Ribbentrop To Give Message Allies Stiffen Lines in Norway

Will Present Secret Report

To Disclose What German Invaders Found in Oslo Office

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER BERLIN, April 26 (AP)—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop will deliver personally tomorrow to foreign diplomats and the foreign press a message of a closely-guarded nature to which the German government clearly attaches great importance.

In Berlin, agog with speculation which in large measure overshadowed news of fighting in Norway, the following explanation from a usually well-informed source seemed plausible although it could not be confirmed.

'British Convivance' Von Ribbentrop, favored Hitler statesman, will disclose what was found by German invaders in the Oslo foreign office "regarding connivance between Great Britain and Norway for making Norway the northern flank of the allied war front."

Announcement of the foreign minister's statement said only it would be "a declaration of the reichs government" pertaining to the "political situation," but the unique gesture of assembling foreign diplomats, military attaches and the press in the reichs chancellery emphasized the significance with which Germany views the statement. It will be read at 2:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. CST) and broadcast by all German radio stations.

Important Declaration "The importance of this declaration follows from its ceremonial setting," said the excellently informed commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland.

"Strictest silence is being observed regarding the subject matter of the declaration, but one will not go wrong in assuming that the moment chosen for delivery of this declaration hints it will be an important contribution toward clarification of the present political situation."

Decline To Elaborate The government spokesman declined to elaborate on the announcement. Von Ribbentrop last appeared before the foreign press April 9 to explain the German position on occupation of Norway and Denmark.

The German stand is that the British-French allies intended to move into Scandinavia, and from there to assault Germany, but that Germany beat them to it by acting to take Denmark and Norway under the "protection" of the reich.

Rev. Hugh Stuntz To Speak At Annual Methodist Banquet

Wesley Foundation Sponsors Program For Faculty, Students

"Christian Youth and World Tensions" will be discussed by the Rev. Hugh C. Stuntz, principal speaker at the annual Methodist student-faculty-church banquet at 6:30 tonight in the church basement. The banquet is sponsored by the Wesley Foundation.

The toastmaster for the program will be C. Edward Wilson, A3 of Ottumwa. The invocation will be pronounced by Robert Smith, A3 of Des Moines.

Foundation Octette The Wesley Foundation octette will sing two selections, "Sweet and Low" by J. Barnby and "Sweet Genevieve" by Henry Tucker. Members of the octette are Fern Newcomer, A3 of Iowa City, and Shirley Johnson, A1 of Iowa City; sopranos; Eunice Burket, A2 of Akron, and Dorothy Rohwedder, C3 of Wyoming, altos; James Davis, C3 of Marshall, and James Dack, A4 of Terrell, tenors, and Berkley Craig, G of Incola, Ill., and Brigham Wheelock, A1 of Mapleton, basses.

Methodists Ask Members To Pray, Fast for Speedy Conclusion of War

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 26 (AP)—The general conference of the Methodist church today called upon all 7,856,000 members in the United States to do without Sunday dinner on June 2 and pray for "speedy termination of war."

The 776 conference delegates resolved to set the example by doing likewise this Sunday and contributing the money they would have spent to a fund "for the relief of human suffering."

"The first Sunday in June," their resolution read, "is hereby designated as a day of self-denial, fasting and prayer throughout the Methodist church."

"We urge that every Methodist follow the example of the general conference in making a sacrificial offering. We regard this period of fasting... as a preparation for further sacrifices to be made during the continuation of this period of critical human need."

They resolved the fast day should be "a time of deep intercession for the suffering multitudes of other lands, and of earnest petition for the speedy termination of war and the establishment of a just and lasting peace."

At today's business session the delegates debated lengthily as to where the newly created Methodist church's administrative boards and commissions should be located. They rejected, temporarily at least, recommendations of the small commission on location appointed at Kansas City a year ago, and turned the entire matter over to the large committee on temporal economy for reconsideration.

Michigan Governor Says Modern Youth Not Morally Lax

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 26 (AP)—Luren D. Dickinson, 81-year-old governor of Michigan and critic of eastern "high life," remarked today that modern youth wasn't as lax morally as sometimes pictured.

But, he added: "Their parents drink too much—especially the middle-aged ones. As soon as president Roosevelt brought beer back and the nation voted two-to-one to bring liquor back, why, good church people started saying to themselves: 'This country wants liquor, so I guess we ought to have it too.'"

Governor Dickinson, a delegate to the general conference of the Methodist church, said in an interview that President Roosevelt "made a colossal mistake when he brought beer back" because "people have liquor in their cellars now that they never thought of drinking during prohibition."

He made his comment on the present standard of the morals of youth in agreeing with the council of bishops' report to the conference.

23 Superior Ratings Out of 33 Entries Given Local Artists

Iowa City high school walked off with top honors in all divisions of the state music contest for this quarter of Iowa being held at Fairfield with a total of 23 superior ratings out of 33 entries, final tabulations revealed last night.

In addition to the unusually high percentage of superior ratings, eight individuals or groups received a second or excellent rating and only two events failed to place in the top brackets. School officials last night said that no other school entered in the contest at Fairfield could come near Iowa City's record in number of superior ratings.

First place winning individuals yesterday were Robert Swisher, bass solo; Charles Ingersoll, tenor solo; Bonita Lansing, bassoon solo; William Gower Jr., oboe solo; Jean Mocho, baritone-bass saxophone solo; woodwind quintet, string quartet, mixed clarinet group, Madrigal singers, string quintet and chamber group of woodwind instruments.

Yesterday's second place excellent winners include Robert Merriam, clarinet solo; Phyllis Blackman, soprano solo; Robert Todd, snare drum solo; Brass sextet, brass quartet and clarinet quartet.

Iowa City won 12 superiors and two excellent out of 15 entries Thursday and 11 superiors and six excellent out of 18 entries yesterday.

Berres Guilty Of Murder Of Postville Man

A jury of seven women and five farmers at 1:30 this morning found Carroll Berres, 24, of West Allis, Wis., guilty of murder in the first degree and recommended life imprisonment. The jury began to consider the case late yesterday.

Berres had testified that he fired in self-defense in the gun battle that resulted in the death of Elmer J. Lennon, Postville, Ia., night marshal last November 9. Lennon was fatally wounded when he attempted to arrest a man burglarizing a filling station in Postville.

In his final argument, County Attorney Arthur Jackson said there were only two witnesses to the shooting, "Berres and the dead man."

First Major Battle Looms

'We Have Lost The First Trick' in North, British Officer Admits

BY DREW MIDDLETON LONDON, April 26 (AP)—Long columns of allied infantry and artillery pushed over slushy, bomb-scarred roads in Norway today into stiffening front lines as the first major battle of the northern campaign loomed near strategic Trondheim.

As the lines were being drawn, military spokesmen frankly admitted "we have lost the first trick" in Norway and a fresh reversal was announced today in "limited withdrawals" before strong German forces south of Dombas, 110 miles southwest of Trondheim.

Harry German Air Bases British bombers continued to harry German air bases in Denmark and Norway and fired gasoline dumps at Vallo, on Oslo fjord, an air ministry communiqué said, as well as attacking German ships.

British anti-aircraft batteries established in Norway were credited with sharing the honors with fighting warplanes in shooting down six German planes and damaging eight others yesterday and last night. Other British air operations, the air ministry said, resulted in destruction of two more German planes and damaging of another while "five of our aircraft are missing."

A semi-official amplification of the air ministry's communiqué said German supply ships were attacked in Hardanger and Granvik fjords, east of Bergen, with one shower of bombs registering a direct hit on Granvik quay, described as a vital point to nazi landing plans.

Attack Encampment British pilots reported that after the attack one German supply ship was left lying on its side and partly submerged. They declared also that a "recently pitched" German military encampment near the port of Ulvik, south of Bergen, was successfully attacked.

Charge Boy With Murder Of Classmate

ABINGTON, Pa., April 26 (AP)—A firm-jawed, wide-eyed schoolboy, charged with murder in the death of a girl classmate, blurted out to his college-instructor father tonight that he shot "because I loved the girl."

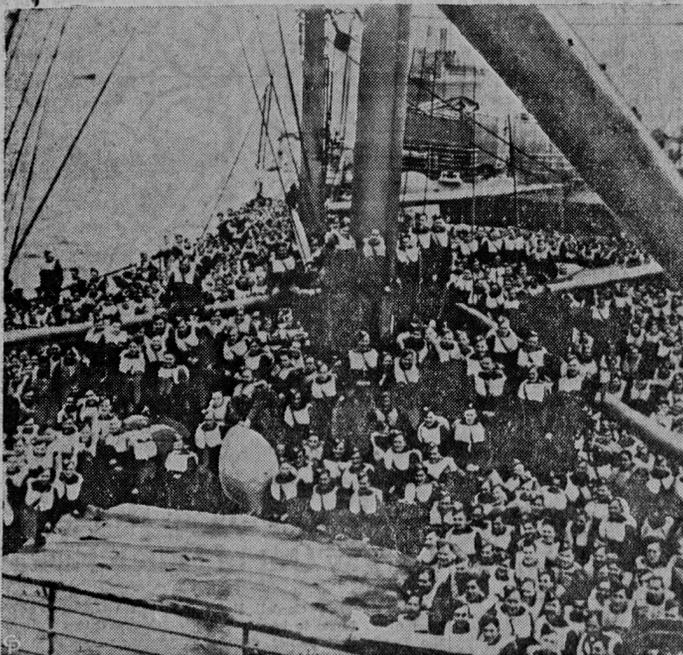

One bullet from a pistol hit 16-year-old Edith Snyder in the back and pierced her heart last night as she sat studying in the living room of her modest home. The shot was fired through a window.

Late today, Assistant District Attorney David E. Groshens said, Robert D. Heineman, also 16, of nearby Glenside, admitted shooting because he was "jealous" and added that he had tried to shoot himself but his pistol jammed.

After hours of questioning by police, Robert was brought face to face with his father, a physical education instructor at Temple university in nearby Philadelphia. They met in a public hearing room of a justice of the peace after the boy was held without bail at a brief arraignment.

Tensely the father asked: "Did you do this?" "Yes I did," the boy replied. "Why did you do it?" "Because I loved the girl." Groshens said the boy told him: "I was jealous. I was in love with her and she had dates with other boys. On Sunday she told me she had met the most wonderful boy in the world. I couldn't stand it. I made up my mind to share her."

Results Of Savage Battle Are Doubtful

Considerable Losses Sustained by Nazi Troops During Clash

By ELMER W. PETERSON STOCKHOLM, April 26 (AP)—A savage, head-on clash between German and British troops was reported in progress tonight along the narrow Gudbrandsdalen road northwest of Lillehammer; in the Central Norwegian fighting zone, with the result still in doubt.

The report of this encounter followed that of the border correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter that German columns had captured the holy contested town of Roros in the valley of the Glomma river, a little over a hundred miles northeast of Lillehammer and only a score of miles from the Swedish border.

Heavy fighting also was reported at several points 35 miles southwest of Lillehammer where Norwegian forces were reported to be making a stand.

Norwegian sources in Stockholm said that British troops advancing southeastward from Otta and Germans, advancing northwestward from Ringeby along the Lillehammer-Dombas highway, now are actively at grips with each other.

Retreat 20 Miles In the Roros sector Norwegian troops and allied reinforcements were reported to have retreated 20 miles to the east.

Such a German victory in the bitter fighting on the Glomma river, if it is a fact, entirely reverses the military picture at Roros. Earlier, the allied and Norwegian forces had brought artillery into action to throw back German advance units to a point at least five miles south of Roros while British fighting planes and anti-aircraft guns cut sharply into German aerial activity.

The allies and Norwegians, moving down the Glomma river valley from their concentration point at Soren, 30 miles south of Trondheim, met the German column at Roros.

Artillery went into action on both sides. The Germans suffered considerable losses and were driven back five to fifteen miles south of Roros, the dispatch said.

The gunfire was so heavy that it could be heard clearly across the Swedish frontier, 25 miles to the east.

The Germans were advance detachments of a force following the railway line north from Oslo, 180 miles south of Roros, in an attempt to bring reinforcements to the German garrison at Trondheim and to draw a German line across central Norway.

Nazis Drive North Paralleling the German advance up the Osterdalen, the valley of the Glomma, another German force was reported driving north through the Gudbrandsdalen further west. This advance (See BATTLE, Page 5)

Senate Adds To Labor Bill

Total Appropriations Increased for C. C. C., Security Activities

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The senate wrote additional millions into the billion-dollar appropriation for federal labor and security activities today and returned the measure to the house.

The bill, totaling $1,025,057,170, was $3,417,270 over the house-approved measure and $59,068,528 above President Roosevelt's budget estimate. A joint conference committee will work out differences between the two chambers.

Despite an appropriations committee effort to cut $25,000,000 from the $280,000,000 civilian conservation corps appropriation, the senate restored this fund and added other items, including an increase from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 in money for venereal disease control.

The senate rejected an amendment by Senator Thomas (D-Okla) to make $45,380 available to operate a motion picture film distributing agency in the office of education.

Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and McKellar (D-Tenn) led a fight against funds for the agency, set up in the education bureau by President Roosevelt's second reorganization order.

Insane Killer Dies of Own Gun Wounds

BURLINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Henry H. Reeb, 42, who battled officers singlehanded for two hours in a downtown apartment building here yesterday, died of a self-inflicted shotgun blast which tore away much of the left side of his face, Coroner R. O. Giles said today.

More than 1,000 persons watched the gun battle, which began when deputies sought to serve an insanity warrant on Reeb.

Policeman Harry Anderson, shot in the hip early in the battle, was still in a serious condition today. Paul Tegan, cafe proprietor, struck by a stray pellet from Reeb's gun, will lose his left eye, physicians said.

23 Nazi Newsmen Killed in Battles

BERLIN, April 26 (AP) (By Radio)—DNE, the official news agency, reported today that 23 German war correspondents have been killed on battlefields since the beginning of the European war.

DNE explained that German newspapermen "for the first time in the history of journalism" were not sheltered observers but trained service men who participated as regular troops in land, sea and air actions.

Promise To Ease Blockade

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Great Britain and France promised tonight to do everything "practicable" to ease the effect on American trade of their blockade and other war-time economic policies.

The pledges, couched mostly in general terms, were contained in a statement issued through the state department on the conversations held here between American officials and two allied experts, Prof. Charles Rist, former deputy governor of the bank of France, and Frank Ashton-Gwatkin, adviser to the British ministry of economic warfare.

The conversations dealt, among other things, with problems arising from the allied blockade of German exports and the allies' action in curtailing their purchases of American agricultural products.

The promises were:

- 1. The British and French governments "desire to diminish the inconveniences caused to neutral trade and interests in every practicable way so long as this does not lessen the effect of the controlling control in all its branches which the United Kingdom and France consider an absolutely necessary part of the war in which the two countries are at present engaged."
The American government, however, said in the statement that it "reserves all of its rights under international law and is not to be understood as asserting any principle of interference with bona fide neutral trade."
2. Britain and France made slight concessions in the case of the blockade of German exports to the United States. The allied representatives stated "they recognized that these measures had created hard cases and there is every desire to redress such grievances where their genuine character is proved."

Their governments are accordingly prepared to re-examine applications of American importers which have been turned down. Applications for re-examination should be sent to French or British consulates in the United States before June 1.

They also said applications would be received by French or British consulates for examination from the blockade provisions for "categories of goods which afford matter for special consideration and are unobtainable elsewhere than in Germany." This refers to optical and precision equipment which American importers find it hard to purchase outside of Germany.

3. The British and French governments, through their representatives, said they would make every effort to maintain purchases of American agricultural products "at as high a level as is compatible with the circumstances in which they are placed." Britain and France have cut off or cut down purchases of products like tobacco, fresh and canned fruits and lard.

At the same time the French and British representatives "pointed to the large increases in exports to their respective countries from the United States," and added "that the total amount of imports from the United States into their countries will continue to increase."

Raising Journalism's Standards

WE HAVE in our heart a special spot set aside for Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalism fraternity. Although we could admit that this is a prejudice, we believe that as prejudices go, this is a good prejudice.

Sigma Delta Chi, a college-born organization, has done more than any other organization in journalism that we know to elevate the professional standards of journalism. Perhaps no one will be able to settle the arguments whether journalism is a trade or a profession. The success of the Newspaper Guild will no more prove it a trade than will the success of the national fraternity prove it a profession. But this is certain: the work that the Guild accomplishes in raising material standards in the journalism "trade" is equalled by the national fraternity's work in raising the ethical standards of the journalism "profession."

A Scientist Passes The Torch On

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the retirement of Robert B. Wylie from the directorship of the botany department marks the close of full-time service of another of Iowa's grand men of science.

Professor Wylie belongs to that group of University of Iowa scientists who grew up with the university in its periods of greatest expansion, the men who elevated the school to its prominence. It is difficult to let these men go. We are not that they are in the science departments of the university, probably more than in the other departments, young men who have developed under these older leaders and men who have themselves gained distinction among their fellows, it would seem impossible to see the pioneers leave.

We share Professor Wylie's confidence and pleasure that the botany department is passing into the hands of a capable leader and distinguished scientist, Professor Loehwing.

Trampling Out The Vintage

MIGRATORY WORKERS, according to a report of the Russell Sage foundation, instead of being what some scornful people call "social scum," are a "group of average persons with no greater tendencies toward social behavior than prevails in the general population." Such a view should help in trying to find a solution to the "Grapes of Wrath" problem.

The main reason for the creation of such a mass seems to be the wearing out of soil and the lack of new productive land. If the public domain were not gone, they could, and presumably most of them would settle on new homesteads and make a living for themselves in the old American pioneer way.

But this situation seems to be bound to get worse before it gets better. The Sage Foundation finds a need for substantial mass migrations from four large areas of the United States, because those areas can no longer provide a living for the people now occupying the land. It speaks particularly of the cut-over timber region around the Great Lakes, the southern Appalachian coal plateau, the submarginal farm lands of the Great Plains, and the old cotton belt. They further suggest that some 1,500,000 to 6,000,000 people may have to leave such lands.

Many will question whether this is really inevitable, whether ways cannot be found to restore fertility to these lands without abandoning them to Nature's slow restorative process.

As for the cut-over forest areas, is there any reason why, by replanting trees and then handling them as permanent crops, a new generation can not live on their forests as the Finns do on theirs?

Bicycles Built For 8,500,000

THE AUTOMOBILE industry needn't plume itself so much. The bicycle business is coming right along. There are more produced in this country than ever before. The record was broken last year when 8,500,000 bicycles were sold to pedalling enthusiasts.

This year the bicycle industry celebrates its hundredth anniversary. The first real "wheel" was produced in Dumfries, Scotland, in 1840, by a genius named Kirkpatrick Mac Millan.

What memories "Bicycle Built For Two" brings to the minds of the old-timers. Memories of the primitive highboys with one wheel 5 feet high and the other a foot and a half, mounted fore and aft. Memories of the spring drive, the leather strap drive and the chain drive of the terrible headers when a highboy hit a pebble.

Dirt and mud roads! And, oh, how nice it was when the ball-bearing came on the market, and the high wheel was gradually lowered. It took between 40 and 50 years for these improvements to transform the dangerous, awkward bicycles into the wonderfully light, efficient, comfortable, cheap and safe bikes of today.

But, let it not be forgotten that to the bicycle we owe the automobile.

Dark Thoughts, These

MODIFYING the poetic Mr. Bryant a little, it might be said, "To him who in the love of cities holds communion with their visible forms, they speak a various language." And what do the cities say?

Chicago says, "I will." Philadelphia says, "I should." New Orleans says, "I used to." Louisville says, "I don't care if I do." New York says, "Old Man, I can't talk for publication." St. Louis says, "Excuse me."

Iowa City says, "Pardon me, if I follow . . . Can't see you for the smoke!"

An interesting game, this.

About You And All The 'Clientele'

DR. GALLUP'S American Institute of Public Opinion is going to take a poll for one of the big publishing houses. The company wants to know why readers read certain books and how they like them. Typical questions to be asked are:

"Did you read the book through?" and, "If you were recommending it to a friend, what would you say to him?"

The publishers want to know where buyers get their books, whether they belong to book clubs, and how well informed readers are about the current book-sellers. They also want to know what a reader likes best about a certain book, and what least.

These facts will be correlated, along with the general knowledge of books, sex, income level and other relevant facts known about these questions.

This, my friends, is not another government census. It represents merely the immense interest of a publisher in his clientele, existing or hoped for.

We hope it doesn't make anyone self-conscious about his reading, or timid about his personal opinions.

Improving The Road To Our Hearts

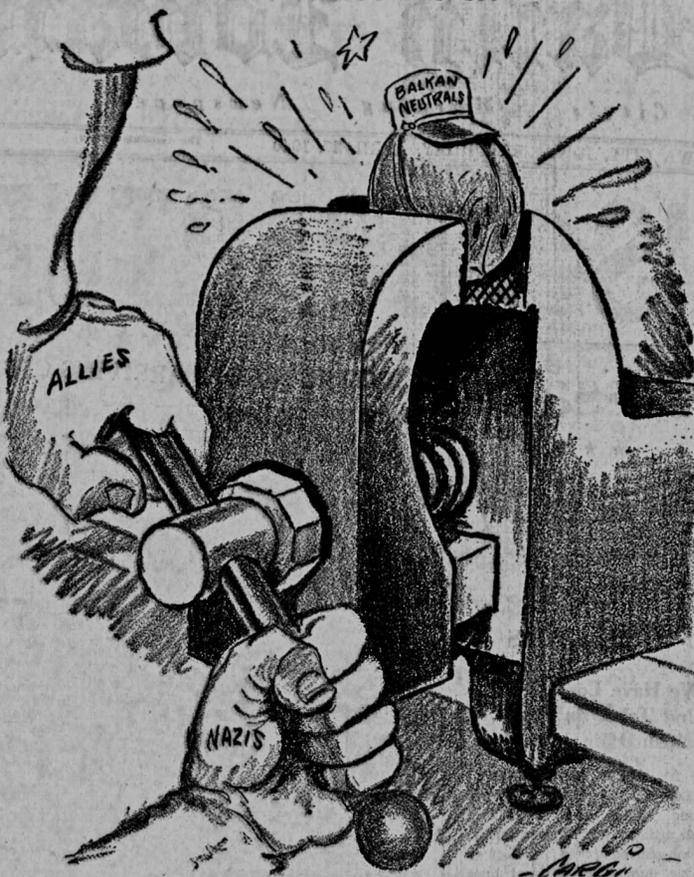

A VACATIONIST who has been covering quite a little road on a southern motor tour, reports notable improvements in restaurants. He believes that it is true all over the country.

Travel books have begun to deal with food as well as the scenery and history. A surprising number of tourists carry the book entitled "Adventures in Good Eating" written by Duncan Hines. The restaurants have met the demand.

Even in the places which specialize in "short orders," the quality of the food is good and the price reasonable. The restaurants themselves are modern in use of tile, glass, metal and plastics in simple lines and pleasing decorations.

This is good news for the great American public which travels a greater number of miles every season. The vitamin-conscious and the epicure alike may wander far and yet find eating both wholesome and delightful.

"HIGH PRESSURE STUFF"

Isolationists Fear Hull's 'Advice' to Japan To Stay Out of Dutch East Indies Is Bellicose

State Secretary Cordell Hull's warning to Japan to keep out of the Dutch East Indies even if Germany invades Holland has since the cabinet chief broadcast it recently.

Just how much it meant is what the capital would like to know. It wasn't expressed like a threat. Perhaps it's a little too strong to call it a "warning." But it was "advice" anyway, and maybe rather more than that, considering that it hadn't been asked for.

Congress has reacted in three different ways. Of course the extreme isolationists are horrified. They say they've believed all along that the administration's tendency is toward involving us in some sort of war and that that utterance by Secretary Hull was quite a long step in that direction.

A second group of lawmakers hold that it was an ideal expression of Uncle Sam's view of the situation. A third group is simply puzzled. Washington diplomacy is split up about as might have been expected. The British and French embassies are all smiles. The Netherlands legation is jubilant. The other little neutrals are gratified. The German and Japanese embassies are glumly silent — the Japanese embassy especially.

Our Navy's View One Washington newspaper headed its story of the Hull statement:

"Stay Out of Dutch East Indies, Hull Tells Japan; Navy Asks 3 Billions to Build Up to Britain."

That combination of ideas is rather suggestive.

"Hull tells Japan: three naval billions."

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

A yarn was published the other day to the effect that the Japanese, very unostentatiously, have been building up their navy until it's stronger, at present, than Uncle Samuel's.

American naval authorities don't take this report at all seriously. Still, they do say that the mikado has been building faster than we have. They add that Japan isn't as strong actually afloat as it looks on paper, because a good deal of its warship construction is very faulty. All the same, they point out that any Japanese-American naval clash would be in the Japs' immediate oceanic yard, while our share would be at a several-thousand-mile range — a distinct disadvantage to our side. We'd need to be considerably stronger than Nippon is.

Warship Building Takes Time It isn't quite clear what good our proposed $3,000,000,000 naval program would do us at the present juncture.

It would take a matter of some few years to get three billions' worth of new American warships afloat, and if we happen to have a bit of friction with the Japanese over the Netherlands East Indies, it will be pretty immediate. Nevertheless, it's an opportunity for Admiral Stark, our chief of naval operations, to call attention to our deficiency, whatever it may amount to — and he's a first-class judge of it, doubtless.

In short, our naval experts are slightly alarmist. Our army experts are slightly less so. They say, "Since militaristic Japan can't lick pacifistic China, what chance is there that the Japs will try to take on Uncle Sam also?"

However, the army and navy are more or less jealous of one another. If three billions are to be handed out for defense, the army wants its share of it.

The 5-5-3 Basis A decade and a half ago it was internationally agreed that the world's big navies should be maintained on a fixed basis:

Five for Uncle Sam; five for John Bull; three for Japan; smaller fractions for France and Italy.

That dicker has gone into the discard. John Bull has overbuilt his five. Uncle Samuel has underbuilt his figure. The Japanese have overbuilt their three. Nobody has paid much attention to France and Italy.

There's no bargain in force any longer.

Japanese Viewpoint Here's what Japan is saying: "Germany invaded Denmark. Greenland is a Danish possession. Thereupon Uncle considers it his right to protect Greenland against being grabbed by the Germans, as Danish property? Why? Why, because Greenland is near-American."

"Well, suppose Germany gobles Holland. The Dutch East Indies are Dutch property, and they're near-Japanese. Then why, if the Germans invade Holland, haven't the Japanese an equal right to protect the Dutch East Indies?"

One difference is that Greenland isn't worth anything, whereas the Dutch East Indies are immensely valuable.

Another difference is that Uncle Sam is considered "on the level" in the Greenland instance, and that Japan isn't so considered in the case of the Dutch East Indies.

N. Y. Police Are Toughies Riot Squads Now Quell Disturbances With Bare Knuckles

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—If we had to risk our future on the success or failure of a single Broadway show, we would want Robert Sherwood to write it. Not that Sherwood is the best writer in the world, but in our opinion he more nearly estimates the reaction of people to moving events than any other writer. He never gets mad. He never permits causes to "burn him up." He knows that people who get too indignant are apt to become more ludicrous than convincing.

Mayor LaGuardia's riot squads are getting tough. For years, when disturbances threatened, the police merely waded in with bare hands and, by sheer weight of numbers, persuaded the rioters to disperse. But when the reds began creating disturbances near the French building recently the cops had orders not to take any sass from anybody. They didn't carry nightsticks — N. Y. cops haven't been armed with clubs for years, probably because the City's administration doesn't want to offend organized labor, who strike frequently — but they used their fists. They had the caboose wagons lined up waiting, and used them.

Most of the nearly 100,000 words of Lieut. Col. Harold Hartney's book, "Up And At 'Em," was written on the 18th floor of the Lexington hotel. This is a leaping plunging account of aerial warfare above the Western Front during the first World War. Col. Hartney was Commander of the First Pursuit group, and, as such, shot down many planes and was himself brought down. A pip of a book for insomniacs.

In case you want to make a personal note of it, Larry Clinton has named his new 4-passenger plane the Dipsy - Doodle. Larry himself is known as the old Dipsy-Doodler. He once wrote a song by that title, and it has become his musical signature. But what suggested it as a name for his ship was that the royalties it brought him served as a down payment on the plane. It was just a month ago that he obtained his pilot's license. He is pained that some of his musicians still refuse to fly with him.

Dodgers Win To Hold Lead In National

Batter Phils, 6-0 For 6th Straight; Fitzsimmons Hurls

PHILADELPHIA, April 26 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers set an all-time club record today in chalking up their sixth straight victory of the season—a 6-0 triumph over the Phillies.

Never had the Dodgers won that many without loss in opening any of their 50 seasons of big league baseball. It left them the only undefeated team in the major leagues.

The veteran Freddie Fitzsimmons prolonged the Brooklyn streak with a seven hit performance that kept the Phillies far from home plate with anything that looked like a run.

In chalking up their third shut-out of the young season the Dodgers scored their first two runs in the sixth—and then in the seventh Cookie Lavagetto clinched the triumph with a homer with the sacks loaded off one of Walter Brainer's fast ones.

Griffith Says Hutchins Cannot Prove Football Statements

DES MOINES, April 26 (AP)—Major John L. Griffith charged here tonight that when Robert M. Hutchins, University of Chicago president, "states that football is a major handicap to education he makes a categorical statement that is not susceptible to proof."

The Western athletic conference commissioner discussed "is football a handicap to education?" at the annual banquet held in connection with the Drake relay which he founded here in 1910. Major Griffith asserted in his prepared address that President Hutchins, who abolished football at his institution this year, has the right to advocate removal "of one or all sports," but he added:

"By the same token those of us who believe that the boys who like to play a rough and tumble game such as football should be allowed to do so—have a right to express our opinions."

He said he had collected definitions of some 50 prominent educators and "it is interesting to learn that almost without exception these men do not agree with the Hutchins definition of education."

Saying that Dr. Hutchins was quoted January 12 as declaring "football has done much to confirm the popular misconception that the university is a country club," Griffith stated:

"I cannot resist the temptation to call attention here to the fact that Dr. Hutchins is now administering a five-million dollar country club as a part of his educational duties."

"It is Dr. Hutchins' belief that football and philosophy are in competition," the commissioner said, "and he undoubtedly believes that if none of his boys were permitted to engage in intercollegiate football they and the public would pay more attention to the things which he champions."

"He remarked the other day that 'the discontinuance of football at the University of Chicago may mark the beginning of higher education in the United States.' I am sure that we all agree the University of Chicago was an institution of higher learning when it was represented by good football teams."

Griffith suggested that "those who believe that manners and morals have been and will continue to be improved on the playing fields of America and that athletics can make a distinct contribution to the life of our times, call attention to the fact that it is not necessary to make it impossible for others to succeed."

"For my part I am convinced that there is far more good than bad in college athletics. Let us beware of those who would destroy the good along with the bad."

Hawkeye Runners Lose In Drake Preliminaries

Leuz Qualifies In Shot-Put

DES MOINES, April 26 (Special To The Daily Iowan)—Only one Hawkeye trackman, Bill Leuz, came through the first day's competition in the annual Drake relays here.

Leuz, Iowa shotputter, got off a heave of 45 feet, eight and one-quarter inches to remain for the finals tomorrow.

Iowa will also be represented tomorrow in the shuttle hurdle relay, the two-mile and four-mile relays and by rangy Jim Wilson in the high jump. Just failing to qualify today were Henry Vollenweider, who came in third in his heat of the 120-yard high hurdles, behind Dreiss of Texas A & M and Kelley of Michigan.

Art Schlauder failed to qualify in the 100-yard dash, coming in fourth in his heat, while the half mile team finished fourth in its heat and the Hawkeye quarter-mile and mile teams both finished in fifth place.

Dominating the meet during the first day, before 10,000 spectators, were the performances of Ralph Schwarzkopf of Michigan and Indiana's crack runners. Schwarzkopf, Big Ten two-mile title holder, was the first of the individual stars to triumph when he easily won the two-mile championship in the slow time of 9:22.

He had no trouble trimming a field of 13, beating Jenkins of State Teachers by more than 40 yards, with John Munski of Missouri finishing 30 yards behind Jenkins.

The flying Hoosiers, paced by Roy Cochran, Big Ten quarter-mile champ and holder of the world's indoor 440-yard mark, won both the university distance medley and the sprint medley races, tying the Drake record of 3:25.1 in the sprint event.

A relay team from Loyola of Chicago came smashing through for the first new record of the meet when the Chicagoans captured the college sprint medley in 3:27.7 to break the mark set in 1938 by Kansas State Teachers.

The second mark to fall came a few seconds later when East Texas State Teachers college ran the college half-mile relay in 1:27.5, clipping three-tenths of a second off the 15-year old mark made by Butler.

U-High Tracksters Win Easily Over Sigourney In Warmup for Conference Meet Next Week

University high's versatile track team, pointing for the Eastern Iowa Eight conference meet next Saturday, overwhelmed Sigourney in a dual meet yesterday afternoon, 89 to 50.

With Coach M. F. Carpenter's instructions to "let out everything" in mind, the Blue swept 15 first places, while giving Sigourney but one.

In outstanding individual performances, considering the cool weather, Captain Clarence Hightshoe clipped off a 24.1 try in the 200-yard low hurdles, Cy Beyer turned in a 10.9 time in the 100, and Bob Frazier raced to an excellent 53.3 quarter.

Haub Limits Badgers To Three Bingles

Hawkeye Hurler Wins Third Game Of Big Ten Season

MADISON, Wis., April 26 (Special To The Daily Iowan)—Otto Vogel's Hawkeye baseball team moved out into a commanding position in its defense of the Big Ten title here today with an impressive 5-0 victory over Wisconsin's highly considered entry.

Co-Capt. Harold Haub of the Iowans, who stopped the Badgers at three scattered hits, added another game to a previous total of six straight Big Ten wins, two of which had been earned this year. It was also, Haub's second Big Ten shut-out win of the current season.

Meanwhile, the Hawks shelled Buker and VanSickle, Wisconsin hurlers, for a total of 13 safe hits, with the defeat charged to Buker. The Hawkeyes scored twice in the second inning and once each in the fifth, eighth and ninth.

Frank Kocur, Iowa third baseman, had a perfect day at bat with two hits, a triple and a single in two trips to the plate, while catcher Bill Welp hit for three in five, on one a double, and Erwin Prasse got two bingles in three times at bat.

The victory leaves the Hawkeyes in third place in the conference standings, with three wins and one loss behind Indiana and Ohio State. However, the Hoosiers and Buckeyes have played but one game each. The Iowans win dropped Wisconsin from a first place tie to a fourth place deadlock with Illinois.

In Saturday's game, the last of the Wisconsin series, the probable starting pitcher for Iowa is Fred Horsthorst, with Bob Stawny also a possibility for mound duty.

Thar's Gold In New Ties!

Metallic Shade, Reds, Wines, Greens Shown In Spring Neckwear

Somewhere up in Alaska, gold is mined. Somewhere in America, ties are manufactured. Although there isn't a close relation between these two products, one common use brings them together. It's slightly far-fetched, but the use is simply in color.

Blaze of Gold
This year, tie manufacturers are showing young America ties that are a blaze of golden color. Matched with reds, wines, and greens, this use of golden color adds a great deal to the new spring outfit.

Speaking of ties, one must not forget all the good-looking ties that are shown this year. Steering away to some extent from the over-used striped ties, this year's ties have taken a change to such designs as seen in surrealism and in the work of Picasso and other exponents of individual expression.

Soft Gray Background
Against a soft gray background, splashes of red in cubes, squares, triangles and other shapes are seen in some of the new ties. Then, again, there will be "paint brush" stripes thrown haphazardly across a solid background. Made of soft silk, they will have a full knot which traces back to the middle 19th century.

Ties are in style today if they follow no definite design. That is, choose your tie if it reminds you of a "jumbled mess." It will more than likely be the most popular tie you ever had!

University Pershing Rifles To Be Hosts to Visiting Groups

120 To Take Part in Meet This Morning

Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota Send Men for Competition

The University of Iowa units of Pershing Rifles and Pontoniers, crack squads representing the infantry and engineering units respectively of the university cadet military regiment, will both be hosts today to visiting groups of their organizations.

Three Pershing Rifles companies will come to Iowa City to match their abilities against the Iowa squad in rifle marksmanship and crack drill maneuvers. Visiting groups come from the universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota and South Dakota. About 120 men from the four schools will take part in the regimental meet.

The rifle match at 9 o'clock this morning will open the day's activities on the Pershing Rifles front. Ten shots will be fired from each of four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. The crack platoon drill will follow this and will include individual competition for best-drilled freshman and sophomore.

To Award Trophies
Trophies will be awarded winning companies in the rifle match and the drills and three medals will be awarded in each of the individual contests.

Judges for the Pershing Rifles meet will be D. W. C. Lewis of the Coe college military department, Maj. Charles C. Griffen, head of the military department at Loras college, Dubuque, and Maj. Ralph M. Flanagan of Coe college.

Following a noon luncheon for the visitors, a regimental review will be held near the armory in which the Scottish Highlanders will participate. Cadets will be entertained at a dinner this evening in the D and L grill and officers will meet in a private dining room at Iowa Union.

The Iowa State college unit of Pontoniers will meet the University of Iowa unit today in boat racing, crack drill maneuvers and rifle shooting.

Varied Program
Individual drill competition beginning at 8:30 this morning will open the day's activities and will be followed by competition between platoon companies, crack squads and machine gun squads. Boat racing on the Iowa river will begin at 2:30 this afternoon. The Pontonier navy of five boats will race from the City park bridge to the boat dock at the Burlington street bridge. This will be followed by a novelty race using small canvass-covered boats ordinarily used in building a Lampert bridge. This race will take place near the dock.

A banquet at which awards will be presented will take place in the evening to be followed by a dance at the Varsity ballroom.

A Project for Uncle Sam

A recent project of the United States engineering division here, a division of the United States war department, is the hydraulic river model completed in the university hydraulic laboratory this week. A detailed view of the model, showing the locks and dam, is above. Russell Christensen, also shown, engineer in the local department, supervised the construction of the hydraulic model which is an exact duplicate of a section of the Mississippi river.

Engineers Complete Hydraulic River Model $7,000 Project Designed To Solve Navigation Problem on Mississippi

Influenced by the recent expansion program of the United States war department, the local civilian unit of the department, the United States engineers, is doing bigger and better things, too.

Probably the "ultimate" of their work done here since 1929, when the engineers moved into their new offices in the local hydraulics laboratories, is the $7,000 hydraulic river model completed there this week.

Answer to Problem
The government has "spent money to save money" on this project, hoping to find an answer to a navigation problem on the Mississippi river, one of America's chief water ways.

The project wasn't a one man's job either. Rather, engineers, surveyors, draftsmen and laborers have been responsible for construction of the 92 foot "model." But with construction finished, the task of the local engineers is actually just beginning. They now must determine by experimentation an effective and economical way of eliminating hazardous currents in the upper approach channels to the locks.

Reproduction
Members of the corp of engineers of the United States army, the local engineers have reproduced in the project a duplication of the lock and dam, as well as two miles of the Mississippi river at the site of Guttenberg, Ia.

Elaborate map drawings of the original site at Guttenberg, referred to by the engineers as the "prototype" show the topography of the land and contour of the river bed there.

The "prototype" has been duplicated to the most minute detail. Measurements of the river, dam and locks have been reduced in the project to one foot for every 125 feet. Water depth has been reproduced to correlate one foot to 50 feet in the "distorted" model.

90-Foot Model
The 90 foot concrete model, equipped with a removal river bed, nearly monopolizes the second floor of the university hydraulic laboratory. The space in the university building is rented from the state by the war department, officials said.

The local engineering hydraulic classes use the projects of the United States war department for study and observation. Many types of hydraulic problems pertaining to harbors, locks, dams and rivers throughout the country are being worked out daily in the laboratory here.

The local division of the United States engineering department is headed by M. E. Nelson. Twenty-eight engineers, draftsmen and clerks are at work in the office here which is under the district branch in St. Louis, Mo.

Part of War Department
Working day by day on problems little known and little publicized, the divisions of the United States engineers are an integral part of the war department, doing their part for Uncle Sam and the war department of America.

Dramatic Club Plans Drive For Members

Mrs. A. D. Hensleigh To Head Community Playhouse Campaign

Plans for the Iowa City Community Playhouse association's membership drive next week were well underway last night, according to an announcement made by Elmer Bladow, director.

On Monday morning, a large banner which reads "Mayor Proclaims Community Dramatics Week. Join Now—The Community Playhouse Association." will be put up on downtown Washington street, Bladow said.

A membership drive committee, under the direction of Mrs. A. D. Hensleigh, has been formed to promote the drive, he declared. Drive headquarters will be at the Recreational Center and tickets or information concerning the organization may be obtained by calling 4350, he said.

Subscription Prices
An adult subscription of $1.25 will entitle a person to attend the three summer season plays and membership nights, while a 75 cent ticket for high school students will carry the same privileges, Bladow pointed out.

During the drive membership tickets will be available from Gordon Brown, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Attorney Dan Dutcher; Ortha Neff; Ruth Mueller and Elenore Lee White, he added.

Ted Sealey will have charge of ticket sales in the business district.

"The Iowa City Community Playhouse association will subsist entirely on the receipts of the membership drive as have other famed community players in Pasadena, Cal., Cleveland, Ohio, and Provincetown, Mass.," Bladow said.

The three plays scheduled for summer production are "Stepping Sisters," "Outward Bound" and "The Night of January 16."

"Outward Bound"
A group of persons, sailing on a mysterious ship to an unknown destination is the theme of "Outward Bound."

During performances of "The Night of January 16," members of the audience will be selected to serve on the jury of the play, Bladow announced. The play has two endings, depending on the verdict returned by the audience-jury.

The dramatization tells of Wood's friendship with Marvin Cone, the Cedar Rapids artist, their experiences in Paris where they studied art, the dissatisfaction that Wood felt over mere pictorial painting, and his final discovery of a way to put meaning and life in his art.

Following the dramatization, Dr. Bernard Myers of New York university will discuss some of Wood's typical works.

MacMurray, Jean Arthur Star in Gay Comedy Held Over at Strand

"Two's company and three's a crowd"—except at the Strand theater where Columbia's "Too Many Husbands" is hectorically, hilariously proving that "two's company and three's a comedy!" Jean Arthur, Fred MacMurray and Melvyn Douglas are starred in the film, one of the merriest, maddest marital mix-ups ever brought to the screen!

VICTOR McLAGLEN STARS AT IOWA

Takes Leading Role in 'Full Confession' Opening There Today

Said to be a role strikingly reminiscent of his immortal Gypo in "The Informer," Victor McLaglen portrays a slow-witted, two-fisted brute in RKO Radio's stirring drama, "Full Confession." The story concerns the efforts of a determined priest, played by Joseph Calleia, to make a convict (McLaglen) confess the murder of a policeman, for which crime an innocent man has been sentenced to the electric chair.

'Allegheny Uprising' On Iowa Bill—

Revising a stirring chapter of American history, Neil Swanson's popular novel, "The First Rebel," has been brought to the screen in a pretentious and authentic production entitled "Allegheny Uprising."

'FOUR WIVES'

'EARL OF CHICAGO' OPENS AT VARSITY

Robert Montgomery Stars in Unusual, Original Screen Story

Robert Montgomery, so often seen on the screen as the wisecracking man-about-town, has again proven himself one of Hollywood's most versatile actors with his dramatic portrayal of a Chicago gangster in "The Earl of Chicago," which opened last night at the Varsity theater.

It was no ordinary role selected for Montgomery. The story is as unusual and original as any yet brought to the screen, with Montgomery playing Silky Kilmount, liquor racketeer, who becomes an English Earl by inheritance. Not as heavy a characterization as the psychopathic murderer Montgomery played in "Night Must Fall," which brought him nomination for the Academy Award, it is an equally fascinating characterization and the star plays it to the hilt.

Laurel and Hardy On Varsity Bill

"A Chump at Oxford" which is the companion feature is rated as the funniest and most hilarious comedy yet to star Laurel and Hardy, the screen's leading pair of funsters.
