BRITISH CARRY OFFENSIVE TO SEA

Nazis Claim New Victories Over British Ships

—FROM BERLIN—

High Command Says 13 Craft Sunk, Damaged

Indicates Supplies Are Pouring Into Norway In Attempt To Halt Nazis

By EDWIN SHANKE

BERLIN, May 1 (AP)—Furious warplane attacks which sank or damaged 13 British warships or transports and the continued advance of Nazi warriors in central Norway despite dogged allied resistance were reported today by the German high command.

Indicating that the British are pouring reinforcements into Norway in an attempt to stem the German tide, the high command asserted that one cruiser, one destroyer and five transports were sunk off Namsos, allied landing place about 100 miles north of German-held Trondheim, and that five other transports and a cruiser in that sector were damaged by air raiders.

"Advance Continues" The communique touched only briefly on latest developments, reporting that fighting "still went on yesterday" on the Trondheim front and that the "German advance in Norway continues."

The Germans yesterday officially announced the capture of Dombas, key railroad junction town on the Oslo-Trondheim railroad, and said that their Oslo and Trondheim forces had established contact.

German authorized sources, as of yesterday, again said they understood the German troops were pushing after retiring British and Norwegian forces west of Dombas, toward Andalsnes, 60 miles further west and the British landing point in that area. There were no indications, however, as to what progress was being made.

New Air Attacks (British sources yesterday said the Germans also had captured Stora, another junction town on the railroad between Dombas and Trondheim, but unconfirmed reports from Stockholm tonight said the Norwegians had recaptured Stora, possibly after a German withdrawal. Similar reports said the Norwegians had re-entered Roros, east of Stora.)

Britain's bombers hurled new attacks at three German airfields during the night, those at Stavanger, on Norway's southwest coast, Fomnebu, near Oslo, and Aalborg, in Denmark, but the Germans said the raids were costly and did no real damage.

The high command said nine British planes were shot down; DNB, the official German agency, put British losses at Stavanger alone at 11 planes. (The British said four German fighters were downed and "heavy damage" inflicted on the airports and admitted loss of seven of their own planes).

See Increase In Employment

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Federal security administrator McNutt and the American Federation of Labor reported today that employment was increasing, the AFL attributing the rise to higher wages resulting in greater buying power.

Cooperative Farm Workers Exempted From Wagner Act

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—An amendment exempting from the wage-hour law some 200,000 workers in a number of farm cooperatives was tentatively approved by the house today as that chamber spent its fifth day on the hot issue of revising the act.

The amendment, proposed by Rep. Buck (D-Calif.) and adopted 149 to 56 on a teller vote, would write into the law the same definition of agriculture that is now

Senate Committee Approves $250,000 For Byrd Expedition

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The senate appropriations committee approved today a $250,000 fund to maintain the Byrd expedition in the Antarctic for another year after hearing that President Roosevelt and the state department were anxious to establish claims of the United States to "Little America."

The house had refused to provide additional funds.

Hatch Politics Bill Shelved Amid Turmoil

Measure Relegated To 'Unpeaceful Slumber'; Friends To Push Passage

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The house judiciary committee considered the new Hatch "anti-politics" bill to unpeaceful slumber in a committee pigeon-hole today, while friends of the measure bluntly charged "bad faith" and redoubled their efforts to push it to passage.

By a ballot reported as 14 to 10, the committee voted to "table" the bill, meaning that only unusual procedure could revive it before the end of the session.

Rep. Dempsey (D-NM), the measure's principal house exponent, immediately announced he would initiate whatever parliamentary moves may be necessary to get action on the legislation.

Supplements Original The bill, already approved by the senate, would prohibit political activity to state employees whose salaries are paid in whole or part with federal funds. It supplements the original Hatch act, passed a year ago, which applied a similar restriction to all but a few top-ranking federal employees.

The new measure, supported by President Roosevelt but opposed by a number of new deal and anti-new deal democrats, cuts deeply into numerous state political organizations. Intense opposition to the measure has been generally attributed, in part, to this factor. Opposition has arisen, too, on the basis that it involves an unconstitutional invasion of state domain by the federal government.

Political Dynamic At any rate, the legislation has been laden with political dynamite, created a prodigious row in the senate, and then was caught in a mire of opposition in the house committee. The latter has had the bill under consideration for many weeks, while its friends have endeavored to obtain commitments from committee members looking to blasting it out.

Elliott Roosevelt Says F.R. Will Not Run Again

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 1 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt predicted tonight his father would not be a candidate for a third term unless there is a definite demand from the people.

In a radio address, the president's son said he thought Mr. Roosevelt would withhold announcement of his intentions until just before or possibly during the national democratic convention in Chicago.

Mrs. Etta R. Holmes Is 95, Graduated From Iowa During the Civil War— Iowa's Oldest Alumna May Return in June

By JACK HAGENS

Since she is the only known living graduate of the University of Iowa class which graduated 75 years ago next month, Mrs. Etta Raymond Holmes of Pasadena, Cal., has not decided definitely whether to abandon her plans to attend the diamond anniversary of the university this year.

"It wouldn't be a reunion for me because there isn't anyone left of my old classmates for me to meet," she says.

Official recognition that she is the oldest graduate of the university was given Mrs. Holmes early this month. Following the death recently in Salem, Ore., of Mrs. Lydia Hoag Battey Bowerman who had graduated from the university in 1867 and was claimed to be the oldest alumna, university officials searched their records and found Mrs. Holmes is rightfully entitled to the honor, for she was graduated from the institution in 1865 while the Civil War still was in progress.

Still physically active though 95 years old, Mrs. Holmes is perfectly capable of making the trip but she would have to take some one with her and the cost of two fares to Iowa City and back is more than she can afford under the circumstances, she said.

Mrs. Holmes is as sprightly and active and as mentally alert as a woman of 60; in fact she might easily be taken for one in her sixties by someone casually meeting her stepping

Ackerman Lashes at Reward for Hitler

Columbia Dean Charges 'War Maker' Would Involve U. S. in Conflict

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Carl W. Ackerman, dean of Columbia university's graduate school of journalism and ex-war correspondent, declared today that the offer of a $1,000,000 reward for the capture of Adolf Hitler was "calculated to contribute to the involvement of the United States in the present European war."

While official Washington studied the offer in the light of U. S. neutrality legislation, Ackerman assailed the proposal in an open letter to Samuel Harden Church, president of the Carnegie institute, who made public the offer in behalf of an unidentified group of Pittsburgh residents.

To collect under the offer, any person or persons would have to deliver the German foe "alive, unharmed and unhurt" to the League of Nations during May for trial "for his crimes against the peace and dignity of the world."

"To offer a monetary reward for the sacrifice of human life, which would be necessary to capture Herr Hitler is a dangerous national as well as international proposal," Ackerman declared. "The American people will never sanction a policy of kidnaping either at home or abroad.

"Your proposal is not an appeal to public opinion or to the reasoned judgment of the nation. It is an effort to stamper public sentiment by mobilizing public emotion, for the obvious purpose of precipitating events calculated to force the congress to declare war upon Germany."

"Nevertheless your offer serves a useful public service. It indicates that the time has arrived for the American people to begin to list our war makers. You have won the unique position of war maker No. 1..."

6,000 Chicago Dairy Workers Strike Against Reduced Wages

Milk Delivery To Households, Stores Ceases

'Impossible To Sell Milk,' Farmers Claim In Protest To F. D. R.

CHICAGO, May 1 (AP)—A strike of approximately 6,000 dairy employees halted most home deliveries of milk in the metropolitan area today while organized farmers appealed to President Roosevelt and other officials to bring about a truce.

The U. S. Department of Labor intervened tonight when Secretary Perkins notified conciliator Harry W. Scheck to attempt to effect a settlement. Scheck planned to meet tomorrow with leaders of the dealers and union officials.

Members of the milk wagon drivers and dairy employees unions refused to work after their wage agreement with the Associated Milk Dealers of Chicago expired last midnight. The routine of supplying thousands of households and stores ceased abruptly.

The Pure Milk Association, representing 14,500 farmers in the Chicago milk shed and confronted by stagnation of its rich market, dispatched telegrams to President Roosevelt, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Illinois senators Lucas and Slatery, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois.

"Impossible for farmers to sell milk," the messages set forth. "Members of our association losing $50,000 to $60,000 each day strike continues. Urge you to take immediate steps to obtain truce and agreement for arbitration."

Core of the controversy was the amount of pay to be stipulated in a new contract. The unionists insisted that the old scale of $48 a week, plus commissions, be continued. The dealers wanted to reduce it to $30, plus commissions.

U. S. Flagship Saves 78 Victims of Ship Grounded Near Haiti

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Seventy-eight men were rescued today by the United States Panama lines flagship Panama from the wrecked British beef-laden steamer Matakana which ran aground on Mayaguana island, about 150 miles north of Haiti in the West Indies.

Tried for Sale Of Postal Jobs

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 1 (AP)—An elderly country lawyer told a federal jury today that he received $500 from a client and gave it to Rep. B. Frank Wheelchel (D-Ga.) as down payment on a postmastership appointment that the congressman failed to deliver.

Wheelchel, being tried on eight counts of selling postal jobs, listened tight-lipped while "Colonel" Haynie S. Brooks of Cumming, Ga., described how he counted $500 in bills into the congressman's hand as a payment on account from T. Lester Harris of Ball Ground, Ga.

Garner Breaks Long Silence On Politics

Tells Texas Business Men That South Is Waiting for Candidate

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Vice-president Garner, in a rare public address, told a dinner of Texas business men tonight that the people of the south never would elect one of their number president "until you have a candidate."

The vice-president, a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination regardless of President Roosevelt's plans, spoke at one of 26 dinner meetings where representatives of state and local chambers of commerce discussed public affairs with members of congress.

Explaining his usual public silence since he became vice-president, Garner said he had entered into an agreement with the president long ago that he would make no recommendations nor suggest any policy unless his advice were asked.

Dr. G. Albright Blames School Programs for Some Eye Ailments at Meeting—

Woods Sees Advances in Emotional Disorder Treatment

DES MOINES, May 1 (AP)—An advance in the treatment of emotional disorders of people may be the next great medical event, Dr. Andrew H. Woods, head of the state psychopathic hospital at Iowa City, asserted today in a paper read at a meeting of the Iowa state medical society here.

Approximately 1,000 doctors are here for the 39th annual session of the society, which will continue through Friday.

In the 15 medical papers read at sectional conferences of the society this afternoon, considerable attention was devoted to the mental and emotional factors of medical practice.

Discussing the possible future treatment of emotional disorders, Dr. Wood urged the physicians to prevent such disorders when they can.

When such disorders already have occurred, he urged that the cause be removed and the personality be restored to useful functioning by whatever methods possible.

Occasionally, he said, mental disorders can be prevented by eugenic measures.

"It is the duty of the physician to warn against marriage, or against having children, couples with family histories of insanity or epilepsy," Dr. Woods said.

He added, however, that the eugenic approach was definitely limited because of limited knowledge and limited opportunities to apply that knowledge.

He urged that the physician should aid in building a child's resistance to emotional disorders from birth, just as every effort is made to build resistance to physical ailments.

Dr. George C. Albright of Iowa City told the eye, ear, nose and throat section meeting that physicians should take an interest in that they are not too strenuous for the children.

"Many children are brought to us by parents who are expecting to find they have some eye trouble that will account for bad behavior — when the school program itself is the real cause of that behavior," Dr. Albright asserted.

He criticized fostered competition, too many subjects, too advanced subject matter and too many tests.

Survey Discloses Death, Destruction In Tornado Area

SIKESTON, Mo., May 1 (AP)—Property damage amounting to many thousand dollars more than first reported was disclosed tonight after a day-long survey of the tornado-torn areas of southeastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

The twister dipped its ugly snout in and out of eight counties in the two states yesterday on the eve of May day.

In Missouri, five deaths were verified and two others reported. No deaths were listed in Illinois but the injured in both states totaled at least 75. Twenty-three persons were in Cairo and Marion, Ill., hospitals.

English Wage Naval War Off Swedish Coast

Norwegians Report Germans Retreating From Roros Sector

By WES GALLAGHER

STOCKHOLM, May 1 (AP)—British navy raiding units, varying their submarine attack on Germany's supply and transport line across the Kattegat to Norway, brought planes and warships into play in a large-scale engagement off the Swedish west coast today.

Observers at Goteborg, Sweden, said they saw one German ship set afire and another sunk during a two-hour battle about 10 miles northwest of that important Swedish naval base.

German warships conveying transports and supply ships returned the British fire.

Nazis Retreat The sea fight came almost simultaneously with an announcement by Norwegian authorities that German troops, composing an excellently equipped tank unit of about 150 men, retreated southward from Roros, key point in the Osterdalen (valley), and also had withdrawn from Tynset, 25 miles farther south.

The Norwegians said Norse troops with "foreign volunteers" had recaptured the area around Roros but not the town itself because the Germans had threatened to subject it to aerial bombardment if they did.

The "foreign volunteers" possibly could have included Swedes, Norwegian sources said, but they declined to be positive about it.

"Communications Cut" Norwegian authorities quoted a German officer as saying that "our retreat is necessary because our communications have been cut."

(London advices said Germans taken prisoner at Roros explained that they were short of supplies.

Other London dispatches said allied forces also were advancing southward on the Steinkjer front, north of Trondheim.

An allied-Norwegian communique issued from Grong, back of the Steinkjer front, said there was little ground activity but much warfare in the air in that sector.

The Norwegian troops entered Roros suburbs about 5 a. m., after the Germans had withdrawn during the night, and established communication with Sweden.

French Keep Eye on Italy

View Nazi Claims In Norway as Threat To Italian Neutrality

PARIS, May 1 (AP)—French observers tonight kept a wary eye on developments in Italy in the light of what they called false German reports of Norwegian victories to influence Premier Mussolini to declare himself on Germany's side.

Paris-Soir, most widely circulated French afternoon newspaper, said under the signature of Andre Chaumeix, one of the "forty immortals" of the French academy, that Adolf Hitler's "design above all is to persuade Italy that the French-British fleet concentrated in the north has been weakened in the Mediterranean."

Will Go After Hitler If Institute Will Give Funds

DALLAS, May 1 (AP)—The News says a Texas college boy telephoned today and said he and three fellow students would try to capture Adolf Hitler if the Carnegie institute would finance them.

Samuel Harden Church, president of the institute, offered a $1,000,000 reward for the feat.

The paper did not identify the students or their college. It quoted them as saying they weren't interested in the reward but were "deterred by lack of finances."

Welcome To The Musicians

THIS SPRING the words "music festival" when heard on the Iowa campus will carry a different connotation than they have in previous years.

In a truer sense than previously when "festival" really meant "contest" the words will mean fun and pleasure for art's sake—and not for the sake of pigeon-holing talents.

This year the high school students who come to the first University of Iowa music festival will be coming to demonstrate their talents, to learn from their own demonstrations and those of others, and to enjoy music in terms of their own ability.

We think they'll have a good time this year; we think they'll profit more by getting personal criticism from distinguished professional musicians; we think they'll not soon forget their pleasurable experience in spending part of a week with other young musicians like themselves.

It is, therefore, a greater pleasure than ever for us to welcome the participants in this—Iowa's first real music festival.

Now Let's Protect The Cyclists

THE CITY council of Iowa City has passed an ordinance requiring all Iowa City bicyclists to register their bicycles with the chief of police.

In passing the ordinance, several advantages of the plan were pointed out by the council and the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who investigated and proposed the ruling.

Included were that it would tend toward the safety of youth and would be an important factor in decreasing bicycle thefts.

It can safely be granted to the council that bicycle thefts will be reduced and that requirements as to ample reflectors and headlights will make for protection of night riders.

But the question to be raised is "Will motorists respect bicycle riders?"

Under the new ordinances cyclists are required to ride in the streets and not on sidewalks and are further required to observe and obey all traffic laws and regulations observed by motorists.

But again, will the motorists respect the riders? The answer that nearly any bicycle rider will give is "no."

Regardless of whatever extent bicycle riders, the city council or the police department may go to require adequate lights or reflectors on bicycles, the fact stands that the greater majority of motorists driving the streets refuse to respect or even recognize the presence of bicyclists.

To most motorists and truck drivers, the bicycle's place is on the sidewalk—surely not on the street or highway with all other heavy traffic. They're just in the way there.

So if the city council must pass an ordinance requiring bicyclists to use the streets and observe traffic violations subject to equally heavy fines as motorist violators are assessed, the police department must force motorists to respect the bicycle riders.

This they have so far failed to do. The city legislates against the freedom of the bicyclist but still fails to provide the protection due him as a user of the public highways.

Moreover, since the ordinance further requires that no bicycles may be parked on downtown streets, there should be parking stalls installed for the use of bicyclists. They now are parked in the police station yard, but this location is not central enough in the downtown district. One such parking lot on the edge of the downtown district is ridiculous.

To attain these necessities brought about by the recent ordinance, it might be wise for Iowa City bicyclists to organize in order to have their rights as required users of the public streets recognized.

What? No Vacuum Cleaners? IT'S NOT that we want to return to the "good old days," but there's a bit of a contrast in life led by the pioneer farm woman and the modern apartment-house bride who can't find time to keep her three-in-one clean.

In the March issue of The Palimpsest, Agnes McNamara tells of the long hours, hard work, and few conveniences which marked the life of the average pioneer farm bride.

In 1888 John and Agnes McNamara began life together on a hundred-acre rented farm in Madison county. This farm was "improved" by an unpainted four-room house, with neither porches nor shade, surrounded by a wire fence with no gate. There was a well with a windlass to draw up water, a small shed, but no other outbuildings.

The bride had what was considered in those days many nice things to go towards furnishing a home. Mrs. McNamara relates. There was a rag carpet, homemade rugs, a feather bed, pillows, quilts, comforters, bed spreads, sheets, pillow cases, table cloths, napkins, towels, dishes, handpainted pictures, and many articles of fancy work. She had dreams of an ideal home with flowers blooming in the dooryard; but her husband disliked flowers and so the hogs roamed about the dooryard and rooted up the flower beds.

The young couple could not afford to employ a hired man during the first summer. Fourteen cows were milked, and the calves fed by hand. Household facilities were meager and not the best. The living room adjoining the kitchen was used as a family sleeping room.

House cleaning meant white-washing the walls, scouring the unpainted woodwork, washing windows and bed clothes, emptying, washing, and refilling the straw bed ticks, taking up the rag carpet, beating the dust out of it, scrubbing the floor, and putting the carpet down again with fresh straw under it. Sometimes the carpet had to be washed. In that case it was ripped apart and washed on the wash-board, a strip at a time, and wrung or squeezed dry by hand. There was no such luxury as a wringer. Mind you, we're not scoring the modern housewife—but we still would be willing to bet that Mrs. McNamara never owned a "housecoat" in those pioneer days.

Since The Oxford Pledges IT'S WONDROUS to watch the evolution of public opinion. Not so many years ago students were signing Oxford pledges—sincerely vowing that they'd rather be alive and building than dying because their elders weren't smart enough to put an end to wars.

Then it became necessary to stop Hitler. We knew then that there was no reason to fight in another European war—we'd just sit back on the sidelines no matter how much our emotions had been moved.

Not so long ago we decided that it still wasn't our war—but we'd be glad to take any profits that could be picked up on the side—just so long as it was a cash and carry business.

Now we're not so sure that George is going to do the job and more and more people are thinking that we'll have to go over and put a stop to this thing before it goes any farther. After all, that's what we had to do in 1917. And didn't the war stop soon after we got in there?

And now that it looks more and more as though the Allies may be defeated, the columnists, the editorial writers, the lecturers and the street-corner prophets are sure that it's getting time for us to start getting ready. And there's that recurrent rumor that Washington has sent confidential letters to the service men that we may soon start preparations to end the war.

We've forgotten now the Oxford pledges, the vow that come what may we'd remain neutral to the last.

We're not so sure now that we should have decided to let George do it. We're not so sure now because in spite of all our vigilance, we HAVE let our emotions get the best of us.

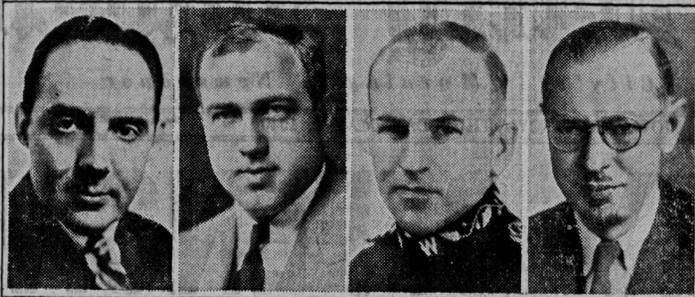

We can be sure of nothing now that we have forgotten our early resolutions—sure of nothing but that the United States will remain absolutely neutral until after the elections. We'll have to forget our emotions until then because we'll be asked which of all the candidates (they'll all be for peace) we want to keep us out of war.

After the pressure of political oratory is relieved, once more we'll be able to let our own emotions rule our thinking again.

The world MUST be made safe for democracy!

British scientist says the human race will be entirely bald 1,000 years from now. Is that a fact—or just another of those hair-raising European rumors?

Newspaper Editors Think Voter Would Favor 'Pugnacious' Dewey Over 'Gentlemanly' Hull

NEWSPAPER EDITORS are supposed to be exceptionally good judges of popular trends in their various communities. There's an American national society of them and it held a convention in Washington a few days ago. Editors from every corner of the country and of both and intermediate political alignments attended. It was natural to inquire into their miscellaneous views as to probable presidential nominations and to ask for their assorted predictions relative to the November electoral result.

There was no question that Thomas E. Dewey predominantly was considered the best bet to head the Republican ticket. I had occasion recently to quote a very well-posted politician to the effect that Tom would make a better attorney general than a White House tenant. However, a big majority of the editors were of the opinion that the latter job is the one he's likeliest to be named for, regardless of his qualifications.

Democratic forecasters clearly favored Cordell Hull—always assuming that President Roosevelt refuses to be drafted again. Pro-Hull betting wasn't as decided as the betting on Dewey was. Still, the state secretary had a margin over all other possibilities.

Any way, supporting for the sake of argument, that Dewey and Hull are the rival nominees—Which will win in November? Dewey the Favorite

The guessing was fairly even, but, according to my check-up, a smallish majority of the editors considered Dewey the better gamble of the two. Other correspondents who investigated the editorial crowd tell me they got about the same reaction.

The editors talked like this: Dewey is super-pugnacious. He roasts the tar out of the New Dealers' management ever since they've been in control in Washington. He says a lot of their objectives have been all right but that they've bungled hopelessly in their methods of trying to attain them. It's well known that several of his counselors have advised him to pull his punches a trifle, but he doesn't pay a bit of attention to them. He gives the opposition headaches.

The pro-Dewey editors surmise that the average American voter likes this sort of campaign. Hull Too Gentlemanly? Secretary Hull is assessed as over-gentlemanly for his own good. The editors evidently don't think he says mean things enough. In fact, he doesn't say anything, except that he isn't a presidential aspirant. But even if he's nominated, the editors don't believe he'll put up an adequately ferocious fight. This was the expressed judgment of a number of editors who regard him as a truly great statesman.

Hull likewise is a free trader. Many editors doubt that the bulk of the electorate is, yet. Hull hasn't a formidable speaking voice. It's squeaky. Dewey's is a dandy.

Dewey's rather young, and Hull's rather old. Two Snappy Stories Northern and southern sectional lines probably don't signify much any longer, but some editors suspect that they count more or less. A good many editors have had an idea that their Washington correspondents have been derelict in having failed to ascertain whether or not President Roosevelt will run again and in having failed also to get a live interview with Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles as to what he learned on his recent trip to Europe.

They fancied that they, as editors, could attend to these two assignments so completely muffed by their capitol representatives. So they asked for appointments with both the president and Undersecretary Welles. They were accorded very readily. Subsequently, they reported that they had obtained this information: 1—The president told them the date of the next national election. 2—Sumner Welles told them that he encountered considerable cold weather in Europe.

War Spoils Boat Racing International Speeders Enlisted in Armies Of Respective Countries

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Where are the Kreugers and the Spoletos of yesterday? And where are the Rossis, the Oldenburgs and the Vesseuis? These are great names in the motor boat racing world. But the war has taken them, and they may never come to the regattas again.

I was talking about these men only last night with George Sutton, the man who is chairman of the international affairs committee of the American Power Boat Association. Sutton is a former president of the association and knows intimately everyone connected with motor boat racing in Europe and in this country. He thinks the war has just about wrecked racing—as it was. There will be competitions, but with the European stars eliminated by blitzkrieg and mobilization, it can hardly be the same.

All of these men mentioned here are well known and highly regarded in America. They have raced before the president, at Detroit and on the coast. Where are they now? Count Theo Rossi, the Italian speed boat king and Gold Cup champion of the world, is a captain in the Italian army, and is mobilized. His countryman, the Duke of Spoleto, is commanding a torpedo boat flotilla in the Red Sea. The Duke is a cousin of the king and head of the Italian Motor Boat Federation.

It urges him to interest many American racers into entering the great regattas which Finland, for the first time, was to incorporate as part of the 1940 Olympics. But now of course there will be no regattas. There won't even be Olympics. And Finland herself now is more shadow than substance.

Reds Smash Dolger Winning Streak, 9 to 2

10th Contest Ends in Rout For Brooklyn

Walters Stops Losers As Cincinnati Scores Eight Runs in Third

CINCINNATI, May 1 (AP)—The sensational nine-game winning streak of the Brooklyn Dodgers crashed today on the rocks of a 9 to 2 victory by the Cincinnati Reds, who batted around in the fourth for eight of their runs.

The Rout Was On
The denouement was as sudden as it was complete.

For the first three innings Hugh Casey continued the no-hit spell which Tex Carleton cast over the Reds yesterday, but when Bill Werber finally smashed a double against the center-field fence in the fourth, the rout was on.

Lonnie Frey bunted safely down the first base line to move Werber to third and the wind blew Ival Goodman's pop fly out of Peewee Reese's reach for a single and a run. Frank McCormick waited out a base on balls to load the bases and Ernie Lombardi immediately cleared them with a home run, his second of the season.

All Over
What happened after this sixth debacle didn't make much difference. Hugh Casey was removed for a pinch hitter and Van Mungo held the Reds hitless for one inning. Then he gave way to a pinch hitter and Lefty Vito Tamulis stymied Cincinnati for another frame, but the pesky Werber set off a final tally in the seventh by getting hit with a pitched ball, moving to second on a sacrifice and racing home on Goodman's single to left.

Brooklyn started boldly enough by carving four hits in the first three innings off Walters, but after the Reds gave their fast-ball star a lead he gave up only two hits—and two runs.

One of the blows was a home run in the fifth by Pete Coscarart, who had hit for the circuit with two on to win yesterday's game. The other Brooklyn run came on a double by Cookie Lavagetto, a wild pitch and a fly to left by Babe Phelps.

Walters also walked two Dodgers in this frame, but never let them threaten thereafter.

Canoers Town League, Co-Ops Race Today

Co-operative dormitory and town league teams will lead off the intramural canoeing program this afternoon on the Iowa river.

The races will start at the City Park bridge and finish at the Iowa avenue bridge. This will be the first year that non-fraternity teams will compete in the races.

Last year the races started at Country Club point and ended at the City Park bridge, due to construction work on the river.

Two years ago the races were won by Harold Sears and Herb Lubke of Alpha Sigma Phi.

Haub, Iowa's ace moundsman and peer of the Big Ten has won four conference games this spring, including three-hit shut-outs of Purdue and Wisconsin.

Chicago probably will start left-handed Art Lopatka, on Friday. Lopatka, who also plays in the outfield, is one of the leading Chicago hitters along with Bill Calogheratos, second baseman. John Beeks, sophomore, and Ken Garverick, senior, will be on the mound Saturday for the Maroons.

Erwin Prasse is currently leading the Hawks at the plate with 24 hits in 54 times at bat for an average of .420. George is right behind him with 21 hits in 55 times at bat for an average of .381.

Faced with the prospect of protecting their lead in the Big Ten race against the Chicago Maroons, the Hawkeye baseball team was forced to suspend practice yesterday afternoon because of the cold weather.

All week long the cold weather and muddy infield have curtailed the hitting and fielding drills of the Vogelmen.

Lone Tree's pinch-hitting baseball team advanced when it counted yesterday, and Coach Gus Alsip's nine advanced to the semi-finals of the county baseball tournament with a 10 to 7 conquest of Oxford.

Lone Tree scored nine of their runs in the first three innings, capitalizing on hits and opponents' errors to count consistently. The second inning was the big one for the Green and Yellow, as they batted around one and a third times.

With Wayne Stonebarger working in fine style, limiting the Oxford bunch to three hits in the ball game, the game was all Lone Tree's until the seventh, when defensive errors and misplays put it in a hole. The rally was squelched finally, however, and Lone Tree, now occupying the dark-horse position in the tourney, advanced to the semifinals.

In the first game of the semifinals Friday morning at 8:30, Lone Tree will meet Tiffin. In the second game Solon will battle Shuevilly. The winners of these two games will meet Saturday morning in the finals.

Ray Mack's Homer Scores Only Run Off Nelson Potter

PHILADELPHIA, May 1 (AP)—Nelson Potter gave the Philadelphia Athletics a tidy May basket today as his 7-hit hurling set the league-leading Cleveland Indians back, 5 to 1.

A crowd of only 1,500 saw the right hander turn in his first victory of the year and snap the A's three-game losing streak.

Rookie Ray Mack scored the Indians' only run in the third when he connected with one of Potter's screwballs and sent it sailing into the stands. Only two Indians got on base after the fifth inning.

Iowa-Purdue Frosh Track Meet Postponed

Freshman Coach Ted Swenson announced yesterday that the first freshman outdoor track meet has been postponed until next week. The Hawk track meets are slated to meet Purdue and Wisconsin in a triangular affair via the mails.

The freshmen who went through a fairly successful indoor season have scheduled four meets for the outdoor season.

Gables Downs Wilson

Gables trounced Wilson in the only intramural softball contest yesterday, 8-4, as a result of a six-run rally in the sixth inning. Scott, ace pitcher for the Wilson team, kept the winners scoreless for the first two innings of play.

Cats Upset Maroons

CHICAGO, (AP)—Northwestern yesterday dealt Chicago's crack tennis team its first defeat in Big Ten dual meets since 1936. The score was 6 and 3. The match, played indoors on Chicago's field house courts because of the May snow, was the first setback for the Maroons in or outside the conference in four starts this year.

State Golfers Win

AMES, (AP)—Nearly freezing weather failed to check Iowa State's crack golf team yesterday as it defeated St. Ambrose of Davenport, 18 to 0. Due to the cold weather, no one shot a score under 80.

Yankees Bunt Way To Win Over Browns

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—The so-called slugging Yankees tapped out a 5 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns today and pulled back into a tie for fifth place in the American league.

Of the nine hits New York collected off three St. Louis pitchers, the only extra base was a triple in the eighth by Tom Henrich and did not figure in the scoring.

Favorites Come Through

Jim Hoak, Dave Collison Win Matches In All-U Golf Tourney

Contenders for the university golf championship have been narrowed to eight with the favorites advancing to second round matches with little trouble.

Four of the five members of the golf team that played Minnesota last Friday are still in the running after first round matches in the all-university meet.

Medalist Jim Hoak experienced little difficulty in his first match, turning back John Trevarthen 5 and 3. Dave Collison shot a 78 against Opponent Jencks' 84 but the match ended with Collison only 1 up.

Co-captain Clayton Pittman ended his match in a hurry by handing Blaylock an 8 and 7 licking. Martin Everson was one down at the end of nine holes but came back to oust teammate Bob Lattig 2 and 1.

In the other matches Fedderson beat Norton 6 and 5 to loom up as a man to beat. Bohlin downed Gustofson 7 and 5, and Morrison turned back Osterberg 3 and 1.

In freshman tourney four men were advanced with byes. Newland beat Elliott, 3 and 1, Osterberg downed Sebott, 2 and 1, Williamson 8 and 7 over Mestayer, and Jennings beat Sanford, 2 and 1.

TO ALL IOWA CITY CITIZENS:

For Lower Water Bills, Lower Taxes or a Better Water Supply

WHAT MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF THE WATER PLANT MEANS TO YOU AS A CITIZEN, TO YOUR FAMILY, TO THE COMMUNITY AS A WHOLE - WHY IT IS WORTHY OF YOUR SUPPORT

What questions are to be submitted to the voters at the special election called for Tuesday, May 7, 1940?

- A) Whether or not the City of Iowa City, Iowa, should establish a municipal water works system by acquiring the privately owned water works system at a maximum cost not exceeding $750,000 and issuing therefor water revenue bonds payable solely out of net earnings of the water works system without incurring any indebtedness therefor by the City.
- B) Whether or not the City of Iowa City, Iowa, should place the management and control of its municipal water works system in the hands of a board of trustees.

Why is the plant for sale?

Of the reasons why the Iowa Water Service Company can be purchased, the most important appears to be that the Iowa City plant is a segregated property located many hundreds of miles away from any other property owned and controlled by the Peoples Light & Power Company. Experience has demonstrated that public utility companies can most efficiently operate only where properties are reasonably well grouped together. The long-distance management and supervision of the Iowa City plant, because it is the only property located in the State of Iowa, involves expense in traveling, accounting and reporting to State and Federal authorities.

In addition, the large majority of the units owned and controlled by the Peoples Light & Power Company are engaged in the services of providing electricity and gas. In keeping with the general trend, utility holding companies obtain best results when concentrating upon a related or single kind of service.

Is the Iowa Water Service Company compelled under federal ruling to sell the Iowa City water plant and distribution system?

Emphatically it is not, nor has any present or anticipated future necessity for disposal of property entered into the proposed action on the part of the Iowa Water Service Company. The reasons cited in the foregoing paragraphs are in themselves sufficient and constitute the sole and only reasons for willingness of the Company to dispose of the property at this time.

Is it advisable to vote "yes" for a board of trustees to operate the water property?

The wisdom of the provision for a Board of Trustees to control and operate the water property is shown by the following considerations:

- a) For obvious reasons the State of Iowa, by legislative enactment, has provided under Statutes No. 6144-6149, that a city may place the management of a water plant under the management of a Board of Trustees. For Iowa City, the Board of Trustees would consist of three members with staggered terms of office, consisting of two, four and six years, with salaries not to exceed $300 a year.
- b) It should be recognized that a water works system requires only a small organization with comparatively low cost for labor and supplies to function efficiently and involves only minor technical problems. It is often asserted that the pre-eminent danger in the municipal ownership of a water works plant is that of political control. The legislation above referred to was designed to effectively eliminate the possibility of making the management of a water works plant either a political football or a source of political patronage. That the administration of plants by a board of trustees functions efficiently in the interest of the citizens of municipalities has been satisfactorily demonstrated in all localities where boards of trustees have managed water works properties. Such board is selected from a list of public spirited citizens who have no axes to grind and whose primary interests are the protection of the welfare and good name of the municipality. The legislators wisely gave the citizens an opportunity to keep politics out of the management and operation of water works properties. Voters should give an affirmative vote to the proposition of forever preventing the intrusion of politics into the management of the Iowa City water works plant.

Is the proposed price fair and reasonable?

To ascertain whether or not the proposed price is justifiable, two considerations are pertinent.

- 1—Engineers' appraisals.
- 2—Value based on earnings.

Five appraisals of the Iowa City Water Service Company's property were made in 1932 and the average of the appraisals resulted in a valuation of approximately $778,000. It is to be remembered that at the time that these appraisals were made, major items entering into both the cost and replacement value of distribution systems were at a low market figure. For example, at that time, cast iron pipe of the type and quality used for water mains was at an extremely low price, averaging $30.43 per ton for base sizes, whereas today's comparative pipe is priced at $51.60 per ton, plus freight from Chicago, or about 69% higher. A standard practice for water plant valuation established by the American Water Works Association provides that for cities of 10,000 population, 68% of the total cost can be allocated to the mains. It is, therefore, apparent that the Iowa City Water property should have a greater present day value than that which was applicable in 1932. It should also be recognized that there are other factors favorably affecting the valuation of the Iowa City water plant. The population of the City has increased. Improvements, betterments and extensions have been made.

During the next three issues of this paper the following questions will be answered and discussed in the same manner as the above:

- 1. What is the physical condition of the plant and distribution system?
- 2. How is the money necessary for the purchase of the plant to be provided?
- 3. Will this expenditure prove a burden to the taxpayers, or increase the tax rates?
- 4. Why would it be advantageous for Iowa City to acquire the water plant?
- 5. Do the foregoing answers comprehend all of the reasons why there should be an affirmative vote on the 2 questions submitted to the voters on Tuesday, May 7, 1940.
- 6. Why act now?
- 7. What about providing a supply of softer and more palatable water?

College of Education Schedules 5-Day Study Program in June

'Evaluating Secondary School' Topic; Plan Three Types of Activities

A five-day study program on "Evaluating the Secondary School" has been scheduled by the University of Iowa for administrators and supervisors June 24 to 28 under the auspices of the college of education.

Three types of study activities will be offered by college of education faculty members and four outside experts. Lecture-discussion and demonstrations will include such topics as philosophy and purposes, curriculum, extra-curricular activities, guidance program, school staff and plant, and administration.

Seminars will include these areas: English and speech, fine arts, foreign languages, science and mathematics, social studies and practical arts. These will be conducted on a forum basis. The third activity will be a series of more general lectures.

Enrollment will be limited and no registrations will be accepted for other than the entire period. Preliminary registration must be completed by May 31.

Visiting staff members will be James Glass of Rollins college, Florida; Earl R. Douglass, director of the University of Colorado school of education; Will French, professor of secondary education at Teachers' college of Columbia university, and Howard Wilson, graduate school of education at Harvard university.

Group Changes Social Date

University Club Will Feature Talk By Donald Dysart

The kensington for members of University club, which was originally scheduled for May 16, has been changed to May 13, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. George Stoddard, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. The kensington will be at 2:30 in the clubrooms of Iowa Union.

The change has been made because Donald Dysart, a life-long resident of South Rhodesia, Africa, could not be present at that time to speak as had been previously arranged. The boy, who is spending a year in an American high school at Tipton, will talk about his home life among the natives, their living habits and the work of his parents. He will also show an African exhibit.

The members of the committee in charge of the kensington are Mrs. Stoddard, Mrs. Milton Cowan, Mrs. Erich Funke, Mrs. W. F. Loehwing, Mrs. F. A. Stromsten and Alice Davis.

St. Patrick Association Elects Officers

Election of officers was held at a special meeting of the St. Patrick's Parent-Teacher association Sunday evening, at a potluck supper.

Mrs. W. J. Holland is the new president; Mrs. L. C. Fitzpatrick, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Mattes, secretary, and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, treasurer.

Clement Boyle was toastmaster at the meeting. On the program songs were sung by Mrs. Walter Riley and J. W. Holland. They were accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Condon.

Peace Officers Meet Sunday To Plan Course

Prominent peace officers of the state of Iowa will hold a preliminary conference Saturday at 10 a.m. in the main lounge of the Law Commons to outline the program for the 1940 peace officers' short course, which will be held during the summer session on the University of Iowa campus.

Thirteen men will attend the conference, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law, director of the peace officers' short course. They are Walter Beuse, Davenport sheriff, secretary of the Iowa State Sheriff's association; Major E. A. Conley, Marshalltown, assistant chief of Iowa state highway patrol; Attorney General Fred D. Everett, Des Moines; Karl W. Fischer, Des Moines, commissioner of Iowa public safety; Carl M. Higdon, Ottumwa, president of Iowa State Policemen's association; C. A. Kneeb, Des Moines, chief of the highway patrol.

Tune In Festival Members Will Broadcast

Three special broadcasts by participants in the Iowa high school music festival which begins on the campus today are scheduled over radio station WSIU this afternoon and tonight.

From 3:30 to 4 o'clock this afternoon four groups will be on the program. The string quartet from Iowa City high school will appear first, followed by a violin solo played by Albert Muenser of Iowa City high school. A baritone solo from the Burlington high school and a violin solo from the Ames high school will complete the first program.

At 5:30 on the program lasting until 5:50, a piano solo from Council Bluffs high school and a violin solo from the Dubuque high school will be followed by a mixed quartet from Muscatine high school.

The last Iowa high school music festival program for the day, the one lasting from 6 to 7 o'clock, will begin with the Thomas Jefferson high school mixed chorus from Council Bluffs, followed by the Davenport string quartet. The West Liberty high school mixed quartet, an Ames high school cello solo, the Burlington high school mixed chorus and a Muscatine high school piano solo will conclude today's broadcasting series in the festival.

Special Classes
The purpose of the meeting

Doors Open 1:15 — 31c to 5:30 will be to consider the subjects for the special classes." Professor Perkins said yesterday. He added that several new plans for the short course will be discussed during the conference.

Accident and criminal investigation, fingerprinting, first aid, personal combat, photography, public relations, public safety and public speaking are but a few of the various subjects which will be considered for the coming course.

Professor Perkins said that the field of discussion will not be limited and that, even though subjects have been suggested, there will be no eliminations of other subjects or suggestions.

He added that this is one of the rare times when such prominent peace officers throughout the state are able to meet in a body. The meeting will last through Saturday.

2 Elected To Union Board

along the street on her daily hike. Walking is her chief recreation and to that and the fact that she is careful never to overeat she attributes her long and healthy life.

Born near Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 19, 1845, Mrs. Holmes, then Etta Raymond, moved to Iowa as a girl and attended high school and the university here. She received the now obsolete degree of Bachelor of Didactics from the university in 1865 and for 10 years taught school here and at Bloomington, Ill., and in Kearney, Neb. The Bachelor of Didactics is similar to the present teacher's certificate from the university.

She was married on her birthday, 71 years ago, in Iowa City. Her husband died six years ago and at the age of 90, just 20 days before they were to have celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary.

Reading, particularly newspapers, has been her favorite diversion. She has received copies of the University of Iowa News Bulletin for years. Her hobbies are cross-word puzzles and scrap books. She has one of the most interesting series of scrap books one could expect to find, each covering a subject of its own such as literature, art, history and similar topics. Each has been arranged alphabetically and the clippings she has pasted in have been selected with care to provide a full and valuable coverage of the subject.

She writes a great deal and her penmanship is as young appearing as she is. She thinks the old fashioned style of Spencerian writing taught in her day made better writers than are turned out by the schools today and she is particularly proud of her pen and ink work.

When she can be persuaded to hark back to the days of the Civil war and the Reconstruction period the tales she tells are fascinating but she is not inclined to reminiscence. She lives in the present; newspapers and current events interest her more than her memories. But she does like some of the things they had in the "good old days" better than some of the modern gadgets. Her old Regina music box which has 25 big metal disc records tinkles much more sweetly to her ear than the music purveyed by the radio.

Mrs. Holmes' son, Ernest Raymond Holmes, spent six years on

Merry, Merry Month of May Opens With a Freezing Day

Mercury Falls to 32 As Wind Whistles; April Rains Continue

The new month met a cold reception yesterday as Iowa City's temperatures stayed far below normal and skies were overcast. The highest, 43 degrees, made chilly by a strong wind, was 24 below average for May 1. A freezing low of 32 compared to a normal low of 43.

May 1, 1939 saw mercury two degrees above the normal 69 with a low reading that day of 39. A slight rainfall early yesterday morning measured only .03 of an inch.

Highest daily temperatures for the month of April averaged 59 degrees, according to a weather official's report issued last night. Thirty-eight was the average of Iowa. The mean temperature was .8 of a degree below normal.

The warmest day in April came on the second of the month, when thermometers recorded a reading of 76.

Although Iowa City is still 47 of an inch shy her average of rainfall since the first of the year, rains in April showed an increase over the normal 2.95 inches. During the month 3.47 inches of precipitation was measured.

Robin Served in Bed; Man Saves Day

It was so cold yesterday Mrs. Robin had her breakfast in bed. What she didn't eat she saved for another gusty day.

Mrs. Robin can't go far away like most birds as she's been concentrating on four pretty eggs which she hopes someday will walk.

So G. K. Hodenfield, A4 of Iowa City, balanced on the west window sill of the fourth floor of East hall and dropped two well-aimed pieces of toast, connected by a string, on a branch near the nest.

Civil Service Examinations To Be Held for Four Government Positions

The United States civil service commission has announced open competitive examinations for four positions. Applications must be on file in the Washington, D. C., office of the commission not later than May 27, it was announced.

The first position open is that of senior mussel culturist in the bureau of fisheries. The salary is $2,000 a year and the applicant must be under 53 years old. Certain study in limnology or invertebrate zoology may be substituted for part of the experience.

Also in the same bureau is the position of fish culturist, with a salary of $1,260. Applicants must have completed one full year in the biological sciences in a high school or college or must have had a year's employment at a fish hatchery, or in positions concerned with the administration of game or fishery management. The age limit is between 18 and 53 years.

The other two positions include a cadet training instructor and an assistant cadet training instructor in the United States maritime commission. The salaries are $3,900 and $3,200 respectively. Except for the substitution of additional experience, applicants must have completed certain college study, or must have had two years of study in the United States naval academy, the United States coast guard academy or in one of the state nautical schools.

In addition, they must also have had certain service as a licensed officer in the United States merchant marine and must have a license as master, chief engineer, chief mate or first assistant engineer on ocean or other steam vessels. Applicants must be under 53 years old.

Full information may be obtained at the Iowa City post office on all the positions listed.

Knight Speaks To Lions Club

Noted English Writer Says America Has No Reason To Go Into War

"America has no reason to go into this war," Eric Knight, noted English writer and member of the English department declared yesterday noon at the weekly meeting of the Lions club. "America," he continued, "should be a balance wheel of sanity in a world of growing hate. To America belongs the moral responsibility for world leadership in the post-war chaos."

The youthful-looking, moustached author of the recent best-seller "The Happy Land" gloomily predicted that the present war would be a long, drawn-out affair, lasting as long as seven years. But he was quick to emphasize that the resulting peace was more important than the war itself and that the United States and Russia would play important roles at the peace conference.

A veteran of front-line fighting with the British forces during the first World War, Knight pointed out that the German soldier is the best piece of fighting machinery in the world today. That, plus the ineffectual guidance of the present English government, he said, has accounted for the recent German successes. "In the past," he said, "in times of an English crisis there have arisen leaders to meet the emergency, but this time only Winston Churchill in the entire cabinet has the energy, the foresight, the ability necessary to carry on the war."

Asks Motorists To Cooperate

Police Chief Frank Burns yesterday urged Iowa City motorists to do as little driving as possible in the city this week end to relieve congestion during the music festival.

He also asked that motorists cooperate with authorities by refraining from parking in the business district whenever possible.

"The city will be crowded with out-of-town cars and traffic conditions at best will be hazardous," he said.

Crooks to Sing Tonight

3,000 Will Attend First Music Festival

Famous Tenor Will Appear At Fieldhouse

Marching Units Will Perform Here Saturday

54 Iowa High Schools Participants in First Non-Competitive Affair

By D. MAC SHOWERS and JACK HAGENS

The University of Iowa, beginning today, plays host to nearly 3,000 Iowa high school students from all over the state participating in the three-day, first annual University of Iowa music festival, a non-competitive event designed primarily for musical education and to further the cause of music in Iowa high schools.

Actual festival events get underway at 8 o'clock this morning with a rehearsal of the all-festival band, orchestra and chorus. These three groups, composed entirely of specially-selected festival participants, are directed by three of the six nationally-famous musicians here to offer frank criticisms of the high school musical performances.

Rehearsals

The groups will rehearse twice daily during the festival and will present the final concert in the fieldhouse Saturday night.

At this same Saturday night concert, critic judges will announce several special merit awards to students whom they have selected during their auditions of the past three days. These awards will be made to musicians in whom they have detected near-professional abilities.

This is the only type of award to be made during the entire festival. Moreover, there will not be any kind of judging or rating of contestants. After each period of performing, the critic in attendance will talk to the performers and give them his frank impressions of their ability and playing.

Highlight

Tonight's concert in the fieldhouse will be the highlight of the festival, for Richard Crooks, famous Metropolitan Opera company tenor, will present the only concert which he will give in this section of the country this season.

Tickets for this event, 50 cents for general admission and one dollar for reserved seats, are still available at Iowa Union desk, the fieldhouse business office and Whetstone's drug store, number one. Tickets will be available at the door tonight, also. Prof. Earl E. Harper, general chairman of the music festival, stressed the point that tonight's concert will be a rare opportunity to hear the noted singer for such a reasonable price.

All music festival participants will be admitted to tonight's concert free of charge. Tickets are issued to them when they register in the lobby of Iowa Union.

Greetings

From Iowa's President E. A. Gilmore

TO ALL PARTICIPANTS IN THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA HIGH SCHOOL MUSIC FESTIVAL

Administrative officials, faculty, and students at the State University of Iowa welcome you to this new music festival sponsored by the University.

This festival represents an attempt to recognize outstanding merit in performance and to encourage the serious study of music. The University pioneered in extending the scope and influence of the music contest when this need was most urgent; now at a time when artistic standards and technical skills call for greater emphasis, the University is ready to help in another direction.

You have been invited to participate in this festival because you yourself have demonstrated definite ability in music, your teachers are well qualified and your school has made adequate provision for the serious study of music.

May your visit to the University be both pleasant and profitable.

Very sincerely yours,

E. A. GILMORE

President of the University

Ask Prompt Report

The festival committee has stressed the point that all participating soloists and groups must report to their director or supervisor a full 15 minutes before their scheduled playing time. These meeting places must be at the playing center for the particular event.

Dawson Entry

Barbara Jean Frink of Dawson will represent her school in the contralto solo division. She is the daughter of Spencer C. Frink, principal of the Dawson high school. Miss Frink has represented her school for four consecutive years in this vocal division of music contests.

And the Angels Sing—

Janet Kurtz of Iowa City represents University high school in the harp solo division at 1 o'clock this afternoon in Macbride auditorium. She is a senior in University high and plays flute and piano in addition to the harp. Also, she is a member of the girls' sextet, chorus, band and orchestra. Besides being active in school musical activities. Other entries in the harp solo division are two from Iowa City high school. Each player has a time limit of 15 minutes in this event.

Final Saturday Concert

Festival Band, Orchestra, Chorus To Appear Under Noted Conductors

Following three days of intensive rehearsals, the festival band, orchestra and chorus will present the final concert in the University of Iowa fieldhouse Saturday at 8 p.m.

The three groups will be conducted by three of the critic judges of the festival. Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., will conduct the festival orchestra. Dr. Thompson Stone, director of the Handel and Hayden society and the Apollo club in Boston, will direct the festival chorus, and Prof. Eugene J. Weigel, head of the music department and band and orchestra conductor of Ohio State university, will conduct the festival band.

Special Awards

Presentation of special merit awards will also be made during the evening by Prof. Earl E. Har-

Outstanding Event Of First Festival Begins at 8 o'clock

Richard Crooks' performance this evening in a song recital in the University of Iowa fieldhouse at 8 o'clock will be the outstanding event on the first annual high school music festival.

High school music festival participants will be admitted free of charge to the concert by tickets which will be issued to them when they register in the lobby of Iowa Union.

This evening's program given by Mr. Crooks, assisted at the piano by Frederick Schauwecker, follows:

- If Thou Be near Bach
- Passing By Parcell
- sei mia gioia, from 'Parthenope' Handel
- Vittoria, mio core Carissimi
- Stornellatrice Respighi
- Mir traunte von einem Konigskind Trunk
- The nightingale and the Rose Rimsky - Korsakoff
- Song of India, from 'Sadko' Rimsky - Korsakoff

- Mr. Crooks
- Nocturne Chopin
- Piece rococo Taylor
- Song of Spring Jensen

Intermission

- Pourquoi me reveiller, from 'Werther' Massenet
- To the Children Rachmaninoff
- Clorinda Morgan
- Blue Are Her Eyes Watts
- Mother O' Mine Tours

Richard Crooks is perhaps the best known of the Metropolitan Opera company stars in the United States and Europe. He has traveled around the world and has sung before nobility in many countries. His many recordings have made him popular with the great American audience.

Crooks' appearance in Iowa City makes his first and perhaps only concert in Iowa. He has chosen for the Iowa music festival some of his better known works even though most of them are very difficult.

Authorities have made known the fact that hearing facilities will be excellent. The stage upon which the singer will give his recital will be farther into the audience than when Lawrence Tibbett appeared in a recital during last year's summer session. It is estimated that approximately 5,000 persons will hear the concert.

Tickets for the event, 50 cents for general admission and one dollar for reserved seats, are still available at Iowa Union desk, the fieldhouse business office and Whetstone's drug store, number one. Tickets will be available at the door tonight, also.

Directors Report

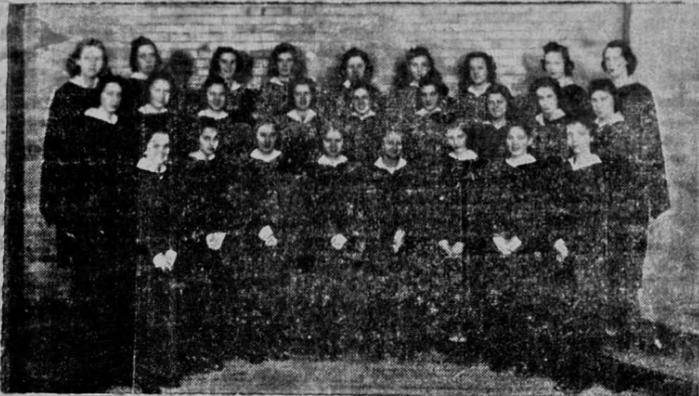

All directors of large groups are required to report to their scheduled playing center at least 30 minutes before the scheduled playing time for their group. Musicians and players will report 15 minutes prior to playing time.

Davenport Girls' Sextet

Shown above is the Davenport girls' sextet grouped around a piano in rehearsal. This organization sings at 2:45 tomorrow afternoon in Macbride auditorium. Five other high school girls' sextets sing at this same time, the program beginning at 2 p.m. Each group is limited to 15 minutes for their performance.

Johnston Girls Glee Club

This group of 26 high school girls from Johnston will represent their school in the girls' glee club performances in class C playing. This group sings at 11:20 Saturday morning, according to the festival schedule. Glee clubs, both boys' and girls', small vocal groups and vocal soloists are entered by more schools than are instrumental soloists or groups.

Keokuk's String Quartet

Concert Band Entered by Nevada High

This Nevada high school concert band has a standing membership of 54. According to its director, the band has full balanced instrumentation and has won honors as a concert band for the last three years. This group plays in class C at the Iowa City festival. There are outstanding solo players in every section and the organization boasts of two separate cornet trios, one of boys and one of girls. The band plays concerts during the entire year, all free to the public. The group plays at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Washington Clarinet Quartet

Four girls make up the Washington, Iowa, clarinet quartet entered in the University of Iowa music festival. Left to right, the above girls are Audry Hatte, Carolyn Sartor, George Ann Rudiger and Dorothy Turner. The group will play at 9:30 Saturday morning in north music hall. Washington high school also has a large concert band entered in the music festival.

Iowa State Training School for Boys Exhibition Marching Band

This marching band from the Iowa Training School at Eldora is entered in the marching band exhibitions at the University of Iowa music festival. The group is a perennial favorite with University of Iowa audiences. Marching bands playing at this year's festival, since they are not in competition, will present more novelty drills than ordinary marching and drill routine. This change is all in line with the purpose—to allow high schools a free hand in performing to display their abilities to the greatest extent. Time limits have been extended, there are no required numbers and critic judges will discuss each school's performance with the players after they have played.

Shenandoah's Sixty-Two Voices

Shenandoah high school will have a mixed chorus of 62 voices which will participate in the University of Iowa music festival. The group will sing this afternoon at 2:40 the mixed choruses of Muscatine, Iowa City, Ottumwa, Council Bluffs and Burlington. This is a class A grouping of schools. Dr. Thompson will act as critic judge for this event which will also feature chestra conductor of Ohio State university; Raymond F. Dvorak, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin; George Howerton, director of the a-capella choir at Northwestern university, and Irving Tallmudge, director of music in the Maywood, Ill., public schools.

Seven university staff members will also officiate as critics. They include professors Arnold Small, Herald Stark, Hans Koebel, Anne Pierce, Addison Alspach, Himie Voxman and Thomas Muir.

Members of the music festival committee are Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, chairman; Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department; Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department, and Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division.

Concert--

Band

Solo entries and members of small and large groups will be eligible for membership in the festival chorus, orchestra and band which have been made upon the recommendation of their music instructors. The participants have been selected on a basis of correct balance and instrumentation and only experienced and competent players have been recommended. Two rehearsals of each organization by Saturday night will have been held in preparation for the final festival concert.

Crooks To Sing Without Aid Of Amplifiers

Peculiar to many festival visitors will be the fact that Richard Crooks will sing tonight in the fieldhouse without the aid of any amplification whatsoever.

Acoustical engineers found that this could be done easily last summer when Lawrence Tibbett, noted baritone, sang in the fieldhouse and filled the entire amphitheater with song.

The Crooks concert will be improved somewhat over the Tibbett recital by moving the artist's stage about 30 feet farther into the audience section giving the audience a better view of the singer. Also, the tenor's voice will carry better in the room than Tibbett's baritone voice.

All set for a day of fun! Jane Nugent, Currier, Frivol's advertising manager, pauses long enough to snap another candid camera shot. Being one of the casually smart coeds, Miss Nugent is just a little more than pleased with her care-free, "Three-In-One" slack ensemble from STRUB'S. Tailored grey blouse plus stream-lined gold slacks equal a nifty combination in fine Roseline gabardine for romping around in summer's playground. Shiny nickel discs button-up blouse and button-on slacks.

In the inset, basking in the sun and smiling coyly, Miss Nugent has doffed her slacks, buttoned-on the swiny gold skirt of her "Three-In-One" ensemble and steps out in a smart, easy-to-look-at campus costume. Flemish influence crept into the styling of her impudent off-the-face hat—Tip to the fashion-wise—every smart sportee can get her complete up-to-the-minute play togs, from top to toe, at STRUB'S.—ADV.

West Waterloo High School Orchestra Entry

Columbus Junction High School's Chorus

Band Member To Accompany Festival Chorus

Jack Latimer, student accompanist for the University chorus and for the all-festival chorus in the concerts tomorrow and Saturday night, is a senior student at the University of Iowa from Corn- ing. He is a music major and, in addition to his piano accompaning, plays piano and accordion in Len Carroll's campus dance band, presents a weekly 20-minute radio program over WSUI and plays for other special occasions on the Iowa campus.

He has composed songs, one of which was recently adopted as an official song by Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and has been recorded by Freddie Martin and his orchestra.

Latimer has received offers to play with Frankie Masters and Herbie Kay, both well-known dance band leaders.

May Exchange Concert Tickets

Holders of tickets for the cancelled Zimbalist concert are reminded that they are entitled to exchange their tickets for admissions to the Richard Crooks concert tonight.

Tickets are available at Iowa Union desk, the fieldhouse business office and Whetstone's number one. Also, tickets will be available at the door tonight for those who cannot or fail to get them sooner.

Auditions Will Take Precedence Over Festival Rehearsals

The festival committee has pointed out that, in the case of conflict between scheduled auditions and rehearsals of the festival chorus, orchestra or band, the auditions will take precedence over the rehearsal.

Musicians will report to rehearsal as soon as their playing is completed.

In case of conflict between prepared and sight-reading auditions, the former will take precedence. Such conflicts are unavoidable in some cases but must be overcome by this definite arrangement.

A little gasoline railway winds among the hills of Bermuda. There are 53 bridges in its 22 miles of track, and a station every quarter of a mile.

Baritone Soloist

Vaughn Farrington, a senior in Nevada high school, will sing a baritone solo at the music festival. He will appear at 9:15 in the north music hall this morning. He is a member of various singing organizations in Nevada high school.

Academy Entries

Anna Mae Jobgen, left (soprano soloist) and Noreen Pearce, right (violinist) will represent the Immaculate Conception academy of Dubuque. Both girls have been invited to take part in the all-festival chorus on Saturday night.

West Liberty Mixed Quartet

University High School Girls' Sextet

Slemmons, first sopranos; Louise Kadera and Marie Schintler, second sopranos, and Janet Kurtz and Ruth Schintler, altos. Miss Slemmons is entered in the soprano solo at the university music festival in addition to her group participation. Miss Kurtz is entered in the harp solo division and Marie Schintler is entered as contralto soloist. This girls' sextet sings at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in Macbride auditorium.

Marion High School's Girls' Glee Club

Clinton-Lyons High School Marching Band

Pictured here with director, drum-major and five baton twirlers is the Clinton-Lyons high school marching band to take part in the marching bands exhibition in Iowa stadium Saturday afternoon. This marching event is by far the most colorful and most popular of all musical festival events. Preceding the high school band drills, the University of Iowa Pershing Riflemen, Pontoniers and Scottish Highlanders will present exhibitions after taking part in the flag-raising ceremony.

No Registration Fee For High Schools

For the first time in music festival history in Iowa City, there will be no registration or entrance fee for participating high schools this year.

Similarly, housing will be provided free of charge to all participants, directors and chaperons. Visitors will be housed in university dormitories and in the fieldhouse gymnasiums.

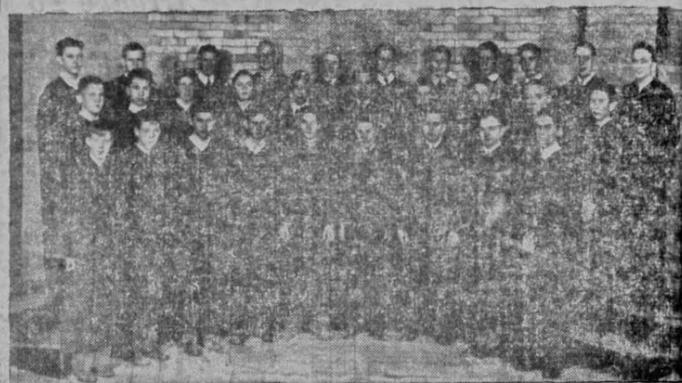

Nevada High's Three Soloists

Marion Stone, cornet soloist and Jack Berka, clarinet soloist. All three of the entries have won former honors in contests throughout the state, in this festival, however, they will not be entered as competition.

Boys' Glee Club

Johnston high school's boys' glee club is pictured here dressed in their uniforms composed of dark full-length capes. Entered in the class C division, the boys will sing with five other entries at 11:40 this morning in Macbride auditorium. George Howerton will act as critic judge for this event. Some of the boys are also entered in the Johnston high school mixed chorus which will be heard during the festival.

Soloist

Hattie Mae Smith, West Liberty high school soprano solo entry in the University of Iowa music festival, will sing at 10:30 Saturday morning in the Methodist church. Miss Smith also sings in the West Liberty girls' sextet and mixed quartet entered in the festival.

Huge Concert Band From Davenport High School To Play

Tama Supervisor

Margaret Sherman, above, is music supervisor at Tama high school. She brings two vocal soloists to Iowa City for the music festival, an entry in the contralto division and one in the soprano section.

Williamsburg High School Choir

This 32-voice choir with 19 female voices and 13 male voices will sing for Williamsburg high school in the University of Iowa's first annual music festival. This group, directed by A. J. Running, performs for the festival at 10 o'clock this morning in the class C mixed chorus events. Time limits in this first university festival have been extended from what participants have known in the past thereby giving the performers greater opportunity to play or sing as they desire. There are no required contest numbers.

Time Limitation More Liberal In Musical Festival

The general time limitations set for the first annual University of Iowa music festival for orchestras and bands is 30 minutes; and marching bands, 10 minutes.

These limitations are much more liberal than those set by the Iowa High School Music association for their contests. Another distinguishing fact in the university festival is that there are no required numbers. Schools are free to play whatever selections they may choose.

Eldora Boys' Glee Club To Sing

Nattily-attired in sport-cut jackets, the Eldora boys' glee club will appear during the first annual University of Iowa non-competitive high school music festival. The boys' glee club will appear at 10:40 in Macbride auditorium this morning. The critic of the event will be George Howerton. They will appear with the boys' glee clubs of Ft. Madison, Marion, Williamsburg and Johnston. They are entered in class B events.

Forest City Girls' Glee Club

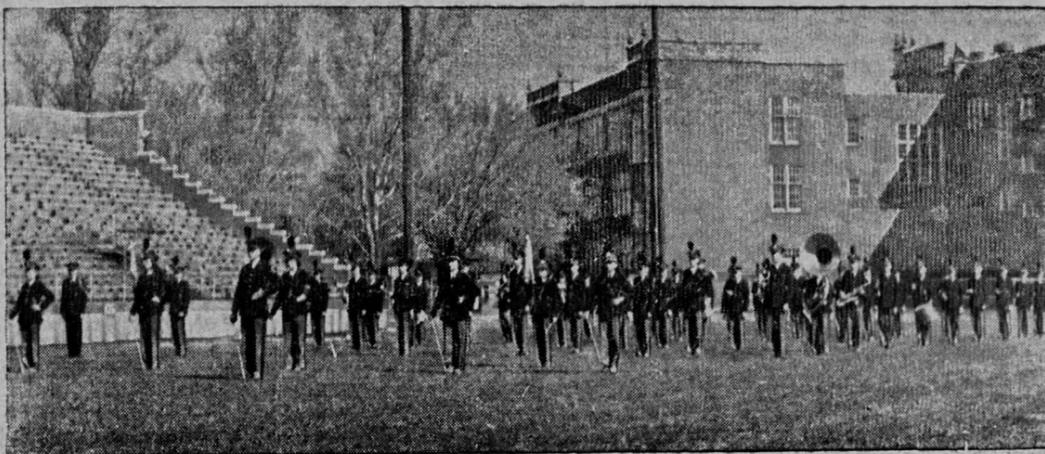

These 26 girls compose the Forest City high school girls' glee club which will sing at the university high school music festival at 9:40 tomorrow morning in the north music hall. This glee club was one of four class B schools to receive a division one rating at the state music contest in Iowa City last spring. Geraldine Boman is director of the club. All high school students participating in the university high school music festival will receive a complimentary ticket to the Richard Crooks concert to be presented tonight in the fieldhouse.

Symphony Orchestra From Davenport High School

Contralto

Louise Crumb of Tama high school will appear in this first University of Iowa music festival as contralto soloist. She sings at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Macbride auditorium.

Lost Nation High School's Championship Band

The Lost Nation high school band is presented here with the band's director at the far right and the baton twirler at the far left. They are fully dressed in their parade uniforms. This band was national champion in 1934 and has been state champion from 1934 to 1939. The colorful marching group has appeared at state musical festivals many times at Iowa City and has always made a hit as evidenced by their continual championship awards. Bandmaster H. L. Booth is also director of music at Lost Nation high school.

To Give No Definite Ratings in Festival

The fact is strongly stressed that this festival is non-competitive in the sense that entries will not be given definite rankings or ratings by critic judges.

Groups and soloists will be striving for the approval of a critical audience and the commendation of the critic judge.

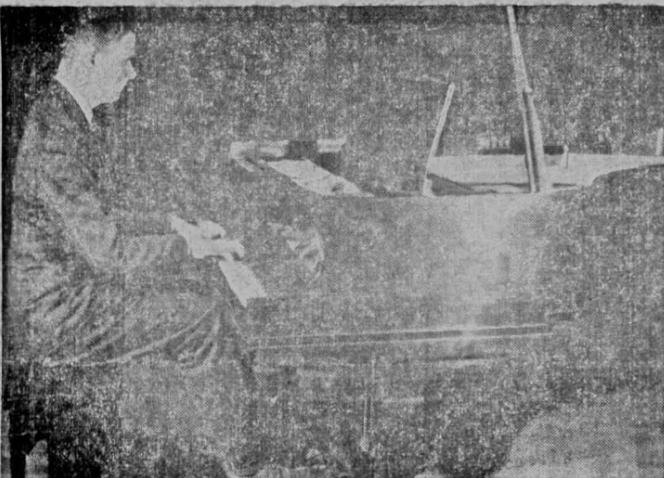

Grinnell's Woodwind Quintet

Wanda Badger, french horn; Avis Badger, clarinet, and Vivian Judy, bassoon. This novel group will be heard at 11 a.m. Saturday in the north music hall with other woodwind quintets from Iowa City, Tipton and Davenport.

Ames Piano Soloist

Joe Elliot, piano soloist, represents Ames high school at the university music festival. He plays this afternoon at 3:15 with four other entrants in Macbride auditorium. During the festival covering three full days, events will be taking place in eight different university buildings.
