinguish a grass fire at 3rd and D avenues. Slight damage was caused by the blaze.

The other two students participating in the argument were John Donahey, Panora, and Paul F. Kriethe Jr., Burt.

According to Arthur O. Lefl, there can be no definite "winner" in an appeal case such as was heard yesterday. Each of the four men spoke for 20 minutes during which time they were open to questions by the justices.

Last night, Chief Justice Hamilton presented the plaques to the four participants in the court arguments. Dean Mason Ladd gave a brief address; Judge P. J. Stegers presented prizes to second year contestants, and a short skit was presented at the banquet.

Eight Honored

The Order of Coif, an honorary organization in the college of law, initiated Chief Justice Hamilton and seven law students yesterday. They are Maurice F. Donegan, L3 of Davenport; Matthew J. Heartney Jr., L3 of Des Moines; Wilbert H. Kehe, L3 of Denver; James McCarthy, L3 of Keokuk; Glenn C. Metcalf, L3 of Moline; R. Bruce Townsend, L3 of Garwin, and Lucille Schwick, of Webster City, graduate of last year.

The Order of Coif, according to Mr. Lefl, is one of the highest honors that can come to a student in the law school. The honor is extended and limited to those students who rank in the upper tenth of the senior class, and to those who have achieved distinction in the legal profession. Order of Coif certificates were awarded by Prof. Rollin M. Perkins at the luncheon held yesterday noon in the Law Commons.

Establish New Iowa Lab For Social Studies

Will Help Teachers At Summer Session Reorganize Courses

Another social studies curriculum laboratory, in which teachers may reorganize their instructional material, has been set up at the University of Iowa.

It will be available during the summer session from June 10 to Aug. 2. The teacher will be able to work on his own course materials and also to secure credit toward an advanced degree.

William G. Kimmel, former supervisor of social studies for the New York state department of education, will direct the work, assisted by members of the University high school social studies staff. Dr. Kimmel is co-author of "Democracy at Work" and "Changing Currents of American History."

Flexibility will be the laboratory's keynote. Each teacher will be expected to bring a project peculiar to his individual teaching situation. Registration will be limited to 50 persons.

Yetter's Petition For Discharge Of Obligations

Ida B. Yetter, Chris, L. W. and R. A. Yetter, co-partners of Yet-

ter's department store here, yesterday filed in United States District court at Davenport a petition under the federal Chandler act, No. 511, proposing discharge of existing obligations which the firm is at present unable to meet.

Under the petition all unsecured creditors would be paid in full in 25 monthly installments. All wages, taxes, and other similar items would be paid at the direction of the court, and all new debts incurred would be considered prior claims.

L. W. Yetter and Chris Yetter yesterday said the proposal in no way affects the retail operation of the store, and that business will be carried on as usual.

The petition listed liabilities as $58,744.06, including secured claims of $6,675 and unsecured claims of $49,650.16. Assets are listed as $111,950.72, including principle items of $75,196.17 of stock in trade and open accounts in the amount of $18,038.66.

Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey referred the case to Walter A. Newport, referee.

Contrary to popular opinion, small bits of glass may be eaten and apparently will not injure the human body.
