Anamosa Journal Wins Typography Award

The Anamosa Journal was the first winner of an annual award for typographical excellence in a weekly or semi-weekly Iowa newspaper after a 1940 contest sponsored by the Iowa chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. The award was made in Des Moines Friday night at a meeting of the Iowa Press association, and Henry D. Geerdes, formerly of Wellsburg, now news editor of the Anamosa Journal, was on hand to receive the winning plaque from James Fox, Daily Lowan editor and president of the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi. Here's the Mott, director of the University of Iowa school of journalism; Geerdes, Fox and Earl English, instructor in the Iowa school. The three S. U. I. men were the contest judges. Geerdes is a University of Iowa graduate of 1939.

'I Write Poetry To Make My Poems Sound Different—'

Robert Frost Seeks to 'Corner Truth' of Poetry

By MADELYN MILES
America's "most respected and best loved" poet, Robert Frost spoke to a packed auditorium in Macbride hall last night—the last university lecture of the season. Having no formal title for his lecture, the famous New Englander discussed "why is a poet good" and "what are the things that make good poetry."

sure, what, makes good poetry. People all have different standards on which to judge the greatness of poetry, he said. Some say "perfection of sympathy or humility," some say "a philosophical element" is most important. Frost's standards would be "whether a poem means anything" and secondly "whether the words are good for it."

sumption. "If the rhyme or meter does anything suspicious to it, it is spoiled." If one must put in a word or omit a word for the sake of rhyme or meter, he said, then the poem is better off in prose. Frost read some of his own poems—familiar ones—"Stopping By a Woods on a Snowy Eve" and "Mending Wall"; the applause of the audience showed convincing popularity. Bits of "Frostian" wit were interposed between the poems.

"The Drumlun Woodchuck" is a smug poem," he said, "but then I have a right to write one smug poem." His eyes twinkled when he repeated his answer to the question that is often put to him: "Why do you write poetry?" "I write poetry to make the poems sound different," He defended Longfellow against attacks leveled at him by college professors. Agreeing that the merits of Longfellow's "threadbare" poems are hard to judge, he suggested that some of Longfellow's lesser-known works would stand well under modern criticism. Frost put forth a test for verse—taking four lines of a poem and testing the validity of each pair of lines. He illustrated his point by reading quatrains from well-known poets. The great New England poet, three times winner of the Pulitzer prize for poetry, concluded his lecture by reading the highly-whimsical "Departmental."

Economyites Resigned To Relief Increase

Fund Expected To Top F. R.'s Budget Estimate: Pro-Sentiment Grows

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Economy advocates in congress virtually resigned themselves today to an increase in next year's relief fund beyond President Roosevelt's budget estimate of $985,000,000. Senator Adams (D-Colo.), chairman of the subcommittee that will handle the relief appropriation bill, expressed belief the budget estimate would have to be increased but said he did not think the total outlay would exceed $1,300,000,000. It was indicated that administration leaders expected some definite expression from the White House.

Rustic Chit-Chat

Three members of the cast of "Country Dance" presented by the Mask and Candle Players of Des Moines were Virginia Schrekengost, Wanda Jackson Poarch and Betty Tranbarger. Sylpha Snook, director, is a festival "veteran"—she has brought plays to the festival ever since it began 15 years ago.

Three Players Win Superior Judge's Rating

Original Play by Stone Tops for Production, Playwriting in Festival
Iowa City Woman's club carried off six top honors in the Iowa play production festival for community players, which last night brought to a close two weeks of festival activity in University theater. In the class B division, the local entry, "When the Whirlwind Blows" was rated excellent and a member of the cast, Mrs. David Braverman, was commended for "meritorious acting." Other members of the cast were Mrs. H. J. Thornton and Elenore Lee White. Frederic L. Darley, G of Silver City, N. M., directed the production.

Nations Told To Act Firmly Against Allies

Anglo-French Decision To Cut Off Iron Ore Supply Angers Germany
By The Associated Press
Expanding moves of the British-French allies to throttle Germany economically, countered by a new German warning to neutrals caught in the middle of the squeeze, combined today to make April's first week end another nervous period for the nations involved. The Germans said it would be a "decisive week end," and an authorized spokesman warned northern neutrals to stand up for their rights against "Anglo-French and other activity directed against the neutrality of the Scandinavian area." One important factor in the situation was the determination of the allies to cut off the flow of iron ore, so badly needed by Germany, which comes by neutral waters to the rich. Neutral Norway and Sweden received notes from Britain and France which apparently went deeply into the allied position that they have a right to block German ore ships plying Scandinavian waters. All the northern neutrals gave close attention to the declaration of Norwegian foreign minister Halvdan Koht, who told the storting (parliament) that Norway "will at once be at war" if one side in the European war should undertake to interfere with her free shipping. He meant that such action by the allies would bring German retaliation which would surely drag Norway into the conflict. Britain and France went ahead with their ambitious economic offensive, regardless, sealing their plans with a statement that "complete agreement and common determination" for a stiffer blockade exists between the allies.

Soviet Union Tries Bettering U. S. Relations

Russian Bear Would Have Uncle Sam Forget Causes for Frigidity
WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—The Russian bear is pulling in his claws and extending a friendly paw to Uncle Sam, hoping that by-gones will be by-gones. But Uncle is not now willing to hold out his arms for an embrace. Russian-American relations in the last six months have been about as bad as relations between the United States and another nation have ever been in recent years. Two major and one minor cause may be cited as the reasons. The two majors are the understanding between Stalin and Hitler which rent Poland assunder, and the invasion of Finland in December. The minor was the incident involving the American freighter City of Flint at Murmansk, Russia, and the total lack of cooperation manifested by the Moscow government—its neglect even to supply this government with information about the ship which was held by a German prize crew. Now, of these, one major and one minor cause have ceased to exist. The Russo-Finnish war is over, and the City of Flint matter is a closed incident. And the other major cause—the Russo-German lineup—is wrapped in uncertainty, no one knowing exactly what Russia will do.

Business Curve Points Upward; Stock Market Has Busy Week

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—After a hard fall in the first three months of this year, the nation's business curve again pointed upward today. With steel, textiles and other key markets feeling a spring-time revival of buying, Wall Street hopes for broader industrial expansion were mirrored in the heaviest demand for stocks and bonds since the autumn war boom briefly flashed on the speculative stage. Completing the busiest week of the year on the stock exchange, leading steels, motors and miscellaneous industrial shares rose to new tops for the spring upturn in today's short session. The war business angle was spotlighted by a rise in shipbuilding shares, apparently on the expectation that American yards were in for more orders to help fill a void in the world market for cargo carriers. As explanation for the rejuvenation of bullish feeling, Wall Street commentators cited various developments in business the past week, indicating a possible lasting turn. Among these were the widest advance in steel production since January, brisk ordering of textiles, the biggest rail equipment order of the new year, reports of "surprisingly" good automobile sales and an FHA official forecast home construction in 1940 would be the greatest in 12 years.

No Wages For Russell? Civil Liberties Union Rebukes LaGuardia For Budget Omission

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—The American civil liberties union today rebuked Mayor LaGuardia for omitting from next year's budget a provision for the $8,000 salary of Bertrand Russell, the legality of whose appointment to a teaching post at City college is still a court issue. "This method of negating the action of your board of higher education seems to us even more objectionable than the decision of Justice McGehean based upon his own prejudices," the ACLU said in a communication to the mayor. Supreme Court Justice John E. McGehean a week ago revoked the appointment of the titled British philosopher on the ground that Russell in his books had advocated "immoral and salacious doctrines."

Some Factors Point To Permanent Rise In Business Activity

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—After a hard fall in the first three months of this year, the nation's business curve again pointed upward today. Rain May Spoil Eclipse Today, So Scientists Fly for Pictures

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 6 (AP)—Clouds and rain tomorrow may spoil the show of a generation—a rare ring eclipse of the sun—for millions of spectators, but astronomers are prepared to fly miles into the air to photograph the event. Forecasters dashed hopes of amateur and professional observers in the United States when they said bad weather would prevail over most of the narrow southern United States line on which the fiery ring would be visible. Court Serves 90 Subpoenas On Reds, Nazis

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Chairman Dies (D-Tex) announced tonight that the house committee on un-American activities had ordered 90 subpoenas served this week end in a general drive against the communist party and the German-American Bund. Dies said 50 subpoenas had been issued for communists including William Z. Foster, national chairman, and Earl Browder, general secretary. Forty subpoenas, he said, were issued for bundsmen including officials who have taken charge of that organization since Fritz Kuhn, its former leader, was sent to prison in New York after conviction of misappropriating bund funds.

Iowa City High Captures 8 Events in Final Day of Pre-State Contest—

Local Musicians Win 29 First Division Ratings

Iowa City will be represented in 29 events at the state music contest held at Fairfield, April 25, 26 and 27 as local soloists and musical groups walked away in the Class AA-A division of the pre-state contest held at Wellman during the past three days. Yesterday's division of the pre-state contest gave Iowa City an additional eight first division winners; 21 first place winners came through Thursday's and Friday's contests. State contest events in which Iowa City groups of individuals will participate include four vocal solos, seven woodwind solos, two percussion instrument solos, five brass solos, two brass groups, three woodwind groups, two string groups and the girls' sextet. The state contest is divided into four districts. The northwest section of the state contest will be held at Ft. Dodge, the southwest district at Atlantic and the northeast district at Waterloo. Winners in the districts will go to the regional contest at St. Paul, Minn. The results of yesterday's competition are as follows: Chamber group of woodwinds—class AA-A: division one, Iowa City; division two, Washington. B-flat clarinet quartet—class AA-A: division one, Iowa City; division two, Washington. Woodwind quintet—class AA-A: division one, Iowa City; division two, Washington. Bassoon solo—class AA-A: division one, Bonita Lansing, Iowa City; division two, Washington. B flat clarinet solo—class AA-A: division one, Bob Merriam, Iowa City; division two, Ottumwa. Oboe solo—class AA-A: division one, William Gower Jr., Iowa City. Alto and tenor saxophone solo—class AA-A: division one, Susan Showers, Iowa City; division two, Ottumwa. Girls' sextet—class AA-A: division one, Iowa City; division two, Washington.

Argentina Incident Irks Argentina
BUENOS AIRES, April 6 (AP)—The Argentine government, indignant over the escape of three officers and two sailors of the scuttled German warship Admiral Graf Spee, today ordered the remaining officers and higher ranking members of the interned crew confined on Martin Garcia island, a naval base in the River Plata 80 miles from Buenos Aires. The government, announcing the decision to send 32 officers and 208 warrant officers and cadets to the island Tuesday, said: "Argentina has been excessively generous to these officers and sailors who came to our country last December after their own ship was destroyed. But we cannot continue to let our neutrality be jeopardized, therefore we have taken steps to ensure that they will not be able to return to Germany to resume belligerent action."

Fights Action On Utilities

Enforcement of 'Death Sentence' for Holding Companies Resisted
WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—The government's attempt to enforce the holding company "death sentence" against the nation's nine largest power systems met blunt resistance today from the first company to reply fully to the securities commission's show-cause order. While acknowledging that its operations were not confined to the "single integrated public-utility system" defined by the holding company act, Engineers Public Service company declared that the "death sentence" was unconstitutional. It petitioned the securities commission to dismiss integration proceedings. (The "death sentence" requires the corporate structures of utility systems to be simplified and directs that operating companies of a holding company must form a single system or be in contiguous areas.) Engineers contended that, to comply with the integration section, it would be forced to dispose of large blocks of securities and other assets within a maximum period of two years, which would result in "a forced liquidation" of its assets.

Martin Dies Hits Another Snag

A LOT of people are certainly scared of Martin Dies, because Mr. Dies is having no end of trouble in gaining access to the membership lists of the communist party in Uncle Sam's household.

But Mr. Dies has gone ahead, using "constitutional means" in an effort to get hold of those names. In order to investigate the activities of those charged by Dies with working toward the destruction of the civil rights of Americans when "the day" comes.

Mr. Dies has run into a lot of difficulties. He's found a great many people shouting that he's un-American because he's investigating so-called un-Americans. He had a tough time getting congress to give the green light to his committee for another year. He's caused squawks aplenty from parlor pinks who didn't really know themselves whether they were communists, but who found themselves suddenly in the bright stare of Mr. Dies' committee, faced with contempt, or treason to a cause they probably weren't sure about.

In many cases they've taken contempt, and the eyes of the public have turned to a radical suddenly become red.

The latest episode finds two of Mr. Dies' investigators held in Philadelphia because they forcefully sought to investigate communists in a certain locality there.

Now Martin Dies has appealed to the nation to tell Uncle Sam just what they think of his activities. He wants America to tell him whether his tactics are "right," to voice points-of-view regarding the whole business of investigating un-American activities.

If they only respond, we'll be able to discover the attitude of the nation as a whole over an organization that has been held up to ridicule, laughed at, despite a tinge of realization on the part of everyone that at least Mr. Dies has been driving a lot of people to cover.

The important question is "why" they're running for cover. Why, may we ask, should communists fear investigation when the United States has a recognized communist party, communist newspapers, and communist philosophers in abundance. And why should Mr. Dies not be permitted to know who's who among the reds?

Maybe Mr. Dies is really after something bigger than anybody's thought heretofore. At least there's no harm in giving some serious thought to the possible ultimate effect of "un-Americanism," and let's hope the nation satisfies Dies' demand to know what Americans think of his work.

The 1940 Student Salon Of Art Opens

TODAY THE university's seventh annual student salon of art sponsored by Union Board will have its formal opening in Iowa Union. Continuing through the week, this exhibit is limited to graduate and undergraduate students in the university.

Judges from the art department are selected by Union Board to judge the entries for quality awards. Popularity awards will be determined following balloting today by those who attend the initial showing.

The works of the six winners of outstanding awards will be shown in schools of the Big Ten in a traveling exhibit.

This is but one phase of the university program, and like other outstanding departmental projects, it will be well attended by a large group of university and townspeople, representative not only of the art department, but of departments foreign to art. Campus-wide support of a departmental project is but one indication of a well-balanced university. It is fitting that the exhibit should take place in Iowa Union and that it should be sponsored by Union Board, representative of the university as a whole. Continued support of these projects aids the whole university, as well as the department sponsor, in that it strengthens one side of a many-sided institution.

A 'Strike' At Spring's First Circus

THE CIRCUS—or more properly, "the greatest show in earth"—is back in New York with its usual fanfare and its ever-colorful personnel. There was the usual enthusiastic welcome, too, which is always extended to this official harbinger of spring, but this time there was another, less welcome, welcoming committee: a group of pickets carrying signs proclaiming a strike.

The New Yorker, perhaps, won't mind. He has become used to seeing pickets outside of almost every restaurant, almost every hotel. They harmlessly shuffle up and down until they seem to be no more than a part of the scenery.

The fact remains, however, that picketing has become more than a nuisance which the good-natured soon get used to. The strike was called by the Circus, Carnival, Fair and Rodeo workers international union over a contract which the circus management refused to discuss if the union could not prove it represented a majority of the employees. No one has, apparently, walked out, yet pickets were sent to the "garden" by the union where there has actually been no strike.

The right of men to strike can not be contested, and picketing is a rightful weapon of the striker. But it is evident that that right is being abused at the expense of circus-goers in New York at the present time as well as those who have expressed no desire to walk out of their jobs. The problem of separating the legitimate picket from the "phoney" is becoming a pressing one. It will be settled sooner or later. The patience of those who have long borne the brunt of the nuisance will determine when.

It Could Happen Here!

THE following incident could happen here:

Professor: Mr. Smith, did you read the outside reading, "—"? Smith: No, sir, the circulation desk in general reports that the book was charged out to a member of the faculty.

Prof: That's a poor excuse, Smith. This assignment has been made for a month.

Smith: I've tried, sir, every day to get that book. It's still charged to a member of the faculty and there is only one copy.

(The professor exits. In a few minutes he returns.) Prof: Smith, I hate to admit it, but—ah—er—that book is charged out to me!

The state of Massachusetts has already selected next Nov. 28 as the day it will celebrate Thanksgiving. Regardless, no doubt, of who will then be president.

The man at the next desk wants to know that if a good-looking girl steals a kiss from you, should it be called pretty larceny?

ON WHICH FRONT? The expected intensification of the war is taking place, but not yet in the way expected. The British prime minister's speech in the house of commons Tuesday pointed rather to a tightening of economic pressures than to a release of the furies of slaughter.

Some Britons, and many Frenchmen, have been increasingly insistent on more vigorous action in recent weeks. But the British government apparently feels that emphasis on the economic front is still justified.

While the third reich has been able to impress its own and to some extent the allied peoples with spectacular diplomatic maneuvers, Britain's economic maneuvers have attracted relatively scant attention. But the cumulative effect of trade treaties through which neutrals' supplies are being diverted from Germany may yet be as impressive as any number of meetings on the Brenner Pass or in Moscow.

That this is more than a possibility is indicated in new talk among German leaders of a "blitzkrieg" to "end the war." If spring does bring Europe to a rendezvous with total war, after all, the event seems more likely to be precipitated by an act of German desperation than by a sudden change of front on the part of the allies. This is not to say that the shakeup in the British cabinet may not be followed by a more active military policy on the part of the allies. But neither belligerent has shown much eagerness as yet for an "all-out" war.

Stewart Says Bridges as Interesting a Candidate For Republican Presidential Nomination as Any

In his own peculiar way, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is as interesting a candidate for the next republican presidential nomination as there is in the field. Not only is he interesting; he's amusing.

I'd bet 100 to 1 that he won't be nominated. A few weeks ago I'd have bet 1,000 to 1. I think any political commentator would have agreed with me then, and that the cogniscent will agree with me on, the 100 to 1 basis, yet. But there's quite a difference between 1,000 to 1 and 100 to 1.

And as to the vice presidential nomination? Well, as to that, the anti-Bridges chances remain enormously more than one.

But never in American history has a White House aspirant gone after his desired job with the energy Senator Bridges has. Never has one started from scratch and gained on the rest of the field as he has done. Why, not more than three months ago, his proposal of himself, as an occupant of the executive mansion, didn't even attract a "pooh-pooh" from practical politicians. The other day, though, I glimpsed an editorial comment to the purport that "We need another New Englander (another Calvin Coolidge) at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue."

Senator Bridges was the individual obviously referred to.

Bridges simply has gone after that nomination absolutely unprecedentedly.

He's set up an organization which rivals the activities of the G. O. P. national committee. The mail of every political writer in the country is flooded with his publicity. He's made speeches here, there and everywhere. He's getting acquainted.

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

Bridges' terrific energy is funny. His publicity manager is Carlisle Bargeron.

I asked Carlisle about him. "He's a liberal conservative," said Carlisle. "He expects to be the standard bearer of the reconstructed republican party."

The fact is, I take it, that Bridges is counting a good deal more on 1944 than on 1940. Perhaps he realizes the hundreds-to-one odds against him this time (though he doesn't recognize 'em). He wouldn't have good sense if he didn't. But he's gambling on his own (and Carlisle's) prophesy.

The New Hampshire statesman is only 42 years old. Even in 1944 he still will be presidentially plenty young. He's young for a senator now. They say a presidential aspirant ought to have had executive experience. One of the counts against Thomas E. Dewey is that he hasn't had any. But Senator Bridges has, young as he is. He's been governor of New Hampshire. He's a lawyer, an economist, quite an authority on agriculture and a first-class business man.

He qualifies all right, as to all the technicalities.

His geography is wrong, to be sure. Presidential candidates generally are chosen from politically doubtful states, and New Hampshire normally is safely republican. Besides, it hasn't as large a population as a presidential state ought to have. That is, it doesn't cast a big enough vote.

New England is in a somewhat out-of-the-way corner of the country, too. At least theoretically it hasn't much appeal to Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and farther west, or to Dixie, either.

Getting Acquainted But Senator Bridges is attending to that latter detail by getting personally acquainted everywhere. He's toured this nation with a thoroughness probably unequalled in history. He can talk sympathetically and understandingly to any kind of an audience, from plutocrats down to sharecroppers.

Versatility is Bridges' middle name. Or it would be if he had a middle name. Originally his name was Henry Styles Bridges, but he dropped the "Henry" because, he says, most great Americans have had only two names—like George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover and others. Cleveland, Wilson and Hoover started with three names apiece, by the way, but jettisoned one-third each, just as formerly-Henry Styles Bridges is doing. He doesn't overlook a single consideration.

And if he keeps up his present publicity lick, who shall say that he won't "get away with it" sooner or later?

Black Spiders Murders Out

Audiences Go For Screw-Ball Comedy Like Hellz A Poppin'

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It has been years since the Black Spider variety of murder play has been successful on Broadway, and yet hardly a month passes that some supposedly smart producer doesn't come to premiere with another such drama that barely gets its head across the footlights before the ax-men chop it off. These losses run into thousands of dollars and frequently they are followed by guest pieces in the newspapers, written by the producers and the playwrights themselves, which submit that the critics are ignorantly incompetent and sometimes perversely at that.

It seems to me the greatest fault of the producers lies in their sense of selectivity. In an era torn by war, political crisis and economic upheaval, who wants to be reminded that tomorrow we may die? People want to laugh. They need to be taught how to relax. There is reality enough in the newspaper headlines to remind them to weep.

I walked into a 44th street theater the other night for the opening of a play which, up till three o'clock on the afternoon of its opening day, had cost its backers exactly $31,000. This money was already down a rat hole. Unless the public caught on, unless the public found it acceptable, all the weeks of terrifying (to those who needed the jobs) and expensive and exhaustive work would be absolutely for nothing. By the end of the second act all but two of the critics had departed. Next morning the death notices were recorded in clear-cut statements by the critics. The play ran through six performances, but actually it was as dead as the speakery era long before the first act curtain fell on the first performance.

You hear many people mention Hellz-a-poppin and wonder why it continues to play to packed audiences. It is sneered at because it is based on prat-falls and low comedy that tickled grandpa 40 years ago. I hadn't thought of it until now, but Hellz-a-poppin begins to make sense. It makes people laugh. It makes people get out of their seats and dance in the aisles. They come out into the streets after 11 o'clock in the evening with tears running down their cheeks, and if the tears quickly freeze on their faces, that is of no concern to the theater-goers themselves. They have plenty of warmth inside, the warmth that comes from the old time laughter that begins at the belt and shakes them right down to their toes.

What are the plays that have been successful in New York this season? Skylark, which is a light, sentimental comedy; The Man Who Came to Dinner, an out-and-out farce; The Male Animal, a screw-ball college comedy; Life With Father, the old family album with modern wisecracks; The Philadelphia Story, sophisticated comedy; and the musicals, the laughing, dancing, melodious reviews.

There are other successes, but with one or two isolated exceptions, they all must be predicated on the theory that laughter makes dollars.

That Key Largo achieved a limited success on Broadway may be attributed to the prestige of the Playwrights company, which produced it; to Maxwell Anderson, who wrote it, and to Paul Muni, who came on from Hollywood in a return to the theater for that particular play and gave a fine performance. Key Largo, actually, was sordid and dreary with the eternal dreariness of the Spanish civil war, and people who saw it, though they had praise for Muni, spoke of him through faces that were melancholy and drawn.

With wintry weather continuing in many parts of the country, Grandpappy Jenkins is beginning to wonder whether spring was torpedoed or just scuttled.

Bernarr McFadden, the physical culturist, is going to run for the United States senate. We hope he makes it and then, on inauguration day, we'll see what he looks like under a hat—and a silk one, at that!

Fairfield Wins Title In State Prep Meet

Pressbox Pickups By OSCAR HARGRAVE

There is, around the Iowa baseball field, indication that there will be a pitching staff of at least average efficiency, even after the veterans of the present staff have graduated.

Coach Otto Vogel, looking ahead to next year, which he will face without the services of Harold Haub and Fred Hohenhorst, is working, especially during the non-conference season, on the future staff, with Bob Stastny, a junior, and several sophomores as the material.

Besides Stastny, who will probably carry a good share of this year's pitching load, Vogel has Ted Gordinier, a rangy southpaw, Dick Hein, the six foot, four inch right hander who shut out Luther for seven innings yesterday, Wendell Hill and Cecil Schomer as excellent possibilities.

Hein is another who can throw them in there and if a man as long as Hein can throw he usually does all right. The Hein delivery is ended with Big Dick's long right arm about half the way to the plate—he practically drops the ball down on the batters.

The other two, Hill and Schomer, have been a bit wild in spots, but have speed and are, apparently, hard workers. So, it can be safely said that some of the sophs are apt to be of considerable use next season, meanwhile doing a portion of the work this spring.

Stastny, of course, is a veteran now and, if his job against Luther Friday is any indication, will be a tough nut for Big Ten hitters.

This week, an ambitious one for the Hawkeyes, will be just as rugged for the first opponents. The Vogelmen, who go on to Notre Dame for two games after the Purdue series, have four tough games in as many days, while Purdue has, besides Iowa, a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are getting set for the big league season.

'Laughing Boys' Lead Master's Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, G., April 6 (AP)—It's still Jimmy Demaret and Lloyd Mangrum, the "laughing boys" of the golf links, in the Augusta Masters' tournament. Going into tomorrow's final round of this climatic tournament will be leading Mangrum by one shot. They were tied at 36 holes, but this afternoon Demaret, even though he wasn't feeling any too well, clipped the exacting Augusta National golf club course for a 70, two under par, to post a 54-hole total of 209 compared to Mangrum's 210. They aren't the only horses in the race. Coming down the stretch are Slugging Sam Snead and Craig Wood, the man who was beaten by a nose in the first two Masters' tournaments in 1934 and 1935. Snead, starting four strokes off the 36-hole, moved up a notch on a 62 for 212. Wood, six shots back at the halfway mark, cut that deficit in two with a brilliant five-under-par 67 that tied him with Snead for third place

Charles City Gets Second U-High Tracksters Get 11 Markers; C. Hightshoe Stars

By ED BAIRD A fleet Fairfield high school track team added another team championship to its credit last night by annexing the first class B state indoor track and field meet with a total of 40 points. A week ago the team won the Little Six conference championship.

The meet, which brought together 42 schools from all over the state, was packed with thrills from start to finish. The preliminary events in all of the contests were held earlier in the afternoon along with three final events, and all final races and field events were staged and completed in last night's show.

Charles City proved a surprise entry in the meet, holding the lead in total team points to the closing events of the evening, when the Fairfield squad displayed a rushing power that swept in needed points to victory. Charles City was not far behind at the close of the affair with 37 markers.

Workers of the Grinnell school proved to be the outstanding individual performer of the meet winning the 50-yard dash in 5.8 seconds and leaping to victory in the broad jump with a body-heave of 21 feet, 3 inches.

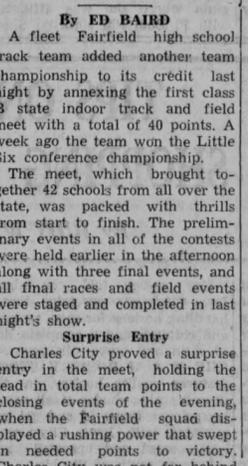

Other contestants that were notable in their form and action during their events were Clarence Hightshoe of University high, Norman of Fairfield, who won the 60-yard low hurdles in 7.3 seconds, and Beardsley of Anamosa, the winner of the shot put with a tremendous toss of 48 feet 2 1/2 inches.

U-High Gets 11

University high, champions of the Eastern Iowa conference, were unable to place very high in the final scoring taking only 11 points. Denison totaled 29 points for a safe third spot ahead of Knoxville with 20 9-10 points. Anamosa was good for 20 figures to hold fifth place.

Prasse Scores - McKinney Swings

Hein, Iowa sophomore, limited the invaders to three hits in seven innings, while Carey of Luther stopped Iowa with four hits and one run during the game. Wendell Hill, who took over the mound duties in the eighth, also held Luther scoreless.

The action in yesterday's game was restricted to few hits, but there were thrills as Iowa's baseball team beat Luther college, 1-0. In the top picture the Hawk-eyes scored the winning, and only, run of the game. Erwin Prasse, Iowa second-baseman, is shown coming across the plate with the score. Prasse hit safely, advanced to third on a pair of infield outs and came home on Bob Cook's single in the eighth. Below, Harlan McKinney, Luther first-baseman, swings vainly at one of Dick Hein's pitches in the seventh inning.

Wilbur Nead Wins Mat Title Around The Big Leagues

AMES, April 6 (AP)—Wilbur Nead of Iowa City, former University of Iowa star, and Henry Wittenberg of the Westside Y.M.C.A., New York City, stole a march on the national A.A.U. wrestling field by winning individual championships here today.

The seven other individual titles were up for dispute tonight as the tournament entered its final round. Nead collected the heavyweight crown by taking a decision from George Meyer, another westside Y.M.C.A. competitor, in the fourth round, and Wittenberg won the 174-pound title when he threw Charles Hetfield, Jr., of St. Paul, in 2:09 minutes in a fifth round engagement.

Two of the four 1939 champions were eliminated during the afternoon contests. Virgil Cavagnaro, Oregon state college performer who took the 191-pound championship at San Francisco last year, dropped out when he was beaten in two matches today. He lost a third round decision to August Bolinski of Iowa State Teachers college and was thrown by Howard Buck of Iowa state college in the fourth round.

Herbert T. Farrell of Roselle Park, N. J., the 112-pound winner a year ago, was removed from the 118-pound competition by Casey Fredericks of Purdue university in the fourth round after Farrell had won a third round match by a fall.

Edward Collins of the New York A. C., defending 123-pound champion, and Walter Jacob of Ithaca, N. Y., the 158-pound ruler, stayed in the battle for 1940 championships.

Chet Ross' Homers Help Bees Win, 11-4

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 6 (AP)—Two long distance home runs by rookie Chet Ross accounted for six runs and paced the Boston Bees to an 11-4 triumph today over the Savannah team of the "Sally" league.

Cardinals Whip Pelicans Easily, 8-2

NEW ORLEANS, April 6 (AP)—Mort Cooper did a neat seven-inning turn on the mound today as the St. Louis Cardinals nipped their southern association affiliate, New Orleans, 8 to 2, in an exhibition game.

Cooper yielded only four hits before being relieved by Bob Welland, who finished the game by giving one safe blow. Cooper climaxed his performance by fanning Jim Asbell with the bases loaded to end the seventh inning.

The Cards scored five runs in the seventh on five singles, a walk and a sacrifice.

White Sox, Pirates Rained Out at Enid

ENID, Okla., April 6 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates, rained out here today, moved on to Wichita, Kas., for resumption of their spring exhibition series tomorrow.

Vallie Eaves and John Rigney will pitch for the Sox and Max Butcher and Bob Klinger for the Bucs.

Joe Cronin Helps Cincy Reds Win, 12-5

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., April 6 (AP)—Joe Cronin, Cincinnati Reds manager, led his team to a 12-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today in a game that was rained out for the first time in the series.

Yanks Idle But McCarthy Belligerent MEMPHIS, April 6 (AP)—A cold spring rain forced the New York Yankees into their first postponement of the exhibition season today and as the players sat around the hotel lobby Manager Joe McCarthy took issue with persons who think the pennant will elude the Yanks.

Yanks Idle But McCarthy Belligerent

MEMPHIS, April 6 (AP)—A cold spring rain forced the New York Yankees into their first postponement of the exhibition season today and as the players sat around the hotel lobby Manager Joe McCarthy took issue with persons who think the pennant will elude the Yanks.

"I'm just reading an argument," he said, "to prove we can't win this year because no team ever won five straight pennants. A year ago they said we couldn't win four straight and we couldn't win the world's championship four times in a row.

"Why not? Who's got anything better than we have?"

Former Star At Iowa In A.A.U. Victory

Jane Levine, A3 of Shenandoah, (above) will represent the University of Iowa at the Drake Relays at Drake university in Des Moines April 26 and 27. Miss Levine will compete with other college beauties from all over the nation for the title of queen of the Drake Relays. Miss Levine is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and has been active in various campus organizations in addition to being selected as one of the Hawkeye Beauties for 1940 and as an attendant to the Mecca Queen last year. She has served as a member of the Y.W.C.A. council, as circulation manager for Frivol, as picture editor for Hawkeye yearbook and as a member of the religious activities central committee and of the Freshman Party committee. This year she was an orientation leader. Miss Levine was selected to represent the university by the staff of 1941 Hawkeye yearbook from a group of candidates.

Mortar Board To Sponsor Annual Junior Breakfast at 8

20 Women Will Be Chosen as Members For Honorary Group

Mortar Board, honorary society for senior women, will sponsor its annual junior breakfast at 8 o'clock this morning in the cafeteria of Iowa Union. All junior women have been invited.

The first junior breakfast was in May, 1911. It was called by Anna M. Klingenhagen, who was dean of women at the time, for the election of members to a proposed honorary society for senior women. The organization was called the Staff and Circle, and its first members were those of the class of 1912.

In 1926 the group was chartered with Mortar Board, the national honorary society for senior women. The Iowa group became the Staff and Circle chapter of Mortar Board.

Special guests at the 1940 breakfast will be Mrs. E. A. Gilmore, Dean Adelaide L. Burge, Ethyl Morton, Prof. Mate Giddings, Mrs. Ralph Barnes, Prof. and Mrs. B. V. Crawford, Helen Reich, Helen Focht, Eula Van Meter, Mrs. William Fowler and Mrs. George F. Kay.

After the breakfast there will be a short program. Mortar Board

Will Wed in May

Prof. and Mrs. George Keller, 221 S. Lucas, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage, May 4, of their daughter, Georgene, to Howard Grothe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Grothe of Des Moines. The wedding will take place in St. Mary's church here in Iowa City. Miss Keller is a graduate of St. Mary's high school and has attended the university. Mr. Grothe attended high school in Des Moines and was graduated from the university school of journalism in June. He was news editor and managing editor of The Daily Iowan last year. He is also a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity and Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. He is now a member of the advertising staff of the Minneapolis Star-Journal in Minneapolis, Minn., where the couple will live. The announcement of the engagement was made yesterday at a lunch given by the bride-elect's mother in the Keller home. Table decorations were in Miss Keller's chosen colors, peach and blue. The announcement was made by means of cards which bore the names of the bride and bridegroom-elect and the date. The cards were fastened to tea roses which served as table favors. Eighteen intimate friends shared the courtesy. Out-of-town guests included

Our Home Town

GROWING THINGS
By Charles Beckman

I know that whenever I find myself upset by ultra modern trends, when stream-lining seems to be invading old religions and faith is beset with doubts, I can turn to a garden and find comfort.

When you put a tiny seed into the warm earth — a pin-head of life-force and watch the fragile, dainty leaves force the soil apart, and think that there, under the ground, a hundred little rootlets are spreading a firm foundation for the great plant which is to sprout and grow and climb and blossom — when you consider this miracle of growth, and a miracle it surely is — you realize that there must be an infinitely beautiful plan governing all life. And that Someone must be working out the plan. Also, when you meditate on the abundance of bloom and fruit which your tiny seed brings forth, you are convinced that the Plan includes a source of plenty for all.

There is Faith and Hope and Charity in a seed, and God walks in every garden. Next Sunday Mr. Beckman of the Beckman Funeral Home will comment on The Farmer.

Bess Goodykoontz, U. Graduate, Assistant to Education Head, Will Speak at Women's Meet

Collegiate Conference Of 55 Institutions Will Convene April 23

Bess Goodykoontz, United States assistant commissioner of education and University of Iowa graduate, will be the main speaker at the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students regional conference which will meet on the campus April 23 to 25.

At that time University of Iowa women will be hostesses to representatives from 55 colleges and universities from this central region, which includes the territory from Canada to Texas and from Colorado to Virginia. Miss Goodykoontz, contributor of articles on elementary education, is one of several specialists who have been invited to discuss current and vocational problems.

Miss Goodykoontz was born at Waukon, graduated from the Waukon high school in 1912, and came to the University of Iowa. Here she received an A.B. degree in 1920 and an A.M. degree in 1922. While at Iowa City she was a teacher in the experimental schools from 1919 to 1921 and principal from 1921 to 1922.

She went from here to the position of supervisor of schools at Green Bay, Wis. Since 1929 she has held her present position in the office of education in the department of the interior. She received a D.Ped. degree from New York State College for Teachers in 1935.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, she also belongs to the American Association of University Women, the National Council of Education and to several educator's organizations. She was national president of Pi Lambda Theta, education sorority, from 1933 to 1937 and has been vice-president since then.

Extensive plans have been made by university women in preparation for the conference, under the direction of Ruth House, A4 of Iowa City, conference chairman. Local officers of the University Women's association will act as officers for the regional conference.

Eulalia Klingbeil, J4 of Postville, is president; Miss House is vice-president; Genevieve McCulloch, A4 of Cedar Rapids, is treasurer, and Beverly Barnes, A3 of Sioux Falls, S. D., is secretary. In addition, a group of women have formed a central committee which involves in its work women from all campus organizations.

60 High Schools Invited to Iowa Music Festival

About 60 Iowa high schools with a total of 200 different types of musical events have been issued invitations to the first annual Iowa high school music festival, to be held here May 2, 3 and 4. Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department, announced yesterday. The schools which have been invited to enter the festival were selected from about 275 applications on the basis of past achievement in contests, special honors, balance and composition of groups, and the recommendation of prominent musicians acquainted with the work of each particular school. Professor Righter said.

The festival will be non-competitive in the sense that entries will not be given definite rankings or ratings by the critic judges. The judges will make oral criticisms before the audience after each performance, however, and will in some instances drill or instruct participants within liberal time limits. Special merit awards will be given to soloists or groups which the judges feel are unusually outstanding.

There will be no limitations to the size of bands, orchestras, choruses or glee clubs entering the festival. Time limits will be more liberal than they have been in state competitions of past years.

Private sightreading auditions for all large groups, an activity never carried out in Iowa events before, will be held daily throughout the contest. Students will be given music they have never seen before, look it over for a few minutes, then proceed to sightread it. Richard Crooks, Metropolitan opera tenor, will give a concert in the Iowa fieldhouse on the night of May 2. Other highlights of the festival will be a concert by the university chorus, orchestra and band on Friday night, a marching band exhibition on Saturday afternoon, and a performance of the festival chorus, orchestra and band on Saturday night. The latter groups will be composed of outstanding festival participants.

Winning the local oratorical contest, Rivkin emerged the winner in the semi-final round at Madison, Wis., March 3, which earned him the right to compete in the final round tonight.

Representing the northern region, Rivkin will orate against representatives of Cornell, Texas university, University of California, Alabama and Big Ten schools. Rivkin will speak on "Melancholy—1940" which has been his subject at the two previous contests.

Nine student church groups will meet this evening for business, social and devotional sessions in the various churches and student centers.

will be the guest speaker at 7 o'clock tonight at the Congregational church, discussing "Life in the Philippines." She will tell of the eight years she and President Gilmore spent in the islands when he was vice-governor and secretary of the department of public instruction.

She will draw from her experiences during their trips of inspection to towns and villages from the northernmost group of islands to the southernmost, near Borneo. Mrs. Gilmore will be the guest of the student group at 6 o'clock supper.

of the Scriptures" will be the topic of the lesson at the 7:30 meeting of the student association of St. Paul's Lutheran church tonight. There will be an open forum discussion led by the Rev. L. C. Wuerffel.

A business meeting and social hour will follow the discussion.

Prof. M. W. Lampe . . .

of the university school of religion will discuss "Resources in Personal Religious Living" at the candlelight vespers service of the Wesley Foundation of the Methodist church at 7 o'clock tonight.

A "hobby lobby" will be at 8 o'clock, to which all members of the Foundation will bring examples of their hobbies. A special display will be wood carvings done by Bill O'Keefe, A1 of Sioux City.

Kappa Beta . . .

of the sorority for women of the Christian church, will entertain the students at 6:30 tonight in the Kappa Beta house. Laura Walker, A1 of Highland Park, Ill., will lead a discussion on "Movies."

Taxis Society . . .

organization for high school students in the Presbyterian church, will be host to the Westminster Fellowship at 7 o'clock tonight. Dr. Frank Getty of Philadelphia, director of young people's work in the church, will speak on "Through Youth the World for Christ."

A recreational period and supper are scheduled for 5:30.

The Student . . .

secretary of the American Lutheran conference, the Rev. Frederick Schlotz, will be the guest at a joint session of the student associations of the English Lutheran and Zion Lutheran churches at 7 o'clock tonight in the latter church. The Rev. Mr. Schlotz was the first president of the national Lutheran student association.

There will be special music, including a mixed quartette, a men's octette, solos and an instrumental trio. A special student committee will be in charge. Lunch will be served in the Zion Lutheran parsonage at 6 o'clock.

Episcopal . . .

students and their friends are invited to meet at the rectory, 212

Afton Smith, on 'Playmates' Lecture, Cites Playmates as Contributors to Education

"Your child's playmate is your ally and not your enemy as you sometimes think," said Afton Smith yesterday afternoon in her talk to the members of the Child Study club in the foyer of Iowa Union. Miss Smith, a member of the university child welfare department, spoke to the group on "Your Child's Playmates As Educators."

Self-Government Committee To Sponsor Meeting Tuesday

Speakers Will Present Viewpoints on Plan For 'More Democracy'

The Committee for Student Self-Government, organized to offer interested university students "a democratic medium for voicing student opinion and for cooperating with the faculty and administration," will convene in public meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 221A, Schaeffer hall.

Prof. Ethan Allen of the political science department will present a faculty member's viewpoint of the proposed "student self-government." Jeanne K. Parsons, A4 of Estherville, will speak on "Student Problems that a Council Could Solve." George Willoughby, G of Des Moines, will speak on "The Proposal for This Campus." Edward Hoag, A3 of Freeport, Ill., will speak on "The Case for Student Self-Government." and Lewis Lapham, A2 of Charles City, will initiate a drive for signers on petitions to be circulated by the organization.

Roland Christensen, A3 of Iowa City, will be chairman of Tuesday's meeting. Co-chairmen of the group are Lapham and Willoughby. The group has presented arguments in favor of their proposal to several campus organizations and are asking students who support their plan to attend the meeting Tuesday.

The committee has recognized what they term a deficiency in student government on the campus and believe that by campus-wide acceptance of their plan they will "provide a democratic process of student self government," according to the group's platform.

Begin Building Creek Bridge

Project Part of Farm To Market Road Improvement Program

Construction work has been begun on a bridge over Old Man's creek in Hardin township, section two. It was announced yesterday by Ray H. Justen, Johnson county engineer.

This project is part of the $18,000 farm to market road improvement program which was established by the Iowa highway commission last November.

B. J. Sweat of West Des Moines is contractor for the bridge projects.

Thirty-two feet of approach span will be added to each end of the bridge, Justen said.

Socialist Attacks Monopolies In Keynote Speech

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Keynoting the 1940 socialist convention, Maynard C. Krueger, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, called today for socialization of industry "wherever natural monopoly has consumers at its mercy."

The private profit system has bogged down in under-consumption and under-investment, he said, resulting in "a steady erosion of democracy," a "progressive deterioration in civil liberties," and a nation headed directly "toward state socialism."

Club To Use Spring Theme

Officers for Next Year To Be Elected At Meeting Tomorrow

Poetry and music of spring will be on the program at the meeting of the poetry department of the Iowa City Woman's club at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in the club-rooms at the community building. The business meeting after the program will be under the direction of Mrs. Harry K. Newburn and officers for the coming year will be elected.

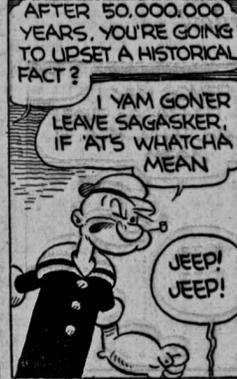

Mrs. R. J. Inness and Mrs. M. M. Crane will read poetry on the program. "To Spring" by Grieg will be played on the piano by Mrs. Gerald Buxton. Mrs. Himmie Voxman will be a guest violinist on the program, and she will be accompanied on the piano by Maude Whedon Smith.

"Information Please," a questionnaire, will be conducted by William Sener, G of Chicago, radio announcer at 6:30 on WSUI. Those answering will be Mrs. Henry Seegers, Mrs. Roy Flickinger, Mrs. Harry Newburn, Mrs. David Braverman and Mrs. James Vincent.

Others appearing on the program will be Mrs. H. L. Bailey, Mrs. Bion Hunter and Mrs. C. M. Tanner.

Shambaugh Shows Gain

University Professor's Pulse, Temperature Normal After Attack

Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh continued to show signs of improvement in University hospital yesterday, attending physicians reported last night.

Professor Shambaugh's pulse and temperature were reported normal for the second successive day and he continued to have some periods of partial consciousness.

First signs of definite improvement were noted in his condition Friday when Professor Shambaugh recognized members of his family at the bedside.

Professor Shambaugh, head of the university political science department, has been in a coma at University hospital since he was stricken with cerebral thrombosis at his home a week ago today.

Dental Societies To Meet Tomorrow At Cedar Rapids

The University district dental society will meet jointly with the Cedar Rapids dental society tomorrow in Cedar Rapids at the Roosevelt hotel. Dr. John C. Brauer of the college of dentistry will be the speaker.

Sessions of the group will begin at 2 p.m. with a refresher course on children's dentistry presented by Dr. Brauer and sponsored by the Iowa State department of health. A business meeting, a dinner and an evening session of the clinic will complete the meeting.

Johnson County's Taxes Reported For First 3 Months in '40

For dogs—$1,987.25! No, it isn't a millionaire's bequest to dogs. It is what Johnson county residents have paid in dog tax so far this year, according to Ed Sulek, county auditor. Licenses have been purchased for 1,903 dogs in this county during the first three months of 1940.

Rev. F. Schiotz Speaks Tonight To Lutherans

Student Secretary To Talk at 10:30 Service This Morning

Speaking tonight at 7 o'clock to the Lutheran students at the University of Iowa will be the Rev. Fredrik A. Schiotz, student secretary of the American Lutheran conference and national adviser of the Lutheran Students association of America. The meeting will take place at Zion Lutheran church.

He speaks this morning at the 10:30 services at Zion Lutheran church of which the Rev. Arthur C. Proehl is pastor. The Rev. Mr. Schiotz, a graduate of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., and of Luther Theological seminary, St. Paul, has traveled widely, and is the author of the book, "Release." Before going into student work he was pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Moorhead, Minn., during which time he was in close contact with students at Concordia college and Moorhead State Teachers college. While in Iowa City he has been conferring with Lutheran students and the officers of the Lutheran Student association on the campus.

Mrs. Slaughter To Be Hostess

Mrs. Homer Slaughter, 122 E. Church, will serve as hostess at the regular monthly meeting of the University Newcomers club in her home Tuesday at 3 p.m. Mrs. Franklin Knower, Mrs. Clark Byse and Mrs. Raymond Kent will assist Mrs. Slaughter.

Motorists Fined For Traffic Violations

Four motorists were fined in police court yesterday for traffic violations.

Police Judge Burke N. Carson assessed a fine of $1 on Harry Berg for failing to stop at a stop sign. Edgar Hershberger was fined $1 for operating a vehicle with 1939 license plates.

Mrs. George Haskell was fined $2 and costs of $1 for speeding, and Noel J. Liechty was fined $3 and costs of $1 on a similar charge.

'In a Garden'

Georgia Russell and Donald Langdon made up the entire cast of "In a Garden" presented by the Council Bluffs Studio Players in the class B section of community series. Jane Vincent, director of the Studio Players, also entered another play, written by herself.

Plays--

wrote and directed the play, "Contact for Contact," presented by the Council Bluffs studio players.

No ratings of superior or excellent were awarded in the class A division by Mr. Giffen. However, Edwin Becker, who played the role of a dope fiend in Robert Kasper's "Smokescreen," produced by the Footlight club of Vinton, was cited for outstanding acting.

Panel Discussions
The class C division was judged by Hazel Strayer, director of the college theater at Iowa State Teachers college.

Following each session of community plays, a panel discussion was held where the critic judge, directors and members of the casts participated in critical analyses of the plays.

Last night's session ended the 15th annual play production festival in which over a hundred high schools, 11 junior colleges and 18 community groups participated.

It was estimated that some 600 actors, directors and others who helped with production, have participated in the festival during the past two weeks.

During the first week of the festival, class A, B and C high schools, so divided because of enrollment, produced plays from Monday through Saturday.

Junior Colleges Compete
Monday and Tuesday of this week, junior colleges competed; beginning Thursday, the community groups, again divided into class A, B and C on the basis of organization and script originality, competed for awards.

Other events held in conjunction with the festival included round table discussions, informal luncheons and teas. Regular planned tours through station WSUI were conducted during the two weeks. Tying in closely with the festival was the forensic tournament held at the same time as the high school division.

Judges were selected from the speech departments of Iowa colleges, out of state universities and little theater groups.

Young People Plan Meeting

The Young Peoples Reform and Evangelical group will meet at 5:30 this evening at the home of Evelyn Weiss, 318 E. Blooming-ton.

New officers will be installed by the Rev. Alfred E. Schemper of Dubuque who will talk on the future of the group for next fall.

Officers to be installed are Carl Schutte, president; Yvonne Stock, vice-president; Arlene Hanson, secretary, and Harlan Breugmann, treasurer.

Rev. M. A. Robeson To Give WSUI Talks On Chapel Program

The Rev. M. A. Robeson, pastor of the Cotter and Bethel church at Cotter, will speak on the morning chapel radio program, heard at 8 a.m. week-days over radio station WSUI tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, is in charge of the chapel series.

ment held at the same time as the high school division.

Judges were selected from the speech departments of Iowa colleges, out of state universities and little theater groups.

First Student Mass To Be Tomorrow At St. Mary's Church

Student Mass will be held for the first time tomorrow morning at 11:30 at St. Mary's church. As an inaugural address for this occasion the Rev. John Scannell, chaplain of Colorado college, Colorado Springs, Col., will give the sermon.

All students are requested to occupy the center section at the church. These seats have been reserved.

Edwin Barnes Rites Tuesday

Local Resident, 77, Dies After Illness Of Several Months

Edwin E. (Ned) Barnes, 77, 1025 E. Washington street, died at 10:45 a.m. yesterday in the University hospital after several months confinement.

Mrs. Barnes preceded him in death a week ago yesterday, when she succumbed to a heart attack after spending the afternoon visiting her husband at the hospital.

Mr. Barnes is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Paul F. Gregg of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Vera Barnes Pfeiffer of Detroit, Mich. and Mrs. Arthur O. Missner of Chicago; two brothers, A. E. Barnes of Iowa City and J. E. Barnes of San Francisco, Cal., and four grandchildren. One daughter, Claire, preceded him in death in 1918.

Funeral services will be held at the Oathout funeral chapel, Tuesday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in the Downey cemetery.

Cancer To Be Subject For Talk at Solon

District No. 1 of the district nursing advisory committee will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Francis Miltner in Solon, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. E. W. Paulus of Iowa City will speak to the group on the subject of "Cancer."

The district nursing advisory committee, district No. 3, also will hear an Iowa City physician speak on cancer Friday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mabel Switzer in Oxford.

These meetings are being held in cooperation with cancer control week and anyone interested is urged to attend one or both of the meetings, officials stated.

Chamber of Commerce Extends Invitation To Public To Attend

The first in a series of six "business clinics" sponsored by the Iowa City chamber of commerce will begin tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Jefferson hotel with Roscoe E. Taylor presiding.

At 4 that afternoon J. J. Swamer will be the presiding officer and Albert B. Sidwell will be the chairman at the 7:30 clinic.

The three meetings on Tuesday will be held at the same times, with Milton R. Petersen, Dean E. M. MacEwen of the college of medicine and Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce presiding at the respective sessions.

"The sole purpose of these clinics," said Chamber President Leland Nagle, "is to receive a cross-section of ideas from as many different persons as possible in order that the chamber's future program may truly represent the wishes of the entire community."

Nagle pointed out that the meetings would be a clearing house for suggestions and that any Iowa Citizen could attend and give his ideas without fear of being quoted.

"At the conclusion of the clinics," Nagle said, "the suggestions and ideas offered will be classified and submitted to the chamber's board for action."

COME ALONG AND SEE WHAT I DID WHEN YOUNGSTOWN COLLEGE HIRED ME AS MASCOT!

"So this is Youngstown," says Pete the Penguin, as he scans the horizon. "Well, if I'm going to be mascot here I may as well look the place over a bit. Where are those beautiful —"

"Oh-o, so one does pay tuition here, gridder or no gridder. This Pickard's a tough guy. Oh, well, business managers always are tough when it comes to getting money! Maybe I won't stay so long, after all."

"How did I get in here? I'm not looking for snap courses that is — not much. But biology under Dr. Semans is going to be tough sleddin'. I'll watch my chance and paddle out when he ain't looking."

"Now this is more like it. In fact, I like this. Oh, oh, there goes my flipper in somebody's coffee. Oh, well, skip it."

"A born leader, that's what I am. Well, I'll strut my stuff today, for tomorrow I may be a dead one."

"This is all Greek to me, but Coach Beede usually knows what he's doin' so I suppose he does now. Anyway, I don't have to worry about winning the games. I'm the inspiration."

"Well, guess I'm as good as the average college grad. So I'll chisel a diploma out of Prexy Howard Jones."

"I may look intellectual but I'm tired. Believe me, going to college is a wearying business. I'll take my home at Crandall Park any day. S'long."
