ROTTERDAM'S AIRPORT BECOMES A FLAMING WRECK

Fire and smoke roll skyward as British bombers face the Waalhaven airport at Rotterdam with high explosives. Hangars were smashed and the runways rendered useless by huge craters thrown up by bombs in an effort to dislodge the airport's German captors. This picture was taken by a Royal Air Force photographer at the height of the attack.

U.S. Views Arms Boost London Feels Threat of Invasion WAR RAGES IN FRANCE

German Troops Smash Way Into Historic French Valley

French Engage Nazi Forces In Titanic Struggle at Sedan

Invaders Enter Through Belgium, Luxembourg For Beginning of 'Greatest Battle,' Possible Decisive Factor in War

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—The armies of Germany and France struggled again tonight in a gigantic, no-quarter fight on the historic field of Sedan after Adolf Hitler's columns had smashed into France through the historic Meuse river valley, history's tried and trampled path of invasion. The thunderous collision, which may prove the decisive turning point of the war, came in full force following a five-day German offensive across Luxembourg and Belgium and into the French town of Sedan.

The French high command announced that its forces had counter-attacked, determined to keep the vital Meuse valley out of the hands of the Germans fighting to force a passage at Sedan across the Meuse river itself.

The German offensive appeared to have turned into a campaign to deliver a knockout blow to the French army on the Sedan battlefield, where the Prussians destroyed the French fighting force and ended the war of 1870.

The high command's communique said the Germans were making a "momentous effort with furious obstinacy and at the expense of heavy casualties" to press on through Sedan after entering the town, which is on the east bank of the Meuse.

The French, still holding the west bank, accepted the challenge and plunged into the battle at this bottleneck of the valley. (Here seven words were censored.)

Military quarters described Sedan as the northern "hinge" of the French front where the Maginot line covering France's border with Germany and Luxembourg joins the new line of fortifications protecting the Belgian frontier.

The German strategy appeared to be to try to crack that hinge and drive into the plains of Champagne. Tonight, 24 hours after the Germans had reached the Meuse, the tide was swinging back and forth in what French military observers called the first stages of "the greatest battle in history."

NEWS- FROM EUROPE'S WAR FRONTS

BRUSSELS, May 14 (AP)—Premier Hubert Pierlot told the nation tonight that Belgium's defenders had made "certain modification of defense positions according to order" but that there had been no German "break through" despite smashing assaults in many sectors.

"The situation is normal," the premier assured his people in a radio broadcast.

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—The Daily News says that "possibly the largest single shipping deal" in American history has been completed with the purchase by Great Britain of more than 200 American trawlers, lakeboats and outdated freighters.

LONDON, May 15, (Wednesday) (AP)—Reuters, British news agency, early today intercepted a radio message in which it said the German consul general in Amsterdam informed the Berlin foreign office that German troops would encounter no difficulties in occupying Amsterdam.

STOCKHOLM, May 14 (AP)—The sighting of numerous German transports moving both north and south in the Kattegat led to reports tonight that the Germans are reinforcing their low country drive with their forces from Norway.

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The treasury today authorized the use of "frozen" funds of the invaded European nations in commodity future transactions provided the money is not taken outside the United States.

BERN, Switzerland, May 14 (AP)—The British legation staff burned its papers in Switzerland's capital tonight. The French are understood to have done the same.

Netherlands High Command Orders Troops To Cease Fire After Five Days of Fighting

Battle Continues Only on Southwestern Islands, Potentially Valuable as Nazi Submarine Bases for Attacks on Britain

By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN

AMSTERDAM, May 14 (AP)—Bomb-blasted and encircled, the Netherlands high command tonight ordered its troops to cease fighting the German invader everywhere except in the fringe of low islands on the kingdom's southwestern coast.

The order was given by General Henri Gerard Winkelman, commander-in-chief of the small Dutch army which for five days took all the punishment the German army could administer.

Holland's queen and government, in leaving the country, had made General Winkelman their highest representative and empowered him to make any military decisions he considered necessary. He had supreme power, therefore, to issue the "cease fire" order.

The government had fled to England with Queen Wilhelmina. From there she will rule the Netherlands colonial possessions, an empire of 750,000 square miles and a population of 60,000,000.

But the proud, rich motherland, with 8,600,000 people and a territory of 12,700 square miles, has fallen in the war between Germany and England and France from which she tried so hard to stay aloof.

Fighting still was going on tonight in the Zeeland islands, valuable to Germany as submarine bases from which to attack England.

But General Winkelman told his army elsewhere to cease fighting in order to "save the civilian population and prevent further bloodshed."

His order was issued after the Germans had forced the surrender of Rotterdam by furious bombing which had set afire a large part of that great seaport city.

FIFTH COLUMN-ERS

Accuse Cows of Sabotage In War Games

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La., May 14 (AP)—"Fifth column" cows stood accused today of sabotaging field communications in the army's big war games.

It isn't that the bovines have any sympathy for either the "red" or "blue" forces. They just like the salty taste of the mold that forms on the insulation of field telephone lines. They lick the mold and cause short circuits that play hob with communications in both armies.

Into this western seaport, behind all the labyrinth of rivers, floodwaters and canals upon which the Dutch had counted to defend it to the last, the nazis had driven the claws of their armored columns.

Utrecht, in the center of the main line of water defenses, where the nazis have broken through, was threatened "with complete annihilation," in the words of General Winkelman.

The Dutch themselves had set their Amsterdam oil stores afire earlier in the day to keep Germans from getting them.

General Winkelman, in ordering cessation of resistance, told his troops to "maintain order until the arrival" of the Germans.

Queen Wilhelmina declared in London: "The Netherlands will one day, with the help of God, rewin its whole European territory."

$2,500,000,000 Arms Program Takes Form

F. R. Prepares Special Appeal For Congress

European Events Dictate 'Immediate Expansion' Of Defensive Forces

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—An extraordinary arms program boosting next fiscal year's defense spending to over $2,500,000,000 was reported in the making tonight after President Roosevelt had asserted, with the utmost emphasis, that European events dictated an immediate expansion and modernization of America's armed forces.

Costless, seated behind a desk piled high with papers as the result of long conferences on the subject, Mr. Roosevelt informed reporters that the program may cost a great deal of money, but must be undertaken in any event. He said that whether the money was raised by borrowing, increasing the $45,000,000,000 legal limit on the national debt or by taxation was a minor detail.

The important thing, he said, was the national defense, and the main thing was to get the money to work making America's defenses impregnable against foreign attack. A special message to congress detailing his recommendations will go to the capitol tomorrow if he can finish it by then, he said, and if not will be dispatched by Thursday.

There was no official word as to what sum it would ask, but estimates in high quarters ranged from $750,000,000 to roughly $1,000,000,000. Even the lower figure, when added to sums already voted or pending, would raise the total defense outlay for the year starting July 1 above $2,500,000,000.

In addition to the president's pronouncement, defense questions and developments linked with war abroad had filled Washington's day.

(1) General John J. Pershing, commander of American forces in France in the World war, said in a formal statement that "every energy in this country" should be devoted to "preparation against the possibility of war."

(2) The state department announced that the United States was willing to make a joint protest with other American republics against Germany's invasion of Holland, Luxembourg and Belgium.

(3) The navy recommended an immediate appropriation of $100,000,000 for expediting work on 68 combat and auxiliary vessels, now under construction, with the work week of shipyard employees increased from 32 or 40 to 48 hours and three shifts on the job.

(4) Senator Tatt (R-Ohio) accused the administration of using the emergency defense situation as "an excuse to exceed the debt limit, which is really being broken through its own domestic extravagance."

(5) Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) demanded an "intelligent tax program." Senator McNary of Oregon, the republican leader, said he was opposed to raising the debt limit; that additional defense needs should be met through new taxes.

Pershing Urges Strong Defense

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—General John J. Pershing added the voice of his World war experience today to the swelling demand for increased national defense expenditures.

"We must not delay longer in our preparations," said the 79-year-old general of the armies in a statement issued upon his return from a visit to his winter home in Tucson, Arizona, and to Hot Springs, Ark.

"None of us can tell when we may become involved in the struggle now raging with such tremendous fury in Europe. In my opinion, the very life of the republic depends on the energy and determination with which our people undertake the task of placing the United States in a state of thorough preparation in both men and equipment."

Stock Prices Drop to New Low Levels

War Boom Erased As Germans Move Into Low Countries

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Fears the powerful German thrust at the allies through the low countries may be so successful as to wreak serious damage on European purchasing power sent prices in the stock exchange and Chicago grain pit into a headlong retreat today.

Stocks broke even more sharply than yesterday, with loss ranging from $1 to $19 a share. This reduced the average price level to the lowest since April 11 of last year, considerably more than wiping out all of the advance of last autumn's "war boomlet."

Wheat at Chicago tumbled the full 10 cents a bushel permitted in a single day's trading, and cotton at New York lost about $2.50 a bale. Sensitive commodities generally were lower in futures dealings, with the notable exception of rubber, an imported staple.

War Office Calls for Volunteers for Defense Against Parachute Troops—

Britain Fears Nazi Air, Submarine Attacks

BY EDWIN STOUT

LONDON, May 15 (Wednesday) (AP)—The dire threat of German air and submarine assaults on Great Britain from bases in Nazi-occupied Holland weighed heavily on Britons today while expeditionary forces on the continent were declared officially to be maintaining "contact with the enemy."

The Dutch acknowledged the German conquest of all Holland except the southwestern province of Zeeland, but their legation here said the fight continued in Zeeland and the Dutch navy still was battling as a "state of war" persisted.

Lord Gort, commander-in-chief of British field forces, told his men "the struggle will be long and hard, but we can be confident of final victory."

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Churchill injected new blood into his cabinet, and the war office called on volunteers for defense against a possible Nazi invasion of England by parachute troops. Chief among the cabinet additions was that of vigorous, 61-year-old Lord Beaverbrook, famed Canadian-born newspaper publisher, to the newly created post of minister for aircraft production.

Long an advocate of "planes, planes, and more planes," his energies will be directed toward bolstering a fighting arm in which Britain admits a deficiency.

Military sources describing the smashing German attacks in southern Holland said British troops now were in place with the Belgians in a developing battle expected to tell within the next few days the course that the war would take.

The appointment of Lord Beaverbrook recalled the World War selection of David Lloyd George for the war-created post of minister of munitions when Britain experienced a shell shortage which almost cost her the war.

Britain's air inferiority was driven home last week when Churchill, before his elevation to the membership, frankly admitted that Germany's air power led to the British debacle in Norway.

Besides Beaverbrook, publisher of the London Express and the Standard, other cabinet appointments included:

Sir John Reith, former minister of information, to be minister of transport.

Dr. Hugh Dalton, laborite, minister of economic warfare.

Viscount Caldecote, former lord chancellor, secretary for dominions.

Lord Hankey, former minister without portfolio, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Robert S. Hudson, minister of agriculture.

Ronald Cross, former minister of economic warfare, minister of shipping.

Ernest Brown, former labor minister, secretary of state for Scotland.

The Difference

Mother's Days

YES, last Sunday was Mother's Day. In the United States, it was a day of joy to mothers everywhere, calling back to mind the lilt of childish voices, and the sweetest nostalgia of all—memory of little children attached to eternal apron strings.

In Europe it was just another day of terror, and famine, and war; where the rumble of heavy guns, and drone of sudden death from the sky was heard without end; and the tramp, tramp, tramp of marching feet went on, and on, and on, into a doleful chaos created through mankind's ignorance and misunderstanding.

Ideally speaking, that was Mother's Day. Realistically, historically speaking, it was May 12, 1940 A. D. Western Europe, partly through selfish desire, partly through necessity, was struggling anew to solve something—what, no one knows.

But in the United States it was Mother's day—a day of peaceful significance throughout the nation. Let's hope that another such peaceful day will roll around next year, and the years to come.

Do You Read

Just To Be Reading? Or With a Purpose?

A LEARNED MAN once said: "What and how much a person reads is not important. The significant thing is how much the individual derives from what he does read."

Here is a simple and worthy bit of advice, but consider how many times it goes unheeded. Probably the average American more than any other person on this planet has a tendency to violate the common sense behind this counsel.

These lackadaisical reading habits of the average reader are a form of waste. There is a waste of the reader's time and there is a waste of any value that the reading material may possess.

Grandpa Jenkins says woman really never changes. Her feet may favor waltz-time, opines Grandpa, but her tongue is still on swing-time.

ing, Oh, surely, he has read such-and-such an article in such-and-such a magazine, but he can't remember much about it. He has only a general idea of the subject the article discussed and, of course, he can give no revealing figures or statistics that the article contained.

And how can a person get the most out of his reading? In the first place he must read with a purpose, which should be to gain some definite and exact information. No matter what the reading material is about the reader should have in his mind for reference a complete grasp of what he has just read.

When everyone reads with a purpose it will be a world of better and more interesting people.

Orientation At Laedi, And It's GOOD!

THERE is one very interesting feature on the orientation course at Laedi university. (Do not bother to look up this university in any catalogue of educational institutions because you won't find it.)

This particular week is called the Week of Friendships. During the entire week everyone "knows" everyone else. When two students meet on the sidewalk, instead of passing one another like a couple of posts, they greet with a cordial "Hi, Bud!" or "Mornin', pal!"

They usually begin with their names, where they are from, what they are taking, and then their other interests. After the first day everyone is well-acquainted with the method of procedure and becomes adept at it.

Many interesting things come to light as a result of this fellowship among the students. There constantly are cases in which two students discover there are people they know in common, or places they both have visited, or that they come from the same vicinity, or many other possible links upon which to develop their acquaintance.

This committee has another function to perform. At the time of registration each student fills out a "hobby card." On it are 20 hobbies or special interests. The student simply checks those to which he is an addict.

The meetings are supervised by one in charge, who in turn is under the supervision of the orientation committee. The psychology involved is that students may have by far the best time with those with whom they have common interests and it won't take a year or two to discover each other.

Norway for many years advertised itself as an ideal spot for tourists, but it never dreamt to be visited by so many Germans, English and French at the same time.

Grandpa Jenkins says woman really never changes. Her feet may favor waltz-time, opines Grandpa, but her tongue is still on swing-time.

If a Republican Takes Over President's Job, He'll Still Have New Deal Senate, High Court

By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Columnist

Frankfurter, William Douglas and Frank Murphy. And they have been ardent new dealers!

Whatever president would like to reorganize that quintet will not be delayed for any mere two years. He'll be tied up until the whole five of them die off gradually.

Justice Murphy read the court's finding. It was to the effect that picketing is a form of free speech—consequently strictly constitutional.

Justice Black, Reed, Frankfurter and Douglas agreed with him. That also was to have been expected.

Advance guesses were made to the purport that Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Stone and Roberts would be conservative enough to take an anti-picketing attitude.

Justice McReynolds was the lone dissenter. The fact is that Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Stone and Roberts have turned more liberal in the last few years than was anticipated when they were appointed.

Paradoxically, Justice McReynolds was considered a pretty good liberal at the time he was appointed. The court then was mid-dling conservative and he was regarded as promising to be a very modifying influence.

McReynolds is a corking good lawyer. His own associates, while disagreeing with him, say his legal reasoning is sound, according to his bright lights.

With political good luck it can get the sort of congress to support it by 1942, after a couple of miserable years in the meantime. But, naturally, its opponents will fall back on the supreme court to nullify congress as much as possible.

Well, this is a government of "checks and balances." Furthermore, such a situation may not follow. Perhaps the next administration will be as new dealish as this one, with a new deal congress likewise. In that event the whole setup will be perfectly harmonious.

Executing A Book Publishing Houses Pay Pro Readers To Pan Manuscript

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The perilous course a manuscript must travel from author to press before it is accepted and published is much like that of a ship in the mine zones. It has to negotiate a Skaggeak of shark-like readers who approach their task in the coldly unemotional mood of mine-layers.

This one concerns a book on personality and salesmanship. Its title and the name of its author are withheld for reasons which, after you read this report, will be obvious. The report:

"I suppose that any book so fantastically laid out, a sort of Kitten On The Keys, typographically speaking, would tend to nauseate any reader. But judging it coldly on its merits, I am forced to say that this is by all odds the—damndest book I ever saw."

A Good Lawyer McReynolds is a corking good lawyer. His own associates, while disagreeing with him, say his legal reasoning is sound, according to his bright lights.

McReynolds isn't an ugly old man; he's likable. Anyway, the federal supreme court is due to be a bad headache to a comparatively conservative administration, if it happens to get in.

With political good luck it can get the sort of congress to support it by 1942, after a couple of miserable years in the meantime. But, naturally, its opponents will fall back on the supreme court to nullify congress as much as possible.

Well, this is a government of "checks and balances." Furthermore, such a situation may not follow. Perhaps the next administration will be as new dealish as this one, with a new deal congress likewise. In that event the whole setup will be perfectly harmonious.

Well, this ship was mined, torpedoed, and sunk. But that's the way it goes. If the reader had given a favorable report, the book would have passed along to other readers for verification.

Publishers don't take many chances. They have a good idea what they can use and what they can't. When you see a house making very many bad guesses in a row, there is a house that isn't long for this world.

They can't afford to guess wrong many times. I always have been interested in the inner workings of a publishing house, especially as regards the selection of manuscripts, and I thought you might like to read a report like this, too.

Brooklyn Nicks Reds in 13 Innings, 6 to 5

Victory Puts Winners Back In Loop Lead

Tot Pressnell Wins After Three Frames Of Relief Hurling

BROOKLYN, May 14 (AP)—After three days in second place, the amazing Brooklyn Dodgers regained the national league lead today with a 13-inning 6 to 5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The winning run was scored off Joe Beggs when Gene Moore walked. Leo Durocher singled him to third and pinchhitter Gus Mancuso lofted a fly to center-field.

The spectacle was a thriller for 21,535 fans and made 27 innings the Reds have played in two games with a net result of one loss. The champions and the St. Louis Cardinals played 14 innings to an 8-8 tie yesterday.

Today's test started out as a duel between the Reds' Bucky Walters, undefeated with five victories, and Tex Carleton, who had pitched a no-hitter the last time he faced Cincinnati.

The Dodgers went to work on Walters in the first inning with two runs on Dixie Walker's single, a pass to Babe Phelps and Dolph Camilli's triple to right center.

But the Reds tied the score in the fourth—getting a run on three singles and another when Pete Coscarart threw wild trying to break up an attempted double steal.

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who had won only two of their previous 15 games, staged a five-run sixth-inning today to snap a six game string of victories for the New York Giants 7 to 2.

The Spartans by virtue of their win over the strong Western State aggregation last week look up as one of the most powerful teams that the Vogelmen will face this year.

Both Western State and Michigan State have been downing all kinds of competition this spring. Michigan State is gunning for a win over Iowa's defending Big Ten champions.

Awards Given To Champions Of Intramurals

Haskell, Schroeder Head Speaking Program At Sports Dinner

"To try to build a strong mind on a weak body is a difficult task. Thoughts have to be translated into action, and action requires more than just brain cells."

With this admonition, Prof. George Haskell, main speaker at the men's annual intramural banquet last night, urged the university men to make competitive sports a part of their college education. Professor Haskell stressed the fact that the American way of living necessitates an avocation of some sort, and that sports offers the most varied and fruitful field. He went on to point out that in after life, sports not only helped to keep the body fit, but helped the individual to make friends and to sell himself.

E. G. "Dad" Schroeder, the other scheduled speaker of the evening, complimented the men on their sportsmanship and co-operation during the past year, and briefly reviewed his 33 years experience with Iowa intramurals. He noted that in the first year of organized competition approximately 50 men participated, while during the past season between 1,500 and 2,000 men took part in the games.

Mr. Schroeder also paid tribute to Dave Armbruster, varsity swimming coach and physical education director, for his service to the athletic department, and at the conclusion of his talk presented Mr. Armbruster with a plaque from the National Coaches association for 25 years of coaching service.

At the beginning of the banquet, which was held in the river room of Memorial Union, everyone stood and sang the first verse of "On Iowa." The program was opened with songs by members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Upsilon fraternities. Toastmaster Bob Sandler then gave a short talk on fellowship before introducing the speakers.

Trophies were presented at the close of the affair to the intramural winners for the year by Dave Armbruster. He also gave a word of praise to "Dad" Schroeder for his many years of work.

The committee in charge of the banquet was headed by Bill Humphrey.

Approximately 150 men attended.

Around the town now you can hear talk of a Northwestern jinx that is following Iowa. The Wildcats, no doubt about it have been behind a good share of the troubles Hawkeye athletes have had.

The list, whether it is inspired by fate or not, reads like this. The Wildcats tied Iowa's football team, keeping the Hawks from a share of the Big Ten title. Next, they nosed out our swimming team for third place in the conference meet and they downed the basketball team twice last winter.

In this spring's contests, they have beaten golf and tennis teams, knocked our baseball team out of the Big Ten lead and nosed out the track team. The one-point victory in track was helped along when Hank Vollenweider fell when leading in the hurdles. And a Hawkeye weightman was nosed out by less than an inch in his event. The only Iowa wins over Northwestern during the year have been in a wrestling meet and a dual swimming meet.

Baseball competition here, now that there is a brief vacation from the conference race, will be just as tough. Michigan State and Western State Teachers rate fully as good as any Big Ten outfits. The Spartans come here Friday and Saturday, with Western State scheduled for the next week end.

Bill Leuz, Iowa shot putter, has heaved the weight 50 foot, seven inches in practice, but hasn't been able to get better than 47 feet, three-quarters of an inch in competition. No Big Ten shot putter has reached 50 feet this year.

Erwin Prasse still leads Iowa batters, but Bob Cook has edged past Jim George. The averages now stand at: Prasse, .386; Cook, .375; and George, .364. Since the disastrous Northwestern series the team average has dropped 10 points to .287.

Jim Wilson, colored track star, is the cinder squad's "Iron Man." He scored in four events and had a third place in the broad jump until a Wildcat jumper nosed Wilson out on the last try.

Iowa and Illinois golfers want to play Saturday at Columbus, Ohio, instead of at Champaign as originally scheduled. The idea is to get a tune-up on the Ohio State course, where the Big Ten meet will be next Monday and Tuesday. The Hawkeye squad would, in either event, be kept away from home during the week end.

Dr. Eddie Anderson and Nile Kinnick, according to John Kieran of the New York Times, are well up in the running for the Golden Laurel, an award given to the athlete and sports figure voted most outstanding in 1939.

"The World's Fair election board," Kieran says, "report that four guys named Joe are doing well indeed in the balloting." The four are DiMaggio, Louis, McCarty and Burk. Also drawing votes are Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, and Greg Rice, brilliant distance runner formerly from Notre Dame.

Hawkeyes Will Watch Big Ten Race Results For Next Two Weeks

Faced with the anxiety of waiting to see what Northwestern and Illinois are going to do in their games this week end, Coach Otto Vogel continued to drill his Hawkeye team for their games with Michigan State on Friday and Saturday.

The Spartans by virtue of their win over the strong Western State aggregation last week look up as one of the most powerful teams that the Vogelmen will face this year.

Both Western State and Michigan State have been downing all kinds of competition this spring. Michigan State is gunning for a win over Iowa's defending Big Ten champions.

The Iowans returned from their double loss at Northwestern in good physical shape. Frank Kocur, who injured his knee in sliding into second base during the second game is fully recovered.

Examinations and preparations for the forthcoming finals limit some of the ballplayers' practice sessions but most of them are reporting every night in spite of the time that they have spent away from class while on the spring road trips.

Foxx Clouts Two Home Runs As Bosox Nip Chicago, 7 to 6

Circuit Hit In 10th Frame Ends Contest

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP)—A 10th-inning homer by Jimmy Foxx, his second of the game and eighth of the season, gave Boston a 7 to 6 victory over the Chicago White Sox today in the first game of their western invasion.

The victory-increased Boston's first place lead to two and a half games over Cleveland which lost to Philadelphia.

The Red Sox scored twice in the second inning, one of the runs coming on Foxx's first home run of the game. In the fourth Jim Tabor's two-run round-tripper gave the visitors a 4-0 lead.

The White Sox got into the game in the fourth when Eric McNair doubled with the bases loaded to account for three runs, the sixth, tying the score.

A run in the seventh put Chicago ahead but Boston tied it in the eighth on Foxx's walk, Joe Cronin's single and a fly to McNair in short right field.

Reds Protest Brooklyn Win

BROOKLYN, May 14 (AP)—Manager Bill McKenchie of the Cincinnati Reds announced today that he had protested today's game with the Dodgers which Brooklyn won 6 to 5 in 13 innings.

The protest revolved around a play in the seventh inning when umpire Bill Klem apparently was struck by a batted ball. Leo Durocher had opened the inning with a single and advanced to second on a sacrifice. Then Charley Gilbert hit a grounder that seemed to bounce off Klem's leg. Second baseman Lonnie Frey fielded the ball,

Most murders arise from the stress of emotions of fear, anger, hatred, jealousy or greed, and by far the majority are due to disputes or quarrels about trifles, investigations prove.

'What a Life'--Rollicking Comedy by Goldsmith To Be Given Tonight by University High School

University theater stage is set for what John Mason Brown, drama critic, called "a veritable Utopia of farce" tonight, as the University high school presents Clifford Goldsmith's rollicking comedy, "What a Life." The curtain goes up at 8 o'clock.

The production tonight is one of the first amateur presentations in the country, for it was just recently released for amateur production. Dr. H. Donald Winbigler of the speech department is director of the play which was so tremendously popular that out of it came the Henry Aldrich radio serial.

Following in the footsteps of Ezra Stone of the play and Jackie Cooper of the movie version, Bruce Adams will play the role of Henry, the lad who has a talent for getting into trouble. Adams has appeared in university high school productions of "The Physician in Spite of Himself" and "Seven Sisters."

Other members of the cast include Mary Anne Kurtz as Miss Shea; Paul Fuhrmeister as Mr. Nelson; Verle Holcomb as Mr. Patterson; Margaret Moon as Miss Pike; Bill Byington as Bill; Janet Kurtz as Miss Eggleston; Catherine Gaspey as Miss Johnson; Bob Tapper as Mr. Vecchito; Phyllis Briceland as Barbara Pearson; Rita Cerhan as Gertie.

Henry Pelzer as Mr. Bradley; Patricia Grothaus as Miss Wheeler; Lewis Ward as George Bigelow; Patty Bates as Mrs. Aldrich; Eugene Larew as Mr. Ferguson and Catherine Hahn as Mary.

Students in the play are Patricia Burns, Jack Canney, Jo Ann Clayton, Dick Hills, Lois Irwin, Jean Kistler, Shirley Long, Donna Lowe and Barbara Weidner.

All three acts are set in the principal's office in Central high school. The production is in cooperation with university theater and many members of the production staff are dramatic arts students. Harold Nelson, G of Northwood, and Norman Felton, A4 of Iowa City, assisted in direction.

Stage manager is Joe Becker, G of Elgin. Members of the stage crew are Joe Bodine, head; Herbert Bowie, Bob Bowery and Danton.

nice Moore, A4 of Davenport, and Jeanne Parsons, A4 of Estherville. Florence Prybil is head of the property crew, Bill Byington and Lois Irwin. Costume supervisors are Helen Kireher, A4 of Butler, Mo., and Mildred Ross, A4 of Oelwein.

Paul Bogen, G of Lincoln, Neb., is head of the light crew; Joe Becker, Helen Kircher, Pat O'Brien, A3 of Logansport, Ind.; Frances Mallon, A3 of Harrisonville, Mo., and Pauline Anderson, A4 of Harcourt.

In charge of make-up will be Tom Phillips, A4 of Iowa City, Pauline Anderson, James Powers, A4 of Tipton, and Dean Travis, A4 of Allerton.

New York critics really liked the show. Burns Mantle called it "another George Abbott lark." It was George Abbott who produced Richard Maibaum's farce, "See My Lawyer," which ran for 240 performances.

Robert Colman said it was "a hurricane of laughs. It is by all odds the most hilarious play to rock Broadway this season."

And tonight Henry Aldrich in the person of Bruce Adams is going to give a demonstration in the art of getting in dutch—beginning at 8.

Any Jobs?
A Common Question For Students

Some 90 per cent of the students entering the University of Iowa each year inquire about employment for partial self-support and 75 per cent of the total student body regularly make such inquiries.

Lee Kann, manager of the employment bureau, is the authority for that statement. Pointing out the difficulty of placing students in jobs, he said that only about one-third of the student body receives some form of regular employment each year.

He recommends that in no case should the job applicant have less than $100 to $150 at the start of the school year and preferably $200 or more.
