HITLER DEMANDS ANSWER

France Told She Must Accept Unconditionally or Reject Peace

Four French Emissaries Remain in Steady Communication With Government; Continue Conferences

BULLETIN
LONDON, June 22 (AP)—A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Istanbul today reported that six French tankers anchored at that Turkish port had been transferred to British ownership and had hoisted the British flag.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
COMPIEGNE FOREST, France, June 21 (AP)—A yes or no answer—unconditionally and now—was demanded of France tonight to the terms of a conqueror's peace dictated by Adolf Hitler in his hour of triumph.

The four emissaries who hold the fate of the French in that answer remained in steady telephone communication with their government. They conferred for a second time, too, tonight with the representatives of the German fuhrer.

Whatever their reply, Hitler has ordered brought to Berlin the long-enshrined railway car where Germany signed an armistice in sorrow in 1918 and offered one in victory today.

Along with the historic car, Hitler will take away the memorial tablet that marked the spot, and the monument the French set up with the graven legend:

"Here, on Nov. 11, 1918, was frustrated the criminal arrogance of the German imperial reich, defeated by the free peoples which it sought to enslave."

Hitler demanded an end to all resistance; that the French give him "all guarantees necessary" to him to continue his war against their ally, Britain; and the acceptance of "pre-conditions" for a new European order designed above all to make "reparation of the wrong done to the German reich by force."

This was the heart of a long preamble given to the French delegates—that and a declaration that Germany had no intention of casting "aspersions against any enemy so brave."

His specific terms—not announced in detail pending their acceptance or rejection—were left with the French in a meeting that was heavy with a sense of history, history repeating itself in reverse.

'Peace, Preparedness' Is Republican Slogan

Subcommittees Study Various Platform Points

Controversy May Arise As to How Far Party Will Give Allies Aid

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (AP)—The slogan "peace and preparedness" dominated republican platform writers today, with a controversy obviously arising as to how far the party declaration should go in endorsing material assistance to the allies.

Subcommittees, appointed to deal with the various platform subjects met throughout the day, including the group under the chairmanship of Alf M. Landon which is studying the problem of foreign affairs.

From the other subcommittees came word that the platform otherwise would closely conform to the program submitted last winter by the republican program committee under the chairmanship of Glenn Frank.

Meanwhile, it was learned that some party leaders were urging that the convention adopt two platforms, one brief, concise and pointed, and the other elaborating at some length on the points made in the shorter document.

Landon made it plain that because of the uncertainty of the situation abroad, he and the subcommittee were in no hurry to put their views into writing.

"This is a changing world," he said, "and events are moving fast." The events, he added, "might have some influence on the subcommittee's conclusions, particularly the nature of the French peace terms laid down by Adolf Hitler."

Candidates, speculation upon the number of ballots it would take to reach a nomination, and the appointment of Col. Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson to the Roosevelt cabinet continued to dominate discussions in the fast-gathering convention crowds.

Nazis' Midnight-to-Dawn Raid Greatest Since Start of Battle

Third Bombing in Four Days Kills 3 Civilians; British Fighters Drive Off German Waves Amid Explosions, Fires

LONDON, June 22 (Saturday)—(AP)—Wave after wave of German bombers blasted at Britain from the southeast to the northeast in midnight-to-dawn raids today, showering down incendiary and high explosive bombs in the third and most widespread attack in four days.

With dawn's arrival, the raiders fled the threat of British fighters, and the alarms that sent thousands to shelters were lifted.

Three civilians were killed during the air raids on this country last night and early today, the air ministry announced.

Roaring across the coast for the third big attack of the week, the nazis rent the early morning air with thunderous explosions and started numerous fires which cast a crimson glow over the countryside.

(The British apparently replied in kind with a raid on Berlin, where an alarm was in effect for 36 minutes and anti-aircraft guns around the capital fired at invading craft. No bomb explosions were heard in Berlin.)

The bark of anti-aircraft guns, the chatter of machine guns and the challenging whine of British fighter planes made an ear-splitting overtime to the sound of the raiding planes and the intermittent thud of the exploding bombs.

Air raid alarms shrilled with the approach of the first attackers and the civilian population crouched in shelters while the battle raged on.

One salvo of high explosive bombs struck a lumber yard in an undisclosed eastern area, shattering windows in the immediate vicinity and shaking buildings as far as three miles away.

Reports from the attacked areas said that as soon as the ominous drone of the nazi craft became audible, their motors were drowned out by speedy British fighters darting into the skies to the attack.

The Germans attacked one northeastern locality in relays for more than two hours, dropping bombs.

In one area the bombs fell so wide of any mark that they were believed to have been jettisoned by an enemy plane seeking to outrun the hot British pursuit.

Some bombs in an eastern locality fell into fields. Little British Spitfires climbed into the pre-dawn dark to meet the invaders. The repeated drone of motors indicated wave after wave of nazi squadrons, flying high and fast, crossed the eastern and southern coast. All headed inland.

The shock of explosions was felt in some parts of a widespread area even before the first shriek of the air raid sirens. (Censorship did not permit disclosure of the specific area raided except that it was eastern and southern England.)

General Smedley D. Butler, U. S. Marine Corps, Dies at 58

Fought Round World But Opposed War Abroad for Americans

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (AP)—Major General Smedley D. Butler, 58, who retired from the U. S. marine corps after fighting half-way round the world and spent much of his later years urging that the nation keep its fighting men home, died today in Naval hospital.

"Old Gimlet Eye"—the name he got in the Mexican campaign because he learned so much of the enemy—succumbed at 3 p. m. (CST) to a gall bladder and liver ailment that had put him to bed a month ago.

Since he retired in 1931, with 30 years service in the marines, Butler took to the lecture platform with the same sharp tongue that had often brought him into the public eye during his military and public service. He was the proponent of armed force only for home defense—he who had been a fighting man from the orient to France.

He is one of the few men who twice was awarded the congressional medal of honor—in 1914 for heroism in Vera Cruz and a year later for storming—with 23 men—Fort Revere in Haiti.

In 1918 he got the distinguished service medal for his work commanding the great American debarcadero port at Brest, France. Three years later—when he was 40—he became a brigadier general, the youngest general officer in the corps.

On leave, after the World War he accepted the post of director of public safety in Philadelphia.

He is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter.

Arms Transfer Gets Approval In Senate Vote

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The senate approved tonight a proposal to restrict the transfer of arms and navy equipment to other countries.

The proposal, inserted without dissent in a measure to expedite naval shipbuilding, would require that the chief of naval operations or the army chief of staff must certify that any equipment released is "surplus" and is not needed for the defense of the United States.

Sponsored by Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval committee, the amendment grew out of congressional criticism of the navy's release of 23 "mosquito boats" for sale to the allies.

French Mediterranean Fleet, Eastern Army May Continue Fight

ALEXANDRIA, June 21 (AP)—French official sources expressed belief tonight that the French Mediterranean battle fleet here and the middle-east armies in Syria would continue to fight beside the British regardless of France's acceptance or rejection of German peace terms.

These sources said it was "impossible to believe" France would surrender the fleet or its Syrian armies.

French officers and crews, they said, were unanimously agreed that: "We cannot quit now; the fight must go on."

Japanese Draw Closer to Axis

TOKYO, June 22 (Saturday) (AP)—Circles close to the government indicated today Japan's policies now are crystallized around a program calling for closer relations with Germany and Italy, possibly direct action in British-French possessions in the southern orient and a negative attitude toward any American efforts toward rapprochement.

These quarters said Japan's foreign policy had shifted to this three-point program to meet the rapid turn of events in Europe.

Regarding the British and French holdings in the southern orient, they said Japan at least would take a "stronger hand," if not direct action.

Hongkong, British crown colony, and French Indo-China are the chief possessions of the allies in the southern orient.

Japan and the United States have been without formal trade relations since last January 26 when Washington denounced their 29-year-old commercial treaty.

ALGIERS MAY BE SEAT OF NEW FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Here is a view of Algiers, capital of the French colony of Algeria, on the northern coast of Africa, to which the French government may flee and there continue to function against the Axis powers. President LeBrun is expected to go there, too.

Nye Demands F. R. Resign

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 21 — A demand that President Roosevelt resign lest his foreign policies bring "disaster" upon the country was made in the senate today by Senator Nye (R-ND), while at Hyde Park the chief executive accused his critics of partisanship.

Nye, an advocate of aloofness from European affairs, also urged that Harry Woodring, resigned secretary of war, be called before the senate military committee for questioning. He said he would be "very much surprised" if the committee did not learn that Woodring had been asked to transfer "national defense secret number 1"—a bomber sight—to the allies, and that he had been ousted because he refused. This brought from Senator

Barkley (D-Ky) the reply that Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold had assured him that "at no time or under any conditions has any consideration been given to revelation of any secret bomb sight." At Hyde Park the president took cognizance of charges that he was creating a "war cabinet" in appointing Henry L. Stimson to succeed Woodring and Col. Frank Knox, like Stimson a republican, to the post of secretary of the navy. The chief executive told reporters that there are some people who think in terms of patriotic motives and some who think with partisan motives.

U. S. Industry and Defense

Because of widespread public interest in the important part both government and industry must play in the problem of national defense, The Daily Iowan will present a series of three brief talks by officials of the National Association of Manufacturers, interviewed by Lowell Thomas over the National Broadcasting company network June 3.

(FIRST IN THE SERIES)

Mr. Thomas: I'm going to ask Mr. Prentiss (H. W. Prentiss Jr., president, National Association of Manufacturers and president, Armstrong Cork company) a question that must be in the mind of every American. I want to ask you, Mr. Prentiss—is industry in this country caught unprepared for the tremendous task of organizing to take its part in our program for national defense?

Mr. Prentiss: I'm glad you asked that question, Mr. Thomas. American industry for more than 25 years has been the foremost advocate of adequate national defense. Months before the actual outbreak of war in Europe, the N.A.M. offered its aid to the war and navy departments and has been cooperating with them ever since. You can rest assured—and the country can rest assured—that we'll cooperate just as wholeheartedly with the civilian committee appointed by the president.

This business of preparing for defense is a tremendous task. It presents extreme difficulties. But I think the responsibilities are clear. Congress must decide the area which the United States is to defend before anybody can tell what we'll need. What is that area? Is it from Nome, Alaska, to Cape Horn? Is it the combined interests and colonies of the 21 republics in the western hemisphere? Does it include the Philippines, Bermuda, the West Indies? Or will we defend only the continental United States? What is it we are going to defend?

When it is known what we propose to defend, the military experts must determine what is needed for adequate defense. And then private industry must provide the major part of the arms and equipment needed by all our forces—land, sea and air. And don't forget—at the same time we must continue to supply the enormous needs of our civilian population.

The lesson taught us by the desperate situation of France and England is this Mr. Thomas: capacity and efficiency in manufacturing production determine a nation's ability to defend itself. It will be criminally stupid if, in preparing for national defense, we Americans do not make the most of our known capacity and demonstrated efficiency in production.

Music and Americanism

Down in St. Louis, between June 3 and 16, 110,000 people saw "The American Way," the patriotic pageant of this nation written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart.

Originally presented at the New York Center theater, the St. Louis Municipal Opera was the second theatrical organization to present the spectacle on a large scale. Some 62,000 patrons saw the feature during its second week.

"The American Way," packing them in like this, seems to indicate a couple of things. It revives American hopes and aspirations in native musical drama; it revives American interest in seeing such productions. In addition, it would indicate that anything that has the phrase "the American way" attached to it these days has new significance in the public mind.

Appendicitis a Menace

A prominent insurance company is participating in a nation-wide campaign against appendicitis. "The composite American appendix is the birth place of 15,000 deaths a year," declares one of its medical associates.

Interesting figures to the public as a whole have been revealed thus far in the study. One out of nine patients died when he took more than one laxative for a supposed "stomach ache." One in 19 died if he had taken a single laxative. Only one in 62 died when patients took no laxatives.

Moreover, when patients obtained medical treatment within 24 hours after an attack, only 1 in 62 succumbed; when medical attention wasn't obtained until within 48 hours, one in 24 died; within 72 hours, one in 17 died, and after 72 hours, one in 13 died.

The company lays down a simple three-point rule, on the basis of its discoveries, for those who suffer attacks which may mean appendicitis: (1) call a doctor, (2) remain quiet and apply an ice bag to the abdomen, and (3) refrain from taking a laxative, food or medicine.

War takes its toll to be sure, but the 15,000-deaths-a-year which is the toll of appendicitis is worth a little preventative study too.

Science Ahead of War

From the American Petroleum Institute in New York comes the encouraging news that American scientists are rapidly devising methods of utilizing home-produced raw materials to make synthetic rubber and rubber-like materials.

Faced with the knowledge that a declining supply of raw rubber or the state of the world's economies may at almost any time make it necessary for us to reorganize our industry in this country, it is gratifying to watch such scientific development in the United States at a time when industries must prepare for the time when they are "on the spot."

The institute points out that by utilizing petroleum, natural gas, coal, limestone and air, America seems to be approaching independence from foreign sources of rubber.

If the time may come for a speedy change-over from old to new techniques of rubber making, America will be ready to make the move speedily and efficiently.

Here is just another indication of a preparedness policy which goes far beyond the physical front of American defense.

Household Rift

You never can tell about silence. It breeds the most unusual rumors.

The long quiet regarding what Hitler actually had asked of the French as terms for peace led, finally, to whispers of a rift in policy between Fuehrer Hitler and Il Duce Mussolini.

We fail to see how silence itself could bring about such a rumor, but the occurrence of such a rift is certainly understandable.

Were we inclined to view Mussolini's entrance into the war in its humorous aspects, we'd be inclined to feel that the act of the Italian ruler was something like the dog that lived in the house that Jack built.

The dog chased the cat, you know, but in this instance not for very long.

And since Jack built the house, he's in a pretty good position at this point to decide that he doesn't need a dog.

Mussolini is over the well known barrel.

A Man About MANHATTAN

Paul Bunyan, Cosmopolitan Style

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If you should happen to encounter, on your wanderings in New York, a man nearing sixty who has a polo mallet in one hand and the world tied to the other, his name will be Douglas G. Hertz, possibly the most bizarre human being among all the millions who call this water-girt island their home. Bizarre is scarcely the word. His record reads like something thought up by Achmed Abdullah. Listen:

Born in California and served as captain in British army 20 years... was on Lusitania when it was torpedoed... Saw action in Gallipoli campaign... Managed the negro heavyweight champion, Jack Johnson... Dropped a fortune trying to organize a Pan-American oil cartel... Acted in silent movies opposite Margaret Clark... Has raced turtles in Miami and pigs in Los Angeles... Introduced dog racing to Staten Island... Recently completed deal with Turkish army for 20,000 donkeys... Tried to buy famous Tombs prison and turn it into a wax museum... Drinks only champagne for breakfast... Dines chiefly on fowl... Is president of a music publishing firm and owns a swing band... Is now producing Latin-American film on Long Island... Is a real estate operator and owns the Pegasus Polo and Hunt club at Rockleigh, New Jersey... Club has sanctuary for famous old mares and stallions which have made names for themselves in theatrical work... One of these was Anna, a mare who carried the late Rudolf Valentino through "The Sheik"... Anna died there recently and was interred with honors. Anna also was famous as an opera star... Owns a night club named after the horse Sun Beau, a great money winner in his time... Great love just now is polo... Says he will bring the son of the late Will Rogers and his polo team east soon to compete at Pegasus... Dreams of a vast chain of polo fields from coast to coast, "so polo can become the average man's pleasure rather than the rich man's fun."

Mr. Hertz has been fondly dubbed "Barnum on Horseback" by his press agents. They like to refer to him as "a cosmopolitan Paul Bunyan," which no doubt he is. Certainly at 60 he defies analysis... He says he sleeps only three or four hours out of 24 and consumes strong spirits at a rate of two quarts daily. His arena at Pegasus is said to be the largest indoor arena for rodeo and polo matches on earth... Actually, it is a vast airplane hangar which Mr. Hertz transferred to Rockleigh from Floyd Bennett Field. "My losses," he admits casually, "are about ten grand a month, but then what's ten grand when you're having fun!"

This statement perhaps explains him better than anything anyone else could say.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

A Bit About Fifth Columnists

WASHINGTON—The new alertness of Americans to fifth column threats has caused some officials to be apprehensive. Often in such situations harmless crackpots are subjected to unjust suspicion and attack. More often the crowd gets the wrong man.

The existence of this condition already is disclosed in the informational accusations received at headquarters here, 90 per cent of which appeared to be the result of over-agitation on the part of the accuser.

Persons who believe they have detected evidence of such activity will save themselves from committing injustices and the government from useless work, if they first make certain of their suspicions by personal investigation.

VALID CONCERN

A few valid fifth column cases are beginning to develop, even though not much will be made of them.

These legitimate cases suggest very few nazis are involved, but these few under suspicion, occupy rather important technical positions in industry. Not they, but the communists, acting possibly under their direction, are doing whatever dirty work has developed.

Not all American communists, however, have transferred their allegiance with Stalin to the axis.

One recent case of minor sabotage developed in an aluminum plant working on government contracts, and another case involved workers in a government torpedo plant.

BRITISH FLIGHT

Those who have counted Britain's air defenses lately doubt that she is adequately equipped to throw off blitzkrieg from the clouds. Her faith has been pinned on A-A guns which have not been strongly effective against bombers so far. In the two best defenses, she is deficient (1) in bombers to harass the bases of attacking planes, and (2) pursuit ships to meet the attacking fighters on their way.

F.D.R.'S WITNESS

In his firesiding Mr. Roosevelt avoided stressing existing army and navy deficiencies by using figure totals which included materials on order as well as those on hand.

Approximate number of army planes on hand and on order in the various categories are substantially: flying fortresses, 50; medium-sized bombers, less than 500; light bombers, less than 300; pursuit planes, less than 400; basic combat planes, less than 300; observation planes, less than 400; transports, less than 100; training planes, less than 700.

Only 46,000 rounds of ammunition are on hand for the 37 mm. anti-aircraft gun which should, and will eventually have, two and a half million rounds.

ANALYSIS OF SPENDING

A striking, illustrated analysis of what the money appropriated in recent years has been spent for in the army, has been presented to congress in a booklet published by the senate military affairs committee. You can get it by writing to your senator or representative. Anonymous author is Major Earl C. Ewert, head of the war department press section, who spent more than a year collecting best pictures of maneuvers and weapons.

RECEDING 50,000

Mr. Roosevelt's goal of 50,000 planes has been receding constantly as the parties involved in attaining it, get further into details. At least one of the manufacturers who attended the original Morgenthau meeting came away with the understanding that the goal represented an over-all hope for future years, something to work toward eventually.

One admiral testifying before a house committee doubted that Mr. Roosevelt had ever mentioned the figure as a goal, whereupon time had to be taken out while the president's message to congress was resurrected and read to the naval officer.

MORGENTHAU ON DEFENSE

Unannounced, Henry Morgenthau, the treasury secretary, is becoming Roosevelt minister of defense. The job is not only taking so much of his time that his assistant, Daniel Bell, is functioning as treasury secretary, but so much of his departmental space that some of his treasury tax bureau has been moved over to the internal revenue building.

UNION PRESSURE

Navy asked the house to amend the Walsh-Healey act to allow 48-hour weeks in navy yards to hasten defense building. Shortly thereafter, Mrs. F.D.R. at a press conference said she was opposed to relaxing labor standards. Next day House Naval Chairman Vinson revised his bill so that it would exempt only minor work up to $25,000 and require time and a half pay for more than 40 hours.

JUST THE TROUBLE

A new dealer at the Japanese embassy garden party asked for one of the trade secretaries. The answer was that he was in Brazil "attending to trade relations." That's what this government has been afraid of, the Japanese attending to trade relations in Latin-America while American eyes are diverted toward Europe.

The Evil Of Double Features

BY ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—One rather merciful effect of the new film economy drive, from the point of view of the customers, may be a general shortening of the time taken to absorb what has passed for entertainment.

All the major plants, confronted with market losses, talk once again of restricting or eliminating their "B" product, concentrating on the "A" or intently superior pictures. The so-called "evil" of double features is under scrutiny, and there are other evidences that producers, in these dark days, wish to get back to fundamentals.

In the getting, they might well recall the screen's beginnings, when nickelodeons amassed prof-

Engineering Training Will Reflect on Mechanized Warfare

Commissioner Of Education Gets Facilities

College Will Be Aid For National Defense Training Program

Expansion of work in aeronautics and emphasis upon mechanical engineering to fit students for mechanized warfare constitutes major steps in the University of Iowa's engineering college toward aid in the national defense program.

Dean F. M. Dawson announced yesterday that the U. S. commissioner of education has been offered the facilities of the college for training 200 students in specialized courses, stressing mechanical engineering. Other courses quickly could be added upon demand, the dean said.

The civilian pilot training course, begun last fall, is operating again this summer and will be continued in the fall, he said.

An advanced course for those who have completed basic work also is scheduled and specialized work in aeronautics and mechanical engineering is being given.

"The best job we can do in this present emergency is to prepare our own students satisfactorily for service. In addition, we have the facilities and opportunity for giving part-time training to others if the federal government and educational authorities desire," Dean Dawson declared.

Lack of sufficient training in simple algebra and trigonometry is the largest detriment to teaching students fundamentals of mechanical operation and aerial navigation, it was pointed out by the dean.

Means will be introduced whereby high school students who are deficient in mensuration, elementary mathematics, these provide the basic principles of machine operation and aerial navigation.

From Economics to Needles and Pins

Elisabeth Hooker Parsons Becomes Designer at Friend's Suggestion

By WALTER HOGAN
When she was in college she never thought of the needle-pin-and-scissors business. Her major was economics.

One day she was helping a friend do costumes for a pageant directed by Thomas Wood Stevens. "You're good at this," the friend said. "Why don't you do this for a life's work?"

And so Elisabeth Hooker Parsons—designer—of New York City is here to direct the costume work on the six shows to be produced this summer by the dramatic arts department.

She has taught at Bennington School of Arts and next year will be on the staff of the Traphagen School of Design in New York. For the past 10 years Miss Parsons has done freelance work in New York, designing costumes for professional shows. Just last winter she was costumer for the Group Theatre's production of "Night Music" by Clifford Odets.

Miss Parsons has costumed many shows directed by Stevens, head of the Department of Drama at Carnegie Tech. She has worked with him at the Goodman theater in Chicago, and has handled costumes for his pageants in Charleston, W. Va., and in Santa Fe, N. M.

"There is not a single play without period costumes of some sort," said Miss Parsons. "In 'You Can't Take It With You' Miss Parsons went on, 'there's the ballet skirt for Essie. And Mama paints DePinna in a Roman toga. We've got to put the Grand Duchess in some kind of decayed grandeur.'"

Assisting Miss Parsons on the first production, "Don Juan," which opens Monday, is James Lewis Casaday, of South Bend, Ind., who designed and executed the costumes for Don Juan Elvire.

Casaday, who designs with scissors and the material, was here last summer and executed the outfit for Shot Gunderson, the giant in "Paul and the Blue Ox." He has also been costume manager for an Orson Welles show.

The clothes for Sganarelle in the local production are copied from the original. In the foreign language library Casaday found a book with a plate of Moliere as Sganarelle.

"The colors are altered somewhat," said Casaday, "but it has the same feeling. It is nice to do something authentic, for we know it comes nearer what Moliere meant."

Don Juan wears petticoat breeches—"the fussiest kind of costuming," Miss Parsons said. Henderson Forsythe, in the title role, wears four striking costumes. "His red one is the most spectacular," commented Designer Parsons. "It's really a beautiful thing."

Besides, Don Juan has a gorgeous yellow dressing gown and a blue outfit. But costume department put him in simple black for his going to Hell scene.

For the former Richard Scammon designed a mask—half, beautiful girl and half, old hag. The costume is likewise divided. But for the Statue they really had an idea. "He'll have to dry for an hour before each show," Miss Parsons laughed. "You see, we're going to calcimine him!"

'Don Juan' in Costume Shop

In one of his colorful "Don Juan" costumes but sans a wig, Henderson Forsythe of Monroe City, Mo., patiently stands in his stocking feet on a table in the costume shop in university theater while Elisabeth Hooker Parsons, New York designer on the dramatic arts staff this summer, and Marjorie Jackson of Iowa Falls complete his outfit by sewing on the garters. Forsythe plays the title role in the first production of the summer season which opens Monday.

Streit Urges Immediate Action By World Democratic Nations

Inevitable war for the United States—downfall of the British empire—abolishment of the democratic system of government were predicted—unless "immediate action" for intercontinental congress is established—by Clarence K. Streit, foreign correspondent and author of "Union Now," at last night's second university lecture.

Describing "immediate action" as movement to be taken on the part of the United States before we become involved in presidential party conventions this summer, he asserted we must go to the aid of our allies "more than materialistically in their hour of need."

B. Gatton To Wed June 27

Announce Marriage Of Iowa City Girl To Dr. F. Burleson

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Gatton 1403 E. College, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter Beulah to Dr. Ferris C. Burleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Burleson of Ft. Dodge.

The wedding will take place at 4 p. m., June 27, in the garden of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Anthony, 605 Brookland Park drive. It will be a single ring ceremony with the Rev. Ira J. Houston officiating.

Miss Gatton was a student in the university, and since then has been employed in the office of Dr. Harry Jenkinson here.

Dr. Burleson attended the junior college in Ft. Dodge, and received his B. A. degree in 1937 at the university. He received his M. D. degree here June 3. Dr. Burleson is affiliated with the Phi Rho Sigma fraternity.

Immediately after the wedding reception, which will be held in the river room of the Iowa Union following the marriage ceremony, the couple will leave for Fresno, Cal., where they will live. Dr. Burleson has an internship in the Fresno County general hospital.

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given for the bride-elect yesterday evening by Mrs. George Johnston, 1403 E. College. Spring flowers decorated the table where refreshments were served after the guests had presented gifts to Miss Gatton. Bridge was played during the evening.

alism and gained American citizenship for each of us."

Under a United Union, the intercontinental congress would rule over half the human race, all oceans, two-thirds of the trade of the world and majority of the gold sources. Day by day, however, these spoils are being lost, he pointed out.

"Why not another convention at Philadelphia's Constitution hall where the 15 great democratic nations would form one army, one money system, one postal and communication system, one citizenship and free trade?" Streit asked the lecture audience.

Referring to our Federal government as the one system that "has really worked," Streit said the time has passed when we should "fiddle along with the League of Nations."

The plan for the intercontinental union was instigated in 1934 with popular encouragement from France and Great Britain, the speaker said.

In January of this year, over two million Americans expressed opinions in favor of the plan as evidenced by the Gallup poll of public opinion, according to Streit.

"Now is the time to act for a 'universal commonwealth of man' before the other democracies and commonwealths are wiped out," he declared.

With fewer democracies in existence and greater pressure against them, there is all the more need to unite them, according to the lecturer.

"Why not act now—save our sons from panic, win the war with the establishment of an intercontinental congress?" the speaker concluded.

Roy Bell's Three-Run Homer Clutch Wins for Cleveland

Indians Sock Red Sox, 7-4; Stay in First

Foxx Cracks 17th Homer; Milnar Wins No. 10 Victory

CLEVELAND, June 21 (AP)—Roy (Deau) Bell produced a dramatic three-run homer in the clutch today to give Cleveland a 7 to 4 comeback triumph over Boston and cement the Indians' hold on first place.

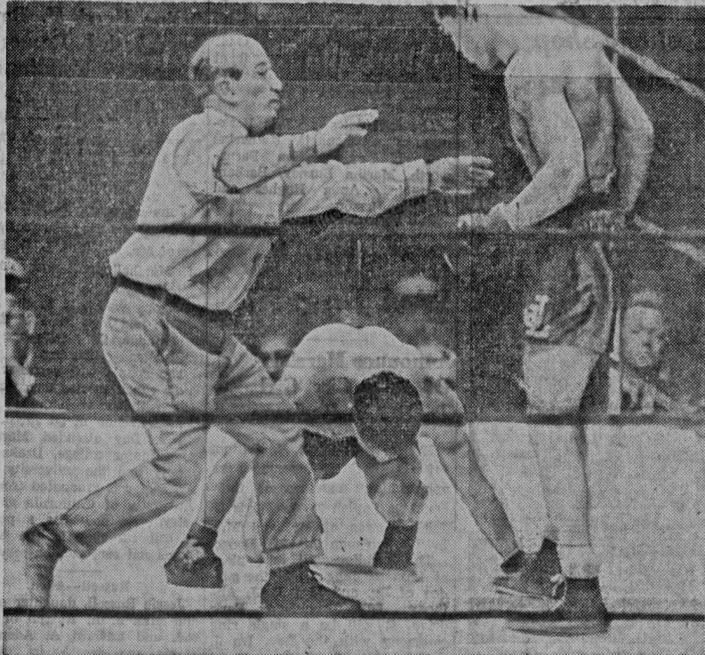

Bell's eighth-inning circuit blow broke up a 4-4 tie, overcame two Boston homers and provided the Indians' sixth straight victory. It was the 10th triumph of the season for Southpaw Al Milnar, who was touched for ten hits, and the first setback in five decisions for Boston's Jack Wilson. Milnar has been defeated only twice.

The Red Sox grabbed a three-run lead in the third inning when youthful Ted Williams hit a homer in as many trips. The Indians tied it up in their half. Ken Keltner was hit by a pitched ball and Milnar and Lou Boudreau doubled, the latter eventually scoring on an infield out.

The pitchers settled down but when Jimmy Foxx drove for the circuit in the eighth—his 17th homer of the year—Boston appeared to have counted the run needed for a 4-3 victory.

Cleveland didn't give up, however. Boudreau walked. Outfielder Roy Weatherly, who made three sensational catches to save Milnar further trouble, got a double, and Rollie Hemsley singled. Weatherly was out trying to score but Hal Trosky was purposely passed, bringing up Bell, who drove Wilson's first pitch over the right field wall.

Joe Louis Finds Another Victim

Joe Louis, Detroit's Brown Bomber, retained his world's heavyweight championship when he registered a technical knockout over Arturo Godoy of Chile in 1:24 of the eighth round in Yankee stadium at New York City in Louis' 11th defense of the title Thursday night. This photo was snapped as Referee Billy Cavanagh stepped in to stop the fight after the challenger had hit the canvas for the second time in the final round and the third time in the fight. The champion is being pushed back to a neutral corner as Godoy struggles to rise.

Champs Batter Four Pitchers

End Losing Streak Of Five Games; Rolfe Gets 5 Hits

DETROIT, June 21 (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees showed today they still pack plenty of dynamite in their bats by firing a 17-hit bombardment against four Detroit pitchers and sinking the Tigers 12 to 7.

The victory ended a five-game losing streak for the Yanks and kept Detroit from advancing into second place in the American league just as the Tigers' loss to Philadelphia yesterday had kept them from taking the lead.

Red Rolfe got four singles and a double and Charley Keller three singles and his 12th home run of the season to lead the Yankee offensive in which everybody except their two pitchers, Red Ruffing and Steve Sundra, joined.

Detroit made a dozen hits, including a pinch homer by Lynn Nelson with one on in the eighth. But when Nelson went to the mound in the ninth he gave up three runs on homers by Keller and Frank Crossetti.

Ruffing got credit for the victory, his fifth.

New York Solves Paul Derringer To Whip 1939 Champions

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The New York Giants solved Paul Derringer today and came from behind to beat the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 3 in a crucial contest that lifted the Giants to second place in the National league and dropped the champions to third.

Big Paul had won six straight games and today kept the Giants shutout on two hits for the first five innings. During this period the Reds collected all their runs and were steaming along placidly when the Giants broke Derringer's spell in the sixth.

With two out Bobe Young and Hank Danning singled and Mel Ott smashed a double into the right field corner, scoring both. Then Bill Jurgens singled Ott home to tie the score.

The winning margin was an unearned run in the eighth when Frank McCormick dropped a throw to let Bob Seeds reach first. Young sacrificed and after Danning struck out, Ott was purposely passed but Jurgens again singled the run across.

Harry Gumbert settled down after a rough start, pitching hitless ball for the last four frames and holding the Reds to six hits altogether.

'Muscle Man' in the Spotlight

Al Blozis Sets American Shot-Put Record In National Collegiate Meet

MINNEAPOLIS, June 21 (AP)—Collegiate track and field's top "muscle man"—Big Al Blozis of Georgetown—strangeminded his way to No. 1 honors in the 19th National Collegiate track and field championship at Minnesota's Memorial stadium today.

The sophomore giant tossed the shot 56 feet 1/2 inch for a new American N. C. A. A. record, a performance which overshadowed the great qualifying place battle staged by the defending team champion, Southern California, and its longtime west coast rival, Stanford university.

Stanford indicated it would make a great bid to crack U.S.C.'s string of five straight team victories by gaining eight qualifying places in tomorrow's finals, to seven for the Trojans.

Considerable confusion surrounded Blozis' great shot put performance because it was made indoors, rain having forced the shot and discus trials into the Gopher fieldhouse. The question of whether the toss would be recognized as an American mark was considered lengthily by the N. C. A. A. committee, with the meet referee, Major John L. Griffith, announcing it would stand as an American standard.

Blozis, sensation of the indoor season, made his record heave on his third try of the qualifying program. The previous N. C. A. A. and American record was 55 feet, 10 3/8 inches, made last year by Elmer Hackney of Kansas State. Hackney today was able to do no better than 49 feet, 10 1/4 inches. Blozis holds the indoor record of 55 feet, one inch.

Chisox Fall Easy Victims To Athletics

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, fresh from three straight victories over the New York Yankees, were easy victims of the Philadelphia Athletics today, bowing by a 12 to 1 score before Lee Ross' four-hit pitching.

Ross, hurling his fourth straight victory, allowed no runner to reach first until the fifth when Luke Appling singled. The Sox connected for their only run in the seventh on Taft Wright's single, a passed ball and Appling's second hit.

Dean Shannon Gives Three Hits; Mates Bat Around in Fifth

St. Mary's strong diamondball contender ran roughshod over Wilkinson Agency in a senior city league encounter yesterday evening, pounding out a 12 to 2 victory behind the three-hit hurling of Dean Shannon.

The Ramblers built up a four-run lead in the first four innings, and then, with 12 men facing the Wilkinson hurler, counted six times in the fifth to ice the game. Shannon was never in trouble until the sixth, when two hits, a walk and a sacrifice fly brought in two runs against him.

Never A Dull Moment Hamlin Disappears From Dodger Camp After Bawling-Out

BROOKLYN, June 21 (AP)—As an official of the Brooklyn Dodgers said today: "No sir, there's never a dull moment around good old Ebbets field."

Luke Hamlin, the Flatbush Flyers' only 20-game winner last year, is hiding out now, brooding over a howling-out he got last Tuesday from President Larry MacPhail.

It was noted two days ago that Hamlin was absent from the Brooklyn bench, but MacPhail was so busy raising sand about the bawling-out of Joe Medwick that he didn't get around to the strange case of Luke until today.

"He (Hamlin) has a habit of threatening to desert his team," said the red-head. "The other day I told him to go home in a hurry if that is what he wanted to do."

So Luke apparently lit out. He could not be raised at his apartment here, and it was thought possible he had gone to his home at Lansing, Mich.

Hamlin, who is famous for his "home run ball," incurred MacPhail's wrath by blowing 4-0 and 5-3 leads over the Cardinals on Tuesday, the same day Medwick was laid low. Medwick came out of the hospital yesterday and probably will be back in the line-up within a week, but the Hamlin situation threatens to linger on.

Meantime, President Ford Frick of the National league exonerated Pitcher Bob Bowman of the Cardinals in the bawling-out of Medwick. He said there was no evidence whatsoever that Bowman had struck Medwick purposely.

St. Mary's Church of Iowa City To Observe Centennial

Plans Revealed For Extensive Redecoration

Building, Finance Committees Named; To Meet Monday

By D. Mac Showers and John J. Mueller

Thirty persons of various nationalities sat in silence listening to a man seated on top of a pile of dirt left by workmen. The dirt came from a large hole in which was to be the foundation of a new building.

This handful of people had just witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of the original St. Mary's church in Iowa City at that time, the rest being only log cabins erected to house workmen who were, at that time, constructing the state capitol building. First mass was celebrated in the new church on Dec. 21, 1841.

For 26 years this building served the spiritual needs of early Iowa Catholics. However, it was later seen that this structure was becoming too small to accommodate the ever-increasing number of settlers, so an energetic young priest known as the Rev. William Emonds, the pastor of the church at that time, started a drive for funds to build a new church.

Later in 1867 the new building which now stands at Linn and Jefferson streets, was erected directly over the old church. The old and original one, having served its purpose, was taken down only when the walls of the newer and larger church were completely erected around it.

Renovation Plan

Father Emonds was succeeded in 1890 by the Rev. John F. Kemper who stayed in Iowa City but a year. In 1891 the Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. J. Schulte came to Iowa City and remained with the church here until his death last Jan. 17. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl H. Meinberg is now pastor of the church and he will carry out an extensive renovation plan in preparation for the church's centennial observance, all of which was conceived by the late Monsignor Schulte before his death.

Thirty-three years ago the church was renovated at a cost of $1,500. Again, as the church is about to celebrate the first 100 years history of the parish, another complete renovation and improvement program has been planned.

In the church the work will include painting in simple colors to harmonize with the woodwork. The gothic altars, stations and walnut pews will be cleaned and revarnished so as to bring out the natural beauty of the wood. Statues in the church will be redecorated by competent artists soon to be selected. The aisles will be recovered as will the kneeling benches.

New Additions

Included in new additions to the church considered in the program are the installation of new heating and lighting systems. St. Catherine chapel in the basement of the church will be cleaned and painted and used for Sunday school classes for children from the country and other schools according to present plans. The church organ will be cleaned and necessary repairs made and the chimes in the steeple will be again placed into operation answering the requests of many Catholics and non-Catholics in Iowa City.

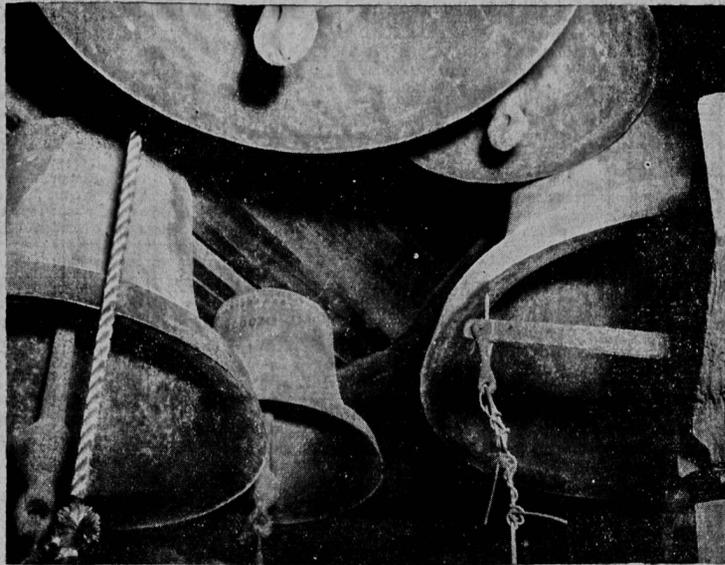

Remodeling work in the rectory, which is already well underway, includes papering the walls, repainting, new floors, new equipment, refurnishing, a new roof and construction of a two-car garage. The garage is already completed.

A building committee of five members and a finance committee of three members have been appointed to direct the renovation work. There will be a meeting Monday evening at 6:30 of the committees, team captains and soliciting teams who will carry on a drive during the next few weeks to raise funds among members of the church with which to complete the improvement program.

Building Committee

The building committee consists of Monsignor Meinberg, W. P. Sheridan, Fred Racine, J. Elzear Ries and Albert C. Dunkel. The finance committee is headed by

Carillon in Steeple of St. Mary's Church To Play for Catholic Centennial Celebration

A view of part of the St. Mary's carillon bells in the church steeple

The carillon in the steeple of St. Mary's church in Iowa City, consisting of 17 chimes, will soon ring out bell music to Iowa City, it was announced yesterday by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl H. Meinberg of St. Mary's church.

Repairing and playing of the church bells is included in an extensive church and rectory renovation program in preparation for the centennial celebration of the Iowa City Catholic church.

Silent for 35 years or more, the bells were installed in the church in 1865. The present church building was erected in 1867. The first and only carillon ever to play the St. Mary's chimes was Vacslav T. Barbocka who came to Iowa City when the bells were installed and who played them until his death. Since that time they have been silent except for four selected bells which ring automatically with the large clock in the church tower.

Three bells of various sizes are used for the quarter, half-hour, three-quarter and hour chiming and a fourth bell, the largest in the set, is used to strike the number of the hour.

The bells in the church are arranged on two levels with the two largest bells and another bell of historical significance to the church set above the other 14.

The historical bell is from the first St. Mary's church in Iowa City which was constructed in 1841 and replaced by the present building in 1867. The first church stood on the same location as the present.

The 17 bells in the church tower weigh a total of 20,000 pounds and, according to Monsignor Meinberg, are valued at about one dollar per pound. The 10 tons of weight and the vibration and swaying caused by the ringing of the bells is carried by an inner tower construction of heavy, solid wooden timbers built separately from the outer brick wall.

The number of carillons in the United States is quite small and there are also a very few carilloners. There is a possibility that, when the St. Mary's bells are again placed in operation, Iowa will be the only state with two carillons. The other is a 36-bell set on the Iowa State campus at Ames known as the Campanile.

The original St. Mary's bell was cast in St. Louis, Mo., by F. R. Mayer in 1854. Another bell in the tower, that is used for church calls, funeral chiming and the Angelus, was cast in Troy, N. Y., by Jones and Company in 1867.

It is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary of the Visitation to whom the church is also dedicated.

The largest bell of the set, cast in 1865 by Stuckstede and Company of St. Louis, Mo., was sponsored by Theresa and W. P. Henschuh and is dedicated to St. William. As the largest bell of the set, it bears the name of the mayor of Iowa City at the time of the installation of the carillon, C. M. Reno.

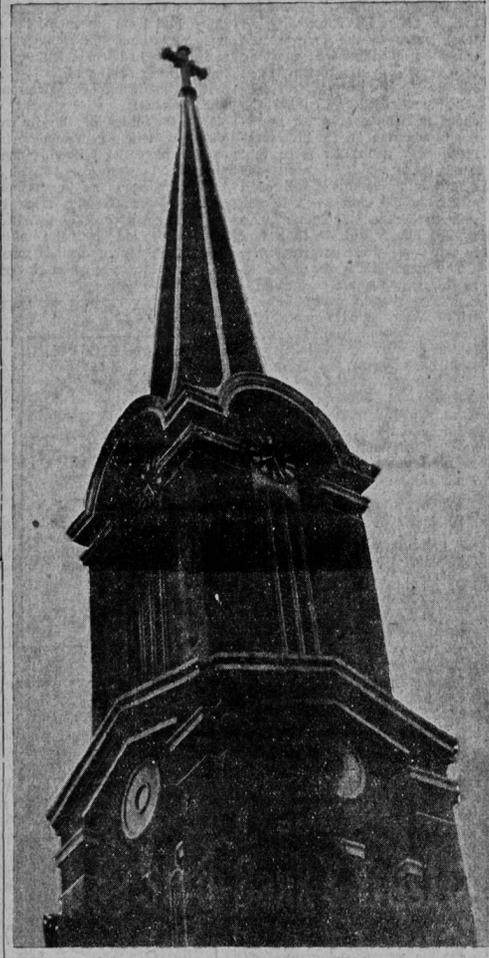

All of the other 14 bells have cast on them the name of a local sponsor who was a member of the church and each is dedicated to a saint and one to the Holy Family.

Included in these dedications are St. Conrad, St. Aloysius, St. Isadore, St. Francis, St. Catherine, St. Agatha, St. August, St. Michael, St. Simeon, St. Ann, St. Otto and St. Ludmilla.

The entire set of chimes, except the two described above, were cast by the Stuckstede company of St. Louis.

Following the 35 years of silence in Iowa City, the St. Mary's bells, dedicated to Saints, the Holy Family and the Virgin Mary, will again soon answer the requests of Iowa Catholics, Catholic and non-Catholic to hear the chimes played.

St. Mary's—100 Years Old

Rising higher than any other Iowa City building, the St. Mary's church steeple with its 17-bell carillon will soon ring with new life when the repair work on the chime set is completed and the bells again are played from the tower. Behind the grating below —Daily Iowan Photos, Engraving the clock faces are the St. Mary chimes set on two levels. Other renovation work in connection with the celebration of the church's centennial will include painting and general improvements in the church and rectory.
