

NAZI TANKS REACH PARIS F. D. R. PLEDGES U.S. AID TO ALLIES

Accuses Italy of Plunging A Dagger Into Backs of Neighbor Strongly Worded Address Made to Graduating Class of University of Virginia; Attacks 'Gods of Force'

WASHINGTON, June 10—Sternly accusing Italy of plunging "a dagger" into the "back of its neighbor," President Roosevelt tonight pledged the allies "the material resources" of the United States. Speculating grimly upon the consequences to America should the "gods of force" achieve world dominance, the chief executive held up the prospect of a "helpless nightmare," of the American people "without freedom lodged in prison, handcuffed, hungry, and fed through the bars from day to day by the contemptuous, unpitiful masters of other continents."

Neutrality Act Cited Against Warring Italy

Roosevelt Proclaims State of War Exists Between Italy and Allies

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt proclaimed tonight "that a state of war unhappily exists" between Italy and the allies and invoked the country's neutrality act in the new conflict. As a result, American citizens were barred from traveling on Italian ships, restrictions were imposed upon the collection of funds for Italy in this country and the "cash and carry" regulations were applied to Italy's purchases here.

To protect the United States at this juncture, Mr. Roosevelt called for "full speed ahead" upon a two-fold program of unstinted material help to the allies and unflinching preparation of the United States to cope with any eventuality. "In our American unity," he said, "we will pursue two obvious and simultaneous courses: we will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of this nation and at the same time, we will harness and speed up the use of those resources in order that we ourselves in the Americas may have equipment and training equal to the task of any emergency and every defense."

"All roads leading to the accomplishment of these objectives must be kept clear of obstructions. We will not slow down or de-tour. Signs and signals call for speed—full speed ahead. "I call for effort, courage, sacrifice, devotion. Granting the love of freedom, all of these are possible. "And the love of freedom is still fierce and steady in the nation today."

The chief executive left a capital swiftly gearing itself for the task he outlined, to deliver his address to a graduating class which includes his own son, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., now completing his law course. Congress was busy with details of his armament program: the senate approved a bill authorizing a $665,000,000 appropriation for an 11 per cent expansion of the navy and increasing its air force to 10,000 planes; the house military committee recommended increasing the size of the regular army from 280,000 to 400,000 and authorizing the president to call out the national guard for peace-time service in the United States and its possessions.

NEWS-FROM EUROPE'S WAR FRONTS

NEW YORK, June 11 (Tuesday) (AP)—The official British wireless in a broadcast intercepted at 12:18 a. m. (C. S. T.) today by CBS said "there have been no reports as yet of any engagements growing out of Italy's entrance into the war."

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—The Rome radio declared tonight that hostilities "started four hours ago" in a broadcast received in New York by CBS at 10 p. m. E. S. T., tonight. "The first Italian war bulletin is expected to be issued within a few hours," the broadcast said.

LONDON, June 11 (Tuesday) (AP)—The Laborite Daily Herald's diplomatic writer Ewer expressed belief today that it would "be foolish to count on Spanish neutrality for more than a few days or a few weeks."

COLOGNE, Germany, June 10 (AP via radio)—Allied planes rained scores of bombs on the Rhineland and German-held military objectives in Belgium the past two nights but did little damage, the newspaper West Deutsche Beobachter reported today.

Godesberg, scene of the historic pre-Munich conference between former British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler, was one of the towns bombed.

LA LINEA, Spain, June 11 (Tuesday) (AP)—Two Italian merchant ships, the 10,000-ton Ohelina and the 2,000-ton Numbolia, were scuttled by their crews in Gibraltar waters late yesterday when their crews heard the radio news that Italy had gone to war.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 10 (AP)—The Turkish cabinet met tonight to consider the question of war or peace for Turkey as a result of Italy's entrance into the conflict today against Britain and France.

BUCHAREST, June 10 (AP)—The crown council of Rumania was called into session for tomorrow at which it was expected a reaffirmation of the country's neutrality will be proclaimed in the war now spread to the Mediterranean.

BELGRADE, June 10 (AP)—Two cabinet ministers resigned from Yugoslavia's cabinet late today in a movement expected to bring formation of a government of national concentration as a consequence of Italy's belligerence.

BASEL, Switzerland, June 11 (Tuesday) (AP)—Heavy artillery of the French forts along the Rhine opened fire on German positions in Baden this morning, as they did yesterday. The cannonading began just as thousands of Basel residents were clustered about radios to hear the address of President Roosevelt.

The firing continued sporadically with occasional replies from the German guns.

BERN, Switzerland, June 10 (AP)—Swiss mountaineers in villages near Mount Dolent where the Italian, French and Swiss frontiers join, reported intense military preparations in the mountains passes tonight, but no sounds of firing to indicate fighting already had broken out in the newly declared war between Italy and the allies.

Shown clearly in the above map are the towns and cities on both sides of the Franco-Italian border where Italian troops may be hurled across the Alps at France as Premier Mussolini gives the signal to strike. At 5 p.m. CST last night Italy, presumably, was officially at war with the allies. Nazi sources asserted last night that Italy had already entered French territory through the Riviera.

Rome's Lights Out as Fascists March to Mussolini's Orders

No Hint Given Where Troops Will Attack

Italians Cheer As Dictator Raps Allies In Declaring War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ROME, June 11 (Tuesday)—Italy was at war today on the side of Germany against France and Great Britain but the ominously blacked out Italian capital gave no hint as to where Premier Mussolini's blackshirt legions struck first.

Although Berlin reports said Italian troops already had set foot upon France, striking up through the Riviera, there was no confirmation here. This would comport with the long-anticipated Italian plan to strike secretly with the first blow, making fullest use of the strategy of surprise.

The zero-hour of Italy's entry was midnight, the day of hostilities June 11, several hours after Mussolini announced the historic decision to side definitely with Germany.

But the deadline passed without event in Rome. Rome was blacked out except for feeble blue lamps and dimmed headlights on the few automobiles and bicycles allowed to be at large. Steel-helmeted blackshirt troops patrolled the city through the night.

Premier Mussolini cast the fateful die in a dramatic announcement which called the allies "starvers" and the holders of "all the riches and gold on earth." Italy cheered his decision, and (See ROME, Page 4)

Germans Rejoice Over Italy's War Entrance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BERLIN, June 10—German troops fighting to close a vast semi-circular clamp around Paris were reported tonight within 30 to 35 miles of the French capital as the rejoicing German reich greeted with open arms the march of Italy into the war against Britain and France.

Confidence in a prompt victory over France spread boundlessly. With the prospect that France now would receive a terrific smash from the south, the belief grew among Germans that the hard-pressed Frenchmen soon would be brought to their knees. Italy lost no time in lashing out at France, authorized German circles said. Italian troops were reported to have marched into the French Riviera at 6:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. CST). A short while before Premier Mussolini announced the state of war just after the declarations of hostilities had been handed to the French and British ambassadors.

The Germans greeted Mussolini's plunge with assertions that the Rome-Berlin axis "had become an alliance of blood and steel." Germany's army was reported making progress in the drive on Paris.

In reliable quarters it was stated an enveloping movement in the semi-circular form was closing about the French capital. German aviators, it was said, were swooping over Paris and dropping leaflets in which the French population was urged to "give up the futile resistance."

German tank divisions were said to be on the Seine river northwest of Paris. One wedge of Nazi forces was reported to have reached a point east of Rouen, on the Seine. Another wedge, it was said, pushed its way forward to the river south of Soissons, northeast of the French capital. Although it was reliably stated that the Germans were within 30 to 35 miles of Paris, the reports mentioned no specific points that distance from the city. Germany's satisfaction over Mussolini's decision was proclaimed by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop in a solemn announcement to the press in the foreign office's historic federal council hall, where Bismarck, conqueror of France in 1870, formerly presided. "Germany is overwhelmed with joy at fascist Italy's own initiative to advance at Germany's side against the common enemy," von Ribbentrop said. He asserted the fight would be carried on until the "vital rights of our two peoples are respected." Then Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, whose whereabouts remained a strictly guarded secret, quickly sent messages of felicitation to Premier Mussolini and King Vittorio Emanuele. Hitler's message to the king, presumably dispatched from his field headquarters, observed that the Italian step was "ordained by providence" and that the axis partners were determined to be assured of their vital rights "for all the time."

Government Flees Paris As Advance Units Near Outskirts

Premier Reynaud Leaves To Join French Army; News Agency Suspends Services; Papers Do Not Appear

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS PARIS, June 10—The government fled from Paris, the capital of the republic of France, tonight as marauding German tanks were reported to have reached the region of the city itself.

Premier Paul Reynaud has gone to join the French armies, a brief ministry of information communique said. "The high command asked the ministers to effect their withdrawal to the provinces in conformity with established dispositions. This withdrawal has been effected."

Havas, the French news agency, suspended services in Paris, starting at 2 a.m. tomorrow (7 p.m. CST Monday). Newspapers already had ceased to appear in the French capital, which in peacetime has a population of nearly 3,000,000.

Some German armored advance guards were said to have penetrated to the environs of Paris itself in isolated raids through the French lines. But the main front was about 35 miles west and northeast of the capital.

The stream of civilians leaving the city was steadily swelling, and more and more anti-aircraft fire against planes bombing the outskirts of the proud city was heard. Although steadily approaching, the battle's roar still could not be heard here.

But France, besieged on two sides by Germans driving on Paris from the north and the Italians entering the war on the south, proclaimed her grim determination to carry on the fight.

The main combats were centered in the Seine valley to the west of Paris, with the high command declaring that some German elements have crossed the Seine river at certain points, and in the Ourcq river valley to the northeast of the capital.

The communique, however, said the "enemy is held everywhere by vigorous counter-attacks."

(There was no amplification of the report that German tanks finally had reached the Paris region. (German sources in Berlin said the nazis were within 30 to 35 miles of Paris and that some tanks had reached the Seine river, which flows through Paris.)

The French communique was filed from Paris but was issued "somewhere in France." The regular press conference of the war office was not held this morning as only a few attaches were in the office. At the same time, part of The Associated Press staff moved to a point "somewhere in France."

Premier Reynaud, speaking to his people an hour and 45 minutes after Premier Mussolini announced that Italy had cast her lot with Nazi Germany, voiced the nation's grim determination to fight against whatever might come. "The allies are strong," he said.

He emphasized the allied intention to continue the war "for the independence of all other countries."

"France has been through even greater difficulties and it has always been at that moment that she has astonished the entire world," Reynaud said.

The high command reported that a German break-through to the Seine resulted from increased pressure applied by the nazis between the route from Amiens to Rouen and from Amiens to Vernon as far as the lower Seine. Vernon is on the Seine about 40 miles west of Paris.

In the other principal area of combat, east of the Oise river, German columns coming down from the region of Soissons have resumed their attack toward the Ourcq river. The Ourcq at one point is about 12 miles north of the Marne river.

The German offensive in the Champagne area was resumed at dawn on both sides of Reims, the high command said. This push was supported by new divisions and detachments of tanks and bombing planes.

However, the French said the best German efforts in that combat gained only the extension of a bridgehead that the nazis created the day before in pushing up to La Retourne. Earlier, a military spokesman had said the center of the Weygand line had fallen back to meet the German threat to its left flank, arising from the penetration of the tank column to the Seine, but that the right flank was actively striking back in the Argonne district.

The bulk of the German infantry was said to be bearing down on the west, trying to cut around the forests which protect Paris from the north.

The night communique indicated that, however, the French were counter-attacking at numerous points along the long front.

Although the French had dropped back yesterday to a main line along the wooded Bresle river—a line extending through the Oise valley to the Marne plains south of the Aisne, the French had fought bitterly, the war office said. A communique said 75 tons of bombs were dropped on German formations yesterday and last night, and that 30 German planes had been brought down.

In the areas of Soissons, Pontavert, Bourg and Comin, German troops and armored columns had been particularly harassed, and the French made "very important" (See PARIS, Page 3)

A Parallel in Wars

Twenty three years ago on the 24th of February, 1917 the American state department learned of a plot to involve the United States in a war with Mexico in which Mexico was to receive the aid of the Imperial German government and, at the end of the war, the reconquered territories of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

The originator of the plot, which helped to precipitate America into the war little more than a month later, was Alfred Zimmerman, war-time foreign minister of Kaiser Wilhelm who died in Berlin last week at the age of 82. The news of Zimmerman's death becomes significant in that it recalls events which parallel ominously the trend of today's war in Europe.

The government of Hitler does not, apparently, attempt to involve its potential enemies in war through secret negotiation with other nations as did Zimmerman in planning to dispose of the United States. Hitler's method has already proved its effectiveness. It is the modern version of the Trojan horse, the now famous "fifth column." The similarity is in effect. The Zimmerman note, addressed to the German ambassador to the United States and intercepted by the British secret service, was a bombshell to the American public to whom it was revealed by the press and state department. American public opinion against Germany was immediately solidified. The people feared a German-Mexican-Japanese front against the United States and prodded President Wilson and congress into feverish defense measures and preparation for the war which came a month later.

Fifth column activity of German nationals in South America and in Mexico together with subversive elements within the United States is causing a similar fear and similar preparation today. But the menace of war has greatly increased since 1917 with the perfection of the tactics of mechanized and air warfare. Fear of war has spurred measures providing for increased armaments and improved defenses.

Nineteen hundred and forty defense preparation is not, however, expected to result in an American declaration of war against Germany. Such action, if and when it comes, will follow only the actuality of armed invasion of American territory.

An Example for Iowa

"The Council of Fraternity Presidents," says the Ohio State Lantern, "has finally abolished 'hell week,' and brought to an official end the juvenile hazing activities that have marred annual fraternity initiations on the campus."

May we congratulate the fraternity council at Ohio State, and call this matter to the attention of Iowa's own Interfraternity Council.

"In doing that," declares the Lantern, "the Council fell in line with growing sentiment on campuses over the country that 'hell week' with its horseplay and occasional brutality, has no place in the activities of organizations whose formal rituals express high ideals and dignified purpose."

Iowa has had "incidents" in the past, involving adverse publicity for Iowa's fine fraternity system, merely because a few men permitted the excitement of the moment during probation week to get ahead of their own better judgment.

The feeling of disrespect for the old "hell week" is growing greater at Iowa. Next fall should see combined action. Individual houses already have banned the system. A decision of the Interfraternity Court last year strengthened the unity of opposition to the period.

And Iowa's fraternity men won't be able to forget very easily the indictment of "hell week" and other shortcomings of the system by Dean Fred Turner of Illinois here last year.

"Hell week" is out of date, and fraternities are beginning to realize it. In order to maintain standards of wholesome houses set up by the university itself in its dormitories, Iowa's fraternity men, and those on other campuses, are beginning to realize what's to be done.

Even more important, they're beginning to do it.

The Lantern has the right idea, we believe. "The Council was wise," it declares, "in doing away with 'hell week' altogether. The label alone has connotations that have always cast a pall over the initiation ceremonies of all social fraternities on the campus, no matter how unoffending they may have been."

Fraternities, even university officials who build the finest dormitories will agree, can offer a college man more than any other type of campus dwelling IF fraternities will meet standards of clean, wholesome living conditions set up by universities.

Old Issue, New Setting

The first indication of a possible increase in military training for the United States, involving perhaps nation-wide compulsory training, has appeared. President Roosevelt, without hesitation, voiced his approval of the idea at a press conference last week. That may well affect the program of the University of Iowa.

At this early stage, we can foresee a revival of the old pro and con arguments over military training by compulsion, tempered a little perhaps by the state of affairs in Europe.

Those institutions of learning which have been violently opposed to compulsory military training will lead off with a new barrage.

That conceivably will be followed by the "pro" propaganda of liberal students who are more willing to declare their intention of fighting for their principles, if need be, than are the rest.

And shouts of "fifth column" will come swirling down about the heads of those of the violent opposition to such a program of compulsion, should it come.

We shall stand pat on the age old theories of logic, adapted to world conditions which are bound to change, as the idea of a possible increase in the military program progresses. That involves a discussion of:

- (1) The apparent need for such a program.
- (2) How the need is to be met.
- (3) Whether or not the anticipated results justify the methods of solving the need.

It's easier said than done, of course. But a calm deliberation of the problems involved can't but produce far more in the way of ordered conclusions than the rampant shouting of both factions has produced in the past.

So at this admittedly early stage, we suggest students across the nation take cognizance of the approach of an old issue in a new setting, and proceed with determination to subject it to a reasonable amount of meditation, with a minimum of harangue.

A Man About MANHATTAN

San Quentin Prisoners Win Song Writers' Contest

NEW YORK—The members of the Song Writers guild recently announced that the winners of their newest contest were two inmates of San Quentin prison. This is in line with winners of previous contests among amateur composers, as the lucky contestants have turned out to be a cattle rancher, a precision engineer, a fire extinguisher salesman, three housewives, and a man who drives a truck for a grocery store.

The Song Writers guild is an organization on Broadway that encourages amateurs to compose modern music. The contestants send in their songs; the judges select the one that in their opinion is most deserving and guarantees publication through a recognized publishing firm.

Since the current winning song comes from two young men in a penitentiary, it seems worthwhile to look into their background, and determine the circumstances under which the tune was inspired.

Its title is "I'm On the Verge of a Merge." Its composers are Dwight Claar and John D. Hawkins. Mr. Claar, it is alleged, was assigned to San Quentin as the penalty imposed on him for driving another man's automobile without the owner's permission. Mr. Hawkins, according to my information, is there because there were insufficient funds in a certain bank to cover his checks.

Three days from now, that is to say, on June 14, Mr. Claar will be a free man. It is a particularly happy occasion for him because he and Mr. Hawkins have been awarded the $200 prize that goes with the selection of a guild winning number.

How did they happen to write "I'm On the Verge of a Merge"?

It seems that Claar and Hawkins attended harmony classes in the prison, both being interested in music. Hawkins himself is quite expert on a guitar.

It seems also that from the rotogravure section of a Sunday newspaper someone tore the picture of a pretty blonde girl. It was pasted on the wall. "It was in the tailor shop," explains Claar in a letter to the guild, "and as we paused to stare at it I said, 'Did you ever see anything that looked more like an angel?'" That gave us the idea for a title, and we at once commandeered the picture. We hadn't any idea who she was, but we ransacked every newspaper we could find until finally we found another picture of her and identified her. She was Jean Darling, the little ex-blond girl in the Our Gang Comedies. Later, after we had worked awhile on the song, I was gazing off into space and failed to hear a remark that was addressed to me. 'Don't bother with him,' Hawkins said. 'He's on the verge of a merge with an angel.' And that was the title."

And so "I'm On the Verge of a Merge" now makes its appearance among dance orchestras throughout the country. It has been introduced by Mitchell Ayres (who also recorded it for Bluebird) and sung by Mary Ann Mercer, the Ayres vocalist.

Miss Darling, who probably doesn't know that she is the inspiration of this piece, is calmly studying opera in New York.

Meanwhile, the Song Writers guild, which has functioned now for more than a year, is congratulating itself and preparing for its next competition.

Anybody got any ideas for a song?

Catching Spies In U. S. Plants

WASHINGTON—An American aviation manufacturer has been giving Hoover's G-men access to his plant for months. Three FBI agents have been working in the plant as employees. Consequently the manufacturer nearly tore the telephone out of the wall when he received a long distance call from New York bearing information picked up by allied agents abroad furnishing the names of foreign agents working in his plant. The gentleman dashed down to Washington for a round of conferences with officials to see what could be done. His complaint: Every time the FBI agents report to him that a certain employee is a communist, the matter ends. There is nothing he can do. To fire some of these men would cause a strike in the plant and there is no law which permits a discharge for suspected political activities. Not until the communist commits some act of sabotage can he be removed.

CATCHING SPIES—A sure fire way of catching communist and nazi spies has been developed in the interior department. A memo has been sent to each employee requiring him to answer the question whether he has ever been or is a member of any organization proposing to overthrow the government of the United States, or contemplates joining one.

If you want to know who the communist and nazi spies are, just ask them straight out without any beating around the bush.

PRE-EMBARGO

The government is not letting legal technicalities stand in the way of doing what it wants to do. Although Mr. Roosevelt announced Friday there would be no legal justification for embargoing machine tools until congress passed the proposed law, the state department had already acted as if the law had passed. Two companies in New York which were loading tools for Japan were ordered to stop. It appears also that State Secretary Hull earlier sent notice to Ambassador Grew in Tokyo announcing the embargo might as well be in effect if it isn't.

The administration is keeping it quiet, but naturally reasons there is no sense in letting needed national defense tools escape prior to the passage of the law.

F.D.R. AND THE COURT

Many a legal authority who has read the justice department opinion empowering the president to sell planes to the allies is likewise still unconvinced. A court might hold F.D.R. only has authority to turn over obsolete materials that were surplus in 1919. As no challenging legal action is anticipated, and as Mr. Roosevelt's personal interpretations of law have been widely accepted by the new supreme court lately, difficulties will undoubtedly be avoided.

THE PRESIDENT'S JOKE

Mr. Roosevelt was just having his little legal joke when he justified the selling of navy dive bombers to the allies solely on the ground of obsolescence. He reasoned, not without a twinkle in his eye, that the absence of the latest style armor plate and leak proof gas tanks made them undesirable.

FAUX PAS FOR BULLITT

Dramatic American Ambassador Bullitt became so apprehensive at the time of the German breakthrough, north of Sedan, that he burned most of his embassy papers including—amazing to relate—his code books. Fresh copies had to be rushed to him by clipper.

ADJOURNMENT BY 22ND

Don't collapse if congress suddenly rushes through its vast business in night sessions and gets away by June 22. The republicans, despite their official declaration for continuing the session are individually anxious to get home for the campaign after the conventions, and are torn between this desire and their fear of Roosevelt doing something drastic in their absence. One republican leader has privately assured his associates June 22 adjournment is not unlikely.

POTPOURRI

Assistant War Secretary Louis Johnson has lost 21 pounds since February. . . . Democratic senators joined the republicans in worrying about the bill to let F.D.R. call out the national guard. Political repercussions were feared because the young guardsmen are employed in local pursuits and their dispatch would arouse both community business and their families, possibly unnecessarily. . . . Those four German professors expelled from Panama university were Jewish anti-Hitlerites but patriotic Germans. . . .

Manufacturing A Movie Scene

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — We call 'em film factories, and we say they grind out their celluloid, and THIS is how they work—sometimes:

Loretta Young, Melvyn Douglas, Alexander Hall and P. J. Wolfson are in a huddle beside a bright kitchen set. Miss Young is wearing a fancy black lace thing with a flesh-colored slip; the effect is startling, but very, very nice. The other three, and Miss Young, too, are wearing expressions of pained concentration.

They are "going over" lines. They are also improvising lines. They have a script, but they are making it "play" as they rehearse. Hall is the director. "Pinky" Wolfson is the writer. The story is "He Stayed for Breakfast," a light comedy, the natural follow-up for Hall and Miss Young after "The Doctor Takes a Wife."

They come out of the huddle and go into the rehearsal. Douglas plays a humorless waiter, a "red," reminiscent of the Garbo character in "Ninotchka." Miss Young is a pampered darling of wealth. The scene is her kitchen. She is hiding Douglas in a pantry there. He has just taken a pot shot at a coffee cup held in the fat hand of Miss Young's wealthy husband, played by Eugene Pallette.

The rehearsal, Miss Young enters the kitchen, switches on the light, opens the pantry door. "You may come out now," she says. Douglas comes out, warm from confinement, complaining. He holds a page of new dialogue, refers to it frequently. He begins nibbling at a cookie from a plate on the kitchen table. Miss Young sweeps around the other side of the table and demands an explanation of the cup-shooting, and Douglas is about to give it — but then he says "Pinky, we need a line to cover here. . . . Suppose I say, 'You wouldn't understand!'"

Douglas, while cookie-nibbling, is explaining that when he sees plutocratic Pallette crooking his little finger from his coffee cup "everything goes black." He is demonstrating with a cup.

"You mean red," says Loretta.

"Quit sabotaging me!" cries Douglas.

"It's got to be faster," says Hall. "Get close to her — so close you can shake the cup at her teeth." . . .

They try it again, and Douglas shakes the cup — and Loretta giggles, which is not in the script. They try it again, from the beginning, and Loretta switches on the lights, but they don't go on.

"Here I am," says the unseen light-switcher on when a chorus from the set calls for action. The lights switch on. Umpteenth rehearsals — and nibbled cookies — later they are ready to do the scene, minus hand scripts.

It is a fast and funny scene, much faster and funnier than it was before the Wolfson — Hall — Young-Douglas quartet went to work on it and "played" it.

But we still call 'em film factories . . . and congress tries to legislate drama and humor!

Calls Italy's War Entrance Act of 'Cowardice and Treachery'

English Attack Nazis in Reply To Challenge

Suffers Greatest Single Day's Naval Losses Since War Begun

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Great Britain called Italy's entrance into the war an act of "cowardice and treachery," and responded to the challenge tonight with a tremendous assault by land, sea and air forces on the reinforced Nazi war machine.

Italy's plunge into the conflict at the side of Germany, coupled with acknowledgement of the greatest single day's naval losses, including the 22,500-ton aircraft carrier Glorious and 23,206 tons of other vessels, brought Britons their blackest day of the war.

Defiant Response

But they responded defiantly by announcing: "The allied governments for some time have discounted the decision of Italy to enter the war as Germany's vassal. Their preparations are complete and they will know how to meet the sword with sword . . . in the struggle between civilization and the pagan hordes."

Words shifted quickly to action. "Important contingents" of new troops were disembarked in France. Considerable numbers of additional royal air force planes are in the thick of the fighting on the continent. And the British fleet launched a tremendous shelling of German troops along the Nazi-occupied French coast.

Raided Nazis in France

The air ministry reported reinforced aerial units inflicted heavy damage on the Germans in northern France. In Rhinish Prussia and the Ruhr.

"A large force of raiders shortly after noon today dropped close to 2,000 bombs of various types within a period of 15 minutes," the air ministry said in detailing a series of intensive attacks.

A long column of German fighting vehicles south of Poix was reported bombed from 1,000 feet, leaving "a mass of wrecked machines enveloped in dust and smoke."

British bombers dropped 6,600 incendiary bombs over the Ardennes countryside during the night, the air ministry reported, and an additional 900 were dropped in the Hiron region.

"One thought in the British mind is to sustain the battlefield," an official statement said. "It is realized that the fate of not only Britain and France but of the whole world depends on the result of the battle now raging."

Proud to Endure Attacks

"Despite the imminent danger of German invasion of the United Kingdom, the British government and the British nation are unanimously of the opinion that all

LINER SAFE

Manhattan Arrives With 1,907 Refugees

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Her eight decks packed with humanity in search of peace, the liner Manhattan sped into safe harbor today carrying a record load of 1,907 refugees—867 of whom were aliens—from Genoa and Naples, only a few hours after Italy threw her armed forces into the cauldron of war.

Cradled in the vessel were so many babies—194 minor children were aboard—that the ship's laundry suspended all other services to wash diapers.

U. S. Exports Hit Hard

Shipments to Italian Region Expected To Be Cut Off

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Extension of the war to the Mediterranean means a blow to the United States exports to that area—exports which constitute about five per cent of total American shipments to foreign countries.

A large part of the shipments to the region are expected to be blocked forthwith and all of them may be, depending on what course the war there takes.

Exports to the 10 principal Mediterranean countries last year totaled $104,446,000, the commerce department estimated. Imports from them amounted to $101,168,000, or seven per cent of American imports.

Some of the products normally imported from the Mediterranean area are of great importance to American economy. Among these are Turkish tobacco, long staple cotton, olive oil, valona (used in tanning), licorice root, opium for medicinal purposes, gum arabic, tops, filberts, figs, currants, pistache nuts, cork (especially for linoleum), cheese, special types of wool, bone ash, and other fertilizer materials.

The United States' principal exports to these countries include automotive products, machinery, electrical equipment, cotton, petroleum, iron and steel scrap, and various chemical products.

Italian-American trade alone amounted last year to $98,765,000. Italy bought $58,864,000 worth of goods from the United States and, since the war, had been expanding purchases. The United States bought $39,921,000 worth of Italian products, principally cheese, canned tomatoes, olive oil, raw silk and silk fabrics.

The commerce department estimated that Americans have $143,800,000 in investments in Italy, divided almost evenly between direct investments in property and Italian securities. Italian investments in this country were estimated at about $40,000,000.

Italians Consider Blitzkrieg

By The Associated Press

Italy, by the nature of her geographical position and resources for war, is more eligible for a victorious sprint than a marathon.

Her greatest value as a blitzkrieg partner of Germany is bound up with the blitzkrieg idea itself—the idea of the swift, paralyzing blow rather than the battle of endurance.

Thus, the conflict for Italy resolves itself into questions of geography and potential for war.

The Italian boot dangles into the sea—"our sea," the Italians call it—with the Mediterranean on one side and the Adriatic on the other.

At the knee it hinges into the most mountainous section of the

Paris--

Huge Crowds Demonstrate In Corsica

LONDON, June 11 (Tuesday) (AP)—A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Ajaccio, Corsica, today said Italy's war declaration had precipitated impressive patriotic demonstrations on behalf of the allies on that Mediterranean island.

Huge crowds marched through the streets, singing the Marseillaise.

Corsica, one of Mussolini's aims, is the birthplace of Napoleon, and French-ruled. Italians claim the population is largely Italian.

Convicts' Pet Rats Limited
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Because white rats have become so numerous as to create a health menace, Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio penitentiary yesterday ordered convicts limited to one apiece.

In the last war the government moved to Bordeaux for a few months late in 1914 when the Germans threatened Paris.

Reynaud told the nation that the French ambassador had asked Italian Foreign Minister Ciano why Italy had entered the war and had been told that Italy wished to fulfill her axis obligations.

"Our armies have retreated slowly," the premier said, "and only after destroying all points they have relinquished."

Then, a little sadly: "And this is the moment that breaks in the communication lines," wrecking several bridges over the Oise.

One French pursuit squadron, the communique said, brought down 12 planes in the Oise sector, without loss to itself.

The Germans, still hoping for a swift victory, were using great masses of infantry, armored vehicles, big guns and dive bombers and parachute troops, while the French fought back with the traditional stubbornness of the Pollu.

Paris was calm, despite the gloom engendered by Mussolini's announcement and the menace of a new series of assaults from the south.

Mussolini chooses to declare war on us. France has nothing to say. "Posterity will be able to judge."

Fourteen modern Moslem pilgrims have chartered an Italian airplane to carry them across the Red sea to Mecca, the Holy City.

European continent, with frontiers of France, Switzerland, German Austria and Yugoslavia.

War potential: Nine million soldiers, by Premier Mussolini's claim. He said on March 30, 1938, he could muster that number of men between the ages of 18 and 55, of whom 5,000,000 would be first line combatants. Many of these would be deployed through the empire, however, not all on the European front.

Eight thousand warplanes, by authoritative estimate, of which 2,160 are of first line caliber.

About 1,000,000 tons of naval strength. Shortly before the war Italy's naval strength was estimated at 717,920 tons, as compared with 2,079,863 for Great Britain and 755,570 for France. Italy has concentrated heavily on submarines and motor torpedo-boats.

Further Expansion Safeguarded for Engineering College

New Ceiling Announced By Iowa Board

Merger of Two Schools Studied by Legislature; Will Operate Separately

To safeguard against further expansion of the college of engineering here, the Iowa board of education yesterday announced an "enrollment ceiling" of 500 students.

Reporting to Gov. George A. Wilson on the progress of its drive to "effect economy and increase efficiency" in the five state educational institutions, the board said:

"This limit is approximately the enrollment of the college at the present time. A ceiling is hereby provided as a safeguard and guarantee against further expansion.

"No such ceiling is contemplated at present for the Iowa State college engineering school," the report said.

The Ames school has a little less than 2,000 engineering students.

Supply of Jobs

It was added by the state board, however, that it will insist at Iowa State upon an "intelligent relationship between the number of graduates and the supply of jobs which call specifically for engineering training."

The last legislature considered but did not pass a bill which called for the consolidation of the Iowa City and Ames engineering facilities.

The duplication in engineering instruction preceded the creation of a state board of education in 1909, the report to the governor showed.

Duplication

"It is extremely doubtful that such a phenomenon would have developed under a board sincerely bent on the integration of curricula and the avoidance of duplication as between institutions under its control," the report added.

"But the two schools of engineering are in existence and we have the word of a competent appraiser of educational values that the elimination of one would not be desirable even from a standpoint of economy."

The board said the engineering emphasis in Iowa City would be in those fields in which the university is "best fitted to serve, such, for example, as hydraulics."

The suggested consolidation of the engineering schools proposed last year was then termed as "unfeasible" by Dr. Samuel P. Capen, president of the University of Buffalo.

Dean Francis M. Dawson of the local engineering college was out of the city and was not available for a statement concerning the report of the board of education to the governor.

Pilot Training Requirements Given in Detail

Scholastic requirements for students planning to take part in the summer civilian pilot training program at the State University of Iowa have been clarified, Elmer C. Lundquist, instructor in aeronautical engineering, announced last night.

Applicants must have completed one year of academic work this spring or if not in school last year, must have completed a minimum of two years college work in the past, Lundquist stated.

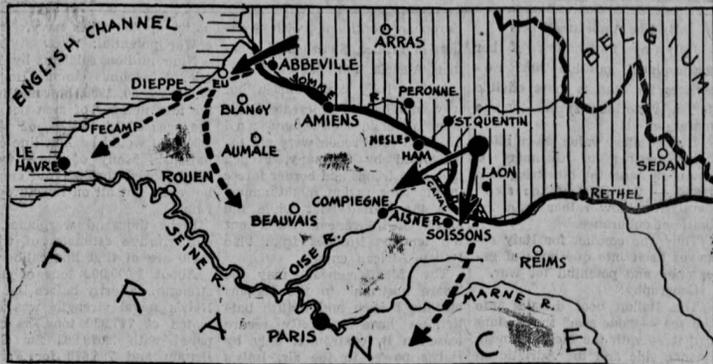

Applications for the training course must be made in the engineering building before June 15. Schedule of classes has not been completed but two hours of work are planned daily, the instructor said.

Flight and ground work will begin simultaneously. Shaw Aircraft company is sponsoring the flight instruction.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 years inclusive. The $6 medical fee examination will be refunded on successful completion of the course.

Students wishing to take the course for credit should register through the registrar's office.

Where Nazis Are Attempting To Break Through

This Central Press map shows the line of battle in northeastern France as the Germans launched their great push. Black arrows indicate direction of main attacks. Dotted arrows show what is believed to be the German plan to develop a huge pincer movement and to further cut off the lines of communication and supply across the English channel between France and England.

Rome--

wept, too; but mostly it cheered.

Berlin sources said Italian troops already had set upon France through the Riviera to sandwich Paris, marching from the south to meet the hard-driving Nazi forces driving down from the north. An Italian communique, however, said the war declaration was not effective until tomorrow.

Attacks on French possessions in the Mediterranean were considered imminent—in response to the continual cries for Italian conquest of such prizes as Corsica and Tunisia.

Mussolini defined his principal war aim as control of the Mediterranean and warned his non-belligerent neighbors to rigidly preserve neutrality, lest the war spread to the Balkans and to Egypt and Turkey.

Hate by Propaganda

The hate which had been hammered into Italian minds in a 5-year propaganda campaign was epitomized in Mussolini's assertion that recent history might be summarized in "phrases, promises, threats of blackmail . . . and the League of Nations' seige." This was in reference to the sanctions imposed on Italy during its conquest of Ethiopia.

Italy finally took the field with Germany, Mussolini said, "to smash the territorial military chains suffocating us in our own sea."

Behind his words lay the burning determination of fascists to achieve territorial expansion in which they said France and England always have blocked.

Posters on walls of every Italian community proclaim Italian rights to Nice, Savoja, Malta, Tunisia, Jibuti and the Suez canal.

In fighting for them, Mussolini asserted, Italy will keep her pledge to Germany to "march to the end with friends."

The plunge clearly was seen here as the fruition of the historic conversation of last March 18 between Mussolini and Adolf Hitler at Brenner pass.

All the world wondered what was decided at that crucial meeting.

The agreement apparently gave

Italy the promise of Mediterranean control.

Mussolini, standing in his familiar balcony, made a characteristically vigorous exhortation, with his fist continually clenched and pounding upon the balustrade to enforce his points.

Cheers punctuated every sentence. But at the end of his shrilling 16-minute call to arms, many women wept openly in the Piazza Venezia below and young women clung sadly to smartly uniformed young lieutenants.

Iowa Clerks, Wives Enjoy Annual Mixers At 22nd Convention

The 22nd annual convention of the Iowa federation of post office clerks and auxiliary in session in Iowa City since Sunday morning will come to a close today with the final business sessions of the groups.

Sunday was a play day for the delegates and families all participating in golf, a convention picnic and an evening mixer party.

The convention dinner was held last night in the Jefferson hotel and was followed by a dance in the hotel.

Business sessions were held yesterday morning and afternoon, the federation meetings being in the Press-Citizen building and the auxiliary meeting in the Iowa City Light and Power company assembly rooms. The auxiliary held a luncheon in the Christian church yesterday noon.

Only business sessions, both morning and afternoon, occupy today's schedule. Following the afternoon adjournment the convention will draw to a close.

General committee for the event includes C. E. Hinchliffe, chairman; Ellis S. Crawford, president of the local federation, A. M. Hotz and George Yanda.

Before the first World War, the capabilities of the submarine as a weapon were unknown.

Churchill to Speak on War

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill is expected to make a public statement in the house of commons today on Italy's entry into the war.

When the Germans, in 1914, devised the strategy of using machine guns heavily surrounded by barbed wire they hit on an almost impregnable system of defense. But it was the necessity of conquering these nests that speeded the invention of tanks.

F. D. Everett Dies of Heart Ailment at 64

Noted Attorney General Of Albia Renominated By G.O.P. Last Week

DES MOINES, June 10 (AP)—Attorney Gen. Fred D. Everett of Albia, died at 4:30 this afternoon in the Veterans hospital here.

The Iowa state official, who was renominated in last week's republican primary, had been seriously ill of a heart ailment for several months. He was 64 years old.

At his bedside when death came were Mrs. Everett and three of his assistants, John Rankin of Keokuk, John Mulrone of Ft. Dodge, and Floyd Philbrick of Cedar Rapids.

Everett was seriously ill last Monday when Iowa republicans again selected him as their candidate for a second term. He was unable to campaign, but he succeeded in winning handily in a primary race against one opponent.

Play Casting Tryouts Given At Intervals

Readings for the casting of the plays scheduled on the summer session program at the University theater will be held regularly at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily, Prof. Edward C. Mabie, director, announced last night.

Students registered in courses 132, 166 and 157 are required to read for parts. All other students in the department are welcome, Professor Mabie said.

Readings will be under the direction of Thomas Wood Stevens and Frederic McConnell, visiting faculty members, and Prof. Vance M. Morton.

Students are asked to report for rehearsals and readings promptly and regularly, the department head emphasized.

Mize Clouts 17th Homer

Redbirds Sink Nearly to Cellar; New Manager Arrives

ST. LOUIS, June 10 (AP)—The eighth place Boston Bees walloped three Cardinal pitchers for 21 hits today, winning the first of a series of two games, 12 to 2.

Johnny Mize of the Cardinals got the only home run—his 17th of the season in the sixth inning.

A victory for Boston tomorrow night would pull it out of the cellar and shove St. Louis in.

Nick Strincevich, Boston pitcher, was hit on the head by a ball thrown by a teammate, Bill Posedel, in practice before the game but recovered after being carried into the club house.

Billy Southworth, the Cardinals' new manager, arrived just before game time but will not take charge of the team until tomorrow night's game with the Bees. Said Southworth, former manager of Rochester of the International league:

"I am glad to be back in the big league. I have been in the minor leagues for a long time and I am glad to be back in the big league."

A combined ranking in the Big Ten's three biggest sports, football, basketball and baseball, gives Iowa fifth place, according to Iowa news service editor, Eric Wilson.

The Hawkeye first division rating comes on 16 wins, 12 losses and one tie for a percentage of .573.

The Iowa record was four, one and one in football, four and eight in basketball and eight and three in baseball, the Hawks finishing second in the grid rankings, eighth in basketball and third in baseball.

Above Iowa are Northwestern with a 19, 10 and one result with a percentage of .655; Illinois, 19 and 11 for .633; Ohio State, 16 and 10 for .615; and Purdue, 14, 10 and two for .583. Below the Hawkeyes are Indiana, 14 and 11; Michigan, 16 and 13; Minnesota, 13, 14 and one; Wisconsin, eight, 21 and one; and Chicago, two and 25.

Squeeze Past Pittsburgh, 8-7; Overtake Reds

Cincinnati Behind One Percentage Point; Up 1-2 Game in Won-Lost

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP)—Squeezing past the Pirates 8 to 7 today, the Brooklyn Dodgers climbed into first place in the National league by a single percentage point and put the pennant race back in exactly the same spot as it was in May 27.

That was the day that the Cincinnati Reds moved past the Dodgers by half a game in won-loss percentage. Today the idle Reds were half a game in front all-right, but they had .689 for 31 games won and 14 lost while the Dodgers had .690 for 29 games won and 13 lost.

Brooklyn's battle with the Pirates was as rough and tumble and just as tight as the score indicates. Each team used 17 players, five of them pitchers and two catchers in each case. There were 25 hits with the Dodgers having the deciding blow—a triple by Babe Phelps with one on in the eighth inning.

Brooklyn scored twice in both the fifth and sixth and then the Pirates rallied again to tie the score with four runs in the seventh on a walk, two singles, a double by Fletcher and another single.

Betty Jameson Takes Lead

National Women's Champ Sets Early Pace In Trans-Mississippi Golf Meet

ST. LOUIS, June 10 (AP)—Blonde Betty Jameson, the national women's golf champion who has been roughly handled in tournament play since she ascended to the throne, was in rare form as she led a field of 135 players through the qualifying round of the 14th annual Trans-Mississippi golf tournament today.

The 21-year-old San Antonio girl, four-time Texas state champion, fired a sizzling four-under par 73 to nose out Patty Berg of Minneapolis, the defending champion who is trying for her third straight title, for medalist honors. Patty had a pair of 37s for a 74 over the hilly Glen Echo Country club course.

Both girls—favored to clash in the finals—gave the gallery plenty of thrills and rung up eagle three's on different holes to decorate their birdie studded cards, but Betty was the most consistent.

She started out with a par four, dropped a long putt for a birdie four; on two and then strung out seven straight pars before clicking the eagle on the 411-yard 10th to go three under. She buzzed through the next seven holes in regulation figures and finished with a birdied four on eighteen for her 37-36-73.

Miss Berg's short game was giving her trouble—she didn't have that old "touch" on the green. While she checked in four nice birdies along with the eagle, she slid one over on three of the easiest holes.

Five other shooters made the rounds under a blistering sun in 79 or below. They were: Phyllis Otto, 15-year-old Iowa state junior champion of Atlantic, 36-39-75; Mrs. Russell Mann, Milwaukee, Wis., medalist in the national six years ago, 39-36-75; Kay Pearson, Houston, Tex., 39-37-76; Mrs. Lillian Zech, Chicago, 37-40-77; Joe Macrae, Ames, 38-41-79.

Two Big Innings Give Browns 7 to 4 Victory Over Senators

St. Louis Hitters Score in 1st, 7th To Beat Sid Hudson

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Scoring two runs in the first inning and five more in the seventh, the St. Louis Browns took the opener of a three-game series from Washington today, 7 to 4.

The Senators scored all their runs in the seventh when they drove Jack Kramer from the box. Until then he had held them to four hits.

Supply Breaks Reich Winning Streak, 11 to 6

Winners Score Five Runs in First Inning To Cut Down Threat

IOWA SUPPLY snapped Reich's Cafe's winning streak at six last night with an 11 to 6 win. The victory put the Supply boys in the lead of the senior City league with two wins and no losses.

Reich's has won one and lost one. Iowa Supply started off strong, scoring five runs on a walk, two errors, two hits, a sacrifice fly and another hit. Reich's came within one run of tying it up in their half of the first on two walks, an error and two hits, but Supply played steadily to maintain their margin.

Yeggy-Vittengl Damage Suit Case Opened

road in a reckless and negligent manner resulting in the accident wrecking Yeggy's machine and injuring him and his wife.

The plaintiff asks an additional $1,500 for medical care and attention and suffering which he claims his wife, a passenger in the car, endured.

The reckless and negligent driving count is brought on seven different charges. Vittengl has filed a counter claim denying the charges brought by Yeggy and asking $1,000 damages for his car.

Yeggy asks five per cent interest on his total of $2,800 damages as well as court costs and Vittengl, in his counter claim, also asks five per cent interest and costs.

Atty. Will J. Hayek represents the plaintiff and Atty. Harold W. Vestermark, the defendant.

Jurors selected yesterday to hear the case include Alice Y. Bordwell, Sadie H. Ford, Teresa Gatens, Martha C. Hamburg, Betty S. Koza, Joe McGinnis, Susie Marner, Frank D. Michael, Noah E. Miller, W. H. Miller, L. G. Robertson and Sam Watkinson.

May Report Reveals 11 Fires, $15 Loss, Insurance Coverage

Fire loss in Iowa City for May was only $15, it was reported to the city council last night by Fire Chief James J. Clark in his monthly report.

The estimated value of buildings damaged was $7,000 of which $5,500 was covered by insurance. Insurance covered all fire loss of the month.

Only one auto fire was reported with no damage. Eleven calls were made during May, according to the report.

Charges Dismissed Against Jehovah's Witnesses in Court

Ordered Out of City By Police Judge; Illegal Soliciting

Charges were dismissed yesterday afternoon in police court against 21 persons, men and women including children of all ages, arrested Saturday and Sunday afternoons and released on $5 and $50 bonds for allegedly soliciting from door to door without a health permit from the mayor as required by Iowa City ordinances 1023 to 1026.

The individuals and families, said to belong to the religious sect known as Jehovah's Witnesses, were ordered by Police Judge Burke N. Carson to cease the street and house to house sales and get out of Iowa City.

Of the 21 arrested and charged, only three were from Iowa City. Others came from Cedar Rapids, Bettendorf, Davenport, Rock Island, Ill. and Moline, Ill.

District Convention

Police said they were in Iowa City over the week end for the purpose of attending a district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses members including territory in southeastern Iowa and western Illinois. It was reported that over 200 members of the sect were present for the meeting.

Sales of pamphlets, books and other literature were started by representatives of the group in the downtown business section Saturday afternoon and Sunday the representatives solicited sales from house to house in local residential areas.

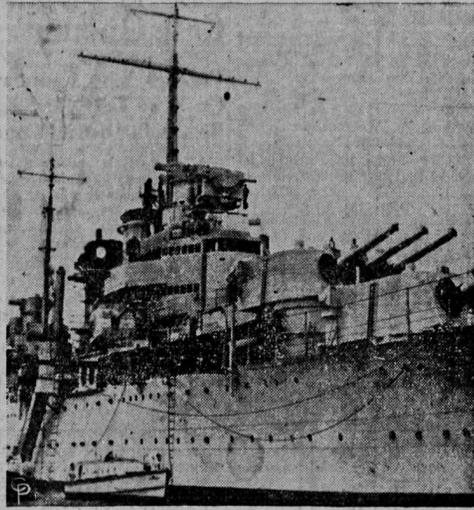

Following the order to cease the sales and get out of Iowa City after charges were dismissed, a spokesman for the group explained to local police that members of the order are 'sorry for the condition of the country.'

In Good Faith

"We are here in good faith," he said. "As far as we are concerned, we want to avoid all trouble. We try to be kind, considerate and reasonable with all."

But when Police Judge Carson asked for his promise that the sales would quit, the speak-

The Wichita's trip, and that of the Quincy, were described as routine, though it is admitted a show of the American flag might serve as a stabilizing influence at Latin American countries troubled by fifth column activities.

Jury Favors Objectors To Ensminger Will

Celia, Alvin Ensminger Given Share in Will Of Albert Ensminger

A petit jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of Celia Faye Ensminger and Alvin Ray Ensminger, objectors, in a suit to break the will of the late Albert W. Ensminger on two counts.

The decision was made on both points, first, that the late Ensminger was of unsound mind at the time the will was made, and second, that the document was drawn up under undue influence. According to the will, Ensminger's only daughter, Alta C. Carlson, was named the sole heir.

The objectors, grandchildren of the deceased, brought the action through their guardian, J. B. Van Horn.

Property included in the will, amounting to approximately $100,000 in United States government bonds, promissory notes, a 250-acre farm near Cosgrove, a house in Iowa City and other property, will be divided equally between Mrs. Carlson and the two grandchildren in the final settlement.

The case has been in progress in district court since last Monday. The jury received the case at 11:30 yesterday and brought in the verdict at 3 o'clock after three and one-half hours of deliberation.

Atty. Arthur O. Left represented the proponent and Atty. Messer, Hamilton and Cahill and Byington and Rate, the objectors.

Jurors included Pauline Mulford, Joseph L. Shima, Mary Ham, Stella Thomas, Ivan Bane, Marion Crawford, John Beecher, Lynn Taylor, Ethel Larew, John Reiland, Vera Rapp and J. M. Clair.

200 More Bike Tags

Additional Licenses Ordered for Cyclists Within Iowa City

Two hundred additional bicycle license tags have been ordered for registration of Iowa City bicycles, it was announced yesterday by Police Chief Frank Burns.

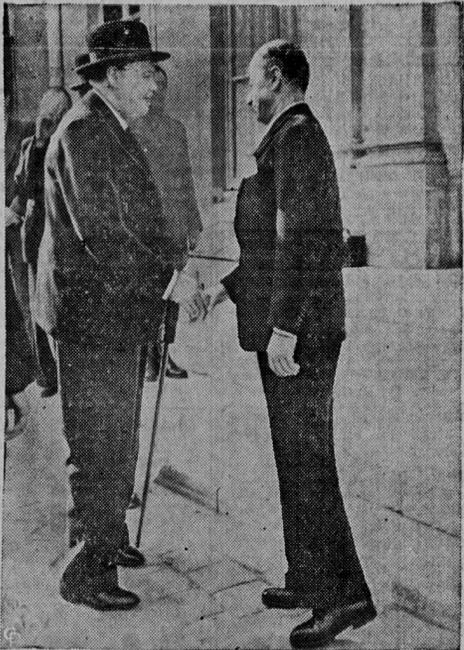

The original 800 license tags were all given out by last Saturday necessitating the additional order. The new licenses, making a total of 1,000 in Iowa City, are expected to arrive today. They will be made available to bicyclists immediately, he said.

The deadline for registration of bicycles, originally set for today, has been extended indefinitely, Chief Burns said yesterday. The registration fee for bicycles is 25 cents. A small metal license and a registration card is attached to each bicycle and this remains with the bicycle permanently.

The local bicycle registration project is sponsored by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars organization and Robert R. Vogt is chairman of the committee in charge.

Brazil ranks first in output of Carnauba wax, used for electric insulation and phonograph records.

Merchants Ask City To Provide Loading Zones

James Aldous, proprietor of the Aldous Flower shop, appeared before the city council last night in behalf of the merchants of Iowa City to ask the council to provide for loading zones for merchants of the community who must make deliveries to their customers.

Mr. Aldous commended the council for their good work in solving the downtown parking problem, but said that no provision had been made for the merchant who must load goods to be delivered.

Loading zones as they are now provided do not allow a sufficient parking time, he pointed out. The ordinance permitting loading zones in the business district states that 30 minutes shall be the time limit, but a special resolution adopted by the council extended this time to one hour.

In addition to securing the desired loading zones, Mr. Aldous also asked for a further extension of parking time on these loading zones or no time limit at all.

The council took no immediate action on Mr. Aldous' appeal.

Grant Taxi License

A new taxi license was granted last night by the city council to L. L. Strickler operating as the Diamond Cab company. A transfer of license was also granted to the Varsity Cab company.

Summer School Car Drivers Warned of City Traffic Laws

Summer school students and new Iowa City residents who are drivers of cars were yesterday asked by Police Chief Frank J. Burns to observe local traffic laws and ordinances.

Chief Burns stressed the ordinance prohibiting the use of the streets for storage. This is often violated through ignorance of the ruling, he said. Cars must be cleared from the streets because during the hours between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. each day the city street cleaner is in use and parked cars interfere with this.

He also pointed out the importance of strict observance of speed limits in the business district, school districts and the residential areas. Posted signs clearly point out the 20-mile per hour limit in the business and school districts and the 25-mile per hour limit elsewhere, he said.

The police chief also called attention to parking limits in the downtown area. Most parking areas are for 60 minutes with specially marked 15-minute stalls. "We have had no fatal accidents in Iowa City so far this year," he said, "and those who have respected the speed laws are largely responsible for this fine record."

The penalty for this violation provided for by the city ordinance is a jail sentence not to exceed 30 days or a fine not to exceed $100.

"Our Liberty"

Following the police court action an elderly man in the group murmured something about "being deprived of our liberty." A youthful member took shorthand notes on the entire court proceedings. Though the case was scheduled to come up in court yesterday morning, it was not taken until about 3 p. m. which accounted for the group of persons standing on the police station lawn most of the day.

Persons charged and dismissed included Paul E. Mead of Bettendorf, Mrs. Delta Vinton, Mrs. Edith Palmer, Denzel Teza and L. J. Blair, all of Cedar Rapids; K. W. Council Votes New Purchases

To Investigate Old Railroad Property As Possible Street

Purchase of a 38-calibre cartridge re-loading tool was authorized last night at a meeting of the city council. The device is used to re-load used cartridges.

At the same meeting a special committee was appointed to investigate the purchase of the old B.C.R. and M. railroad right of way property in east Iowa City from Evans street to the end of the line at the site of the hybrid corn plant which was destroyed by fire.

This property has been considered as the route for a street cutting through to the new high school.

Bids were opened at last night's meeting on a new electric drinking water cooler for the city hall. The bids were referred to Harold Monk, city inspector.

Grant Permit For Fireworks

The city council last night granted permission to Robert E. Neff, administrator of university hospitals, to present a fireworks display on the children's hospital lawn on the evening of July 4.

The council also granted permission to the John Nash wholesale company to construct a refrigeration room 12 feet wide along the company's present warehouse near Ralston creek just north of Burlington street.

Infectious Diseases Number 24 for May

Twenty-four cases of communicable diseases were reported in Iowa City during the month of May, according to the monthly city health report submitted to the city council by city physician Isom A. Rankin last night.

The report stated that 10 of the cases were whooping cough, eight were chicken pox and six were measles.

587 Traffic Violations Top Police Report

Traffic violations during the month of May totaled 587, according to the monthly police report made last night to the city council. Second greatest number of law violations on the list reported were intoxications with 30.

Fifteen larcenies from motor vehicles were reported and eight breaking and entering cases were recorded during the month. The report also revealed that three stolen cars were recovered during the month. There were six auto accidents, seven cases of disturbing the peace and two cases of robbery.

Car Abandoned

A car stolen in Cedar Rapids was found abandoned in Iowa City last night by Iowa City police.

41ST SUMMER SESSION OPENS

Seven Nationally Known Men Summer Session Lecturers

To Address Audiences At Campus Events

Will Durant, Poulter, Clarence Streit Among Those Who Will Speak

Seven outstanding speakers, all nationally known, will come to the University of Iowa campus to appear on the summer session lecture series, Prof. M. Willard Lampe, chairman, has announced. Guest speakers will address university audiences from the open-air bandstand on Iowa Union's south campus each Friday night throughout the summer session.

Second appearance of each lecturer will be made at open-round table discussions on Saturday mornings at 9 a. m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Opening the series Friday evening with an illustrated lecture will be Dr. T. C. Poulter, polar explorer and inventor of the snow cruiser used on the latest Byrd expedition to Antarctica.

Dr. Poulter will discuss the recent expedition which he accompanied as commander of the cruiser, used for travel over ice barriers.

Foreign correspondent for the New York Times, Clarence Streit, author of "Union Now," presents a lecture on international affairs here June 21.

Strait has been the center of much controversy during the past two years for his proposed European federation of democracies.

Will Durant, noted philosopher and author, will come to the campus June 28 to present the third university lecture.

Author of the recent history, "The Life of Greece," Will Durant has announced that he has undertaken a literary project to which he expects to devote the rest of his life.

Two volumes, "Our Oriental Heritage" and "The Life of Greece" for which the author allowed five years preparation on each history, are the beginning of Durant's great project to be titled "The Story of Civilization."

Admiral H. E. Yarnell, former commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet and native Iowan, will present the summer session lecture July 5.

Admiral Yarnell, retired, maintains residence at Independence, his birthplace. He is an outstanding authority on the political and economic history of the Orient.

Carl Sandburg

A 1940 Pulitzer prize-winner, Carl Sandburg, noted poet and author, will lecture here July 12. Sandburg's poetry is well-known to the literary world.

In his prize-winning book, "Abraham Lincoln: The War Year," Sandburg attempted to wrest from the mass of encircling evidence a human being, to explain the motives, to tell of the things which made Lincoln what he is — the symbol of America.

Dr. T. Z. Koo, well-known international religious leader, will conclude the summer lecture series July 26. He appeared on the campus in 1938 in connection with Religious Emphasis week.

WILL DURANT

Wide Variety Theater To Present Play Weekly

Iowa City theater audiences will enjoy a vast array of artistic talent and wide variety of theatrical productions with the University summer theater presenting a play each week.

Opening the summer program will be "Don Juan" by Moliere, June 24. Other productions scheduled are "You Can't Take It With You" by Moss Hart and George Kaufmann, July 1; "American Landscape" by Elmer Rice, July 8; "Coriolanus" by Shakespeare, July 15; "Wingless Victory" by Maxwell Anderson, July 22, and "Tobias and the Angel" by James Bridie, July 29.

High School Musicians Will Come to Iowa To Study for Month Under Noted Men

Iowa's high school musicians will "come to college" for a month this summer to study under instructors of national note and participate in the University of Iowa's summer all-state high school music organizations, June 17 to July 18.

Instruction in orchestra, band and chorus will be offered the high school musicians by the department's faculty which has attracted hundreds of college students to the campus.

The all-state high school music organizations will be offered the opportunity of attending rehearsals of the adult summer session orchestra and chorus and, in some cases, of participating in the groups.

Dr. Modeste Alloo, director of federal music project orchestra, Newark, N. J., will be instructor of brass instruments during the summer session.

The all-state high school chorus, directed by Dr. Thompson Stone, visiting faculty member, will perform on the fine arts festival program.

Prof. C. B. Righter will conduct the summer high school orchestra in a concert on Wednesday night during the festival week activities.

Gala Fine Arts Festival Offers Varied Events To Begin July 14

'Art for Your Sake ...'

1940 Program Will Feature Iowa Talent

Oratorios, Radio Plays, Dramas, Lectures, Art Exhibitions Included

Presentation of "The Damnation of Faust" by the University symphony orchestra and chorus, a play in the University theater every night, art exhibits of student, alumni and professional work—these events will highlight the second gala fine arts festival at the University of Iowa July 14 to 19.

The 1940 festival of shorter duration than the first fine arts program will feature Iowa talent trained by a faculty of national note.

Features on the five-day program should attract as many visitors to the campus as the last year's festival when 25,000 persons attended the events, officials said.

School of Fine Arts

The music, art and dramatic art departments of the school of fine arts will take part in the festival, making possible a program of events so extensive as to include oratorios, radio plays, plays, dramas, lectures, art exhibitions, band concerts, chamber music, conferences, recitals, symphony concerts and recorded musical programs.

Emphasis will be placed on the work being done by our own Iowa students in the 1940 fine arts festival, according to Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts and chairman of the event.

Plans of each department for the festival are given here in brief.

MUSIC—Over 250 summer school students will perform in "The Damnation of Faust" by Hector Berlioz, the opening event of the week's program, Sunday evening, July 14.

The University symphony orchestra with the University chorus will present the famous work. Director of the concert will be Thompson Stone, director of the Handel and Haydn society and Apollo club at Boston, Mass.

Dr. Stone has spent many summers on the staff of the University of Iowa music department. He will also direct the concert by the summer session symphonic band and the all-state high school chorus which will highlight the second day of the festival.

The chamber music concert, including string quintet, wood-wind ensemble and strings with piano, will perform on Tuesday's fine arts festival program.

Professor Righter

Engle, Iowa's own poet, is author of "American Song" and "Corn" as well as other books of poetry, which have received wide recognition.

Taylor, who wrote "Brazos" for his graduate thesis, received his Ph.D. degree in English here several years ago. He is now on the faculty at the University of Wichita. He will also teach a course in introductory fiction writing.

Official Daily Bulletin In 'The Daily Iowan' Lists Campus Events

"What's happening on the campus today?" the frequent question asked by students is answered daily in the university calendar and official bulletin printed on the editorial page of The Daily Iowan.

Students will find the official bulletins their guide for the university summer activities. Notices of plays, concerts, lectures and other events are listed day by day. Contributions from all departments and organizations are published in the general notices.

No Dentistry, Pharmacy Course

Two professional colleges, dentistry and pharmacy, offer no summer session instruction. All other schools and colleges of the university have courses available to summer school students.

Art Exhibits

Two outstanding art exhibitions will hang during festival week. An exhibit in the art building exhibition lounge will feature a selection of the best student and alumni work in the department. Forty outstanding works of art will hang in a special exhibit in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The paintings will be loaned to the university for the festival week by Nebraska university and Nebraska Art association.

Jean Charlot, well-known contemporary artist, will be a guest instructor here during summer session. He will teach classes in life and fresco painting. Charlot is a French artist who (See ARTS FESTIVAL, Page 14)

Dill, Hanya Holm to Speak at Physical Education Conference

Prof. D. B. Dill, director of the fatigue laboratory at Harvard university, and Hanya Holm, a member of the Bennington school of dance in New York City, will be principal speakers at the annual physical education conference convening here Thursday.

The two-day conference will provide opportunity for summer school students in men and women's physical education to participate in panel and round table discussions with national leaders in the field.

Considered an expert on exercise, Dill will discuss the influence of climate and weather on physical activity and physiologic effects of exercise.

A visiting faculty member, Miss Holm will participate in the session on "Dance and Art Education." She will be assisted by Helen Knight of Purdue university, a member for several summers of Miss Holm's workshop group at the Bennington dance school.

Miss Knight, during the summer session, will give a course in dance activities for high school students and additional courses in elementary movement and rhythm fundamentals.

University of Wisconsin will participate in this week-end conference on physical education. Professor H'Doubler has been an instructor of the development of dance in educational institutions throughout the country.

Professor Cowell

Prof. Charles Cowell of Ohio State university will participate in the section of progressive physical education in the conference.

He will discuss recent educational trends and practices and their significance to physical education and child accounting in physical education.

One of the most experienced officials in the United States, Ira T. Carrithers of Cedar Rapids will be on the campus to participate in the coaching and officiating sessions of the annual meeting.

For many years an official in the Western Conference, Carrithers will talk on the problems of the official and will suggest effective techniques for officiating.

Professor McCloy

Member of the local faculty, Prof. C. H. McCloy who is author of the recent book, "Tests and Measurements in Physical Education," will discuss in detail the subject of his book.

Visiting faculty members scheduled to lead round table discussions include Prof. Gertrude Baker, University of Minnesota; Prof. Leslie W. Irwin, director of health and physical education laboratory schools, University of Chicago, and Florence Owens, assistant director of physical education in public school, Duluth, Minn.

Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the women's physical education department here, will be a conference speaker.

She was chosen as one of the eight outstanding persons in physical education work in the United States and was presented with an honor award at the annual meeting of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in Chicago this spring.

The annual physical education conference provides personal contact for students with leaders in the field. The excellent facilities and leadership offered in physical education here make the University of Iowa a fertile field for research work in recreational courses, officials declare.

Prof. Howard R. Bowen to Open Forum Series Tomorrow

Budget Balance To Be Topic Of 1st Session

Prof. Clara M. Daley Leads Foreign Policy Discussion Next Week

The program for the summer campus forum series, which provides opportunity for public discussion of subjects of contemporary interest, has been announced by Prof. Kirk Porter of the political science department, chairman of the forums.

Opening the series tomorrow will be Prof. Howard R. Bowen of the college of commerce who will lead a discussion on "Balancing the Budget."

Prof. Clara M. Daley of the history department will lead the second campus forum June 19 on "The Foreign Policy of the United States."

"Government by Decree" Prof. Ethan P. Allen of the political science department has chosen "Government by Decree" as the subject of his open forum June 26.

"Administration of Relief" will be the topic of the forum which Dr. Jack T. Johnson, political science instructor, will lead July 3.

Prof. Harold H. McCarty of the college of commerce will lead a discussion of "A Program for Agriculture" at the July 10 campus forum.

The concluding campus discussion July 17 will be "Government Regulation of Business" led by Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce.

All forums, open to the student body and general public, will be held in the house chamber of Old Capitol at 3:10 in the afternoon.

Forum Technique

At each session, the leader is allowed about 30 minutes for presentation of the subject, after which discussion from the floor is invited.

Although the forums are planned with a view to enlisting a wide public interest, it is believed that the session will be particularly helpful to those who are engaged in public school work. The program forums are aimed for persons who at times may be called upon to organize or to participate in public discussion.

Drama of Steel To Be Shown Today at 4

Sound Film Narrated By Edwin C. Hill; Sponsored by Barnes

A sound technicolor film, "Steel—Man's Servant," will have a special showing in the chemistry auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

On a topic of popular interest, the film will be shown for the general public as well as for members of the summer management course in time and motion here.

Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the college of engineering and director of the special course was instigator in bringing the film to Iowa City.

The colored motion picture is a drama of steelmaking from the ore mine to the finished product. The picture was produced by the United States Steel Corporation.

Hollywood Technique
Equipment, direction and technique used in making the picture were the same as in making a Hollywood feature production. The actors in the drama, however, are the men who actually make steel, officials said.

The flashing reds and yellows as they issue from converters or illumine open hearth charging floors are spectacular photographic shots of the film.

Narrator of the sound movie was Edwin C. Hill, famous news broadcaster. Musical score for the background of the picture was under the direction of Robert Armbruster.

In filming the picture, a special railroad car was needed to transport the crew and equipment to each location.

A crew of movie photographers, technicians and electricians were "on location" every day making the pictures during the 10-week period required to complete the shooting schedule, officials explained.

F. B. Gompert, a young Californian, has devised a system for classifying human hair. Thus far he has tabulated 21,870 different varieties. Evidence of a single hair is not as binding as that of a finger print, but it can be a highly incriminating exhibit.

Tricksters To Assemble Meeting To Feature Goodrum, McGinnis In Davenport Show

Many a rabbit will be pulled from the hat and many a sleight-of-hand trick will be performed when the International Brotherhood of Magicians convenes in Davenport June 19 to June 21.

Two university students, John Goodrum, G of Vicksburg, Miss., and Leroy McGinnis of Iowa City, who received his juris doctor degree at the recent convocation here, will attend and participate in the annual magicians' convention.

Both students are well-known to Iowa City and university audiences, having presented their "magical performances" before many local organizations.

Goodrum, a graduate student in hydraulic engineering, is author of a book on the art of the magician. He has practiced the "magical profession" from early age.

Goodrum will appear as master-of-ceremonies at one of the shows the convention members will produce during the meeting. McGinnis has served on several convention committees.

Nearly 800 magicians from all over the United States are expected to attend the Davenport meeting at which Blackstone, world-famous "man of tricks" will be guest of honor.

Famous Professional Dancer Will Teach Hanya Holm To Serve as Visiting Faculty Member in Physical Education

Hanya Holm, well-known professional concert dancer from New York City, arrived on the campus this week-end to serve as a visiting faculty member in the women's physical education department for the next two weeks.

She will teach courses in modern dance and dance composition and will participate in the physical education conference here Thursday and Friday on "Dance and Art Education."

The dance artist appeared on the University of Iowa campus in 1938 when she presented a demonstration and concert with her dance company.

Faculty Member
A faculty member of the Bennington School of Dance in New York, Miss Holm has been on the summer session faculty at Mills and Colorado State Teachers colleges.

In addition to her work in her own studio, the dancer teaches at Columbia, New York and Temple universities, Taylor School of Fine Arts and Finch junior college.

Now established as a leading American dancer, choreographer and educator, Miss Holm received her professional training in Europe.

She is a graduate of Dalcroze Institute at Frankfurt-am-Main and Hellerau. Miss Holm was a member of Wigman's first concert group which made dance history in early years. Later she served as head director in the Wigman Central Institute.

Prof. H. Stark Seeks Singers For 'The Damnation of Faust'

Altos, Tenors, Basses Especially Needed In University Chorus

Persons in the university or Iowa City who wish to sing in the summer session presentation of "The Damnation of Faust" by Hector Berlioz and who were unable to attend the first practice last night should contact Prof. Herald Stark of the music department, it was announced.

Altos, tenors and basses are especially needed in the summer University chorus. Singers should contact Professor Stark at the music building or report for the next practice tomorrow evening at 7:10 p.m.

Chorus Practices

The chorus practices held in the south music hall are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Professor Stark re-emphasized the department's desire for townspeople to participate in the summer production.

A dramatic legend, "The Damnation of Faust" will be presented in concert form as the opening highlight of fine arts festival week July 14. Guest conductor will be

PROF. HERALD STARK

Thompson Stone of Boston, Mass., visiting faculty member in the department.

Kasper Will to Court

The will of Ida Kasper was admitted to probate yesterday in district court. District Court Judge Harold D. Evans named Wilfred Kasper, son of the deceased, executor without bond.

Presenting papers at the convention will be Dr. James A. Greene, Dr. L. W. Swanson and Dr. C. A. Jacobs who will discuss "Wound Healing in Diabetes Mellitus."

Dr. C. S. O'Brien and Dr. James H. Allen will present papers on "Eye Changes in Diabetes Mellitus."

"Preservation of Blood" will be discussed by Dr. E. L. DeGowin and Dr. Robert C. Hardin. Dr. M. E. Barnes will present a paper on "Applied Epidemiology."

Dr. Cullen

Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, Dr. S. E. Ziffren, Dr. R. B. Gibson and Dr. H. P. Smith are scheduled to give papers on "Anesthesia and Liver Injury" at the medical convention.

Discussions on special subjects will be made by Dr. Fred M. Smith, Dr. E. D. Plass, Dr. P. J. Lienfelder and Dr. Dean M. Lierle.

Dr. Fred Smith, secretary of the section on internal medicine of the association, will have charge of the exhibit for the section.

Dr. Arthur Steindler helped to arrange an exhibit entitled "Lame Backs."

Other exhibits at the association meeting were arranged by Dr. Ray E. Trussell, Dr. Lienfelder, Dr. Plass and Lee Allen of the local eye department.

Dr. Bose Will Open Summer Lecture Series Next Tuesday

International Relations Is Series Subject

Oriental Lecturer Offers Supplementary Course in Reading

Dr. Sudhindra Bose, lecturer on oriental civilization and politics here, will give a series of six campus lectures on "Problems in International Relations" during the 41st summer session. Dr. Bose, author, lecturer and columnist, brings to his audiences a popular presentation of the Far East. Possessing the insight of a splendidly-trained scholar, he carries the emotional enthusiasm of the eternal student.

The lecturer's love of fact and devotion to values combined with his striking personality make his lectures a high spot of the summer session.

Summer Schedule
The lectures scheduled for this summer are given here. June 18—"Racialism in International Relations."

June 25—"The Crisis in East Asia."

July 2—"Hirohito, the Emperor of Japan."

July 9—"India's Challenge to Democracy."

July 16—"Two Leaders of India: Gandhi and Nehru."

July 23—"Women of the Orient."

The lectures are given at 3:10 p.m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol with the exception of the first lecture on June 18 which will be given in the campus course room, 315-A Schaeffer hall.

Credit for Reading
As a new feature with the lectures, Dr. Bose has announced that students may take supplementary reading with the lectures and receive credit for the work. Students desiring to do reading for credit in connection with these lectures may register for from one to four hours.

The lectures are open to all summer session students and general public.

WSUI Opens Schedule of Special Entertainment Features

All of Iowa Benefits From Power Increase

Classroom Broadcasts, Discussion Periods Among 1940 Highlights

A summer broadcast schedule of varied educational and entertainment features went into operation yesterday morning over the University of Iowa's radio station WSUI, now operating on an increased power assignment of 5,000 watts during the day and 1,000 watts at night.

The summer schedule, planned by Mrs. Pearl Bennett Broxam, program director of WSUI, includes programs to be broadcast each day of the week except Sunday from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Included are classroom broadcasts, numerous news programs of a varied nature, open forum discussion programs, varied musical programs, Iowa high school students' programs, special summer broadcasts, feature programs from the university's many summer conferences and a variety of continued programs.

New Transmitter
With WSUI's new transmitter equipment and increased power now in operation, the station's educational services are sent to all parts of the state of Iowa through the directional radiator, a part of the new equipment.

The station's new transmitter has been constructed about two miles west of Iowa City near Coralville. It consists of a transmitter house housing all the broadcasting equipment and three 255-foot towers.

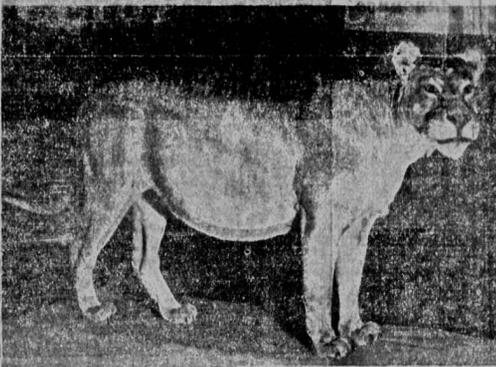

All programs originate from the WSUI studio building on the Iowa campus. This recently-completed building contains five studios including a large audience studio, a classroom studio from which the classroom broadcasts originate, and three other general studios for all other types of programs. Programs are sent from the studio to the transmitter by special cable line.

Three classroom broadcasts are included on the summer schedule. These programs originate in classrooms and are sent out over the air at the same time the professors' lecture is being delivered to a class in the same room.

Daily at 8 a. m. will be Prof. Hardin Craig's "English Literature of the 17th Century" class. Each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 11 a. m. Prof. J. W. Ashton will broadcast his "Ballads and Folklore" class.

Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the university's music department, each Monday, Wednesday and Friday will broadcast his "Musical Survey" class. The program is heard at 3:10 p. m. Mondays and Fridays and at 3:45 p. m. on Wednesdays.

News programs on the schedule which began operation yesterday number 14. Three times daily is heard The Daily Iowan of the Air news taken from the leased wire of The Associated Press through the courtesy and cooperation of The Daily Iowan.

These news broadcasts are heard at 8:30 a. m., 5:50 p. m. and 8:45 p. m. and are presented by Loren Hickerson of Iowa City, editor of The Daily Iowan, and other members of The Daily Iowan staff.

Headline News, heard once weekly on Saturdays at 12:30 p. m. as presented by Dr. Jack T. Johnson of the political science department, presents a summary of news events of the past week.

It Happened Last Week is a weekly program new to WSUI's schedule this summer. Heard each Monday at 1:15, the program will present appropriate readings of accounts of news events happening the past week. Sportstime, WSUI's traditional sport news program heard daily at 7:30 p. m., will be presented this summer by Jim Dower, WSUI sports announcer.

Farm Flashes
Farm Flashes, the station's daily news service for farmers, is presented again this summer by Ray Heinen, WSUI's farm editor. It's heard daily at 11:50 a. m. Emmett C. Gardner, Johnson county agricultural agent, frequently presents the program.

Service Reports is a twice daily service presented through the cooperation of the educational stations of Iowa and rebroadcast through WSUI from WOL, the Iowa State college at Ames. It is heard at 8:50 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. each day.

Campus News, first presented last summer, will be repeated again. Giving news of coming events in progress on the university campus, the program is heard Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12:50 and is presented by D. Mac Showers.

Around the State
James Fox, former editor of The Daily Iowan, presents the weekly Around the State With Iowa Editors each Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. The program features clipped editorials selected from Iowa's weekly newspapers. Dr. Jack Johnson will present The Week in Government program each Tuesday at 10 a. m., reviewing the week's events in the government.

Bill Sener, WSUI staff announcer, presents The Week in the Magazines each Monday at 10 a. m. Each Thursday at 10 a. m. will be heard The Week in Fashions. Women in the News will be broadcast each Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

A new program for WSUI will be presented each Tuesday and Thursday at 12:50 p. m. by D. Mac Showers under the name of Radio Features. The program will present news and features about nationally-known radio stars, dance bands, news about new songs and recordings and radio program news from coast to coast.

Other news programs on the summer schedule is Science News of the Week presented each Saturday at 1 p. m.

Discussion programs for the summer cover a variety of topics and come at many different times on the daily and weekly schedule. First listed is the continuation of one of the most successful series from the past year, the Discussions in Economics forum how heard each Monday at 11:30 a. m. and presided over by Wendell Smith of the university college of commerce.

The Forensic Forum, familiar program to WSUI listeners, will be heard this summer each Thursday at 4 p. m. Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department and Prof. Lester Thonssen of the college of the City of New York are in charge of the program.

Professor Thonssen is a summer instructor in the college of engineering giving speech instruction to factory managers attending the engineering college's summer management conference.

Visual Education Forum
Camera Snaps is a new discussion program. Directed by Lee W. Cochran, supervisor of the university visual education department and by Vernon Putnam of the department, the program will be heard each Monday at 5:15.

The summer campus forum series under the chairmanship of Prof. Kirk Porter of the political science department will be heard each Wednesday at 3:10 p. m.

Conversations at Eight, a unique discussion program on which the discussion is started 15 minutes to a half-hour before the microphone is turned on, is heard Monday at 8 p. m. under the direction of Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the radio speech department.

Safety Education discussions presented over WSUI each Tuesday at 5:15 will be in charge of Dr. Leslie W. Irwin, director of the health and physical education department at the University of Chicago experimental schools. Dr. Irwin is a visiting faculty member at the university during the summer session.

Eleven musical programs will be presented during the summer. The Iowa Union Radio Hour, classical music broadcast directly from the music room in Iowa Union, will be heard each Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 p. m. Yesterday's Musical Favorites, one of WSUI's older regular musical programs, is to be heard daily at 10:15 a. m.

Illustrated Musical Chats, a daily hour-long program of classical music, will be heard during the summer months at 1:30 p. m. each day except Saturday and at 9 a. m. on Saturday. Another hour program is the Dinner Hour program heard each evening of the week from 6 to 7 p. m.

Album of Artists is heard each day at 8:15 p. m. and Melody Time is heard daily at 2:45. Two musical programs presented by local persons from WSUI studios are Musical Moods, daily at 5:30 p. m., and Evening Musicale, daily at 7:45.

Popular Dance Music
Popular music will be featured on four summer programs. Leading these will be WSUI's traditional Rhythm Rambles program heard each day from noon to 12:30.

Daily at 1 p. m. will be heard Reminiscing Time, popular favorites of a few years ago. Tea Time Melodies is a new popular music program, heard Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 4:45. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons the program will be heard at 4:30.

Last of the popular music series will be Band of the Week heard each Saturday at 1:15. The program will feature recorded music by a popular dance band selected as band of the week.

Iowa high school students taking work at the University of Iowa this summer will present three programs, in speech, drama and music. Prof. Orville Hitchcock directs the speech hour Tuesday evenings at 8. Dr. Donald Winbigler is in charge of the drama hour Thursdays at 8 p. m. and Prof. Charles B. Righter directs the all-state music group program Friday at 8 p. m.

Highlighting the summer schedule are seven interesting programs presented especially for the summer session. Heading the list is Through the Garden Gate, heard twice weekly and presented by Gretchen Harshbarger. The program will feature advice on gardening, both garden design and plant culture. Questions from listeners will be answered also.

Tuesday and Thursday at 1:15 p. m. is the program time.

Jim Dower will present Summer Sports, interviews with sports experts on the Iowa campus, each Wednesday at 1:15. On Fridays at 1:15 Dower will present the Views and Interviews programs, talks with visiting professors, lecturers and guests.

Vacation Adventuring
John Ebert presents Vacation Adventuring Mondays at 4:30 and on Fridays at 2:30 a new program, Places to Go, will be broadcast. The former program is national travel advice and the latter is tourist information about weekend vacation spots near Iowa City.

A program on Recreation will be presented each Wednesday at 4:30 by Florence Owens, assistant director of physical education at the Duluth, Minn., public schools. The last of these special summer programs will be a five-minute Touring Reporter program each Monday at 3:05 p. m. This will be week-by-week advice to tourists about national events going on in all parts of the country.

Throughout the duration of summer school on the campus when the many summer conferences are in session, WSUI will present interviews and highlight programs. Included on the conference schedule are the physical education conference, June 13 and 14; child development and parent education, June 18 to 20; evaluation of secondary education, June 24 to 28; peace officers' short course, July 8 to 13; speech, July 10 to 12; safety education, July 11 to 13; fine arts festival, July 14 to 18 and news photography short course, July 25 to 27.

Festival Airings
During the fine arts festival, WSUI will broadcast all of the evening concerts during festival week as well as special interviews. On Sunday, July 14, the University symphony orchestra and chorus perform. Monday, July 15, the summer session symphonic band and all-state high school chorus; Tuesday, July 16, chamber music concert; Wednesday, July 17, all-state high school symphony orchestra, and Thursday, July 10, University summer session symphony orchestra.

Seventeen programs are listed on the summer session as "continued" broadcasts. These are programs carried throughout the year and are found listed daily in the WSUI column on the editorial page.

35 Engineers, Industrial Executives Register For Second Annual Management Course Here

Prof. Ralph Barnes Directs Three-Week Course of Studies

Thirty-five engineers and executives from industry are registered for the second annual management course devoted to time and motion study which began in the college of engineering here yesterday.

Prof. Ralph Barnes of the mechanical engineering department, one of the instigators of time and motion study in the United States, is director of the special three-week course.

Offered for people in industry interested in comprehensive training in motion and time, waste elimination, cost reduction and related objects, the course is one of the few of its kind in the country.

Factory Program

In addition to presenting the fundamentals of time and motion, the course will show how training programs in this field can be carried on in factories and offices.

The industrial engineering laboratories are equipped with individual projection booths and special motion-picture projectors for film analysis by the members of the course.

The university's manufacturing laboratories will be open for use of those enrolled in the special session to solve any problems in individual research projects they may undertake, Professor Barnes explained.

L. P. Persing, supervisor of wage payment for General Electric Co., will have charge of the laboratory and project work during the three-week session.

The Objectives

"The object of the course is to present methods and techniques that will simplify work, making factory and office operations easier and more productive. This enables the manufacturer to lower the selling price of his product, pay higher wages and still make a satisfactory profit," Professor Barnes explained.

Two graduate students in industrial engineering, John Balch of Fallsburg, W. Va., and Robert E. Box of Belle Plaine will serve as instructors in the time and motion studies.

Prof. Lester Thonssen of the College of the City of New York will co-operate with Prof. A. C. Baird of the local speech department in presenting a course in public speaking for those attending the management course.

Visiting Speakers

Executives in industry who will come to the campus as visiting lecturers for the course will include John A. Aldridge, executive operating staff, Sears Roebuck and Co., Chicago, Ill.; L. A. Bradley, manager of University of Iowa laundry, and W. E. Crotley, production manager, International Business Machines Corp., Endicott, N. Y.

Other men in industry participating in the course will be Erick G. Erickson, chief engineer, Buddy "L" Co., East Moline, Ill.; Prof. Lillian Gilbreth, Purdue university and president of Gilbreth, Inc., Montclair, N. J.; W. F. Heising, superintendent of manufacturing, Sheaffer Pen Co., Ft. Madison, and J. K. Loudon, supervisor of standards control division, Owens-Illinois Glass Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Wigs are said to have come into use in an effort to banish vermin. Heads were shaved, thus depriving the insects of their natural habitat.

Mules Stay on Feet Even When Dead BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—Willard Mercer was operating a disc on his farm near here behind three mules when a bolt of lightning killed the two outside mules. Mercer was stunned momentarily but unhurt. He was surprised to see all three of the mules standing. Just then, however, the middle mule shook itself and walked a few steps, and the other animals fell to the ground. Mercer said the dead mules had fallen against the middle animal and remained upright until the survivor walked.

College Physicists To Attend Annual Colloquium This Week; List Discussions, Lectures

Visitors' Registration Begins Thursday On Iowa Campus

College physicists from surrounding states will come to the University of Iowa campus Thursday to attend the annual colloquium convening here this week end.

Registration for the conference, where advancements and problems of the physicist will be discussed, begins Thursday morning in the physics building.

Latest physics movies followed by a lecture, "Recent Research and the Teacher" by Prof. E. P. T. Tyndall of the local department will mark the opening of the three-day session Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. in room 30, physics building.

Prof. John Eldridge of the physics department will lead a round table discussion on "Opportunity in the Laboratory" following the dinner for the visiting physicists at Iowa Union Thursday night.

Laboratory demonstrations in rooms 217 and 210 physics building by nine visiting professors will conclude the opening day's program.

Subjects relating to first course in college physics for non-technical students will be discussed on Friday's scheduled programs.

Such topics as "Facing the Facts," "What Material May Be Eliminated in General College Courses" and "Physics as a Cultural Subject: Results with Demonstration Lectures" will be discussed by the conference groups on the second day's program.

"Gasoline for the Physicist" will be discussed by Dr. Paul D. Foote, director of research for Gulf Research and Development Co., at a special lecture Friday afternoon at 4:15 p.m. in room 301.

Hugh S. Knowles, chief engineer of Jensen Radio Corp., Chicago, Ill., will open Saturday's schedule with a lecture, "Experiences in Acoustic and Radio Engineering," at 9 a.m. in room 301. "Physics and the Violin," a lecture by Prof. Arnold Small of the music department will follow at 10 a.m. in the same room.

A luncheon at Iowa Union Saturday noon will conclude the physics conference which is open to all teachers without fee.

The lectures and demonstrations of the colloquium are open to the general public.

$20,000 For Laboratory New Building For Research of Nuclei, Nuclear Forces

A new $20,000 nuclear physics laboratory to carry on research on the constituents of nuclei and nuclear forces is under construction in front of the physics building here.

The huge underground room, 70 feet long and 15 feet wide, will be joined to the main building by a passageway. According to plans, the ceiling of the annex will be four feet under ground with no surface evidences.

The new laboratory will make it possible to properly train students in the important study of nuclear reactions, officials explained.

The study of nuclear physics has been carried on by the local department for six years. Atoms and their compositions have been subject of study for physicists since 1910.

Since a bombardment of the atom is one of the experiments to be carried on, the new Iowa physics annex will have a five-million volt high pressure tank apparatus in which compressed gas is used to insulate the high voltages utilized in producing high speed particles for bombarding atoms to get nuclear movements to take place.

The compression tank is too large to be housed in the physics building, and the radiation of powerful rays from the machine also necessitates placing the laboratory underground at a short distance from the building, officials said.

In addition to the tank, the laboratory will have all necessary equipment for observation of nuclear disintegrations. Prof. Alexander Ellett of the physics department conducts the work on nuclear physics here. He is a specialist in the field, and will supervise graduate study in the new laboratory.

In Mexico you will find no ash trays in hotels or homes. Everyone flips cigaret or cigar ends on the floor, which is either tile or cement, and is swept several times a day.

Peace Officers Will Convene

Annual Short Course To Be Held Here From July 8 to 12

The 1940 peace officers' short course will convene on the university campus July 8 to 12, it has been announced by Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law, director of the short course.

A major addition to the year's program will be the nine special courses, as compared with the two full special classes held last year. At the coming session the special classes will last three hours a day.

Class Topics According to the tentative program, entitled "Traffic Enforcement and Accident Investigation," the subjects for class topics will include criminal investigation, fingerprinting, first aid, personal combat, photography, public relations, public safety and public speaking.

Special classes will be kept small for effective work, and a larger number of classes will be held to prevent overcrowding, Professor Perkins said.

Laboratory programs on "Toxicology" and "Counterfeiting" will be offered during the peace officers' short course for the inspection of visiting public safety men.

Motion Pictures A number of motion pictures will be shown during the short course by the F.B.I. and the Iowa department of public safety.

General lectures will be given on Mechanics of Arrest, Law of Arrest, Search of Persons, Traffic and Police, Physical Laws, Interviews, Department of Public Safety, Police Photography, Investigations to Locate Fugitives, Accident of Evidence, Science in Crime Detection, Public Relations, Evidence, Search and Seizure, Portrait Parle, Personal Combat, Criminal Law, Counterfeiting and Officer in Court.

Guest artists and educators will speak at the general fine arts luncheons every day of festival week. Forum discussions by students and faculty will follow the talks.

Mercury Price Boom Renews Mine Activity

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—With the price of mercury boosted by the war, renewed activity is taking place in the old mines of this district. Several major deals involving deposits worked since the days of the Spanish padres have been made.

Fulminate of mercury is important in war as a detonator for shells. This area contains the largest known deposits of the liquid metal in the United States.

"Coriolanus" on Monday, July 15. The Shakespearean play will continue each night through festival week in Iowa's recently completed University theater. The play is scheduled to be presented in the Elizabethan manner on a stage reconstructed from that period.

Thomas Wood Stevens, playwright, producer and director of the Globe theater project at the Chicago world's fair in 1934, will be a visiting instructor in the dramatic art department.

Frederic McConnell, director of the Cleveland, Ohio, community playhouse, will participate on the summer session schedule.

Special Course In Museum Work Offered

A special course for science teachers who wish training in the preparation of birds and animals for classroom work without taking the regular museum technique is being offered by Prof. Homer Dill, head of the museum methods department.

Individual instruction will be given to students in any particular field of interest, the director said. "Working in the museum laboratory where many different kinds of museum specimens are being prepared gives one a knowledge of the work," he added.

Other Courses Courses in modeling and casting, both elementary and advanced, will be offered for art students interested in developing their perception of the third dimension. Teachers interested in playground work and recreational centers have found the courses in modeling and casting of value, according to Professor Dill.

"As the courses are elective, students may take a little of the work just to fill out their schedules to profitable advantage. From the fine museum here, students may obtain an understanding of the exhibits and how they are prepared," the museum head explained.

Established in 1858. The university museum in Macbride hall, ranking with the best university museums in the country, was established in 1858. The local department maintains the only museum laboratory in the world where courses in museum training are offered.

Supplementing the regular museum courses are a series of illustrated lectures designed to acquaint the student with the procedure and methods used in the field.

DOUBLE TROUBLES PASS INTO THE FIFTH GRADE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Double trouble, for Miss Elizabeth Bennett, has passed.

Fourth grade teacher at Great-house school, Miss Bennett has had three sets of twins and "look-alike" pair of sisters in her class for the past school year. Now they're the fifth grade teacher's prospects.

Goats Are Firemen

CARPINTERIA, Calif. (AP)—Goats of this region will be mobilized to see whether their foraging will keep down the growth in firebreaks in Los Padres national forest. Annual clearing of new growth by human labor has been expensive and not entirely successful.

Wastes No Time

HOLDENVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Boyd Kernek, mail carrier, wagered months in advance that the baby expected at his house would be a boy. When the baby arrived at 1 a. m. on a recent morning Kernek gleefully awakened the bettors and before 2 a. m., had collected all wagers.

Chinese Jewelry Mart Destroyed by Fire

PEIPING, North Chins (AP)—Over 50 shops and small factories of the widely-known "Flower Street" jewelry market were destroyed by fire recently. This market makes a large amount of jade, agate, turquoise, lapis, gold and silver costume jewelry for American trade.
