F.R. to Air Defense

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt decided tonight to deliver his special defense message to congress in person. He will speak at noon (Iowa time) Thursday. The address will be broadcast nationally and perhaps internationally over the NBC, CBS and MBS radio networks. Stephen Early, the president's press secretary, said that the action was taken on the advice and recommendation of congressional leaders. Both houses and senate members will be in attendance. Arrangements for the address were started as soon as the president made known his decision shortly before 9 p.m. CST. Legislators expressed the belief that the president was using this method of demonstrating the importance of his message.

Special details of policemen will be assigned to the capitol, and congressional leaders will put through a resolution for a joint session as soon as the senate and house convene. Simultaneously it became known that President Roosevelt, while working on the message, has been continuing correspondence with foreign governments, including Italy, looking toward peace. The president remained at his desk until 2 a.m. today primarily to draft his message, but it was learned that he also was in telephonic communications with Secretary Hull at the state department in connection with the foreign interchanges. These were authoritatively described as representing no new move but merely a continuation of efforts along the line the president has pursued for the last year. Authoritative congressional sources disclosed that a substantial part of the defense program would be devoted to a tremendous expansion of anti-aircraft defenses and private munitions industries. Legislators in close touch with the situation asserted that $63,000,000 of the estimated $976,000,000 armament program would be earmarked for anti-aircraft guns and ammunition for mobile regiments, fixed batteries and seacoast defenses. An additional $44,000,000, it was learned, would go for the expansion and tooling of plants for the manufacture of equipment such as semi-automatic rifles, machine guns, tanks and anti-tank guns. House members explained that the expansion of private facilities was aimed at cutting down the time required to produce the arms, now estimated to range between one and two years for many items. The disclosures were made while demands were heard in the senate for an investigation of national defense. Senator Clark (D-Mo) shouted to the chamber that he was opposed to "pouring any more billions down the same rathole where we find out what the brass hats have done with $7,000,000,000 they've already received." President Roosevelt worked today on the defense program, which he expects to send to congress tomorrow. The army is slated to get $726,000,000 of the total and the navy about $250,000,000, chiefly to speed up construction of warships now on the ways.

German Army Pounds Holes In Allied Defense at Sedan 10 Miles Inside French Lines

French Report Situation 'Serious, Not Critical' As 600,000 Nazis Force Allied Retreats; Dutch Lose 100,000
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The advantage apparently swung again to the Germans last night in the massive battle of the Meuse, involving an estimated 600,000 men and uncounted planes and tanks, on the plain of Sedan, where the war of 1870 ended. The reinforced German army, spurred by the acclaim of Adolf Hitler for its quick conquest of the Netherlands, pounded holes in allied positions above Sedan, which is 10 miles within France, after crossing the Meuse river at three places on the 60-mile main front between Namur, Belgium, and Sedan. Charging nazi tanks cleared a path for attacking infantry through allied positions on the river's west bank, the French said the situation was serious but not critical; that the "war of movement has begun." The allies admitted withdrawals to new positions. Earlier the French counter-attacked below Sedan, smashing one side of a 10-mile German salient on the left bank of the Meuse south of the town, and throwing half the nazi crossing force back. At Gembloux, above Namur and below Louvain, German tank attacks also were reported thrown back. East of that line the Germans overran large sections of Belgium. The Germans appeared confident they had broken the northwest extension of the Maginot line in the Sedan sector. The main battle descended on Sedan after the Germans, drawing considerable allied forces north into Belgium by their invasion of last Friday, swept through the Belgian Ardennes mountains from Luxembourg in a surprise thrust and continued down the Meuse into France. On the northwest flank of this main battle line, the British expeditionary force, with heavy field guns, held positions around Louvain, attempting to check the Germans who are advancing on Brussels and the Belgian west coast ports after piercing the Albert canal defenses at Maastricht and to the west. On the southeast flank of the main Meuse battle, the French said German assaults on the Maginot line, in the Moselle valley sector, had waned, and that the Maginot forts were holding fast. Official papers of capitulation, signed by the Dutch commander-in-chief, erased Holland's army from the military picture except for a last ditch defense in the Zeeland province islands in the southwest, which would make excellent submarine and air bases against the English east coast, little more than 100 miles away. Of the Dutch army of 400,000, the Netherlands foreign minister estimated that one-fourth, or 100,000 men, died in less than five days of annihilating blitzkrieg. The Belgian high command announced that Liege's defenses still were resisting heavy German pressure and that the German advance had been halted in several places. The British, reporting 150 planes had smashed German communications and troop movements to the front in the greatest allied air attack of the war, announced their forces had held off waves of German attackers.

Swiss Prepare for Attack

French Troops Await Raid On Swiss Border
Fear Mussolini May Ally Italy Against Allies
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 15 (AP)—The allied battle fleet put to sea tonight for "scheduled maneuvers" that coincided with new reports of tension in the Mediterranean. Widespread fears that Italy might enter the war against the allies prompted thousands of Italians to start liquidation of their properties in Egypt. Weeping Italian women, silently praying for peace, sold household effects while their husbands converted business holdings into cash. The big guns of the allied fleet boomed re-echoing salvos in a stiff workout during the maneuvers off Alexandria, and were reported in top fighting trim for any eventuality. Italian circles here believed Germany's smashing victories in Holland and Belgium would cause Premier Mussolini to make his long-awaited decision shortly, and they feared it would be for war. Italian official sources admitted the situation was "delicate." Americans here prepared to move to bomb-proof shelters if Alexandria is attacked.

U. S. Citizens Told to Leave South Europe
Allied Planes Aid French In Sedan Battle
British Air, Land Forces Stalemate Nazis in Belgium
By EDWIN STOUT
LONDON, May 15 (AP)—The biggest fleet of allied bombers massed for an attack in this war, 150 explosive-laden warplanes, raked German lines converging on the Meuse at Sedan with such effect, the air ministry announced today, that the first German advance in that sector was halted. The result, said the ministry, was that the French were enabled to launch yesterday's counter-attack which drove the Germans back south of Sedan just as they were getting ready for a surprise thrust into France. (The Germans attacked again today north of Sedan.) British Air Attacks Dropping low over long columns of German soldiers, tanks, guns and trucks, the allied bombers yesterday struck in waves, destroying bridges, blocking roads with wrecked war machinery, scattering marching troops, and breaking up concentrations behind the lines. The bombers were accompanied by pursuit planes which drove off attacking German aviation. The effectiveness of the allied air counterattack was so great that even the reported loss of 35 French and British planes was declared "not excessive." The planes often dropped to as low as 100 feet, the British said, then released "sticks" of bombs which fell on the long, narrow military columns. 147 Nazi Planes Downed Since the German offensive started in Belgium, more than 147 German planes have been brought down, the British said in a communique on Wednesday's battles. The air force brought down 124 of them while anti-aircraft guns accounted for 23, the communique said. On the land front the British told of "hard fighting" today in which their troops "successfully held serious German attacks." The British reportedly were resting their left flank on Zeeland, surrendered Netherlands province along the sea, and Antwerp in Belgium, with their lines covering Brussels, the Belgian capital. A Belgian communique said the Liege forts still were holding out, although apparently surrounded by invaders since Saturday. The Belgians said their troops had encountered only "light en- (See BRITISH, Page 2)

Thousands of Young Italians Demonstrate Against Allies

Shout for French Colonies in Protest March Through Naples
ROME, May 15 (AP)—Several thousand youthful Neapolitans revived anti-allied demonstrations tonight, marching in the main street of Naples shouting old cries for French possessions. They carried huge pictures of Premier Mussolini and signs saying "Mussolini is always right," "Chamberlain's umbrella leaks," "Djibuti, Nice, Corsica," and "Viva Italian Corsica." Earlier, police put a sudden stop to such demonstrations in Rome. A usually reliable source indicated Britain was easing her contraband control on Italian shipping which gave rise to the anti-allied demonstrations. This report, coupled with others that the British were making progress in trade negotiations with the Italians, caused a climb in security prices in private brokerage dealings at Milan after the close of the stock market in the afternoon.

Harvard Man Urges Uncle Support Allies
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 15 (AP)—Professor Roger B. Merriam, senior member of Harvard's history department, said tonight the United States "can and should pour money and supplies into the allied cause as fast as possible." Declaring Hitler must win or lose the war "within three months," Merriam said "America has not the time to raise and send an expeditionary force to Europe" within that time, but he added that she could take the other action. He made the statement in criticizing the circulation at Harvard of a student petition reminding President Roosevelt "of our determination never... to follow in the footsteps of the students of 1917."

Hickerson Heads Daily Iowan

Named to Head Frivol, The Daily Iowan

JANE NUGENT

LOREN HICKERSON

STEWART KASER

Loren Hickerson, 34 of Iowa City, was named editor of The Daily Iowan for the year beginning June 1 and Stewart Kaser, 33 of Crystal Lake, Ill., was named editor of Frivol for next year following a meeting of the board of trustees of Student Publications Inc., yesterday afternoon in the publisher's office. Jane Nugent, 21 of Chicago, was uncontested for the position of business manager of Frivol and was appointed to that position by the student-faculty board. Hickerson is the present managing editor of The Daily Iowan and has served as campus editor and reporter. He is president of Associated Students of Journalism and belongs to Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity. A member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity, he also belongs to Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic group, and will be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa today. As a member of the intercollegiate debate squad three years, Hickerson also twice debated the British team in international debates. He served on the Inter-Fraternity court this last year and for two years played in the university band. Hickerson, the new Iowan editor, has two older brothers also active in journalism and prominent in the advertising and publications fields. J. M. Hickerson is head of J. M. Hickerson Inc., New York, and A. E. Hickerson is active in Pennsylvania publishing circles, where he publishes several weekly and daily newspapers. Georgia Gaddis Reigns Over Clinton's 'Lillian Russell Days'

Gracie Allen Gives First Fireside Chat
S.U.I.'s 'Belle of Forties' Feted by Movie Stars At World Premiere
CLINTON, May 15 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—The University of Iowa's "Belle of the Forties," Georgia Gaddis, reigned as a queen at the "Lillian Russell Days" celebration at Clinton today. Miss Gaddis, who won a contest sponsored on the campus by the Lillian Russell club, was presented at a luncheon for newspapermen and distinguished guests at the Clinton country club yesterday noon by Don Ameche. Ameche awarded Miss Gaddis a loving cup, the gift of Alice Faye, honorary president of the University of Iowa Lillian Russell club. Earlier Miss Gaddis was presented to Clinton at a street celebration and rode in the Lillian Russell parade with Hollywood stars, Ameche, Arleen Whelan, Mary Healy and Cesar Romero. At the world premiere of the film "Lillian Russell" in Clinton last night Miss Gaddis was presented by Ameche from the stage and was a guest at the premiere ball. OMAHA, Neb., May 15 (AP)—Gracie Allen, the surprise party's candidate for president, indulged in a fireside chat tonight, and if all her listeners didn't warm up to her ideas — well, you know Gracie. Good-humored, portly Irish Dan Butler, mayor of Omaha, fed Gracie her gags in a nationwide (CBS) radio broadcast, witnessed by several thousand Omahans at the Ak Sar-Ben coliseum as a feature of the Golden Spike days celebration. For his reward the mayor got a kiss and a promise that if elected, Gracie would appoint him secretary of the interior "so we can have some X-ray pictures taken together." She spurned his offer to call him Dan "because you can't say Dan over the radio." Gracie promised, if elected, to put up a few jars of "federal reserves" and scrub floors to prove she can manage the house of representatives.

Is There Too Much War News?

ALTHOUGH there have been no comments, it is probably among the thoughts of many people that papers are giving too much space and play to the present international conflict.

There are a few things which come to mind when this criticism is brought up. One is that the newspaper's business is to give people just what they desire and that seems at present to be motivated by the desire of knowledge of activity on the other side of the "big pond."

Another criticism would be that it is none of our interest and that our internal affairs should take most of our attention. This may be true, yet on the basis of the circumstances which have accumulated from past experience, it is of vital concern to us.

Our foreign investments and interests, our commerce, our markets, and our democracy are deeply involved. It is no wonder that with so much involved the people of the country should have a right to know what is going on, and demand that this right be satisfied.

Our domestic situation is important, but much more important is the effect that this outside conflagration may have on us. Anything which may happen in our own country today would not be much of a change from what has been going on in the last few years or months or days. Nobody is trying to pull the wool over our eyes.

Democracy As a Privilege? Or a Duty?

IN A community of the superior average intelligence of Iowa City and vicinity, it should not be necessary to urge the individual to exercise his right of franchise at any time.

Yet the record shows that very often fewer than 50 per cent of the qualified voters go to the polls at primary elections and seldom do more than 75 per cent vote in the general elections.

The necessity of declaring your party affiliation before receiving a ballot is one of the objectionable features of the present system in Iowa and undoubtedly keeps from the voting booths a great many citizens, who for some reason do not want to commit themselves or who pride themselves on being "independents" and do not want to carry a party label.

In view of the exposure of deplorable political situations in many cities, made possible only by great numbers of voters staying away from the polls, the patriotic, thinking citizen must waive these objections and throw the weight of his vote to the men deserving of it in the primaries and in the general election.

The names of the men which will be on the ballot in November have already been chosen. But in fairness to one's self and to his fellow citizens, he should do his bit by supporting the best man in the field for the final choice.

YOU—And Democratic Responsibilities

JOHN T. Salter, editor of "The American Politician" has things to say about Americans who aren't interested in their government. We think he has a point when he states:

"Nearly everyone believes that the politician who is interested in his constituents only at campaign and election time is not worth much. I, for one, believe this to be true; and I just as strongly believe that the voter who cannot quite pay attention to what his politicians are doing save when a pre-election campaign is on, is equally disappointing in a democracy."

Could you pass a test today, if you were so required, requiring you to name the politicians who are leaders and brand those others who are "just symbols of the status quo?"

If you are of voting age, and are not assisting America to sort the wheat from the chaff, you contribute as much as the fascist or communist revolutionary to the downfall of democracy.

German parachute troops are equipped with collapsible bicycles. The bike tires, no doubt, can be quickly converted into waterwings on the way down—if necessary.

The Fair Is a Ringside Seat

THE NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR opened for its second year last week with a fanfare somewhat less terrific than that of the 1940 season. The war was partly responsible for that, but it is no indication that the fair has ceased to be "colossal."

This year the magnificent Soviet pavilion will be gone. The loss will not be a serious one. Spectators will find more interesting the exhibits of the countries that have been invaded since last summer: Finland, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and it is not unlikely that others will be added to the list.

Also of significance will be the pavilions of the major belligerents who will not be able to avoid bringing something of a war atmosphere to the Flushing meadows. It will be interesting to note, too, that Italy and Japan will participate, but with a proviso in their contract providing that they may withdraw should the international situation make such action necessary.

Aside from the international interest, the fair should be an even better drawing card this year than it was in 1939. The directors have seen fit to lower the entrance fee to fifty cents and other prices have been reduced. It will be more of the "peoples" show this year. Another indication that fair trade is due to boom is the fact that tourist travel abroad has been wiped out.

Americans can have a big summer during 1940. They can travel within their own vast country unhampered by passports or borders; they can see a bit of Europe in various sections of it and in numerous corners of the New York fair; they can observe the world at close quarters and more thoroughly than any nation in the world, all while at home, at peace and awed by the Colossus of Flushing. A remarkable fair in a more remarkable country!

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

OLD NAMES COME BACK

THE old names are creeping back, like ghosts, into the new headlines. The Germans claim to have captured the citadel of Liege. The refugees in farm carts stream along the roads toward Brussels and Namur. The King of the Belgians takes command of his troops at Mons; the railroad stations in Brussels are crowded with wounded, back from the battles on the frontier. Bombs are dropped on Laon, LaFere, Dunkerque and on Rheims itself, where the restored cathedral has stood as proof of the unconquerable spirit of man.

How bitter for the Belgians to see their country ravaged for the second time when memories of the first are not yet dead! It is one form of cruelty to spread death and terror in countries like Norway and Holland, where war has been unknown for more than a century. It is another crime to bring war back to peaceful and thriving towns, reduced to rubble in 1914, undying by the heroic and rebuilding hopefulness of their people. Many of the same towns will be shattered once more. It is Belgium's wholly undeserved fate to suffer again, and to face the prospect of clearing the wreckage again when peace returns.

THE NUMBER was selected for other reasons than its beauty and charm and paramount among these was its pronounced Americanism.

SPEAKING OF ATOM SMASHERS—

Senator Norris Goes After J. Edgar Hoover's Scalp Comparing His FBI to Gestapo, OGPU

When Sen. George W. Norris, R-Nebr., attacked J. Edgar Hoover's FBI...

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

hate to concede that a finding approved by its attorney general was so much of a "whitewash" that another, real one, must follow it.

In short, Attorney General Robert Jackson, as Hoover's justice department superior, considered it necessary to look into the Nebraskan's charges. He ordered an inquiry by Chief Henry Schweinhaut of the department's civil liberties unit. Schweinhaut gave Hoover and his outfit a clean bill of health and Jackson indorsed it, trusting, as he expressed it, that the senator would see he'd been in error.

He not only denounced Hoover. He ridiculed him. He laughed at him as "the greatest publicity hound in the western hemisphere." He asserted likewise that J. Edgar gets his personal publicity at public expense.

The senator accused Hoover and his underlings of "practices tending toward the destruction of human liberty in the United States." He described the FBI as a kind of OGPU or GESTAPO and referred to its methods as comparable to Stalin's, Hitler's or Mussolini's.

All this was rough stuff for Hoover. But what's more, it was rough on Attorney General Jackson. The senator declared himself "pained to learn that our justice departmental head deems the FBI's doings proper in a supposedly free country."

He demanded a further investigation. It's a demand which just at this juncture, when the conservatives are arguing that the new deal essentially is totalitarianism.

Now— To have that kind of a senator accusing the new deal of harboring an OGPU or a GESTAPO?—just at this juncture, when the conservatives are arguing that the new deal essentially is totalitarianism.

DVORAK, CELEBRATED

... pianist and composer, was invited to America by Alexander Lambert of the National Conservatory of Music. However, instead of locating in one of the music centers of the United States, he first went to the little town of Spillville, Iowa, where he orchestrated the famous symphony.

JAY JOSTYN plays the title role and is supported by Vicki Vola as the efficient secretary, Miss Miller, and Len Doyle as Harrington, assistant to the prosecutor. Peter Van Steden and his orchestra supply the mood music.

"LARGO" is one of the most beautiful parts of the work. The symphony makes use of Negro and Indian folk music with western and southern melodies as motifs.

Reporting Technical Newspapers Profit By Generations, Years of Experience

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—News reporting is a highly technical field. It can not be arrived at without assiduous labor. One does not learn to distinguish the false from the true by asking questions and taking notes. The newspapers themselves, profiting by years and generations of experience, must be regarded as the highest authorities in the business of disseminating factual information. In self-respecting newspapers, news that can not be proved is always qualified.

I mention this because radio, at this point, is going through its first big war. It is still an infant industry. Never before have its reporters and its commentators been put to such a task as it now faces. The experiences it gains from these undertakings now will go a long way in developing its technique and in maturing its judgment. Its judgment, at this writing, is not yet as mature as is desirable. I say this with regard to the commentators themselves, who under pressure of world-shaking events, are prone to seize microphones and offer pure rumor as fact.

On recent evenings I have been a little amazed at the rashness of certain well known, and highly paid, commentators, who dramatize events without first bothering to ascertain whether they are fiction or fact. Where there is doubt, that doubt should be stressed. These commentators have not always emphasized this doubt. I think this is a mistake. We are living in an age when institutions are crumbling and when national boundaries are fading out like whitewash in the rain. With their access to untold millions, radio's commentators can render a service of inestimable value by merely exercising a little caution, and temperance.

There are a great many—a really surprising number—of successful negro orchestras in this country. If you asked me to name the outstanding one I would have to accept the judgment of other people. Frankly, I don't know. But I can tell you this. If you journey down to Fulton, Miss., and ask the people there, they will give you one name—Jimmy Lunceford. He is a Fulton boy who came to Broadway by devious ways. One of these was a stop-over at Fiske University, where he acquired a degree and 4 letters, emblematic of his skill as an athlete. He became a professor and at one time was a head-waiter. But his heart was engraved with a four-letter word that you pronounce Jazz (Swing hadn't yet been invented), and he started out. Duke Ellington says he has "a mood and a color that nobody can imitate." I can tell you that his records (he records for Columbia) are high sellers. And that is a good indication of his popularity. Hughes Panassie, the French authority, insists he is the most important thing that ever happened to Swing.

All I know is that he is a big (240 lbs.), easy-going, mild-mannered product of the gulf states who found his medium, created a style, and has become rich. He has arrived at that point where most people think of relaxing and looking for a little fun.

"Me," says Lunceford, "me, I'm just getting started. I'm just beginning to find out what music is."

emy forces" and that demolition of bridges and roads still was going on "successfully" and preventing enemy movements. Correspondents with the British expeditionary force in Belgium telegraphed London that the allied air arm was fighting the Germans to a standstill in a mighty encounter; and the air ministry communique told of "repeated low-flying attacks on enemy troops."

The British fliers, the air ministry said, had given the French "valuable assistance" in the battle which developed at the historic city of Sedan and the crossings of the river Meuse.

The air ministry announced also that 150 allied planes blasted German communications in the lowlands, breaking up "large tank and troop concentrations" and blocking roads.

Halt Advance It asserted that an air assault delivered yesterday, halted the German advance in the Sedan sector, although the French tonight admitted further German advances there. Several nazi pontoon bridges across the Meuse river were reported destroyed.

On the home front anxiety was sharpened by Berlin radio broadcasts that the reich army was "standing at England's door" with fighters less than an hour away

Ticket Sale This Week

Single tickets to the Community Playhouse association's spring production, "Stepping Sisters," will go on sale at the end of this week. Winston P. LePorte, technical director, said yesterday. He named Helen Hensleigh, Gloria White, Elva Wilson and Esther Swisher usherettes for the two scheduled performances. Work on the scenery will begin early next week, LePorte said. He asked that any persons interested in property crew work to appear at the Recreational Center at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Reds Snatch League Lead From Dodgers

Jimmy Demaret Favored in Goodall Golf Tournament

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Fourteen of this country's top flight golfers and an added entry from the Argentine, Martin Pose, tee off at Fresh Meadow Country club tomorrow in that unique and slightly complicated test known as the Goodall round robin tournament.

Prizes totalling $5,000 await those who have compiled the best

"plus scores" when the final round of match play is completed on Sunday and the tournament officials have finished with their adding and subtracting.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Texas, who gave the boys a trimming all around the winter circuit and wound up with an impressive victory in the masters' event at Augusta, is a natural favorite to do it once more. Harry Cooper, last year's Goodall winner, is not entered this time.

Some regard the Goodall as the truest test of competitive golf. They go out in sets of three, in seven-18-hole rounds. Demaret, for instance, will have two different opponents on each round, so that at the conclusion of the seventh match he will have encountered each of his 14 rivals.

The scoring is on a "plus" and "minus" basis. If a player is two up on each of his rivals at the end of a round, say, he has a score of four-plus. Each of his opponents is two-minus, which is bad. Cooper won with a remarkable final score of 31-plus last year. He was three strokes over par for the seven rounds.

Obviously, there is some luck attached to the Goodall. A player, for instance, might shoot himself a fine, stiff 70, and yet gain no points because each of his opponents for the round also fired a 70. Some other player in another threesome might shoot a 70 and gain five or six valuable points because his opponents were having an off-day. But they figure it balances up in the long run.

In tomorrow's opening round Demaret is grouped with Craig Wood and Jimmy Thompson, a three-some calculated to pull a big gallery. Byron Nelson, the Open champion, battles Ben Hogan and Jimmy Hines. Henry Picard, the P.G.A. king, plays against Gene Sarazen and Martin Foss, the Argentine. Paul Runyan, Lawson Little and Sammy Sneed form the fourth group, and Horton Smith, Dick Metz and Clayton Heafner the fifth.

Two rounds each are scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Cincy Club Nips Brooklyn For 5-2 Win

Whit Wyatt Shelled From Mound in First; Gene Thompson Wins

BROOKLYN, May 15 (AP)—Cincinnati's raging Reds retaliated for yesterday's defeat by the Dodgers with a five-run first inning today to beat Brooklyn 5 to 2 and return to first place in the National League.

Eleven men went to the plate for Cincinnati in the riotous first inning in which Whit Wyatt was unable to get anyone out.

Bill Werber opened the bombardment by hitting Wyatt's second pitch into the left field stands for a home run. Then a walk to Lonnie Frey, a single by Ival Goodman and a pass to Frank McCormick filled the bases. Bill Hershberger promptly tripled to clean them and finish Wyatt's work for the day.

Van Lingle Mungo came to the mound and Johnny Rizzo hit his first pitch for a single, scoring Hershberger. This ended the Reds' scoring for the day, although Mungo walked two more men to fill the bases again.

Gene Thompson held the Dodgers to five hits in gaining his fifth victory against one loss. But he missed a shutout when Brooklyn bunched three hits for both its runs in the third inning.

Herman Franks led off with a double, moved to third on the second of two infield outs, and scored on a single by Charley Gilbert. Then Pete Coscarart walked and Dixie Walker singled for another run.

A crowd of 18,403, approximately 3,000 less than yesterday, saw the game.

Catcher Ernie Lombardi of the Reds was kept out of action by a bruised right hand.

Armstrong Comes Next

Lew Jenkins Tells Home Folks That Champ Can Be Hit

DALLAS, Tex., May 15 (AP)—The leathery Texas cowhand, riveted to his rim bow seat by the elbows of his companions, squinted through smoke at the white man and the black man that sweltering New York night last August.

Down below, miles away the cowhand swears, Lou Ambers and Henry Armstrong were slugging.

The cowhand was a newcomer in New York. The $1 he paid for that bird's-eye seat represented considerable capital stock.

Ten months later the cowhand had moved from the rim to the ring.

Lew Jenkins, the gaunt ex-cavalcaryman, cowhand and carnival fighter, cut Ambers to shreds to win the generally recognized world lightweight title.

Today Jenkins came back home. The fight mob crowded around him at the train. He grinned, shook hands all around.

On July 17 he fights the other half of that pair he saw from a bleacher seat—Henry Armstrong.

"Only time I ever saw Armstrong fight in my life was from the last row seat last August," he said. "I had a buck seat that night; couldn't see him very well."

"I'm gonna be ready for Armstrong, though. I've seen him in the gym a couple of times. He can be hit."

French Blanks Boston As Cubs Triumph, 2-0

Bees Limited To Two Hits

Chicago Hurler Bests Strincevich In Pitching Duel

BOSTON, May 15 (AP)—Larry French's two-hit pitching gave the Chicago Cubs a 2-0 edge in a tight hurling duel with rookie Nick Strincevich of the Boston Bees today before a slim crowd of 1,919.

Both were in fine fettle, and up to the seventh inning each had limited opposing batters to single scratch hits. French himself started the blowoff with two out in the eighth, when "Rabbit" Warstler, filling in at second base for "Bama" Rowell, messed up his easy roller.

French scored from first a minute later on Stan Hack's booming triple to deep center. Hack crossed the plate with Chicago's second run when Bill Herman singled.

Strincevich, who had limited the Cubs to six hits and struck out seven, gave way for a pinch hitter in the Bee half of the eighth.

Hawkeye Tracksters To Meet Badgers in Dual Meet Here

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 (AP)—Doc Prothro's unpredictable Phillies gained a tighter hold on the top of the national league's second division today, trouncing the trailing St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 3 in a one-inning spree of singles.

Climbing over the Cards to fifth place yesterday, the Phils made it two in a row today by routing pitcher Gene Lillard in the second frame with a six hit barrage that produced all of the winners' runs.

Ben Bowman replaced Lillard and was greeted by a single from Morrie Arnovich that scored Mahan.

Probably the feature races of the day will be the high and low hurdles in which Hank Vollenweider will meet Ed Smith, conference champ. Although a bad leg has been keeping the colored boy out of recent meets, he may be ready for Saturday's contest. Hank took both of these events away from Minnesota on May 4 and last week end at Northwestern was well on his way to victory in the highs when he fell hitting a hurdle. The fall pushed him to a second in the lows later in the meet.

Jim Wilson, Arnold Carlson and Cam Campbell are others who should place high for the Hawkeyes.

Michigan State Boasts Strong Baseball Team; After Hawkeye Scalps

With the temperature hovering around the 40 degree mark Coach Otto Vogel suspended practice for his baseball team yesterday in order to save pulled muscles and also to give his charges some spare time to catch up on their class work.

Coach John Kobs of Michigan State will probably start his ace pitcher George Monroe on Friday's game. It is also a probability that Coach Vogel will alternate his pitchers so that they all will see some service in the Spartan series.

The Hawkeye defense should get a real test in this series as the Michigan club boasts many victories this season over the best collegiate clubs in the Midwest with last week's win over the powerful Western State teachers team topping the list.

Jimmy Foxx Names All-Team; Picks Members for Slugging

CHICAGO, May 15 (AP)—Jimmy Foxx, who qualifies as an authority on the subject of hitting, lined up a power-plus mythical baseball team today which he guaranteed would send chills through all opposing mythical pitchers even on their hottest days.

Foxx, the Boston Red Sox first sacker who has slammed out eight homers this season and currently leads the major leagues in runs batted in, emphasized his selections were made strictly on consistent slugging ability, with defensive ability not considered. His mythical club has a lot of defensive class, however, and the only thing wrong with it is that Jimmy modestly declined to put

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

Third Attempt More Trouble Brother Pete

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Everything happens to Dunbar Bostwick, and recalling that fact, the trotting fans who have made his Kuno a 2 to 1 winter book favorite to win the Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 14, are slightly perturbed. Any day now they expect to hear that Kuno has developed fallen arches or loose pistons.

Third Attempt
This will be Bostwick's third attempt to bring home a winner in the harness racing classic. In his early thirties, blond, blue-eyed and tough as shoe leather physically from having spent his life in close proximity to horse-flesh, the wealthy sportsman from old Westbury, Long Island, turned his attention seriously to developing trotters in 1936.

He hired a trainer, Harry Whitney, but insisted on doing most of the schooling himself, although old-time horsemen thought the young upstart was at least mildly "teched" in thinking he could show any tricks to the more experienced hands.

He thought enough of Hollywood Audrey II to enter it in the 1937 Hambletonian. Came the big day, and Bostwick in person rode proudly in the sulky as the field went on the track.

His inexperience took its toll. He beat the gun in the first heat by poking his horse's head in front of the horse on the pole, and was promptly ruled off. His trainer, Whitney, then took the reins and brought Audrey in fourth, a pretty fair showing.

In 1938 Bostwick drew a blank, having no trotters of Hambletonian class, but last year loomed as his year. He had the winter book favorite, Nibble Hanover, and another horse, Countess Christine, almost as fast.

More Trouble
Two months before the race Nibble Hanover suddenly got tired of it all. The fine three-year-old collapsed in its stall, and a corps of veterinarians was unable to find out the trouble. For a year now the ailment has remained a mystery.

Bostwick took this misfortune in stride. What if Nibble did have a nervous breakdown? He still had the Countess, didn't he?

And then, a month before the race, the Countess began to slow down to a walk in workouts. Various remedies were tried, but no soap.

Brother Pete
Then came Pete Bostwick, brother of Dunbar and also a horseman of note. Pete would fix the Countess. Just give the horse these shots he recommended, and everything would be fine.

Brother Dunbar, ready to try anything by now, did as suggested. The shots were administered. The Countess gazed reproachfully, shuddered, and promptly lay down and refused to budge.

The Hambletonian was run off without the Countess.

So it's no wonder the horse-men are a little apprehensive in making the 1940 Bostwick entry a favorite. Kuno, a bay colt by Guy Day out of Princess Gay, on its record races as the horse to beat. Like Nibble Hanover, it distinguished itself as a two-year-old. Its best time of 1:04 1-4 was made in a tough race in which it definitely eclipsed most of its prospective rivals in the Hambletonian.

And Bostwick, the rich young man who isn't afraid to get his hands dirty as he hustles about taking personal charge of the training, is practically sleeping with his horse. Every mouthful Kuno eats is watched, and it is coddled in its workouts like an infant prodigy.

Newman Club Helps Needy Conducts Drive To Gather Old Clothes For Iowa City Poor

A drive to gather old clothes for the needy of Iowa City will be completed Saturday afternoon by members of the Newman club when trucks gather the articles from dormitories on the University of Iowa campus. The drive, although made by Newman club, is being carried on for all the needy of Iowa City and will not necessarily be distributed to any definite religious denomination in the town.

Any old clothes, regardless of their condition, will be taken to the nuns at Mercy hospital and from there will be distributed. Men in Quadrangle may leave their clothes in rooms 156-A and 11-B; men in Hillcrest may leave their old clothes at Father Hayne's office in room 108, Macbride hall.

First Campaign
This is the first time that such a campaign has been carried on by the Newman club for the needy of Iowa City. Shortly before Christmas vacation, the club conducted a charity dance in which they collected food for the needy of Iowa City. Purely a charity drive, this old clothes gathering is the final activity of the year for Newman club.

Rosemary Moran, A2 of Freeport, Ill., secretary of the organization, is in charge of the drive. She will accept any old clothes in Currier hall up to Saturday. Anyone wishing to have old clothes collected may call Father Hayne's office in Macbride hall, it has been announced.

Registration For Summer Session Will Begin June 8
Registration for the University of Iowa's 41st summer session will begin June 8, just five days after the final event of commencement. It is expected that the majority of more than 3,000 students will be enrolled that day. Classes will begin Monday, June 10, but late registrants probably will be enrolling for about two weeks.

With more courses than ever before, the 1940 summer session also will be distinguished by special conferences, lectures, and forums.

Will Award 1,000 Degrees At Iowa's 80th Commencement On June 3, Officials Estimate
An estimate of 1,000 degrees to be awarded at the University of Iowa's 80th commencement next month was made yesterday by officials.

Although the report on the applications was not yet compiled, it appeared that the 1940 total would be about 50 to 75 less than last year.

The degree-winners will receive their awards in the formal commencement exercises in the fieldhouse on the morning of Monday, June 3. President Eugene A. Gilmore, who retires from his position July 1, will confer the degrees for the last time.

Junior Women Place First In Track Meet

Junior women physical education majors placed first in the annual class track meet held on the women's athletic field Tuesday.

Mildred E. Anderson of Las Vegas, N. Mex., and Fern Newcomer of Iowa City, both junior majors, tied for first place in the meet.

Janet Davenport and Mary Redinbaugh, both freshmen from Neola, were high point winners for the freshman class which annexed second place in the track events.

Other class ratings were senior majors third and sophomore class fourth.

Libraries Aid WPA To Show Publications

Will Show Records Of Historical Survey To Public May 20, 25

The university libraries, under the leadership of Grace Van Wormer, acting director of libraries, are cooperating with the Historical Records Survey project of the Works Project Administration in setting up an exhibit of the publications of that project to be on display all of next week, May 20 to 25.

Mary Brown Humphrey, head of the government documents department, is in immediate charge of the undertaking and is aided by Helen D. Johnson, her first assistant. Accordingly, the main exhibit will be presented in the quarters of that department, with smaller displays in other divisions of the library.

Others assisting in this work include Mrs. Sarah Scott Edwards, reference librarian; Irene Steidl, head of the circulation department; Ruth Gallaher, assistant editor of the Iowa State Historical Society, and Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon of the Iowa City public library.

Professional Division
The Historical Records Survey project is a part of the professional and service division of the Works Project Administration. O. Clyde Sutherland of Des Moines is state-wide supervisor of the project, while Helen Cresswell, also of Des Moines, is Iowa head of the professional service division.

The display being arranged occurs in connection with what has been designated as "This Work Pays Your Community" week, designed to call community attention to the undertakings of the professional and service division.

An effort is being made here to have all faculty members and graduate students in the social sciences notified of the exhibit. Cooperating in this connection is Dr. George F. Kay, dean of the college of liberal arts. Emphasis may be placed on the value to teachers and students of county government of materials along this line in certain of the publications arranged for inspection.

Photographs On Exhibition At Iowa Union

Leonard Missonne's Pictures Displayed By Campus Camera Club

An exhibition of photographs of Leonard Missonne, world-renowned photographer, is on display in Iowa Union beginning today until May 25, it has been announced by Prof. Cornelius de Kiewiet, chairman of the print committee of the Campus Camera club.

Fifty of Mr. Missonne's finest and most representative works are on display, according to Professor de Kiewiet. This exhibit has been prominently shown in every major photographic salon in the world. The prints to be shown are priceless and are going to stay in the United States during the duration of the second World War.

Unique Processes
Mr. Missonne's work, specializing in landscapes and rain scenes, are being representatively shown in this exhibit. The photographic processes which the artist has developed are acknowledged to be unique throughout the world. The artist, at present residing in Belgium and a native of Belgium, ranks with the two great American photographers, Steiken and Genthe. His original prints, according to Professor de Kiewiet, are collector's items and practically priceless.

This exhibit is Mr. Missonne's final collection of work and may be the only prints of his which will survive the duration of the war. The extremely critical crisis in Belgium at the present time prompts this move. Duplicate originals, such as will be shown here, are worth $16 each.

Important Show
Professor de Kiewiet has announced that this exhibition is without a doubt one of the most important shows of photographs that has ever been displayed on the University of Iowa campus. Such creative work, he added, is seldom seen in contemporary photography.

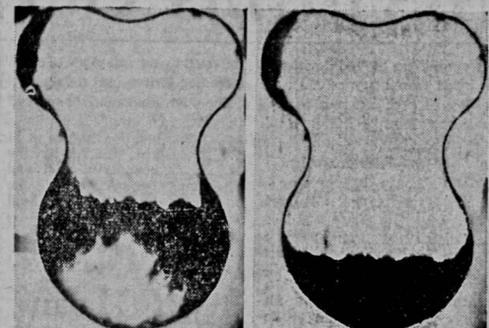

The Campus Camera club is sponsoring the exhibition. The exhibition was shown before its Iowa appearance by the Durham Camera club, Durham, N. C. The collection is being shown all over the United States and will go to Philadelphia, Pa., following the exhibition on the Iowa campus.

Iowa Student Engineers Will Meet Tonight

The Iowa student section of the American Society of Engineers will have a general business meeting at the chemistry auditorium tonight at 7:30.

New officers, elected at the last meeting, will assume their new duties. They are Leroy Hansen, E3 of Sioux City, president; Edward Burman, E3 of Waverly, vice-president; Jack Russell, E3 of Cedar Rapids, treasurer, and Walter Wheaton, E3 of Iowa City, secretary.

HIGH-SPEED CAMERA SHOWS "KNOCK" IN MOTOR

In effect, you are looking down directly into the top of the cylinder. The white areas within the curved black line (the wall of the combustion chamber) are flames from the burning mixture of air and gasoline ignited by the spark. The head of the piston, though not visible here, fits in the circular area at the bottom of the photographs.

The flame in the picture on the right is burning evenly from the spark across the fuel chamber. In a fraction of a second it will have consumed until all the fuel is consumed. The flame on the left, as can be seen, is burning unevenly. With the flame little more than half-way across the fuel chamber, the stress of heat and pressure has "broken down" the unburned fuel, causing spontaneous ignition on the other side of the chamber. Two flames are now rushing to meet each other and the result is a violent explosion which makes the familiar "knock" or "ping."

The effect of "knock" is similar to that which would be obtained by striking the piston with a hammer. The knockless explosion, on the other hand, exerts an even push with smooth follow-through which gives full power and economy.

While most motorists are at one time or another troubled by "knocking" engines, the condition can be easily corrected by use of fuels high in antiknock value. The fuel then burns evenly as in the picture on the right above.

'Motor Clinic' in Fieldhouse

Reveal Through Pictures, Demonstrations Interesting Automobile Facts

A "motor clinic" revealing through pictures and demonstrations many facts about the automobile never before seen outside of the research laboratories of the automobile industry, will be held in the fieldhouse today, tomorrow and Saturday, Prof. H. O. Croft, head of the mechanical engineering department, announced yesterday. The college of engineering is sponsoring the show.

Two large truck loads of experimental equipment have been set up for the series of demonstrations. A staff of five trained engineers will have charge.

One of the outstanding features of the show is an unusual "proving ground" test in which a stock-model automobile is actually driven 60 miles an hour. Coming as the climax of the hour show, the test serves as an explanation of one of the least understood factors in efficient automobile performance. The engineer in charge will show how the performance of a popular standard-make automobile can be stepped up as high as 20 per cent by tuning up the engine to its maximum power and by the use of proper fuels.

The progress in the oil and automotive industries will be discussed briefly and reasons for the efficiency of present day automobiles will be depicted. The future of engine design will be discussed and some indication will be given as to what "tomorrow's car" will look like. All engineering terminology will be expressed in common English terms so that it can be easily understood by the ordinary motorist, Professor Croft commented yesterday.

National figures indicate that four out of five cars in this country today are not tuned up for top performance and economy, Professor Croft said. The clinic is planned to include rapid fire tests and mounted exhibits which will give valuable suggestions to motorists.

Tie in Artus Essay Contest

Roland Christensen, A3 of Iowa City, and J. W. Macglin, A3 of Muscatine, tied for first and second places in the annual essay contest sponsored by the Order of Artus, national honorary economics fraternity.

K. Grant Johnson, C3 of Lamoni, was awarded the third prize, Edgar S. Bagley, G of Los Angeles, Cal., and an instructor in the college of commerce who is president of the order, said in the announcement yesterday.

The subject of Christensen's essay is "Vilfredo Pareto — His Contributions to Twentieth Century Economic Thought," while Macglin wrote "A Brief Inquiry into Marxian Economic Analysis" and Johnson wrote about "The Economic Aspects of Implications for Agriculture and Industry of the Hull Trade Agreements."

The contest is sponsored yearly by the order, whose judges consider the entries on the basis of original thought or original presentation of thought, general content and style of writing. Essays entered in the contest deal with some aspect of economic thought.

The contest is held tomorrow at 11 a. m., 4:15 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. for the students in all colleges of the university. Iowa City residents are also invited to attend.

Hitler Acclaims German Army for Conquest in Holland

Reich May Drop Bombs On Brussels

Nazi Press Implies Offensive Against London Imminent

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, May 15 (AP)—The German army, acclaimed by Adolf Hitler for its swift conquest of the Netherlands, tonight threatened to bomb Brussels, the Belgian capital, and slashed through French defenses north of Sedan.

With his Nazi forces hammering forward in a resurrection of the famed von Schlieffen plan for a drive into France around the allied left flank—a plan which failed in 1914 but which Germans are confident will succeed in 1940—Hitler in an order of the day said "the future will demonstrate the military importance" of the five-day Dutch conquest.

Threaten Brussels
In a threat similar to that which brought capitulation of the Dutch, the German high command declared that if Belgian authorities wish to save Brussels from Nazi fury, they must cease all military activity in the Belgian capital, already menaced by German troops who approached the Louvain "gateway," some 16 miles to the east.

"The Belgian government declared on May 10 through its foreign minister in Brussels and likewise through mediation of its diplomatic intermediary, the United States embassy in Berlin, that Brussels is an open city, that no troops were in Brussels, nor would they move through the city," a high command communique said. "This statement of the Belgian government does not correspond to the facts. German air reconnaissance during the last few days has established beyond doubt that all kinds of military columns are moving through Brussels as well as military transports through this railway junction.

Order to Government
"The German high command can no longer recognize Brussels as an undefended city. In case the Belgian government really is in earnest to save the city of Brussels the horrors of war, all military transports and marching through the town must cease immediately and the building of defenses must be suspended immediately.

"Should from now on military objectives be discovered in Brussels, they will be attacked by the German air force. Responsibility for all consequences arising from this for the city of Brussels will have to be borne by those who, contrary to the declaration by the Belgian government, misuse their city for military purposes."

Hitler's order of the day did not mention England, but German newspapers, which are well-known official here, did not hesitate to imply that an air storm might break over Britain soon.

They published maps showing that Germany, through the collapse of Holland, already had air bases 100 to 200 miles from important British objectives—incl. London.

Authorized sources declared an offensive against England would be launched "whenever we are ready... when it is most uncomfortable for England."

Although the German armies encountered stiffening allied resistance in the air as well as on the ground, the Germans asserted they still held easy control of the air and were inflicting losses on the enemy at a ratio of six or seven to one.

Nearer To England
Observers recognized that every mile of the Belgian coast taken by the Nazis put the German air force that much nearer to England. With the new, closer range, they said, German bombers could be sent across the North Sea fully protected by pursuit planes against defending British air fighters.

The high command announced tonight that the Netherlands capitulation had been signed at 11 a.m. (4:40 a.m., C.S.T.) by the German commander-in-chief and the commander-in-chief of the Dutch army and navy, General Henri Gerard Winkelman.

House Passes On RFC Loans

Approves Huge Bill For Rural Electricity, Tenant Rehabilitation

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Authorization for the RFC to lend $100,000,000 to the rural electrification administration was approved by the house today as it adopted and sent to the senate a compromise 1941 farm appropriation bill.

The bill carried a total of $917,467,983 of appropriations and $150,000,000 in RFC loans, including those for the REA and $50,000,000 for farm tenant rehabilitation.

As first passed by the senate the farm bill would have authorized $40,000,000 in RFC loans to the REA. The house on a voice vote boosted this by $60,000,000.

Appropriations included $500,000,000 for soil conservation and crop control benefit payments, $212,000,000 for parity payments and $85,000,000 to supplement automatic appropriations of $100,000,000 for surplus commodity removal.

of the month, but officials said that "league business continues until further notice."

The internal battle to wipe out any possibility of a "fifth column" action in Switzerland continued. In some cities all foreigners were ordered to present their credentials for inspection.

In the large cities, including Basel, Zurich, Bern and Geneva, militarized police and troops inspected credentials of all automobiles passing the city gates. In Geneva, where some 2,000 rifles, pistols and other firearms were collected from foreigners by police under a new federal law, soldiers even walked through streets checking passengers' cards of identity.

Nearly all men of fighting age appeared wearing gray-green army uniforms.

The high command today ordered the leftwing socialist newspapers "Le Travail" and "Le Droit" to emphasize Switzerland's neutrality in the face of powerful German force massed on the northern frontier.

French divisions waiting on the west Swiss border built more fortifications along the roads leading from France.

Allied sources called the Swiss policy "superneutrality." It was reported that the Swiss had constantly refused all suggestions that they "cooperate" with one of their large neighbors by at least drawing up advance coordinated defense plans in the event the other invaded her territory.

The fundamentalists are being proven correct. The world may not yet be flat—but it's on its way.

Monte Carlo Named Finest Belligerent By State Department

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—The state department has added another belligerent—the tiniest—to the growing list of warring nations—the little principality of Monaco, better known here as Monte Carlo, most famous gambling center in the world.

Because of the actions it has taken since the war began, the infinitesimal nation, with a population of 24,000 and an area of less than one square mile, lying off the south of France on the Riviera, is ruled to be a belligerent.

The state department, after consultation with other departments of the government, has therefore advised American shippers they may not send their ships to Monaco with passengers or cargo, and Americans may not go there without special authorization.

The reason is that Monaco, although an independent principality for 800 years, nevertheless feels itself tied to the fortunes of France, and has acted accordingly. Since the war broke out September 1 Monaco has not actually lent direct military aid to France; there is no army and the whole police force numbers only 200; but she has arrested all Germans resident there and turned them over to France for internment and has prevented any German activities, commercial or otherwise, on her soil.

Civil Service Commission Announces Exam for Maritime Commission Job

The United States civil service commission recently announced an open competitive examination for maritime personnel representatives for the United States maritime commission with applications to be on file with the commission's Washington office not later than June 10.

Mayor Names May 25 Official Poppy Day for Iowa City

Annual Drive Aids Disabled War Veterans

Daughter of World War Veterans Will Distribute Poppies

Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock last night issued a proclamation setting aside the day of May 25 as official Poppy Day in Iowa City.

He did this in cooperation with the Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion auxiliary in this city and the American Legion auxiliary throughout the nation in their drive to raise funds to aid disabled war veterans.

In the proclamation the mayor asked that all Iowa Citizens cooperate with the drive by wearing memorial poppies on that day in tribute to the World War dead and to aid the living victims of the war.

Incentive to Americans
Mayor Willenbrock declared that the deeds of yesterday's soldiers are an incentive for Americans of today to renew hope in democratic institutions throughout the world.

Mrs. William J. White, chairman of the American Legion auxiliary "Poppy Day" committee here, said poppies would be distributed by daughters of veterans in the downtown sector.

Final plans for the day will be made at a meeting of the auxiliary Monday night in the Community building, Mrs. White said.

Special Significance
"We feel that Poppy Day will be of special significance this year," she said, "because again the horrors of war are rampant in Europe. We can not help but remember the sacrifices that American soldiers made in defense of liberty in the face of minority oppression and relentless attack on neutral nations that crowd the daily news.

"Wearing the flower of those soldiers over our hearts means that within our hearts their love of America still lives," Mrs. White declared.

She expressed hope that every person in Iowa City would wear a poppy on that day.

Buck Rogers? Nazi 'Secret Weapon' Takes Its Toll

BERLIN, May 15 (AP)—The "paralyzed terror" of the Belgian garrison of Fort Eben Emael when all its artillery and even light weapons "suddenly went out of order" at the stroke of Germany's secret weapon was described tonight for German newspaper readers.

They were given little hint, however, of what the weapon is or how it works.

Lieutenant Colonel Hesse, military writer for the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, reporting from the western front, said he had talked with some of the 1,000 prisoners taken from the Key Albert canal fort last Saturday after a small air force detachment had landed in the center of the citadel and used the mysterious "Angriff-Smittel" to silence its guns.

"The prisoners with whom I talked showed every sign of paralyzed terror," said Hesse. "They said: 'We were unable to service our guns or machine-guns any longer.'

"A wounded Belgian officer told me: 'Suddenly all our artillery went out of order.'

(Speculation on the new weapon has ranged from a magnetic

Director, Vocalist, Accompanist

These three will figure prominently in the fourth annual concert of the Recreational Center Community chorus to be held Monday evening at the Community building. They are, left to right, Mrs. Howard R. Bowen, director of the chorus, Paul Pickett, tenor soloist for the concert, and Edna Rahlf, accompanist. The concert will begin at 8 p.m.

Recreational Center Chorus Will Hold Annual Concert

The fourth annual concert of the Iowa City Recreational Center community chorus will be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the Community building, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Howard R. Bowen, director.

Mrs. Bowen extended an invitation to the public to attend the singing. Both secular and sacred music will be sung, she said.

Paul Pickett will be soloist for the occasion and Edna Rahlf will accompany the chorus on the piano, Mrs. Bowen said.

The membership of the chorus is as follows:

Sopranos: Mrs. Maxine Chubb, Mrs. Margaret Hedges, Mrs. Virginia Jones, Margaret Mapes, Ada Meer, Myrtis Pope, Alice Spindler, Margaret Voelckers and Mrs. Marjorie Yoder.

Alto: Jean Cassell, Eleanor Dunn, Mary Beth Godfrey, Myrtle Kesselring, Ida Meer, Mrs. Gladys Prescott, Mrs. Evelyn Trowbridge and Lucille Winborn.

Tenors: Oren Alt, Howard Fountain, Jesse Groat.

Basses: George Hertz, Keith, Hertz, Paul Pickett, Lloyd Siders, Everett Winborn and Glen Yoder.

Young G. O. P. League Will Hold Caucus To Elect Workers

Meeting To Be Held 7:30 P. M. Tomorrow In City Hall Rooms

The Young Republican League of Johnson County will hold a city caucus at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the council chambers of the city hall to elect committeemen and committeewomen for the various wards, it was announced last night by C. H. Redman, chairman of the group.

Mary Ellen Coast, vice-chairman, said both men and women have been invited to represent their respective precincts tomorrow night at the caucus.

Redman said his group will cooperate with the central committee, under the leadership of Attorney Robert L. Larson, in sponsoring the general first district republican rally to be held in Iowa City next Wednesday.

Redman will preside at tomorrow night's meeting.

They Love the Clouds

Pilot Club President Reveals That 125 Iowa Citizens Fly Regularly

By BETTY KAY DAUGHTON

When local business men and their wives get up at 6 a. m. and make a "hop" of a hundred miles or so for their morning ham 'n' eggs — when a dozen Iowa Citizens own their own planes — when a candy shop operator uses his plane regularly for business trips — then Iowa City has definitely become "air-minded."

This Johnson county seat probably has more citizens interested in aviation than any other town of its size in the state, according to John Piper, president of the Iowa City Pilots club, who has over 500 flying hours to his credit. He estimates that at least 125 Iowa Citizens fly regularly.

That this interest has only recently developed here is shown by the fact that three years ago there were only two privately owned planes at the city airport. Now there are 15, including those of Paul Shaw and Lain Guthrie. In spite of the heavy "traffic" there has never been a major accident.

Most of these planes are either class 1 (which means that they cannot weigh more than 1,300 pounds loaded) or class 2 (not over 4,000 pounds total weight.)

It seems likely that this local interest in flying will continue to grow, Piper said yesterday, for recently there has been talk of enlarging and improving facilities at the airport.

Flying for Fun
"Many of us feel that the airport of the future will be more in the nature of a place of recreation and relaxation for the entire community," Piper commented.

"Club-buying" is a convenient plan for those people who would like to fly a few hours a day but could not afford to buy a plane alone. Under this plan, several flyers go together and pool resources to buy a plane. The idea has not been used in Iowa City as yet, but it is being considered by several groups, Piper said.

Learned on a Bet
There are many interesting tales about the way different Iowa Citizens have become interested in flying as a hobby. Homer Spiedel, local clothing merchant, for instance, learned to fly last summer when his brother bet John Piper that he couldn't even get him in an airplane. Spiedel, who is in his sixties, not only went for a ride—he decided to learn how to manage the complicated controls.

Roland Smith, owner of the downtown cafe, also has a private pilot's license. Many married couples, including Mr. and Mrs. Lain Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Menzer, have both adopted the hobby.

Mr. and Mrs. John Piper have a plane with dual controls so that they may relieve each other on their many cross-country trips. They attended a number of out-of-state Big Ten football games this year and often make overnight hops to Chariton. They return to Iowa City in time to open their candy shop the next morning.

Mrs. Piper is the only woman

The Flying Pipers

This Iowa City couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Piper, believe in mutual hobbies for married people. They have their own plane, with dual controls, which they use for frequent cross-country hops. They flew, for instance, to many out-of-state Big Ten football games this year. Mrs. Piper is the only woman in Johnson county with a private pilot's license and belongs to Johnson county to hold a private license, and has now flown a total of over 200 solo hours. She belongs to the "99-ers" club, formed by Amelia Earhart and 98 other women several years ago, and flies all over the country to meetings of the club.

Piper didn't know that his wife was learning to fly until one day he happened to arrive at the airport just as his wife was making her first solo flight. After he recovered from his fright, he said, "She did a much better job than I did when I first soloed!"

Women With Wings
Many other Iowa City women, including Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, city librarian, and Mrs. A. R.

Ellis are now working for private pilots' licenses. Dr. Harry Jenkinson, local dentist, and his son have studied the activity together this year.

Before he can get a private pilot's license, the pilot must have flown at least 35 hours, with eight hours of solo work. A written examination over aviation rules and a course in navigation and meteorology complete the Civil Aeronautics Authority requirements.

Organized Last Fall
All this interest in aviation as a hobby resulted last November in the formation of the Iowa City Pilot's club. The organization, which now has 52 members, sponsors talks by well-known pilots and authorities on flying, discusses factors involved in airport safety and attempts to improve local flying conditions. Nationally known Clarence Chamberlain spoke at the first meeting last fall.

At the last meeting motion pictures of the Miami air race were shown. One of the latest ideas to be adopted locally is the "airport breakfast," in which Iowa clubs and groups within a 100-mile radius play host to each other. The Iowa City organization plans to entertain at such an affair soon.

The local club hopes to affiliate with some national aviation organization in the near future, Piper said yesterday.

Three applications for reduction in tax assessments were denied last night by the board of equalization at its annual meeting in the council chambers of the city hall.

"FIRST WITH THE NEWS"

DON'T WRITE! DON'T TELEGRAPH!

Send The Daily Iowan! Better than a letter, cheaper than a telegram, much more informative than either — that's "The Daily Iowan," and that's what the folks back home will say about it.

Let them in on what's happening at Iowa. They're interested. And "The Daily Iowan" will give them the background on current campus events. Then, when you write home about that house dance, or the canoe trip, or the semester test, they'll have the complete picture. Only "The Daily Iowan" can give it to them. Subscribe now. $5.00 brings you "The Daily Iowan" the year around.
