Hit-Run Driver Injures Student

Virginia Lewis Hit; Motorist Has Wild Ride

Crashes Into Student Auto, Two Others; Suffers Lacerations

A hit-and-run driver and his victim lay in University hospital last night as a result of the mad dash up North Dubuque street shortly before 9 o'clock last night of an old model-A Ford, driven by Floyd Mills, about 35, of North Liberty.

The driver was identified through personal belongings at University hospital, where he was taken after the wild ride.

The escapade began when Mills' car ran into A. Virginia Lewis, 23, of East Bloomfield, N. Y., a pedestrian on the Dubuque-Washington street intersection. Miss Lewis was X-rayed at University hospital last night, disclosing a fractured humerus and three or four fractured ribs, according to hospital attendants.

North on Dubuque After striking Miss Lewis, the driver headed north on Dubuque street, reportedly sideswiped a parked car in the 200 block, and ran head-on into a car driven by Murrel Blount, u of Des Moines.

Observers reported Mills rode side-walk up and down an embankment in front of the Theta Tau house in the 900 block, and fell from his automobile to the pavement. His car, onlookers said, struck another parked auto near the bottom of the hill before it came to a halt.

Witnesses reported that Mills was "cut badly about the face." He was treated at University hospital late last night for lacerations about the face and head.

Blount, who was turning south on Dubuque from the drive of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house, 729 N. Dubuque, was treated at University hospital for knee cuts. His passenger, Wendell Doss, u of Rock Rapids, was reported uninjured.

Car Smashed The complete left front end of Mills' car was smashed and the motor wrecked from the impact with Blount's coupe. The motor hood of the latter automobile was crushed.

Mills' car finally came to rest after hitting the rear of an automobile, parked on the east side of the street in front of 804 N. Dubuque. The owner of the car was listed as Clifford Crowe, A2 of Clarion. Crowe's car was damaged only slightly.

Blount said his car, going up the hill toward the south on Dubuque, was turned completely around by the direct impact of Mills' car.

Murphy Backs Right To Picket

New Justice Delivers Opinions Against Laws Prohibiting Lines

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—In two opinions by Justice Murphy which said free discussion of labor disputes was "indispensable" to popular government, the supreme court declared today that anti-picketing laws of Alabama and a California county were unconstitutional.

"In the circumstances of our times the dissemination of information concerning the facts of a labor union dispute must be regarded as within that area of free discussion that is guaranteed by the constitution," wrote the former attorney-general, newest appointee to the court.

"It is recognized now that satisfactory hours and wages and working conditions in industry and a bargaining position which makes these possible have an importance which is not less than the interests of those in the business or industry directly concerned.

"The health of the present generation and of those as yet unborn may depend on these matters, and the practices in a single factory may have economic repercussions upon a whole region."

These two cracked-up automobiles were the result of the wild ride up North Dubuque street last night of a man identified as Floyd Mills of North Liberty, who reportedly struck a university student at a downtown intersection and crashed into three other cars.

England Reports 24 German Warship Casualties, Fights Nazi Planes Off Her Shores

Nazi Raiders Drop No Bombs During Flights

Driven From Skies Over East, Southeast English Coastal Towns

BY DREW MIDDLETON
LONDON, April 22 (AP)—

Great Britain, hammering steadily at German forces in Scandinavia both by land and air, reported 24 German warship "casualties" exclusive of submarines, since the war's outbreak last September and fought off a flurry of German warplanes from her own shores tonight.

The German air raiders, apparently bent on reconnaissance, since they dropped no bombs, were driven from the skies over a number of English east and southeast coastal towns by barking fusillades of antiaircraft fire and the dogged pursuit of defensive planes.

There was similar activity in the Paris vicinity.

Naval Losses

There were no air raid alarms, and despite the rattling fall of shrapnel, no reports of damage. The official British statement on naval losses placed Britain's own at 18 warships, including five submarines and the merchant cruiser Rawalpindi. Other losses listed included one battleship, one aircraft carrier, and 10 destroyers. Trawlers and minesweepers were not counted.

German losses were listed as one battle cruiser reported sunk and one damaged; one pocket battleship sunk and one damaged; one heavy cruiser sunk and one damaged; three cruisers sunk, one reported sunk and two damaged; 10 destroyers sunk, one damaged and one probably damaged; and a "large number" of submarines sunk.

Many of these have occurred in the two weeks of bitter sea warfare off Norwegian shores.

"Many Landings"

In that sector tonight the British reported "considerable success" for their expeditionary forces after landings at "many places" in Norway, while British bombers hurled explosive destruction on Germany's aerial troop ferry route between Denmark and Norway.

The report of British land successes came from the war office in a brief communique. It said the triumphs were achieved "in the face of great difficulties," and that British soldiers have contacted the Norwegian forces and are giving the hard-pressed Norwegians "all the support in their power."

British Close In on Nazis In Trondheim

STOCKHOLM, April 22 (AP)—The British, in broadcast warnings to the populace of Narvik, threatened to bombard that northern harbor today, and with their Norwegian allies clamped a slowly closing vise on German-occupied Trondheim, vital west coast port and railway center 400 miles farther south.

The Germans and Norwegians were reported fighting at Melhus, only 20 miles south of Trondheim on the Trondheim-Oslo railway. A force of British were reported at Stora, five miles to the rear.

A main force of British, working south from the other side of the port, were reported to have reached Steinkjer, reported Norwegian concentration center 50 miles north of Trondheim.

This was about 15 miles north of Vardalora where fighting between advance detachments was reported yesterday.

To the east of the city, the Norwegians were reported still in possession of Hegra fortress guarding the railway to the Swedish border.

Three times during the day the British broadcast warnings to the inhabitants of Narvik, advising them to leave the town before the start of the barrage. The allied action presumably was in reply to a German aerial attack yesterday on Namsos, British troop landing point south of Narvik.

Troops Driving North

The first allied troops to be landed south of Trondheim, said a report to the Stockholm Aftonbladet, have driven north as far as Stora, only 25 miles from Trondheim. Allied forces were said to control the important railway district between Trondheim and Oslo, and at the same time to be driving at the city from the north with forces landed at Namsos.

In gaining control of the railways, it was reported, the allies had recaptured Elverum, 60 miles north of German-held Oslo, and Hamar, 20 miles to the west.

(German sources in Berlin denied Hamar had been lost to the allies.)

They also held Dombas 120 miles north of Hamar, and thus were in command of three key points along the lines of communication between Oslo and Trondheim, two of the principal centers of that German occupation.

It was a German air raid on Dombas yesterday that cost the United States its first official casualty of the war. He was Captain Robert M. Losey, assistant military attache at Stockholm, who was struck in the heart by a bomb splinter while taking shelter in a mountain tunnel.

Berlin Claims Allies Suffer 'Bloody Losses'

Cites Damage, Sinking Of 14 British Warships Within 48-Hour Period

BERLIN, April 23 (Tuesday) (AP)—The German air force was described as loosing its force with mounting intensity early today against debarking British troops among whom it was asserted "bloody losses" had been caused, and British transports and warships, 14 of which were declared sunk or damaged in the last 48 hours.

In addition the German aircraft were reported by DNB, official German news agency, in a summary of Monday's fighting to have attacked Norwegian detachments with bomb and machinegun at positions north of Oslo, especially near Elverum, Lillehammer and Mjosa lake.

Railway Junction Destroyed

Dombas, important railway junction in central Norway, it was declared, was destroyed. DNB said two British transports were sunk by aerial bombs and another set afire in the hornet-like attacks Monday. Two English warships accompanying the transports were hit directly, the agency said.

Previous reports declared the Germans had bombed a cruiser until it was beached, scored hits on another cruiser and destroyer, sunk two submarines, struck a transport and two merchant ships and hit another transport.

Ferocious Attacks

Ferocious bombing attacks against Andalsnes and Namsos caused "bloody losses" among English troops and constantly disturbed disembarkation operations, DNB said. It was here that three transports were hit, according to the German report, two of them being sunk and another set afire.

These ports were severely damaged, the agency declared.

It was at Namsos that the Germans, reporting a previous six-hour attack, said the British troops were put to flight into the mountains, and the towns set blazing. The railway station at Namsos was declared destroyed.

German Advances

The Germans said their forces had advanced north and northwest from Oslo, inflicting "bloody losses" on the Norwegians, while wave after wave of bombers rained explosives on the allied landing places flanking Trondheim on Norway's Atlantic coast.

Hull Considers Action in Losey Death

U. S. Official Killed By German Bomb While On Wartime Duty

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull, expressing sorrow over dispatches reporting that Captain Robert M. Losey, assistant military attache, had been killed by a German bomb in Norway, considered tonight whether to take strong diplomatic action toward Germany.

(Losey was born at Andrew, Ia. May 27, 1908.)

Capt. Losey had gone from Sweden to Norway to assist Americans to get out of the latter country. A newspaper at Goteborg, Sweden, describing his death, said he was standing in a mountain tunnel at Dombas during an aerial bombardment yesterday when a splinter from a bomb struck him in the heart.

Although several American diplomats and military attaches have had narrow escapes from German and Russian bombing planes, Captain Losey was the only one to be killed.

Hull said he was seeking all information about the circumstances surrounding Losey's death and would not make a decision as to diplomatic action, if any, until the information had been assembled.

Captain Losey lived at Basin, Wyo., in 1923. He moved to Terry, Mont., in 1924 where his father, the Rev. Leon A. Losey, died. The captain moved with his mother and sister that year to Trenton, N. J., where he went to high school. From there he went to West Point, where he was graduated in 1929.

Night Over Europe

THE EUROPEAN WAR touches America at many points, but none concerns Iowa Citizens so closely as the "intellectual blackout" which threatens cultural values nearly as much in America as in Europe itself—and for many generations.

Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller foundation, in a portion of the foundation's Review sees night over Europe as a result of the first World war and the current conflict.

Iowa City residents, with friends in the warring countries, are aware of the difficulty of research work being continued, and of the contraction of university activities.

"When the war broke out on the first of September, 1939," Fosdick reports, "the foundation had 110 running appropriations in Europe, distributed in 22 different countries, and involving a total sum in excess of $4,000,000. A substantial part of these appropriations was for research in various scientific fields. Nearly $2,000,000 of the total was for work in Great Britain; approximately $750,000 was allocated to Switzerland; $330,000 each to France and Sweden; and the balance in smaller amounts ranging down to $3,500 in Finland.

"In a number of instances work supported by these appropriations is being continued on a level that has been but little affected by the war. For example, Heilbron's research in organic chemistry to which the Foundation is contributing at Imperial college, London, is still going forward. Neils Bohr's work in biophysics at Copenhagen and Svedberg's studies with the supercentrifuge at Uppsala are also only indirectly disturbed. The Tavistock Clinic in London where the Foundation is financing research in psychosomatic medicine is proceeding, thus far at least, without serious interruption. Similarly, work in the general field of neurology, under grants from the Foundation, is being carried on at the Universities of Brussels, Leiden, Lund, Oslo and Oxford."

It is encouraging to know that there is some influence among scientists in the allied lands to allow the laboratory men to continue their work. Perhaps Europe has learned from the last war when great men of science died in the trenches when they should have been back home preparing for the future.

"Of the 240 enlisted students of the Ecole Normale Supérieure in Paris, an institution which supplies the French universities with professors, 120 were killed. Among the graduates of this school, 560 who were already professors in the universities were mobilized; 119 were killed. Of the students resident at the Ecole Centrale des Arts et Manufactures, the most important engineering school in France, 179 were killed, together with 362 of the graduates," Fosdick reports.

It is impossible for these warring countries to know what geniuses of science and learning are being killed on the battlefields—a sacrifice of the future for today.

We can understand Fosdick when he warns, "Perhaps the most frightening aspect of modern war is the intellectual blackout which it creates. One does not have to subscribe to H. G. Wells' grim prophecy that mankind, which began in a cave and behind a windbreak, will end in the disease-soaked ruins of a slum; but certainly the night in Europe cannot be long continued without the sacrifice of cultural values on so vast a scale that the chance of an enlightened and gracious life, not alone for this generation in Europe, but for the children and grandchildren of this generation, will be irretrievably lost."

Their Battle Is Becoming Our Battle

THE TREACHEROUS quicksands of world chaos are slowly sucking the United States deeper into a conflict which this country's citizens have repeatedly avoided as "Thier battle — not ours."

With the propaganda of the belligerents taking effect alongside new war movements, it is becoming more apparent every day that the problem of keeping out is going to become more and more difficult.

Danger spots that hover near us now, like Greenland, the Dutch East Indies have never before been considered vital or even in our sphere of activity. But now, we are told, the commitments of the United States extend one-third of the way around the world—and therefore, we must be prepared for the worst.

Walter Winchell warns his radio listeners that they just can not continue to give their precious soldiers and sailors a blank check and a blank stare. And David Lawrence, in his Washington news journal, predicts that the "U. S. is to be forced more and more deeply into the world armament race." Complacent idea that this country can be side-line sifter while the world arms to the teeth must now be discarded; must be replaced by greater realism.

It is difficult to answer the militarists—difficult to say that you are willing to go on unprotected, but just as difficult to admit that America must be just another player in the game of "follow the leader."

War may not be in the cards—but when we deal ourselves in on the armaments race we're playing a game of chance.

Handy Men Around The House

RIGHT NOW Senator Tobey should be hiding his head in shame. It was he, you'll remember, who so recently scored "census snooping."

News mongers, their eyes to keyholes, last week discovered these results from the snooping: 1. A census taker in Canistota, S. D., helped a mother deliver a baby all by himself.

2. An enumerator in an Atlanta, Ga., jail discovered two of the prisoners were missing. 3. A feminine census taker in Chattanooga, Tenn., was interviewing a man when police broke into the room to arrest him as a criminal suspect. The raid was suspended until she had finished her questioning. "We're for the census!"

The Second 'Flowering Of The Valley'

IOWA'S traditional "valley" will flower again this summer with three brilliant "flowers"—three major divisions of the second annual University of Iowa's fine arts festival, scheduled this year for July 14 to 18.

But this year's "flowering," this year's festival, will be more distinctly a "home-grown" product. And the so-called "blossoms" will be more cultivated as a result of experience derived from the first festival.

Purely of local talent, this second festival will be more varied in nature, more interesting in presentation, more inclusive in nature.

Art exhibitions, band concerts, chamber music, choral concerts, conferences, dramas, lectures, oratorios, radio plays, recitals, recorded music programs and symphony concerts together with all the general advantages of the summer session of one of America's great universities on a campus notable for its beauty, this year's festival will be superb.

The first fine arts festival at the University of Iowa in July last year brought to the campus many distinguished leaders in the fine arts of music, painting, drama and architecture. A total attendance of more than 25,000 gave clear indication of the appeal of the event.

The 1940 festival program again discloses rich offerings in each of the fields of the fine arts.

Names, all familiar in their fields, and in some cases familiar to the Iowa campus and in other cases new to the campus, highlight the festival. Thompson Stone, Modeste Alloo, Thomas Wood Stevens, Frederick McConnell, Alden F. Megrew, Jean Charlot, Grant Wood and others comparably noted yet to be announced constitute the roster of outstanding teachers for the summer and leaders in the presentation of the festival.

This year's festival employs strictly local talent where last year's festival imported talent, but it is arranged for presentation so as not to lose the glamour of last year's memorable festive week.

The man at the next desk insists that the fellow who found $200 while helping with the house-cleaning still was underpaid.

"THE CARVER'S ASSISTANT"

Democratic Dopesters Happy That New York's G. O. P. Committee Ousted Kenneth Simpson

DEMOCRATIC political dopesters are in high glee over the New York Republican state committee's recent vote ousting Kenneth F. Simpson as the Empire State's Republican national committee man because of his non-support of Thomas E. Dewey as a candidate for his party's presidential nomination.

It begins, to be sure, only as a New York State Republican unpleasantness, but the Democrats hope is that it will develop into national proportions. They realize, of course, that their own party is badly split, which worries them no end. And oh, how happy they'll be if a lot of ill-feeling characterizes the G. O. P. convention!

Conjointly with Simpson's "purging," Edwin F. Jaekle was chosen as chairman of the Republican state committee. Jaekle's a strong Dewey-ite. However, though Simpson's been purged, his friends (and he has some influential ones) insist that he's entitled to continue as his state's national committeeman until after the convention, at the earliest. They say they won't recognize any other selection in the meantime.

Now, if that convention starts off with a pair of contesting national committeemen from as important a state as New York, or call himself pro-Simpson, which is largely the same thing. Representative Francis D. Cudkin, another up-state New Yorker, is a pro-Simpson-ite.

And there are others, too numerous to mention. About the New Deal? They accuse Kenneth Simpson of having said: "Well, there are lots of things all to the good about the New Deal."

They don't believe he should have made any such remark. The Dewey-ites' story is that he's pro-Taft or some such candidate—an alleged conservative candidate.

What the Republicans want to do is to set off a supposedly moderate conservative Republican candidate against a supposedly cuckoo radical Democratic candidate.

The Republicans already have intra-Democratic dissent. The Democrats game is to cook up intra-Republican dissent. They just love this New York friction.

The Democrats are "busted"—they know that. What they want to see is the Republicans busted, too.

If they want to do some good publicity, they'd better get on with their job.

TUNING IN with D. Mac Showers

NEW YORK. Hollywood and Chicago have been drawn upon for the cast of the "Cavalcade of America" drama, "Robert E. Lee," which is to be broadcast from Richmond, Va., tonight at 8 o'clock over NBC-Blue and selected Red network stations.

PHILIP MERIVALE, distinguished actor of stage and screen, has come from Hollywood especially for this program. Five members of Cavalcade's regular cast will go to Richmond from New York for the program.

LOUIS ROEN, well-known announcer and narrator, will fly from Chicago to Richmond to handle the narration. Eight Richmond actors who have been associated with the Richmond Theater guild will also play in the cast.

HORACE HEIDT and his "Pot O' Gold" program, heard every Tuesday night over the NBC-Red network at 7:30, has now been improved so that even those who don't have telephones may win a prize each week. The prize remains at $1,000 and will be awarded weekly by a phone call.

BANDLEADERS Peter Van Steeden and Phil Harris, both of whom say they feel restricted on their programs, for Fred Allen and Jack Benny respectively, have asked for time to speak their minds on Gabriel Heatter's "We, the People" tonight at 8 o'clock over CBS.

Van Steeden says that Allen is always shutting him up, while Harris feels that he too has been forced to hide his light under a bushel because of Benny.

AMONG OTHER guests will be Maria Rasputin Bernadsky, daughter of Rasputin; Cyril Walker, one-time golfing great; Walter Kerr, foreign newspaper correspondent; Abraham Pickus, Cleveland oilman who telephoned foreign rulers to argue against war, and John Rickey, said to be the oldest active fiddler in Nebraska.

"The King's Men" will harmonize that ever-popular oldie, "Back Home in Indiana" on the Fibber McGee and Molly program tonight at 8:30 over the NBC-Red network.

BILLY MILLS and the orchestra will swing out with "Of Thee I Sing," "You Little Heartbreaker, You" and "Relax."

"Friendship," hit comedy song from "DuBarry Was a Lady," will be repeated by the Swing Fourteen in response to hundreds of requests on the "Johnny Presents" program tonight at 7 o'clock over the NBC-Red network.

GENEVIEVE BOWE'S solo is to be "The Sky Fell Down" and an orchestra feature will be "The Chocolate Soldier" medley including "Marching Song" and "My Hero." Rush Hughes will dramatize "Reaching for a Railroad Record."

This "Hughes reel" is the thrilling story of the battle between two great railroads to achieve a speed record. The result was a 63-mile-an-hour record which stood for several years.

Tuckers Take Town—Everybody's Nuts About Wee Bonnie Baker in New York

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—The Tuckers have moved in and taken over everything in town, including Grant's Tomb. We picked up a paper at breakfast this morning, and, by George, everything in it was just Tucker, Tucker, Tucker.

Sophie Tucker got back to town and was loudly kissed by Eddie Cantor. Madge Tucker was at NBC in complete charge of all kid programs. Johnny Tucker, the song-writing fireman, was coining new tunes on Tin Pan Alley. Tommy Tucker, the orchestra leader, had moved into a Manhattan night spot. And Orrin Tucker, with all 98 pounds of Wee Bonnie Baker in tow, made his N. Y. debut at a Park avenue hotel.

It was Sophie, known affectionately to her cafe intimates as "the best damn caballero in all damn Mexico," who had the first opening. Broadway gave a heart-warming demonstration of how much it loves this sponge-hearted sentimental old gal of the honky-tonks by making Nick drag out extra chairs that haven't been used in months at the Vessalles. And when Eddie Cantor moved out on the floor in an unprogrammed appearance, and kissed her, and told her that without her Broadway would be just another Stradivarius without strings, Sophie had to reach for her hankie. After she recovered her composure she kissed Eddie back and sang three more nostalgically reminiscent confessions on international love.

If Orrin Tucker's first New York appearance was an artistic triumph for himself and the black-eyed Miss Baker, it was not without its overtones of melancholy for the young maestro. His best friend, Lou Diamond, who had flown in just to attend the event, dropped dead.

There is one sentimental angle to this demise that the papers have not enlarged. Lou Diamond was a Paramount executive. He and Orrin had been friends for years, ever since Orrin made some short subjects for him four years ago. Thereafter he made it a point to attend all of Tucker's openings. He flew to Chicago for his opening there. He had flown in, only a few hours earlier, for this important New York appearance.

Some time before midnight Lou and his wife were with Orrin's mother, in the Empire Room, sharing in the festivities and watching the applause that was being enthusiastically led from a ring-side table by Art Jarret and Betty Grable. Diamond suddenly pushed his chair back. He murmured a faint "Oh." He slumped down, and in a few moments was dead.

Cincinnati Holds League Lead With 6 to 1 Victory Over Cards

THIRD TERMER By Jack Sords

It's still a good year for Iowa athletes, according to the records compiled by Eric Wilson, the university's statistical expert, who can put the wildest football game into cold figures in no time or less.

Hawkeye teams have won 34 contests this year, while losing 23 and tying two—the average is much more respectable than a year ago. There are still some things like 28 meets and games left before June 1. Iowa has a victory edge over Ohio State, Wisconsin, Chicago and Purdue, is tied with Illinois and Northwestern, and is a loser as far as Minnesota, Indiana and Michigan are concerned.

The 4-3 loss Saturday to Illinois, first defeat of the baseball season, was costly to Iowa. The Hawks were costly in third place, behind Illinois and Wisconsin, this week's foe, but would be well out in the lead if they had swept the Illinois series.

Harold Haub, Iowa's fast-ball throwing co-captain, has won six straight Big Ten games, four in 1939 and two this spring. His last defeat was by Minnesota, 6-5, in 11 innings on May 31, 1939. In beating Purdue and Illinois this year, Haub has allowed but 10 hits and four runs in 18 innings. He has struck out 19 and issued but six free passes to first.

Also a leader is Jim George, center-fielder and the other co-captain. George's batting average of .427 in 12 games tops the Iowa team, while Erwin Prasse has 420 and Bob Cook has a mark of 325 for third place. Team average is .300.

The George clouting regularity is 20 hits in 47 trips to the plate, while Prasse has blasted 21 in 50.

Arthur Wendler, Iowa tennis coach, takes the strong fove first. He says players learn most by playing the toughest and they can be in best shape for the season this way. Thus, Chicago and Northwestern, rated as the Big Ten's best, open the league season for the Hawks.

Iowa doesn't have a mile relay that can equal those of other years, but the four-mile team, with a fourth place at Kansas, finished the highest an Iowa team ever has in that event. Cameron Campbell ran a 4:22 mile as anchor man.

Bill Green and Bill Gallagher, two Hawkeye gridgers who underwent operations for appendicitis last week, are both recovering rapidly it is reported from University hospital. Green is already to get out of bed if doctors would let him and the athletic department is considering itself fortunate indeed that the troubles are coming now instead of next fall.

Indians Hand 5-2 Licking To Brownies

ST. LOUIS, April 22 (AP)—There was no dilly-dallying by the Cleveland Indians today as they demonstrated the quickest way to win a ball game in defeating the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2.

Almost before southpaw Howard Mills had completed his warm-up tosses, the Indians had scored five runs, more than they needed behind the steady 7-hit pitching of the veteran Willis Hudlin.

Walters Hurls Seven Hitter

River Threatens To Cover Park; Fans Go Wading

CINCINNATI, April 22 (AP)—Continuing their undefeated and errorless way, Cincinnati's Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals and the Ohio river flood as well today, pounding out a 6 to 1 victory behind Bucky Walters' seven-hit pitching as water lapped into Crosley field.

Two three-run innings did the job, aided in each case by a Card miscue.

A crowd of 5,197 had to "puddle-jump" their way into the park. Water stood a foot deep in both dugouts and even deeper in nearby parking lots as the teams took the field at 2 p.m., an hour earlier than usual.

The triathlon is scheduled to start at about 4:15 and men expecting to compete should try to be ready at least 15 minutes before the first event is run off.

Hawkeye Gridders Will Renew Annual Inter-Squad Contest

Iowa Cindermen Compete Today In Triathlon

The annual spring jump triathlon will start this afternoon on the cinder track west of the field house and will conclude tomorrow afternoon.

The contest is open to all university men interested and all those wishing to compete and have no equipment are asked to get in touch with Ted Swenson at the field house before the events get under way.

Three events will constitute the show, the high and broad jumps and the pole vault. Points will be given for the heights and distances made by each contestant and these will be totaled at the end of the affair. The man amassing the highest total will be declared the winner and will receive a travelling trophy and a medal. Other place winners will receive medals.

The triathlon is scheduled to start at about 4:15 and men expecting to compete should try to be ready at least 15 minutes before the first event is run off.

Game Planned For May 11

Coach Anderson's Squad Will Play At Iowa Stadium

Iowa's springtime gridiron classic, the inter-squad game, will be renewed this year as a climax to spring training, Coach Eddie Anderson announced yesterday. Date of the game, at Iowa stadium and open to the public, will be May 11.

Formerly an annual affair between teams chosen from the football squad, the spring game was dropped temporarily last year, mainly because the Anderson system wasn't as yet well-installed. There was, too, the fact that there wasn't a large enough squad to put on the best of regulation length games.

Six Quadrangle Residents To Get Keys For Services

Ace Brigade To Play For Dance May 4

Everett Hogan, D3, Chairman of Group Planning Affair

The golden Quadrangle key against a background of royal blue will serve as the theme for the annual semi-formal dinner dance which will be given by the Quadrangle from 7:30 to 12 p. m., May 4, in the main lounge of Iowa Union. At that time Quadrangle keys will be presented to about six residents of the dormitory for outstanding service.

Ace Brigade and his Virginians will furnish dance music for the occasion. The group has appeared in many of the nation's foremost amusement centers, including the Gibson hotel in Cincinnati, Elitch's Gardens in Denver and the Merry Garden ballroom in Chicago. The Virginians lay particular stress upon the perfecting of their rhythm section and offer one of the most distinctive styles in the orchestra world.

Entertainers with Ace Brigade include Buddy Curran, the "King of Ballads," Ruth Hunt, charming "Queen of Song," William Dingel, the "Knave of Novelty," and the "Ten Men of Music." Everett Hogan, D3 of Epworth, is chairman of the committee in charge. Assisting him are Bill Crowell, C3 of Des Moines; George Baldwin, A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Bill Bell, A2 of Council Bluffs.

Iowa City Woman's Club To Present Plays Thursday

Will Be Given At Junior High

Group of 4 One-Act Plays Part of Project To Foster Expression

As part of a project designed to foster the expression of dramatic art in Iowa City, the Iowa City Woman's club will present a group of four one-act plays Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Iowa City junior high school auditorium.

Two of the plays to be given are "When the Whirlwind Blows" and "A Cup of Sugar," which received ratings of superior and excellent in the annual state play production festival held here April 4 to 6.

Completing the program will be two original plays written by members of the Woman's club, "Hats and Hats" and "Good Neighbors in Harlem." Theater Incentive

The university theater has been a great factor in creating an incentive for play-acting in this community, since many local persons have received training in the theater here. Its influence is felt throughout the state, particularly in its cooperation with the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs in the annual state play production contest.

The drama department of the Iowa City Woman's club has been a consistent winner of awards for meritorious acting and play production in the contest, and is now attempting to promote a greater interest in creative art in dramatic expression, according to Mrs. Thomas Reese, chairman of the department.

Acting Is Fascinating
"To develop the skill and the imagination to be a character other than one's self," Mrs. Reese said, "is indeed an art which is fascinating, exacting, exciting and beneficial—beneficial as a mental stimulus, an aid to self-reliance, self-assertion, a means of escape from that which is you, and withal a lot of fun."
"Many persons who timidly say, 'I'd love to take part, but I can't act,' upon being urged to do so develop a manner and a technique that are surprising." It is hoped by the sponsors that the venture will result in a realization of the necessity for an organization to foster the expression of dramatic art in Iowa City.

Representatives From Three Counties Adopt School Councils

Johnson, Iowa, Cedar Counties Represented

Temporary Officers Selected To Organize New County Councils

Representatives from city and rural schools in Johnson, Iowa and Cedar counties, meeting last night in the north conference room of Iowa Union, voted to adopt county councils and selected temporary officers to bring about final organization of the councils.

Meeting for dinner at 6:30 p.m., county and city superintendents and teachers from the three counties heard Dr. R. W. Tallman, field representative for the Iowa State Teachers association, speak on the merits of the county council system.

Primary Purpose
"The primary purpose of the county council is to provide the channel whereby the membership of the Iowa State Teachers association may participate in determining the program for the year and help put it into action," Tallman stated.

"It will serve as a clearing house and a coordinating agency for the educational profession through its study and discussion of pertinent problems, as well as giving immediate attention to points to be included in a long-time legislative program," the speaker added.

Problems
Some of the problems brought up by Dr. Tallman as needing such an administrative body included representation in delegate assembly, enlargement of service of the Iowa State Teachers association, representation in state and district conventions and institutes on professional relations.

According to Dr. Tallman, when each of the county councils were completely organized, they would consist of 15 to 17 representatives from city and rural schools.

No Vote
The council will not be a voting body, he asserted, nor will any member of the group be sent about the country with all his expenses paid. The council's work will be primarily of an informative nature to educate teachers and superintendents of various localities in regard to legislative problems which concern them, he concluded.

Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of Iowa City schools, presided over the Johnson county group during the adoption of the county plan.

Lenora K. Hartmann, superintendent of Iowa county rural schools, and Jane McCormick, superintendent of rural schools in Cedar county, presided over meetings of their respective county groups during the adoption.

C. of C. Drive To Have First Reports Today

Breakfast Yesterday Marks Official Opening Of $11,120 Campaign

First reports from all divisions of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, starting an intensive four-day campaign to raise $11,120 for the budget, will be heard at an 8 o'clock breakfast this morning in the Jefferson hotel dining room.

Yesterday's breakfast marked the official opening of the drive, although many divisions have been in the field for several days.

The first to reach yesterday's breakfast, Kenneth E. Greene, was awarded a rooster and the last, E. F. Lenthe, an alarm clock, as W. T. Hageboeck, general chairman, told the group the drive is not a charity program, "but an effort to finance properly the chamber so that it may effectively put over a program which will help every person in Iowa City."

L. D. Wareham, chairman of the executive special division, will be the first to report this morning. Other accounts will be given by Prof. E. W. Hills, chairman of the university division, and Jack Beighle, chairman of the national group.

Second reports will be heard at 8 a.m. tomorrow at the last breakfast. The campaign is scheduled to end at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, when final reports will be given.

250 Women Will Compete In Tournament

A district tournament of farm bureau women's choruses will be held in Macbride hall May 31, County Agent Emmett C. Gardner announced yesterday after making arrangements with university officials.

Two hundred fifty women from ten eastern Iowa counties are expected to sing in the tournament. The choruses are sponsored by the Iowa State college extension service and the county farm bureaus.

Eight Defense Witnesses Take Stand in Don Alberhasky Case

Two more highway patrolmen and six other persons took the stand yesterday as defense witnesses in the Don Alberhasky case held in Johnson county district court with Judge Harold D. Evans presiding.

Alberhasky brought the case in an effort to secure a writ of mandamus against the county board of supervisors demanding that to renew a class B beer permit for the Green Gables tavern, located north of Iowa City.

A ninth witness, Defense Attorney D. C. Nolan, was called to the stand by Attorney Frank E. Messer, who is representing the plaintiff. Attorney Nolan was examined in an effort to learn the contents of certain reports used by the defense attorneys.

Besides Attorney Nolan, other witnesses taking the stand during the day included Patrolman Adolph Hallgreen, Ivan Stimmel, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Connell, William Bane, W. D. Johnston, William Linder and Patrolman John Schneider.

Testimony of the witnesses was used by the defense attorneys in an effort to prove alleged congestion of traffic at the tavern and the existence of intoxicated persons who had attended the tavern from time to time.

William Linder, 77, owner of the land where the Green Gables is located, testified that he leased the land to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alberhasky and that the lease provides that no intoxicating beverages shall be sold there. Linder admitted, however, he realized Alberhasky had been selling beer and had erected a dance hall in the back part of the tavern. He said he had attempted to increase the amount of rent because of this and had Alberhasky consented to the increase, there would have been no objection to the way the business has been conducted.

The second highway patrolman to testify was Patrolman Schneider of West Liberty, whose testimony was similar in substance to that of Patrolman Hallgreen, who took the stand earlier in the day.

Schneider stated he had occasion to pass Green Gables tavern several times a week, and that parking was usually congested on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

"I counted 33 cars parked there one time," he testified, "and some of them were parked adjacent to the highway. Sometimes my partner and I have stopped to get cars moved, and Alberhasky has always given full cooperation," he stated.

Schneider's further testimony revealed that within the last three months he had arrested three motorists on charges of reckless driving as they came toward Iowa City from the tavern. He said they all had liquor in their cars, but were not intoxicated.

Schneider said he had never witnessed any accidents while passing the tavern except an occasional locking of bumpers or fenders by cars parked at the tavern.

Court was adjourned by Judge Evans until 9 o'clock this morning, when Defense Attorney Nolan and Harold Vestermark expect to call members of the county board to the witness stand.
